By VICTOR W. WHEELER
Washington, D.C.

He was the first customer to come through the door of my new lumberyard. But the moment he crossed the threshold, he strangely twisted, scarred face and fixed, blue-eyed stare repelled me.

In his late twenties, he was slight of build and held his head low. He spoke in monosyllables throughout the transaction. I wanted his patronage but there was something about his ill-at-ease manner that aroused my suspicion: Was he honest? Was he heavily in debt?

In checking his credit rating, I found that Frank Dandridge was a cement finisher and concrete contractor. There was no doubt about his qualifications; he had served his apprenticeship under one of the city's most highly respected general contractors. Nor was his financial reliability subject to question. Married, he had one child.

And yet, underneath it all, I didn't like his looks and hated to do business with him, much as I needed the money. My attitude distressed me so much that I prayed about it.

Then I remembered what the Lord had said to Samuel, "Look not on his countenance, or outward appearance, or on the height of his stature . . . for the Lord looketh on the heart." This passage really spoke to me. I simply would have to overcome my human feelings by asking God to help me with this relationship.

The frequency of Frank's trips to the lumberyard increased. Invariably he sought me out personally to buy lumber, but I could not look him straight in the face for fear of revealing my feelings toward him.

I continued to pray for him and for a change in my own attitude. I reminded myself that there but for the grace of God go I.

Then one morning Frank Dandridge came in to make a purchase. When his order was complete and put into his red pickup truck, he turned his head with a sudden usual thoroughness, suddenly back into the office!

Neither of us spoke for a long minute, as my customer stared at me. A trace of a smile played on his lips, as at last he said, "You don't know who I am, do you?"

"Well," I haltingly replied, "I know you are Frank Dandridge, cement contractor and a good customer. Other than that, I'm afraid I don't know much about you."

There was another uncomfortable pause. "I'm Frankie. Does that mean anything to you?"

Frankie? I sifted through my memories but could find no answer. My consternation apparent, young Dandridge asked, "Do you remember a Mrs. Standish who once worked for you as a book-keeper?"

"I do, indeed. But that was years ago."

"And do you remember her son and how he accidentally shot himself in the face while hunting?"

framed me motionless "as sculptured granite. That was 18 years ago but I've never forgotten," he said.

"A prickly sensation traveled up and down my spine. That small boy, bravely returning to school, stoically enduring the taunting of his thoughtless classmates about his artificial eye and scarred face, had not only stirred my sympathy but my admiration. I often had wondered what had become of the boy."

Frank Dandridge was obviously that boy. All manner of feelings swam around inside me.

"But, Frankie, I protested, 'why didn't you tell me who you were that first day?'"

"Well, from the moment I read the advertisement in the paper announcing the opening of your new business, I decided to be your first customer."

"I wanted to say 'thank you' in this way for the help you gave me so long ago," he continued. "I started to tell you who I was—I realized you wouldn't know the name Dandridge—but I thought you'd recognize me."

I felt ashamed. All the time I had been trying so hard to find the good in this man, to overcome my feelings of aversion, to see behind his unattractiveness, it had been his very goodness that had brought him into my lumberyard.

Suddenly from deep inside me came the words I had thought of the day I first met Frank Dandridge: Look on the heart. I looked at him now and for the first time I did not see the scars. I saw his kindness, his desire to be friendly and I recognized a brighter radiance in his personality.

I put my arm on his shoulder as we walked back to his truck. "Frankie," I said, "do you remember the day when you asked me to help you build a wren house to put up in the old cherry tree . . ."

I continued to pray for him and for a change in my own attitude. I reminded myself that there but for the grace of God go I.

Cub Pack Meet Follows Mexican Activities Theme

Pack No. 14 of the second ward LDS church held a pack meeting Friday, following a Mexican theme. Den four presented "Ferdinand, the Bull" and den six presented the "Siesta."

Both dens danced a Mexican dance to the music of "La Rhapsody" and then members asked their parents to join them in dancing. Cub scouts broke the traditional Mexican pinata.

Awards were presented by Cub master David Ramsey to Barry Rich, two-year pin; Kerry Clark, bear badge and gold arrow, and Randy Olson, silver arrow.

The theme for April's pack meeting will be "Green Thumb." The closing prayer was given by Donald Clark.

Bad Luck

TUCSON, March 30 (AP)—Alfonso Romero told sheriff's officers yesterday that his car broke down on the San Xavier Indian reservation.

When he returned with parts to repair a bad clutch, he said somebody had stolen three tires off the car. They also lifted the battery and strapped the wires.

So, Romero hiked back to town and returned with a truck to tow his car away. By then, he said, the whole car had been stolen.

RAID FAILS
PARIS, March 30 (AP)—Four men armed with submachineguns and pistols yesterday attacked officials of a suburban mental hospital in an apparent attempt to release a criminal being held there. The gangsters fled in an automobile without freeing their man.

New Tempo Store To Conduct Job Interviews Here

Interviews for employment will be held from 8 to 10 a.m. Wednesday and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thursday, announces Al Williams, newly appointed general manager of the Tempo store.

The interviews will be conducted at the new building on Blue Lakes boulevard by H. M. Christensen, from the Gamble-Skogmo personnel department in Minneapolis, Minn., and A. Ripplinger, Billing, Mont., district manager.

Christensen, who is in charge of employment and training for the organization, states that nearly 100 employees will be required to open the store and a large part of this number will be hired permanently.

HERRETT'S SCIENCE AND ART CENTER IS OPEN TO APPOINTMENTS for the Spring Season
Sunday's Times-News article corrected as follows:
While we did serve 6,000 this past fall school season, no one was turned away. We served everyone by working week-ends and at times three shows a day. We were proud and elated to do so. Now we must have more room so double this number can be doubled. The planetarium only seats 50 today, 2 normal classes total 70 and so we must double seat.
The museum is only three years old and with the assistance of many public spirited people the room is crowded with articles from past civilizations of America. The displays include mathematics, medicines, narcotics, music, metals, art and farming. A guided tour on museum study practice is given to each class.
The University of Pennsylvania is the only museum willing to make loans of the many contacted by Herrett in person. Because Herrett's good fortune the past two years in Central America, and with the contributions of Idaho people it is unnecessary to use the offer of the Philadelphia museum at this time.
And in addition this science center has cost the taxpayer nothing and is being given permanently to the people of Magic Valley. My cost has been little more than the cost of raising and educating some of the successful large families in this area. The years of labor have been an adventure. Our salaries and normal store profits for the past 20 years have gone into this science program.
People of Magic Valley give part of your jewelry business to Herrett's Jewelers and know you are supporting this science program as well as receiving the best service and prices.

By ANDREW TULLY WASHINGTON, March 30 — As usual, the state department's congenial inability to look at diplomatic issues has made the United States look silly in the matter of traffic and parking violations by members of the foreign striped-pants set. State has made it plain these privileged foreigners may continue to flout the law with impunity.

In Washington, the private citizens who overparks by 30 seconds usually gets slapped with a ticket and winds up paying a fine for his crime. Until last year, the cops ignored traffic violations by diplomats, knowing there was no use wasting tickets because the diplomats paid them no mind. Three years ago, the police started handing out polite "warning" tickets to the diplomats, pleading with them to try to obey the law. There was still no response.

STILL THUMBING NOSES—Then last year the police and state department got together and agreed the diplomats should be issued real violation tickets. State promised to persuade the violators to pay their fines, and there was talk of refusing to issue auto-tags to delinquents. Well, Mrs. Balderdash, in the last 10 months the cops accumulated 6,150 unpaid parking tickets issued to diplomats. State, meanwhile, threw up its hands and said nothing could be done about it and please forget that friendly persuasion bit.

RUSSIANS FLOUT LAW MOST—Possibly there are weightier matters on the international agenda, but this one should bug the plain citizen. After all the twaddle he has been fed about the necessity for improving the American "image" abroad, he has a right to wonder about the inequities of this international one-way street. The Russians, who are our severest critics in the field of decorum, lead the list of diplomatic violators with a whopping 2,999 unpaid tickets. And the Germans, who boast ad nauseam about "discipline," are second with 247.

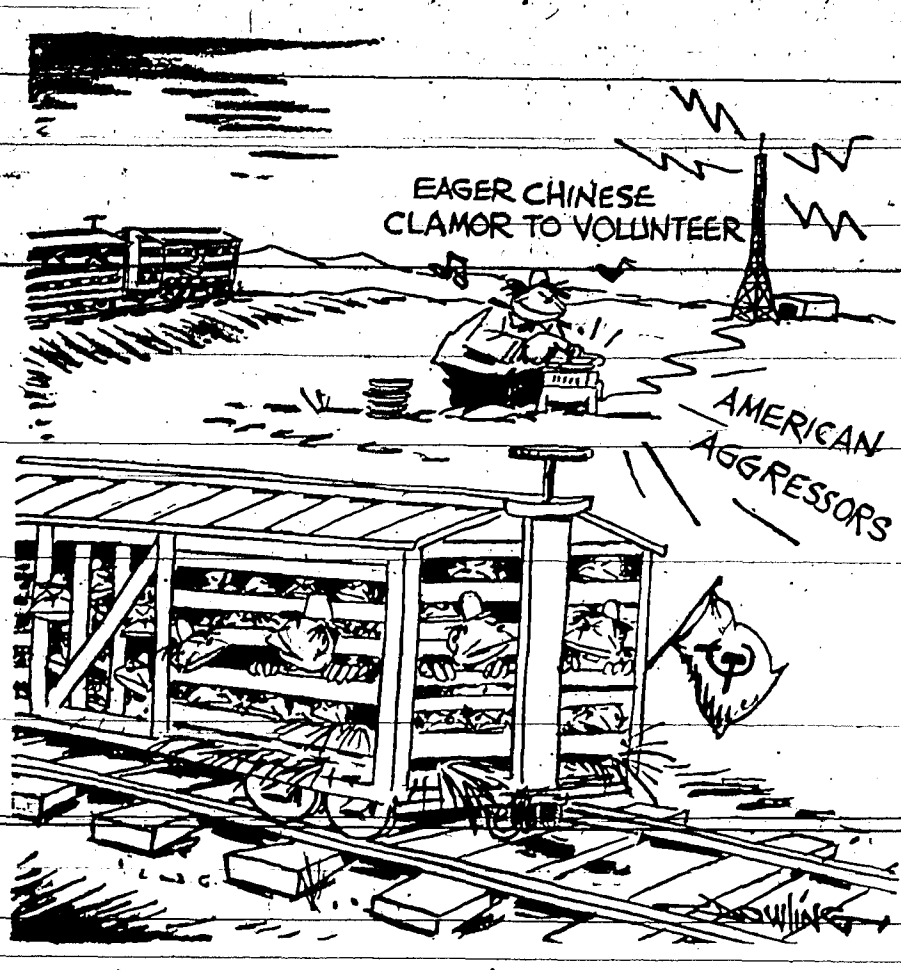

AMERICANS LECTURED—At the state department, employees scheduled for service abroad are lectured for hours on the necessity for behaving themselves in a foreign country. They are ordered to obey the laws and advised that failure to do so will result in their recall and assignment to the department of paper-cup counting.

PERSONALITY: I'm a touch weary of this obsession to please some urly barkeep in Nancy, France, or Istanbul, Turkey. By and large, Americans are a reasonably attractive lot and perhaps we should just act natural when we're abroad. But if we must wear our best face, the least we can ask is that diplomats hereabouts get up their fines for traffic tickets under pain of being hauled off to pokey—which is what would happen to them in their own land.

URGENT WATER STUDY Legislative approval of Gov. Mark Hatfield's urgent request for money to start a two-blennium study of Oregon's "ultimate" water needs recognizes the importance of this survey. The several proposals for expediting surplus water from the Pacific Northwest—primarily the Columbia river—to the Pacific Southwest may devolve into one, politically-muscled program with federal backing before the Oregon study can be completed.

KEEP THE COUNCIL State Democratic Chairman Lloyd Walker has declared the legislative council a "magnificent flop." It has not achieved its purpose the past two years. This is certain. But the reasons why are more important.

LOTS OF LUCK, STATE DEPARTMENT Tabiti, the island group dispersed over a water area about the size of Europe, has not had an American consul since 1948. With more and more Yankee tourists visiting the islands, and an increase in business by American firms, our government is hoping to reestablish a consulate at Papecte, the capital.

POT SHOTS TWAS EVER THUS Recent observations lead me to a couple of remarks that might entitle me to lay claim to the title of The Sage of Sagebrush Flats. When a person is young, he's inclined to do all sorts of things, few of which he can afford. But as the years pass, he finds he can afford more and more of the things he'd like to do but suddenly finds he's not nearly so inclined to do them anymore. Or else he'd still like to do everything but suddenly finds out he lacks the physical ability.

OSWALD JACOBY BRIDGE TRUMP DUCK IS CORRECT One of the more unusual forms of the duck play is the lead of a low trump in order to retain control of the suit until you have a chance to draw the defenders' trumps. This play is exemplified in the following hand:

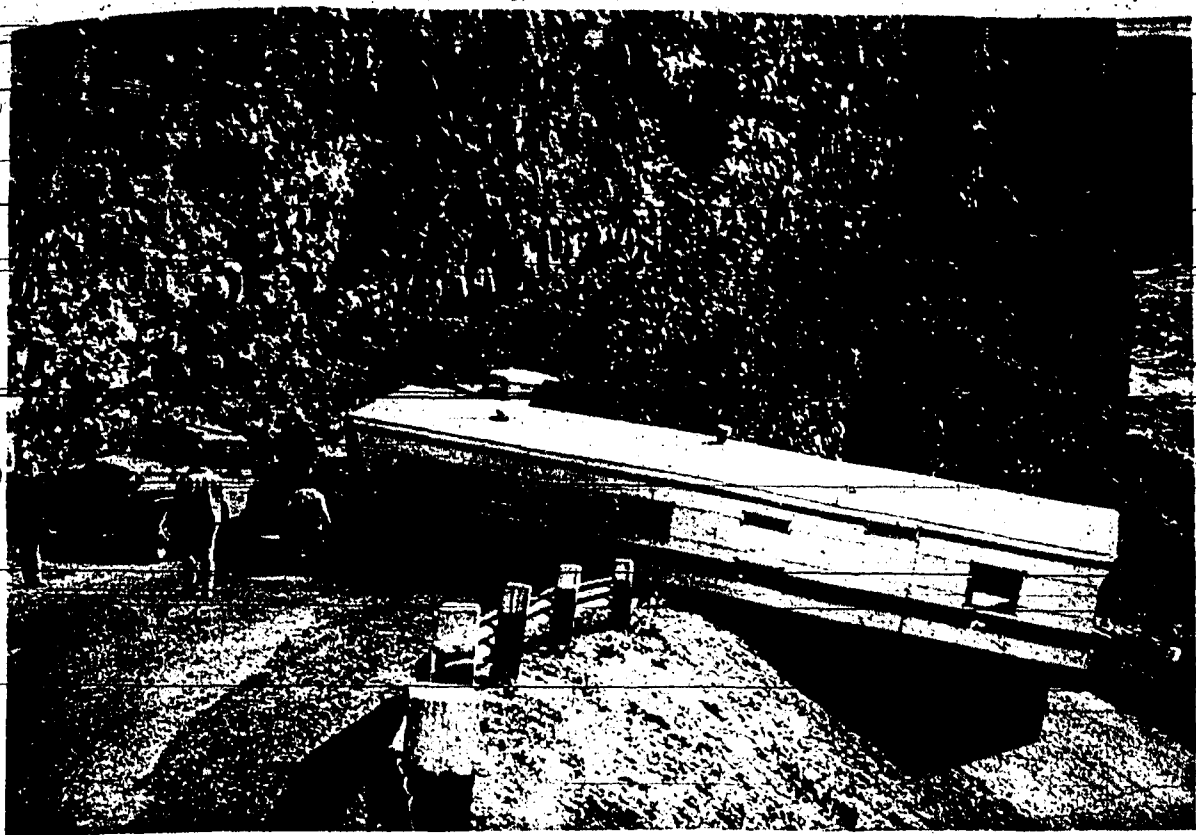

WASHINGTON, March 30—A melancholy hundredth anniversary is at hand relating to this moment almost as much as though the tragedy had occurred day before yesterday. On April 14, 1865, five days after the surrender at Appomattox, Abraham Lincoln was assassinated by John Wilkes Booth in Ford's theater in Washington. If it was ever demonstrable in Marquis Childs' history that the removal of one man could profoundly alter the course of events, it is in that instance. A few days before his death—his whole life had informed his death—Lincoln had intended to propose cabinet to congress an appropriation of 400 million dollars to help the South recover from the ravages of the war.

AMERICAN AGGRESSORS Booth was a fanatical secessionist who had put together a feeble conspiracy of miscontents and misfits to overthrow the government. Whether he was actually mad—a paranoid—by contemporary definition is debatable. He was never brought to trial, since after the assassination he was shot and killed escaping from a burning barn. But the record shows that he was deeply infected with the poison of hatred. This same fanatical hatred, springing from origins not unlike those that led Booth to his terrible deed, is a spreading poison in America today.

1965 Is Biggest Water Year

CAREY, March 30 — The year 1965 has the greatest snow pack in the high country in this area of any year on record. Morlan Nelson, state snow supervisor, Boise, said at a water forecast meeting at the Carey LDS BRANCH for all water users of the Carey area.

"It is not a matter of taking a chance on an empty dam—it is a matter of controlling the volume of water when it comes," said Nelson.

The records were started when the Little Wood river snow course was started in 1949-1950. Technicians have compared this year's records with records dating back to 1896 on some snow courses. Nelson said this is the wettest year beneath the snow pack ever recorded at Garfield Ranger station.

Keith Justesen, chairman of the Blaine soil conservation district, welcomed the audience and said he was pleased to see the Richard Langren from the renumber attending.

All of the technicians present agreed with Morlan Nelson that this is the biggest water year. They said water will be caught in the reservoir according to how much water is still above to drain down.

There are a plenty of water for irrigators, but depending on the weather there could be extra water that we don't know where to put.

Hamilton urged the owners of small private reservoirs to make sure that the spillways and all are in working order to handle a big runoff.

Crundall reminded people that the Little Wood reservoir is for flood control as well as irrigation purposes.

Simmons said that it is provided in the contract to use the dam as a flood control method and encouraged people to back the officers of the Little Wood River Irrigation District as water is let out of the dam in order to make room for the expected water.

Lowell Mechem, water master, and Lloyd Mechem, chairman of the Little Wood River Irrigation district board, spoke and Lloyd Mechem asked for the opinions of water users in the audience.

Watch the Danny Kaye Show on CBS-TV, Wednesday-evenings 8:00 to 9:00 KMYT Channel 11

Philharmonic Group Lead By Comedian

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—It was fun night at the Philharmonic last night from the moment host conductor Danny Kaye strode briskly to the podium with a handful of batons and on out the opposite side of the stage. It ended with his announcement 90 minutes later, "Go home. I don't know any more."

Kaye conducted "The Flight of the Bumblebee" using a flyswatter, kept the beat of a polka by dancing a fast cross-anhles polka, sent concertmaster John Corigliano off the stage in disgrace for playing his violin during a rest and dedicated a rare scale-arrangement of the razor blade commercial, "To Look Sharp," to men who use electric razors.

The audience greeted all of Kaye's podium antics with bursts of laughter. Orchestra members laughed nearly as often.

The evening which began with Berlioz' "Roman Carnival Overture" conducted by Seiji Ozawa, was a benefit for the Philharmonic's pension fund. The formally dressed audience included United Nations ambassadors and persons prominent in business and entertainment as well as well as conductors Oskar W. Thomas Schippers and William Steinberg of the Philadelphia symphony.

Kaye's only reference to the Philharmonic's conductor, Leonard Bernstein, came after he twice had poked at the base of the podium. "Does Lenny chew gum?" he asked.

His biggest laugh came while he was giving a double-talk explanation of the deeper significance of the 11th movement of a modern work. The piece, when played, included a melancholy cello solo, a duet of whistles and cap guns and ended in full-orchestra cacophony.

Musically, the New York Philharmonic persevered.

All pieces were short and all were conducted to a spectacular, loud finish.

Kaye directed his first pension fund benefit in 1964 in Philadelphia. He has waved the stick since in Boston, New York, Dallas, Oklahoma City and Detroit in concerts which have raised more than one million dollars for orchestral pension funds.

He claims not to be able to read a note of music.

BLACKFOOT, March 30 (AP)—A special legislative committee for the study of the effects of the new state tax laws will probably be headed by Rep. Arvill Millar, R., Bingham, Millar, chairman of the House revenue and taxation committee, said he may head the committee slated to study the impact of the state sales tax in a hearing session. The legislature approved a $20,000 appropriation for the committee expenses. In addition to a study of sales tax impact, the committee will also study the inventory tax and the state's new tax regulations on foreign corporations doing business in Idaho. In addition to tax effect studies, the special committee will oversee the state tax department program to collect the sales tax.

POCATELLO, March 30 (AP)—Investigation continues today into an accident early Sunday northwest of Pocatello which killed four persons and injured six. Four Fort Hall residents, Eleanor Quisenberry, 14, Marilyn Shay, 17, Franklin Tindore, 30, and Rupert Wayne Buckakin, 19, died as a result of the crash. All were passengers in a car driven by Allen M. Tindore, 28, also Fort Hall. Tindore was listed in fair condition today at St. Anthony hospital. His other passengers, Beatrice McKie, 16, and Irma Jean McKie, 14, both Fort Hall, were listed in fairly good condition. The occupants of a second car involved were James Davenport, 33, Fort Hall, the driver; Charles Roscoe Shelley, 51, Thermopolis, Wyo., and James Flood, 27, also Thermopolis. Davenport and Shelley were in fair condition today. Flood was listed as fairly good. State police said the Davenport car apparently went through a stop sign and struck Tindore's car at the left rear door. Police also said Davenport was apparently exceeding the speed limit. No citations have been issued.

POCATELLO, March 30 (AP)—The state supreme court, meeting here this week, will hear Thursday the case of Clyde Glah, Blackfoot, convicted of the slaying of Edward McEvoy in 1951 outside of Boise in Atomic City. This is the second time the case has come before the court. Glah was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter in 1963 and sentenced to 10 years in prison. Prior to his trial he had escaped from State Hospital South in Blackfoot and was at large 10 years before being discovered in California and returned to Idaho. In his first appeal to the state supreme court, his conviction was upheld, but the court set aside the sentence to afford Glah a hearing on an application for insanity and probation. A hearing was held, but Glah was given the 10 year sentence. Then Glah instituted the appeal to be heard this week. He contends he did not receive a fair hearing. His case will come up at 9 a.m.

BOISE, March 30 (AP)—The youth job corps program "strikes at poverty in the midst of plenty," the director of the federal Idaho office of economic opportunity said yesterday. Arvel Blaford described the "job corps" and other programs provided by the economic opportunity act of 1964 at a luncheon of the International Association of Personnel in employment security. "The war on poverty," he said, will give youths the "basic education and job training to move ahead as members of a productive labor force and become responsible citizens in our American economy."

BLACKFOOT, March 30 (AP)—The 1965 session of the Idaho legislature may not have created the "great new day" for the state but it has laid the groundwork in the opinion of Bingham county Representative Arvill Millar, Shelley, Millar, a Republican, serving his fifth term in the legislature and chairman of the powerful house revenue and taxation committee, said that the legislation of the past session has created a favorable business climate in the state. "As one industrialist said to me at the close of the session, America will now discover Idaho," Millar declared. Asked what his opinion was of the most important bills passed in the session, Millar answered that the sales tax legislation will have the greatest reaction, followed by the freeze-out bill, equalized property assessment and revised corporate taxing. The passage of equalized property assessment will give an investment capital some assurance that there will be no discrimination on the part of local assessors, he said.

BOISE, March 30 (AP)—Reasons for deterioration of Boise's downtown area must be studied to develop a plan for its rebirth, an official of the Boise planning and development committee said yesterday. Jack Montgomery, the committee's assistant coordinator, told members of the Boise Ad club that public agencies and private business will study specific problems to recommend action. He said planned downtown revitalization in other cities has encouraged private investment in needed improvements. "No one is willing to invest in improvements," said Montgomery, "unless he has assurance that adjoining property also will be improved and be compatible to make that investment worth while."

BOISE, March 30 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie was the first Idahoan to buy a $7 recreation-conservation sticker admitting the holder to national parks and other areas. Funds from the sticker sales will be used to help states to plan and develop outdoor recreation facilities and be used for selected federal recreation purposes.

Spring May Hit Midwest With Floods

CHICAGO, March 30 (AP)—A Minnesota farmer stands solemnly in the middle of his wheat field, staring silently at more than three feet of snow covering the fields as far as he can see.

For that farmer — and thousands more — spring will bring mixed feelings this year.

Weathermen say balmy temperatures that usher in spring also could trigger the worst floods in 14 years in the Midwest and Mississippi valley.

An Associated Press survey today indicated that the bitter winter conditions which linger in much of the nation have left wide areas under deep piles of snow and ice.

Superior, Wis., which had 102.5 inches of snow during the winter, now has 42 inches on the ground. On this date last year, only nine inches had accumulated.

Snow and ice measure three feet deep in parts of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Iowa.

"It talks about a foot of snow to make an inch of water," said a spokesman for the weather bureau in Chicago. "If we get heavy warnings, it's like being drenched by a three-inch rainfall."

Experts consider the situation particularly alarming in Minnesota, where many cities have reported record snow accumulations. The American Red Cross has sent disaster workers to danger points on rivers in 20 Minnesota counties.

Last week state officials set up a flood disaster center in St. Paul, complete with direct wires to six mobile support areas across the state. Red Cross workers also are stationed on rivers in seven western Wisconsin counties where flooding is expected.

Below the snow line where heavy spring rains have been falling, flooding already has started taking its toll of life and property.

Week-end floods were blamed for one death and an estimated one million dollars in property damage in Tennessee. Rivers throughout the state were cresting as high as seven feet over flood levels.

Four feet of water poured into the business district of Sevierville, Tenn., on the Little Pigeon river.

Missile Is Tested in New Mexico

WHITE SANDS, N.M., March 30 (AP)—A Sprint anti-missile missile was tested successfully yesterday at White Sands range in southern New Mexico.

Described as an army hyper-sonic anti-missile missile, the Sprint is the highest acceleration missile in the army's arsenal and is aimed primarily at intercepting and destroying ballistic missiles launched from submarines.

The firing yesterday was from above ground but the Sprint is designed for launch from a silo by a "popping out" method utilizing hot gases. The booster then ignites after the missile is in the air, the missile pitches over and

Couple Is Arraigned For Murder

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., March 30 (AP)—Robert Lee Shockey, former Twin Falls resident, and his 30-year-old wife, Diane, were arraigned yesterday on charges of murder in the death of a young nightclub singer whose body was found in a desert grave.

The 33-year-old Shockey and his wife were ordered to appear April 17 for preliminary hearing. Bail was set at $55,000 each.

Investigators said the Shockeys made statements, but did not indicate their nature. The man and wife were arrested at Salt Lake City, where they had lived for three weeks with the 4-month-old daughter of slain Joan McGee.

Mrs. Shockey told investigators "we're innocent" at the time of apprehension.

The body of Mrs. McGee, who sang under the name of Jonnie Jaye in Long Beach, was found March 13. Mrs. McGee left her daughter in the care of the Shockeys.

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE, March 30 (AP)—It isn't often that a freshman legislator becomes a legend and it's rarer still when he achieves such status while still serving his first term.

Yet such is the case of Rep. Ellis Johnson, R., Franklin, a Preston druggist who this year shared his philosophy, his humor and his unique approach to the lawmaking process with members of the 38th Idaho legislature.

Virtually unknown in a large crop of freshmen when the legislature convened last Jan. 4, he became so popular before final adjournment that some of his colleagues would have deeded him the statehouse if he wanted it.

He never lost a bill he was assigned to sponsor in debate and he managed to kill one he didn't like simply by passing the word he didn't like it, an achievement that astonished two veteran lobbyists.

"We had a big vote for this bill in the senate," said one of the lobbyists, sadly shaking his head, "and suddenly we're born dead in the house. Who is this Ellis Johnson, anyway?"

This Ellis Johnson is a man

you'd least suspect of wielding so much influence among his fellow lawmakers. He is short, stocky and bespectacled. His hairline is moving back and his belt is getting longer.

He speaks with a curious toss of his head and forward thrust of his jaw, sort of chewing his words as he spits them out. He looks you right in the eye with the direct, earnest and almost naive sincerity of a small boy, often tugging at your sleeve to emphasize a point.

His speeches are short and to the point and not without a sly trace of humor. When he carried a bill in debate nobody read newspapers or left the floor while he was talking. Instead, his colleagues would grin and wink at each other, wondering what he would say next.

Unlike some, Johnson read all the bills and made it a point to consult experts about those he didn't understand before he voted on them. When possible he always tried to help a friend with a bill or project he wanted—provided the bill or project fit within the framework of Johnson's philosophy.

"I wish I could be like Ellis," said one of Johnson's fellow Republicans over a cup of coffee in the lounge. "He's got a firm philosophy of government and sticks to it. He never has to struggle over a bill the way most of us do."

When Johnson declined to preside over the house temporarily as speaker pro-tem, an experience many freshmen looks forward to, his friends got up a petition to urge him to take the chair. When he still declined, on grounds it would be too presumptuous, Speaker Eric T. Cesarusa tricked him into presiding.

By the time the session drew to a close an informal Johnson cult had been formed, each member telling his favorite Ellis Johnson story about a bill, a meeting or an observation. Some predict there will be Ellis Johnson stories told by Idaho legislators for years to come.

But there is yet one story that many haven't heard. And, it's one that kept Ellis Johnson chuckling to himself for 81 days.

Johnson, it seems, belongs to a book club—one for people who like to collect rare and oddball books on philosophy, art, music and many other subjects. Early in the regular session he happened to have such a book with him when he arrived at the legislature and he left it sitting on his desk. It was a strange volume on philosophy, deep, mysterious and supposedly out of print.

It was not the sort of book you would associate with Ellis Johnson.

Johnson hadn't thought much about bringing the book to the legislature until he saw one of his seat mates pick it up, thumb through it and with eyebrows raised inquired: "This yours?"

"Yes," Johnson said, quickly observing the look of surprise on the other's face.

After that, Johnson brought a new and even stranger book to work with him each day, carefully placing it on his desk so his seat mates couldn't miss it. Each day they would stop at his desk, pick up the book, leaf through it and stare strangely at Johnson. And, Johnson would return the stare, never telling them what he finally told a newsmen:

"I don't read them. I just collect them."

By SAM DAWSON Business News Analyst NEW YORK, March 30 (U-P) — Approval by interstate commerce commission examiners of the proposed Pennsylvania-New York Central marriage highlights the third big merger drive in the rail industry's history. The results of the over-all drive could affect the personal and business lives of countless Americans. The current consolidation move finds more than 20 roads in formal or pre-formal stages, lease or control plans. The largest roads and some of the smallest are involved. The Penn-Central wedding, if finally approved by the ICC, would be the biggest yet.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE Q. Is it true that I can re-invest the profit from the sale of securities, without reporting the sale—if I reinvest in the same type of security? In other words, if I sell some Sinclair Oil stock at $500 more than I paid for it, could I use the entire proceeds from the sale to buy stock of another oil company and not report the profit to the Internal Revenue Service? I am told that this can be done in the sale of a house. How about stocks?

Tempo IS COMING AND NEEDS PEOPLE From the day we opened our first retail store, the policy of Gamble-Skogmo has been to sell quality merchandise at lowest possible prices, and this policy has been a factor in our growth and leadership in the retail field. We are continuing this leadership through our TEMPO LOW MARGIN RETAIL operation with another unit soon to be opened here in Twin Falls. We know you will like the many advantages that we offer — broad lines of top quality merchandise, low prices, ample free parking, one-stop shopping and many others. Of course, we will need people to help open and staff our new Tempo Stores. Our requirements are listed below. Many of these opportunities will become permanent after the Grand Opening.

Pastrano, Griffith Are Favored to Retain Their Titles in Twin Card Bout

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—Light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano and welterweight king Emile Griffith were favored to retain their titles in the unique championship doubleheader that may sell out Madison Square garden tonight and break the arena's gate record. Pastrano, the 29-year-old boxing master from Miami, was just a slight 6-5 choice over Jose Torres, 28, a confident, hard-hitting New Yorker by way of Puerto Rico. Griffith, the 27-year-old, welterweight ruler from New York, was a solid 11-5 favorite over ambitious, 24-year-old Jose Stable, the No. 1 contender from New York.

This is the first title twin bill in the Garden's long history although multiple championship cards have been held elsewhere. Harry Markson, the Garden's boxing director, said, "We have more than $200,000 in now and we should break the Garden's gate record."

"We still have some $15, $20 and $30 seats left. If the enthusiasm continues, we have a good chance to sell out for $250,000." The Garden record for a fight show is the $216,497 paid by 18,194 for the Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott heavyweight championship on Dec. 5, 1947.

Only last Feb. 1, former heavyweight king Floyd Patterson and Canadian champion George Chuvalo drew a standing room crowd of 19,100 customers and $168,423 for their thrilling battle that touched off a boxing boom.

here. The Patterson-Chuvalo scrap was scaled to a top of $20. The two title 15-rounders will be seen on closed circuit television coast to coast at 86 locations in the United States and Canada.

Griffith and Stable will open the show at 9:30 p.m. EST. If it goes the limit, the light heavyweights won't go on until about 10:45 p.m. EST.

Pastrano, making the third defense of the 175-pound division title, has been guaranteed $100,000, or 30 per cent of the receipts—whichever is the greater—plus a $10,000 bonus. Griffith, in his 11th title fight, has been guaranteed $70,000 or 25 per cent of the total. Torres and Stable will collect $10,000 each.

Griffith, a native of the Virgin Islands, has an 8-2 record in welterweight title fights, and is 43-5 over-all. He has scored 16 knockouts and been stopped once.

Stable has a 25-2-1 record, including nine knockouts. The Cuban native never has been stopped. The little fellow has won nine straight and is confident he can punch faster and move faster than the wide-shouldered, powerful Griffith. He is an aggressive-battler who bobs and weaves.

Torres has a 34-1-1 record. His only loss was a fifth round knockout by Pastrano's stablemate, wild-swinging Florentino Fernandez, a Cuban middleweight at San Juan, P.R., May 26, 1963.

College Coach Says New Pro Baseball Draft Won't Save Clubs Much Money

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30 (AP)—The new professional baseball draft rule won't save major league clubs as much money as they think, nor will it help college teams keep top players, said veteran University of California baseball coach George Wolfman.

"There's a lot of false illusion around that we won't lose as many players," Wolfman said Monday at a college baseball coaches luncheon.

California has lost such stars as Cincinnati Reds pitcher Jim Maloney and former Boston Red Sox slugger Jackie Jensen before they finished school. And Wolfman believed although these campus raids are over, major clubs will be bidding against major clubs as much money as they think, nor will it help college teams keep top players, said veteran University of California baseball coach George Wolfman.

Each major league club will draft one college player and will have exclusive rights to him for six months. If the club can't sign the player by then, his name goes back into the hopper.

Wolfman said the new rules prohibit clubs from signing any player who has not completed his sophomore year and from signing him after he begins his junior year.

Wolfman said he expects the player begins the next scholastic year, the clubs must wait until that year is over. Clubs may sign hardship cases with permission of the commissioner's office.

"We can still lose ball players," said Wolfman. "We think we'll lose a few this summer."

Wolfman said California football Coach Ray Wilsey is worried about members of his squad who play baseball. This could lead to college football players, especially those on scholarships, avoiding baseball.

Ullman, Abel, Crozier Take AP Awards

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—Norm Ullman, Roger Crozier and Sid Abel won Associated Press awards Monday in a sweep of majors would depend on colleges," said Wolfman. "But that isn't the case because they say colleges don't play enough games, especially in the eastern parts of the country."

Wolfman said he expects the league clubs that don't have rights to players drafted by other clubs will contact the undergraduates and tell them to hold out for six months and a better offer, despite rules against this practice.

Although major league clubs get only one college choice, triple-A clubs get two and A classification teams four before an unlimited draft begins.

If a college player isn't among the top 20 in the country, he still can be picked up by a major league farm club in a subsequent round.

regular season National Hockey league honors by the champion Detroit Red Wings.

Ullman, a high-scoring center, was named the player of the year. Crozier, a goalie, was chosen the outstanding rookie and Abel the coach of the year.

Ullman paced the circuit in goals with 42 and was runner-up to Stan Mikita of Chicago in the points race with 83.

The 29-year-old Red Wings star is in his 10th big league season. His previous high point total was 28 in 1958-59.

Crozier, 23, just missed winning the Vezina trophy, finishing second just two points behind Toronto's Johnny Bower and Terry Sawchuk and posted the most shutouts, six. He averaged briefly in mid-season but turned to brilliant form following a three-day Florida vacation.

Abel directed Detroit to its first pennant in eight years, persuading 39-year-old Lindsay to emerge from a four-year retirement. It was among Abel's more heralded moves. The Wings had finished no higher than fourth in the previous six years and were tabbed for the position again in pre-season polls last October.

Yankees Continue Spring Losing Skien

The New York Yankees continued their spring slide Monday, dropping their 11th game in the last 13, 2-1 to Detroit. But the Yanks got a boost from the dean of their pitching staff, Whitey Ford, Ford, who underwent surgery for a shoulder ailment over the winter, pitched seven innings, his longest workout of the spring. He allowed six hits and both Tiger runs included Don Wert's first inning homer.

Outfielder Don Lock drove in four runs with a homer. LWO doubles and a single as Washington outlasted Pittsburgh 10-8. Willie Kirkland also homered for the Senators and Jim Pagliaroni and Osale Virgil connected for the Pirates.

World Champion St. Louis got tight pitching from three bullpen men and whipped Minnesota 5-2. Ron Taylor, Barney Schutts and Bob Humphreys combined for the eight-inning win. Tony Givona's homer producing one run. Twin run and Jimmie Hall's ninth inning triple setting up the other.

Jim Wynn's homer and three sacrifice flies built up an early lead for Houston as the Astros downed the New York Mets 5-1. Houston got five hits and all their runs off Met starter Jerry Hunsley. Don Larsen was the winner.

Tommy Davis stroked three hits and drove in two runs as the Los Angeles Dodgers downed Baltimore 7-3. The Dodgers shelled Wally Bunker, a 19-game winner as a rookie last year, for seven hits and five runs in two innings.

Cleveland bunched its runs, scoring four in the seventh and three more in the ninth, for a 7-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Larry Jackson, who won 24 games last season, had the Indians shut out through the first six innings. Chuck Hinton tagged a two-run homer for the winners.

Jim Gentile poked his first homer of the spring but it didn't prevent Kansas City from losing to Cincinnati 6-3. The Red-Strated Athletic starter Bob Meyer for 11 hits and five runs with a four-run fifth inning wrapping it up.

In a seven-inning game involving mostly second stringers, a two-run homer for the winners.

CALLING ALL BOYS and GIRLS

FREE WANT ADS

During National Want Ad Week
APRIL 4 through 11

The Times-News wants to show every boy and girl from 6 to 16 years of age the tremendous pulling power of its Want Ads on some item you yourself own (not something someone has given you to sell, such as household articles, etc.) Insert your own ad of not more than 20 words FREE FOR THE ENTIRE WEEK. Here's your chance to "tell the world" you want a job to earn money... have a puppy for sale, or want one... have something to swap... want to sell your bike, or buy one... want to baby sit... sell or exchange dolls, musical instruments, birds, toys... in fact almost anything you want to do. You'll enjoy seeing your ad in print... and those of your friends. Here's hoping it works for you. There is absolutely no charge! Don't wait! Write your Want Ad and mail or bring it in to the Times-News today!

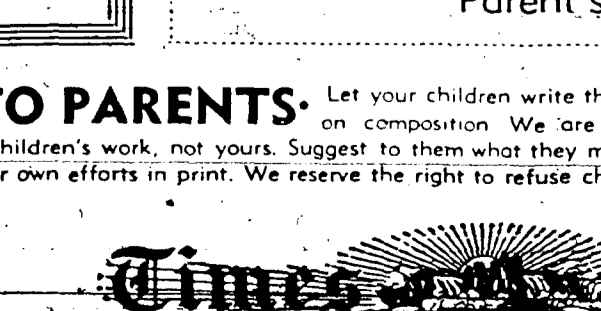

Don't Wait! Write Your Ad Now!
DEADLINE FOR ADS — APRIL 2, 5 P.M.

"FREE WANT ADS"
Name ..... Age .....
Address ..... City .....

WRITE OR PRINT ONLY ONE WORD IN EACH SPACE

Parent's Signature .....

NOTE TO PARENTS. Let your children write their own want ads with as little help as possible on composition. We are not looking for perfectly worded ads — and they will be the children's work, not yours. Suggest to them what they may advertise if you wish, but let them have the fun of seeing their own efforts in print. We reserve the right to refuse children's ads which obviously are not their own.

Frick to Serve As Commissioner Through October

RELEAIR, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Ford Frick agreed Monday to serve as commissioner of baseball through Oct. 31 and club owners set up a two-man committee to screen candidates for the job. The committee, composed of John Galbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates and John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers, will report to another meeting of the directors, set for May.

Orioles Owner To Change CBS Stock

BALTIMORE, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Baseball owners agreed Monday to permit Joseph P. Igo to change the ownership of the Baltimore Orioles, to set up a committee to screen candidates for the job.

Four other baseball executives turned to sell their CBS stock in order to conform. Baseballs conflict-of-interest were raised when CBS stock was raised on the New York stock exchange for 11.2 million dollars and later purchased by Igo.

There is a strict rule in the game that a baseball man cannot have an interest in more than one team of the principal league.

Galbreath, president of the Pirates, and Fetzer, president of the Tigers, took charge of the 16 unopened blue envelopes containing nominations from all but four of the 20 club owners.

T.F. Team Is Leader in State Bowling

CALDWELL, March 30—Three women bowlers from Idaho Falls and a team from Twin Falls moved into state bowling tournament placings over the week-end and Cecil Trooper, Gooding, had the only change in the men's section of the tourney when he took over the all-events handicap lead.

Trooper totaled 1,998 pins to take the lead from Kenny Blake, Boise.

Mrs. Melva Mitchell and Mrs. Beverly Hoves, Idaho Falls, took the doubles lead from Mrs. Francon Karns and Mrs. Byrds Thompson, Jerome, who had moved into the lead the week-end before with a 1,286.

Mrs. J. Laird, Idaho Falls, moved up to second place in singles competition with 679 while Mrs. Shirley Barrow rooled the high scratch game of 233.

The team event lead went to Herta Rent-A-Car, Twin Falls, with a 3,012 and moved Sun Ray Dairy, Nampa, to second at 2,983.

"I'll serve as commissioner until midnight, Oct. 31, regardless of what happens," Frick said. "It was thought that something definite should be done on this matter. Besides, the new man, whenever he is named, will need time to wind up his own business affairs."

Bullets Have Chance to Gain Finals

BALTIMORE, March 30 (AP)—The erratic Baltimore Bullets have a chance tonight to vault into the finals of the National Basketball Association's Western division playoffs.

All the Bullets have to do is defeat St. Louis to clinch the best-of-five semifinal series. Baltimore holds a 2-1 edge.

Bullet coach Buddy Jeannotte's biggest problem — one which plagued him all season — is to maintain his team's momentum.

Too often, the Bullets who finished an unimpressive third in the Western division, would follow a brilliant, well coordinated performance with a nightmarish comedy of errors.

Tuesday night's game should provide a clue as to whether Baltimore can fashion a consistent game.

In the current series, the Bullets won the first game, dropped the second and in game No. 3 last Saturday put together an amazing 77-point second half and left the Hawks on the short end of a 131-99 score.

Ski Race Set

BOGUS BASIN, March 30 (AP)—The Royal Cup Giant Slalom race "for more mature skiers whose joints may lack their youthful flexibility" is scheduled here at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Bob Loughrey, the ski area's manager, said an easy course will be set up in the bowl on the main hill.

An awards banquet will follow at the Royal restaurant, where the skier of the year award will be presented by the ski school as well as prizes for the day's races.

In the current series, the Bullets won the first game, dropped the second and in game No. 3 last Saturday put together an amazing 77-point second half and left the Hawks on the short end of a 131-99 score.

Doubles Altered In ABC Tourney

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 30 (AP)—Ed Smith and Jerry Schwitzke, Tampa, Fla., fired a 1,203 total to take fourth place in the regular doubles division of the American Bowling Congress tournament Monday.

Schwitzke, 24, led the pair with a 192, 235 and 236 for a 663 series. He also took sixth place in the all-events with a nine-game total of 1,807.

Dick Coughlin, Williston, N. D., took the all-events lead Sunday with 1,849. Al Eckhoff and Les Bendigo, Springfield, Ill., lead the doubles with 1,230.

Bill Opola, Steven Point, Wis., rolled the only significant score in the singles, a 10th place 630.

Buhl Team Holds Lead in Archery Loop

McManaman's Western Auto, Buhl, scored a 4-0 victory over Hopkins Electric in the Archery League and remained on top of this winter season standings.

Thomas Archery defeated third-place Idaho Springs to remain in second place five games behind McManaman's. Idaho Springs is nine games back and Hopkins Electric, in fourth, rounds out the standings, 11 games out.

McManaman's took the high handicap series and game with 1,295 and 431, respectively, while Thomas Archery had the high scratch series honors at 936.

Arlie Partin shot the high individual score for the men at 293 and Joyce Hoffman had 209 for high individual women.

Among the men who have been suggested for the post are Joe Cronin, president of the American League; Lee MacPhail, president of the Baltimore Orioles; Bill Shea, who brought the Mets into New York; former Vice President Richard Nixon; Judge Robert Cannon of Milwaukee; counsel of the Baseball Players association, and Sens. Robert Kennedy of New York, Phil Hart of Michigan and Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, all Democrats.

Petzer emphasized that past history or profession would not be a detriment to any candidate, but "both he and Galbreath insisted that the game needed a strong man."

The man who meets our qualifications won't be a man willing to stand still," said Galbreath.

Both of the committee members said a judicial temperament would be an asset to any candidate, indicating that the game may be searching for a non-baseball man.

Asked if a non baseball man might be named with a baseball man as an executive assistant, Galbreath said, "It's quite possible."

YOUR BIRTHDAY HOROSCOPE

Monday, March 30 - Born
 You are creative to such a degree that it will be strange if you do not choose a career in the arts. You are so creative that you will doubt suit you best. However, requires an early start and training which, if begun in childhood, ought to begin in early adulthood. It is possible, therefore, that you are in the boat "inspired" as a career is concerned. Don't allow your respect for tradition to keep you from at least investigating the possibilities of a "New-fangled" idea.

Wednesday, March 31
 Aries (March 21-April 20) - A day when your activities are far more likely to result from whim and fancy than from thought. Try to counteract this tendency.

Taurus (April 21-May 21)
 Though you may feel the urge to throw up your hands and quit, don't! You'll soon see the bright side!

Gemini (May 22-June 21)
 Don't allow your respect for tradition to keep you from at least investigating the possibilities of a "New-fangled" idea.

Cancer (June 22-July 23)
 It is necessary that you gain control over your emotional responses to this day's events before you take any action in regard to them.

Leo (July 24-Aug. 23)
 The one who knows all the tricks of his trade will come out on top today. Where you lack experience, avoid participation.

Virgo (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)
 Take a good look at your own shortcomings before you begin to talk about those of others.

Libra (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)
 Though professional disappointment may come your way today, personal happiness should make up for it!

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)
 A day of powerful emotions on all sides. Do your utmost to act from a source of reason and you can improve the situation greatly.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)
 The Sagittarius who takes a jolly tone with co-workers is likely to find himself minus a few friends by day's end!

Capricorn (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)
 Avoid bearing your fangs and showing your claws today! The incentive you heap upon another may boomerang!

Aquarius (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)
 An excellent day for the Aquarius who goes about his business in peace and quiet.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20)
 An inspiring day which should leave you closer to your goal than you had hoped.

2 Die as British Train Overturns

EM PARK, England, March 30 (AP) - A crowded commuter train jumped the tracks and overturned near this London suburb last night, killing at least two persons and injuring 15 others.

A railway spokesman said three coaches toppled over on their sides.

First reports said the wreck was caused when the train ran into an object on the tracks.

SEEK HIGHER WAGES
 REYKJAVIK, Iceland, March 30 (AP) - Organized labor in Iceland, represented by the General Labor conference, has decided to demand higher wages, a 44-hour work week and a minimum of four weeks vacation a year.

Russia's Collective Farms May Be Changed

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev hints that the Soviet Union may break up its collective farms into individual units in the future.

He also pledged that today's collectives will not be over-enlarged nor will they be united any time soon into so-called state farms where the farm family is stripped of property rights and its members made landless state employees. He said some had become so big they were "unmanageable."

Brezhnev's pledge reverses the policies of Stalin and Khrushchev.

With other promises, published around the world by Tass yesterday, it goes a long way to meet the depressed peasants' demand for more individual control of farm production.

He also gave farmers a chance to start his program with a clean slate by writing off all debts unsuccessful collectives may owe. But any breakup of the collectives would be the biggest revolution in the Soviet Union since the Bolsheviks seized power.

Brezhnev was the first Soviet official to admit it was even under discussion since Stalin began collectivization in 1928. It cost party central committee in Moscow Wednesday, published yesterday, Brezhnev declared problems in the countryside cannot be decided on a crash basis.

"One should bear in mind," he said, "that they involve the vital interests of millions of Soviet people and therefore constitute problems of policy that must be decided after thorough consideration, without haste, as economic conditions become ripe."

"At the same time, it would be as rash to display haste in deciding to break up the collective farms into smaller units again." This was the first indication that anyone—except the millions of farmers—had given any thought to the subject.

Most observers thought, however, that the ideological consequences and administrative difficulties meant any such move was far off.

In the meantime, Brezhnev's program seemed designed to soothe many of the discontents and counterpart government mismanagement that have kept Soviet peasants unproductive and agricultural output low. Collective and state farms exist, he said, and "preparations for the development of these two types of social economy will exist and develop for a long time to come." At the present stage, our duty is not to accelerate the transformation of the form into another, but to contribute in every way to the development and prosperity of both types of social economy.
