

Inquest Opens in Twin Falls Crash That Killed Four

By MIKE MCGREER
A witness to the Dec. 19 fatal crash in which three Twin Falls high school girls and a young Twin Falls woman were killed at Eastland drive and Addison avenue east, testified Wednesday that the driver of the girls' car should have seen the other car approaching them. This testimony was given by Ronald Ray Thorne, manager of KLIX radio station, as an inquest into the crash opened Wednesday morning in the Twin Falls county courthouse, before Coroner Claude Wiley.

Seven witnesses were heard before the noon recess, and Wiley said there were several more due to testify during the afternoon.
Killed in the crash were Marcia Hackney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe G. Hackney, 140 Florence avenue; Holly Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. (Ted) Smith, 446 Pierce street; NIKI RONK, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Ronk, Elizabeth boulevard, and Mrs. Kenneth Martens, whose husband was driving the 1963 Chevrolet that struck the car in which the girls were driving. Mrs. Martens died five days after the crash.
Thorne and his wife were driving towards Twin Falls on Addison avenue east, and were just east of the intersection when the crash occurred.
Thorne said he saw the 1958 Ford, which was thought to be driven by Miss Hackney, stop at the intersection, but only for what seemed about three seconds. The car then proceeded into the intersection where it was hit broadside by the Chevrolet.
The Ford was registered to Miss Hackney's father.
Thorne was asked by a member of the jury if he was able to judge the distance between the Ford and Martens' car.
He replied, "No, I couldn't judge the exact distance, but I was able to tell that there was going to be a crash."
He was asked by another juror if he could determine whether Martens' vehicle was traveling faster than he was, which he said was about 35 miles per hour. Thorne said he could not, Mrs. Thorne said the second witness called to the stand was her husband's testimony.

Official

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Congress made it official today that Lyndon B. Johnson and Hubert H. Humphrey have been properly elected president and vice president of the United States.
The senate and house met in a joint session to count the votes cast by electors last month in the various states.
There was no surprise. Sen. Carl Hayden, D., Ariz., president pro tem of the senate, announced the tally at the conclusion of the ceremony in the house chamber.
Of the 538 electoral college votes, Johnson received 485 to Barry Goldwater's 49.

It's too Late For Burch, Says Smylie

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie said today it is too late for National Republican Chairman Dean Burch to give his job.
Smylie, chairman of the GOP governors' conference, said his replacement should be someone like Ray Bliss, the Ohio GOP chairman.
Smylie said Smylie, "is experienced in the field of party politics in which Burch is so sadly lacking."
"I can't make a nomination," Smylie said, "but I am confident the national committee will have candidates."
Smylie decried Burch's recent statement that he was willing to compromise to hold his job.
"It was utterly predictable," the governor said, "that he would feel that an olive branch of conciliation but an iron hand of exclusionary policy."
Smylie said Burch might have been able to keep his post had he offered compromise earlier.
Now, he said, Burch should submit his resignation to the national committee, when it meets later this month.
If it is not accepted then he would have a mandate to continue," Smylie said.

President Plans War On Diseases

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—President Johnson concentrated yesterday on the details of a 1.2 billion dollar war on heart disease, cancer, stroke and other major health problems.
The program is one of the proposals the President discussed in his State of the Union message Monday night. He remained at his desk most of the day to study a special message on health to be sent Congress Thursday.
The nation's largest labor organization endorsed Johnson's State of the Union address which called for medical care for the elderly, air and water pollution and other programs.
White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy released the text of a telegram to Johnson from AFL-CIO President George Meany Tuesday. Johnson's proposals as a "sound, constructive program to meet the most pressing needs of the nation."

Bean Blight Control Aid Asked

By G. H. CHAMBERS
HAZELTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Members of the South Central Idaho Bacterial Blight Control Association Tuesday afternoon passed a resolution at the Frontier Grange hall calling for financial aid for the state department of agriculture and for the University of Idaho to combat the spread of bacterial blight or halo blight.
The resolution called for authority to inspect and all bean fields for infection and to ask that the cooperative of agriculture had a public hearing for the purpose of bringing into proper focus to all segments of the bean industry the many problems, dangers and needed action, and the need for concerted action following the experience of the 1964 growing season.
The hot, dry growing season needed to eliminate bacterial blight in Idaho never materialized last summer and the disease continued in Idaho.

Soviet Union Blasts Talk By Johnson

MOSCOW, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Soviet Union, after two days of apparently careful study, today denounced President Johnson's State of the Union message as "alarming."
It said the message can only "evoke a negative reaction."
Both Pravda and Izvestia, the country's most authoritative mass circulation newspapers, declared the President's address to be "contradictory" and "inadequate."
The communist party daily Pravda violently accused the President of talking from both sides of his mouth.
"On the one hand one can find in this (Johnson's) message assurances the United States is looking for peaceful, mutual understanding with the Soviet Union," said Pravda.
"On the other hand, contrary motivations clearly sounded... the reluctance to abandon methods of military adventure and direct intervention in the affairs of other countries."
Both newspapers characterized the message as "typical of the contradictions in the imperialist countries" and reflecting "contradictions within the ruling circles" of those countries.
There was no reference in the editorials today to Johnson's expression of hope that the Soviet leaders would visit the United States.

Talking Signal

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6 (AP)—It's here: the talking traffic signal.
"Don't walk" and "walk" signs yesterday to county officials at an intersection in a southwest Los Angeles district. They agreed it performed well.
A built-in tape recorder provides amplified instructions to match those given by an electric sign which reads, "Don't walk" and "Walk." "Don't Walk" goes on when there isn't time left to cross the street on the green light.

Fire Roars Through New Radar Plant

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla., Jan. 6 (AP)—Fire roared through a huge new 30-million-dollar radar installation, the only one of its kind in existence.
The flames raged out of control several hours after starting from an undetermined cause.
The air force said there were no injuries.
"The eye on space" radar was used to detect, identify and track satellites in space and also was capable of missile detection and tracking.
It was housed in a 12-story, block-long building on a remote corner of this sprawling military reservation, about 20 miles from the main base area.
There were no water facilities in the area to aid in fighting the fire, authorities said. Eglin fire fighters were joined by civilian units from nearby towns.
The air force said a board of investigation would be appointed to probe the fire.

Medicare Bill Drive Gains In House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The drive for a Medicare bill rolled on today in the new Congress, with indications that it may have picked up enough momentum to knock down the first major obstacle.
House Democrats forced a change yesterday in the political alignment of the ways and means committee which should give them two more committee votes for the health care bill this year.
The committee has killed similar proposals in the past. The new lineup appeared to open the possibility of early enactment of HEALTH CARE legislation which has been before Congress in one form or another for 15 years.
The program, backed by President Johnson, would provide hospitalization and nursing home care for the aged. It would be paid for by increasing present social security taxes. However, contributions would go to a special health care fund apart from the regular social security funds.
The latest development which boosted the morale of Medicare backers was announced Tuesday by Speaker John W. McCormack, D. Mass., after a meeting with House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich.
McCormack said that Democrats with a house majority of 285-140, decided to change the committee representation from last year's 3-to-2 ratio to reflect the new 2-to-1 division.
This means that the ways and means committee will have 15 Democrats and eight Republicans instead of the previous 15 and 10. The two new Democratic members are expected to be Medicare supporters. And the bill lost last year in committee by only one vote.

California, Arizona Solons Get Ready for Colorado River Row

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UPI)—New battle lines were marked out today as California and Arizona renewed hostilities in Congress over the muddy waters of the Colorado river. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R., Calif., prepared to fire the first shot in a senate speech in which he declared he was again holding out the "hand of friendship" to Arizona. The California Republican planned to introduce a bill to authorize the controversial 1.1 billion dollar Central Arizona project on the condition that any resulting water shortage be borne by the new project rather than existing works.
The measure was co-sponsored by newly elected Sen. George Murphy, R., Calif.
Legislation calling for construction of the long-pending project also was expected to be introduced shortly by Sen. Carl Hayden, D., Ariz.
The two states have long been at loggerheads over terms under which the huge water project may be built.
Kuchel's new bill was similar to a measure introduced in the last session of Congress but represented a limited retreat from earlier demands that California be perpetually guaranteed 4.4 million acre-feet a year from the Colorado.
In the new bill, Kuchel asked that California be guaranteed that amount of water until the President finds that other projects capable of delivering 2.5 million acre-feet a year from the Colorado.

Baby Strangulation Is Ruled Accidental

KETCHUM, Jan. 6—Death of a 2-month-old Ketchum baby from strangulation Saturday was reported today.
According to Dr. A. Scott Earle, Blaine county coroner, who ruled the death accidental, Kimberly Theresa Scherthanner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andres Scherthanner, Ketchum, was lying on the seat of her parents' car with a snowsuit on and apparently slipped down into the suit and was strangled by the cord at the neck of the garment.
The death was withheld by the mortuary, but rumored reports spread until a Times-News reporter contacted Dr. Earle Wednesday.
The child was born Nov. 3, 1964, at Lake Arrowhead, Calif. The parents took the body to Bangor, Me., for final rites. In addition to the parents, one sister, Heidi, survives.
Scherthanner is a ski instructor at Sun Valley.

Solon Blocks Resolution On Filibuster

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—A resolution to strengthen the senate's antifilibuster rule was introduced today, but a Republican leader in the Illinois House of Representatives blocked its immediate consideration.
Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D., N.M., spearheading a move by a bipartisan group of senators, proposed an amendment to the rules to permit debate to be cut off by three-fifths of the senators voting instead of the two-thirds majority now required.
Anderson asked unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the proposed rule change. Dirksen objected, forcing a delay in the start of the battle at least until Thursday.
Dirksen also objected later to a request for unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of a resolution to permit debate to be cut off by a simple majority.

Man Jailed For Alleged Area Thefts

Donald Wilkerson, 23, St. Joseph, Mo., was arraigned Tuesday afternoon before Twin Falls county Probate Judge Zoe Ann Warberg on charges of first degree burglary.
Wilkerson's arrest Monday night near Hansen reportedly completed capture of a group suspected of stealing more than $20,000 worth of goods in Idaho and Utah, according to Weber county Sheriff LeRoy Hadley.
Wilkerson was arrested near Hansen by State Patrolman S. D. (Scotty) Luckert. It was reported various items in Wilkerson's car were identified as coming from a burglary in Jerome. Wilkerson is wanted for parole violation in Utah and burglaries in Jerome, Twin Falls and Buhl. Washington license plates on Wilkerson's car drew Luckert's attention to the vehicle. Wilkerson had purchased Twin Falls. See THEFTS, Page 2, Col. 5.

Leadership Splits Among Congo Rebels

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Congolese rebel leadership has split and remaining elements of the communist-backed insurgent army are near mutiny, refugees arriving from neighboring Uganda said today.
The refugees said the rebel movement has been divided into factions led by Thomas Kanza, the one side and by Christophe Gbenye and Gaston Soumailot on the other.
Rebel soldiers who fled from the northeast Congo province of Kibali-Iura to Arua, Uganda, reportedly to have accused Gbenye of collecting money from the sale of gold instead of using it to pay his troops.
The refugees said some rebel soldiers had not been paid for three months and were close to mutiny against the officers who crossed into Uganda with them.
The rebels fled following the capture by Congolese government troops of the insurgent capital of Stanleyville and other towns in northeast Congo. Gbenye had set himself up as head of a "people's government" in Stanleyville.
Refugee Albert Mubenga said a spokesman for Kanza, the rebel "foreign minister," had told him the rebel leadership had cut off all funds from Kanza.
Kanza had remained in Nairobi since he went there to negotiate with U.S. representatives for the release of white hostages in Stanleyville. The negotiations failed and scores of hostages were massacred by the rebels.

Britain, Russia Sign Agreement

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Britain and the Soviet Union today signed a five-year agreement for cooperation in agriculture research.
Agriculture minister Fred Peart, who attended the agreement for Britain, told reporters "it holds out the promise of really useful cooperation in a field where a glance at the agreement itself shows each of our countries has much to offer the other."
Soviet Ambassador Alexander Soldatov signed for his country. The agreement includes changes of information, scientific material and delegations.

Reapportionment Resolution Delayed By Idaho Senators

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Idaho senate delayed today until afternoon, and perhaps longer—action on a resolution affecting legislative reapportionment. But Sen. George Black, R., Twin Falls, the majority leader who asked for the delay, said it was "not intended as a dilatory tactic." He said the delay was because a number of senators were absent. He said unless there is objection he would ask at the afternoon session that consideration be delayed until next week, when members of the senate finance committee will be on hand. Those committee members are on a tour of southern Idaho institutions.

The senate met only briefly at the start of the third day of the 1965 legislative session and the house skipped a morning session entirely to give time for completion of committee assignments.
The senate approved the message report, giving each member 20 cents a mile for the distance traveled for Boise and for the return distance to his home.
The reapportionment resolution asks congress to let states choose their own method of apportioning membership in their own legislatures.
It asks congress to propose a constitutional amendment specifying that nothing in the constitution limits states in determining how to choose their governing bodies, as long as the people approve.
Apportionment is one of the federal court decisions ruling the major problems facing Idaho state's legislative districting unconstitutional.
Gov. Robert E. Smylie announced in the state of the state message yesterday that he will call a special session devoted to the problem at the end of the current regular session, which opened Monday.
The Governor said it is plain the courts will compel reapportionment of legislative and congressional districts in Idaho if legislators do not take action within 30 days after adjournment of the regular session.
Introduction of the joint congressional appeal yesterday afternoon signalled the start of legislative action in the senate after organization of senate committees. See RESOLUTION, Page 2, Col. 7.

Benedictine Fathers Eye Jerome Project

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Catholic church authorities announced today plans to establish near Jerome a dependent priory by the Benedictine fathers from Mt. Angel abbey in Oregon.
The Most Rev. Sylvester W. Treinen, bishop of Boise, said he invited Mt. Angel Benedictines to establish a new foundation in the Boise diocese.
He said the site chosen is a 560-acre tract near Jerome. He said the tract was acquired by the Boise diocese and is being given to the Benedictine fathers.

Mud Saves Child, 3, From Mishap Death

RUPERT, Jan. 6—Like most little boys, Loren Foster, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Foster, is attracted to mud and water. But to Loren, mud will always hold special attraction for it is credited with saving him from injury—and possibly saving his life when he was accidentally run over by a car outside the Norge village on highway 25 about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. The little boy was playing in a mud puddle behind a car and when Patricia Felzer, 18, Paul, started to drive away she did not see him. She told officers she was sure one of the back wheels passed over the child, but after thorough examination and X-rays at Mindock Memorial hospital no broken bones could be found.

More Snow Falling in Hailey Area

HAILEY, Jan. 6 (AP)—Wood fell again Tuesday night in Wood valley, which is experiencing one of the heaviest snow seasons in several years.
Highway crews worked all night plowing highway 83. Harry Eiland, Mark Nelson and Elmer Kennison, Shoshone, district highway employees, said they got as far as Galena store.
Mr. and Mrs. Howard Platt, who operate the lodge there, have been staying in Ketchum. This morning they followed the state highway plow to their home, but decided to return to Ketchum.
Mrs. Jack Reinsch at North Fork store, said when she asked highway employees, who the crews were working this morning they replied, "Somewhere between Galena store and the summit, if they are not buried."
It snowed all Tuesday night at North Fork store and was still snowing there this forenoon.

PTA Members To Circulate Petitions

Magie Valley PTA units and volunteers will circulate "education alert" petitions starting at 7 p.m. Thursday in an effort to provide a "mandate" to the legislators demanding a better educational system through greater financial support in Idaho.
According to Mrs. Pierce Roan, 168 Austin street, president of the Twin Falls PTA council, "The PTA is offering a rallying point around which everyone who is interested in furthering the cause of better education can contribute support."
She said the goal is 100,000 signatures and the petition will be presented to the governor and legislature at 2 p.m. Jan. 27. Mrs. Roan urges as many PTA leaders as possible to assemble at the statehouse for the formal presentation of the petitions.
She urged everyone, whether a PTA member or not, who is interested in better school support, to back legislators in their efforts to get more money for schools.
Volunteers have asked every teacher in Idaho schools to sign the petition. A note was sent home to every parent via students stating that the PTA is interested in furthering the cause of better education can contribute support."

Bones 14 Million Years Old Used to Rebuild Skeleton

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The skeleton of paleoparadoxia, being reconstructed by the geological survey at a Menlow Park, Calif. laboratory. Bones used in the job are estimated to be 14 million years old.

The bones of the prehistoric animal were discovered Oct. 2, 1964, in an excavation site at Stanford University. Charles A. Repenning, a special in-vertebrate paleontology with the geological survey, said the specimen was the first of its kind discovered in North America, and only the second identified anywhere in the world.

Repenning said a nearly complete skeleton was found—about 75 of the 200 bones in a paleoparadoxia. He said that 60 or 70 of the bones are distinctive enough so that the animal could be identified from just one bone.

Repenning said the paleoparadoxia came from an extinct group of mammals that existed from 25 million years ago to about 11 million years ago.

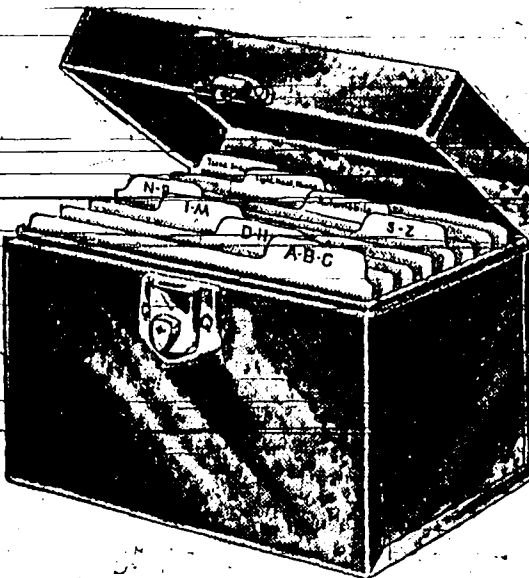

"The paleoparadoxia," Repenning said, "walked and rested on land much as do sea lions. The front feet could not be bent forward at the wrist to lie flat on the ground. The animal had to support himself on the backs of his hands with the elbows turned upward. Similarly, to place the hind feet on the ground, the knees had to be greatly flexed and extended outward. Locomotion on land of paleoparadoxia was similar to sea lions, accentuated by a typical hopping motion.

The scientist theorized that the animal met a violent death. He said the creature apparently fell or jumped from a cliff into the water and broke its back legs. Cripped and unable to swim, it was attacked by a shoal of sharks. Evidence of this were a number of shark teeth found in the bones of the skeleton.

Four Youths Asphyxiated In Jail Cell

PAYSON, Ariz., Jan. 6 (AP)—Four teenagers "who just happened to get in trouble" were found dead yesterday of apparent asphyxiation in the jail cell of a new administration building.

Indications were that the youths were asphyxiated by butane gas from a malfunctioning heating unit, according to Gila county Sheriff Elton Jones, who arrived in this mountain town to investigate the deaths.

The victims were John Watkins and Cliff Crowl, both 18, and Kenneth Haught and Blaine S. Schroeder, both 16, all of the Payson area.

Sheriff Jones said the four were arrested here Sunday night. He said Watkins was wanted in connection with shoplifting and the other three in connection with burglary. He described all four young men as "decent" citizens "who just happened to get in trouble."

The sheriff said it appeared the entire building was contaminated by the gas overnight.

Hands Off

SITKA, Alaska, Jan. 6 (AP)—Fire hydrants were untouched today in this Alaska Panhandle town. Volunteer firemen were told to keep hands off until a prolonged cold snap ends, even if there's a fire.

Large tanks borrowed from the Standard Oil company have been mounted on city trucks and filled with water for emergency use by fire rigs.

Temperatures have been just a few degrees above zero for days.

By SEN FRANK CHURCH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6—If President Johnson's vision of the Great Society are to be realized, this country must begin to turn more of its attention toward the spreading social ills which have been too much observed with the extended world. Military budgets, foreign aid, outer space, have all but monopolized our time and talent.

To be sure, the external threat remains formidable. We must continue to keep our guard up, our defenses strong, and we must not fail in our commitments abroad. But we can no longer afford to monopolize our attention at the expense of avoiding any further the pressing problems which face us here at home.

PRESSING PROBLEMS—The agenda of domestic neglect has grown too large—the prevalence of so much poverty in the midst of affluence, the phenomenon of automated unemployment, the inadequacy of medical care—elderly, the blight of slums and urban congestion, the spreading pollution of our air and water, the rising incidence of crime, the need for broader educational opportunities, and for further orderly progress in the achievement of equal treatment for all our citizens.

We must restore full employment, improve the depressing conditions of life in our sprawling, ugly cities, and we must focus far more attention on the problems of those who produce our essential raw materials—our farmers, lumbermen, and miners. We must make sure that they get their fair share of our national income.

GLARING DIFFERENCE—I disagree emphatically with those who contend that these are problems we shall always have with us, that they defy solution, or that programs designed to cope with them are more to be feared than the problems themselves.

A few months ago, after attending an "Atom-for-Peace" conference in Vienna, I traveled extensively through Austria, Switzerland and West Germany. Most of these countries are usually so rich as the United States. Yet in none of them did I find slums, squalor or blight of the kind that still festers in every big city in this country today.

Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas, the thoughtful chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, on which I serve, is one American who has called for a greater attention of our energies to our domestic problems. As Fulbright recently said, "My own belief is that the prevailing condition of our foreign relations is favorable to a refocusing of our effort on problems here at home, but even if they are not, it would still be essential to revise our priorities."

TIME IS NOW—We can afford to direct more of our energy and resources to areas other than foreign affairs. Not only do our domestic problems cry out for attention, but we may discover that their solution could well prove to be our most valuable asset in the conduct of foreign relations and the strongest weapon in our packed arsenal for meeting the communist challenge. The time to increase our effort at home is now.

Views of Others

FISH SCALE AT BURNS CREEK—The fifth Wildlife Federation, embracing all of the Southern Idaho counties, gave notice last week that engineering and payment feasibility are not the only basic considerations for the expanded Lynn Crandall dam at Burns Creek.

The district organization of the state's wildlife federation adopted a resolution opposing the proposed Crandall project.

The resolution is the most interesting, according to the Associated Press report from Pocatello. The wildlife delegates say atomic power reactors have progressed to the point to make electrical power production from the dam unnecessary. The resolution, of course, was primarily aimed at the dam's threat to the popular fishery between Burns Creek and the Palisades dam on the south fork of the Snake River.

The expanded Burns Creek dam, now under intensive study, would back water all the way from Burns Creek to almost the Palisades dam power facility itself. This would remove one of the nation's greatest stretches of stream fishing, unquestionably. The south fork in the fall is a most compelling thesis for preservation of this beautiful fishing stream. The cutthroat trout are the biggest and freshest. The scenery beside the stream enthralls. And the boat lovers find it an almost religious experience to float majestically down this soul-rinsing stream.

But, logically, the wildlife federation must take another fishery into account when it deliberates on the future of the south fork. And that is the tremendous lake from Burns Creek to Palisades—providing twin lakes of incomparable beauty and serviceability. The fish and wildlife service has pontificated on the effect of the impounded water. The service is quick to cite the growth of trash fish, that game fish do not compete as well with trash fish in any ponding, that spawning beds will be ruined. But fish killing projects are becoming more refined. There is undoubtedly good possibility that fish-kill science can someday reinvigorate the game fish.

If the federation is saying that the stream fishing is better than lake fishing, there is no arguing it now. Many fishermen prefer stream to lake fishing. For one who has drifted down this river, powerful stream and felt the force of its unique personality, no promise for ponding it suffices. In essence, it is an emotional argument, but all the more persuasive, nevertheless.

The wildlife federation is not far off base in pointing to the growing capability of atomic power reactors to fulfill this region's power needs. By the time the Burns Creek dam is finished, we will make the prediction that atomic power, when power alone is considered, will be just as economical and just as serviceable. But atomic reactors, no matter how power-efficient they become, cannot offer the other uses of a Burns Creek dam—irrigation, flood control, and recreation. This is the tremendous appeal of a large multiple purpose dam.

The feasibility report on the expanded Lynn Crandall dam, when it is finished, will be finished next year. On paper, at least, there is little doubt of its overall feasibility. But to many a sportsman and nature-lover, this feasibility report will be incomplete. The rapidly-dancing cutthroat trout will bear prominent testimony in the deliberations ahead. More than any other obstacle, this will be the most formidable. The fish scale is not the only way to weigh the Lynn Crandall dam at Burns Creek, however.—Idaho Falls Post-Register.

POT SHOTS

IT WOULD POINT BANKS—Dear Pot Shots: Men can do wonderful things when they set their minds to it. After watching some hunters follow an obviously smart dog last fall, I had an idea that may be worth developing.

If men can train dogs to find pheasants, why can't they train dogs to find money? That would be much more practical than having dogs chase birds all over a field.

Just train a dog to point anything that smells like money. I'm sure money must have a distinctive odor, though I'll admit I've no idea how it would smell. Then you could just follow your money dog wherever he might like to go and pick up all the money he pointed.

WASTE OF TIME?—Dear Sir: Well, see where the Idaho legislature and congress will be in session at the same time for the next two or three months. I'll give you something to cuss and discuss, at any rate! But mostly cuss, I expect.

All the fuss these guys will be raising is bound to remind some voters of all the promises and what-not that filled the air a few months ago. Naturally, those who made campaign promises have forgotten them already. And if any of these politicians have the best interests of the taxpayers at heart, it just won't show.

Makes you wonder why we go to all the trouble to have elections and campaigns.

Interpreting the News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—President Johnson's State of the Union message—with perhaps 60 proposals for 1965 and beyond—operated what may be the most fascinating years in the history of American politics.

Through the message which he delivered Monday night to congress and the nation ran two revealing insights into the times and the man.

There is no sense of crisis in the world at this moment, at home or abroad, and—thanks to this, there was none in what he said. This enabled him to appear calm and far-seeing, an appearance he treasures.

But, because of it, he was able to employ to the fullest his philosophy of politics and the presidency, which is the avoidance of unnecessary conflict, even with opponents.

Much he said in his talk sounded almost casual, which was no accident but is part of his technique. It was almost entirely non-irritating.

And what was controversial—like announcing he would push for medical care for the aged and aid to students in both public and private schools—got no more space than anything else, and then he skipped on to another item.

A typical State of the Union message is generally only an outline of things to come. Johnson took advantage of this, too, he would spell out some of his main programs in the next six weeks.

Thus he delayed, until perhaps there was no alternative, setting any woods afire. But what there was to fire later seems sure enough. The medical care program alone is a hot number.

And there is the likelihood he will send congress a new civil rights bill although he gave no more than a line and a half to purposefully. Without any effort to teach them to talk except for talking to them as you would to any child, a large percentage of them began to talk.

This method of treatment, experimental at first, gave results supporting the theory that physical and mental development are interdependent and that, where there is brain damage, instead of giving the child less stimulation he must be given more than he would receive if he were normal.

By spending countless hours with these children and giving them every opportunity to learn, it was found that they could easily be taught to read at the age of 3 or 4.

Thus they often surpassed in mental development children who were perfectly normal.

This observation has led to a renewed interest in teaching normal children to learn the letters of the alphabet as early as their second birthday.

The researchers have also concluded that, if their program of patterned movement is conscientiously carried out and the child does not show marked progress after two years, he is congenitally brain-damaged, or he has a progressive brain disease such as a tumor.

Another important conclusion: Helpful intelligence tests may

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
As we come into 1965, the African-based crises, I would say, are only beginning in a world of course of events. But there's no Alfred Hitchcock mystery here.

The shrill demands for more arms of the dark continent delegates who cheered Castroite Ernesto "Che" Guevara's December 1964 proposal for a United Nations summit there (a fiasco): Those in this cabal are gold-drunk Sino-Soviet spies as well which is what makes them so dangerous to freedom everywhere.

What awful caricatures of decency such delegates really are! At home they pillage their helpless people. Their despotism makes them the kind of men that Peking and Moscow can use efficiently. Whereupon they loiter in their lush New York apartments and limousines and lecture can't get along and at whom this was aimed, can't complain. They not only pride themselves on their aggressiveness but make it one of the justifications for their war with the Soviets of not being aggressive enough.

Johnson took advantage of this split: by a double invitation to the Soviet leaders: to appear on American television and come on over here for a visit.

Since Johnson let the Soviet embassy here know he was going to make this proposal before he made it publicly, it's possible behind-the-scenes talks are going on now for the Soviet leaders to come here and Johnson to go to the Soviet Union.

Fidel Castro is the easiest, and one of the most popular, targets for American politicians who don't have the responsibility of dealing with him. But Johnson does.

And here again, as if deliberately not setting up any roadblocks to the possibility of some understanding with Cuba, Johnson didn't even mention the Cuban name in talking about strengthening relations with Latin Americans.

In this whole talk there was probably not one word put in, or left out, by accident.

Last year, when Johnson delivered his first State of the Union message, just less than seven weeks after President John F. Kennedy's death, it was reported that Johnson used 34 writers for six weeks to put it together for him.

The strategic Sudan alone is almost as large as all of India. It is a rich country. It is a whole area.

The oil-minerals rich Sahara is five times the size of Texas. It is in Ben Bella's hands.

The Congo borders eight African states. The Stanleyville-Brazzaville corridor, was a Portuguese horror-crew, were equipped through the Sudan, Uganda, Burundi, and the Congo.

In 1921, a remarkable Portuguese missionary, Pedro Pires, traveled to Ethiopia and converted the Emperor Susenyos to Christianity. This nation, Liberia (1847) are the two oldest independent African states.

Portugal's own Angola, sprawled along 1,000 miles Africa's west coast. While it slapped down this NATO ally, the U. N. in courting "opinion"—which is never defined—the Angola terrorists are reared from Leipzig, East Germany, the true headquarters of the so-called African Revolution for the Portuguese Colonies.

So are the "Agitprop" terrorists in Nigeria, where 15 per cent of the dark continent's entire population lives. Neighbor Ghana's attack base. This was the first new independent African state to establish U.S.S.R.-China diplomatic relations and that's when Moscow rebuffed a cooperative Africa.

Today Ghanaian Kwame Nkrumah is not only West Africa's most popular leader, but also Quaison-Sackey, is now president of the U. N. general assembly!

Representatives of "world opinion"? Why, most of the anti-communists are anti-communists in Dutch. The pillaged have been left hand, terrified and ruined by the treachery of their own traitors.

Idaho Youth Is Awarded For Bravery

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 5 (AP)—An Idaho youth was announced last night as a recipient of a Carnegie Hero Fund Commission citation for bravery.

The award goes to Randall L. Cates, 14, who rescued a one-year-old child, Tony P. McInelly, from a burning building at Shelby, Idaho, on June 30, 1963.

The commission gave this account of the incident:

"Tony was alone in an enclosed porch of a frame dwelling when gasoline fumes were ignited by the pilot light of a gas dryer, causing an explosion. Randall, who was wearing no shirt, ran to the outside door of the porch, which was filled with flames. He saw Tony, his clothing aflame, lying on the floor near a doorway between the porch and the kitchen.

"Randall entered the dwelling through another door and ran to the kitchen doorway. He placed one foot in the porch, grasped Tony's arm but lost his hold because of the burned flesh. After stepping back briefly to beat out flames on his trouser leg, Randall again placed one foot in the porch and leaned over, keeping his head turned away from the flames.

"Although he suffered severe burns, he lifted Tony, stepped back into the kitchen and carried him from the dwelling. Randall put out the flames on Tony by slapping them and by rolling him on the grass. Firemen extinguished the flames in the dwelling. Tony succumbed five days later.

"In three months Randall recovered from burns he had sustained on his arm, shoulders, leg and back."

Randall's home is at May. His award is a bronze medal and $500.

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Road construction contracts in effect on Jan. 1 totaled $1,208,000, the state highway department reported today. They cover construction of 174 miles of highway. Twenty interstate highway projects costing $31,405,000 were included in the total. They involve 89 miles of expressway. Thirteen projects costing $8,823,000 cover 47 miles of other state highways and right-of-way projects costing $2,980,000 cover 33 miles of forest highway.

Coordinating the meetings are C. E. Brinkenden, assistant sales manager, and Gordon Smith, director of soilbuilder operations.

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Idaho's governor called for establishment of a statewide system of junior colleges and measures to increase financial support for public schools in his State-of-the-State message yesterday.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie asked the state board of education's plan for junior college districts.

The chief executive also called for revision of the law requiring two-thirds approval for school bond issues and asked enough school funds to make a state aid to public school formula workable and equitable.

"This course will require the enactment of a revenue structure adequate to provide sufficient money, and this I will recommend," Smylie said.

Smylie noted the idea of a statewide system of junior colleges is not new. It was most recently advocated by the state education board, which wants the legislature to create six junior college districts in the state. The board's plan asks that one-third of the financial backing for the districts come from the state.

"Before an unplanned proliferation of junior colleges occurs," Smylie said, "you should give earnest attention to changing the structure of the junior college law looking to the ultimate creation of a state-wide system of junior colleges."

Smylie said there is still time to make an "orderly and rational assignment of location" of the colleges and get appropriate dates of organization while providing a proper basis for support that will permit us to end with a state-wide junior college system that will serve the entire state.

Smylie stressed the system should cover the entire state. "Provision should be made for activation of the districts by the state board of education as soon as the board becomes apparent," Smylie said. "The legislature itself should select the appropriate locations."

The governor said the state itself should be responsible for construction of the required physical plant of each college where facilities do not now exist.

A junior college system, Smylie said, would strengthen the two universities by permitting them to devote all their energy to work of the highest academic calibre. He said it will soon be necessary to increase the work of the universities in the graduate field.

"We need not worry about the growth of our two universities," Smylie said. "They are growing so rapidly now that the need for expansion of the system is already clear. We need excellence at the top of the educational system, and the widest possible opportunity on the widest possible base as a foundation for the pursuit of excellence."

Smylie said there is no need for the two-thirds approval provision on school bond issues.

"We have no need for arbitrary rates which permit the minority on these issues to have their way," Smylie said. "I therefore recommend to you most strongly once again that you take steps to reduce to 50 per cent the number of votes necessary to carry a bond issue for school building purposes."

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—The index of prices received by Idaho farmers gained six points in the month ended Dec. 31, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today. That put the index at 239 per cent of its 1910-14 average. A month earlier the index stood at 233 per cent and in December, 1963, it was 236 per cent. In another report the department said certified seed potato production in Idaho in 1964 totaled 3,234,572 hundredweight. That was down 33 per cent from 1963 production.

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Articles of incorporation were filed today in the office of Secretary of State Harold Williams for the Walter Dufresne and Leonia Dufresne Foundation, Inc. Boise. The purpose of the corporation, the articles stated, is to support religious, charitable, scientific and literary or educational programs. The articles further stated that "no part of the net earnings of the corporation shall inure to the benefit of any private stockholder."

Capital was listed at $1,000. Incorporators were Walter R. Dufresne, Leonia A. Dufresne and Jess B. Hawley, jr., all Boise.

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Preliminary reports indicate private credit will be available in most instances to finance repairs needed because of flood damage to Idaho farms, May Hanson, state director of the farmers home administration, said yesterday. He emphasized that the FHA makes loans only when private credit is available. And he said emergency loans are available only in counties designated for that purpose. So far only two—Gem and Boise—have received such designation. Other Idaho counties, Hanson said, "have reported they can take care of the job if conditions don't worsen."

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Ada county commission announced yesterday it will exercise options and purchase 225 acres of land for a new site for the Western Idaho state fairgrounds. The site is between U. S. highway 20 and the Boise river west of Garden City, a Boise suburb. It is directly across the Boise river from the Plantation golf course. The announcement followed negotiations with the state highway department for right-of-way for an interchange state highway spur through the present fairgrounds. County Commission Chairman Leon Fairbanks said the county will get $350,000 for the right-of-way which will be more than enough to buy the new site.

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—State highway department opened bids yesterday on three projects, one in north Idaho and the two others in the southeast. The projects and apparent low bidders: Furnishing aggregate surfacing and cover coat material in stockpiles adjacent to U. S. highway 10A in the vicinity of Clear Fork in Bonner county; three bids; Zapp, Boise, $27,305. Construction of the roadway irrigation structures, a 20-foot concrete culvert and six-inch bituminous surfacing on 4.015 miles of state highway 34 from Cleveland to Thatcher, in Franklin county; four bids; Five Construction company, Brigham City, Utah, $394,716. Furnishing aggregate surfacing and cover coat material in stockpiles adjacent to state highway 34 in the vicinity of Cleveland in Franklin county; five bids; J. K. Merrill and sons, Inc., Pocatello, $11,850.

IDAHO FALLS, June 6 (AP)—The metals company involved in the Christmas holiday strike at the national reactor testing station near here has announced intention to default on its scrap removal contract. Construction workers were off their jobs for seven days in a dispute involving scrap removal by non-union employees of Pepper's Allied Metal company, Salt Lake City. The construction workers have returned to jobs but the company informed Phillips Petroleum company it will default the $1,898 contract. Phillips handles surplus contracts for the atomic energy commission.

IDAHO FALLS, Jan. 6 (AP)—General economic conditions in Bonneville county were better in 1964 than in the previous year, said James G. Glaser, manager of the Idaho Falls employment security agency. "Judging from statistics in this office," Glaser said, "the general economy of the area was improved in 1964 over 1963." While the total number of persons applying for employment in 1964, 3,600, was 400 more than applied in 1963, the number of 1964 placements in jobs, 3,002, was higher than the 2,831 placed in 1963. Due to the continued trend in mechanization on the farm, Glaser said, there were 400 fewer persons placed in agriculture in 1964. There were a total of 5,600 new applications received by the Idaho Falls office, with 3,597 job openings available for placement.

state education board should have a staff of its own rather than depending on volunteers. He also asked the legislature to consider transferring part of the functions of the board to other agencies.

Smylie complimented the legislative council for conducting "meaningful research" on the state aid formula. He said he hoped the session will be able to devise a formula that will create equal opportunity. But the governor warned if a formula is to work properly it must be backed by adequate funds.

"Let me take this occasion to remind you that no formula that you devise for the distribution of these funds will work satisfactorily if it is underfunded," Smylie said. "We should adopt a statute that will accomplish equality of opportunity in the distribution of these moneys, and then we should appropriate funds enough to do the job."

The governor also called for changes in educational administration. He said the overworked

E. Kennedy Visits With President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called on President John F. Kennedy at the White House yesterday to show him how well he had recovered from a broken back.

The youngest brother of the late President John F. Kennedy walked with the help of a brown wooden cane. He chatted amiably with Johnson for about 30 minutes in the chief executive's office.

It was the first time they had seen each other since last September. Johnson concluded a fast-paced day of election campaigning in New England by visiting Kennedy after a week in a Boston hospital.

Kennedy returned Sunday from Florida where he had been recuperating after being released last month from the hospital. His back was broken six months ago in a plane crash.

Major Bills Listed for Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Following is some of the major legislation with which the 80th congress is expected to concern itself:

Health care—High on President Johnson's legislative list. Hospital care plan for the aged financed through the social security system approved by senate last year but never reached vote in the house. Change in membership of the house ways and means committee offers excellent chance for its passage this year.

Education—Multi-billion dollar program of federal aid to elementary and secondary schools will be offered. Administration hopes to win congressional approval by skirting sensitive church-state issue.

Appropriations—Held back by the lack of votes in the house. Administration confident of winning Democratic majority in the new house will approve long-range federal aid program for economically depressed areas of this 11-state region.

Taxes—Administration has promised to ask for reduction or elimination of excise taxes on food of luxury and semi-luxury items imposed during Korean war. Congress certain to go along with a proposal so obviously popular with consumers.

Immigration—Administration plans to ask for major revision of immigration laws, with less emphasis on nationality quotas. Could be hard-fought issue.

Man Tells of Being Swept Off Sailboat

MIAMI, Jan. 6 (AP)—Donald McNeal, a 28-year-old former paratrooper and father of four, today told how he was swept off his small sailboat 20 miles off shore and spent 18 hours in the stormy Atlantic before being rescued.

Exhausted, nearly delirious, his eyes swollen shut, McNeal was pulled from the water yesterday and given emergency aid. McNeal was unconscious when help arrived but came to as fishermen aboard the charter boat Prowler plucked him from the water.

A 12-foot wave knocked McNeal into the Gulfstream from the cockpit of a 21-foot sloop about 7:30 p.m., Monday as he and Miami dentist Charles T. Spencer fought through rough seas to return to port. Spencer managed to hang on when the wave struck and then could not find his companion.

Spencer put over a life raft for McNeal, then headed for the nearest land for help.

"I didn't have any fears," said McNeal. "I thought possibly I could catch up to the boat, but then my foul weather gear almost pulled me under."

He stripped to a T-shirt and then started swimming. Spencer guessed the location was about 15 miles off Posey Light or nearly 20 miles from land. He never saw the life raft. Spencer put overboard.

"I tried to swim into the shipping lanes. I had freights all around me," yelled and whistled but they didn't see me," McNeal said.

A coast guard cutter reported hearing what might have been yells in the area, but was unable to locate anyone during the night.

"I wasn't tired so I kept on swimming until daybreak. I was watching the Posey Rock light-house," McNeal said.

"Finally I think I just passed out. I dreamed of being rescued. I can remember waking up slow and then looking around and going back to sleep."

"I was always getting a mouthful of water. The waves were very large."

When the Prowler spotted his bobbing in the waves about 11:30 a.m. yesterday, the fishermen shot yellow flares several times but got no answer.

"The way they told me later, I guess I was asleep. They didn't know whether it was a cocoon in the water or what," said McNeal.

"They noticed though, that when a wave was going to hit me in the face, my head would lift up. I remember none of this."

"They came right up to me before I woke up."

He was found several miles off the light-house. He hid in the cabin, and by the time the cutter reached port, McNeal had revived.

"I feel more rested now than I did when we started sailing," he said.

About 250,000 men under arms, mostly organized at battalion level, and Soviet help has aided it in far outdistancing any other southeast Asian power militarily. President Sukarno has promised to crush the 16-month-old Malaysian federation. (AP-wirephoto)

CONFERS WITH ERHARD—McGhee conferred for half an hour yesterday with Chancellor American Ambassador George Ludwig Erhard.

MARINE EXERCISE SET—A flight of about 1,000 U. S. marines will be flown from Okinawa to the Philippines this month for a training exercise called Reflex One.

Guard Leader Comments on Consolidation

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Maj. Gen. George B. Bennett, Idaho adjutant general, said yesterday the new national guard will have room for every qualified army reserve officer and enlisted man.

Bennett said the guard would have an "active and aggressive" campaign to interest reservists in continuing their service with the national guard.

The defense department has ordered the breakup of reserve units under an economy plan for a single home-guard army.

Bennett said that since Defense Secretary Robert McNamara's plan for the consolidation has not reached Idaho yet, it wasn't possible to describe specifically how the guard and the reserve force would operate in Idaho. He said the department of army would probably give reservists a year to join the guard.

"We want to absorb the greatest possible number of reservists and guardsmen who are left without a unit assignment by the reorganization, and we want them to remember their switch to the guard with pleasure, not with bitterness," Bennett said.

Horsemen Hit Pari-Mutuel Repeal Call

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Gov. Robert Smylie's call for repeal of the pari-mutuel horse racing law left a spokesman for the Idaho Horse Breeders' association a "little disappointed" yesterday.

"I represent about 3,500 members of our association," Ken Malone, Gooding, said, "and I'm a little disappointed in the governor's attitude asking for repeal of one of the major segments of the agricultural industry."

Malone, who is secretary of the association, said repeal of the act would "very definitely hurt" the horse breeding industry in Idaho. He said that owners could test their horses on Idaho tracks, which in the past season retained at least one million dollars in the state.

The horse-racing program started last spring. The bill was passed in the 1963 legislature over Smylie's veto but then had to face a court test before the program could begin. The supreme court upheld the legislation.

Malone said the first season of racing was successful.

"We feel the thing went over real well and it has helped the fair board and most of all the horse breeding industry," Malone said.

"I feel the governor is giving a little more attention to national problems than he is to the problems of the state in the agricultural department. I think we better look after our own people first."

Trio Kidnaps Singer, Robs Him of $600

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—Billy Eckstine, the singer who disappeared for some 27 hours and came back with a tale of kidnap, Mickey Finn and robbery, finally made his scheduled appearance at the Americana hotel last night.

Eckstine walked into the hotel with two detectives and his physician and went onstage at 10:10 p.m. delivering songs and a brief speech. About 250 persons were in the Royal Box cafe in the hotel when Eckstine took the stage.

"Sometimes it takes something unfortunate to show you just how many friends you have and last night I found out I have an awful lot of friends," the singer said. "Of course, there were three guys who didn't care too much for me. They didn't get too choked up. They're $600 richer today."

Earlier, Eckstine had said three men kidnaped and robbed him and made him drink a powerful concoction that knocked him out from Sunday night until early Tuesday morning.

He said he woke up about 1:30 a.m. sitting on a bench in Harlem's Mount Morris park about two blocks from his apartment and walked home.

Monday night, "Mr. B" was scheduled to open at a $5,500-a-week show at the Americana hotel in Manhattan. In the audience were such notables as Princess Lee Radziwill, sister of Mrs. John Kennedy, and actor Peter Lawford, brother-in-law of the slain President.

Other entertainers, including Sammy Davis, Jr., Tony Bennett, Robert Goulet, and Red Buttons, filled in.

Shortly after noon Tuesday, a spokesman for the hotel announced that Eckstine was at his apartment.

"He'll be on tonight if he's in good shape," the spokesman said. "No punitive action is being considered. We absolutely deny it was a publicity stunt."

OVERCROWDED LIFEBOAT filled with crewmen of a sinking American freighter is pictured as it pulled alongside the German auto carrier SS Mathilde Bollen in high seas off Bermuda, Dec. 26. Moments later the lifeboat capsized and German seamen leaped over the side to help save 34 U. S. seamen. Four others lost their lives when the crippled freighter SS Smith Voyager went down. The ship sank Dec. 27 after wallowing helplessly in the waves for a week. This dramatic picture was made by a seaman on the Mathilde Bollen and became available Tuesday with the arrival of the vessel in Long Beach, Calif., its first U. S. port of call since the incident. ### Rattlesnakes

BLUE LAKES, Calif., Jan. 6 (AP)—Disaster authorities had another warning today for flood victims alerted to evacuate the area.

"Beware of rattlesnakes!" Officials said. The floods had routed out the hibernating rattlers and extreme caution was urged when approaching piles of logs and debris.

Exchange Club Discuss Activities

Induction of new members, tentative plans for Crime Prevention week and the national Exchange club's freedom shrine were discussed Tuesday noon during a luncheon meeting of the Twin Falls Exchange club in the Rogerson hotel Desert room.

Mack Dotson discussed induction of new members and outlined principles of the club.

Lloyd LeClair, club president, commented briefly on the club's freedom shrine project. It was tentatively planned that at the next meeting, members will inspect the shrine at Twin Falls high school, which was installed several years ago in the school library.

Exchange club freedom shrines, displayed in thousands of schools and other public buildings throughout the United States, are comprised of 28 historical American documents—exact copies reproduced from the originals.

Members discussed the possibility of obtaining two more shrines, to be installed in the city's two junior high schools, or purchasing one shrine which could be moved around and displayed in elementary and junior high schools.

LeClair reminded the club members that Crime Prevention week is Feb. 14-20 and tentative plans were discussed for activities during the week.

It was reported that flags will be displayed downtown on Jan. 20 for President Johnson's inauguration. Members were urged to help put out the club's flags that morning.

The next meeting will be Tuesday noon in the Rogerson hotel.

West Coast Airlines Has Business Hike

West Coast airlines, with offices at Joslin field, transported a record 466,065 passengers in 1964, 12,557 of them having boarded at Twin Falls.

The local figure, which compares favorably to 10,994 in 1963, sets a new record, however, according to J. N. Bez, Jr., vice president and assistant to the president. In 1960 Twin Falls boarded 13,283 passengers.

The company's overall year-end total was nearly 30 per cent higher than the 352,723 count in 1963, and 20 per cent above the previous all-time high of 386,781 passengers boarded in 1960, Bez said.

Every month of the year topped the corresponding period in 1963, said Bez, who attributed the increase to the economic well-being of areas served by the system, the realignment of schedules and the purchase of P-27 turbo prop equipment a year ago.

Ronald B. Masoner is customer services manager of the airline at Joslin field.

The Rev. Frank Schwelasing officiated at the double ring ceremony before a background setting of white baskets holding pink and white chrysanthemums and white candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long gown of pearl de sole with a white lace front panel. The gown featured a scooped neckline outlined in lace. ### Hairdo Makes Big Difference In Appearance

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (NEA)—We all seem to fall apart during special occasions when we want to look our best.

Aside from pacing ourselves when we shop or entertain, we can simplify certain grooming routines to offset a frazzled look.

Your hair makes a major difference in your appearance during family festivities, office parties or neighborhood visits. Keep your hair neat and you have a jump on your holiday beauty worries.

Get a good haircut or trim now and have your hairdresser give you a simple style, one that you can manage easily with comb and brush without professional care.

Erik of Breck, special stylist for the hair care manufacturer, offers these hair care suggestions for these special occasions.

Keep your hair neat. Select a hair spray that does not leave a sticky film. Spray it on and then brush your hair thoroughly. This should leave your hair looking clean and shining.

Run a comb through cotton, picking up a lot of cotton in the teeth. Then comb your hair with this to remove dust and dirt that tends to cloud your hair.

Don't wipe your makeup off into your hairline. Use cotton pads or a clean washcloth to remove makeup from this area. The slightest bit of makeup causes a wilted or grubby look.

Keep your brush and comb clean. These grooming tools collect dust, hairset, hairspray and dandruff each time you use them. If you do not wash them thoroughly in warm suds and water, you rebrush dirt through your hair.

Brother Act Triggers Second Half Spree, Hansen Raps Bulldogs 62-47

HANSEN, Jan. 6—Brothers Gordon and George Hill combined for a back-breaking, eight-point spree early in the third quarter Tuesday night and sparked the Hansen Huskies to a 62-47 victory over the Kimberly Bulldogs. Trailing throughout the first half, the Huskies stormed back to completely dominate the final two periods of a game that had Hansen's oldtimers trying to remember when last Kimberly had fallen to a local crew. It was the seventh straight victory for coach Bud Sanchez and his Huskies after an opening loss.

TANGLED UP AND FALLING to the floor, Sam Keyan, Hansen, on bottom, and Kimberly's Lovedy lose possession of the ball, but not before a jump ball Tuesday night. George Hill (13) and Huskie Larry Hansen (15) look on but Kimberly's Jim Denton (15) is more concerned with something happening in backcourt. Hansen won 62-47 for its seventh straight victory. ## Wade Killed In Racing Accident

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Jan. 6—Bill Wade, a veteran race car driver who was reaching his peak as a competitor, was killed Tuesday when his car blew a tire at 170 miles per hour and tumbled into a concrete wall at Daytona International Speedway. Wade was alone on the track testing tires when the right front tire blew as he went into the west turn. The 1964 Mercury plied into the four-foot retaining wall and then skidded along it for 1,600 feet. Wade, who had won four straight races in 1964, was still wearing his helmet and strapped in his seat when the car stopped. One official said the collision probably killed Wade immediately, possibly by slamming his head against the dash. Wade, who had raced everything from jalopies to sprint cars since he started in 1951, was fourth in NASCAR's 1964 standings. The native of Houston was living in Spartanburg, S.C. He is survived by his widow, Stella, and four daughters, Vickie Lynn, 12; Cheryl Ann, 9; Melinda Kay, 7, and Rhonda, 4.

All-Stars Emphasize Field Goal Kicking

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 6 (AP)—Judging from Tuesday's practice sessions, this may be the year somebody finally boots a field goal in the annual Senior bowl all-star football game Saturday. Even though this is the age of the quarterback and the field goal kicker, no three-pointer has ever been kicked in 15 preceding Senior bowl games. North and South coaches, however, have emphasized kicking drills in preparation for the clash. North coach George Wilson drilled Tom Nowatzeck, Indiana fullback, Bob Heintzheim, Tulsa guard, and Gus Otto, Missouri fullback, on placement kicking, while South coach Tom Landry used Mississippi State field goal boomer Justin Canale, backed up by Louisiana State guard Remi Pridhomme. For punting, the Southerners are counting primarily on Virginia Tech's versatile quarterback Bob Schweickert. Drilling on punting for the North were Len Fricker, Oregon State end; Lance Renzel, Oklahoma back, and Floyd Hudlow, Arizona back. Wilson planned to put his North squad in pads for Wednesday's workout. He added something new to the Yank offense Tuesday, with halfbacks Bill Symons of Colorado and Dick Gordon of Michigan State throwing passes on the run. Chief targets for North tosses were Jerry Smith of Arizona State, and Boston College's Jim Whalen. Landry suited his Rebels in shoulder pads. Quarterback Joe Namath of Alabama and Steve Tenen of Florida State alternated on passing plays.

"The Dale Williams-led Sherwood Sports Center walked over Midton's 42-32 in the only other game of the night. Williams had 12 and Don Walkup had nine for the losers.

Inmate Hopes Soar; Pitcher Is Returning

KANSAS CITY KANS, Jan. 6—The baseball team at the Kansas penitentiary is encouraging news Tuesday. First baseman Jackson's coming back...
It was while serving an earlier term for robbing a gasoline station that Jackson gained the reputation of having won more games and struck out more batters in one season than any other pitcher in the 100-year history of the penal institution at Lansing. In September, 1963, Jackson was paroled. A year later, after he had pitched for Reno, Nev., in the California State League, he was arrested for the taxicab robbery here. Jackson, who pleaded guilty Tuesday before District Judge William J. Burns' explained he came home broke and begged for luxuries he had become accustomed to in organized baseball. The holdup netted slightly over $40.

Aaron Plans To Attack at Plate in 1965

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Milwaukee slugger Hank Aaron, one of baseball's most feared batters, plans to become strictly an offensive hitter this season. Although he was the National League's No. 3 hitter with a .328 average, Aaron expressed dissatisfaction Tuesday over his 1964 performance. "Last season I was worried too much about striking out," the Braves' veteran outfielder said. "As a result, I was strictly a defensive batter. When you're right down to it, I suppose it was a matter of pride. I hated the thought of dragging the bat back to the dugout, so I concentrated too much on waiting for a certain pitch. This year I have made up my mind to go up there swinging from the time I leave the bench instead of taking and waiting." Aaron said he hasn't set any definite goals for 1965, but admitted "I'd like to come back and win that home run crown." He had San Francisco's Willie McCovey for the homer title with 44 in 1963, but his output dropped to 24 last year. His runs batted in total also dipped from a league high of 130 in 1963. Aaron usually a draftee, ended, missed several games at the end of last season because of an ankle injury. However, he has successfully dodged surgery. "I've done some running lately and the ankle seems to be fine," he said. "Of course, the real test will come when I play every day. It hurt quite a bit at the end of last season."

Protest Sent To WBA Over "Title Bout"

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 6—Bill Brennan, executive secretary of the Virginia Athletic Commission, said Tuesday he has protested the New York Athletic Commission's proposal of the Terrell-Terrell-Machen heavyweight title fight because the World Boxing Council's sanction was being withdrawn. The WBA has sanctioned the Terrell-Machen title bout Monday for March 4 in Chicago, and Virginia was one of the states slated as opposing the bout. Brennan explained that Virginia will support the WBA, which has retained sanction of a former heavyweight champion, Ezzard Charles, but he said he had sent 100,000 stamps to Abe Green, president of the WBA, and to the New York Athletic Commission, protesting the Terrell-Machen bout as a title bout. Brennan said the WBA rules provided for an explanation containing the over a heavy-weight title were declining to fight with the No. 1 ranked fighter battling the No. 4 man and the No. 2 and No. 3 fighters, quoting what the winners then fighting for the title. Since Terrell is ranked first and Machen fourth, Brennan said the WBA is not abiding by its own rules. Eddie Myers, executive chairman of the Virginia commission, denied that Virginia had protested the WBA's title designation. "That's not true," Dr. Myers said. "We are a member of the World Boxing Association and as such we recognize the Terrell-Machen bout as a heavyweight championship fight." Brennan said he and Dr. Myers had not discussed the telegram Brennan admitted he sent.

FROM ALL ANGLES

By JERRY HOVEY

Professional football, which once seemed to have the sweetest thing going for it since Adam and Eve had the garden, has run into a patch of stinging nettles. All of a sudden the game has gone from the American darling to the rank of thrown off con cubine.

Sports writers who once hailed football as the new excitement and the nation's fastest growing spectator sport have accomplished a predictable about-face and are lambasting it with every bit of vitriol at their command.

The reason, of course, is the premature signing of collegians.

Of the whole bunch however, colleges, athletes and professionals, there doesn't seem to be a great deal to choose from. With one exception, the fact remains the early signings were completed before the boy's last game—a bowl game. The fact is that prestige is being, the colleges want their teams in those bowl games for one reason—money.

Arizona and Nebraska each pulled $212,000 for their 60-minute Cotton Bowl stint. Alabama and Texas also had a $200,000-plus payday. Even Utah pulled in $50,000 for its playful afternoon at West Virginia's expense.

So while the colleges are in the bowl competition for profit each fall, it is possible for them to say the professionals are greedy because they want good athletes, who will play well and draw well.

The funny thing about this—and we don't intend this to sound done the signing of the Georgia boy before his last full varsity season—is it is only a matter of when Four Oklahoma boys were ineligible because they signed before the Gator bowl. Yet for many days prior to the Orange bowl, it was public knowledge that Antonio's son Namath would sign with the New York Jets for nearly $400,000. In fact, the signing and press conference were set up before the game for the next day. To all intents and purposes Namath was as much a pro as the other four by design, but not time.

It is amazing how much impressed an athlete can become simply by signing a contract. If it is wonder here that a boy who signs a baseball contract can immediately become a professional basketball player, or tennis, or badminton, or nearly anything. The "smart" businessmen always accomplish their "big deals" in relation to taxes. Championship boxers, venture forth no more than once or twice a year because "taxes will eat us up." A football player with that Jan. 1 bowl date coming up tried to beat that by signing Dec. 30. He wasn't smart. He was dirty. On his 10,000 bonus, if paid in 1964, the taxes would have been negligible compared

No price was announced for the deal, but when the stock changed hands two years ago, the stockholders received a $6 million dollars offer for the team from Bill Vecek—former major league executive—at Cleveland, St. Louis and Chicago—and Nate Dolin of Cleveland.

"Mr. Lemon and I are vitally interested in constructing a winning baseball team in Washington and we are happy to be able to acquire the entire stock of the club," Johnston said in a statement.

Johnston serves as chairman of the board, Lemon as vice president.

In the four seasons since the old Senators moved to Minnesota and the new team was organized, the Senators have lost money every year.

Attendance was up somewhat last year as Washington climbed to what it would be in 1963 with its 18,000 per year salary on top of it.

Of course, one can't let the lights off for signing. He shows he's doing wrong. But he also is judged under another set of standards from the professionals.

Some of the all-star games, such as the Senior and Hula bowls, honestly indicate their reason for existence is purely profit. All bowl games are based on making a lot of money.

Whether for personal gain or crippled children's benefit, the Senior and Hula bowls give cash payments to their players after the game. In the others, the school athletic directors take it back in a little brief case, put it in the athletic department's treasury and the next spring go out among the high schools and buy a freshman football team with it.

Who do you blame the most? The boy who signs early, promises his own integrity, the colleges want to make money and the professionals are purely in business.

But there is one thing for sure and we won't be so uncharitable to say it was planned. If any one thing—big bonus payments included—would bring about a mutual bi-league draft, it is public policy like this. Without competition the pros can contentedly wait for Jan. 2. The colleges will be still be in the bowl business.

Who loses? The athlete. From competition-stiffened action bids that end into hundreds of thousands of dollars, the mutual draft would reduce the college's bargaining right to nil. If the boy wants to play pro football, he has to sign at the pro team's price. It would turn it from a seller into a buyer's market. Ironically, the public supports the "hate, bonus" ideas and the owners can only profit from that attitude.

But this column takes the position of blasting everybody, the boy and the pro teams. It only served to give one of America's finer sports a black eye.

We close assured, however, that like the basketball fixes of a couple years ago, it will soon blow over and once again we can go back to playing football.

Booster Meet

The Bruin boosters will meet at 7 a.m. Thursday at the Roosevelt hotel, according to Paul Bull, booster president.

Bull urges all members to attend.

Present let quarterbacks Dick Wood, Mike Taliaferro and Pete Liske, quoted in a New York World Telegram and Sun story by Larry Fox Tuesday, said they were ready to battle the Alabama star and two other prize Jet rookies—thus far unmentioned for the 1965 signal-calling job.

"I just hope he has to take my job away," Wood, the No. 1 quarterback last season, told Fox from his Chamblee, Ga., home.

"Only if they hand it to him would I have any hard feelings. I don't think all this is a reflection on me unless they figure Namath can win a championship. After all we've been in contention two straight years with me."

All three holders said they'd expected Namath, the Jets' No. 1 draft choice, to sign with the club.

"But that money is so far out it sounds impossible," Wood said. "I don't see how anybody coming out of college is worth that much. However, the competition is so great the money gets out of hand and I don't think it was exaggerated."

"I saw Namath in the Orange Bowl and he looked pretty good—but not that good. What I got to sign Namath wouldn't even sneeze for."

Wood came to New York two seasons ago from the Baltimore Colts of the National league. Taliaferro played behind Wood last season and Liske was on the club's taxi squad through most of the campaign. Both were first-year pros.

"I don't mind competing against another player but it's tough fighting a no-cut contract," Taliaferro said in Dallas. "I think I could be a No. 1 quarterback... someplace."

The Jets also drafted John Huarte of Notre Dame, the Heisman trophy winner, and Columbia's Archie Robertson. Taliaferro said he was "puzzled" by the drafting of all these quarterbacks as a compliment to me.

"All I know about Namath is what I read in the papers and if he's got that much it sounds ridiculous to me."

Liske's reaction to the Namath signing he admitted at his home here, was "not one of joy."

"If he can get that kind of money, more power to him. In fact, I said I wasn't dismayed by the way they drafted so many men at my position. Funny, before the draft they said they were satisfied with us."

According to the World Telegram and Sun story, Wood foresees the Jets spending a lot more money as a result of the Namath package, a three-year contract at $100,000 per season plus an additional $100,000 in bonuses.

"I don't know how this will affect my salary next year," the tall veteran said, "but there might very well be a tendency for the older players to ask for more money."

"Only if they hand it to him would I have any hard feelings. I don't think all this is a reflection on me unless they figure Namath can win a championship. After all we've been in contention two straight years with me."

All three holders said they'd expected Namath, the Jets' No. 1 draft choice, to sign with the club.

"But that money is so far out it sounds impossible," Wood said. "I don't see how anybody coming out of college is worth that much. However, the competition is so great the money gets out of hand and I don't think it was exaggerated."

"I saw Namath in the Orange Bowl and he looked pretty good—but not that good. What I got to sign Namath wouldn't even sneeze for."

Wood came to New York two seasons ago from the Baltimore Colts of the National league. Taliaferro played behind Wood last season and Liske was on the club's taxi squad through most of the campaign. Both were first-year pros.

"I don't mind competing against another player but it's tough fighting a no-cut contract," Taliaferro said in Dallas. "I think I could be a No. 1 quarterback... someplace."

The Jets also drafted John Huarte of Notre Dame, the Heisman trophy winner, and Columbia's Archie Robertson. Taliaferro said he was "puzzled" by the drafting of all these quarterbacks as a compliment to me.

"All I know about Namath is what I read in the papers and if he's got that much it sounds ridiculous to me."

Liske's reaction to the Namath signing he admitted at his home here, was "not one of joy."

"If he can get that kind of money, more power to him. In fact, I said I wasn't dismayed by the way they drafted so many men at my position. Funny, before the draft they said they were satisfied with us."

According to the World Telegram and Sun story, Wood foresees the Jets spending a lot more money as a result of the Namath package, a three-year contract at $100,000 per season plus an additional $100,000 in bonuses.

"I don't know how this will affect my salary next year," the tall veteran said, "but there might very well be a tendency for the older players to ask for more money."

TOP SHOOTER for the Twin Falls police department pistol matches held during July, August and September is Clove Edwards, right, who outshot his boss, Police Chief M. Frank Barnett, left, by a slim margin. Edwards gained two trophies for his accuracy, the larger one a traveling trophy that must be won three times in succession for retirement. Edwards' fired scores of 244, 241 and one less than perfect, 239, for the honors. The trophies were presented by J. J. Mallowney, publisher of the Times-News, Monday night. (Times-News photo)

Huarte May Get $400,000 From Jets

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Philadelphia Inquirer reports in today's editions that the American Football league New York Jets may bid as much as $400,000 to lure Notre Dame quarterback John Huarte from the National Football league Philadelphia Eagles.

The Jets picked Huarte, Heisman trophy winner, as their second draft choice; the Eagles sixth.

Inquirer Sports Editor Fred Byrod said the Jets will make the announcement at a news conference in New York Saturday.

He quoted Joe Kuharich, Eagles' coach and general manager, as saying: "We made Huarte an offer about a month ago. We've never changed it. We never would get in a bidding contest with anybody."

"I've talked to John six or seven times, most recently last Saturday. I even told him that if he could get the kind of money, with all the fringe benefits, that I've heard mentioned, he might make a mistake if he didn't take it."

Nebraska's Unicameral Legislature Opens, Watched Closely

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 6 (AP)—The 47 men and two women who will make Nebraska's law during the next two years slid behind their desks yesterday less concerned with appraising eyes from other states than how to raise money to meet swelling budgets. Nebraska has neither sales nor income tax and previous sessions of the unicameral legislature have frequently considered, but never adopted, either. Predictions are that pressure will be greater than ever this year to broaden the tax base.

But it is the legislature itself, not its business, that interests a growing number of outsiders. "The Unicameral has been a little like the bearded woman in the circus sideshow," a Nebraska legislator said.

kan once suggested. "She gets a lot of attention but nobody wants to take her to lunch."

The U.S. supreme court's "one man, one vote" doctrine has changed the scene. From New York to Hawaii, Nebraska has been questioned about their one-house legislature.

The traditional two-house plan, which Nebraska shared until 1937, usually consists of one house based on population and one based on geography. But now the question has been raised: If both houses have to be based on population, why have two?

The Unicameral legislature as it is operated in Nebraska, has every built-in safeguard that the two-house system has. State Sen. Marvin Stromer, Lincoln, observed as the legislative session opened today.

"I am fully convinced that the scrutiny of each proposed piece of legislation is done more thoroughly and scientifically here than in those institutions where duplicate bills are introduced and a screening committee either reports or kills them."

Sen. Alvin Adamson, Valentine, thinks other states have been reluctant to follow the Nebraska lead only because "legislators don't like the idea of legislating themselves out of office."

Even with only one house, Nebraska managed to run afoul of the supreme court appointment ruling. The legislature reappointed itself two years ago, using area as well as population for redistricting. Now it is under federal court order to remedy this, meanwhile functioning as a "de facto" body.

Nebraska legislators have some other distinctions which outsiders may not find so attractive: The senators have neither offices of their own nor party labels. When it was suggested two years ago that their office equipment should be something better than the cardboard files they allotted themselves, a floor tussle resulted. A move to put the body on a partisan basis failed recently.

Some other changes have been recommended to the present legislature. For instance Sen. Harold Stayer, Rising City, thinks there ought to be a new, up-to-date American flag to replace the present 48-star version.

It is anybody's guess whether these changes will come to pass before Lieut. Gov. Phil Sorenson brother of former presidential aide Ted Sorenson drops his travel to signal adjournment. One thing most are certain of is that adjournment is a long way away, probably in August.

MEETING HELD
SHOSHONE, Jan. 6.—Prayer meetings are being held at 8 p.m. daily through Wednesday at the Assembly of God church. The church membership is urged to participate, according to the Rev. John Shaw.

County Budget Meeting Slated
Twin Falls county commissioners will hold a special session either Thursday or Friday for the purpose of setting up a budget for the year.

W. W. Lowery, chairman of the commission board, is presently in California on a vacation but when he returns the budget will be gone over, the remaining two commissioners, H. L. Cadwallader and Maurice Klans, reported Monday.

Casualties in Viet Nam War Are Reported

SAYGON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Vietnam government forces suffered a record 442 casualties in the seven-day battle of Binh Gia, the defense ministry said today. The toll included 19 Americans killed, wounded or missing. The American casualty toll also was another record for a single battle against the communist Viet Cong guerrillas.
A U.S. military spokesman today revealed two additional American casualties. He said two U.S. marines were wounded Sunday while flying Vietnamese soldiers to a battle area 330 miles northeast of Saigon.
Neither of the two enlisted marines was wounded seriously enough to require hospitalization. The spokesman said one Vietnamese soldier was killed and another wounded after leaping from the marines' helicopters in the same action.
The Binh-Gia battle, 40 miles southeast of Saigon, continued sporadically from Dec. 28 through Jan. 3.

According to the defense ministry, the final casualty toll included five Americans and 158 Vietnamese killed; 11 Americans and 188 Vietnamese wounded and three Americans and 71 Vietnamese missing.
All three missing Americans were reported captured.

VIETNAM—Army Sgt. Harold Lewis, 33, Notus, takes advantage of a chance to rest along with his field telephone. He is near Binh Gia, South Viet Nam, Monday as he holds a field telephone. Respite came for Sgt. Lewis after the Viet Nam ranger battalion to which he is attached had scoured the area where the group was hit by a Viet Cong ambush. An American army sergeant was killed by a Viet Cong shell and 11 Vietnamese soldiers were killed in the ambush attack. (AP wirephoto via the Associated Press)

OUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 6 — Born on this day, you are clever and quick-witted, and although you may be completely "external," you are basically a very deep and thoughtful person. Loyal, reliable, affectionate, and sympathetic to those of whom you are sure you are a rare person who go to great lengths to keep their relationships thriving and meaningful.

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — Share pleasures with those who regularly share your difficulties. Giving and taking is a two-way street.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Put your analytical mind to work on present problems. The first step toward solutions is discovering the sources of difficulties.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Work according to well-established principles. A day in which "to teach his own" should be your motto.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — An excellent day for coming to an understanding with associates. A meeting of minds should hasten everyone's advancement.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Turn your attention to the needs of those less fortunate materially than you. Spiritual rewards should be plentiful.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Make an effort to express your ideas clearly. To be vague now may be to forfeit any gains they could bring you.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Avoid the promptings of those who have greed as their motive. Stick to your own altruistic ideals.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) — Demonstrate willingness to aid colleagues in their aims and they should reward you with aid to your own. Keep goals clearly in sight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Maintain your health by traveling with caution today. Prudence should see you through nicely.

WHY DO MORE PEOPLE BUY WITH FULL CONFIDENCE

IF HONEST REPRESENTATION of an auto's condition is important to you... then Union Motors is the place to buy your cars. "Beauty is only skin deep" is an old adage that has meaning in used car business. Most car buyers must depend on auto dealers to establish the actual condition of cars. For this reason it is vitally important that we honestly and accurately represent the condition of every car, then urge each buyer to test drive the car himself.

Legislative Reaction to Gov. Smylie's Recommendations Generally Favorable

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Legislative reaction to Gov. Robert E. Smylie's State of the State message in which he recommended adoption of a sales tax was generally favorable and his position was described as "courageous" by many lawmakers.

But some Democratic lawmakers were sharply critical of the program including Sen. William Dee, D., Idaho, senate minority leader.

Said Dee, emphasizing he was speaking for himself and not the party, "The governor has not only joined the ranks of the spenders and the sales taxers but has seized and is carrying their banner."

"There is no doubt now that the Republican party is the spending party. The governor is now proposing that the state of Idaho embark on a large spending program to be financed with a regressive tax that falls hardest upon the little ordinary citizen of the state. I'm deeply concerned that his 'new day' will turn into the same old day now being experienced in many of the states that have overspent and overtaxed."

Sen. George Bilek, R., Twin Falls, senate majority leader, said, "This is the most courageous speech I have ever heard from the governor. Many times before he has been criticized by myself and others for not spelling out the specific route for the legislature to take."

Certainly he can not be accused of lacking in political fortitude by his calling for the enactment of a sales tax to implement the program that he spelled out so vividly. I refer particularly to his proposals regarding funding for colleges and education. "I don't quite agree with the governor on the handling of the water problem. I would prefer building up the state department of reclamation and have the water problem handled by that agency."

Sen. Harold Lough, D., Latah, Democratic caucus chairman, said, "This is the fifth time I have heard the governor's message to the legislature. I think it is the first time he really gave the legislature a program with which to work. I admire his courage for coming out with specific recommendations. I certainly am in favor of his proposed junior college program."

Jack Murphy, R., Lincoln, senate president pro tem, said, "I thought the analysis of the growth of the state in the last decade was excellent, and I think his predictions on the future maintenance and growth and vigor of Idaho was well taken."

Sen. Richard Egbert, D., Teton, assistant senate minority leader, said, "Robert reached his fingernail in this message. We may not be able to agree entirely with him. He is not lacking in courage, and much of his program is worthwhile."

Sen. Lloyd Barron, R., Camas, senate GOP caucus chairman, said, "It was a very commanding speech. The governor put before us a strong and aggressive program. I am happy to see the emphasis about correlation of our efforts and I congratulate him on his firmness of convictions."

Rep. Pete Conrath, R., Blaine, speaker of the house, said, "It was timely, with courage and determination. The session may be longer than I first anticipated."

Rep. William J. Lanting, R., Twin Falls, house majority leader, said, "I'm proud of him. I think this is by far the best address he has made. He has laid the issues out and defined them. I think many of these recommendations he has made must be met. I'm pleased that he has taken a positive stand concerning tax revision. This will make it much easier to revise the tax structure."

Rep. Harold Snow, R., Latah, house assistant majority leader, said, "I think this showed a real degree of leadership we've been looking for for years. I agree with his program 100 per cent."

Rep. Ernest Allen, R., Canyon, house GOP caucus chairman, said, "This is the strongest position the governor has taken in regards to education in any of his previous messages to the legislature. I am in full agreement with the aims expressed in regard to public education. This is a forceful message and because it is, I'm sure it will meet with considerable opposition in some areas."

Rep. Darrell Manning, D., Bannock, house minority leader; Rep. Tony Wessels, D., Idaho, assistant minority leader, and Rep. Don Pieper, D., Bonneville, Democratic house caucus chairman, in a joint statement, "His recommendation of a real sales tax is merely the acknowledgement of a fact well known by experienced members of the legislature. It is a bold and aggressive move."

Interest Rate On Savings Is Increased

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Interest rates on savings accounts have been increased to four per cent from the previous 3.5 per cent, officials of three Idaho banks confirmed yesterday.

The rate increase is effective at all branches in the state of the First Security Bank of Idaho, Idaho First National bank and the Bank of Idaho.

Officials of the three banks said the rate increase follows similar hikes by banks in surrounding Northwestern and Intermountain states.

The higher interest will be paid on all savings accounts at official said.
