4 Boiseans Are Rescued on Utah Mountain Slopes

PROVO, April 6 (AP)—Four young Idahoans—two of them injured—were rescued early today from the freezing slopes of 10,908-foot Cascade mountain, after spending 35 hours near wrecked plane. They apparently owed their lives to the skill and luck of their pilot in crash landing while lost in a storm, and the nerve and endurance of one in the party who descended the snow and ice-covered cliffs to seek help. Until his call just before dark yesterday a massive search had centered in mountains across a valley and 20 miles away.

Autobahn Is Closed for Second Time

BERLIN, April 6 (AP)—The East German communists closed the Berlin autobahn for a second time today and a Soviet jet buzzed West Berlin's big Tempelhof airport for the first time.

The United States, Britain and France, strongly protested the shutdown on the autobahn and a U. S. air force spokesman said the buzzing also would be protested. Traffic was halted for three and one-half hours yesterday.

The spokesman said a Soviet twin-engine plane came in from the east at 300 feet and swept across the field, which is heavily used by commercial airliners flying in and out of West Berlin.

The U. S. army reported that five Allied vehicles held up by the autobahn shutdown were allowed to proceed at 2 p.m. One U. S. military sedan was stopped at Babelsberg on the West Berlin end. At Helmstedt on the other end of the autobahn four Allied vehicles were detained.

There were no signs that U. S., British or French authorities were planning any strong measures.

The highway was blocked by barricades at 9 a.m. at the outskirts of Berlin and at Helmstedt, the western end. The barricades were lifted at 1:35 p.m.

Dismissal Of Lawsuit Is Requested

BOISE, April 6 (AP)—U. S. district court was asked today to dismiss the lawsuit challenging makeup of the Idaho legislature on grounds it has now been reapportioned.

Shepard reviewed action taken by the special session of the legislature, which reapportioned membership in both the house and senate and also revised boundaries of the two congressional districts, the subject of another lawsuit.

The defendants believe the reapportionment bills enacted by the special session comply with the "equal protection" clause of the 14th amendment to the United States Constitution, as construed by the United States supreme court in the opinions of the six reapportionment cases of July 14, 1964.

Shepard said filing of the motion offers "an avenue by which this court may conduct a hearing on the validity of the new apportionment plans adopted by the special session."

The legislature set up districts for the election of both representatives and senators. It created 27 representative districts from which voters would choose a total of 67 lawmakers. The districts include from one to four counties each and elect from one to nine representatives each.

The state reapportionment plan creates nine districts, each of which would elect as many senators as it has counties. Nomination would be by counties and in the general election voters would mark their ballots for one senator from each county within a district.

The makeup of the Idaho legislature was challenged in a lawsuit first filed in U. S. district court prior to the 1963 legislative session.

State Treasurer Marjorie Moon, who reported the deficit, said she also was hopeful income tax receipts would make a spending balance possible June 30, the end of the current biennium.

Another 2.5 million dollar deficit this year would not be permitted, she said, under the constitutional requirement that a spending balance at the end of every biennium.

5-Year Strike Against Two Papers Ends

PORTLAND, Ore., April 6 (AP)—The five-year strike against Portland's two daily newspapers by the printers and mailers unions was called off yesterday.

Members of the two unions declared the Oregonian and the Oregon Journal to be "open shops," signifying that union members could apply for jobs at the papers without union prejudice attached to them.

The announcement, by President William Wilson of the Multnomah Typographical union No. 1 and President William Payne of the Portland Mailers union, No. 13, came as a surprise.

The two unions, along with the Portland Newspaper Guild, had continued the strike after four other unions originally involved ended all strike action two years ago.

The executive board of the Portland Newspaper Guild said it concurred with the agreement to end the strike which had been voted on at a meeting yesterday by the mailers and printers.

The announcement of the end of the bitter strike was completely unexpected.

The strike was called by the stereotypers, local 48, on Nov. 19, 1959. Local 48, along with the pressmen, paper handers and photoengravers, ceased a active picketing two years ago.

When the strike was called, the two newspapers were separately owned—the Oregonian by Publishers Samuel Newhouse and the Journal by a local family trusteeship. Newhouse later purchased the Journal.

The strike did not prevent the newspapers from publishing jointly for six months, then started separate publication again.

The union countered by starting a newspaper of its own, the Portland Reporter. It began as a weekly Feb. 11, 1960, and became a daily a year later.

However, the financially plagued Reporter finally went under Sept. 30 of last year.

Neither Hargreaves or his passenger, Marilyn Adams, 16, Hagerman, was injured. According to Deputy Sheriff Bill Bunn, Wendell, the youth lost control of the car on a soft shoulder, and the vehicle overturned. Predictions Listed for This Season

OAKLEY, April 6—A full water right with some left over is the prediction that Morley Nelson, Boise, Idaho state soil conservation service, gave the coming season at the soil conservation water forecast meeting held Friday night at the high school.

A full water right in this area is 18 inches and there is 24,480 acre feet in the reservoir or 21 inches per shareholder at the present time, Nelson noted, however, that these measurements were taken at the end of March and that the Thursday storm could have changed it.

He also stated that the runoff haven't made their big runs yet and that 35,000 acre feet is predicted to come into the reservoir.

Nelson reviewed the soil conservation's first meetings which were held in 1960 and demonstrated, by charts, how close to being accurate the snow measurement system is to the actual recording by the measurements taken at the reservoir.

The first year showed a prediction of 10,000 acre feet and 14,000 were received. The 1962 prediction was 35,000 and the run was 33,000. The 1964 season was given at 35,000 and 34,000 acre feet came.

He also pointed out that the soil moisture station readings show that the ground above the snow lines is saturated in most places and that there has been no freezing this year beneath the snow.

Date Nears For Hearings On BLM Rules

Hearings on sweeping changes in federal land sales and retention policies will be held Friday in the Twin Falls American Legion hall, announces Sen. Frank Church, D. Ida.

Conducted by the interior department, the hearings will seek public views on proposed bureau of land management rules covering approximately 460 million acres of land in the West and Alaska.

Church said the Idaho hearings will be conducted under the direction of Karl S. Landstrom, assistant to the secretary for land utilization.

At issue is implementation of both the classification and multiple use act of 1964 and the public land act of 1964. Both laws, the Idaho senator pointed out, are temporarily pending report and recommendations of the public land law review commission.

Church said interested persons may submit oral or written views at the Twin Falls hearing. If possible, they should notify the director of the BLM in Washington of their intention to appear or to submit written testimony.

But Church emphasized they may appear at the hearing even though notice is not given.

Boise Youth Builds Own Airplane

BOISE, April 6 (AP)—A Boise teen-ager has assembled his own airplane.

Roger Frank soloed at 16 and decided then he wanted his own plane. That was two and one-half years ago.

Frank, 23, after accumulating 2,500 man hours and $2,000 later, an inspection from the federal aviation agency gave the plane its final check-out.

Frank put the aircraft, a Smith mini-plane, together with the help of a friend, Henry Busse-Caldwell. They assembled about 50 per cent of it in Frank's garage and the rest at Bradley air service field where Frank is a mechanic.

Hardly larger than a compact car, the plane is 13 1/2 feet long. Its wings extend 17 feet.

The plane is powered by a 125-horsepower Lycoming engine and has a cruising speed of about 125 miles per hour. It has a top speed of 135 to 140 miles per hour.

MRS. LEWIS BROWN

Speaker Slated For Baptist Association

Mrs. Lewis A. Brown, American Baptist missionary to Congo since 1924, will speak April 12 at the American Baptist Women's Central association meeting in Rupert.

The Rev. and Mrs. Brown, after 37 years of missionary service, returned in June, 1961. They have been in the United States since they were evacuated from the Kikongo station in Congo July 21, 1960.

From the time they first arrived in Congo until 1940, Mr. and Mrs. Brown conducted the district evangelistic and educational work at Vanga and supervised the central boarding school there. In 1940 they were transferred to Moanza to strengthen that district's schools and to train teachers.

Here Mrs. Brown supervised four native teachers and a school enrolling 100 boys and 50 girls. In addition she was in charge of the station's hospital, which her husband had built. Besides the gospel of Matthew, Brown translated much church and school material into the Kibungu language.

In 1951 they were sent to Kikongo to establish and build a training school for village pastors called Institute Biblique. All Bible work there has been taught in Kikongo, although French is a subject. As the number of textbooks written in Kikongo was limited, the Browns had to translate their textbooks as well as the lessons for the institute.

Mrs. Brown taught the New Testament, arithmetic, preparation for scientific team work and preparation for teaching English class. By 1959 over 40 families were enrolled in the four-year course.

Two of Mr. and Mrs. Brown's sons, Arley and Wesley, returned to Congo to serve as missionaries. The other three children, Paul, Stanley and Merle, have been engaged in areas of Christian service.

Mrs. Brown, formerly Susie Emeline Durfee, was born in Seltuoste, R. I. She attended the Pentecostal Collegiate Institute, and teachers' colleges at Williams College, Boston, Mass., and California Baptist seminary, Covina, Calif.

The home church of Mr. and Mrs. Brown is the Calvary Baptist church, Pasadena, Calif.

POCATELLO, April 6 (AP)—Three of four youths who escaped from the St. Anthony youth training center last week have been apprehended on suspicion of auto theft and attempted burglary. The four youths reportedly escaped from the training center after overpowering a guard. Police said they arrested Kaye Berry, 16, Pocatello, as he loitered near a department store. They said he intended to steal money and clothes to leave town. Two others were arrested in a car stolen Sunday from a Boise car lot, police said. The two were identified as Manuel Martinez, 18, Canyon county, and James Palmer, 17, Nez Perce county. The fourth youth, Jose Vega, 18, Pocatello, still was at large, police said.

BOISE, April 6 (AP)—Appointment of Gordon Randall as new director of personnel management was announced yesterday by the Boise-Cascade corporation. Randall, who joined the lumber and paper products firm in 1957, has served as regional manager of the company's container plants at Golden, Colo., and Dallas, Tex., since 1960.

BOISE, April 6 (AP)—Continued approval of a 45 million dollar financing plan for Pacific Light and Power company, which serves some areas of northern Idaho, was reported today by the state public utilities commission. The order authorizes the company to have that amount of unsecured promissory notes outstanding at any one time, the PUC said. The revolving credit plan originally was approved Oct. 1, 1963, for a period ending Sept. 30, 1965. The PUC order extends the approval until June 30, 1967. In another order, the PUC announced granting of a temporary permit to Taylor Transporting company, Kent, Wash., authorizing it to haul fluid milk in bulk in the area north of the Salmon river. The permit is good for three months, until July 5.

BOISE, April 6 (AP)—Leo Krulitz, Boise, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Idaho, said today he will attend a committee meeting of Young Democratic Clubs of America in Kansas City April 9-10. Krulitz said Myrna Sasser, New Plymouth, the Idaho national committeewoman, also will attend. She is serving as an assistant in the office of Sen. Frank Church, D., Ida., in Washington.

BOISE, April 6 (AP)—The handicapped person can make his own constructive contribution to the world if he is just given the chance, a United Cerebral Palsy association official said here yesterday. "We find nothing less our cerebral palsied people a greater blessing of usefulness than their pay check," said J. Robert Cooper, the association's executive director in New York. "It is money worked for and earned. It is not charity." Cooper spoke at a meeting of the governor's committee on employment for the handicapped. He credited the Idaho committee with "breaking down prejudices" and finding jobs for 1,600 persons. One obstacle to employment of the handicapped, said Cooper, is companies' fear such employment could hurt their image. "I would like to see the day when this image business will work in reverse," he said, "where the company that does not hire handicapped people will not be thought of in a good light."

BOISE, April 6 (AP)—Heavy snow packs in the Little Wood and Bear rivers present a definite flood threat, according to State Reclamation Engineer Carl Tappan. But Tappan told the state cooperative board of forestry yesterday there is little flood danger on the upper Snake river plain where more than two million acre feet of storage space is available. Also on the bright side, said Tappan, water supplies will exceed irrigation demands this year.

CHECKING DESIGNS for the Community Children's theater production are Mrs. Catherine Call, one of the actors, and Steven Rubin, University of Utah student, who designed all the costumes, sets and props. Seven performances will be presented April 17, 23 and 24. (Times-News photo)

Colorful Costumes, Sets Take Shape for 'Aladdin'

Brilliantly colored costumes designed by Steven Rubin, a student at the University of Utah for the Community Children's theatre production of "Aladdin," will be completed Thursday, according to Mrs. Eugene Sturgill, director. The play will be presented April 17, 23 and 24 in O'Leary junior high school.

The costumes are of authentic Persian design, with a flavor of fairy tale added. Aladdin, the sultan and the princess will be wearing brocade, cut velvet and chiffon. The colors will range from bright yellows, oranges, red and pinks to blues and greens, all blending very well on stage. Mrs. Rubin said she was responsible for executing the designs.

The set, also designed by Rubin, is done with the stylistic approach, which is used a great deal in children's fairy tale books. The cave scene, for instance, will have blue-black curtains ornamented with silver glitter designs. The trees done in white and covered with twinkling lights and gold and silver-colored fruits will be hung upside down in the cave.

Costumes and addresses used in this scene will be in blues and greens with fluorescent circles that will glow under light.

In the last act, 115 yards of sheath lining in colors of lavender, coral and two shades of pink will be used. The entire room will be draped with materials instead of the traditional painted flats.

"In a fantasy such as 'Aladdin,' the colors and designs will be as much fun as the story," Mrs. Sturgill said. "The play is full of action, with a lot of humor, spicing—the traditional story."

Mrs. Sturgill said the theater feels especially fortunate to have the services of Rubin. He has been the costume master for the past year for the Utah Civic Ballet and works directly with Ariel Ballif, noted set and costume designer from Broadway.

Rubin, a senior, is presently designing for the theatre production, "Pere le Tempa," which is directed by Robert Hyde Wilson, one of the leading theater men at the university.

Two summers ago Rubin won the Arlene Francis scholarship which took him to the Paper Mill playhouse, Millburn, N. J. This summer he will be designing sets and costumes for a professional company in Michigan.

It was stressed by Mrs. Sturgill that the production isn't strictly for the children, but for adults as well. There will be seven performances and she reported that Buhl already has booked 400 seats and Jerome 600. Actors in costume will go into the classrooms this coming Friday to advertise the show. Tickets will be sold next Monday and Tuesday at the schools by the Twin Falls Junior club. They also may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce and at the door.

Secret of Hinds' Feet

By CATHERINE MARSHALL
A most helpful spiritual truth lies behind this Bible passage which appears no less than three times in the Old Testament. "The Lord... maketh my feet as the hind's feet and setteth me upon my high places."

"What in the world does that mean?" people ask. Let me tell you how I found the truth in this passage.

I found it explained in the writings of Dr. Clark. Dr. Clark tells of riding on a train one day, when he met an old gentleman who identified himself as Mr. Pieberger of Akron, O. In the course of their conversation Mr. Pieberger told Dr. Clark about an unusual incident which had happened to him.

It seemed some years previously, Mr. Pieberger had suffered a nervous breakdown and had gone to Isle Royal on Lake Superior for a complete rest. There, while out in a rowboat one evening, he had drownded off.

When he awoke, land was out of sight and all sense of direction was gone. Sudden squalls on Lake Superior always have been notoriously treacherous. Panic led to prayer, then to the startling thought: why would God save a man whose only aim in life was business success and the accumulation of money?

Then and there the distraught Mr. Pieberger promised God that if his life was spared, he would change his outlook and purpose in life.

All at once he was aware of an immense peace—the peace that had not noticed before. Taking in a sign, he rowed for hours and hours, keeping the star at the stern of his boat. Eventually this led him back to the landing pier at Isle Royal and safety.

But the best part of the story was what happened afterward. The man told how he had returned to the same business, yet everything was different. It was like stepping into a new world or like taking an elevator up to another level of living. And his chief aim now was to help others find this new dimension of living.

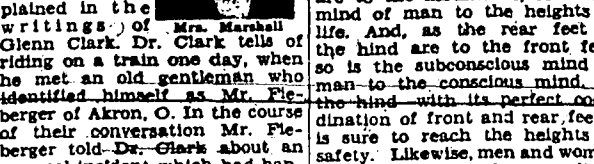

As Mr. Pieberger rose to go, Dr. Clark asked him, intently "But how did you get to that higher level?"

"A single Bible verse gave me that secret," the old gentleman smiled. "Plant it in your heart and someday it will bear fruit for you too: 'He maketh my feet like hinds' feet and setteth me upon my high places.'"

Though Dr. Clark had been intrigued with the story and considered the verse of Scripture, he still did not understand about the hinds' feet until years later when he was spending several weeks on a Wyoming ranch.

There he was given for his private use the fastest horse on the range. But he was warned that this particular horse could be used only on the range, not for climbing to the heights. The animal had spent several years in a city and had lost the art of his feet—looking exactly like a horse's feet.

On the high plateau, a misstep of even inches could mean precipitous death.

Something clicked in Dr. Clark's mind. Carefully, he questioned the rangers. "Yes," they told him, "horses accustomed to the heights, mountain goats; antelopes know the secret of perfect coordination. But of all animals, the most sure-footed is the female red deer, known also as the hind.

"That day riding the range, the words rose to my mind: 'He maketh my feet like hinds' feet and setteth me upon my high places.' So that was what the verse meant."

As the feet of the female deer are to the mountains, so is the mind of man to the heights of life. And, as the rear feet of the hind are to the front feet, so is the subconscious mind of man to the conscious mind. So the hind with its perfect coordination of front and rear feet, is sure to reach the heights in safety. Likewise, men and women with the most perfect coordination of conscious and subconscious mind will be sure to reach the heights of life.

But the verse says He maketh my feet like hinds' feet. It is not something we can do for ourselves. Our need is to open ourselves to the subconscious level to the healing light and power of God. God alone can bring up all dark and hidden things, mend our inner cleavages, make us of one piece, the whole person we are meant to be.

Dr. Clark began combing his life, considering the question: "Where does my conscious and subconscious mind track together? How many things have I done with all my heart and with all my soul—with nothing held back?" Pitifully few. But then he saw that it was at the point of those few areas of total effort that he had had his only successes. So that was what Mr. Pieberger had meant!

The application of this principle subsequently brought great things to Glenn Clark, too. Until then, he had been an obscure professor of English at Little Macalester Park college in Minnesota. Following this insight into the hinds' feet, he wrote an article for a national magazine. There was a huge response; books followed. The unknown professor became nationally known.

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE Q. My wife owns some Ling-Temco-Vought debentures. Recently she received a lengthy communication from that company asking for her consent to a number of things — including a change in the interest rate from 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 percent.

She would take half a dozen Philadelphia lawyers to understand the letter from the company. My wife and I can't believe that the company would urge this change if it were in a favorable financial position. Can you explain this to us in a few simple words?

A. The simple explanation is asking for something from the owners of the debentures and is willing to give something in return.

The company is asking the debenture owners to consent to a change in the "indenture" covering the debenture issue. The change would benefit the company.

Before you get confused again, remember that the indenture is the contract between the company and the owners of the debenture. It spells out what the company can do, can't do and must do.

Without the consent of the owners of the debentures, in this particular case the owners of two-thirds of the outstanding debentures must agree to any change.

The proposed change is a bit too complicated to spell out in this space, but in a nutshell they would give the company greater flexibility in paying dividends and in acquiring buying power.

Its own stock and would allow a subsidiary of the company to issue senior preferred class of stock.

In return for getting this from the debenture owners, the company would hike the interest paid on its debentures. Assuming that it all goes through, as proposed, your wife would then collect higher interest.

It all works out to a case of give and take.

Q. You have written that, when a person switches from one stock to another, he must pay a capital-gains tax on the profit he realizes from the sale of the first stock. I know you have pointed out that he postpones that tax if he exchanges his stock for shares of one of the so-called "swap funds." But that's a different story.

Now, I have been told that I can exchange the shares of one mutual fund I own for shares of another mutual fund. I am also asked to pay a capital-gains tax on the profit I realize from the sale of the first fund. Is this correct?

A. The answer is yes, you must pay a capital-gains tax on the profit you realize from the sale of the first fund.

However, if you exchange your shares of one mutual fund for shares of another mutual fund, you can avoid paying a capital-gains tax on the profit you realize from the sale of the first fund.

This is because the exchange is treated as a sale of the first fund and a purchase of the second fund.

held that the only change will be a $5 "service fee." Is this correct or is it not? It certainly contradicts what you wrote.

A. It's probably correct. But it still doesn't contradict what has been written here.

A number of organizations manage two or more mutual funds. Most of these mutual fund management organizations allow shareholders to switch from one fund to another for a small service fee.

The service fee covers the necessary bookkeeping. That's the only charge you pay to the fund management organization. In such a case, you would not be hit with a commission charge — as you would be if you redeemed the shares of the fund you owned.

And you would not be hit with a commission charge — as you would be if you redeemed the shares of the fund you owned.

And you would not be hit with a commission charge — as you would be if you redeemed the shares of the fund you owned.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK, April 6 (AP) — Skilled labor shortages aren't all in the highly publicized space-age industries.

Not all the highly publicized space-age industries are all the time-hallowed hand skills being made obsolete by mechanization.

There's a side to the picture that is not so obvious. It's the hunt overseas for the trained craftsmen they need to continue production for which there is a steady demand—and, as yet, any man's role.

Diamond cutters use precise tools, and have for many years. But the key to the production is the worker himself—not the tool.

Cabinetmakers are in demand—and in short supply—in parts of the furniture and wood-working industries where manual skills are needed more than machine tools.

Fine crystal is still the handiwork of craftsmen despite the onslaught of the machine age.

Some fabrics still call for hand-tended looms, and some clothing and upholstery and like products need skilled hand workmanship.

America's wine growers, brandy makers, whiskey distillers still hire workers with ancient hand arts; despite the newer mechanical techniques of mass production they also employ.

Older countries still furnish many of this nation's top chefs and others in the food industry. Cabinetmakers trained for fine hand work are so scarce in this country that some companies periodically recruit young workers in Western Europe, where the skill has been handed down in families for generations.

In this country, too many such cabinet workers are the sons or grandsons of workers who brought this skill here to fashion the finest of furniture, or to use in other forms of wood-working for which there is still a sizable market. Some employers are hoping that the government's new training programs will help fill in the shortages.

Employe pride of accomplishment is essential to quality production in these fields, and of the precise skills were refined centuries ago in the European guild system.

TUESDAY, APRIL 6 — Born today, you have a basically spiritual nature, and it is this side of you which is most likely to invade whatever career you may choose for your life's work.

Whether art, business, science, or the world of the essentially unskilled claims you, it is that part of your work which has spiritual overtones which you yourself bring to your work — that will be of highest importance to you.

You may have a more difficult time than most getting started on the road to success. Indeed, it may be that you will never find the road at all. But neither the difficulty nor, if it comes to that, the failure — will keep you from indulging your penchant for things of the spirit. This is an indulgence which will keep you from discouragement and disappointment, even as it spurs you on to try again.

Although you are emotionally independent insofar as other people are concerned, you do have the need for something outside yourself upon which to lean for succor and support when necessary. Such a need could well lead you into the life of a religious, where your desires to give and to gain in matters spiritual could be fulfilled.

Black Hawks Will Rely on Bobby Hull

CHICAGO, April 6 (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks will be banking heavily on a suddenly healthy and surprisingly mean Bobby Hull when they resume their Stanley cup series with the Detroit Red Wings tonight. Having suffered two losses in Detroit in the best-of-7 semifinal series, the Hawks are now faced with the task of winning at home tonight and Thursday night or drop all hopes of advancing to the finals.

Hull, hampered by knee injuries in the second half of the season, has come on strong in the playoffs. He scored a goal and had two assists in last Thursday's 4-3 loss to the Wings. Sunday night the Golden Jet bumped into two goals in a 3-2 loss and waylaid a couple of Wings who chose to hamper his efforts.

Larry Jeffrey and Doug Barkley, Hull's circle victims, Jeffrey went after Hull in the second period of Sunday's game. Instead of merely brushing Jeffrey off with his usual brushing arm motion, Bobby put some zest into it and sent Jeffrey careening into the boards.

Coach Sid Abel said he would suit up Pit Martin and call up Bob Hull from the Memphis farm club to fill in for the two games in Chicago.

Alpine Lake Fish Planting Is Improved

BOISE, April 6—Four-fifths of all the trout trucked 150 miles, boated 25 miles and packed on buses en route for 12 miles on a 16-hour trip from hatchery to a roadless mountain lake survived the planting ordeal, the Idaho fish and game department reports.

This was one of the longest and most difficult hauls of the year.

Survival of all fish transported in this way during 1962 averaged 99 per cent, and nearly 100 per cent in 1963.

The new method of stocking high mountain lakes without access roads replaces erstwhile 10-gallon milk cans weighing 83 pounds when filled. Fish and water, weighing only three pounds, are placed in plastic bags and inflated with oxygen.

Additional refinements to this method include an insulated pack box containing six to eight pounds of ice. This holds temperatures in the bags between 38 and 45 degrees.

A horse can carry three of these and a total of 24,000 fingerlings—enough fish to stock six lakes.

Vandals Split Bill With Hawks

MOSCOW, Idaho, April 6 (AP)—The Idaho Vandals and the Columbia-Basin Hawks each came up with a four run inning Monday to split a pair of baseball games here.

The Hawks won the opener 4-3, with four runs in the sixth inning, on a walk, two singles, a double and Jim Naslund's home-run. Jim Carmichael hit a home-run for the Vandals in the third with the bases empty.

Idaho came back to take the second game 4-2, scoring all their runs in the fifth inning on Tom Hoagland's homer, two singles, an infield out, a triple and Jim Carmichael's theft of home.

Snead Doesn't Fear Nicklaus Or Palmer in His Masters Bid

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 6 (AP)—Ageless Sam Snead doesn't fear hotshots Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus—only his balky putter—in his bid for a fourth Masters golf championship here this week. "Palmer and Nicklaus don't hit the ball much farther than a lot of other fellows," the 52-year-old West Virginian said Monday after a practice round over the Augusta national course. "No matter how far

"I should have won this thing six or seven times." The last time was two years ago. He was leading until he three-putted the 16th on the final round, missed an 18-incher, and let the championship go to Nicklaus.

Nicklaus, 25, who has won all major American crowns, is the pre-tournament favorite at 4-1 in the event starting Thursday.

Palmer, defending champion and four-time winner, is 6-1, followed by Tony Lemm, Doug Sanders, Gary Player and Bruce Devlin bracketed at 8-1.

Nicklaus skipped the Greenesboro tournament to practice here and had consecutive rounds of 68-68-68-68-70 over the 6,980-yard par 72 Augusta layout.

Palmer checked in looking lanned and fit, but showing concern over his lack of form. He hasn't won a tournament all year, failed to make the cut in one, and finished 24th in another.

"The same old story," said golf's millionaire capitalist. "I can't get those putts down."

Ben Hogan, 52, like Snead a master of the past, wheezed with a bad cold. U. S. open champion Ken Venturi and Gary Player.

Celt Defense Is Problem For 76ers

BOSTON, April 6 (AP)—The Philadelphia 76ers have a pressing problem in their National Basketball Association playoffs—the Boston defense. And the Celtics promise to make their renowned weapon tougher to crack.

Boston takes a 1-0 lead into the second game of the Eastern division series tonight in Philadelphia. It used the full court press almost the entire game in defeating the 76ers 108-98 Sunday.

"Their defense was fine," conceded 76ers Coach Dolph Schayes. "They forced us into errors in the first half."

"We have to work on it because they made us look ridiculous with that press," said Bill Chamberlain who got a game-high 33 points but was fought to a standstill off the backboards by Boston's Mr. Defense, Bill Russell.

"We did a good job but we have played better defense than this," said Celtics Coach Red Auerbach after ordering a Monday practice.

West Carries Lakers to 118-115 Victory Over Bullets in NBA Playoffs

LOS ANGELES, April 6 (AP)—Jerry West's spectacular 52-point performance carried Los Angeles to a vital 118-115 victory over Baltimore Monday night in the Western division final playoffs of the National Basketball association. The triumph boosted the Lakers to a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 series. It was the second straight high scoring effort against Baltimore by the slender backcourt star.

Pitching Dominates Exhibition Action

Pitching dominated the action Monday as baseball moved into its final week of exhibition play. The top performance was turned in by two Chicago White Sox pitchers—veteran John Buzhardt and a rookie added to the roster only two days ago, Bob Locker. They combined to blank the Philadelphia Phillies 2-0.

West Covington singled in the fourth for the only hit off Buzhardt in six innings. Locker, who was allowed just one earned run in 17 innings this spring, finished up with three perfect frames. Gene Outen's bases loaded triple in the 12th inning broke the tightest pitching duel of the spring and gave them Milwaukee Braves a 1-0 decision over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Ed Sadowski and Dan Oslinski led the seven-hitter for the Braves while Claude Osteen and Brewer worked for the Dodgers.

Bob Gibson, who throttled the Yankees in last year's world series, worked six innings against the Mets, hurling New York to a 2-1 victory over Minnesota.

Parsons allowed the Twins' only run in the six innings he pitched and Bearner, trying to come back after arm trouble last season, finished up with three perfect innings, after striking the first man he faced.

Detroit's Joe Spurna held out to two hits for the first seven innings, but the Astros jumped on reliever Bruce Brasher for three runs in the eighth and a 4-3 victory over the Tigers.

Willie Starrett and Donn Clendenon each cracked two-run homers off Jim Maloney as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Cincinnati Reds 7-3.

Don Lock's sixth homer of the spring, a three-run one, started the Orioles' 6-4 victory over Baltimore. Brooks Robinson homered for the Orioles and Ken McMullen had three hits or the Senators.

Rudy May and Ron Piche combined for a six-hitter as the Los Angeles Angels beat Cleveland 4-1. Rookie Jack Warner had a two-run homer for the Angels.

MIAMI, April 6 (AP)—Left-handed pitcher Frank Bertina and utility player Bob Savarin were traded today to Baltimore by the Orioles. Rochester farm club in the International league. This reduced the Orioles' American league roster to the 28-man opening day limit.

Bertina, who will be 21 next week, won 11 and lost four last season at Elmira, N. Y., in the Eastern league. With the Orioles, Bertina's lone decision last year was a 1-0 one-hit shut-out of Kansas City.

Savarin, 23, who received a $72,000 bonus, has been used primarily as a pinchrunner and defensive replacement by Baltimore for the past three seasons. He hit .147 in 34 at bats last year.

Chicago cocktail lounge manager accused of attempting to fix a college basketball game was seized by FBI agents Monday on an interstate check fraud complaint.

Leo Enrico Casale, 24, was in a lounge in the Washington, D.C., area. Also arrested in the check case was Joseph Frank Polito, 33.

Chicago FBI agents arrested Casale Feb. 17 on a Seattle, Wash., warrant charging he attempted to bribe players of the Seattle university team to shave points in their Jan. 22 game. They beat the University of Idaho 89-72.

Marlin W. Johnson, head of the Chicago FBI office, said the complaint charged Casale wrote a fraudulent check against the Middlesex county national bank, Everett, Mass., and $298.93 in an Evanston, Ill., airlines ticket office Feb. 11. Polito tendered it in exchange for a round trip flight to Pullman, Wash., using the name Karl T. Zuger, Johnson said.

Johnson said that Casale used the Zuger alias in a Moscow, U.S.S.R., hotel during the trip. Casale, one-time senior class president of St. Francis De Sales high school, Chicago, faces arraignment April 9 in Seattle U.S. district court on the point-shaving charge. He is free on a $25,000 recognizance bond in connection with the charge.

Bruins Get New Manager In Shakeup

BOSTON, April 6 (AP)—Leighton "Hamp" Emms was named general manager of Boston's National Hockey league team in an executive shakeup Monday.

Lynn Patrick, the man he replaces, moves into the newly-created post of administrative vice president.

Weston Adams, club president and board chairman, also announced that Milt Schmidt will continue as coach of the last place Bruins.

Emms, 60, is owner-manager of Boston's No. 1 junior farm club, the Niagara Falls Cataracts. He has been associated with the team for 20 years, first in Barrie and then in its present location.

The poorly kept secret was rumored two weeks ago and on March 28 Emms said he had been offered the job. Adams said at the time he had discussed the matter with Emms.

Boston has finished in the NHL cellar five straight years and hasn't been in the playoffs since the 1958-59 season.

"These facts make it obvious the format under which we have been operating has not produced the desired results," Adams said.

Emms, who has no contract for his new position, played for the Bruins in the 1934-35 season.

Jerome Modelewski, 25, swore out warrants accusing Maris and Boyer with assault and battery last Thursday.

Municipal court set Maris' arraignment and trial for 10 a.m. EST, Wednesday. Boyer's case was played until May 11. By then, he will be playing with the Yankees in the north.

Worsley to Be Montreal Net Minder

By The Associated Press Gump Worsley, whose finest hour in National Hockey league goalie pads was ruined by Toronto's Red Kelly three years ago, will be the Montreal Canadiens' man of the hour tonight.

It's the last bit of help the Gump can expect from the red-tatched parliamentarian or his Maple Leaf playmates.

Worsley will be the Montreal goalie tonight when the Canadiens and Leafs reopen their Stanley cup war on Toronto ice.

Koufax Responds to Treatment And Returns to Training Today

LOS ANGELES, April 6 (AP)—Southpaw pitching ace Sandy Koufax has responded to treatment for traumatic arthritis of his priceless left elbow and will return to the Los Angeles Dodgers training base Tuesday night, a team spokesman announced Monday. Dodger Vice President Red Patterson issued this statement: "Sandy Koufax will arrive back in Dodgertown late tomorrow evening. The swelling of his left elbow has been sufficiently reduced for him to return to the club. He will continue medication treatments under directions to him by Dr. Robert Kerlan."

"Sandy will be permitted to set his own pace on conditioning himself and will not be asked to pitch until he says he's ready to do so, and only as often as he says he's ready."

Patterson said Kerlan, the Dodgers' team physician, would offer "no additional statement immediately. But for himself, Patterson added: "We're very happy he's coming back. We feel that if the swelling stays down with treatment, in a week or so he may be able to pitch."

Koufax, whose elbow became stiff and swollen Thursday at the training camp, returned to Los Angeles Friday and began treatment for the rusty joint.

Kerlan said Koufax had been stricken with "a traumatic arthritic condition of the left elbow which tends to flare up under repeated stress."

Whether the announcement that Koufax was returning to training meant a sudden clearing up of the condition, or an indication that it was not as serious as first thought, was not spelled out in the brief statement.

But Patterson said, "I don't think there's any difference in diagnosis. It's just that the treatment has brought the swelling down and may continue to keep it down. The next big test is when Sandy's pitching, again."

GREEN BAY, Wis., April 6 (AP)—The Green Bay Packers and the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football league will meet in an exhibition game at City stadium Saturday night, Sept. 11, Packer Coach-General Manager Vince Lombardi said Monday.

Versalles Is Fined for Talking Back

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 6 (AP)—Zollo Versalles, Cuban-born shortstop of the Minnesota Twins, lashed back at Manager Sam Mele when he was benched Monday and it cost him a $300 fine. It may also have cost him the friendship of Coach Billy Martin.

Mele thought that Versalles hadn't made an all-out effort to grab a bouncer hit near him by the New York Mets' Jim Hickman in the third inning of their exhibition game Monday. The hit brought in two runs and gave the Mets the lead.

When Versalles returned to the dugout, Mele told him: "You're out of the game, all on the bench."

"I sit on the bench for Martin and for you," returned Versalles, obviously referring to gossip that Martin might succeed Mele as the Twins manager.

"That will cost you $100," said Mele. "Make it $200," Zollo snapped. "All right, it's $200," said Mele. "Why not $300?"

"That's what it is," Mele replied firmly. Martin, who has been upset by talk linking him with the manager's job, commented angrily: "Versalles shouldn't have said it. He did it in a fit of temper. I guess it was his way of getting back at Sam. He must have used my name because I've been working with him and he regards me as a friend."

Versalles said later he had been burned up when Mele started warming up his replacement even before the inning was over.

"He treated me like a bushier. I want respect," Versalles said. "He talked to me like he was my father."

Commercials By Colgate Are Deceiving

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—The supreme court ruled yesterday Colgate-Palmolive company deceived the public with television commercials using a faked "sandpaper" test of Palmolive shave cream.

Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered the majority decision. Justice John M. Harlan dissented in part, with Justice Potter Stewart joining him. In the commercials, a surface supposed to represent sandpaper was covered with shaving cream, then shaved clean with a single razor stroke. Actually the demonstration did not use sandpaper, but a simulated mockup of sand and Flexiglass.

Warren said the court upheld a federal trade commission order against the Colgate commercial.

The chief justice noted arguments had been made that the order might be too broad. He said, as to this, that anyone doubtful as to a future course could ask the commission to give them definitive advice.

In the Colgate case, Warren said, the company had produced three different commercials using "the same deceptive practice."

"This we believe gave the commission sufficient basis for believing that the respondents would be inclined to use similar commercials with respect to the other products they advertise," Warren said.

"We think it reasonable for the commission to frame its order broadly enough to prevent respondents from engaging in similarly illegal practices in future advertisements."

Harlan, joined by Stewart in dissenting, said he did not agree that the use of mockups by a TV advertiser is, of itself, a deceptive practice. Harlan said, further, that he did not think the record in today's case justified the broad order issued by the commission.

Harlan asserted: "It seems to me that the proper legal test in cases of this kind concerns not what goes on in the broadcasting studio, but whether what is shown on the television screen is an accurate representation of the advertised product and of the claims made for it."

Twin Falls Lions Club to Sell Items Made by Blind

Local Lions club members will conduct their annual sale of items from Live, Inc., starting at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. The Lions will conduct a house-to-house sale in Twin Falls Wednesday and Thursday evenings, and will sell rugs, doormats, brooms, mops, wind chimes and package bows, all made by employes at Live, Inc., Boise.

Lice, Inc., employs about 40 blind and handicapped individuals. The Lions club takes on the project of selling the items made by these people each year. James McCord, chairman of the sale, said that most of the money raised by the Lions goes back to Live, Inc., but that some remains in the club's fund to be used for local projects.

Spain's Cabinet Shakeup May Take Place This Summer

MADRID, April 6 (AP)—Highly placed political sources here believe the long-expected cabinet shakeup in Spain will take place before summer. It will produce the eighth, and perhaps last, cabinet of the Franco government.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco is awaiting only parliamentary approval of a crucial bill raising salaries of government clerks before forming a new cabinet, the sources say.

Parliament is due to meet in plenary session later this month. Political sources listed several reasons for a government reshuffle:

—Disagreement among present ministers over major economic and political questions, such as how to carry out a four-year plan of economic development.

—Fears of dangerous inflation in the midst of skyrocketing prices that are threatening the domestic economies of the great majority of the population since wages have not been increased.

—Growing discontent in all sectors of Spanish society over Franco's failure to announce his plans regarding his succession. Even close supporters of the 72-year-old "caudillo" leader are known to be worried over Franco's delay in spelling out what type of regime he wants to succeed him.

Despite Franco's repeated assurances that Spain is a kingdom, political observers are not so sure that a plebiscite such as the one in 1947 that declared Spain a monarchy would produce the same results today.

The fact Franco has delayed filling a series of important government jobs is an indication he intends to form a new government rather soon. Among jobs that have not been filled are such vital ones as director-general of security, director-general of domestic policy, and under-secretary of trade.

For the first time since the Spanish civil war, security problems such as the recent student demonstrations and miners' protests in northern Asturias have been handled without a director general of security. The last director, Carlos Arias, was appointed mayor of Madrid last month. Observers believe an indication of what Franco has in mind for the coming years will be found in the composition of the new government he is expected to form.

Francisco may choose among Falangists, Monarchists, Christian-Democrats or just non-political Technocrats. Political sources are particularly interested to see whether the Caudillo is ready to replace or keep in his post a long-time friend and collaborator who has been in the government for more than 20 years—Admiral Luis Carrero Blanco, minister undersecretary of the presidency and for many, Franco's "grey eminence."

American Girl Crowned Sikkim Queen

GHANGTOK, Sikkim, April 6 (AP)—Former New York debutante Hope Cooke reigns as the queen of Sikkim today, the first American to wear a royal crown in Asia. She is 24.

Sikkim's 170,000 citizens watched the coronation ceremony via a special television circuit Sunday in this tiny Himalayan kingdom in the shadows of Mount Kanchenjunga not far from the Communist Chinese border.

At the precise moment decreed by three Buddhist astrologers, the queen's husband, Maharaja Palden Thondup Namgyal, 41, the fourth prince of Sikkim, replaced his father, Sir Tashi Namgyal who died Dec. 2, 1963.

The royal couple was followed to the ceremony by the Maharaja's two sons and a daughter by a previous marriage. A nurse carried their son, Prince Palden Gyurmen Namgyal, who was born in March, 1964.

April 4 was selected for the coronation by Buddhist holy men who said stars were in a position to bless the event. Astrologers ordered the thrones, two golden brocade chairs, faced in a north-northeasterly direction, which they said was the most favorable.

Indians Trying to Develop Tea Drinking Into Art Form

NEW DELHI, India, April 6 (AP)—British colonial rulers brought to India constitutional law, science and Western medicine. They also brought "tea time."

And tea time, after all, might be where they made their mark. For the Indians haven't merely accepted this old British institution. They have set out, with fervor that sometimes frightens, to develop it into an art form.

Indians don't go so far as to say tea—it comes as many as six times daily—makes the world go around. But no sane Indian would dream of starting his day without it.

And he'll go to much trouble to get it—or serve it, for that matter, if that's his job. "Morning tea bearers," in white uniforms and colorful turbans, perform fantastic feats of acrobatics to deliver tea trays to sleeping compartments on trains in India.

The "bearers"—in India, it's never, "Hey, waiter"—jump from the dining car during a short pre-dawn halt and run from sleeper to sleeper to awaken passengers with a steaming cup and a biscuit or perhaps a bit of fruit.

Tea also is drunk with breakfast, which follows morning tea, and again at mid-morning. Then, tea often is had with lunch as a sort of warm-up for the most important tea time of all—afternoon tea.

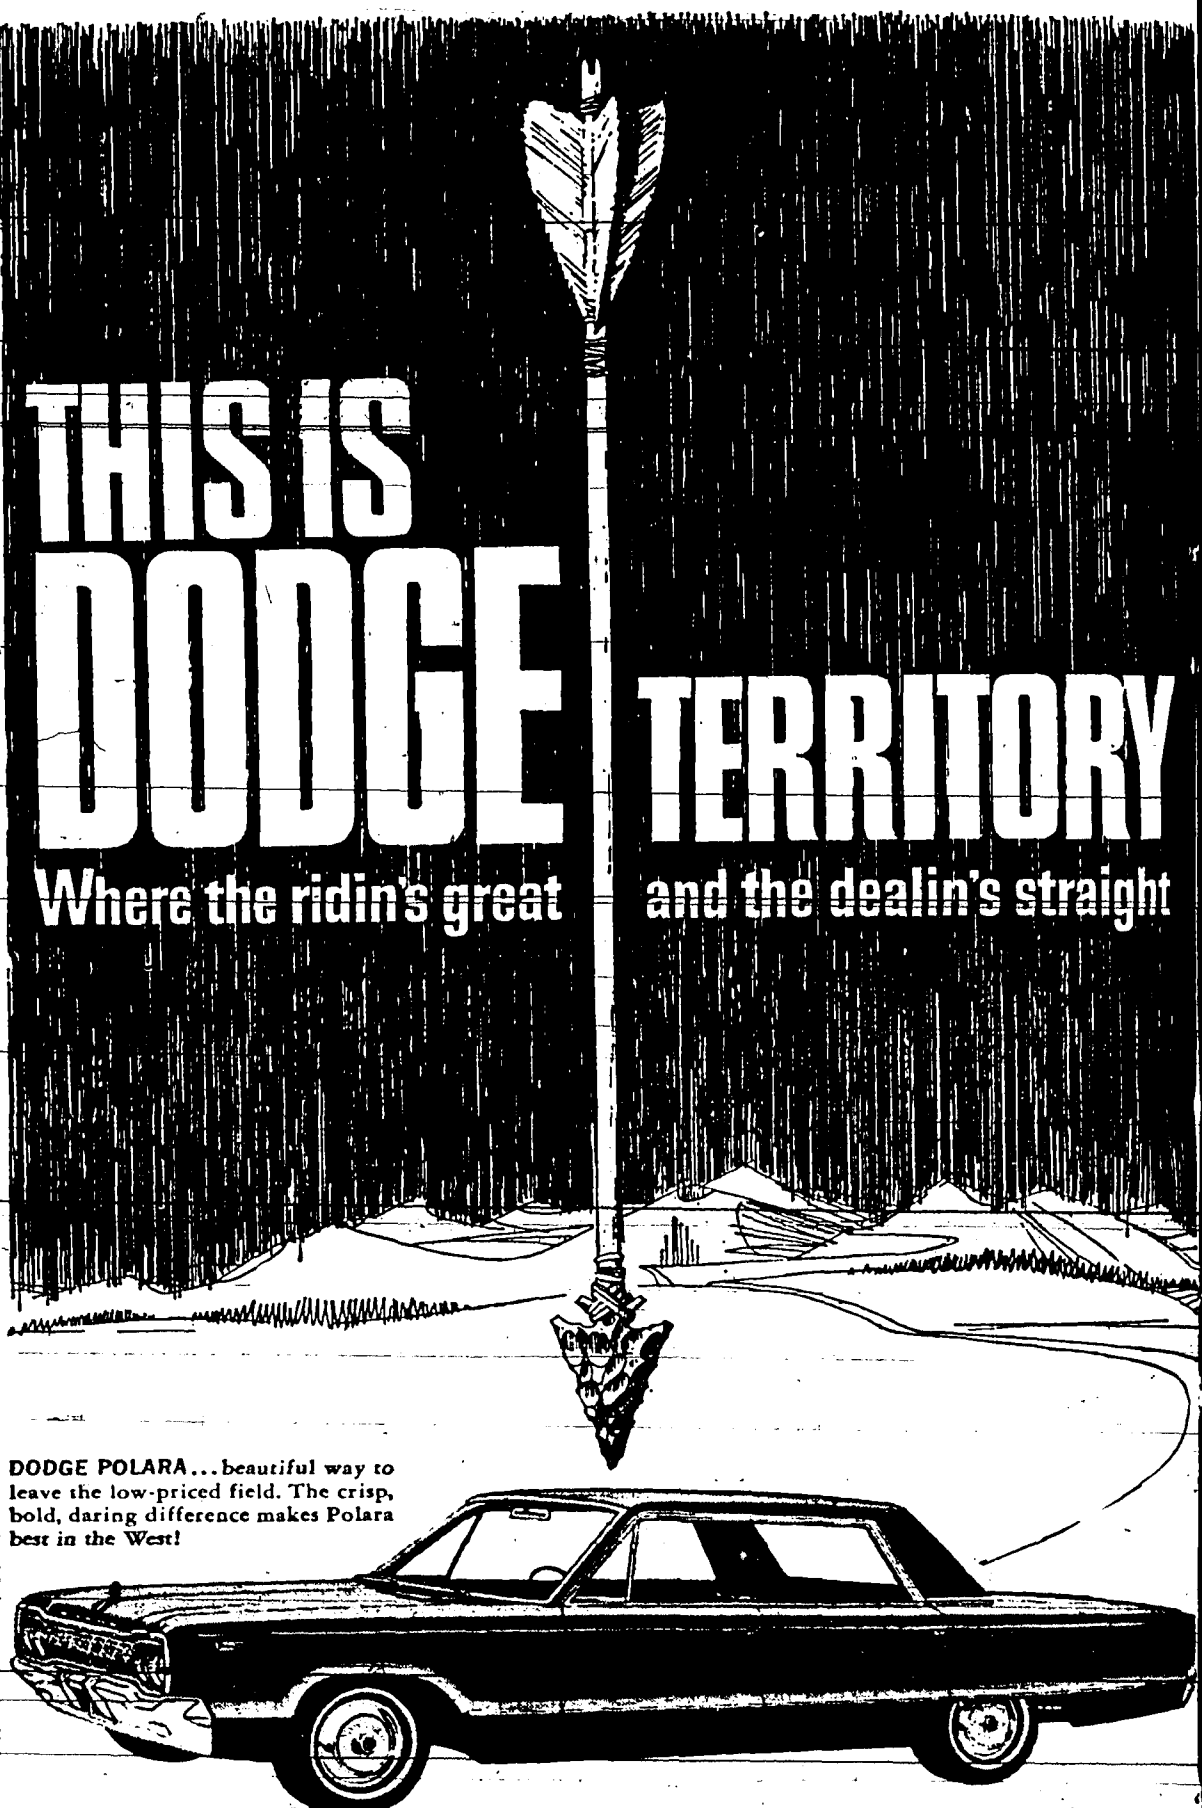

This is a full-scale affair that among upper classes calls for tables on wide expanses of green lawn, white linen, a silver serving set and mounds of cucumber sandwiches, fruit cakes and biscuits. Among the impoverished, battered tin cups of tea heated over a smoldering fire of cow dung and dried cow dung is just the thing to make a man feel like a prince.
