Rostron Is Speaker At Kimberly

KIMBERLY, March 27—Ray Rostron, secretary manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, was the featured speaker during the annual student recognition banquet served Thursday night in the Kimberly grade school.

Rostron challenged the 134 honored high school students to take advantage of the innovations of the future, as the hope of the future depends on them. Rostron asked the students to think of a five-pound piece of iron which in its simple form would have little value.

He spoke of its value when it was manufactured into various tools and items. Rostron climaxed his illustration with the price of the five-pound piece of iron when it is put into balance wheels for watches with a value of $200,000.

Rostron urged the students not to be the ordinary piece of metal, but to refine and educate themselves so they may have a more valued life.

L. G. Vast acted as master of ceremonies for the chamber-sponsored banquet, with the invocation given by the Rev. Robert McNeil.

Robert Stradley revealed Mr. and Mrs. Robert Korff had been selected as the Building boosters for the year. They were presented a corsage and boutonniere by the Kimberly Floral and their names will be engraved on the booster plaque displayed in the high school.

Robert (Dutch) Sherman, superintendent of schools, introduced the instructors of the honored students. They were Merle Hepworth who presented his football and varsity basketball team members for the season. Walter Slaughter, Jr. introduced the students who had participated in the drama, declamation and debate programs.

Kenneth Cantrell introduced the junior varsity basketball team. John Reagan, track member, and Grant Maughan, wrestling. Superintendent Sherman introduced the golf and honor students. Jud Pettygrove presented the music students.

Arts and Sciences Museum Outgrowing Quarters Here

By RUTH KOONCE

Few people in this area realize the extensive work Norman Herrett has put into his Arts and Sciences museum in the past decade.

Until one steps into the room housing most of the artifacts and exhibits, it is hard to fathom that one man could put together an exhibit such as this in so few years.

Herrett is hopeful of somehow securing larger quarters for his ever growing collection. If larger facilities were available, Herrett said, many more museum pieces would be included in the group of exhibits as many outside museums have offered to loan exhibits.

Most of the interesting items on display have been collected by Herrett, but other priceless articles have been loaned to the Arts and Sciences museum.

Displayed in shining display cases are beautifully arranged exhibits of coins, Indian artifacts, centuries old exhibits of dental work, as well as unbelievable complete displays of works from ancient civilizations.

On the walls throughout the room hang original paintings, most having some historical significance and pertaining to some display included in the museum.

Herrett said during the past school year more than 6,000 students from throughout Idaho have visited the museum. Herrett said almost two-thirds of the museum has been built in the museum, but because of limited space, they have not been able to handle any more.

He said the students are shown through the museum, the planetarium and observatory 70 at a time, with two shows being conducted daily.

Many students from throughout the area assist Herrett with planetarium shows. Thursday night after Herrett had shown an adult group from the Piler Baptist church through the museum, two young men, Jerry Higgins and Fred Cogburn, took the group and conducted a session in the planetarium.

Herrett said without the aid of these young people his dream would be little heavier. Herrett has a great love for young people and seems to have no doubts about getting them handle the many thousands of dollars worth of equipment placed at their fingertips.

Hansen Raps Education Aid Legislation

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 27 (Special) — Rep. George Hansen, R-Ida., today described the administration education bill, which passed the house late yesterday as "a nice little bundle wrapped in federal controls and tied with countless miles of red tape."

He said the bill contains some provisions such as continuation of aid to impacted areas and co-operative research, which have a lot of merit and which need support. However, he said most of the bill has a tendency to put the federal government into nearly every phase of school life and will impose federal bureaucracy on every participating school in the United States.

Hansen said, "The bill will lose for us the freedom to run our school systems at the local level and will increase administrative costs enormously, by creating an ever-expanding federal agency, superimposed on those already functioning at state and local levels."

Hansen said the bill was continually referred to as "the railroad act of 1965," because administration forces repeatedly blocked debate and full consideration of proposed amendments.

"Possibly the worst result of this action," Hansen said, "was the failure to clarify provisions regarding private and parochial schools, which only serves to add more fuel to the church-state controversy and problems of constitutionality."

He said, "A third bad feature of the bill is the formula by which federal funds — which come from the taxpayers of all the states — are allocated. This formula provides just $153 for each child in the poverty category for Idaho, while New York receives an allowance of $353 per poor child."

He added that this results in Westchester county, N.Y., the fifth richest county in the United States, receiving about the same amount of money as the entire state of Idaho.

A musical program was presented to the group by students from O'Leary and Robert Stuart Junior high schools under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Clark, Opherson.

Magic Valley Residents Enjoy After-Ski Socials

Even though the calendar says it's spring, the road to Sun Valley is still a very popular route.

Many Magic Valley residents go, not only to ski, but for the inexhaustible selection of after-ski socials.

Almost as endless as the variety of ski-runs at Sun Valley is the variety of after-ski activities. When a morning or afternoon of challenging the spring corn snow is over, even dedicated skiers look for a change of pace and scenery in which to relax and enjoy hashing over their favorite subject, skiing.

Early risers take advantage of a new innovation this year and beat the ski classes on the lifts to breakfast at the Roundhouse. Sunshine and scrambled eggs are a hearty combination before a morning on Baldy mountain's famous "Bowls."

Sightseeing by helicopter, with a picnic lunch in some spectacular spot inaccessible by chairlift, offers the experts a chance at uncharted slopes for their afternoon fun. Visitors wanting a change from skiing might enjoy a snowshoe hike or a few turns around the outdoor ice-skating rink.

After a day of short hops and long parallel turns in the invigorating altitude, the choice for relaxation is as wide as is personal whim. A plunge into a heated pool or a sauna bath is very popular, or one could have tea in the newly decorated lounge of the lodge, hot wine in the Ram, or enter a Watusi contest to the Boiler Room's Steel band.

All the after-ski fun one could want before the evening's diversions makes Sun Valley more than just another ski resort.

SUNSHINE AND SCRAMBLED EGGS are enjoyed by many Magic Valley residents on the terrace of the Roundhouse, Sun Valley, prior to a morning of skiing. Many early risers, wanting a change from the ordinary breakfast, take advantage of this new innovation this year. (Sun Valley photo)

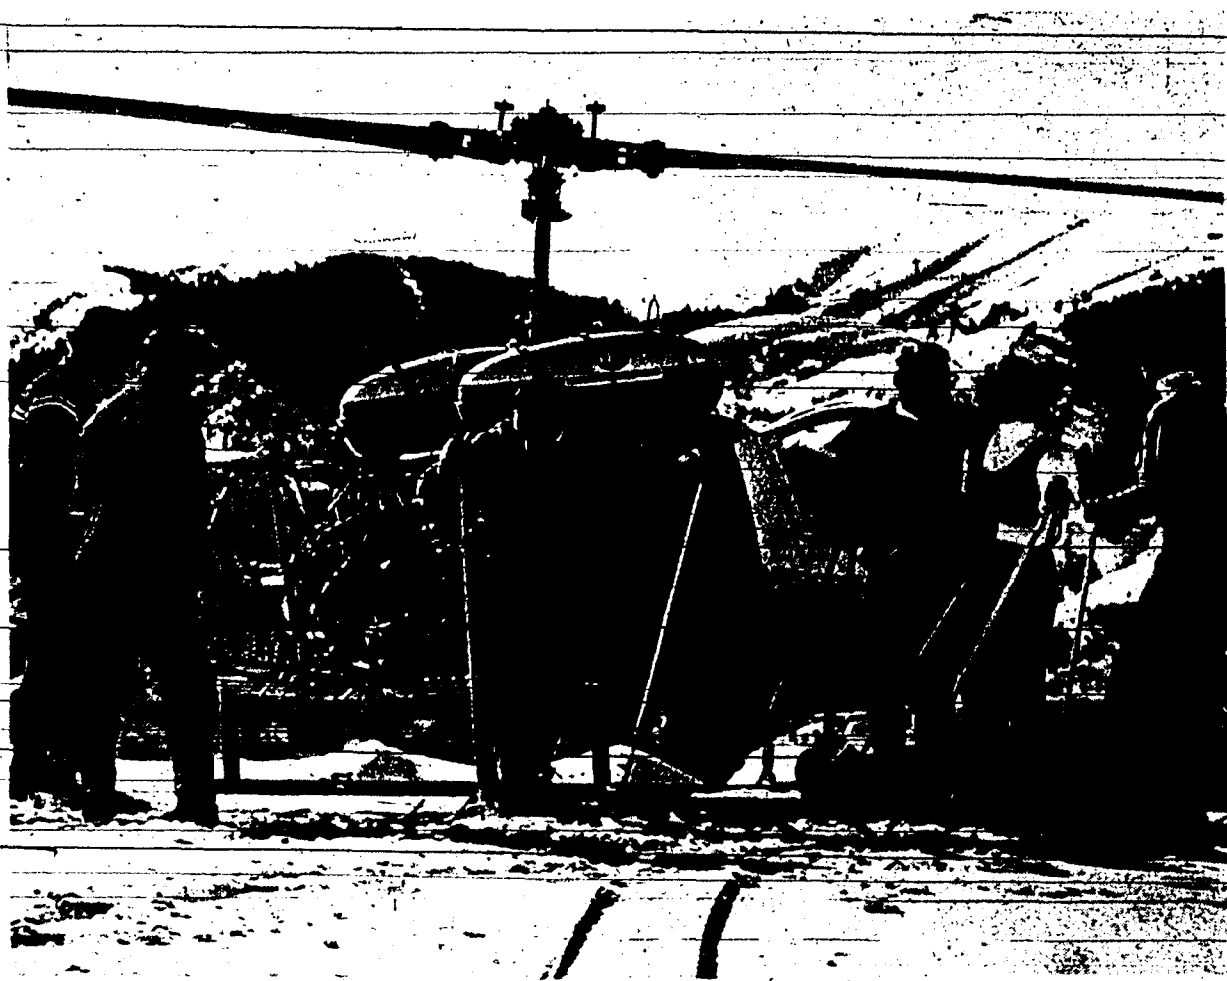

AFTER-SKI dancing in the new Boiler Room, Sun Valley, is enjoyed by the young at heart after a full day of skiing. The atmospheric Boiler Room gives relaxation and entertainment for many Magic Valley residents. A Watusi contest to the Boiler Room's Steel band is a sight to behold. (Sun Valley photo)

AINTREE, England, March 27 (AP) — Jay Trump, owned by Mrs. Mary C. Stephenson of Cincinnati and ridden by Tommy Smith of Middleburg, Va., won the 124th running of the Grand National steeplechase today.

Freddie, the 7-2 favorite, was second and Mr. Jones was third. It was the second straight triumph for American horses in this toughest of all steeplechases. Team Spirit won a year ago.

Jay Trump and Freddie were side by side as they entered the final stretch with the Scottish horse slightly in front and the American charger, an 8-year-old who twice has won the Maryland Hunt cup, on the outside.

In the last 500 yards, Jay Trump pulled away steadily and was three-fourths of a length ahead at the finish.

All 47 horses named for the race Friday started in brilliant sunshine with Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret in the huge throng. The queen mother's first tip was one of the favorites and was a challenger for the first time around the Aintree course.

This may be the last Grand National over the famed layout that measures 4 miles, 856 yards and has 30 obstacles. The owner wants to sell it for a housing development.

Jay Trump, 100-8 in the betting, won $61,714 for Mrs. Stephenson.

Smith brought Jay Trump here last summer with the sole objective of winning the Grand National.

Holders of Irish sweepstakes tickets on the first three finishers receive $140,000 for first, $58,000 for second and $28,000 for third.

Mrs. Jones, who finished 200 yards behind the front pair, was a 50-1 betting shot. Fourth place was taken by Rainbow Battle, also 50-1.

Smith gave Jay Trump a beautiful ride.

"I was never more than 15 lengths behind the leaders," said the 27-year-old amateur jockey, "and I was lucky to get a clear run all the way."

"I caught up with Freddie with three fences to go and he nearly killed us. He kept hanging on and if he had taken the last two fences as well as we did, he would have won."

Prior to the race Smith had expressed concern over the huge field. He said he was afraid that Jay Trump might become frightened if a riderless horse bumped into him.

Every precaution was taken to insure Jay Trump's start. He was removed from the regular stable of his trainer when several horses developed coughs. His equipment, even to his water bucket, was disinfected.

Nine possible starters were scratched Friday because of the coughing epidemic.

Mrs. Stephenson fought her way through the crowd and gave Smith a kiss.

"It was hard work watching the race over the last two fences," she said. "Much harder even than Tommy's job."

Had she expected her horse to win?

"I never expect to lose when Tommy's riding," Mrs. Stephenson replied with a big smile.

"At the next to last fence Jay Trump had to skip over a fallen horse," Smith told her.

"Jay Trump and I were getting awfully tired when we reached that finish line. Another half-mile and we wouldn't have won."

Jay Trump is the first American-bred, American-owned and American-ridden horse to win the race.

Jay Trump's time was 9:30.6. The record of 9:20.4 was set by Golden Miller in 1934.

The Aintree fences took their usual toll and only 14 horses finished.

The two other American entries, Paul Mellon's 33 to 1 shot Red Tide and Mrs. Clara Levy's 18 to 1 chance Leedy, fell. Both Mellon and Mrs. Levy are from New York.

Behind the first four, in order, came these finishers: 5, Vultrix, 6, L'Empereur; 7, The Rip owned by Queen Mother Elizabeth, and second favorite in betting at 9 to 1; 8, Loving Record, 9, Tant Pis; 10, Brown Diamond; 11, April Rose; 12, Gullemhouse; 13, Peacetown, and 14, Moyrath.

"It was ripped wide open with the big tissue showing. I thought about destroying him, but the vet said he'd be all right. It took him three hours to sew up the wound."

Jay Trump, the first American-bred, American-owned and American-ridden horse to win the famed steeplechase, was born and bred in Lancaster County, Pa.

Sensenich sold him for $2,000 to Mrs. Mary C. Stephenson of Cincinnati, who collected $61,714 for the Aintree victory.

"It feels good and I'm sure glad to see him with such a big race," Sensenich said.

"I'm not the least bit sorry about selling him."

"It's like being an astronaut. You need the backing to get them there."

It took Jay Trump three months to recover from his injury and he never did much after that, Sensenich said. As a 3-year-old, Jay Trump was in the money only once.

LANCASTER, Pa., March 27 (AP) — Jay Trump, winner of England's Grand National steeplechase, was badly injured as a 2-year-old and his former owner said he had considered destroying him.

Jay Sensenich of New Danville, Pa., recalled after today's race at Aintree that Jay Trump ripped his right front leg in an accident at the Charles Town, W. Va., race track.

"He was accidentally hit in the eye with a whip and ripped the leg trying to clear a fence. It took 29 stitches to close the wound."

Milwaukee Snaps Reds' Five-Game Win Streak

By The Associated Press

Milwaukee, aided by four errors and two balks, snapped Cincinnati's winning streak at five with a 6-5 victory Saturday in an exhibition baseball game.

The Braves scored two of their runs on balks by Sammy Ellis, who also gave up nine of Milwaukee's 10 hits. Cincinnati homers by Yada Pilonson and Don Pavletich could not overcome the Braves' lead.

An infield out drove in the deciding run in the seventh inning after Mike de la Hoz singled and went to third on a double by Lee Maye.

The Chicago White Sox handed the New York Yankees their ninth defeat in 11 games 3-0 behind the combined six-hit pitching of John Buzhardt and Bob Locker. Floyd Robinson and Ron Hansen singled across the White Sox' runs in the first inning against Bill Stafford.

Three other shutouts were posted around the circuit. Houston defeated Philadelphia 2-0, the Astros' Claude Raymond pitching out of a bases-loaded jam in the ninth inning.

Wives of Light Plane Pilots Sign up for 'Husband Saving' Course

BY O. A. (GUS) REEDER
Times-News Feature Editor

The jokes and side remarks are flying around like dry thistles on the Salmon tract in the middle of a drought, but it all boils down to one thing — the course could be called a "husband saving" project.

There are 18 wives who are giving their time and a little of their husbands' money to engage in this particular project which, purely and simply, is a training stunt designed to enable the non-pilot in the right-hand seat of a plane to take over the controls in case the pilot is suddenly out of action. Technically, the term would be incapacitated.

A safety project of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots association, it is being sponsored locally by the newly formed Magic Valley Pilots association. The idea was developed under an AOPA foundation grant by the department of aviation, Ohio State university.

Other wives of the pilot who are being in life what they are — could pass out, faint, have a heart seizure or die at any moment.

In this case, without prior knowledge of what to do, the passenger — usually the wife — would die with the pilot.

GROUND SCHOOL subjects are important as wives of local fliers gain the know-how of flight in light planes. It will enable them to change from a strictly "passenger" status to that of a person who knows enough about flying to enable her to land the plane safely and not panic in case the pilot—usually her husband—is incapacitated. The course is the first to be sponsored by the newly formed Magic Valley Pilots association. Instructor Kenneth Hepner is at the blackboard in this picture. Ground classes have been completed and flying lessons are now in order. (Times-News photo)

High Flying Bird Comes Out Second Best In Night Collision Involving Local Plane

BIRD IN HAND might be worth two in the bush, but not on the vertical fin of a fast moving airplane. Warren Barry, local businessman-pilot, left, is convinced of this fact. A high flying bird of unidentified species struck his plane as he approached Joslin field just before midnight on a recent flight. Kenneth Jewkes, chief mechanic of Reeder Flying service, inspects the damage with him. It proved, Barry declared, that modern light planes are built to take it. (Times-News photo)

Could have been a night owl, or perhaps an early riser or a late go-to-bedder. But whatever it was—the bird, that is—it isn't around these parts anymore.

The bird in question, and a light plane flown by Warren Barry, head of the Volco Products company and businessman-pilot, made contact the other night and it proved beyond a doubt that the modern, light plane is built to take it.

Barry, who among other things is a trustee for the College of Idaho, Caldwell, was returning from that community after attending a board meeting on campus. He was flying his personal Mooney Super 21, a low-winged plane with a cruising speed of 185 miles an hour.

The time was just a few minutes before midnight and he was approaching Joslin field at an altitude of about 5,000 feet and four miles northwest of the port.

Barry had just called the Burrely weather station to ask for wind direction and velocity at the Twin Falls field. The local field has no such setup and incoming pilots must contact Burrely for this information.

About this time he felt a sharp thud. He checked his landing gear and flaps, but they worked perfectly. The motor was still in operation so it wasn't the propeller.

He continued in his landing pattern, and when he parked the plane in front of his hangar a brief investigation disclosed that a bird of some species had come in violent contact with the vertical fin on the back of the plane.

The resultant collision had put a large, torn dent in the fin and bits of the bird were scattered over the tail surfaces of the plane.

The fin will be replaced with a new one as soon as obtainable, but temporary repairs will be made by Kenneth Jewkes, mech. (Continued on Page 25)

Actors, Not Scenery, Spotlighted in Unusual All-School Production

MASK FOR "EVERYMAN," and the mold from which it was produced, are examined by Mike Barney, who plays the title role in this year's high school play. Initial presentation will be at O'Leary junior high school auditorium Thursday, April 1, at 8 p.m., with additional performances the evenings of April 2 and 3. (Times-News photo)

The actors are the thing—and scenery and "props" used in the all-school Twin Falls high school play "Everyman Today" will prove the point.

The set is called, in stage terminology, as a plastic setting and the essential quality is that of sculpture rather than painting. It's first care is to mold the cubic area of the stage into sculptured planes — steps, ramps and ledges — with which the actor can work and which the stage lights can illuminate in dramatic fashion.

If you really want to go back into history, this type of more or less plain scenery is the creation of the Swiss designer Adolphe Appia. In the United States the plastic stage has been used by a number of designers.

As Bradford Hickerson, speech-drama instructor at the Twin Falls high school and the play's director, puts it:

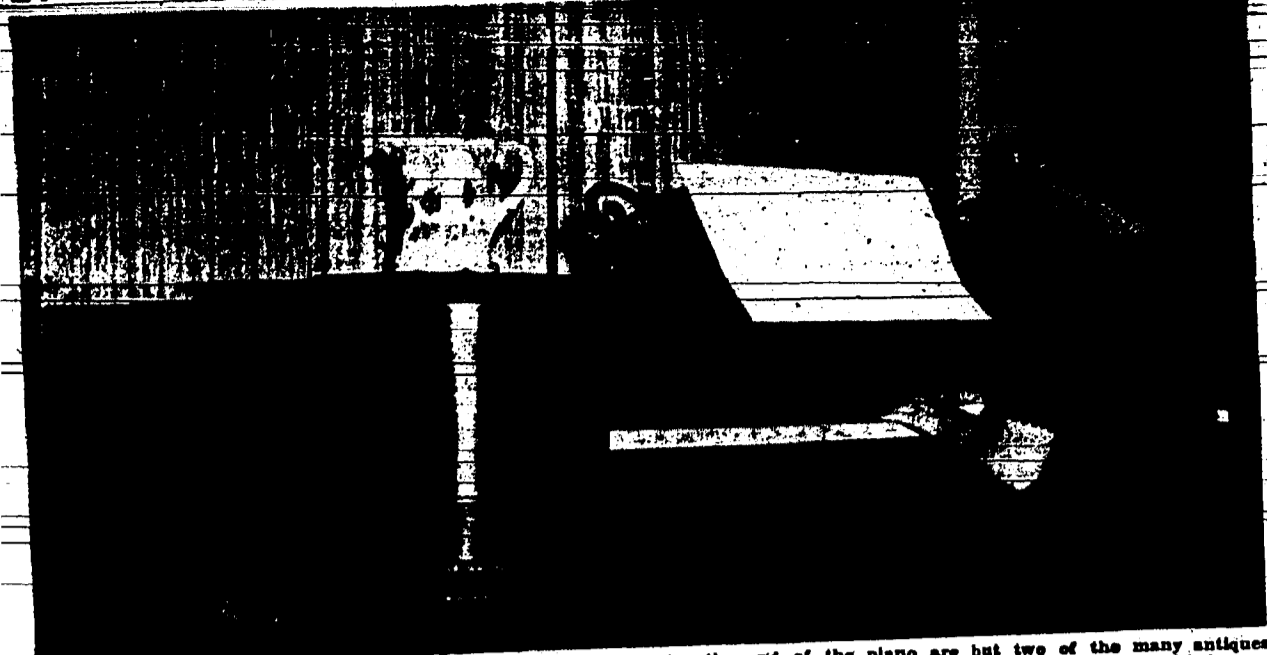

"This type of staging places a far greater emphasis on the actor than on the set. The actor becomes the designer's first and most important stage property. The designer supplies only those suggestions and fragments of scenery which are immediately necessary and directly helpful to the actor."

Another feature of the unusual play is the use of masks. Their use allows several actors to play one part. All humanity is represented by the character of Everyman and his six manifestations—that of the dictator, businessman, the general, the scientist, the politician and the intellectual.

To show that the six manifestations are not true characters but merely characteristics of humanity, Hickerson explains that the masks have been employed. (Continued on Page 25)

CONSCIENCE AND DEATH strike a dramatic pose during dress rehearsal for the unusual play to be presented by the Twin Falls High School Playhouse this week. Kathy Krellkamp and Danny Daniehek play two of the leading roles in the production. (Times-News photo)

YOUNG AND OLD team up to make music at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Koonce, Fairfield. Their granddaughter, Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doran Cluer, Fairfield, is 9, and their piano is 100 years old. The piano and pitcher sitting on the end of the piano are but two of the many antiques acquired over the years by the family. The piano, which is well traveled, is about to take another trip, this time to Minneapolis, Minn. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

People who live to be 100 years old are generally ready to stop traveling and settle down. Planes evidently do not share the same sentiment as people. At least one that celebrated its 100th birthday last year is getting set to make a trip of about 1,000 miles. When the piano, owned by Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Koonce, FAIRFIELD, finishes its next journey, it will have logged roughly 17,000 known miles. Since the whereabouts of the instrument is unknown from 1864 until the late 1940's, it may have traveled many more.

Not much of the history of it is known, but what is has proven to be one of the favorite topics of discussion for people who visit the Koonces.

Most of the known history was obtained from Steinway and Sons piano makers, New York City.

"When people would inquire about the age of the piano, and I would tell them it was about 100 years old, they would look at me rather dubiously," said Mrs. Koonce. "I had nothing to base this assumption on, except that I knew that this style was popular during the Civil War."

The piano, a huge dark red walnut square grand, is nearly identical to the one which was in the movie, "Gone With the Wind."

After several years of having their word doubted, the Koonces decided to write to the Steinway company and see if they could find out anything. After finally locating the serial number, it was sent in to the company and in 1966 the Koonce family received a letter from the company telling them its age and where it had originally been shipped.

The Steinway official said of the Koonces' six children were taking piano lessons. The piano they were using left a great deal to be desired as far as tone and action were concerned.

That piano, another large old square grand, had had much hard use. The sound board was cracked and it was generally in need of repair. It was not quite as large as the one now owned by the Koonces, was black walnut, and not good for much except an antique.

Mrs. Jesness, who had the Steinway restringed, decided to sell it and offered it to the Koonces, who gladly accepted her offer. So the old Steinway was loaded up and taken to GOODING where the Koonces lived at the time. Upon its entry into the Koonce household, the piano took its rightful place of honor among the many other antiques the family has acquired.

With two pianos the size of the Koonces' square grands in one room, something had to give, so a short time later, the old black grand was sold to an antique collector in Gooding.

In 1952 the Koonce family moved back to Fairfield where they had formerly resided and, of course, the old Steinway went with them. Taking no chances with it, they had it moved by a commercial firm. Despite all the care taken the support back of the lyre on which the pedals rest was broken. The movers replaced the support, and other than the strings, the new support is the only thing on the piano that is not just as it was when manufactured.

One of the Koonce children, J. Martin Koonce, kept on with his music and, of the family, was the most interested in it. He has many times voiced the opinion that of the many dozens he has played, the old Steinway has the best action and tone.

What Can Churches Do for Mental Health?

WARREN L. HOWELL, Rector Episcopal Church of the Ascension

In the eyes of many people mental health is strictly a medical problem, or a matter for local, state or national government to deal with. To be sure psychiatry is a part of the field of medical science, and to be sure local, state and national governments are involved in mental health.

Rev. W. Howell

hospital is the responsibility of city or county governments. Various hospitals and clinics are the responsibility of city or county governments. The federal government operates the national institute for mental health, and provides psychiatric services in hospitals operated by the U.S. for veterans and other institutions.

Action by governing bodies all the way from city councils and county commissioners, to state legislatures and the U. S. congress has been involved and will continue to be throughout the 50 states. This is testimony of the desire of the American people to provide the best possible diagnosis and care for emotionally disturbed and mentally ill persons.

ready access both to psychiatric diagnosis and treatment for their patients when needed, and also psychological knowledge can be most helpfully related to the whole field of medical practice, so that the whole person may most adequately be helped.

These developments which are growing everywhere attest to the fact that half of all patients in general hospitals are sick because of causes which are not wholly physical and the emotional needs of all patients likewise need sympathetic and skilled attention. In various other directions medical science is contributing to the advancement of mental health, and likewise psychological knowledge has become increasingly helpful to doctors in their significant ministry to people.

Also because emotional factors can vitally affect the operation of the human body, of necessity medical science bears responsibility for the care of the mentally ill. In spite of all this, however, there are some competent persons in the field of psychology and religion who successfully carry on psychotherapy in situations not involving medical problems, and this involves such well known counselors and authors as Dr. Rollo May and Dr. Carl Rogers.

lent. The Academy of Religion and Mental Health is now a national and even international movement of cooperative study and work among doctors and clergymen.

Much of the longstanding misunderstanding, defensiveness and prejudices have disappeared, and mutual labor for the ill is now the goal of all.

Churches have made great strides in providing religious ministry to both mental and general hospitals everywhere, wherever possible through specially trained chaplains. The federal government has provided trained chaplains in prisons and correctional institutions, as have many state and local governments.

In this area the churches have been involved in one of their most significant areas of cooperation, through the department of Pastoral Services of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S., and the Council for Clerical Training, the work of which is not as widely known as it should be, and which have been accomplishing important advances in the ministry of religion to the hundreds of thousands of Americans of all faiths who become residents in prisons and hospitals.

In addition to this both clergymen and laymen of various professions and concerned churchmen of various communions are deeply involved in the promotion of the nationwide mental health movement, through the National Association for Mental Health.

Locally a number of clergymen and members of Christian churches have from the start been active in the groups in Magic Valley promoting concern for the mentally ill. Church governing bodies and agencies have constantly worked for legislation through national state and local levels to provide clinics and other facilities for the mentally ill, and to create an informed public opinion on the whole subject.

Beyond this most clergymen give all of the study and time possible in counseling with people in trouble, sickness, sorrow and all kinds of need. And the effectiveness of this has constantly increased with more training and more knowledge. Such ministry is provided to the community as a whole, not only to members of a particular church, whenever a pastor is called upon. Preaching and teaching and study groups in the churches are concentrating themselves more than ever with ministering to the personal needs of individuals, and helping people to discover the resources of religion in the realization of life's meaning and in dealing with the tensions and problems of living.

Of course churches throughout the history of Christianity ministered to people, and the history of pastoral care and ministry to the sick is a fascinating story. So modern concern of churches and pastors for the area of mental, emotional and spiritual illness is no innovation, but rather a recovery of religion's ancient ministry of healing. Too often religion has spoken only to the brain, or to the body, not always to the mind and the whole person.

Pastors like doctors are fallible and human and mortal, but generally speaking they give to all who call upon them the best resources available. Those in the community who think religion is irrelevant to the textures of life and the needs of their own lives might consult some pastor next time life gets too much to cope with, or appears meaningless and futile.

They might just find wisdom and guidance they never imagined possible, and that churches can be true hospitals of the human soul, vitally concerned for helping people grow and mature in the fruits of the spirit.

Sure there's a difference between the luxury '65 Chevrolet and expensive cars

You can put most of it in your savings account

Maybe you've only seen them on the street so far. If so, come on in and see a Jet-smooth '65 Chevrolet right in our showroom. We think you'll do a double-take when you get up close enough for a look at that price sticker. Most people do. Because the major difference between this one and cars that cost quite a bit more is simply—price.

Take room, for example. Chevrolet has more of it than many expensive cars do. You get extra foot room with the new frame and forward-engine design. And those handsome curved side windows are one reason for all of the extra shoulder room, front and rear.

And there's plenty of luxury. The smartly functional instrument panel is easy to read, puts everything at your fingertips as well. Color-keyed interiors feature tastefully rich fabrics and vinyls, foam-cushioned seating and plush deep-twist carpeting. And even the low-cost Bel Airs and Biscaynes include these luxury touches.

There's a great choice of power, from Chevrolet's economical, spirited 140-hp Turbo-Thrift Six on up. And that famous Jet-smooth ride is even better this year. A new Full Coil suspension, new wider tread and over 700 sound and shock absorbers work together to give you the feeling there's a foot of air between you and the road.

You can tailor the car exactly to your taste, too. Our catalog lists nearly 200 ways to do that—and our salesmen can show you how easily your present car and realistic monthly payments will have you driving a beautiful '65 Chevrolet nearly as quickly as you've read this message.

Actors, Not Scenery, Spotlights in Unusual All-School Production Here

The stage props and background will be jet black. Blue lighting will enhance this arrangement in contrast to some of the costumes.

The costumes of the three principal characters — Kathy Kreikamp as Conscience, Bob Nora as the Devil, and Danny Danichek as Death, will be formal gowns and tuxedos. The gown that will be worn by the dancer (Carol Parkin), representing Conscience in a dance sequence was created by Arlene Urie, a school senior. Initial presentation of the play will be at the O'Leary Junior high school auditorium starting at 8 p.m. on Thursday, April 1. Two other presentations will follow on succeeding nights — April 2 and 3 — at the same hour and place.

The play "Everyman Today" has a very simple plot. The strength of the play, according to those in charge, lies in the skill with which the individual scenes are developed. The author is Walter Sorell.

The plot is formed as God commands Death to call Everyman to trial where he is expected to give a full accounting of his living habits. Through a series of dream sequences the characters of Everyman are seen. The second half of the play is the trial of Everyman. The attorney is Conscience while the prosecuting attorney is the Devil. Student director is Gerry Gurley with Steve Cunningham as technical director and Janice Anderson as business director.

Publicity director is Dorelyn Jensen. Cast members include Carolyn Brodine, announcer; Mike Bryson, messenger; Danny Danichek, Death; Kathy Kreikamp, Conscience; Bob Nora, Devil; Mike Barney, Everyman; John Wray, dictator; Dennis Cook, businessman; Rip Wilson, general; Les Weyer, scientist; Bob Jacobs, poet; Helen; Chris Jensen, intellectual; Connie Rappleye, Everyman's wife.

Joe Valesak, minister; Donna Mitrany, mother; Alice Simonds, beauty; Kelly Florence, secretary; Gene Bollinger, British officer; Tim Bryson, French soldier; John Nelson, dancer in black; Carol Parkin, dancer in white; Tim Bryson, clerk, and George Borchers, doctor.

High Flying Bird Struck By Airplane

"It showed one thing, and that is that the modern light plane is really built to handle what I knew, of course, that something had happened but was not sure until I made the inspection. All I can say is that it must have been some bird to be flying around that late at night."

Barry uses his plane in numerous business flights and his wife and children are frequent passengers. He was alone, however, on the night flight from Caldwell.

Active in civic affairs, he also is a member of the airport commission for the city. He brushed aside guarded comment on the near midnight aerial collision by commenting:

"Records show that if you are a careful pilot and have good equipment, then private flying is one of the really safe ways to travel."

In the actual play a black background curtain will aid the black runway and steps to blend together. Carol Parkin and John Nelson are featured as dancers. Plot of the play is built around the trial of Everyman, who is called to give a full account for what he has done. (Times-News photo)

Magic Valley Is Selecting Girls' Staters

Towns in Magic Valley, as well as throughout the rest of the state, are selecting delegates to the state girls' state this month. The girls' state, which will be held June 13-19 in Caldwell on the College of Idaho campus.

This same procedure will take place this spring throughout the entire nation, with the exception of Alaska, which is the only state of the 50 which does not conduct Girls' state sessions.

Girls' state is sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary. A committee from the local auxiliary selects the girls and finances their stay on the campus, with the assistance of local service organizations. This year marks the 10th annual Syringa Girls' state at Caldwell.

Already the Times-News has run pictures and stories of more than three dozen girls selected from Magic Valley towns.

Representatives are selected from the junior classes in high schools and are chosen by the qualifications of leadership, character—courage, honesty, scholarship, cooperativeness and physical fitness.

Each school is given the privilege of sending from one to five junior girls, based on the number of students in the school. Letters of instruction were sent to every public high school and parochial high school in the state in February, asking each school to participate in the program. Applications for 250 girls have been mailed in Idaho.

Girls' state endeavors to further Americanism and good citizenship. The non-partisan, non-political program is given over to teaching and inculcating in the youth of America a love of God and country.

Purpose of the session will be to provide citizenship training for girls, to afford them opportunities to live together as self-governing citizens, to inform them about the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship, in order that they may understand and participate in the functioning of their government.

Through these sessions the delegates are helped to grasp the meaning of some of the responsibilities which they must assume when they become adults.

The girls will participate in city and county government and will hold sessions for state offices. During the formal inaugural ceremony which highlights the week, the oath of office will be given to state officials by Gov. Robert E. Smylie. Each girl will receive a Syringa Girls' state pin.

One day will be spent at the state house in Boise where the elected officers will assume the positions to which they have been chosen. At the end of the session, two girls will be chosen from the entire group to attend Girls' nation which will be held in Washington, D.C. in July.

Mrs. Carl Reuter, Grangeville, is director of Syringa Girls' state, and Mrs. Marguerite Poote, Middleton, is president. The board of directors is composed of seven members of the auxiliary with the addition of nine counselors, one for each city of Syringa Girls' state.

A registered nurse will be on duty during the entire session and a doctor will be on call. Six other auxiliary members, who assist in various ways, complete the staff for the session.

The staff has no paid members. A number of outstanding speakers and public servants in all forms of government will donate time for teaching, instructing and assisting the girls.

Each girl is charged a fee of $40. The cost of conducting Girls' state is $10,000. This includes the room and board for the girls at the college; five chartered Grayhound buses; insurance; pins for the girls; the educational material given each delegate as well as the programs and printed materials, and expenses for the two girls who will attend Girls' nation.

Girls feel it is a privilege to be chosen representative to Girls' state and those who have attended come home with the feeling that they have learned a great deal and gained much. They will be asked to speak on their experiences at local club gatherings, especially those clubs and service organizations which have helped to finance the girls' stay.

Boys state a similar project for boys, will be held in June in state capitols. Delegates are chosen in the same manner as for Girls' state.

Articles Read At Carey Session

CAREY, March 27—Mrs. Donald Baird, leader, read two articles and Mary Ann Hennrich, junior leader, read the lesson discussion on "How others see us" and "Good grooming habits" when the Miscellaneous Maidens 4-H club met this week.

The members discussed having a formal dinner to improve table manners and arrangements to have physical examinations.

Patricia Day is a new member. The next meeting will be March 29 at the Carey high school. Demonstrations were assigned to Susan Cook on introductions and Barbara Baird on table manners.

Awards Given

WENDELL, March 27—Safety drivers awards of pins and certificates issued annually by the National Safety Council were presented to the Wendell rural carriers by Arnie Thompson, Wendell postmaster.

Malvin Weinberg, route 1 carrier, received a 16-year accident-free award and J. Owen Anderson, route 3 carrier, a six-year accident-free award.

Painful

MARTINEZ, Calif., March 27 (UPI)—Otto Borfeld, police chief of this northern California city, had a painful lesson this week on the hazards of performing his constabulary duty.

Summoned to a ladies' clothing store to arrest a woman shoplifter, Borfeld had just apprehended the suspect when she bit him.

Buhl C. of C. Member Drive Under Way

BUHL, March 27—The Buhl Chamber of Commerce membership drive is currently under way with $2,875 in 1965 dues collected to date, it was reported during the Chamber's luncheon meeting Monday.

Some $2,000 is yet to be collected to meet the budget for the coming year, noted Edward No-

What's Goin' On?

Joseph Washo, Kevin Nob and George Atkins, representing Fairview Grange met with the group to discuss stop sign problems. They pointed out all north and south original diked farm to market roads leading to Buhl now have stop signs giving straight right of way traffic east and west on the corners four miles south of Buhl.

It was pointed out most of the existing traffic comes to Buhl on these roads and the Grangers requested that the Chamber see what can be done to correct this. The matter was referred to the Chamber's highway committee.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, March 28—Born today, you have both a nature and mind that belongs to the intellectual side of life, and should your education and training not be such as to fit you for that life, you will probably always know a certain amount of dissatisfaction with your lot. A person of extremely fine mind, who has the same time a flair for words and persuasion, you may well enter the field of law. On the other hand, you have a bent for facts and figures which, though of advantage in law, might well lead you into some pure science.

You have much to offer the world and, although the world may not be at your feet as soon as you might wish, determination and application should see you leaving your mark upon society. You need only take care not to rush things. All things in their time should be your motto.

For only in following that line of thinking will you develop the patience you will need to reach the top of your profession.

Emotionally sound, you are nevertheless given to fits of depression and even at times to displays of temper. The latter, however, occur more often for show than to gain your own ends, than out of any true loss of control for you are one who knows well when and how to employ emotions to your own service.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, March 29

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—The sooner you begin efforts to make this week a success, the nearer your goal you'll come.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Avoid coming to grips with business associates early in the week.

Contacts made in midweek have the best chance of success.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Definitely not the time to display the dark side of his disposition. Keep a smile ready.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Unless an invitation is for a social function of considerable importance, you would be wise to stick strictly to business.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—A day of gains for one who has an eye for the new and different. Old ways are sometimes best—and also sometimes unprofitable.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—You may be called upon to play a somewhat strange part in the affairs of others. If your conscience allows, acquiesce.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—A day of miscellaneous character out of which it is not impossible to snatch considerable gains.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—Increase the scope of your affairs. This is a good time for seriously considering new ventures.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Schedule your time carefully if you would take advantage of the various offers that may come your way today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—A change in methods of operation could make a big difference to your future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Careful observation and the application of precise information to the present project should see you "over the hump."

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—Call a meeting of the clan by special proclamation if you must, but one way or another try to put family members in touch with each other!

Carey Plans Award Meet For April 6

CAREY, March 27—A citizenship scholarship award and a special program are being planned and prepared by the Carey-high school for April 6 at the LDS recreation hall.

Mary Lee Barton is general chairman and Gretchen Stultz is decorations chairman.

Merla Smith is fund raising chairman. Funds will be volunteered and the amount donated will determine whether it is one student or two students that receive the scholarship award.

Mrs. Roe to Direct PTA For Wendell

WENDELL, March 27—Mrs. Joe Roe was elected president of Hub City PTA at the Tuesday evening meeting held at the all-purpose room of the elementary school house.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Douglas Huff, vice president; Mrs. Earl Schrenk, secretary, and Mrs. Allen Hendrix, treasurer.

The Rev. Jack Jennings opened the meeting with prayer. Omer Bose accompanied the group singing. Mrs. Neal Ambrose read the PTA objectives.

Mrs. Joe Roe, chairman of the kindergarten committee, reported on the beginning of the classes the past week.

Mrs. Jones announced the awards assembly will be held May 7. The PTA will present a $25 scholarship to a qualified senior.

Frank Smith, conservation officer, presented a film on gun safety. He announced that a class in gun safety will be available at the grade school soon.

Mrs. LeRoy Gibbs led the class for the parents of the high school students on the subject, "Should We Censor What Teenagers Read?"

Mrs. Veronica Maus, county health nurse, was in charge of the class for the grade school class for parents. Mrs. Maus told of her work in the schools of Croodung county on baby care and home nursing. The nurse also gives eyesight tests and tuberculosis tests as part of the state public health program.

She announced that an audiometer will be purchased jointly by Gooding, Jerome and Lincoln counties to test the hearing of school children in the three counties.

Mrs. Roe presented a film, "Frustrating terrors and fascinating lives," for the class for pre-school parents.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Edward Olson's second grade room; Mrs. Grace Martin's fourth grade room; Mrs. Ruth Gates' fifth grade room; John Trumper's junior high home room and Mrs. H. S. Laub's home room in the high school. Mrs. Grant Zollinger received the hospitality prize.

Refreshments were served by the fifth grade room mothers with Mrs. Marshall Howsden and Mrs. Roy Rost serving as chairmen.

Idaho Fishing Records Are Smashed For Mackinaw and Bluegill Species

By Jim Hubbard
Twin Falls, Idaho, March 27 — Two all-time Idaho fishing records for fish were smashed last year. The combined weight of the new winners was 16 pounds, six ounces and the difference between the two trophies was a whopping 52 pounds, four ounces.

But there was not a scintilla of difference in the joyousness of the mighty anglers.

A 56-pound, five-ounce mackinaw trout from Priest-lake-top was the old Idaho record for that species, and a two-pound, six-ounce bluegill from Sand Lake east of Bruneau went down in that division.

Miss Harriet Spokane, boat owner of the mack last April 20, 21 and 22, is 44 inches long and 34 inches in girth.

The bluegill was taken July 26, but no measurements are available because the fish, encased in a block of ice, went to a taxidermist. Donated by the happy fisherman, Jack Earl, Jr., Boise, it will be given proper recognition as a trophy in the new headquarters building of the game department.

Despite the disparity in size, it is easy to heap superlatives on the bluegill as the mackinaw trout. Trophy fish are like that. If publicized separately as they have been, the faint of heart might despair of ever equalling the mighty mack.

Cyber say such a fish spoils everybody's fun for at least a year. The communicable disease known as "angler's ache" plays no favorites.

And there's no cure except brushing water until the victim drops dead or he gaffs a new record. Lesser fish, of course, are not without enthusiasm.

This encourages the joyless angler that the aim in fishing is to catch either the biggest fish or the most—or both.

The lavish stocking of certain waters "for juveniles only" prior to the fish derby has a tendency to pass this "catch a limit" philosophy along to the coming generation; fishing is lousy just because a creel is light.

Bag limits specify the maximum number of fish an angler is entitled to take and a rod and reel artist is not necessarily one who can catch a limit every time.

Useless and often misunderstood is the credo that a bag limit does not entitle everyone to a limit. Rather it merely provides that an angler must stop taking fish if he reaches a certain number, or so many pounds, as the case may be. A bag limit is intended to draw a line at a point where fish hogging begins—not provide a standard of productivity.

About 250,000 Idaho fishing licenses are bought every year. If one-time tourist permits are included, data from fish harvest questionnaires show that these people make over two million fishing trips a year.

They catch more than nine million trout, one million kokanee, one million steelhead, three million smallmouth bass or warm water species, 20,000 chinook salmon, 25,000 steelhead, 2,000 to 4,000 sturgeon and perhaps a half-million bluegill.

There is no such thing as an "average" fisherman, but figures nonetheless are revealing. Idaho anglers make an average of 12 trips a year. The average catch per trip is nearly five trout, mostly of modest size. The average "good" fisherman gets 100 percent of the trout harvested; the average "poor" fisherman gets less.

IDAHO FOND FISHES were introduced by pioneers who had known and loved them in the East and South. This one is the state record bluegill, caught last July at Sand Dunes lake by Jack Earl, Jr., Boise. It weighed two pounds, one ounce. About three million warm water fish are harvested by Idaho anglers every year. They are fun to catch, good to eat and there is no bag limit. (Fish-Game photo) not insist on breaking a record every time he goes out.

With these species, Kamloops, mackinaw, sturgeon, chinook, salmon, steelhead, and even rainbow and cutthroat trout in some waters, a fish can demand a lot of skill and bring great satisfaction to an angler who never comes anywhere near a record.

For beginners of all ages, and for people who like to bring home a sackful of fish every time they go out, there are a half-dozen or so species that may be taken without limit because they need harvesting. These are the two kinds of bass, crappie, perch, sunfish, bluegill and pumpkinseed.

Catfish, bullhead, channel or flathead, have a bag limit, albeit a most liberal one indeed. It is 100 fish in the aggregate, but not to exceed 50 pounds and one fish.

All these species were brought to Idaho by pioneers in the great mid-century immigration of covered wagons. Native fishes of the Idaho territory included rainbow, cutthroat, Dolly Varden, speckled, chinook salmon, silver salmon, blueback salmon, kokanee, several kinds of whitefish, cisco, ling, sturgeon, lamprey, sculpin, several kinds of sucker, and a variety of minnows such as chub, dace and shiner.

But where were the crappies, bluegills, perch and catfish? Why were there so many warm water lakes and ponds and none of the pure-bred fishes they had known and loved in the East and South?

The western saga of the pond fishes, including carp, with a genius for reproduction resulted from their hardy nature, and their ability to survive overland transportation and water so de-aerated that other fish species must surely perish.

But all this is another story. The point here is that a good Idaho angler often can catch several species of fish in the same waters. His first cast might delude a fat, sassy trout; the second a large or smallmouth bass; the third a bluegill; the fourth a yellow perch; the fifth a crappie; and the sixth a catfish or pumpkinseed sunfish for a perfect score.

But Idaho's sons and daughters of the pioneers like their trout, the bigger the better, and the salmon and steelhead, too.

Spud Group Committees Are Reported

HAZELTON, March 27—Maglio Valley representatives of the Idaho-Eastern Oregon potato committee were announced today.

Joseph Houska, Jr., was re-elected to represent the north side. Melvin West, Paul, was named alternate member and replaced Edward Poppih, Hazelton.

Ted Mason, Kimberly, was named committeeman for the south side, replacing Duane Ramseyer, Filer, who was then named alternate member to replace Junius Duke, Burley, who has discontinued farming.

Officers of the control committee are located at Pocatello.

with Kay Hart as manager and executive secretary.

Rex Frise, field man for the control committee, with headquarters in Idaho Falls, covers Idaho and Oregon.

Other officers are Joseph Houska, Jr., Hazelton, chairman; George Sugal, Payette, vice chairman; and Willis Ward, Pocatello, secretary-treasurer.

The board will hold its annual meeting June 14 and 15 at McCall, and will set the size and other regulations on the new crop of potatoes at that time.

How I Received My Call

By ANN MOODY
There is a room above the mirror in my car this morning as I drive about town. I am a nurse and I have had many other things in the car...

much; her daughter never came to see her. One little girl of compassion had opened a door. Over the weeks she poured out a story which began to be clear even to her. A story of her own demands and unreasonable wishes had driven both husband and daughter away.

I contributed nothing to this self-wakening except an ear to listen. From new closeness with her family, it was clear even to me that she was not alone. As just this woman who always had/hated "churchy people" asked a minister to come instruct her and she was received into the church.

I mention this experience because it was the first, but there have been many more. God gave me so much work to do, once I stopped insisting on my own way, that the days seem too short to hold the joy and meaning in them.

As for my husband, once I stood out of God's light, he found his way back from his war experience in a remarkable way. He has a regular job now and teaches bible class.

But to me it says even more. It says that God is able to bring beauty from us wherever we are. That is the "gift" given to the service can flower as fully in Oregon as in India. That is why, in my heart, Lord, I lay the road at Your feet.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT...

Twin Falls County Auditor Once Was Offered Chance to Fiddle in Museum

If Harold Lancaster hadn't liked Twin Falls and the surrounding area so much he might have ended up as a musician in an Arizona museum instead of serving as Twin Falls county clerk and auditor. About five years ago Lancaster was visiting in Arizona and struck up a conversation with a woman piano player in a museum. She asked if he played any musical instrument and Lancaster said he played a fiddle.

HAROLD LANCASTER

Fiddle playing has long been a favorite pastime for Lancaster. In fact he was part of the first band which ever played over a radio station in Twin Falls. Lancaster recalls that the event was held in the building now occupied by Blackers Appliance. Fiddle playing also provided the Lancaster family with some additional income during the 30's when he was farming in the Piler area. Harold Lancaster was born Dec. 6, 1909, the youngest of six children. He attended grade school at the old Poplar Hill grade school and graduated from Piler high school in 1927. He was also the year he had to make quite a decision. He had taken tests for admittance to the U.S. naval academy, but because his father was ailing at the time he decided to help with the family farm. He's never regretted the decision.

and it was discovered that the gentleman in question thought he was in Burley at the Cassia county courthouse. Lancaster likes to quote Winston Churchill in referring to his political philosophy. "Politics is a poor profession, but public service is a noble one." His goal in administering the office of county clerk and auditor is to treat all people alike and play no favorites. He believes that this is the best method to operate the office. He claims that he's enjoyed the best relationship with members of both political parties and hopes to continue the situation. His favorite hobby is his fiddle. He attended the Northwest Fiddlers Jamboree at Weiser and was one of the 10 finalists. He is almost as enthusiastic about his fiddling as he is his fiddle playing. For one reason fishing gets him out into the outdoors and he believes in taking full advantage of the opportunity offered in southern Idaho. Until a few years ago he also listed hunting as another hobby until the hills got too steep. While he has been busy as county clerk and auditor he has continued to maintain many farming interests. He is still an active member of the Piler Grange. He was a Farm Bureau member for many years in addition to many years on the Piler school board. He is a member of the Piler Masonic lodge and belongs to the somewhat under the influence

Mrs. Davis Heads PTA At Murtaugh

MURTAUGH, March 27—Mrs. Kent Davis was elected president of the Murtaugh PTA Monday night in the high school auditorium. Other officers elected are Mrs. A. K. Nebeker, first vice president; Mrs. Glen Peterson, second; Mrs. Donald Coon, third; and David Jansen, vocational agriculture teacher, fourth; Mrs. Truman Biel, secretary, and Mrs. James Bourn, treasurer.

There will be an executive board meeting for present officers at 1:30 p.m. April 5 in the hot lunch room. The program included the presentation of act one of "Hall The Hunkering Hero" by speech students of Dennis Goodenough. Taking part were Gary Lee, Louis Anderson, Linda Howard, James Hendersworth and Edward Mitchell. Piano solos were played by Janet Pancheri, Terri Hulise and Patsy Glarry. The seventh grade received the traveling room count prize and the seventh grade room mothers served refreshments.

The only Lancaster girl now lives at Lodi, Calif., and Robert, the youngest, lives in Twin Falls. In reflecting back across the years Lancaster believes that he has in a sense grown up with the area. "I've seen some remarkable changes over the years. I believe the area has more than fulfilled the wildest dreams of the original pioneers," he said. He believes that there is plenty of opportunity here if only people take the time and effort to grasp the chance.

Junior Feeders See Meat Cut DECLIO, March 27—The Junior Feeders 4-H club and their leader, Jay Kidd, went to Gillette store Tuesday evening, where Gale Gillette cut half a beef and explained the cut. 3 BIG DAYS! MON. TUES. WED.

Spud-Nut Machine Offers Instant Pastry

One of the special and newest features in the retail grocery business will be in operation at Jay's Save-On food center. It is the Pelton Spud-Nut machine which is now receiving excellent acceptance nationwide.

Store owner, Jay Davis said that the new machine will be the first of its kind in Magic Valley and could be the first of its kind in Idaho. Many other Idaho grocery stores are planning to install the new machine, but for a while the machine will be exclusive at Jay's food center here.

The big difference in the operation of the new Spud-Nut machine is that it guarantees fresh Spud-Nuts. Gone is the problem of guessing the day's needs. Many bakeries have to plan well in advance and a baker will often spend four or five hours preparing Spud-Nuts and other items. The old system has two faults in that the store can run out of needed items or the items can get stale setting on the shelf.

All this changes with the Pelton machine and program. The dough arrives at the store already made up and frozen. When the Spud-Nut supply runs low the girl simply pops two dozen Spud-Nuts into the cooker and in about two minutes they are done.

This means the buyer can purchase piping hot Spud-Nuts fresh from the cooker at 10 minutes to closing time or within a few minutes after the doors open in the morning.

The machine also eliminates the long morning wait and the necessity of keeping a tremendous supply of stock on hand. Some 18 different varieties of pastry goods can be made in the new machine. It can handle maple bars, bismarks, twists, fruit and cream turnovers and other pastry items.

Davis frankly admits that the aroma of Spud-Nuts and other pastry items could have quite an effect on the potential customers. "The smell of something baking is tempting and the idea of eating pastry hot from the oven is almost a forgotten thing in this day of pre-package goods," he said.

"The aroma of pastry goods baking could bring back many

NEW SPUD-NUT equipment will be located behind this counter on stainless steel counter tops. The new equipment will offer piping hot Spud-Nuts in matter of minutes and will insure hot, fresh and crisp pastry for patrons of Jay's food store. The equipment will be the only one of its kind in Magic Valley and one of the first installed in the state of Idaho. Some 18 varieties of pastry can be instantly prepared here. (Times-News photo)

DOORS WILL open at 8 a.m. Monday at Jay's Save-On food store in the Save-On shopping center located at the intersection of Fillmore and Filer avenues. Jay Davis is reopening the old

Okay food store under the name of Jay's Save-On food store. The wall separating Save-On drug from the store has been opened to permit one stop shopping. (Times-News photo)

GRAND OPENING IS SCHEDULED AT JAY'S

Green Stamps To Be Given At New Store

With every purchase made at Jay's Save-On food store, shoppers will be given S and H green stamps.

Jay Davis, manager, said the decision to use S and H was based on the fact that few major grocery stores in Twin Falls offer S and H stamps. The stamp company is one of the oldest and largest dealers of trading stamps and offers a variety of gifts for the shopper.

"We realize that there are many grocery buyers who would prefer the famed "Green" stamp and by offering them here, we believe we fill a needed void in grocery store business and in the trading stamp business," said Davis.

In announcing the decision to use S and H green stamps, Davis said, "The store is happy to be associated with the Sperry and Hutchinson stamp company, their reputation is one which is already sold and fits well into our operation of high quality merchandise."

NATIONALLY known brand names and top quality merchandise will greet Twin Falls and Magic Valley shoppers at 8 a.m. Monday when Jay Davis holds a grand opening of his new store in the Save-On shopping center. Shopper

Doors to Open Monday, T.F. Shoppers Invited

The grand opening of Jay's Save-On food store will officially get under way at 8 a.m. Monday and the grand opening will offer a large variety of specials for Twin Falls and Magic Valley shoppers. Jay's Save-On food store is opening in the former location of Okay's food

G. I. SCOTT ... has been named grocery department manager at Jay's Save-On food store. (Times-News photo)

Snack Bar Changed Into Large Capacity Diner

One of the biggest changes Twin Falls shoppers will find at Jay's food store will be the enlarged and remodeled cafe. Instead of a snack bar, patrons will now find a complete coffee shop capable of seating 87 people.

COMPLETELY REMODELED is the Snack bar. In fact it is no longer a Snack bar but a complete coffee shop. Additional stools have been installed and there are tables in the back of the area for more leisurely dining. Kirby Severe will manage the coffee shop at Jay's Save-On shopping center. (Times-News photo)

Jay's Will Join Associated Unit

Jay's Save-On food store will be affiliated with Associated Foods stores with wholesale outlets in Boise, Pocatello and Salt Lake City.

Associated Foods is the largest food chain in the Intermountain area with some 896 stores affiliated with the group, said Davis.

"Our affiliation with Associated Foods should prove to be beneficial not only to us as a store but to the customer as well as it will result in big savings for the customer," said Jay Davis, owner, Jay's Save-On Food store.

store located at the intersection of Fillmore and Filer avenues. Because of the new association worked out with Save-On drug store located in the west end of the building the area will now be known as the Save-On shopping center.

During the past six weeks workmen have been busy remodeling the store and making changes which will enhance shopper comfort. While much of the store will retain, to a small degree, a touch of familiarity, the changes will definitely make it a new store.

The old snack bar has been completely changed. The size of the snack bar area has been increased and 87 seats have been installed to accommodate shoppers in the grocery store as well as in Save-On drugs.

The wall which separated the grocery store from the drug store has been reduced to permit easy access to either store and gives an illusion of "oneness."

By working in harmony with the Save-On drugstore, the grocery store shopper gains from having access not only to excellent buys in groceries, but can purchase needed pharmaceutical items and merchandise in the drugstore, thus making the operation a complete one-stop center.

Store hours in both the drug store and the food store are from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, thus offering the buyer a full range of hours and adding meaning to the term "convenience."

Jay Davis Opens New Business

For Jay Davis the grand opening of a store at the Save-On shopping center is like returning home.

Davis formerly operated the old Okay Food store in South Park. In addition Davis has operated food stores in Gooding and Jerome. During the past few years he has been in business in Nampa, Boise and Pocatello. He worked for Okay's in Pocatello for several years before engaging in the manufacture of jewelry made from native Idaho stone.

Davis and his family now reside at 1935 Granada drive.

"Even though I'm a native of Pocatello, I've always considered Twin Falls home. We always liked it here and we are certainly happy to be back in Twin Falls and back in the grocery business." Many of our closest friends here in Twin Falls we met while in the grocery business," said Davis.

Store Hours

Store hours at Jay's Save-On food store will be from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily beginning Monday, announces Jay Davis, owner, Jay's Save-On food store.

The longer hours should offer the buying public a broad choice as to when they want to shop and when they can shop, he said.

WHAT'S A SPUDNUT ?

Not too long ago two brothers, Bob and Al Pelton, decided they wanted to make a unique, different doughnut. So they rented a little shop in Salt Lake City, Utah, and started experimenting.

Eureka! After many failures, one day they tried a pinch of this, a pinch of that... and just the right amount of pure mashed potatoes. Eureka! They had finally hit it. The lightest, fluffiest, tastiest golden brown doughnut they had ever seen. In honor of the mashed potatoes in the recipe, Bob and Al promptly named their creation "Spudnut"—after the slang word for potato, "Spud."

National Success As the fame of the superior Spudnut spread, the Spudnut Company started training other people to make these delicious food products. Now there are many Spudnut Shops throughout the U.S.A., all producing these same delicate, delightful pastries. Making Spudnuts fresh several times each day, the Spudnut Shop owner is a busy, and happy man. For he knows that he is producing the finest quality, best-tasting doughnut creation in the world. You're invited to sample his product at his Grand Opening.

The FLINT

YOU'RE PROFESSOR CROMBIE? GOODNESS! YOU DON'T LOOK LIKE A FORTUNE TELLER!

I'M NOT A MERE FORTUNE TELLER, MISS ROBB! I'M A DIAGNOSTICIAN OF THE FUTURE!

I USE A COMPUTER TO FORECAST COMING EVENTS! I'LL SHOW YOU HOW TOMORROW!

METRA ROBB, HEIRESS TO MILLIONS, IS EASILY CONVINCED THAT AN ELECTRONIC COMPUTER CAN TELL FORTUNES WHEN SHE VISITS PROFESSOR CROMBIE'S OFFICE...

TEA LEAVES AND CRYSTAL BALLS ARE OLD-FASHIONED, MISS ROBB!

AUTOMATION IS REPLACING EVERYTHING!

NOT QUITE. MONEY IS STILL IN STYLE...

SHALL I BILL YOU, OR DO YOU WISH TO PAY AFTER EACH VISIT?

METRA'S GUARDIAN, MORTIMER CASH, GREW ALARMED AND CALLED ON ME FOR HELP.

SHE GIVES HER ENTIRE ALLOWANCE TO THIS FAKER, FLINT! I WANT YOU TO EXPOSE HIM AS A FRAUD! -- HER SPENDING MONEY IS SMALL CHANGE...

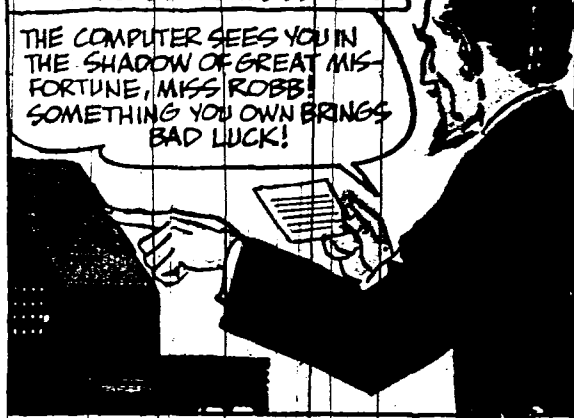

...HE IS REALLY AFTER THE PRICELESS EMPIRE EMERALDS, WHICH ARE PART OF HER INHERITANCE!.

EVEN BEFORE I GOT STARTED CROMBIE BEGAN HIS BLITZ...

THE COMPUTER SEES YOU IN THE SHADOW OF GREAT MISFORTUNE, MISS ROBB! SOMETHING YOU OWN BRINGS BAD LUCK!

THE EMPIRE EMERALDS! THEY'VE ALWAYS BEEN UNLUCKY FOR THEIR OWNERS!

AHA!

THE COMPUTER WOULD KNOW, MY DEAR! IF IT COULD EXAMINE THE STONES--

I'LL BRING THEM HERE TOMORROW!

WHATCHA MEAN, YOU DON'T MAKE HOUSE CALLS???

THERE'S OUR POOR OL' KING LAYIN' OUT COLD IN HIS PALACE AN' YOU WON'T DO A THING FOR 'IM!

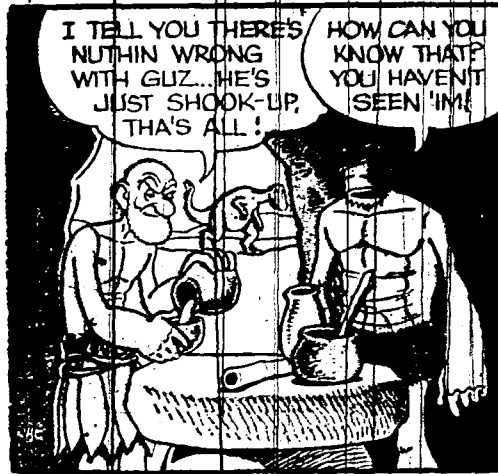

OOP, THERE'S NUTHIN I CAN DO FOR 'IM!

BY VOLT HAMILIN

Y' MEAN HE'S BEYOND HELP?

NO, I DON'T!

I TELL YOU THERE'S NUTHIN WRONG WITH GLIZ... HE'S JUST SHOOK-UP, THAT'S ALL!

HOW CAN YOU KNOW THAT? YOU HAVEN'T SEEN 'IM!

OH, YES! I WAS THERE WHEN HE PASSED OUT!

...IN FACT, I HELPED HIM GET IN TH' SHAPE HE'S IN!

AW, YOU DIDN'T EITHER...

T.M. Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

...WHAT GOT HIM WAS THAT DINOSAUR TALKIN' TO 'IM!

YEAH... ABOUT TH' PATCH ON HIS BRITCHES...

...AN' I WOULDN'T HAVE KNOWN THAT IF I HADN'T BEEN THERE, NOW WOULD I?

WELL, NO... I GUESS NOT, BUT DINOSAURS JUST DON'T TALK, YOU KNOW!

THEY DON'T, EH? I SUPPOSE YOU THINK IT'S ONLY HUMANS WHO CAN TALK?

OF COURSE!

HI THERE, OOP, OL' SOCKS! HOW'S YOUR BLOOD PRESSURE THESE DAYS, OL' BOY?

HOLY COW!!

POOKY! MY GOSH, HOW'D YOU DO THAT?

ME?? WHO SAYS I DID ANY-THING?

WELL, AH, ER, I.....

NEVER MIND! JUST RUN ALONG...

...AN' KEEP YOUR NOSE OUTA THINGS THAT DON'T CONCERN YOU!

DON'T HIT ME! DON'T HIT ME!

WHO'S GOING TO HIT YOU? I JUST WANT TO ASK YOU A QUESTION!

IF I WANTED TO JOIN THE FRIENDSHIP CLUB, WOULD YOU TAKE ME AS A MEMBER?

WHY, SURE! WE'D BE VERY HAPPY TO HAVE YOU AS A MEMBER, NASTY.

I'LL RUN HOME AND GET YOU AN APPLICATION BLANK RIGHT NOW!

FORGET IT!

YOU MEAN YOU'RE NOT GOING TO JOIN?

CERTAINLY NOT!

I REFUSE TO BELONG TO ANY ORGANIZATION THAT WOULD ACCEPT A MEAN LITTLE RAT LIKE ME AS A MEMBER.

OUT OF THE CLOSET

WITH The Willets

J.F. WILLIAMS

PLEASE, MOM... WHEN CHARLES COMES TO PICK ME UP, YOU ANSWER THE DOOR!

BUT IF WILLIS IS SITTING RIGHT HERE, HE CAN ANSWER IT!

HE'LL DELIBERATELY EMBARRASS ME... CHARLES WILL THINK HE'S A SAVAGE-- WHICH HE IS!

WHAT DO I CARE ABOUT YOUR DUMB OLD BOY FRIEND?

YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND! CHARLES IS THE BIGGEST CATCH AROUND AND IT'S MY FIRST DATE WITH HIM! I WANT TO MAKE A GOOD IMPRESSION!

IF HE'LL GO OUT WITH YOU HE'S PRETTY IMPRESSIONABLE!

LOOK, LIL... YOU HAVE TO GO UPSTAIRS AND GET READY-- I'VE GOT WORK TO DO IN THE KITCHEN! I CAN'T SIT AROUND WAITING TO GREET YOUR BOY FRIEND!

WILLIS WILL RUIN EVERYTHING I'VE TALKED TO CHARLES!

NOW YOU BEHAVE YOURSELF WHEN CHARLES RINGS THE BELL!

GOOD GOSH, YOU'RE BOTH YELLING AT ME AND I HAVEN'T EVEN SEEN THE GUY YET! CAN'T YOU TRUST ME?

THANKS FOR HELPING ME, MOM! I'M A NERVOUS WRECK!

THIS FELLOW CHARLES REALLY MUST BE SOMETHING TO GET YOU SO WORKED UP!

YOU MUST BE CHARLES! I'M WILLIS, LIL'S BROTHER-- COME ON IN!

I'M A FEW MINUTES EARLY-- I HOPE LILLIAN DOESN'T THINK SHE HAS TO RUSH!

YOU SAY LIL IS A PRETTY GOOD GOLFER AND BASEBALL PLAYER?

YEAH... MOST GIRLS CAN'T DO THINGS LIKE THAT, BUT I'LL SAY THIS FOR LIL-- SHE CAN!

I HEAR VOICES DOWN THERE-- I TOLD YOU THAT CREEP BROTHER OF MINE WOULD HUMILIATE ME IN FRONT OF CHARLES!

NOW, NOW... GO ON DOWN-- EVERYTHING WILL WORK OUT!

GEE, LIL, I THOUGHT YOU WERE A HOthouse PLANT LIKE OTHER GIRLS, BUT WILLIS WAS TELLING--

NOW THAT I KNOW WE ENJOY THE SAME THINGS, LIL, I HOPE WE'LL BE SPENDING A LOT OF TIME TOGETHER!

I HOPE WE CAN, TOO, CHARLES! AND MAYBE WE CAN TAKE WILLIS WITH US SOME TIME!

SPOTTY AND ZIP

WELL, WHAT DO YOU KNOW? A LITTLE WHITE RABBIT TRYING TO HIDE IN THAT OLD STOVE PIPE!!
