

GOP Must Earn Voters' Respect, Solon Says Here

By ROBIN TIBBETS

Rep. Gerald Ford, R., Mich., told more than 350 Magic Valley residents Monday night that the Republican party must earn the respect of the voters of America "with our hands and our minds." Speaking at the annual Magic Valley Lincoln day banquet in the Twin Falls American Legion hall, Representative Ford cautioned the Republicans attending the no-host dinner to not blame themselves "or anyone else for what happened in 1964." He said, "We're here tonight because we ought to do a little soul searching. I think we're here because we believe the Republican cause is right, and in addition, I think we're here because we believe the Republican party will win."

Indonesians Protest U.S. Air Strikes

JAKARTA, Feb. 16 (UPI)—An estimated 20,000 anti-American demonstrators marched on the U. S. embassy yesterday, Indonesian police kept the mob away from the building.

The Indonesian government said it took over the nearby U. S. information service (USIS) library "temporarily" when the demonstrators, diverted from the embassy, tried to storm the library. The building was closed for the time.

The demonstration was sponsored by the government's national front in protest of the U. S. military air raids against communist North Viet Nam last week. The crowd burned effigies of President Johnson and Uncle Sam, who was holding an atomic bomb, and also an effigy of Indonesian Premier Tengku Abdul Rahman. Indonesian President Sukarno has vowed to "crush" the Malaysian federation.

In Washington, state department spokesmen said the United States planned a "strong" protest over yesterday's demonstration. They said the Indonesian authorities "did not provide full protection or prevent the crowd from getting into the library. The library and cultural center had been sacked by another mob last December but the rioting shortly afterward."

U.S. Orbits Satellite To Probe Meteoroids

CAPE KENNEDY, Feb. 16 (UPI)—A mighty Saturn-1 super rocket today orbited a bat-like "spacebuster" satellite with giant wings to measure the hazards tiny meteoroids pose to moonships. The 188-foot booster, America's most powerful, thundered into the sky at 9:37 a.m. EST in the opener of a two-part nationally televised space spectacular to be followed Wednesday by a Ranger moonshot. About 11 minutes after the fiery blastoff, space agency spokesmen said Saturn-1 had scored its eighth straight success by propelling the heaviest U. S. scientific satellite into orbit.

China May Have Second Nuclear Test

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (UPI)—The United States has evidence that communist China is now actively preparing for its second nuclear test, official sources said today.

They said that while the evidence was not conclusive, it indicated the blast could be detonated within a few days or several weeks.

If so, it would come in the midst of a stepped-up confrontation with Asian communists over recent U. S. bombings in North Viet Nam. Its effect on that confrontation would be hard to gauge.

Red China detonated her first nuclear explosion last Oct. 16, a test device said to have been short of an actually deliverable A-bomb.

Western intelligence had been aware of preparations for that test well in advance. Secretary of State Dean Rusk made this knowledge public Sept. 29 in a move to soften world psychological impact.

U. S. sources said they now have received "some signs" that the same kind of preparatory "countdown" noted in September is now under way again. There was always the possibility technical difficulties might long delay a planned test.

Supreme Court Justice Spends Nine Hours on Steep, Icy Mountain Trail

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 16 (UPI)—Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas stepped down from a shaky rescue pony right exhausted and bruised after nine bound hours on a steep mountain trail.

Looking back at the 10,000-foot Sandia mountain peak, he said the experience part of a "beautiful trip" and promised he would tackle it again some day.

Douglas, 67, rode the surreal mountain, now-out of the clouds where he said three days hiking by the pre-arranged switchback trail and sharp switchbacks from an earlier trail.

Smylie Raps Farm Bureau Tax, Ford Predicts Gains by GOP

Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie Monday night called the Farm Bureau tax proposal a "massive increase" on the income of the small wage earner, and Michigan Rep. Gerald Ford, house minority leader, predicted an increase of "at least 40 cents" in the congress for the Republican party, as local, state and national GOP leaders held a formal press conference before the opening of the Lincoln day banquet here Monday night in the American Legion hall.

Over $400 Taken In Store Burglary

Nelson, who discovered the burglary, said entrance was gained by breaking the lock on the rear

Mob Riots in Saigon; Reds Stage Attacks

SAIGON, Feb. 16 (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops fired yesterday into an anti-government mob of 2,000 persons that stormed a district headquarters near the big northern base of Da Nang, reports reaching here said.

The reported mob action coincided with a sudden upsurge of communist military activity. Red guerrillas launched at least three major attacks north of Saigon, killing 25 government soldiers and wounding two Americans.

Three other Americans were injured in a helicopter crash. Seventy government militiamen vanished in one clash.

"THANK YOU, CALL AGAIN," sign on the rear door of Sav-Mor Drug store, 137 Main avenue west, apparently has served its purpose. The drugstore was broken into Monday night and between $400 and $500 was taken. An employee of the store said this is the third time the store has been burglarized in the last couple of years. Twin Falls Police Sgt. Francis Ashcraft is inspecting the door. (Times-News photo)

Measure to Repeal Discount on Case Liquor Is Crushed

BOISE, Feb. 16 (UPI)—The house crushed 52-20 today a bill to repeal the five per cent discount on case lot purchases of liquor received by liquor by the drink licensees. Only Rep. Carl R. Burt, R., Ada, spoke for the bill which he said was an attempt to prevent the discount from climbing to 10 per cent from five. He also argued it would return $500,000 to the general fund. There was no other debate although Speaker Pete T. Cenarrusa, R., Blaine, had to gavel down an argument developing between Burt and Rep. Edward V. Williams, D., Nez Perce, after Williams became dissatisfied with Burt's answer to a question.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (UPI)—Authorities seized three men and a woman today and charged them with plotting to dynamite the Statue of Liberty, the Liberty Bell and the Washington monument. Three of those arrested were identified as members of extremist groups. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said all four were charged with conspiring to dynamite the three structures—traditional symbols of liberty and freedom in the United States. The arrests of the three Negro men and one white woman were made by FBI agents and New York City police.

It was pointed out the workshop was held at this time, while information concerning income tax returns is fresh in the farmer's minds. Each section of the income tax forms was discussed. Monday's two-hour session was called to order by Ivan Hopkins, Lincoln county farm agent, who introduced the speaker.

The commission then passed ordinances 1265, 1266 and 1267—the annual appropriation bill, the tax levy ordinance and the salary ordinance. NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

SAIGON, Feb. 16—Possibly the time has come to put certain of our capitalists doing business abroad on the public payroll as unofficial ambassadors. U.S. diplomats are not inattentive to the care and feeding of the casual tourist, but in times of crisis it is the free enterprise who take over as kindly uncle, bodyguard, handyman and valet.
A name that comes to mind without undue brow-furrowing is a little-known man named Tom Bready. Pan American World Airways manager here, Bready, who possesses a splendid wife named Glenda and three lively daughters, sets a good table. But mostly Americans look to him for succor in moments of emergency.
Since Saigon is technically a war zone—a city surrounded by the enemy—the tourist is not bursting with confidence when he arrives at Tan Son Nhut airport. Aside from the official botherations of entering a foreign land, there is the fear—usually unjustified—that some pajama-clad Viet Cong will shoot an illegal hole in his head.

PERSONAL ESCORT—Thus Bready was understanding the afternoon he met an arriving VIP from the States who was convinced the Viet Cong was after him with at least a 75 millimeter recoilless rifle. "Do you have a gun?" he asked Bready as the two settled in Bready's car for the trip into town. Bready said he was unarmed. "Then get one," ordered the VIP, "or I stay right here."
Bready left and returned several minutes later with a jacket pocket bulging ominously. The ride to the hotel was uneventful, and at the door of the hotel Bready handed the VIP a "That gun," he said, "made all the difference in the world."
Bready waited until he was back in the car before removing his pipe from his pocket.

NO TASTER, SHE—There is, too, the tourist's preoccupation with the food hygiene. He is not going to eat any of that germ-flavored native grub. Usually Bready allays this fear by taking the visitor to dinner and tasting each dish for him. But there was the lady on a three-day stopover who flatly refused to patronize the local potamine palaces.
"Find me a good American home," she commanded. Bready did. For the next three days the lady assuaged her hunger pangs at the Bready table, deriving cautious nourishment from a diet of poached eggs three times a day.

COLD CONGRESSMAN—However, peril and embarrassment lurk in the life of the Good Samaritan, as Bready found out during an hour's acquaintance with a touring Washington legislator who arrived during a Saigon cold snap. Bready sat him down and hurried to Pan-Am's airport office where he picked up a topcoat owned by his airport man.
With the transient legislator bundled against the chill, Bready went off to adjust the man's ticket. He returned less than five minutes later to find his airport man grappling with the "thief" and demanding the return of his topcoat.
A few weeks later, the politician regaled an audience in a midwestern hamlet with a blood-curdling account of his stay in dangerous Saigon.

Views of Others

THE HIGHWAY DISGRACE
Americans have often shaken their heads when they have read of floods in China, famine in India and told themselves that they should feel more keenly the plight of their fellow men. Often they have told themselves that such disasters would make a greater impression on them, were they nearer home.

But would they? Each year the United States heedlessly accepts a disaster of gigantic magnitude without any real effort to prevent it. This disaster is the highway toll. And it is growing steadily worse. In 1964 an estimated 48,000 persons were killed in automobile mishaps on American highways. Since the first horseless carriage appeared, more than 60,000,000 Americans have been killed or maimed in or by automobiles.
Worst of all, there is a fatality, a carelessness, a stupidity about highway mishaps which adds to the national disgrace. Neither private citizens nor public bodies have shown a willingness to take the drastic steps which cry out to be taken and which could greatly reduce the highway death toll. Until there is a willingness—indeed, a demand—that something be done, this disgrace must be on everyone's conscience.
Fortunately, there are signs of an awakening of this conscience. Various churchly voices are being raised against the highway slaughter. Several years ago the Vatican, apparently appalled by the high accident rate on Italian roads, issued a strong statement against careless driving. The Protestant Episcopal church in New Hampshire has called upon churches to play a more active role in promoting highway safety.

Now the general services administration, the purchasing agent for the federal States government, has drawn up a list of 17 safety devices which it wishes to see included on the cars it will buy next year for the government. It is expected that this will put push behind similar efforts at the state level.
In the end, however, more safety devices on cars are only a small part of the problem. Central to a solution is a desire on the part of society to end the disgrace. When such a desire comes, it will generate enough pressure to see that adequate laws are passed and enforced, that reckless drivers are outlawed, and that good drivers are rewarded.

NOT DOCUMENTED YET
Sen. Frank Church's indictment of the John Birch Society and the radical right in recent speeches and writings make some telling points on extremism.
But some of his argument finds himself hanging an albatross on his own neck as well as the extremist.
Senator Church likes to point to the telltale convulsions of extremism in incidents during the past election campaign. Some of these are the threats which Cong. Ralph Harding received, and the tire slashing and sugar-gassing of cars belonging to Harding backers.
These questions immediately come to mind:
How can Senator Church be so sure that all of the vehemence he attributes to the right extremists was not done by just plain vandals or mentally-warped neuter-gender of any kind?
How does he account for similar tactics against those espousing the conservative cause, too, here and there?
Admittedly, the radical extremists were just that side of both sides. The right wing is only newer, a response to the radical left.
But Senator Church not bothering to distinguish between the Birchers and the true conservatives, is anxious about America's "menace from the right." There is menace, from the left, too, which the senator chooses to overlook.
The golden mean in America will only be made more golden by the disgusting tactics of the past election or any other. Could be that Senator Church sees a few conspiratorial mirages himself. Idaho Falls Post-Register.

WAS IT FUN?

Dear Sir:
I took a plunge in the stock market. I raised every penny I could get my hands on, mortgaged our house to the hilt, sold the family car and borrowed every cent anyone would loan me. Then I put every cent of all the dough into a stock that was selling for two bits a share.

Well, to make a long story short, the stock went up to $150 a share and I sold out, making plenty of dough. But what a fight I found myself in with the internal revenue people! They wanted me to pay off at least half the national debt.

Well, sir, I went round and round with them and finally woke up, just as poor as I've always been. I even looked carefully in my billfold, thinking I might have kept a few thousand of it, but nary a penny.

Pot Shots:
This is our first winter in Twin Falls, and I'll admit quite readily most of it has been a pleasant surprise, particularly where the weather is concerned. We thought, being this close to Sun Valley, that snow would pile way up and stay for a long time. There has been some snow in Twin Falls, but not as much as we found in Michigan, for example.

There's only one drawback to the winter weather. Can't someone do something about shutting off that wind? The weather hasn't been so awfully cold, but that wind blows right through your bones. Or if there wasn't any wind to speak of, would that mean the snow would be deeper here?

Interpreting the News

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Johnson administration's reasoning in dealing with the North Vietnamese communists goes like this: If a guy belts you, belt him back in the hope you'll knock some sense in his head.

If it doesn't work of course, it could mean a long, bruising battle, but the policy isn't new. President Johnson made it all plain last year. He's just following it up harder now and then.

When communist PT boats attacked American destroyers last August in the Gulf of Tonkin, Johnson ordered navy planes to bomb some North Vietnamese seacoast bases.

He gave this explanation to the nation on radio and television: "The determination of all Americans to carry out our full commitment to the people and government of South Vietnam will be redoubled by this outrage. Yet our response for the present will be limited and fitting."

"We Americans know, although others appear to forget, the risk of spreading conflict. We still seek no wider war." He asked congress to approve a resolution assuring him full support for "all necessary action to protect our armed forces."

He said: "The issue is the future of Southeast Asia as a whole. A threat to any nation in that region is a threat to all, and a threat to us. The United States intends no rashness and seeks no wider war."

Congress promptly approved, leaving Johnson free to do what he thought was needed. In the midst of all this, in a speech at Syracuse university, he said: "There can be no peace by aggression, no immunity from retribution."

This was in keeping with what he had said a short time before the PT boat attack: That he was willing to take "several paths" to peace but was "prepared to risk war" to preserve freedom.

To those who think the United States should get out of Vietnam altogether, Johnson gave a reply several times in 1963: Withdrawal was "strategically unwise and morally unthinkable." At the same time he said any enlargement of the war in Vietnam would be "reckless" although he left it unclear how

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Some facts and fables about famous folks:

Robert E. Lee, hero of the Confederacy, didn't like to be touched or to have anyone walk too closely behind him. George Washington rarely shook hands as U.S. President. Abraham Lincoln is never known to have owned a Chinese back-scratcher. James Garfield was the first "outhouse" elected to the White House.

Benjamin Franklin, the apostle of thrift, was sometimes overdrawn at the bank. Oscar Hammerstein drafted most of his song lyrics standing at an old-fashioned desk. In his old age, Mark Twain preferred to do his writing while in bed. Mary Roberts Rinehart used the same fountain pen for more than a quarter of a century to write her mystery novels.

Sigmund Freud was an inveterate cigar smoker. So was "Poker Alice." The gambling dame in frontier Deadwood, S.D., and Amy Lowell, the New England poetess, Emily Dickinson, were only white clothing the last years of her reclusive existence. Lord Byron in his youth drank wine from a skull to remind him of the transience of life. Lord Nelson, Britain's great naval hero, usually got seasick in stormy weather. Oliver Wendell Holmes carried a buckeye in his pocket to protect him from rheumatism. Author A. Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, believed strongly in spiritualism. Theodore Roosevelt's hobbies were bird watching, tennis, boxing and jujitsu. John Quincy Adams was expert at croquet. Bob Warren O. Harding and Harry S. Truman did well at poker. But when it came to pitching hay, riding the mechanical horse, swinging Indian clubs and performing on the harmonica, Calvin Coolidge was the presidential standout.

Jack Dempsey carried a battered old sweater to the ring as a good luck charm. Lefty Gomez refused to have his picture taken when he was warming up for a game. Primo Carnera was a sure he'd have one luck if anyone took a hat on his hotel bed. Manager John J. McGraw of the New York Giants sometimes wrote a religious organization for guidance if his baseball team was having a losing streak. Ernest Hemingway knocked on wood or rubbed a rabbit's foot.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 16—The handsome, silver-haired governor of this state, George W. Romney, has been around the country making Lincoln's birthday speeches as though his political life depended on it. This is another example of the former automobile man's foresightedness.

Romney knows full well that President Johnson and the war in Viet Nam just Marquis Childs, now hold the center of the stage. No matter what he said in his five speeches in five widely separated parts of the country, he is unlikely to make national news. But he can foresee a time when the credits he is building up will be money in the political bank.

The governor was irritated by a commentator from the East, who, after talking with him, had Romney with his hat already in the presidential ring. This says the governor, is not only premature but an exaggeration of his present posture. The next presidential election is a long way off, and Romney has some important decisions to make in 1968 that will determine his future.

But it takes no crystal ball to see the turn events can take. Romney's potential. He has a family resemblance to Dwight D. Eisenhower. There is the same idealism above the squalid considerations of practical politics. If he performs in his second term as governor as well as in his first two years he will have made himself even more of a national figure.

Against this background the odds are that he will run for the senate in '68. Patrick V. McNamara, Democrat, serving his second term, will be up for reelection. When McNamara begins that year McNamara will be 72. While this is no old by senate standards, his uncertain health in 1960 started a debate over whether he should seek another six years.

In the event that the conflict in Viet Nam should become long and futile stalemate, spreading into Red China perhaps, the Republicans would have the kind of opportunity they had in 1961. Here, as the GOP propaganda had it, both 1952 and 1954, was another "Democratic war." Romney, standing apart from all the other pros and cons of the conflict, would be well situated to carry the Republican banner.

He has a second option to next year. That is to run for election to a third term as governor. Under a change in Michigan's constitution he would be reelected, get a four-year term instead of the present two-year term. He would, therefore, be an official with an impressive record and an effective sounding board at the time of the Republican convention in 1968. In this respect he has a great advantage over Gov. William W. Scrantom of Pennsylvania who under his state's constitution cannot run for reelection. Nor is there a separate seat up in Pennsylvania in '68.

In contrast to Eisenhower, who has never been noted for his grasp of practical politics, Romney proved last fall that he knew how to play the game. He reacted up in a state in which organized labor is so important a part of the most impressive single Republican win in the country. As exception might be Gov. John H. Chafee who won reelection in normally Democratic Rhode Island by a handsome majority.

Just before Nov. 3 Romney was saying that if Lyndon Johnson got a predicted majority of 260,000 to 200,000, Romney would sink him. Johnson carried the state by well over one million votes. Yet Romney came out with a majority of 382,000 to 218,000.

He did it by reaching out to the "silent majority" of voters who are not in the limelight of the news. When a Republican candidate was speaking in one corner of the state, Romney would be at the opposite corner. His percentage of the 1960 vote went up from 11.4 to 16.7 per cent.

Today Romney says that his party has made a good start in replacing Dean Rusk as chairman. It is only a start. It favors a meeting representative of Republican factions to be at some time in the spring. This would not be anything resembling a national convention, but it would bring together liberal moderates and conservatives to thresh out the issues in open session.

In the Romney view the importance of the Negro vote cannot be exaggerated. Therefore, he believes that the initial drive by the Republican party to invade the South with a broad approach to both races was the correct one. To identify the party with southern segregationists is fatal, the governor believes.

This was the long look about as the governor spoke at Lincoln day fund-raising dinner in Detroit, Boston, Minneapolis, Hartford, Conn., and Cincinnati. Va. But these shows are really placed from a Republican viewpoint. And for the eagle-beaver governor who runs a mile from the breakfast, rain or shine, the future is just around the corner.

NO-TRUMP BID ON FIVE CARDS
There was a time when a no-trump opening with a five card major suit was frowned upon, but that day seems to have gone by. At least in the world championship trials seven of nine South players opened one no-trump on today's hand.

In each instance the bidding proceeded as in the box. North's two club responses were the Stayman request to show a four or five card major suit and after South rebid two hearts each North player took his partner right to game.

There wasn't much to the play at four hearts. West cashed the ace and king of spades and shifted to a diamond. South went after trumps and lost a trick to the ace. Later he tried the club

Stop Winter Wrinkles

Use the colder months to give your skin a lovely bloom, but guard against dry wrinkles caused by the cold air. Even mildly crisp air causes the skin to contract, preventing protective oils from reaching the surface. Ask your druggist for tropical oil of olay and before you make-up, smooth it over your face, neck and hands. You will be amazed how quickly this moist oil will give the skin a peaches-and-cream loveliness, especially on cold days. Your druggist should be able to get you a supply.

POCATELLO, Feb. 16 (AP)—Residents around the national reactor testing station were urged yesterday to let their legislators know they favor a nuclear engineering program at Idaho State university. The appeal was made by Sen. Terry Swisher, R., Bannock. A bill authorizing ISU to begin a general engineering course passed the senate overwhelmingly Friday and has been sent to the house. "One firm alone on the desert is hiring 100 engineers a year and has to bring virtually all of them from outside Idaho," Swisher said. William Glinski, manager of the Idaho office of the atomic energy commission, suggested the program in a speech to the legislature Dec. 5 in Pocatello. He said nuclear engineers had to be brought into the state to operate the station and urged a state program to utilize facilities already in place. Cost of expanding ISU's two-year engineering program to four years has been estimated at $69,000.

U. S. Enlistment Rate in Armed Forces Is Dropping

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—While the defense department studies the possibility of ending the military draft, the nation's youth seems to be sweetening it out on the sidelines. The result is a drop in the enlistment rate.

Although a report on the Pentagon study is not due until April, even the idea of ending the draft has had an adverse effect on voluntary recruitment.

Since last July, recruiting in the nation's armed services has declined sharply. And even the war in Viet Nam has exerted little—if any—influence on reversing the trend.

In a survey of recruiting stations across the nation, United Press International found that most recruits believe that publicity about a possible end to the draft has had a strong effect on the rate of enlistment.

Spokesmen for the army, marine corps, navy, air force and coast guard were almost unanimous in their opinion that potential recruits are waiting to see what will happen to the draft.

As one coast guard recruiter said: "Most kids are sitting tight to see what Secretary (Robert S.) McNamara is going to do about the reserves and what the President is going to do about the draft."

The average boy seems to be interested in doing less time. He is anxious to get a good job near his home and doesn't want to go to a foreign country as a serviceman," he said.

In Boston where navy enlistments are down 10 per cent from a year ago, Chief Curtis Lott blamed the emphasis in the November election campaign on eliminating the draft.

In Chicago, army Capt. Frank Bauer expressed similar views. "Our enlistments are lower than last year but I feel that all the talk during the presidential campaign about abolishing the draft may be to blame," he said.

Any regional gains in recruiting generally are attributed to mid-year school graduations, population growth and increases in the age-group ripe for enlistment.

One thing is certain. Unlike the Berlin crisis of 1961 and the Cuban crisis of 1962, when gains in enlistment were experienced, the continuing war in Viet Nam has not helped recruiting.

In fact, one army recruiter said the Viet Nam crisis "is going to scare off a few, if anything."

Another spokesman said young men were waiting to see what was happening in Viet Nam "like they did during the Berlin crisis."

"We will get enlistment inquiries when the kids see some thing firm (about Viet Nam) in the newspapers," he said. "They are used to seeing and reading about the skirmishes."

According to an official analysis of enlistment trends, the

Prescriptions Are Needed for Nasal Inhalers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The food and drug administration said yesterday that prescriptions will be required for purchase of nasal inhalers containing methamphetamine.

The inhalers are being put on the prescription list because thrill seekers have been using them for kicks, the FDA said.

Commissioner George P. Larrick said persons have extracted the action ingredient from the inhalers and used it to achieve an effect similar to that obtained from chemically related amphetamine, "otherwise known as pep pills."

Inhalers containing amphetamine have been on the prescription list since 1959 because of wide-spread abuse, the FDA said.

Foss Says Broncos Will Stay in Denver; Phipps Brothers to Buy Stock

DENVER, Feb. 16 (AP)—American Football league commissioner Joe Foss said Monday night that the Denver Broncos will remain in Denver. Two Denver brothers, Gerald Phipps and Allan Phipps, who now own 42 per cent of the stock, will buy controlling interest, Foss said. The news came after majority stockholders in the team had considered various offers for part or all of the stock since late last week. One offer came from the Cox Broadcasting company, Nashville, Tenn., which proposed to buy the franchise and move the Broncos to Atlanta, Ga.

Vandals Tip Hawaii Despite Hot Shooter

MOSCOW, Feb. 16 (UPI)—The Idaho Vandals built up an 18-point lead in the first half and coasted to an 89-76 victory over the University of Hawaii in non-conference basketball action Monday night. Senior Tom Moreland dunked in 25 and from the Cox Broadcasting company, Nashville, Tenn., which proposed to buy the franchise and move the Broncos to Atlanta, Ga.

Gerald Phipps said he and his brother will pay an amount not exceeding 1.5 million dollars for controlling interest in Empire Sports, Inc., owner of both the Broncos and the Denver Bears of the Pacific Coast Baseball league.

Phipps said he may be the "stupidest idiot in the city of Denver." In light of the fact the football team stands to lose money even if the stadium is filled for every game. But he added he and his brother look great pleasure in having this opportunity to preserve the big-league stature of Denver and Colorado.

The Phipps brothers will purchase the 52 per cent of voting stock held by Empire from the voting trust of Galvin P. Stapleton and Earl R. Howsam.

Stapleton read the statement announcing the sale at a news conference.

Foss came here Sunday because of the negotiations. The offer from Cox was reportedly for more than four million dollars and also contemplated purchase of both the football and the baseball team.

The Denver Post said that Nicholas G. Troilo, a Philadelphia toy manufacturer, made two offers. One for four million dollars for all of the stock and the other for two million dollars for the voting trust's 52 per cent.

Last week, Gerald Phipps had offered to pay the voting trust $250,000 by March 15 with an option to purchase its stock for $1,250,000 by Oct. 1.

"Our agreement today is an outright purchase, and not an option transaction," Phipps said. Asked if the outright purchase price was the same as the 1.5 million dollars offered under the option arrangement, Phipps said "it is substantially the same."

Gerald Phipps said he was not prepared to identify other associates, except for his brother.

Coach Mac Speedie will continue to conduct operations of the Broncos and General Manager Jim Burris will run the baseball club.

"No immediate changes are anticipated in personnel of the corporation," Phipps said.

He said a general manager for the Broncos will be named after he returns from a three-week vacation.

Pettit lost for three weeks.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16 (AP)—St. Louis Hawk star Bob Pettit is lost to the National Basketball association team for about three weeks.

Team physician D. Stan London said Monday that Pettit tore ligaments in his knee Sunday in a game at St. Louis against Cincinnati.

Pettit, an 11-year NBA veteran, fell hard on his right knee in the third period.

Pettit has been averaging about 23 points per game. His loss for three weeks deals a serious blow to Hawk hopes for the Western division NBA title.

At 65 with $729.29 monthly pension.

Not bad. Now consider the professional football player who also works in the off-season for GM and then continues after his playing days are over.

If he plays five years in the NFL and serves GM for 35 years at a salary of around $12,000, he will receive three pension checks, including social security, which total $1,162 a month or $13,944 a year.

Pension plans in sports are a phenomenon of our times.

In the '20s, '30s and '40s, a majority of athletes faced the future with nothing more than a handful of newspaper clippings. Everybody knows how many leaves of bread a newspaper clipping will buy.

And that doesn't include social security benefits.

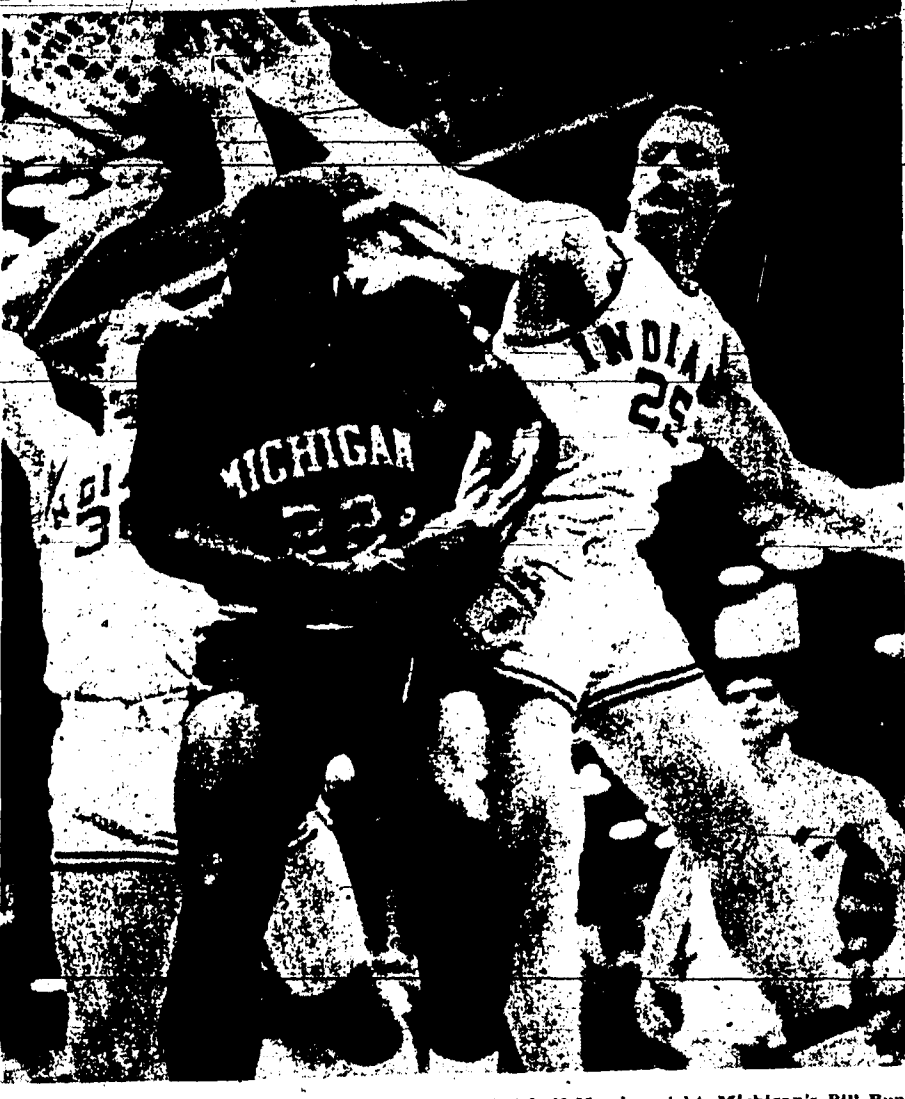

A five-year veteran in the National Football league already is assured of a higher income at age 65 than a five-year executive at General Motors. To qualify for a GM pension, an employee must have worked for the firm at least 10 years.

Consider a typical executive at General Motors. He starts to work at age 29 and eventually works his way into a position paying $20,000 a year. After 35 years of employment, he retired at age 64.

He said the offer was below what he wanted for the team. He did not say who made the offer. Phipps, at a basketball writers luncheon, was asked why he was interested in selling the Celts. He said he is getting to an age "where little things annoy me."

He said he is involved in other business ventures that occupy much of his time.

Pett is co-owner with Mrs. Marjorie Brown, widow of the team founder, Walter Brown.

ON HIS WAY DOWN with a rebound during the first half Monday night, Michigan's Bill Buntin (22) appears to be in double trouble as Indiana's Dick Van Arsdale, left, and his brother Tom (25) move in on the big center. Michigan went on to win the contest 86-85 in the second overtime. (AP wirephoto)

Mantle Signs for $100,000, Says Yanks Will Win Pennant

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Mickey Mantle, settled comfortably into the $100,000 salary groove for the third straight year, predicted Monday the New York Yankees will win the pennant by 10 games if Whitey Ford's arm is sound. Mantle's signing was announced at the Yankee office with the slugger on the other end of a long distance line in Dallas. The Yanks said Mickey had reached a virtual agreement with General Manager Ralph Houk when he was in New York at Christmas time.

Although Mantle's salary fell a bit short of Willie Mays' $105,000, tops in all baseball, the slugger said he wasn't disturbed.

"As long as he gets $105,000 I don't mind being second," he said in answer to a question. When somebody asked if he could have held out for more, Mantle said, "I'm too close to the end to start fighting. I took what they offered and I'm happy."

Mantle, 33, said he recently had invested everything he had in an insurance company with headquarters in San Antonio. "I hope it will be something to fall back on in about three more years," said Mantle.

A year ago when Mantle signed for $100,000 at the Yankee training camp in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., he said he hoped to play in 150 games and would like to hit 500 homers before he called it a career. He repeated the same sentiments this year. In 1964, he played 143 games and hit 303.

"My knee has been very good," said Mantle. "I have been working out all winter where the Dallas Cowboys practice. The knee has given me no trouble at all. I have been playing a lot of golf and weigh about 208."

"That will be down to about 200 when I get to camp."

Mantle said he planned to leave for camp Feb. 20 but would play in the baseball players golf tournament at Miami before reporting March 1.

Mantle said he had met Johnny Keane, new Yankee manager, at an old-timers banquet, and they had not discussed whether he would play center field or right field. During the late stages of the 1964 season Mantle moved to right field in order to save his legs.

Mantle also was interviewed in Dallas where he makes his home in off season.

Asked about an earlier report that he would get $107,000 so that he would be the highest paid player, Mantle said that was not even discussed with the Yankees.

"It wouldn't make much difference to me anyway," Mantle said, indicating that income tax took more than half of his income each year.

"If they had asked me to $107,000," Mantle said with a grin, "the Giants would probably boost Willie Mays to $110,000 to stay ahead of me."

Oxford loses Sculling Coach.

LONDON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Oxford university's boat race crew, which includes four Americans, lost sculling star Stuart MacKenzie as its coach Monday after a committee rumple.

MacKenzie resigned because of a letter he wrote to the father of an Oxford oarsman who hoped to get into the crew.

Double Title Card Set For March 30.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—A world boxing championship doubleheader for the welterweight and light heavyweight titles — apparently has been clinched by Madison Square Garden for Tuesday, March 30.

In the two 15-round bouts will be telecast to theaters and on TV. The first fight will be Willie Pastrano of Miami against Jose Torres of New York. The second will be Jose Stabile, Jr., of New York against Ed Smith of New York. Both are contenders.

A Garden spokesman Monday that a press luncheon will be held Tuesday for "important boxing announcements." He did not elaborate.

However, the Garden's boxing promoter, Teddy Brenner, said earlier that he expected to sign the fighters for the double.

No Negligence Is Noted in Death Of Utags' Estes

LOGAN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Mayor Theral V. Bishop said Monday that a thorough investigation into the death of Wayne Estes has failed to show negligence on the part of city workers. The USU athlete was electrocuted two hours after playing what he termed his greatest collegiate game. A 2,300-volt wire that killed him was drooping from a pole which had been hit by a car less than one-half hour earlier.

Police said others had apparently walked under the wire, but the 6-foot, 6-inch senior was tall enough to touch it with his forehead as he passed by.

"We've been going over the accident ever since it happened and have found no reason to charge anyone with negligence," said Bishop. "It was just a very terrible thing."

Kenneth Green, 20, Canterbury, N.H., died at a Logan hospital Thursday of injuries suffered in the car wreck. Police Chief Bill Drakulich said citations are pending in the accident.

An electrician was summoned by police to the scene within minutes of the wreck. He cut one wire that had fallen to the ground and was on his way to turn the switch off when Estes walked into it, said police. The switch is located five blocks from the accident scene.

A memorial service to honor Estes, who set a fieldhouse scoring record of 48 points while becoming the first Aggie to score 2,000 in his final game, is scheduled Tuesday at 10:30 a.m.

University officials said all school offices will be closed for the service in George Nelson fieldhouse where the Anaconda Mont., senior became a Logan idol.

Regina Heltzer of Austria captured the women's title Sunday night.

Danzer, who placed fifth in the event at the 1964 Winter Olympics, edged Calmat, the Olympic silver medalist, by a judges' placement points—despite the Frenchman's lead in total points.

Calmat, who survived a spill early in his free skating routine, finished with 2,188.8 points to Danzer's 2,184.3, but the Austrian came out on top in the all-important average placing, in which the low score wins. He had 14 ordinals to 16 for Calmat.

Peter Jonas of Australia was third with 2,102.3 points and 29 ordinals. Sepp Schoenmetzler of West Germany and a third Austrian, Wolfgang Schwarz, finished fourth and fifth, respectively.

Fernandez Stops Caldwell in Five.

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP)—Florincho Fernandez, Miami, Fla., sixth-ranked middleweight by the World Boxing association, stopped Tommy Caldwell of Chicago in a bruising feature bout Monday night in 2:34 of the fifth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Both fighters weighed 159.4 pounds for the first boxing show in Tampa's new 6 million dollar Curtis Hixon convention center.

Fernandez dropped Caldwell with two left hooks and referee Young Raymond stopped the bout with Fernandez pounding away on Caldwell in the corner.

Frick Talks With Japanese About Murakami Deal

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick met Monday with representatives of the Nankai Hawks, but made no final decision on the case of the disputed Japanese pitcher, Masanori Murakami, claimed by both the Hawks and the San Francisco Giants.

Major Loops To Consider Frick's Job

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said Monday the major leagues probably will meet in March to consider candidates for the job of replacing him if he is forced to resign.

Frick said only five or six owners have sent in their sealed envelopes listing candidates for the commissioner's office.

Although no site or date has been set for the meeting, it is probable that it will be held in Florida late in March. At that time a successor to Phil Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs who resigned as chairman of the selection committee, will be named.

Frick said a committee meeting on conflict of interest, brought up by the purchase of the New York Yankees by the Columbia Broadcasting Company, will meet March 26.

The Birmingham News said Monday a copyrighted story that the owners of major league baseball teams have been called to a secret meeting on the Florida West Coast next month to pick Frick's successor.

Sugar Factory Nips Dons in Overtime 65-63

RUPERT, Feb. 16 — The Paul Sugar Factory couldn't contain a minute surge by Don's Quality Meats Monday night and had to rely on an overtime period for a 65-63 victory and the championship of the Rupert city baseball league.

Don's was 14 points back at one point, but a closing surge paced by Don Janik's 16 points tied the game 57-57 at the end of regulation time. George Moffitt paced the victors with 30 points.

Kraft Foods came from 10 points behind in the third quarter with a big team effort led by Kenneth Gentry's 15 points to break a third place tie with the Pizza Haven 54-51. Kraft had four men in double figures. David Gentry was high man for the Pizza Haven with 21.

EXTRA FINES

MONTREAL, Feb. 16 (AP) — Jim Roberts of the Montreal Canadiens was fined an extra $100 and 10 other Canadiens and six players of the Toronto Maple Leafs were penalized $25 more than usual Monday for participating in a hockey brawl.

Unique Tie Highlights Trophy Race

SUN VALLEY, Feb. 16 — An accurate almost unheard of in skiing turned up Sunday in the pro-am race for the Sanderson trophy when three ski instructors tied for first place on the giant slalom course.

Jim Savaria, Lennie Erhart and Bob Burns all made it down the course in 56.8 seconds and in a run-off started upon by the racing committee, Erhart was put out of the running by Savaria and Burns deadlocked again at 57.0.

Les Outz, assistant head of the Sun Valley ski school, led his team to the trophy with a combined time of 216.8. His teammates were Loretta Ball, Sun Valley, Dr. Wilson Weisel, Milwaukee, and Gordon Dunlap, Twin Falls.

In the race, patterned after the pro-am golf matches, the instructors race first on a more difficult giant slalom course and the amateurs follow on a shorter but still stiff course.

The second honors in the team runnings went to the team of Erhart, Matilda Stream, Pasadena, Bob Bartleson, Seattle, and Jim Terra, Ketchum, with a time of 217.00.

Legislature Activity

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—Creation of the office of court administrator is provided in a bill introduced yesterday in the Idaho senate. The administrator would be appointed by the supreme court, which also would fix his salary. He would serve as the court's administrative officer, recommending to the supreme court any actions that would facilitate judicial procedure at all court levels.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—Approval by congress of the proposed Mountain Home reclamation project in southwestern Idaho was urged in a memorial approved yesterday by the senate. Sen. Harold Clark, D., Elmore, urged approval of the memorial. He said the proposed project would result in irrigation of 126,000 acres of arid land, most of it on the Mountain Home desert. Cost of the project is estimated at 167 million dollars.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—A second bill increasing salaries of supreme court justices and judges of district courts was introduced yesterday in the Idaho legislature. The measure, offered in the senate, would boost pay of supreme court justices from $15,000 to $17,500 per year and salaries of district judges from $12,000 to $14,500 per year. The house is a measure which jumps pay of supreme court justices to $20,000 per year and raises salaries of district court judges to $17,000.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—Establishment of an Idaho Youth Hall of Fame was urged in a memorial approved yesterday by the senate. The resolution previously was approved by the house. Sen. Vincent Nally, R., Gem, said the memorial urges the state board of education to establish the hall of fame, choosing to it each year outstanding high school seniors. Pictures of those chosen would be displayed in the state capitol. Another house-approved memorial passed by the senate urges that there be no reduction in the amount of beet sugar which domestic farmers can produce.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—Creation of the Idaho commission on alcoholism is provided in a bill introduced yesterday in the senate. The commission would have nine members and would "study the problems of alcoholism, including methods and facilities available for the care, custody, detention, treatment, employment and rehabilitation of persons addicted to the intemperate use of spirituous or intoxicating liquors."

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—A measure revising makeup of the Idaho outboarders and guides board was reported yesterday to the floor of the senate. Under normal procedure it will come up for consideration Wednesday. The senate fish and game committee gave a "do pass" recommendation to the bill. It would expand membership of the board from three to five. In addition to the three representatives of outboarders and guides now on the board, the bill would add as members one member of the fish and game commission, designated by the commission, and one representative of the public, appointed by the governor.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—Commendation and appreciation to Dr. Donald R. Theophilus, president of the University of Idaho, were voted in a resolution introduced yesterday in the Idaho senate. The measure was scheduled for consideration today. Dr. Theophilus has announced he will retire, effective July 1. The resolution commends Dr. Theophilus for "his service and weighty contributions to the University of Idaho and the great state of Idaho." Dr. Theophilus has been teacher and administrator at the university since 1927. He has been president since 1954.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—Joint resolutions proposing amendments to sections of the state constitution dealing with corporate powers were passed by the house yesterday and sent to the senate. One would limit the right to vote for directors or managers of corporations to persons holding stock to which voting rights were granted in the articles of incorporation. The other would provide that a class of stock could be increased only on the majority vote of persons holding that particular issue. If approved by the senate, the proposed amendments would be submitted to the people for ratification in the 1966 general election.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—Addition of two members on the Idaho outboarders and guides board is proposed in a bill prepared after public hearings and sent to the senate floor. The two new members, representing the fish and game commission and the public, would be added to the three professional outboarders and guides who now constitute the board. Under normal procedure, the bill would come up for debate and vote Wednesday. It was given a "do pass" recommendation by the senate fish and game committee.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Idaho senate defeated yesterday a bill that would cause "reapportionment at the school district level." The description was voiced by Sen. Woodrow Bean, D., Valley, who contended that if the measure were enacted one school district could control election of all district trustees. The measure would have provided for district election of trustees. The senate still would be required to vote on the measure. At present election is by the voters. Sen. Vincent Nally, R., Gem, principal spokesman for the senate, said it would make the school district election plan similar to that now used in electing county commissioners. But Bean, and others, contended it would take away the opportunity of sparsely settled areas to have school board representation. The vote was 21-17.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—A bill providing for establishment of urban renewal agencies in Idaho was passed by the house yesterday despite warnings that it might "replace American individualism with a super state." Under the measure, local communities would be authorized to create urban renewal agencies and to participate in federal urban renewal programs. The agencies would be authorized to accept federal funds, condemn property for slum clearance and issue revenue bonds to finance its projects. Rep. Orval Hansen, R., Bingham, the floor manager, pointed out that the measure would not be authorized to impose taxes and that communities would not be required to participate in the programs. Opponents contended, however, that the powers granted to the agency would infringe on those of local government and replace American individualism with a super state.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—A contract for a real estate loan would have spelled out the penalty for the borrower to pay the loan after 29 terms of a bill passed 29-1 yesterday in the senate. The measure would protect home and other property buyers by specifying their commitment when they secure a loan. Sen. Walter Burdette, R., Owyhee, the lone dissenting vote came from Sen. Harold Roden, R., Ada, who said the measure's effect could be spelled its intent. Roden said it could prevent early payment of loan if the borrower, and lender neglected to put a provision for early payment in the contract.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—The senate approved yesterday by a vote of 18-11 a measure it killed earlier, 18-22, then revived. The bill authorizes the state highway board to increase the weights of motor vehicles using Idaho highways. Sen. Lloyd Barron, R., Camas, said it is needed to make Idaho regulations conform with federal law now being drafted which will permit heavier trucks to use interstate highways. He said the legislation is permissive and heavier weights could be effective only with state highway approval. Opposition generally centered on the assertion that Idaho highways would be damaged by the heavier vehicles.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—Bannock county legislators, tongues in cheeks, recommended a 15-cent salary cut for their county commissioners over the next two years. Their recommendation for a 15-cent cut that sets salaries for county officials is a cut for Bannock county commissioners from $6,500 to $6,499.85. The Bannock legislators were making no comment but one displayed a newspaper clipping that quoted Lawrence Lysistr, chairman of the Bannock county commission, as saying: "I'm firmly convinced it is not every cent of our salary and if the legislature cuts it 15 cents I'd quit. If the legislature doesn't feel we are worth what we are paid, then they can have the job."

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—A measure it is estimated would raise $33,000 for operation of a proposed Idaho underground water pump and pumers commission was introduced yesterday in the senate. The bill calls for a five per cent levy on the funds that are allowed by utilities to the water users. The funds would be turned over to the commission which would be charged with promoting the efficient utilization of the state's water and disseminating information related to the proper employment of pump-irrigation. The users and pumers commission, created in a bill pending in the senate, would be made up of five members appointed by the governor.

BOISE, Feb. 16 (AP)—Spraying state budgets and taxes are provided by the Idaho senate who has threatened to lead a repeal campaign if the three per cent sales tax is passed. The tax is estimated to cost $33 million dollars in income and property taxes. The bill calls for a five per cent levy on the funds that are allowed by utilities to the water users. The funds would be turned over to the commission which would be charged with promoting the efficient utilization of the state's water and disseminating information related to the proper employment of pump-irrigation. The users and pumers commission, created in a bill pending in the senate, would be made up of five members appointed by the governor.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, Feb. 16—Born today, you are an intellectual and it is in that world where you will probably make your mark. This is not to say that you are not athletic, or that you are not artistically creative; for you may be both—but it is for feats of the mind that you are most likely to become known. Of particular interest to you is the world of theory. Practice is of a secondary nature.

You have great determination when it comes to following through on a project in which you are vitally interested. However, you are somewhat inclined to flag, even to drop out, should a project be of primary interest to another and not to you. You are quite willing to volunteer your services; whether you will maintain them is another question.

Although you are quite capable of becoming endearingly and enduringly attached to other people, particularly to those of the opposite sex, you are not necessarily of the "marrying kind." You would far rather remain a bachelor or spinster than to let yourself married to someone not up to your intellectual caliber. However, you must not allow fear of a mismatch to keep you from marriage.

Among those born on this date are: Van Wyck Brooks, American critic, author; Henry Adams, famed American intellectual; the Konan, Hugo De Vries, Dutch botanist.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding star on your graph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, Feb. 17

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Use your natural wisdom and discretion to gain goals today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—An excellent day if you stick strictly to business. Avoid being side-tracked, at least until after dark.

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—The information you seek may well be where you least expect to find it. Keep your ears open!

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Attend to matters of family security without further delay. Take a long view of the situation.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Tensions can be blown away if you know how to introduce a casual air into an intense situation.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Place your efforts where your heart is. Personal matters get more than their share of attention.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Someone could give you a happy boost up the ladder of success today. Try for a good impression!

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—The budget-minded Virgo can make several excellent purchases today. Evaluate the merchandise.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—A full day of profitable business and a full evening of enjoyment is a good formula for today.

Reds Have Stranglehold On South Vietnamese Road

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam, Feb. 16 (AP)—Viet Cong troops, virtually unopposed by South Vietnamese government operations, have placed a stranglehold on the only overland route from Saigon to the border of communist North Viet Nam.

There is evidence that corrupt local officials, acting in collusion with large and aggressive communist forces, may have made the situation even worse.

Viet Cong toll booths on arterial route 1, only 507 miles east of Saigon, have been operating openly and freely since November, apparently with no fear of major government interference.

These toll booths are believed to have financed the communist offensive at Binh Gia in December. That operation cost government forces a score of Americans, and netted the Viet Cong quantities of arms and equipment.

The locations of the main toll booths in jungled Long Khanh province are well known. Four toll and check points operate daily between road markers 1774 and 1780—56 air miles east of Saigon. A fairly wide trail leads four miles south from the main road at this point to a Viet Cong hamlet called Tra Cut, center of enemy road operations in the area.

An area just south of Tra Cut is a key Viet Cong rest and training camp. The force that fought the Binh Gia campaign is believed to be refitting there now.

Vietnamese travelers who managed to get through the area reported that more than 20 vehicles, including trucks, have been hijacked and taken to Tra Cut.

There old tires are cut up into sandals for the guerrillas; new tires are too thick. Engines are converted for use in jungle areas and to generate electric power. Instruments taken from cars are used for making time bombs.

Nearly all cars, buses and trucks are stopped at the toll points and charged $2 to $10, depending on the weight of the vehicle, its cargo and so on. Since November, an estimated $40,000 has been collected.

Passengers are checked closely. During the recent holiday season, uniformed soldiers without weapons were allowed through the checkpoint but were stripped of their uniforms. Viet Cong troops in the area all wear government uniforms.

At other times, government officials and soldiers travel at their peril.

There have been some government raids on the area, but Viet Cong operations continue unchecked.

Destruction Of Black Ice Signs Noted

During the cold winter-months spray, at times, will be from Shoshone falls and form black ice on the grade road making driving conditions extremely hazardous.

Howard Johnson, superintendent of city parks and recreation, said Monday that when black ice forms on the grade road the city department will put up warning signs on the highway but at least two of the signs have been ignored and destroyed.

When the west wind blows the spray hits the highway, Johnson said, adding that the black ice caused from the freezing of the spray causes extremely dangerous driving conditions.

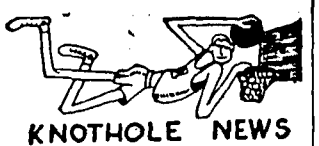

Sunday morning Johnson put a warning sign across the road and by the night it was destroyed. He again put up a sign but again it was destroyed.

"One sign I put up was never found," Johnson remarked.

An example of what happened by driving on the grade when the roads are icy occurred Sunday afternoon when a sports car slid on the grade and almost went over the embankment.

Tarmon C. Samson, 36, 1305 Ninth avenue east, was driving a 1962 Austin Healey down the grade when the vehicle slid on the icy roads and traveled half way over an embankment. Neither Samson nor his companion, Larry Crippin, 25, also Twin Falls, were injured.

According to the investigating county deputy the warning sign placed at the falls was gone. No citation was issued.

Health Care Programs for Elderly Listed in Question and Answer Form

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—A federal program to provide health care for the elderly is picking its way through the congressional labyrinth again this year. Most observers expect it will win approval.

But the situation is somewhat tangled because three versions are actually under discussion: One that has President Johnson's backing; another espoused by many house Republicans, and a third that was prepared by the American Medical Association.

Here, in question and answer form, is a rundown and a comparison:

Q. Will congress pass a health care for the aged bill this year?

A. All signs point to approval of something along the line of President Johnson's proposal for hospital benefits for those 65 or older.

Q. How far would it go?

A. It would be limited to some hospitalization, convalescent care in nursing home or at home and some diagnostic and similar outpatient services. Ordinary doctor bills and medicines would not be covered.

Q. Isn't there other legislation pending in congress that would provide broader health benefits?

A. Yes. Two bills that have been much discussed lately call for covering many more kinds of health costs. These are a bill introduced by Rep. John W.

Byrnes, R. Wis., in behalf of a group of Republicans and another measure drafted on suggestion of the American Medical Association.

Q. Why isn't everybody for these, if they would do more for the old folks?

A. Several factors are involved, mainly coverage and cost. The administration bill would provide its limited benefits to all those 65 and over as a matter of right. Without questioning them on income or property, and without cost to the beneficiary, after he has retired.

Byrnes' bill would offer broader benefits to all the aged, but those who could pay would be charged a premium, which he estimates would average $4 a person a month.

The AMA bill contemplates covering the aged by private health insurance, with help to lower-income persons in paying the premiums. The states would set the financial standards at which retired persons would qualify for help.

Q. So the question is whether the aged as a group would prefer to have limited help for all at no cost to them, or to have the possibility of bigger benefits, but with an income factor in one way or another?

A. That's one question. Another is the impact of the various plans on public funds.

The administration plan is designed to be self-financing, with an additional pay roll tax on those still working and on their employers providing nearly all the cost. There would be a limited contribution from the general treasury for a while, to pay the way for persons already 65 and not covered by social security.

Byrnes' plans would look to the general federal treasury for about two-thirds of the cost, with the remainder coming from premiums. The AMA plan would use both state and general federal funds.

Q. How much would the various plans cost?

A. Plenty, and beyond that you get into arguments. Backers of each tend to say that the costs of the others have been underestimated. Social security actuaries estimate the administration plan would have a first year cost of about 1.7 billion dollars, all of which would be raised from the new pay roll tax on employers and employees, plus about 50 million dollars net from the general treasury. The 50 million dollars would be the difference between the amount the federal government would put up for the benefits to the aged not covered by social security, and the savings that would come from reduced welfare expenditures for some of these same people.

Byrnes has estimated the cost of his plan, above what would be contributed in premiums, at two billion dollars to 2.4 billion dollars, all out of the federal treasury, assuming all those eligible signed up, which he says is unlikely.

There is no way to figure accurately in advance the cost of the AMA plan, because so much would depend on the standards established by the states. Its backers say it would cost less than the administration plan.

Q. So it's all settled that the Administration bill is the one that is going to pass?

A. By no means. Backers of the others are fighting hard to have theirs substituted in whole or in part. Moreover, the bill that comes out of the ways and means committee will not be exactly the administration bill as introduced, although the main outlines likely will be the same.

That is why not very meaningful comparisons of benefits and costs with the rival measures can now be made. But, given the heavy democratic majorities in the committees and in the two chambers of congress, it now seems probable that a bill close enough to the original to please Johnson will be enacted.
