

Zoning Proposal Protested, New Hearing Planned

Reaction was mostly unfavorable Thursday night in Twin Falls at a public hearing on a proposed county zoning ordinance which is designed to curtail suburban growth and keep city dwellers in the city. Another hearing on the proposed ordinance will be scheduled, according to W. W. Lowery, chairman of the board of county commissioners. An overflow crowd of interested county citizens attended the hearing in the courthouse. The consensus appeared to be that the provisions of the ordinance were restrictive rather than protective and that citizens had been misled about the aims of the ordinance when it was voted on in 1963.

Several persons who voiced their opinions from the floor stated they were of the opinion when the ordinance was proposed prior to the 1963 election, that it would be, in essence, a different ordinance than the one presented to them at Thursday night's hearing.

Opponents said the main points brought out before the election concerned restrictions on the location of junk yards, stock yards, slaughter houses and similar business firms. This protection against operations which are disagreeable to the senses, is needed in residential areas, the citizens said.

The ordinance provides for 12 zones. Its purpose, according to proponents, is mainly to insure the orderly growth and development of Twin Falls and of the county and to be fair to the farmer, the commuter and the

Dennis Burks Is Hall of Fame Choice

For many years Sam Burks was, in essence, the Flat-Top Sheep company, and after his death the question usually was, who would succeed him as manager of one of Idaho's outstanding livestock companies. His successor was his son, Dennis Burks, and the choice has since proved to be fruitful. In Dennis Burks the company picked a dedicated range man. Burks, along with four other Magic Valley residents, will be honored during annual Livestock Hall of Fame banquet which will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the American Legion hall in Twin Falls.

Uhlig Is Selected for Hall of Fame

In the past 20 years Ed Uhlig has constructed one of the best cattle feeding operations in the Intermountain area. On what was once sagebrush and rangeland, Uhlig has worked to build a cattle feeding system which is the envy of many livestockmen.

The operation has been featured in many publications such as Farm Journal and a trade publication of the Western States Cattle Packers association.

Uhlig, along with four other residents, will be honored Saturday evening at the annual Livestock Hall of Fame banquet at the American Legion hall in Twin Falls.

LAS VEGAS, Nev., March 12 (UPI)—Singer Kevy Smith, former wife of bandleader Louis Prima, plans to marry her record producer, Jimmy Bowen, Aug. 12.

Experts Say War Possible if Problem of Feeding Population Is Not Solved

While Americans ponder the newly declared war on domestic poverty, a poverty beyond the limitations of American resources is simulating a world battle against staggering obstacles. Those in the vanguard say it can be won.

U.S. generosity to a hungry world has been unparalleled in history. But the hunger of two-thirds of the world's people still prick the conscience of the West's affluent societies.

Since the Marshall plan began in 1948, and since 1954 under public law 480—food-for-peace—the U.S. government has sent 20 billion dollars worth of food for distributing abroad. Added

Production of "South Pacific" Ready To Open Tonight at Filer Auditorium

All the tenseness and excitement of opening night prevailed at the dress rehearsal of the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley's production of "South Pacific," scheduled to open Friday night at the Filer high school auditorium.

Makeup, costume fittings and the last-minute going over of lines Thursday night sparked the cast into a state of tenseness known only to those who have gone through the excitement of a dress rehearsal. The tenseness, however, to dampen the enthusiasm and confidence of cast and crew.

This, the seventh Dilettante production, stars Mrs. Lloyd Walker and Roger Vincent, Helen Gee, Ivan Squires and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Willis, Jr., are some of the major supporting actors and actresses.

Almost 200 people have worked diligently on the production, some for about a year, to bring it up to opening night.

The musical comedy, which opens at 8:15 tonight, lasts for two and one-half hours. If any tickets for various nights are left over, they will be sold at the door, but as ticket sales are going quite well, seats should be reserved.

Tickets may be reserved by calling 733-5189, or by picking them up at the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce office; Modern Drug in Filer; Blick and Reese Produce in Castletford; Sav-Mor Drug in Buhl; Sullivan Music in Jerome; Wendell Drug in Wendell; Kimberly Drug in Kimberly, and the Thriftyway Drug in Burley.

The production runs from March 12 to 14 and from March 18 to 20. The March 14 performance is a matinee, starting at 2:15 p.m.

Some Potato Firms Buy From California

Potato processors confirmed Thursday they plan to buy California potatoes to fill shortages in the Idaho crop resulting from December floods and bad weather. But with the exception of Ore-Ida Foods, Inc., which has a plant at Burley, Magic Valley potato processors are not buying California potatoes and do not anticipate purchasing any from out of state. There was no indication that layoffs of processing plant personnel would occur. About 5,000 carloads from California will be needed to cover all processors in southwestern Idaho until a new Idaho crop is harvested in August, said Leon Jones, vice president of the J. R. Simplot company.

Dale McLean, spokesman for Ore-Ida Foods, Inc. in Ontario, Ore., said he could not predict how many carloads his firm will buy from California.

But he said it would be a small fraction of the approximately 13,000 carloads the firm processes each year.

Neither firm disclosed the price it would pay for California potatoes and the spokesmen were uncertain of the percentage of number one to be included in California purchases.

Ray Funk, president of the Southeast Idaho Potato Growers, said earlier in the week that California growers were offered $2.45 for 80 per cent number ones.

He said the highest rate offered Idaho growers was $2.05 for number ones and 75 cents for the processing grades.

Southeast Idaho growers were urged not to sign contracts with processors for less than the $1.75 average per hundredweight which the district potato growing and marketing association said is the minimum price for profit.

McLean said that as in past years Ore-Ida Foods will make arrangements not to label California potatoes as being from Idaho.

A spokesman for Great Atlantic said the company is not buying California potatoes.

Chief Opens Gym, Won't Use It

WASHINGTON, March 12 (UPI)—President Johnson helped his friends in the house inaugurate their new health club yesterday. But he said he hadn't come for a workout—he gets one every day.

Johnson arrived late for the ceremonies in the new Rayburn house office building. He got there so late it was assumed he was lost somewhere in the vast structure.

Launch Reported

MOSCOW, March 12 (UPI)—The Soviet Union today launched Cosmos 60, one of a series of unmanned Earth satellites the Russians say are for scientific research. The Soviet news agency Tass said the satellite is following an orbit 136 to 176 miles above the Earth.

Formula Is Major Block After Sales Tax Bill Okayed

BOISE, March 12 (AP)—Agreement on a school fund distribution formula remained today the major roadblock to winding up the business of the 1965 Idaho legislature. Passage of the sales tax by the senate yesterday sends the bill to the governor, who called for it in his budget message to the legislature. It will finance the appropriations he recommended as being needed for a "new day" for Idaho. "New day" is Gov. Robert E. Smylie's term for his recommended 135 million dollar program for education, health, welfare and conservation programs.

The school formula approved by the house was amended in the senate to provide additional funds for districts which otherwise would receive no more in state aid than they are getting in the present biennium.

But the house refused to go along with the senate changes and called for appointment of a conference committee. That group will attempt to come up with a plan acceptable to both the house and senate. If agreement is not reached, the formula which is being used for the present biennium would remain in effect.

Leaders had given up any idea of ending the regular session, now in its eighth overtime day, before Monday.

Plans called for convening the special session on reapportionment the day following, with the possibility a recess of several days then would be ordered. It would permit committee study of reapportionment proposals drafted by the legislative council.

The house passed without debate a measure providing for what were described as "modest" salary increases for state elective officials.

Under the bill, the governor's salary would be increased from $15,000 to $17,500. The state auditor and attorney general's salaries would be boosted $4,500 to $14,500 and the state treasurer and secretary of state and state superintendent of public instruction would receive $12,000, a $2,000 increase.

All increases would be effective Jan. 1, 1967.

Rep. William Lanting, R., Twin Falls, told house members Smylie had indicated he believed there should be some adjustment during the session.

Alabama's Racial Troubles Mount

SELMA, Ala., March 12 (UPI)—The breakdown of a short-lived truce in Selma and the death of a civil rights advocate built Alabama's racial situation to powderkeg proportions today. "This city has been torn apart. It didn't deserve it. Let President Johnson try to do something now," declared Selma Mayor Joe Smitherman. The mayor spoke as he stood under a big black umbrella facing a group of singing demonstrators who have been trying for two days to march on the Dallas county courthouse to hold a prayer session for Rev. James J. Reeb, the white Boston clergyman who died last night of a beating suffered Tuesday in Selma.

Reeb was cremated last night and his ashes flown today to Casper, Wyo., his birthplace.

President Johnson was dispatching a government jetstar to Birmingham to pick up Mrs. Reeb and return her to Boston, where she and her husband and their four children made their home.

The Reeb children are John, 13, Karen, 7, Anne, 6, and Steven, 4. The three younger children were asleep when word of their father's death was received last night. John broke into tears.

About 50 college students staged a sit-in at the justice department office in Boston today, vowing to stay there until President Johnson sends troops into Alabama.

A group of students also demonstrated at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, and at the White House a heavy police guard was posted to prevent a sit-in.

Gov. Smylie Is Exuberant Over Tax OK

BOISE, March 12 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie, exuberant over senate approval of his recommended sales tax, said yesterday approval "will mark this legislature in history as one of the greatest."

"Idaho's state senate has joined the house of representatives in a decision to stand tall against the skyline of Idaho's future," the governor said.

The historic vote in the senate today marks the hour when Idaho made its decision to be as great as her dreams."

The tax will finance an approximately 135 million "new day" program recommended by the governor if spending bills for it now are approved by the legislature.

"Now it is possible," said Smylie, "to make adequate provision for our public schools and universities, for our public health and welfare programs and the conservation of our natural resources."

Satisfactory

LONDON, March 12 (AP)—A medical bulletin today said the condition of the Duke of Windsor's left eye is satisfactory and he is comfortable.

The 70-year-old duke has undergone surgery three times for a detached retina. The first operation was on Feb. 22, the third on Wednesday.

There was no indication when the duke's condition would permit his niece, Queen Elizabeth II, to visit him. Buckingham Palace said earlier this week the queen also would meet the duchess.

Grading for Bull Sale at Filer Starts

FILER, March 10—Grading of bulls for the 26th annual Spring Range Bull sale at the Filer fairgrounds started at 10 a.m. Friday.

There have been 206 bulls consigned from Idaho, Utah, Oregon and Nevada for the Saturday sale. The Idaho Cattlemen's association sponsors the sale.

The sale features purebred Hereford and Shorthorn range bulls.

Colin McLean, Jr., Caldwell, is chairman of the sale committee. Auctioneers will be Si Williams, Pendleton, Ore., and Clayton Tschurgel, Fruitland. All bulls will be inspected by Dr. D. A. Jackson, Twin Falls, a state veterinarian.

T.F. Citizens Laud Sales Tax Passage

Supporters of the three per cent sales tax which was approved by the senate Thursday were enthusiastic about the passage of the proposal. J. T. Anderson, Twin Falls, president of the Idaho State Trustees association, said Thursday night that the action would attract industry and improve education. "It was a fitting climax to the several years of effort" by those who have believed the sales tax holds the best promise of adequate financing for education," Anderson added. "Those who have been apprehensive about a sales tax may find that a broadbase tax will result in attracting industry and improving education in the state, thus alleviating their fears."

Anderson said passage of the sales tax was a tribute to the courage and foresighted leadership of Gov. Robert E. Smylie, who based his biennial budget on the appeal for a three per cent sales tax.

William Grange, former secretary-manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, said he was in agreement with Gov. Robert E. Smylie "that the enactment of the sales tax will open a new vista for the state of Idaho, not because the sales tax is a panacea or a cure-all, but because it will make possible an opportunity for the state of Idaho to become competitive with its neighbors in the pursuit of future industrial development."

Grange said he felt the bill to equalize property tax assessments, coupled with the sales tax, "together are real significant steps."

T.F. Canning Plant Boiler Is Replaced

Replacement of a coal-fired boiler, which an inspection revealed was "badly deteriorated," with a newer gas-operated one was reported Thursday night during the annual meeting of the Twin Falls community canning kitchen.

Attendees at the public meeting were termed disappointed by M. Z. Stansbury, chairman of the kitchen's board of directors. The present directors were reelected during an election at the meeting.

Stansbury declined to comment Thursday night on how many attended the meeting, but in a statement to area residents, he said, "This is your plant, a community project. The board would appreciate more interest in the program in support of the plant and attendance at the annual meetings."

Stansbury gave a report on operation of the plant last season and reported on an inspection of the boiler by G. F. Ward, chief inspector, Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance company, Denver, Colo. He said the old boiler is now in the process of being replaced and a 3-year-old boiler is being installed at the kitchen.

Ward, in a letter to Stansbury, said it is not known for certain how old the present boiler is. He said it was manufactured by the J. I. Case company, which has not made a boiler since 1927, making it at least 44 years old.

The inspector felt the boiler "has served well beyond its normal anticipated life" and that its condition did not warrant the expense of repairs. He recommended it be replaced with a good used, or new boiler.

Stansbury reported the board, after receiving the letter, bargained for a replacement. He said Bradley Boiler company, Twin Falls, was authorized to locate a replacement this winter and is currently installing it.

Sun Valley Head Outlines Future Plans for Resort

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
A dream of years has come true and next skiing season will see a double chair lift in operation on the Warm Springs run of Bald mountain at Sun Valley.

Announcement that the lift would be a reality was made Thursday by Joseph Leggett, operational manager of the famed resort and vice-president of Janns corporation, Los Angeles, the new owner.

He was guest speaker at the Twin Falls Kiwanis club meeting at the American Legion hall and was introduced by Gordon Cox, immediate past president.

Leggett said the contract for construction has been let Tuesday and capacity on the mountain would thus be raised to 1,600 skiers an hour, making it the finest lift system on one mountain in the world.

The company that now owns and operates Sun Valley is probably the first development corporation organized in the United States. It has widely diversified holdings and developments spread over the country and in other lands.

Sun Valley is the newest development and Leggett left no doubt that officials plan to make it one of the best.

The Sun Valley head said the 50 condominium units planned near the lodge, which will provide an additional 300 beds for use of guests and owners—will be ready for occupancy when the ski season starts next winter.

"We feel that this will be successful because right now we have received more than 100 sincere inquiries concerning acquisition of a unit, and this is the first time in the history of Sun Valley."

REV. HERBERT E. RICHARDS

been heard and seen on Boise radio and television stations on regular programs.

He served as chaplain of the senate for the state of Idaho for the 36th legislature and was re-elected for the 37th and 38th sessions. The Rev. Dr. Richards also was a member of the commission on the centennial celebration for Idaho and was named as memorial chaplain for the state supreme court.

In 1964 the Idaho Daily Statesman selected him to receive the distinguished citizen's award.

Advisory board chairman, James Phelps, will act as master of ceremonies for the event. In addition to entertainment numbers on the program there will be an installation of officers and an annual report.

Tickets can be purchased at the door or at the Salvation Army office.

Condition Of Ditches Is Discussed

HEYBURN, March 12—Eldon Stephenson and Ross Greenwell, both members of the Minidoka county irrigation district, discussed current ditch conditions Wednesday evening during the regular village board meeting.

Harold Hurst and R. J. Brown, board members, suggested the village make a survey to decide which irrigation ditches in the Heyburn area belonged to and should be maintained by which.

Vlao (Bud) Scovill was asked to do this survey and sign the findings to the Minidoka irrigation district for its approval as to the ditch responsibility.

Edward Hopkins requested the village to clean up the alley on I street.

Yelton Teal, representing the T&E Sanitation service, requested to service the village in its garbage collection. He demonstrated the method means by which he carries on his business.

No decision was made by the board concerning the matter.

Wayne Watson and Pete Jansson informed the board they have decided to present the proposed trailer ordinance amendment to the zoning board and have them make their recommendations concerning the matter.

The two men were placed on a committee last month by the village board to gather house specifications for the amendment allowing house trailers to be used as permanent dwellings in lots other than trailer courts.

The board approved the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company buying a telephone cable on two blocks of 21st street.

Village employees have commenced tilling the ditch lining the west portion of the village field. They are currently working on ditches on L street and I street.

Building permits were approved for Pete Jansson to remodel the building on the Jansson Auto Salvage business, and to Mrs. Lois Poppewell, to move and remodel a house on block 14 lot six, costing $2,500.

Budget Eyed By Minidoka School Board

RUPERT, March 12—A special meeting will be held soon by the county school board to establish budget requirements for next year's operations. The date will be set as soon as the legislature's decision is made public, according to school officials.

During the school trustees meeting this week, considerable discussion was held on completion of the budget, but was tabled until tax revenue action by the state legislature is decided.

In other business the board discussed summer projects including work on the parking lot at Minico high school and other playground areas at other schools in the county.

The insurance inspection report was read and studied and discussion was held on replacing the furnace at the Heyburn school and also replacing the furnaces in the Paul school.

Furnaces at the Heyburn Junior high school and the Pioneer school will either have to be replaced or require considerable repair.

Members of the board discussed the possibility of a bond levy to take care of some of the deficit items in the school system, perhaps in conjunction with the additional classroom installation at Minico high school. No decisions were made on the matter.

by Gege Haskins, Robert Caldwell and Nephil Douglass.

The annual Rupert Rodeo and fourth of July celebration will be outlined with Don Ballantyne, chairman, Floyd Idle, James (Bud) Felton and Fred Erics.

During last year's drive 21 new members were added to the chamber roster.

During the all-day broadcast session, Ling invited residents to call the stations with constructive comments and views.

SURE YOU VOTE, pay taxes, work hard, make money, support your family and have made out a will.

But you must do something more to become a first-class citizen.

You must experience the benefits that come from going to church regularly. Your children will respect you more. Your neighbor will look up, not just across, to you. Your community will recognize you as a participant, not just a passer-by. Your country will be stronger, for you will help enforce that spiritual fabric so essential to its continuing welfare.

But the person who will benefit most is you. You will get the stimulation and reward of understanding the brotherhood of man, the dignity that the individual can derive from worship. You will equip yourself better to cope with all the complications that eternally face us all. You will make the other 167 hours each week truly worth living. See for yourself—next Sunday.

Legislature Activity

BOISE, March 12 (AP)—The senate state affairs committee reported out with "do-pass" recommendations yesterday bills increasing salaries of state elected officials. Pay of the governor would go up from $15,000 to $22,500, the lieutenant governor from $12,000 to $18,000 and salaries of other elected officials from $10,000 to $15,000. The salary increases would not affect incumbent officials. They would be effective for those elected in November, 1966.

BOISE, March 12 (AP)—The end of the slowdown in the house yesterday and reading of bills in full was welcomed by timing reading clerks who feared they would be called on to address themselves to complete reading of a bill designed to regulate sales of narcotic drugs. The 44-page bill lists and defines numerous narcotic drugs, including ketobemidone, hydroxypethidine, diphenoxylate mesylate, loperamide, dihydrocodeine, buprenorphine, methadone, propoxyphene, meperidine, pentazocine, and methyldihydromorphine.

BOISE, March 12 (AP)—The Idaho house refused yesterday to concur in senate amendments to the school fund distribution formula placing the burr's fate in doubt. The measure, one of the keys to final adjournment of the 38th legislature, now goes to a conference committee where senators and representatives will attempt to iron out their differences. The senate amendments would give more money to remote high schools and include a one million dollar appropriation to assure increases in state aid for all districts that would not qualify for additional funds under the formula.

Leading the opposition to the amendments would be Rep. T. P. Terrell, D., Bannock, who complained the changes would "do violence to the principle of equalization." He also labeled the one million dollar appropriation as a "rush fund and a monstrosity" and said the amendments called for "unfair distribution of monies."

BOISE, March 12 (AP)—Sen. Jack Murphy, R., Lincoln, senate president pro-tem, asserted yesterday there has been no attempt in the senate to delay action on legislation before it. Obviously referring to the slowdown in the house, engineered by Rep. Herman McDevitt, D., Bannock, as a protest against the senate's failure to consider the sales tax, Murphy told the senate after its passage of the bill: "There is a person in the house who was trying to prove a point, but the senate has not detracted from it. He and others like him have been doing violence to the orderly procedure of this senate. We have taken bills on schedule. We have not hurried and we have not delayed. These irresponsible persons in the house should get about their work until the house clears its calendar and is ready for adjournment." Sen. Cecil Andrus, D., Clearwater, said he resented Murphy's singling out of a legislator as being irresponsible. He said he would uphold the right of any man in either house and on either side of the aisle to take whatever steps are available to protest legislative action.

Wedding Skit Presented at Methodist Men's Banquet

A skit entitled "June Bride" and produced by Roger Sprague highlighted the ninth annual Methodist Men's club banquet in the social hall of the church Tuesday night.

Members of the Men's club participating in the skit included Clarence Dudley and LaVerne Snodgrass as bride and groom; Kenneth Poe and the Rev. Earl Riddle as bridesmaids; and David McClure and LeRoy Mothershead as best men. Sprague officiated as the Buddhist monk.

Dwaine Knigge was master of ceremonies for the program which included group singing led by Sprague. Musical numbers were presented by "The Saints," a junior high school trio composed of Larry Larson, Steve Olmstead and Dan Olmstead, and "The Stringalongs," composed of Tom Fene, Jerry Christian and Mike Wendling. Twin Falls high school students.

Francis Rider, club president, greeted the nearly 400 persons attending the $5 per plate banquet and expressed appreciation to Mrs. Carl Boyd, Mrs. Leonard Albee and Mrs. Dick E. Wine for assisting in the otherwise all-male event.

Walters were directed by Dr. Howard Ronk and Dick Wise and Vernon Smith were in charge of the cooks. Ticket sales were directed by Harold Brown.

Money made on the annual $5 banquet is used for mission and service projects of the Men's club.

Swim Classes Start Monday In Buhl Area

BUHL, March 12—Adult swimming classes to be sponsored by the Buhl chapter of the American Red Cross will begin at 7:30 Monday at Miracis Hot Springs, northwest of Buhl on highway 30. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Plans for the swim program were outlined when the local chapter met Tuesday evening in the city hall. Mrs. Carolyn Erickson will serve as the instructor. A slight fee for use of the pool will be charged. There will be no charges for the swimming lessons, according to Jean Thompson, chapter chairman.

A planning meeting to coordinate a disaster service program for the west end of Twin Falls county will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the city hall council room. Women interested in the Grey Ladies program and wishing to take such a class are urged to contact Mrs. Herschel Harral at Harral's Nursing home.

Charles Conrad was selected to serve on the board of directors representing the Castleford area. It was reported Robert Kyle, Richard Burns and Mrs. Jean Thompson have completed a first aid instructors training course.

The next blood drawing in Buhl was announced for June. It was pointed out the Buhl chapter is one of the few chapters in Idaho to pay its full blood charges to the Boise regional chapter and to fulfill its blood quota.

It was noted the 1964 membership fund raising campaign has concluded with a total of $1,477.30 realized from the drive. The 1965 fund drive will begin in the fall.

Hearing Asked In Larceny Case

Mike Stafford, 22, route 2, Kimberly, requested a preliminary hearing Wednesday when he appeared before Twin Falls Police Judge Harry Turner on charges of grand larceny.

Date for the hearing has not been set. Stafford was arrested Tuesday afternoon by city police and charged in connection with the theft of truck tires in February.

Police Chief M. Frank Barnett said Wednesday police have recovered several tires reported stolen from Russ Wells, R. A. Blaser, City of Buhl, and supply company all Twin Falls.

In court Stafford was charged only with the tire theft from R. A. Blaser.

A $1,500 bond was not posted.

Meet to Air School Plans At Richfield

RICHFIELD, March 12—Richfield school board trustees will hold a public meeting Wednesday night to learn desires of the community concerning consolidation of county high schools or rebuilding a new grade school at this location.

The school board concern results from the loss of Richfield's grade school building March 2 by fire of undetermined origin.

Contacts are to be made by notices sent home by school children and telephone.

Blahop Jay Ward met with the board this week to discuss expenses of operating five grades of the elementary school at the LDS stakehouse.

Two Boise architects, Watson and Uthman, displayed models and plans for various types of elementary school buildings for the board.

The coming trustee election was discussed. Elections will be held in zones one, two and three. A vacancy in zone one was caused by Bruce Sorenson moving from the zone. The term of Clifford Conner, zone two, expires, and Grant Flavel, zone three, is serving the present unexpired term of Jerry Johnston, who has moved to zone five.

New Recreation-Conservation Sticker Will Admit Visitors to Federal Parks

The new recreation-conservation bumper sticker announced on Monday by Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman and Interior Secretary Stewart Udall will admit visitors to designated national forest recreation areas in the Intermountain region starting in 1965, according to Floyd Iverson, regional forester.

The sticker will entitle the driver of a non-commercial auto to admission to designated recreation areas for the year beginning April 1. This includes the National Forests, national parks, and other federal recreation areas.

The Intermountain region of the forest service is studying the practicality of designating some 400 developed areas for coverage under the sticker. The list of areas selected will be ready early in April and will include national forests where trees were collected last year.

Admission to designated areas is gained through use of the recreation-conservation auto sticker or through an alternative entry fee. The sticker entitles the holder and all other occupants to admission. The alternate single entry fee will be available for all persons 16 years of age or older if they do not wish to purchase the auto sticker.

Receipts from the sale of stickers and the fees collected will go into the land and water conservation fund established by act of congress last year which provided for the sticker and the fee. The fund is to be used, subject to congressional appropriation, to assist the various states, counties, and municipalities in planning, acquiring, and developing new outdoor recreation areas and to acquire additional federal recreation areas.

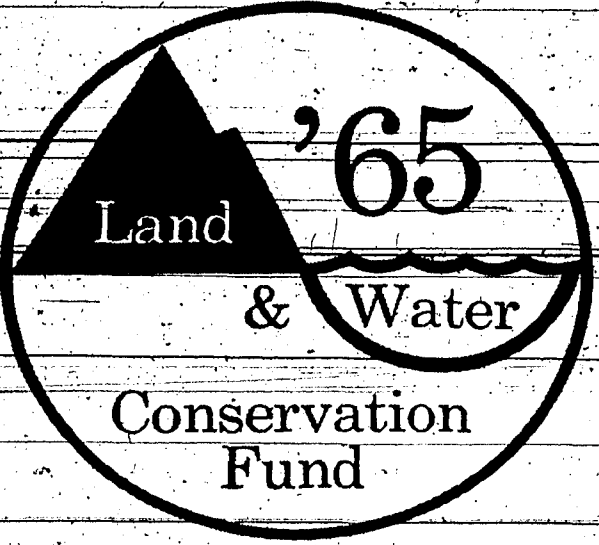

The auto stickers can be purchased from field offices of federal agencies administering recreation areas. There is no limit to the number of times it may be used, but the length of stay will be determined by local rules. Purchase of the sticker is optional. In the national forests the single visit fee per person will be 50 cents, 50 cents, or 25 cents, depending upon the facilities and services made available by the government. Under some circumstances in addition to the sticker or entrance fee, there may be supplementary charges for special facilities, such as boat launching, snowmobile operation, in-practice permit trailer and camp sites, or for special services such as reservations for large groups.

These supplemental fees will be payable each time the facilities or services are used. The rates will be set in accordance with those comparable for the use of similar privately owned facilities and services and other considerations.

The 1965 recreation-conservation stickers will go on sale shortly for use as an annual permit for access to federal recreation areas and as an alternative to purchasing single entrance permits.

The three-inch stickers will be printed in green on white paper. It will bear the words "Outdoor Recreation for America" and "Land and Water Conservation Fund."

Outdoor Recreation

THIS AUTO BUMPER sticker will admit visitors to designated national forest recreation areas in the Intermountain region beginning this year. The new recreation-conservation sticker will entitle the driver of a non-commercial vehicle, and all its passengers, to admission to most federal recreation areas for the year beginning April 1.

Hope: A Piece of Wood

BY MARGARET HALVORSEN
On the mantel in my home there is a small wooden bear...

a sight of the strong, kind faces of my parents, for Elsa, The high-pollis tells I buffed it for a long time.

One day at the Ulricksens' house, Lars' wife Elsa asked if I would like to see her husband's woodcarvings. She opened the doors of an old cabinet...

Lars had told his story without a word of hatred toward anyone. God had heard his prayers;
he had remained a man of faith and dignity through nearly five years of trial.

Then Lars told us this story:
Norway was invaded by the Nazis in the spring of 1940. A few days after the invasion, Elsa and I sat at our breakfast one morning. A loud pounding at our door startled us.

among the beneficiaries. Co-operative interfaith pilot programs are now being planned. Church and other voluntary agencies recognize the vastness and difficulties of the program, often including lack of cooperation from local governments. But they point out there are important motive forces for the program: Economic self interest for the United States, the hope of producing stability, the hope of nurturing economies to the point where they become customers rather than beneficiaries. There is another big motive force: World politics and the war between communism and the West for the minds of masses of people in the underdeveloped world. This is apart from the moral force, the nagging conscience of the rich Atlantic world. Representatives of church and private agencies say that the next decade—indeed, the next five years—will be vital in determining the sort of world that will be inhabited by the next generation. Some economists go so far as to say the way of life of the Atlantic nations themselves is at stake in the long run.

4-H Week to Be Observed At Gooding

GOODING, March 12—This year, for the first time, a special Gooding county 4-H week will be noted Sunday through March 20, according to Mrs. Ruth Shane, Gooding county extension home economics agent. Special emphasis will be given 4-H clubs and leaders will be encouraged to begin the 1965 4-H club year. The 4-H club program is a part of the national educational system of the cooperative extension service. County extension agents, Ed Koester and Dale Watton, and Mrs. Shane will be contacting youngsters in the county schools to acquaint them with the 4-H program. Boys and girls will be encouraged at that time to seek parent approval and register for 4-H.

Any interested boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 19 years of age has a choice of a variety of 35 projects, ranging from livestock to tractor, electricity and several in the home economics line appealing to both city and farm youngsters.

All 4-Hers have the privilege of exhibiting at the Gooding county fair, attending 4-H camp and other county activities. 4-H clubs are led by local volunteer men and women leaders, who like working with youngsters and enjoy seeing them progress and develop through their 4-H project work in 1964-65. Gooding county boys and girls were enrolled in 38 4-H clubs led by 50 leaders and assisted by 46 junior leaders (14-18 members 14-19 years).

In 1965, Mrs. Shane says, they are striving to make the 4-H program available to and include more boys and girls throughout the county. Agents whose youngsters are interested, but are not contacted, may call the county agent's office 934-4401.

Indeed, emphasis is being placed upon domestic production wherever possible, and upon "work for food" programs which are calculated to encourage dignity, self respect and ambition.

New Library Building Is Considered

RICHFIELD, March 12—Consideration of plans for a new public library building at Richfield was given a delegation of citizens at the Richfield March board meeting. Library needs and problems were discussed and the board expressed views for converting one of Richfield's present vacant buildings for use as a library. The increase in the level of the financial support of the library was also favored.

Board members stressed enforcement of proper parking procedure and Marshal Theo Brush was requested to make parking available at the corner of Main and Lemhi streets by overpainting the red marker.

Beer licenses were approved for the second quarter for Peterson's Wood Market, Piper's Shopping center and Pheasant club. Restricted speed signs were approved for installation at highway approaches into Richfield. Plans were made to open the alley north of the local cheese factory.

Pile of Tires Destroyed in Filer Blaze

FILER, March 12—The Filer volunteer fire department was called Thursday afternoon to put out a fire which destroyed 25 tons of old tires and created thick, black smoke which could be seen for several miles. The tires were located at the Amalgamated Sugar company beet dump, one-eighth of a mile north of the Twin Falls county fairgrounds, and had been used to weight down plastic which covered and protected the piles of beets before they were moved to the factory.

It was reported that Harold Brown, who farms factory-owned land adjacent to the dump, had been burning weeds. The fire spread to the tires, which were destroyed along with a power pole and line which furnished power to operate the beet dump equipment.

Power in the vicinity was not affected, as the line serves only the dump. Firemen, called to the scene about 5:30 p.m., had the fire extinguished in an hour.

Besselink, Ellis Make Trophy Bids

DORADO, Puerto Rico, March 12 (AP)—Al Besselink and Wes Ellis, Jr., made determined bids Thursday to overtake Art Wall, Jr., in the battle for the Seagram Caribbean trophy when each shot three-under-par 695 to tie Joe Jimenez for the first round lead in the Puerto Rico open golf tournament.

Wall went into the final of the five tournaments comprising the Caribbean tour with a two-point lead over Ellis and five points over Besselink.

Besselink, from Grossinger, N.Y., clipped four strokes off par on the back nine after going out over on the front nine. He birdied the last two holes after also getting birdies at the 12th and 13th.

Ellis, West Caldwell, N.J., came home with a 33 after being even par going out. Jimenez, Jefferson City, Mo., did just the opposite. He was hot on the front nine with a 33 and then slacked off to even figures coming home.

One stroke back at 70 were Frances Jean Claude Harlamen and Cliff Brown, Nashville, Tenn.

Wall had a par 72, which left him in a five-man group. One stroke back of Bob Ross, North Hills, Pa.; Fred Lettingwell, Hattisburg, Miss.; Dan Stickett, Columbus, O.; and Howell Foster, Panama City, Fla.

CALDWELL, March 12—Glenn's Ferry finally solved the puzzle to Fruitland's defense in the second half Thursday and rolled into the A-3 state tournament semi-finals with a 59-53 victory. In other action, favored Middleton stopped North Gem 60-38 while Challis ousted defending champion Post Falls 58-47 and Sugar-Salem eliminated Clearwater Valley 46-36. Glenn's Ferry goes against Challis at 3 p.m. Friday after Post Falls and Fruitland play a consolation bracket game at 1:30 p.m. Middleton takes on Sugar-Salem in the other championship semi-final.

Fruitland, the third district runner-up, gave the favored Pilots a good tussle throughout and trailed only by one to three points most of the time. Glenn's Ferry stayed in front over the first three quarters on the 17-point effort of Terry Sims. The big Leo McGhee started hitting in the second half and Glenn's Ferry slowly pushed the count up to its final mark.

Challis remained in control throughout the game Thursday, at one point building up a 49-30 lead.

Post Falls throttled Challis' Steven Fisher after he scored 17 points in the first half but Challis' Henry Piva picked up the campaign in the second half for 40 points.

Post Falls' Ron Davis hit 10 points and did more than his share of rebounding.

Fruitland traded the lead back and forth before losing to Glenn's Ferry.

Fruitland hadn't given up on the final buzzer but Glenn's Ferry took command after its Leo McGhee found his way through the Fruitland defense and scored 14 points.

But the best performance of the game was turned in by Fruitland's Greg Espin: 28 points and 16 rebounds.

Gary Piva, standing a scant 5-feet, 5-inches, controlled the second half boards for Challis to help the Vikings take an easy victory from Post Falls.

Challis took an early lead in the ball game, holding a 20-15 score at the end of the first quarter. Steve Fisher furnished the first half firepower for Challis by dropping in 17 points. He hit only one basket in the second half.

Piva ducked under armfuls to score 14 points in the game to be second high scorer. High for the ball game was Ron Davis of Post Falls with 19 points.

Followers of the turf say there's nothing more beautiful than a great running horse pounding down the stretch. And old timers say that the most beautiful sight of all in the year of his peak, was the legendary Man o' War.

When a horse becomes a great, he begins to run up an impressive total of winnings. He is a very competitive horse to the first Man o' War. This mighty horse set his phenomenal record as a three-year-old. Later his total was beaten, and in modern horse-racing it has been eclipsed because of the larger purses offered.

But Man o' War was the horse that started the big money cycle in horse racing. He helped to make this one of America's most popular sports. Sanders Cracks Doral Record Enroute to Tournament Lead

MIAMI, March 12 (AP)—Dapper Doug Sanders cracked the record at the Doral Country Club Thursday with a 65 that got him off to what could be the first back-to-back tournament victories in almost a year. Inspired by his triumph last week at Pensacola where he broke a victory drought of almost two years with a playoff win over Jack Nicklaus, Sanders fired a near-perfect game in the first round of the Doral tournament over the watery, 7,028-yard layout.

The 31-year-old Georgian birdied six holes on the front nine for a record-shattering six-under 30. The mark for this time was 32 until Pete Cooper beat it by one stroke earlier in the day.

Sanders toured the back nine in 35 to lower the 18-hole course record of 66 set by Sam Snead and tied by three other players.

If Sanders maintains the pace, he will be the first golfer to win two tournaments in a row since Tony Lema turned the trick last summer in the Thunderbird and Bulck opens.

Thursday was a day of spectacular golf at the end of which Sanders found himself only two strokes in front of two opponents and three ahead of six others.

Perfect weather conditions were largely responsible for a par-busting assault by numerous players. Wind that usually bothers golfers on the sprawling Doral course was missing and the weather was warm and sunny.

Jack McGowan and George Knudson shot 67s and Cooper, Bruce Devlin, Dave Marr, Bob Shave, Charley Sifford and Chick Harbert posted 68s.

Cooper, with accurate approach shots that left him four birdie putts of less than four feet, fired a 31 on the back nine for the record that stood until Sanders beat it.

Sanders' biggest shot was made at the 221-yard 13th when he blasted out of a bunker 90 feet for a birdie deuce after overshooting the green on his drive.

Billy Casper, two-time winner of the three-year-old tournament, got off to a shaky start with a par-72 which he blamed on an inept caddy. He fired the

NHL Plans Expansion To 12 Teams

NEW YORK, March 12—The National Hockey League proposes to expand its six-team league to a 12-team circuit through the formation of a second six-team division, but the expansion probably is at least a year away, NHL President Clarence Campbell said Thursday.

Campbell said applications will be accepted from responsible groups representing "major league cities" in the United States and Canada.

Campbell released a statement following a meeting here of the NHL Board of Governors.

"No definite time limit has been set for the expansion program but it would be highly unlikely it could be implemented by next season," said Campbell.

"When six new teams are accepted the new division will be incorporated into the league."

The NHL is composed of teams from New York, Chicago, Boston, Detroit, Toronto and Montreal.

The possibility of expansion has been discussed in the past, but the unofficial proposals always mentioned expansion by only a couple of teams.

This marked the first time the league had laid down a blueprint for increasing the number.

CLEAN SLATE

TAMPERE, Finland, March 12 (AP)—A polished, crafty Russian team kept its slate clean in defense of its world amateur hockey championship Thursday by defeating an outclassed United States squad 9-2.

Easterners Dominate U.S. Ski Team

VAIL, Colo., March 12 (AP)—The United States will send a new England-dominated team against the French and Austrians in the American international ski races this week-end.

Coach Bob Beattie announced Thursday night his men's team would be composed of Bill Kidd, 21, University of Colorado freshman from Stowe, Vt.; Gordon Eaton, 25, Middlebury college senior from Littleton, N.H.; Rick Chaffee, 20, Denver university sophomore from Rutland, Vt.; Jim Heuga, 21, Colorado junior from Tahoe City, Calif.; Bill Marolt, 21, Colorado junior from Aspen, Colo.; and Hi Orsi, 20, of Stockton, Calif., who is on leave as a Colorado student.

Picked for the women's team are Joan Hannah, 25, of Franconia, N.H.; Linda Meyers, 27, Western Colorado College junior from Harbor City, Calif.; Jean Saubert, 22, Utah university senior from Ogden, Idaho; and Sandra Shellworth, 20, Colorado junior from Boise, Idaho.

They were chosen from among squads of 15 men and 15 women who have been training for the past three months. The U.S. team meets the French and Austrian national teams in downhill Saturday, slalom Sunday and giant slalom Monday.

The long-range forecast, however, posed the possibility of the revision in this schedule.

Race chairman Peter Selbert said if snow came as expected early Friday night, the slalom race would be run Saturday in place of downhill and giant slalom moved up to Sunday, with the downhill moved back to Monday.

"He butted me," said Pep. "After that I had to protect myself."

But Pep never fell, slipping out of corners, leaping in with a left hook or a combination and fending McKeever from his slanted face with some of the old artistry.

Referee Eddie Eckert had Pep out front 80-74, and two judges made Pep the winner by 78-77 and 78-75.

"I don't get tired," Pep said.

boy after the round, complaining that his inattention to his duties made him nervous.

Nicklaus, another pre-tournament favorite along with Casper, was two under par with a 70, but well down the list. Gary Player was further back with a 71.

Hagan, Vaughn Pace Hawk Win

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12 (AP)—Cliff Hagan and Chico Vaughn kept alive the St. Louis Hawks' hopes for a Western division title in the National Basketball association by dumping San Francisco in a narrow victory 101-99 Thursday night.

Hagan almost single-handedly kept the Hawks in the game in the first three periods by scoring 23 points. The Warriors moved ahead of St. Louis at one point by 17 points. San Francisco led at halftime 53-48.

At the start of the fourth period Hagan hit a 10-foot jump shot to move the Hawks ahead 78-77. The lead then wavered back and forth.

42-Year-Old Pep Shows He Can Still Win

MIAMI, March 12 (AP)—Former middleweight champion Willie Pep, who retired from the ring six years ago, won his first comeback attempt Thursday night.

The 42-year-old former champ ducked, jabbed and boxed his way to a unanimous eight-round decision over Hal McKeever at Little River arena before 700 fans. Pep weighed 137, McKeever, 135.

Pep, Hartford, Conn., was a clear leader until McKeever opened up his left cheekbone in the fifth.

"He butted me," said Pep. "After that I had to protect myself."

But Pep never fell, slipping out of corners, leaping in with a left hook or a combination and fending McKeever from his slanted face with some of the old artistry.

Referee Eddie Eckert had Pep out front 80-74, and two judges made Pep the winner by 78-77 and 78-75.

"I don't get tired," Pep said.

boy after the round, complaining that his inattention to his duties made him nervous.

Nicklaus, another pre-tournament favorite along with Casper, was two under par with a 70, but well down the list. Gary Player was further back with a 71.

GOODING, JEROME GET A-2 TOURNNEY WINS

Snake River and Emmett Advance To Semi-Finals

North Idaho bowed out of championship consideration while Gooding, Jerome, Emmett and Snake River advanced to the semi-finals Thursday in the Idaho State A-2 basketball tournament. Emmett nipped Malad 56-52 in the only close—and best played—game of the day. The others won easily.

Gooding clouted Moscow 56-40 while Jerome dumped Madison by the same score. Snake River, the fifth district champion, had it easier, nipping Wallace 41-26 in the consolation game.

In semi-final play Friday, Jerome will meet Snake River at 3 p.m. while Gooding goes against Emmett in the evening feature. Madison plays Wallace at 1:30 and Moscow, second district finalist, tests Malad at 7:30 in the consolation bracket.

Gooding, fourth district champion, making its first visit to a state tournament in 13 years, flurried into an eight-point lead in the second quarter against Moscow and held away from them on.

The lead changed hands eight times over the first quarter and one half with both sides showing tournament yips. But midway through the quarter distinctive Ron Silya started hitting from the outside and Ron Adams got two field goals inside to send Gooding into an essential 28-16 lead.

Gooding cooled off in the third quarter and Moscow climbed back to within four points with 4:10 left. Each team managed only four points before the buzzer.

But when the fourth quarter started so did Gooding. Adams and lefty Jerry Gibbons hit six points to re-establish the 10-point margin and then Leonard Ray and Silya combined to push the count to 51-36 with 2:51 left. Moscow's only scoring punch was found in 6-foot, 6-inch junior center Bob Ross, who got 13 of his 20 points in the last half.

The Emmett-Malad battle provided the feature of the day with both teams shrugging off the pressure from the start.

The teams swapped the lead often through the first three quarters and the first five-point margin came with five minutes to go in the game when Emmett's Phil Bado hit a long shot from the top of the key. Malad rallied on buckets by Curt Daniels and Terrell Harris to cut the margin to 52-50 with 3:36 to go. Then Emmett went into a slow-down game and Bray Behrmann sneaked under for a crimp.

Steve De Masters led it with a short jump shot 48 seconds later. The score was 52-50 when T. D. Jones hit for Malad with 20 seconds remaining.

Snake River turned to a zone defense that completely stopped Wallace and the Panthers hauled the ball away from the Miners throughout the game. Snake River jumped out on top 5-0 and that was about as close as Wallace came after that.

Wallace scored only five points in each of the first two quarters and trailed 28-10 at intermission. Then the Miners made their only representative showing of the contest. Barry De Lange hit three points and Sonny Parsons and Robin Stanley four each to highlight a brief flurry that saw Wallace cut the margin to six points. But helping was the fact Snake River went five minutes without scoring.

Finally, John Smith hit a field goal with 3:23 left to untrack Snake River and the Panthers pumped through 12 more before the third quarter ended.

Jerome, the favorite in the upper bracket, had its hands full until a minute remained in the third quarter against Madison in the opener.

Both teams showed tournament jitters at the outset of the game. Jerome led throughout the first quarter and the lead changed hands six times before ending in a 21-21 deadlock at half-time. Madison, getting quick points from Val Clarke and Daniel Webster went into a 25-21 lead in the third quarter and once led by five, but then the Rexburg team went cold and Jerome started coming back.

The score was tied at 32-32 with a minute left in the third quarter before Stan Millard hit four points before the buzzer. The Tigers pulled steadily away in the first two minutes of the last quarter before Madison snatching a victory on free throw shooting but with 5:52 left in the game. Millard completed a three-point play to establish an 11-point cushion and Madison did not threaten again.

St. John's, Manhattan Crush NIT Opponents in Semifinals

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—St. John's exploded behind the torrid play of Sonny Dove and Ken McIntyre Thursday night in crushing Boston college 114-92 in the second game of the opening National Invitational basketball tournament doubleheader. Manhattan ran away from Texas Western 71-53 in the first game and moved with St. John's into meet top-seeded Villanova while St. John's, playing in a record 17th NIT, faces second-seeded New Mexico.

The combined performance of McIntyre and Dove spotted the brilliant shooting display of John Austin. Boston's 6-foot, 1-inch ace got 40 points. Austin scored 42 points in his only other appearance at Madison Square Garden earlier this season.

McIntyre with a layup and a free throw and Dove with a free throw put St. John's into a 4-0 lead, and Boston college never caught up. The Eagles lost their 13-game winning streak in the process.

Manhattan burst away from Texas Western early in the second half behind the clutch shooting of Lennie Schnappauf and Bob Chlupsa.

Trailing 27-23 at halftime, Manhattan caught up with and passed the Miners before three minutes had elapsed in the second half.

Schnappauf triggered the rally with a layup. After Larry Lembo tied the game for Manhattan 29-29 with a jump shot, his first points of the game, Schnappauf put the Jaspers ahead with a jumper.

Chlupsa took over minutes later and scored 10 of Manhattan's 14 points that doubled the Jaspers' lead from seven to 14 points.

WEST-LED LAKERS DOWN BULLETS
LOS ANGELES, March 12 (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers clinched at least a tie for the Western division championship of the National Basketball Association Thursday night as Jerry West struck for 14 straight points to beat Baltimore in overtime, 121-118.

At the end of regulation time the score was tied 107-107. But the five-minute overtime proved too much for the Bullets' defense, and West was able to lead his team to the victory.

Murtaugh Nips Elk River 57-55 and Camas County Blasts Cascade by 66-53

LEWISTON, March 12—Brian Ward and Del Rose guided Murtaugh's Red Devils past Elk River 57-55 in a squeaker and Camas County routed the pride of the third district, Cascade, 66-53 in the state A-4 tournament Thursday. Those two advanced to the semi-finals with Roberts, which eliminated defending champion Genesee 62-59, and Mullan, which ousted Prairie, 69-34 with no problems. Murtaugh goes against Mullan Friday while Camas County draws Roberts. Murtaugh had its hands full with Elk River, the second team from the host district. Elk River jumped in front 26-23 at half-time but the Devils rallied into a 38-36 third quarter lead. The clubs each potted 19 points in the stalemated final period.

Ward, who fouled out late in the game, had 19 points and Rose had 20. But they gave up scoring honors to Peton, who netted 24.

Lanky Rod Tucker came up with a 21-point night and dominated the backboards on both ends of the court in leading Camas County to its easy victory. The Musers stunned jittery Cascade with 31 points in the first half and roared into a 21-17 intermission lead.

Cascade, which once ran up 100 points against a lackluster third district A-4 crew, came back strong in the third quarter and tanked 22 points to cut the margin to 46-39. But that was the end of their threat. Camas County easily turned them back with a 20-point, fourth quarter effort.

Earlier, the Mullan Tigers overcame a halftime deficit to overpower Prairie of Cottonwood, 69-34, in the A-4 opener.

Prairie led at the half, 10-18, then Mullan, led by Dave Fenko and Kirby Krullitz, pulled away for good. Mullan led 24-18 at the end of the first quarter and 46-39 at the end of the second. Rod Eckert was high for Prairie with 10.

The Roberts Mustangs fought off a desperation rally by Genesee to take the finale.

Roberts, which moved to a 45-30 halftime margin, led all the way and held a 10 to 15 point lead throughout the second half before Genesee caught fire in the closing minutes and moved to within three points at the final buzzer.

Rick Sorensen had 18 points to lead the winners while Brad Airhart had 12 for the Bulldogs.

Wild Pitch Lets Yanks Nip Solons

POMPANO BEACH, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Homeruns by Elston Howard and Mickey Mantle gave the New York Yankees an early lead in the first Florida exhibition baseball game Thursday but it took a wild pitch by Washington's Pete Richert to give them a 4-3 victory over the Senators.

At the end of regulation time the score was tied 107-107. But the five-minute overtime proved too much for the Bullets' defense, and West was able to lead his team to the victory.

West's scoring spectacular began in the second half. After being held to only three points in the first two periods.

Along Fences and Canals

Animals from the Pitch Fork ranch of W. W. Knox were trucked from former Slick ranch below Glenna Ferry last week to the Knox ranch north of King Hill, for vaccination before being turned out on the range. The heifers have been fed at the Slick ranch during the winter.

A new fertilizer machine, owned by the Glenna Ferry Grange Supply Co-op Oil corporation, Caldwell, is being used to spread commercial fertilizer on the ranches in this area. The machine is a "Do-It-Yourself" trailer spreader and is available at the Glenna Ferry store. William Arbaugh, who farms the W. W. Knox ranch north of King Hill, spread fertilizer on their ground last week with the new machine.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Packham, Fairfield, have moved into the house on the Sten Frostenson farm. Packham will be employed by Frostenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ellis, Boise, have been at their ranch east of King Hill trying to locate a renter. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis. They also did some remodeling on their home in Glenna Ferry, in preparation of renting the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hallowell, Fairfield, have flown to Hawaii this week before farming operations start.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Muffley, Fairfield, are in the process of moving to a Jerome farm while Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Osborn are moving from the Jerome farm to the Muffley place in Fairfield.

Mrs. Corie Reedy, Fairfield, has purchased the Mildred Robinson farm southeast of Fairfield. Miss Robinson will continue to reside in the home on the property.

Harold Cross, Twin Falls, has been elected to membership in the American Angus association, announces Glen Bratcher, secretary, Elmore, Mo. This membership was one of 506 issued to breeders of registered Aberdeen-Angus in the United States during the past month.

A lone coyote has made a circle of several ranches west of the Richfield village during the past week. The animal has returned a number of times to the Peley ranch. Mrs. Eugene Faddis noticed the coyote, thought at first to be a police dog, in her back yard just circling the area. Then it went to Ronald Hall's cattle pasture where Hall and another man shot at it. One shot is believed to have connected, but the animal still took off for Joe Parker's new place which is west of the Peley ranch.

Big Wood canal company employees are building canal checks at a new flats. The checks have been sheared off by weight of heavy snow.

Mr. and Mrs. Naton Taylor, who live northeast of Declo, have had their house ransacked since it was badly damaged three weeks ago when a large tree was blown over onto the house during a wind storm. They also will do extensive repairs on the interior. The walls were badly cracked from the weight of the snow. The tree service has taken out eight large trees that surrounded the house, after removing the fallen tree from on top of the house.

Dr. E. Jackson, a former Jerome resident, recently purchased the farm homesteaded by W. S. Jackson northeast of Jerome and near south of Jerome. Jackson has resided in California the past years and recently moved back to Jerome with his family. Construction remodeling is being done to the house and outbuildings.

The Clarence Rich family, Jerome, was honored recently with a well party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bynum Williams. The family sold their farm and are moving to Waverly, Kans.

Cattle belonging to W. W. Knox of the Pitch Fork ranch, King Hill, were trucked from the former Slick ranch below Glenna Ferry last week to the Knox ranch north of King Hill. The cattle were trucked there last weekend. They were trucked on the north side and were fed and rested at the James Russell ranch north of Glenna Ferry Saturday night. Members of the Three of Riding club, Glenna Ferry, assisted in the drive along with William Arbaugh, W. W. Knox, George South, Joe Black, the Overman, Cecil Hampton, James Russell, James Carpenter, and George Hendry families and other guests. The Knox, Mrs. Arbaugh and Mrs. Overman were in charge of the truck wagon along the route. Calvin Barnard, Idaho state patrolman, and Buster Taylor, deputy sheriff, assisted trailing the cattle across the Snake river bridge and highway 30 below Glenna Ferry.

Farmers and Sugar Firm Reach Accord
SALT LAKE CITY, March 12—The beet growers for Utah Sugar company in Idaho and Utah reached agreement with the firm and its subsidiaries for the 1965 crop.
A. Albert Johnson, Pocatello, chairman of the grower group, and Douglas W. Love, U and I, president, made the announcement which climaxed discussions that began in January. Payment scales under the 1965 contract will be the same as in the contract in effect during 1964.
The agreement will cover sugar beets grown on about 42,000 acres in Eastern Idaho this year and approximately 26,000 acres in Utah. Contracts are held by more than 1,200 growers in Utah and approximately 750 in Idaho.
Annual estimated value of the U and I sugar industry in Idaho is 19 million dollars, and in Utah about 11 million dollars.

BEDDING AIDS MANURE
NEW HOLLAND, Pa., March 12—If ample amounts of bedding are used to absorb manure liquids and superphosphate is added as it accumulates, nitrogen loss in stored manure can be substantially reduced, says New Holland's "Grassland News."

GAUGE STATION located upstream on Cedar creek registers inflow in Roseworth reservoir. Information gathered on waterbeds will be used at the annual water forecast meeting set for March 31 at Hollister. (Times-News photo)

Water Forecast Meeting Is Scheduled for Hollister

HOLLISTER, March 12—The annual water forecast meeting for Salmon trout water users will be held at the Hollister Grange hall at 7:30 p.m. March 31, reports John Pastoor and Ellis Fuller, co-chairmen, Twin Falls soil conservation district water forecast committee.
On hand to interpret the snow and moisture readings will be Morlan Nelson, Boise, soil conservation service snow surveyor. "There is still considerable snow at the higher elevations and the amount of water available for irrigation use on the tract will depend largely on the type of spring runoff," said the two chairmen.
"Almost all of the snow on the lower elevations is gone and the streams in the area are running good. A sudden warming trend or rain could provide the necessary vehicle to get the high snowpack off the mountains and into the reservoir," they added.
At the present time it appears that an average water year is in store for Salmon and Roseworth tract water users.
Many Salmon and Roseworth tract farmers use the findings of the water forecast committee and the information presented at the annual water forecast meeting to plan their 1965 crop planting program.
Refreshments will be served by wives of the soil conservation district supervisors.

Onion Acres

BOISE, March 12 (AP)—Idaho farmers have indicated they will plant 2,900 acres of onions this season, about 12 per cent more than was harvested in 1964, the U.S. department of agriculture reports.
The 2,900 acres would be 49 per cent more than the average in the preceding five years.

Idaho Potato Conference Will Probe State's Position in National Market

POCATELLO, March 12—Also speaking on Idaho's competitive position will be John D. Snow, Burley, executive secretary of Potato Processors of Idaho, Inc.; Winslow Whiteley, Oakley, Idaho potato growers, processors and shippers will meet here, March 16 and 17, to make a comprehensive study of the industry and consider the state's position in the national market. Representatives of all phases of the business will attend the Idaho potato conference, first of its kind. The conference is sponsored by the University of Idaho College of Agriculture and the Idaho potato and onion commission. All sessions are at the Green Triangle.
Idaho Sen. Frank Church will be one of the main speakers. He will address a banquet, March 16. His subject will be Idaho's position in national potato policies. Richard E. Ohms, potato specialist of the University of Idaho extension service, is conference chairman. The program he and other members of the committee have arranged includes talks by men in all parts of the industry.
A study of inter-regional competition will be presented by Larry Summers, University of Idaho agricultural economist.

Consumer Spending on Food Jumps

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The department of agriculture said consumer spending for food and other farm products jumped about five per cent in 1964 from a year earlier. This rise was sparked by a seven per cent rise in income after taxes, the agency said.
Other aspects of the agricultural situation:
Outlays increased for livestock products. The volume of food consumed per capita was up nearly one per cent from a year earlier.
Underlying trends in population and retail food prices continued little changed during 1964, with population up 1.4 per cent and food prices up 1.3 per cent.

How to control potato wireworms without a crop residue.

You won't have to be concerned about insecticide residue contaminating your potatoes if you use Diazinon® insecticide to control wireworms.
That's because Diazinon does not persist in the soil. So traces of it won't exceed tolerances established by health officials. And you won't have to be concerned about the possibility of your crop being rejected because of insecticide residue. Not if you use Diazinon.
You'll get outstanding control of wireworms, including resistant strains, if you make a soil application prior to planting your seed pieces. Disc or harrow the Diazinon into the top six inches or more of soil.
And Diazinon is less toxic to handle than other insecticides recommended for potato wireworms. Tests conducted in U.S. Public Health Service laboratories prove it. These tests show that Diazinon is 30-40 times less toxic for you to handle than some of the other potato wireworm insecticides.

Diazinon is available in a number of formulations: liquid, wettable powder, and granular. This means it will work in all standard equipment and fit any program you decide on. You can broadcast Diazinon either as granular or as a spray, or put it on in combination with fertilizer prior to planting. Or you can put it on as a band application as you plant.
Plan to use Diazinon for effective wireworm control this season and you'll solve the residue problem at the same time. Your supplier can give you all the details on Diazinon when you order the formulation you need. Or, when you place your order for Diazinon in fertilizer.

WELL OVER 15,000 second feet of water is spilling over the gates at Milner dam. The high rate of flow has continued for several weeks as Snake river watermasters adjust their plans and program to accommodate the run-off from higher elevations. (Times-News photo)

Opposition Predicted in Attempt to Charge Fees

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—President Johnson's plan to cut federal spending by charging fees for a number of agriculture department services appears to face an uphill fight.

Johnson has asked for new legislation under which the soil conservation service would collect fees for some of the help it now gives farmers without charge.

Also, the President has proposed bills under which processors would pay the cost of federal meat and poultry inspection. And he wants to extend the same system to several smaller grading and classing service programs.

Altogether, the administration proposals would reduce federal spending by about 80 million dollars a year.

But congressional sources report that opposition to the white house plan is heavy.

The sources are not predicting flatly now that the economy proposals will be defeated. But they say that as things now stand, the President's plans will meet stiff resistance in congress.

The final result may depend on whether the White House decides the issue is important enough to call for a special effort by the President.

Secretary of Agriculture Orin Freeman. Current indications are that the administration will make an all-out fight for the proposed new fees.

BRIDGE BELOW Milner dam is almost under water. Picture shows where water has washed onto the deck of the bridge. Signs have been posted at the top of the grade on each side of the canyon warning motorists of the possible danger. When spring runoffs really get under way, the situation is expected to get worse. (Times-News photo)

River Flow Continues to Run Heavy

Snake river run-off is continuing down the stream at an estimated 15,000 second feet of water, reports Alfred Peters, manager, Twin Falls canal company. The large flow of water has continued throughout most of the spring months as snow packs in the higher elevations upstream.

A large spring run-off assures Snake river waterusers of adequate irrigation water each year, but in recent years it is causing local problems. For example the light bridge below Milner dam is almost under water. In past years the bridge has been under water and at times the flow has washed the bridge out.

Canal company officials are keeping close tabs on the bridge and the stream flow.

European Corn Borer Total Dips
WASHINGTON, March 12 (UP)—The European corn borer has been reported down from 1.5 to 1.0 per acre in the major U.S. corn-producing areas. The actual distribution of the European corn borer were reported by surveys in the north central states. The entomologists reported an average of 33 borers per acre in 1963, the average was 100 per 100 plants.

Task Force Created in Civil Rights
WASHINGTON, March 12 (UP)—The department of agriculture has appointed a task force to check compliance of agriculture department agencies with civil rights acts. The task force is to be headed by the assistant secretary for civil rights, James T. Hays. The task force will be charged with the responsibility of seeing that the department's programs in the South do not discriminate against Negro farmers. The alleged discrimination occurred especially in the extension work.

Rural Red Youth Depart for City
WASHINGTON, March 12 (UP)—That four out of every five Russian farm youths flock to the cities each year, another red mark against communist agriculture, became evident from a recent "Investia" article. Basis for the article was a survey by several of the newspaper's correspondents on future plans of 430 youths graduating from five schools in rural Pochinkov district of the USSR. Only 27 out of the total voiced preference for work on a collective farm; 58 said they wanted to study agriculture, and a whopping 257 excluded farming from their futures. The remaining 90 students said they just wanted to continue their education, but had no idea what they wanted to study. While eight per cent of the U.S. population is on farms, nearly half of all Russians are.

Second Phase of Work Is Readied for Roseworth Job

A year later than planned, the second phase of the Cedar creek watershed project is now approved for issue of bid invitations. This project, sponsored by the U.S. Army, Corps of Engineers, Twin Falls soil conservation district and engineered by the soil conservation service, comprises complete modernization of the Roseworth irrigation facilities. Tuesday, agreements with the federal government were executed by Glen Nelson, soil conservation district chairman, thus clearing the way for approval by Cedar Mesa Reservoir and Canal company, which is Roseworth's irrigation company, and for an early resumption of construction. The first part of the project, a 4.4-mile pipeline in Cedar creek canyon, was completed early in 1964. The second phase is scheduled for completion this year. It will be divided into two construction jobs, one to be let early next month and the second about three months later. The first job includes building approximately six miles of unlined canals and a 125 acre feet regulating reservoir, complete with a 41,000-yard earth-work dam and appurtenant concrete structures. Bid invitations are being sent out now. Contractors interested in this type of work should contact W. B. Arness, route 3, Twin Falls, for job information and plans. The project encountered serious financing obstacles due to necessary elaboration of construction plans. It was one of the early projects under the small watersheds act, P.L. 566, and was subject to regulations applicable when it was approved. Since then these regulations have been liberalized and the problem here was to persuade Washington to alter the original contract to put this project on an equal footing with later ones. "Sen. Church, who has sponsored this project from its inception, gave his valuable support to the necessary contract modification. His help, together with aggressive assistance from the soil conservation service in Twin Falls and Boise, sufficed to persuade Washington to approve the required increase in federal participation for construction costs," said Arness. It is anticipated that the improved financing arrangement will permit Cedar Mesa Reservoir and Canal company to proceed vigorously towards early completion of this important watershed project.

Agriculture Agency Forecasts 1965 Food Bill for Americans Will Jump

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The agriculture department predicts the nation's food bill in 1965 will show a gain from the previous year about half the size of the increase from 1962 to 1963. Food expenditures in 1964 totaled 80 billion dollars, a record high and four billion dollars above 1963.

The rate of increase, a whopping 8.2 per cent, was unusually large and nearly twice that of 1963.

The department said food expenditures again are expected to rise this year, but more in line with the gain in 1963 than that of 1964.

The department said the boom bill in 1964 was 12 billion dollars. This was not considered a part of the food bill.

The agency said a substantial increase in per capita food consumption contributed to the expenditures gain. Particularly important was the six per cent rise in beef consumption per capita.

Farmer's Net Income to Remain Even

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The agriculture department estimates net farm income in 1964 at 12.6 billion dollars, up 100 million dollars from 1963. Net farm income in 1965 is expected to be about the same as last year.

In a review of the general agricultural situation, the department said gains in total revenue are about matching moderate increases in costs.

Cash receipts from marketings of livestock and livestock products during 1964 were a shade above a year earlier, the department said. Increased marketings more than offset a four per cent decrease in prices received.

However, the volume of marketings of crops was lower and cash receipts from marketings of all farm products during 1964 were off slightly from 1963.

Production expenses during 1964 were moderately higher than the year before, the department said.

The squeeze on net income

About half of this was absorbed by the government's beef buy-back program, the department said.

The STEEL FERTILIZER program by Steel food stores in year at 63 billion dollars. Of the 66 billion dollars were taken by grocery stores and six-billion dollars by specialty and food stores.

Steel Company Opens Second Facility To Serve Farmers' Fertilizer Needs

HANSEN, March 12—The second of two new U.S. Steel farm service centers in this area will be opened here Saturday. The center is located on U.S. 30, one-half mile west of here.

Marking an advance in complete soil fertility service, the office and plant will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Personnel operating the center are James T. Brown, unit manager; Gene O. Walker, sales representative; and Elmer S. Wooten, service supervisor.

The open house program will include an opportunity for farmers in the area to consult with Dr. Roy C. Lipps, chief western agronomist for U.S. Steel, who will supervise a day-long "Soil Fertility corner" where valuable information on soil testing and other important economic subjects will be dispensed. Questions of a technical nature from guests will be answered here.

There will be displays of the most modern fertilizer handling equipment that will be available from the center: free crop and product literature; and there will be prizes for visitors every hour; and sandwiches, coffee and other refreshments for everyone.

The Hansen Farm Service center is a duplicate of the one opened recently at Paul—combines in a single unit the latest concepts in soil fertility research information, processing and application facilities, and effective one-package service to farmers.

A full range of custom-made bulk fertilizers, plus micro nutrients, will be offered at the center to meet every soil fertility need, U.S. Steel officials emphasized, including the corporation's own between the center and mobile field units, plus other new service features, offer personal consultation with trained soil specialists right on the farm, fast delivery or application of bulk fertilizers, custom-blended to each farm need, officials emphasized.

Mobile equipment at the center includes the latest pull-type bulk spreaders for small loads, as well as portable storage bins for do-it-yourself bulk applications. Modern bulk spreader trucks and anhydrous ammonia units will provide fast, effective custom application.

Largest of two main buildings houses a central fertilizer storage area and modern, high-capacity bulk blending plant. The second structure comprises the retail office and maintenance area.

Commodity Investment Increases

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The government's investment in price-suppressed commodities as of Jan. 31 totaled $7,582,171,000. This was 610 million dollars less than a year ago, but 383 million dollars more than a month ago.

The agriculture department said the current investment was made up of $4,459,415,706 in commodities owned outright by the Commodity Credit Corporation and $3,122,755,993 in outstanding loans on commodities still held by producers.

The investment in feed grains, both loans and inventory, totaled slightly more than 2.5 billion dollars. The grains included corn, barley, grain sorghum, oats and rye.

The wheat investment of slightly under 887 million bushels was valued at almost 1.7 billion dollars. The cotton investment of more than 13.7 million bales was valued at more than 2.1 billion dollars. The tobacco investment of more than 1.2 million pounds was valued at 600 million dollars.

The dairy investment was 61 million dollars, down considerably from the investment of 856.5 million dollars a year earlier.

Stored Grain Insects Is Subject of Research Team

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Pocatello, March 12—Research team in stored grain insect control was reviewed in a 10-hour Western Region research team meeting recently at the University of Idaho.

The group discussed current projects at agricultural extension stations in the west, and coordinated plans for future studies. World-wide, as cause millions of dollars damage to stored grain each year.

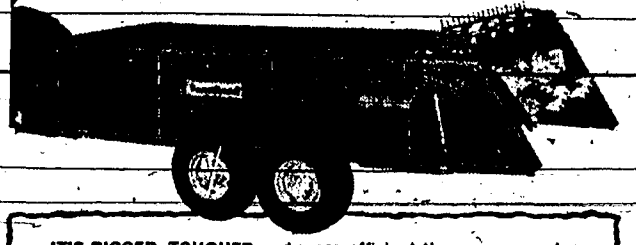

Work in progress includes physical and chemical control of grain pest insects. Among the newer physical means under study are ultrasonic radiations and chemical barriers such as plastic and traps. Many chemical means of control—insecticides, repellents and fumigants—are also studied each year.

The past, most stored grain control has been based on chemical means.

A new control approach using ultrasonic radiation is now being studied by Dr. Howard

Washington State university, Kansas and Arkansas, and USDA. It also included representatives from Washington, California, Oregon, Arizona, Texas and Manhattan, Kan.

$17,729 Allocated for Conservation in Minidoka

PERK, March 12—George Perkins, chairman of the county committee, reported $17,729 has been allocated to Minidoka for the emergency agricultural conservation program.

The funds will be used to solve conservation problems caused by excessive rainfall and flooding in December.

According to Abo, the conservation program is a cost-sharing program under which the general public through the federal government will share with the county the cost of maintaining the agricultural lands for future generations.

An initial allocation of funds has been committed to those who requested assistance. Perkins said. Those who reported flood damage were first notified of the availability of funds. Additional requests have been requested by the ASOC committee.

In addition to cost-sharing provided by the program, the local services of the soil conservation service are made available to the individual farmer.

Primary estimates by the disaster committee set damage to agricultural lands in the county at $73,550. Perkins, based on reports by farmers to the local ASOC office, estimates that considerable damage was incurred. The damage was first feared. The damage reports do not include damaged homes or farmsteads, said damage reports and

Spray Program Can End Fly Problem in Cherry Trees

Wormy cherries from backyard cherry trees was the rule last summer not the exception, said Twin Falls County Agent Donald Youst. By proper planning of a spray program, a worm-free cherry crop can be harvested.

The tiny white worm frequently found in cherries is the larva of the western cherry fruit fly, which emerge from the ground in June, and deposit their eggs on the newly formed cherries, which develop into creamy white worms about one-fourth of an inch long. These larvae feed on the flesh of the cherry.

Cherry fruit fly control is very effective if properly timed with fly emergence. The first spray should be applied when the first flies are found, usually about the first part of June. There is no known control after the eggs are laid.

The county agents will publicize the fact when the first flies are found, and urge growers to start a control program. The presence of the fruit fly in orchards will be reported to the extension office by inspector Dale Taute who maintains several "tanglefoot" or "sticky" boards in cherry orchards in the community.

For home orchards and backyard trees, several insecticides can be used after the flies are detected, and should be used at intervals of 10-14 days in accordance with the directions on the label of the container.

As in the case of all insect control a good application of the insecticide is the key to success. Therefore, the tree should be thoroughly wetted with each spray application. If rain occurs within the spray schedule the tree should be sprayed as quickly as possible after the rain.

Unpicked fruit is also a source of infestation, because it allows the maggots or worms to complete their development and escape into the ground. Therefore, immediately after picking a final spray should be applied for best results.

Florida farms were second, realizing an average net income per farm of $12,234, up 13 per cent from 1963. California farms were third, return of $11,652, up 22 per cent from the previous year.

Milk Total Holds Steady In January

BOISE, March 12—Total production of milk in Idaho during January, estimated at 117 million pounds, was at the same level as a year earlier.

Average output during the 1959-63 period for January was 124 million pounds.

Production advanced one per cent from December, 1964, to January. The 1965 January output of American cheese and creamery butter showed a decrease from the same month a year earlier, while gains occurred in the output of Swiss cheese and ice cream.

January milk production in the United States was estimated at 10,342 million pounds, about two per cent more than both January, 1964, and the previous record high for January set in 1962.

The seasonal increase in production from December, 1964, to January, 1965, was four per cent, slightly less than the increase a year earlier. January milk production provided a daily average of 1.72 pounds per person, the same ratio as in January, 1964.

Production of creamery butter in the United States was estimated at 129,700,000 pounds in January.

This was one per cent more than in January, 1964, and three per cent larger than the 1959-63 average for the month. Output gained nine per cent from December to January this winter, compared with 15 per cent at this time a year earlier and 11 per cent over the average in the 1959-63 period.

Compared with January, 1964, changes in creamery butter manufacture by regions were mixed.

American cheese production in the United States in January, estimated at 86,930,000 pounds, exceeded the previous January record attained in 1964 by five per cent. This output was also five per cent more than in January, 1964, and 18 per cent greater than the 1959-63 average for the month.

The seasonal advance from December to January was four per cent, compared with seven per cent at this time a year earlier, and an average of five per cent during the preceding five-year period.

University Researchers Probe Ewe Immunization

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, March 12 — A team of Idaho researchers studying the effects of immunizing ewes against ovine viral abortion have come up with more questions than answers from their observations.

The scientists were field-testing earlier research which showed the disease, widespread among sheep flocks, could be controlled by immunization.

Working at the U.S. sheep experiment station, Dubois, the men vaccinated 709 yearling and two-year-old ewes from a flock which had a history of the disease. The ewes were run with a similar, non-vaccinated group under range conditions. Their lambing records were compared for a three-year period.

The researchers expected the vaccinated ewes would produce more lambs because they would have fewer abortions.

Test results confirmed half of the expectation: the vaccinated ewes did produce more lambs. But there was little difference in abortion rate. The difference

A. K. Kuttler, Idaho State sheep commissioner, veterinarian.

They plan to repeat the trial. And this time they will watch ewes for a few weeks until conditions or explain the large number of dries among the non-vaccinated ewes.

Congress to Restore CCC Annual Loss

WASHINGTON, March 12 (UPI)—When congress acts on the agriculture department's annual budget later this year, it will approve an appropriation to restore the losses of the commodity credit corporation.

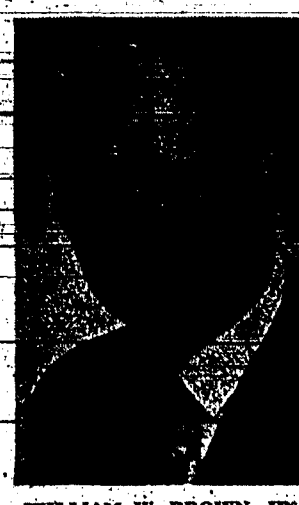

This is the traditional method of financing the government's farm price supports and related programs. The CCC carries out the program, totals up its losses, and then gets the money back from congress.

The administration has asked congress to appropriate 2.3 billion dollars for the CCC for the fiscal year beginning July 1. But even if congress approves the full amount, that won't restore all of the corporation's current losses.

USDA officials estimate that as of June 30, the CCC will have a current loss account of more than 4.36 billion dollars. The losses date back as far as 1961 in some cases.

Campaign to End Weevil Works

WASHINGTON, March 12 (UPI)—The agricultural research service said preliminary surveys of hibernating boll weevils in the Texas high plains indicate encouraging progress in the campaign begun last fall to stop the westward push of this cotton pest.

ARS said ground trash collected in a nine-county area showed an average of only 281 live weevils per acre, compared with 2,650 weevils found during the same period a year ago.

This reduction is believed to stem from the intensive eradication effort conducted in September and October to kill the boll weevils before they had a chance to go into hibernation.

We See Eye-to-Eye on LAND BANK LOANS

WASHINGTON, March 12 (UPI)—The crop-reporting board said commercial broiler production in the United States during 1964 totaled 2,075,068,000 birds, up three per cent from 1963 and the largest of record.

This large volume of broilers was produced in the 23 states covered by weekly chick placement reports.

Oklahoma wheat is good to excellent, except in Cimarron county in the Panhandle, where strong winds caused severe damage early last week. Dry spots are reported in spots along the western edge of Oklahoma, with some blowing both in the January and February storms.

Texas Duststorms Revive Memories Of Blowing Days During Late '30s

AMARILLO, Tex., March 12 (UPI)—Two bad duststorms this year have torn tons of loose soil from thousands of acres in the dust bowl area of the 1930's but the damage is a long way from what it was in the great depression, a federal agricultural expert reports.

Furthermore, most agricultural experts doubt that the situation will ever again get as bad as it was in the dust bowl years, when thousands of families left their dying and dust-covered crops and went to California.

"Most people always harken back to the days of the '30's," H. N. Smith, Temple, Texas, conservationist for the soil conservation service, said.

"It's not as bad as that because we know so much more to do about it and we are doing so much more about it. We give emergency tillage to land that is starting to blow."

"The fact is, that so much land is treated with conservation practices that it is no way near what it was in the 1930's and we don't expect it to get that way."

Nevertheless, it is drying in Southeast Colorado, Northeast New Mexico, Southwest Kansas and in West Texas counties. The south plains area of Texas had a hard duststorm Jan. 24. The dust on Feb. 23 was mixed with snow and Texas panhandle residents coined the name "snot" for the mixture. It was estimated that 234,000 acres of wheat were damaged or destroyed in the February storm.

"It has been pretty severe up there," Smith said. "A lot of wheat has been planted late, in late October or November, because it was so dry. But they generally have had more snow north of Amarillo than south of Amarillo."

"Those were two of the worst duststorms that we have had in the last 10 years. Our current estimate is that in a 50-county area on which we make wind erosion reports regularly there are about 2.7 million acres ready to blow from the standpoint of cover and being dry."

"One of the outstanding things demonstrated by those two storms was that where we have followed good conservation programs, the land was less damaged, if at all."

Rainfall around Amarillo to date is 23 of an inch below normal.

To keep a West Texas drought in context, it must always be related to dryland farming. By nature, the countryside is semidesert, and a farmer must expect five-or-six crop failures before making a bumper crop.

"There was little or no irrigation in West Texas during dust-bowl days. But now, West Texas is believed to be the largest area in the world irrigated from subsurface water sources.

There is much irrigation to the north in the Panhandle. Drought of course does not mean crop failure on irrigated farms, although a wet year saves a farmer money by making it necessary for him to pump less irrigation water.

Colorado appears to be suffering worse than any of the old dust bowl states. There were Colorado duststorms in December, January and February. The biggest were on Jan. 24 and Feb. 23.

Farm Bureau Hears Report By ASC Aide

FAIRFIELD, March 12 (UPI)—RUSSELL PATRICK, CHIEF COUNTY ASC manager, reported on the 1965 farm program at a Farm Bureau meeting. He told of the changes being made this year.

Thomas Spackman reported on the soil conservation unit. He explained the effects of the recent cutbacks, proposed by the administration, and their relation to the local district's activities.

Allen Bauscher gave a report on the grain grading program and urged all growers to write to the USDA and their congressmen protesting the present grain grading system. Bauscher also reported on the progress being made to procure two large sets of scales to weigh hay, grain and livestock. These would be bought by the farmers for public use.

The Farm Bureau went on record as supporting the Camas county wheat growers and the Idaho wheat commission to get changes revised in the present grain grading standards.

Macy Williams, Nampa, showed a film to the group.

OPERATED THE RANCH SINCE 1920. THE RANCH HAS BEEN IN THE RADERMACHER FAMILY SINCE 1897. IN THE EARLY DAYS THE CATTLE WERE TRAILED TO THE ALTURAS LAKE REGION. (Photo by Gene Leach)

BRINGING BACK NOSTALGIC memories for oldtimers is the old picture of Mr. and Mrs. M. Radermacher in front of their summer home at Ketchum about 1910. The recent sale of the Triangle Bar ranch by Henry J. Radermacher, their son, to the Orris Leavell Cattle company closes a long chapter in the history of the pioneer stock ranch which contains 2,300 acres of Gooding and Camas counties.

Sale of Pioneer Stock Ranch at Camas Closes Long Chapter in 67-Year History

BY RAY M. L. DANIEL (Times-News Reporter)

FAIRFIELD, March 12—The sale of the Triangle Bar ranch by Henry J. Radermacher to the Orris Leavell Cattle company brings to a long chapter in the history of the pioneer stock ranch, which has been owned by the Radermacher family since 1897 and has operated since 1920 by Radermacher.

The ranch is comprised of 2,300 acres in Gooding and Camas counties. The home is located on Clover creek, east of Bliss. The ranch includes the Clover creek drainage and 1,440 acres in Camas county southwest of the well-known Fir Grove farm.

Henry Radermacher is the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Radermacher, who settled in the Clover creek ranch at that time. His mother, Mrs. Radermacher, was the widow of the postoffice at that time. Mrs. Radermacher even served as postmistress of Bliss for some time.

Radermacher had come to Bliss in 1893 from a native London, England, where he first closed on what was called the "Blue House ranch," part of the late Emmett estate. At that time a boxcar served as the Union Pacific station at Bliss.

The Radermachers purchased the ranch, one from Jeff Butcher and one from Con Bray and then under the Triangle Bar brand. They started a small herd and built it to over 300 head about the end of the century.

They ranged them on the Clover creek drainage as far north as the mountain south of Corvallis about 1908. They started making drives and trailing their herds as far as the Alturas lake and along the headwaters of the Salmon river, during the summer months. At that time the range was free range.

Radermacher states that the herds were made with overnight trips to Fir Grove, Camp Creek, and other places.

They had to arrange early start at Halley as the herd had to be driven right to the main town. They would stay at Ketchum for days to rest their herds.

Ketchum they would haul their shoes on their heavy built animals wouldn't wear out feet on the rough terrain to Galena summit. They would allow the receding snow to fall and would come in the fall when forced out the deep snow.

Radermacher recalls that while still a small boy he was in the job of helping his father herd the saddle horses and the cattle drives. While herding the cattle, he had been used to a life of a cowboy in England with several years he was very busy with the Indians, cattle drives and other pioneer conditions in Idaho but he never lost his love of the hard work and the long drives. His father had been a cowboy in England and had made the change to the life of a farmer and stockman after the forest service was established they transferred Radermacher's range rights to the Trall creek and Elkhorn area, where they ran in common with the herd of the late Horace C. Lewis. Lewis was then the owner of the property that is now Sun Valley.

In 1909 the Radermachers sold their cattle and range rights to Lewis. They had maintained a summer home in Ketchum while they ranged their cattle in that area. They also shipped their beef cattle from the railroad at Ketchum to markets in Omaha, Neb.

They returned to their home ranch and proceeded to build up another herd. In 1912 they rented their ranch and cattle to Peter W. Huyser. (Mr. and Mrs. Huyser are now retired and still reside at Bliss.) Huyser had been a schoolteacher in the area.

The Radermachers moved to Boise so that their son, Henry, could have the advantage of more schooling. They continued to reside in Boise until their deaths. The elder Radermacher was a bookkeeper for the Boise-Payette Lumber company. Henry returned to the home ranch in 1920 after completing a three-year course in agriculture at the University of Idaho, Moscow.

In addition to farming and cattle raising, Henry was foot of the grade above the White Arrow resort. He used teams of horses to pull his equipment in those days.

The elder Radermacher and his son, Henry, were both lovers of good horses. They raised Percheron and Morgan horses and between 1920 and 1930 Henry had as many as 150 head of horses which he ranged with his cattle.

One of the horses that they raised later became quite famous as a racehorse in the quarter and half-mile races. Named "Jack of Diamonds," he was sired by an English coach horse out of a wild mare from the Bruneau desert. Radermacher sold him to Mr. and Mrs. Claude McCarter, Curlew, who bred and raised him. He was able and leased him out as a race horse.

Henry worked for many years as a cowboy in the rodeos. His favorite horse was a red sorrel, named Ginger, which lived to be 27 years old. Many old-time rodeo fans will recall this horse.

Over the years Henry has added grazing land to his holdings and has a summer cow camp at Bowman Flat, near the Gooding-Camas county line.

In addition to his ranch and livestock operations Henry Radermacher has pursued music as a hobby. As his parents were both musical he was started while young on the old-fashioned organ. He was soon playing for country dances.

He has since added the playing of the piano, fiddle and banjo to his musical accomplishments. He organized and was leader of the Clover Creek Wranglers. Later he joined Bon Lozier's "Tune Twisters." Both of these groups played for many rodeos and dances in southern Idaho and Nevada.

At the present time he has an orchestra called "Roddy's Music-makers," which is currently playing at a night spot in Bliss.

He is a member of the Idaho Oldtime Fiddlers and is the south-central district chairman.

The story of the 67-year-old Triangle Bar ranch would not be complete without the mention of the name of George Townsley. He was a friend of the Radermachers in England and was already residing in the Bliss area when they arrived.

Part of the time he was associated with them in the operation of the ranch. He later became Henry's stepfather when he married Henry's mother years after the death of his father.

Also to be mentioned should be the name of Sid Vaden, who was a rider up the ranch and leased the ranch for a few years. James Reager, who ran cattle with them and made the 1908 drives and pastured cattle with them at the first around Alturas lake, also deserves mention.

Now the ranch is sold to Mr. and Mrs. Radermacher plan to retire. They did reserve most of their horses. These include a team of matched palominos that have been used to pull the wagon for the Idaho Oldtime Fiddlers at various parades and appearances.

Henry states that for the present they will continue to reside in the home that they have maintained on an island in the Snake river near the new Gridley bridge at Hagerman.

T.F. Riding Club Names New Officers

New officers have been elected by members of the Twin Falls Junior Riding club. Elected president is Pat Light. Other officers include Rick Ames, vice president; Cathy Wylie, secretary-treasurer; Catherine Light, queen.

The club is trying to work on projects to improve the Magic Valley Western Horse show. The show currently is the second best show in the area and efforts are being made to boost the show to the top spot.

The club has been organized since 1954 and has an estimated 80 members, with almost twice that many on the inactive role. The start of the riding season should, however, bring many members off the inactive list and boost the membership.

The club attracts members from all over Magic Valley.

Alfalfa

NEW HOLLAND, Pa., March 12 — New Holland's "Grassland News" points out that some 40 varieties of alfalfa are grown in various parts of the U.S.

None is adapted for general use everywhere. Instead, each is adapted to meet some particular need.

Use of Insecticides in Alfalfa Is Discussed by Extension Entomologist

What insecticides will be available for alfalfa weevil control in 1965. This question has been on the minds of many Twin Falls county farmers. Many of the questions are answered in a recent announcement by Extension Entomologist Roland Fortman, through the Twin Falls county agent's office.

During the growing season last year the USDA withdrew the use of Dieldrin for controlling insects attacking alfalfa and several other crops. At the present time there is no field proven insecticide for spraying application to control the alfalfa weevil that does not have restrictions on feeding the hay.

Understanding the seasonal activities of the weevil is the best guide to the proper timing of the control treatments. Most alfalfa weevils lay their eggs in the spring. Egg laying starts when the plants are just showing green in the spring and continues until the stems are over a foot high.

In laying eggs the female weevil first cuts a hole into the pith of the stem and then turns around to insert up to 30 eggs in the cavity. Each female lays about 600 eggs. Incubation may require 14 days when the weather is cold.

After hatching, the tiny larvae crawl up the stem to feed on the tender flower and leaf buds. This feeding greatly reduces the number of blossoms and skeletonizes the leaves.

The feeding value of the alfalfa hay to livestock is in the leaves, the stem is nutritionally rather than in the volume of hay.

The peak of the larvae population coincides with the blooming of the plants. Pupation, the stage when the larvae change into the adult, takes place in a thin loosely woven cocoon. The peak of the new adult population occurs about three weeks after the first crop of hay is harvested. Adult feeding does little damage.

Wherever the alfalfa weevil is found in Idaho the weevil parasite is also found. This tiny black wasp emerges in the spring after the weevil larvae are present. The female wasp lays her eggs, singly, one to a weevil larva.

The parasite-infested larvae continue to grow and when mature spins a normal loosely woven cocoon. In place of the weevil pupa the parasite pupa is found.

found. It is oval in shape, dark brown in color and with white band around the middle and is about 1/4 of an inch long.

In many places in Idaho this parasite is responsible for preventing alfalfa weevil outbreaks.

Without an approved early spring treatment for the control of the adult weevil, control measures must be directed toward the larvae. This is done by treating the hay to kill the larvae or by harvesting the hay and treating the stubble.

Neither method is as efficient as the early spring adult control and both kill large numbers of the weevil parasite. To be effective the weevil kill from the hay treating method must be applied during the peak of the larvae activity and there is a possibility of unwanted residues.

Without thorough insecticide coverage many of the larvae feeding within the folded flower and leaf buds are not killed. Thorough spray coverage, generally requires large gallonage, such as a minimum of 75 gallons by ground spray or 15 gallons by airplane per acre.

Another point to remember is interval of time needed between the application and the crop harvested for the insecticide to dissipate. Harvesting the treated hay too soon will result in unwanted insecticide residues on the hay.

The stubble treatment to control the alfalfa weevil larvae also has a problem to consider. When the hay is harvested early to prevent excessive leaf loss, the immature larvae leave the hay to feed on the growing buds of the stubble.

Unless killed, a large larvae population will eat the growing buds as fast as they grow. The field will look dead. Many times the larvae will build back the growth of the alfalfa for periods of two weeks or more.

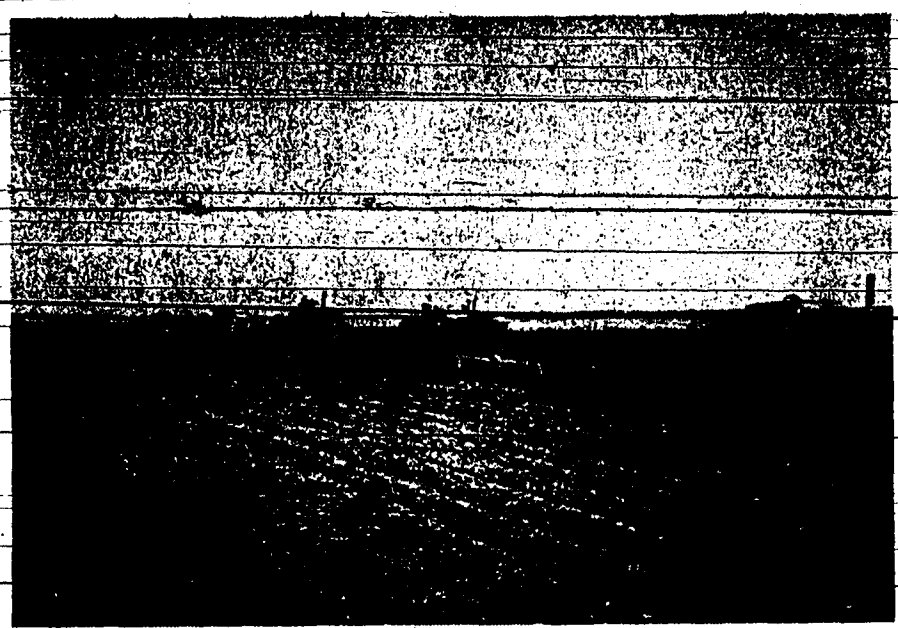

Stubble treatment for the control of the weevil larvae has been more successful than the hay treatment. The larvae are without the protection of the standing hay and it is easier to get adequate coverage from the high pressure spray treatment. A successful stubble treatment reduces the period that the second growth is held back by the larvae feeding.

The characteristics of the insecticides approved for alfalfa and stunting of the treated alfalfa plants.

Malathion and Diazinon are used without special precautions necessary to protect the operator. Guthion and parathion should only be used when the operator is completely protected with a proper gas mask and other clothing. Where pea aphids are also present and require control one treatment of any one of these organo-phosphorus insecticides properly applied will control both pests.

In using any insecticide follow the label instruction closely. warns Fortman. Each insecticide container label will list the insect, the amount per acre, the interval between the last treatment and harvest and where necessary precautionary suggestions.

The best guide to successful insect control is the label instruction. Be sure to keep a permanent record of all insecticides applied to every crop in every field.

WARM SPRING weather is prompting area farmers to get early plowing done. Five tractors owned by Bernard Gergen are shown plowing on the Hall farm near Hazelton.

Nice Weather Aids Farmers In Plowing

HAZELTON, March 12 — Because of the unusual war weather, farmers on the north side of Snake river are getting several spring chores done several weeks ahead of normal.

Frost, for the most part, is out of the ground enabling farmers to plow, fertilize, and work their seedbeds.

Bernard Gergen, Hazelton, reports he is plowing ahead of time and had five tractors plowing on the Earl Hall farm six miles east of here this week.

Some farmers are gambling on the break in the weather to do some early grain planting.

TEMPERATURE AID FUMIGATION

WASHINGTON, March 12 — If the temperature is above 60 degrees, you can fumigate stored grain. If it's below 60 degrees, don't bother because it won't be effective, says USDA.

desirable proportion.

He also suggested that spring flowering shrubs be pruned or cut back after they have bloomed.

Genn's final reminder was that all dead wood in all plants from roses to trees be removed now because clean healthy trees and shrubs add as much beauty as a clean green lawn.

Agent Lists Suggestions For Tree, Shrub Pruning

Plans for pruning trees and shrubs is here again and it is one of our more important chores of each late winter, says Olan Genn, Twin Falls county agent.

Trees and shrubs can be changed and appear as we want them only by proper pruning. Genn said. He warned, however, improper pruning can make undesirable trees and shrubs look even worse.

Many pamphlets and bulletins are available at every county agent's office offering information on how to do a good job of pruning plants. Often times nurseries have such material for reading and some nurseries employ specialized people for hire to do pruning at this time of the year.

Genn had these things to say about certain understandings the individual should have before he starts pruning trees and shrubs:

He should have some knowledge as to how plants grow in order to predict what will happen when certain tree and shrub branches are removed.

The individual with the pruning shears in his hands should know how the plant to be pruned has been pruned and has made a season's growth.

The pruner should always keep in mind the root system of the plant, remembering that the roots are developed to support the present plant above ground. The root system is what forces the regrowth and the pruner determines the amount of regrowth by the amount of the top he removes.

Genn says a more common mistake comes about in pruning Pruner jumpers and like plants perhaps more than with any other shrubs. He insists that Pruner jumpers and other low-growing cedar-like plants should never be sheared unless they are to be a hedge.

Low growing cedar-like plants should be pruned by cutting branches off far enough back in the plant that the cut does not show and the pruned plant appears only smaller, not sheared.

The agent reminded that trees should be pruned often rather than by lopping off large limbs after they have grown out of

U.S. Agriculture Department Report Realized Farm Income Remains Even

WASHINGTON, March 12 — The agriculture department said realized farm income in the United States last year was 29.4 billion dollars. This is about 100 million dollars greater than in 1963, but unchanged from 1961 and 1962.

The rise in 1964 stemmed from a whopping hike in government payments. The increase of almost a half billion dollars in government payments caused a slight increase in total cash receipts which more than offset a smaller-than-usual rise in farm costs. The realized net income is the amount left over for spending or investing after allowing for production expenses. The department said the rise in net farm income coupled with a continued decline in farm numbers permitted realized per-acre income per farm from farming to reach a record $3,642 in 1964. This compares with $3,504 in 1963.

Farmers earned 10 billion dollars from markets in 1964. The volume of market receipts was larger than in 1963, but average of prices received down about 2.5 per cent. Receipts totaled 10,338 billion dollars in 1963. Crop receipts totaled 10 billion dollars, down 2.5 per cent from 1963. Total government payments to farmers in 1964 came to 10 billion dollars compared with 9 billion dollars in 1963. Processing In Idaho Is Listed

BOISE, March 12 — Potato processing in Idaho, plus Idaho potatoes processed in Malheur county, Ore., from July through November accounted for 8,186,000 hundredweight of raw potatoes according to reports compiled from processors.

Of this 7,202,000 hundredweight were used in the manufacture of food products and 279,000 hundredweight for starch, flour and alcohol.

Of the 8,186,000 hundredweight processed, about 1,014,000 hundredweight came from the 10 Southwest counties of Idaho, 6,885,000 from "other counties" of Idaho, and 287,000 were shipped into Idaho from other states.

The total quantity of potatoes used in processing during the first five months of this marketing season was slightly less than the amount used during the same period last year. Processed products was 21 per cent more, while starch, flour and alcohol was 53 per cent less.

Top Herd Record

RICHFIELD, March 12 — Des Wolverton had the highest DHEA record for February, reports Scott Erwin. His herd produced 1,154 pounds of milk and 41.9 pounds butterfat as the highest average.

Hazelton's Fritmore's herd was second with 1,044 pounds of milk and 38.9 pounds of butterfat.

Cows with high production records were No. 46, owned by A. J. Johnson and sons, 77; Violet, owned by Grant Stevens, 65; Corney, owned by F. M. Growther, 62; J.H.I., owned by Roger Freeman, 64.8, and Fritmore's Cal, 60.5, and Babe, 67.7.
