

Schools Get Fund Boost; End Nears

BOISE, March 18 (AP)—The senate added two million dollars to the money available for the public schools today and the action indicated the Idaho legislature could wind up its lengthy 1965 session by nightfall. The house had refused to handle any of the legislation on its calendar pending the vote by the senate on the additional two million dollars. Approval was expected to break the logjam, and the remaining measures need only enactment to permit adjournment were likely to be disposed of quickly.

Former King Farouk, 45, Dies in Rome

ROME, March 18 (AP)—Former King Farouk of Egypt, the pudgy pleasure-lover who went into exile with a personal fortune estimated at 200 million dollars, collapsed in a Rome restaurant early today and died a few minutes later. He had $155 in his pockets.

Farouk was 45 years old and weighed more than 250 pounds. Accompanied by an unidentified woman companion, the last thing he did was to finish a lavish dinner of oysters and lamb in the luxurious restaurant He de France.

Officials at San Camillo hospital where Farouk was rushed said the exact cause of death could not be determined immediately. The former monarch expired a few minutes after his arrival.

Farouk had been in exile in Rome for 12 years. He loved women, gambling and food, and "La Dolce Vita" might have been the story of his life.

It was not always so. Farouk was slim and athletic when he ascended the ancient throne of Egypt in 1937 at the age of 18.

SOVIET OFFICIALS told Moscow television viewers Thursday this picture on their screen showed Lt. Col. Alexei Leonov in the act of becoming the first man to step out of an orbiting capsule in outer space. The copilot of the spaceship Voskhod-2 went 16 1/2 feet from the capsule, they said. The report said Leonov stepped out 90 minutes after a 10 a.m. Moscow time, launching. The feat was at the end of the first of 18 orbits. (AP wirephoto by cable from Moscow)

Russian in Space Looked Like Small Boy Playing New Game

MOSCOW, March 18—The first man to leave his craft in space looked like a little boy exuberantly playing a new game. Moscow television today showed Lt. Col. Alexei Leonov making man's first sally from the protective shelter of his spaceship shortly after the launching of the Voskhod 2. The six-minute television sequence showed Leonov's helmeted head rising from a hatch on what appeared to be the upper surface of the spacecraft. He raised himself until his trunk was outside the hatch, but remained for about three minutes standing hesitantly on the doorstep to space.

He gripped the rim of the hatch with his right hand and made a few sweeping motions with his left—all the time facing the camera.

The Soviet news agency Tass later explained he was waiting for Col. Pavel Belyayev's command to kick free.

Leonov was wearing a white helmet. Hoses and other attachment stretched over his shoulder from the helmet to a pack on his back.

The coils of Leonov's safety line were suddenly ejected from the hatch, as though someone had thrown them.

The cosmonaut reached back into the hatch to draw out the rest of the line.

Bracing himself with both hands on the rim of the hatch, Leonov arched his back and his feet floated up and out of the hatch.

His movements were like a swimmer moving under water. Throughout the filmed sequence, the white outline of the Earth's curvature could be seen in the background alternating with the blackness of outer space.

Leonov held on to the hatch briefly, as though reluctant to leave the safety of his space vehicle.

After he finally pushed himself off from the shiny surface of the spacecraft, he slowly floated away from the camera. He turned on his back. For a few seconds he hung motionless, floating on his back.

His body continued to float away from the camera and his lifeline could be seen stretching taut. Leonov reached over and touched the line—as though to adjust it and reassure himself.

Despite the cumbersome looking space suit with its "autonomous life-support system," as Tass called it, Leonov began slowly and gracefully turning somersaults in the air.

His turns seemed slow and deliberate at first, then more confident and relaxed.

He turned head over heels with increasing abandon while his body drifted in and out of the camera's range. The camera caught at least four full somersaults.

Cosmonaut Has "Walk" In Space

MOSCOW, March 18 (AP)—A Soviet rocket hurled two cosmonauts today into man's highest orbit and one of them spent 10 minutes outside the spaceship. Tass, the Soviet news agency, said he was "in condition of outer space" for 20 minutes, "including 10 minutes outside the ship." This indicated he spent 10 minutes in an airless chamber attached to the pressurized main cabin before going outside. There were indications that the new space venture was intended as another step toward the moon by experimenting with the techniques needed to join space-ships together.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said Lt. Col. Alexei Leonov, 30, copilot of the spaceship called Voskhod 2, went 16 feet from the space capsule. He appeared to be attached to the ship by a lifeline.

Soviet television stations showed a film of Leonov floating outside the space ship, with the curve of the Earth and the blackness of space visible in the background.

Leonov wore what was described as a special "autonomous life-support suit." On television, the suit appeared bulky. The helmet was heavy. What appeared to be oxygen containers were strapped to his back.

After the cosmonauts had been up more than nine hours, completing six orbits, they appeared again by live broadcast on Moscow television.

Leonov reported by radio that he and Belyayev, who was resting, were well.

The pair appeared set for a period in space that equaled the night in the Soviet Union. But for them, it would be many short days and nights as they flew in a sunrise every 90 minutes.

With him in Voskhod 2 was Col. Pavel Belyayev, 39, the flight commander. Tass said a powerful rocket sent them into orbit at 10 a.m. (2 a.m. EST), and Leonov stepped from the capsule 90 minutes later, at the end of the ship's first orbit of the Earth.

He successfully carried out the range of prescribed studies and observations and safely returned to the ship. Outside the ship and after returning to the ship, Leonov feels well," Tass said.

Leonov emerged into outer space, his work outside the ship and return to the ship were transmitted to the Earth by means of the ship's television system and observed by a network of ground stations," Tass reported.

Moscow television showed a film of Leonov floating next to the spacecraft, apparently attached to it by a line to prevent his floating away.

The cosmonaut did somersaults in space and floated in a loose, relaxed-appearing manner of weightlessness.

Voskhod 2 is the Soviet Union's second group-manned flight. It came five days before the United States is scheduled to launch its first in the Gemini program.

The American program also has scheduled an experimental "walk around in nothingness," but for a later flight.

The space ship blasted off a little more than five months after the first multiple-manned Voskhod (Sunrise) was launched.

Tass said according to preliminary data, Voskhod 2 is orbiting the Earth every 90.9 minutes with a minimum distance from the Earth of 108 miles and a maximum of 307 miles. It said the orbit angle to the equator is about 65 degrees, and "close to the prescribed orbit."

Scientists to Begin Training

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—The national aeronautics and space administration said today it plans to select 10 to 20 scientists to start a year of astronaut flight training this summer.

Tr. H. L. Dryden, NASA deputy administrator, told a meeting of the American Astronautical society that the group will be chosen from among more than 900 applicants.

Current astronauts, drawn from the ranks of military and civilian jet pilots, are receiving some science training but lack specialized scientific backgrounds.

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—A bomb threat emptied the Arizona statehouse today, sending bus legislators out. Less than two hours later, the session was back to normal.

Fifty police and state patrolmen searched the house and sent the legislators back to work. The evacuation followed a telephone call to police. A man's voice said, "There is a bomb in the main building at the capitol."

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—The marine corps will increase from three to four the number of batteries in each of its three Hawk anti-aircraft missile battalions, one of which is now in South Viet Nam.

Storm Continuing in Midwest Section

By United Press International
A two-day blizzard packing winds up to 50 miles an hour pounded the Midwest today from the Dakotas to Michigan. Thousands of schools closed, highways were blocked by drifts up to 25 feet deep, and dozens of communities became snowbound ghost towns. In the theater tornadoes left millions of dollars of damage and 50 persons injured. The worst blizzard of the winter in four days before the start of day of spring—piled 25-foot drifts in Minnesota. Schools closed for the first time in 25 years in Minnesota. Paul, several hundred schools were closed elsewhere around the states. Most highways in Minnesota drifted shut by the huge snowdrifts.

Blizzard warnings were extended through the day for Minnesota and Michigan.

Sex stopped running in DuSable, Minn., and Sioux Falls, S.D.

Bus bogged down near Beloit, Ia., and the driver and 39 others spent the night in the vehicle when they were unable to reach farmhouses. Snowdrifts still trying to reach bus today.

Man Ruled Innocent Because of Insanity

BURLEY, March 18—William Morgan Owens, 62, is innocent of shooting two Oakley boys Nov. 30, 1962, for "reasons of insanity," District Judge Lloyd Webb ruled Wednesday afternoon at the conclusion of a one-day trial in the Cassia district courtroom. A near-capacity crowd, mostly Oakley residents, attended the trial. The judge ordered that Owens be committed to State Hospital South, Blackfoot, for an indefinite period after two psychiatrists, one testifying for the prosecution and one for the defense, both agreed he had schizophrenia.

After the testimony, the judge ruled that enough evidence had been presented regarding Owens' mental condition to eliminate the need for holding a separate sanity hearing.

Owens, who sat through the trial, seemed unconcerned and apparently oblivious to anyone in the courtroom except the judge. When asked by Judge Webb if he was agreeable to not holding a second trial concerning his sanity, Owens responded readily.

Owens was charged with the shooting of Larry Sager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sager, and Gilbert Hunter, son of Mrs. Maxine Hunter, as the two were returning from a goose hunting trip at Oakley dam southwest of Oakley. He was charged with assault with a deadly weapon and with intent to commit murder.

Eight witnesses testified for the state and one witness took the stand for the defense during the trial.

First witness on the stand Wednesday afternoon was Oakley village Marshal Golden Harper, who told of being notified of the shooting by Art Bergner. He said after going to the scene of the shooting, he notified Burley for an ambulance and also asked state and county officers to assist in apprehending Owens.

Harper told Cassia county Prosecuting Attorney Richard K. Smith that after the two youths were taken to the hospital, they were held in the hospital.

Glassworkers Stage Strikes At 64 Plants

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 18 (AP)—A strike by 32,000 workers at 64 plants of the national glass container manufacturing plants began at 12:01 EST today after attempts to resume negotiations here failed.

Union and management negotiators had been scheduled to meet at 9 p.m. yesterday in an attempt to avert the walkout but the meeting was canceled.

The nation's supply of food containers has already been depleted by the steelworkers strike against two major can companies, and the new strike was expected to cut deeper into supply.

The production and maintenance workers at 64 plants, represented by the Glass Bottle Blowers' association, voted by mail ballots to reject the last offer by the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

A union spokesman had said the 20,000 members of the American Flint Glass Union would probably honor the picket lines, but he said last night they would be urged to continue working.

The 64 plants involved in the dispute are operated by 27 companies throughout the nation with the exception of the west coast. The strike was the first industry-wide work stoppage since 1960.

Federal Mediation Director William Simkin has urged both sides to resume negotiations.

Hearing

The second hearing here on a proposed Twin Falls county zoning ordinance will be held at 8 p.m. today in the courthouse.

The first hearing, held last week, adjourned after vigorous protests were voiced against the measure.

The bulk of the protests were over a proposed restriction on size of lots required for residential construction outside the city limits.

In adjourning last week's meeting, county commissioners said the action was taken to enable those interested to study the proposed zoning ordinance and zoning map more thoroughly.

U. S. Plans Nuclear Test In Alaska

SEATTLE, March 18 (AP)—The United States plans a nuclear test in Alaska late this year to enable it to detect the difference between underground atomic tests and natural earthquakes, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer said today in a copyright story.

The newspaper said it learned the test would be set off at a depth of between 2,000 and 3,000 feet on barren Amchitka Island, near the end of the Aleutian island chain which separates the north Pacific and the Bering sea.

No exact date was mentioned. It would be the first explosion of an atomic device in the 49th state.

Children Are Accidentally Killed in Raid

SAIGON, March 18 (AP)—South Vietnamese fighter-bombers accidentally killed between 20 and 30 school children Tuesday in an attack on a communist position only seven miles south of the Da Nang air field, it was disclosed today.

The children were not hurt in a bombing and strafing attack which killed 10 Viet Cong soldiers in their schoolyard but confusion from bombs dropped on the fleeing guerrillas caused the collapse of a cave in which they had taken shelter, smothering them.

A Vietnamese army spokesman said a pilot spotted a Viet Cong flag flying from the Man Quang village schoolyard. He said 12 armed men opened fire and that an air strike was called to blast them down.

The schoolyard was in the direct path of planes landing at Da Nang.

Smylie Okays Fourth Job Corps Center

BOISE, March 18 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie has announced approval of Idaho's fourth job corps center and says it probably will be one of the last to be approved in the state.

The center will be on the Snake river near Marsing in Owyhee county, the governor said, and is to be staffed by 100 men who will work on reclamation projects in Owyhee, Canyon and Ada counties.

Smylie said he doubts that many more camps will be approved for Idaho because 70 have been authorized throughout the country and Idaho has four of them.

The other three have been approved near Kootenai and Cottonwood in north Idaho and Mountain Home in southwest Idaho.

First witness on the stand Wednesday afternoon was Oakley village Marshal Golden Harper, who told of being notified of the shooting by Art Bergner. He said after going to the scene of the shooting, he notified Burley for an ambulance and also asked state and county officers to assist in apprehending Owens.

Area College To Apply for Junior Status

MAGIC VALLEY CHRISTIAN COLLEGE, Albion, March 18 (AP)—The Christian college will apply for candidacy in the Northwest Accrediting association next spring as a junior college, president Donald Neilson reports.

He explained the school will begin operation this September as a junior college instead of a four-year institution, but that application cannot be made until after January, 1966, for accreditation.

College officials also announced today there are 27 scholarships available for the school year which begins next September.

This includes 10 academic full-tuition scholarships for students wishing to enter MVCC either as high school graduates or college transfers. There are 12 athletic scholarships available in basketball, track or baseball. Athletic skill and academic achievement will be weighed.

These scholarships range from full-tuition scholarships to half-tuition. Academic achievement for the last semester at the last place of attendance will be taken into consideration with full tuition for students with 2.86 to 3.49 average and half tuition for averages of 2 to 2.85.

Students wishing information on these two categories of scholarships should contact the dean of students at the college.

Dean Gerald R. Black also announces there are five music scholarships available ranging from $200 to $500. Inquiries about these scholarships should be made to the music department at Magic Valley Christian college.

Students wishing information on these two categories of scholarships should contact the dean of students at the college.

Cold

Spring may be arriving on the calendar this weekend, but temperatures across the northern part of Magic Valley deny the fact.

It was -15 at Ketchum, -18 at Galena and -20 at Sandy Brooks ranch near Ovidian Thursday morning.

Brooks reported a skiff of snow fell Wednesday, but the wind was blowing so hard it was barely noticeable.

There still are a good five feet on the level at Ovidian, and the fenceposts are just beginning to peek through," Brooks reports.

About half an inch of snow fell Wednesday night at Righfield where the ground has been bare since early February.

Excitement Is Caused by Wind

RUPERT, March 18 — Tuesday afternoon in Rupert a chain of events caused by the high winds caused excitement in a residential part of the city.

A utility pole, for which the power company and the Project Mutual Telephone company share usage, was blown down by the strong winds, causing power failure in about one-fourth of Rupert and disruption of some telephone service.

The downed wires, at Eleventh and H streets, caused a small grass fire in a pasture. Because of the power failure, the fire alarm wasn't functioning, so it could not be reported.

Neighbors, seeing the blaze, rushed to the scene and extinguished the fire without further incident.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

One of the coldest outbreaks of the entire winter season spread over the Intermountain region yesterday and last night. The cold air held temperatures in the 30s yesterday afternoon from eastern Oregon to Rupert and Burley. Last night temperatures dropped to between 0 and 10 above at most reporting points in southern Idaho. The coldest report received this morning was -2 at the AGC near Arco and the warmest 13 above at Mountain Home.

The cold front which had moved south of most of this area Tuesday night moved back over the southern Idaho yesterday to give another blast of nearly as strong as strong Tuesday. This is not likely today as high-pressure is now settling southward over this area. Winds will be much lighter this afternoon and mainly from the east or north. Today and Friday will be mostly sunny with only scattered clouds. Temperatures will continue quite cold today and tonight but should begin a warming trend Friday. For Saturday the outlook is fair and warmer.

Scattered snow flurries yesterday and last night were generally very light. The only measurable amount reported was .02 of an inch of moisture at Boise.

Considerable warmth retained in the surface soil from the recent period of above normal temperatures probably helped prevent even lower overnight temperatures at the three- to four-inch depths cooled five to seven degrees in Magic Valley. At Buhl the 24-hour average temperature at three inches was 38 and at Castleford 35. At Kimberly the temperature at four inches was 37.

At the Twin Falls weather bureau office, last night was the coldest since Dec. 18, at which time the temperature dropped to -3 on Dec. 17 and -1 on Dec. 18. The coldest in January was 8 on Jan. 1 and 2 and 8 degrees also was recorded Feb. 11.

DR. BRIGGS SAID THAT AT THE present time Owens wasn't hearing voices and under examination talked freely about the shooting incident. He felt long range treatment would be necessary for Owens.

DR. BRIGGS WAS CROSS-EXAMINED by Bedke, the state rested its case at 2 p.m. Bedke then made a brief opening statement and called the only defense witness — Dr. Charles J. Conley, Blackfoot, who said he has been associated with State hospital since July 1933.

He gave his opinion of Owens, who was confined to the hospital from February, 1963, until about a month ago, when he was returned to Cassia county for the trial.

Dr. Conley said he felt that Owens at the time of the shooting did not consider the incident to be wrong, because he had been hearing voices. He also recommended long range treatment.

Defense rested its case at 2:45 p.m., after Dr. Conley had been cross-examined by prosecuting Attorney Smith. Judge Webb called a recess about 3 p.m. and court reconvened at 3:15 p.m., when the judge announced his rulings.

Idaho Traffic

BOISE, March 18 — Idaho's traffic death rate in 1964 gained 23 per cent over that of the preceding year but the fatal accident rate moved up only nine per cent.

The figures were noted yesterday by the state highway department, which said the lower accident rate, compared with deaths, resulted because of a large number of multiple-death mishaps.

The death rate was listed as 7.6 per 100 million vehicle-miles compared with 6.2 in 1963. Fatal accidents number 6.1 per 100 million vehicle-miles compared with 5.6 in 1963.

Total deaths in 1964 were 282 compared with 207 in 1963. Accidents reported during 1964 numbered 32,114 compared with 20,860 in 1963.

Ada county led in total accidents with 3,238 in which 27 persons died. Bannock was second with 1,949 accidents and 13 deaths and Bonneville was third with 13 deaths in 1,937 accidents. Canyon county had 15 deaths in 1,633 accidents.

Only three counties had more than 1,000 accidents each. Twin Falls had 12 deaths in 1,430 mishaps. Kootenai 14 in 1,412 and Nez Perce, 12 in 1,025.

DR. BRIGGS SAID THAT AT THE present time Owens wasn't hearing voices and under examination talked freely about the shooting incident. He felt long range treatment would be necessary for Owens.

DR. BRIGGS WAS CROSS-EXAMINED by Bedke, the state rested its case at 2 p.m. Bedke then made a brief opening statement and called the only defense witness — Dr. Charles J. Conley, Blackfoot, who said he has been associated with State hospital since July 1933.

He gave his opinion of Owens, who was confined to the hospital from February, 1963, until about a month ago, when he was returned to Cassia county for the trial.

Dr. Conley said he felt that Owens at the time of the shooting did not consider the incident to be wrong, because he had been hearing voices. He also recommended long range treatment.

Defense rested its case at 2:45 p.m., after Dr. Conley had been cross-examined by prosecuting Attorney Smith. Judge Webb called a recess about 3 p.m. and court reconvened at 3:15 p.m., when the judge announced his rulings.

Substation To Be Built Near Malta

IDAHO POWER, March 18 — Bonneville Power administration today opened bids for construction of a new substation north of Malta. Apparent low bid of $18,338 was submitted by Enloe Electric, Medford, Ore.

The new substation will provide power to the Raft River Rural Electric cooperative near Malta. This new station, together with major improvements to the cooperative which include 138 kv transmission line construction, will provide transmission voltage service to the rapidly growing irrigation loads on the cooperative's system.

The contractors will grade and surface the switchyard, parking area and entrance road. Also included is construction of 27 foundations, installation of 27 conduits and grounding system, installation of four steel structures, fencing, station equipment, aluminum bus and ground wires and painting of substation items.

Legislature

WHICH WILL BE AVAILABLE FROM THE sales tax.

HE SAID THE MONEY IS AVAILABLE from the sales tax revenue and the added two million dollars still will leave the total general fund budget near the total recommended by Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

HE ADDED TWO MILLION DOLLARS was opposed on grounds the appropriation already approved provided a great deal more money for the schools.

BACKERS OF THE EXTRA amount noted that it was considered a must by members of the house who had up action on the senate-approved distribution formula pending passage of the appropriation by the senate.

BUT SEN. WILLIAM DEE, D, Idaho, asserted that if the formula bill were not approved it would mean simply that the formula enacted in 1963 would remain in effect. He contended it would treat most districts fairly.

LEADERS HAD HOPED they could adjourn the session in 14 days by noon. But they gave up on those plans when controversy developed and agreed to push for a wrapup by about 5 p.m.

ORIGINAL PLANS CALLED for convening of the special session on reappointment and congressional redistricting during the afternoon. The revised plan calls for the special session to start Friday morning.

SOME OTHER MAJOR legislation remained to be acted on. Still to be considered are appropriations bills for Idaho State university in Pocatello and the Lewis-Clark Normal school in Lewiston. Both were on the house calendar.

THE SENATE ALREADY WAS IN ITS 14th day of overtime, a new record for length in this century.

Manager of Phone Office Is Honored

HAILEY, March 18 — Savino Oberuaga, who has been manager of the Hailey-Ketchum office of the Mountain States Telephone company since 1954, was honored at a luncheon today for 25 years employment with the company.

He began his telephone service in March, 1940, at Boise in the construction department. He worked in Idaho Falls, Pocatello and Boise prior to coming to Hailey. A native of Boise, Oberuaga was known for his athletic ability at Boise high school and the University of Idaho.

The manager is past president of the Rotary, Chamber of Commerce and Wood River Ski club. He is an avid outdoorsman.

Much progress has occurred during his management here. Telephones in the Hailey-Ketchum area have doubled since 1955. There are now 2,450 telephones in the two-city area, compared to 1,292 10 years ago. All telephones are dial operated and subscribers can dial their own long distance calls.

Oberuaga was presented a service emblem by his co-workers and company district officials.

Proper Incentive
There's a way to force Idaho's legislature to adjourn within proper limitations but, unfortunately, the necessary legislation would have to be approved by the legislature itself. And some members of the legislature aren't about to give up something they regard as a good deal.
Legislators are paid on the basis of $10 a day, but they have voted themselves another $25 daily for expenses. After 60 days, the pay part is stopped and legislators technically are donating their time. Yet nothing could be farther from the truth. The $25 expense payment continues for each and every day, including Saturdays, Sunday, holidays and whether the legislator is in session or not. So Idaho's taxpayers shell out $3,075 a day to legislators just for expenses.

In case anyone wonders why expenses are so much greater than pay, just consider that expenses are tax-exempt, while pay is not.
What makes this year's legislative boondoggle so objectionable is that there is no good reason why the 38th session should have gone beyond the 60-day limit set by the state constitution. Early in the session, while everything was still sweetness and light, the experts agreed the legislature could complete all its work in 60 days. Then the house and senate got to fighting between themselves, party unity broke down and taxpayers have been footing a bill that should never have been incurred.
Expenses for members of the legislature don't tell the complete story of legislative costs, by any means. Other expenses are piled on top for every day the legislature is in session.

Those members of the legislature who are so fond of referendum elections might want to refer this problem to the voters. All those in favor of cutting off ALL remuneration to legislators after 60 days...

SUITABLE CHOICE
Officials concerned with administering welfare programs have a large headache when it comes to determining the difference between persons who need and are entitled to help and those who ride welfare rolls because it's easier than working. Any administrator or official involved in welfare work of any description is quite ready to declare that relief programs attract more than the fair share of chiselers.
Judge Frank W. Cimini in Pittsfield, Mass., met the challenge posed by Edward J. Bigelow, father of 12. The judge sentenced Bigelow, 35, to a suspended one-year term in jail and placed him on probation for six months. Then he gave the man his choice: Get a job within a week or go to jail. The welfare commissioner reported the Bigelow family is being paid $492 a month for support.
However, there's a flaw in the judge's sentence. If Bigelow decides it's better to languish in jail than work, the relief payments will have to be continued to his family.
Those concerned with welfare programs should have the authority to recommend discontinuance of payments or other aid in those cases where recipients obviously would rather ride relief rolls than accept any kind of work.
Judge Cimini's decision might be effective if the jail sentence was accompanied by the one-time popular "at hard labor." Refugees from gainful employment get the point in a hurry when they are forced into hard work without pay and still have to spend the rest of their time behind bars.

INCREASE PUBLICITY
Many visitors to Idaho, notably those who reside in California, are amazed that Idaho doesn't do more in a way of publicizing its many natural, scenic attractions. A case in point is Shoshone falls. Although dry most of the year, it's still a striking, scenic setting. Californians visiting the falls for the first time usually have the same reaction: "If this were located in California, we'd really be pushing it and telling the world all about it."
Well, Idaho has never seen fit to provide the proper funds to tell the world or even the rest of the U.S. all about anything. With a rather limited budget, the department of development and commerce does a creditable job, but publicity could be considerably better.
Now, with a sales tax taking effect July 1, Idaho has more incentive than ever before to increase publicity for the state. If Idaho can lure more tourists to the Gem state, they'll pay a greater share of the state's expenses, thus at the same time relieving Idahoans of more taxation. It's a golden opportunity that Idaho can ill afford to pass up. Tourism has been called the state's No. 1 industry and it could be a prime source of greater income with more attention.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON, March 18—Today I am just plain intolerant about what went on in a noisy house in Washington the other day. I do not understand why it took Lyndon Johnson more than six hours to call the cops and cart those insolent "civil rights" brats off to the pokie.
At 6 p.m. when somebody finally found the guts to throw these delinquents out of the White House, it was explained that they were violating the law. But the brats had been sitting there since shortly after 11 in the morning. If they were violating the law at 6 p.m., they were violating the law at 11 a.m.
The explanation, of course, is that these are privileged delinquents—they were demonstrating in behalf of civil rights for Negroes, and therefore their persons were considered inviolate for six long, shameful, untidy hours.

WHAT OF LBJ'S RIGHTS? — "Civil rights," they say—and from their mouths it is a sordid phrase. How about Lyndon Johnson's civil rights? A man's home presumably is still his castle, even in these "punitious days" of public officials scared to death of a black man's shadow, and the White House is Lyndon Johnson's home as long as he is President.
If those selfish children had invaded my home I'd have had the police over forthwith and maybe handed out a few spankings in the meantime. But since Johnson is in politics and mustn't be beastly to Negroes, it took somebody six hours to decide they were breaking the law.

FREE PRESS BARRED — It is ironic in a frightening way that reporters were not permitted in the corridors where the sit-in was taking place. The rationale apparently was that while it was okay for a mob of ideological beatniks to make free of the White House, representatives of a free press were intruders.
The craven behavior of the authorities in this one particular understanding. Last these brats got into the House maids were ordered to serve them coffee and cakes even while the White House cops were trying to "persuade" them to leave. Still, the little mobsters had a complaint. It seemed they were not permitted to use the toilet facilities.

WANTED HEADLINES—They said they were going on a hunger strike, but if they were hungry it was for lack of attention. A note brought out by one of the gang pleaded that someone "call or notify the press—we need the press." It is of course no use misbehaving unless it makes headlines.
I say nuts to all this glandular jass which demands constitutional rights for some Americans at the expense of other Americans—like Lyndon Johnson. If the Negro hopes to achieve his full rights he has got to start acting like he is ready for them.
Those brats who have sullied a noble cause need a good, vigorous session in the wood shed.

Views of Others

HERE WE HAVE IDAHO
As a newcomer to Idaho, Sun Valley's Joseph Leggett is astounded at Idaho's rare offering in scenic beauty and resources. The new Sun Valley manager is equally amazed that Idaho could have kept the gems of the Gem state such a well kept secret.
At a talk before the breakfast round-table meeting of the Idaho Falls Chamber of Commerce this week, he went on to remark that he thought Louise Shaddock, director of the Idaho department of commerce and development, was doing an excellent job in publicizing Idaho "with the limited resources available to her." It is a most cogent point.

Miss Shaddock's department is not, either by structure or budget, able to cope with the publicity mission which Idaho has so long neglected. We do it by bits and pieces only.
This department should not, first of all, have to muffle its effort by administering a fair sales act. Secondly, it should have enough funds to address itself to the cornucopia of development opportunities which beg for action. Answering letters will never suffice. The governor's junkies to California and elsewhere have helped. But what is needed most is a trained staff which can go out and make the contacts with industry site seekers, and convention shoppers, away Idaho's outdoor diamonds for the nation to see.

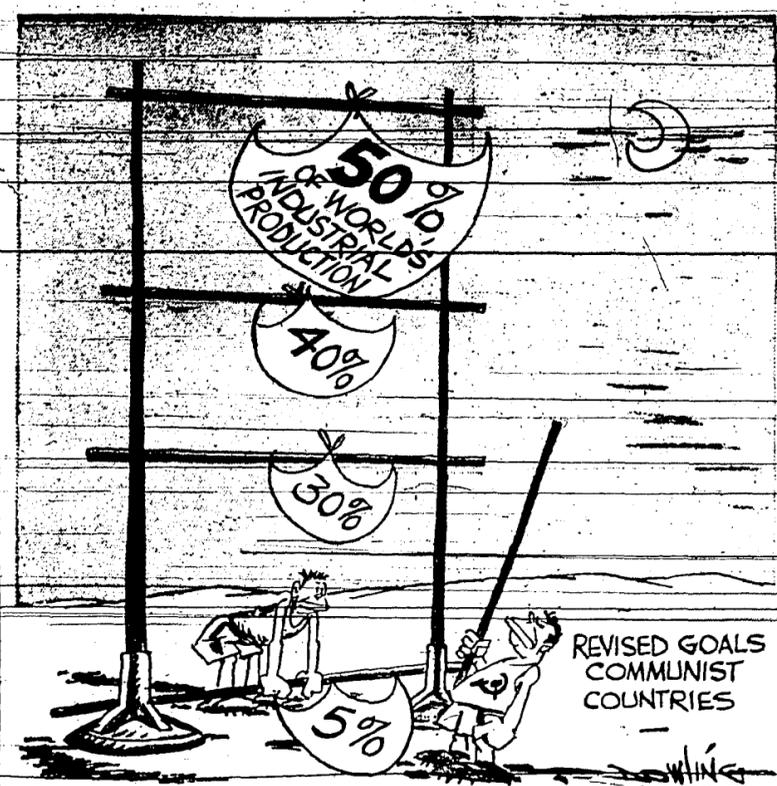

Mere mailing of literature to a few travel shows will not suffice either. The Idaho potato achieves its stature with fieldmen of the Idaho potato and onion commission who saw to it that the quality message was delivered personally to the big markets of the nation. It is also the technique of promotion. At almost town can look like the most desolate setting in the world until someone gives it the mystic aura of a colorful past, garnishes the weathered planks with nostalgic signs and fascinating artifacts. The old town then gets a compelling throbs. Such enterprise has turned old mining camps in neighboring Montana and Nevada into tourist bonanzas. But not one in Idaho, where there are so many genuine ones.

What with the deep convulsions on tax reform and uniform assessments, the Idaho legislature has not been able to get to the polishing of this buried gem again in 1965. It's a pity. An enrapturing woman of mystery continues to languish, unsung. Here we have Idaho, the King's best winning her way to fame, but only in the song.—Idaho Falls Post-Register.

INJUSTICE IN THE IMPERIAL VALLEY
The interior department seems determined to proceed with its incredible decision to dismantle the Imperial valley's agricultural economy.
For reasons still not clear, the department last December reversed a 32-year-old ruling that reclamation acreage limitations did not apply to the valley. Without warning, a majority of Imperial valley farmers were faced with the prospect of forced disposition of part of their land.
Yet in 1933 Interior Secretary Ray Lyman Wilbur specifically exempted the valley from the 160-acre limitation upon land irrigated by reclamation project water. Secretary Wilbur held, and California courts affirmed, that inasmuch as the Imperial valley had a prior water right, the limitation did not apply in its purchase of Colorado river water through the All-American canal.
To reverse that decision now 32 years later is an outrage," said California Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Corker, a nationally-recognized expert on water law. "The Imperial valley farmers have relied upon it. They have built an economy based upon large farms."
Imposition of such a restriction, moreover, ignores the realities of modern western agriculture. It is increasingly necessary to utilize large acreages in order to farm efficiently and competitively.
The 160-acre family farm was practical and desirable when the first reclamation law was passed in 1902. Now it no longer makes sense in many agricultural areas, which congress has acknowledged by frequently eliminating the restriction in reclamation projects.
Preclearance exemptions, however, are no substitute for a thorough modernizing of reclamation law. Congress should undertake such reform without delay.
But whether or not congress acts, the interior department should not withdraw its limitation ruling in the Imperial valley as a matter of simple justice.—Los Angeles Times.

DON'T GIVE UP!
Dear Sir:
With no warning whatsoever, a company sent a book to us through the mail and then about 10 days later sent a bill. We ignored the bill and in due course received another. Now the bills have included a little note that sort of threatens something or other.
Our position is that we didn't order the book, don't want it and will be darned if we're going to spend so much as a penny on it, one way or another.
Now we have written the company a polite little note explaining that we didn't order the book but will be glad to return it either collect or they can send sufficient postage. How can you get into that sort of mess without ever trying?

Not long ago, someone complained (as usual) through you that it was real wasteful to throw away ballpoint pens when they knoked out. I don't find it wasteful and I don't find it difficult.
About the first time a ballpoint pen refuses to work for me, I shake it vigorously. The second time, and just as vigorously, I mind you, I throw the $1.00 pen. It's a thing just as far as I can!

COMMON COMPLAINT
Dear Pot Shots:
I suppose the clashes with our teen-aged students are about as common as in any household, but perhaps the youngsters' exfoliation is a little on the expansion side.
They were talking it over among themselves one day when they didn't know anyone else was around. Give them credit—they are at least concerned about the why's and wherefores for rather frequent disagreements and failures to see things eye to eye.
Finally one of them came up with something like this:—"We might just as well face facts: I think we're allergic to our parents!"

FAMOUS LAST LINE
How came the dandelions always beat the roses?
GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

WASHINGTON NEWS
BY LYLE WILSON
The United Press International (UPI) is on the brink of a bureaucratic triumph at the expense of good government and the American tradition.
UPI is just about to receive from congress its first permission to peddle administration propaganda in the United States. The UPI propaganda agency—It was set up to create abroad a favorable image of the United States. But the law said that USIA should limit its efforts to overseas.
Congress is about to change that law to permit USIA to distribute throughout the United States a sentimental and somewhat controversial movie film entitled "John F. Kennedy: Years of Lightning, Day of Drums."
This film already has had some domestic exposure, but not before paying theater audiences. That would have been illegal. USIA was much too subtle to try that. On Dec. 28, and Dec. 29, of last year, for example, the film was shown at the National Press Club, Washington, D. C.
This and other such noncommercial exposure of the film obtained enormous word-of-mouth publicity. These private screenings caused the word to pass that USIA had come up with a superior documentary. Members of congress became interested and both houses shortly will be asked to excuse USIA from the prohibitions of the law so that "John F. Kennedy: Years of Lightning, Day of Drums" may be shown nationwide in commercial theaters with any profits going to the U.S. treasury. Congress should refuse.
The peoples' sentimental affection for the young President practically assures that congress will short circuit the law. It certainly assures a booming theater market for the USIA film. That does not in any way change the fact that the USIA film is a propaganda job. To permit any administration to use a government propaganda agency to reach the American people is against U.S. tradition no matter how high and holy may be the vehicle of propaganda. It is not contended that the Kennedy film itself would do any harm or break up an American tradition.

The objection is that domestic distribution of the Kennedy film would establish a bad precedent. A bad precedent is all a practicing bureaucrat needs to open wide the books to license. And it should be noted that the record of USIA has been aggressively expansive since its invention by William M. Benton, the one-time Madison Avenue whiz kid, diplomatist and politician in the era of Harry S. Truman's far deal.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, March 18
In the heat and dust of battle the peacemaker who stands between the two lines is likely to be shot at from both sides. That was the difficult idea that Iola of Leroy Collins in the uneasy truce at Selma, Ala.
His title is director of the federal community relations service, an office created under the civil rights act passed last year. That Marquis Childs' innocent-sounding bureaucratic description hardly fits either the man or the job. But so closely are the two linked together—the constant demands of an all but impossible office—that no conventional job description would fit.

Collins' immediate objective at Selma was to prevent wholesale bloodshed after the police brutality which shocked the nation. The goal beyond the burning and explosive crisis was to see that the civil rights act is enforced. That has been true in the hundred or more cases the community relations service has handled since its creation last July.
Those who have watched him at work believe that President Johnson could hardly have found a man better equipped for the assignment. A southerner, a two-term governor of Florida, he has a compassionate understanding of the problem of integration as and the 80th congress should not be feeding the American people propaganda calling it "the record of the Kennedy presidency." As an honest historical record the film is suspect. As witness for example, I surmise the film review of Washington's Time-Life staff published some weeks ago. It said:

"In the opinion of some Washington observers, including close friends of President Kennedy, the film has been greatly overpraised and its validity as a piece of history is suspect. The selection of subject matter is haphazard and confusing."
Most of the real crises in the Kennedy presidency are ignored altogether. This all adds up, of course, to a piece of pure propaganda, good for improving the American image abroad, but bad medicine for the home folks.

This is still the pre-eminence danger in the aftermath of its disillusion of many civil rights leaders with what they feel is the president's "too little too late" reaction to Selma. On the other hand, unbridled sit-ins by irresponsible demonstrators, such as the one in the White House corridor, after resistance to the Negro cause.
Selma is by no means its first perilous situation in which Collins has found himself between the lines. His first assignment was in St. Helena's parish in Louisiana where opposition to school segregation had created a threat of violence. Under the civil rights act a federal judge can refer to the community relations service any menacing disorder resulting from a judicial finding.
This makes Collins a firefighter subject to the siren call whenever it rings. But he has stressed fire prevention, trying to work out solutions before the flames leap up. The suspicion of Negro groups was that he meant to be an instrument of force. He was tried hard to overcome that suspicion, stressing at all opportunity the fact of the law and compliance with its provisions.
The community relations provision was put in the act by conservative southerners. They were aware of the shock effect of desegregation in the deep south and they wanted to cushion it with education and understanding. The agency today has a staff of 150 professional aides and 25 on the clerical typist side. Unable to persuade certain of the specialists to come with the full time Collins has contracted with them for emergency service for limited periods.
Thus he gets the help of the ablest brains in the field of no relations.
But inevitably the heavier burden falls on him. He usually works a 15-hour day, usually the gun as in Selma he knows what it means to have around the clock. He had led Selma for Gainesville, Fla., to make a long-scheduled speech to the university of Florida when word reached him of the murder growing around the murder attack on the Rev. James J. Ray.
The Boston minister who had come with hundreds of clergymen to demonstrate in Selma was the speech and the day in Alabama.
His life was not always so full of strain and stress. Leaving the governor's office in Tallahassee he became president of the National Association of Broadcasters with a salary of $25,000 an expense account of $25,000. His government salary is $27,000. He dedicated men and women who work with him with whom that he earns it many times over.

Legislature Activity

BOISE, March 18 (AP)—The senate approved yesterday a $60,000 appropriation to finance a geological study of the portion of Idaho to be included in the wilderness area. Sen. Harold Logan, D., Latah, urged the appropriation, saying that without a study the mineral resources of the area would never be known. He said a nine-year study could be followed by a 10-year exploration program. After that the area would be locked up.

BOISE, March 18 (AP)—The senate approved today a house-passed resolution calling upon the state legislative council to study problems connected with educating the exceptional and handicapped child. The resolution also asks the council to study the matter of school transportation.

BOISE, March 18 (AP)—The Idaho senate approved $60,000 for industrial development yesterday by a 27-12 vote. Sen. Harold Ryan, R., Washington, said many communities have industrial sites ready and now need a professional man to contact industries planning extension to get them in Idaho. But Sen. William Dee, D., Idaho, said money had already been appropriated to the department of commerce and he assumed it would be used for the same purpose. He said the request from departments for additional money is "indicative of what has happened since black Thursday" when the sales tax was adopted.

BOISE, March 18 (AP)—The Idaho senate approved $125,000 yesterday for the newly created water resources board although Sen. Don Samuelson, R., Bonner, said the appropriation was "cut a little too fine." Samuelson said expenses will include hiring of three engineers to begin surveying Idaho water but said he understood the board could "squeeze through" with $125,000. The spending bill was approved 29-8. The board was created to inventory and plan uses for Idaho water to prevent its diversion to the Southwest.

BOISE, March 18 (AP)—The senate revised today a house-approved bill providing for salary increases for elected state officials. As the measure passed the house it would boost the salary of the governor from $15,000 to $17,500, pay of the attorney general and state auditor from $10,000 to $14,500 and salaries of other elected officials from $10,000 to $12,000. The senate left the governor's salary at $17,500 but made pay of the others uniform at $12,500. The senate earlier passed a bill boosting the governor's pay to $22,500 and that of the other officers to $15,000. That measure has not been acted on in the house. All of the increases proposed would be effective with the beginning of term of the officials chosen in the election in November, 1966.

BOISE, March 18 (AP)—The Idaho house killed yesterday a senate-approved bill that would have prevented Idaho candidates for governor, U. S. senator or representative from receiving campaign funds from out of state. The vote was 19-23. The senate approved the bill 27-13. Rep. Jack Carey, R., Bonneville, floor manager, said the main purpose of the bill was to keep out of Idaho money which might be used to influence actions on laws which might not be beneficial to the state. Rep. Herman McDevitt, D., Bannock, called the bill the best measure ever introduced for the Democrats. "It will equalize our positions," he said.

BOISE, March 18 (AP)—The house amended a senate-approved equal assessment bill yesterday to reduce the period during which it would be implemented from eight years to four years. The measure, similar to one passed earlier by the house, would standardize assessments on personal and real property throughout the state's 44 counties. Under its provisions, personal and real property would be assessed at 20 per cent of full cash value for tax purposes. Operating property would be assessed at 40 per cent of value. Proponents of the amendment reducing the time for full implementation argued that the eight-year period would not be feasible. They said the state tax commission advised that it would be more practical to reduce the period to four years. House bill, equalized assessment would have been implemented after two years.

BOISE, March 18 (AP)—A substitute bill dividing Idaho into six areas for establishment of junior colleges passed the senate 55-7 yesterday with little debate. The measure already had passed the house and now is ready for the signature of Gov. Robert E. Smylie who originally proposed creation of junior college districts. The original bill was killed in the house after objections that all counties in a district would share the cost of a junior college that could be built in only one of them. The new bill provides that voters would create a district encompassing several counties or one and outside counties would pay tuition for their students. At present, Idaho has junior colleges in Boise and Lewiston and organization of a third at Twin Falls is under way.

BOISE, March 18 (AP)—A bill regulating narcotics in Idaho passed in the senate by a narrow margin yesterday over arguments that it attacks a non-existent problem and could create illicit drug traffic. The bill, which regulates prescription of narcotics and regulates dealing with police agencies of persons using them, passed 23-20. It had been approved 47-19 in the house yesterday morning and now is ready for the governor's approval. "This bill sets up elaborate protection against an evil that does not exist except in minor instances," said Sen. Carl Moore, D., Nez Perce. "There are addicts in the state but they get drugs illegally under present law, not through doctors' prescriptions." Sen. Perry Swisher, R., Bannock, praised the intent of the bill but said he feared it would cause drug traffic rather than prevent it. "Once you make drugs easy to get, you create an illicit market by those who contraband," he said. "You create an illicit market by those who contraband." He said, "You create an illicit market by those who contraband." There is a narcotics problem in Idaho, two senators said, and they cited cases. "We found 15 addicts in our town," said Sen. Ray Rigby, D., Madison, of Rexburg, "and they're in your town, too." He said the addicts worked together to obtain large quantities of narcotics by maneuvering legal prescriptions. Sen. R. H. (Bill) Young, R., Canyon, said a law was arrested in Caldwell tavern last Saturday night for possession of narcotics and was about to make a sale at the time.

Final Plans for Digging 6-Mile Hole Being Drafted

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—About half-way to the Earth's center, several members of the "American Miscellaneous Society" met at breakfast.

After a while a dream was born—to sink a metal drill pipe six miles through ocean and earth for man's deepest penetration of his four and one-half billion-year-old planet.

Despite the unusual name they had given the group, the break-fasters were all top flight scientists. They had chosen the name for their informal organization — AMBOC for short — because it signified they were always ready to consider any idea which would increase man's scientific knowledge.

As a result of that breakfast get-together, the United States is now getting ready to invest an initial 70 million dollars—and up to 11 million dollars annually for an indefinite period—in the dream of the AMBOC brethren.

The historic venture, called "Project Mohole," is sponsored and financed by the national science foundation, a government agency. Internal squabbling about the best way to do the job slowed the project for a couple of years.

In the early days when plans for the project became public, officials had to reassure some anxious citizens. Letters poured in suggesting:

—If you bore a deep hole in the ocean bottom, all the water is going to run out, as it does when you pull the plug in the bathtub.

—If the inside of the Earth is hot, the water running in is going to generate a lot of steam that will blow up the planet.

—Below the crust, the Earth is hollow—a great big vacuum chamber—so when you punch a hole into this vacuum, the earth is going to "implode," that is, explode inward.

—Hell's down there, mister, so when you dig that hole you're gonna loose the fires, to say nothing of all those devils.

But now, final plans are being drafted for the big adventure, and some of America's top scientists are predicting it will, among other things:

—Help unlock a treasure-chest of knowledge about the Earth's origin, history and structure.

—Perhaps uncover remnants of the very first life on the planet believed trapped now within the primordial ooze far beneath the ocean's floor.

—Reveal many of some of Mother Earth's closest-kept secrets, including exactly how she brews earthquakes and volcanoes.

—Almost certainly show the way to expanded exploration for oil and natural gas in waters much deeper than now penetrated—and even at greater depths on land.

The unprecedented effort to drill the six-mile, 10-inch diameter hole is slated to start in 1968 about 100 miles northeast of Maui, a volcanic isle in the Hawaiian chain. The drilling is expected to require about three years.

Operations will be conducted from a weird-looking barge wider and almost as long as a football field.

The craft will be, in effect, a giant, unanchored raft poised 75 feet above the sea and supported by six columns attached to hulls. A 240-foot derrick will tower from the deck. It will be sturdy enough to ride out a hurricane.

At the moose assault point, the idea will be to lower drilling pipe section by section through water more than two and one-half miles deep and then drill another three and one-half miles into the Earth, fully penetrating the planet's crust for the first time in history.

Specifically, the objective will be to reach the Earth's mysterious "mantle," which underlies the crust and extends about 1,900 miles more, thus reaching

The victim was Mrs. Vincenza Koho, 34, employed as a stenographer at the Grange Mutual Life company in Nampa. Officers said the couple was divorced last Oct. 30 and Koho had been working in Oregon. He returned to Nampa about a week ago. Authorities said they have not determined the motive for the shooting.

The applications are from the city of Idaho Falls, in eastern Idaho, and the Clearwater valley urban region in north-central Idaho, including Lewiston, Newport and parts of the Port of Lewiston. The Clearwater project cost is estimated at $84,055, with the federal government providing all but $28,024. The Idaho Falls project cost is estimated at $58,676 with the federal government supplying all but $17,690. Miss Shaddock said two other Idaho communities are considering submitting applications under the program.

Negro Youth Charged With Subway Death

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—A leading Negro youth taught a leading white Black Nationalist white murdered yesterday to face murder charges in the slaying of a white subway rider who tried to protect three Negro girls from being molested.

Christopher "Butch" Lynch, 17, with no place left to hide, hid himself up at a Harlem police station for a few hours before the funeral services for Andrew Morrison, 17, the boy he is accused of killing.

Lynch was accompanied to the police station by his brother, Roger, 23, described as a "bad influence" by their mother, Mrs. Florence Lynch, a nurse, who arranged at the precinct house a few hours later.

During the afternoon, he was arraigned before Judge Alfred Cause, Jr. A court-appointed attorney demanded that police not be allowed to question Lynch without permission of his legal counsel. Cause set March 23 for hearing and ordered Lynch held without bail.

Mrs. Lynch said that her son had "fallen into bad company" including that of his older brother, Patricia, his sister, she said she was "not surprised" by his arrest.

The following some Negro Nationalist organization that taught Lynch to hate the white man," she said she had a lot of hatred in her.

Mrs. Harris said she did not know the name of the Black Nationalist group. She said that it was not the Black Muslims, however.

Lynch's younger sister, Irene, 13, said she saw her brother three hours before the slaying and "he was good and happy and in his wine."

The city police shocked by the slaying because of its savagery, said it was racial and because of another in an increasing series of crimes in the gigantic underground railway system.

According to police, Lynch and companion, Terry Toomer, 18, who was arrested Tuesday and held as a material witness, followed three Negro girls onto the train and began molesting them.

When the girls tried to protest, Lynch allegedly became enraged, pulled out a hunting knife with a six-inch blade and stabbed Morrison in the head and neck. The blade penetrated to the girl's skull.

To face police have been unable to locate the three girls.

Idaho Potato Meet Ends At Pocatello

POCATELLO, March 18 (AP)—Idaho's first annual potato conference closed here yesterday with prospects that a second program will be held next year with emphasis on pulling together the various segments of the industry for the benefit of grower, shipper and processor.

"We need to change the image of the grower," said Allan Larsen, Blackfoot, president of the Potato Growing and Marketing Association of Idaho. "It is incorrect to picture the grower as an indolent fellow resting in the shade, for the focal points of the industry are the grower and a quality product."

"Problems from Idaho Falls to the lower Snake river valley include scab, nematode, wireworms, along with the need for more research, the need for new varieties, and storage to provide a 12-month market."

The stamping program will be followed closely and Larsen urged "let us push this program all the way and see what it is worth."

Stamping machines are expected to be available for the fall crop, with three machines in the field, and with inks approved, it was said.

He said Idaho is a leader in the potato industry, and must maintain quality of products.

Biggest problem for the processor is trade disease and collaboration of potatoes, said Golden Grigg, Burley, president of Potato Processors of Idaho. "We should continue to tell the housewives why Idaho potatoes are best, and we need to see that genuine Idahos are being served where menus so advertise, and are on grocer shelves and not mixed with potatoes from other states."

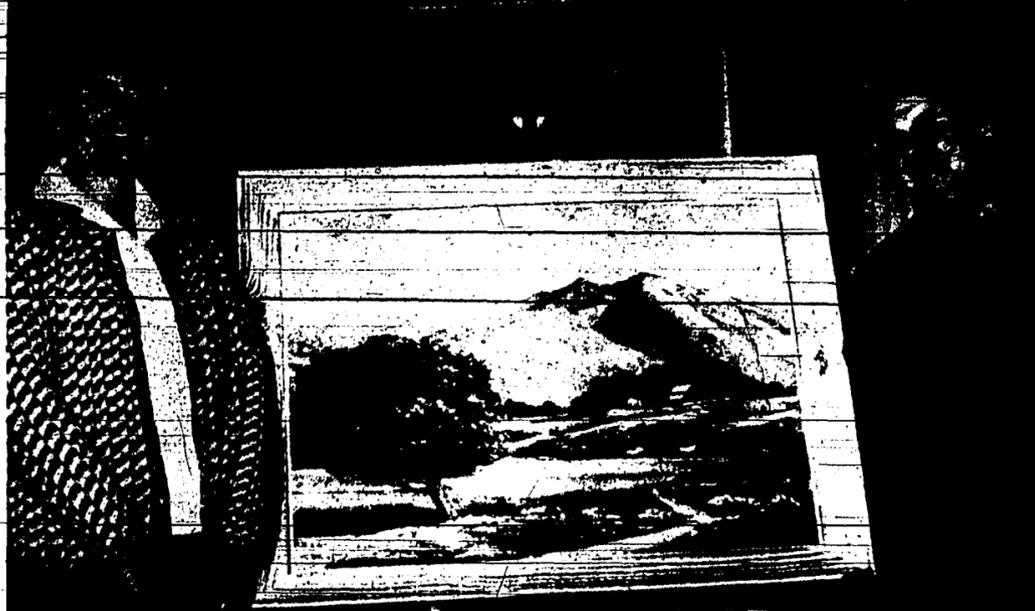

Tracing the course of research on Idaho potatoes, James E. Kraus, dean and director of the college of agriculture, Moscow, said many accomplishments have been recorded by the staff with special controls for knobby tubers, development of seed farms, virtual eradication of ring rot, the spread of leaf roll, and virtual elimination of stem rot nematode, with much progress on improved storage.

There is a misconception of what the processors have done to the fresh potato market, said Dean Probert, Boise, marketing specialist for Idaho Potato and Onion commission.

In 1951, he said the average annual per capita consumption of potatoes was 94 pounds, and since processing entered the field, the consumption has been increased to 110 pounds.

"Processing is not competition," he said. "We married to it."

Summarizing the conference, Cecil Kent, potato marketing specialist, University of Idaho extension service, said "presentations have been made by men who are lions in the industry and specialists in the fields in which they operate. I hope this confer-

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, March 18—Born today, you have been gifted with the art of persuasion. Oratory probably flows from your tongue as air flows into your lungs; the spoken language is your best weapon. Not one to use physical force to get your point across, you will, however, enter an argument at the drop of a hat, and win it hands down with your wit to convince.

Courageous and persistent, you are not one to take no for an answer or to have your opinion changed by others. Your enemies may call you stubborn, even pigheaded; your friends call you tenacious, a champion of your own beliefs. Your ideas may at times be unpopular, but your defense of them will, to those whose sense is objective, be admirable.

Because you hide your emotions, many think you cold. Your family, however, knows differently, for it is in their midst that you "let your hair down" and feel free to show yourself and your feelings as they really are. One who disdains to play with the affections of others, nothing makes you more unhappy than to feel that others are playing with yours.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, March 19
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—Avoid allowing any grass to grow under your feet in the business world today. Keep your nose to the grindstone—and your eyes on the competition.

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—Seek to make wedded fields of interest, not clash! The Aries who manages his time and energies wisely should know better-than-average rewards.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Exert yourself in the cleverness and wit department! This is a day when battles are won by words, not by physical force.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Avoid showing that typical Gemini temperament. Make an effort to appear of even disposition.

Area Class A, B Schools Slate Track Dates; T. F. Will Host District Meet

Night competition was continued for the district eliminations Wednesday evening by track coaches at their spring activities meeting. Twin Falls will again host the first major step toward the state meet with both the class A and B athletes participating. In addition, most of the schools in the area said they will have girls teams—part of an experiment sanctioned by the state activities association. However, the girls' results will not be figured in the boys' varsity scoring. In other action, the district board announced it will retain the same officiating system in football and basketball as was conducted this past season. Harold Brown, Twin Falls, was hired as district commissioner.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY

Maintaining interest in sports is another way of staying in the swing of things, figures Gooding's Bob Lyons, who has been doing his darndest over the past couple of years to keep the social security set on the golf course. Now Lyons has turned his considerable attentions to bowling.

Through the co-operation of the Ranch bowl, Gooding, Lyons, with the help of others, has set up a senior bowling league and it is his avowed purpose to make this a Magic Valley-wide and possibly state affair.

Lyons' first steps in this direction came two years ago when he set up the first Magic Valley seniors tournament. At first the tournament committee expected a big response and were disappointed when the field wasn't completely full. After the second event, which showed some growth, they have decided it will take time to build the affair and remain anything but discouraged.

Lyons is using that rule to mark the beginning of the bowling league.

The first thing is a Magic Valley tournament at the Ranch bowl with three men per team. The beauty of this seniors event is it will be held in week day afternoon sessions and layoff on week-ends.

The thing that bugs Lyons is the youngsters always take over. One of the group's biggest perils is the season was a disappointing 2-7 record in a 24 high game and a three-game series of 601.

But, points out Lyons, "he's one of our youngest bowlers—48." The oldest participant is 74.

Rambling about: Look for a change in the Magic Valley high school A-1 basketball picture next year. It is a good bet Mountain Home will be slotted to this region from the Boise-area due to the new high school, Capital, at Boise.

Leaving the status quo would give the old third district nine A-1 teams—practically a bracketing impossibility—whereas this area has but three teams. That means another system of byes. It would also mean, however, that this area would start getting more representatives to state.

The A-2 state tournament at Twin Falls grossed just seven dollars under $7,000 — or about double what the same affair drew in Pocatello last spring. That will be important when Twin Falls comes up for consideration as a tourney site again. Perhaps the town won't have to wait 11 years for the next one.

Area fishermen who would rather tangle with perch than trout are asking why the Murtaugh lake wasn't replanted as requested last year. The fact is the fish and game department planned on transporting perch from Lake Lowell to Murtaugh lake last fall but the run and subsequent catch proved insufficient. So it remains on the deck for next year.

Earl Shields, a Piler high school student, picked up an intermountain AUK boxing championship at Salt Lake City despite the fact he had very little training — compared with his competition. While the rest of the boys in his weight were working on the speed bag, last fall, Shields was stacking up opposition on the football field.

The man who was always second at Twin Falls high school last year—Ron Wilson, the shot-putter — has been going great guns at Harvard in track. In a recent meet of college frosh against prep athletes, Wilson dropped from the 16 to 12-pound shot — high school size — and pumped it out 47 feet, 10 inches. That's better than any Idaho product has done with the iron ball.

Hicks Honored For Performance
OSLO, March 18 (AP) — Dave Hicks, Duluth, Minn., received an award Wednesday as the best ski jumper under 20 years old in last Sunday's Holmenkollen jump — after a recount.

The Norwegian Society for the Promotion of Skiing first gave the award to Hicks, who placed 11th, when he was only 19. So the organizers took the award from Absten and gave it to Hicks.

Magic Bowl Slates Men's Doubles Meet

A men's handicap doubles bowling tournament, co-sponsored by the Magic Bowl and Cactus Pete's motel and featuring $1,000 in added money, will be run off from April 3 through 25. The sponsors hope to make the tournament an annual affair.

The tournament estimates a payoff of $2,500 with first place guaranteed $400, and $200 for second. In addition, a bonus of $100 is offered for the highest score bowled in each of the three weeks.

- Bowlers may enter as often as they choose but may not place more than once on the pay list with the same partner. Handicaps will be judged on 1963-64 performances unless the current season average is 10 pins above that mark as of March 1. Then the current figure must be kept.
- The bulk of the tournament is expected to be run off on the week-ends with sessions running both Saturday and Sunday every other Saturday at 4 p.m. Competition also is offered each week day afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m.
- Those interested should contact the Magic Bowl for further details.

Bomb Damages Fangio's Shop

BUENOS AIRES, March 18 (AP) — A bomb heavily damaged the auto shop owned by Argentina's Juan Manuel Fangio, the retired, former world auto driving champion.

The bomb exploded early Wednesday morning, peeling off part of the building's front and also causing extensive damage inside.

"I can't think of any reason for the attack," said Fangio, who retired from racing competition six years ago.

A wave of bombings, linked with last Sunday's congressional election, was set off by political terrorists some weeks ago.

Western Warrior Wins Horse Race

MIAMI, Fla., March 18 (AP) — Western Warrior took the lead around the far turn and held on after a furious stretch drive with Cool Prince to win the $29,165 Green Valley handicap at Gulfstream park Wednesday.

Western Warrior was a neck in front at the finish of the 1 1/16-mile race on the grass, with Babington in third place and Kentucky Jug fourth in the field of nine.

Western Warrior, with Heliodora Gustines making up most of his top weight of 122 pounds, ran the distance in 1:41.7-8, only one-fifth of a second slower than the track and stake record.

St. John's Expects Tough Bout With Army in Meet Semi-Finals

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP) — "I've told my boys they're going into a human meat grinder when they go against Army. It should be a dogfight." But Joe Lapchick was quick to take the sting out of his opening remark as he talked Wednesday of the meeting between his St. John's basketball team and Army in Thursday night's National Invitation tournament semifinals. "I don't mean that it'll be dirty, or there will be a lot of fouling. But tough. That's the way our men at Army and Navy are, and rightly so," added Lapchick, who reaches St. John's mandatory retirement age of 65 next month and is heading into his final two games as coach.

Honda-Built Car to Make First Start

LONDON, March 18 (AP) — A Japanese-powered racing car will make its debut Saturday at the Silverstone Grand Prix circuit where it is matched against a full international field.

It is a Honda-Brahman, a single seater machine of 1,000 cc capacity—designed for the 200-kilometer—124.28 miles—formula two trophy event.

The Japanese firm virtually eclipsed all rivals when it entered the competitive motorcycle racing field five years ago and British auto-racing circles are more than a little worried about the massive Japanese concern's new entry into the four wheeled sport.

Last year a formula one Honda racing car competed in the world championship series with a 1.5-liter car without great success.

Now Hondas have built a one-liter four-cylinder engine for formula two racing and have called on the double world champion Jack Brabham of Australia to race test it.

And on the 2,927-mile Silverstone circuit Saturday the Honda-Brahman will be in the biggest formula two field ever assembled in Europe.

NIPS CHICAGO
BOSTON, March 18 (AP) — The hard-hitting Boston Bruins scored two goals in the second period Wednesday night and rookie goalie Jack Norris made them stand up for a 2-1 National Hockey league victory over the Chicago Black Hawks.

'Lip,' Robinson Will Air Games

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP) — Jackie Robinson and Leo Durocher have been named as commentators for the American Broadcasting company's major league baseball telecasts this season, the network announced Wednesday.

ABC will televise 27 games, on 25 Saturdays, on Monday, July 5, and on Labor day, Sept. 6.

Robinson, a 10-year man with the Brooklyn Dodgers and a hall of famer, was the first Negro in the majors. Durocher, former manager of Brooklyn and the New York Giants, was released as a coach of the Los Angeles Dodgers after last season.

Western Auto Takes Bow Match

Massachusetts' Western Auto shutout Idaho Springs 4-0 in the weekly archery league competition to gain a point on pace-setting Thomas Archery in the overall standings.

Thomas Archery is on top with an 11-3 record while Western Auto is 10-6. Hopkins Electric is third at 7-9 while Idaho Springs is in last place 4-12.

Thomas Archery dropped Hopkins Electric 1-3 in this week's firing to hold the league and had the high scratch series of 955 and handicap series of 1,279. Hopkins Electric turned in a 435 for the best handicap game.

Lynn Thomas posted the best male score at 297 while Jo Lee Partin had a 251 to lead all women.

Famed Coach Stagg Dies at Age 102

STOCKTON, Calif., March 18 (AP) — Amos Alonzo Stagg, famed as an athlete, coach and leader of the "Grand Old Man" of the gridiron—he had coached football for 70 years—had been in fragile health confined to a rest home several years. Tuesday night he developed a fever. Death was attributed to uremic poisoning.

Stagg's wife, Stella, died July 22 at 88.

A star college pitcher and an end on Walter Camp's first All-America football team, Stagg turned down professional baseball offers in favor of a coaching career which didn't end until falling eyesight forced him out when he was 98 years old.

The first football coach at the University of Chicago, Stagg held the job 41 years until reaching 70 and mandatory retirement. He then coached 15 years at College of the Pacific at Stockton; assisted his son, Amos Alonzo, Jr., for six years at Susquehanna, Pa., and later was an advisory coach for Stockton college, a two-year school.

Another son, Paul, is athletic director at the University of the Pacific. A daughter, Mrs. Ruth S. Lauren lives in Chicago.

Funeral services will be held in Stockton Sunday.

Born in West Orange, N.J., Aug. 16, 1862, Stagg attended Exeter academy and Yale.

He studied for the ministry but gave that up when he felt his voice was not suited to preaching. "I felt specially called to preach," he recalled a few weeks before his 100th birthday, "but I decided to do it on the athletic fields."

Thousands of young men benefited from that decision.

Stagg began coaching in 1890 at Springfield, Mass., college. Two years later, Dr. William

Jack Kraft, whose Villanova Wildcats barely squeezed by Manhattan 73-71 in the NIT quarter-finals, reported two backcourt casualties — both apparently recovered.

He said Bill Melchioni had been kicked in the stomach by teammate Jim Washington in Monday night's game, while George Letwisch had an upset stomach.

Kraft predicted the Villanova NYU outcome would hinge on the battle under the boards, between Washington and Bill Soens of the Wildcats and Ray Bennett and Clem Gaillard of the Violets.

Rossini's predictions were about an unpredictable — Bennett, his erratic 8-8 forward.

"If Bennett keeps it up, he produces against Villanova the way he did against Detroit in the quarter-finals NYU could be the NIT champion."

Princeton Has Sentimental Edge, But Betting Money Rides on UCLA

Princeton's Bob Rodgers, seen here in action, is the overwhelming favorite of the betting public for the NCAA basketball championship, but Bill Bradley and his Princeton teammates are the sentimental choice. Strangely, nationally top-ranked Michigan received little support in a poll of early arrivals for the National Association of Basketball Coaches convention being held in connection with the week-end championships.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 18 (AP)—Defending national champion UCLA is the overwhelming favorite of the betting public for the NCAA basketball championships, but Bill Bradley and his Princeton teammates are the sentimental choice. Strangely, nationally top-ranked Michigan received little support in a poll of early arrivals for the National Association of Basketball Coaches convention being held in connection with the week-end championships.

Such coaches as Henry Iba of Oklahoma State, Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, Forrest Twogood of Southern California and Guy Lewis of Houston voted for the UCLA Bruins, seeking to become the fifth team in history to win two successive titles.

Doggie Julian, Dartmouth, and Ben Carnevale, Navy, had second thoughts about it, and those second thoughts concerned play of the year Bradley.

UCLA, ranked second nationally and sporting a 26-2 record, plays Wichita, 31-7, Friday. Michigan, 23-3, goes against Princeton's Tigers, 22-5. The winners meet in a nationally televised game Saturday for the national title.

"I've seen 'em all," Julian said. "Oscar Robertson, Jerry Lucas, Bob Cousy, Rudy LaRusso — I coached Cousy at Holy Cross — and this boy Bradley is just as good, maybe better, as a college player than any of them. Not now that they're pros, you know, but as a college player he's as good as any."

"He's got the rest of those Princeton kids playing over their heads. He brings them up to his level."

"If he's up, they just might go all the way."

Michigan edged Princeton 80-78 in the semifinals of the Madison Square Garden Holiday festival, coming from 12 points back after Bradley had fouled out three times and one-half minutes left. Bradley scored 41 in that game.

Carnevale, who called the 6-foot, 5-inch Rhodes scholar "a man playing among boys," cited the strength of Michigan and the speed of UCLA but pointed to Bradley as a key factor.

Twogood said UCLA's speed is overwhelming—"I've seen them run off 16 points in a minute while you're trying to get organized. They may even be a better team than last year."

Rupp said Michigan was fortunate to get by Vanderbilt—"If Cozzie Russell hadn't taken charge they wouldn't have beaten them"—and nominated UCLA.

Iba, too, was impressed with UCLA and called them "the team to beat."

"UCLA has the pace, they've been here before. I just think they'll win it all," said Lewis.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18—The Russian national basketball team touring the United States next month will play the final United-States team at San Francisco's Civic auditorium April 23.

Announcement of the game was made Wednesday by the San Francisco Examiner which is honoring this first meeting between national teams of the two nations since the 1964 Olympic games in Tokyo.

The United States squad will be chosen following the Amateur Athletic Union championships scheduled for Denver, March 24. In all, the Russian squad will play eight games in the United States. Cities chosen to host the games are Las Vegas, Nev., Seattle, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Boston and San Francisco.

Wednesday's announcement cemented only two of the games will be played against the Russians against the official United States team. San Francisco hosts the first meeting. St. Louis will hold the second such game the following week.

Tulane Has Quietly Integrated

NEW ORLEANS, March 18 (AP)—Tulane university, which boys of the Southeastern conference next year, has quietly integrated its athletic program.

Associated Press learned Wednesday...

Steve Martin, 18-year-old Negro from Marrero, La., has earned a starting berth on the Green Bay's freshman baseball team.

Robert Negro Isaac Adams, 19, of Orleans is a fresh reserve.

Assistant director Rex Yard watched Martin play last week-end, predicted Martin would be a member of varsity team next spring.

"I would anticipate he'll make varsity next year," Dr. Yard said. "If he's good enough, certainly he'll play."

Martin, a center fielder, cooled three-hits Saturday as the Green Bay freshmen edged Pensacola twice.

This was believed to be the first time a Negro has played on an athletic team from an SEC college or university.

Tulane had a Negro player out on the field a year ago, but he was dropped from school because of grades.

Dome for Shea Stadium Is Proposed

NEW YORK, March 18 (AP)—Ben Finney, the city's sports commissioner, said Wednesday he will present a plan to enclose Shea stadium to Mayor Robert Wagner.

The retired hotel executive didn't say when he will have the plans for a 6 million dollar dome of glass and laminated steel—ready for the mayor's inspection.

FOUNTAIN has a domed stadium which will be ready for the coming baseball season.

Finney said that a domed stadium, which could provide revenue from other sports than baseball and football, could make Shea stadium a self-liquidating project.

He said the stadium is booked for about 100 days a year but with a dome this figure could be tripled by the addition of such sports as tennis, boxing, sports car racing and other events.

Finney said he recently had appointed an advisory committee to work with the city administration in drawing up specifications for the stadium dome.

Judges Name Ski Winner After Debate

BEND, Ore., March 18 (AP)—Rick Lounsbury Snow-Ridge, N. Y., was declared the winner of the boys' downhill race at the national junior ski tournament on Bachelor Butte Wednesday after an afternoon of controversy.

Greg Moore, Tahoe City, Calif., was at first declared the winner on the basis of electric timers which caught his two runs in 1:19.5 minutes.

But hand timers, used as a checking device, listed him at 1:24.5. It finally was decided to go with the hand timers, which dropped Moore to fourth place.

The girls' winner was listed as Karen Budge, Jackson, Wyo., who was timed in 1:32.7, nearly a two-second margin over Vickie Jones of Carnellan Bay, Calif., whose time was 1:34.4.

The race was run in 20-degree weather on the upper slopes of 9,900-foot Bachelor Butte. The boys' course was 7,500 feet long, dropping from 8,300 to 6,300 feet. The girls' was 7,200 feet long, dropping from 8,100 to 6,300 feet elevation.

Ray Miller, Ogden, paced the boys' Intermountain team with a tie for ninth. Don Street, Sun Valley, was 19th in the girls' division.

Bullets Rally to Nip Los Angeles

BALTIMORE, March 18 (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets rallied in the last period to score a 117-106 victory Wednesday night over the Los Angeles Lakers, who were playing without injured all-stars Elgin Baylor and Jerry West.

Gus Johnson, fined $500 last Sunday for reporting late, was on the bench at the start of the game. After coming off the bench early in the second quarter, Johnson missed his first nine shots from the floor. He wound up with six points but led Baltimore with 15 rebounds and six assists.

Texan Gets Award for Arrow Wound

EL PASO, Tex., March 18—When Capt. Francisco I. Peña is awarded the purple heart for an arrow wound it may be the first such presentation since the army's Indian fighter days.

Peña suffered a wound from a crossbow in Viet Nam. He is now stationed at William Beaumont General hospital in El Paso.

"I was stationed in a place called Qui Nhon last November," Peña said. "One night I was driving a Jeep from our compound to deliver medicines to a small hospital where I sometimes worked.

"Well, just as I was going across this wide open area, I heard something go, 'ding, ping, ping.' I felt a sharp pain in my left leg and looked down and there was an arrow right through my leg!"

"Two months after Peña was wounded, a lieutenant in another outfit got the purple heart for an arrow wound.

"I want to see him and sympathize," Peña said. "I had been kidded so much about my wound that I knew what he was in for."
