WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Senate liberals are thinking with their hearts instead of their heads in the scenes battle over the choice of a new majority whip to succeed Hubert Humphrey, vice president-elect. This is the liberals' weakness; it is a crisis they too often go all out to avoid.

Of the three leading candidates—John Pastore of Rhode Island; Mike Mansfield of Oklahoma; and Russell Long of Louisiana—Pastore would be the obvious choice. This tough little fellow always knows where he stands, and the book of his hand to those who disagree with him is a neighborhood tough who mated in Kelly pool.

The liberals know Pastore is the man for the job, but they don't like to admit it. They are now going through an agonizing appraisal of Mike Mansfield, one of the really nice guys in the senate, in the white house, and in the public eye. In the past few weeks, Mansfield has been in the center of the spotlight, and he has emerged from this shadow recently to sponsor a bill calling for legislative reform, but his record lacks the punch demanded of a whip.

TOUGH, IMPATIENT—Curiously, however, Pastore is not popular with his fellow liberals. His slashing style has earned him a lot of enemies who are not in the majority. The gentlemen's club atmosphere of the senate, Pastore has shown an impatience with the phony little courtesies that clutter up procedure. He always knows where he stands, and the book of his hand to those who disagree with him is a neighborhood tough who mated in Kelly pool.

OPPORTUNIST ADMINISTRATION—Long is popular with the liberals, too, despite his Southern background. But he would be a curious choice. He voted against three of the administration's top bills—the nuclear test ban treaty, Medicare and civil rights—and is not likely to become a flaming liberal overnight. At his state was flanking the law that went for Harry Goldwater. This is the kind of snub Lyndon Johnson does not forget easily.

Long's entry into the race was a surprise. He has not been noted for his willingness to assume responsibility. Rather, he is known for his ability to get a job done. He has been a member of the House of Representatives since 1954. He has served as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. He has also served as chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Government Operations.

SPY AND LONG—But the liberals are playing with fire. In their excitement and enthusiasm, they are asking a question that could swing the tide for Long. Instead of asking one candidate, they are asking two. If Long is to become a senator, he must be able to do the job. He must be able to do the job that Long has done so well in the House. He must be able to do the job that Long has done so well in the House.

The liberals should consider the moral value of a senator's life—the necessity for getting the job done. A senator must be able to do the job. He must be able to do the job that Long has done so well in the House. He must be able to do the job that Long has done so well in the House.

MR. HOOVER'S INTERVIEW

J. Edgar Hoover's impetuous remarks about the Warren report, the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. courts in general and the supreme court in particular may be explained by sensitivities developed in 40 years of highly personal operation of the FBI under 13 Attorneys General and seven Presidents.

Mr. Hoover, in an interview with women reporters called Dr. King "the most notorious liar in the country." Dr. King and other civil rights leaders think the FBI has not been fully effective in the South. Considering his limitations, an ideal police officer, we believe, has done his job in the presence as well as by his arrests. It is not fair to say that there may be reason for disagreement here, but there is no reason for such emotional invective against Dr. King, who has won the Nobel Peace Prize and has served his nation well.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation chief reported to the Warren Commission report on the assassination of the late President Kennedy as a "classic case of Monday morning quarterbacking." Here, again, Mr. Hoover's remarks are uncharacteristic. He is not a police officer, but a politician. He is not a police officer, but a politician. He is not a police officer, but a politician.

Mr. Hoover is quite right in saying that a police state would result if every suspicious person on the street were treated as a potential enemy. It is not fair to say that there may be reason for disagreement here, but there is no reason for such emotional invective against Dr. King, who has won the Nobel Peace Prize and has served his nation well.

The big auto-manufacturers have been experimenting with the turbine engine in automobiles, but there's no indication of early use of the new motor in stock cars. The manufacturers claim it's still the engine of the future.

Car owners can only hope engineers find a way to produce the turbine engine cheaply and in the next future. The turbine engine will run on nearly any sort of fuel that can be fed through its fuel lines. A mixture of hydrogen and diesel oil was recommended for one turbine engine. Moreover, the engine has virtually no moving parts and little to get out of adjustment.

Here's the sort of auto engine most car owners have been wanting for years. It poses no special maintenance problem and is considerably cheaper to operate. It holds one of the few promises of the industry for simplification and cheaper operation. Car owners can only hope manufacturers get hot on this one, and soon.

From JOHN D. PERON'S unsuccessful attempt to stage a return to Argentina, two faces seemed to emerge. The Argentine people just don't seem to care very much for Peron.

And another, it appears, does care.

For 10 years, from 1945 until 1955, the dictator Peron dominated Argentine politics. But for most of the last 10 years, he has been in exile. Time has eroded his appeal.

When Peron abandoned the comfortable life of Madrid and headed for Buenos Aires via Rio de Janeiro, it ostensibly was to carry out a promise that he would return to Argentina this year. But now there are those who say that at the age of 60, Peron had no intention of making more than a gesture.

It is said he knew Brazilian authorities would stop him in Rio, and that, besides, he had no money. The possibility that in Argentina he would stand trial on charges ranging from rape to treason.

But, if not for himself then for others, Peron's quick round-trip flight caught new publicity.

Despite Peron's long absence, a large bloc of Argentine labor remained loyal to him. Its members were concentrated in "The 62," the Peronist union within Argentina's Confederation of Labor. And among them the restrictions already have started.

Accompanying Peron were Argentine Franchist extremists led by leader of the Textile Workers union, and Augusto Vender, head of the 230,000-member metalworkers union.

Franchina, who combines the role of wealthy textile mill owner and labor leader, had long called for a "revolution of bullets" if Peronist were banned from Argentine political office.

Their unions now have called for a general strike and have announced their intention to support Peron's return.

The latter to "study" the issue is interpreted as a polite rejection. Meanwhile, both Franchina and Vender are under attack within their own unions.

It is estimated that Peronist

The latest developments in the Bobby Baker scandal will all center around a report which a hard-core internal revenue service ruling in September of 1948 caused $3,000 to flow into the hands of a presidential campaign fund.

Marked there in 1948, the word "revenue" was written in red ink. There was something unusual about the $3,000, which was something unusual about the $3,000, which was something unusual about the $3,000.

The committee popped the $3,000 right back at him because the Hatch act forbids individual campaign contributions in excess of $500. The tax court said the $3,000 was money which Bobby Baker had given to the campaign through dummy contributors who gave checks in sums permissible under the Hatch act.

What is the Hatch act between friends?

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Six American civil rights organizations protested to President Johnson and the state department against the Stanley-Visser espionage operation in the Congo.

They called it "aggression" and thus inadvertently echoed the words of those who talk about world opinion—and world opinion—as if they had any right to interfere with their heads. If it is "aggression" to halt the spy ring, why not help men, women and children from African lands and Asia's factories to "world opinion," then civilization has lost all consequence and mercy has lost all meaning.

President Johnson dealt with the reality of this horror. His explanation was honest, thoroughly to the point, and thoroughly American. "You have the blood of those people in Stanley-Visser's pockets," he said. "World opinion" is never defined. Yet, again and again, we've passed the buck to this globe. Not knowing what to do, our leaders have too often done nothing and then excused their inaction on the grounds of "world opinion" still not defined.

It has repeatedly served as an alibi for our slowness to intervene anywhere in protection of American citizens and American rights. In the United Nations, too, we have courted "world opinion" by not doing what we know we should do in the American interest.

Our Soviet opponent plays this game against us to the hilt. It's the Gulliver game. It costs little or nothing and has paid off handsomely.

When Gulliver's wake he found his feet bound by the Lilliputians with gossamer threads, with Peron in the face of Latin American protests against the conditions which have permitted Peron to catch his plots on the ground.

For Argentine President Dr. Arturo Illia there is both praise and blame. Blame because he permitted Peron to be so bold. Praise because he has not permitted Peron to be so bold.

But the key seems to be the Argentine banking in the sun of Buenos Aires sidewalk cafes. It just doesn't care about Peron any more.

minimize further progress of the disease. This is done by maintaining a normal blood pressure through the use of drugs if necessary by getting regular and reasonably vigorous exercise every day; by maintaining the body weight within normal limits; by avoiding the fats that are known to increase the blood level of cholesterol and by avoiding excesses of all kinds.

Q—My doctor has been giving me Steronol. What is this drug for and what are the hazards?

A—This is a combination of prednisone (one of the corticosteroid drugs), phenylbutazone (widely used for rheumatoid arthritis), aluminum hydroxide and multivitamin tablets to prevent stomach irritation and homotropine (to reduce acid formation in the stomach). Like phenylbutazone alone, it is given orally for painful muscle and joint diseases. The other ingredients are added to prevent peptic ulcers, but if you already have ulcers you should not take this drug. It should not be taken by anyone who has tuberculosis or heart disease with waterlogging.

County Retail Sales Hit 76 Million in 1963

Twin Falls County's 468 retail establishments had 76.6 million dollars in sales in 1963, an increase of 13 per cent from 1962, according to the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis.

Information was prepared by a census bureau electronic computer from data gathered from all firms in the 1963 census of business.

Retail trade in the county meant jobs exclusive of proprietors—7,337 men and women and a yearly payroll of 84 million dollars.

In volume of business, the county's food stores had sales of 13.8 million dollars, an increase of 20 per cent from 1962. In other retail business, the county's eating and drinking places had sales of 8.1 million dollars and gasoline service places had sales of 4.1 million dollars.

Auto dealers and related retail trade establishments had sales of 14 million dollars; general merchandise group stores, 7.8 million dollars; and hardware and building materials hardware and farm equipment dealers had sales of 11 million dollars.

For the state as a whole, the census bureau reported 7,311 retail establishments with sales of 947 million dollars, up 16 per cent from 1962.

Census reports to be issued during the coming months will give state and county figures on wholesale and service trades, manufacturing and mineral industries. Copies of reports on sales volume may be obtained from the superintendent of documents, Washington, D.C., 20540, at a cost of 35 cents per copy.

Barnett added that a person can be charged with assault with a deadly weapon by using a fist if damage is done.

Computers Can Report Facts, But Have No 'Human' Touch

By ROBIN TIBBETS

Newspaper reporters had better look to their laurels: They're getting some competition from electronic computers.

Computers at the U. S. department of commerce's bureau of the census are extracting retail trade data about each county in the United States from tabulations of the 1963 census of business, inserting the figures in news stories, typing out the stories at eye-blinking speed, and addressing a story to each one of the 1,000 news outlets in the nation's 3,000 counties.

The article received by the Times-News was typed in capital letters on a sheet of paper 10 1/2 inches wide with 12 perforations on each side of the sheet.

The first sheet bears the name of the organization releasing the information, in accepted style, the legend: "For release upon request." This information was prepared by a census bureau electronic computer and typed at 10 lines per second especially for the Times-News.

According to the census bureau, three elements are used to produce these "machine-made" news articles:

Statistics for 1958 and 1963 on number of establishments, their kind of business and location, their sales volume, employment, etc. This information is stored in machine "memory" and is part of the process of preparing the 1963 business census.

Names and address of newspapers and broadcasting stations, and county by county.

A set of instructions which cause the computer to select statistics concerning each county, print the statistics at the proper points in the news story, and address the story to each newspaper or broadcasting station in a county.

The news stories emerge as by-products of the process of preparing statistical reports from the business census. Although the series will total more than 4,000 stories before it is completed, it will require no additional personnel. The articles about retail trade will be followed by another series about service trades in each county.

This is the first time computers have been used to prepare news stories, at least by the census bureau.

And, although these computer-written articles are marvels of an age of miracles, it is obvious that one thing is missing—the human touch. Each article is exactly like all the others, except for the figures which apply to each specific county.

This means that the item written for Twin Falls county is exactly the same, except for figures, as the one written for a county in the south of Georgia.

This indicates that if electronic computers never were used by newspaper editors, the Times-News will look and read just like the Muleshoe News, in West Texas.

And, with a computer, there's no absolute guarantee that every bit of information is absolutely correct. If just one small piece of information is fed to a computer, the machine accepts it as correct. In such cases, if the wrong informant concerned a specific figure, every newspaper in the United States would publish the error.

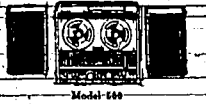

Added to everything else, computers, unless they are vastly improved in the dim future, cannot produce human interest articles—just cold facts. Without human interest, newspapers become statistical reports, factual but cold. No comic, no editorial, no personal opinions whatever.

On second thought, perhaps reporters have nothing to worry about, after all.

BOISE, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Ada county Junior Republicans club, composed of high school and junior college students, has given its second unanimously endorsed National Chairman Dean Burch, Carol Barnett, state committee woman, said the resolution declares support for "the conservative leadership of the Republican party" and supports Burch "for his efforts to retain this philosophy for the good of America."

POCATELLO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Planning and Zoning Commission Chairman W. H. Rolfe has resigned, and charged the city commission has allowed the planning organization to "stagnate." He said it hasn't permitted the commission to do enough planning. Rolfe is vice-president and manager of the Idaho First National bank in Pocatello. He said he plans to move to Boise to take another post with the bank there.

BOISE, Dec. 11 (AP)—The chairman of the house education committee in 1963 says he is hopeful that this session of the legislature will bring Idaho education standards up to those of neighboring states. "I think we will be able to do this," said Rep. Frank Hulse, R-Boise, "because the entire state can feel the pressure from being on a starvation diet for both public schools and higher education." He presided yesterday at a meeting of legislators and representatives of various education groups which he called.

AMERICAN FALLS, Dec. 11 (AP)—American Falls Mayor Howard G. Evans, 52, elected just a year ago, died Wednesday night at the Power county hospital of an acute illness. Mr. Evans, a resident of the town for five years, operated a machine shop in the Chamber of the American Falls Rotary club and a member of the Methodist church. Mr. Evans was a native of Cascade. Survivors include his wife, Lois, and a son. Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Davis mortuary.

AMERICAN FALLS, Dec. 11 (AP)—A recount of votes in the Power county state senate race yesterday showed Republican Vard Meadows the winner by three votes over incumbent Sen. Ray Burge, a Democrat. The recount was ordered by the attorney general's office after an earlier recount of two votes to each precinct out the margin for Meadows from two votes to 1,030 yesterday's count. Burge had 1,035 votes with 1,033 votes to Meadows. The results will be made official after a canvass by county commissioners. With a three-vote difference, two absentee votes that came in a day after the election and were not counted could not have changed the outcome.

BLACKFOOT, Dec. 11 (AP)—Sen. Ben Jordan, R-Ida, said yesterday he believes the platform which the Republican party adopted at its San Francisco convention last summer "was good and still is sound today." "It is sound, however," he added, "that we did not adequately articulate our platform to the voters." Jordan spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Blingham county Republican Women's club.

BOISE, Dec. 11 (AP)—A favorable future in industrial expansion was forecast for Idaho yesterday in the biennial report of the state department of Commerce and development. Idaho's ideal climate, outstanding recreational facilities and general conditions for good living "have contributed so much to the rapid increase in living standards that have made Idaho one of the most appealing for industrial expansion," the report said. "Where high employment, stronger population, abundance and air pollution are among the major problems in the densely populated centers, they do not affect the Idaho labor force which is strong in the reputation for stability. Electronics and other high fabrication industries are increasingly looking to Idaho as the state best suited to accommodate them."

A-413,069.50—suit, stemming from an auto-truck accident, Oct. 4, on highway 30 about two miles south of Buhl, has been filed in Eleventh district court against a Twin Falls towing service.

The woman alleges in the suit that Jansson's parked a Chevrolet wrecker truck about two miles south of Buhl with half of the truck on the pavement, obstructing the northbound lane of traffic.

She claims the lights on the truck were shining along the highway and directly into the eyes of oncoming traffic. She claims as result of Jansson's negligence the incident caused a car in which she was riding to collide with the truck.

The woman is asking in the suit for $42,000 in medical expenses, the amount proven by trial in the action for loss of an eye, compensation for severe pain and suffering and general damages sustained by her.

U.S. Has 3 Alternatives in Viet Nam War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, Dec. 11 (AP)—Can victory be snatched from South Viet Nam's exhausting war only by a flight of bombers over Communist North Viet Nam?

The first alternative and all its variations, including neutralization of South Viet Nam, have been rejected by both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

Hopes of winning by the second method appear increasingly forlorn. The Saigon government appears less capable of holding its own than it was 10 years ago.

The second alternative—the one which has been followed up to now—is to shore up the Saigon government with money, arms and advisers, in the hope that Saigon will one day be able to hold its own.

The third alternative, therefore, which could lead either to a new Korea or a third world war, has come under new scrutiny.

Among the supporters of direct attack on North Viet Nam is Dr. Bernard Fall, a noted French historian and author of "The Viet Nam Game Plan." Fall has argued for years that while the United States is tactically weak in Viet Nam it has strategic strength which should be used.

Fall says on the basis of his trips to North Viet Nam that the Hanoi regime is confident it can defeat the United States in the field of guerrilla warfare but that Hanoi fears American bombers. North Viet Nam has a small but growing industrial plant, which is highly vulnerable to air raids and which Hanoi would hate to lose, he contends.

Colonel Tronson is Gooding county assessor and has been active in the army reserve for many years.

JOHN SORAGG, FBI special agent for the federal bureau of investigation, points out some points for Bill Dean Vickers to follow in classifying fingerprints. Vickers, a detective in the Twin Falls police department, was one of 21 law enforcement officers in Magic Valley who participated in a fingerprint classification school held this week in the old Idaho Power company auditorium, Twin Falls. Soragg was instructor for the school. (Times-News photo)

Law Officers Learn About Fingerprinting at School

Mankind tried many methods of criminal identification before adopting the one and only sure way—fingerprinting.

This particular subject is of interest in Twin Falls this week because of the fingerprint classification school taught by John Soragg, FBI, special agent for the federal bureau of investigation.

Soragg, who received fingerprinting experience in the identification and records department of the FBI, works under the direction of Robert W. Evans, Supt. Mont., special agent in charge of the Idaho-Montana district.

Twenty-one city police officers and county sheriff's department employes from Southern Idaho have been attending the school which began Monday and concluded Friday. The school was held in the old Idaho Power company auditorium.

An hour ago at 10:30 the "loops and spirals" on the end of the fingers attracted the interest of scientists.

It was Marcello Malpighi, professor of anatomy at the university of Bologna, who made a study of the "certain elevated ridges" on the tips of the fingers. He did nothing with his discovery except to write about it.

It took a British administrative officer, Sir William James Herschel, of the Hooghly district, Bengal, India, to make first practical use of the fingerprinting.

The 1789 native to affirm their fingerprints to contracts. Even he didn't realize the importance of his practice.

Dr. Henry Faulds of the "Tru-kill" hospital in Tokyo, Japan, in 1880, suggested that fingerprints should be used in the identification of criminals, and even recommended the use of a thin film of printer's ink as a transfer medium, the method used today.

The first authenticated record of official use of fingerprints in the United States was in 1882 when Gilbert Thompson of the U. S. geological survey, while in charge of a field project in New Mexico, used his own fingerprints on "commissary orders" to prevent their forgery.

An Argentinean police official, Juan Vucelich, was the first law enforcement officer to make official identification files. Vucelich used the bloody fingerprints at the scene of a crime to write a confession from a murderer in England and Wales first used fingerprints as an official way in 1901 and in 1902 the first known systematic use of fingerprints in the United States was begun by the New York civil service commission.

New York claims the first practical use of fingerprints in this country as a means of identifying criminals in March, 1903, the system was developed in the New York prison system.

Less than half of the population of the United States has fingerprints on file with the FBI, according to Soragg.

As of Nov. 1, 48,109,043 fingerprints of criminals were on file, representing 18,624,587 persons.

Soragg explained that each person's life includes prints on all eight fingers and two thumbs in due to many criminals having been fingerprinted more than once.

On the other hand, Soragg said, 198,555,485 fingerprints are on file for persons other than criminals. A figure representing 82,610,847 persons. Again, the difference in the two figures is the result of some individuals having more than one set of fingerprints on file.

The daily average gross of fingerprints received by the FBI for processing in October, 1944, was 22,070. By receiving this many fingerprints, the FBI is able to identify, daily, 1,000 persons wanted by the law.

This figure is pretty small when you consider that the number of persons for whom wanted notices are posted totals 70,753, and that 13,334 police departments, sheriff's offices and other law enforcement bodies are contributing to this total daily.

Fingerprinting for criminal identification really caught on in 1902 when the system previously used, the Bertillon system, named after its inventor, Alphonse Bertillon, was proved not infallible.

A man named Will West was sentenced to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kans., in 1903.

When he was received at the prison, West denied previous imprisonment there, but the record clerk ran the Bertillon instruments over him anyway. This involved measuring and recording the dimensions of certain bony parts of the body. Bertillon reduced the measurements to a formula which, theoretically, would apply to only one person and would not change during his adult life.

The system had been used for 30 years when Will West went to prison.

When the clerk referred to the formula—derived from West's Bertillon measurement—he noticed the tip of one William West whose measurements were practically identical and whose photograph appeared to be that of the new prisoner.

Soragg was telling the truth. When the clerk turned over William West's record he found it was that of a man already in the penitentiary, serving a life sentence for murder.

Only, however, when the fingerprints of Will West and William West were impressed and compared, was absolute identification obtained. The national bore no resemblance.

The FBI classification of fingerprints is basically the same as that developed by Sir Edward Henry, a commissioner of London's Scotland Yard.

His system segregated into groups prints with simulating fingers. The Henry system divides fingerprints into ten classes.

Although the system presently employed by the FBI is basically the same as the Henry system, it has been simplified and extended into numerous additional subdivisions. The voluminous present-day files thus have been separated into a multitude of smaller groups with similar characteristics.

Using this system, an expert technician can establish an identity within a few minutes by examining a limited number of the millions of individual cards on file.

It is this type of thing which the Magic Valley law enforcement officers were taught during the fingerprinting school in Twin Falls.

Officers taking part included Kenneth B. Barry, William E. Dayley, Ralph Marsh, Pete E. Rodriguez, all patrolmen in the Burley police department; Francis W. Fowler and James W. Peterson, both sergeants, Burley police department; Floyd R. Riggs, detective sergeant, Burley.

Charles E. Burbank, chief of police, and E. Heringer, patrolman, Shoshone police department; Clarence A. Yinger, chief of police, Capt. Elva H. Hall and John W. Conrad, patrolman, Jerome, Edythe D. Koonz, identification officer, Virginia Biese, clerk secretary, and Bill D. Vickers, detective, all Twin Falls police department.

MR. AND MRS. RODNEY LEE TURNER (Stage Monitor photo)

Carolyn Hill, Turner Recite Wedding Vows

Carolyn Joanne Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Hill, and Rodney Lee Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Turner, were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony Nov. 29 at the Twin Falls-First Christian church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Donald Hoffman before an altar decorated with yellow cathedral candles flanked by baskets of yellow gladiolus and bronze chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Paula Sweet and Mrs. Edwin Gibbert sang duets, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Hoffman, who also played the traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white gown of rose-point lace with the traditional bouquet of red and white carnations. Her hair was styled in a classic updo with a white veil.

As tokens of sentiment, the bride wore a gold necklace worn by her great-grandmother as a bride. She also carried a bouquet of long-stemmed red carnations and white gladioli.

Mr. Hill, who wore a tuxedo, carried the bride down the aisle. The ceremony was officiated by Rev. Donald Hoffman.

The bride's mother chose a black and white dress with matching accessories and white carnations centered with a gold cymbidium orchid tied with brown ribbon.

The bridegroom's mother chose a black and white dress with matching accessories and white carnations centered with a white orchid tied with silver ribbon.

The reception was held at the home of Mrs. Turner. The bride's table was covered with a white nylon embroidered ruffled over yellow and a white satin top cover. It was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake trimmed with gold-colored roses and green leaves and small white wedding bells. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom before a background of heart-shaped lace and lilies of the valley. Creamery encircled the base of the cake and yellow tapers in crystal holders completed the table decoration.

Mrs. Loren McFarland, Hanes, and Mrs. Howard Hill, Shoshone, aunts of the bride and groom, served the cake.

Mrs. Debra Tucker and Mrs. Gary Turner, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl and coffee service. Susan Sharkey was in charge.

Two New Varieties of Red Mexican Beans Released

JEROME, Dec. 11.—The Kimbly experiment station has released two new red Mexican bean varieties which may have a place in our future bean industry, according to Wilmer J. Priest, Jerome county extension agent.

The new varieties designated as U-34 and U-37. They originated from crosses of the great northern bean U-66 and red Mexican bean U-34. This original cross was made in 1934. The original selection of selections were made before the seed was put out for increase.

During the past year approximately 10 acres were grown under certification.

These beans were developed to produce an early-maturing red Mexican bean which was resistant to common strains of mosaic virus and also to the curly-top virus.

In comparing these beans to the old variety of red Mexican beans, it was found there is a difference in growing time, yield, seed size and resistance to mosaic virus.

U-34 has a moderate sized seed which averages 100 seeds per ounce and a five year average yield of 2,474 pounds per acre. The U-37 has the same size seed at the old standard 34 variety and averages 64 seeds per ounce.

Dairy Farmer Registers Small Gains

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—A moderate gain in milk receipts to dairy farmers in 1964 may hold over to 1965 with prices likely to stay up and marketing to increase further, according to economists here of the U.S. department of agriculture at the annual outlook conference in mid-November.

During 1964 prices improved about one per cent and marketings were up one per cent over 1963. Most of the increased marketings were absorbed in commercial outlets, bolstered by a population gain of about three million persons.

On a per capita basis, further declines in consumption were predicted for 1965. During the present year the consumption of all products was forecast about two pounds below the 1963 per person total of 625 pounds.

FARMS PROVIDE JOBS

FARGO, N.D., Dec. 11.—U.S. farms provide three times as many jobs and generate more investment in capital equipment than any other industry, reports the North Dakota State university college of agriculture.

Salmon Tract Residents Still Cling To Idea of Irrigating Vast Region

BY G. H. CHAMBERS

Originally the Salmon tract, south of Twin Falls, was envisioned as a project capable of producing excellent farm crops on 100,000 acres—more or less now some 70 years later, there are a few surviving members of that tract who believe the tract is capable of producing excellent crops on the original tract.

Lack of water has reduced the salmon tract to a region where the area varies from a high of 30,000 to a low of 17,000 cultivated acres.

For the past 15 or 20 years the Salmon River Canal company has made effort after effort to bring supplemental water to the tract. There have been soil help programs, the purchasing of upstream watershed, court litigation, contracts with the state of Nevada, a probe into public law 566 to see if it qualified as a small watershed project and the state endeavor to get supplemental water from Snake river via the bureau of reclamation small project route.

The history and the potential of the tract were outlined by members of the canal company board and other interested parties to Idaho's trio of Republican leaders Tuesday at a noon luncheon held at the Hottelier Grand hall.

The project grossed $3,655,500 in 1964 with 30,000 acres irrigated. There are some 60,000 shares of water available for the tract and the 30-year average is 1,665 acre feet per share. Thus, a three-million-dollar gross was possible on less than two-acre feet of water for an average. However, the water share was a little higher than the 30-year average.

One of the problems with this type of situation is that it is impossible for a Salmon tract farmer to maintain any kind of rotation program because he simply does not know from year to year what kind of a water-year he will encounter.

"One dry year can knock out five years of planning," said Ellis Fuller, who presented part of the program to the three statesmen.

Clarence Hedrick, representing the soil conservation service, told the three guests the Salmon tract is not sitting back and waiting for help.

He pointed out that the farmers have spent almost two million dollars in recent years to improve irrigation practices. More than 173,000 acres of rangeland have been reseeded, 10,140 feet of irrigation pipelines have been laid, 1,000 irrigation structures have been installed, 28,272 feet of concrete-ditch lining have been installed and more than 3,000 acres have been leveled in recent years to improve the productivity of the land and to conserve water on the tract, said Hedrick.

"The residents of the tract have pride in their area," said Fuller. There are approximately 320 school children on the tract and these are all bused to town schools.

Within the tract area, highway districts have invested 600 million dollars in improvements. The area has 82 miles of oil road, 72 miles of gravel roads and more than a million dollars invested in bridges.

Every resident of the tract has electricity and is served by mail. A full bureau of reclamation report is due sometime in February, said Leslie Jones, canal company board chairman, and once this is made available the people on the tract will be ready for the next step—the securing of supplemental water and the actual construction.

"Some 85 per cent of the soil on the tract is rated class one-land and most of the balance of the area is class two-land."

The proposed project would divert water near Miller and irrigate most of the tract from Snake river. The water rights for Salmon Falls creek water would be transferred south and the northern half of the tract could utilize Salmon Falls creek water. The southern part would be about 10,000 acres in size and the creek supply would be sufficient.

The main reason for the presentation was to enlist congressional support for the project and get support at the state level.

All three members, Gov. Robert E. Smylie, Sen. Len B. Jordan and George Hansen, representative-elect, admitted that this was the first time they have toured the area and said they were impressed with the potential of the region.

Governor Smylie arrived in Hottelier about 30 minutes before 11 o'clock.

Baker Stock Sale Is Set For Monday

BAKER, Ore., Dec. 11.—Baker County Livestock association will sponsor its fourth producer-direct feeder sale of the autumn season, Monday, at Baker livestock station.

The upcoming sale offers 3,000 head of feeder cattle, many winners, with some yearling and stecker females.

The sale is a part of the annual series of "reputation producer" marketing events held by the association for its member ranchers who accompany their consignments and "package" attractive to any buyers putting feeders together.

Information may be obtained from Leroy Wright, association secretary, or William G. Soltan, yard manager, at Baker.

Movement of Hay Slumping

A check of hay buyers in Magic Valley has revealed an odd situation. Despite the recent cold weather hay is not moving out of the valley at a normal rate.

Buyers claim many hay owners are holding onto their crop because they believe the price will climb and some want to hang on to it because of the tax situation. But many of the buyers believe there is plenty of hay in the area, more so than there was a year ago.

"I think once they get ready to sell they'll discover there is plenty of hay and there isn't too much demand," said one buyer.

Another buyer said Boise Valley, which traditionally uses Magic Valley hay, is buying Nevada hay at a cheaper rate. Hay in Boise valley is selling for $40 to $22 a ton, which is cheaper than local buyers can move it from here.

"Nevada hay is being delivered there in quantities much cheaper than we can deliver it," said Frank Newberry, Twin Falls.

"Many of our standard customers are buying elsewhere."

Farm Prices Drop, Says U.S. Agency

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Farm prices dropped one per cent in the month ended Nov. 19, the agriculture department reports.

The most important price declines were for oranges and lemons. Partially offsetting were increases for tomatoes, whole-sale milk and potatoes.

The index of prices received for corn and livestock was three per cent below that of November, 1963.

The drop in prices received coupled with a rise of 1.3 of one per cent in prices paid continued to effect a parity ratio of 75, down one point from mid-October. In November, 1963, the parity ratio was 78.

Hog prices dropped 1.30 per hundredweight in November and beef-cattle prices dropped 20 cents per hundredweight.

Increase in Farm Exports Is Studied

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—An agriculture department analysis shows that practically all the increase in U.S. farm exports in fiscal 1964 was in commercial sales for dollars.

Total U.S. farm exports in fiscal 1964 was about 6.1 billion dollars. Of this, more than 4.5 billion dollars were in commercial sales for dollars. This represented an increase of 20 per cent, or nearly one billion dollars, over farm exports the previous year. Farm exports under government-financed programs totaled about 1.6 billion dollars, up only 20 million dollars from the previous year.

The department listed a number of factors contributing to the unprecedented increase in agricultural exports for dollars.

They included: Continued advance in economic activity in western Europe and Japan, and consequent increases in disposable income.

Shifts in dietary habits toward stronger demand for meat and livestock consumer products.

Increases in the livestock industry in these countries, resulting in increased demand for food grains, oilseeds, and high protein meal.

Continuing U.S. trade and better quality of U.S. exports.

U.S. market development efforts.

The department said unfavorable wheat harvests in western Europe and the Soviet Union contributed to the rise of 37.4 million dollars in dollar exports of wheat and flour.

Department Resumes Scabies War

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The agriculture department has resumed an all-out state-federal drive against sheep scabies to continue during the winter months.

The scabies eradication campaign now is in its fifth season. All states are participating.

The department said about 1.6 million has been appropriated to the agricultural research service for its share of the cost of conducting the all-out effort against the disease.

The eradication work is being concentrated most heavily in states that are ordinarily designated as scabies areas.

These now include, all of Iowa, West Virginia, and Tennessee; northern Missouri; most of Colorado, Kentucky, Kansas, and one county in Ohio.

The department said reinspection of flocks will be carried out in several states, especially those adjacent to the infected designation areas to insure that the disease has not been re-introduced in areas previously declared free.

Present plans call for two inspections of all flocks in Indiana, Iowa, and Nebraska; one inspection of all flocks in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, New Jersey, Maryland, and

Local ASC Offices Are Moved

The Twin Falls county agricultural stabilization and conservation offices has moved into new quarters a half of a block north of their old location in the Tyrwood Shopping Center. The new office is located in the same building as the county extension department.

Carl Boyd, chairman of the county committee.

Other committee members include Austin Moore, Twin Falls, and Guy Kinyon, Castleford.

According to Boyd the new office is designed to better serve the public and facilitate the work of the ASC committee.

Boyd stressed the point that the ASC office is your city, referring to area farmers, and their only purpose is to "serve farmers of Twin Falls county."

Purchases Move Beef Onto Mart

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The government has bought 11 million pounds of beef costing more than 202.8 million dollars since the beef purchase program began March 3.

The beef has been distributed to the school lunch program, military personnel, and welfare institutions.

Delaware; and one inspection of all flocks in a number of counties of North Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, Minnesota, Michigan, and Colorado.

If sheep are found infected, the flocks will be dipped twice in an approved insecticide — the second dipping 10 to 14 days after the first.

The flock will be re-inspected within 60 days after the cold weather period.

Elmore Cattle Drive Held For 2 Glenns Ferry Ranches

KING HILL, Dec. 11 (AP)—Several head of cattle belonging to the Pich Pork ranch of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Knox, King Hill, were trailed to the Tri-O Ranch, the former silk ranch, three miles west of Glenns Ferry, last week-end.

The cattle were fed and rested at the James Russell ranch west of Glenns Ferry Saturday night, starting the drive again on Sunday.

They trailed the cattle on the north side of Snake river this year, instead of trailing them on the south side as they have in the past. This was said to be much easier on the cattle and the riders.

Those helping with the drive were Mr. and Mrs. Knox, their family, Harry, Mary, Ann and Janice Knox, Mr. and Mrs. William Arbaugh and son, King Hill, Carl Nease and Bill McClintock, Fairfield; Joy Lee, Mountain Home, and Mr. and Mrs. James Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gluch, James Russell and daughter Phyllis Russell, Lynn Thomas and George South, all Glenns Ferry.

Mrs. Knox and Mrs. Arbaugh served lunch and dinners from the truck wagon along the route. They were called "Washburne and Muir" from the television story of "Rawhide."

State Patrolman Cal Bernard, Mountain Home, assisted in the cattle drive when they crossed the highway at Glenns Ferry to the Black bridge.

Mrs. Knox states one of the cows caught her feet in the rail fence and she was held for a while before a train was due. The cow was not seriously injured.

Farm Export Value Is Calculated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The agriculture department calculates that the U.S. farm export market in fiscal 1963-64 took the output of 80 million harvested acres. This was about one acre out of every four harvested.

Export value, U.S. agricultural exports were equivalent to 16 per cent of total cash receipts from farm marketings.

The export market in fiscal 1963-64 provided an outlet for three-fourths of U.S. wheat production; two-thirds of the rice and non-fat dry milk; half of the edible peas; more than two-thirds of the yellow soybeans; and about one-third of the cotton, rice, prunes, and dried whole milk; one-fourth of the lard and tobacco; and one-fifth of the raisins, dry edible beans, cottonseed, grain sorghum, and barley.

The department said, three U.S. regions—West-North-Central, East North-Central, and West South-Central, comprising 11 states—accounted for 60 per cent of the total $1.1 billion dollars farm export total in 1963-64.

Conference on Wheat Is Held

HOUSTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Wheat growers or delegates from throughout Idaho will attend the eighth annual Idaho State Wheat Growers conference this week-end to discuss and plan action on problems facing their industry.

Featured speakers at the two-day wheat conference include: A. J. Hanson, Portland, National Wheat Growers Association; Kenneth Kendrick, Washington, NAWG executive vice president; and H. B. Taylor, Portland, Western Wheat Association vice president. All sessions are at the Owyhee hotel.

Agriculture Department Calculates Farm Income to Equal 1964 Estimate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The agriculture department has predicted net farm income in 1964 will equal the 1963 estimate, about the same as estimated for 1964 and not far from the $12.5 billion of 1963.

In a review of the farm income situation, the department said gross farm income in 1964 will be about the same as the 41.9 billion dollars estimated for 1964. Production expenses may show some increase over the 39.4 billion dollars of 1964, but probably much less than usual.

The department released its 1964 income prediction as the annual agricultural outlook conference got under way. The conference is essentially a fact-finding and fact-interpreting workshop during which the department takes a long hard look at the economic health of the country from the standpoint of agriculture.

Department economists said the outlook for 1964 points to a continued record high average of realized net income per farm. Both farm members and the farm population are expected to continue to do well.

This would make for record high income per farm and record high income per capita of persons living on farms. The economists said, disposable personal income per capita of the farm population may rise slightly in 1965 because of the relative stability in farm income, continued general economic expansion, and a further reduction in income tax rates.

School Lunch Programs Can Expand

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—A 76 million dollars food market is going begging, according to a recent economic research service survey.

About 8,300 private schools in the U.S., with a total enrollment of 2.8 million students have no national lunch program, and plans for adding food services are limited. Although some three million pupils, about half the total enrolled in private schools, attended schools that participate in the national school lunch program, only about two-thirds buy the lunches.

Programs to be overruled, the report found, were those of making lunchroom and kitchen construction economically sound in the old buildings, expanding the lunch program to schools with small student enrollment, and lack of interest on the part of private school administrators.

Average Yield on Sugar Beets Falls Below 1963

Average yield was down this year on sugar beets, but the sugar content is running slightly above last year, reports Robert Day, manager, Amalgamated Sugar Company, Twin Falls.

Day said that the average yield would be somewhere in the neighborhood of 17 tons per acre while sugar content will be about 17 per cent. Content at this level is "fair to one per cent above last year's total."

Poor growing season was listed as the main reason for the drop in yield. The yield and the poor number of acres were factors which contributed to the yield.

There were over 28,000 acres of sugar beets grown in the Twin Falls district. Yield will have some effect on the length of the campaign at the factory which is expected to conclude Feb. 20. Last year a record run was established at the Twin Falls factory.

In all probability average allotments will be established for the 1965 growing season and this will be administered by the agricultural stabilization and conservation committee. The program and sign-up has not gone into effect as yet but an announcement is expected in the near future.

Day pointed out that there has been unrestricted acreage for

The company is continuing a program of covering the large beet piles and this is working satisfactory, although all the piles are not covered.

1963, farms with sales of $100,000 or more comprised 27 per cent of all farms. The farms accounted for 78 per cent of total cash receipts and 61 per cent of total acreage realized net farm income.

The department said such farms have been increasing in number since 1959 and account for a growing proportion of cash receipts and realized net income.

On the other hand, receipts from farm marketings of crops next year likely will be lower than in 1964. This assumes average growing conditions in 1965 and a recovery from the reduced yields for some of the 1964 crop.

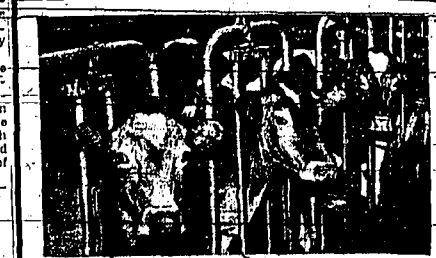

A strong domestic and foreign demand for farm products in 1965 also was predicted. Exports are expected to approach the 1963-64 record.

Farm production expenses may show a smaller-than-average increase in 1965, as in 1964. The department said prices paid by farmers for goods and services next year probably will rise more than from 1963 to 1964.

The farm bill for current operating expenses may rise slightly as outlays for purchased food and livestock increase. The department said this may be offset by a drop in the uses of hired labor.

Other costs such as depreciation charges, taxes, and interest likely will show another increase next year.

The department said that in

Agency Predicts Nutritional Value Of U. S. Produced Food to Stabilize

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Nutritionists of the agriculture research service predict U. S. food in 1965 will provide about the same quantity of nutrients per capita as in 1964.

Service nutritionists said that except for a drop in ascorbic acid, vitamin C, the nutritional level of U. S. food consumption has been quite uniform during the first part of the 1960's. The drop in vitamin C since 1962 was due to smaller supplies of citrus fruits caused by the Florida freeze in December, 1962.

The nutritionists said that although the production of fresh and processed citrus fruits is expected to increase sharply in the 1964-65 crop season, total supplies of these high vitamin fruits still may be short of the 1962 supply.

Compared with 1947-49, some nutrients available in 1964 were at slightly lower levels, those included carbohydrates, vitamin A, and ascorbic acid. These were lower because of decreased consumption of potatoes, grain products, and vegetables and fruits with high vitamin A and C content.

Important shifts in sources of nutrients have occurred, according to the nutritionists. For example, the supplies of protein have remained about constant.

Animal products, however, have been furnishing an increasing share of the protein—68 per cent in 1947-49 and 69 per cent in 1963-64.

A contributing source of animal protein is the growing consumption of beef and poultry. These foods also have helped to increase supplies of iron and niacin since 1967-69.

The United States, with a per capita consumption of 160 lbs. of red meat annually, ranks fifth among major meat-eating nations. Those ranking higher are New Zealand with 240 lbs., Australia with 210 pounds, Argentina with 210 pounds, and Uruguay with 203 pounds.

The five nations ranking below the United States are Britain 139 pounds, France 132, Denmark 130, Belgium-Luxembourg 125, and West Germany 117.

Price Index Is Unchanged

NOISE, Dec. 11—The index of prices paid by farmers for feed was unchanged during the month ended October, reports the crop reporting agency. The index at that time was 100. The average for 1963 was 100. The index for 1964 was 100. The index for 1965 was 100.

noted in feed prices during October, in comparison to a year ago, average prices paid were the same or lower for all items in the index except 44 per cent for bean meal, 18 per cent dairy feed and laying feed which were higher.

Average prices paid for feed in the U.S. were also unchanged from a month earlier.

Farmers' Share of Food Dollar Will Drop in 1965

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The agriculture department predicts the farmer's share of the consumer food dollar in 1965 will be 36 cents—one cent less than the average for 1964.

The department said a slight decrease appears likely in the farm value of food in 1965. This, combined with a small increase in marketing charges, likely will drop the farmer's 1965 share of the consumer's food dollar a penny below the 1964 share.

The agency said increased supplies of some vegetables and fruits in 1965 are expected to result in prices below the relatively high prices of 1964, if weather conditions are favorable. Prices of eggs and turkeys also may be down from 1964, the department said.

The farm value of bakery and animal products is expected to be about the same in 1965 as in 1964.

The upward trend in labor costs per unit of product marketed is not likely to be reversed, in spite of the gains in labor productivity, the department said. Costs of other services are expected to rise.

Entry List At Chicago Totals 8,000

CHICAGO, Dec. 11—Stockmen, cattlemen and farm youths from 31 states and Canada will be exhibiting over 8,000 prize purebred animals at the 1964 International Livestock Exposition and Horse Show to be held here Nov. 27 to Dec. 6 in the International Amphitheatre.

It will be the 65th anniversary of this event and the final and foremost show of the continent.

The year's biggest assembly of purebred livestock will feature exhibits of 39 breeds of beef and dairy cattle, horses, sheep, and swine that will fill to capacity the 13-acre area of the Amphitheatre. They will be coming from such far separate and diverse parts as Canada and Louisiana, Maine and California.

Championship rodeo—called North America's roughest, toughest sport—will begin the Chicago exposition for 14 performances in conjunction with the International Horse Show. The two events will attract an entry of over 600 horses.

In the rodeo, 200 to 300 big-hulled contenders will be seen here in pursuit of a prize money packet of $7,500 offered in five full-scale events that include saddle and bareback bronc-riding, calf-roping, steer-wrestling, and bull-riding.

Slogan for Farm Bureau Complimented by Speaker

RUPERT, Dec. 11—University of Utah speaker professor Royal Garff complimented members of the Minidoka Farm Bureau for their slogan—“Come Alive in 65” at the bureau's annual banquet held last week at St. Nicholas Parish hall.

Garff was the main speaker at the banquet and told nearly 200 Farm Bureau members and guests that one of the ways to come alive is to communicate with one another. Telling the Farm Bureau story over and over is one way to put the Farm Bureau story across, he said.

He was critical of members who stay home from meetings, members who won't participate and members who constantly complain.

“Things have to be sold,” said Garff, “and you have to know what you are selling.”

The Salt Lake City professor warned the group of increasing federal control and complimented them on picking a slogan that perks up the organization to fight federal farm controls.

He reminded the Minidoka group the farmers' wishes, as expressed in the May 1 referendum vote on wheat, were completely ignored.

“The American farmer expressed his thoughts in that vote overwhelmingly and yet this free expression was ignored. There for us must come alive,” said Garff.

The speaker hit the supreme court ruling on reapportionment of the state legislatures and called for courage to fight up to new problems and to handle old problems.

“An aroused American is a patriotic American,” said Professor Garff. “Coming alive is one way to become aroused.”

Professor Garff was introduced by the Rev. J. W. Thompson who served as toastmaster for the evening. Farm Bureau President Frayne Shouse conducted the meeting.

Studies Made on Cheese Taste

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—It doesn't seem that cheese could be any better than it is, but better flavor and the elimination of starter failures are claimed by agricultural research service as a result of recent studies.

One was technical, the research showed that bacteriophages prevent the growth of bacteriophages, viruses that attack starter bacteria and stop or slow down their activity. Action of bacteriophages or similar things also retarded the development of acidity required to produce cheese of desirable flavor.

Professor Scores Dairy Production

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — In a far-reaching study, the professor, according to Professor Delmar Keeney, New York college of agriculture, high production at low cost may pay off, but there is a possibility that production may be more than it is worth.
 For example, the New York cost accounting project in 3 showed more dairy herds in high production showing a slight out of 15 farms with 100 or more showed a loss, he pointed out. The reason higher production item except milk was as high or higher as the unprofitable herds, he explained. Equipment, building, land, and other items are all included in the cost of production, he said.
 Pasture was less valued upon bedding costs per cow were high. The net effect was a loss of $28 per cow against a gain of $3 for the profitable herds.
 "That slight skill known as farm business management" is the key to profit, concludes Professor Keeney.

Tension Focus of Error By Frightened Student Copyright 1964 Pitman Publishing Corporation

Children, to whom making mistakes is acutely painful, are therefore under great tension when doing something correctly...

Some say that children get security from large amounts of praise...

England Refuses To Sanction Open Net Meet

LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Open tennis received another setback Thursday when the British Lawn Tennis Association turned down a move by Wimbledon to open its tournament to professionals next year. After a stormy floor discussion, in which the game was attacked for its hypocrisy and sham-amateurism, British tennis chiefs voted 88 to 40 to keep the All-England championships amateur.

For years, certain elements in the game have argued that such a setup is a sham because the top amateur players operate on an unlimited expense-account and the professionals compete with amateurs, not in golf.

The International Federation, made-up of all the nations with tennis organizations, has repeatedly turned back efforts to let professionals compete with amateurs, and in 1960, when amateur tennis was at its lowest depths and the pros were riding high, a resolution for open tennis almost passed, but missed by a few votes.

Herman David, chairman of the All-England club, suggested that Wimbledon open its playing list to all players, pro or amateur, in defiance of the International Federation. He said the International Federation "has hindered our progress to the problems of the game."

He insisted that the British association notify the International body that it was going ahead with its open "bill" even if this should entail withdrawal from the International Federation.

Judge Carl Aervold, president of the British LTA, said such an arbitrary action could only result in "animosity and retaliation."

It by no means follows that we are satisfied with the present state of affairs within the LTA, the judge said.

In recent years, there has been a giant tug-of-war over open tennis.

New Mexico Tops New Mexico State

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 11 (AP)—New Mexico won its fourth game of the season Thursday by blasting New Mexico State, 86-33, in a non-conference encounter here.

The loss brought the Aggies record to 2-3. New Mexico has lost one game, 39-40 to Kansas.

Mel Daniels, 6-foot, 9-inch sophomore center, led New Mexico and all scorers with 24 points and pulled down 15 rebounds, also, tops for the contest.

Three other yobos hit double figures, Dick Hill and Bill Morgan each had 16 and Skip Krulich 14.

Notre Dame Runs Over Detroit

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 11 (AP)—Faced by Larry Sheffield's 27 points, Notre Dame defeated the Detroit Pistons Thursday night 107-84.

It was the fourth straight basketball victory for the unbeaten Irish, who exceeded their three-game average of 100 points by two.

Sheffield connected with 13 field goals and 11 of 12 free throw attempts.

The Irish started slowly as Detroit grabbed a 10-11 lead after the first three minutes, but a 15-minute intermission before intermission did Notre Dame go ahead to stay, 39-38, on a jump shot by Jay Miller.

Skins Deny Wilkinson to Be New Coach

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—O. Leo DeOrsey, president of the Washington Redskins, said Thursday he doesn't know anything about the possibility of Bud Wilkinson becoming coach of the National Football League team.

"I've never had a coach," DeOrsey said in an interview, referring to Bill McPeak, the team's coach and general manager.

But DeOrsey conceded he thinks Wilkinson had a great record as coach at the University of Oklahoma, and he said he hopes to meet Wilkinson when the latter goes to Miami Dec. 20.

When the Redskins lost their first four games, there were rumors that McPeak would go. The team rallied, however, and is now tied for third place in the Eastern conference with a 4-1 record going into the season finale with Baltimore Sunday.

DeOrsey, who is general manager of the team in the absence of ailing George Preston Marshall, said he hasn't given much thought to the coaching situation.

"I'm not one of those guys to get panicky," he said, noting that McPeak's contract doesn't expire until January.

He said there is no meeting of Redskins directors planned in the near future.

DeOrsey did say that he has heard from people who identify themselves as friends of Wilkinson that the former Oklahoma coach might be interested in taking a fling at professional football.

The Redskins official said he has no plans to discuss the matter with Wilkinson.

Miss Rawls, Boros Lead Mixed Golf

SEBRING, Fla., Dec. 11 (AP)—Julius Boros and Betty Rawls, looking beautifully as a team, fired a four-under-par 68 in 35 minutes Thursday to lead the $40,000 mixed foursome golf tournament.

The burly Boros, playing in his first tournament in more than three months, and Miss Rawls, put together a string of three birdies on each nine to finish the round one stroke in front of two other teams.

Mason Rudolph and Kathy Whitworth and Art Wall and Mary Mills came in with two.

An error cost Johnny Pott and Clifford Ann Creed a four-stroke penalty and knocked them out of a tie for second. At the 10th hole, Miss Creed noticed that she was carrying 15 clubs, one more than the rules allow.

Boros, former U.S. open champion, and Miss Rawls, a four-time women's open champion, toured the course sharply, leaving each other easy birdie putts.

the third period and crushed Cincinnati 116-101 Thursday night.

The victory was Boston's fourth straight over the Royals, who have yet to beat the Eastern division leaders this season.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, Dec. 11 - Born today, you may well have the spark of genius that will allow you to make original contributions to mankind's knowledge of the world. Possessed of a highly analytical mind, you have at the same time that creative ability that can add that touch of progress to what might otherwise be merely good work of positive value. You only occasionally may be restrained, avoid wasting your talents on unworthy causes.

One who enjoys life to the hilt, you are somewhat inclined to be irresponsible. So long as you are responsible only for yourself and your own well-being, this is a trait which, though it may leave you in embarrassing straits every now and again, will do no real harm. You would be wise, however, to encourage habits of responsibility for it is the rare person who is answerable to himself alone.

You have a rather amazing gift for putting two and two together. Whether it be in matters social or scientific, you can become a tremendous influence for good if you put this gift to advising others in making their decisions. Take care, however, not to take advantage of the trust others place in you; don't use your advisory capacity for ill.

Among those born on this date are Hector Berlioz, famed composer; Leonard Huxley, English biographer, teacher, editor; Robert Koch, pioneer bacteriologist.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.
