

EXTENT OF THE proposed Twin Falls county junior college district and the role adjacent school districts and counties will play is discussed by two members of the Committee of 25, John Barker, left, Huhl, and Harold O. Hove, Kimberly. Both agree Twin Falls county could support a junior college. (Times-News photo)

Enrollment, Valuation Is Sufficient Here for College

To establish a junior college district, Twin Falls county will not have to look elsewhere for either the necessary enrollment or assessed property valuation. This means that the proposal can and will be limited to Twin Falls county.

Harold O. Hove, Kimberly, a member of the Committee of 25, explained the situation. "The law provides that community college district shall have a high school enrollment of not less than 800 students (Twin Falls county had a 1963 enrollment of 3,334) and have an assessed property valuation of not less than $10,000,000 (Twin Falls county has a 1964 assessed value of $15,689,544)."

"It is believed," he continued, "that Twin Falls county has an adequate student enrollment and assessed valuation base to sustain a successful community college."

John Barker, Huhl, another member of the Committee of 25, pointed out that other districts may join the Twin Falls county junior college district at a later date, if such districts are able to obtain a simple majority vote. "They will have to pay the same tax levy as Twin Falls county," he said, "and if buildings are constructed later they will have to pay the same levy as this county would for capital improvements."

Barker noted that counties or portions of counties can be annexed to the Twin Falls county junior college district. "Jerome or Valley school districts can join by securing a simple majority vote," he said, "even though the remainder of their county does not join." He said the same is true of Hagerman, Wendell or other school districts in adjacent counties.

Lost Cause.

A week before the general election it appears the proposed water resources agency amendment is doomed to defeat. The proposal was conceived and nurtured amid conflicting views, as to its value. Even the governor's blue ribbon committee to study the plan didn't eliminate all the doubts. The special legislative session which paved the way for the Nov. 3 vote didn't find all Idahoans agreed the move was necessary. But now there's some organized opposition from a rather imposing list of water users. Here is the last straw. It's tough enough to gain approval of any constitutional amendment without opposition because of voters who either don't understand or don't approve.

Opposition from the Idaho Water Committee itself probably would be enough to defeat the amendment. But when such water users as the Twin Falls Canal company come out with resolutions against the amendment, it doesn't have much of a chance. Strangely enough, all of the opposition seems to center around the claim the amendment would give the state a special and superior access to water, with no guarantee of protection to present water users. It's just a new twist to an old axiom for Idaho farmers. They refuse to permit anyone to fool around their headgates.

Another reason for opposition being voiced privately among voters is that some persons believe the amendment could create an unnecessary state agency with additional unnecessary state officials and employees.

Legally, there appears to be ample reason to doubt the necessity or effectiveness of the proposed amendment. It would do nothing to safeguard water rights which are made under state law. The avowed purpose of the amendment is to safeguard Idaho water against such plans as the Los Angeles proposal to divert Snake river waters. Some top water law authorities have expressed doubt the amendment can accomplish that goal.

It has been pointed out that Snake river is a navigable stream which flows in more than one state and, as such, is subject to federal regulation. It also has been pointed out that recent federal rulings on use of interstate waters have ignored former water users under state regulation. One such notable federal decision involved the lengthy and costly litigation between California and Arizona over use of the Colorado river. It appears that no amount of state action can prevent or avoid federal jurisdiction over interstate streams.

The Idaho Water Committee, which is spearheading opposition, expresses the opinion the proposed amendment may have adverse effect on existing water rights. The committee further claims that the state department of reclamation already has authority "to institute studies and make plans relative to the development of the state's water." The committee concludes the proposed constitutional amendment "is unnecessary and dangerous."

Strangely enough, recent opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment has no reference to authority to construct and operate hydroelectric facilities. Some early opposition to the proposal came from private power firms, as could have been expected. However, the current opposition appears to come solely on the basis of danger to present irrigators.

In the past, competent experts have voiced the opinion that the only way to safeguard Snake river water is through approval of the Columbia basin compact. It has been asserted that the compact would be a treaty carrying full federal approval and thus could assure protection of water to various states included in the Columbia basin. Although much time and effort have been devoted to gaining approval of the compact, there is no indication of an early—or any—agreement. The state of Washington has been the chief stumbling block, apparently adopting the attitude that Washington has some sort of superior claim to all water in the basin, merely because it drains into the Columbia.

Opposition expressed to the proposed water resources agency amendment is sufficient to raise grave doubts about the advisability or necessity of the move. Under these conditions it's almost a foregone conclusion the amendment will be defeated.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 — I confess I do not share the moist-eyed concern of some of my more glib colleagues over the dirty fighting on both sides in this Presidential campaign. Instead, I am bemused by the skins worn by the present generation of politicians.
Sure the campaign has descended, as the Washington Post's respected columnist, Walter Lippman, has called it, into the gutter. But I cannot understand why this should either surprise or shock folks who were not born otherwise. Even when a father figure named Eisenhower was talking on the hustings.

LINCOLN, TOO — Currently, the Democrats are sweeping in their campaign over an assortment of paperback books which depict Lyndon Johnson as a monster who has practiced everything but infidelity. This may be dirty pool, but so were the tactics of Lincoln's foe, whose most complimentary epithet for the rail splitter was "apo." And only Lyndon Johnson himself would be tempted to challenge history's verdict that Lincoln had a slight edge over the present incumbent's statesmanship.

At any rate, the Democrats have cheerfully resorted any impulse to fight clean in the campaign. They have pictured Barry Goldwater as a bloodthirsty fiend who seeks the Presidency only to plunge the nation into the holocaust of a nuclear war. Only recently the Democratic national committee put out a brochure whose cover was a photograph of a nuclear explosion imprinted with the words: "Goldwater's Amazing Problem Solver."

STAY OUT OF KITCHEN — To this cynic, the brawl has its amusing side. It is fun, for example, to listen to Dick Nixon pull out all the stops for Goldwater in a hall where rightist fanatics are passing out books attacking the administration in which Nixon was vice president as a tool of communism. And there is a sadistic kick in serving the love scenes between Lyndon Johnson and Bobby Kennedy, two men who would cheerfully slit each other's throats if nobody was looking.

Republicans charge that Johnson's TV speech on Red China's bomb and the political changeover in the Soviet Union was "political." Of course it was; it is amazing anyone felt it necessary to point out the obvious. Johnson would have been dropped from the club had he passed up this chance to influence the electorate. Likewise, Ike was looking for votes in the 1956 campaign when he made a TV speech on the Bunk House.

"STAY OUT OF KITCHEN" — My dear Mrs. Eisenhower, we have got to accept the fact that even when we were in the White House, we were mortal fighting for high office and they learned early on that a knife in the back is twice as effective as the proud display of a chestful of military medals. It is a matter of record that Mr. Truman was only being realistic when he said, stay out of the kitchen. It is not recorded that either Lyndon Johnson or Barry Goldwater dragged, kicking and screaming, into that kitchen.

MILL MIGHTY MIDGET — As a medium of exchange the mill is intangible. It is known to few persons even concerned with governmental finances or school taxes and somewhat insignificant in terms of daily reference, that tenth of a cent does have a tremendous impact, as this example illustrates:
Electrical energy costs are based on a millage rate. For each one mill reduction in the price of electrical energy, on a national scale, an additional 3 billion dollars annually can be added to the nation's purchasing power within a few years. There are indications the downward trend in power costs will be accelerated by nuclear energy. This will be reflected in household expenditures.

In this day of high federal and state budgets, when amounts in millions and billions are tossed around carelessly, they become big figures. Their impact and the money they represent are almost impossible to visualize. Yet the federal government's near 100 billion dollar budget, or Oklahoma's fiscal year revenue collections of $580,277,500, all came essentially from fractional pennies.

As the mill does its part in creating either deficit or surplus this is well worth remembering. Neither government nor individuals can make essential savings leading to future surplus, or pay off accumulated debts, if they wait for a bonanza in large figures. —Daily Oklahoman

CONVINCE — If able-bodied men refuse work they should be refused a share. This is the position taken by the Los Angeles county board of supervisors, in line with a similar trend throughout the country. Where the policy has been conscientiously administered, it has been found that many on relief, if not all, would rather work.

There will be employment available in proportion of Mexican nationals (Chicanos) ends Dec. 31 by congressional order. It is estimated that Los Angeles county will have 30,000 unemployed youths at that time. Welfare officials and the employment service will cooperate in seeing that these field jobs. Those who refuse, or no adequate reason will be taken off welfare.

"Stoop" labor in the fields at a promised minimum of $1.25 an hour may prove to be more effective than all the government training and retraining programs in convincing young men that they had better learn a skill. —The Oregonian

THE HICKORY STICK — Georgia state teachers have been armed with disciplinary situation when the need arises, and, somehow, it's comforting to find that there's still, in some areas, a little of the old-fashioned notion that respect and discipline are still desired attributes.

A paddling administered by a school teacher is generally designed to be corrective and without malice. Maybe if there were a few more of them, the paddlings doled out by life where the weren't learned earlier would not have such a dire effect. —Cherokee County (Ala.) Herald

SYMBOL OF PACE — In Greece, the world's youngest king has taken a princess for his wife and queen in a royal wedding as splendid as any story book tale. Although royal ranks are thinning, some 144 stantines wedding were present at King Constantine's wedding, including eight ruling monarchs, a few non-ruling kings and queens, and 30 princesses and princesses.

Amid all the pomp and circumstance, it was noted that the bridegroom was typically nervous and the bride only slightly shaky. Somehow that note made it sound a little less unreal. —Nashville Tennessean

POT SHOTS

FINE TOY
Dear Pot Shots:
As my parent money, you can spend all sorts of money on toys and perhaps discover the child will spend more time playing with the carter in which the toy was packed.

At this time of year it's quite easy to come by that "carter" and keep the youngsters occupied for many happy hours. More rakes all the leaves in a pile in the middle of the yard. The kids will take it from there.

IT FIGURES!
Dear Pot Shots:
Not long ago I was assisting with a drive in which I had to stop at every home in a four-block area. At one particular residence I hesitated before walking up to the front door. The yard was a mess and the front porch was littered with all sorts of debris.

Anyway, I gritted my teeth and picked my way through the debris to the front door. My knock was answered immediately by a messy looking woman who invited me to enter. I wasn't too surprised to find the interior of the house was just more of the same I'd found outside.

"I was just glancing through a magazine," said the woman, as she held up a copy of Better Homes and Gardens.

Dear Gent:
Most of my work is outdoors and that's where I am most of the time when these planes fly over and break the sound barrier. Naturally, I always look up to see if I can spot the plane.

Once in a while I either see or hear an airplane shortly after the boom hits. But there are times when this noise seems to be all around and there's no evidence of a plane anywhere.

One day two of us were chatting when a sonic boom rumbled all over the place. Immediately afterward a crop duster plane zoomed up at the end of a line over a field. "Guess he was going a little fast that time," said the other guy.

By PHIL NEWSON
WARSAW, Oct. 27 (AP)—In the aftermath of Nikita Khrushchev's sudden departure from power, the emphasis in east European communist capitals is on business as usual, with perhaps only a little more than usual emphasis on a continuing policy of co-existence.

But while this can be described as an official attitude, there also is an obvious feeling that the eastern bloc nations are holding their breath, waiting for Moscow's next move.

Since the announcement last Thursday night of Khrushchev's "retirement" for reasons of age and health, this correspondent has found varying reactions in the Eastern capitals.

In Bucharest, independent-minded Rumanian capital, a foreign office appointment was kept on schedule the next morning.

A question as to how the Moscow change might affect foreign policy was met coolly by the reply that the sudden shift in internal matters was purely a Soviet internal matter.

It was added that Rumanian foreign policy continued on a basis of friendship for all socialist countries, including both the Soviet Union and Red China, along with Albania, the European friend of Red China.

Further, said this official, Rumania does not believe that ideological questions between parties should interfere on the state level.

In Prague, Czechoslovakia, another foreign ministry official also emphasized that coexistence remained a keystone of Czech foreign policy.

Similar positions were taken by the governments of Hungary and Poland.

The change found the premier and party first secretary of Hungary, János Kadar, on a state visit to Poland.

As one ages in our present civilization there is a great hypocrisy about birthdays.

After you pass the meridian of 40 — at least you like hopefully to think of it as the meridian — your birthdays become more important to you.

You'd rather not have the question of your actual age be commented upon. You don't even want to bring up the matter yourself, although you may drop certain snide hints in re-anniversary is on the horizon.

When a great day arrives you like to have the office gals take you to lunch. You like to have the girls in the place buzz you on the cheek and exclaim: "Happy Birthday!"

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 — The newest word in the political vocabulary is underfoot. Republicanism is running for state and national offices across the country.

are shuddering at the prospect of getting caught in the Goldwater underflow and carried down to defeat.

In New York Sen. Kenneth B. Keating is conducting a fierce, bitter, and desperate struggle to survive.

Keating is running for a second term, making a line nearly as uncomfortable as Keating. He is more favorably regarded because the Democrats had a bitter primary fight, finally resolved by court action with the Democratic candidate, Miss Genevieve Blatt, secretary, declared winner by a few hundred votes. But that is far from sure of his chances on Nov. 3.

Ohio — Robert Taft, Jr., currently congressman — at large, running against the Democratic incumbent, Stephen M. Young, tells his audience to support the straight Republican ticket. He reserves the right to offer with Goldwater in certain areas. The one caveat is a large publican appeal in a state with a strong Republican organization.

With a dual ballot — one for president and vice-president, another for the other offices — ticket-splitting is easy. Taft is the probable winner.

Illinois — Charles H. Percy, business executive in the post-boy-to-rich-boy tradition, has been campaigning for 15 months to defeat Clay A. Otto Kern, a moderate and an Eisenhower for-mer President Eisenhower, he was caught early in the Goldwater underflow when the Goldwater candidate for Illinois convention, sticking to state issues, he tells Republican audiences to support the entire ticket.

Percy is one of the most effective campaigners in the post-teeny-bop era. In following politicians around for many years, with Kerney hammering him as a press for alleged misdeeds involving certain of his lieutenants, Percy has a good chance to win.

It is hardly an exaggeration to say that nearly all of the Republican party delegates in Illinois to these men and others like them seeking to stay within the framework of past Republicanism. But the election day may well determine whether he has left them with any shred of that party of the past.

Q—What are some of the symptoms of colitis? Can anything be done for it?
A—The most common form of colitis — mucous colitis — is characterized by the passage of loose stools that contain recognizable mucus. There are also frequent cramps that travel from side to side throughout the abdomen.

Q—My husband has a whitish ring on the outside of the iris of his eyes. His sight is good. What causes the ring and is it serious?
A—This ring is known as arcus senilis because it is often seen chiefly in people of advanced age. It occasionally occurs, however, in persons in their early 30s. It is more common in men than in women. The ring is caused by deposits of cholesterol and once formed it cannot be removed. The condition is not serious as it does not affect the underlying lens and does not indicate any serious disease. Meanwhile, the victim will be more comfortable if he cuts out all bran, cooked and raw vegetables and fruit, nuts, jams and concentrated sweets. On such a diet it is necessary to take vitamin supplements. A short course of tranquilizers may also help.

Q—My husband has been drinking heavily for several years. He gets pains in his back. Will alcohol affect the pancreas?
A—Although alcohol, if taken in excess, has an adverse effect on the brain and liver there is no evidence that it is the direct cause of pancreatitis in other organs including the pancreas. Before the discovery of insulin, alcohol was widely used in the treatment of diabetes, a disease which the pancreas fails to put out enough of its internal secretion.

There was nothing wrong with South's diamond opening or with North's bid of two hearts after West overcalled two clubs, but the two-heart bid put pressure on South.
He had to find some rebid and he made the cheapest possible call of two spades. This North is asked to bid four no-trump to ask for ace and after South showed one ace North contracted for the spade slam.
Poor South had to lose one club and one heart and when spades failed to break he was down two.
North said, "Partner! How could you reverse with a minimum hand?"
Of course, South had no reversed. North's twoheart bid had about out two diamonds. South's twoheart bid was merely the lowest bid he could make and merely showed four spades in addition to his diamond suit.

Terror Continues to Play Dominant Role in Viet Nam

By MALCOLM BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet. Nam, Oct. 27 (AP) — Terror and counter-terror, persistent themes of Vietnamese political and military history for many centuries, continue to play a dominant role in the increasingly bloody war raging now.

Terror is used for interrogation, as propaganda, as punishment and as revenge. Neither the Viet Cong nor Saigon government forces have any monopoly on its use.

Terror strikes in many forms. A month ago, it came to a battalion of Vietnamese rangers caught in an ambush near the Mekong river delta town of Cau Ke.

A Viet Cong unit concealed in a Buddhist pagoda opened fire on the government unit, killing 10 rangers, including an American sergeant advising them.

A few days ago the same ranger unit was back for an operation at the same place, apportioning revenge.

The pagoda was deserted but three likely looking suspects, all of them Vietnamese of Cambodian extraction, happened to be in the area. The rangers picked them up.

Their arms tied behind their backs, the three men were given the "water treatment." A cloth is placed over the face of the prisoner and water is poured over the cloth, tending to suffocate the man. Just before he loses consciousness, he is released.

This is repeated until he talks.

As an innovation on this operation, one of the prisoners was lowered head first into a water-pot with his hands bound.

In the mouth of one of the prisoners, rangers found a little bag containing several human teeth carved with Buddhist symbols. Under questioning, the man said the teeth had belonged to his grandmother, and were supposed to protect him from death.

Another prisoner was rounded up and eight old villagers sitting on a log watched quietly while the four young men were tortured. Later, the prisoners were taken to the operation command

Parking Lot Mishap Probed

A Twin Falls county sheriff's deputy investigated a minor two-car accident at 10:55 p.m. Sunday in the parking lot of the Villa lounge, Twin Falls.

The deputy reported that America G. Arambula, 10, 321 Ramona street, was backing a 1959 Plymouth from a parking space in the lot when the brakes on the vehicle failed and the car struck a properly parked 1964 Buick owned by Harry Hansford, Piler.

No injuries were reported or citations issued.

Items Taken

HAILEY, Oct. 27 A small cement mixer was stolen from a home being constructed on Main street south of here, according to Sheriff Frank Hewitt.

He said the new house belongs to V. K. Jeppeson. Sheriff Hewitt also reported someone broke into the Green Horn ranger station, located three miles west of U.S. highway 93, over the week-end. The only thing taken was a chain saw.

ARE OUT-OF-STATE POLITICAL CONTRIBUTORS INTERESTED IN IDAHO — OR IN JUST USING IDAHO'S CONGRESSMAN?

The 1964 Situation

Hansen Says He's Assured Of Victory

George Hansen, Republican candidate for congress, opposing Rep. Ralph Harding, said Thursday that "key issues and a strong grass roots effort are winning this election for us against great odds."

He continued, "Much money and many politicians have poured into my opponent's campaign in a desperate effort to salvage this election. My opponent has a salary of tens of thousands of dollars that continues during the election, a large expense account, a paid staff, tax writeoff advantages and a franking privilege worth thousands of dollars for each mass mailing."

"He also has the Democratic war chest, the many thousands of dollars provided by the labor boss endorsement and untold thousands of dollars provided by the Council for a Livable World, not to mention other sources."

"When we see Democratic Senator Burdick from North Dakota turn back over $14,000 to the Council for a Livable World so he won't be obligated to them, we see where an attempt to buy an election could mean losing a freedom to consistently represent the people's best interests."

"Funds are important to win an election," Hansen continued, "but freedom from commitment is more important in order to be fair and effective in office."

"I will not be able to match campaign funds with my opponent, but the disposition of people in this district seem so strongly in favor of a change in congress that great amounts of advertising in these last few days probably won't have too much effect," the candidate concluded.—The Twin Falls Times-News.)

Burdick Didn't Want Fund From World Council

DETROIT LAKE, Minn., (AP) — Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D., N. D., stated his reasons Wednesday for not accepting contributions from members of the council for a livable world.

"I couldn't see where it was right for me to keep the money after I dissociated myself with the chairman's views," Burdick said.

Note the contribution to Burdick came Tuesday from South Dakota Republican State Chairman Leo Temme of Huron, S. D. Temme charged McGovern, D., S. D., with accepting $22,000 from the council while he refused similar contributions.

"The council, Burdick said, 'Credited me with some 14 thousand dollars, but it was over a two year period. I returned every cent.'

"I don't like to be associated with anything associated with unilateral disarmament because I don't believe in it," he said. "I'm for disarmament, but step by step," he added.

The senator pointed out that the council for a livable world make no fund contributions, but merely recommends candidates to its members.

Burdick said he also opposed other of the council chairman's views, such as favoring jurisdiction over U. S. citizens by the United Nations.—"Pierre" (S.D.) Daily Capital Journal, July 9, 1964.

Britain Has New Import Restrictions

LONDON, Oct. 27 (UPI)—Britain's new labor government yesterday ordered a 15 per cent tariff on all imports except foodstuffs, raw tobacco and raw materials for industry.

Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan said the surcharge would hit 48 per cent of all imports from the United States, 55 per cent from the common market nations and 13 per cent from the British Commonwealth.

In a white paper called "The Economic Situation," White said immediate but strictly temporary action is called for—"drastic at first but less so as both the immediate measures and the longer-term policies begin to take hold."

The government matched its new tariffs with a plan to provide British exporters with tax rebates at an estimated cost to the government of 200 million dollars. The two plans, to go into effect tonight, were aimed at closing Britain's balance-of-payments deficit now running at 1.5 billion dollars for the present year and threatening to reach 2.2 billion dollars next year.

White said his government found the nation's economy "profoundly unsatisfactory." Although "considerable improvement" was expected next year, he said, the deficit would remain at an unacceptable level.

The government statement was not as severe as some economists had predicted.

COEUR D'ALENE, Oct. 27 (UPI)—A motion picture that first degree murder charges pending against Virginia Maxine Mahoney, 23, Coeur d'Alene, has been dismissed by district Judge James C. Towler. Mrs. Mahoney, who is free under $10,000 bond, will be tried Dec. 14 for the fatal shooting of her husband, William Mahoney, 28, in their motel room at Coeur d'Alene Oct. 5.

BOISE, Oct. 27 (UPI)—Discussions covering the impending retirement of executive secretary Samuel Vance because of age has been added to the agenda for a special meeting of the Idaho Veterans Affairs commission, scheduled for Wednesday in Boise. Vance, 77, has been executive secretary of the commission since June, 1945, and has also been commandant of the veterans home for more than a year. An announcement that Vance has been elected by the commission to retire was made yesterday by vice chairman Earl Chandler, Boise.

POCATELLO, Oct. 27 (UPI)—Some 100 exhibits, mostly canceled checks and records, has been introduced in a trial on income tax evasion charges against an Idaho Falls rancher, Walter Pancheri, who owns a 500-acre ranch north of Idaho Falls. He is accused of not reporting all his income for 1957, 1958 and 1959. The trial is being held before U. S. district Judge Ray McInerney and a jury of seven men and five women. Pancheri is charged with reporting income of $10,000 in 1957, when he actually made $20,000; with making $20,000 on his taxable income in 1958, when he should have declared $21,400, and with reporting $20,400 instead of $22,200 in 1959. The government claims Pancheri evaded $9,384 in income taxes during that period on a total income of $52,894.

BOISE, Oct. 27 (UPI)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie said yesterday he has urged Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman to approve the application of Teton county for temporary disaster relief. In a letter to Freeman, Smylie pointed out that the county was hit by heavy frosts in late August and early September. He said the frosts seriously affected potato, grain and hay crops and range land.

BOISE, Oct. 27 (UPI)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie yesterday officially proclaimed Nov. 11 at Veteran's day in Idaho. He called on Idaho residents to "not only pay due honors to the dedicated men and women who have served in our armed forces but also to re-emphasize our determination to achieve world peace with honor."

BOISE, Oct. 27 (UPI)—State Republican Chairman John McMurray charged yesterday that opposing views on the effect of the wheat-cotton bill held by Idaho's Democratic Congressmen Compton I. Cotton and Ralph Harding works to the disadvantage of Idaho farmers. "In one area of the state," said McMurray, "Congressman Compton White is defending the wheat-cotton bill as good legislation while in the second district, Congressman Ralph Harding is pointing with pride to the fact he had the courage to oppose the measure which he states has depressed wheat prices. All Idaho wheat farmers would like to know is what either of these men plan to do to end this squabble and get on with a proposal that will help the wheat farmers."

PRESTON, Oct. 27 (UPI)—Rep. Ralph Harding and Sen. Frank Church, Idaho Democrats, announced yesterday that the district office of the corps of engineers is initiating studies on the Portneuf river and its tributaries. They said plans for the study include gathering of basic hydrology and economic data within the basin and preliminary field investigations of possible reserve storage sites. The Idaho lawmakers said the studies are local interest, including municipal governments and irrigation and flood control districts in the area and also plans to hold public hearings to determine the thinking of area residents. "While primary emphasis will be on controlling flood waters that hit the area so hard in 1962 and 1963," said Harding, "attention will be given to other water needs in the area as well."

POCATELLO, Oct. 27 (UPI)—Officials investigating the Friday killing of 34-year-old farm laborer Frank Monico in the Fort Hall Indian reservation maintained silence today on developments in the case. FBI agents were unavailable for comment, and other law enforcement agencies turned down local inquiries. Monico was shot in the head with a small caliber bullet Friday morning in the Ross Fork creek area of the reservation. Gilbert Funkin, 27, Ross Fork creek district, was arrested Friday shortly after the shooting, charged with disorderly conduct by Fort Hall police officer John Moss. He appeared before tribal Judge Polio Panlogue this morning, but she refused to disclose any details.

IDAHO FALLS, Oct. 27 (UPI)—Republican congressional nominee George Hansen, Pocatello, said yesterday that the "bullying tactics" of Rep. Ralph Harding, D., Ida., and Rep. Mike Kirwan, D., on the lower Teton project, have been exposed. Hansen said that, according to a ranking member of the house committee on public works appropriations declared in Boise and Pocatello over the week-end that the project would be considered on its merits by the majority on the committee. Kirwan is committee chairman. He said in a Roxbury appearance earlier in the campaign that funds would not be forthcoming if Harding was not re-elected. "We see an ever-increasing need for a representative who will work for Idaho's projects on their merits and not just play a personality game for personal glorification," said Hansen.

BOISE, Oct. 27 (UPI)—Oral arguments on an appeal filed by the Idaho Power company in pumping rates against the Idaho Power company will be heard by the Idaho supreme court Nov. 6. The case is one of 15 scheduled for court action during the Boise fall term beginning next Monday. The Water Users appeal was taken from an Idaho Public Utilities commission order granting Idaho Power increases of 12.77 in full season pumping rates, 11 per cent in winter heating service and 7 1/2 per cent for all other services.

PRESTON, Oct. 27 (UPI)—Rep. Ralph Harding, D., Ida., asserted yesterday that what he termed "blind opposition" by Utah Power and Light company and Idaho Power company is a disservice to their employees in southern Idaho. Speaking at a public rally in Preston, Harding declared that private power companies in the BPA's marketing area are paying higher wages to their employees than Utah Power and Idaho Power are paying in southern Idaho. A journeyman lineman working for Washington Water and Power company, he said, receives $3.54 an hour compared with $3.27 paid by Idaho Power and $3.32 paid by Utah Power in southern Idaho. "So," he said, "it appears that full implementation of Bonneville power for southern Idaho would mean an increase of nearly 70 cents an hour for each journeyman lineman of the Idaho Power company and the Utah Power and Light company."

BOISE, Oct. 27 (UPI)—Secretary of State Arnold Williams said yesterday that Idaho's law limiting campaign spending in primary elections should be given teeth and the limits raised to more realistic levels. Gov. Robert E. Smylie agreed with him. He said he had urged three consecutive legislatures to strengthen the law "with a notable lack of success." Smylie also said he would like to see the law amended to control "phony committees" which are a source of unaccountable funds. He listed as an example Tourists for Idaho Unlimited, which worked for Vernon K. Smith in his 1962 campaign for the governorship. "I think it should also be illegal for a candidate to accept funds from an organization not registered with the secretary of state, such as the Tourists for a Livable World," said Smylie. Rep. Ralph Harding, D., Ida., has been criticized by his opponent, George Hansen, Pocatello, for accepting contributions from members of the council. Harding says he received no money from the council itself.

Solon Won't Withdraw From Ballot

MOUNTAIN HOME, Oct. 27 (UPI)—State Sen. R. M. Wetherell, Mountain Home, said yesterday he will not withdraw his bid for reelection despite his conviction in federal court of failing to file federal income tax returns.

The veteran Elmore county lawmaker plans to appeal his conviction last Friday and has been released on bond thus staying a sentence of nine months in prison and fines totaling $4,000.

"I couldn't get out of the race if I tried," said Wetherell. "The absentee ballots have already gone out and my name is on them. If I withdrew now I would deprive the absentees of their right to vote."

Atty. Gen. Allan G. Shepard said earlier that he would not prepare an opinion on Wetherell's status unless he receives a request.

"If we did receive a request we would do as very best we could to issue an opinion immediately in view of the nearness of the election," said Shepard.

The state constitution provides that a person convicted of a felony is not eligible to hold office, but the income tax charge is defined by federal law as an indictable misdemeanor, not a felony.

The constitution also provides that if a person is imprisoned on a criminal conviction at the time of his election, he cannot qualify. But with the appeal there is apparently no chance that Wetherell will be confined at the time of the election.

GOP Women Hear Review of Controversial Political Book

Mrs. J. M. Jackson reviewed the book, "None Dare Call It Treason," by John Stormer, at the Twin Falls county Republican Women's club meeting Monday at the Regerson hotel desert room.

She said that in 1945 the communists held 180 million Russians in slavery. "Today, after the United States spent 600 million dollars in the fight against communism, and 80,000 lives lost, the communists are absolute slave-masters of one billion people, and control 25 per cent of the earth's landmass," she said.

To explain how it has happened, she commented that "once rugged Americans have become a conforming, moldable, do-nothing mass. Mr. Stormer documents the subversive elements which have been at work in the world and in America's basic institutions."

During the business meeting, the special silver award to the local club for its accomplishments during 1962-1964, and the only club in the state to be named "Best Club" was presented by Mrs. Ted Scott, state president, to Mrs. Earl Johnson, president of the Twin Falls club.

A letter from Charles Lunte, chairman of the Republican central committee, was read; expressing appreciation for the $300 donation from the Republican Women's club.

A review, pro and con, of the three amendments to the Idaho state constitution, was led by Mrs. J. E. Hayes, followed by a discussion by club members.

An invitation was extended to attend an "Autograph Tea" on Sunday, Nov. 1, at Buhi, honoring a club member, Mrs. May Napier Burkhardt, whose book of poetry, "Shakespeare Was Never Like This," has been published recently.

Special organ music was provided by Mrs. Ina Judd, local club member, during the registration hour. The singing K's of the Burley Kiwanis club presented a medley of favorite songs of America.

Several numbers from popular operettas were sung by Karma Kidd, Sheila Stocks, Jo Marie Hall, Christine Haight, Susan Hendricks and Sharon Johnson, accompanied by Des Yarrington.

Witnesses Say Garland Is Drinker

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 27 (AP)—Witnesses at a child custody hearing now in progress in superior court have sketched a portrait of Judy Garland, showing her as a heavy drinker and a user of barbiturates.

Superior Judge Orlando H. Rhodes was scheduled to hear additional testimony in the petition by producer Sid Luft for custody of the couple's children — Lorna, 11, and Joseph, 9 — pending outcome of a divorce suit. The judge planned to meet with the children in his chambers before the hearing resumes. The hearing was recessed last night after witnesses testified Miss Garland, now in London, drank heavily, used barbiturates, once tried to jump from a hotel window, and many times spoke to the children "in a loud and intoxicated voice."

One of the witnesses was the singer's former manager, Vern- on J. Alves, who testified that in May, 1961, she tried to leap from a window of a hotel in Philadelphia.

Another witness, Albert Paul, former hairdresser for the star, testified that during a concert four three years ago, Miss Garland would "pack a basket containing her personal belongings — four bottles of white wine and an ice bucket."

In May of 1962, Paul testified, Miss Garland telephoned him and said she had taken too many pills. He said he notified her London agent who had her taken to a hospital.

Khrushchev's Attempt to Curb Rising Power of Red Army Reason for Ouster

By LEON DENNEN
NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (NEA)—The Red army, once the subordinate instrument of the communist party, has emerged as the real power in Russia.

On the 47th anniversary of the Soviet revolution, which Russians will mark Nov. 7, Lenin's dream of a universal communist state lies in ruins. Russia is now clear, is heading toward a military dictatorship instead of Lenin's dictatorship of the proletariat.

In the view of some specialists on communism, this is the real significance of Nikita Khrushchev's fall from power.

Leonid Brezhnev, who replaced him as chairman of the communist party, and Alexei Kossygin, the new premier, have neither the authority nor the popular backing to attain the pinnacle in the Kremlin, together or singly. They are primarily economic managers and technicians. They are not Marxist-Leninist theoreticians or skilled Red politicians.

Brezhnev and Kossygin are at best interim figureheads who will stay at the Kremlin's helm only as long as the Red army needs them.

They will, of course, continue to use the esoteric language of Marxism-Leninism which is a part of the Soviet mystique. But there is no question that within Russia and without, the job of the new men in the Kremlin, under Red army guidance, will be to pursue not communism but Russian national power and interest. Marshal Sokolovsky, the hero of Stalingrad, and other high-ranking Red officers—including Marshal Georgi Zhukov and Ivan Konev, who were disgraced and ousted by Khrushchev—are now believed to be the men who call the tune in Russia.

The elimination of Khrushchev therefore throws American and NATO policies into complete disarray.

Soviet military strategists always feared a conflict that they might have to fight on two fronts—in the West and in the Far East.

Although Khrushchev insisted that the Chinese would not have an atomic weapon in their possession for another five or six years, military leaders obviously were aware that Mao's atomic test was imminent. Indeed, it follows the ouster of Khrushchev by a mere several hours.

The Kremlin's new team is expected to reverse Khrushchev's policy and work for a rapprochement with Red China. This means greater Russian military and political backing of Mao's "war of liberation," especially in Viet Nam, Laos and elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

The feud between Nikita Khrushchev and the Red army had been brewing for months. It reached its climax and came into the open in September when Pravda printed a letter from Khrushchev after a delay of three days—Khrushchev's speech at an international youth forum in Moscow.

The speech was a direct challenge to the military, who had previously printed in the army's official newspaper a series of articles criticizing Khrushchev's net nuclear strategy. The articles appeared under the signature of Marshal Sokolovsky.

Khrushchev took issue with the prevailing Red army view about the importance of tanks and armored forces in modern warfare. He denied to tanks the ability to survive in a modern war and even to accomplish their combat tasks. He ridiculed conventional arms.

Khrushchev argued, in effect, that Russia was wasting great resources, especially steel, that were needed for consumer goods in order to satisfy the military. He also implied that the Red army was retarding for power through Russia's defense industry.

Right-wing officers in the army feared that Khrushchev's speech heralded not only a cut in Soviet military funds but also a new surge of the army. They seem to have struck before Khrushchev had a chance to move his demise. Khrushchev had lost the backing of many of his political partners in Russia in the ranks of international communism. His internal reforms in Russia were considered too risky by dogmatic Reds. The economic results of his rule were a failure. The Russians even suffered the humiliation of buying grain from capitalist America.

In foreign policy, Khrushchev had not achieved the global deal with the United States which would have justified his anti-Chinese position or canceled his failures in Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America.

The Cuban fiasco first brought all the disaffections in the Red world to the surface. In view of Red China's condemnation of Khrushchev, his departure is a victory for Red China's Mao Tse-tung. He emerges as the undisputed authority on Marxism-Leninism in the Red world. It is also a victory for the pro-Mao "internal Chinese" in the Kremlin. These want the West—especially the United States—to be occupied with sporadic revolutions and wars of liberation, and are opposed to Khrushchev's policy of peaceful co-existence.

However, it was not his foreign policy that toppled Khrushchev. It was his desperate attempt to curb the rising power of the Red army.

Demos Discuss Poll-Watching At T.F. Meeting

The Twin Falls Democratic central committee met Monday night at the county courthouse to discuss the campaign, financial needs and efficiency of poll-watchers and counting room watchers at polling places. It was pointed out during the meeting that statute 34-1207 of the Idaho code permits poll watchers. The committee voiced a vote of confidence in judges and clerks appointed for polling places in the county and that "therefore, any such watchers are very unnecessary."

The federal cut in corporate income tax rates, along with more favorable rules for figuring depreciation, has raised net income.

Rails are particularly busy just now in comparison with year's financial statements.

They have been helped by various trimming measures. Railroad operating expenses have been cut.

They are buoyed by making form or proposed should cut costs even more.

And the rails now are going to make a big change in equipment and efficient change as by tax relief. But also perhaps they owe their showing to the general business upswing that has brought customers.

Tobacco companies have having their well-publicized troubles. But the latest profits are topping last year's. Liggett and Myers, U. S. Tobacco, American Tobacco, and Consolidated Cigarette.

Most paper companies are now shaking off earlier industry and less trouble with surplus claims. Textiles also have almost unanimously to the side in early profit statements.

Japanese Relieved Olympics Are Over

TOKYO, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Japanese Monday greeted the end of the 1964 Olympic games with an almost audible sigh of relief. The consensus was that the games had been a disaster, a Japanese point of view, it had been worse—but much.

Japan spent more than two billion dollars to stage the 18th modern Olympic Games. Most of that was for facilities which will remain, and be used by the Japanese, long after the last athlete has departed.

But the Japanese had hoped to recoup some of this investment at least in a flood of tourists and dollars and pounds and marks—a flood which never came.

The government estimated before the games that 130,000 foreign tourists would be here for the games. The actual number was estimated at a maximum of 14,000.

Tokyo's shopkeepers and restaurateurs spent upwards of $50,000 merely on flags to decorate the city's 16,000 shopping areas. They spent millions of yen renovating and redecorating their establishments, and then sat back waiting for the money to roll in.

It never did. Many claim the games actually hurt their business—too many Japanese stayed home to watch television, particularly when their own athletes were competing.

Tokyo's thousands of bars and night clubs also had something less of a gold rush than they had expected. Tales of their proprietors, and unpredictable prices were around. And besides, one cannot but be disappointed to have complained, "There have been exceptions to the general picture of financial flop, however."

Cab drivers throughout Tokyo complain their business has fallen off all through the games. But those operating in the vicinity of the National stadium earned as much in the two weeks of the games as they normally earn in three months.

Ticket sales to Olympic events, however, were spectacular. Though no final official attendance figures were available, some organizers estimated they had 95 per cent of the 2,100,000 seats printed for all 163 gold-

Ridiculous

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27 (AP)—Coach John McKay, relieving Southern California's stirring last-minute victory over California, when the Trojan traveled 55 yards as the clock ran out, told this anecdote Monday.

McKay said that when he was hired as head coach, Dr. Norman Topping, USC president, said that among other things he wanted an exciting football team.

"After the game Saturday," McKay added, "Dr. Topping jumped over the bench on the field and said, 'John, I like your excitement, but this is ridiculous.'"

Chamberlain Returns to Warriors

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot, 1-inch scoring machine for the San Francisco Warriors, was back in the lineup Monday for the first time in a month.

Chamberlain, laid up with what had been called a "strain" and finally was diagnosed as inflammation of the ligaments, worked out Monday with his teammates.

A spokesman for the National Basketball Association Western division defending champions said Chamberlain may be ready for action against Baltimore here on Oct. 31.

Chamberlain, released from St. Mary's hospital on Oct. 22, would not have been eligible for an earlier game. NBA regulations require that a player who has been placed on the injured reserve list to miss five games.

The Warriors, playing without the Bill in the slot, have lost their first four games and are nestled at the bottom of the NBA's Western division.

The team spokesman said that Chamberlain has not been put on a special diet, but that his diet is "controlled."

Davidson Is No. 1 AFL Quarterback

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Cotton Davidson, Oakland's second string quarterback until a couple of weeks ago, is the American Football League's No. 1 passer today.

Latest AFL statistics show Davidson, a nine-year pro veteran, on top in the league's passing efficiency ratings after a five-touchdown, 410-yard game in last Sunday's 40-7 victory over Denver—the Raiders' first of the season.

The 30-year-old signal-caller, who considered retiring after losing his starting job to Tom Fears last year, completed 25 of 43 passes and set a club record for passing yardage. His career-high performance shot him past Kansas City's Len Dawson in league passing figures.

Davidson received 82 of a possible 80 efficiency points, 48 for Dawson and 41 for John Hadl of San Diego.

7 Starters For Texas Out of Action

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 27 (AP)—Seven starters may be on the sidelines with injuries when the sixth-ranked Texas tries to protect its national ranking against Southern Methodist Saturday, Coach Darrell Royal said Monday.

"We're at the saturation point. I've never seen anything like this before," Royal told his weekly news conference.

The Longhorns, without much doubt the best team in the nation, have had a consistent streak of injuries this year while winning five and losing one.

"The latest casualties are half-back Phil Harris, fastest man on the team, and Sandy Sanders, the star pass-catcher, and defensive safety Jim Helms."

Harris bruised a hip and Sanders injured his knee in Texas' 6-3 victory over Rice last Saturday. Helms has had a fractured bone in his wrist since September.

They probably will be joined on the sidelines this Saturday by both co-captains, linebacker Timmy Doerr and quarterback Jim Hudson and both starting tackles, Diron Talbert and John Elliott.

Doerr injured a knee two weeks ago against Arkansas. Hudson has been out since the second game of the season with a knee injury. Talbert bruised a hip against Rice and Elliott re-injured a shoulder.

Andros Gives Team Second Day of Rest

MOSCOW, Oct. 27 (AP)—Idaho's Vandals took a second day off from football practice Monday after a double-header day.

Andros, jubilant over the team's 26-13 win last week-end over Washington State University.

Scouting films of University of the Pacific, which Idaho meets Saturday, were shown the night.

Andros usually holds a light Sunday workout, but he didn't call that practice either.

Only injury suffered in the week-end Battle of the Palouse was two-year letterman Rick Naccarato, Spokane, who received a shoulder separation, which he hopes to play in.

Andros promised heavy contact drills for Tuesday's practice.

Japanese Sports Fan "Riked Oripics Velly Fine," but "Grad It's Over"

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
TOKYO, Oct. 27 (AP)—The butane gas has been turned off under the Olympic flame and the world's largest city—gorged for four years on the "Olympics"—has a five-ring hangover.

But before Mt. Fuji sinks slowly in the West, let's get a Japanese view of the carnival of games just concluded in Tokyo.

Here's an interview with Toshiro K. Watanabe, a Japanese sports fan who watched events from double tandem cycling to ladies compulsory side horse, and also spent 11 hours a day in front of his television set during the Olympics.

"Watanabe-san, how did you like the Olympic games?"

"Oh, I like Olympics fine, but I think maybe I grad it's over now. Maybe time, whole town chiky."

"So you're glad, I mean glad, the over. But what did you like best?"

"Japan win takusan medals in judo and wrestling—Japan velly good at chess—tennis velly good at chess—tennis velly good at gymnastics. And malarion, Japan take third in malarion, got blonze medal. Sometimes right shine just light, blonze rooks like gold."

"I can see how that could happen. One thing, Watanabe-san, how come you say 'wrestling' instead of 'wrestling'? Since you seem to have trouble with 'wrestling,' I thought it would come out, 'wrestling.'"

"I say 'wrestling' because I think maybe you clazy Americans no understand if I say 'wrestling.'"

"Oh, I see. Did you watch the track and field? The Americans enjoyed that."

"I see Henly Call. He ichiban sukoshi lunny, all same like Bob Hayes. Also Jerry Mirra. He ichiban sukoshi lunny."

"Let's see if I've learned enough Japanese to understand you. Henly Call would be Henry Carr, I presume. And Jerry Mirra is Jerry Mirra, I presume. Who won the 10,000. Ichiban is number one. And Sukoshi is little. So takusan must be big, right?"

"Light. If you speak Japanese so good, how come you make me talk this in broken English?"

"I afraid I need more Japanese lessons. What else impress-ed you at the Olympics, Watanabe-san?"

"Oh, I see Talmala Pleas, the Russian."

"I presume that would be Tamara Pross, the large Russian lady?"

"Ah, so desuka. I think maybe she wear size 300 kimono. With big obi. She rook rike hippopotamus who has roat her swamp."

"You have a point there. And did you see the swimming?"

"I see so much swimming. I know national swimmer. Alltime pray that song at swimming. I rike Schorrander. Nice boy."

"You mean Don Schollander, who won four gold medals?"

"That's the boy. Terr me, do he or don't he?"

"What do you mean?"

"Change-change him?"

"Oh, does he dye his hair? No, he's a natural blonde."

"Rooks pretty sirry."

"Well, you don't see blonds around here every day. Watanabe-san."

"Don't see Olympics every day. Other. And I be happy to see Olympics again. I rike Bayonara."

"Bayonara, Watanabe-san."

Cage Hall of Fame Adds Nine

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27 (AP)—Nine players of yester-year, two whose careers go back to 1900, were elected Monday in the 1964 J. Edgar Hall of fame basketball hall of fame.

Three coaches were also added to the foundation's honor roll: Russell B. Hake, Akron, 1923-43; Leonard Sachs, Loyola of Chicago, 1925-35; and Gustave T. T. North Carolina State, 1925-1930.

The older players named were Julian Hayward, Wealeys, and Helmer Swenhol, Wisconsin, both 1908-1909.

The other players were Arthur Browning, Missouri; Emanuel Goldblatt, Pennsylvania; William Nash, Columbia; Hubert Pennypacker, Indiana; Fred Pralle, Kansas; Carey Spicer, Kentucky; and Gerald Tucker, Oklahoma.

Oilers Are Unhappy About Game Rulings

HOUSTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Houston Oilers quarterback George Blanda says the officials who were in charge of the Houston-San Diego game Sunday are "the worst in the league."

The American Football league game, played in the mud and marred by a flatline near the half, was won by San Diego 20-17.

Charger tackle Ernie Ladd was ejected from the game following the flatline. Blanda said the game "was stolen from us."

The cause of Blanda's anger was the ruling on his field goal attempt late in the game which would have tied the score and a holding penalty that broke the back of an Oiler drive prior to the field goal attempt.

Blanda and rookie quarterback Don Trull, who held the ball said the try from the 34-yard line with less than one-half minute to play was good. The officials ruled it was wide.

"I'm no cry-baby," said Blanda, "but we got this one stolen from us."

"I'll guarantee you the ball went through. Sure, it drifted off to the right after it crossed, but that's not what counts. It was good when it went over. I'll guarantee you that."

Trull said "It went through TRY TIMES-NEWS WANT ADS

Johnson and Nixon Will Visit Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 27 (AP)—President Johnson will make a major campaign speech in Salt Lake City Thursday and the next day former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will address a Republican fund-raising dinner.

President Johnson's appearance in Utah—his second of the campaign—was announced yesterday by Sen. Frank E. Moss, D., Utah.

Moss said the President will arrive at the Salt Lake airport Wednesday about 11:20 p.m. after a half-day campaign tour in California. He will go straight to the Hotel Utah to spend the night.

The half-hour speech will be in the Salt Lake tabernacle Thursday at 10 a.m., after which he will be driven to the airport.

Before going to the tabernacle, the President will visit privately Thursday morning with President David O. McKay of the LDS church.

President Johnson paid a similar call on President McKay last September en route from California to Washington.

Republican Nixon, the GOP presidential candidate in 1960, will arrive at the airport Friday about 6:15 p.m.

Hansen Stand On Goldwater Is Questioned

State Democratic Chairman Lloyd Walker questioned Saturday whether George Hansen, GOP congressional candidate from Idaho's second district, has repudiated the policies of Sen. Barry Goldwater, GOP presidential hopeful.

Said Walker, "George Hansen's apology for the Republican smut film shown on the Boise television station reveals clearly the crumbling Republican party."

Mr. Hansen has been shaking his support of Senator Goldwater, but suddenly denies any connection with the Citizens for Goldwater or any responsibility for their indecent film.

"He, like the eastern Republicans, suddenly finds it convenient to have nothing to do with the senator's trigger-happy irresponsibility."

"Now, what about the Goldwater issues? Does he still agree with him that Snake river water should be sent to Arizona and California?"

"Will George Hansen vote to make social security voluntary and destroy it as the senator has suggested? Will he vote with the senator to immediately and finally terminate all farm support? Will he vote against Idaho reclamation as the senator has done and support Goldwater's billion dollar boondoggle for Arizona?"

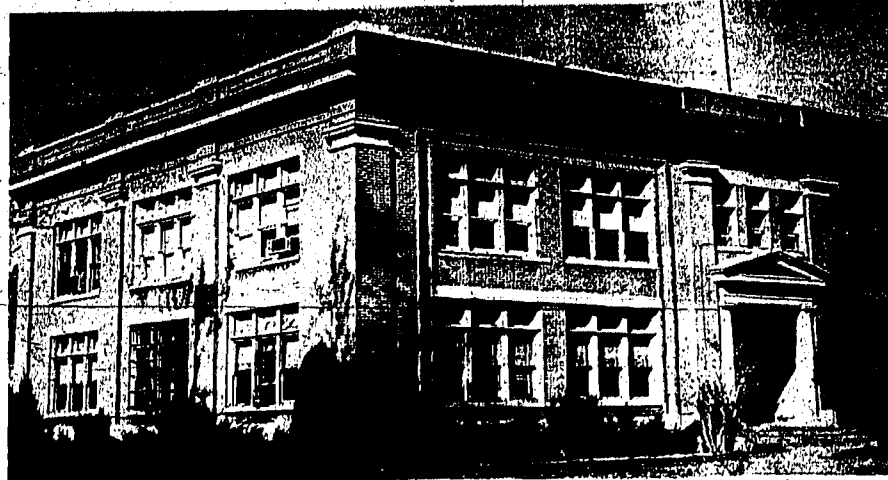

"Now that George Hansen has repudiated the senator's immoral TV movie, we are all interested in whether he still supports the rest of his crackpot schemes."

Minidoka Citizens to Vote on $498,000 Bond Issue Nov. 3 for New Courthouse

RUPERT, Oct. 27 — Voters in Minidoka county will have an opportunity to decide whether or not a new courthouse building should replace the 50-year-old structure presently serving the county's needs, when they go to the polls Nov. 3.

Real property owners will be voting on a bond issue in the amount of $498,000 to defray the expenses of erecting and furnishing a courthouse for Minidoka county.

Minidoka county commissioners took the first step toward the improvement of the present building early in January when they hired an architectural firm to make recommendations on the courthouse. Remodeling of the present structure was found to be too costly and prohibitive.

Negro Magazine Goes Democrat

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Ebony magazine has endorsed President Lyndon B. Johnson for election.

Ebony, a national Negro monthly, said in its November issue that the presidential election involves not only civil rights but also federal aid to help Negroes "climb a little higher."

"Economically, the Negro is still on the bottom rungs of the ladder, and it will take federal aid in one way or another to permit him to climb a little higher," the magazine said.

"President Johnson's anti-poverty program is designed in such a way that it cannot help but aid the Negro."

Gets Ear

CHRIST CHURCH, England, Oct. 27 (AP)—Half an ear of 10-year-old Roger Lister was sewn back on after a policeman found it in the wreckage of his car following an accident.

After these recommendations were made, commissioners went ahead with plans for a new courthouse building.

The architectural firm of dropping and Kelly was hired to submit plans and costs, after several revisions were accepted.

In January, 1916, a public meeting was held to discuss the question of a new courthouse after the permanent location of the county seat was decided in an election in 1914. It was felt that a courthouse facility could be built for $25,000 and bonds were sold to five per cent interest.

In July, 1916, ground was broken for construction of the present courthouse and one year later, county officials moved into the new quarters.

Considerable expenditures have gone into the building in recent years with extensive remodeling on the upstairs of the building.

Also a new jail building was provided two years ago.

The principal complaints about the present structure seem to be that it doesn't have enough office and storage space, and it is very hard to keep warm during the winter. It also is becoming increasingly expensive to maintain as it grows older. Plumbing and electrical facilities in the building are antiquated and inadequate.

Due to inadequate facilities in the present courthouse, outside office space is now being rented at approximately $2,000 yearly.

Plans call for a one-story building with a basement and emergency operation center to be constructed on the same ground now occupied by the present courthouse. The new building would adequately house all county office and district judge quarters with additional storage room in the basement. Additional space can be added to the present plans.

inter on it if it is necessary.

Growth in Minidoka county ranks third among counties in Idaho during the past ten years and additional space is required each year.

The new building would call for 27,000 square feet of space including the basement area. Total cost of the first floor and basement would amount to $423,000; design costs $25,000. The emergency operating center would amount to $20,500 with one-half this sum provided by federal assistance.

Demolition of the existing courthouse would be about $10,000 and furnishing the new building would cost $40,000 with contingencies set at $9,775. Total cost of the project would amount to $498,000.

Estimated cost of the new courthouse to the homeowner with a fair market value of $20,000, would be $5.

The commissioners point out the average cost of a northside farm with a fair market value of $45,000, would cost the taxpayer $13.75, both real and personal.

Organist to Give Concert On Saturday

BURLEY, Oct. 27 — Richard Leibert, concert organist, will present the first Mini-Chania community concert at 8:15 p.m. Saturday in the Burley high school auditorium.

The famed organist at Music hall, Radio City, N. Y., and nationally known radio and recording artist was born in Bethlehem, Pa., and educated in the Moravian schools. His first public appearance as an organist was at the age of 7 when he played the hymns for Morning chapel services. In the far corner of the chapel reposed an old pipe organ.

After school Leibert would bribe, cajole, or browbeat his classmates into pumping the bellows so that he could become familiar with his instrument.

He studied piano under Hans Roemer and at the age of 15 moved with his family to Washington, D. C. It was here that Leibert became seriously interested in the pipe organ. His first engagement was at Leew's Palace theater where he served as a summer replacement.

At this time Leibert heard of the scholarship award to be given by Peabody Conservatory of Music, Baltimore. Leibert won a three-year scholarship.

As a theater organist he was heard in movie palaces of Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago and finally became organist of the Brooklyn Paramount theater. As the Radio City Music hall was nearing completion Leibert was invited to compete for the position of chief organist and was among 15 other applicants.

Leibert played last and did a medley of all the music of the other contestants. The judges unanimously selected Leibert. He was given the title of chief organist of the famed Radio City Music Hall, a position he still holds.

He is a member of the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, and the ACO. The most popular of his compositions is his delightful "Waltz, Come Dance With Me."

As master of the concert organ he has appeared as soloist with major symphony orchestras, including those of Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Rochester. He has appeared as guest artist with the noted conductors Paul Whiteman, Charles Previn, Alexander Smallens, Raymond Paige, Erno
