SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

A strong high still is centered over Idaho. Pressures are falling at a moderate rate over the Pacific coastal states as a weak front or pressure trough moves toward the coast. This system will continue an eastward movement, weakening the high over the intermountain region, and bring in considerable cloudiness and scattered light precipitation over southern Idaho tonight and Wednesday. This system is expected to be too weak to scour out the fog which continues widespread, from the lower Muirhead valley through Magic Valley, but can cause an appreciable decrease or lifting of the fog tonight and tomorrow. Thursday's outlook is for high pressure to strengthen again over this area, with fog probably increasing again.

Valley fog has held temperatures nearly constant during the past 24 hours in Magic Valley, with highs yesterday in the upper 20s and low 30s and lows last night mostly in the mid 20s.

The GOP members of the house passed over his choice for a much-sought after seat on the house ways and means committee, Ford's opponent, Charles Goodell of New York. But GOP committee on committees chose Rep. James F. Batta, Mont.

This was Ford's second defeat since he took over the leadership post from Rep. Charles Halleck, Ind. Earlier, he lost out in a drive to make Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen, N. J., house whip.

Some committee sources said the Batta victory was not so much a rebuke to Ford as it was a reflection of Western oil and mining interest which reportedly were concerned that an Eastern addition to the tax-writing committee might weaken support for the mineral depletion allowance.

county delegation to the Idaho legislature. Each solon reported briefly on the activities of his committee, but by and large each felt it was too early in the session to give definite answers to specific questions.

Arthur Kleinkopf, assistant superintendent of Twin Falls schools, was the first individual to query the Twin Falls delegation and his question concerned the teacher cost ratio in the proposed education bill.

Rep. Ray Lincoln told Kleinkopf it appears likely this phase of the program will be left out.

State Sen. George Blick told the group there is more harmony in proposed state legislation concerning urban redevelopment.

William Lanting said the goal of the legislators is to provide some tax relief and reform despite the large budget requested by the governor.

"We are not going to forget reform and relief," he told the group.

In another issue, Lincoln said the education committee had put a bill to boost Boise junior college to four-year status.

The memorial on reapportionment received considerable comment. Roberts told the group the governor doesn't have to approve the memorial. It will go to Washington.

On the national level, Hansen said reapportionment is being discussed throughout the congress, but at present it appears to be a "headless thing." He said he expects more action now that committee assignments have been made.

Between telephone calls, former Twin Falls county legislators Carl Irwin and Harry Turner interpreted many of the comments by the county delegation for the benefit of the group.

Smylie Talks With GOP Leaders

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP) — President Johnson's indulgent giving Republicans an opportunity for a round of informal summit talks between the party's governors, congressional chiefs and other leaders.

One of the first to arrive for the formalities crowning the Democratic election triumph and behind-the-scenes GOP talks was Idaho's Gov. Robert Smylie, chairman of the GOP governors' association.

He met yesterday with the new Republican leader in the house, Gerald Ford of Michigan, and confers today with senate leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Smylie said he also hopes to talk with Ray Bliss, who has agreed to become national party chairman when Dean Burch steps down April 1.

After his meeting with Ford, Smylie indicated he will try to take advantage of the gathering of top Republicans to set the stage for this week-end meeting of the Republican national committee in Chicago.

The meeting had been shaping up as a showdown between Gold-water forces and the liberal-moderate wing of the party, but lost its promise of thunder when Burch announced he will resign. Smylie feels that with that conference would keep the platform up to date. "As it is now it is obsolete almost as soon as it is drafted," he said.

Smylie added that Ford was very "cooperative and receptive" to his ideas in having these Republican conferences.

Helicopter Role in Viet Nam Fighting Steadily Increases

SAIGON, Viet Nam, Jan. 19 (AP) — Helicopter warfare in Viet Nam, which has introduced such terms as gun ship, slick, heliift, ho-borne, and eagle flight into the military vocabulary, appears to be playing an even bigger role in the fighting here.

The strength of U.S. army operations, which runs the operation of some 500 helicopters and several aircraft in South Viet Nam, has doubled in the past year, according to a military spokesman.

There has been a steady increase in the role of the helicopter in ferrying Vietnamese ground troops into action, in providing support with machinegun and rocket fire, in evacuating wounded and in performing liaison missions since the first American H-21 "Bananas" arrived here years ago.

The H-21 has been gradually replaced by the faster and more versatile Huey-B "Huey."

When the helicopters were first introduced they caught the Viet Cong guerrilla formations off guard and for several months spread havoc in their ranks.

Little by little, however, the Viet Cong have worked various tactics to deal with the helicopter attacks. They have modified machineguns into anti-aircraft weapons and have even devised ingenious "early warning" systems protecting their main bases by digging conical devices that echo the whirring of approaching rotor blades.

Recently, American helicopter pilots have reported being shot at by 50 caliber machineguns fitted with specially fabricated sights. They have also reported the increased use of tracer ammunition.

However, so far the Viet Cong have not used any regular anti-aircraft cannon against helicopters or army aircraft, the spokesman said.

American helicopters so far in the war have received an average of one hit from Viet Cong ground fire for every 353 sorties flown. One helicopter has been shot down for every 5,565 sorties flown, and one destroyed for every 18,686 sorties flown.

According to the military spokesman, the number of assault helicopter missions in Viet Nam more than doubled from the last six months of 1963 to the last six months of 1964.

The spokesman said the use of helicopters had recently shown greater efficiency in the support of ground operations because of improved communications between helicopters and regular air force aircraft carrying out strikes on common targets.

Heart Group Asks for 300 Volunteers

The Twin Falls Heart Association needs 300 volunteers to carry the Heart Sunday canvass which will be conducted through the weekend of Feb. 28. The high point of the 1965 Heart fund drive is Heart Sunday, Feb. 21.

Mrs. V. M. Patrick, who has been named chairman of the local Heart Sunday drive, appealed to the residents of Twin Falls to volunteer their services for the door-to-door collection throughout the residential sections. Applicants may register at the Colonial motel, telephone 739-3684 or Kenneth Rayhorn at 733-5234, area captain, or Mrs. Ruth Wilson at 733-5234.

When the canvass has been completed the Heart Sunday army will cover all of the residential sections by moving through the streets of February. Each volunteer will have about 20 neighbors or her immediate vicinity.

Heart fund volunteers serve a twofold purpose, the chairman said. They serve as educational ambassadors, leaving at each home a leaflet containing information on how to reduce the risk of heart attack. Each volunteer will have materials and a kit for self-identification so results should be certain. The official volunteer certificate will be given their Heart Sunday contribution.

Tax Spotlight

Perhaps more than anyone realized, the current session of the Idaho legislature will be the biggest factor in gaining new industry for the state.

The governor's recommendations calculated to improve Idaho's image so far as industry is concerned include (1) reduction of rate of tax on personal incomes in higher brackets in which industry executives would fall.

Perhaps these recommendations wouldn't fulfill all the wishes of an industry looking for another site, but they go farther than Idaho has ever gone.

Tax revision has been urged for several years by Idahoans who realized that Idaho's jerry-built tax structure is not attractive to outside industry.

However, the governor had more in mind than just the possibility of industrial expansion in Idaho.

Even in his recommendation for a sales tax, which he recommended should be all inclusive with "appropriate exemption for items used as a means of production."

It's pretty hard to argue effectively against the tax stand taken by Governor Smylie. He knows the importance of revising the state's tax structure for the benefit of industry and he's quite aware that taxes can work a hardship among those persons with low income.

Regardless of what the legislature finally gets around to doing about Mr. Smylie's recommendations, it's already assured that Idaho will be in the tax spotlight in the next few weeks.

PLAN FOR FARMERS

The Idaho Farm Bureau federation has made it official by outlining its "broad-based income tax" plan to the house revenue and taxation committee.

The Farm Bureau proposal moved one Boise political writer to check with the internal revenue service and learn that farmers' income tax return is "far less than the average" and "many farmers do not pay a penny of state income tax."

It should be abundantly clear that the income tax proposals of the Farm Bureau are nothing more or less than a proposal to increase state revenue with the least possible impact on the farmer.

WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—It is a happy commentary on a people often accused of not taking an interest in their government...

Yet it seems incredible there should be so many misconceptions about the bill. From Boston to San Francisco, readers are terrified at the thought the plan either will tax them into the poorhouse or turn them over to a bunch of strange and callous doctors.

Other readers want to know how much the plan would cost the employer. The answer is $15.20 a year for the worker earning $4,000, to $21.28 a year for the citizen earning $5,600 or more.

Nonretired may benefit. For example, the reader who asks whether a person 65 or over who is still working would be eligible for the benefits. The answer is yes; retirement is not a condition for participation.

Other readers want to know how much the plan would cost the employer. The answer is $15.20 a year for the worker earning $4,000, to $21.28 a year for the citizen earning $5,600 or more.

Can't private insurance cheaper? asks another reader. Not unless premiums have been reduced overnight. It isn't. Private insurance companies don't offer a plan identical with the Administration's hospital-care program.

Chose own doctor. "I'm very fond of my doctor," writes a lady from Sioux Falls, S.D. "He has attended my family for 30 years. I don't want to be forced to go to some strange doctor."

From Miami, a suspicious banker gloomily predicts that medicare would encourage hypochondriacs. "The hospitals would be full of malingerers getting something for nothing," he complains.

Calls it "socialized medicine." "Cut out the double-tax," growls a doctor from Chicago. "Medicare is just another label for socialized medicine. You're wrong, doc. Aside from the fact the patient would continue to choose his own physician, medicare would provide no direct health care and no direct health services."

In Oklahoma City, a lady is concerned because she isn't covered by social security. "I'd be left in the cold," she mourns. She wouldn't. All out persons 65 or over would be covered, whether or not they have contributed to social security.

The reputation of the general sales tax is that of an onerous levy which weighs heaviest on low-income workers and their families. But hard fact realities are forcing several states with the largest wage-earning populations to consider imposing sales taxes when their legislatures meet.

New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts, as well as Idaho, are tending toward this form of taxation. They are among the 13 states which have held out against a statewide sales tax.

Gov. Elect. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts credits his firm stand in favor of a sales tax with being a major factor in his reelection. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York declared on Jan. 3 that he was "definitely still considering" a statewide sales levy to close a $500 million dollar budget gap in the 1965-66 fiscal year.

Perhaps the image of the sales tax has been maligned all along. Some of the purchase tax inequity can be softened by exempting certain basic goods like food and medicine from its application. Many people find it far less painful to pay a large sum of tax with each retail purchase than to dig up large lump-sum payments for state income taxes.

Regardless of what the legislature finally gets around to doing about Mr. Smylie's recommendations, it's already assured that Idaho will be in the tax spotlight in the next few weeks.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

By MARQUIS CHILDS
HARBOR ISLAND, The Bahamas, Jan. 19—A part of America's affluence is spilling over into these beautiful islands...

Close to the American mainland. An investment of several hundred million dollars in tourism industry is going into Grand Bahama alone.

The Bahamas legislature has authorized the big Lucaya development on that island. Only 70 Marquis Childs miles from Florida it will include what is claimed to be the largest single development in this beautiful group.

There are two popularly bargains and a go at the roulette wheel. For the Eastern seaboard it is a lot closer than Las Vegas.

One obvious reason for a 67 per cent increase here in tourists in less than three years is Cuba. A part of the tourist trade that once meant so much for Cuba's economy is now headed this way.

Many Americans escaping from the overcrowded shores of the mainland are finding refuge in the still-half-empty out islands with their unspoiled beauty.

Cuba can serve as an object lesson for the Bahamas. The spillover of American affluence helped prepare the way for Castro.

Actually, there's little room for comparison between the long corruption of Cuba and the still and unimaginative colonialism of the British prevailing through an interlude of drowsy centuries.

In his state of the union message President Johnson said of America: "It is a land of opportunity and hope. It is a land of abundance and affluence."

Sharpening the dilemma of vast mass of have-nots at the present moment is the state of the commodity market. Prices are rising, coffee and sugar are prime examples.

When the ozone-producing lamps are used it is necessary to protect the eyes from their light at all times. These lamps put out ultraviolet light of wave lengths.

UV rays of long wave length (3,000 to 4,000 angstrom units) become less injurious to the eyes as the wave length creeps.

I assume that this is the light of which you have been working. As stated in previous columns, the manual of a usually prints warning about improper use of his lamp. These warnings should be read.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—I'm ready to meet my Maker. Winston Churchill said...

He knew how unpopular it made him, but this never stopped him. Nobody ever summed up better the lifetime attitude of most people toward him until he took command of the war against Hitler in 1940 than Churchill himself.

Words he used to express his feelings about Barry Hopkins back in the 1940's became a description of himself in the 1960's. Churchill and Hopkins, special emissary of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, had become feuding enemies.

But they bent history to serve their own ends. I maintain plumpness can be patriotic. Take for example the little boy who saved Holland by putting his finger in the hole in the dike.

Mark Twain once said he had no difficulty in giving up smoking, and added: "I've done it a thousand times."

What to do about it, given the enormous disparity between the few on the plateau and the mass in the gulf below, is the greatest single dilemma of the present age. Foreign aid is not more than a palliative. To believe that the line can be held in Viet Nam or anywhere else with American bombs and American guns is to live in the dream of the past. This is the dream of the Pasha, the British Raj. It is the dream of a simpler era of order-keeping before the transistor radio and the nuclear bomb.

The truth is that bombs in this area are not the equivalent of the British gunboat and the show force that promptly quieted natives.

On the sunny, almost-empty shore with the wide sweep of ocean where this is written, it is hard to believe that any approximation of the American dilemma exists in the Bahamas. But a black population with high annual net gain in numbers has long subsisted here, the top they are beginning to come into their own as the colonialism is shown away.

Sharpening the dilemma of vast mass of have-nots at the present moment is the state of the commodity market. Prices are rising, coffee and sugar are prime examples.

When the ozone-producing lamps are used it is necessary to protect the eyes from their light at all times. These lamps put out ultraviolet light of wave lengths.

UV rays of long wave length (3,000 to 4,000 angstrom units) become less injurious to the eyes as the wave length creeps.

I assume that this is the light of which you have been working. As stated in previous columns, the manual of a usually prints warning about improper use of his lamp. These warnings should be read.

The Doctor Says

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—Our son had to pay an extra premium for insurance because of albumin in the urine.

But our own doctor didn't find albumin. Does this condition vary from time to time? If there any treatment?

A—Albumin may be found in the urine of persons with nephritis (Bright's disease), heart disease with waterlogging, leukemia, purpura, scurvy and poisoning with mercury, lead, turpentine and other chemicals.

Although in these conditions albumin in the urine is usually persistent, it will clear up when the cause is removed.

There is another condition, called "orthostatic albuminuria" or proteinuria, which affects about 75 per cent of young men in their late teens and early 20's.

In such men a specimen taken immediately on arising in the morning will not show albumin. After being up and around for several hours, especially in a standing rather than a sitting position, albumin will appear. This is most pronounced in persons with a forward curvature of the spine. This is no threat to health but insurance companies go great lengths to be on the safe side.

In a recent column stated that exposure to ultraviolet light would damage eyes. I have worked under a light for nearly 30 years without any eye damage. How do you explain that?

A—There are four general types of UV lamp; those that give a suntan but do not produce ozone, black lamps for their ability at night which like produce no ozone, germ-killing lamps which produce very large amounts of ozone depending their wattage, and ozone which produce large amounts of ozone.

When the ozone-producing lamps are used it is necessary to protect the eyes from their light at all times. These lamps put out ultraviolet light of wave lengths.

UV rays of long wave length (3,000 to 4,000 angstrom units) become less injurious to the eyes as the wave length creeps.

The best East-West game have heard about arose at South opened with a spade two club bid to indicate an overcall with two spades East jumped to four. South's two club bid had no effect. He had no way of showing both his suits and jumped to six clubs. West had the good sense to pass and South had to lose two clubs and a heart for down two.

The saddest story of the tournament was that of one player whose opponent apparently had some prejudice against club suit and bidding proceeded two-bids. The bidding proceeded as shown in the box until South was doubled seven times. Needless to say South finished against East's king and his grand slam doubled.

The announcement was made by Robert E. Housel, one of the group's six incorporators, who said it favors gambling to bring in new state revenue. Gov. Robert E. Housel called the incorporators "funny money boys" when incorporation was announced and legislators denounced the group. Housel said the membership drive in 18 counties was planned at a meeting last night at which the incorporators elected Philip W. Jungwirth, Lewiston, as their president. Housel was elected secretary-treasurer. He said, and the four others were elected vice presidents. They are Ben Pederson, Coeur d'Alene; Albert Abromelt, Sandpoint; Guy R. Bradley, Boise, and Dean J. Curtis, Pocatello.

Highlights of President's Defense Message Are Listed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—Highlights of President Johnson's defense message to congress:

New Weapons
Development to begin this year on Poseidon, a submarine-launched nuclear missile twice as powerful as the latest model Polaris and more accurate. Also a new short-range attack missile, Bram, to be fired from B52 bombers at a far greater number of targets from beyond the range of their defenses.

Work also to start on devices to help missiles penetrate any defenses; guidance and reentry vehicle designs to increase effectiveness of missiles against various targets, and methods of reporting arrival of missiles on target, including time of explosion.

Spending
Defense spending in the 12 months starting July 1 estimated at 49 billion dollars. This would be 300 million dollars less than estimate for current year, and roughly 23 billion dollars less than spending the year ended last June 30.

Nuclear Power
The United States has more than 100 land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles, more than 900 Polaris missiles in submarines and more than 900 strategic bombers, half of them ready to take off within 15 minutes.

Bombers
More than 300 million dollars will be sought to improve the B52 bomber while eliminating two squadrons of the older B57B models. Development would continue for engines and other systems for an advanced aircraft "should the need arise" for a new manned bomber.

Missile Defense
Development will continue for an advanced Nike-X anti-missile system to permit deployment "should the national security require." But without fallout shelters for Americans, "all defense weapons lose much of their effectiveness in saving lives."

Personnel
Military pay and education fa-

...tion will be reviewed. The army will begin a pilot program in military training, education and physical rehabilitation for 10,000 volunteers who failed to meet mental or physical induction standards.

Foreign Policy
"We shall continue to honor our commitments in Viet Nam," and "we shall continue to support the legitimate government" in Laos. "We invite our NATO allies to work with us in developing better methods for mutual consultation and joint strategic study."

Elias Succeeds Hardin As Head Coach at Navy, Signs One-Year Contract

Elias' appointment to a one-year contract was announced by Capt. William S. Busik, director of athletics. The terms were not disclosed but Busik said Elias' salary would be in the vicinity of that paid Hardin, who reportedly was making $19,000 a year.

Allyn Hits Commissioner Frick for Allowing Braves to Move to Atlanta

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 19 (AP)—New opposition to the Braves' shift to Atlanta in 1966 has been voiced by Chicago White Sox owner Arthur Allyn, who says he will ask other American league owners to join him in requesting that baseball commissioner Ford Frick order the club to stay in Milwaukee.

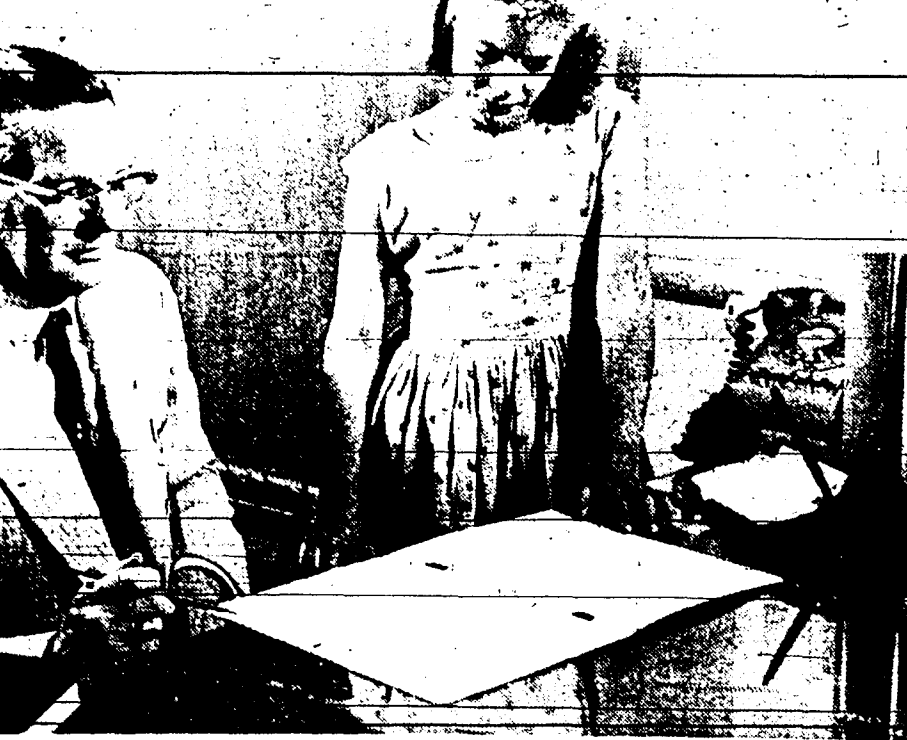

Allyn said his first requests were "made" at major league meetings in Phoenix, Ariz., and Houston, Tex.

"I fought for it each time and tried to get the commissioner to squash the move but he wasn't about to do anything about it," Allyn said.

He continued that Frick didn't need the new powers granted him recently to spike the transfer.

"He had them all along but just hid behind the rules," Allyn said. "Actually, all that was changed was one word. The old rule said the commissioner should act only when the situation is detrimental to baseball. Now it's phrased 'in the best interests.' He could have acted before, instead of claiming he was hamstrung."
