Demo Chairman Notes Shock Of Assassination Remains

Floyd J. Walker, Twin Falls, state Democratic chairman, said Saturday that a year "is not enough time" for Americans to "measure the greatness" of John F. Kennedy.

In a statement issued to the press on the occasion of the first anniversary of the late president's assassination, Walker declared, "One year ago we all listened in shocked disbelief to the announcements that our president was dead. A sense of numbness, sorrow and fear pervaded the nation. Today, that deep sense of shock remains with us. We are still unable to comprehend the greatness of Kennedy without sorrow and tears.

"One year is not yet enough time for any of us to measure the greatness of this young and vital man," he continued. "Yet, we all know he was a great man. His vision, integrity and spirit lifted us all above the ruts of a pessimism which so often accompany our lives. We faced, with our President, the challenges of the future with courage and confidence. Life with President Kennedy was not just an exciting and thrilling adventure.

"He obviously believed that man was conceived in the likeness of God and that the goodness of man would prevail if the proper atmosphere could be provided. He lived his beliefs and by his life set standards for us all.

Walker cited the impact of the President's death on the rest of the world, pointing out that he was mourned "temporarily" by the other nations. "The influence of John F. Kennedy's spirit still continues throughout the world as memorial tributes take place."

He noted that in Zurich, Switzerland, a 40-mile memorial march will be held today to commemorate Mr. Kennedy's death.

"Although we in Idaho do not plan such a march, we should set aside this day as one of thought and prayer. We should

U. S. armed services representatives also talked with boys, reminding them for various branches of the service.

Crockett, who also expressed his appreciation to the sponsors contributing to his stay, talked with them on the legislative session of the state.

He stated they voted on bills relating to gross retail taxes, publishing the names of juvenile offenders, parents and guardians. Crockett noted that many of the boys were evidently very well acquainted with legislative problems and talked very intelligently about them. Other subjects voted on were union closed shops and the electoral system which they recommended should be changed to popular vote majority.

He thanked Faculty members of last year and Bernard Hayswood, superintendent, for choosing him as one of the delegates.

Kenneth Daw supervised the business session. In the absence of President Hal Houston, a copy of the budget was read with the amount stated as $304.66. Since Girls' State representative is sponsored annually by the PTA, it was announced that Boys' State representative also be sponsored. The budget of $345.50, including the latter, was approved.

WAXING SKIS for his ski shops at two ski resorts in Magic Valley is James Olson, owner of Olson's, located on Blue Lakes boulevard. He said this season may be the best in a long time. At his shops ski equipment may be purchased or rented. (Times-News photo)

New Equipment, Facilities Available At Booming Magic Valley Ski Resorts

By SAMUEL DAVIS, Jr.
(See related story on Page 3A)
With snow on the ground about a month earlier than usual this year ski resorts in Magic Valley are preparing for the opening day.
Some resorts will have new equipment, new lifts, new ski runs and some will improve and repair the old equipment. According to several sporting goods centers "it looks like more skiers will take up skiing this year than in the past years."
Snow depths range from eight to 24 inches at area ski resorts. Most ski resorts plan to open during the first two weeks in December but will open earlier if enough snow falls and the repair work is finished.
Area ski resorts include Magic mountain, Soldier mountain, Kinderhorn, Rotarun, Sun Valley ski resort, Pomerelle resort and there is a T-bar lift at Craters of the Moon and a ski run at Glenside summit.
Some eager skiers have already begun skiing at some resorts. They have to pack their own runs and walk back up the hill.
Magic mountain ski resort may open up on the week-end of Nov. 22 if more snow falls, according to James Olson who operates a ski shop there. There are about 18 inches of snow at the resort now and about two feet on top.
Olson, Twin Falls, will operate the shop on days the resort will be open. Items may be rented or purchased at the shop by skiers. The building is being constructed now and the hope is that it will be finished by next week-end.
Ski lessons will be given at Magic mountain resort this year for intermediates and beginners. The resort is located on the Magic mountain on Wednesdays and week-ends. There will be a small charge for the ride. The lessons will start the first Saturday in January. The resort will have two new ski runs this year. Claude Jones, operator of the resort, operates a snow plow during the winter to try and keep the roads as clear as possible.
Ski patrols will be on hand to police the ski resorts and to render assistance and first aid. Members of some resort patrols are now taking a refresher course in first aid through the Red Cross.
Olson said Saturday they will try to get junior ski races started at Magic mountain on Wednesday. The races will be for 8 to 12 and anyone may participate.
Soldier mountain ski resort has been scheduled to open Dec. 10. Races will run from Twin Falls and other neighboring towns to the lift, located 10 miles north of Fairfield. It will be open from 10 a.m. until 4 or 4:30 p.m. depending on the attendance.
Olson will also operate a ski shop near the lodge at Soldier mountain.
An instruction school for both beginners and advanced skiers will start Dec. 10. Private instruction will be available.
Kinderhorn, Gooding, will be the instructor and he and Don Oiler are building a new log structure near the lodge for the beginners' school. The ski patrol here will have new equipment and have improved the lodge.
Two additional towers have been added to the power line to strengthen and improve the efficiency of the operation, according to Robert Froelanson, one of the owners.
He said iron for the drops on the power line have been modeled and painted and the T-bar lift has been approved.
The owners, Robert Froelanson, Ben Froelanson and Leonard Hansen, have been working on the area since they completed their farming operations. All towers and buildings have been painted and brush has been cut and washed on the hillside.
The ski run has been widened from 50 to 100 feet.

The parking area has also been enlarged. It has been leveled and the capacity doubled. The lodge has been renovated and insulated. The lunch counter will be in operation as usual.
Canna county has recently widened and improved the road and eliminated some of the sharp curves on the road along Soldier creek. The road is plowed and kept open during the winter.
Rotarun, a ski resort, is being built because the Hatley Rotary club wanted it to be located four miles west of Hatley on the Hatley-Fairfield road.
A ski run was opened last year on Thanksgiving day but operators do not know for sure what day it will open this year. They said there is enough snow to open now but the lift is not finished.
Rotarun will have a new J bar similar to the one at Soldier mountain this year. It is about 28,000 feet long. Volunteers workers have been working on the ski runs at the resort in order to have it ready.
A larger warming hut will be constructed but the other one, located near the foot of the ski slope, will be left there. The parking lot will be enlarged and located about 100 feet from the lift.
Kinderhorn run will open soon. It is a new lift. A toboggan run is used by the skiers and some repair work has been done.
Pomerelle ski resort, located southeast of Burley in Hovell state, probably will open up with a couple of week-ends.
A new double chair lift, in addition to a platter lift, and a wide, two-way road will permit skiers to follow their sport much later in the season than previously.
The new road will have a gravel surface this season but owners say the road will be paved for the 1965 ski season.
The new chair lift will extend for a distance of 4,500 feet up the mountainside and the old platter lift will be discontinued.

Farm Bureau Has Report on Passage of Tax Resolution

The tax problem contained the resolution of the Farm Bureau federation convention held last week in Boise, reported Louis Reilke, Twin Falls; Donald Martin, Burley; and Marion Boudreau, Salmon, Idaho, who were the voting delegates from the Twin Falls county Farm Bureau.
Information compiled by the tax committee indicates that the agricultural income of Idaho in 1965 will be about 10 percent of the property taxes while receiving just over one-tenth of the total state net income. Actually, farmers received less than one-fourth of this income, they reported.
Martin reported that the first concern was that every possible avenue be used to accomplish economy in government. Since the tax study generally shows that property taxes are longer an indication of wealth or income, property taxes should be reduced and the reduction offset by an additional tax on net taxable income before personal exemptions, he said.
Reilke explained that state delegates felt schools should be financed on the ability to pay, as measured by net income, the tax to be collected by the state income tax department and returned to the local school district.
Pendergraft noted it was recommended that taxes on household goods, production tools and livestock, including the inventory tax, be eliminated and replaced by an additional tax on net income before personal exemptions. The tax resolution which passed as the result of a year-long study of the problem by tax committees within each county, a state tax committee and research material prepared by Lewis F. Lepper, director of legislation and research for the Idaho Farm Bureau federation, was noted.
Martin said, Twin Falls was chairman of the Twin Falls county tax committee and a member of the state tax committee, headed by Dale Rockwood, Idaho director of the state Farm Bureau.
The voting delegates also passed a resolution recommending an automatic checkoff of 10 cents per head on all cattle sold, with the proceeds to be used to promote beef consumption. Deductions could be refunded in full to producers who request it in writing within 30 days.
Twenty-five resolutions were approved by the delegate body.
Monroe Hays, Filor, who was re-elected as state director representing the seven Magic Valley counties, observed that this was one of the most gratifying conventions held in recent years.

COMFORT SOUND HEARING INSTRUMENT DEVELOPED
A new hearing instrument just introduced by World Famous Telex Laboratories brings a totally new comfort to those who need hearing help. It is especially for those who have used a hearing aid, or those who could not become accustomed to the loud background noises of ordinary hearing aids.
New, super tiny electronic circuit eliminates most unwanted noise to allow you to hear clearly as nature intended. Speech and music are clear as a bell when you wear this new aid. Harsh loud sounds that can cause such discomfort with ordinary hearing aids are automatically softened with Telex COMFORT SOUND CONTROL.
The new Telex Comfort Sound instruments are especially valuable in correction of nerve deafness, and the problems of those who hear but don't understand. It allows you to understand words spoken softly from across the room, in noisy crowds, or on a busy street with noisy traffic. Best of all, the new Comfort Sound instruments are hardly noticeable.

Richfield PTA Told of State Meet

RICHFIELD, Nov. 21 — PTA convention reports were given at the Thursday evening meeting at Richfield by Mrs. Day Christensen and Mrs. Ralph Riley, Jensen and Mrs. Ralph Riley.

Christensen reported on talks by various speakers at the three-day state meeting in Pocatello. One speaker, Dr. J. B. Schelling, in Pocatello, who said science classes are held under trees and there is a 40 per cent drop-out after the first grade. Schools in that country are to educate students through the fifth grade.

She also reported on a poll of 40,000 high school students in Utah which revealed the adolescents did not want classroom whistles or bell rings. They did want a chance to work and discipline. Pointers to teachers given at the convention included making children learn.

Mrs. Riley dealt with the mental health and retarded child development in the schools as proposed at the convention. At least 225 additional trained teachers are needed in the schools, she pointed out, or the needed help before too much damage is suffered by any child.

Failure to recognize symptoms of mental disturbance is the fault of teachers and parents, Mrs. Riley said they were told. Symptoms include unusual quietness, some shyness with a child desiring to remain in the background of activities, acting nervous, extra proper and good behavior.

Cub Scouts led Christensen and Craig King led the flag salute with Mrs. L. T. Sanders at Richfield, and more than 400 were cleared on the carnival.

The third grade and junior class awards for parent attendance.

Christensen, with president announced no December meeting will be held due to annual Christmas celebration and holiday vacation. Next PTA meeting will be in January.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Glen Ross and Mrs. Bruce Borenson, seventh grade room mothers.

Man Denies Meat Swindle In Warsaw

WARSAW, Nov. 21 (AP) — The alleged mastermind behind a meat swindle which resulted in the biggest "kidnap" ever reported in the country today, he had embroiled anything, but he admitted taking bribes.

Stanislaw Wawrzcki, former director of the Metropolitan Meat Sales organization for central Warsaw, made the statement today in opening his defense, according to Radio Warsaw.

Wawrzcki and nine others went on trial yesterday under a "summary" procedure, meaning they will not be allowed to appeal the verdict. They were accused of stealing nine million zlotych (about $375,000) at the tourist rate of exchange of 24 zlotych to the dollar) worth of meat since 1953.

Spectators were admitted to the courtroom only by special invitation. Western correspondents were barred, but Polish news media gave wide coverage to the affair, which has been cited as a cause of Warsaw's serious and apparently chronic meat shortage.

Italians to Vote Sunday And Monday

ROME, Nov. 21 (AP) — Millions of Italians vote tomorrow and Monday in nationwide local elections seen as a crucial political test of both the Christian Democrats and the communists who were staggered by the downfall of Nikita S. Khrushchev.

An estimated 60 per cent of the 32.8 million eligible voters are expected to go to the polls to select 125,000 officials in 6,767 municipal councils and 2,232 officials in 74 provincial councils.

Despite their local nature, the elections were considered extremely vital for Premier Adolfo Democrazia party and his Socialist allies and Italy's communist party, which is the largest in the west.

Moro's center-left coalition needs a decisive victory to restore its prestige, shaken badly by internal wrangling and the nation's economic woes.

The communists, who gained one million votes in Italy's general elections last year to control one voter out of four, were struggling desperately to hold their ground despite the lack of unity following from Khrushchev's recent ouster.

Boy's Sight Is Saved by Fast Action

TAYLORVILLE, Utah, Nov. 21 (AP) — A 1-year-old baby's sight was saved today by using two things commonly taken for granted — common sense and water.

Marianne Pickle, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Pickle, had just put four youngsters to bed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Mackay when she heard one of them scream.

"It was horrible," she recalled. "I've never heard anything like it."

She found Kevin Mackay on the bed with a supposedly empty bleach bottle in his hands. He managed to explain he had been looking into the bottle and some "water" fell in his eye.

Marianne rushed him to the bathroom where she poured water into the burning eye for several minutes.

He screamed harder than ever, but I thought it was the thing to do, she said, adding this was something she had learned in school.

A doctor who treated Kevin said he owed his sight to Marianne's quick action.

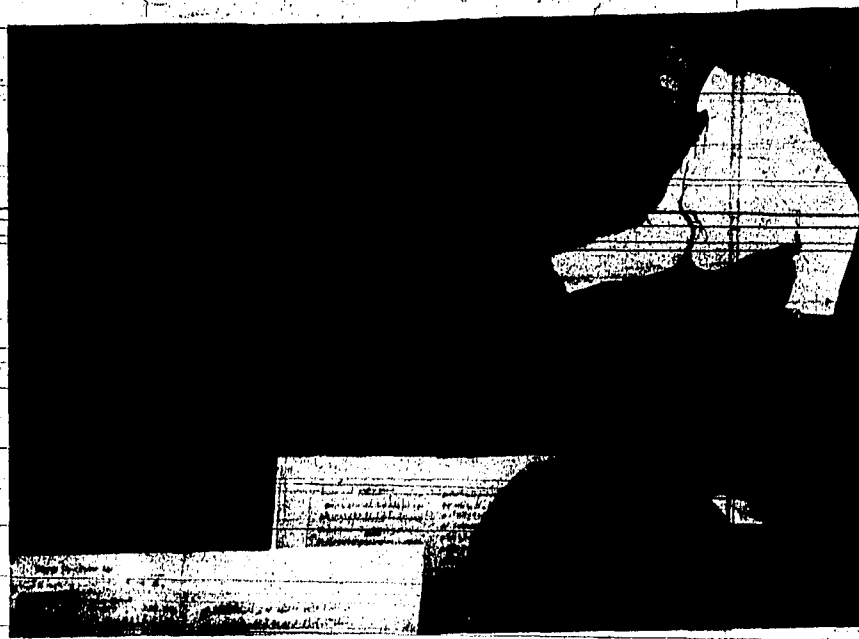

"I wasn't scared while it was happening," Marianne said. "But I was really scared after. And every time I think about it, my right eye twitches."

Tribute Paid Editor Roy Howard, 81

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP) — Statesmen and fellow newspapermen paid tribute today to Roy William Howard, the crusading editor who began his career as an 18-year-old reporter and went on to become one of modern journalism's towering figures.

Howard, who took over as president of United Press, which still in his 80s and later presided over the nation's 17 Scripps Howard newspapers, died Friday night at the age of 81.

Private funeral services, attended only by members of the family, were held today. The family announced there would be no public funeral. Howard's body was cremated.

Howard was stricken with a heart attack in the lobby of the Park Ave. building on Park avenue late Friday afternoon and was given first aid in his office upstairs. He later was taken to Doctors hospital where he died of a massive coronary failure.

The venerable editor and publisher was actively involved in the Scripps-Howard operation at the time of his death, and his sudden attack stunned many friends and associates.

New Simplot Plant Is in Operation

POCATELLO, Nov. 21 (AP) — The J. B. Simplot company's new dextrin ammonia installation at its plant near Pocatello has been completed and is now in operation.

General manager W. Grant McCune said his plant started up began last week with increased production each day. Today's production reached full capacity for the first time, and the plant is now considered an "stream" he said.

"Being able to produce anhydrous ammonia means that we are now basic producers of all three of the basic raw materials needed in our fertilizer production — phosphorus, nitrogen and sulphuric acid," he said.

Kilbourne noted that almost 60 new employees have been added to the Simplot payroll because of the new installation.

Area Justices Elected by Magistrates

BOISE, Nov. 21 (AP) — More uniform handling of traffic law violations was urged today by the Idaho Magistrates association. Two Magic Valley residents were elected officers.

At the final session of its first annual convention, the association urged adoption by the Idaho supreme court of "Idaho rules in traffic cases." The rules will standardize procedure and also provide for a standard form of traffic citations and complaints.

Other resolutions urged stiff penalties in negligence homicide convictions and an increase in the maximum penalty for overload violations from $100 to $300 to conform with those for other misdemeanors.

Another resolution urged that the office of constable be made appointive instead of elective.

Justice of the peace Glenn A. Phillips, Arco, was reelected president of the association. He was instrumental in formation of the group and he has headed it since its establishment.

Al Robinson, Twin Falls, was elected vice president, and Mrs. Wes Harman, Eden, was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Rupert Chamber Told of Pomerelle Ski Road Work

RUPERT, Nov. 21 — Through the efforts of several groups, Minidoka county hauled between 1,700 and 1,800 yards of gravel to the Pomerelle ski area, according to Gus Obodo, chairman of the highway committee.

The report was given at the regular meeting of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce Thursday at a hearing table.

Goode said the original cost of completing the road was $150,000 but completion of the project would cost approximately $200,000. Several groups in the Minidoka area worked together to get the road graveled before bad weather arrived. A few soft spots remain in the surface but this will be taken care of, Goode said.

Plans to off the graveled road are under way. It is hoped this can be accomplished through the use of federal funds.

Rupert merchants and businessmen contributed $540 towards hiring trucks to haul the gravel which was furnished through the Turkey area. Approximately 380 yards of gravel were hauled through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce; the county highway department, 876 yards; the city of Rupert, 425 yards; and the Klamper Band at Paul donated three loads or 63 yards. This amounted to $5,400 in actual dollars and cents value, according to Goode.

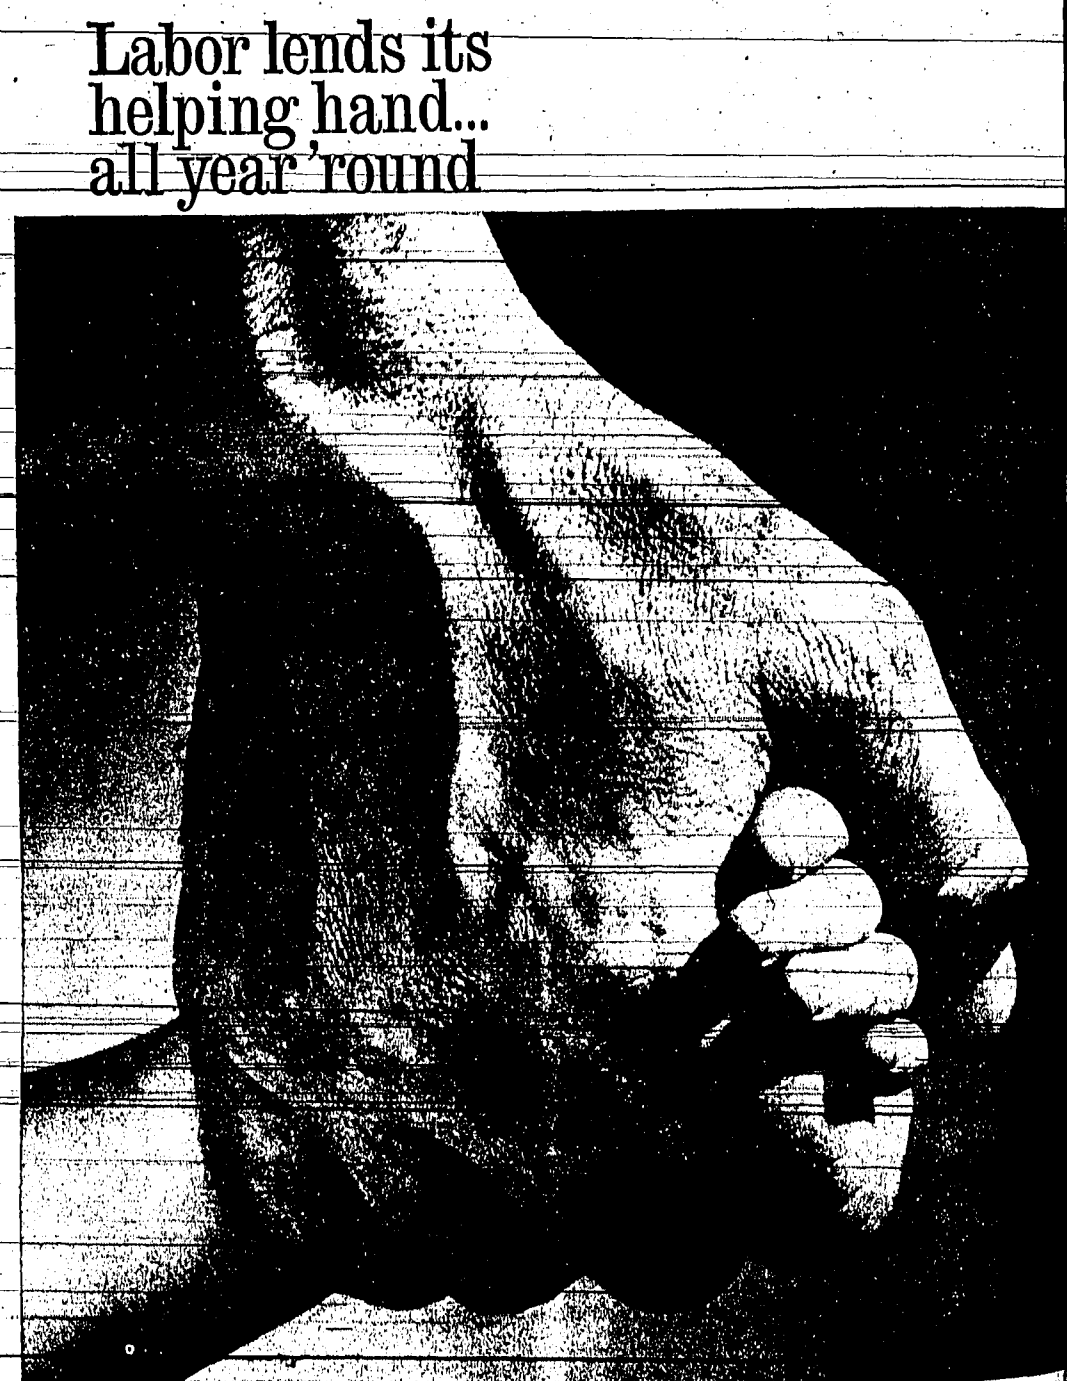

Members of the highway committee working on the project included Frank Lukens, Gordon Hanson, John Brog and Delmar Hollinger. Goode thanked the businessmen for their participation and efforts.

Students of the Minico high school presented the program. Monte Thompson, student body president, reviewed coming activities at the school. Basketball gets

Annual Ladies' Day Is Observed With "Tea Room" Fashion Show at T. F. Exchange Club

A fashion show at a men's service club luncheon meeting? That's right.

The Twin Falls Exchange club, as do most service organizations, has an annual Ladies' day, when wives are invited to a special meeting. Since the women probably would find a program on hunting or a panel discussion on business or politics a little dull, a style revue was planned as the program for the local club's Ladies' day, held recently in the Rogerson hotel Roundup room.

The show was arranged and directed by Mrs. Daryl McIntee, director and fashion counselor for Seventeen magazine, and women's department buyer for the Idaho Department store.

The fashion show was an interesting experience for all concerned.

It gave the men a chance to see where part of their bankroll was going to be spent this winter. Members' wives got a look at a wide variety of new styles for the fall and winter season, including ski outfits as well as informal and formal evening wear.

And for the models, all graduates of the eight-week "Seventeen beauty workshop" course, it was their first experience in "tea room" modeling.

Instead of modeling their apparel on a stage or runway, the girls walked around the tables as members and their wives were having lunch. Women attending the luncheon each were given a small writing pad and pencil.

Each garment shown by the models was numbered and if a viewer was interested in any particular outfit, all she had to do was jot down the number and she could get more details on the costume later.

The models commented on their garments as they walked among the tables.

Mrs. McIntee explained, after the style show, that the workshop course includes hair and skin care, styling, exercise and dieting, wardrobe planning and teen-age etiquette.

The workshop, usually held every three months, is sponsored by Seventeen magazine in conjunction

Hobbycrafter Members Combine Weeds and Spray Paint to Make Elaborate Winter Bouquets

BY NORMA HERZINGER

What does the word hobby as "a specialized pursuit that is outside one's regular occupation and that one finds particularly interesting and enjoys doing . . ." This definition fits the members of the Hobbycrafters club to a "T."

"I have heard it said that there is an indescribable enjoyment in creating things with one's hands." This must be very true of these women considering the lovely things they have made.

"From empty thread spools to weeds, we never throw anything away," said Mrs. Dolores Shumway, president of the local Hobbycrafters club. "Discarded things can always be made into something pretty."

Winter bouquets were the projects of this week's social meeting held at the Harry Barry park recreation hall. It is amazing to this writer how such things as weeds can be spray painted and decorated in such a way as to make beautiful and elaborate centerpieces and various other decorations that are a sight to behold.

One fascinating thing about these women is that they are self-taught in every project they have undertaken. The creative abilities of women are incomparable as was evident in their display table at their social meeting. The display included such articles as leather-tooled items, textile paintings, broken glass pictures, plastic jewelry, candles, copper pictures, crocheted items and aprons, to name only a few. The plastic jewelry, mentioned above, resembles some of the most expensive rock jewelry made.

One event always looked forward to by the group is their annual summer picnic. This is not just an ordinary picnic. The group combines it with a material gathering day, to conduct artwood, pine cones, etc., for future use in their many, many attractive and useful articles.

The group meets every other Wednesday to share ideas, visit with friends and make attractive articles. Once each month they have a birthday anniversary social and each member in the club having a birthday anniversary during the month is honored and presented a corsage.

The Hobbycrafters club was originally sponsored by the city. Although it no longer does so, the city does provide the recreation room for the group's meetings and social events.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merrill advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint is to gain a peaches-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion - beautifying cold water smooth on a little tropical oil of olive. This oil is rather scarce and expensive but your drug store should be able to get you a small supply.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 21 (AP)—Johnny Kerr scored three baskets in the last two minutes and led the Philadelphia 76ers over the Boston Celtics in National Basketball Association game before 5,004 fans tonight.

Oklahoma Drives In Final Period For 17-7 Victory

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 21 (AP)—Inspired Oklahoma smashed fourth ranked Nebraska's hopes for its first perfect season since 1915 today with two fourth quarter touchdowns that gave the Sooners a come-from-behind 17-7 victory. The Sooner triumph also stopped Cotton bowl-bound Nebraska's winning streak at 16 straight and put a slight dent on the Cornhuskers' Big Eight conference title.

It took a 34-14 victory by Missouri over Kansas to clinch an undisputed league crown for the Sooners. Oklahoma, frustrated at almost every turn during a disappointing season, played brilliantly and increased its chances of a bowl bid.

The Sooners, with a regular season game against Oklahoma State remaining, stand 5-3-1. Nebraska, which last Sunday accepted an invitation to meet Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1, ended its regular season with a 17-7 record, including 4-1 in the Big Eight.

Oklahoma's go-ahead touchdown came on a classic exhibition of ball control as the Sooners drove 22 yards in 24 plays with quarterback Bobby Page climaxing it by pushing over from the one-yard line.

The Sooners launched the march late in the third quarter and used up more than eight minutes of the final period, scoring with 6:16 left.

Oklahoma added the icing a few plays later when Allen Baumgardner intercepted a Nebraska pass on the 40 and returned it to the Cornhuskers 48 yards.

Nebraska's final back gambly but Sooner Carl McAdams intercepted Bob Church's fourth down pass in the end zone to stop the threat.

Oklahoma struck first with a field goal in the second quarter but the Cornhuskers came back quickly to take the lead on Church's 65-yard touchdown pass to Freeman White.

Syracuse is upset, gets bowl berth. MORAGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 21 (AP)—Kentucky scored two fourth-period touchdowns to host a 26-7 football upset over North Carolina today.

Fullback a roaring ovation as he limped off the field after suffering a slight leg injury in the last play of the third period.

Even 20-odd degree weather and brief snow squalls didn't bother Urbanik. He kicked and punned after time expired up the middle for key yardage.

The Nittany Lion, rolling to their 20th consecutive winning season with a 6-4 record, also scored on a one-yard plunge by Urbanik's substitute, Dave McNaughton, and a five-yard sweep by Dirk Nye.

The Penn State defense shackled the Panther offense and led the Panther defense to a 20-7 victory in the third period, but fullback Barry McKnight fumbled and state's Bob Kane recovered to the Panthers' special units.

Miami explosion beats Vanderbilt. MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 21 (AP)—The Miami Hurricanes, aided by two big breaks, scored three touchdowns to beat Vanderbilt 35-17 in their fourth straight football victory.

Sophomore quarterback Bob Minteroff went across for 63 yards, the first of 63-yard drives and the others after fumbles that gave the ball to Miami at the Vanderbilt one and the 17.

Paul Guzzi's pass interception set up the O'Grady's second touchdown and late in the finale he killed a Yale drive when he picked end Bob Kenney's fumble out of the air.

Yale, playing without star fullback Chuck Morein, had taken a 14-12 lead 13 seconds before the half on an aerial play and an incredible happening.

A Yale punt bouncing toward the end zone was battered backward by end Danny O'Grady as he overran the ball and punter Hiram Carey downed it on the three.

McCluskey, trying to run out the clock, started into the line with 10 seconds to go and made an unbelievable fumble which O'Grady recovered on the seven. Yale quarterback Ed McCarty faked a pass, took two steps to his right, cut upfield and made the end zone.

Trojans Unleash Awesome Attack In 34-13 Romp

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21 (AP)—Southern California blasted UCLA out of the Rose bowl race Saturday, presenting an awesome attack that crushed the Bruins 34-13. Performing before 62,108 in Memorial Coliseum, the largest college turnout of the year in Los Angeles.

quarterback Craig Fertig threw three touchdowns passes, and with his array of great running backs, notably Mike Currett, scored in every quarter.

Running up the largest score in the Crosstown series since 1944, the Trojans posted a nine-loss record in the Pacific Athletic conference of 3-1 this season, and an over-all season record of 8-3.

Fertig passed 31 yards to Dave Moton to climax a 77-yard thrust for the first touchdown, and an 80-yard drive ended with a 28-yard run by Rod Sherman to give USC a 14-0 lead at the half.

UCLA opened the second half, going to 4-7 on a scoring strike from Larry Zeno to Kurt Allenborg from six yards out.

But the back breaker for the Bruins followed an interception of a Zeno pass to Nate Shaw, quickly followed by a pass play to Fertig for a touchdown.

The sophomore receiver caught the ball on the 18, wrenched off three tacklers and went on in. Southern Cal made it 24-7 after recovering a fumble. The score came on Moton's second six-point catch from Fertig.

Midway in the final quarter UCLA, with Steve Bieden in the quarterback role, collected 73 yards and scored on a 49-yard run from Sindell to Allenborg.

Trailing 28-10 after Bernard run, Air Force came flying back on Tim Murphy's passing. In fourth down, however, Tim Creech's pass—the season's 73 Air Force its third touchdown and narrowed the gap to 28-17 with 0:44 to play.

Kick Return Drops Cadets For Colorado. MOUNTAIN COLORADO, Nov. 21 (AP)—Bill Symons' 91-yard kickoff return for a touchdown pulled Colorado out of danger in the third quarter and insured the Buffaloes a 28-23 football victory over Air Force today.

Long punt returns, one for 54 yards by Ted Somerville in the second period, gave the Buffaloes a 10-0 lead in the first quarter.

Air Force marched for a touchdown with the opening kick, but Colorado stopped the scoring march the first time it got the ball to tie the score.

Air Force went back in front 10-7 on Earl Holladay's 21-yard field goal before Colorado took the lead on Tom Brown's 75-yard run after Somerville's punt return in the second period.

MICHIGAN WINS BIG TEN TITLE, BOWL BID

Wolverines Belt Ohio State 10-0 In Crucial Test

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 21 (AP)—Michigan's Wolverines frustrated Ohio State at every turn today, defeating the Buckeyes 10-0 to win the Western conference championship and the Rose bowl berth. The Wolverines capitalized on a break for their lone touchdown, added a fourth period field goal and then halted Ohio State's frantic passing attack to take it all.

It was Michigan's first Big Ten title and Rose bowl trip since 1950. Particularly distressing to Ohio coach Woody Hayes was the fact that Ohio high school football which got away came back to Hayes' "hilt" and hand him his first league loss of the year.

John Henderson, Dayton, Ohio, recovered a fumble on Ohio State's 20 in the second period and two plays later Bob Timberlake kicked a 27-yard field goal in the fourth period—Ohio boys scored all of Michigan's points.

In the final period, after Ohio had surged into Wolverine territory, Richard Volk of Waukegan, Ohio, intercepted two passes to halt the offense against the Buckeyes.

Coach Bump Elliott defeated Hayes in this big one after four tries. He succeeded his brother Pete of Illinois as conference champion and Rose Bowl representative, the first time a brother-and-has put the pair back in back.

Michigan capitalized on the breaks it received and Ohio State did not. Several times the Buckeyes were within shooting distance but just didn't have the power to cross the goal line.

Michigan previously reached the Rose Bowl in 1901, 1947 and 1950, winning all three. The Wolverines defeated Stanford and Southern California by 40-0 and 34-0 respectively and trimmed California 14-6 in 1959.

Coach Paul O'Shea will name the "Oscar award" which goes to the player who contributed the most and showed the greatest desire to win.

Sherwood's Sports Center will present plaques to the outstanding back and outstanding lineman.

Grabowski Guides Illinois to 16-0 Win Over Michigan State

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 21 (AP)—Junior fullback Jim Grabowski led Illinois to a 16-0 victory over Michigan State today, blasting 53 yards to set up one touchdown and romping 58 yards to score another and lead Illinois to a 16-0 victory over Michigan State in a Big Ten football double.

Grabowski entered the game with 538 rushing yards in conference action to 541 for the Spartans' Dick Gordon.

In the first half alone, as the Illini took a 14-0 edge, the 210-pound fullback ripped off 136 yards in nine trips while Gordon setled for 39 in 11 carries.

Illinois, the dominating champion, ended its season with a 4-9 Big Ten mark and 6-3 for the season. MSU, playing one hounded consistently by linebacker Dick Butkus, was held to 14 in six tries.

Grabowski wound up with an unofficial 187 yards in 21 carries.

MSU's barefoot booter from Hinawall, Dick Kannev, tried a field goal in the second period from the 52, but a bad snap from center didn't give him a chance.

LSU Downs Tulane for Bowl Bid

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Louisiana State, relying on the talented left foot of Doug McNeely, squared 13-3 today and clinched a Sugar Bowl bid.

The eighth-ranked Tigers formally accepted an invitation to meet ninth-ranked Syracuse, which accepted earlier in the afternoon after losing 28-27 to West Virginia.

LSU, with a Dec. 5 game against Florida still left, has a 7-1-1 record. Syracuse, making its first appearance in the Sugar Bowl, has a 7-3 mark here.

It will be LSU's seventh appearance in the New Orleans bowl and its sixth bowl game in the past seven years.

The Tigers ran into stubborn opposition. The Green Wave, a 14-point underdog, stunted the crowd of 500,000 when it forced a punt 3:20 in the opening quarter.

Tarheels Beat Duke Out of Title

CHARLOTTE, N.C., Nov. 21 (AP)—Ken Willard and Eddie Koster powered North Carolina to a 21-16 victory over Duke today to knock the Blue Devils out of the Atlantic Coast conference title and hand it to North Carolina State.

Willard, 230-pound senior of Richmond, Va, scored two touchdowns.

Willard kicked over from the Duke one for a touchdown own in the first period to give a 9-yard drive. The Tarheels ran their margin to 14-3 in the second quarter when quarterback Cary Black threw a nine-yard scoring pass to end Billy Axello.

Duke got on the scoreboard late in the first period when Mark Caldwell kicked a 30-yard field goal.

Washington Rips WSU 14-0 for Intra-State Win

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 27 (AP)—The purple people eaters of Washington's defensive line gobbled up every thing the enemy tried today and the Huskies powered easily to a 14-0 victory over Washington State. Nicknamed for a novelty song title which matched their Jersey colors, the defensive linemen completely squashed Cougar Clarence Williams, State's leading running and one of the best in the Pacific Athletic conference.

All the scoring was concentrated in the second quarter.

Washington had missed two field goal attempts in the opening period.

Jim Lambright, corner line-backer for the Purple mob, set up his team's first tally when he pounced on a State fumble at the Cougar 24.

It took Washington just four plays to score, with sophomore fullback Jeff Jordan blasting the first four.

Ron Medweg, who had missed the field goal from 33 and 39 yards, got the conversion kick off too low and it was batted out of line by State's Mike Peltor.

Late in the quarter, Washington's "triple-drive" play set a 61-yard grinding power with a 61-yard march that took 17 plays, capped by a touchdown with just six seconds left.

The Cougar line was subdued at the finish, forcing Washington to use four plays to make the last two yards, with Charles Browning negotiating the final half a foot.

Southall-Led Baylor Edges SMU by 16-13

DALLAS, Nov. 21 (AP)—Terry Southall missed around on his injured ankle but still was able to pass Baylor to a 16-13 victory over Southern Methodist today as the Methodists continued winless in the Southwest conference football race.

SMU had taken care of Baylor's passing very well for more than two quarters, twice intercepting Southall passes to set up scores.

But Southall started the Bears moving in the third period when he passed for 30 yards of a 70-yard drive. Tom Davies chipped in with 22 yards in running and Baylor had its first touchdown.

Danney Thomas kicked the 17-yard field goal of the day to push SMU five points ahead.

Then Southall passed Baylor on a 60-yard drive that wound up with his six-yard throw to Bruins for a touchdown.

Southall passed to Elkins for the two-point conversion.

Williams, who needed only 48 yards for a school season rushing record, wound up with a net gain of 37. Browning was the ace of the Washington backfield, averaging 5.4 yards of 65.

Wichita Uses Fumbles to Win

WICHITA, Kans., Nov. 21 (AP)—Wichita converted two North Texas State fumbles into touchdowns and a 14-0 Missouri Valley conference football victory today.

North State also capitalized on a fumble for its score in the last five minutes.

A. D. Whitfield fumbled on North Texas' second play of the game and Wichita's Dutch Davis fell on the ball at the Eagle five. The Shockers scored in three plays, Harold Myers going over the two.

The first time Illinois took the ball, it scored in 3:18. Grabowski bolted through the middle 53 yards before Lou Bouch brought him down on the two.

Two plays later, Ron Acka drilled across and Fred Custard added the first of his pair of extra points.

MSU's barefoot booter from Hinawall, Dick Kannev, tried a field goal in the second period from the 52, but a bad snap from center didn't give him a chance.

Man Injured In Car-Truck Accident

FAIRFIELD, Nov. 21—Ray McDonald, Blonstone, was treated for head injuries by a Fairfield physician and released after his car was involved in a collision with the trailer of a city truck at 4 p.m. Wednesday about six miles south of Fairfield.

A late model Chevrolet driven by McDonald struck the rear of the trailer of a truck driven by Verne Stokessberry, Buhl. The truck and trailer had just pulled onto the highway from a field.

McDonald, who is the Fairfield section foreman for the Union Pacific, was brought to the doctor by Judge Charles Soergin who came upon the scene.

The accident was investigated by Sheriff Elmer Paul Cox who said that visibility was less than 75 feet at the time, due to a heavy fog. He said McDonald's car was demolished but the trailer had only about 200 damage to the rear end.

Cox said earlier in the day a logging truck driven by William M. Osborne and a forest service pickup truck driven by Ranger Gary Smithley collided head-on on a blind curve on a private logging road near Coum Summit, north of Fairfield.

Cox stated the accident was unavoidable due to ice and snow and poor visibility. The pickup truck was badly damaged but the logging truck received a punctured radiator. Neither driver was injured.

Cox states citations are pending in the car-truck collision until further investigation is made.

Kramer in the petition claims that Mrs. Blair's liberty is restrained by virtue of her being on bond and being released on bail and as a result is not at liberty to travel about freely and carry on business as an agent of Wilmarck detective agency, San Francisco.

Mrs. Blair was arrested in June by city police after the department received a complaint from a parent of a minor child about Mrs. Blair's conduct.

Only One Iceman Left Of Many Who Formerly Serviced Local Homes

BY O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor
The iceman no longer cometh, he goeth!

It is a sad story, but in the years, the solitary and familiar neighborhood figure with a chunk of ice slung over his powerful shoulders is disappearing from the business world.

In Twin Falls only one iceman remains on the job and even then customers number so few that they keep him busy only during the morning hours.

The lone iceman is Eugene Larson, who works for the Twin Falls Feed and Ice company. His father before him, the late August Larson, was delivering ice for the firm when Eugene first started 40 years ago.

The elder Larson had been with the company 20 years when he finally decided to retire. Between then they account for practically all the years the firm has been in business.

Oddly enough, Larson did not join the ice delivering force when he associated himself with the firm 40 years ago. He delivered grain and feed, but the method of transport was still by horse-drawn wagon.

He remembers vividly the day when the company purchased the initial gasoline monster, later commonly referred to as a truck. It was a model 'F' Ford with hard rubber tires in the rear and air tires on the front wheels.

"Those rear tires didn't have much bounce," Larson recalls.

With the passing of the iceman just a matter of time, it is well to point out right now that even the ice consumed by the customers of today is not the same type as captured when ice deliveries first started in this area.

Today's ice is artificially made. The ice of old was natural ice and was "grown" in a huge pond which was situated in the vicinity of property now occupied by the Robert Stuart junior high school and the Hazel Dol nursing home.

The harvest was wintering and the finished product was stored in the icehouse and insulated with sawdust so it would keep through the hot summer, or until it was used.

What happened if the winter was a easy one?

"I cannot remember one that missed being cold all the time time period was utilized," Larson said.

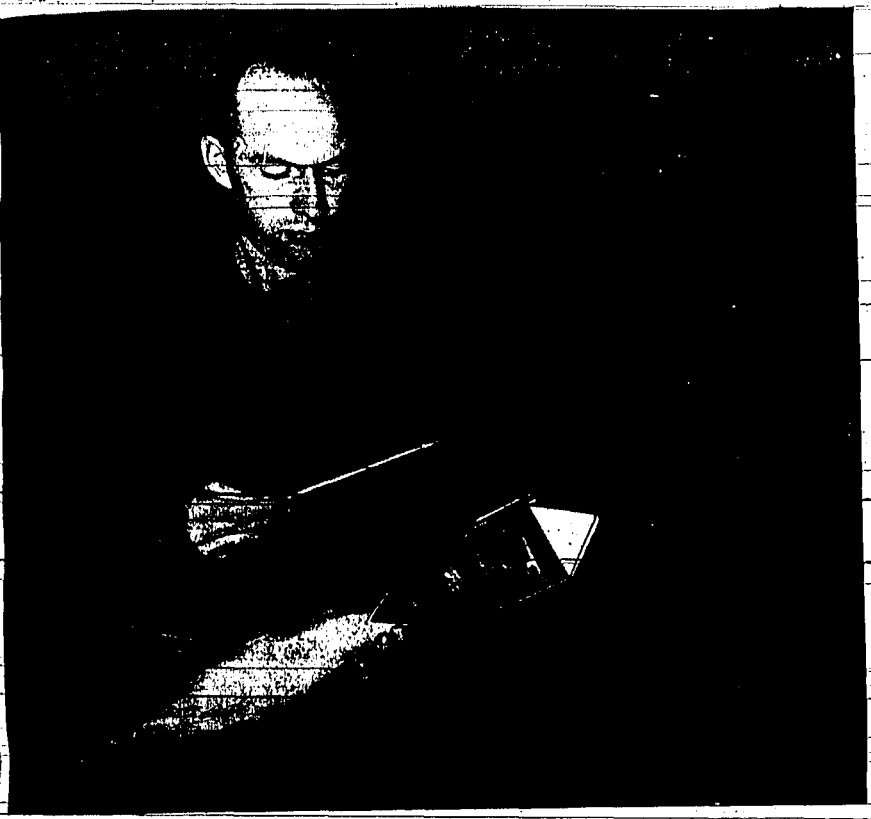

Fred Teitz, the company's veteran iceman, died only recently. He was a familiar figure in both neighborhood and residential areas of the city. When he started, the neighborhood trade was the big trade.

These were the days of the diamond-shaped ice card. They were given to each customer free of charge. The figures 25, 50, 75 and 100 were printed separately in each of the four corners. This made ordering very easy for the housewife.

If, for instance, she wanted 25 pounds of ice for the icebox she placed the card in the front window, or on the screen door.

Installation of Pipe Organ for Twin Falls Church Reveals Intricate Interior Design

There is more to a pipe organ than meets the eye.

This was graphically noted last week as experts completed installation of a new two-manual pipe organ at the Immanuel Lutheran church, Twin Falls, and church members as well as many interested people had the opportunity to look on during the work.

It is the first so-called "classic" instrument in the local area and was made possible by an organ fund which was started a dozen years ago by the Immanuel league, an organization which no longer exists.

The instrument will be used in worship services for the first time today and formal dedication will be at a special program slated for 8 p. m. on Sunday, Nov. 29.

Paul Rosel, head of the music department at Concordia Teachers college, Seward, Neb., will be guest artist at the dedication program, which will be open to the public. During the special special tours will be made of the church which itself was only recently completed. Richard Landerdorf is organist and director of music for the congregation while Herbert Elmpair, principal of the Memorial Lutheran school, also serves as organist.

Installation of the organ was under the direction of Richard Mitchell, Salt Lake City, representative for the Wicks Organ company, Highland, Ill. He was assisted by Ronald Pohl, also of Salt Lake City.

Case work for the organ was under the direction of Gene Ruhlter, and Martin Ruhlter, both members of the local congregation.

The new instrument was custom made for the local church by the organ company. The special design called for "clear" tone voicing and stops. Tonal colors used in the organ are the same as those employed in instruments built in the 16th and 18th centuries, when the great bulk of the music for Lutheran services was written.

The classical voicing was further achieved by use of the open-toe method of pipe construction, by shoring the pipes to low wind pressure, less than two inches. Until recent

MODERN-DAY customers demand crushed ice, such as Eugene Larson, last of a long line of icemen, carries in the fall in his hold. Original delivery of ice in this area was by horse-drawn vehicles which have long been retired. Once hundreds of customers had ice delivered to their homes. Not one is serviced at the present time. Episcopalians of Shoshone Started Church When Town Was Rough

SHOSHONE, Nov. 21—It was back in 1880 when a group of Episcopalians in Shoshone, then a rough and ready frontier town, organized themselves into a congregation called the Church of the Good Shepherd.

That congregation, now known as Christ church, is this month celebrating the 75th anniversary of its founding. It is one of the oldest congregations in Magic Valley in point of uninterrupted service and its early history is merely a reflection of the history of Shoshone.

The building of the Oregon Short Line railroad brought civilization to the area (correctly pronounced Shoshone) and it was through the new town that most of the materials which were used to build other communities—such as Twin Falls—passed.

The route for what was to become a main line of the Union Pacific was first surveyed from Orem, Utah, to Huntington, Ore., between 1867 and 1869. The Ketchum crossed the Snake for a branch line. A townsite was surveyed on the south side of the river at that point and Shoshone was born.

On Feb. 7, 1883, a small bulge-muscle locomotive moved cautiously up the track being constructed in front of it. It stopped east of where the present depot is located. The first train had reached Shoshone—a small locomotive and two flat cars.

Shoshone was in Alturas county when it came into being. An early member of the congregation—Mrs. Leah M. Burnside, recorded her reminiscences of the first 10 years of Shoshone in an article which appeared in 1931 in the Shoshone (now Lincoln County) Journal. She recorded that saloons and gambling houses were many in those days and that, along with establishments in which featured "dancing girls," they remained open 24 hours a day. The first jail was erected on Post street in 1883.

The structure—the first permanent building in town—still stands.

About that time a small frame schoolhouse was built and Robert J. McMahon became the first

AP Reporter Recalls Tragic Day

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—It still is a bad dream that couldn't happen in real life. But it did on that day of Nov. 22, 1963, when a vibrant young President was murdered.

It had rained in Fort Worth, Tex., that morning. When I stepped out of the window of my room I saw that despite the drizzle, a crowd already had gathered in the parking lot across the street where President Kennedy was scheduled for a brief appearance.

By the time the smiling President stepped out of an elevator in the crowded lobby two hours later, the sun had broken through. Flanked by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, the president walked across the street in a light mood, his expression to the friendly crowd

AFTER-SERVICE conversations drifted to the "old days" this month as congregation members and visitors at Christ church, Episcopal, Shoshone, observed the 75th anniversary of its founding. The Rev. John Turk has made an intensive research into past history of the church. In this picture, Mrs. Claude Chess, treasurer, is seen, left background, while the boy is Keith Mabbitt, one of 11 fourth-generation members. Foreground, from left, are Mr. and Mrs. August Carlson, visitors from Wisconsin, talking to a friend, Mrs. Ray H. Kelley, one of the new congregation members. Mrs. Rose Maddock, city clerk and pioneer church member, is at the right.

ELEVEN YOUNGSTERS, fourth-generation members of Christ church, Episcopal, at Shoshone, posed at the altar following one of the special services marking the 75th anniversary of the formation of the congregation. Pictured, front row, from left, are Christian Hansen and Joseph Mabbitt; second row, from left, Charles Hansen, Keith Mabbitt, Larry Mabbitt and Dennis Mabbitt; back row, from left, Mary Kay Alexander, Catherine Hansen, Thomas Alexander, Charles and William Mabbitt.

LOOKING AT A "grandmother's clock" which is one of her prized antique possessions is Mrs. B. J. Boyd, Buhl. Although the clock has been modernized (encased in an attractive solid walnut cabinet), it still bears the original works. A charming new face of white background with black Roman numeral letters has been added, but the original brass pendulum is still ticking. The eight-day windup clock has weights totaling 18 pounds and stands more than five feet tall. The clock has dates showing it was cleaned Nov. 7, 1916. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Much socialism through the years has been given the grandfather's clock but how many have heard about the grandmother's clock? Mrs. B. J. BOYD, Buhl, is one of those fortunate people to have such a clock among her antique possessions. Although the clock has been modernized, it still bears the original works. The mechanism is all hand cut, some brass, some wooden. A charming new face of white background with black Roman numeral letters and hands has been added to the clock but the original brass pendulum ticks away the minutes and hours.

The timepiece, an eight-day wind up clock, has weights totaling 18 pounds built right into the paneling of the cabinet. Standing more than five feet tall it adds a decorative touch to Mrs. Boyd's living room. Mrs. Boyd acquired the clock from her brother, the late Walter Terry, who was a watchmaker by trade. Terry had the clock works in his possession since 1917, and always planned to fix the timepiece for himself. However, the years slipped by and years ago, upon the request of Mrs. Boyd, he renovated the works, had a cabinet framework constructed and gave it to her as a gift.

Of added interest are the recorded cleaning dates of the clock which show it was cleaned by a P. Brook Nov. 7, 1916; C. C. George in 1903; name unknown in 1884, and by Mr. Terry in 1909.

In addition to the clock other entrancing antiques that serve for eye appeal and captivate interest can be found throughout Mrs. Boyd's home. Lovely old fashioned china plates adorn the kitchen wall and antique objects are interspersed with the furnishings.

Unique items found in her possession are a delightful coal oil lamp of clear crystal with a tinted top. Carved lion heads serve as the handles and scroll work and lion paw design the base. And an exquisite reversible handmaids coverlet with a fringed edge, woven in blue wool and accented with a floral design and pastel scale symbols woven in white linen. The date 1834 is woven in one corner.

Pressed crystal wares dating back to Civil War days, black pottery, a solid walnut dresser topped pitcher and water basin of china bearing the original blue poppy floral pattern, a water brass bucket carried over the pioneer trail, and other fascinating objects are found among her priceless collection.

Unlike most antique collectors who have to search for years in uncharted areas, Mrs. Boyd acquired these as family heirlooms and as gifts from relatives.

Not only are the antiques fascinating at the Boyd residence, so are the stories Mrs. Boyd can so vividly relate about her ancestors. The most intriguing is the story of her grandfather and grandmother, which could easily resemble something one might have read in a novel.

The grandmother was born and raised on a plantation in Kentucky in days of slavery. Although brought up in this environment, she never did believe in slavery and when the Civil War broke out, fought on the northern side and died in Andersonville prison.

The grandmother, left widowed with six children to raise and all possessions gone, fled from the South. She homesteaded and raised her family where Springfield, Mo., now sits today.

Mrs. Boyd also can relate many other interesting tales told her by her father and has been urged by many to put them in storybook form. Mrs. Boyd's father, Miles Terry, moved to Idaho and purchased a farm here in 1916. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd still reside in the original home north of Buhl.

Mrs. Walter Thueson, bookkeeper at St. Benedict's hospital, JEROME, left work the day before Veterans day, declaring she was going to sleep all day on the holiday.

She did, but was back at the hospital at 7:15 a.m. Thursday, checking in for the birth of her baby, Helen, who was born at 8:10 a.m. and weighed one pound, 11 ounces.

The sisters at the hospital had laughingly remarked they might permit Mrs. Thueson time for a coffee break for the birth of her baby. The new daughter has two sisters and three brothers.

Unmistakably a 1965 Lincoln Continental.

You don't have to read the hubcaps to know its name. Nor do you have to peer at the Registration to know its age. This one is obviously the new one. The 1965 edition.

And that is the genius of this latest Lincoln Continental. It manages to maintain the classic continuity and yet there are ample evidences of its contemporary vintage.

MULE DEER are concentrated on range where forage plants have little cover. Bitterbrush is the main staple for Idaho mule deer. They like it and it is nutritious. Mountain mahogany is a close runner-up to bitterbrush. And sagebrush is the main-

Wild Animals Began Eating Unnatural Foods When Settlers Harvested Hay

BY JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho fish-game department biologists, Nov. 21—Elk and deer undoubtedly began eating unnatural foods at the time white settlers first started growing, curing and stacking hay for winter feeding of domestic livestock.

herds in the middle of late winter. In fact, mule deer on many ranges would be drastically reduced if sagebrush were taken out of the picture. A winter range having only one browse species is poor—it is not satisfactory. Deer also forage on juniper, rabbit brush and the like, but these are lesser species of browse insofar as digestible nutrients are concerned.

Countless wild ruminants since pioneer days have been partly fed on hay and whatever green feed was available to them in season. Entire elk herds numbering many thousands have been maintained on hay winter after winter for the last half century in Wyoming's Jackson Hole. Hay supplements natural natural forage until the snow has been followed back into the hills to spring and summer ranges.

Free-roaming elk and deer often come out of the foothills during the late evening or night to feed on haystacks. The hay in such cases is just part of the diet. When animals remain continuously on or near feedlots, however, they may get into trouble. Some of the most common ailments of such animals are indigestion and diarrhea. The immediate cause may be pneumonia or other complications resulting from malnutrition and generally run-down, weakened physical condition.

Nonetheless, a sudden switch from hay to deer kills may otherwise stem from complications stemming from malnutrition when there is not enough browse materials to go around on the winter range.

When the feeding program is stopped, many animals die, usually in numbers far greater than would have been in the case without hay.

Most western states have been through this discouraging experience and have come to realize that the soundest program is one which enables the animals to shift for themselves and become thrifty on native, nutritious browse.

When the feeding program is stopped, many animals die, usually in numbers far greater than would have been in the case without hay.

Elk and deer have a mixed diet of natural browse and hay. The hay is a staple, bitterbrush is the main staple for mule deer.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT ... Mrs. Cheney, Heyburn, Donates Much Of Her Life to "Juvenile Decency"

HEYBURN, Nov. 21—Mrs. Harlow (Lillian) Cheney, one of the most versatile women in the area, centers her activity around the young people.

At 39 she has the record of donating about one-half of her life to juvenile decency, both on church and community levels.

She believes that wholesome activity will yield the same type of youths. Her theory has so far proven pretty accurate from the many young people who have come in contact with her and been influenced by her.

She has worked several years as church youth group leader and also activity counselor in the Minidoka LDS church. She has received nine individual awards for church achievement and youth leadership.

She recently began her second term as president of the Minidoka LDS county council. The council has been unjustly criticized both on local and national levels.

"I feel that the education of our children should be the primary concern of every parent," Mrs. Cheney said. "I've already set up with an organization to work towards these goals of educating children."

"I feel that every parent should join his local unit and be active in it. It should be available to form a committee chairman position or other office and let his voice be heard," she added.

She attended her fourth state PTA convention Nov. 4 at Pocatello. She feels the issues presented are of most importance to education.

"This legislative platform is getting right down to the crux of the education trouble in Idaho," she pointed out. "They are suggesting a sales tax and the needs of education be met first. The per child expenditure of the state is $453 to compare with neighboring states. She feels it is not fair."

She pointed out that Jan. 7 is the tentative date for the statewide petition canvassing for signatures. They are hoping for 100,000 signatures to be put on the petition to be presented to the state legislature in January.

Mrs. Cheney was born May 14, 1925, in Mesa, Ariz., and is the wife of the late Mr. Harlow Cheney, who served as an LDS bishop several years. She is currently associated with the Spanish-speaking LDS branch, Burley.

She said the example of her parents has had a bearing on her life. They taught their children the meaning of "dependability." Although Mrs. Cheney has had rheumatoid arthritis the past 27 years it didn't stop her from being a good mother.

"I've used control over my life," she never denied us the privilege of having a happy childhood. Mama always was at home when we needed her—and she still is," she said.

The Cheneys feel that family closeness is important to them and all holidays are celebrated together.

Mrs. Cheney has an obvious talent for speech and drama which she has exercised since high school. After her marriage to Cheney they began working together presenting humorous skits and participating in area play productions. Most of their children became actors. They are in the Minidoka state ward.

She has three brothers, all of whom are school teachers, and one sister. Her mother is a former school teacher and her father, who served as an LDS bishop several years, is currently associated with the Spanish-speaking LDS branch, Burley.

She was graduated from the former Heyburn high school in 1943 and attended Weber college where she learned stenography. She received on the job training at the Hill field and was later transferred to the tool department where she did electrical service work.

She has been employed with the credit departments at C. G. Anderson's, Twin Falls; Montgomery Ward and Zellerbach Adjustment Bureau, both Burley. On Feb. 6, 1947, she was married to Harlow F. Cheney in the Salt Lake City LDS temple. They have four children, Paul, Frank, Billy and Melanie. Paul and Frank are students in Minidoka high school. Mrs. Cheney worked with the village recreation department for four years, has served as clerk on the county election board three years, has been a member of an extension homemakers club several years and is currently vice president of the local club. She is a charter member of the Lizo Literary club, is president of the Minidoka county PTA council, past president of the local PTA unit, president of the Heyburn LDS second ward MIA and served as activity counselor in the Minidoka state ward.

Switchmen Are Needed In Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Nov. 21 (AP)—South Africa is searching overseas for railroad switchmen to work here. The country is short of men for the job and is willing to pay high wages and offer the best of living conditions. The country's main transportation system is in a state of emergency.

The parliamentary opposition to Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's white nationalist government has joined newspapers and observers from overseas in calling the situation ludicrous.

It stems from a major plank in the country's new constitution—segregation—a platform known as job reservation. This says many jobs are reserved for whites and the nonwhites cannot be employed in them no matter how skilled they are. The needs of the national economy.

Job reservation cuts through most industries, such as clothing manufacture, building and automobile assembly. The more skilled jobs are set aside for whites only. In many industries the government stipulates a proportion of "minorities" to whites who can be employed.

South Africa's booming economy urgently needs skilled workers to maintain its reputation as the most developed country on the continent. It has a huge reservoir of nonwhite labor largely untrained because of the job reservation system. In the form of job reservation and certain categories of work, like railroad switching, can be done only by whites.

White immigration this year is high but it is a drop in the ocean of jobs needing to be filled. The state railroad administration has tried to find switchmen in Britain, West Germany and Holland and recruited 250 of the 1,000 wanted.

The poor response shocked the railroad bosses but not enough to budge them from their apartheid stand.

The shortage of railroad switchmen which threatens to handicap the national transportation system could be met almost overnight by drafting Indians, Asians—into the job, but policy does not allow this, says the Johannesburg Sunday Chronicle.

South Africa's total white population is just over three million. There are 12 million Africans, 1.5 million coloreds—people of mixed white and black blood—and half a million Indians.

Transport minister Ben Schoeman says some other categories of railroad jobs previously intended for whites only are now being filled by nonwhites on a temporary basis. He says how many of these who suggest nonwhites should be employed as railroad guards, switchmen and firemen, for instance, "are out of touch with reality."

They are digging its toes in over labor apartheid, the government seems worried.

AP Reporter Recalls Tragic Day

that Mrs. Kennedy wasn't with him.

"It takes a little longer, but she looks so much better than we do," he said with a grin.

After the breakfast meeting, which Kennedy presided over, the controversial RFK explains to be built in Fort Worth, the President and his wife made their way through the applauding crowds to the White House limousine from which the bubble top had been removed.

The presidential motorcade wound through streets banked with cheering and waving fans. Mrs. Kennedy was seated in the limousine with her husband and her two young boys. The Kennedys were showing it.

When Air Force 1 landed at Dallas Love Field a few minutes later, Mrs. Kennedy, wearing a fuchsia-colored suit, was presented with a bouquet of red roses.

Then the motorcade was off, heading for downtown Dallas. "Where the crowds filled the streets, pressing in so closely motorcycles were not clearing a lane for the open car from which the President and his wife were smiling and waving.

Dallas had shown with its warm welcome on that sunny midday that it admired the man who had been elected by a whaler and who had tried to "get the country moving" in his first 1,000 days.

As the motorcade made a right turn off "peace" street and into the tunnel, died and there were only a few waving spectators. Nearby was a building with a sign which read: "Texas School Book Depository."

The President's auto, four cars ahead, already had made the turn toward the underpass and was just completed it when there was a loud report. My first thought was, "Those Texans who they're shooting off giant firecrackers."

Then came two more reports, paced possibly five seconds apart. They had the ominous sound of rifle crack. The President's car had stopped. We reporters retreating scrambled to get out to run ahead.

But at almost that instant, a secret service man, riding in the front seat of the presidential limousine stood up, phone in hand and waved the preceding police cruiser on.

If that nubbed moment we all sensed that something horrible might have happened. But we had no way of knowing exactly what we had witnessed along a freeway at top speed in pursuit of the presidential car.

We circled around a turn and roared into the driveway of Parkland hospital. When we screamed to a stop I saw, as I scrambled out of the "pool" car, Mrs. Kennedy weeping, trying to hold her husband's head up.

Mrs. Connolly was supporting the governor who sat slumped in a limp seat, his head rolled back, his suit and shirt front covered with blood. By the time I had sprinted up to the presidential limousine secret service men were helping Mrs. Kennedy away. Hospital attendants were slipping Connolly onto a stretcher.

When I reached the car, there was the President sprawling on his face in the rear seat. There was a pool of blood on the floor.

Three twisted and torn red roses lay in it.

"Is he dead?" I asked a secret service man who stood guard.

"I don't know but I don't think so," he replied.

Then began the agonizing wait for some official word on the President's condition.

There was a report Johnson had been shot and that he had a heart attack.

Two few minutes later Malcolm Kiddruff, acting press secretary, rushed out yelling, "Follow me, I've got an announcement!"

As we raced after him, we knew the President must be dead but still clinging to hope, it died with the finality of the announcement.

A shining light had gone out.

Dislike for Sewing No Drawback as Local Student Hopes for Trip Abroad

Colleen Kennedy is going to Europe on a needle, yet openly admits she hates sewing. Actually the trip would not be made on a needle, but rather by jet plane should it really materialize, but the needle is closely associated with her plans. By making and selling things like stuffed animals of various types, dolls, doll dresses, clothing and the like, she hopes to provide the cash required for such a trip.

A junior at the Twin Falls high school, the girl resides with her mother, Mrs. Mae Kennedy, at 211 Addison avenue. As a result of the project, the front room is now doubling for a sewing room.

The mother is first to admit she really does not know what prompted the Europe trip idea her daughter has developed, but is quick to add that if the girl earns the necessary money she can go.

Miss Kennedy hopes for a jaunt next summer, but may postpone it until the summer following high school graduation. Her mother points out that it will take a lot of sewing, and a lot of ideas of different things to produce, to back the project.

It was a little over a month ago that the idea caught on and Miss Kennedy went to work. Cloth scraps around the house fast disappeared, and now she buys this material wherever she can find it in suitable amounts.

One agreement between mother and daughter is that as a result of work on the trip project, school work will not be overlooked. She is currently maintaining a B average, so this apparently will be no problem.

Meanwhile, the girl who hates sewing sews.

MAKING ELECTRICAL connections for a large organ presents more of a problem than meets the eye. Ronald Pohl, who aided in the installation of the new pipe organ at the Immanuel Lutheran church, Twin Falls, makes final adjustments as the job nears completion. This picture was among those made while installation was under way. All such connections are hid from view by special panels now that the installation work is completed. (Times-News photo)

Installation of New Pipe Organ for T. F. Church Reveals Intricate Design

The organ has 600 to 700 pipes, the volume has been to use a wind pressure of six to eight inches and at times as high as 12 inches.

Some romantic elements have been incorporated in the instrument so that it may be used for all types of organ literature. These include a swell chamber and a tremolo.

The instrument comprises 13 ranks of 815 pipes. The separate divisions of the Wicks organ follow the conventional pattern used for most two-manual organs.

Specifications for the instrument came as a result of consultations between Rosal and Lundstrom. Pipe scaling and voicing were the responsibility of John Sperling, tonal director for the organ company.

Negotiations to build and design the instrument were begun last November. A contract was signed with the company in January of this year.

Featured at the Nov. 20 dedication ceremony in addition to the organ, a piano will be the most pleasing arrangement for visitors seated in pews facing the altar.

The organ has been installed in the choir loft which is at the rear of the sanctuary. Experience in past years has shown that this arrangement presents the most pleasing arrangement for visitors seated in pews facing the altar.

THIS STRUCTURE is the present Episcopal church, Shoshone. The church group was formed 75 years ago when Shoshone was a rough railroad town and distributing point for other communities springing up throughout Magle Valley. This building, coupled for many years, was nearly lost through fire about a year ago. Members of the Episcopal congregation, through the years, have played an important part in the development of this entire month. All functions to mark the anniversary observance have been staged during this entire month.

Episcopalians of Shoshone Started Church When Town Was Rough, Ready

The Rev. Mr. Rowland, Presbyterian, who had just completed his theological training, was appointed to organize his first congregation. In 1884, a bridge had been erected across the Little Wood river and John Richards subdivided part of his homestead claim into building lots. Rev. Rowland bought one and erected the first residence on the north side of the town on a site that is now the northeast corner of City park. In an effort to encourage both education and religion, in the summer of 1885, five Shoshone businessmen began the financing of both Shoshone's first public school and first church. The Rev. Rowland's efforts to support the school and $75 to support the church being organized by Rev. Rowland. Services were held in a building on the site of the present Lincoln County Junior High School. This building was used for public meetings, dances and church. The Rev. Mr. Rowland never did succeed in getting a Presbyterian church organized for Shoshone, and left for perhaps what he hoped would be less hell-raising pastures within which to guide a flock. But his efforts were not entirely a failure as many of the supporters of his congregation were active in founding the Episcopal congregation. With the completion of the railroad shops in 1888, a building boom on both sides of the river ensued for Shoshone, and a bond election produced the lava rock school house, which was erected in the summer of 1889 on the site of the present high school. A school being appointed, principal and teacher. The Townsite company had offered two building lots to any congregation that would be formed, providing that a church building could be erected on the lots in a specified time. The local congregation of the Methodist church, which had been incorporated in 1883, quickly availed itself of this opportunity and erected a building in the winter of 1884-85. The Rev. Mr. Maxwell was their first resident pastor. Under the leadership of the Rev. Father Naffin, St. Peter's Roman Catholic congregation was formed and they had their church erected in 1885. Both buildings were later replaced by the present churches. Thus, in 1885, Shoshone had ceased to be just a hell-raising railroad construction camp, and had taken on the settled appearance of a town, with a permanent public school, churches, and a jail. During this early period of Shoshone's history, members of the Episcopal church, while few years, were in Wyoming, was frequently used for services. This building later was owned by the Knights of Pythias lodge and is now the Masonic hall. A ladies guild was in existence by 1882, and the good women formed the backbone of the congregation's efforts to erect a church building as well as a usual fare of dinners, bazaars and coffee-bridge sales. The ladies embarked on an occasional theatrical spree, for the Shoshone Journal of June 24, 1892, records that they were soon to sponsor a James Brown Follies at the original comedietta, "Snow Bound in Three Big Drills," which would be a cool amusement for a hot July evening. By 1892 sufficient funds had been raised and contractor Morrison erected a frame "carpenter-gothic" building facing the courthouse square. Free of debt, this building was consecrated by Bishop Charles Bowen Feltner at the "Christ church," by whose name the congregation has since been known. A bell had been purchased for the church and this was put in place by O. W. Pierce, who was a member of the congregation, and who brought the first electric power to Shoshone. Pierce, a nonogenerian presently lives in Twin Falls. That many persons from the area, commonly joined in the efforts to support the congregation and erect the church building, is attested by the names of many non-episcopalians recorded in the treasury's books, including donations received from Tommy Chishman, Charley Chishman and Murphy Chishman. Families active in the congregation in those early years included the families of Fred W. Gooding, William Mabbutt, Christian Hansen, R. M. McCollum, Matthew McFall, O. D. Novinger, O. X. Sims, C. W. Verrill, E. R. Cheney, O. B. Keifer, Sam West, C. A. Glore, Thomas Gooding, Evan Davis, Governor and U. S. Senator Frank Gooding.

Among the present members of the congregation, who have been members since the early days, are Mrs. and Mr. Arthur W. Hansen, Mrs. Rosa Hadlock, Mrs. W. H. Murphy, Mrs. Mathias Whitenack, Ambrose Mabbutt and Mrs. Delbert Stokley. Eleven children in the congregation represent the fourth generation of church families. They are Mary Kay and Thomas Alexander, children of Mr. and Mrs. Zane Alexander; Catherine, Charles and Christian Hansen, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hansen; and William, Charles, Donna, Keith, Larry and Joseph Mabbutt, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Mabbutt. Their respective great-grandparents, Mrs. William Isaac, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Hansen, and Mr. and Mrs. William Mabbutt were among the founding families of the congregation and pioneer settlers of Shoshone. (Editor's note: Much of the information for this article was furnished through cooperation of the Rev. John Tulk, present minister at Christ Church.)

WHEN ICE OAKEN reach the 400-pound weight class they are dragged, not carried, Eugene Larson, now Twin Falls' only ice-digger, shows the correct technique, although chunks of this size seldom have to be delivered. His father, the late August Larson, was delivering ice when Eugene joined the staff at the Twin Falls Feed and Ice company 40 years ago. (Times-News photo)

Bustling Twin Falls Down to Final Iceman as Refrigerators Take Over

 The figure 25 at the top of the page wanted 50 pounds then that figure was on top. It was as simple as that, and it saved the iceman miles of unnecessary walking.
 Most neighborhood boxes held 50 pounds, while the downtown customers—such as meat markets—had space enough for 100-pound chunks.
 Icemen were a hardy lot. Lugging chunks of ice around all day made them that way. Many of the nation's early football stars got their muscles by serving as vacation icemen.
 In the early days the "ice" portion of the business was really big. Now all that has changed. Most customers pick-up the ice they want at the plant. Deliveries now are made to only a relatively few downtown locations and practically all require crushed ice.
 Early-day activity also saw the icing of railroad cars to protect shipped produce. Now cars are refrigerated automatically. If ice is needed the railroad workers do the job themselves, at central locations such as postoffice.
 All ice delivered in Twin Falls now is artificially made from pure water.
 "In the early days when my father drove an icewagon," Larson laughs, "sometimes things were found in the ice which were never meant to be there. Now, all that is over."
 Once more progress is moving in to eliminate one of the fixtures of early day society in all cities.
 As a result of this move the ice pick, trusted teammate of the iceman, will surely follow. Will either the iceman or the icepick be missed?
 Probably not. After all, how many people under 21 years of age ever heard of either one?

Annual SOS Drive Is Slated Here for Thanksgiving Eve

The annual SOS drive, usually held at Halloween, will be conducted this year on Thanksgiving eve, according to the Rev. Ernest Hasselblad, minister of the Twin Falls First Baptist Church and chairman of the Twin Falls Ministerial Association's SOS committee.
 He announced Thursday night that youths from several Twin Falls churches will go from door to door to collect donations to be distributed through churches to feed the world's hungry.
 The Rev. Mr. Hasselblad stated that $1 donated to the SOS drive will pay for 300 pounds of surplus food and is guaranteed to reach areas where it is needed.
 "In fact," he said, "any administrative costs, such as advertising, are being paid by the Twin Falls Ministerial Association."
 The Rev. Mr. Hasselblad said youths helping in the SOS drive will work from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, "trying to help someone less fortunate than they."
 The Rev. Mr. Hasselblad said that not a penny of the donations goes anywhere but the intended need.
 He explained that the SOS program is a cooperative effort of major Protestant and Eastern orthodox churches in the United States and is designed to provide help for as many of the world's hungry, undernourished or disaster-stricken as can be reached.
 Food surplus in the SOS program is made available by the U. S. Government of surplus food and is distributed on the basis of need, without reference to race or creed.
 "The Rev. Mr. Hasselblad said youths helping in the SOS drive will work from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, "trying to help someone less fortunate than they."

Women Voter Unit Eyes Home Rule

Home rule, the manner in which the Idaho constitution limits the activities of towns and counties, has been the November discussion topic of the Twin Falls league of women voters.

The morning group met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. Hatcher with Mrs. Robert Nelson serving as discussion leader. Mrs. Nelson is a local board member and chairman of the state study on changes in the Idaho constitution.

The evening group met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Lathrop Thompson, with Mrs. Roy Grubb as leader.

Specific questions discussed were the advisability of a constitutional amendment granting the efficiency of county governments, and possible consolidation of counties.

The two-thirds majority requirement in bond elections and the division of responsibility between state and local governments also were discussed.

Great Train Robbery Span Doomed

TRENTON, N.J., Nov. 21 (AP)—The state highway department has doomed the trestle bridge made famous in the cinema classic "The Great Train Robbery."

The bridge between West Paterson and Totowa will be torn down by the end of the year to allow construction of a highway span at the same location.

Highlight of the bridge's 64-year history occurred when it was the location of the first American movie with plot.

In the famous scene, four masked men boarded an Erie-Lackawanna train, threw the engineer from the trestle and made off with jewels and cash before being apprehended by a police officer.

The movie cost cameraman-producer Edwin S. Porter the then unheard-of sum of $400.

Before the camera crews invaded the bridge, its only claim to fame was that two repairmen had been killed in 1875 and that a coal train narrowly escaped collision with a horse trapped in the rails in 1888.

The bridge must be destroyed by the end of the year or the railroad will forfeit $250,000 in bonds to the state under the agreement made in 1963 when the state purchased the 230-ton line running to the bridge for route 80.

Out of the rich tradition of Old Virginia comes the mellow charm of

CHIMNEY CORNERS

...an inspired collection designed by Bassett to re-create an authentic American style

Ladder-back Chair

Native simplicity blends with Colonial aristocracy in this charming group that recaptures the rugged beauty of true Early American. Notice the meticulous attention to authentic detail, exemplified by the simulated rope mattress supports, "cannonball" finials, beveled moldings and graceful turnings. Years of research by Bassett has produced the most complete reproduction of Colonial treasures that have ever been gathered in one group. And only Bassett could do it with such a great appeal to your budget! The Chimney Corners collection includes ninety matched pieces and features Permaheen drawer interiors, Pittsburgh plate glass mirrors and Grand Rapids Guardsman protective coating on honey-toned finish.

NORTY MECKLE

BY DICK JAVALLI

AW GEE, WINTHROP—
LEND ME A QUARTER,
WILL YA?

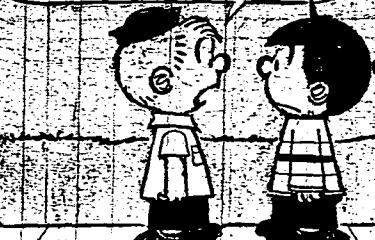

NO!

GIVE ME ONE GOOD REASON WHY I SHOULD LEND YOU
A QUARTER.

THERE ARE MANY REASONS
WHY YOU SHOULD BE WILLING TO LEND ME 25 CENTS.

ONE REASON IS THAT YOU
LIKE ME AND ARE HAPPY
FOR THE CHANCE TO DO ME A GOOD TURN.

ANOTHER REASON IS THAT YOU ARE BASICALLY A WARM-
HEARTED, GENEROUS

... WHO CAN'T BEAR TO GEE A
LESS FORTUNATE PERSON
SUFFER WHEN YOU HAVE IT IN YOUR POWER TO HELP HIM.

ANOTHER REASON IS THAT YOU KNOW
I'LL PAY IT BACK AS SOON AS I CAN.

BUT THE BEST REASON IS THAT YOU KNOW
THAT IF YOU DON'T
LEND ME 25 CENTS...

I'LL HIT YOU SO HARD ON TOP
OF YOUR HEAD, I'LL KNOCK YOUR EARS DOWN INTO YOUR SHOES!

HE DIDN'T HAVE MUCH OF A CASE
TILL HE GOT TO THAT LAST REASON.
