WHIRLIGIG

By Andrew Tully
WASHINGTON, April 3—One of the significant developments of the Viet Nam war which has gone almost unnoticed is the state department's step-up of its campaign to drive a wedge between Communist China and the North Vietnamese regime of Ho Chi Minh.

Johnson's pledge of future economic aid to a free and peaceful Asia was the latest ploy in this exercise in gamesmanship. Its theme is to remind Ho from time to time that there are rewards awaiting any South Vietnamese leader who will play ball with Washington.

Throughout the election campaign, Chilean President Eduardo Frei Montalva's Christian Democratic supporters had pleaded with the voters to give him a "parliament for the people."

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, April 3—For an impulsive man, Barry Goldwater has been remarkably restrained since the debacle of last November. He might have been writing "I told you so" on every vacant space since the policy followed by the administration in Viet Nam was so manifestly in error.

General Taylor reported that the major part of the military task can be completed by the end of 1965, although there may be a continuing requirement for a limited number of training personnel. They reported that by the end of this year (1963) the United States program for training Vietnamese should have progressed to the point where 1,000 United States military personnel can be withdrawn.

It's Not Over

No one should imagine that education costs in Idaho have reached a pinnacle or will continue at the same level indefinitely. To the contrary, there will be just as much pressure two years from now for still more money for education. Even though Idahoans might like to congratulate themselves on taking care of the demands for more money for schools and education, the state probably hasn't improved its relative position a great deal, if at all.

FEARS CHINESE TAKEOVER

But Ho's instincts remain those of a Vietnamese with a long memory of his country's history as a colony of China. While he accepts all the aid he can get from Mao Tse-tung, he is fearful of the day when Peking might decide the only way to rid Southeast Asia of the American presence is to take over the North Viet Nam satellite in such a situation, Ho Chi Minh's status would be no better than that of the Peking tools who rule Tibet.

Views of Others

GOING ALONG IN WASHINGTON
President Johnson evidently is having some success with his pressure upon senators and representatives to refrain from criticizing his Viet Nam policy. Except for Senators Morse and Dirksen, who deserve some sort of special medal for willingness to go out of favor at the White House, there has been a notable increase in the go-along-with-Lyndon spirit in Washington following the President's numerous "serenades" of the critics.

A rather drab and desperate picture of the average Russian was painted in Boise the other day by Stewart Bledsoe, Ellensburg, Wash., cattle rancher and Washington state representative who spoke to the Boise Rotary club. He said prosperity and contentment reported for Russia by some American tourists is a myth.

NO SURPRISES

As the United States makes progress toward solving the racial dilemma Gunnar Myrdal analyzed two decades ago, the Swedish economist poses another long-range problem. It is the world's need for food and the American farmer's production of surpluses.

THE MOVIE CODE PROBLEM

Parents would deliberately expose their children to danger if given an opportunity to choose. But the question of what is dangerous, when danger can be avoided, and to whom something is dangerous, are among the most vexing problems. There are some dangers to which exposure cannot be avoided, and learning how to meet them, perhaps how to use them beneficially, is that great step toward adult responsibility we call maturity.

Boycott May Bring Harm In Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 3—Many of Alabama's leading businessmen and legislators believe Dr. Martin Luther King's economic boycott of this state will only hurt racial relations.

"If the boycott should be successful, it would mean the loss of business opportunities in the state," said Crawford Johnson III, a soft drink executive and president of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce.

"Fortunately, I don't think that Dr. King will be successful," he said.

King announced the three-stage boycott yesterday in Baltimore. The first stage of the boycott, which he said would start immediately, is to ask any industry or national business concern considering building plants in Alabama to immediately suspend their plans for such expansion.

The second stage would deal with private investment funds in Alabama and federal deposits in Alabama banks. King said while the three-stage would specifically single out items produced in the state which King feels the nation should boycott.

The boycott brought angry responses from Alabama state legislators.

"The white folks, if they so desire, can boycott, too," said Rep. John Lewis Cates of Shelby county, accusing King of being "power mad now."

U.S. Policies Criticized In Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 3—Soviet President Anastas I. Mikoyan and several other communist leaders criticized America today for aiding the South Vietnamese.

They did so in speeches before the Hungarian parliament as this nation celebrated the 20th anniversary of its liberation from the nazis.

Members of the parliament withheld applause from those sections of the speeches dealing with Viet Nam but applauded warmly mentions of Soviet space flights and references to communist cooperation.

None of the attacks on American participation in the Vietnamese fighting was especially violent. American Charge d'Affaires Elim O'Shaughnessy sat quietly in the diplomatic gallery as Mikoyan and others denounced what they described as the aggressive acts of American troops.

"The U.S. imperialists are conducting aggressive acts against North Viet Nam, and fighting to keep down the freedom-seeking South Vietnamese people," said Mikoyan.

"The socialist countries demand that the aggressive acts against North Viet Nam be stopped and that the U.S. troops be withdrawn from South Viet Nam. The long-suffering Vietnamese people must be given a right to decide their own future."

President Istvan Dobl of Hungary led off the attack on "imperialists" in the opening address but omitted naming Viet Nam. Others, from Romania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia, did.

Smylie's Veto Of Election Law Rapped

OROPINO, April 3 (AP)—Sen. Cecil Andrus, D., Clearwater, continued his feud with Gov. Robert E. Smylie today declaring that the governor's veto of a bill repealing Idaho's election law was "politically inspired."

The measure provided that candidates for governor or United States senator and representative must receive the endorsement of at least 28 per cent of convention to get their name on the primary ballot. Under the law, as it now stands, they must receive the endorsement of 20 per cent of the delegates.

Earlier this week Andrus asserted that the veto opened the door to gambling candidates who might attempt to get their names on the ballot in 1966. Smylie contended, however, that not to veto the bill would make it easier for such candidates to achieve their ends.

Andrus labeled that contention "false" saying that if the convention system had been in effect in 1962 Vernon K. Smith would not have been able to win the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

"It was only the wide open primary that Smylie advocates that made it possible," Andrus said.

Smith, who ran on a pro-gambling platform, won the Democratic nomination in a three-way primary race despite the fact he failed to poll a majority of the votes cast.

Andrus also charged the bill was held up after passage to insure that the legislature would not have a chance to override the veto.

It was vetoed by the governor following adjournment of the regular session thus the lawmakers were not given the chance to take further action on it.

GARY A. ANDERSON, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson, Buhl, has accepted a call to an LDS Uruguayan mission which includes Paraguay and part of Argentina. A testimonial will be held in his honor at 5 p.m. April 11 in the Buhl LDS second ward. He will enter the Salt Lake City mission home April 12.

East Germany Warns Allies Over Session

BERLIN, April 3 (AP)—East Germany warned the Western Allies today international conflicts "could erupt" if the West German parliament is allowed to hold a session in West Berlin.

Notes sent to the United States, Britain and France through Czechoslovakia were made public by the East Germans as they went through their third day of harassment of civilian traffic on the autobahn, 110-mile highway connecting West Berlin with West Germany.

East German police halted vehicles, apparently seeking to turn back members of Parliament en route to Berlin.

Traffic backed up for several miles and long delays were reported, with the East German police fingering tediously through documents of travelers on the highway.

In their notes, the East Germans called Wednesday's coming session of parliament a "dangerous provocation" against the life interest of East Germany.

The notes, released by the official East German news agency Adn, demanded that the three Western powers prevent the session and "reject any further attempts by West Germany to establish itself in West Berlin."

The notes claimed the three Western powers are responsible for tolerating the parliament session in West Berlin and therefore will have to bear "the consequences that could result if the meeting is held."

The Soviet Union last week sent a jibelet to Washington, London and Paris.

Taxpayers Unit Reviews Tax Actions

BOISE, April 3 (AP)—Associated Taxpayers of Idaho described today as bold the action taken by the 1965 legislature in areas of taxing and spending but the organization said it neither praises nor blames the lawmakers for their enactment of a sales tax.

"It is not the purpose of the Associated Taxpayers," said Executive Manager Max Vest in a statement, "to praise or oppose a particular phase or type of tax or method of taxation."

"It is the purpose of the association to promote fiscal responsibility and efficiency in the use of the tax dollar to the end that no more taxes are levied upon the taxpayer than is absolutely necessary to operate efficiently government."

"It is the purpose of the associated taxpayers to publicize to the fullest extent all of the contents and effects of a tax so that if a tax is adopted, returned or rejected it will be done after there is as complete an understanding of the proposition as is possible."

"It is the purpose of the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho to promote efficiency in government, 'watch dog' the expenditure of public funds at all levels and units of government, not to oppose an expenditure of function of government but to be certain that first, it is necessary, and, if it is, then to see that it is effectively and efficiently operated."

The association provided an estimate of probable revenue to the state's general fund for the two-year period beginning July 1. It includes 20 million dollars from the new three per cent sales and use tax, which will be effective July 1.

Total revenue from the sales tax was figured at 56 million dollars. Of that 1.6 million dollars will be transferred to the teachers retirement system, one million dollars to the permanent building fund and 29 million dollars to the social trust fund.

WALLACE, April 3 (AP)—Involuntary manslaughter charges have been filed against Harley M. Long, Wallace, in connection with the traffic death Wednesday of 18-year-old Byron E. Koenig. Koenig was killed when his motorcycle and a car driven by Long collided.

Zing into spring! Chevelle by Chevrolet

'65 Chevelle Malibu Convertible— with color-keyed all-vinyl upholstery

It's the most popular mid-size traveler built— which isn't surprising when you consider who built it.

There's no doubt that a car like this could get by on its good looks alone. Without ever having to rely on family connections.

But the fact that it is built by Chevrolet assures you right off it's got a lot more going for it than merely meets the eye. It tells you, for example, that beneath those impetuous-looking lines you can have the impetuous kind of power—6 or V8—that Chevrolet has a reputation for putting in its cars. It tells you that you get Body by Fisher handiwork inside and out (with the kind of meticulous attention to detail that goes into some of the most expensive cars around). It tells you that you're going to get a ride developed by engineers who are old hands at putting the squeal on bumps (Chevelle has Full Coil suspension at all four wheels, similar to the regular Jet-smooth-Chevrolet).

Knowing all this, you probably won't be startled by the fact more people are now buying Chevelle than any other car its size.

But you will have a happy surprise when you check what you can buy one for—right now down at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Pupils From Africa Leave Soviet Union

MOSCOW, April 3 (AP) — The mysterious death of a young Ghanaian two weeks ago has triggered new efforts by dissatisfied African students to leave the Soviet Union, informed sources said today.

The students have been protesting in various ways. Some have boycotted classes. A few have found the money to leave the country.

A group of Kenyan students staged a sit-in demonstration last week at a railroad station in Baku, the Soviet oil city on the Caspian sea.

Diplomatic sources said student complaints covered racial, financial and educational issues. They said the death of Ghanaian student George Daku in Baku two weeks ago was the latest incident in a series of grievances.

Ghanaian sources have said they believe Daku was murdered. Soviet police are investigating.

The case recalled the death of another Ghanaian student in December, 1963, which caused a furor. African students said he had been murdered by Russians to prevent his marriage to a Russian girl. About 600 Africans stormed Red square to protest his death.

Chinese students are reported trying to heat up another African demonstration over the recent death. African students, however, appeared bent on leaving the country.

Priest Upset Over Changes In Liturgy

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP) — A MARYLAND priest who is leading the traditionalist movement in the Roman Catholic Church is protesting over changes in the liturgical changes has called for a national referendum to determine the sentiment of Catholics.

The Rev. Gonnar Albert De Pauw, 46, Mount St. Mary's seminary, Emmittsburg, Md., claims Roman Catholic doctrine is at stake in current church trends.

He repeated his charges Friday that American Catholics have been "brainwashed by extremists of the clergy" who have sold the people the idea that changes in the liturgy are mandatory. They are permissive, Father De Pauw said.

He also maintained that current influences were "downgrading devotion" to Mary and "trying to destroy the sacrificial character of the Mass."

Things have gone so far, Father De Pauw said, that celebration of masses at Fordham university turned into a "Shoentzen atmosphere." What bothered him, he said, was that in these masses, offered four times a week by a priest facing the people from behind the altar, music is furnished by a guitarist with psalms set to the music of such tunes as "Michael, Row the Boat Ashore" and "Greenleaves."

He stressed he was not pressing for a ban on the vernacular mass, but for a limitation of its use to "some Sunday low masses and not more than once during the week."

American to Become First Asian Royalty

GANGTOK, Sikkim, April 3 (AP) — Hope Cooke, the former Manhattan debutante who married a Himalayan prince, Sunday became queen of Sikkim and the first American to attain royal status in Asia.

The ceremony was to be witnessed on a special television circuit set up for Sikkim's 170,000 citizens. The event occurs two years and two weeks to the day after the 24-year-old New York socialite married the then crown prince of Sikkim, Palden Thondup Namgyal.

Sunday, the prince will take his place as king to replace his father, Sir Tashi Namgyal, who died Dec. 2, 1963. April 4 was selected for the coronation by Buddhist holy men who said stars were in a position to bless the event.

The crown prince becomes the 12th ruler of Sikkim, which lies in the shadows of 28,168-foot Mount Kanchenjunga not far from the border of Communist China.

T.F. Federated Music Club To Stage "Figaro" April 12

The annual opera program of the Twin Falls Federated Music Club will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday, April 12, at the O'Leary Junior high school auditorium.

Every year the local music club is encouraged by the National Federation of Music Clubs to present a program featuring opera selections. This year the most ambitious undertaking in opera presentation for this area is to be presented.

The entire act II of the opera bouffe, "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart, will be sung by local artists, the production complete with staging and costumes. The opera will be sung in English.

First performed in 1786 in Vienna, "The Marriage of Figaro" is considered one of the greatest masterpieces of comedy in music. It is a delightful musical farce, and its situations and characters appeal as much to today's audiences as they did to audiences of the 18th century.

Magio Valley artists who will sing in "The Marriage of Figaro" are Mrs. Denny Patrick, Buhl; Mrs. Donald Jacobson, Jerome; Roger Vincent, Flier, and Mrs. David Mead, Ivan Squires and Charles Lassen, all Twin Falls.

Paul Kliss, Buhl, will portray the composer Mozart, and will introduce and explain the opera. Kliss is also serving as stage director for the production with Mrs. Marshall LeBaron, Kimberly, serving as stage consultant.

Members of the program committee for the performance are Mrs. Donald Youtz, Mrs. David Mead, and Mrs. Earl Riddle, Lucille Lippincott, Boise, state opera chairman of the Idaho State

Water Cut in Rome Creates Discontent

ROME, April 3 (AP) — Rome grumbled tonight about the Eternal City's latest man-made catastrophe — a water shut-off affecting more than a million residents for 57 hours.

City officials said the cut was needed to permit "inspection" of one of the aqueducts that provide Rome's increasingly scant water supply.

Vatican City was not affected by the cutoff, which went into effect at 7 p.m. (1 p.m. EST) and will last until 4 a.m. Tuesday. Although the tiny papal state is served by the Italian aqueduct, it has large water reserves which make it self-sufficient for one month.

Newspapers let out an editorial howl after the announcement Friday night of the water cutoff.

The papers wondered why the comparatively new aqueduct from the River Pescara needed checking when the centuries old papal aqueducts do not.

The cut affected the western half of the city from the new industrial districts behind the Vatican to the Colosseum and from the ritzy Parioli area to the Mussolini-built fairgrounds, Rome's new government center.

Officials said the inspection of the Pescara aqueduct was part of a long-range plan to increase Rome's water supplies, considered inadequate for a city that has experienced a 1.5 million-growth in population over the last 35 years.

However, union sources said today the feeling among the union's 33-man executive board was strongly in favor of extensions of one week or two weeks past the expiration date — if needed, and if the contract negotiators were making sufficient good progress.

These sources said both factions in the divided union leadership favored continuing the talks past April 30 "as long as possible" if a new agreement were not negotiated by then.

USW President David J. McDonald was reported anxious to negotiate "a really good contract" for the 450,000 USW members in the basic steel industry without a strike.

McDonald's current third four-year term as USW president expires June 1, but he no longer has control over the union's executive board.

Neither Side Pushing for Steel Strike

PITTSBURGH, April 3 (AP) — The current three-year wage labor contract in the steel industry expires the end of this month, but the feeling is neither side is hitting the panic button and expecting a strike.

Union leaders thus far have said it was "premature" to talk of a strike or a possible extension of the April 30 contract expiration date to make up for two months time lost in contract bargaining due to the United Steelworkers union (USW) elections, held Feb. 9.

However, union sources said today the feeling among the union's 33-man executive board was strongly in favor of extensions of one week or two weeks past the expiration date — if needed, and if the contract negotiators were making sufficient good progress.

These sources said both factions in the divided union leadership favored continuing the talks past April 30 "as long as possible" if a new agreement were not negotiated by then.

USW President David J. McDonald was reported anxious to negotiate "a really good contract" for the 450,000 USW members in the basic steel industry without a strike.

McDonald's current third four-year term as USW president expires June 1, but he no longer has control over the union's executive board.

Taxpayers Must Prove Hardship

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP) — Uncle Sam left the door ajar tonight for those who face hardship in paying their income tax in full on April 15 — but the burden of proof rests on the taxpayer.

Further, he must convince the internal revenue service that the hardship results from withholding from his pay check. The IRS, in a special announcement:

— Warned all taxpayers that their returns must be submitted by the April 15 deadline to avoid severe penalties under the law.

— Urged taxpayers to pay the full amount due at that time, if it is at all possible.

— Recommended payment of as much as possible if full payment "would result in undue hardship, as distinguished from mere inconvenience."

— Said those who do not pay in full will receive a bill for the unpaid balance.

— Instructed those receiving such balance due bills to "promptly write or visit the nearest internal revenue service office to arrange payment" over what IRS describes as a "reasonable period of time." It added that full payment should be made "as quickly as possible."

— Noted that interest at 6 percent will be charged on unpaid balances.

— Many taxpayers face problems in paying their 1964 income tax because insufficient money had been withheld from their wages or salaries.

— This is because when the two-stage tax reduction bill was passed last year the new withholding scale was put into effect at once on the basis of the full reduction which does not become effective until the tax bills for 1965. This was done primarily to inject more spendable income into the economy in 1964.

There was considerable publicity about this and many persons arranged to have employers increase sums withheld. And the IRS sent a notice to all employers pointing out the consequences of underwithholding and asked them to suggest that employees request adjustments in withholding.

IRS Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen noted "There are a number of taxpayers who in good faith did not make such adjustment. These taxpayers may not have understood the need to do so in their particular case or they may have been unable to make such an adjustment as a result of circumstances beyond their control."

Cohen then concluded: "In such cases, if the taxpayer can demonstrate that the unpaid portion of his tax is due to underwithholding, and that the immediate payment of the entire balance would result in undue hardship, as distinguished from mere inconvenience, the internal revenue service will attempt to work out arrangements for payment of the balance over a reasonable period of time."

THIS DELIGHTFUL GROUP OF HILLBILLIES provided the entertainment for the Twin Falls Ladies Golf association's fashion show and luncheon. Hillbilly renditions of old-time favorites were presented in very unique style. (Times-News photo)

Latest in Spring Finery Introduced at Luncheon

By NORMA HERZINGER

This is the year to be glad you're a girl, and to dress the part with the latest in spring finery. Dresses, separates, even sport clothes look soft and feminine for spring 1965. A complete selection of spring fashions, with emphasis placed on sportswear, was evident at the Twin Falls Ladies Golf association's annual fashion show and luncheon at Kay's Supper club. This delightful showing of "Showers of spring fashions" is a sure sign that spring is here and is the official spring kickoff for the women's association.

Navigating their way through summer fun activities comes an inspiring group of sportswear that rates high in everyone's book. It's pants, pants, pants everywhere this spring. Smooth-fitting stretch pants still lead the way and well cut pants and shorts are a welcome change from the skin-tight versions seen in the past.

Some pants even cease to be pants at all, they're cropped just at or above the knee and turn into pants suits and pants dresses. Jumpsuits play a big role for action or leisure. Fabrics for spring are ideal for sportswear. Stretch is especially important and moves in various directions, vertical, horizontal and new, two-way.

Color is an important factor for spring ensembles. Keep your eyes on coral-pinks, gold-greens, aqua-toned blues and sunshine yellows, these are the ones leading the hit parade. Dresses for this new season are gently fitted, but not tight. If anything, they seem to follow a more simple line and are more elegant, if possible. Dresses for that special dance look as though they were meant for dancing, with full skirts that swing with the music.

All the lovely fashions modeled by women from the Twin Falls Ladies Golf association were from the Mayfair shop, with shoes from Karl's Shoe store. Hair styles for the models were

MRS. JOHN McNEES is shown wearing a raspberry two-piece knit ensemble and finds it very hard to decide just which pair of shoes looks the best. Shoes for the fashion show were from Karl's Shoe store. (Times-News photo)

PLAIDS speak for themselves as Mrs. John (Nora) Allen wears this favorite golfing ensemble. Perfect length, cutties, matching waist and a lime green blouse provide a perfect outfit for the golf course. No matter how she scores mathematically on the golf course, she will score as a hit with this ensemble for spring. (Times-News photo)

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Editor's Note: The Times-News welcomes the suggestions of its readers. A section entitled "The Green Thumb" is a leading specialist who writes on gardening. He and his wife conduct a commercial greenhouse and landscape business. Their new ideas are tried before they are passed on to readers. If you have a home gardening problem, write to the Green Thumb for your helping hand.

AFRICAN VIOLETS: Probably many Times-News readers are having trouble with this finicky plant. The lowest night temperature should be around 60 to 65 degrees. Lower than this, the plants make poor growth. It's always a good idea to remove faded blooms to prevent seed formation. Seed deters further bud development.

Leaking gas, even in the tiniest amount may cause buds to drop. If your leaves sag or bend over, it may be due to low temperature, a factor which also causes leaves to rot and plants to form no blooms. Plants that make vigorous growth but produce few or no flowers are getting too little light.

FREE: The Green Thumb wants to become acquainted with every Times-News gardener. To do this, I'd like to offer, free of charge, a copy of our bulletin, "How to Grow African Violets." My guide tells how florists grow these plants so they'll bloom every day of the year.

New Veterans Home Plans Affirmed

BOISE, April 3 (UP) — Idaho Veterans affairs commission executive secretary, Larry Laughridge, said today the group has reaffirmed its approval of plans for a new state veterans home. Laughridge said bids for construction could be called by Oct. 1 if the state permanent building council approves the basic plan and authorizes architects to proceed with working drawings. The new home would be located near the Boise Veterans' hospital. It would replace the present home on State street. The last two regular legislative sessions have appropriated a total of $675,000 for the project.

Deaths From Meningitis Increase

BOISE, April 3 (UP) — The number of deaths in Idaho this year related to meningitis has stepped up. A 17-year-old rural Wilder girl died yesterday from a disease close to meningitis, and it was learned later that a 14-month-old Kellogg boy died from meningitis. The cases brought to five the number of Idaho deaths this year due to the organism that causes meningitis. Earlier victims were a 12-year-old Idaho Falls boy, a 10-month-old McCammon girl, and attorney Larry Douglas Hansen, Shoshone. An airman from Wilder, John Bartlett, fell ill with the disease but was successfully treated at a Caldwell hospital. Ann Van Slyke, a student at Homedale high school, died at Caldwell hospital yesterday. Physicians said the disease was not actually meningitis because the organism of meningitis was in the blood stream and not the brain. The Kellogg child died this week and remains unidentified, but Dr. John Mather, preventive medicine director for the state, confirmed the child's death. Mather said the incidence of meningitis in the state this year is higher than usual. But he says there is no epidemic.

School-Aid Bill Pushed By Mansfield

WASHINGTON, April 3 (UP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield today threw his weight behind the drive to secure senate approval of President Johnson's 13 billion dollar school-aid bill exactly as it passed the house. The maneuver is designed to avoid delay and controversy of a senate-house conference on differing bills. If the tactic is successful, it could put the bill on Johnson's desk before Easter—perhaps even by the end of next week. Chairman Wayne Morse, D. Ore., has succeeded in staving off all amendments to the house-passed bill in the senate education subcommittee. Morse will take the same line when the parent labor and public welfare committee considers the bill Tuesday. Mansfield told UPI in an interview that he hopes the senate will go along when it acts on the bill. He said senate debate will start Wednesday if the labor committee approves the house bill, as expected, at its Tuesday session. Key provisions authorize participation by students from private schools—including students who attend parochial and other church-connected schools. Like the ill-fated school construction bills of recent years, the constitutionality of the President's bill has been challenged in some quarters. More than one billion dollars of the bill's 13 billion dollars in aid for elementary and secondary schools would be channeled to fight poverty.

Hairdressers Begin State Parley Here

Registration for the 250 hairdressers and cosmetologists began Saturday afternoon at the Roosevelt hotel for their annual state convention. The meeting will continue Sunday and conclude Monday evening, according to Mrs. Esther Smack, chairman of the event. The hair fashion committee met Saturday morning with guest artist, David Long, Dallas, Tex., who will instruct the committee for the style show which will be presented Monday in cooperation with the Mayfair dress shop. Long represents the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association and will be giving private lessons to registered cosmetologists during his stay. He was a member of the Olympic hair fashion team which represented the United States last year. H. L. Herby Derick, city manager, will speak at the banquet Sunday evening and some of the trophies will be presented in the hairdressing contests. "Idaho Vacation Wonderland" will be depicted in a style show Sunday night, with 12 models representing their respective unit of the state. The girls will be dressed to show the vacation of their area and 50 per cent of the judging will be on the hair style. A queen will be selected from the models. Delegate sessions will be held Sunday and new officers will be elected and installed at the banquet. Other contest trophies will be awarded Monday night for student and novice hairdressing contests. SPECIAL SERVICES SET FAIRFIELD, April 3 — Robert C. Harlow, assistant to the president of Cascade college will hold pre-Easter services at the Community church, repairs the Rev. W. Building Council Meets April 15

BOISE, April 3 (UP) — The permanent building fund advisory council is expected to complete work on the 1963-64 state building program and take a look at projects authorized for the coming biennium at a meeting scheduled for April 15 in Boise. Public Works Commissioner Arthur Warren said the meeting was called at the request of Gov. Robert E. Smylie, who asked that the council begin planning now for the eight million dollar construction program authorized by the 1965 legislature. He said, however, that before work on the new program is taken up, the council will clear up the remainder of the current program including authorization for construction of a new art and architectural building at the University of Idaho.

Death Toll In Chile Is Set at 250

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 3 (UP) — Authorities today placed the official death toll in last Sunday's massive earthquake at 250. The number of bodies recovered was 80. "On this we must add 170 persons buried at El Cobre as a consequence of the bursting of the El Soldado tailing's dam. Undersecretary of the Interior Juan Hamilton told reporters. He said 54 persons were injured and more than 200 had minor cuts and bruises. The national police estimated the death toll at 255 but this figure included four mountain climbers killed in an avalanche which may have been triggered by the quake.

A U.S. air force Globemaster arrived today from the Canal Zone with a 600-gallon per hour water purifier with a four-man crew. It was officially delivered in a brief ceremony presided over by U.S. Ambassador Ralph Duncan. Antibiotics and other medicines also arrived and more aid was due Monday. The homeless were being temporarily housed in army tents but plans called for construction of 5,000 prefabricated homes this month.

Narcotic Bill Veto Rapped By Shepard

BOISE, April 3 (UP) — Atty. Gen. Allan G. Shepard reiterates his belief that a bill passed by the 1965 legislature but vetoed by Gov. Robert E. Smylie would have aided in reducing illegal sale of narcotics in Idaho. Smylie said he vetoed the measure because it failed to provide funds for enforcement. Shepard, who urged enactment of the bill, said the enactment chance club Friday he believed the measure would have helped in enforcement. But he said there was "nothing underhanded or political in Smylie's veto of the measure. The attorney general repeated earlier statements that Idaho lacks a serious narcotics control problem but that the potential danger exists. "I don't want Idaho to reach the point of narcotics trouble face by some states," Shepard said. "The most horrible thing I can contemplate is to see it obtain a hold on the teenagers."

Nixon Warns On Giving Up Viet Nam

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3 (UP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said yesterday, "if the United States gives up on South Viet Nam, Asia will give up on the United States." Nixon told about 1,000 persons at the Commonwealth club of California that if South Viet Nam falls then Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, Burma and Indonesia also would fall. "The United States would be confronted with the necessity of saving the Philippines," he said. He added that neutralist forces in Japan have been growing recently and "Japan would be pulled toward neutralism or even communism." Nixon discounted the possibilities of winning by negotiation or neutralization. He said the "goals of the United States should be limited to winning the war in Viet Nam without demanding the unconditional surrender of the Viet Cong, without destroying North Viet Nam and without destroying Red China."

Liberals to Broaden Bill On Voting

WASHINGTON, April 3 (UP) — Senate liberals began a drive today to broaden the scope of President Johnson's proposed Negro voting rights bill. But a Republican associate objected to any flat ban on state literacy tests on grounds it might render the legislation unconstitutional. Sen. Hugh Scott, R., Pa., agreed with the liberal bloc that the bill should be toughened. He said in a statement, however, that if literacy tests are outlawed, the measure would be subject to constitutional attack in the courts. The liberal drive to expand the bill's reach came from eight Senate Democrats who wrote Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., that the administration-backed measure doesn't go far enough. They offered their views as the senate judiciary committee planned to close hearings on the bill Monday. Hearings by a house judiciary subcommittee have concluded and the group will meet Tuesday to begin drafting the precise language of the measure. Final action, expected later in the week, would send the measure to the full committee for approval about mid-April. No floor action is anticipated, however, until May at the earliest. In another development, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach will meet again Monday with a bipartisan group of congressional leaders to work on a series of amendments that may help meet liberal demands. Staff lawyers for senate leaders of both parties and justice department attorneys agreed tentatively Friday night on changes to meet some of the constitutional arguments and to broaden its scope in some respects.

C. of C. Aids Youngsters In Geography

In addition to assisting the older set with information on Magic Valley, the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce also helps many elementary students from all over the world in their social studies classes. Each month Mrs. E. W. McRoberts, office secretary, sends out about 60 letters to young inquerrers with pamphlets and information they request. Her duties have taken her as far as her backyard, where she had to dig up some "Idaho soil" for one child. She packaged the soil in plastic and mailed it. According to Mrs. McRoberts most of the letters request information about the Snake river, Shoshone falls, and the city and state in general. One frustrated boy from Houston, Tex., wrote "I am 10 years old and go to Shadow Oaks elementary school. I would like to have some information about your city. I need this if I'll get an 'F' in geography. Thank you." An Indiana student in asking for pamphlets said, "I would appreciate it very much if you're busy with other problems, but I would be very grateful." "I would like to know 1962 state bird and other things," wrote an Illinois youth. A child from New York requested information about the state because "my grandmother is moving to Idaho." Although the writing paper and legibility of the letters vary in quality, Mrs. McRoberts says that nearly all the children say "please" and "thank you." Most of the letters are destroyed after they are answered, but she keeps some of the "razz ones."

Cryder Shaves Bar in Vault Record Attempt as Bruins Take Track Win

Scott Cryder shaved the bar on his third attempt for a Twin Falls track pole vault record Saturday afternoon but he did not come out on top of the event with a vault of 12 feet, 8 inches as the Twin Falls Bruins won a four-way track meet by a wide margin at the Twin Falls high school. Other teams were Jerome, Highland of Pocatello and Butte of Arco. The Bruins won all relay events and George Smith gave the Twin Falls squad two more first places in the 220-yard dash and the 440-yard run. Scott Strong won the 100-yard dash in 10.5. Brown took the discus event with a toss of 149 feet, 9 inches and Frank Fox put the shot a distance of 46 feet, 4 inches to give the Bruins three more firsts.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY
The feud between the colleges and Amateur Athletic Union over the control of American amateur sports continues to wage and despite several million words being written on its subject it is difficult to decide which side is correct. However, this corner reiterates its earlier stand that the NCAA is correct and the rights of the individual athletes are infringed upon and right now both sides are doing just that with threats of suspensions and disqualifications for taking part in unsanctioned meets.

Few countries in the world have this problem or ever will see one like it as in most instances the sports program is directed by the government. This is a situation that the United States should not want to evolve. The feud has been described as a power struggle between East and West, our own little cold war.

The sacrosanct AAU dominates the East as surely as the Celtics dominate basketball. This was proved when the AAU called the line and the ICA schools and Eastern Athletic conference danced to it.

Westerners don't care much for domination from anybody but Easterners particularly. The colleges and those most vocal opponents all come from the far West, hardly enjoy seeing 17 AAU officials going overens on AAU funds and then stoutly arguing that only a five-man team could make the trip because funds weren't available to take more.

Charges from the West also state the AAU uses its control to coerce participation in eastern indoor meets. Some stoutly maintain that the former Kansas Miller, Wes Santee, would still be an amateur if he hadn't declined to go east for an AAU sponsored meet merely to stay home and rest up after two races the week before. College track coaches claim being capable of feeding off a long list of instances where runners were told to choose between college finals and suspension or run in a meet a couple of thousand miles away.

There can be no doubt the pompous AAU and its "simon pure" amateur ideals deserve a few black eyes.

The thing that makes it so powerful is that the AAU has the international say in everything and that is something that appears to be totally American in other countries that operate free of governmental encumbrances, nearly each sport has its own say. The swimming federation picks the swim team, the track group the track team, etc. Sometimes there is overlap but nowhere else does one find the machine the colleges must buck. The US AAU controls all. There is no tiny spot to gain a foothold.

So dual sanction demands, physical facilities and loud wailing is about all that's left. It is the only collegiate leverage available.

It is for sure that colleges control the great bulk of physical plants and the AAU runners can't hold a track meet without a track.

Colleges also have the firmer hold on the flower of the nation's athletes but its four-year tenure is too brief to be invincible.

Also while the NCAA is spearheading the dissident group it hardly seems the organization to put in control. The NCAA is basically a policing institution—originally not to curb over-zealous recruiting. They quite evidently weren't willing to trust each other—so they then—But their ability there seems to have evolved into penalizing success as the winners are spanked much more than the losers. And

Clark Is First Swimmer To Crack 46 Seconds in 100-Yard Freestyle

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 3 (AP)—Steve Clark, Yale's Olympian, became the first swimmer ever to break 46 seconds in the 100-yard freestyle tonight, an impressive performance that highlighted the national AAU men's indoor championships. The 21-year-old winner of three gold medals at the Tokyo Olympics sprinted the distance in 45.6 seconds. Swimming experts rated the performance the equivalent of the breaking of the four-minute mile barrier in track. When the time was announced, the capacity crowd of 2,300 cheered wildly for several minutes. Clark, the defending champion who had qualified in 46.7, led from the start in the final, beating Viljanovas Rick Gardner by five feet.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 3 (AP)—Mighty Randy Matson, Texas A and M, threw the shot 67 feet, 9 inches to come within one inch of the world's record today as 16 records were set and two tied in the Texas relays. Matson had throws of 61 feet, 9 1/2 inches and 61 feet, 10 1/2 inches before unlocking the great heave that almost nipped Dallas Long's world mark of 67 feet, 10 inches set in 1964.

Firearms Course Benefits Valley Youths

Seventh grade students from nearly all Magic Valley schools are benefiting from the Idaho fish and game department's firearms safety course. With completion of 683 students from Twin Falls this week, the department narrowed the number of students to about 250, mostly in the west corner of the state. Since December at least 3,000 boys and girls have participated in the program.

SIGHTING TIPS under actual conditions are explained by Twin Falls area conservation officer Jim Craig. The course consists of three one-hour sessions in which the students are taught the various methods of spotting and naming fish, birds and big game. In most cases, although not all, the classes are concluded with a practical handling of firearms through firing of 10 rounds at indoor ranges.

Hall To All (5), ridden by John Sellers, is second. Gallant Lad (not shown) was third. The winner stumbled and went to his knees at the start but recovered and came on to win. (AP wirephoto)

Meanwhile, the "bugged" birds will be located through means of triangulation with the definite spotting completed through use of a portable directional receiver. The signal, a steady tone, can be picked up at a distance of about three miles.

Each bird will be closely followed daily although the department will not use 24-hour surveillance. The signal will tell the team if the hen is continuing to nest or has abandoned it. If any movement is discovered, if one would-be mother does abandon its nest, she will be immediately recaptured and the apparatus placed on a new prospect.

The Dubois area was selected because of its greater grouse population.

"When we find where one or two of the birds are nesting we catch them and take a density census," Pyrah says. "This will be a big help just to know the location. In years past we've spent two weeks walking an area and found only two or three nests. With this system we can immediately pinpoint at least four and expect others to be in the same area."

"After the nesting period we can follow the migration of the hens and their broods. We believe the flocks using the Medicine Lodge creek strutting grounds summer in Montana—about 35 miles away. Now we can find out for sure," he adds.

The project is in effect a crash program aimed at keeping the threatened sage grouse on the Idaho hunting list. The crux of the threat is the chemical spraying of sagebrush by the bureau of land management.

Costa Rican Student Talks At PTA Meet

HEYBURN, April 3 — Jose Saleno, exchange student from Costa Rica, was guest speaker Thursday evening during the Heyburn school PTA meeting.

He said that education here differs greatly from that in his country. The elementary school takes six years to complete and five years for high school. These two levels of learning are offered free to students, and the maximum amount paid for college is $75.

He said there are not any "hot lunches" served at school as the students live nearby and are allowed two hours for lunch. All school subjects are required in Costa Rica, which differs from the students' personal selection in this country.

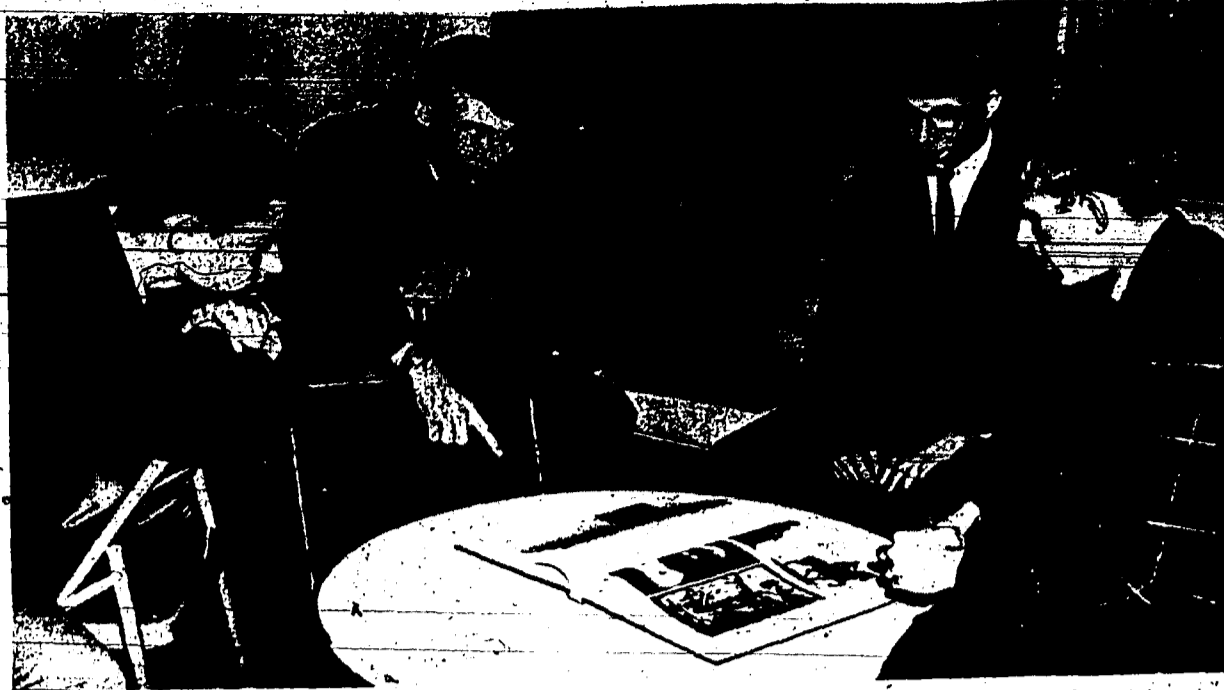

In comparing the size of his country, he pointed out that Idaho might be twice as big as Costa Rica. Potatoes are raised there, but they are not as large in size as the Idaho potato, he said.

The temperature in Costa Rica averages around 68 degrees the year around, and there is never snow. He enjoys skiing and plays golf.

This summer he will take a two-week tour with other exchange students of several eastern states. The group has hopes of having an interview with President Johnson, while in Washington, D.C.

When he returns to his country, he plans to attend college and train as an English teacher.

He displayed a picture of his grandmother and great-grandmother. His father, a farmer, is 58, his grandmother is 83 and his great-grandmother is 108. He said his great-grandmother still

New PTA officers were elected with L. M. (Dick) Whittaker as president; Everett Savage, vice president; Mrs. Verdean Stoddard, secretary, and Mrs. Clyde Sillin, treasurer.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Wayne Rogers. Mrs. Everett Savage directed community singing, accompanied by Lund Christensen.

"The Wilcox Four," a mixed quartet composed of Anita Wilcox, Joyce Wilcox, Francis Wilcox and Ronald Wilcox, sang two selections.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Verlon Sutton. Mrs. Sillin reported the scholarship fund night will be held May 7 at Mimico, and will feature a program of music.

It was proposed to amend the by-laws and allow this unit to install a second vice president. The group will vote on this during the May meeting.

The election of officers for the county council PTA will be held Friday.

Stories About "Old Days" in West Mark Pair as History Storehouse

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor

If you say that you are 39 years old—reversed, that is, and you have a wife named Nellie who is 90 years old, then you must be a man by the name of Benjamin Franklin Hoover, who has lived in Twin Falls for 50 years and within five miles of here for the last 38 years.

And if that is your name—and you are him—then you are filled with just about the biggest storehouse of knowledge on the "old days" possible for one man to absorb.

Hoover, who lives with his wife at the trailer court on Blue Lakes boulevard south which bears his name and which was the first one in the state, still keeps his own set of books, is concerned and interested in national, regional and local news and reads without glasses.

And about the trailer park, which, of course, is being changed now and then, Hoover declares that "we were here so long ago that some people didn't even have trailers. We rented them the space and they put up tents."

Talking to the Hoovers is like listening to a lively discussion of a mixture of past and current happenings. He has his mind made up on many things and one of them is homes for the aged—those places called rest homes.

"There's just no future there. There's just too many old people," he seriously declared.

The Hoovers now have a woman come in to tidy up their place of residence and do a little cooking for them, but otherwise they pretty well take care of themselves. They actually did much more than that until Mrs. Hoover became ill because of a minor

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, SUNDAY, APRIL 4, 1965

Wives of Burley's Singing K's Made Initial Program Memorable

BURLEY, April 3—It was just a little more than one year ago that the Singing K's of the Burley Kiwanis club sang their first songs in public—but the appearance will never be forgotten.

The thing that will assure this is the fact that the wives of the members—who were not really much of the opinion that their husbands were serious about the project—did one of those swooning and screaming acts like the younger set puts on when Bobby Darin starts to warble.

In fact, the first appearance was so startling that music was momentarily forgotten, the place on the printed page was lost in the screaming, and the group had to start over.

That debacle was at a ladies' night party on March 13, 1964. Since that rather shaky start, the rise of the Singing K's has been rapid and now they are preparing for the biggest jump of all, which will see them featured at the international convention of Kiwanis slated for New York City during the July 4 period.

More than 20,000 Kiwanians from around the world will attend.

As if that featured appearance was not enough—something else has been added. For instance, they will appear at the World's Fair on July 5 on Idaho day and again on July 6 during Kiwanis day. Before they return home it is expected that they also will appear in Washington, D. C., Chicago and Ft. Wayne, Ind., just to pinpoint a few places.

Getting the 24 members of the unique singing organization back to New York City and Washington is no small matter. The total cost will hit in the neighborhood of $5,000, and it is being raised in various ways.

Most of Burley is getting behind the move (even the rival Rotary club made a substantial donation for the trip) and a chartered Greyhound bus will leave for the East from Burley the evening of July 1.

At least four members, who cannot take so much time off, will board the special Kiwanis air trip leaving Salt Lake City a couple of days later and arrive in New York City the same day.

This plane has been chartered by the Utah-Idaho district Kiwanis through the Magic Carpet Travel, Twin Falls.

Ted Kelsey, president of the local Kiwanis club, and Frank Kearns, the secretary, will make the trip with the singing group. Bruce Young, vice-president, is one of the singers.

Actually, the big break in the career of the Singing K's came in Twin Falls when they appeared at a banquet honoring the international president. They went over with a "bang" and the visiting executive, much impressed, said they were "good enough to sing at the international convention." The ball started rolling right then.

Director of the organization is Clifford Jackson, an accomplished pianist and organist. He sings in the baritone division. But the fund raising still goes on.

There will be a two-hour "World Fair of Music" program at the Burley high school auditorium April 16 and then a Kiwanis White elephant auction at the fairgrounds April 17.

April 24 will proceed from bowling at the Y-Dell bowl will go into the fund and in May there will be a Singing K breakfast at the Elks club. This will be followed by an outdoor barbecue in June.

Only recently the Burley radio station—KBAR—turned over the station to the Kiwanis club for a day, and all advertising money went into the fund. The Chamber of Commerce, the police department and individuals have joined in along the way.

The Idaho potato and onion commission is providing bright yellow shirts for members of the group, monogrammed of the back to identify the Singing K's from Burley, Ida., and advertising the state's potatoes.

The design was drawn by Jerry Allen, a student at the local high school. All school students competed in the design contest, with Jerry's being selected as best.

"It is a lot of work, but it proves that in a community like Burley there is still the spirit of everyone helping his neighbor."

David Lewis, a Singing K member, said.

Members of the unit come from all walks of life. The members and their occupations are: Neil Anderson, city engineer; Ron Archibald, music director of the Burley schools; E. R. Blauer, district manager Amalgamated Sugar company; Dale Brooks, district maintenance supervisor, Bonneville power.

Laplanders Try to Alter Public Image

By PRESTON GROVER

ROVANIEMI, Finland, April 3 (AP)—There are 250,000 reindeer in Lapland—and 220,000 people who wish the world thought of them as something other than reindeer herders.

I came up here, beyond the Arctic circle, to have a look at this part of Finland, for while reindeer raising is one of the least important of Finnish industries, it is the most colorful. It is Finland's equivalent of the U.S. Wild West.

When I faced a group of city officials and reporters in the Lapland provincial capital, the first thing they wanted to know was what I expected to find in Lapland. I told them that when the word Laplander is mentioned in America it conjures a picture of a man in furry leggings and beribboned hat racing over the snow behind a pair of antlers.

That was the picture in my schoolboy geography.

"We hope you will help correct that impression," said one reporter, a bit austerely.

Then they talked about Lapland, and especially about Rovaniemi. Before the war the city had 8,000 population and was secure and happy. During the war, after the Finns sued for an armistice with the victorious Russians, the German army backed out through Finland into Norway. In retaliation against the Finns for getting out of the war, they burned almost every settlement in Lapland. This city didn't

Bedsheets Converted to Bandages by T.F. Group

About once a month the members of St. Edward's Catholic Women's league literally tear the place apart. They take old bed-sheets, linens and white shirts and rip them up one side and down the other. The casual observer might think the good ladies of the parish have finally gone off the deep end, but it is all for a good purpose.

The ladies are rolling bandages and making items for the Catholic medical missions and as far as it can be determined, the group here in Twin Falls is the only group rolling bandages in the state of Idaho. The group has been active for almost four years and in that time has rolled an estimated half-ton of bandages.

The output is dependent on their income. Without adequate material to make bandages, there is no production. Thus, when the supply of bedsheets, linens and shirts is plentiful, the ladies are busy.

The material is ripped into lengths about three or four inches wide and after some work and preparation it is rolled into rolls of various lengths.

Most of the members credit Mrs. B. L. Kreilkamp with getting the program going in Twin Falls. She is the wife of Dr. B. L. Kreilkamp and, through off the credit, preferring to let it pass as a community project.

In a land where gauze and packaged medicine is readily available, the homemade bandages look somewhat out of place. But in some remote parts of the world where civilization is just making inroads, the bandages can represent a glance into what the future holds.

So often in the care of natives in many foreign nations the treatment of body must work hand in hand with any spiritual endeavor. Christianity doesn't remain on the altar. It must go out into the community to illustrate that it can be carried over into everyday living, says Mrs. Kreilkamp.

It becomes a matter of practicing what is preached, before it is preached.

The women of the parish during the past year expanded their project to include the parish of the Rev. Thomas O'Halloran in Guatemala. Father O'Halloran is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O'Halloran, 442 Blue Lakes boulevard, and is now serving with the Catholic mission in that nation.

The group here in Twin Falls has included Father O'Halloran's mission in its project. He may not be able to give the natives the shirt off his back, but he might be able to see that get the shirt off his former neighbor's back.

All white shirts given to the ladies and collected by the ladies are not ripped into bandages. If the shirts are serviceable they are converted into hospital gowns. The sleeves are shortened, buttons and the collar is removed. A little touch up work is done on a sewing machine and the shirt is converted.

A second part of the women's work consists of a program called the Madonna plan, or the China Doll plan.

A few of the women concerned

Touch of Old Holland Set In Michigan

HOLLAND, Mich., April 3 (AP)—A picturesque development is taking shape here under civic sponsorship. It someday may become a major American tourist attraction.

The development captures the heritage of old Holland, as Dearborn's Greenfield Village does that of early America.

It was from the Netherlands that the forebears of most of this city's 24,916 residents migrated to the Lake Michigan coast between Muskegon and Benton Harbor.

The development is "Windmill Island," and its centerpiece is a real, working Dutch windmill built more than 200 years ago, dismantled in the Netherlands and reassembled here.

Prince Bernhard, consort to Holland's Queen Juliana, is scheduled to come here for the dedication April 10.

The mill's 36-acre island is created by a 3,000-foot authentic copy of a Dutch canal, complete with dikes and drawbridge. The canal runs across a peninsula formed by a bend in the Black River.

A posthouse will duplicate such an old country structure of the 17th century. Also under contract is a Dutch house, with attached barn and adjoining herb garden, to be built from the same 1659 plans the Netherlands government is using in its open air museum of Arnhem.

WOMEN OF THE Shoshone Methodist church were helped in refinishing the oak pews this past year by Ross Borden, left, and John Thomas. Besides assisting the women in the project, the two men made new altar rails for the sanctuary. Borden, who has made more than 100 of the recipe holders which resemble a small pulpit, hands one of them to Mrs. Wandell Elliott, vice president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. Proceeds from sale of recipe holders go to the church building fund.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

"When there is a will, there is a way." This is especially true when women are involved and as proof, the congregation of the SHOSHONE Community Methodist church is now sitting on newly refinished oak pews. The project had been talked about ever since the church received the pews several years ago from the RUPERT Methodist church whose members purchased new ones when they built their new church. The back breaking job began all of a sudden last summer when the pews were removed from the recently redecorated sanctuary in order to wax the new tile floor. Some of the Methodist men decided to leave half of the pews in the unfinished educational unit instead of returning them to the sanctuary, so this is how the project finally got started.

The first work parties found a good number working on them, but as the summer days became shorter, the job looked bigger and the crew became smaller. All sorts of ideas came forth such as having each family finish a pew, but with this there was danger of some standing or sitting on the floor.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service decided in September that it would give the job a "whirl," so an afternoon each week was set aside to work. Only a few women participated, but they were faithful. The president of the society was a "pusher" and was affectionately called "Simon Legree."

The job was a big one and after a couple of weeks, it was decided that another electric sander was needed. The ladies decided to ask Ross Borden, a retired carpenter who is the oldest living resident male member of the church, to help them in their plight.

He was happy to be of assistance and devoted many days of work to the pews.

"It is always good to have one roe among the thorns," one lady commented.

Before Christmas half of the pews were finished and back in the sanctuary. This pleased the congregation, for it seemed no scared ones.

The sanctuary has such a bright look now with the newly finished pews, bright new red carpet down the aisle (purchased by the Methodist men and WSCS), new tile floors and light fixtures (a memorial gift to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin McMahon), and a red velvet doile cloth given by a number of the women, and paneled walls that were paid for by the accumulated memorial fund.

The women can make fine testimonials as to the best of sandpaper, varnish remover, steel wool, as well as skin and nail remover.

The job inspired one member to re-finish a four-poster bed and piano, while two did coffee tables and another has started on a dining room set.

When a lull came in the new project, the president of the WSCS, Mrs. Marvin Pearson, asked Borden if he would make some little wooden recipe holders which resembled little pulpits.

She asked him to make a dozen to begin with as she felt they could be readily sold and would boost the building fund. She painted and finished them. The women's "dear-carpenter-friend" has made over a hundred of the little pulpits and sales are still going well.

Borden told the women one day that he would like to join the WSCS, so they thought his wish should be granted. He calls the group the "Wild Service Construction society."

Recently they presented him an "official looking" fancy printed certificate printed by Vernon Davidson, Shoshone, making him an honorary member of the WSCS.

It is noted his service was over and beyond the call of duty with many obstacles. The certificate was rolled and tied in a nylon stocking. Within a few days he had made a frame for it with the nylon forming a bow at the top of the frame.

Borden was born in Salt Lake City in 1891 and came to Idaho with his father by wagon when he was a lad of 10 years. He and his father farmed on the Camas prairie near FAIRFIELD before moving to Shoshone. It was four years before the whole family moved from Utah.

He was married to Ruth Ames Wicks. They had a son, Charles, and daughter, Frances, who still live in Shoshone. The whole family has been active in the Methodist church for many years. Mrs. Borden served as president of the former Ladies Aid society.

Borden's uncle, the Rev. Henry Parker, was one of Idaho's first Methodist ministers.

Borden and his father were in the blacksmith, hardware, lumber and coal business here for many years.

Women of the WSCS who put in the long hours working on the pews included Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Wandell Elliott, Mrs. Robert Ballard, Mrs. William Froescher, Mrs. Jack Dunn, and Mrs. Jeff Haynes who was the cleanup woman.

Defiant Artist Has Suit, But State Does, Too—an Eviction

SONORA, Calif., April 3 (AP)—The state of California this week went to court against a gold country artist who defied authority by wearing a Brooks Brothers suit.

Charles Surendorf, 59, was under orders from the state to wear a costume of the 1850s or get out of his gallery in the Columbia historical park by midnight Thursday night.

But he opened his doors wearing a brown tweed from Brooks and declared that his costume was "very authentic" because the firm was founded in 1818 and its clothing has varied little ever since.

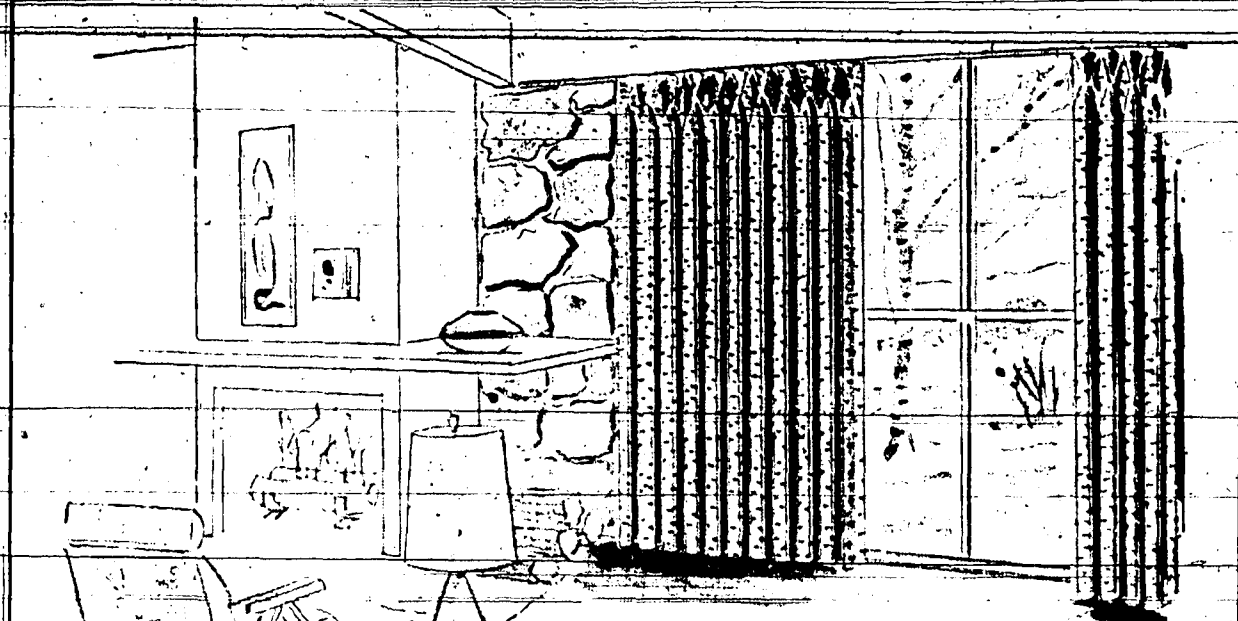

State officials were not impressed. They had a suit of their own—an eviction—which they filed Friday in Tuolumne county district court.

Surendorf, known for his paintings of the gold country, came to Columbia, an old gold mining town, in 1948. When the state took over recently and began a restoration, he, like other merchants, signed a concession contract in which he agreed to wear a 1850 costume.

But, unlike the others, he has generally kept to his habit of wearing shorts, levis, and other routine clothing items.

"According to historians, the artist always wore what he pleased. That's what I'm doing," he said.

Surendorf's contract with the state expired Dec. 31 and officials gave him 30 days to get out. At that time, he was wearing crepe soles and casual sweaters.

Department Has Experimented With Planting of Exotic Fish in Idaho

BY JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho fish-game department
BOISE, April 3—A correspondent from Idaho Falls sends a news feature clipping from Utah on the subject of the brown trout and wants to know whether the Idaho fish and game department plans to increase its yearly production of this species because he "would rather fish for the brown trout than any other . . ."

Other fishermen want to know why the department does not plant muskies or walleyes in Idaho. They name other exotics, too, without knowing or remembering that the now lowly carp was highly esteemed by the pioneers and introduced into Idaho and other western states.

The sun-bonneted women and bearded men also naturalized the pond fishes, the largemouth and smallmouth bass, the black crappie, bluegills, sunfish, pumpkinseed, bullheads and channel catfish.

Some of these species are unqualified successes in their new homes. Some are failures: Bass, bluegills and channel catfish, for example, fill habitat niches that formerly were unoccupied by resident species. Although embarrassingly prolific, the carp nonetheless is rated as a failure because anglers want no part of him these days.

Popularity is no problem for the bass, yellow perch, bullhead, sunfish and crappie, but good habitat often results in population explosions, ruthless competition for feed and stunted individuals. This very popularity sometimes stymies chemical control measures even though the fishing may be marginal or even substandard.

Northern Idaho anglers and visitors from other parts of the state and many places throughout the country are enthusiastic about mackinaw and Kamloops trout, two exotics that have prospered under ideal habitat conditions.

Kamloops are natives of central British Columbia. They were introduced into Lake Pend Oreille in 1941 and have reached the record size of 37 pounds.

Mackinaw are native to the Great Lakes region, Canada and east through New England. Although planted in several deep Idaho lakes with rocky shoals and reefs and a plentiful supply of forage, they are well established only in the Panhandle's Priest lake near the Canadian border.

A new Idaho record was set last year when a monster weighing just over 54 pounds was boated.

Stacy V. Gebhardt, Jerome fishery biologist, wrote a definitive article for the Idaho Wildlife Review called "Exotic Fishes—Good or Bad?" This now is available from the fish and game department as a reprint leaflet.

He lists 18 fish species that have been introduced here and tells why they took hold or failed. Commenting that there are over 700 species of fresh water fishes in North America, he adds that this number can be reduced to a few dozen which are not native to Idaho but might prosper in the right habitat.

Following are the standards for the introduction of exotics:—It must be a game fish that will provide good catchability. Although a species may successfully establish itself, it serves no useful purpose unless it is readily taken by fishermen.

—All of the habitat requirements of a species, including water chemistry—physical features of the environment—water temperatures, food and spawning areas, must be carefully evaluated. Many plantings of exotics have either failed completely or backfired and produced stunted populations because one or more of the habitat requirements were lacking, or below optimum.

—Exotic species should not be competitive with other desirable species to the extent that they become a nuisance or undesirable.

—Planting sites should be selected so that a species can not migrate into other waters where they may become a problem.

—The species should be self-perpetuating and not dependent upon annual restocking. This can go to other extremes if fish with high reproductive potentials are not subjected to predation or heavy fishing pressure.

—If the species must be restocked, periodic costs of procuring, transporting, rearing and planting should be on an economic basis.

Gebhardt lists the following fish species that have been introduced into Idaho, giving their natural range, habitat requirements and the success or failure of the plantings:

Landlocked Salmon—Native range limited to New England states on Atlantic seaboard. Idaho introduction unsuccessful because this species needs lake smell as forage.

Muskellunge—Native range upper Mississippi, Great lakes and St. Lawrence system. Seven pounds of forage fish converts to one pound of muskie. Because of specific habitat requirements, lack of planting stocks and muddy water, muskies do not show much promise for Idaho.

Northern Pike—Range, habitat and life history same as muskie and not promising for Idaho.

Walleye—Range southern Canada, Great lakes and Mississippi valley to Georgia and Alabama. Slow growth rate on diet of 15-20 small fish daily. Average size 1-4 pounds. Suitable Idaho habitat extremely limited and would not pay out expense of introduction.

Brook trout—Native range Appalachian streams south to Georgia, and northern tier of states from New England to Iowa north to Arctic circle. Commonly overpopulate and form stunted populations without moderate fishing pressure or competition and predation from other species.

Golden trout—Native to south fork of Kern river in California at elevations of 10,000 feet. They are readily adaptable to high mountain lakes with short growing seasons and spawning streams for reproduction. However, they are less sporting than other trout, poorer eating and

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT . . . J. Henry Docktor, Rupert Banker, Is Enthusiastic Community Promoter

RUPERT, April 3—J. Henry Docktor, an enthusiastic community and church leader, finds people in general very interesting and admits he is really a country boy at heart.

Active in the Rupert Rotary club and Chamber of Commerce, Docktor is assistant manager of the Rupert State Bank and believes "as the farmer goes, so goes the community." He is interested and active in farm programs and promotional in the county.

Docktor is a member of the Minidoka county farm management committee and a member of the county potato committee. After becoming a member of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce three years ago and presently vice president of the organization, he has continually promoted agriculture as a member of that committee.

He served as chairman of the committee in 1964 and is chamber director of the committee this year.

Successful promotions noted by the agricultural committee includes the annual Business Agriculture dinner held in November.

In November, 1964, some 315 farmers and businessmen gathered at the St. Nicholas Catholic parish for a banquet to promote better relations between farmers and businessmen in the county. Farm organizations in the county were responsible for submitting farm couples to attend as well as submitting a candidate from their organization for the outstanding Farmer of the Year award.

The winner, determined by members of the agricultural committee as well as other representatives including the county agent, is chosen according to a point system. The winner, as well as other candidates are honored during the evening. Also the Grassman of the Year, as well as Grassman candidates are honored. The event was formed as very successful due to the effort by members of the Agriculture committee.

In February, 1964, the committee, with Docktor as chairman, promoted Sugar Beet days in Rupert, setting aside a week to honor beet growers and processors in the county. This was the first promotion of this type tried by the committee.

Displays were set up throughout the business district, including advertising and publicity of the sugar beet industry. Processors and growers were guests of the Chamber of Commerce and a tour of the Paul sugar factory was made by the group.

In February of this year, a Potato days promotion, also in recognition of potato growers and processors in the county, was held with Docktor as chamber director of the committee and Richard Bohle, chairman.

Potato growers and processors were honored with displays and a tour of a local potato warehouse was made following a chamber luncheon honoring the potato people. Because of the success of the two promotions, the agriculture committee plans to continue to honor a local industry in the county each year.

Docktor has contributed to the success of the FFA and 4-H fat stock sale held after the county fair.

At present he is president of the Rupert Rotary club and has been very active as a member. He assists annually on the Fourth of July float for the club and worked to construct a shelter at Neptune park with club members.

The Rupert businessman also has served on the highway committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and will be installed president of that organization next January. He is interested in

The Rupert businessman also has served on the highway committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and will be installed president of that organization next January. He is interested in Camp Fire Girls and served as president of the county council for two years and on the Minidoka County public assistance board for seven years.

Because of increased interest in his work at the bank, Docktor participated in a two-week course in 1960 through 1963 at the Pacific Coast Banking school, University of Washington. One of the graduation requirements included a thesis compiled by Docktor on the sugar beet industry, which is available to interested persons.

An active member of the Lutheran church, Docktor teaches a Sunday school class, is a member of the choir and Lutheran Laymen's league and holds the position of elder. He credits his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Docktor, also Rupert, for the opportunities he enjoys in church and civic work.

Docktor asserts that it is harder for parents to rear children now because of the many activities in modern living with family communication and participation so limited.

He recalls the old leather strap took care of most delinquency problems during his youth.

An avid bowler, Docktor is secretary of the Minidoka Bowling league, president of the Mens' Major Bowling league and vice president and director of the Mini-Cassia Bowling association. He also enjoys fishing and small game hunting. He contends a person should pursue those activities in life which he enjoys, striving for the best.

Docktor was born November 19, 1917, at American Falls, coming to the Rupert area at the age of 8 years with his parents. His parents reside on the farm they purchased 37 years ago.

He attended the first grade at American Falls and finished formal schooling at the Pershing and Lincoln schools in Rupert. Because of lack of classroom space in the seventh grade the boys attended school at the old theater building in Rupert and the girls attended classes at the Guild hall. He was graduated from the Rupert high school with the class of 1938.

Farm chores and work kept Docktor busy after high school graduation and during summer months while attending Boise Business university. After three winter terms at the university, he worked for C. C. Anderson company office at Boise, then at the Hunter Motor in Ogden until cars were unavailable in early 1942. He then worked as chief clerk in the general depot at Ogden.

While serving as usher at the Lutheran church, he met Elveta Lang soon after she moved with her family to Rupert from Elsworth, Kan. They were married Sept. 22, 1940, at Rupert. They have three children, Carol, Docktor, 23, working in Burley; Donna, Docktor, 20, in her last year of nurse training at Holy Cross hospital, Salt Lake City, and Betty Docktor, a senior at Minidoka.

In January, 1942, he was called into the service, being deferred several weeks because of an emergency appendectomy. He served in the Army infantry, as a chief clerk until his discharge in August, 1946. Docktor recalls he was stationed in the Philippines peeling potatoes in the officers messhall when news came of the surrender.

After discharge from the army, he worked for the Idaho First National bank beginning Nov. 17, 1946.

During 1958-59 he served as president of the Magic Valley Conference of NABAC, The Association for Bank Audit Control and Operation. He also belongs to the Rupert Country club.

He enjoys his work at the bank and the opportunity of meeting many people in all types of business. He agrees with the age-old philosophy, "you can only get out of life what you put into it, and meeting people in all walks of life makes the world a much smaller place."

have a house left. Now it has been rebuilt and the population has climbed to 28,500.

The biggest industries in Lapland are forestry and mining, but people do that everywhere in Finland. Only in Lapland do they have such fantastic things as reindeer roundups, reindeer races and almost everything "Wild West" but a reindeer rodeo.

Of the whole population of Lapland, only 3,000 are true Lapps, a people as different from the Finns as Chinese are different from American Indians. Once there may have been a connection, but it was long, long ago. Finns and Lapps don't speak the same language.

The Lapps own about a third of the reindeer in Lapland and that is their main occupation. Reindeer raising is a four-million-dollar industry. The reindeer rove in bands across the roads and plunge into the deep snow on either side looking for the moss and lichens which make up their winter food.

Normally one person can have only 20 reindeer, but families may have 500 and in special cases 1,000. The number has to be limited. There isn't enough stags.

The Lapps in Finland are only a small part of the 300,000 scattered in the Arctic. Most live in Sweden and Norway. The Soviet Union has about 2,000.

Sweden and Finland get along so well that their Lapps range uncontrolled across the frontiers with their herds. Not so with the Soviet Union. Some 400 miles of fence have been built along the Finnish-Soviet frontier to keep the reindeer in Finland.

The reindeer is accustomed to tourists and tried to dump me out in a snowbank while I was driving one. The fact that I avoided it and got back still in the canoe-like sleigh won me a reindeer driver's license. The license says you can be arrested for drunken reindeer-driving.

I was surprised that reindeer are so small. Antlers and all, they reach about to your chin. They have big feet with hairy fringes to help them get over the snow. Reindeer meat has a fine flavor with a smack of the wild; it smokes well, but unless it is cooked properly, it can be tough as a shoe sole.

Raukka Postmaster Reabuttill said the people were really lively, happy with their reindeer, and their men spend much time working in the forests.

material on hand a few of them will get together to roll bandages. There is no sense in keeping the material in Twin Falls when it can be put to good use elsewhere.

In addition to the good the group accomplishes, the meeting also affords the women an opportunity to get together for coffee and conversation.

They seek no cards or thanks for their efforts, but letters do come in expressing gratitude for converting bedsheets into bandages.

A second phase of the Madonna plan is the selling of China dolls, bags and other items. They are made in Hong Kong and are sent to Parishes like St. Edward's to be sold. The funds are then sent back to Hong Kong.

The women meet about once a month to roll the bandages. During the summer their activity is somewhat restricted. However, if there is an adequate supply of material, they will continue to work.

"We don't have electricity, so it is hard to work by hand," said Mrs. Walker.

Stories of "Old Days" Sets Elderly Couple Apart as Knowledge Storehouse

stroke a short time ago.
But the recollections of the past—despite their personal interest in the present and the future—is what is intriguing about the Hoovers when engaging them in conversation. Recollections come along with about the same speed that water runs off a duck's back.

To go back with the Hoovers, especially Mr. Hoover, who did a lot of getting around in the old days—is going way back.

He originally came west from the Bicknell, Ind. area in 1898. He was born at Bicknell and, incidentally, so was Mrs. Hoover. It was a farming and coal mining community.

His destination, or at least where he intended to go, was the Klondike, which was then the rumors said knee deep in gold. But when he finally hit Seattle aboard an emigrant train he found that was as far as he was going.

To go on, he found, he was required to have equipment valued at least at $1,500. He didn't have it, so he didn't get to continue the trip.

But even the train ride from the East to Seattle was something to remember, according to Hoover.

"The train was made up of old coaches and equipment. The passengers were people on their way to the Klondike goldfields. Farmers, businessmen, gamblers, crooks of all descriptions, they were all there. Possibly one-third of the women aboard were from the 'red light' districts.

"Your seat on the train was also your dining car and your sleeping quarters. If you left your seat with no one to look after it, you would come back to find some bully sitting there permanently. Men and women mingled together in all the coaches and there was a good deal of gambling and drinking going on all the time.

"We were four days in making the trip and most of the passengers were sick and worn out," he continued.

"Hundreds in Seattle were penniless. The city aided, I think, by the state, provided for the starved at large round tables along the wharves. They were about eight feet in diameter and were piled high with eight-inch sandwiches of halibut and other fish. Other tables were piled high with shrimp. A sandwich and four hot filled with shrimp were 10 cents each. If you could convince them you were broke you were handed the sandwich or shrimp free."

During his lifetime, Hoover probably has engaged in more than 40 jobs, many of them of the railroad variety. After his marriage which was 64 years ago—he finally wound up at Kimberly as the first regular agent for the Oregon Short Line railroad at that point.

They, after about eight years there, the couple moved to Twin Falls where he was relief agent. After that he dabbled in real estate, oil and gas products and the trailer court.

Of course, the first time he came to Twin Falls just to "look over" was even before that.

He came into "town," which at that time was only a few tents in rock creek canyon, by stage from Shoshone. He recalls that he and a friend decided to stay over and look around.

They walked almost to where Milner now is and all that time they never had a place to sleep and only one potato to eat. Returning to the stage point—which was about where the present hotel now stands—they took the trip back to Shoshone on the next stage to stop.

But even at that they did better than the other men who came over with them on the stage from the railroad at Shoshone.

"There were five other guys in that stage we came in on," Hoover smiled, "and when they saw all that sagebrush they paid the driver $75 to turn around and take them right back to Shoshone."

At one time he was railroad agent for the Union Pacific at Stites, Ida., and many of his "stunts" came from that section. Perhaps the best is that which involved the owner of the hotel at that town.

"Usually on Saturday we had pony racing. The Stites hotel owner, a man by the name of Howard, had a racehorse. The Indians brought their sorrel ponies, all looking almost exactly alike, to race Howard's horse and they continually lost their money to him.

"One day an Indian came to the station and told me that a horse would be coming in a box car and would I move it down to the end of the switch, about a quarter of a mile from the station. They would unload it there at night.

The horse arrived, the Indians paid the bill and unloaded the horse. The next day, Saturday, they came with about 20 sorrel horses, all looking very much alike. Howard's horse, as usual, was put up against a small Indian sorrel identical to the rest.

The Indians then bet their 20 ponies against the hotel, worth about $4,000 at that time. The race was short, less than half a mile, and Howard was sure of winning.

"But his horse was far outclassed and the Indian pony was by a large margin.

"Howard was same and turned over the hotel to the Indians after losing to and consuming or taking with them all the food in the hotel, the Indians told Howard that they were his friends.

We return back hotel for $500; they told him.
Howard paid that sum, the Indians went home with the food and Howard had his hotel back. He then realized that the winning horse was a trained racer which merely "looked like a sorrel."

Other of Hoover's stories and recollections—all agreed to by his wife who was with him through most of them—are just as interesting, but they would fill a book if all were touched upon.

Hoover, commenting on the hope that everything would come out right in the newspaper article, said:

"I really don't know what difference it would make now. There is nobody left who would know whether you were telling the truth or not."

But the stories are true and interesting and in the twilight of life Mr. and Mrs. Hoover are both looking forward to tomorrow, and the next day and the day after that.

They have two living children. One is Harold Hoover, who now operates the trailer park and the business, and the other is Mrs. James (Mary) Ulrich, who now resides in Sun Valley, Calif. With her husband engaged in the national defense program they have lived in practically all portions of the globe. She visited here only recently.

One more thing of general interest remains to complete this short version of the life of the Hoovers.

Mr. Hoover is a third or fourth cousin to the late Herbert Hoover, former president of the United States.

"When he ran for president, did you vote for him?" Times-News writer asked.
"What do you think?" Hoover said.

Come to think of it, he probably did. After all, relatives must stick together.

Dakotan Asks For Name of 'Ambassador'

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce receives many letters each year, thanking the city for the use of the facilities, praising the city and asking questions. A recent letter to the chamber asked if the secretary could locate an area man who had been helpful to a tourist on his trip through Magic Valley.

The inquirer, from Lake Preston, S. D., said that on March 13, he had stopped at the Perrine Memorial bridge en route from Eugene, Ore., to Sioux Falls, S.D., when an elderly man visited with him and told him the history of the canyon.

"He was a real ambassador for your part of the country," the letter read. The area man said he was taking his grandsons to Shoshone, falls and invited the tourists to follow and take in the scenic view.

"He gave his name as 'Hammond' or 'Hammit,'" the South Dakota traveler said. He would like to contact the man and thank him again for his gracious assistance.

The traveler continued, "After seeing the falls we stopped in your city for lunch and were very much impressed by the cleanliness and beauty in your fair city, and by your model homes and businesses. I do hope to come back through there in the not-too-distant future and then I shall spend a little more time in the beautiful Snake river valley."

SEVERAL HUNDRED DOLLARS in damages resulted recently when various signs in the vicinity of Ketchum, and spaced along highway 93, were defaced by persons using spray paint cans. Police officials in the Wood River area say that an investigation is under way. The sign shown here is typical of many in the area. (Times-News photo)

REPAINTING THIS SIGN will result in a sizable expenditure for the owner. It is one of many sprayed with paint in the Ketchum area where damage will add up to a sum approximating one thousand dollars or more. Damage to various signs over Magic Valley, through use of pressure paint cans, is on the increase, a survey shows. (Times-News photo)

Use of Pressure Paint Cans Results In Damage to Scores of Area Signs

Police officials—and sign owners—have no love for the fellow who first dreamed up the idea of putting paint in cans under pressure so that the substance could be easily sprayed over a given surface.

Name of the individual who first thought of this is unimportant. What is important is that the pressure cans are now being used universally for defacing signs, painting signs on rocks and the like. The Magic Valley area has not escaped from the defacing individuals.

Evidence of damage can be noted along practically any highway and even within the city limits on stop signs and speed limit signs. Just a few months ago some individual sprayed a high school class sign on the side of a private home with the result the home owner was out nearly $300 to have the house repainted. Even autos have been singled out for the treatment.

Most recent wave of property damage has been noted in the Ketchum area. Here, for a distance of two or more miles along highway 93 south of the Wood River town, many signs have been sprayed.

Police of the area have estimated that it will cost more than $1,000 to repaint the signs. They surmise that the damage was probably done at night and that the fumes of each sign took but a few minutes to accomplish. It will take hours and hours to repair them.

Recently there have been instances where spray paint has come from a passing automobile and has landed on the side of parked autos. There have also been instances of downtown buildings in some communities receiving an unwanted swipe of paint.

With high school graduation time hearing, officers expect a rash of "Class of 1965" signs to be painted about the valley. In some instances the area painted is worthless and no damage results. However, there are other cases where police will make arrests if the "painters" can be found.

In many Magic Valley schools officials are urging the students to cooperate in a drive which would eliminate this type of property damage. Just how far this request will get is anybody's guess.

Students Fined For Ski Thefts

HAILEY, April 3—Two University of Oregon students have been returned to their parents in Oregon after being fined by Mrs. Earl Allred, Hailey Justice of the peace, for stealing skis from a Sun Valley chalet.

Fined $200 each were Scott M. Karterman, 18, Portland, and Charles E. Nelson, 19, Eugene. They were apprehended by Sheriff Orville Drexler and Deputy Ira Hoffman as they were traveling south on highway 93 south of Hailey.

Upon payment of their fines, the jail sentences were suspended and the youths were placed under probation to their parents for one year, the sheriff said.

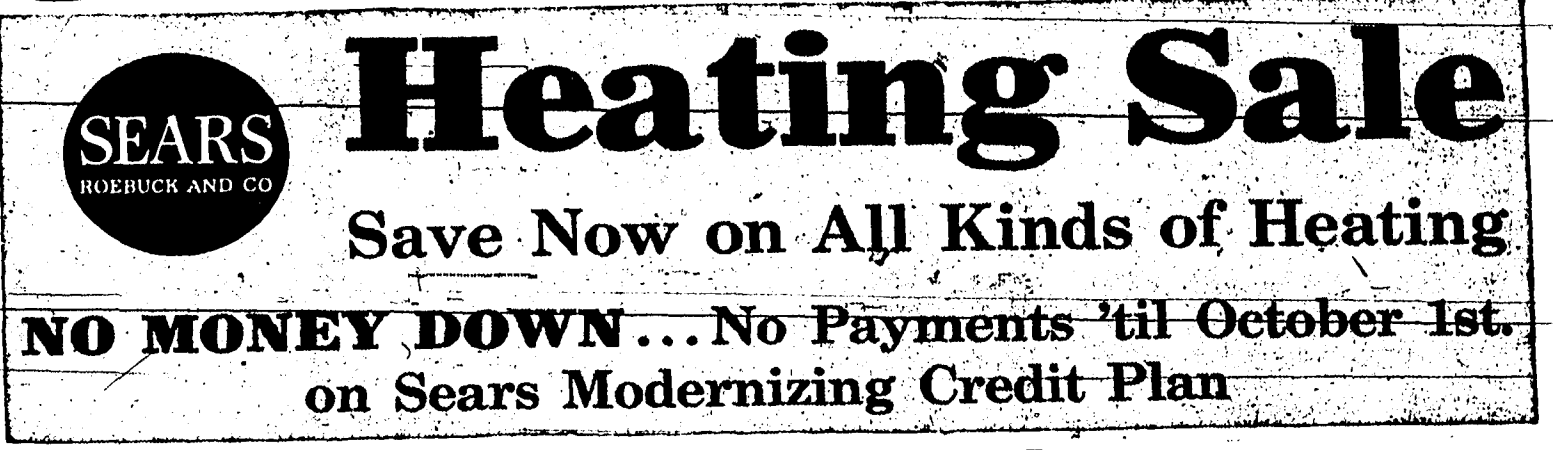

ASSIGNED TO DUTY KIMBERLY, April 3—Lieut. Jack L. Dodson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Dodson, Kimberly, has arrived at Ft. Ord, Calif., where he was assigned to company B, second battalion of the fourth brigade.

Pumphouse Burns At Carey Ranch

CAREY, April 3—A pumphouse valued at $200 was destroyed by fire Wednesday at the Ray Kirkland residence, owned by Mrs. Janice Jones, one and one-half miles northeast of Carey.

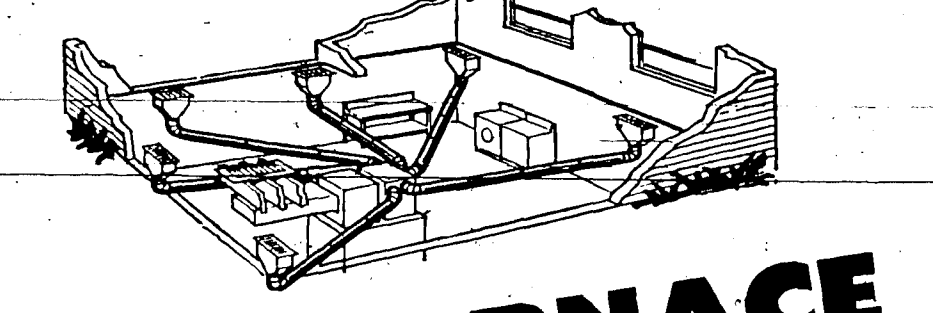

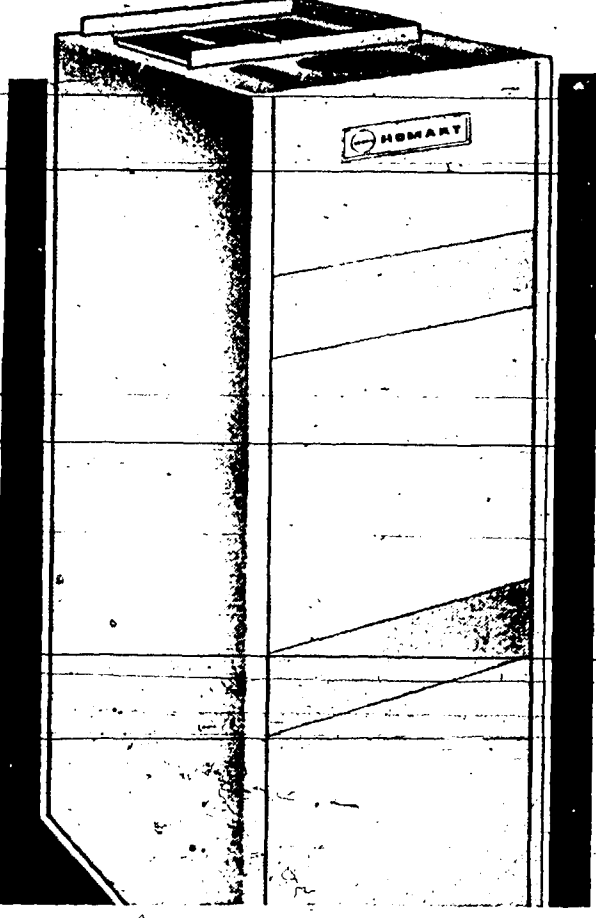

The fire also spread to a storage building right beside the pumphouse but it was put out by the Carey volunteer fire department before any damage was done.

BUGS BUNNY

The FLINT

MORTY MEEKLE

BY DICK CAVALLI

COME ON, WINTHROP... COME TO THE LIBRARY WITH ME.

WHY ARE YOU GOING TO THE LIBRARY?

TO GET MYSELF A HAM SANDWICH.

ACTUALLY, I'M LOOKING FOR A BOOK ABOUT THE GREATEST MEN OF OUR CENTURY.

IN YOUR OPINION, WHO'S THE GREATEST MAN IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY?

MY FATHER.
YOUR FATHER?!

I ADMIRE YOUR LOYALTY TO YOUR FATHER, WINTHROP, BUT THAT'S RIDICULOUS!

DO YOU REALIZE THAT WE'VE HAD MEN LIKE ROOSEVELT AND CHURCHILL IN THIS CENTURY?

NOT TO MENTION ALBERT SCHWEITZER, DAG HAMMARSKJOLD, GANDHI! ...

CAN YOU GIVE ME ONE GOOD REASON WHY YOU'D PICK YOUR FATHER OVER MEN LIKE THOSE?

SURE, I'LL GIVE YOU A REASON...

MY FATHER RAISED MY ALLOWANCE THIS MORNING.

OUT OUR WAY

WITH The Willets

OH, OH... ANOTHER FIVE POUNDS! I BETTER CUT DOWN ON THE DESSERTS AND STARCHES!

I GUESS ALL OF US GET OUT OF SHAPE AS WE GET OLDER... I'LL JUST HAVE TO GO ON A DIET!

GUESS WHAT? SPAGHETTI! YOUR OLD FAVORITE, FOR DINNER TONIGHT!

NOT FOR ME -- I'VE PUT ON FIVE MORE POUNDS!
YOU LOOK ALL RIGHT -- YOU WEIGH THE SAME AS YOU DID WHEN WE WERE MARRIED!

THE PROBLEM WAS THAT I WAS PROBABLY OVER-WEIGHT THEN TOO!
(PEOPLE WORRY TOO MUCH ABOUT FOOD THESE DAYS!)

NO, I'M GOING ON A DIET -- TAKE OFF A FEW POUNDS!
I THINK PEOPLE SHOULD EAT SENSIBLY... NOT OVER-EAT, BUT NOT DIE OF MALNUTRITION, EITHER!

NUTRITION IS THE IMPORTANT THING -- LOOK AT THOSE FASHION MODELS -- HOW SKINNY THEY ARE!
THEY'RE TOO THIN!

ONE MORE PIECE OF PIE WON'T MAKE ANY DIFFERENCE -- I'M GOING ON THAT STRICT DIET TOMORROW!

THREE WEEKS LATER...
LOOK AT ME... STREAM-LINED AND READY FOR ACTION!
YOU LOOK WONDERFUL, DEAR!

LOOK AT THAT! I USED TO USE THE FIRST HOLE AND NOW I USE THE THIRD!

I TOLD YOU IT WOULD WORK, PUTTING THOSE TWO EXTRA HOLES IN HIS BELT! HE THINKS HE'S LOST WEIGHT AND WE WON'T HAVE TO GO THROUGH THIS DIET BUSINESS MUCH LONGER!

BLACKIE, HOW WAS SUNDAY SCHOOL?
OH, WE HAD AN EXCITING LESSON!
WE HAD THE FIRST HALF TODAY!

IT'S A STORY ABOUT A CHARACTER NAMED DANIEL!

WELL, WHAT'S SO EXCITING ABOUT THAT?

WELL, YOU SEE, WE LEFT DANIEL IN A...

--LION'S DEN!!
BUM! BUM! BUM!
