TANGIER, Morocco, March 31 (UPI)—A Spanish airliner flying tourists to a vacation in Morocco encountered heavy fog while making a landing approach today and crashed into the sea, killing 50 persons, one of them an American.

Two women and a man survived the crash off the North African coast. They were plucked from the water by a fishing boat and rushed to El Kour-toubi hospital in Tangier where they were treated for minor injuries and shock.

Informal sources said the American aboard was named Virginia Coleman. Her hometown was not immediately available.

The plane was carrying 30 Spaniards, 11 Swedes, three Britons, two Germans, an American, a Dutchman and a crew of five Spaniards.

Fishing vessels picked up 46 bodies and continued the search for four missing persons who were presumed dead.

The plane was a twin-engine Convair of the Iberian airlines and was flying from Malaga in southern Spain to Tangier. Moroccan authorities said it reported to the Tangier tower but then failed to answer a query. Rescue operations were launched immediately.

The Convair fell into the Atlantic three miles off the North African coast near the western entrance to the Strait of Gibraltar. British, Spanish, Moroccan and U. S. planes and ships joined the search for possible survivors although officials said there is little hope of finding any others.

Other American planes came from the U. S. navy base at Rota on the Spanish coast. The crash occurred about 8:55 a.m. (2:55 a.m. EST), about an hour after the plane left Malaga.

A U. S. navy spokesman at Rota said the weather was bad at the time of the accident and was getting worse, hampering the search for possible survivors.

Plumbers End Picketing at Rocket Site

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla., March 31 (AP)—Building trades workers returned to vital construction jobs here today after the sixth week stoppage caused by labor problems in 14 months.

Local 803 of the Plumbers and Pipefitters union, which is not involved in work here, withdrew picket lines late yesterday after they had crippled construction for two days. More than 4,200 of 1,000 union building trades workers had refused to cross the lines.

Richard H. Frank, an attorney for local 803, said "Assistant Secretary of Labor James Reynolds will hold a meeting in Washington with representatives of the plumbers union to see if this matter can't be resolved. In consideration of this fact, the union has agreed to withdraw the picket lines."

Local 803 seeks to become bargaining agent for employees of Harper Plumbing and Heating company, Winter Park, which has two subcontracts at the missile base.

Hairdressers Holding State Meet in T. F.

In the first time in 10 years, the Idaho organization of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association will hold its annual state convention in Twin Falls.

About 250 cosmetologists from throughout the state are expected to attend the meeting Saturday, Sunday and Monday in the Rogerson hotel, according to Mrs. Esther Smack, chairman of the event.

The three-day conference will feature contests that will involve state-of-the-northwest demonstration fashion shows, a queen contest, and guest artist, David Long, Dallas, Tex.

Saturday morning the hair fashion committee will meet and registration will be held all day. Registration will continue Sunday and H. L. (Herb) Derrick, city manager, will speak at the banquet at 6:45 p.m. Saturday in the Rogerson hotel.

Each of the 12 Idaho units has elected a queen to represent it in the Idaho Vacation Wonderland contest. The models will depict a fashion idea to coincide with the vacation area and 50 per cent of the judging will be on the hair style. Nancy Duffy, Twin Falls, will represent the local unit.

At trophies will be awarded Sunday night and new state officers will be installed.

THIS IS A VIEW of the country Ernest Hemingway loved so much—the Wood River valley north of Ketchum. The forest is going to honor the memory of the great American writer this summer by renaming Wood River campground, about 10 miles north of Ketchum, Hemingway campground. Hemingway Memorial Planned In Rugged Area Near Ketchum

Ernest Hemingway will be memorialized this summer amid the rugged beauty of the land he loved. Plans for construction of a monument in memory of the world-famous author were announced Tuesday afternoon by Floyd Iverson, Ogden, Intermountain regional forester, through the local office of the Sawtooth national forest. The simple monument, financed from funds contributed by private individuals, will be built in the Wood River campground, about 10 miles north of Ketchum.

The campground will be renamed the Ernest Hemingway Memorial campground and the site will be dedicated this summer at special ceremonies now being planned.

The forest service proposed the Wood River location at the suggestion of Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie, for an appropriate memorial to Ernest Hemingway.

Working closely with Mrs. Mary Hemingway, the author's widow, the forest service recommended the Wood River site since it is an area the Hemingways often explored and enjoyed together.

"The Wood River valley was a place well known to Ernest Hemingway," said Iverson, "and here, amid the beauty and bounty of the Sawtooth national forest, he will be honored in a place he knew and loved."

"It is fitting that this memorial be on one of America's national forests for Hemingway's writings are also part of our national heritage. Here, on land belonging to all Americans, we will memorialize an author who has contributed with great distinction to the literature of our society," said Iverson.

A committee of local residents, headed by Chuck Atkinson, Ketchum, is working with the forest service and Mrs. Hemingway to develop an appropriate monument to be placed in the memorial campground.

The group is also developing plans for an appropriate program to be held on Aug. 7 as the area is dedicated to Hemingway's memory.

In 1939 Hemingway wrote an eulogy for a friend at Ketchum: "He loved the hills in the spring when the snows go off and the first flowers come. He loved the hills in the spring when the warm sun of summer and the high mountain meadows, the trails through the timber and the winter when the snow comes. Best of all he loved the fall—streams flowing on the trout streams and above the hills high blue windless skies."

Legion District Four Meet Slated Sunday at Shoshone

SHOSHONE, March 31—About 100 Legionnaires and members of the American Legion auxiliary from south central Idaho are expected here Sunday for the annual spring convention of the Legion's district four, Charles Bate, post commander, announces.

The convention will begin with registration of both Legion and auxiliary members at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Memorial building. Chet Floyd, Gooding, Legion district commander, and Frances Wharton, Hagerman, auxiliary district president, will preside at separate business meetings at 2:30 p. m.

The Legion meeting will be held at the Memorial building and the auxiliary session at the First Baptist church. A social will be held from 5 to 7 p. m. at the Memorial building with a home banquet at 7 p. m. at the Manhattan cafe.

Burley School Bond Issue Is Defeated

BURLEY, March 31—A proposed $1,250,000 school bond issue was defeated by a slim 5.4 per cent margin here Tuesday with 1,524 voting to approve the issue, which would have been used to construct additional classroom facilities, and 973 voting against the issue. A two-thirds majority was needed for approval.

Ezra Moore, Cassia county school superintendent, and the school board voiced disappointment Tuesday night at defeat of the proposal, but declined further comment on the results. If the bond issue had passed, funds would have been used to build six additional rooms at Burley high school, two more rooms at Declo high school, three rooms at Raft River high school, an 18-room elementary school at Burley, nine-room elementary school at Declo, and provide remodeling, renovations and new equipment as needed in all county schools.

Results of the voting Tuesday by precinct are: Albion, 33 yes, 49 no; Almo, 12 yes, 69 no; Burley junior high school, 592 yes, 283 no; Burley high school, 606 yes, 165 no; Declo, 175 yes, 91 no; Oakley, 42 yes, 198 no; Raft River high school at Malta, 27 yes, 107 no; and Beahmflowers warehouse, Millard, all 22 yes.

Absentee balloting was 15 for one against. It was reported Tuesday night 2,500 persons voted in the school bond election, with three spoiled ballots.

The proposal defeated Tuesday would have raised the present mill levy of 9.5 mills to 13.4. In 1964 a similar election was turned down by 58 per cent, compared to the narrow 5.4 per cent Tuesday. The last bond approved in Cassia county was in 1959, approved by 72 per cent.

Voting Tuesday was reported heavier than usual in precincts within the city.

Bill on Import Quotas for Lead, Zinc Introduced

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—Rep. George Hansen, R., Idaho, today introduced a bill that would provide flexible import quotas for lead and zinc.

Hansen said the present import quota system is inadequate to adjust to "changing conditions of the United States supply and demand."

"Imports of these supplies must be regulated on an orderly basis recognizing the needs of the United States consumers and the potential of our mineral reserve with encouragement of operation, investment and expansion of the domestic lead and zinc mining and smelting industry," Hansen said.

There are about 850 Legionnaires in the 12 posts in the district. Bate said. The posts are at Carey, Fairfield, Glenns Ferry, Gooding, Hagerman, Halsey, Jerome, Ketchum, Mountain Home, Richfield, Shoshone and Wendell.

The auxiliary has about 550 members in units where there are Legion posts.

Pussycat

It was a crazy, mixed-up March in Twin Falls this year—proverbially speaking that is.

Wednesday the traditionally blustery month went out like a lamb, as it's supposed to, but March was ushered in more like a pussycat than a lion.

In fact, except for a rather half-hearted show of blustering winds during the middle of the month, and a few pitiful snow showers and some cold night time temperatures, March, 1965, was pretty much of a pussycat all the way through.

Tuesday the temperature climbed to 72 in Twin Falls—not a record, but a season high and darn welcome.

12 Bills Are Vetoed by Gov. Smylie

BOISE, March 31 (AP)—Bills that would have regulated narcotics in Idaho and revised political nominating procedure were among 12 vetoed by Gov. Robert E. Smylie yesterday.

The vetoed bills trimmed just over $100,000 from the 1966 legislature for state spending over the next two years.

Smylie cleared all remaining bills from his desk—about 87—by 6 p. m., well before the constitutional 10-day deadline that fell at 11:30 p. m. yesterday.

Major bills approved during the day created a water resources agency to prevent diversion of Idaho water out of state and established a constitutional revision commission.

The vetoed bills included measures that would have: Regulated the prescription and sale of narcotics and required listing with police agencies of narcotics users. Smylie said it lacked administrative funds.

Required political candidates to receive 28 per cent of state convention nominating votes instead of 20 per cent—which the governor said would carry nomination further from the people.

Created a capital planning commission for coordinated planning of state office building with an appropriation of $10,000.

Public Hearing Is Set Here on Rules For Sale, Retention of Public Lands

Another public sales act of 1964, permits land sales to accommodate community growth and for other purposes. Both laws are temporary, pending the report and recommendations of the public land law review commission.

Under the proposals lands would be set aside for disposition if they are required for the orderly growth and development of a community, or are chiefly valuable for residential, commercial, agricultural, industrial, or public uses or development.

U.S. Planes Make "Fire Bomb" Raid In Viet Nam War

SAIGON, March 31 (UPI)—The United States struck against communist guerrillas today with a new awesome tactic of warfare—a fire bomb-induced conflagration that roared through a communist-infested forest. At the same time U.S. and South Vietnamese planes mounted a massive 100-plane attack against the north. In the suddenly stepped-up tempo of the war the communist Viet Cong shot down three U.S. helicopters near Da Nang, killing two American marine officers and wounding 16 army men and marines.

Reactions Listed on Embassy Bombing

By United Press International
Communist China today described the bombing of the U.S. embassy in Saigon as "a stern warning" against the continuation of American policies in Viet Nam. Peking stood alone among communist states in making any heavy propaganda hay of the terrorist attack. North Viet Nam reported the bombing more or less factually and said it was bracing for a possible American counterblow, perhaps against the capital at Hanoi. The Soviets limited their immediate reaction to an article in the newspaper of Russia's young communist league which said, "Americans should blame themselves" for the embassy bombing.

The Moscow newspaper said the United States "has violated all norms of international law throughout the long years of the dirty war in Viet Nam."

Communist China's comment was vitriolic. "It is a fresh and stern warning to the Johnson administration," the Peking regime said of the bombing in its official newspapers. "If the U.S. aggressors hang on in South Viet Nam they will end in utter destruction."

The statement said the embassy bombing was "heartening news to revolutionary people throughout the world."

"To declare that the attack was 'added proof that the South Vietnamese people, whether in the liberated or enemy-occupied areas in town or in the country, are fighters determined to struggle to the end until the last U.S. soldier is driven out of South Viet Nam.'"

In Japan, the Tokyo Shimbun, a mass circulation newspaper, said the bombing "may further worsen the situation in Viet Nam."

"What we most fear is a direct confrontation between the United States and Communist China," the Shimbun said.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson, speaking in the House of commons, expressed concern over the possible escalation of the Viet Nam war.

London's Daily Express said the bombing "shocks civilized people everywhere." It said the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam are "terrorists of the same stamp as Kenya's Mau Mau, the gunmen of Cyprus and the Malayan guerrillas."

Damage by Quake Set at 58 Million

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 31 (AP)—Officials here said today the earthquake which killed 252 persons in central Chile Sunday caused damage estimated at 58 million dollars and left 27,000 persons homeless.

The government housing corporation said at least 4,500 dwellings will have to be built to house the quake refugees.

President Eduardo Frei, after a tour of the disaster area, said Chile will rely mainly on its own efforts to repair quake damage.

"We will rebuild with our own efforts," Frei said. "We will not await foreign aid, but if it comes it will be well received."

"We have to find the means of reconstruction in our own midst. Chile can't go abroad every four years and say, 'Our nation has been razed.'"

Another public sales act of 1964, permits land sales to accommodate community growth and for other purposes. Both laws are temporary, pending the report and recommendations of the public land law review commission.

Under the proposals lands would be set aside for disposition if they are required for the orderly growth and development of a community, or are chiefly valuable for residential, commercial, agricultural, industrial, or public uses or development.

Johnson Says Bombing Was 'Wanton Act'

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—President Johnson declared yesterday that the terrorist bombing of the U.S. embassy in Saigon—"a wanton act of ruthlessness"—only reinforced American determination to continue and strengthen assistance to South Viet Nam.

He also announced that he would immediately ask congress for funds to build a new embassy office building to replace the bomb-shattered structure in Saigon.

"This will be one more symbol of our solidarity with the people of Viet Nam," the President said. "It is they who are the real targets of the communist aggressor."

His statement, issued after a day of consultations with his top advisers, came as administration officials cautioned against speculation that the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi might be raided in retaliation for the bombing.

There appeared an inclination at the highest levels of government to avoid any extreme reaction to the bloody and tragic event, so symbolic of the long and dirty Vietnamese war.

Rally Slated In Twin Falls For College

A rally for Magic Valley Christian college, Albion, will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday at the Twin Falls Church of Christ, Sunset and Plier avenues.

Purpose of the rally will be to raise $500 to cover the cost of recent extensive advertising and future promotion. President Donald R. Neilson said he not only expects to raise $500, but before the evening is over, will have more.

Speakers at the rally will include Hershel Johnson, key man coordinator; David Highers, student at the college; William Freed, Boise, key man associate; Boyd Lowe, Twin Falls, member of the board of directors, and Dr. Neilson.

The girls' ensemble of Magic Valley Christian college will sing during the evening.

No New Leads

Twin Falls police were still investigating Wednesday a report of a man, possibly associated with a 14-year-old Twin Falls girl Sunday morning. No new leads were reported.

The girl was babysitting for a friend when a man pulled the master light switch, entered the home and assaulted her.

Until recently the water surface elevation in American Falls reservoir held constant at 5,348.5 which is eight feet below full level.

The reservoir is kept at the lower level during the wintertime when there is a threat of ice formation which would apply undue pressures to the thinner, uppermost portions of the dam, Crandall said.

With the threat of heavy ice build-up past, the flow of the river at American Falls has been curtailed from about 15,000 to 5,000 cubic feet per second which means that approximately 20,000 acre feet per day is being stored in the reservoir.

The reservoir now contains about 1,444,000 acre feet, which is 85 per cent of its full capacity of 1,700,000 acre feet.

The Twin Falls canal company and North Side Canal company have begun diverting water from Milner dam and their combined flow is now about 1,000 cubic feet per second. The filling of Lake Walcott by customers at this time of the year, Crandall said.

Snake's Flow Curtailed to Test Springs

The surface water branch of the geological survey, in cooperation with the bureau of reclamation and the Idaho state reclamation engineer, is performing measurements of the outflow from the springs in Hagerman valley.

In order to get an accurate measurement it is necessary to reduce the flow of the Snake river to a minimum. At present the flow past Milner dam has been reduced to about 1,000 cubic feet per second, according to D. L. Crandall, project superintendent.

It is expected that by April 2, the flow over Milner dam will increase as part of a deliberate program to release water from the Pallasades reservoir to create space in anticipation of the peak runoff later this spring.

Releasing water from Pallasades reservoir is essential to flood control operations, Crandall pointed out.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON, March 31—They graduated a clutch of Latin-American missionaries for the capitalist system here the other day—another recognition of the truism that the best way to sell free enterprise abroad is to tell the folks what it's all about.

These more-or-less fresh-faced graduates were, hopefully, the labor union leaders of tomorrow south of Key West. They had their diplomas in a tough, realistic school run by something called the American Institute for Free Labor Development which is financially supported by U.S. business and labor, with an assist from the federal government.

BUSINESS PARTICIPATES—The institute faces the fact that Latin-American labor leaders too often turn communist because they don't understand the benefits accruing to the workingman from democratic capitalism. Every year, a select group of young workers from Latin-American countries attend the institute's school here to learn how American labor hauled itself up to equal footing with American business. It is no dilettante, tea-sipping operation. George Meany, president of APT-CIO, heads the institute; and the school is directed by Joe Bierne, boss of the Communications Workers union.

But perhaps the most significant thing about the program is the participation of big business, which thereby recognizes its stake in making capitalism look good abroad. This stake was emphasized at the graduation exercises by Sam Pryor, vice president of Pan American World Airways, who made a speech American corporations should stick in their training manuals.

WANTS CUSTOMERS—Pryor, who has been bustling around the world making a buck for Pan-Am for 25 years, acknowledged that a free labor union movement in Latin America was to the advantage of American business. He noted that as a market for U.S. goods, services and investments, Latin America needs workmen with money in their pockets. And he reminded the graduates that the surest path to this goal is a marketplace in which private enterprise earns top profits in which labor is entitled to share.

Actually, as Pryor put it, there is no alternative from labor's point of view. The boss can't pay wages money he doesn't have. And in Latin America, especially, there is a limit to the benevolence of any socialist government because that benevolence depends on collecting taxes from a people who can't pay them.

ATTRACTS LATIN TEMPERAMENT—Moreover, Pryor took cognizance of that fact of the democratic way of life that is most attractive to the Latin—its acceptance of the right of dissent. Democratic capitalism is not perfect, but it encourages disagreements; the monolithic state dare not tolerate it. Under it, the worker can raise hell if he feels he's not getting his share.

In recent years Washington has leaned too heavily on a different kind of missionary work. It has sent government bureaucrats to spread the American gospel abroad, instead of labor and business types who make the system work. The Latin-American workman is much more impressed by the counsel of an American workman and an American tycoon who have learned to live together.

INVITING TAX CHAOS
If Portland taxpayers angered by reassessments to reflect "true cash value" of real property do initiate a measure for a statewide vote next year to limit real property taxation to one per cent of value, these results may be anticipated:

The voters will approve the limitation.

Cities, counties, school districts and other local government units relying heavily on property taxes will face fiscal chaos.

The legislature will be called into special session to propose to the people new or added taxes in other fields—a sales tax, doubled income tax, or something different.

The people likely will defeat any such proposal at the polls.

It is apparent that the sponsors of a one per cent limitation on real property taxation are not being realistic. The state of Washington has had a 40-mil limitation for many years. It does not have an income tax. But it has high business taxes. And it has one of the highest sales taxes in the nation, applying to food as well as virtually everything else, to make up the difference.

The interim between a vote limiting the real property tax which supports the schools and local governments and the adoption of higher income or other taxes which could be rebated to local schools and government would be disastrous.

Despite the property tax revolt, the people in Oregon have a consistent record of support for public education and necessary public services. Obviously, the tax burden for local and state purposes would be spread more equitably by adoption of a sales tax to relieve both the real property tax and the state's high middle-income tax.

But such a program should go to the voters in a single package. A petition to limit the property tax to one per cent is taxation blackmail.—The Oregonian.

IS ONE SUDDENLY AN ADULT?

Some University of Oregon students are campaigning for legislation that would lower the voting age requirement to 18. They are using all of the familiar arguments, some of which sound good.

We have read discussions of the subject in the student daily newspaper we have been relating another situation to this question.

Officials of the University of Oregon and members of the state board of higher education handled countless protests last year from parents of University of Oregon students who objected to a new student conduct code which a committee of faculty and students had prepared for the university.

Running through the many protests was a line that went something like this: "My son graduated last June from high school. Now he is a freshman at the university. What makes you think that my son became an adult with mature ability to make decisions when he enrolled at the university? He didn't have that maturity when he graduated from high school and he can't get it during the summer months. What is supposed to have happened when he registered as a freshman at the university that made him an adult who doesn't need any of the supervision he had at home?"

Would any of the students who are campaigning for lowering of the voting age like to comment on the parental viewpoint? —Pendleton, Last Oregonian.

BEGINNING OF A DECLINE?

When Malcolm X broke away from the Black Muslims in 1963 it was more a personal than a doctrinal vote.

He talked of a separate state for Negroes, greater militancy, a new political party, and the eventual destruction of the whites, but, like Mr. Coldwater, he represented a mood, not a policy. The Black Muslims, who at least did useful social work among their people.

By rejecting integration and accepting violence, the black extremists play into the hands of their opponents. They will remain a source of trouble, but, although it is risky to say so, the assassination of Malcolm X may mark the beginning of their decline.—London Times.

Dear Sir:

Here we are with virtually another growing season upon us and it's time to start the everlasting battle against a variety of pests that attack plants above and below the ground.

How come we never used to hear so much about all the plant and animal pests that keep us busy spraying these days? I don't ever remember hearing about such things as earwigs and crabgrass back about 30 years ago. And it seems we had just as nice yards and gardens then as we have now.

Anytime, if you're not spraying or sprinkling some sort of chemical around the yard ever few days, well, you're on the losing side. Darned if I know where all these plant and animal pests come from!

In the old days, it used to be poppers, but we're not bothered by them any more.

MIND OVER MATTER

Late evening snacks in the form of milkshakes have become quite common around the Pot Shots household. Certain developments have sort of prevented Pot Shots from consuming as much as one sitting as normal, so the late evening milkshake is used as a substitute.

Well, as happens in those cases, some other members of the family thought it would be a good idea so now the evening milkshake has developed into a family event.

The other evening, Pot Shots was stirring up a milkshake late in the evening and decided it offered a chance for a little more nourishment. So we up and plopped two raw eggs into the milk and ice cream.

Everyone allowed as how the finished product was unusually good so Pot Shots just had to spill the beans. From the general nature of comments following disclosure of two raw eggs in the mixture, it would seem that hereafter the demand for evening milkshakes is likely to decline somewhat.

ALL IN FUN

Dear Pot Shots:

If I may criticize the so-called humorous (or was it vitriolic?) poem concerning your poor old back, Pops, may I suggest that it should have been signed "Sore-head No. 1"?

Washington News

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International

The Johnson administration's hurry-up voting rights bill stops a shortcut through the U.S. Constitution which might condemn the legislation as unconstitutional if it were being considered apart from the constitutional issue at hand. Outraged southerners angrily proclaim the bill to be in violation of the Constitution. They cite constitutional provisions that the Lyric C. Wilson states shall establish the standards by which citizens may qualify to vote. Civil rights leaders, President Johnson and the Democratic and Republican leaders of congresses blandly ignore these complaints.

The hurlyburly Johnson bill depends for its constitutional validity on the term but limiting language of the 15th amendment.

"Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude."

"Section 2. The congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

The southern argument that the bill is not constitutional is based on the premise that a bill enabling the federal government to establish qualifications for voting would not be "appropriate legislation" as required by section 2 of the 15th amendment. It is not appropriate, the southerners say, because the Constitution confides in the states authority to fix all rules of eligibility aside from the areas of race, color and previous servitude. Federal government must stay out of the eligibility business in areas other than those specified by the 15th amendment and find some other means of preventing any denial or abridgment of the right to vote.

That is the argument against the constitutionality of the voter rights bill. It may not be utterly and instantly convincing. But it consists of much more than mere hot air. At the least, the Johnson bill cuts a corner in its path toward fulfilling for American Negroes the promise of the 15th amendment and of 1964 presidential campaign orators.

If the problem to be dealt were less political, less emotional, less violent, less provocative, civil disorder, the politicians might be willing to move more deliberately and to choose some less questionable means of meeting the demands of militant Negroes.

There is an indisputable constitutional method of authorizing the federal government to define voter eligibility. That would be by constitutional amendment accepting it to be a federal function. Whether the states would ratify such a clearly stated surrender of each state's prerogative is at least to be doubted. Negroes surely would refuse to accept the delay involved in amending the Constitution. Politicians would not dare to impose that delay upon them.

In their frantic opposition to the Johnson bill, southerners do not have much going for them. They are political orphans, out-cast by congress and by the nation as a whole. Election no longer needs the South to be elected president. FDR deprived the South of its power position in the Democratic party in 1936 when he abolished the rule whereby a two-thirds national convention majority was required to nominate for president and vice president. The rule had given the South a veto power.

The South has been on the political totem pole since 1936 while Negro political muscle has been swelling. The northern politicians who linkers with the hurry-up vote bill would do so at his own peril. If the politicians do not understand that, Negro leaders will make it clear to them.

The congressional and other politicians who need Negro voters to remain in office will prefer to take a chance on the constitutionality of the Johnson bill than to take a chance of offending the politically powerful Negroes.

Poor Man's Plato

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Ray Stark may become the first man in history to become a millionaire by investing in the memoirs of his mother-in-law.

"I can't think of anyone else who made money that way," said Stark, grateful son-in-law of the late comedienne, Fanny Brice.

A year ago he launched "Funny Girl," the musical based on Miss Brice's career. Starring Barbara Streisand, it cost more than $650,000—the largest amount up to that time ever spent on a Broadway show.

In the 12 months since then it has turned the profit corner and grossed in the neighborhood of five million dollars, not including the sale of recordings.

Two road companies and a London production are planned and, of course, a film.

As executive vice president of Seven Arts Productions, the 49-year-old, sandy-haired producer will supervise the shooting of 16 films here and abroad this year.

Ray entered Rutgers' university at the age of 14, and three times was thrown out for inattention to his studies.

After toiling briefly as a copy boy and cub reporter here, he dove to Hollywood, sharing his woman to save expenses. There, he worked successfully as comedy florist, vacuum cleaner salesman, studio hand and magazine editor.

Then he became a highly successful Hollywood agent.

"But the actors were getting 90 per cent," Stark recalled. "So I decided to make a stab at the 90 per cent."

The idea of building a story around his mother-in-law, Miss Brice, the famed "Baby Snooks" came to him more than 10 years ago. He is married to the comedienne's daughter, Frances. They have two children.

"I adored Fanny," he said. "She was such a strong dame. We all still miss her terribly."

The romance and marriage of the strong-willed Miss Brice and her equally strong-willed husband gambler, Nicky Arnstein, which became a tabloid saga, is the basis of "Funny Girl."

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
MERCURY, Nev., March 31—Nuclear test specialists here can tell you much regarding Red China's atom bomb. It's an amazing paradox in that the impoverished country is teeming with despair.

China is only about one-third the size of Russia but it has about three times the population. You'd hardly expect a scarcity of labor. Yet Mao Tse-tung's farm eyes—Henry J. Taylor is so inefficient in this primarily agricultural country—that there is, in fact, a farm labor shortage.

On the industrial side, a recent United Nations economic survey glows with percentage increases: steel production up 30 per cent over last year, petroleum production 20 per cent, cotton output 40 per cent, etc. The impression left is misleading. The percentage increases are from an abysmally low base.

Red China's industrial system remains primitive. Her transportation still wanders with the rivers. It takes 48 hours to go from Peking to Canton on the fastest train.

Foreign Minister Chen Yi his face pale and his eyes excited, summarized the paradox in 1962. "The Chinese people may not have enough trousers," he stated, "but we will surely have the nuclear bomb."

Specialists at this vast Nevada test site (it covers 1,350 square miles) reveal the second paradox—the part played by American know-how. This confirms the findings of the eminent research economist, Dr. Chu-yuhui Cheng, at the University of Michigan's Center for Chinese Studies.

They say Red China's No. 1 man in rocket work was a U.S. navy consultant. His name is Dr. Chien Hsueh-shan. He holds an MS from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and was a professor there 1947-49. He also holds a doctorate in aeronautical engineering from California Institute of Technology. He returned to China in 1955 and Mao Tse-tung began Peking's rocket program with him.

Our test-site specialists put the finger on Dr. Chien Hsueh-shan as the father of Red China's nuclear bomb. He is Dr. Hsueh-shan's co-worker, Dr. San-chiang, an arrogant braggart.

explosions do not measure the earth-shaking result. They detect the strain on strata—the pounding on the walls—and work back from that. If you knock on a door you get vibrations. Punch a pillow and you don't.

Several of our states each contain enough salt to supply the entire world for 50 years. We ran 17 secret tests in salt caverns near Winnfield, La., as long ago as December, 1959. The term KILTON means the equivalent of 1,000 tons—tons of TNT. In our country beyond Louisiana, salt domes exist in Michigan, New York, Kansas and Texas. Salt can make a 300-kiloton nuclear explosion look on a seismograph like a 10 kiloton shot and a 50-kiloton shot look like less than two kilotons.

There are at least 100 Soviet salt domes between the south end of the Urals and the north shore of the Caspian Sea. In addition, the Siberian salt mines—salt domes—are legendary. Nevada test site specialists know the Russian scientists as a mighty, mighty busy in the salt depths.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Another feature of this disease that makes it hard to control is that in the early stages it is difficult to diagnose. The victim may complain of severe nausea, headache and listlessness. He may also have chills and fever. But these symptoms are common to flu and other infectious diseases. Only as the disease progresses does the liver become enlarged and the skin and the whites of the eyes turn yellow.

The alert physician makes tests which show an impairment of liver function in hepatitis victims. Even then he must rule out other causes of depressed liver function. These tests may even point to hepatitis in a child whose case does not at any time develop jaundice.

Although convalescence is slow most adults recover completely in about three months and children frequently in one month. Because the disease goes hard on adults, those who have been exposed should get an injection of gamma globulin. This will confer immunity for about three months but is of no value in treating the disease if you already have it.

If the disease occurs in a family in which the mother is pregnant she should be given gamma globulin every four weeks to safeguard herself and the baby.

DEFENSE HAS TOUGH PAR

North and South had an easy bidding war with hand five of the intercollegiate tournament. All they had to do to get their par was to reach a four spade contract.

East and West had a really tough par. They had to find a way to defeat it. Normal defenses would be for West to open the king of diamonds and East to West continued with the ace. The next play was worth 100 points. It was up to West to lead a third diamond. Then West would get one more point for grabbing the first spade lead with his ace and another point for leading a fourth diamond.

If West made that series of plays East would ruff that fourth diamond. South would overruff. But this would cost him one club discard and eventually East would set the contract with his queen of clubs.

The whole series of plays is apparent when you look at all four hands but tough when you are West looking only at your own cards and dummy's.

Still, the plays are all logical. West can see that the only possibility of a setting trick will be if his partner holds the queen of clubs or king of spades. If he holds the king of spades it will hold the king of spades if he keeps. If he holds the queen of clubs it is up to West to kill one club discard. The only way to kill a club discard is by the excellent combination of play which will give East and West their par.

Hailey Plans Medical Self Help Classes

HAILEY, March 31—Mrs. Evelyn Twombly, R.N., public health nurse, gave the first of 12 lessons in a medical self help training course Monday afternoon at the Blaine soil conservation office.

Mrs. Twombly said 10 persons attended and anyone interested is invited to attend next week's lesson at the same time and place. She discussed with members of the class procedure information as set forth by eminent physicians and surgeons.

The course covers artificial respiration, bleeding and bandaging, transportation of injured, burns, shock, infant and child care, emergency childbirth, radioactive fallout and shelter, healthful living in emergencies, and nursing care of the sick and injured. At the conclusion examination questions will be asked.

The course is being made possible through the cooperation of the civil defense committee of High Ray Jefferson, Ketchum, Blaine county chairman; the Blaine central district health department, and the SCS.

Jefferson and Mrs. Twombly stress that the medical self help training course is not meant in any way to take the place of services by members of the medical profession, but solely for use in case of national disaster.

Hailey Scout Troop Elects Patrol Heads

HAILEY, March 31—Officers for the three patrols of Boy Scout troop No. 6 were elected at a meeting Monday night in the Community Baptist church annex.

Leaders of the Rattlesnake troop is Lawrence Barber and his assistant is Greg Garrate. Lynn Dowdy is leader of the Eagle patrol and Robert Nicholson is his assistant. Allen Brooks is leader and Richard Knight is assistant leader of the Panther patrol.

Junior Assistant Scoutmasters are Richard Boyles for the Rattlesnake patrol; John Woodbury for the Panther patrol and Stanley Baird for the Eagle patrol.

Eagle Scouts assisting new Scoutmaster Grant Patterson are Thomas Pica, Jr., Harmon Adams, Fred Gray, Gene Ramsey, Gary Stevens and Bruce Rathke.

Patterson said new troop officers will be elected at next Monday's meeting by the 36 boys in the three patrols.

David Lee, recreational officer for the Sawtooth Valley district of the Boy Scouts national forest, has volunteered to give boys of the troop an opportunity to earn their nature merit badges by showing colored films of wildlife and wildflowers, giving talks and taking them on field trips. He will show his first film next Monday evening.

Patterson said the troops' annual dinner will be held at 7 p.m. April 24 at St. Charles recreational hall.

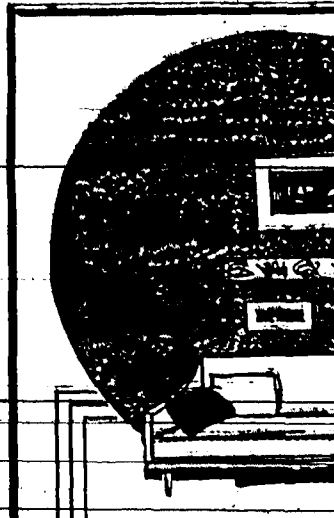

Nevada Senate Okays Civil Rights Bill

CARSON CITY, March 31 (AP)—The Nevada senate has passed the state's civil rights bill, compelling legislative action on the measure.

The bill passed yesterday by a vote of 12-4. It now goes to Gov. Grant Sawyer for his signature.

The senate's approval came after its judiciary and finance committees recommended passage.

The measure was believed by some to be stronger than the federal civil rights act. It will be Nevada's first civil rights law if signed.

News Around Idaho

BOISE, March 31 (AP)—Plans for a $3 million-dollar construction program including a new student union, dormitory and liberal arts building at Boise Junior College has been announced by trustees. A one million-dollar bond election to finance part of the construction is scheduled April 27. The rest will come from federal funds and revenue bonds.

Trustees said the bond issue would increase the tax levy in the college district by one mill. Construction costs were expected to be: Student union, $750,000; dormitory, $1,100,000; liberal arts building, $450,000; science building, $400,000; and technical education building, $1,000,000. McClary said the dormitory and student union would be constructed by the college housing commission which plans to issue $1,750,000 in revenue bonds to finance the work. Federal funds would finance half the cost of the technical building expansion and would contribute $477,000 toward construction of the liberal arts building. McClary said the need for the new buildings was established before the 1963 legislature authorized the college to add four-year courses.

MOUNTAIN HOME, March 31 (AP)—

The air force has revised regulations on military presentation of prisoners of war. The new regulations state that air force personnel cannot be tried in a military court on the same charges in which they have already been tried in a federal court, a base identification officer said.

Attorney Robert McLaughlin said the ruling was a result of the case in which Airman Gerald M. Anderson was charged with murder by the air force after being cleared by a civilian court. Anderson was later cleared by military authorities and honorably discharged from the air force.

BOISE, March 31 (AP)—The Idaho public utilities commission reported today approval of the transfer of a school bus permit from Jack M. Popplewell, Samuels, to K. K. Crandall, Sandpoint. The permit authorizes transportation of school children and teachers for Idaho district 83 at Sandpoint. The commission also announced it has suspended, at the holder's request, the common carrier permit of Guy Bright, Nampa.

COPUR D'ALENE, March 31 (AP)—

Trustees of the Kootenai county hospital district are considering apparent low bids for mechanical and electrical work to be done on the 22-bed Memorial hospital to be built here. Bids for mechanical and electrical work at Products, Hays, and other sites were also received. There were seven other bidders in this category. The lowest bid was for the electrical work with a bid of $174,897. There were four competing bids. No contracts have yet been awarded. The trustees will open bids on general construction of the hospital building Thursday at 2 p.m.

BOISE, March 31 (AP)—Written briefs in a dispute over a lease for phosphate mining in southeastern Idaho have been asked by the state land board. The board heard testimony from the Monarch Chemical company and Francis J. Allen, yesterday. Francis M. Gibbons, representing the chemical company, presented copies of letters dealing with the renewal of the land in 1958. Allen contended there was no public record of documents to support Monarch's claim and that his application for a lease covering the area should be approved. The mineral leases cover about 1,000 acres in Caribou county.

BOISE, March 31 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Burke were named Idaho promoters of the week yesterday for their "twelve-lane" Highway Filmstrip. Louise Shaddock, head of Idaho's department of commerce and development, said the Burkes show films and otherwise promote Idaho to travelers who spend their winters in the south to Idaho during the summer. Burke is publisher of the Salmon Recorder Herald and the couple promote Idaho from headquarters at Mesa, Ariz., where they spend their winters. Miss Shaddock said.

BOISE, March 31 (AP)—U.S. savings bond sales in Idaho amounted to $887,037 during February, state Chairman Charles C. Adams reported yesterday. That increases the total for the first two months of 1964 to $1,531,608 compared with the year's quota of 7.5 million dollars.

MELBA, March 31 (AP)—A Melba youth, fatally injured when a car in which he was riding reportedly swerved to miss a cow and rolled over an embankment, is Idaho's 55th traffic victim of 1965. Bryan Crain, 18, died at Samaritan Community hospital shortly after the accident Tuesday, sheriff's officials said. The driver, Lynn Thomas, 17, and Loy Thomas, 15, were listed in good condition. Hospital attendants said the boys' car veered out of control to miss the cow or roll and rolled over a bank about four miles south of Melba on county line road. Last year at this time, traffic accidents had claimed 45 lives in Idaho.

Nevada Senate Okays Civil Rights Bill

Sawyer signs it.

Sawyer said he was pleased with the bill's passage and will sign it.

Sawyer signed into law the controversial bill to allow parole of Nevada state prison inmates after serving one-third of their minimum sentences.

The passage of the civil rights bill raised hopes the legislature could end its overline session this week—possibly by Thursday. Several financial bills remained to be acted on.

ANNIVERSARY SET FOR UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO

MOSCOW, March 31—Delta Omicron chapter, Sigma Nu fraternity will celebrate its 50th anniversary with a three-day gathering here April 23, 24 and 25. It is expected that about 200 alumni will come to renew acquaintances and to visit the campus again.

Living Costs Held Steady In February

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—Living costs held steady in February, the first time in six months there had not been an increase, the labor department reported today. Meantime, some 13 million factory workers took home record high pay checks.

Higher prices for women's clothing, poultry, potatoes and consumer services were balanced out by decreases in prices for automobiles, gasoline, telephone service and eggs, leaving the consumer price index at 108.9.

The index, based on 1957-59 prices, showed a cost $10.82 in February to buy typical items worth $10 in the base period.

Take-home pay after taxes averaged $98.60 a week for workers with three dependents and $69 for single workers, both 20 cents a week higher than in January. The increase was due to a longer work week the bureau of labor statistics said.

The agency said a drop in auto and gasoline prices was chiefly responsible for a decline of five-tenths of one per cent in transportation costs.

However, costs of automobile insurance, auto repairs and transit fares were up.

Higher insurance premiums and property taxes were largely responsible for an increase of one-tenth of one per cent in housing costs.

Food prices were unchanged on the average, with poultry, potatoes and onion higher and eggs and beef prices lower. Citrus fruit was lower because of peak supplies.

Assistant Commissioner Arnold of the BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS said prices in general are up 1.3 per cent from a year ago, following a four-year pattern with no evidence of a substantial change in the upward trend.

Medical care, one of the steadily advancing items in the index, rose three-tenths of one per cent in February.

Negro Youth Indicted for N.Y. Stabbing

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—A Brooklyn grand jury has indicted Christopher Lynch for first-degree murder in the March 12 subway stabbing of 17-year-old Andrew Mormile.

Lynch, a 17-year-old Negro, had voluntarily surrendered to police here during a 15-state alarm for his arrest.

Police said Lynch was named as Mormile's killer by Terry Toomer, 18, who claimed to have been Lynch's companion on the Manhattan-bound subway train.

The indictment returned yesterday, said Lynch had been "aided and abetted by another person." The Brooklyn District Attorney Aaron Koota is reviewing all evidence in the nationally publicized case before deciding to keep Toomer, now under police guard, as a material witness or seek an indictment against him as an accessory.

Police have said they were seeking a third youth involved in the case.

Red China Is Ready for Nuclear Test

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—Communist China apparently is all set to detonate its second nuclear bomb but may be delaying the explosion for political reasons, administration officials said yesterday.

Many experts are convinced the device has been ready for a week or two and that the Chinese can set it off "at any moment."

The fact that there hasn't been an explosion has led to speculation that Peking is waiting to time the blast for maximum psychological effect—presumably in connection with the Viet Nam crisis.

Some officials said they believe the Chinese would want to get all the propaganda mileage they could out of their current campaign attacking the use of American-supplied fear gas by South Vietnamese troops before taking the edge off by conducting a nuclear test.

Red China's nuclear success is an important psychological weapon on two fronts:

—It helps convince the non-communist nations of Southeast Asia, whose aid the United States seeks to enlist in the Viet Nam struggle, that Peking eventually will dominate the area and it might be well to get on her side now.

—It strengthens Red China's hand in the increasingly bitter contest with Russia for domination of the communist world. It

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—Raymond C. Hagel, chairman and president of Crowell-Collier Publishing Company, told this story yesterday to the Washington Society of Investment Analysts:

In the summer of 1964, several hundred New Yorkers were shown a list of magazine names and asked to point out the ones they read regularly. Hagel said they currently read Collier's.

When asked which of their current magazines they would keep if they could only keep one, seven per cent replied Collier's.

Collier's magazine ceased publication with the issue of Jan. 5, 1957.

enhances Peking's prestige in the world's poorer areas and lends substance to the argument that China, and not Russia, has the answer for under-developed nations.

U.S. officials sought to discount the military significance of the first Chinese success, pointing out that it would be some years before Peking could develop a nuclear stockpile and delivery system which would make her a real intercontinental threat. The administration is likely to have much the same reaction to the second blast.

Poor County Welcomes Poverty Aid

JASPER, Ark., March 31 (AP)—The leaders of Arkansas' poorest county welcome a program as a means of training their people to do better what they have always done—depart.

Newton county, which has the lowest per capita income—$549 annually—in the state, has been steeped in poverty for decades and has little hope of joining the affluent society.

"Our problem is education and training," said W. H. Haddock, superintendent of schools and head of a committee coordinating anti-poverty work in Newton county.

"We've got to keep these children in school until they can learn a job," Haddock said. "They need the skills that will enable them to obtain employment when they leave."

The government designated Newton county as one of 182 counties in the nation too poor to pay the local government's 10 per cent share of the cost of the program. The federal government will pay the entire cost.

"We just have enough county revenue to operate regular services," said county Judge Roy Raulston. "If any area is entitled to help, our little county is."

The primary Newton project is a neighborhood youth corps to be operated through the county's four school districts.

The budget for the project is $116,000. Newton county's share would have been $11,600.

"There just wasn't any money," Raulston said.

Newton county is in north Arkansas, located in a beautiful Ozark mountain area. The Buffalo River, one of the nation's last free-flowing streams, runs through the county of 6,000 residents.

Jasper, the largest town with about 300 residents, isn't on a major highway. The only other incorporated town in the county is Western Grove, population 150, on U.S. 65.

The only available employment is in timber, marginal mining, a few small sawmills and marginal farms. The young have to leave because there is no employment for them.

Industry won't touch the area because of shipping problems.

SNOW PLOWS from the state highway department, Shoshone, open the seven-mile scenic loop drive at Craters of the Moon national monument near Arco. Drifts up to nine feet in depth were encountered. The annual road opening at the monument ushers in the spring touring season for Idaho motorists and picnicers.

Referendum Drive Moves To Pocatello

POCATELLO, March 31 (AP)—The campaign to repeal Idaho's new sales tax has moved to Pocatello where sales tax support is considered strong.

Some 40 Bannock county residents volunteered to circulate petitions for signatures to put the repeal to a public vote at a meeting conducted last night by the anti-sales tax referendum committee.

If 25,545 signatures are obtained by May 17, the question will be put on the 1966 general ballot.

Robert L. Farber, Payette, a committee member, said he had not known what to expect in Pocatello.

"We felt we were walking into the lion's claws in Pocatello," he said, "because its so pro-sales tax but we felt we must cover all major cities."

Farber said all six Bannock legislators voted for the tax, largely to raise more money for education.

He said the anti-sales tax committee is not opposed to education spending but feels state spending is too high overall.

Honest Judge

MCALISTER, Okla., March 31 (AP)—Daniel Boone has a strong sense of justice.

He was on his way to work yesterday when he saw a car illegally no officer saw it happen and there was no accident.

But when city police Judge Daniel Boone got to work he gave himself a $6 ticket.

Annis Speaks to Knoll Grange on American Life

Elmer Annis spoke to the Knoll Grange members at their regular meeting Friday night. His subject was "The Challenging Times." He urged individuals and organizations to lend their aid to preserve the American way of life.

The proposed zoning ordinance was discussed.

The Grange voted to enter a produce booth at the county fair and to send a delegate to the meeting of the Twin Falls county fair board, April 5.

It was reported that the Grange hall has been painted on the outside and the inside will be cleaned soon. The Boy Scouts have also painted their room.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay Holloway were the hosts for the evening.

The next meeting will be held April 8, and the losing side of the membership contest attendance contest will entertain the winners.

Those Two Magic Words

By JAMES FARLEY
Not long ago in my mail I received a request from a college student in Pennsylvania, a young man who said he was writing a thesis on government. He knew of my background in politics, and asked me to fill out a questionnaire.

There were at least 40 questions, and some of them called for detailed and complex answers. I was quite busy but, believing that any interest in government should be encouraged, I sat . . .

It took most of one afternoon, but I finally got it off with the little girl's satisfaction that comes from completing an arduous and voluntary task.

I looked forward to receiving from this young man some acknowledgment as to whether I had helped him or not. But I have yet to hear from him to this day.

I told myself that it was a matter of no great consequence and to put it off until I had time. But obviously, since I was writing about it now, I didn't forget it. I didn't forget it because I was disappointed.

The truth is, ingratitude hurts everyone. It also hurts the person who fails to show appreciation because he may make an enemy where he could have kept a friend.

Simply feeling gratitude isn't enough; it has to be demonstrated, one way or another. Perhaps the boy in Pennsylvania was appreciative but if so his appreciation is wasted because he never told me. Two words—thank you—could have made all the difference.

Furthermore, the incident made me examine myself. When someone's performance hurts or displeases you, it is a good idea to ask yourself whether traces of those unpleasant characteristics may not exist in you.

So I asked myself, how much do most of us appreciate the countless little daily acts of courtesy or kindness on the part of other people that make our lives smoother and more comfortable? How grateful are we, really, for the privilege of living in a country where it is possible for most of us to take freedom and justice and security for granted? How much thankful do we do most of us feel for the few good acts of life itself, and how adequately do we express this to the Giver?

The honest answer to each of these questions was painfully clear. Not enough. Not nearly enough.

And so I decided to try to change my attitude from a passive one to a more active one where gratitude is concerned.

To thank the people who make my world run smoothly—waitresses, elevator operators, taxi drivers, barbers, anyone—

Humphrey Speaks to 114 Mayors

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey urged mayors of the nation's biggest cities last night to set up equal opportunity commissions to halt job discrimination against Negroes.

Humphrey, who met for two and a half hours with 114 mayors assembled here, said they showed a "friendly attitude" toward his suggestion.

Humphrey said he recommended that each city insert a non-discriminatory clause in its construction and supply contracts to assure equal opportunity for all.

He said it would be very helpful if local governments could set up bodies similar to the President's commission on equal opportunity to check on enforcement of these agreements.

"If the city government does it," he explained, "the federal government can't have to."

He said he also mentioned the concern expressed over lack of jobs for Negroes on construction projects which are built with public funds.

The 114 mayors, Humphrey addressed—including one from every state and all those from cities of 100,000 population or more—were invited to the White House last night for a reception and dinner with President Johnson.

Wrong Place

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 31 (AP)—This is a pickup and I want $150," a man with a gun said to the owner of a small variety store on the city's North Side yesterday.

"We don't have that kind of money in the store," Max Milrod, owner said sternly.

"I must be in the wrong place," said the robber, as he lowered his head and walked out.

"Mini-Lab" Is Launched by U.S.

CAPE KENNEDY, March 31 (AP)—The United States successfully shot an instrument package 7,500 miles into the heavens yesterday from this strike-placed space port.

The 46 1/2-pound package, designed to measure the variations in radiation trapped in Earth's magnetic field, rode aloft atop a four-stage Blue Scout Jr. rocket.

The copper-plated "mini-lab" carried three sensing devices designed to produce a radiation profile during its two-hour climb into the Van Allen radiation belt and its two-hour fiery plunge back through the Earth's atmosphere. Its readings were radioed back to four ground stations.

85 Cubans Rescued by Exile Group

MIAMI, March 31 — A Cuban exile group yesterday disclosed how it used a 24-foot boat to rescue from communists Cuba 85 anti-Castroites, including the brother and other relatives of former welterweight boxing champion Florentino Fernandez. The rescue of 36 women, 12 children and 37 men was believed to be the largest from Cuba since Fidel Castro took the island. Five of those rescued were disguised as Cuban militiamen. The rescue by a group known as the anti-communist civil and armed forces organization (PAYCA) came to light as the exiles were processed at the Cuban refugee center following their arrival here from Key West, Fla.

Among those rescued were a family of 18 and a man who fled Cuba four years ago, came but with his two children, Pedro, 8, and Marisa, 7. Nightclub dancer Virginia Salazar Hernandez, the the well-known boxer who left Cuba four years ago, came but with his two children, Pedro, 8, and Marisa, 7. Nightclub dancer Virginia Salazar Hernandez, the boxer's sister-in-law, also was in the group. The PAYCA leader said his group has made "several" other rescue trips to Cuba.

Two Declo Girls Named As Delegates

DECLO, March 31 — Two girls from Declo have been selected by the American Legion auxiliary to attend Girls' state June 13 to 19 at the College of Idaho, Caldwell.

They are Pamela Fuqua, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fuqua, Declo, and Susan Darrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Darrington, Declo. Alternates are Judi Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Ward, and Jean Darrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Darrington.

Miss Fuqua will be sponsored by the Declo Kiwanis club. She is bookkeeper in the high school office and active in pep band and dance band. She plays the piano, accordion and clarinet. She was a member of the cast for the junior class play. Her hobbies are sewing, dancing, ice skating and water skiing. She is on the honor roll with a 4.0 average.

Free Movies

PARIS, March 31 (AP) — Movies were better than ever in France yesterday. They were free. About five million Frenchmen got a free show when theater owners threw open their doors to protest taxes on films and theater seats. A number of exhibitors decided to close down for the day, many of them in Paris. Those who stayed open took out full-page newspaper advertisements inviting one and all to see a movie for nothing.

Miss Darrington is secretary of the Pep club, and belongs to the drill team, ski club and Pep club. She is on the yearbook staff, the newspaper staff and was decorations chairman for the Junior prom.

She was on the cast for the Junior play. She plays the piano and clarinet. She plays for the Kiwanis Club each week. Her average is also 4.0. She will be sponsored by the Thrifty Thrivers Home demonstration club.

Ku Klux Klan Control Plans Are Studied

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—The justice department studied proposals yesterday aimed at controlling Ku Klux Klan activities by imposing stiffer federal penalties for acts of intimidation.

The administration would like to see President Johnson's voting rights bill well on its way through congress before sending lawmakers any fresh legislation centering on the Klan.

But various legal courses were being considered as the department moved ahead with preliminary work on formulating a bill to carry out Johnson's pledge to bring Klan activities under tighter federal control.

Sources said present thinking centered on proposals to strengthen an 1870 federal statute which carries presently merely a misdemeanor penalty for persons convicted of using force, threats or intimidation to deny a citizen his constitutional rights.

This was the federal law used to arrest four alleged Klansmen accused of the highway slaying of a white Detroit mother of five near Selma, Ala. last week.

The object is not to outlaw the Klan as an organization, but to crack down on its alleged illegal activities.

MRS. JOHN M. MacDonald, Seattle, received reassurance of her daughter's safety from Rep. Thomas Pelly Tuesday after she and her husband telephoned the congressman after being unable to make contact with her daughter, Mary K. MacDonald, secretary at the U.S. embassy in Saigon, which was bombed by terrorists. Mrs. MacDonald holds an Associated Press wirephoto showing her daughter and another woman helping an injured man from the scene of the blast. The MacDonalds received word through Pelly that the daughter was safe but had been slightly injured. (AP wirephoto)

Jungle Heat Can Be Worse Enemy Than Viet Cong

BY HORST FAAS
AP Photographer
 TAY NINH, South Viet Nam, March 31 (AP)—Red ants marched across Sgt. Roger McAllister's face and down his hearing chest. McAllister, from Milford, N.H., didn't even try to brush them off.

A sprig of leaves had fallen across his face. His helmet had tipped from his head into the jungle foliage. His body oozed sweat.

McAllister was the victim of an enemy that had proved more dangerous than the communist Viet Cong. He was cut down by the searing, all-pervading heat of South Viet Nam's jungles.

Fifteen minutes later, McAllister stirred. His eyes flickered and his voice rasped. "Just imagine, there's snow now in New Hampshire."

Then he slid back into a semi-conscious state.

Scores of Vietnamese troopers were scattered around the jungle floor near McAllister, in almost as poor condition. Their heat had sapped their strength. There was virtually no place to bring in a helicopter to pick up McAllister and the Vietnamese who were in the worst shape.

Thirty-six hours earlier a helicopter had dropped McAllister into the jungle 12 miles north of Tay Ninh as a pathfinder for a helicopterborne force.

With Capt. Joseph T. Elliott, Greenwood, S.C., he located a grassy landing zone, laid out markers for the troop-carrying helicopters and called in fire from armed helicopters against snipers.

Led by a Viet Cong defector, the battalion moved south through deep, treacherous jungle. The men scrambled under bamboo and through spiny bracken and dodged mines and grenade traps on trees and in bushes.

The whole area was burning because of earlier air strikes. By midday most of the men had drunk their water. Maps showed numerous streams in the area. All had dried up earlier in the dry season.

As dawn broke the next morning, there was a desperate air among the troops. Water became more important than the Viet Cong.

McAllister, with a radio strapped to his back, began to waver. A big man, he had to crawl on his hands and knees to get through the undergrowth. The advance troops marked the mines and traps with white paper, but the U.S. adviser could hardly see the pieces in the shimmering heat.

The heat built up to over 100 degrees.

"The river's just a thousand meters ahead," one soldier cried out. It was a dry stream.

They reached a muddy water hole. Several Vietnamese soldiers drank from it. They came down with cramps.

McAllister showed signs of distress. Someone offered to take his radio.

"I can carry on," he said. "I've been through jungle scrub before I came over here."

A little while later he collapsed. Scores of Vietnamese soldiers collapsed with him.

Elliott called up the L19 spotter plane overhead by radio. It told him a helicopter might be able to land about 500 yards away to pick up McAllister.

Staff Sgt. James E. Pippin, from Lauderdale, Miss., volunteered to find it. He disappeared into the jungle with his radio.

Vietnamese officers poured a little of the precious remaining water over McAllister's forehead.

Pippin found the clearing and collapsed. But he made radio contact with the helicopters, the spotter plane and the men left in the jungle.

He guided in an armed helicopter, the only one available.

McAllister to the landing site on a stretcher collapsed. Elliott took over.

The helicopter landed. One of the pilots, Lt. David H. Price, Columbus, Ga., waded into the jungle to carve a path. He, Sgt. Leonard Peala of the Philippines and Elliott dragged McAllister to the landing zone.

McAllister's weight made the helicopter too heavy. It had to drop its rocket pods into the jungle so it could take off. Those left on the ground had to form a human wall and push down the towering elephant grass.

"Bring us back some water," shouted Elliott as the helicopter departed for nearby Tay Ninh. He and others crawled on the ground, expecting a Viet Cong attack.

Twenty minutes later the helicopter returned and threw off seven cans of water. They set off a celebration.

Next morning the battalion found a formidable cache of Viet Cong weapons. They also found a river with water in it.

Torres Dethrones Pastrano on TKO In Ninth; Griffith Retains Crown

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Fiery Jose Torres handed light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano a fearful beating and then stopped the light heavyweight champion in nine rounds after welterweight king Emile Griffith drubbed Jose Stable in a pair of title bouts before a roaring crowd at Madison Square garden Tuesday night. Referee Johnny Lobianco stopped the slaughter in the light heavyweight clash after the finish of the ninth round of the scheduled 15-round fight. It goes into the books as a ninth-round technical knockout under New York rules.

Torres, a 28-year-old Puerto Rican-born New Yorker, dropped Pastrano in the sixth round with a smashing left hook to the forehead followed by a paralyzing left hook under the heart. The 29-year-old Pastrano, a stricken look on his bleeding face, sagged to the canvas in a delayed fall.

It was the first time he had been dropped in a pro career of 13 1/2 years.

Crouched on his knees on the floor, looking out to the crowd, Pastrano took a nine-count from the referee. Then he gamely rose to his feet and absorbed a terrific beating to the head and body from the inspired Torres.

Torres, a 6-5 underdog and winner of eight straight previous fights, had boasted he would knock out Pastrano "somewhere between the seventh and 10th rounds." He made good on the boast over an opponent noted for his iron jaw and lion's heart.

Torres had taken command from the middle of the first round and Pastrano, winner of two previous defenses on technical knockouts, never was in the fight.

Referee Lobianco said, "Pastrano was taking too much punishment. He had nothing left. The doctor (Dr. Harry Kleinman) had told me to stop it if he took any more after the eighth round."

The gate receipts for the first championship doubleheader in the Garden's history was a record $239,566. The old mark of $216,497 was paid by 18,914 fans for the Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott heavyweight championship fight on Dec. 5, 1947.

Torres fighting from a peck-a-boo defense with his gloves alongside his cheeks, won every round but the first and the seventh, which was called even by two of the officials. That was the only consolation for the blood-smeared and battered veteran from Miami.

Torres, discarding Pastrano's soul left jab, hammered the corner elusive master boxer from corner to corner.

Torres just battered Willie to pieces and exhaustion with his searing smashes to the body. Pastrano was cut over the left eye, lumped around the right, and bled from the nose.

In the eighth round, as he tried to hold off the fired up challenger, Willie looked weary at his corner and shook his head. The speed had gone out of his legs and the power out of his arms.

The greatest indignity for Pastrano was that Torres actually out-jabbed the jabbing master. Pastrano's jabs were mere flicks while Torres' carried jolting power. Once he snapped Pastrano's head back with the rifle-straight left to the chin.

Pastrano collected a $100,000 guarantee and may get more with his 30 per cent of the gate and theater television. Torres received a flat $10,000.

Griffith earned $70,000 and Stable $10,000.

Griffith, who was making his 11th appearance in a title bout, snapped out of a lethargic performance in the middle rounds, mounted a clever, punishing attack over the late going and won it handily.

Judges Al Berl and Frank Forbes had it 9-5-1 and 8-6-1, respectively, while referee Art Mercante scored it 11-4, all for Griffith. The Associated Press scored for the champion 9-5-1.

There were no knockdowns, and no important cuts, although each fighter was staggered at times and Stable had a pink froth covering his mouthpiece from the third on and a tiny trickle oozed from under his right eye in the 10th. Neither was a factor.

The fight was sharply divided into three parts. Griffith, the one-time milliner with the body of a male model, was in firm command for three of the first four rounds; Stable then took command, only to relinquish it again in the 10th.

The turn actually appeared to come towards the end of the ninth when Stable boarded in with another of his winging, two-handed body attacks and Griffith made half hearted attempts at countering, almost abently.

Then the heavily Spanish-speaking crowd began chanting "Stable, Stable, Stable."

Multi-Colored Geese Part of Migration Study

BOISE, March 31—Anyone seeing a yellow snow goose should advise the Idaho fish and game department where and when it was sighted before taking the pledge.

The color in most cases will be deep yellow, with variations in hue from brownish orange to light rose. Other snow geese may be seen wearing collars of red, green or black.

Altogether 290 snow geese have been trapped, banded and color-marked since 1961 by the Utah state department of fish and game. The program will continue through the 1966 spring migration period.

Erwood Bizeau, state bird supervisor for the Idaho fish and game department, passes along this information and urges anyone sighting these marked snow geese to report where and when.

SAGGING Willie Pastrano goes down to one knee during the sixth round under the pounding of Jose Torres in the world light heavyweight championship match at Madison Square Garden. Torres won by TKO in the ninth. This marked the first time Pastrano was knocked down in 13 1/2 years of professional boxing. (AP wirephoto)

Griffith Says Fight Wasn't His Best

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Emile Griffith, fresh from a successful defense of his world welterweight boxing championship, said Tuesday night his unanimous decision over Jose Stable was not one of his best fights but was nevertheless a good one. "I'm satisfied," Griffith said. "I haven't won 15 rounds in a long time. I need the work. One time when I had him hurt, I tried to take him out with one punch. But when I couldn't, my manager made me stop it up and jab more. As the fight progressed, I was hitting him easier. My manager told me I was thinking ahead of myself. I was trying to hit him before I threw the jab."

Griffith's manager, Gil Clancy, said Griffith tended to become lazy unless hit hard by Stable. "Unless the other fellow gives his a competition," Clancy explained, "he gets lazy, and I thought he was getting too lazy. He coasted in the 15th round although I didn't tell him to."

Griffith agreed about his laziness, adding: "Everytime he stung me inside, I woke up a little bit more." In Stable's dressing room, Manager Manny Gonzalez summed up the loser's feelings.

"He's stink because he made such a bad performance," Gonzalez said. "He's very much disgusted. He knows he's a better fighter than he showed."

"He went into a fog around the third, fourth or fifth round, and we couldn't get him out of it. He just wasn't himself. He wasn't throwing sharp punches. We kept thinking he would snap out of it, but he didn't. Then before the 15th, he said, 'you know, I feel good.' But it was too late. Griffith had that confidence."

"He was good, good—but I'm a great fighter," Jose Torres yelled shrilly in the pandemonium of the winner's dressing room.

The 28-year-old Puerto Rican was properly boastful after his stunning, lopsided triumph over Willie Pastrano for the world light heavyweight championship.

"What do I want next? The middleweight champion or the heavyweight champion. Most of all, Muhammad Ali."

The desire to fight the middleweight titleholder was a bit of a surprise, but Torres repeatedly has said he wanted to move up to the heavyweight class—so Cassius Clay is the logical target.

The big punch of the fight was no surprise: "That left hook to the body that knocked him down in the sixth round."

Torres, who had predicted a knockout between the seventh and 10th, won by a ninth-round TKO when Pastrano was unable to come out for the 10th.

"I thought I'd run him down little by little, and that's what happened. He's good, but no puncher."

"I may never fight again," Pastrano said. "Anybody who takes a beating like I took would have to think twice before entering the ring again."

Pastrano, disagreeing with his handlers, said that the referee was justified in stopping the fight. "I had nothing in there," he said. "I was just becoming a punching bag. It was a just decision."

Torres is a top fighter and will wear the crown well."

Bullets Rap Hawks, Gain Semi-Finals

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP)—Kevin Loughery scored 31 points as the Baltimore Bullets defeated the St. Louis Hawks 109-103 Tuesday night and advanced to the Western division finals of the National Basketball association playoffs. Loughery, seldom the high scorer for Baltimore, hit 11 of 22 shots from his backcourt position and also assisted on six other baskets while turning in one of his best offensive performances of the season.

Three quick baskets by Baltimore with five minutes remaining snapped a 94-94 tie, and although the Hawks pulled to within two points in the last minute of play, Baltimore remained ahead for keeps.

With the score deadlocked at 94-all, Loughery assisted on a goal by Walt Bellamy, the 6-foot-11-inch center who made only nine points in the game.

Don Ohl, who tallied 19, then hit a field goal off a Bellamy pick and then added another goal after picking up a loose ball and driving almost the entire length of the court.

St. Louis, which enjoyed a 14-point lead early in the game, rallied to within 105-103 with 37 seconds left to play.

Cliff Hagan, who started in place of Bob Pettit, connected on only one of three free throws, but the Hawks controlled the rebound and Zelmie Beatty was fouled and he sank two more free throws.

Two foul shots by Gus Johnson and two more by Loughery closed out the scoring in the final 23 seconds.

St. Louis, which finished in second place eight games ahead of Baltimore, led 77-70 with two minutes left in the third period. But the Bullets rallied behind Loughery and Ohl to pull even at 82-82.

St. Louis went ahead 88-84 on four points by player-coach Richie Guerin, only to have Baltimore rally again to tie it at 94-all.

Pettit played only 14 minutes and scored six points to close out a brilliant 11-year career. He finished with 23,344 points in regular season, All-Star and playoff competition.

SETS TITLE DEFENSE

MANILA, March 31 (AP)—Flash Eborde of the Philippines signed Tuesday to defend his world junior lightweight boxing championship against Suh Kang, II of South Korea here May 15.

Trainer, were bitter over the abrupt ending of the fight and the manner in which it was handled.

"A referee has no right to stop a fight while the man is sitting on his stool," Gross said. "The doctor was coming into the ring and he had a chance to make a decision."

Dundee also insisted that the action was premature.

BJC Selects Borah Coach

BOISE, March 31 (AP)—Appointment of Borah high school coach Murray Satterfield as head basketball coach at Boise junior college was announced Tuesday by school president Eugene Chaffee.

He succeeds Dale Chatterton who resigned the past week to enter private business.

Satterfield has been at Borah high since 1961 during which time his basketball teams compiled an 85-17 record. Included in his record are three Southern Idaho conference championships and the 1964-65 state A-1 championship.

"We feel very fortunate," said Chaffee, "to be able to obtain the services of Mr. Satterfield to carry on the work of Dale Chatterton."

Stargell Powers Pirates Past Washington 12-7

By The Associated Press—Willie Stargell drove in six runs — four with a grand slam homer — as Pittsburgh out-slugged Washington 12-7 in a baseball exhibition game Tuesday.

Stargell's lusty hitting gave the Pirates an early lead with Vern Law retiring the first 10 batters he faced. The Senators reached the veteran right-hander for six hits and three runs including Bob Chance's homer, in his six inning stint.

Wyoming, ISU Favored in Indoor Meet

BOZEMAN, Mont., March 31 (AP)—Idaho State and the University of Wyoming are picked to do battle for the top spot in the college division of the Montana State college indoor track meet Saturday.

The Idaho State Bengals are headed in the running events and Wyoming boasts several standouts in field events.

It will be the two teams' first appearance in the annual ISC meet, which also features Montana and Montana State of the Big Sky conference and all members of the Montana collegiate conference.

Montana State is defending champion, but figures to do no better than third since Wyoming and Idaho State have come into the field.

Idaho State is led by sprinter John Briggs, Carey, and distance runner Art Scott, both of whom starred on the Bengals big city conference championship team last spring.

Briggs has several clockings at 45 seconds in the 100-yard dash and a favorite Saturday. Scott has times of 1:34.5 in the 300-yard run and 4:09.9 in the mile.

Wyoming is expected to dominate the field events and has good strength in some events on the track.

Torres Dethrones Pastrano on TKO In Ninth; Griffith Retains Crown

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Fiery Jose Torres handed light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano a fearful beating and then stopped the light heavyweight champion in nine rounds after welterweight king Emile Griffith drubbed Jose Stable in a pair of title bouts before a roaring crowd at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night. Referee Johnny LoBianco stopped the slaughter in the light heavyweight clash after the finish of the ninth round of the scheduled 15-rounder. It goes into the books as a ninth-round technical knockout under New York rules.

Torres, a 28-year-old Puerto Rican-born New Yorker, dropped Pastrano in the sixth round with a smashing left hook to the jaw followed by a paralyzing left hook under the heart. The 20-year-old Pastrano, a stricken look on his bleeding face, sagged to the canvas in a delayed fall. It was the first time he had been dropped in a pro career of 13 1/2 years.

Crouched on his knees on the floor and looking out to the crowd, Pastrano took a nine-count from the referee. Then he gamely rose to his feet and absorbed a terrific beating to the head and body from the inspired Torres.

Torres, a 6-5 underdog and winner of eight straight previously, had boasted he would knock out Pastrano "somewhere between the seventh and 10th rounds." He made good on the boast over an opponent noted for his iron jaw and lion's heart.

Torres had taken command from the middle of the first round and Pastrano, winner of two previous defenses on technical knockouts, never was in the fight.

Referee LoBianco said, "Pastrano was taking too much punishment. He had nothing left. The doctor (Dr. Harry Krimm) had told me to stop it if he took any more after the eighth round."

The gate receipts for the first championship doubleheader in the Garden's history was a record $230,556. The old mark of $14,497 was paid by 18,914 fans for the Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott heavyweight championship fight on Dec. 5, 1947.

Torres, flashing from a peck-a-booo defense with his gloves alongside his cheeks, won every round but the first and the seventh, which was called even by two of the officials. That was the only consolation for the blood-smeared and battered veteran from Miami.

Torres, disdaining Pastrano's soft left jabs, hammered the once elusive master boxer from corner to corner.

Torres just battered Willie to pieces and exhaustion with his searing smashes to the body. Pastrano was cut over the left eye, lumped around the right eye, and bled from the nose.

In the eighth round, as he tried to hold off the fired-up challenger, Willie looked wearily at his corner and shook his head. The speed had gone out of his legs and the power out of his arms.

The greatest indignity for Pastrano was that Torres actually outboxed the jabbing midget. Pastrano's jabs were mere flicks while Torres carried jolting power. Once he snapped Pastrano's head back with the rifle-straight left to the chin.

Pastrano collected a $100,000 guarantee and may get more with his 30 per cent of the gate and theater television. Torres received a flat $10,000.

Griffith earned $70,000 and Stable $10,000.

Griffith, who was making his 11th appearance in a title bout, snapped out of a lethargic performance in the middle rounds, mounted a clever, punishing attack over the late going and won it handily.

Judges Al Berl and Frank Forbes had it 9-5-1 and 8-6-1, respectively, while referee Art Mercante scored it 11-4, all for Griffith. The Associated Press scored for the champion 9-5-1.

There were no knockdowns, and no important cuts, although each fighter was staggered at times and Stable had pink froth covering his mouthpiece from the third round and a tiny trickle oozed from under his right eye in the 10th. Neither was a factor.

The fight was sharply divided into three parts. Griffith, the one-time milliner with the body of a male model, was in firm command for three of the first four rounds; Stable then took command, only to relinquish it again in the 10th.

The turn actually appeared to come towards the end of the ninth when Stable bored in with another of his winging two-handed body attacks and Griffith made half hearted attempts at countering, almost absentmindedly.

Then the heavily Spanish-speaking crowd began chanting "Stable, Stable, Stable."

SAGGING Willie Pastrano goes down to one knee during the sixth round under the pounding of Jose Torres in the world light heavyweight championship match at Madison Square Garden. Torres won by a TKO in the ninth. This marked the first time Pastrano was knocked down in 13 1/2 years of professional boxing. (AP Wirephoto)

Griffith Says Fight Wasn't His Best

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Emile Griffith, fresh from a successful defense of his world welterweight boxing championship, said Tuesday night his unanimous decision over Jose Stable was not one of his best fights but was nevertheless a good one. "I'm satisfied," Griffith said. "I haven't went 15 rounds in a long time. I need the work. One time when I had him hurt, I tried to take him out with one punch. But when I couldn't, my manager made me step it up and jab more. As the fight progressed, I was hitting him easier. My manager told me I was thinking ahead of myself. I was trying to hit him before I threw the jab."

Griffith's manager, Gil Clancy, said Griffith tended to become lazy unless hit hard by Stable. "Unless the other fellow gives his competition," Clancy explained, "he gets lazy, and I thought he was getting too lazy. He coasted in the 15th round although I didn't tell him to."

Griffith agreed about his laziness, adding: "Everytime he stung me inside, I woke up a little bit more. In Stable's dressing room, Manager Manny Gonzalez summed up the loser's feelings.

"He's sick because he made such a bad performance," Gonzalez said. "He's very much disgusted. He knows he's a better fighter than he showed."

"He went into a fog around the third, fourth or fifth round, and we couldn't get him out of it. He just wasn't himself. He wasn't throwing sharp punches. We kept thinking he would snap out of it, but he didn't. Then before the 10th, he said, 'you know, I feel good.' But it was too late. Griffith had that confidence."

"He was good, good — but I'm a great fighter," Jose Torres yelled shrilly in the pandemonium of the winner's dressing room.

The 28-year-old Puerto Rican was properly boastful after his stunning, lopsided triumph over Willie Pastrano for the world light heavyweight champion.

"What do I want next? The middleweight championship by the heavyweight champion. Most of all, Muhammad Ali."

The desire to fight the middleweight titleholder was a bit of a surprise, but Torres repeatedly has said he wanted to move up to the heavyweight class — so Cassius Clay is the logical target.

The big punch of the fight was no surprise. "That left hook to the body that knocked him down in the sixth round."

Torres, who had predicted a knockout between the seventh and 10th, won by a ninth-round TKO when Pastrano was unable to come out for the 10th.

"I thought I'd run him down little by little, and that's what happened. He's good, but no puncher."

BJC Selects Borah Coach

BOISE, March 31 (AP)—Appointment of Borah high school coach Murray Satterfield as head basketball manager at Boise junior college was announced Tuesday by school president Eugene Chaffee.

He succeeds Dale Chatterton who resigned the past week to enter private business.

Satterfield has been at Borah high since 1961 during which time his basketball teams compiled an 85-17 record. Included in his record are three Southern Idaho conference championships and the 1964-65 state A-1 championship.

"We feel very fortunate," said Chaffee, "to be able to obtain the services of Mr. Satterfield to carry on the work of Dale Chatterton."

Bullets Rap Hawks, Gain Semi-Finals

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP)—Kevin Loughery scored 31 points as the Baltimore Bullets defeated the St. Louis Hawks 109-103 Tuesday night and advanced to the Western division finals of the National Basketball association playoffs. Loughery, seldom the high scorer for Baltimore, hit 11 of 22 shots from his backcourt position and also assisted on six other baskets while turning in one of his best offensive performances of the season.

Three quick baskets by Baltimore with five minutes remaining snapped a 94-94 tie, and although the Hawks pulled to within two points in the last minute of play, Baltimore remained ahead for keeps.

With the score deadlocked at 94-94, Loughery assisted on a goal by Walt Bellamy, the 6-foot, 11 inch center who made only nine points in the game.

Don Ohl, who tallied 18, then hit a field goal off a Bellamy pick and then added another goal after picking up a loose ball and driving almost the entire length of the court.

St. Louis, which enjoyed a 14-point lead early in the game, rallied to within 105-103 with 37 seconds left to play.

Cliff Hagan, who started in place of Bob Pettit, connected on only one of three free throws, but the Hawks controlled the rebound and Zelmo Beaty was fouled and he sank two more free throws.

Two foul shots by Gus Johnson and two more by Loughery closed out the scoring in the final 23 seconds.

St. Louis, which finished its second place eight games ahead of Baltimore, led 77-70 with two minutes left in the third period. But the Bullets rallied behind Loughery and Ohl to pull even at 82-82.

St. Louis went ahead 88-84 on four points by player-coach Richie Guerin, only to have Baltimore rally again to tie it at 94-94.

Pettit played only 14 minutes and scored six points to close out a brilliant 11-year career. He finished with 29,344 points in regular season, All-Star and playoff competition.

trainer, were bitter over the abrupt ending of the fight and the manner in which it was handled.

"A referee has no right to stop a fight while the man is sitting on his stool," Gross said. "The doctor was coming into the ring and hadn't had a chance to make a decision."

Dundee also insisted that the action was premature.

Multi-Colored Geese Part of Migration Study

BOISE, March 31—Anyone seeing a yellow snow goose should advise the Idaho Fish and Game department where and when it was sighted before taking the pledge.

The color in most cases will be deep yellow, with variations in hue from brownish orange to light rose. Other snow geese may be seen wearing collars of red, green or black.

Although 200 snow geese have been trapped, banded and color-marked since 1961 by the Utah state department of fish and game. The program will continue through the 1965 spring migration period.

Elwood Bizau, state bird supervisor for the Idaho fish and game department, passes along this information and urges anyone sighting these marked snow geese to report where and when.

Four Track Meets Set

Week-End; Gooding Hosts Big Eight Loop Thursday

Track and field competition opens on four fronts this week-end with the Big Eight-conference championships at Gooding heading off the list. Most of the class B schools in the area will swing into action while an unknown number of class B schools will run at an open meet at Gooding State. The Big Eight championships at Gooding State open both are slated to begin at 1 p.m. Thursday. Burley will entertain Idaho Falls and finish in a triangular meet Friday. Afternoon while Friday Falls hosts Jerome, while Argo and Highland in four-way meet at noon Saturday.

But the spotlight swings back to Thursday afternoon where the Glenns Ferry Pilots, with everyone returning from last year's two-year reign of the Wood River Wolverines. Those two are expected to be the strongest of the schools. The contests at Gooding are exciting as they play in the all school league.

Glenns Ferry will be awaiting the return to interscholastic competition of big George Tremaine who was forced to the sidelines by calcium deposits early in the basketball season. Tremaine is the district record holder in the discus and was second in the shotput last year.

Trenaine returns to find his competition facing him. Leo McChesney, Glenns Ferry, won the state discus championship last year as the shotput turns beating each other. The Pilot senior also beat McChesney in the shot-put last year.

Glenns Ferry's outlook is brightened this year by the fact that McChesney should be a valuable addition to their running events. Due to a hip injury in spring McChesney was limited to only two events after being a good sprinter as a sophomore.

The other big Pilot point man would be Jim Schwegler, who should be a contender in the 100 and 200-yard dashes plus the 400-yard dash. Wood River rests its hopes of retaining the title largely on Steve Blaudoford who will be tough in the 220 and 440-yard dashes. He won the state 200-yard dash title and was second in the 440-yard dash.

Another double winner possibility is Dennis Fowler, Kimbrey, who is the defending state all mile king and the heir apparent in the high hurdle title Thursday.

In the distance events it would be Von Nebeker, Wendell, 4 two miles and Vinsant, Shoshone, at one.

At Gooding State the teams ahead aren't known but key points of interest are Pat Briggs, Carey, and Larry Johnson, Gooding State. Briggs won the state 200-yard dash while Johnson is the defending Idaho champion in two miles. But Johnson might go for the less arduous one-mile even this early.

At Burley Friday, the interest should focus on Terry Jones, Burley, who has been surpassing 20 feet regularly in the shotput. Jones also doubles as a half-miler. Burley sophomore Gunnell will be particularly watched in the hurdles, where he starred as a freshman and Minico offers high jumper Jim Whistler and half-miler Chuck Siebold.

Twin Falls will take a basically senior-sophomore club into its meet Saturday with prospects at a five-year low. The Bruins have quartermiler George Smith, discus man Alan Brown and probably points men Scott Strong and Bruce Bowman. The Bruins are worried about the allergy that still plagues miler Terry Dodds. Dodds was easily the best miler in the state early last spring before the allergy killed him. He ran an easy 4:45 in practice Monday but still hasn't shaken the ailment.

A look at the high hurdles might be in store when Jerome wins Steve Millard and Mel Pinker to beat Twin Falls Dave Church. Jerome fans also will be watching for the improvement of Bubak, who finished second in the district halfmile as a freshman.

Stargell Powers Pirates Past Washington 12-7

By The Associated Press

Willie Stargell drove in six runs — four with a grand slam homer — as Pittsburgh out-slugged Washington 12-7 in a baseball exhibition game Tuesday.

Stargell's lusty hitting gave the Pirates an early lead with Vern Law retiring the first 10 batters he faced. The Senators reached the veteran right-hander for six hits and three runs including Bob Chance's homer in his six inning stint.

Los Angeles Dodger ace Sandy Koufax fired his second complete game of the spring but lost again as White Sox rookie Bruce Howard and Greg Bell combined to three-hit the Dodgers 2-0. Koufax, who fanned 10 and allowed only four hits, also lost a route-going performance to Detroit, 3-3 last week.

Jim O'Toole, tuning up for a possible opening day assignment, allowed just four hits in eight innings as Cincinnati downed Minnesota 7-3. Gordy Coleman and Frank Robinson homered for the Reds.

Rookie Ed Splenio, batting .619 in Grapefruit league play, tripled home the winning run in the ninth inning as the world champion St. Louis Cardinals edged the New York Yankees 4-3. It was the 12th loss in the last 14 games for the Yankees who bowed to the Cards in seven games last October.

Steve Barber and Dick Hall combined for a three-hitter as Baltimore downed Houston 3-1. The two pitchers fanned 12 Angels as the Orioles erupted for five runs in the fifth inning to win it.

Billy Williams stroked a single, double and homer as the Chicago Cubs came from behind and beat Cleveland 12-9. Bruce Milwaukee racked Kansas City pitcher Blue Moon Odom and Dan Pfister went on to a 12-5 victory over the Athletics. The Braves blasted Odom for eight runs and eight hits and completed their spurge with four runs off Pfister.

San Francisco scored four unearned runs on three Boston errors and went on to a 6-0 victory over the Red Sox. Bob Hendley, Bob Shaw and Frank Linzy shared the seven hitter with Hendley working the first seven inning. Tony Conigliaro had three hits for the losers.

The Los Angeles Angels whipped their Seattle farm team of the Pacific Coast league 5-1 with George Brunet and Dick Wanta hurled a one-hitter.

Finley Avoids Direct Answer About Moving

KANSAS CITY, March 31 (AP)—Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, refused, at least a half dozen times Tuesday, to give a yes or no answer as to whether he plans to move his baseball club to Milwaukee.

Frank Lane, his former general manager, said Monday that Finley is itching for a chance to fill the franchise vacancy that will be left when the National League Braves move to Atlanta after this season.

Boosters Meet

Regular weekly meeting of the Twin Falls Bruin Boosters will be conducted at 7 a.m. Thursday at the Rogerston coffee shop.

Coach Jerry Kleinkopf will discuss the first track and field meet, slated here at noon Saturday.

Hilton Would Sell Football Team

SANTA MONICA, Calif., March 31 (AP)—Baron Hilton said Tuesday he would sell the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League for the right and responsibility for the team.

However, Hilton said, "I don't have any negotiations under way at the present time, nor am I seeking any offers."

The responsibility part of any offer would stipulate keeping the Chargers in San Diego, said Hilton.

Hilton, son of hotel entrepreneur Conrad Hilton, did not quote a price, but it was reported the franchise carries a seven million-dollar price tag.

The entire story, Finley said. This isn't the first time Finley and Lane have squabbled publicly over Finley's intentions. After he was fired in 1961, Lane said Finley planned to move the club to Dallas.

But the spotlight swings back to Thursday afternoon where the Glenns Ferry Pilots, with everyone returning from last year's two-year reign of the Wood River Wolverines. Those two are expected to be the strongest of the schools. The contests at Gooding are exciting as they play in the all school league.

Population Growth Rate Starting to Scare World Leaders

By United Press International
The world's population is growing by 180,000 a day, more than a million a week, 65 million a year.
It will double in 35 years, then double again in even less than that time. This is beginning to scare the leaders of mankind.
Unchecked population nullifies progress. Egypt's Aswan dam will be a proud engineering marvel. When it is completed it will increase Egypt's agricultural output by 45 per cent. But by the time it is completed, Egypt's population will also have grown by 45 per cent.
Demographers — students of population trends — consider themselves engaged in an enterprise more critical than any which has ever occupied man. They want to find the way to check population growth, and time is running short.

Consider numbers alone. Half a million years ago, there were perhaps 100,000 people on Earth. Ages passed before the 250 million level was reached at the time of Christ's birth. Sixteen centuries passed before population reached 500 million. But only 200 years were required to reach one billion, by 1850. In the 115 years since then, to today, it has gone to 3.3 billion. In the next 35 years, it will reach seven billion.
In 1900, the world was adding 40,000 souls a day. Now it is adding 180,000 a day — 125 every minute.
This is comparable to adding each year to the world's population all the people of Denmark, Finland, Norway, Sweden, Austria, Greece, Chile and Canada.

Forty per cent of those alive today are under 15 years of age. In 10 years, they will be parents. Fifteen years from now, there will be 100 million more Chinese, 50 million more Russians, 48 million more Americans. The number of Mexicans will have grown from 40 million to 70 million.
And these figures may be conservative. Census information is haphazard in many lands. Where new censuses are taken, they usually reveal far more people than had been estimated.
Nigerian officials had estimated their population at no more than 37 million. A census in 1963 shocked them—it showed the estimate was too low by 19 million.

It is easy to talk of populations, hard to realize they represent individual persons, two-thirds of whom are hungry and wretched, but all of whom entertain some hope for a better life.
Where will all the world's new people live? In a new book, "The Silent Explosion," just published by Beacon Press, author Philip Appleman asks if Calcutta is to become "the city of the future."
"When you walk the streets of Calcutta," he writes, "you see gaunt and half-naked men bathing at public water taps; women huddling over little piles of manure, patting it into cakes for fuel; children competing with dogs for refuse; hundreds of thousands of homeless people living in the streets, shoving in the streets, having their teeth pulled in the streets and sleeping in the streets."

That is the picture of overpopulation.
Historically, population growth tapers off when a nation becomes industrial. People have fewer children when they find it economically desirable to do so. Because they want better housing and they want their children educated, they spread their resources over a smaller family.
But in many poor lands, the desire is for large families. The tenant farmers and share croppers of Brazil want sons to help farm. In peasant societies, fertility is worshipped and childlessness is considered a calamity. Children represent old age security for their parents. And there is little reason not to have them. It doesn't make any difference. The old idea that a family must have lots of babies in order for one or two to survive into adulthood is long in disappearing. The fact that modern medicine, public health practices and pesticides have drastically curbed infant mortality and lengthened life-span takes long in reflecting itself in family size.

There is no evidence that people curb the size of their families when they are hungry; the reverse may be true. Says Profesor Marston Bates in "The Prevalence of People," "when people do not need to think about their hunger, they learn to think more carefully about the future and they are less apt, blindly and miserably, to reproduce themselves, careless of how these new generations will find the means of subsistence."

Thus the greatest population growth occurs in the nations least able to sustain it.
Europe has brought its population growth rate down to one per cent per year — a rate at which a population takes 70 years to double. The U.S. rate is 1.8 per cent. U.S. population, 192 million by mid-1964, will reach 360 million by the end of this century.

Until this century, the rate has been one per cent. It is two per cent, probably doubled population every 50 years. Asia's annual growth rate is 2.5 per cent; so is Latin America's — a rate at which 29 million people become 18 million in a century.
Europe's decelerated growth is a cultural phenomenon. It results from millions of people individually deciding to do the size of their families. Anthropologists know of no society in which sexual intercourse is engaged in solely for procreation. Some primitive societies have no idea that intercourse results from intercourse.
Population control is old. Ancient Greeks in their states practiced infanticide. In modern world, it seems to be throughout history has served limit populations.

Miscellaneous Items

POTATO AND CHEESE DUMPLINGS

MRS. KENNETH D. GOBEL
BOX 268, HAZELTON

- Have ready—1/4 to 1/2 cups finely minced onions and 1 cube butter or margarine, optional. Set aside.
- 6 medium potatoes
- 1/2 pound aged cheese
- salt to taste.
- Set aside.

Dough Mixture

- 4 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Enough buttermilk to make dough easy to roll out.

Set aside.

Now peel, quarter and cook potatoes until done, but not mushy. Drain immediately and grate cheese over potatoes and mash thoroughly until potatoes are deep yellow in color. Salt to taste. Set aside, covered.

Roll out dough on floured surface as thin as possible. Cut in circles with round cookie cutter or with a rim of a glass. Put a teaspoon of potato and cheese mixture in each circle, then fold circles in half and pinch edges all the way around with floured fork. This is very important. Pinching the edges with flour holds the dumplings together.

Drop the dumplings, 3 to 8 at a time into salted boiling water. When the dumplings rise to the top, drain and have ready immediately, a skillet of finely minced onions sauted in butter or margarine. Put dumplings gently into skillet and brown lightly on both sides, under medium heat. Serve with sour cream.

(Note: The potato and cheese mixture plus the dough mixture can be prepared in advance, covered and refrigerated for a couple of days until ready to use. This saves a lot of time.)

FISHER'S GRAPE JELLY

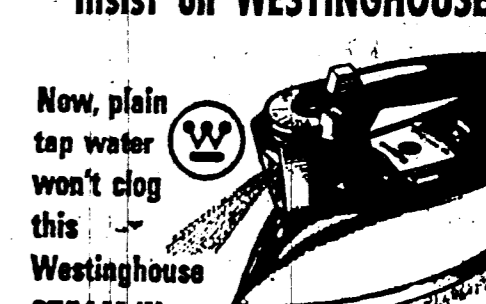

MRS. BUD FISHER
607 EAST FIRST SOUTH,
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

Drop the dumplings, 3 to 8 at a time into salted boiling water. When the dumplings rise to the top, drain and have ready immediately, a skillet of finely minced onions sauted in butter or margarine. Put dumplings gently into skillet and brown lightly on both sides, under medium heat. Serve with sour cream.

(Note: The potato and cheese mixture plus the dough mixture can be prepared in advance, covered and refrigerated for a couple of days until ready to use. This saves a lot of time.)

BESQUETOS DOCE

(Portuguese for Biscuits Sweet)

MRS. DEAN BARNEY
SHOSHONE

1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cream
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 cup warm water
2 packages yeast
2 eggs, separated
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
Beat milk and cream, then cool. Mix and let stand—1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 cup warm water and the two packages of yeast. In a large mixing bowl, beat egg whites until very stiff, gradually adding 1/2 cup sugar. Beat egg yolks until very light, gradually adding the remaining 1/2 cup sugar. With scraper, fold egg yolk mixture into the white mixture. Fold in one cup flour, plus one teaspoon salt. Add yeast mixture and milk mixture all at once.

Stir and beat in two cups of flour. This should look like cake batter when properly beaten. Stir in one more cup of flour, then use the last cup of flour to work with hands. Knead until very firm and elastic. Let rise until double (approximately two hours).
Divide dough into four parts. Roll between hands until about a foot long, rolling and twisting as you pull. Now lay on lightly floured board. With sharp knife, cut diagonally in four pieces. Place on floured, baking sheet.

Place them so they won't touch and will have crusts on all sides. Do the same with the rest of the dough. Let rise until light. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes. Never use shortening—the toasted, nut-like flavor of the flour that sticks to them makes them delicious.

 1/2 cup white syrup
 1/2 cup water
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 egg whites
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, syrup and water in one quart pan. Bring to boil with lid on and boil to hard ball stage (265 degrees). In a large bowl beat the two egg whites until stiff. Add salt.  2 large cans evaporated milk
 2 teaspoons vanilla

Add other can of milk about a fourth of it at a time, so that the mixture never stops boiling. If mixture curdles slightly, it will clear when cool. Put in candy thermometer.
