Crash of Jet Plane in Wichita Kills 29, Turns City Block Into Inferno

WICHITA, Kans., Jan. 16 (UPI)—A gliding air force jet tanker, spewing thousands of gallons of fuel in a death dive, ripped through a row of homes and enveloped a city block in an inferno of flame and smoke today. Police said at least 29 persons were killed. Officials feared the toll would go higher. Ten of the bodies taken to two makeshift morgues were children. Police Chief Eugene Pond said the dead included 22 civilians and all seven plane crewmembers.

National Leader of Elks Addresses Meet

RUPERT, Jan. 16—Idaho Elks were told Saturday night by Robert G. Pruitt, Atlanta, Ga., grand exalted ruler of Elks, to join in a continued effort to sustain Elkdom. Two basic points, he said, are to keep membership steady and growing and to bring the quality of the lodge up to the order. Representatives from all except two Idaho lodges heard Pruitt speak during the mid-winter convention of the Idaho Elks association.

Agreement on Cars Signed With Canada

JOHNSON CITY, Tex., Jan. 16 (UPI)—President Johnson and Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson today signed an agreement to let new cars and auto parts be sold across the U.S.-Canada border duty free.

Monsignor to Be Honored At Ceremony

A recent honor designated by Pope Paul VI has prompted the investiture of the Right Rev. Edmund R. Cody, V.G.P.A., as honorary apostle in a ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at St. Edward's church.

Last at Smylie Shatters Harmony of Legislature

BOISE, Jan. 16 (UPI)—Senate Minority Leader William J. Dee disrupted the legislature's harmony today by accusing Gov. Robert E. Smylie of "uncontrolled spending." The Idaho county Democrat unleashed criticism against Smylie's proposal for the enactment of a three per cent sales tax. In asking for the tax, Dee said, the Republican governor ignored "one essential fact. The overwhelming majority of the people of Idaho do not want a sales tax."

Churchill Remains in Coma as Death Nears

LONDON, Jan. 16 (UPI)—Sir Winston Churchill lay in a coma tonight. His strength was ebbing and death seemed near. A close friend of the family said there is little hope the 90-year-old Churchill would recover from the effects of a stroke. His doctors reported this morning that he had spent a quiet night and there was "no material change" in his condition since yesterday.

Blizzard Hits East With Heavy Snow

A heavy blizzard hit the east coast today with massive transportation delays and up to a foot of snow. The storm contributed to at least 17 deaths. The weather bureau issued warnings for Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York and New England. Heavy snow was reported from Virginia to Eastport, Me. Six members of one family died in Mirville, Ind., when fire swept their two-story frame home. Firemen had to plow through four-foot drifts to get to the fire.

Action Urged By Governor Over Water

BOISE, Jan. 16 (UPI)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie said tonight Idaho cannot move too swiftly to enter the field of water resources development. The governor spoke at the concluding banquet of the Idaho Press Association and called for implementation of the legislature of an amendment to the state constitution that allows the state to set up a water agency. "I am hopeful that a water agency act will be passed during this session of the legislature so that our state can get its comprehensive water plan moving without further delay," Smylie said. "We cannot move too slowly."

Bus Skids

BOSSON, France, Jan. 16 (UPI)—A busload of tourists from an American air force base skidded off a mountain road near Bosson today, rolling over a ditch above a mountain precipice. A spokesman for the group said that three of the 24 Americans aboard the bus were still in the hospital but that none was seriously injured.

Weather for Inaugural Has Been Kind To Few Presidents, History Reveals

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (UPI)—Weather was blamed for the chances of good weather on inauguration day. The inaugural committee had one consolation. "The weather has been kind to few presidents. If it rains, as in 1841, it is raining or just plain cold," the committee said in a look back at history. "This year the presidential box will have a glass shield, bulletproof for security reasons." The inaugural committee listed a number of firsts in history. Warren G. Harding was the first to ride in an automobile to the capitol to take his oath. Calvin Coolidge's inaugural address was the first to be broadcast by radio to the nation. Harry S. Truman's inauguration was the first to be televised. The inaugural address is an important part of the ceremony. But many have achieved historical prominence. Among inaugural words that have come down through history are those of Thomas Jefferson in 1801 warning against "entangling alliances" and Franklin D. Roosevelt telling the nation: "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

Drive-in

PALO ALTO, Calif., Jan. 16 (UPI)—After drive-in movies, drive-in restaurants and drive-in banks, now comes drive-in robberies. Police said two men in a stolen car held up two service stations and escaped with a net haul of $148—without ever getting out of the car.

Annual UF Meet Slated Here Jan. 28

Harry Eaton, president, United Community Funds of Twin Falls, Inc., announces the group's annual meeting will be held at 7:30 a.m. Jan. 28 in the Rogerson hotel. All persons who made contributions during the 1965 campaign are considered members of the organization and are urged to attend the no-host breakfast.

Monday Night Is Deadline On 1965 Tags

Magic Valley residents have only until midnight Monday to get 1965 Idaho license plates on their vehicles. Law enforcement officers have in the past, and will this year, strictly enforce the law after deadline. Any vehicle owners who are still displaying 1964 plates at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday will be fined.

Explosion of Freight Kills 7

BONASSOLA, Italy, Jan. 16 (UPI)—A freight car loaded with explosives blew up in the railway station of this Italian Riviera town today, smashing a passenger train which had just arrived. Police said at least seven persons were killed and 50 injured. Almost every house in the resort town was damaged. "Bonassola is on the Italian Riviera 33 miles east of the port of La Spezia. It normally has about 1,600 inhabitants. Last year law enforcement officers had stopped 12 area drivers before noon the day after deadline last year. They were fined."

Gov. Smylie to Participate in Inauguration

BOISE, Jan. 16 (UPI)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie will participate in President Johnson's inauguration next week while in Washington and Chicago for meetings. Smylie told newsmen he will participate with the President and other governors Wednesday and take a place on the inaugural steps at noon. Smylie said he will meet with the advisory committee on government relations in Washington Tuesday and Wednesday and will leave after the inauguration for the national Republican committee meeting in Chicago. His office will be filled during his week's absence by Lieut. Gov. William E. Drewlow.

Wichita

The three million dollar tanker built by Boeing and basically of the same design as the Boeing 707 civilian jetliner, was demolished. Its blackened ribs lay on the street like plucked bones. A 707 jet had taken off from Wichita Municipal airport with 100 passengers aboard just a few minutes before the crash this morning, and it was at first feared this was the plane that crashed. It was the tanker that had just taken off, presumably fully loaded on a routine mission from McConnell air force base. The plane was seen to bank, the pilot apparently was trying desperately to hold altitude and nose into a vacant field. Suddenly, it veered down. Wide areas of the northeast section of the city were sprayed with the JP4 fuel it carried—a type less explosive than that used by most commercial jet liners. For miles around, people could see the plane dive, disappear momentarily behind trees and the slope of the ground and see the huge ball of fire shooting into the sky. The crash site was just three blocks short of the Wichita Institute for Logopedics, where children are treated for speech defects. Cause of the crash was not immediately learned.

Bill Introduced On Liquor Sale

BOISE, Jan. 16 (UPI)—The house economic affairs committee introduced a bill yesterday that would allow ski areas covering less than 40 acres to sell liquor by the drink. The bill amends one that covers Idaho liquor by the drink laws to permit the smaller ski resorts to open lounges.

Church Group Leader Lauds

Smyle's Stand on Gambling

Editor, Times-News: I wish to publicly commend our church group on its stand on gambling. Smyle's stand on gambling is a page of wisdom from the front lines of the times. The United Church of Christ has expressed its feelings in a resolution on gambling which is a national asset. I am sure that our national assembly is considering state lotteries and other forms of gambling as additional sources of revenue, and that some of these proposals would link legalized gambling with support of such community facilities as schools, hospitals, libraries, etc. The responsibility of all of us is to support such proposals to the maximum extent possible; and these proposals tend to result in placing additional welfare costs upon already overburdened sources of revenue.

Whereas: gambling emphasizes the motive of personal gain rather than constructive service to the whole community; and

Whereas: there is ample evidence that gambling is well-nigh impossible to regulate and tends to breed corruption and crime in society;

Therefore be it resolved that the tenth national assembly of United Church Women, meeting in Kansas City, Oct. 8, 1964:

Urges state and local councils of United Church Women to oppose the enactment of laws establishing state lotteries and other forms of legalized gambling;

Calls upon United Church Women to study the financial problems of the states and

Writer Notes Funds Misuse, Outlines Treasury "Static"

Editor, Times-News: Why is the misuse of money in areas of government called borrowing and deficit spending, in areas of banking and business called embezzling and absconding, in areas of the common people called insufficient funds and a crime?

Here is some static from the treasury: "Yes, I know we can't use any more silver and lead is too soft. Have you any suggestions?" "Print more paper dollars and forget the cents."

"But that will be hard on the piggy-bank groups and vending machine firms, and people might start printing their own charge and trade cards. Then we'd really be in a jam."

"The IRS wouldn't be able to collect taxes and you know those foreign countries won't take anything but that shining gold."

You ask what about the 155 million McNamara's going to save by shutting down the military? We never did have that money. They must have juggled that around in the pentagon, and they have already sent more than payment. This tax will be imposed on new cars, too. I suppose it will lower car sales as I know of several people buying cars here and taking them out of state.

In fact the only businesses I know who don't pay sales tax are doctors, hospitals and newspapers.

In parting, I suggest you said the "bitter truth of higher tax" unknowingly was better than I could on purpose.

You stated in your Dec. 31 editorial: The outgoing governor of Washington has proposed a 1.13 billion dollar budget, etc. During his administration our sales tax increased from three per cent to 4 1/2 per cent, which is half again as much.

Several legislators have lost their seats also and Washington now is going to enter a period of cutback to save itself from free spending. Its only hope is a Republican governor spending the taxpayers' funds honestly.

Solon's Attack on Extremism Is Opposed by Burley Writer

It appears that Sen. FRANK Church is crying the same croce tears that were cried once before by an ex-congressman, Ralph Hardin, about the right-wing extremists and he even had the audacity to assure us there was no danger from the leftists groups that they disbanded in 1952. Had he told the truth, he would have admitted this was true; they banded together.

Senator Church made his attack in an article of the Jan. 26, 1965 issue of the Look magazine. He concentrated his main salvo on the John Birch society. It was amazing and humorous the tactics and evidence he used such as a friend of a friend of a friend said blah blah blah very convincing and conclusive evidence.

Let me look at some facts and claim similarity to tactics used by others. I refer to an editorial from the National Review, April 19, 1958. Quote: "It is an ancient law of our epoch that the organization who begins to claim affiliation for ideas that rush freely and specifically counter to Soviet policy objectives will become the target for a massive campaign of defamation that will go on until it is politically and often physically destroyed."

The John Birch society has become incorporated and scattered throughout the country and organized in most every state. They are gaining recognition for their fine work. They are bitterly opposed to communism, socialism, and liberalism, the three peas in a pod. They have survived the most bitter attacks and given a clean bill of health by all honorable investigating committees, such as the House committee on un-American activities, state of California, who spent two years of thorough investigation.

Freedom is always on the defense. George Washington said at Valley Forge, "Put only Americans on watch tonight."

I think it is time to change the watch.

Girl Comments On Animals Being Run Over

Editor, Times-News: I would like to bring up a problem that our city has. The problem is that the autos on highway 74 must think they are on a drag strip.

The animals whose homes are along this highway just don't have a single chance to live. If the animals get out into the road, they don't have time to get out because the cars are coming so fast that the auto hits the poor creature and leaves it to die. Not many animals survive this tragedy in this area.

I myself have had two dogs get hit and one die. I've seen many more dogs die than I ever wanted to see.

I think that most people along this highway would agree with me that the law should enforce the speed limit on this highway more.

There have been so many animals hit and left to die. I just wonder if they would stop for a child crossing the highway.

Legislators Should Ask Voters' Opinions, Man Says

Editor, Times-News: In regards to your editorial tonight (Jan. 4) regarding our congressmen, I think in state and federal positions, voting as we would have them rather than as they desire - I feel that you were correct in every part of your editorial and just wish to add that if our representatives really wish to know how we, the voters, feel, they can do so quite easily.

In California where I lived for most of my life before moving to Idaho, I had a congressman who was elected several times. I firmly believe what elected him was the voters' realization that he was doing his best to vote as they desired him to.

How did he find out what they wanted? He sent a questionnaire out to each voter in his district containing most of the important items to be considered at that time and asked how they wished him to vote. He also included a brief explanation of what a yes and no vote would mean. About three months later he would send another questionnaire out on the then current items to be voted on or brought up in congress and include the overall percentages on all questions he had previously sent out as answered by his constituents. (Also how he had voted.)

All this was done at his own expense. It saved him money in the long run for he did not have to spend a lot on campaigns for reelection as his voters knew they had a man who respected their wishes and was working for them as he had been voted into office to do at the start.

Possibly if some of our present congressmen (both state and federal) were to apply such ideas even on a small scale, they would find much more voter support when election time comes than they could ever buy with expensive campaigns.

Maybe you can be the means of getting this idea in their hands??

UNESCO Official Criticizes Other Writer's Conclusions

Editor, Times-News: A clipping of the letter of Mrs. L. M. JACKSON, Kimberton, Pa. published in the Times-News of Dec. 6, has come to my attention.

Mrs. Jackson calls for "an honest understanding of the U. N. and all its branches." Good. But I wish that she had gone to a responsible source for her information about the top officials of UNESCO.

She said: "I do not have a roster of UNICEF officials, but in 1962, of the top 33 officials in UNESCO, 20 were from the USSR; one, France; three Yugoslavia; one, Bulgaria; five, Poland; and one, Hungary. And they try to tell us the U. N. is not communist dominated!"

I have lists of officials employed by UNESCO in 1962 and 1963. Mrs. Jackson's listing and her conclusion are false.

The governing body of UNESCO is its general conference. Delegates are appointed by governments of the 11 member nations. Delegates elect 30 of their membership to an executive board whose chairman is from Morocco.

Eight principal directors include two from the U. S., one from the USSR. Others come from France, Norway, Brazil and the United Arab Republic. There are 21 bureau directors, three each from the United Kingdom, France and Italy, two from the U. S., one each from the USSR, Poland and Yugoslavia, the remaining seven from other member states.

Of the 67 chiefs of departments, 14 are from Russia, one Hungarian. Of the 33 directors of UNESCO missions, one is a Yugoslav, one a Czech.

Burley Youth Cited in Crash

BURLEY, Jan. 16 - Michael Chesley, 17, route 2, Burley, was cited for following another vehicle too closely on the result of a two-car accident Wednesday evening two miles south of Burley on a county road.

Christine Tibbey, 17, Burley, was driving a 1962 Rambler owned by her father, Jay Tibbey, west on the county road. Officers said when she applied her brakes to stop, the Rambler was struck in the rear by a 1957 Pontiac owned by Verle Chesley and operated by Michael Chesley.

Diane Moosla, 19, 1434 Malta avenue, Burley, was a passenger in the Chesley vehicle. None of the youths were injured. Damage to the vehicles was slight, according to Wes Woodall, deputy sheriff.

Icy Street Is Blamed in Crash

HALLEY, Jan. 16 - Damage to a 1960 Dodge sedan owned by Ray T. Anderson, Challis, was estimated at $275 with $100 damage to an Oldsmobile owned by Pete Guzararaga, Halley, as the result of a three-car accident at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday on highway 63 in front of the Star cafe.

The two cars were parked at the curb Bryan Hall, Salt Lake City, driving a 1962 Chevrolet on the highway, turned to the left and hit the rear of the Anderson car, pushing it into the Guzararaga auto.

The front bumper of Hall's car was damaged. Willard Baker, state traffic officer, investigated.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The United States has had its hands full with domestic problems since the hands-off attitude of President Kennedy's administration. Now, with the hands-off attitude of Uncle Sam, the U.S. is taking its aid and "go to hell," the U.S. supplies Egypt with more than half of its annual consumption of wheat, and if this supply is cut off or seriously cut back, Nasser has no guaranteed alternate supplier.

When Nasser tells the U.S. to take its aid and "go to hell," the U.S. supplies Egypt with more than half of its annual consumption of wheat, and if this supply is cut off or seriously cut back, Nasser has no guaranteed alternate supplier.

Last time the state department got tough with Nasser, after the Suez crisis, Nasser got his food from the Soviet Union. But the Soviets now have agricultural problems of their own; there is no surplus wheat available, even for a country the Russians have manipulated in the past. On his recent visit to Cairo, Soviet Deputy Premier Alexander Sholepkin told Nasser bluntly he could expect little or no help from the Kremlin. Moreover, he was critical of the way Nasser is spending Soviet military and economic rubles.

MAY SEEK OTHER SOURCES—There are other possible sources, of course. Nasser might swing a deal with de Gaulle for an occasional shipment of flour, since the French box is ever ready to meddle if it enhances the majesty of France. He also could get some help from communist countries other than Russia. But the U.S. is the only country with enough wheat to solve Egypt's food problems.

The U.S. has been supplying Egypt annually with 140 million dollars worth of flour and other food items. We are going ahead with existing food commitments, but there is talk of slowing down the supply line. Congress is in one of its peevish moods about the whole business, and there has been a storm of demands that the U.S. cut off aid to Egypt entirely.

This is an attractive course to most Americans, who are tired of turning the other cheek to abusive dictators. But unfortunately, it is not realistic in the context of American interests in the Middle East and Africa.

BLACKMAIL PAYMENT—American aid to Nasser is a pragmatic thing, designed to keep Nasser from making trouble. It buys protection for pro-western governments in Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Libya, and for British and American oil interests and military bases in the Arab neighborhood. It could be a weapon to persuade Nasser to cease and desist his arms aid campaign to the Congo rebels.

Moreover, it is U.S. policy to do everything possible to offset Soviet aid to Cairo, to keep the Kremlin from increasing its influence there. Nasser is won't be impressed by the nearly one billion dollars in American economic aid he has received in the past 10 years, largely because the U.S. won't give him arms. Russia, on the other hand, has delivered nearly one billion dollars worth of military hardware to the Cairo government.

As so often in the past, the state department apparently must take a calculated risk. To preserve communications with Nasser, the U.S. probably will continue some kind of aid to Cairo, knowing that indirectly this will help Nasser finance his trouble-making in the Middle East. But the flow of this aid probably will be slowed down whenever Nasser becomes too belligerent.

A FORMIDABLE TASK
Many Idaho residents will be watching with interest the development of a junior college in Twin Falls. Voters in Twin Falls county approved the establishment of a junior college last Nov. 3, and last week the state board of education appointed a five-man board of trustees, which includes among its members, John Coleman, an Idaho State university graduate in business administration and a Twin Falls lawyer, and Eldon Evans, a Pocatello native and a certified public accountant in Twin Falls. The board's task is a formidable one.

According to a report in the Twin Falls Times-News, one of the board's initial responsibilities "will be to secure a temporary location where classes may be held."

"The trustees also will be responsible for employing qualified instructors, and for setting up a curriculum in agreement with state requirements. Future tasks will include providing a permanent campus for the college, somewhere in the county."

As to the curriculum, the Times-News reports that the college "will teach academic courses and give prospective students an opportunity to take a variety of vocational courses, including automobile mechanics, office practices, business machines and other studies. Vocational courses are designed to prepare individuals for lucrative positions in the Twin Falls labor market."

All of this, as the new board members must know, will take money and lots of it. At any college administrator can tell them, finding qualified and competent instructors these days is not an easy task. Competition for knowledgeable men and women capable of teaching college-level courses is intense and their cost is high. Undoubtedly, the new board will be able to find some instructors in the Twin Falls area and elsewhere in Idaho, but undoubtedly, too, the board will find it necessary to go outside the state for teachers in some fields. The people who will be supporting the college, that is, the taxpayers of Twin Falls county, should not expect that they can staff their new college for a pittance.

The new board also will be faced with the task of providing an adequate library, purchasing equipment and eventually erecting buildings. All of these will require substantial outlays of money. By their approval of the junior college, the voters of Twin Falls county indicated their willingness to support the venture, and if they expect to have a first-rate college, they should expect to do so generously.

As the new junior college board sets about its task, we join in wishing it well in an undertaking that deserves to succeed for the good of the state. — Idaho State Journal.

THE DEMOCRATS' POWER
Translation of the Democrats' overwhelming victory at the polls last November into new house committee ratios should further ease the path of progressive legislation. Coupled with the new 21-day rule in the house, and the possibility of further restrictions on filibusters in the senate, the outlook for the passage of liberal bills is more favorable than at any time in recent years.

Every two years the majority in each house adjusts the committee memberships to reflect the composition of each chamber as determined by the previous national election; but with occasional important exceptions. Since 1940 the composition of the ways and means committee, which originates tax legislation, has been maintained at 15 members of the majority party and 10 of the minority. The ratio of 30 to 20 has been maintained since 1951 on the appropriations committee, which holds the purse strings.

Now the Democrats have decided to bring all the committees into conformity with their two-to-one majority in the full house. Ways and means will have 17 Democrats and eight Republicans; appropriations will have 34 Democrats and 16 Republicans. This is a crushing Democratic superiority, but it is fair. It will be up to the Democrats to use their power wisely and judiciously. Veteran congressmen know that today's majority may be tomorrow's minority. — St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

POT SHOTS
GETTING YOUNGER?
Pot Shots would like to hear of someone who is getting younger, and we don't particularly have a second childhood in mind, either.

Mr. and Mrs. Pot Shots had a grand idea back when the first Pot Shots youngster was 2 or 3 years old. Why not get a movie camera and have an animated record of the child's growth? It was a fine idea, one we would recommend to any young couple.

Because of conditions over which we had little or no control in recent months, Pot Shots has had considerable "spare" time. So the other day we tackled the task of editing movie film acquired in the past 15 years. It was interesting to see the old movies of the kids when they were little, but it was absolutely shocking to see an occasional shot of Pot Shots from some 15 years back!

We repeat: Does anyone know of anyone who is getting younger?

WAIT TILL 1968!
Dear Mr. Pot Shots:
While sitting around in my apartment practicing writing "1965" it dawned on me that another Leap Year has come and gone and I'm still a bachelor.

Come to think of it, I've never had one single girl propose to me. Leap Year or not! I think it must be a lot of malarkey about the girls chasing the guys. I've had my share of dates, but not once have I ever had the idea that one of my girl friends was "chasing" me with matrimony in mind.

Come to think of it, lots of my friends have been married or are thinking of it. I was just wondering, it might be that I, Snell (Twin Falls)

THAT'S ONE WAY!
Dear Sir:
If anyone with influence will get me a job in Boise, I will repay the favor by getting the legislature through its session in a hurry.

The job I want is that of Chief Fireman in the Statehouse furnace room. In return, I guarantee that I can keep the Statehouse so uncomfortable—either too hot or too cold—that those "133" Q" legislators won't want to spend the winter hibernating around Boise. Before I finish with them, they'll have only one thought—getting home, and fast.

Now who's going to get me that job?
Action Man (Twin Falls)

WHAT SNOW?
In these days of modern snow-removal equipment, why is there so much in the news about snow and snowstorms? The pioneers didn't make nearly so much fuss about snow as some people do today.

Show us just the result of weather and until someone figures out how to control weather, or order what they want, well, we'd just best make the best of what we've got.

Interpreting the News

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—President John F. Kennedy, who has supported the separation of church and state tradition, but this week in his education program he proposed giving parochial schools some federal aid.

But he did this because of a rising tide of aid to education in congress, and did it in such a way that he may run into less storm than a Roman Catholic Kennedy, who opposed such aid to Catholic schools.

Nothing he has done so far as president better shows Johnson's special technique of trying to cool off possible antagonists in order to make some progress, even if it isn't all he might like to have.

Kennedy made diabolical progress in his first two years in trying to get congress to approve general aid to education bill, with particular emphasis on help for public grade and high schools.

Congress had never passed a law providing such general aid. In 1961 and 1962 Kennedy emphasized he was not asking aid for parochial schools. Both times he said he considered such aid unconstitutional.

And both times he ran into opposition from the Catholic hierarchy which thought such aid should be given.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, expressed it this way: "Passage of Kennedy's program would be the 'eventual end of our parochial schools, because we cannot compete with the federal government's support and subsidy of the public schools only." He said the program also would put an additional burden on Catholic taxpayers who got no benefit from it.

The opposition to aid for Catholic schools was equally determined. Under this combined pressure congress did practically nothing for two years. The dam began to break in 1963.

Once more Kennedy proposed no help to church schools. Opposed there was Catholic opposition. But by now congress had begun to yield under a third pressure: Rising educational needs.

In 1963 it passed such a number of important measures that Johnson, after Kennedy's death late in the year, said the congress of 1963 would be known as the education congress.

These were some of the steps taken: Help for college construction; increased funds for vocational education; a boost in college student loan funds; grants to help build new medical schools.

Nevertheless, not even that congress touched the straggling question of general aid for public grade and high schools, where the religious issue was most intense. And in 1964 congress ducked this one again.

But the measures passed last year under Johnson's prodding were unprecedented in scope and number. Still, Johnson, like congress, stayed away from the church-state issue as much as he could.

During the 1964 presidential campaign, Johnson was asked by Dr. E. S. James, editor of the Baptist Standard, for his views on federal aid to education, particularly to parochial schools.

Johnson affirmed his support of the "American tradition of separation of church and state" and expressed the first amendment. And he closed his answer with this: "Therefore, I would oppose any federal program—including assistance to schools—which does not strictly conform to this constitutional requirement."

Then last Tuesday Johnson proposed the biggest ever aid to education program, with accent on children of the poor.

It was provide modest sums to be spent on buying non-religious textbooks for private and parochial school students and some for educational centers to be shared by public and church schools.

But before he ever sent this program to congress, Johnson's aides had contacted Catholics and those on the other side of the church-state issue.

It was learned more of the Catholic clergy are for the program than oppose it. Catholic members of congress divide the same way. Some of the opponents are still opposed, some not so opposed.

Religion in America

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Yearbook of American Churches reported Thursday a sharp new rise in church and synagogue membership in the United States.

Compiling official reports from 253 religious bodies, it put total church and synagogue membership at 120,965,234 during 1963.

That is 6.4 per cent of the U.S. population, an all-time high. It also represents a membership gain of 2.6 per cent a year compared to a population growth rate of 1.5 per cent.

This is the first time in three years that the yearbook has disclosed a church membership gain greater than the rate of population growth. In the previous two years, the gain in membership was barely equal to or slightly less than the increase in population.

On the basis of the previous figures, many observers concluded America's "religious revival" was losing steam. That appraisal may have to be revised in the light of the new report.

The Yearbook is published by the National Council of Churches. Because the U.S. census bureau does not collect data on religious affiliations, it is the most authoritative source of membership statistics available.

The figures are mainly for the calendar year 1963, or for a fiscal year ending in 1963. The total membership of Protestant bodies was put at 66,854,200, a gain of 3.2 per cent over the previous year's figures. But the editors noted that the Protestant total included 800,000 members claimed by a new denomination, the Progressive National Baptist convention, which was reporting for the first time.

It seems likely that many of these members are also included in the 5,500,000 claimed by the National Baptist convention, from which the new body broke away if this 5,000,000 is deducted, the Protestant gain is reduced to 2.3 per cent.

The Roman Catholic church reported 44,874,371 members. A sharp new rise in church and synagogue membership in the United States.

Eastern Orthodox bodies reported 3,094,140 members, a gain of 3 per cent.

Sunday school enrollment which had been lagging behind population growth, rose to 43,806,074, an increase of 2.6 per cent.

The Yearbook editors offered no explanation for the apparent acceleration in membership growth. But they obligated warned against reading too much into one year's statistics.

And they pointed to sampling taken by the American Institute of Public Opinion, which indicated that actual attendance at churches declined from an average of 48 per cent of the population on any given Sunday of 1962 to about 47 per cent in 1963.

Regardless of short-term fluctuations, there is no question about the long-range trend in membership.

A century ago, only 23 per cent of the American people were church-affiliated. At the start of World War I, church membership was 49 per cent of the population. By 1956, it reached 57 per cent. In 1960, it reached 63.6 per cent, a record which remained intact until the Yearbook boosted it to 64 per cent.

The Southern Baptist convention remained the nation's largest Protestant denomination with 10,393,039 members. The Methodist church was a close second with 10,304,164. The National Baptist convention, a Negro body, was third at 5,500,000, and the Protestant Episcopal church fourth with 3,336,725.

Others in the top 10 were the United Presbyterian church, 3,270,240; Lutheran Church in America, 3,227,157; National Baptist Convention of America, 2,668,799; Lutheran church, Missionary, 2,591,762; American Lutheran church, 2,468,407; and Churches of Christ, 2,250,000.

World Corners

BY JOSEPH W. GRIGG
PARIS, Jan. 16 (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle seems set to resume his wooing of the Germans.

He wants bygones forgotten and a new start given to the French-German honeymoon that never was.

West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard comes to Paris Jan. 19-20 for one of the regular six-monthly meetings with de Gaulle provided for under the two years-old treaty of cooperation and alliance between the two countries.

But it will be a French-German summit meeting with a difference. Relations between them have been far from harmonious. De Gaulle has suspected the Bonn government of ganging up with the United States rather than accepting the "special relationship" with France he envisaged when he signed the alliance with Erhard, his predecessor, former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Jan. 22, 1963.

Now de Gaulle wants to make a new start. He is determined to charm Erhard as he once charmed the aged Adenauer.

What de Gaulle seeks is a complete slate-wiping with Erhard.

"Let's forget past differences and start anew," he will tell the West German leader in effect.

De Gaulle will seek to persuade Erhard that West Germany's only real future lies in being a member of a loose confederation of sovereign Western European countries—the "Europe of fatherlands" often outlined by de Gaulle spokesmen.

He will seek to convince Erhard that such a Europe should be completely independent of American "domination." He will explain to Erhard his belief that such a Europe should be allied to the United States but only as equals and under completely reorganized North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

De Gaulle will tell Erhard pointedly he sees no sense in discussing various European political unity formulas or proposals unless and until it is clear that they agree on the basic issue—namely the type of Europe they have in mind and its relationship to the United States.

If de Gaulle can "charm" Erhard into agreement on this, then the French-German honeymoon should be off to a new start.

It's a big "if."

WHY PSYCHIC'S LOST FAVOR
Thirty years ago, the psychic bid and the name Jacoby were almost synonymous. I didn't invent the bid, but I sure used it.

Then I gave it up. There were several reasons for this step, such as the fact that I was getting intemperate tortures because I had stood by his gun and thought it out at one point he would have only been down six for a mere 1100 point loss. Instead, he started to escape with his redouble, whereupon North and South proceeded happily to six no-trump.

This was too much for East. He did hold an ace and queen and he felt that his partner probably had some sort of trick somewhere among his bunch of nothing. After all, his partner had gone into a game when no one was holding a lay down to his head to make him redouble. East doubled. No one redoubled which was just as well because the slam was a lay down. North and South scored 1400 instead of the 1440 for an 800 point doubled slam.

No Injuries Reported in 2 Accidents

Two accidents involving cars in the city today resulted in no serious injuries reported.

Wentworth, 29, was driving a 1959 Chrysler coupe on the street south and the car struck broadside by a Chevrolet pickup truck on Minkola avenue by Stagemeyer, 55, 171 Blue boulevard south.

The city police noted that the woman had stopped her vehicle for an unexplained reason and Stage apparently did not see her before the collision.

The citation was issued.

Crawford told investigating officers that he did not see Mrs. Pence's signal.

No citation was issued.

Texas Youth Faces Trial For Robbery

SHOSHONE, Jan. 16 — Walter John Humphries, 17-year-old from San Antonio, Tex., youth, was bound to district court on charges of robbery when he appeared for a continued arraignment and preliminary hearing in probate court here Thursday morning.

Humphries was identified by Burton R. Thorne and Rolund Pugh as the person who held a .38 caliber revolver to the head of Parkhurst about 3 a.m. Sunday and demanded the cash in the register at the Chevron service station.

Thorne, who operates the business, had seen the youth earlier that morning when he went into the service station to have a restroom key.

Judge C. M. Wilson set bail at $100 on the boy. It was not known if he was remanded to the custody of the Lincoln county sheriff.

The youth is reported to have been in the car he was driving when the robbery occurred.

The car had been parked behind a building adjacent to the service station, but local persons had seen it and reported this to the sheriff when they heard of the robbery.

Dimes March Fund Raising Plans Made

BEHL, Jan. 16 — Fund raising activities for the March of Dimes program were outlined during an organizational meeting held at the Buhl VFW hall under the direction of Warren Saunders, executive director.

Activities include a road block to be directed by the local national guard unit, and a parade at the Sunset Bowl and Mother's March. The TAPS organization have placed canisters in various Buhl business establishments, and the group plans to well toasted wheats and hold a banquet loss at basketball games.

It was noted several clubs and organizations also are sponsoring their own individual fund raising events.

It was announced the new March of Dimes film, "A Strange Day in the Woods," is available to interested organizations. Those desiring to use the film for a program are urged to contact William B. Hoppie.

Saunders spoke to the group on the March of Dimes program placing special emphasis on birth defects. Virgil Malone, Twin Falls county fund drive chairman, spoke briefly.

Representatives from various organizations attending were from the Clearlake road club; Business and Professional Women Club; Willing Workers club; American Legion post and auxiliary; Veterans of Foreign Wars post and auxiliary; Rebekah lodge; Odd Fellows lodge; Loyal Order of Moose; Women of the Moose; Northview Grange; Deep Creek Grange; Patriot Grange; Cedar Draw Grange and TAPS.

Schmidt Heads YM-YWCA Member Drive Here Feb. 4

Bernard Schmidt, commercial and industrial representative for Idaho Power company, has been selected as chairman of the YM-YWCA membership drive for 1965, which will begin Feb. 4.

According to Neil Olmstead, YMCA membership committee chairman, Schmidt, who has been a resident of Twin Falls for only one year, has already made his presence felt in this area. He also has an excellent YMCA background.

Coming from Boise, Schmidt has served the Boise YMCA as a member of the youth membership committee, worked in the Y membership drive and was active in the Y-Indian Guide program. He is now a member of the "Shawnee" tribe, one of the Twin Falls YMCA groups.

The membership drive, which will be kicked off Feb. 4 with a dinner meeting, will run through the month of February. Theme for this year, according to Schmidt, is "Operation Snowball."

"We are hoping," said Schmidt, "that this drive will snowball into the biggest one yet for the YMCA and YWCA in Twin Falls. Our goals," he stated further, "are to reach 600 members for the YMCA and 750 for the YWCA." At present the YMCA has 385 members while the YWCA has nearly 600.

"I am a strong believer in the YMCA and YWCA," said Schmidt.

Car Demolished In Buhl Upset

Sams lost control of his 1952 Chevrolet on slushy, snowy streets Monday. The car rolled over one and one-half times, coming to rest on its top. Sams was treated and released by a local physician for a cut on his left arm.

Gary Moore and Gary Alexander, Buhl, passengers in the car, escaped injury.

RECEIVES AWARD

SHOSHONE, Jan. 16 — Electronics technician Seaman James Alexander, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander, Shoshone, was recently awarded the armed forces expeditionary medal for service in the Viet Nam area while serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ranger, a unit of the seventh fleet in the Far East. The medal was awarded for 30 days of support of the United States operations of assistance to friendly nations.

Hearings on Sales Tax Are Planned

BOISE, Jan. 16 — Public hearings around the state to find out how taxpayers feel about the prospect of paying a sales tax are being planned by the house revenue and taxation committee.

Anti-sales tax bumper stickers are cropping up in the state and several plans have been proposed to the committee specifically as alternatives to a sales tax.

But Gov. Robert E. Smylie and a number of legislators believe a majority of people in the state favor the tax as a means of paying for the bill for increasing state needs.

The public hearings are to determine the grass roots sentiment for the tax and to explain the revenue problems facing the state, said committee chairman Arvid Millar, R-Bingham.

"Some people think all we need to do is add a head tax to solve our problems," Millar said. "But it isn't that simple and we need to tell the people exactly what faces us."

Smylie has proposed a three per cent sales tax to meet the cost of his 134.8 million dollar "new day" program for social and economic progress.

Signs Point To Showdown On U.N. Dues

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 16 — Signs pointed today to a Soviet victory in a showdown vote over peace-keeping dues — unless the United States gets across its belated warning that this could stop the flood of American dollars into U. N. causes.

A check of the major U. N. voting blocs indicated that at this stage the United States could not muster enough support to enforce the no-vote penalty clause in the U. N. charter against nations two years behind in their assessments.

If the showdown does come as generally expected, it is uncertain whether it would be triggered by a challenge from the general assembly floor or a vote call on a resolution. It is believed that in any case a two-thirds majority would be needed to apply article 19 taking away the assembly vote of delinquent members.

Gas Stove Gets Blame for Fire

OAKLEY, Jan. 15 — An exploding gas camp stove was blamed for a fire Tuesday evening at a cabin owned by Wesley Cooper near the center of town.

Considerable damage was done to the inside of the cabin and personal belongings of one of the tenants was completely destroyed.

Wayne Richardson, another tenant, was burned extensively around the face, hands and arms. He was taken to a doctor in Burley for treatment and was able to return home.

Firemen report the alarm was turned in by a passerby who noticed the smoke and flames poured from the cabin about 6:30 p.m.

New Idaho Power Manager Heads Hazelton District

HAZELTON—Jan. 16 John B. Ramey, a 20-year Idaho Power company veteran and formerly service crew foreman at Blackfoot, has assumed his new duties as manager of the utility's Hazelton district.

A native of Salmon, Ramey, succeeds Dale L. Adams, who has moved to Nampa, Ore., as manager of the district there.

E. E. Haroldson, southern division manager with headquarters at Twin Falls, said Ramey joined Idaho Power as a salesman at Blackfoot and remained there until he left the company in 1942 to serve in the navy during World War II.

He returned to the utility in 1945 as an apprentice serviceman at Pocatello and then worked as a full-fledged serviceman, both at Pocatello and Aberdeen.

In 1952 he was promoted to service working foreman at Blackfoot and the following year to service crew foreman.

Active in community affairs, Ramey recently completed a three-year term as a director of the Blackfoot Chamber of Commerce. He also served on the city's safety council.

Press Favors Present Plan For Senate

BOISE, Jan. 16 — The Idaho Press association went on record today favoring the continuation of the present senate make-up in the Idaho legislature, one senator for each of the 44 counties.

The resolution passed during the final day of the association's annual convention noted that the makeup of the senate "tends to create a balance of power between population and valuation."

The resolution explained that strict population apportionment would tend to overweight the senate against economic values.

The Idaho Newspaper Advertisers service elected Robert Crompton, publisher of the Power County Press at American Falls, and the Aberdeen Times, president for 1965.

Blake Patterson, co-publisher of the North Side News, Jerome, was chosen vice president, and J. Walter Ross, co-publisher of the Preston Citizen, was named director.

Hugh Wagner, publisher of the Idaho State Journal at Pocatello, called on the association to help the state move forward along the lines laid down by Gov. Robert E. Smylie in the latter's state-of-the-state message to the 1965 Idaho legislature.

Ownership Changes at Hansen Store

HANSEN, Jan. 16 — Mr. and Mrs. Dell Webb assumed proprietorship Saturday of the grocery store on Main street in Hansen, formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold G. Smylie.

The Webbs have moved into the house in Twin Falls owned by the Webbs, which the Smylies obtained through the business transaction.

The Webbs are remaining open and plan to add to the present stock. They plan to remodel the front of the store to make a more attractive entrance.

Although only the north portion of the building has been used as a grocery store for a number of years, another side immediately south can be added.

The Webbs plan to add other items, possibly hardware, in the future. This portion of the building is now used for storage. It has been used in the past as a part of the store, as a restaurant, a drugstore and other businesses in years past.

Legislative Seminar Set By Methodists

WENDELL, Jan. 16 — The board of Christian Social concerns of the Idaho conference of the Methodist church is sponsoring a legislative seminar Thursday in the fellowship hall of the First Methodist church, Boise, known as the Cathedral of the Rockies.

Persons wishing to attend from Wendell may contact the Rev. Edward V. Hargrave, the church's pastor. This seminar for lay church members may be informed on the issues facing Idaho legislators. There will be visits to the house and senate sessions as well as several periods when the issues will be discussed at the church.

The liquor issue, taxation and public schools, part-mutual bill and the moral issues in parliamentary gambling will be some of the concerns to be discussed.

The luncheon on Friday will see several of the legislators eating with the church group, including Gooding county Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft.

Lay leaders, chairmen of official boards and social Christian concerns, secretaries as well as the pastors of the Methodist churches in Idaho are asked to attend.

Trustees Oppose School Proposal

RICHFIELD, Jan. 16 — Richfield school trustees went on record as opposing present legislative measures which would reduce the sparsity factor or lowering the equalization key for school funds.

Board trustees and school treasurer financial reports were accepted for the month at the board meeting this week.

Teacher's contracts will be offered at the February meeting, it was announced by Chairman Clifford Cramer.

Superintendent P. R. Briggs stated the first semester ends this week with semester report cards to be given out next Friday.

OUR ELECTRIC RATE WENT DOWN

"When we bought a total electric home, fearful friends told us our electric bills would be too high. We held our breath the first two months, but our electric heating costs were actually lower than we've paid with other methods. The all-electric rate makes a big difference. Besides, nothing could be nicer than electric heat! We can get each room at the temperature we want. It's clean, quiet, free of drafts, free of care. With all its extra benefits, modern electric living is a bargain!"

—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kinney Shoshone

Idaho Power's low "All-Electric" rate has gone down 28% in just two years. You can get full information at your local Idaho Power Company office.

4 Accidents Reported by City Police

Twin Falls police investigated four minor accidents in the city Thursday. No injuries were reported.

Mrs. Dixie L. Roberts, 26, 434 Second avenue north, was cited for failure to yield the right of way after a two-car accident at 8:32 a.m. at Third avenue and 24th street north.

Mrs. Roberts was driving a 1959 Ford north on Fifth street when the vehicle collided with a 1946 Geo truck driven on Third avenue by Clarence W. G. Bodenshtab, 55, 310 Van Buren street.

Sandi S. McArthur, 17, 1044 J. stopped a 1960 Ford at the exit from the parking lot of the high school on 21st avenue east and the vehicle was struck from the rear by a 1959 Chevrolet driven by Clifford J. Christensen, 17, 2067 Fourth avenue east.

City police reported the Christensen vehicle slid on ice which covered the parking lot. No citation was issued.

Nadine W. Edwards, 34, 534 Third avenue east, attempted to turn the 1962 Chevrolet she was driving at 8:27 a.m. from Third avenue onto BXND street east and the vehicle collided with a 1959 Buick driven by Eva H. Schmitz, 55, 1520 Kimberly road. No citation was issued.

Frank M. Baker, 51, 702 Third avenue east, backed a 1963 Ford at 7:50 a.m. from a driveway in the 200 block of Seventh street east and the vehicle struck a parked 1957 Buick owned by Francis Hine, 301 Elm street.

Police noted that Hine stopped the vehicle to clear off the windshield. No citation was issued.

School Meet Set Jan. 24 In Gooding

WENDELL, Jan. 16—Members of Wendell school trustees and Ray Turner, superintendent of Wendell schools, will meet at 10 a.m. Jan. 24, at the Gooding Lincoln Inn, in a county-wide meeting with Sen. Don Fredrickson and Rep. Vernon Rye to discuss school needs for the coming year.

Elementary school principal, were rehired at the meeting at the home economics room this week.

Superintendent Turner was rehired on a three-year basis and Dennis on a one-year basis.

Contracts for filling the high school halls, study and library were discussed but no decision was reached.

Each teacher will be instructed to submit a list of necessary supplies needed for the new year in order to help set up the new budget.

No decision was reached concerning school buses driving down the Niagara springs grade. Inclement weather was the cause of concern.

Legislative Log

Passed by House

HB1 (State affairs)—Repealing Dec. 30, 1960, deadline for creation of hospital districts.

BOISE, Jan. 16 (P)—The resignation of George C. Moore, Boise, as manager of the Idaho State insurance fund was announced today. Gov. Robert E. Smylie said he accepted the resignation, effective Feb. 1 with regret and would appoint a successor before that time. Moore said he was willing to enter private business. He has been manager of the fund since Aug. 11, 1960.

BOISE, Jan. 16 (P)—The federal bureau of land management said today it is offering five parcels of public land in Butte county for sale. The land is one and one-fourth to four miles northeast of Howe. The bureau said the sale date is March 24, in Boise.

ABERDEEN, Jan. 16 (P)—Thomas Sylvester Vanderford, prominent Idaho potato grower and shipper, died in Power county hospital yesterday on his 79th birthday anniversary. Mr. Vanderford had been shipping Idaho potatoes since 1929 and was president of the Idaho Growers and Shippers from 1950-51. He served one year as president of the potato division of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable association.

POCATELLO, Jan. 16 (P)—Morris Stacy, 66, Pocatello insurance agent and former member of the Idaho senate, died of cancer yesterday afternoon in a Pocatello hospital. He lived in Mackay before moving to Pocatello in 1943, and served one term as senator from Custer county in the 1933 session of the Idaho legislature. He was secretary of the senate in the 1935 and 1937 sessions. Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m. Monday in the 19th-20th ward LDS chapel in Pocatello.

BOISE, Jan. 16 (P)—The period beginning Sunday is designated Jaycee week in Idaho in a proclamation signed by Gov. Robert E. Smylie. He said "civic bodies and service organizations of our community and the departments of the local government recognize the great service rendered" by the Jaycees.

COEUR D'ALENE, Jan. 16 (P)—Keith Lincoln, San Diego Chargers back, and Bill Linderman, former world champion cowboy, were added to the list of special guests at the third annual North Idaho sports banquet Wednesday. The banquet is sponsored by the Coeur d'Alene press.

BOISE, Jan. 16 (P)—Directors of the Idaho department of the American Legion were told today their national organization will protest vigorously closure of 31 veterans administration facilities; Bernard Gratton, Emmett, national executive committee member for Idaho, said the national organization voted to oppose with "all the emphasis at its command" the proposed reduction. But Lozyn E. Kappan, director of the Veterans administration hospital in Boise, said the closure orders would affect only those facilities which are obsolete and for which there no longer is a patient demand.

IDAHO FALLS, Jan. 16 (P)—New construction bids for a 179-foot bridge over the Snake river near the existing John Hole span are to be opened Feb. 16, according to Phillip A. Marsh, district highway engineer.

COEUR D'ALENE, Jan. 16 (P)—A preliminary hearing for Mrs. Doris A. Anstine, 40, on charges of shooting her husband to death Thursday night has tentatively been set for Jan. 27. Elmer T. Anstine, 60, was shot in the couple's home about three miles west of Rathdrum near the Washington-Idaho border, said Kootenai county Sheriff John Bender. Mrs. Anstine was arraigned on charges of first degree murder Friday before Justices of the Peace Vince Edwards. He set bail at $15,000.

POCATELLO, Jan. 16 (P)—An 18-year-old youth has been sentenced to 30 days in juvenile detention for throwing a knife that injured a 14-year-old girl. The boy told Probate Judge W. H. (Pete) Jensen the knife struck the girl accidentally. The girl, Cheryl Field, received a cut on the back that required two stitches, police said.

BOISE, Jan. 16 (P)—An estimated 123,000 sheep and lambs were being taken for slaughter in Idaho on Jan. 1, the U.S. department of agriculture reported today. That is an increase of three per cent over the total a year earlier.

BOISE, Jan. 16 (P)—The Idaho State Prosecuting Attorneys association announced today election of Ralph Haley, Orofino, as its new president. James May, Twin Falls, was chosen vice president; Roy Mossman, Lewiston, secretary, and Wesley Crouther, Malad, treasurer.

BOISE, Jan. 16 (P)—Appointment of C. Ed Flandro, Pocatello, to the Idaho board of highways has been announced by Gov. Robert E. Smylie. Flandro succeeds W. C. Burns, Idaho Falls, who requested that he not be reappointed when his six-year term expires Jan. 31.

POCATELLO, Jan. 16 (P)—Bannock County Commissioner Emmett Spraker contends Pocatello's new flood control channel will be of little use unless upper Portneuf river flood control projects are developed. Spraker said the upstream projects are needed to handle runoff increased by construction of new subdivisions along the river. Spraker's comments came after a series of hearings on flood control projects conducted this week by the U.S. army corps of engineers.

BOISE, Jan. 16 (P)—The 1965 sessions for Boys' state have been scheduled at Boise Junior college June 6 to 12 and Sylvania Girls' state at the College of Idaho June 13 to 19. The sponsoring American Legion and its women's auxiliary set the schedules and plans for the annual youth government sessions at board meetings yesterday. Bernard E. Gratton, Emmett, was named state president for the boys' sessions expected to draw 350 high school juniors from around the state. About 250 girls were expected at the Sylvania session where the theme will be "Sylvania Girls' state—a mountain-top experience."

BOISE, Jan. 16 (P)—A proposed stock split will be voted on at the annual stockholders meeting of the Idaho First National bank, President William E. Irvin reported today. The meeting is scheduled next Thursday. The proposed split would increase the number of shares from 609,700 to 1,219,400 and par value would be reduced from $10 to $5. A dividend rate of $1 per year is proposed for the new stock, compared with $1.60 per share at present.

Jaycees Give Award to Area Farmer

RUPERT, Jan. 16 (P)—Warren Heins was awarded the outstanding Young Farmer of the year at a banquet held this week at the Hirling cafe by the Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce. The selection was made for the outstanding quality of achievement and production methods for the past year.

Judges for the project were Leo Van Every and Ed Keeler. Special guests at the banquet included George Walsh, Keith Merrill, Leo Van Every and Vern Miller.

Other young farmers who placed high in the local selection and who were present included Ed Freiberger, Domingo Equillar and Peterson. Peterson, guest speaker for the evening was George MacDonald, city councilman.

He pointed out the necessity of closer relations between area farmers and those living in the urban areas, and cited the action of the Jaycees as among the first and finest steps in this direction.

Heins farms 320 acres northeast of Rupert and raises beef, potatoes, wheat and barley. He is a member of the Minkjoka Beet Growers association and the Minkjoka Farm Bureau. His selection here places him in competition with other outstanding young farmers of Idaho for the outstanding young farmer of the state. The state level selection will be made at the winter board meeting of the state Jaycees at Emmett, Feb. 13.

Man From Tuttle Remains Critical

BOISE, Jan. 16 (P)—A Tuttle man remained in critical condition in a Boise hospital from injuries received in a car-gasoline truck collision that killed his wife Wednesday.

The condition of Walter Brown, 52, has changed little since the day of the accident near Tuttle, according to a spokesman at St. Luke's hospital.

Mrs. Brown, 46, was killed when thrown from the car as it crashed through a fence into a field according to Gooding County Sheriff Vern Royce.

Meeting Plan Adopted by Club

BUHL, Jan. 16 (P)—It was decided meetings will be held at members' homes in alphabetical order when the Junior Service Club meets at the home of their leader Marvin Duggan.

Mike Burbank, president, reported the discussion centered around youngsters naming the parts of a cow Duggan reported all bills paid to date. Mrs. Duggan, Katha Lauritzen and Daren Lauritzen were guests.

The next regular meeting Feb. 14 will be at the Burbank residence.

GAIL WINTERS
... Gooding missionary who was captured by the Congolese rebels, will speak at 8 p.m. Sunday and Tuesday at First Assembly of God church, North Locust street and Shoup avenue. The public is invited.

Gail Winters To Speak at T.E. Church

A Gooding missionary who was captured and imprisoned by the Congolese rebels will speak in Twin Falls at 8 p.m. Sunday and Tuesday.

Gail Winters, Assemblies of God missionary to the Congo for the past 25 years, will speak in the First Assembly of God church, North Locust street and Shoup avenue.

She will tell of her work in the Congo and will give a detailed account of her capture and imprisonment by the rebels. Miss Winters will also describe the treatment she and others received and of her rescue by Belgian paratroopers "ferried" into the Congo by U.S. aircraft.

Miss Winters and her co-worker, Lillian Hogan, lost all their personal possessions in the Congo, having left them behind when they were rescued.

The public is invited to hear Miss Winters. Free-will offerings will be taken to help replace her equipment and personal belongings, some of which were lost in a 1964 fire which seriously damaged the family farm home at Gooding.

Former Buhl Woman Dies In Nebraska

BUHL, Jan. 16 (P)—Mrs. Marie Smutny, 88, former Buhl resident, died Thursday at Norfolk, Neb., of a brief illness.

She was born June 23, 1876, at Krumlov, Czechoslovakia, and came to the United States in 1924 to Nebraska. She was married to Anthon Smutny at West Point, Neb., on July 19, 1898. They moved to Buhl in 1951. He died Sept. 26, 1952. She returned to Pierce, Neb., to live with a daughter, Mrs. Rudolph Wostrel, in 1960.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Wostrel; a son, Stanley Smutny; Buhl; 13 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandson.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Albertson-Dickard chapel by the Rev. Delmar M. Talley. Final rites will be held at Buhl cemetery.

Mrs. Venna Price Paid Final Honor

BURLEY, Jan. 16 (P)—Funeral services for Mrs. Venna L. Price were held Thursday afternoon in the Burley LDS eighth ward chapel conducted by Bishop Karl J. Detton.

Family prayer was given by Floyd D. Taylor. Prelude and postlude were played by Lovell Taylor. Owen S. Woodson gave the invocation, and obituary was read by Bishop Karl J. Detton.

Joan Anderson was organist. Soloist was Alfred Thaxton. Speakers were Golden M. Wood and Francis M. Carter. Harold W. Luke gave the benediction.

Pallbearers were Blaine Price, Lamont Anderson, Neil Anderson, Roger Price, Roy Brown and Max Johnson.

Floral arrangements were under the direction of Burley eighth ward Relief society.

Final rites were held in the Pleasant View cemetery. Dedication prayer was given by Con Anderson.

Dogs Unwelcome On Schoolground

RICHFIELD, Jan. 16 (P)—Richfield school children were warned Wednesday about allowing their dogs to follow them to school.

Village Marshal The O. B. Brush visited elementary school rooms and told students' dogs were not allowed on the school grounds at any time. He advised the pupils to tie their dogs up if they would not stay home.

Teachers had registered complaints of dogs on the playground and one unconfirmed report was made of a child bitten by a dog.

Dog licenses for 1965 are now due. Marshal Brush stated, with only a few licenses sold to date. Owners of licensed dogs are notified of violations before the animals are impounded or destroyed, he stated.

MODEL FOR COUNTESS ALEXANDER used the ruffled and flowered edge of this aqua silk organza stole to frame her dark beauty. The stole matches the long gown ruffled to the knees. Fantastic Designs, Unusual Fabrics Top Fashion Register for Spring '65

By NORMA HERZINGER

RETURN TO ELEGANCE at formal social functions was designer Arnold Scaasi's message to the fashion press in New York to see the spring previews. The American Designer Series was arranged by Eleanor Lambert. This violet and pink metallic brocade dress shows flares into fish-tail fullness at the hemline. (AP wirephoto)

Fantastic designs, unusual fabrics, shorter hemlines and larger hats seem to top the spring fashion parade for the well-dressed woman in 1965. According to fashion reporters in New York for the unveiling of 1965 spring fashions, sponsored by the New York Couture group and the American Designer showings, almost anything goes.

Quoting one of the women writers in New York for the showing, "Women with legs capable of standing the exposure, can treat themselves to sporty frocks with hemlines hiked enough to bare the complete knee. Other hemlines cover unsightly knees. The length of the long evening gown has been hiked, pulled up to mid-calf length. But the long gowns stay, too. Necklines also go up and down.

"The down ones plunge via deeply cut V's and U's. Others go up to turtle neck level. The ups and downs of waistlines range from empire to dropped."

Dresses for the new season seem to be getting back to the feminine lines, with a little body-hugging interest in them. Ruffles can be seen on almost anything, including pants, skirts, blouses, dresses and evening attire.

Coats shown for the spring season are slender ones. Coat manufacturers summarized the spring trends as being "All pure shape, neat of shoulder with long skintny sleeves, narrow body lines and detailed to emphasize the lean look."

The pace-setters let their imagination go when they designed suits for spring. Styles were shown to fit almost every taste. Most of the suits included a brilliantly colored blouse or lining.

Lambert. Frock at left by Jacques Tiffeneau teams low waist with high hemline. Gown at right from House of Dior is pink net with embroidered gray flowers, gray belt tied in back. (AP wirephoto)

OPEN-FACED AND HIDDEN UNDER A "BUSHEL" describes this pair of creations by Mr. John. They were presented at the Millinery Institute's New York showing. They give an idea and/or a choice in revealing the face or hiding it. At left is "Trianon," made up of white organza petals and sweeping like a mane from the head to and over the shoulders. At right is "Garbo," a huge straw sweeping up from the shoulder and far out in front of the face, making it almost impossible to see the wearer. BOTH are modeled by Ellen Staff. Most hats shown were large ones. (AP wirephoto)

MR. AND MRS. ELDON M. PAYNE
(Meiners photo)

Marcia Hatch, Payne Marry in Temple Rites

VIEW, Jan. 16.—The Logan LDS temple was the setting for the wedding of Marcia Hatch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton O. Hatch, and Eldon M. Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton C. Payne, View.

The double ring ceremony was performed by President A. George Raymond. Accompanying the couple to the temple were their parents, the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cardon, Mesa, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Koyle Winward, Mr. and Mrs. Orwin Draz, Jesse Coulam, Mrs. Lewis Munk, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Clatter Larson and Mr. Larry McKnight, all relatives from Utah, and ten couples from View.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served to members of the bridal party at the Tropical dining room, Brigham City, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

A reception was held Dec. 30 in the View cultural hall. The bride and groom were seated before a background setting of evergreen clusters flanked by beauty bushes and white chrysanthemums and red carnations tied with red satin bows.

The bride wore a floor-length wedding gown of white peau de cerise and edged with tulle. The bride's mother and Mrs. Winward, the bride's sister.

The fitted bodice featured long sleeves a rounded neck and a small self-covered button on the sleeves and back closure.

Her shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a crown of white fur. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses enhanced with green holly leaves tied with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Titensor and Mrs. Winward, sister of the bride, were honor attendants. Bridesmaids were Nada Hatch and Elma Hatch. Carol Hatch was junior bridesmaid. Each wore a street-length dress of red wool, styled with long sleeves and high necklines. Each carried a white fur muff enhanced with holly sprigs.

Lynn Payne, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Lee Merrill, Max Heward, Roger Anderson and Garth Freymiller.

The bride's mother chose a navy blue crepe dress enhanced with a corsage of white carnations backed with silver lilies and tied with red ribbons. The bridegroom's mother wore an olive green crepe ensemble accented with a white carnation corsage enhanced with silver lilies and red ribbons.

The ensembles of Mrs. Haines Humphreys, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Lawrence Cardon and Mrs. Charles Payne, grandmothers of the bridegroom, were enhanced with corsages of red and white carnations.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Garth Freymiller. Gifts were arranged by Mrs. Lee Merrill. Mrs. Roger Anderson, Mrs. Max Heward and Marie Hanks. Gifts were carried by Laura Titensor and Sharon Titensor, nieces of the bride, and Marlin Payne, Mark Payne and great Payne, brothers of the bridegroom.

The three-tiered round white fruit cake rested on three heart-shaped cakes, all decorated with white sugar bells and poinsettias and was topped with white satin bows backed with satin and tulle. The table was enhanced with a white linen cloth and surrounding the cake were sprigs of holly, white candles and red satin ribbons. The cake was made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. Leslie Dana.

The cake was served by Mrs. Jesse Coulam and Mrs. David Lent, aunts of the bride. Punch was served by Mrs. Elmer West and Boyd Cardon, Mrs. James Repworth, Mrs. Frank Gillette and Mrs. Clint Cook, aunts of the bridegroom.

Serving were Janis Orton.

Women's 1965 Spring Fashions Are Previewed

Spring's latest and many color-trusts of color and design of fabric were shown.

The romance of women's fashions is in a creation of something practical and yet charming. According to fashion writers, it is estimated that only about two million American women are able to afford these clothes shown by the trend-setting designers.

They are priced from $100 and often more than $1,000. Nevertheless, the wearing apparel of 56-million other women, without the means of the wealthier ones, will shape up in line with the new trends. The most successful styles are always reproduced by the volume ready-to-wear manufacturers.

Fashions are not created by the designer alone, they are accepted as fashions only after the women wear them.

MRS. LADYBIRD JOHNSON will wear this jonquil yellow, double-woven satin classic style gown to the inaugural ball. It has a matching full-length coat and was designed by John Moore of New York. (AP wirephoto)

1965 Inaugural Attire Described By AP Writer

BY FRANCIS LEWINE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP) - What to wear to President Johnson's inauguration?

Well, the experts are suggesting earmuffs, leotards, high boots, black tie and the prettiest long formal gown you can find.

Johnson has set a less formal tone for male inaugural fashion, but the swirl of feminine finery will be as splendid as ever.

There wasn't really a moment's hesitation among the fashion presseters of Washington, including the First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

The biggest inaugural fashion problem of all is the weather. Remembering the freezing snows of 1961, everyone wants to be prepared. But, for what? The weather bureau, looking to its record closet, says Wednesday's temperature in the capital has ranged as high as 71 in 1951, and as low as 8 degrees in 1940.

Mrs. Freeman, wife of the secretary of agriculture, says the first thing she bought was high boots and I strongly recommend everyone coming to the inaugural have them. Incidentally, high boots for ladies happen to be very fashionable.

Her next suggestion - and she's following it herself - fur earmuffs, or headbands.

And, for parasol-walkers, "Nothing could be more appropriate or more comfortable than set pairs of parkies with nooses.

President Johnson, of course, has announced he'll take his oath of office wearing an Oxford gray suit instead of the traditional morning coat and striped pants. He hasn't decided yet whether he'll wear a hat.

More than 3,000 Texans are expected for the inaugural festivities. While undoubtedly adding a dash of homestate cowboy attire themselves, they have hopes that LBJ will get out his 10-gallon hat sometime, too. The President's mail reflects both applause and disappointment for his decision to be informal and also to wear black tie which he considers more comfortable than white tie and tails for the inaugural ball.

Though the inaugural ball chairman, Warren Woodward, noted it wouldn't be very chic to upstage the President, it turns out there are some die-hards who have rented white tie anyway, refusing to let it go to dress down.

The ladies never had any intention of dressing down. And, here, a widely known Washington hostess who got the role of "social consultant" to the chairman of the inaugural committee, made this what-to-wear pronouncement: "Inaugural ball - long formal dresses."

A Cabinet wife, Jane Wirtz, whose husband is secretary of labor, when asked about her ball gown designer, replied: "I make my own clothes."

Even while transcribing she admits she was thinking about what she'd make. It's a rose red

Amateur Boxing Interest Picks up As Boys Don Gloves at Moran's

BY G. H. CHAMBERS

In recent weeks activity has been picking up at W. J. Moran's backyard gymnasium at his home, 509 Third avenue west.

This is good news for boxing fans, because Moran and amateur boxing are synonymous. Moran has had an amateur boxing club in and around Idaho and Magic Valley since 1929.

Boxing may be finished as far as television is concerned, but Moran claims interest is beginning to pick up in Magic Valley.

This week-end Moran is attending a meeting of the Amateur Athletic union in Salt Lake City and could line up a few matches for some of his boys.

At present there are some 25 boys working out in Moran's gymnasium. They don't all work out at once and there is nothing mandatory about the program. It's all voluntary.

That's the way Moran has operated his amateur club for 35 many years.

"The boys aren't pushed, but they don't get any matches until they are ready."

The recent renewed interest in the boxing game is no surprise to Moran. He is a real advocate of the sport. Boxing, if taught right and properly supervised, and the welfare of the boy kept paramount, can be one of the best sports in the world, claims Moran.

It teaches thinking, reaction and the need for top conditioning.

One of the best ways to kill a boy's interest in the sport of boxing is to overwhelm him and let him get thoroughly beaten. Moran recalls match making experience of past fight cards and said a lot of hours were consumed

Legislators, Citizens To Exchange Information

What it boils down to is just case of everyone concerned being properly informed.

The people will inform their legislators and the legislators will inform the people. It will be in the form of a sort of round-robin discussion by special telephone connections and the people will be in Twin Falls and legislators in Boise.

The means to the end will be series of no-host luncheons at the American Legion hall in Twin Falls starting Tuesday. The idea was tried two years ago and was very successful. This year, with more problems facing the legislature than ever before, it is expected to attract even more participation. This means that attendance at the luncheons could top 125 a session.

Plans for the unique luncheons are expected to run through the week on Tuesday on session basis, are being supervised by officials and members of the local Chamber of Commerce through the legislative committee.

Douglas Kramer, local attorney and chamber director, is committee chairman.

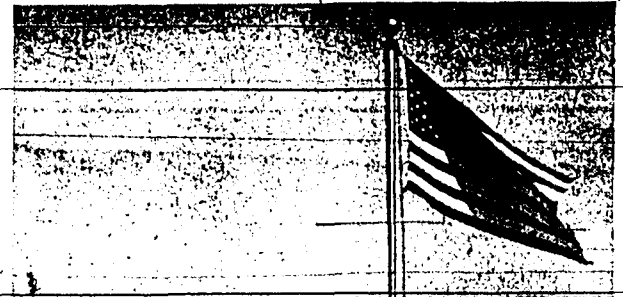

Ray Bell-David, Mead and William Grange—are the "leg" men for the project and share the cost of "tramroads."

The idea is that, through connection of the telephone committee, a letter written by the legislator direct wire will be returned from the statehouse in Boise to the Legion hall here.

Public address systems will be installed in the hall so that the legislators of Twin Falls can talk from the office of William J. Lanfing, house majority leader, their voices will be heard by those attending the luncheon. Strategically placed telephones will permit citizens in Twin Falls to ask the legislators specific questions and receive immediate answers. Two years ago the program was set on tape the evening before because of this fact, direct questioning was impossible. Now it will be a "live" session.

After the discussions with the legislators each Tuesday noon, luncheons in various fields will be held locally for entertainment. Frank and Harry Turner, former state legislators from this county, will provide "depth" information at the luncheons next Tuesday.

In addition to Lanfing, legislators taking part at Boise will be Sen. Jack Kramer, senate majority leader, and chamber chairman of Boise representative's legislative committee; Ray Lind and William Roberts, both

SYMBOLIC OF the importance of special legislative luncheons planned by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, starting next Tuesday, is the American flag waving in the breeze and the school in the background. 11 Britons Live Odd Existence

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Eleven Britons live a lonely, frustrating life in Peking. They are the British diplomatic mission to Red China, headed by Charge d'Affaires Terence Whittaker-Garvey.

They are for the most part isolated in what is known as the Peking "diplomatic stockade." Sometimes the Chinese government arranges a tour for diplomats, rarely to an area the diplomats want to see.

Their principal means of contact with the regime is by mail and telephone. They are not allowed contact with government ministers and underlings are too frightened to talk to them, according to British informants in London.

The 11 diplomats are carrying out a policy which began 15 years ago with Britain's recognition of Communist China.

London lacks full diplomatic relations with Peking at ambassadorial level, informants explain, because of a demand that Britain cease opposing Communist Chinese policies. The Chinese cite two points.

—Although Britain supports Red China's entry into the United Nations, the British maintain that the question is an important one which must be decided under article 18 of the U. N. charter, which means the Chinese communists must obtain a two-thirds majority in the General Assembly.

—Although the British do not recognize the regime of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa, there is a British consulate on the island. Peking says this shows the British do not support Red China's claim to Formosa.

Furthermore Britain supports American aid to the South Vietnamese against the Peking-backed Hanoi regime. And Britain is in conflict with Indonesia over the campaign of President Sukarno against Malaysia. Sukarno is receiving encouragement from Peking.

Therefore, despite the diplomatic recognition, Peking refuses to accept the appointment of a British ambassador or permit the opening of an embassy. The mission is called the "Office of the British Charge d'Affaires"—a sort of third class status.

Idaho's Cooking Champion Admits Competition Among Family

Alvin E. Monroe, who lives on route three, Twin Falls, is the male amateur cooking champion of Idaho, but he has to keep moving in order to stay a step ahead of women members of his family.

Monroe, a farm irrigator, has just been announced as Idaho winner of the men's national cooking championship sponsored by the Potato Chip Institute International. He was declared Idaho's champion by submitting the best original main dish using potato chips. He competed against male cooks from all walks of life—more than 132,000 entered across the nation.

His winning recipe was named "Fluff Merry Chip Around." His original recipe will now enter an additional contest which will see selection of a regional winner to compete for national honors. Runners-up in the Idaho contest also were from this area. They are Robert Black, Sun Valley, and Donald Litzinger, Halley.

The winning recipes were selected on the basis of flavor, texture, originality and appearance. Judging was by a panel of leading women food experts headed by nutritionist Marj Wood.

Monroe is irrigator on the Ed Baker ranch at Plier. He started cooking, he said in an interview with the Times-News, "when my children were born." He is the father of five children ranging in age from 27 to 11.

He came to Idaho in 1930 from California and has resided in this area for nine years.

By his own admission, there is no tried and true method in "inventing" a recipe.

"I figure mine out a little at a time." — Monroe

MRS. GRACE URBAN, Wendell, right, was reunited with a "long lost" relative after reading about Mrs. Juanita Peters, who was featured in the Magic Valley portrait of the Sunday Times-News feature section recently. Both women are from Liberty, Mo., and each settled in Magic Valley without the other's knowledge.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Two Magic Valley women were reunited recently by a feature story in the Times-News which pictured one of them in the Magic Valley portrait section. Mrs. Grace Urban, WENDELL, was reading the history of Mrs. Juanita Peters, PAUL, and thought there was something "special" about her. When she read the names of Mrs. Peters' parents, she knew what was so "special" about her—they were step-cousins who hadn't seen each other for many years. Both women were from Liberty, Mo. The women got together recently for a snapshot to send back home to show the family what has taken place.

Mrs. Urban's grandfather married Mrs. Peters' grandmother. Both women unknowingly had settled in the same part of the country. Mrs. Urban's friend in Wendell, Mrs. Ray Tener, is a sister of the Rev. Floyd White's wife, in Paul, and they made arrangements for the first reunion of the couple. Mrs. Urban, a retired school teacher, moved to Wendell the same year that Mrs. Peters moved there from Mountain Home to operate Juanita's Coffee shop. Mrs. Urban had eaten in the cafe frequently, but didn't know whose cooking she was eating.

SHOSHONE is one of the few communities of its size to boast of a community chorus. And fans of the chorus in Shoshone claim there are few choruses in even much larger communities that surpass their chorus in quality and performance.

The 28-voice mixed chorus represents a variety of professions, both trained and untrained voices, but all with a common interest in good music. Public performances are held about twice a year on a full chorus basis, with smaller groups, particularly the women's section, singing at many other events throughout the year.

Mrs. Velma Allen is the director and Mrs. Claude Chree the accompanist. Mrs. Allen was a music teacher in Shoshone public school system for 11 years prior to going to GOODING school three years ago.

The success of her adult chorus is only a reflection of her extra and above-average performance in Shoshone school system over the years. But the smooth performance, harmony, balanced and beauty of the concerts don't just happen.

The women of the chorus, in preparation for the Christmas concert, began rehearsals in September, held practices 13 weeks with the last three weeks spending at least two and one-half hours in rehearsal. Male members joined them for the last several weeks practices. Total hours of rehearsal times

VFW District Tournament Set March 7

BUHL, Jan. 16 — Buhl Third Post No. 3604, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold the annual district six VFW and auxiliary bowling tournament, March 7, officers report.

The local post and auxiliary will serve as hosts for the annual event with Henry Graesch and Mrs. Joseph Hart from the local unit serving as chairman of arrangements.

A report on the Voice of Democracy contest held in the Buhl high school under the sponsorship of the local VFW post was presented by William R. Huppel at a meeting this week. Huppel, Lynn Miller's prize-winning type has been sent to Boise to be judged in the state contest Jan. 20.

Huppel reported local award winners in the contest will receive their merchandise prizes Monday afternoon during the Boys' and Girls' league meetings at the high school. Edwin C. Black, post commander, will make the presentations.

Frank Rippee, representing Cub Scouts of pack 105, presented the VPW with a new minute book, leather bound with gold-embossed lettering, in appreciation of the use of the VFW hall as a meeting place for the past year.

The new March of Dimes film, "A Stranger to the World," was shown. The next regular meeting will be held Jan. 25.

Members of the chorus thank Mrs. Allen for her drive, for her devotion, talent and inspiration that results in the performance. And Shoshone residents in general thank them all for what they consider something outstanding, fine and good for the community.

alone for the many hours of rehearsal. Members of the chorus thank Mrs. Allen for her drive, for her devotion, talent and inspiration that results in the performance. And Shoshone residents in general thank them all for what they consider something outstanding, fine and good for the community.

The number of people show 2,956 hours of practice. This is 17 eight-hour days of work.

There were 24 children who also performed with the chorus, in conjunction with the adult group and separately. They practiced 300 hours.

Adults varied their practice hours, ranging from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. For 10 days the women met at 5 a.m. with the men meeting at 7 a.m. They fell some of their best rehearsals were at this time of day.

The rehearsals were held at Mrs. Allen's home, a few at the school, and mostly at the LDS church the last several weeks.

The concert was at the new First Baptist church cultural hall and the story of the deep story of extra work and dedication by members of that congregation.

The Rev. Paul Winkler had his own grand piano moved to the church for the event, long hours of work kept the members of the church on the job to complete walls, install proper lights and haul chairs.

Then the night of the performance the Rev. Mr. Winkler greeted many of the guests as they arrived in a drenching rain storm from a ladder atop the door entrance where he held plastic to protect those who were entering from the downpour. He promptly went inside and did an impressive performance as narrator for the concert.

Hansen's Department store provided decorations and many residents of the community, not in the concert, assist with each performance by working on programs, publicity and last minute preparations.

The chorus proper consists of housewives and mothers, grandmothers, office workers, beauticians, teachers and businessmen, government workers, all active in their respective church and other community activity. Churches represented include the Methodist, Baptist, LDS and Catholic.

Children who participated ranged in ages from 4 to early elementary grades. Mrs. Allen always thanks the other part of the family that stays home to baby sit, or sit

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

REV. ELVIN GOEBEL, associate minister, First Christian Church

Ever since that time when God called Isaiah saying, "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?" and Isaiah answered, "Here I am! Send me!" God has called many men into His service. In the Old Testament He called many prophets and in the New Testament Jesus called twelve men to be His disciples. God calls men to His service in these modern times. He calls through His Word and the word of His servants.

Rev. E. Goebel

We might then ask, "To what does He call us today?" First of all, God calls us to concern. Now is the time we must become concerned with the progress of the church. Today the church is threatened from many areas of life. Communism threatens the church. Russia has dedicated all her energy to the spread of this godless ideology throughout the world. One of the primary aims of the communists is to do away with all religion.

Materialism also threatens the church today. Many of our people have the idea that the good life consists in material possessions and in ease and luxury. However, the prophet Amos said this concerning an over luxurious life, "Woe to those who are at ease in Zion, and to those who feel secure on the mountain of Samaria."

Secularism is another threat to the church. Many people see no need for the church. They see man as the ultimate in life. They do not believe in a supreme being. They live only for themselves.

The church today needs a concern like that recorded in the

The Call of God

13th Chapter of Acts. These Christians needed the call of the Spirit and sent Paul and Barnabas out on the first of their missionary journeys. They were concerned with the needs of men for the gospel of Christ. With this kind of concern the church would truly grow throughout the world and communism, materialism, and secularism would be on the decline.

3 Directors Re-elected by Buhl Group

BUHL, Jan. 16 — James T. Shields, Theodor Rangen and Robert Weaver were each re-elected to a three year term on the board of directors of the Buhl Economic Development and Improvement corporation during the annual meeting held Tuesday night in the R-and-R cafe banquet room.

Holdover directors and their remaining terms are John Hepworth, Robert Bailey and Frank Squires, one year; John M. Barker, William Nungester and Dr. T. J. Tappen, two years.

A reorganizational meeting of the board of directors will be held soon to elect officers. Present officers include Shields, president; Rangen, vice president; Nungester, secretary-treasurer, and Kenneth Curtis, executive secretary.

A discussion was held relative to the junior college issue, the local school program, accreditation, and the role public schools play in the industrial development of a community.

Other discussion centered around the need for better access roads to the interstate highway particularly from Buhl on the Clearlake road to Wendell and development of new projects in the Bruneau area. The purpose of county zoning world and communism, materialism, and secularism would be on the decline. Secondly God calls us to commitment. The G.U.P.C. must commit itself to its task. What is the task? Jesus gave it to us as recorded in Matthew 28:19-20. "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, to the close of the age."

One may ask, "But how can we do this?" The answer is that we, as Christians, must commit ourselves wholeheartedly to this task by supporting the church's mission and program with our prayers and with our money.

Then, thirdly, God calls us to consecration. This term means "setting apart." In this case, a setting apart of one's life for the service of God no matter what our livelihood may be. Many men down through history have heeded God's call and we must today dedicate ourselves to do the same.

Proxy Bill

BOISE, Jan. 16 (AP)—A bill to allow the blind to issue proxies to sighted hunters to shoot their game for them will be sought from the legislature by the Gen. State Blind.

faction," he adds.

Among other things, Shaw is a member of the board of directors of the Twin Falls Kiwanis club and during 1964 was vice chairman of the retail merchant's committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

He was a 1964 board member of the United Fund. He attends the Methodist church in Twin Falls, where his wife is a very active participant.

The Shaws have four children. John, a senior at Twin Falls high school, was born at Logan, and the other three all were born at Salt Lake City. Michael, born in 1948, is a junior at Twin Falls high school. Scott, born in 1950, is in the eighth grade at Robert Stuart junior high, and Margo Ann, born in 1952, is in the sixth grade at Morningstar.

When he has time, Shaw follows the hobbies of fishing and golfing. His other hobby—that of breeding and exhibiting miniature Schnauzer dogs—could almost be classed as a sideline business.

He has been breeding dogs of this type for about 15 years and is licensed by the American Kennel club to judge competitive contests.

"I'll never get rich at it, but it is interesting," Shaw said.

He resides with his family at 824 Alturas drive north.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT . . .

Twin Falls Store Manager Occupied "Grandstand" Seat During Invasion

The invasion of the continent by allied forces during World War II was very real for Jack M. Shaw. The active part he took in that great movement of men and equipment actually provided him with what might be termed a "grandstand" seat.

Shaw, now manager of the Sears, Roebuck company store in Twin Falls and an active worker in community projects, actually looked down on the invasion.

As a pilot in support of the 190th field artillery group assigned to the First Army, then stationed at Bude, Corn wall, England, he had the honor of adjusting the first observed fire mission on Utah beach. He was pilot of a small L-4 observation plane and as such was able to look down on history in the making.

As he recalls it today, he admits that in that June of 1944 the historic concept really wasn't the foremost thought in his mind. What he was thinking about was whether he would ever make it out of there alive.

He did and he continued as a liaison pilot throughout the invasion and was then returned to the United States at conclusion of the war and was released from active service in December, 1945, with the rank of major.

Although during the war he saw a lot of territory, he actually is not very far away from the town in which he was born on June 1, 1916. That community is Garland, Utah, near Tremonton.

His father was a farmer—not the kind who works the soil, but the kind who raised silver fox animals which ultimately ended up beautifying some women. His birthplace was on a farm.

At the age of 6 he moved with his parents to Logan, where he entered the public school system and continued his education there until midway through junior high school.

Then the family moved to an area near Colorado Springs, known as the Black Forest, where his father continued in the silver for business. He finished junior high school and then continued on to be graduated from Colorado Springs high school. He lettered in both basketball and football during his high school days.

Returning to the area where he was born and spent the early years of his life, he enrolled in Utah State Agricultural College, now Utah State university. That was in 1936.

Money, he points out today, was scarce so far as he was concerned, with the result he had to work at a job while continuing his schooling.

Starting in 1937 he accepted a part-time job at the Logan Sears, Roebuck store to augment his dwindling cash reserves.

Although he worked at the "outside" job from 20 to 30 hours each week, he managed to continue his college education and majored in economics. He also was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi fraternity while at the Logan school.

It was in 1940 that he went to work for Sears on a fulltime basis and he became division manager of the Logan store.

This connection was relatively short lived, however, because in January, 1941 he enlisted in the service and was assigned to the field artillery battalion at San Luis Obispo, Calif.

In 1942 he attended officer's candidate school at Fort Sill, Okla., and in 1943 he completed the air observation flight training. This training, at various fields, was completed in early 1944 and he was then a second lieutenant.

It was while at Camp Barkley, Tex., that he met Margaret Houy, also a second lieutenant and an army nurse at the base.

They were married on July 1, 1944, but the honeymoon was a short one. It was just 30 days, after the wedding that Shaw was assigned overseas.

Because his wife spoke German, she was transferred to the LaGrange general hospital in New Orleans, which was being prepared for use by German prisoners of war.

It was lucky in one respect, Shaw laughs. "When we were both released from the service, I at least outranked her."

JACK M. SHAW

though we both started out as second lieutenants."

While his wife ended up a first lieutenant, Shaw was a major.

Right after leaving the service, he brought his new wife back to Logan, a community she had never seen.

He became division manager of the appliance and home furnishing departments at the Sears store and Mrs. Shaw became a housewife.

"She immediately fell in love with the West and is happy to be living in this area still," Shaw said.

In July, 1948, Shaw was transferred to the Salt Lake City store as assistant operating superintendent, and in 1950 was promoted to operating superintendent of the Salt Lake district.

In 1959 he was promoted again, this time to merchandise and sales promotion manager for the Utah group. On Nov. 1, 1963, he received the promotion to manager of the Twin Falls store.

"My family and I are very fond of Twin Falls," Shaw said. "It is our opinion that people here have received us very warmly and that we live among a friendly people. It is a fine place to live and to raise a family."

As a company, Sears encourages its officials to take an active part in community life, and Shaw is no exception.

He admits he probably derived the most "self-satisfaction" from his association in promoting the concept of a junior college in Twin Falls county.

He was chairman of the special committee of 25 spearheading this move which was successful on Nov. 3, 1964, when citizens supported the move in a strong two-thirds majority vote.

Shaw says that while no one person on the special committee could be singled out for praise, "because all of them worked their heads off," there were instances where people not even on the committee helped more than with

NEW OFFICE SITE of the Idaho fish and game department in Boise is inspected by fish and game commissioners, who will announce later this week the opening dates of big game hunting seasons for 1965. Closing dates and other regulation details will be established by the commission at a special meeting in May.

Involved Process of Setting Dates For Hunting Seasons Is Explained

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho fish-game Department
Boise, Jan. 16 — Sportsmen sometimes puzzle over the reasons why separate meetings are held by the Idaho fish and game commission to establish opening dates for fall big game hunting seasons in January, and to set season lengths, bag limits and other regulation details later in the year.

They ask, "Why hold two meetings a few months apart when one ought to do?"

The answer is not as complicated as the procedure suggests.

Opening dates, closing dates, bag limits and all the regulations controlling big game seasons actually were "rolled" into one big package and presented to the public during the regular quarterly meeting of the fish and game commission until the policy was changed at the October meeting in 1961.

"All opening dates for general seasons on big game species shall be established by the Idaho fish and game commission at the annual January meeting," the minutes for that session read.

The commission is responsive to public opinion and this decision met the wishes of hunters who need to make early plans for the fall.

Resort owners must prepare for the rush season, packers and guides must book customers and fish and game department administrative officers must draft regulations and get them printed and distributed over the state well ahead of the earliest hunting seasons.

But the big question is, "When is the season hunting?" If that question is answered in January, the remaining details can be filled in later, then everybody can make opening day plans as soon as the dates are announced.

Minutes covering action taken at the same commission meeting to state that "bag limits, seasons and regulations pertaining to big game hunts shall be established . . . at the April meeting . . ."

This was amended last July when it was agreed that a special meeting of the commission will be held in May, rather than April, to establish closing dates for big game seasons, bag limits and other regulation details.

Regular quarterly meetings of the commission are required by law, but special meetings such as the one scheduled in May each year from now on are based on emergent need. The reason for this change, according to minutes of the session, is that more solid information about big game will be available in May than in April.

Such information, involving the completion of winter trend counts of elk and deer, antelope and mountain goats and range utilization field work, is not needed by the commission in January as the basis for setting opening dates for big game seasons.

In general, these years have been developed over 20 years or so to meet local conditions anyway. Factors going into these deliberations are past experience with weather and road conditions during the early autumn, and land-use practices such as logging, ranching, farming and the like.

But all available information about abundance and location of big game animals is basic to the setting of season lengths, bag limits and other regulation details.

Where game is plentiful, the shooting season may be lengthened and limits increased. These may be curtailed during a poor year or when limiting factors place game in short supply.

Wildlife concentrations vary from place to place in Idaho, which is the reason for flexible hunting seasons ranging from long to short, and "open end" to "split," and "multiple deer hunting units."

The prime objective of regulation details is to prevent damage to winter range through over-use, to maintain adequate breeding stocks of game, and to provide equal hunting opportunities for everybody.

For the first time this year, the commission meeting to establish hunting regulation details and safeguards will be held in May, a month later than usual.

The reason for the later date is to give more time to all department field workers to complete the big job of gathering and analyzing basic information of three different types. These are harvest data, big game trend counts, and range conditions.

Big game harvest information is collected in three ways. Checking stations operating at strategic points around the state are staffed with biologists, conservation officers and other workers who note sex and age of the animals as they are brought out by hunters.

They also weigh some of the animals and examine the carcasses to learn general physical condition. This work is completed as the various hunting seasons progress.

Population trend counts are made by officers and biologists from the air, horseback and afoot in the early spring. These are made over the same areas at the same time almost to the day, year after year, while the animals are concentrated.

The purpose is to learn whether the trend of big game populations is up or down, rather than to try to get an accurate head count of all game in a sector.

Half of the survey of browse plants and shrubs is made in the fall of the year, before snow falls. The fall check shows how much food is available for winter use.

The work is finished in the spring as the areas open up, and the spring check shows the degree to which the winter food supply was used. It involves systematic measurement of browse materials on a transect.

This is a straight line between two points along which big game food plants and shrubs and soil are measured. The distance between two lines may vary, but the same line and the same two points are used each time the browse is checked.

So it is that an extra month has been added this year for the completion of this crucial field work before season lengths and bag limits are fixed. This information is not needed as background to the setting of hunting season opening dates.

In general, these dates begin in mid-September for elk and deer in the rugged interior part of the state, then fan out to lower, more accessible regions on the first and third Saturdays of October.

The largest possible blocks of geography are opened at the same time to hold the number of key starting dates to three. There are exceptions, such as later-whitetailed-deer hunting seasons because some snowfall is desirable and because of purely local considerations in a few places elsewhere.

This information, collected by all department field men and cooperating agencies such as the Forest Service and the bureau of land management, will be presented for consideration by the Idaho fish and game commission at the May meeting.

But first it will be reviewed at a series of regional personnel meetings, and with other groups of sportsmen, ranchers, farmers and others who are interested.

But complete responsibility for hunting dates, bag limits and regulations details is placed by law on the five members of the fish and game commission.

The pieces of the complicated jig-saw puzzle are falling into place even now. The sportsmen will know the calendar dates to circle in red and include in their vacation planning.

And when May rolls around, the commission will complete the picture showing all the details of the fall hunting opportunities.

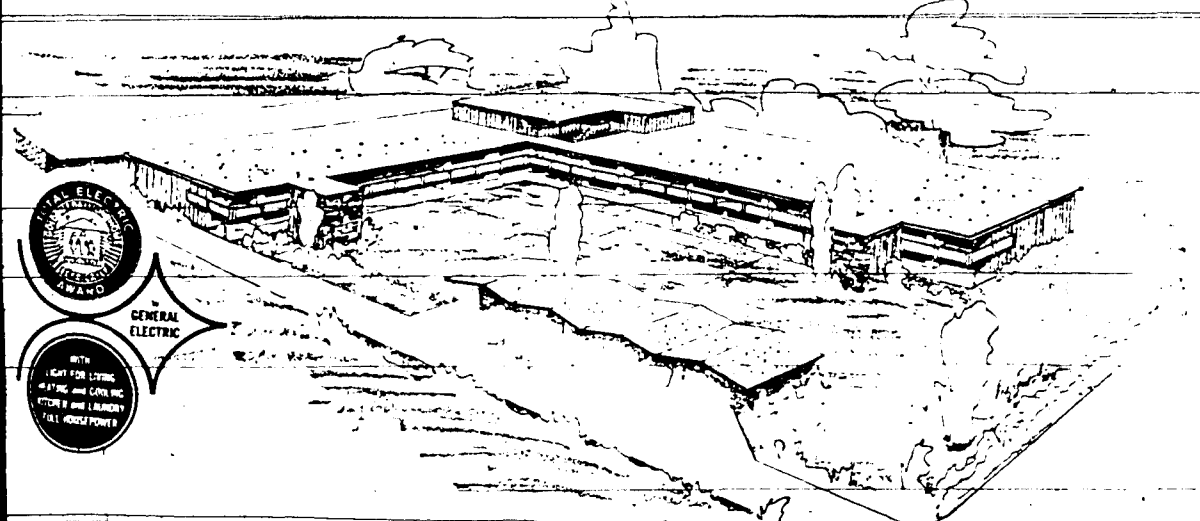

Chamber at Buhl Is Reorganized

BUHL, Jan. 16.—Charles Lunte was elected president, John M. Barker, vice president, and Lloyd Byrne, secretary-treasurer at the Buhl Chamber of Commerce during a reorganization meeting of the board of directors, it was announced today by chamber officials.

New officers will be installed at the annual banquet meeting 7:30 p.m. Monday at the R and R cafe banquet room.

The latest film produced by the Idaho Power company entitled "Potatoes Plus," designed to sell Snake River valley, was presented by Robert Vernon, Twin Falls, during the chamber's luncheon meeting this week.

This fan-jet lands in Tokyo while other jets would still be 2,000 miles away!

It's Northwest's 320 Fan-Jet—world's longest-range passenger jet. The route it flies makes your trip to Tokyo up to 2,000 miles shorter.

Imagine this! On Northwest Orient Airlines, you can be landing in Tokyo—while on other airlines you'd still be 2,000 miles away. That's because Northwest flies the most direct routes to the Orient. Your trip is 2,000 miles shorter from New York and Chicago—1,700 miles shorter from Seattle—than going across the longer mid-Pacific route.

Interest in Amateur Boxing Picks up As Boys Don Gloves at Moran's Gym

just making sure the boys weren't overmatched and that they would not get hurt.

Moran says amateur boxing is one of the safest sports in the world if it is properly supervised. Few amateur boxers are maimed the way some football players are injured.

There is a world of difference between the amateur and the professional. Professionals, through bad advice and poor handling, can end up punch drunk. Properly supervised amateur boxing rarely ends up this way.

Moran should have some idea about what he is talking about. He has handled and supervised thousands of boys and had a chance to observe and talk to them.

Although he plays down his influence on the boys, those associated with Moran swear Moran and his backyard gym have kept a lot of boys off the streets and out of trouble. His advice has often put the taboo mark on mischief that the boys were thinking about.

Most of the boxing equipment used at the gym has been purchased by Moran or collected because of his influence. His ability to convince others of the true purpose of the sport has paid off in his having excellent support from a few members of the community.

Fight fans will easily recall the names Gene Turley and Woodrow Turley. The Turley brothers are former amateur boxers who were taught by Moran. Today one of the main boosters of the gym, and working out at Moran's gym, is Woody Turley.

There are a lot of nights when Turley is at the gym giving newcomers the same advice he received from Moran many years ago, when he first put the gloves on at the age of 12. Moran constantly points to Turley as one of the prime examples needed to prove that amateur boxing is a tremendous sport.

The Turley brothers bring a real gleam into Moran's eye. As amateurs he would rarely let the two brothers mix it up.

During the AAU meeting in Salt Lake City this week-end Moran will be keeping his eyes open for a few matches. Moran has been an officer and a member of the AAU for years. He has been vice president of the Intermountain-AAU district.

The Intermountain AAU meeting is a long, far distant, and Moran and Jack Cox, a local booster, would like to schedule a few matches to try and raise funds to send the boys to Salt Lake City for the AAU meet.

In the past, Moran often has dug into his own pocket to provide rooms for the boys, and several Twin Falls businessmen have supported the group. If the amateur boxing interest comes alive again, perhaps the town will boost the boys again.

The Magic Valley Boxing club, an AAU member, has never sent a poor team to the AAU meets. "We've always had to wait for the announcement to see who won. No one has ever strained us," said Moran.

"Amateur boxing has never cost me anything," claims Moran.

"If you like something and enjoy doing it, how can it cost you anything?"

His latest group of boys comes from all over Magic Valley—Twin Falls, Burley and Filer, just to mention a few of the towns.

The Moran house has been full of boxers for years and it would not seem natural if some boy didn't walk into the livingroom without mentally or actually throwing a left—trying to recall something Moran said about boxing.

Moran gets a little peeved when someone says boxing is dangerous. He's never known it that way.

Moran quit keeping track of the number of boys he's handled after it reached 1,000. Possibly more than 2,000 boys have put the gloves on in Moran's gym. There have been some bloody noses, but there are bloody noses in football, track, basketball and even tennis.

During the working part of the day Moran teaches history at Filer high school and doesn't look like the type of fellow who would ever hit anyone.

His main interest is in boys. After all, he learned the fight game as a boy—as a Boy Scout to be more exact.

His boxing instructor was "Silent Rowan," a deaf and dumb boxer. Rowan had a brother, a heavyweight, who once knocked out the great Jack Johnson, before Johnson ever won the heavyweight title.

Moran once tangled with Mike O'Dowd, shortly after O'Dowd was relieved of the middleweight championship. In boxing circles Moran is no stranger.

The return of the amateur boxer and the return of the "tank town" support could brighten the boxing picture, and waiting with his boys is W. J. (Bill) Moran.

Grange to Hold Pancake Supper Wednesday Night

A sourdough pancake and homemade sausage supper was planned at the meeting of the Twin Falls Grange community service and home economics groups which met at the home of the Grange master, Reese Glick.

The supper is planned for 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Grange hall. Glick reported that Pete Creed has purchased two large hogs to be butchered by the Grange members. He will supervise the grinding of the meat and seasoning of the sausage.

Sourdough batter is being prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Don Tucker. Murrel Stansbury will cook the scrambled eggs. Kenneth Poe is dining room chairman. Pancake and sausage cooks will be Tom Speedy, Reese Glick and Jim Catterton. Dish washers will be Cliff Davis, Charles Requa and Irvin Bodenstab.

Profits from the supper, as for the past three years, will go to the Idaho Youth Ranch. Rupert. The young people from the ranch and foster parents will be guests of the Grange.

representatives serving for their term. "Anyone with an interest in what is going on in this state is welcome to attend this no-host affair," Mead said during a discussion of the project.

What with problems like sales tax, education, pari-mutuel betting and reapportionment on the horizon, this session should be an interesting as well as important one.

No prior reservations are necessary and the meeting gets underway with the luncheon promptly at noon.

It is officials point out, another program of the chamber to make it possible for interested people to know what is planned by the legislators and what is their line of thinking.

Second Idaho State Adult Education Term to Open

New classes for the second semester of the Idaho State university adult educational extension classes will begin Feb. 8, announced Boyd R. Lowe, coordinator.
 "We will hold an organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the senior high study hall, at which time members of the faculty from ISU will be present to counsel with you concerning your college work," Lowe stated.
 He said at this time courses that show the most promise of being offered will be announced. At this meeting persons may also indicate their interest in other courses.
 Lowe said courses that begin the second semester will be handled differently this year. At 6:30 p.m. Feb. 2 students may examine the textbooks to be used for the course scheduled.
 "They should register and pay the required fees at this time," he stated.
 Lowe stated, "Late registration and payments will be handled only by the coordinator. The professor is hired to teach you and we will handle the detail work and relieve him of the registration chores. This means that prompt attendance is as important as any other class night during the session."
 In order for the coordinator to learn the classes that are in demand it is requested that students pre-register, if possible. Lowe will be at the senior high school at 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday of this week to aid anyone wishing to pre-register.
 Lowe also announced a reference list of courses available. He said if students would like a course not on the list, they should write the course number and title on the pre-registration blank that will be provided.
 Courses include:
 College of Liberal Arts
 Anthropology 203, prehistory and foundation of civilization; art 105, art workshop; art 321-10, history and appreciation of dramatic arts; English 102, English composition; English 456, advanced English grammar;

Directories Are Prepared For Ketchum

KETCHUM, Jan. 16 — The Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce will have some 8,000 business directories ready for distribution soon, W. G. Pyrah, chamber manager, reported Wednesday noon at a meeting in the Alpine copper room.
 This is the chamber's first printing of the directories. Pyrah was authorized to attend the Greater Boise Chamber of Commerce workshop Jan. 20 and the governor's prayer breakfast Jan. 26 in the Crystal room of the Hotel Boise.
 Robert Barnes, newly elected president, in conducting his first meeting, led a discussion on procuring new members for the coming year. He also said the Ketchum area is in need of an operator for the rope tow two hours every day.
 The year's financial statement was read by Mrs. Grace Munster, treasurer, and accepted.
 Robert F. Glenn suggested next year's Christmas tree lighting contest and the arrival of Santa Claus be given more publicity than in the past.
 Dave Lee, a guest, showed a film on Sawtooth mountain wild flowers.

School Talk Is Given at Rotary Meet

SHOSHONE, Jan. 16 — A talk on schools, particularly high school curriculum and activity, was given by John Sears, Jerome, retired teacher, at the Rotary club meeting Wednesday in the Memorial building.
 Leon Grieve, program chairman, introduced the speaker. During the business meeting, conducted by Francis Bergin, announcement was made that Rotary signs had been erected at the four entrances to Shoshone. Guests were Maj. Jim Chinn, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Con Hatmaker, and Robert Collier, Boise.
 The birthday song was sung by the group to Gregory Exner and contribution made to the birthday fund by his father, Vernon Exner.

U.S. Economy Slows During Last Quarter

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The U.S. economy slowed during the fourth quarter of 1964 but still ended the year at record levels, the commerce department reported yesterday.
 The advance in gross national product (GNP) during the last three months of the year was only five billion dollars, compared to gains of nearly 10 billion dollars a quarter earlier.
 GNP is the term economists use to describe the nation's total output of goods and services.

Main cause of the fourth quarter slowdown was the automobile industry strikes in October and early November. Aside from that, the U.S. economy moved forward "at about the same rate" as earlier in the year, the department said.
 But home building was off a quarter-billion dollars and net exports declined by a half-billion as Americans increased their purchases abroad faster than foreigners stepped up their buying in the United States.
 The fourth-quarter advance brought the gross national product for the year as a whole to 622 billion dollars, an increase of 38 billion dollars, or six and one-half percent over 1963. Disinflationary price increases, the economy scored a gain of nearly five percent.

State Agencies Have Jobs Open

GLEN JENKINS CHEVROLET

FOR OVER half a century Edgar Olmstead, Twin Falls, has been attending Twin Falls Canal company annual meetings. Olmstead has not missed an annual meeting since 1910. His son, Tom Olmstead is a member of the board. (Times-News photo).

T. E. Farmer Attends Meet 55th Year

Edgar H. Olmstead, route one, Twin Falls, could well qualify as historian of the Twin Falls Canal company. Each year the company holds an annual meeting of stockholders and since 1910 Olmstead has attended every meeting. That's over a half century of perfect attendance. Olmstead settled on the Twin Falls tract in 1909 and has watched the progress of the tract and the canal company since that first year.

Evidently his interest has paid off as one of his sons, Tom Olmstead, is a member of the canal company board of directors. The other sons, Ralph and Neil, have been active in a number of community and state affairs. Tom Olmstead has been president of the Idaho Reclamation association.

The Olmsteads, father and sons, all operate farms about three miles southeast of Twin Falls and live within a stone's throw of each other. The elder Olmstead has since retired from active farming, but he still finds time to irrigate.

Olmstead has observed hundreds of changes in irrigation, farm practices, and canal company procedures. Fifty years ago not too many people knew too much about irrigation and in the early days of the tract irrigation was learned, not taught.

Bill Introduced

BOISE, Jan. 16 (UPI)—A bill that would make it illegal to solicit the sale of spectacles or other ophthalmic materials in Idaho was introduced in the senate.

The measure would make it illegal to solicit the sale of spectacles and related articles by radio, television, newspaper window display, telephone or other directory display advertising.

The act does not prohibit, however, the use of "ethical education publicity by legally qualified health groups or the customary, ethical use of professional cards or notices."
