Americanism Programs Slated Here

The first of a series of monthly programs featuring phases of pro-American and anti-communist will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday at the American Opinion Book store, 128 Second avenue north.

The meetings will be sponsored by a group of conservatives, but the material presented will have nothing to do with the John Birch society.

Public attention has been focused on the student riots at the Berkeley campus, University of California, which is the most recent in many years of student riots and demonstrations around the world.

"Communist Accent on Youth," a film produced by Pepperdine college, will be shown. It shows how the communists have made young people one of their prime targets throughout the world. Documentary views demonstrate the effectiveness of communist propaganda and agitation on many who do not realize the subtle guidance behind the scenes. Drawings contrast American philosophy with that of communism and suggest means of forwarding our American ideals toward victory and world conflict.

Veterans with GI insurance are urged to stop paying the 31-day grace period following overdue premium payments, announced Loren E. Kopan, director of the Boise veterans administration center.

Kopan stated, "Such a resolution during 1965 can save hundreds of policies that otherwise would lapse."

Older veterans and those with disabilities should be especially careful since they may not be able to obtain other insurance except at much higher rates, he concluded.

2 Arraigned In Burglary Of Sportscar

Two young Twin Falls men waived preliminary hearing and were bound over the district court Wednesday after they were arrested in connection with the theft of a sportscar from a local garage.

Don L. Peters, 22, route 1, and Charles Eugene Powler, 18, 433 Gardner street, both failed to post $1,000 bonds and are being held in city jail.

Peters and Powler were arrested about 5 a.m. Wednesday near Curry by an Idaho state patrolman and a deputy sheriff after the two officers spotted a 1958 Chevrolet Corvette parked along the highway out of gas.

Police Chief M. Frank Barnett said that Peters and Powler allegedly broke a window and opened a door at the Glen G. Jenkins body shop, located on Main avenue, and drove the car, which was being repaired after being in a wreck a few months ago, from the garage.

The two apparently were going to "drag race" the sportscar on highway 30, Barnett said.

The car was owned by Ronald Victor, 23, Pocatello.

and J. Robert Tullis, Buhl, has been retained as accountant for the institution.

Robert Blaslock, Jr., Piler, chairman of the board, reported that he has met with the county commissioners and arrangements have been made for use of the old Twin Falls county hospital as a temporary campus for administrative offices.

A survey of Twin Falls county residents to determine possible enrollment in the academic program at the junior college and the technical training program, to be held in conjunction with it, is expected to get under way shortly.

The board is currently seeking applications for instructors and other personnel for the junior college.

Members of the two boards have toured the Treasure Valley Community college at Ontario, Ore., which is currently operating under this system.

Sales Tax

want. I want—I will not give," he said. "I say it is time we quit thinking about our home counties."

Gov. Robert E. Smylie called the "house approval" gratifying, indeed, and said the bipartisan vote indicated approval in the senate where still opposition is expected.

The governor noted the vote crossed party lines and said a sales tax had never before won by more than two votes in either body before final defeat.

Another amendment struck from the convention bill was a provision that would have eliminated the "revenue" clause from the current law. This clause allows a candidate who does not get 20 per cent of the convention votes to get on the ballot through the petition process.

The bill was sent to the committee of the whole for amendment after a partisan fight between majority Republicans and minority Democrats in the senate. Democrats said they wanted the convention system made more stringent to prevent the nomination of pro-gambling candidates.

The house, meantime, performed a hurried "eight bills" amendment to remove objections raised in committee and debate.

A constitutional proposal and a companion bill to make the state superintendent of public instruction appointive instead of elective, was amended to substitute the lieutenant governor for the superintendent as a member of the state land board. Democrats in both houses have objected to allowing an appointive superintendent to sit on that board.

The state affairs committee introduced in the house a three-bill package to create a state capital planning commission specifically empowered to plan and determine location of state public buildings and offices.

To be composed of five members appointed by the governor to serve at his pleasure, the commission would include two house members, a senator, a Boise city official and another person chosen at large.

Hearing

uties would be authorized to enter any and all bean fields in Idaho to inspect for bacterial bean blight. The tolerance for bacterial blight is zero.

Seed for planting will have to carry an inspection tag. Certified seed will carry two tags, the certified tag and the inspection tag. Beans in bulk containers remain in bulk, but their origin and identification must be maintained.

Diseased beans can and will be destroyed, the only exception being research test plots and should the disease show up at around time the beans can be marketed for domestic consumption only. They can not be used for seed. Any seed known to be infected can not be planted in Idaho.

The control order restrictions apply to Idaho and out of state seed and gives the commissioner authority to require tests on imported seed even though they carry sanitary certification in dispute areas. Serological tests will be the determining factor.

The order will be in effect until Feb. 1, 1967, and can be automatically extended for two years.

However, should the industry desire to end the control order, it can petition the commissioner for new hearings.

Dr. Leslie Dean, University of Idaho plant breeder, reported to the group that the research facilities at the university are being geared to fight the disease.

One step already taken is the refinement of the serological tests. Another step that it has become almost certain that "race-2" of the disease has been found.

The university is experimenting with ultrasonic and infrared treatments to see if there is any response in control in bacterial blight. At present the disease doesn't respond to chemical treatment.

The proposed control order doesn't close all avenues of control and some will be open for voluntary action. For example, the order did not include restrictions on threshing equipment.

Commissioner Trenthall said the budget request for the department has been cut severely, but they will try and police the order with the funds available.

The Idaho bean commission already has gone on record to divert some of their advertising funds to finance research and control.

The mandatory destruction of infected beans almost makes insurance a necessity for both commercial and garden seed producers.

The Frontier Grange hall was jammed and it was standing room only when hearing moderator John Remsburg, Rupert, called the hearing to order. All testimony was recorded by stenographer and tape recorder.

The hearing lasted about two hours in contrast to the three-day affair held in Magic Valley last year.

PTA Members Divided on Merger Plan

MURTAUGH, Feb. 25—A straw vote taken at the Murtaugh PTA meeting Monday night showed 21 for and 21 against consideration of consolidation of the school districts of Kimberly and Hansen.

Several persons were reported to have declined to vote until more information is made available and pending action of the state legislature concerning school fund appropriation.

School boards of the three districts will hold a joint meeting March 1 for further discussion of the proposal.

A Founders day potluck was served by third and sixth grade room mothers preceding the regular business meeting.

Ned Millard Sawtooth forest ranger, spoke on the Buckhorn youth camp. Fourth grade students presented a dramatization of famous men whose birthday anniversaries are in February. The fourth grade won the room count for parent attendance.

Marvin Baker showed a film, "Dilemma of Idaho schools." He also made available the pamphlet, "Pin Down the Facts."

A silver offering was taken. Homemade breads and rolls were sold by the school hot lunch committee.

Quick Vote on Legislature Ratio Sought

Rep. George Hansen, R. Id., Thursday signed a discharge petition which, if sufficient signatures are obtained, will bring to an immediate vote in the house of representatives a question of the apportionment of state legislatures.

Hansen said the petition filed by Rep. Wright Patman, Tex., in connection with his joint resolution No. 2, proposes by Congressional Act, that calls for a constitutional amendment stipulating that the houses of a bicameral state legislature need not be apportioned solely on the basis of population.

Hansen, who has introduced two similar resolutions, said he had signed a discharge petition because the house judiciary committee, to which all such resolutions have been referred, has shown no sign of acting on them in the near future.

"The committee has set hearing," Hansen said, "and feel very strongly that immediate action is necessary if we are to preserve the system of government given to us by the constitution."

2 Area Solons Voted for Surtax Bill

BURLEY, Feb. 25 (Special) (AP)—With only two exceptions, all Valley members of the Idaho House of Representatives turned thumbs down on the controversial farm bureau tax plan debated in the house Tuesday. Voting for the proposal from Burley Valley were Rep. Fred Mills, R., Lincoln, and Rep. Fred Wallin, R., Camanche. Other representatives who cast their ballots in favor of the proposal included Reps. George Brock, D., Latah; W. C. Sutcliffe, D., Washington; Weller Little, D., Payette; Arvil Miller, R., Blaine; Jenkin Palmer, R., Boise; Horace Patterson, D., Valley; and Ernest Permann, D., Power. Party lines apparently meant nothing, since five of those voting for the proposal were Democrats and four Republicans. Miller sponsored the bill but offered it for consideration only. He did not urge its passage.

Comic Files Suit Against Ed Sullivan

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Comedian Jackie Mason, whose features on the Ed Sullivan television show last Oct. 18 aroused at Sullivan's ire, yesterday filed a five million dollar libel-slander suit against Sullivan and his TV producers. The suit was filed in state supreme court here by the comic, a 34-year-old former rabbi. Mason in his complaint, charged Sullivan called him "a variety of four, ten and eleven other words of Anglo-Saxon origin, dealing generally with the subject of sex and perversion." The comic also complained that Sullivan declared Mason should be "run out of the entertainment business." During the furor that followed the spat between Sullivan and Mason, Sullivan described Mason's gestures as "vulgar" and "obscene." Sullivan who presents a variety type television program on the CBS network Sunday nights in addition to writing a syndicated newspaper column, became disenchanted with Mason near the end of one of the comic's many appearances on Sullivan's show. Mason was finishing a monologue when Sullivan, who was off-camera, held up his fingers to indicate to Mason the amount of time he had left. Mason then began using his fingers on-camera in various gestures, some of them familiar to a viewing public, and commented: "Here's a finger for you and a finger for you and a finger for you." As a result of the incident, Sullivan canceled Mason's $45,000 contract for future appearances on the show and Mason complained that Sullivan had hurt his career in the theater.

New YMCA Programs to Begin Soon

New programs slated to begin in March at the Twin Falls YMCA include fencing, physical fitness, Muzzle Loaders club and "Parents Without Partners" program. The fencing class will begin March 8 at the Y and will be open to those 15 years of age and older. Mrs. Wilma Smith, who received her training at the University of Utah, will act as instructor. Classes will run for 12 weeks. An adult physical fitness class will begin Monday and classes will convene from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays. Larry Smith, who has directed a similar class with the YMCA before, again will direct the class. The course will include calisthenics, individual charts, tennis, volleyball, running and progressive pulse rate tests. The Y Muzzle Loaders club will be headed by Gloyce Edwards and will start within the next two weeks. Those interested should call the YMCA or Edwards. "Parents Without Partners" is a program designed for men and women under 55 years of age through death or divorce who have lost their mate and who have children living at home. Doctor Strike Threatening Britain's Socialized Medicine

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—A revolt by Britain's 23,000 family doctors for more pay poses the biggest threat to the socialized national health service since it was set up in 1948. The doctors' union has threatened to do the whole scheme of state-run medical facilities in this country could collapse. The physicians are angry at what they call a grossly inadequate pay award which will bring their pay up to an average of $168 a week. They had asked for a minimum of $196. Health Minister Kenneth Robinson has pointed out that the award was made by an independent review body, a sort of arbitration court set up under the previous Conservative government. Robinson and other ministers appear sympathetic to the doctor's case. Their revolt comes at an embarrassing time—just when the government is instituting a new plan for keeping wages and prices down. If Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government were to give way to the doctor's demands and override the arbitration award, this could set a pattern for other demands—particularly in lower paid sectors. The policy for relating wages and prices in an effort to beat the spiraling cost of living would be endangered. The doctors' grievances are nonetheless real. Dr. Derek Stevenson, secretary of the British Medical Association, says: "I have never known such a spontaneous upsurge of resentment and anger like that show by family doctors." The increase goes into a central pool from which the family doctors are paid. Doctors who employ receptionists, nurses or secretaries will get more than those who don't. The doctors want the pools system done away with. They want the increase evenly divided among all doctors. And they want more money. An estimated 400 doctors a year are leaving Britain for overseas posts, but most of them apparently do so to oppose the philosophy of free medicine. They are seeking better conditions of life. The family doctors' revolt involves only one section of Britain's giant health services, which costs the nation about 2.8 billion dollars a year. Hospital doctors are not immediately affected.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
BANGKOK, Feb. 25—For the excursionist just arrived, there was irony in the discovery that Thailand was annoyed at Laos for not taking seriously the threat posed by the communists' new United Patriotic Front dedicated to the overthrow of democracy in Thailand.

It is Bangkok's contention that Laotian authorities should be more "cooperative" in helping Thailand to deal with its threat. After all, it is pointed out here, the new red front also imperils Laotian independence.

As usual in international politics, the ownership of the gored ox is what matters. In Malaysia, the government has been trying to get Thailand to do something about a rebel Malay guerrilla force hiding out in the jungle on the Thai side of the border, thus far without much success. Bangkok keeps insisting it will liquidate the force, but makes no move to do so.

NO-INVOLVEMENT POLICY—It is a situation illustrative of the Southeast Asian approach to matters that would have a life-and-death quality in other parts of the world. These little countries don't want to get too involved with their friends' problems, lest it disturb the even tenor of their lives. It never occurs to anybody that they got together they could forthwith wipe out the communist threat.

Moreover, there are wheels turning within wheels, especially where financial interests are involved. For example, there is the case of the rightist Laotian general, PHOUMI NOUVAN, who fled to Thailand after the failure of his attempted coup in Laos.

TWO POINTS OF VIEW—Laos understandably has been put out by Thailand's unwillingness to hand General Phoumi over to the Vietnamese regime for punishment. Just as understandably, Bangkok demurs; it seems the general has a vested interest in the Thai economy.

Specifically, General Phoumi has one million dollars in American money invested in Thai banks, export-import businesses and building material companies. If he should wind up his business interests here, it might have an adverse effect on the money market, which has already been jostled by the freezing of the bank deposits of the late Prime Minister Sarit Thanarat. It is not considered polite for Thais to inquire how government bigwigs get so rich.

"EVERYBODY DOES IT"—Somewhat coyly, Bangkok also points out that General Phoumi has considerable military support in South Laos. He may be needed some day to help fight the communist Pathet Lao, say Thai officials.

Confronted with the average American's impatience at this cynical maneuvering, the Thai smiles in his charming way. "But we're no different from anybody else," he says. "The British are selling wheat to Peking, and Washington is selling wheat to Russia." Somehow it is hard to explain the difference.

Views of Others

THE OCEAN'S BOTTOM
There would appear to be little question about this country's present commitment to space exploration. Mariner 4 is hurtling toward a mid-summer rendezvous with Mars. The Apollo manned lunar landing project is reaching a tangible stage. Seventy-three American spacecraft of various sizes were put into orbit around the earth or sun last year. President Johnson says the goal is to be the world's "leading spacefaring nation."

Yet a surprisingly large number of companies with an interest in space have taken off one flight boot, rolled up a corporate trouser leg and begun splashing about in "oceanology" or underwater engineering. "There isn't a company in the missile business that isn't looking hard and long at the ocean's commercial possibilities these days," a Lockheed Missile and Space company official told a correspondent of The National Observer. Coupled with fear that the space bubble may deflate is the desire to fish for profits in what is sure to become a multi-billion-dollar industry.

Repair and maintenance of offshore oil fields broadened the market for diving equipment, giving impetus to development of specialized devices as man's undersea tasks increase. Now, petroleum and aircraft companies are joining forces to engineer "work submarines." The world's largest producer of industrial gasses owns 65 per cent of Ocean Systems, Inc., the first major U. S. firm organized to exploit ocean riches.

Whatever the eventual scope of business interest, the navy remains the prime customer. Spurred by the Thresher scandal and the desire to dive deeper and remain down longer, its Deep Submergence System Review board soon will award the first contracts in a five-year, 200,000,000 million dollar development program. And here again is a commercial frontier: Mineral- and fish-rich continental shelves as large as all Africa. Whether the ocean's bottom is more important than the moon's behind nobody can say. But hedging defense and space contracts in a challenging new field is conversation planning at its far-sighted best.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

THE FIGURES CAN CHANGE
A lot of silver producers, metal market men, and ordinary investors are excited about the possibility of a higher price for silver. World silver use is outrunning production, and the big U. S. treasury reserve is falling. The price of silver, some reason, is bound to go up.

But speculators will have to be careful not to get carried away with their own arithmetic.

If silver consumption continues at its present pace, the shortages and the price rises they forecast might indeed develop. When commodity prices rise, however, buyers look for substitutes, and the basic consumption figures in the calculations can change.

Recently South Africa ordered nickel blanks to replace its silver coins. The U. S. treasury, whose silver consumption in 1964 was equal to about 90 per cent of the total world production, is due to present shortly a plan to reduce the silver content of some of its coins.

If the U. S. treasury cuts its silver sharply, those looking for a silver price increase will have to revamp their forecasts. The law of supply and demand still operates, even in the emotion-charged market for the "precious" metals.—Financial Post.

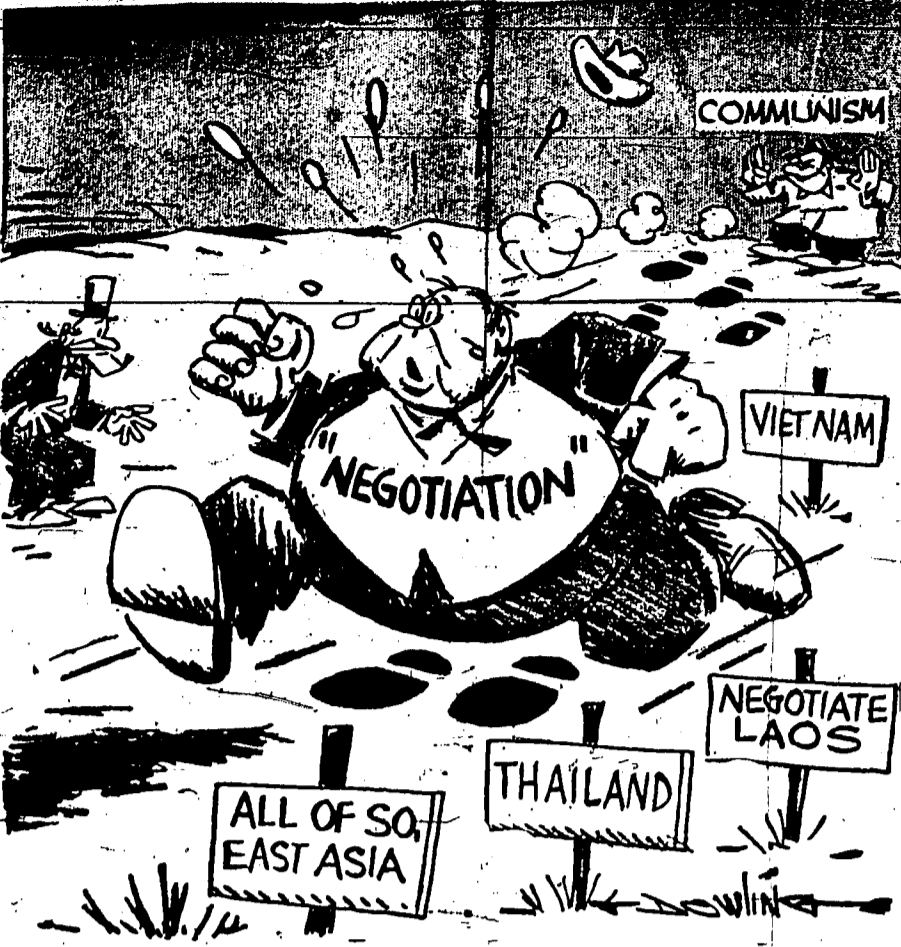

STILL WESTWARD
The other day an historian of the West who should know better commented that the "westering" that made this nation great came to an end between 50 and 75 years ago.

The great migration that began during World War II is still going on, and these westering people are filling up one empty space after another. Then there are the great military and atomic installations which have changed this state no less than they have the Mohave desert. And what of the great Columbia basin project whose end is not in sight? Or the vast and basic changes in Seattle or Bellingham, and all the brave new towns in the state?

All of this, with more to come, is as surely Northwest history as anything long past. For the "westering" is a continuing thing and you and all of us are part of it.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Sir: Have you ever considered the difference between being "in the groove" and "in a rut"? Or is there any real difference?

The person who is "grooved" is considered to be well qualified for what he's doing and must be classed as something of an expert. But what's the difference between the groove and a rut?

Would it be fair to say that a rut is nothing more or less than a groove that's been worn somewhat deeper? Hence, I suppose it would be safe to say that a rut is just a deep groove that has become quite comfortable.

Dear Sir: If and when a sales and use tax becomes effective in Idaho, will the city attach small containers to the parking meters to collect a use tax on parking meters? If you have to pay $80 state income tax, will you be stuck another three per cent use tax, although I'd be switched if I know what you'd be using.

GENTLEMEN IN THE FOURTH ROW

Interpreting the News

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—For 23 years Felix Frankfurter was a completely dedicated justice of the supreme court.

He struck rigidly to what he called judicial restraint at a time when the court under Chief Justice Earl Warren was moving toward a greater participation in American problems and a willingness to assume responsibility in solving them.

Frankfurter, who died Monday at 82, urged deference to the wishes of congress and state legislatures, on the theory the people eventually would pressure them into doing what was needed, even though they had avoided what was needed for years.

Two views, Frankfurter's and Warren's, and two opposition positions of these men tell the story.

In 1962 the court ruled 6 to 2 that apportionment of seats in state legislatures to give voters a fairer representation was subject to the scrutiny of federal courts.

For more than half a century some legislatures had declined to reapportion themselves even though their state constitutions called for such action every 10 years.

Back in the 1940's Frankfurter had urged the court to stay out of a "political thicket," and when it did step in in 1962, still opposing it, he said: "In a democratic society like ours, relief must come through an aroused popular conscience that sears the conscience of the people's representatives."

This ignored the reality that

In some situations politicians in power can ignore the people.

Warren, who was with the majority in calling for reapportionment, had given an answer to Frankfurter's kind of reasoning in an article in Fortune magazine in 1955:

"Our judges are not monks or scientists but participants in the living stream of our national life, steering the law between the dangers of rigidity on the one hand and of formlessness on the other."

"Our system faces no theoretical dilemma but a single continual problem: how to apply to ever changing conditions the never changing principles of freedom."

It was the greatest irony of Frankfurter's life that when President Franklin D. Roosevelt put him on the court in the New Deal days of 1939 he was not only a hero to liberals but was denounced as a red by the far right.

By the time he left the court 2 and one-half years ago, liberals looked upon him as a conservative, and he was when compared with some of the other justices.

There was another contradiction in his life. He was a man with many friends, well beloved, and a delightful conversationalist, as a recording of his conversation in a book, "Felix Frankfurter Reminiscences," shows. But as a writer of legal opinions he was long-winded and complex.

He was a lively man, an emotional one and a great questioner, heckler and lecturer of lawyers before the court, so much so that he sometimes got on the nerves of the other justices.

But this cannot obscure Frankfurter's concern for justice. He was with the majority of the court in the civil rights decisions and he was concerned for justice to individuals although he sometimes let abstractions get in his way.

Poor Man's Plato

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Pity the poor modern child!

He is becoming the most prominent victim of our tumbling attempts to create a more livable world.

Most of us aging codgers tend to low-rate the youngsters of today.

We enjoy the pleasant assumption that life was tougher when we were children. We love to bore our own young with all the hardships we knew in childhood—how many miles we had to walk to school, how many chores we did around the home, how early in life we earned our own spending money by delivering newspapers, selling magazines or sacking potatoes all day Saturday for the corner grocery store.

To hear us tell it, the fabled labors of Hercules were as nothing to the work we accomplished in adolescence. And each of us, looking nostalgically back at those arduous times, never forgets to add proudly:

"But hard work never hurt any kid. It was good for me. It made a man of me—not a cry-baby."

Most of this is pure piffle. Every generation as it grows older likes to brag about how much rougher a time it had than the generation that succeeds it.

When we recall the ordeals of our youth, we forget one advantage of that privileged time. Kids were left on their own more. They had more freedom to make their own fun.

America was less crowded then. There were more woods to explore, more room for digging caves, more creeks to fish in, more ponds to swim in.

The blessed innocence of childhood lasted longer. Boys and girls didn't see adulthood at such

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Of the small crop of new senators it is a Californian who gets the most attention from the galleries and the reason is not hard to find.

George L. Murphy, one of the rare Republicans, published a book to buck the Johnson landslide, was a familiar figure in the movies for years as the kindly father image in Shirley Temple's life and before that as a soft-shoe dancer.

But there is another less obvious reason why Murphy should be a center of interest. He is a new breed of public office holder, generated in the strange political cauldron of the most populous state—the smooth performer who knows every trick of the mass media.

No Hollywood casting office could mistake Murphy. As he rose on the floor for his maiden speech—to appeal for the admission of Mexican labor that California's big fruit and vegetable growers insist they must have—he was the very model of a senator. Quiet-voiced, restrained, modest, he nevertheless put the case for the growers forcefully.

In a victory speech in Washington after he defeated Pierre Salinger, President Kennedy's press secretary, Murphy gave his formula for a strange political speech. You look at the news in the paper, you make a few notes, then "You point with pride and you view with alarm. You can say all sorts of things if you say them with a smile and say them kindly."

His technique in his campaign was to soft-pedal all controversy, including his connection with far-right groups. But in light of the political bomb just exploded in Los Angeles the question is whether in the future Senator Murphy can skirt his close connection with the far right.

He is a protégé and was until his election the employe of a general vice president of the Tech-nicolor corporation, of Patrick J. Frawley, Jr., who also controls Sohlek safety razor. Rawley is the principal angel of Fred Schwarz's Christian anti-communist crusade and a host of other right-wing causes. He was also chairman of a television committee for Barry Goldwater that is said to have raised $3,000,000. How much he himself put into the Goldwater and Murphy campaigns is not known, since full reports of campaign expenditures have not yet been filed.

The political bomb took form of four indictments returned by a Los Angeles grand jury investigating a charge of conspiracy to commit crime against California's senator, Thomas H. Kuchel, a Republican. One of the public relations executive, Frawley, denied the charges but resigned from position because he said he did not want to embarrass Frawley and the company. Frawley testified, Frawley is reported to have told the grand jury nothing of the alleged plot.

The district attorney's office in Los Angeles and the grand jury are convinced that the reckless, malicious and vindictive affidavit alleging a morals charge against the senator was part of a conspiracy to destroy him politically. A host of witnesses, including members of the John Birch Society, were called to testify.

Full details will not be known until the transcript of the hearing resulting in the indictments is released. But there was an attempt at character assassination more savage than anything that occurred in the McCarthy era.

What it does is to draw the even more sharply between the right wing of the Republican party in California, as represented by Kuchel, and the Kuchel press secretary, and the Kuchel party's great ally under the middle-of-the-road as Earl Warren. Johnson and Earl Warren. He was reelected in 1962 by a majority of 725,000, while Richard Nixon in the gubernatorial race lost by 300,000 to Edmund G. Brown seeking a second term.

In the campaign last fall Murphy asked Kuchel for his support. Kuchel replied that he would be happy to back him but he repudiated the John Birch Society and other extremist groups. Murphy declined and Kuchel was clear of both the national and the statewide campaign. He is believed to have increased the number of the extremists who have long been gunning for Kuchel.

"The question raised is whether the increasingly bitter split is whether another film-television crisis can succeed in politics. Ronald Reagan, starred as the "nice guy" in about 40 films and more recently employed by General Electric as a speaker on patriotism and free enterprise, is being pushed by the right-wingers to run for governor next year. In the polls show Reagan with comparatively little strength and may find the going rougher than did Murphy last fall.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q. I am 50, and have keratosis on my face. How do these warts differ from ordinary warts? What causes them? How can I prevent more from forming? Should I have them cut out?

A.—Although persons in their 30s may get keratosis (senile) freckles, they are much commoner in persons who are over 50. In fact, most persons who live to be 65 have a few.

They are found chiefly on the exposed parts and are due to time, sun and wind. Ordinary warts are found in younger persons, are caused by a virus, extend into the deeper layers of the skin and are not scaly.

Protection from exposure to the sun and wind are the only means of prevention.

If they don't bother you, the only treatment needed is to watch them for signs of malignant change.

If the scales or crusts form and drop off, leaving an ulcer with a hard, raised rim, you should have it removed without delay.

If, on the other hand, lesions are not malignant, they are unsightly or otherwise troublesome, treatment with electric need will remove them. This is preferable to cutting them out.

Q.—Is it harmful to put petroleum in the ear to dissolve wax? Can ear wax cause headaches? Two or three drops of hydrogen peroxide is often put in the ear to soften the wax when it becomes hard and impacted.

Drops of warm mineral oil or corn oil are preferable, but none of these drops will dissolve wax.

Once it is softened, your doctor can wash the wax out with an ear syringe.

Impacted wax can cause loss of hearing, which is relieved when the wax is removed. The impacted wax would not cause a headache.

Q.—In a recent column you mentioned the possible hazard of examining phosphor-treated postage stamps under ultraviolet light. Is there any danger associated with handling or licking these stamps?

A.—Postal authorities assure that there is none.

FATHER MAKES SECOND ERROR

For a homey change, today's column will feature a dialogue between father and son. We start with a comment by father.

Oswald: Did someone go going with that diamond suit?

James: Nowhere, since my partner held only one point, but I would not have been in any trouble. What do you think of South's six-heart bid, dad?

Oswald: A gambling bid. South did not want to ask for aces and give East a chance to double a five-diamond response. Also his bid worked.

HEIRESS STILL ILL

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25 (AP)—Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton, suffering from an intestinal ailment, is expected to remain at Presbyterian medical center for another two or three weeks.

"SOUTH PACIFIC'S" MUSICAL SCORE is not one you can play with one hand, while holding a baby in the other," says Mrs. Roger Vincent, Filer, who is the pianist with the orchestra playing for the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley's new production. So, her husband obligingly holds the baby, Susan, so they can practice. Vincent, who has the male lead in "South Pacific," that of Emile De Beque, is a well-known Magic Valley performer. This is the fourth Dilettante production in which he has had the lead, and the sixth in which he and his wife have worked. Roger, Jr., the only boy in the busy family of six, looks on as his parents put in some extra practice. (Times-News photo)

Amateur Theatrical Activity Is Real
Family Affair for Roger Vincents

By RUTH KOONCE
Music is truly a family project at the Roger Vincent home near Filer. The whole family, because of a love of music, cooperates in every way to make time in the family's busy schedule for music and other varied activities.

Vincent again has won the state lead in the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley's upcoming production, "South Pacific," and Mrs. Vincent, as in years past, is pianist with the orchestra for the production.

The Vincents have six children—five girls and one boy, ranging in age from 12 years to 18 months. Mrs. Vincent, who teaches piano to 37 youngsters, has taught the three older girls piano and they now are furthering their study with the same instructor Mrs. Vincent has.

Mrs. Vincent said the cooperation members of the family show toward one another is wonderful. They each, in their own way, do their parts so the family has time to spend on things they enjoy.

Since Mrs. Vincent's schedule with piano students is quite heavy, the children lend a hand with the house work. Laura, 12, cooks supper for the family every night when Mrs. Vincent is teaching.

Mrs. Vincent said Laura has been in 4-H for several years and her training in cooking and sewing has come in very handy in meeting the rigorous schedule of such an active family.

Joe Ann, 11, "can drive any truck or tractor on the 240-acre irrigated farm," and proves it each evening when she drives truck for her father while he feeds his cows.

At present, Vincent has a daily herd of almost 200 animals, and takes care of them in his spare time.

"South Pacific" is the sixth Dilettante production Mr. and Mrs. Vincent have been in, and it is the fourth one in which Vincent has had the male lead.

The Vincents are a very public spirited family, as well as being exceptionally close-knit. The whole family, at least those who are old enough, take part in some civic activity.

Among Vincent's various activities, he serves as director for the Twin Falls Methodist church choir, is on the citizens' committee of the Pler school district, is a past patron of the Order of the Eastern Star, past master of the Masons, past president of the PTA and is president of the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley.

Besides teaching more than three dozen piano students, Mrs. Vincent finds time to belong to the Dilettante group, the Order of the Eastern Star, the civic symphony, and serves as president of the Pler Wranglerettes, which she helped organize several years ago.

Mrs. Vincent said the whole family share her love of horses and they all ride except the baby, who probably will "as soon as she's big enough to wear a pair of jeans."

In keeping with the "togetherness" theme, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent presented a joint recital in Boise and Twin Falls in 1961. Vincent was the lead man in "Kismet" when it was presented in Boise by Musical Productions, Inc., and has appeared as soloist in many opera productions in both Twin Falls and Boise.

He has also been soloist in both cities in such religious choral works as "The Messiah," "The Imperial Mass," "The Seven Last Words of Christ," and "The Crucifixion." Vincent also has been a guest soloist with the Boise Philharmonic Symphony.

The Vincents are obviously proud of their children, not only for the cooperation they show around the home, but for their personal achievements.

The eldest, Laura, won both the county and eight-county farm district junior division talent contest when she had just turned 12, which is the youngest a child can enter the contest.

Laura, following in her mother's footsteps, won the contest with her piano playing. She also won the state contest in the "Four Freedoms" Americanism essay contest.

Mrs. Vincent, just to prove that everyone gets into the act in a family such as this, cited an incident several years ago when Janie, who is 8 now, really got into the act during the Dilettante production of "Carousel."

During the course of the action, Vincent, who was playing the male lead, was "killed" on stage. Janie, who was only 3 at the time, got very upset because everyone on stage was bemoaning the fate of her "daddy," who obviously was not "among the living."

Mrs. Vincent said Janie got so hysterical she had to take her backstage to prove that her father was still alive.

"This," recalled Mrs. Vincent, "proved to be an even worse experience, as Roger had by this time put on makeup which made him appear ghost-like, and Janie got even more hysterical."

"Consequently," concluded Mrs. Vincent, "we had a very long wait backstage until the makeup could be taken off and Janie could see her 'real live dad.'"

"South Pacific," in which Vincent plays Emile De Beque, will be presented at the Filer high school auditorium March 12-14, and 18-20.

Tickets for the production, reports Mrs. Tom Driscoll, publicity director, will go on sale Monday at the following places:

Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce; Modern Drug, Filer; Bilck and Reese Produce, Castleford; Sav-Mor Drug, Buhl; Sullivan Music, Jerome; Wendell Drug, Wendell; Kimberley Drug, Kimberley, and Thriftway Drug, Burley.

Mrs. Driscoll reports all seats for the production are reserved and urges everyone to get their tickets early.

Even though Vincent, along with the rest of the cast, is spending much time getting ready for opening night, just a little over two weeks away, he still finds time to spend on important family matters.

This Times-News reporter, after a lengthy interview and picture-taking session with the Vincents, for which Vincent donned a suit and tie, remarked that it was too bad he had to put on his "Sunday best" for just one picture.

Vincent, a family man first and foremost, returned with, "Think nothing of it. One of my daughters is taking me to a father-daughter banquet tonight and I would have dressed up anyway."

Legislature Activity

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—The "economy bloc" recommendation for $23 million dollars spending for education and the new formula for distributing state school aid moved to the senate floor yesterday. The recommendation by the bloc of 12 senators, introduced in bill form, was higher than their original recommendation of 59 million dollars for education in a total budget of 119 million dollars. The distribution formula, already approved by the senate education committee, is to be amended Friday. The bloc's bill proposes spending be kept at its present level of 23 million dollars plus eight million dollars for increased teacher salaries and 4.2 million dollars for small schools and schools with rapidly growing enrollment. Introduced with the distribution formula was a new bill which would increase state aid to small high schools in remote areas. The formula already has been amended in the house to increase aid to remote high schools whether they are small or large. The formula would be ready for the governor's approval if it passes the senate. The new small high school bill would be sent to the house if approved by the senate.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—Compensation paid the five members of the fish and game commission would be increased from $10 to $25 per day under a bill approved today by the senate. The measure now goes to the house.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—The Idaho house completed legislative action today on a bill creating the Register Rock-Massacre Rock state park near Ardenburg in Power county. It now goes to the governor for signature. Creation of the park "to perpetuate and commemorate the pioneer site of the Oregon Trail" was recommended by the state department of commerce and development.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—A bill creating an independent state parks department was reported to the floor of the senate today without recommendation. The measure passed the house without opposition and under normal procedure will reach a vote in the senate Friday.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—The Idaho house received yesterday a memorial urging congress to retain a silver content of reduced silver content and to undertake a study of the uses of silver in defense programs. A conference of the silver cologne program, the memorial said, "is necessary to preserve the international prestige of our money and public confidence therein."

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—The Idaho house of representatives placed on general orders today for amendment a bill providing for a sweeping revision of powers granted to the state board of health. The action came following a 20-minute debate during which opponents contended new powers granted to the board in the fields of sanitation were too broad. They pointed out that the board would be empowered to close such facilities as public swimming pools and that owners would have no right of appeal.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—The price of driver's licenses in Idaho would be boosted from $4 to $6 under a bill introduced yesterday in the house of representatives. In addition to increasing the fee, the bill would extend the period for which they are valid from two years to three years. The measure also provides for an increase of $5 to $8 in the renewal fee for chauffeur's licenses.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—A bill requiring public hearings before wildlife restoration projects could be established passed the senate today without opposition. It produced vigorous objections when it first came before the senate and was amended to take out a provision opponents said would have given county commissioners power to veto any wildlife project.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—A bill authorizing counties to enact a 1 1/2 per cent sales tax was introduced yesterday in the Idaho senate. The tax could be effective only if approved by a majority vote in a county-wide referendum. A portion of the revenue from such a tax would go to cities and villages. The bill was introduced by the senate judiciary and rules committee.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—The bill establishing a new formula for distributing state funds to the public schools was cleared yesterday by the senate education committee. The committee voted to report the bill to the senate floor without recommendation. Under normal procedure the measure, already approved by the house, will come up for final consideration in the senate Friday.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—The senate approved today a bill creating a state underground water control board. The board would have authority to regulate pumping of water for irrigation purposes. Its operations would be financed by a tax on electricity and natural gas used for pumping purposes. The bill passed 28-15 but notice of possible reconsideration will keep it from going to the house immediately. It was opposed primarily on grounds it would affect pumping of water from lakes and streams, as well as from underground sources. Opponents contended farmers using surface pumping were not in favor of the proposal.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—A bill intended to make insurance money available to persons injured in an accident when the driver at fault is killed was passed 32-7 in the senate yesterday. Present law permits a company insuring the wrongdoer not to pay when he is killed, said Sen. James McClure, R., Payette, sponsor of the bill. Sen. William Roden, R., Ada, agreed with the intent but said he was opposed to wording that would base driver liability on insurance. In cases where the driver at fault was wealthy and did not carry insurance, Roden said, the injured parties might not be able to collect damages under terms of the bill.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—A bill permitting revision of nursing standards, licensing and regulations was approved 25-6 by the senate yesterday with a contingent of nurses looking on from the galleries. The bill permitting the revisions was termed "an effort by nurses to upgrade their profession" by Sen. William Roden, R., Ada. The bill already had passed the house and now is ready for the governor's approval. Sen. Joseph Ausch, D., Custer, objected that a high school education included in the revised standards could remove experienced registered nurses from their profession. Proponents said new standards would not apply to nurses already registered.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—A revised measure enacting a condominium law was introduced today in the Idaho senate. It establishes regulations governing the construction and operation of apartment buildings, in which occupants own their individual quarters and share in ownership of community facilities. A series of bills covering condominiums was enacted by the house early in the session. Senators said they found many errors in the bills and a new measure was drawn. It was introduced by the senate judiciary and rules committee. Sponsors of the house bills said they were prepared primarily to permit construction of condominiums at the Sun Valley resort.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—A bill that would ban commercial aircraft that have been in service for more than 18 years from county and municipal airports was introduced yesterday in the Idaho house of representatives. Rep. Don Pieper, D., Bonneville, sponsor of the measure, said it is intended to eliminate use of DR-3 aircraft by West Coast airlines. He complained that West Coast has "pirated F-27 prop jets from Idaho service to handle new services. Idaho has given all-out support to West Coast," said Pieper, "and is deserving of better treatment than it is presently receiving."

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—The lieutenant governor would replace the state superintendent of public instruction on the state land board under a bill introduced yesterday in the Idaho house. The bill was drafted to meet objections voiced by opponents of a proposed constitutional amendment which would make the state superintendent an appointive rather than an elective official. That proposal was killed by the house Tuesday, but was held over after members agreed to reconsider the vote. Several legislators complained that an appointive official sitting on the land board would dilute the control over public lands exercised by the people through their elective officials. They said they would withdraw their objections if another elective official were placed on the board in place of the superintendent. Serving on the board in addition to the superintendent are the governor, secretary of state, attorney general and state auditor.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—The Idaho house placed at an order of business today a bill its sponsors contend would eliminate inefficient school districts. Under the bill, remote districts located within 10 miles of each other on an all-weather road would be required to consolidate by 1967 or be considered as one district for purpose of competing state aid they would receive. The measure would also authorize the boards of trustees to levy in excess of the 30-mill limit for maintenance and operation if the districts decided not to consolidate. Opponents of the measure contended it would eliminate inefficient districts but objected to the 1967 deadline for consolidation. They asked that the bill be amended to give districts involved additional time to work out consolidation plans.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—Creation of a pea and lentil commission was approved by the senate yesterday over objections that some growers do not want it. A bill creating the commission, already passed in the house, was passed 35-7 by the senate. Lentil producers in Benewah county, according to Sen. Cy Chase, D., are forced into a commission, "healthy and they don't want to." William Dee, D., Idaho, who said the bill also was opposed by Sen. commission "broad powers to set allotments." But Sen. Don Howe, commission to promote markets and arranging to have special taxes set on commodities to pay for it.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Davis.

News Around Idaho

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—The Idaho house approved, 39-31, today a bill revising the state's library district law and authorizing a two-mill levy for library maintenance and operation. Under the bill, all qualified electors would be allowed to vote in a election called for from a library district, instead of just property taxpayers. The bill provides, however, that only real property taxpayers would vote in elections called to approve bond issues to finance construction.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—A measure proposing a convention to revise Idaho's 75-year-old constitution was introduced yesterday in the house of representatives. Also handed to house members was a companion measure creating a commission on constitutional revision and appointing delegates to the convention if ratified by the people. Gov. Robert E. Smylie in his "state of the state" message to the legislature urged that the people be allowed to vote on the question of whether a convention should be called. It was the fourth time he had made such a request to the legislature. Under the companion bill, the constitutional commission would be charged with undertaking a study of proposed changes in the document and setting up machinery for a convention. It would be made up of 15 members—five appointed by the governor, five appointed by the chief justice of the state supreme court and five appointed by the legislative council. In the event electors failed to ratify the proposed convention call, the commission would prepare recommended revision to the constitution which would be presented to the next legislature. If a convention were called, each county would be entitled to send a number of delegates equal to twice the number of members they have in the house of representatives.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—Manufacturing growth in Idaho was 55 per cent above the national average during the 10 years ending in 1963, Louise Shaddock, head of the state department of commerce and growth, said. Manufacturing growth in dollar value—and in payrolls—has increased more than 1,000 per cent since 1939, Miss Shaddock said.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—Fire destroyed a barn and killed 10 animals early today on the eastern outskirts of Boise. Owners of the barn, Ivan Harris, Jr. and Ivan Harris, Sr., estimated damage at between $50,000 and $60,000. Five fire engines from two Boise stations fought the blaze more than two hours. The younger Harris said the barn housed 50 tons of hay and two tractors. He said the animals killed included two registered quarterhorses, six calves and a registered bull and cow.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—Continued economic expansion was predicted today by George S. Eccles, Salt Lake City, president of the First Security corporation. He told a meeting of the Greater Boise Chamber of Commerce that the American economy will continue to expand at a moderate rate and he predicted that the present balance of payments problem will be solved. He called the latter problem a "dark spot on the skyline."

IDAHO FALLS, Feb. 25 (P)—A 37-year-old Idaho Falls woman is listed in "critical" condition at Idaho Falls LDS hospital after the car she was driving was struck by a Union Pacific freight train engine near Idaho Falls last night. Mrs. Leni S. Reuler received what appear to be severe head injuries when the train struck the right side of the car she was driving at a rural intersection. The train crossing is marked with flashing lights, which apparently were operating properly. The car was carried more than 400 feet down the track by the impact of the 20-car train, 17 of which were empty. No other details of the accident have been made available yet by Idaho state police officers who are investigating.

BOISE, Feb. 25 (P)—Appointment of A. C. Hartley, Boise, as manager of the state insurance fund was announced today by Gov. Robert E. Smylie. Hartley succeeds George Moore, also Boise, who resigned to enter private business. Hartley, 50, is a native of Ohio and has lived in Idaho since 1943. He was chief investigator and safety director for the state insurance fund for seven years, leaving the position in 1954 to accept employment with a private insurance company.

POCATELLO, Feb. 25 (P)—The state department of aeronautics director, Chet Moulton, expressed apprehension yesterday about whether a regional cooperative airport could be organized here. Moulton was in Pocatello for an annual safety award dinner for southeast Idaho pilots. He said such a project has never been tried before. He added there might be strife between different local governments taking part. "Those out in the country might not appreciate paying taxes for an operation which brings people into the city's hotels, restaurants and businesses," he said. The Pocatello city commission has suggested cooperation between the city, Bannock, Bingham, Power and Caribou counties in the operation of the airport. A bill has passed both houses in the legislature which would permit such cooperation. Moulton said the present law was amended years ago to permit such cooperation, and the new bill is just a clarification of what is already in effect.

POCATELLO, Feb. 25 (P)—The state highway department has cleared the way to advertise for bids this summer for the construction of a 3.2-mile segment of highway 15-W from the Chubbuck interchange into Power county. Bannock county commissioners have approved the route, after conferring with residents in the area. The proposed interstate will run from the Chubbuck interchange due west with an overpass across the Hawthorne road and a subway under Philbin road to the area of the Simplot and FMC fertilizer plants, where a West Pocatello interchange will be constructed.

IDAHO FALLS, Feb. 25 (P)—All of the major irrigation companies in Jefferson county this week adopted resolutions urging passage of senate bills 205 and 206 creating an Idaho water agency, canal company representatives have been notified. The bills, reported out by the joint senate and house conference committees, already have the blessings of 41 canal companies embraced in the upper Snake river water users protective union. The protective union unanimously endorsed the two bills at its annual meeting in Idaho Falls this week. The two bills are a compromise of earlier legislation introduced by the governor's water development study committee and have the blessing of Governor Smylie and the committee. The legislation seeks to establish a water agency, capable of blueprinting Idaho's water development program, authorizing projects under a state bonding program where they are considered feasible.

Safe Driving Film Seen by Exchangites

A film on safe driving, "Handling the Unexpected," was shown during the Tuesday noon luncheon meeting of the Twin Falls Exchange club in the Rogerson hotel Roundup room. Sgt. Marvin Snyder of the local Idaho state police, was a guest at the meeting and commented on the color film, which was produced by Chevrolet in cooperation with the Kansas, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Florida state highway patrols.

Col. L. E. Hughes, superintendent of the Kansas state highway patrol, opened the 15-minute film with remarks on safe driving, then outlined seven of the most frequent unexpected traffic situations and how to react to them. "Most unexpected traffic situations wouldn't occur if everyone drove safely and had their automobile checked periodically," Colonel Hughes said.

The first situation was the skid, on which the narrator said the driver should maintain power and steer into the skid, not jam on the brakes or take the foot from the gas pedal.

The next unexpected circumstance was if a driver, breezing along at a good clip, is suddenly confronted by another car being driven into an intersection a short distance away and the other car stalls in the crossroads. The safest reaction, the film said, is to apply firm but steady pressure to the brakes, "not jam them and cause the other driver."

Next was the stick gas pedal, for which a driver should turn off the ignition and let the dead engine, still in gear, slow the car down until it is pulled off the road. Don't force to free the pedal with your foot or hand.

The fourth situation was coming across an unexpected obstacle in the road, such as a stalled truck across the highway just around a curve. The safe reaction: drive around the obstacle even if it means going off the road.

Next was the tire blowout while traveling at a high rate of speed. Drivers were cautioned to maintain power and apply brakes gently. Jamming on brakes could result in the car going out of control.

The last two situations were driving up onto an ice-covered bridge, for which the driver should reduce speed gradually before reaching the overpass, and how to move a car which has become stuck in the mud. In the latter case, the driver should shift rhythmically from forward to reverse, gently rocking the car back and forth to get it out.

Before the film was shown, club members discussed tentative plans for a party in March and Jerry Wood, Boise, gave the club a check for $180 for flag staffs the Boise Exchange club purchased recently from the Twin Falls club.

Casino for Teen-Agers Is Uncovered

HAWORTE, N. J., Feb. 25 (P)—A gambling casino operated by teen-agers for a teen-age clientele has been uncovered in this community after operating about two months. The gaming room, in the basement of a $40,000 private home, was patterned after dice rooms in Puerto Rico, police said today. They said the "youthful" host wore a white dinner jacket and took time to receive his patrons. Police said the operators of the gaming room, two 16-year-olds and one 17-year-old, provided limousine service for some of the players. From records seized by police, it was determined that many of the players were in debt to the house.

As many as 20 teen-agers, from 15 to 17 years old, would play at one time, said police. The operators of the game were charged as juvenile delinquents and released in custody of their parents.

The owners of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olsen, 481 Beech street, were charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors, as was their maid, Minnie Chatham, Michel said.

The Olsens were released in $1,000 bail each and Mrs. Chatham in $500.

New Lung Disease Explained

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—As many as 60,000 Americans will die this year of emphysema, a lung disease most of them never heard of until recent years. It was prominently mentioned in the government's 1964 report on illness linked to cigarette smoking.

Scientists know little about the cause of emphysema but they say it can be controlled if detected early enough. The disease was virtually unknown 30 years ago, possibly even among doctors who said it was responsible for only 145 American deaths in 1935. But it is now regarded as second only to heart seizure as a disabling of adult men.

Unusual shortness of breath is the first warning sign of the emphysema (pronounced em-fay-see-much).

Dr. Alma Roberts, chief of the cardio-pulmonary disease division of the public health service, estimated today that one of every 10 American men over age 45 have at least a slight case of emphysema. Women and younger people are less likely to have it.

One to two million Americans now have severe cases of emphysema, Roberts said. As many as 10 million others may have cases that are apparent but not yet severe.

Many deaths previously attributed to chronic bronchitis or heart disease probably were caused by emphysema. It is difficult to distinguish some cases of emphysema from chronic bronchitis until an autopsy established whether the lung was inflamed from bronchitis or progressively killed, cell by cell, by emphysema.

Advanced cases of emphysema can starve the heart of oxygen to the point where it fails and heart trouble is listed as the cause of death.

The name emphysema comes from a Greek word meaning "swollen." The disease causes the lungs to lose their elasticity so that the air that has been inhaled is inadequately exhaled. In time this causes enlargement of the lungs and even a barrel-chested appearance.

The air that a person inhales eventually winds up in a series of tiny air sacs called alveoli. These sacs, which exist in the lungs by the millions, distribute air to the bloodstream.

Emphysema causes the sacs to lose their resiliency. They fail to expel air into the main cavity of the lung to make room for fresh air. The sacs become bloated and useless.

As the individual breathes improperly or inhales quantities of pollutants in the air, the condition spreads. At the same time the swollen sacs press against each other and it is further aggravated.

Research under public health service grants is being conducted into the cause of emphysema and into methods of treating it.

President Johnson did not mention emphysema in his recent health message to congress.

However, scientists and doctors working in the field of lung disorders hope that congress will provide enough money for the over-all program to permit the surgeon general to channel some funds into emphysema studies.

The public health service has one million dollars to spend over a three-year period, beginning next July, on methods of treating emphysema.

HAGERMAN, Feb. 25 — Americanism was the topic for the program at the American Legion auxiliary meeting, with Mrs. Eleanor McConkey in charge of the program.

Mrs. McConkey read an article on national Americanism, and stressed the definition of Americanism as "an unflinching love of country; loyalty to its institutions and ideals; eagerness to defend it against all enemies; individual allegiance to the flag and a desire to secure the blessing of liberty to ourselves and posterity." She stated that we can not withdraw from the human rights, and without God there is no Americanism.

Persons are urged to write to their representatives and congressmen asking them to vote for eldercare.

Optometrist Talks to PTA At Hazelton

EDEN-HAZELTON, Feb. 25 — Mrs. Harold Grant, program chairman, introduced Dr. Arthur H. Bonde, Rupert optometrist, as guest speaker at the Valley PTA open house held at the Hazelton grade school Monday evening.

He spoke on the varied eye problems of school children and the effect of their physical health upon the eyes.

Dr. Bonde stressed all children with eye problems do not need glasses and that the parents could help prevent some of the reading, writing and spelling difficulties by giving the children the opportunity to develop vision and co-ordination at home.

In his opinion this can be started at cradle level simply by allowing a baby to learn to crawl on the floor without clothing restricting him. In his estimation, a playpen can only hamper an infant in learning to use himself as he should.

He stated if a child cannot use both sides of his body in physical activity it can affect his eyes in the form of the mental blocking of one, therefore putting excess strain upon the other.

This can be corrected usually by simple exercises performed in the home. However, the longer the condition is left the harder it is to correct, he said. Eye problems can result in personality and general health changes as well as the students scholastic work.

Mrs. Ernest Buschhorn explained the new SRA reading system being used in the intermediate grades at Hazelton. This is a supplement to the regular reading courses and is not graded. It is used strictly for the child's improvement and pleasure.

Monte Andrus spoke on modern mathematics as used in his classes. The books used in the Hazelton school are transitional — being neither old nor new method but a combination of the two.

Teachers held open house in their respective classrooms after which Mrs. Phillip Cochran, ETA president, conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. Marvin Johnson read the PTA prayer and Mrs. D. L. Anderson presented the Founder's day cake to Mrs. Cochran.

Mrs. Leona, Mrs. Ray Ernst, and Mrs. Robert Sellers were appointed to the nomination committee.

Transit Company Has Sales Gain

Aero Mayflower Transit company in 1964 posted record sales for the 21st consecutive year, up 8.1 per cent over the previous year. The company anticipates substantially greater gains in 1965.

John Sloan Smith, president, said the increase was achieved despite a lower line haul revenue traffic that was in effect during the first eight months of 1964.

Rates were 4 1/2 per cent lower than they were in 1963 and about 12 per cent below the present rates.

The company, in cooperation with agents in all principal cities of the United States and Canada, handled a record number of 115,338 long distance moves last year.

Manager of the Twin Falls Aero Mayflower Transit office is Ralph Harris.

Four Live on Liquid Diet For 3 Weeks

DAYTON, O., Feb. 25 (AP)—The secret to getting volunteers for such space-age experiments as living on liquids is a five-letter word—money.

So far it's worked for the medical research laboratory at Wright-Patterson air force base here to recruit more than two dozen volunteers, nearly all college students.

The volunteers live on experimental foods, undergo prolonged confinement in a "space tank" and submit to other tests.

They get $1,000—which shrinks to $845.23 cash after federal and city income taxes and social security deductions. The pay scale is calculated to insure completion of the tests — you get $1,000 only if you complete the assignment.

Through seven tests, there hasn't been a dropout.

Four Ohio State university students who ended six weeks of isolation, the last three on a liquid diet, yesterday agreed they volunteered for the money.

"We're not bi-eyed idealists," said John T. Kelley, 28, of Willoughby, O.

Brooks L. Harrop, 25, Amlin, O., said the $1,000 led his wife to agree to the six-week separation. He talked with her by telephone twice. He said, she "is very glad I'm getting out."

Some volunteers are motivated in part by curiosity. Gerald Paul Petersen, 22, Euclid, O., for instance, is a pre-medical student at Ohio State who is fascinated by medical research and flying.

"The $1,000 was for school," he said. "The rest I did because I wanted to." He termed the isolation "a good experience."

Such confinement teaches you about yourself, said Norman H. Gary, 22, Delaware, O. He said he learned patience. "I sat for three hours one night," he said, "and just watched the wall." Other times they read and played cards — they wore out two decks.

The bearded volunteers took showers for the first time in five weeks — "I scrubbed three times and stayed under the shower 35 minutes," Gary said — then had their first hot meal in about six weeks. They had subsisted on cold solid food and the flavored milk concentrate.

Has Surgery

CAREY, Feb. 25 — H. Kay Thatcher, Carey postmaster, entered the LDS hospital, Salt Lake City, for surgery Tuesday morning.

Thatcher will have surgery on his left shoulder which he broke last September in a fall. His wife accompanied him to Salt Lake City. In his absence, Mrs. Lee Eldredge is acting postmaster and Mrs. Aral Bennett is acting clerk.

First Aid Instructors Are Trained Here by Red Cross

The Red Cross is conducting an instructors training session for people from the surrounding area who, after finishing the course, will instruct first aid classes in their respective towns.

Mrs. Elson Basom, county Red Cross chairman, said these training sessions generally are conducted by the national Red Cross office, but Frank Mogenson, Twin Falls, has been certified by the national office and is conducting the present session.

The 15-hour training program, scheduled to last through this week, is being held in the Red Cross auditorium in the Boy Scout building.

Because of these instructor training sessions, the Red Cross is able to reach more people than it would if people could just take first aid courses out of area offices.

Mrs. Basom said that in the Twin Falls area alone, about 500 people a year take advantage of the Red Cross first aid training sessions. She said these people come from all walks of life and take the training for many different reasons.

She said she would urge at least one person in each family to take a first aid course, because often a little simple first aid, if applied correctly and in time, can save a person's life.

Mrs. Basom went on to say that if anyone desires to take such a course, he needs only to contact her to make arrangements, as there are sessions going on at almost any time throughout the year.

THURSDAY NIGHT MOVIES
"The Last Time I Saw Paris," (1954) Elizabeth Taylor and Van Johnson (9:30 p.m. KMYT)—Well-made romantic drama of a couple in Paris during World War II and their love affair. The performances are okay.
"My Blue Heaven," (1950) Betty Grable and Dan Dailey (10:30 p.m. KSL)—Dull musical-comedy, but typical of the musical of the late 40's and early 50's with plenty of songs, which have little or nothing to do with the plotless story.
"The Prisoner," (British, 1955) Alec Guinness and Jack Hawkins (10:35 p.m. KCPX)—A cardinal is imprisoned and relentlessly questioned by the police of a communist state. An actor's show; Guinness and Hawkins display some superb performances in this gripping topical drama. An excellent film.

Yanks No Longer Control American Loop, Senate Hearing Committee Told

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Arthur C. Allyn, Chicago White Sox owner, said Wednesday the American league "has blown the whistle" on the New York Yankees and the perennial champs no longer dominate league operations. This disputed a statement by the owner of the Kansas City Athletics, Charles O. Finley, that the Yankees still call the tune in the league. Under questioning before the senate anti-trust subcommittee, Allyn agreed with a statement from Bill Veeck, his predecessor as White Sox boss, that the Yankees had previously tended to dominate league decisions off the field much as they dominated play on the field.

Predicting Bauer Sees Oriole Title

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Manager Hank Bauer, with a reputation as a prognosticator to uphold, has predicted an American league pennant for the Baltimore Orioles this year.

Bauer shocked some Oriole fans last spring when he predicted the New York Yankees would win the championship and Baltimore would finish third. Some critics thought he had given up before the season even started.

But Bauer, realistic and candid, turned out to be correct. The Orioles did finish third, but only two games behind the pennant-winning Yankees.

"I've got to be a prognosticator again," Bauer said, sounding a bit like his old Yankee skipper, Casey Stengel. "I don't know how to spell the word but I know it means something about predicting."

"Anyhow, I'm going for broke this time. I think this year's ball club is good enough to win the pennant."

Near the end of last season's close pennant race, Bauer used to say the only edge the Yanks held was the experience of having been under such pressure in the past. Now, Bauer thinks the Orioles have profited from their stretch-drive exposure.

"They got close enough to smell the pennant," he said. "That experience under pressure is darn valuable."

"Another thing, I think some of our young pitchers are ready to help. I mean Dave McNally, Frank Bertalan, Darold Knowles and Dave Vinneyard."

Bauer also hopes Jim Palmer, a 19-year-old right-hander who was 11-3 with Aberdeen in the Northern league last year, might be the 1966 Wally Bunker. Last season, Bunker won 19 games as a rookie after only a half season of pro ball.

"They tell me he's faster than Bunker," Bauer said. "But whether he has what Bunker has up here (pointing to his head) is something we got to find out."

California Race Won By Bateur

SCADIA, Calif., Feb. 25 (AP)—Bateur, with Manuel Yezza in the saddle, took command midway in the stretch Wednesday and went on to an easy five-length victory in the $34,700 Santa Barbara handicap.

The mile and one-quarter feature, raced over Santa Anita's hillside-infield turf course, was limited to fillies and mares 3 years old and up.

Curious Clover, ridden by Ken Church, was second and Kisco Gal finished third.

Bateur, owned by William Haggin Ferry, previously had won the Santa Maria handicap here. She was timed Wednesday in 1:58 2-5, equal to the track record set by Round Table in 1959.

Spring Shoot Is Slated by Club

BULLH, Feb. 25—The Bull Bowman Archery club will hold its annual spring invitational shoot April 11, club officials reported today.

Lowell Jagels won the high scratch score for the men during the traveling trophy shoot held Monday evening at the clubhouse. Clara Jagels took the high scratch score for the women; Lawrence Quigley, high handicapper for the men, and Joyce Hoffman, high handicap score for the women.

It was also noted inter-club team shoots have been organized. The four teams compete each Monday evening and at the conclusion of the winter indoor shoots trophies will be awarded the team scoring the highest points.

Service to Landowners Benefits Idaho Wildlife

BOISE, Feb. 25—A twofold program to give increased service to private landholders as a means of benefiting wildlife, and all-out cooperation with federal and state land management agencies toward the same end on public lands was reported today by the Idaho fish and game department.

The cooperative program with other state departments and federal agencies such as the bureau of land management and the forest service is aimed to rehabilitating overused public lands to increase the carrying capacity for wildlife as well as livestock.

Gene deRus, state land management supervisor, pointed out that such agencies now have the budgets and the manpower to do some of these big jobs, and the fish and game department will give them all the assistance possible.

Richard Shoots Montreal to Win

MONTREAL, Feb. 25 (AP)—Henri Richard scored three goals and added two assists in Montreal's 6-1 triumph over New York Wednesday night.

Richard started his hat trick midway through the first period, tying the game 1-1 on assists from Claude Provost and Dave Balon.

The Rangers had taken the lead at 7:30 on a goal by Jean Ratelle with help from Rod Gilbert and Doug Robinson.

Richard scored his 19th and 20th goals of the season in the second period.

Chicago Blanks Red Wings 3-0

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks built up a 3-0 lead, then had to hang on in the final minutes to gain a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Red Wings Wednesday night.

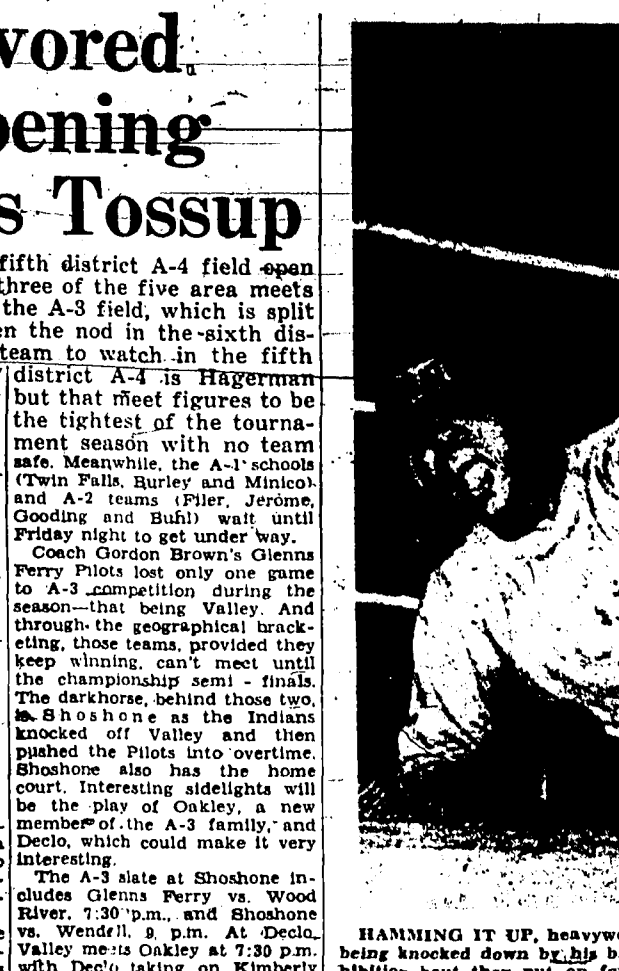

The victory kept the Hawks three points ahead of the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League title chase.

Goxy Glenn Hall starred for the Hawks with 28 stops, many of them brilliant, against a determined Detroit team, which hasn't won a regular season game in Chicago since March 19, 1963.

Clay Given Okay to Spar For Muslims

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP)—A boxing exhibition by heavyweight champion Cassius Clay during a Black Muslim convention Saturday was approved by the Illinois state athletic commission in an hour's closed session Wednesday.

The action came as Ernie Terrell and Eddie Machen waited outside for a commission briefing on their bout for the World Boxing association's version of the heavyweight title March 5.

With two staff members of the Illinois attorney general's office and Clay's lawyer present, the commission gave final sanction to Clay's afternoon-evening sparring bouts at the police-guarded Coliseum.

Clay will box four rounds each with his brother, Rudy, and Cody Jones, Detroit.

Clay's attorney, Chauncey Eskridge, told the commission the champion had no concern regarding his own safety during the exhibition and was ready and willing to participate.

An official of the state attorney general's office told a news conference that the Chicago police reported they did not expect any difficulty at the Muslim convention.

A's Open With Three Men Out

BRADENTON, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—One player remained unsigned and two were absent Wednesday as the Kansas City Athletics opened spring training with a strenuous two and one-half-hour workout at McKechnie field.

Campy Campaneris, an infielder-buffetier, is the only player who has not agreed to terms. Pat Friday, general manager of the A's, said he received a letter Tuesday in which Campaneris asked him for a fuller explanation of his contract.

Maple Leafs Fall to Bruins

TORONTO, Feb. 25 (AP)—Two goals by Ed Westfall carried the Boston Bruins past the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1 Wednesday night in the National Hockey league.

Westfall's first goal, at 12:57 of the second period, snapped a 1-1 tie and put the last-place Bruins ahead to stay. He added an insurance tally at 12:29 of the third period.

Old Hat Takes Sixth in Row

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Old Hat, champion handicap mare of 1964, captured the $60,000 Black Helen handicap at Hialeah Wednesday and stretched her winning streak to six in a row.

Under a well-judged ride by Donald Brumfield, Old Hat carried 125 pounds over the one and one-eighth miles in 1:49 4/5 on a track rated fast. She finished three-fourths of a length in front of Steeple Jill, who was one-half length ahead of Windsor Lady.

Examples of such cooperative work between the department and the federal land management agencies include bitterbrush reseeding, sawing and "chaining" old-growth mahogany and juniper to stimulate re-growth of desirable plants, water development on arid lands and reseeded abandoned logging roads to improve habitat for deer and grouse.

Miss Chapman Is Bowling Champ

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 25 (AP)—JoAnne Chapman, Blencoe, Ia., defeated Joy Abel, Chicago, 594-575 Wednesday night and won the $15,000 Professional Woman Bowler's association tournament.

Miss Chapman won $2,000 first prize in nabbing the three-game championship series.

DETROIT, tralling by as much as 10 points late in the second quarter and lagging by 18 at halftime, began its move in the third period when Reggie Hardigg and Ray Scott each dumped in three baskets.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, FEB. 25 — Born today, you have about you much of the romantic. Nothing excites your imagination more than tales of great deeds or dreams of heroic conquests. You must take care, however, that the takes and dreams do not become such a major part of your life that you fail to do anything real to make them come true. In other words, always make certain that you know the difference between fact and fancy.

You could easily become a leader in your chosen field once you put your mind to the actual accomplishment of goals, rather than dwelling on the goals themselves. The determination that is so strong in many born under the sign of Pisces is not as powerful in you—but that is no reason why you could not develop enough stick-to-itiveness to accomplish your purpose.

You are emotionally vulnerable to the attacks of critics, and this may be behind your refusal, at times, to take on projects which are extremely important either to you or to others. You must learn not to fear what others say; fear only your fears, and you will free yourself from them and be able to work to full capacity and productivity.

Among those born on this date are: Pierre Auguste Renoir, French impressionist painter; Jose de San Martin, liberator of Argentina; Benedetto Croce, Italian statesman, critic, philosopher.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, Feb. 26

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—Take care of essentials in the early hours. Then you can afford to take time for entertaining later.

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—Make an effort not to aggravate the present domestic situation. Let sleeping dogs lie.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Despite the fact that you have the opportunity to help others, remember that your first duty is to yourself today.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—A day when Gemini could easily be fooled by appearance.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Try to finish your work before the week end. The Cancer who leaves "leftovers" behind will regret it Monday.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—A careless word could undo the work of months. Make a special effort to be tactful and diplomatic.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Add weight to your opinion by referring to facts and figures familiar to those with whom you are speaking.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Avoid taking sides in employment disputes. Make your way alone, if necessary.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—Adjust your mood to those with whom you must associate. Compromise is not defeat.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Conflict creates more tension if left bottled-up than if brought out into the open.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Take legal matters seriously. Consult an expert if necessary.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Avoid acting without deliberation.

Richfield Girl Is Stewardess

RICHFIELD, Feb. 25 — Carol Haubrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Haubrich, Richfield, was graduated from stewardess training school at the United Air Lines center in Chicago.

Her stewardess wings were pinned on her by her sister, Mrs. Willis Anderson, Los Angeles, the former Kay Haubrich, who also is a stewardess and now is employed by the same company in the division office.

Carol Haubrich is based at Seattle. She attended Richfield and Schoshone schools and was employed in Mountain View, Calif., as a secretary until January.

Air Raids Used to Hit Viet Cong on Ground

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam, Feb. 25 — The United States has tacitly recognized that it cannot currently beat the Viet Cong on the ground without committing hundreds of thousands of troops. As a result it has in effect taken to the air to try to beat the communist forces in Viet Nam with another type of war.

"This agonizing policy decision was many months in coming. It exploded into reality recently when Viet Cong raiders successfully attacked two major American installations at Pleiku on the same day. Retaliatory air raids against North Viet Nam began.

There seems little hope of ever protecting American installations here against the guerrillas, no matter what is done on the ground. Big, fixed installations always have been sitting ducks for guerrilla attacks. The Viet Cong has demonstrated this repeatedly in four years, and now appears to have opened a full-fledged campaign against bases.

The Vietnamese and American retaliatory air raids earlier this month on North Viet Nam are not expected to have a direct effect on the guerrillas. U.S. officials do not believe the raids will seriously hamper Viet Cong infiltration routes.

"What we're trying to do," a ranking American official said, "is to get Hanoi to cut-off the communist operations in the South."

These air raids are based on two assumptions. The first assumption is that they will hurt or scare Hanoi and its communist allies enough that they will send cease-fire orders to the Viet Cong in the South.

The second is that if such orders should be transmitted by Hanoi they would be followed by the Viet Cong.

Neither of these assumptions is a certainty, and air raids are a gamble. But it is a gamble worth taking right now, U.S. officials feel, if air is not to be lost. Air raids so far have been confined to military installations.

The war could even be escalated to a confrontation with Communist China, as things now stand. Obviously, both Saigon and Washington would prefer to take care of the guerrilla situation in South Viet Nam itself. But even in terms of expecting reasonable protection for American bases, this has been recognized as unrealistic.

Lieut. Gen. John L. Throckmorton, deputy commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, is one of those who have personally suffered in this war. His son, Capt. Thomas B. Throckmorton, was seriously wounded by a shell fragment in a clash with guerrillas.

Gen. Throckmorton, seemingly expressing the feeling of the entire American official community, said about the Pleiku attack:

"In the first place, it would be very difficult for the Vietnamese armed forces to guarantee security under the conditions which exist here today.

"It must be recognized that in order for them to be able to say positively that none of our installations will be attacked by mortar or rifle fire, they would have to deploy an exceptionally large number of troops around key installations to absolutely preclude infiltration.

"We must take certain calculated risks. Otherwise, we get troops tied down to static security tasks and unable to move out against the Viet Cong. They must operate away from the land, commander of American forces here.

If U.S. combat units including entire combat divisions go into operation, Viet Nam becomes an American war, and this is a situation Washington has so far sought to avoid. There are no indications here that this policy is about to be changed.

The air raids have been carefully planned to include at least token participation by Vietnamese planes, even though the bulk of the job has been handled by U.S. navy jets. Those jets are based on aircraft carriers — the only air installations that cannot be attacked by guerrillas.
