Weather, Temperatures

MAGIC VALLEY - Fair today, tonight and Thursday. A little warmer today, a little cooler tonight. Outlook for Friday partly cloudy with little change in temperature. High 60-68, lows 28-38, except Casper, highs 65-75, lows 25-35.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY A large storm off the West Coast is drifting southward and has caused rains on the coast from Washington to northern California during the past 24 hours. This is the storm that threatens to bring cool, wet weather to the Intermountain region when it turns inland. However, current developments indicate the storm will continue to drift slowly southward with little if any eastward movement for a day or two.

Thus, fair weather and mild temperatures will continue today and Thursday in Magic Valley.

Favorable weather will allow land preparation and planting to proceed without interruption most of this week in most of southern and central valleys.

Magic Valley warmed up to the upper 50s and low 60s. Last night was warmer in all sections with lows mostly in the 30s.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

The big problem in forecasting the trend in weather during the next few days is the big cold low off the West Coast and the direction and rate it will move. The cold vortex which shows up best on upper charts at a height of three miles or so above the surface has moved southward from the eastern Gulf of Alaska since yesterday and is centered some 400 miles off the coast of Oregon this morning.

Normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Gooding 64-36, Twin Falls 64-35 and Burley 64-33.

The weather will be most favorable for all kinds of outdoor operations prior to Friday or probably Saturday. During the past week daytime temperatures have averaged five degrees or more below normal and nighttime temperatures have averaged nearer normal.

Those three and R. B. Kelley, 30, had been arrested by city officials for the slaying of Ray in March. The county grand jury did not indict Kelley.

The three men indicted posted $10,000 bonds each and were set free. They had been under $12,500 bond to the city.

Johnson Has Attack of Spring Fever

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—President Johnson had his annual attack of spring fever yesterday, soaking up sunshine on the White House lawn with three foreign ambassadors and the husbands of a European queen.

Johnson's high spirits in the sun were reminiscent of the balcony scene last spring with the photographer and photo-poster Carl Sandburg and photographer Edward Steichen. On that occasion he shouted news conference with reporters gathered on the lawn below.

This time newsmen and photographers were invited to join the President on the crimson-colored balcony, just off the First family's living quarters at the White House. They were summoned to record Johnson's formal meeting with Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, husband of Queen Juliana.

Protocol quickly vanished, with the President gazing at 30 miles an hour on the balcony, which designer Truman called his front porch.

After the prince was photographed, Johnson invited reporters to crowd around him and get their own pictures taken with the Washington Monument in the background. The newsmen were so numerous they had to pose in rows.

While all this was going on, Johnson wondered aloud what had happened to three ambassadors who had just left him after presenting diplomatic credentials.

A pair of police motorcycles from the driveway below signaled their imminent departure. A White House aide shouted down to halt the motorcade and get the envoys back upstairs so they, too, could have a moment in the sun with Johnson.

It trooped Ambassador Torben H. Benn of Denmark, Sir Patrick Dean of Great Britain, and Edmondo Tomic of Chile. More pictures followed, with Johnson ushering Bernhard back into camera range.

The whole while, Johnson engaged in running banter with reporters.

Coyote Pup Fits Right in With Litter of Five Kittens

Time will tell what a different environment can do for a wild animal and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Nielson, 287 Filer avenue, are as anxious as anyone to find out.

The Nielsons became the owners of a 12-day-old coyote pup Saturday.

The baby coyote is receiving loving care from the Nielsons' mother cat, which already had five kittens, the same age as the coyote when she was given the added responsibility.

The cat doesn't seem to mind, and, in fact, seems almost more concerned about the stranger amongst her litter, Mrs. Nielson said the cat took care of the coyote from the minute they were together, even though they were afraid she would kill him.

Surveying Opinion

Public opinion can mean a lot to a politician, many times making the difference between defeat or election. Some politicians try to determine public opinion as they go along while others disregard what the public thinks and count on gaining reelection through a bang-up campaign. They depend on the weakness of the human memory, hoping voters will forget the candidate disregarded public opinion and again counting on voters to forget promises before another campaign rolls around.

Then there's the type of office-holder who's firmly convinced he knows best what's good for the public. He goes ahead with his own program and may or may not try to justify it to the folks back home.

Rep. George Hansen appears to be the type of office-holder who's doing his level best to determine public opinion. He has sent every postal patron in the second district a questionnaire with questions ranging all the way from the philosophy of balanced budgets and spending, through foreign affairs and questions on the mess of farm programs.

Many voters will neglect to open the envelope; there's nothing to indicate what's inside. Other voters won't even take the time and trouble to read the questionnaire. Probably the return from second district residents will be something less than 10 per cent. Undoubtedly, Representative Hansen will be disappointed with the results, but it's important that he tried. The questionnaire provides the key to the sort of congressman Mr. Hansen wants to be, namely, he wants to represent all of the people of the second congressional district; he wants to vote the opinion and sentiments of southern Idaho.

The fact that Mr. Hansen took the time to formulate the questionnaire and mail it through use of his franking privilege indicates that other questionnaires probably will follow. South Idaho residents would do well to watch for envelopes from Representative Hansen in the future and complete any future questionnaires. When a congressman indicates he wants and needs an expression of opinion from the folks back home, they would be serving their own interests best to give him a representative cross-section of their opinions.

BE COUNTED!

Occasionally, readers are prone to voice criticism of those who write letters to the Public Forum. Perhaps someone has been particularly outspoken or maybe a writer abuses the right by contributing a letter week after week. Admittedly, the Public Forum isn't designed as a platform for someone who has nothing else to do with his time. Yet such writers always defeat their own purpose because it doesn't take readers long to recognize the name. They know what they'll find over any given name and will avoid the things they don't care to read.

But the Public Forum is the only place open to those who would express their personal opinions on matters of public controversy. Give credit to those who use the Public Forum because these are citizens who aren't afraid to stand up and be counted. It could be their opinions aren't popular and in these circumstances, it can take a good deal of courage to propose or oppose in the face of popular opinion.

By comparison to those who are content to snipe from the sidelines or perhaps spread rumors of doubtful foundation, writers to the Public Forum should be admired. Even if the opinions they express are based on facts that might be open to suspicion, they are entitled to those opinions. And there's usually someone to expose the misleading material on which opinions have been based, giving the original writer another chance to think out a situation or a problem.

Perhaps some of the critics would do well to join the ranks of the writers whose letters appear in the Public Forum.

FINE LOCAL WEATHER

News stories concerning widespread flooding, tornadoes and generally violent weather in the Midwest should give Magic Valley residents reason to be glad they live in Magic Valley. Along about this time of year everyone yearns for warm, sunny weather and residents are prone to gripe about wind, cold, rain, sleet, snow or what have you.

But Snake river has never flooded Twin Falls and tornadoes are all but unknown. Actually, extremes of weather are practically foreign hereabouts. Readers following the weather trials of the Midwest should keep it in mind as they grow impatient for warmer weather. So far as weather is concerned, Magic Valley is a paradise.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON, April 14—One of the maddening qualities of the present supreme court is its tendency to quibble for quibbling's sake. Justices John Harlan and Potter Stewart provided an example of this unfortunate penchant in their comments on the decision upholding the right of an accused to confront his accusers in state courts.

Neither Harlan nor Stewart disagreed with the essential rightness of the decision. In a country dedicated to due process of law, it seems passing strange that it has taken all these years to reaffirm a fundamental right set forth in the Constitution. But both justices complained about how it was done.

TECHNICAL SPECIOUS — They objected to the court's incorporation of the sixth amendment into the 14th, which guarantees due process. Stewart called it a "questionable tour de force." Harlan objected that it was "another step in the onward march of the long-since discredited 'incorporation' doctrine."

Their arguments are at the least specious. Both cases involved in the decision concerned defendants who had been denied the right to cross-examine witnesses against them, a clear violation of the sixth amendment. That amendment declares in part that "In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right . . . to be confronted with the witnesses against him."

To be sure, the 14th amendment also is applicable but the "due process" guarantee by the 14th is defined in previous amendments—particularly the sixth, and also the fifth amendment's guarantee against self-incrimination.

ALABAMA CASE — Thus the court properly held that the 14th amendment had been violated because the defendants had been deprived of a right guaranteed to them by the sixth. The 14th amendment would be meaningless without the definitions of "due process" earlier set forth.

Many Californians continue to watch with dismay as the state department of water resources moves ever closer to building a 100 million dollar nuclear reactor at San Jose.

MR. STRATTON'S INCOME
The acquittal of former Gov. William Stratton indicates how the jurors in Mr. Stratton's 10-week trial on tax evasion charges weighed a wide array of testimony comparing his reported income with his actual income. But the nature of many of his expenditures points up questions of public policy that no jury verdict can render moot.

It is neither sinful nor unpatriotic to hope that senate Republican Leader, Everett McKinley Dirksen has not been trapped by President Johnson in the area of foreign relations as he was trapped in the area of voting rights.

All of this invites attention to Dirksen's leadership in senate Republican support of the Johnson administration's policies in Viet Nam. The end result of this bipartisan support of vital and foggy foreign policy is to discourage debate which might enlighten public understanding.

Standing there now is Rosemary Forsyth, who is 21, freckled, doesn't wear lipstick or rouge, and looks like a tall blonde goddess.

That is a misstatement of fact because the bill is potentially effective in such manner in only six states: Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia. These states and counties require a literacy test for registration and the Johnson-Dirksen bill target is the literacy test on which it will score a direct and destructive hit.

But there have been constantly louder protests that there were pockets of possible election discrimination in other states which were largely touched by the Johnson bill because no literacy test

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
In the gold crisis the dollar's future affects every pay check, pension and annuity and all our hard-earned savings. And our threatened British pound also threatens our dollar.

Price in the British pound and dollar. This is why the recent budget, Henry J. Taylor et news from London bristles with importance — and good tidings. Top New York financial minds find the budget reassuring for the pound's future.

It includes hard, politically unpopular cuts that evidence the labor government's determination to protect the people's money. In fact, the British labor government is taking more consequential and encouraging steps to defend the pound than Washington is taking to defend our dollar.

And the outlook for England's export industries is not quite as dark as generally painted. It's true that many factories, mills and mines are too antiquated to compete in world markets. But about one-third of Britain's exports — generating facilities are modern, highly efficient and competitive. Another 20 per cent (in volume) is made up of literally American companies competing strongly from a United Kingdom location.

He took a step in this direction when he challenged the wisdom of the President's offer of unconditional discussions on South Viet Nam's future coupled with a proposed one billion dollar aid program for Southeast Asia.

The senator now should follow up by cooperating in the administration to illuminate in senate debate the dark areas of the possible, the probable and the expectable in Southeast Asia. Opposition for the sake of opposition is small-minded, mean. Collaboration for the sake of collaboration is no better. Indeed, it may be worse because it is likely to anesthetize all hands and especially to soothe to sleep a nation of wishful thinkers.

4 Outstanding Farmers Are Selected

FORT COLLINS, Colo., April 14 (AP)—Four men in their mid-40s from widely scattered sections of the country were last night named young farmers—last night and received plaques from the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Their selection was announced at a dinner marking the fourth annual Outstanding Young Farmer program at Colorado State University.

The winners were Eddie Berwick, 34, Selby, S. D.; Dolan E. Brown, 35, Twin Falls, Ga.; Raymond Kauer, 34, Hillsboro, Ore.; and William E. Long, 35, Apopka, Fla.

They and 42 other young farmers representing 42 states respectively were here for the presentation. Officials said there was no individual ranking of the 46 named.

They were chosen by a panel of agriculture specialists and writers on the basis of production progress, conservation practices and civic leadership.

Cigarette Tax Bill OK'd by Oregon House

SALEM, April 14 (AP)—The Oregon house of representatives approved a four-cent cigarette tax, but turned down a proposal for a three per cent state sales tax.

The cigarette tax, which now goes to the senate, would be effective May 1, 1966, primary election ballot. It would raise about $10 million a year, and reduce property taxes by about three per cent. One-fourth of the revenue would go to cities.

The house package now goes to a senate which is hard at work studying its own proposal, which does not include a cigarette tax but does contemplate a sales tax.

The various property tax relief proposals have gained new urgency among many legislators in the face of protests by Portland property owners against property taxes. A group of property owners is promoting an initiative to limit property taxes to 100 per cent of true cash value.

The sales tax was proposed in the house as an addition to the cigarette tax measure, with the sales tax going to a vote in November, 1966.

Backers of the sales tax measure said the time to take action on the property tax problem is now, and the people should have a chance to vote on it.

But the house Republican leadership, dedicated to the principle of no new taxes this session, says the 1967 legislature can handle the problem if a property tax limit passes.

President Is Renowned Party-Giver

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—President Johnson, who was reported once as warning aides to avoid cocktail parties, has become Washington's most celebrated party-giver.

Last night, for instance, Johnson arranged a White House doubleheader—a reception for supporters of the new education law, and a cocktail party for some 30 senators.

These were parties with a difference, however. More time and energy was devoted to serious talk than to eating and drinking.

Surfing—talking about—most of the state is the hallmark of most Johnson parties. The purpose is to win friends for administration policies.

Johnson is most persuasive when talking informally in a relaxed setting. That's why he likes to do business at parties.

The President knows, too, that an invitation to the White House is enough to make many people more receptive to what the chief executive has to say. He also knows some people become even more receptive if they get a drink along with a speech.

Other presidents have followed the same sure-fire formula, but perhaps none with such dedication as Johnson. This year he has been host at parties for every member of congress, for governors of the states, mayors of the biggest cities and scores of businessmen, labor leaders, civil rights workers, educators, and others.

On most occasions, wives have been invited, too. While speeches were made by the President, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Lady Bird Johnson was showing movies to the wives and taking them into the family quarters to plumb the depths of the sofa.

The White House says it can't supply a figure on the cost of Johnson's entertainment. The President gets an annual allowance of $40,000 for this purpose. If more is spent, he pays the excess out of his own pocket.

"Stone Box" Indian Site Is Located

KANSASVILLE, Tenn., April 14 (AP)—Archaeologists say they have found a 700-year-old village and burial ground of the "stone box" Indian.

Robert B. Ferguson, leader of a southeastern Indian antiquity survey team, said the discovery of the village is an "extremely valuable find."

The village and burial ground were found on a farm near here being opened up as a housing subdivision.

Ferguson said his group worked over the week-end to salvage graves after 20 burial boxes were opened and the skeletal material scattered by amateurs.

He said the team of experts opened five graves and found two skeletons in "excellent condition" and some of the others in fair condition.

Ferguson said it will require about two years for the team to complete excavation and study on the grounds, which is being developed by a company owned by singer Eddy Arnold.

News Around Idaho

BOISE, April 14 (AP)—Closure of the Grand View airport in Owyhee county was reported yesterday by the state aeronautics department. Chet Moulton, department director, said the county plans to relocate the facility later this year.

BOISE, April 14 (AP)—Idaho residents earned 14,285 certificates for Red Cross training in various subjects during January, 1964, a Red Cross official reported yesterday. Hugh Hough, Boise, a member of the Western advisory council of the American Red Cross, submitted a report on the year's activities to Gov. Robert E. Smylie. The Red Cross regional blood center in Boise and its bloodmobiles collected more than 22,700 pints of blood, Hough said, and patients in 42 hospitals obtained blood transfusions.

BOISE, April 14 (AP)—Opening of the Commercial State bank in Boise was announced yesterday for April 26. Claude L. Miller is president and Gilbert Mendonsa is executive vice president and cashier. Miller has been associated with banks in southwestern Idaho for more than 40 years. Mendonsa formerly was associated with the Bank of Idaho in Boise but for the past two years has been vice president and cashier of the Commonwealth National bank in San Francisco.

IDAHO FALLS, April 14 (AP)—Sen. William Dee, one of the severest critics of the new Idaho sales tax, and Rep. Orval Hansen, one of its strongest supporters, have agreed to a public debate on the tax on television. "We think this is an excellent way to bring the sales tax issue before the people," Dee said in Grangeville. The debate is to be carried on KID-TV in Idaho Falls but the date and time have not been set. Dee said the debate will cover all facets of the tax and will not be limited to Hansen's proposal for "truth squads" to refute arguments of the Anti-Sales Tax Referendum committee, on which Dee is a member.

POCATELLO, April 14 (AP)—Construction workers on five projects were to return to work today with an "understanding" reached yesterday by the Mitchell Construction company and union officials. The Hod Carriers and Laborers local 287 last week posted pickets at two projects, accusing Mitchell of letting a superintendent do laborers' work. The women's military project at Idaho State university, Leslie Mitchell, company president, closed down the two projects and three others. He fired unauthorized personnel had done some work but said the union's protesting procedure was "illegal."

BOISE, April 14 (AP)—Plans to investigate alleged discrimination against migrant workers have been reported by the governor's committee on migratory labor. Investigators are to be assigned areas where discrimination is reported, said State Labor Commissioner W. L. Robinson. He added that the committee plans to confer with the workers' crew leaders. "There have been conflicting reports," Robinson said, "regarding the treatment accorded these workers when making purchases in stores and when entering pool halls." Gov. Robert E. Smylie said at a press conference he believes the discrimination is "minimal" but there have been instances of businesses refusing entrance to migrant workers.

IDAHO FALLS, April 14 (AP)—Bonneville county's annual cancer drive has raised about $1,000 and will continue for the remainder of the month in hopes of reaching the $6,000 goal. Lewis G. Ross, county chairman, announced yesterday. Ross said some 500 women are taking part in the house-to-house campaign, working as time permits in both the day and evening hours. Ross pointed out last year's drive raised only $4,800 while the Idaho division of the American society spent $6,000 in Bonneville county to help cancer cases and conduct an education program.

BOISE, April 14 (AP)—The executive secretary of the Idaho Education association predicted yesterday that Idahoans will turn back the sales tax repeal effort and "vote for the schools which provide a future for the children of Idaho." In remarks at a Boise Kiwanis club luncheon, Wayne York said proceeds from the tax-enacted by the 1965 legislature, will finance improvements in education. York listed four alternatives to the sales tax including a return to a 105 million dollar general fund budget he said would result in a "drastic deterioration of the public schools and a major Utah-type crisis for the state of Idaho."

BOISE, April 14 (AP)—Bids were opened yesterday by the state highway department on two projects, both in Bonneville county. Hartwell Excavating company, Idaho Falls, was the only bidder, with an offer of $35,975, for sealing about 15.1 miles of U. S. 26 from Pallasades dam to the Wyoming state line. Nelson Brothers Construction company, Salt Lake City, was apparent low bidder at $28,021 for installing sprinkling systems, placing top soil, planting trees, shrubs and vines and seeding lawn on two interchanges on Interstate highway 15, the Broadway interchange and John Hole interchange. There were four other bidders.

BOISE, April 14 (AP)—The possibility of a southern Idaho meeting on Sunday pari-mutuel horse racing at county fairgrounds is being explored by an Ada county commissioner. Commissioner Charles B. Baskins said a number of county commissioners in the southern section of the state "are interested in such a meeting." Sunday racing has been banned at fairgrounds in Pocatello by the Bannock county commission. The Pocatello Racing association is negotiating to move the races to the city airport. Tentative agreement on a 10-year lease for racing on Sundays and other days is reported between R. C. Hillman, racing association president, and Ken Douglas, chairman of the Pocatello airport board. The first race is scheduled June 12. The Pocatello association has been granted seven Sunday racing dates by the state racing commission.

Reactions to Southeast Asia Development Plan Discussed

By COL. RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Military Analyst

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—In presenting the Southeast Asia development plan with such fanfare at Johns Hopkins university, President Johnson may have killed much of its effectiveness. This is the judgment of some U. S. officials familiar with the proposal.

For the success of the plan depends on its having a made-in-Asia rather than a made-in-U. S. label.

The development program, in fact, is aimed eventually at getting the United States off the hook in Southeast Asia:

1. So U. S. forces won't be bogged down in one country after another—Thailand, Laos, Malaysia, the Philippines.
2. So the tight-against-armed aggression in Southeast Asia won't be labeled U. S. interference in the Orient. Rather, it would be clear that Red aggression in Southeast Asia was aggression against Asians.
3. So the United States won't have to carry almost alone the heavy financial, political, psychological and military burden of saving Southeast Asia.

If the development plan is made in Asia by Asians and led by Asians and includes the participation of a wide range of countries under the United Nations, a sizable number of nations would have a vested interest in protecting the region.

There wouldn't be the indifference, or the let-the-U. S.-do-it attitude, that prevails regarding Viet Nam.

The non-American label might also make it possible to enlist countries such as Burma and Cambodia in this common effort.

to strengthen themselves against subversion.

United Nations Secretary General U Thant asserts that Burma today fears U. S. arms aid would smother it in the East-West struggle and endanger its independence.

The development concept is obviously intended to shift the emphasis of the fight against aggression in Southeast Asia from military to economic and psychological.

Says one official bluntly, "Military methods haven't been very successful."

The economic development plan would not be designed as a new method for helping win the present war in Viet Nam.

Officials believe Hanoi will not consider economic cooperation as an adequate incentive for giving up the territory held by the Viet Cong.

Rather, officials here believe the plan will begin to be effective only after the Viet Nam war is over.

The most they hope is that it would help prevent future South Viet Nam-type wars in that area.

This economic development program, if it goes through, will get rolling slowly. It's expected to be the end of 1965 before U. Thant and the Southeast Asian countries can possibly come up with a well-thought-out plan.

It will then be sometime in 1966 before the various participating and cooperating countries—Asian and Western—begin to vote any funds. Assuming the U. S. congress likes the proposal, new U. S. money likely would not be available before mid-1966.

Even then, it will be very difficult, if not impossible, for the plan to start operating effectively in those areas where there is active guerrilla warfare or bombing—that is, in Viet Nam and in parts of Laos, Thailand and Burma.

It's expected that active operations would start slowly in the peaceful regions, spread to other areas when fighting ends.

"There is no plan at present," The President of the United States does not have an economic development plan for Southeast Asia. Neither does the department of state nor any U. S. agency.

But the guessing here is that in basic concept the plan is likely to be much like the development part of the Marshall plan, though more oriented to agriculture and with outside funds, of course, coming from many countries, not just the United States.

Any program worked out would undoubtedly push a multimillion-dollar TVA-like power-agriculture development, along the "king" river valley, which runs through parts of Thailand, Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam.

Fiance Aids Girl Past Red Guards

VIENNA, Austria, April 14 (AP)—A little linkering by her fiance got a pretty 22-year-old East German girl past Communist border guards yesterday.

Ellen Apel, a governess from East Berlin, fled across the Czechoslovak-Austrian border in a special niche in the trunk of her fiance's car.

The Czech officials opened the trunk but failed to see Ellen. She was squatting behind a fake wall between the trunk and rear seats. The niche had been built by her fiance, an Iranian who identified himself only as Hovsein L. since he said he might have to go back to East Berlin.

"The couple fell in love in Berlin, where he was a student, and decided the easiest way for Ellen to escape would be through Czechoslovakia. Austrian officials are considering her request for political asylum.

College Head Is Honored By Students

Twin Falls County Junior college's first administrator, Dr. James L. Taylor, was commended recently in a letter and with a plaque for his "outstanding performance of duty" while an instructor and dean of students at Ellendale State Teachers' college, N.D.

Dr. Taylor said he was "highly pleased" by the remembrance from the student body at the North Dakota college. He arrived here March 13 to accept the administrative position at the new junior college after resigning his position at Ellendale.

The letter received from Eddie Poehls, student body president at Ellendale, praised Dr. Taylor for his "devotion to duty, conscientious

Humphrey May Be Busiest Vice President on Record

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP) — His staff members are convinced that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has invented the 48-hour day.

That's the explanation they give for the ability of probably the busiest vice president on record to keep up with a man-killing schedule of speeches, conferences, ceremonies and social affairs.

Encouraged by President Johnson to sell the "Great Society" to the public, the ebullient, fast-talking Humphrey has made 40 speeches on just about every subject from wildlife to space accomplishments in the period since March 1.

At the same time, he has been involved in 12 formal conferences on national problems, got an unrecorded number of briefings from the Pentagon, state department and central intelligence agency; attended all but one National Security council meeting; missed only two cabinet sessions; attended all White House conferences of Democratic legislative leaders, and went to a dozen White House receptions.

In between inspections of Cape Kennedy, an army camp, an air force base and national Boy Scout headquarters, he found the time to pick up honorary degrees from Yeshiva university in New York City, UCLA in Los Angeles and Louisiana State university.

Associates keep telling Humphrey, "You can't run the 440 forever," but the vice president hasn't discovered a way to slow down.

On a typical day last week, he was at his quarters in the executive office building early after stowing away the Paul Bunyan kind of breakfast, he needs to keep his pace. He spoke at a noon luncheon of the advertising council, an afternoon meeting of the Rural Electrification Cooperatives association, at the opening ceremony of the Cherry Blossom festival and at night addressed a dinner meeting of the industrial union department of the AFL-CIO.

Lucky Landing

LOS ANGELES, April 14 (AP) — Seven-year-old Lorrie McIntyre suffered not a scratch Wednesday when she fell 20 feet from her second-story bedroom.

Authorities said the girl landed on a plot of grass 3-feet-square surrounded by concrete.

On that day, he made about as many speeches, on as many different subjects, as he used to when he was a senator. Told in those times that he talked too much, Humphrey replied with a grin: "I can't help it. It's just glands. They work the same way now that he holds the office Alben W. Barkley once remarked in just "calls for four years of silence."

N. Y. Boy Is Senate's First Negro Page

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP) — A 16-year-old honor student whose ambition is to run for mayor of New York City began work yesterday as the senate's first Negro page in history.

He is Lawrence Bradford, Jr., a sophomore at the New Lincoln school and president of the Manhattan Youth council of the New York branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R., N. Y., an ardent foe of discrimination, appointed Bradford to the post with the blessing of senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

The youth said he considers himself a pioneer and expressed hope other Negro boys would follow in his footsteps. He showed no apprehension about his new job and said: "I'll try to do my best and to do my job well."

"I'm excited first of all about being a page," he added.

A special house committee complained last year that no Negroes have ever been appointed as pages in either the senate or the house. The supreme court has both Negro and white pages. Javits said Lawrence has one of about a half-dozen boys who reached the final screening phase for his first appointment of a senate page. It's a temporary assignment which expires June 30.

As a page Lawrence will attend school at the Library of Congress beginning at 6:30 a.m. and report for work at 9:30 to run errands for senators on the floor and between their offices and the senate and house chambers.

Pay scales for pages range between $4,800 and $5,000 yearly. Javits said he selected Lawrence for the job because of his scholarship—he's a straight "A" student—his pleasant manner, his alertness and exemplary conduct. The senator said another Negro and a Puerto Rican were also among finalists for the job. Javits credited Dirksen with a major role in the appointment. Javits said it would have been pre-empted by another senator with more seniority if Dirksen hadn't held it for him.

Lawrence, a soccer and baseball player at school, wants to study political science in college and run for public office. He'd eventually like to run for mayor of New York City, he said.

He worked last fall for Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R., N. Y., who was defeated in his bid for reelection by Robert F. Kennedy, Democrat.

Communists Are Having Problems in Viet Nam War

WASHINGTON, April 14 (NEA)—Red Ho Chi Minh is infiltrating his southern expeditionary force into South Viet Nam because of weaknesses, not strength. He needs a diversion, guerrilla warfare experts maintain.

Though the Viet Cong have been winning steadily and dramatically and South Vietnamese government forces have been losing, the communists are running into problems.

First—The Viet Cong desertion rate is increasing. The average monthly desertion rate from 1962 through 1964 was 188 a month. During the past four months desertions have hit a monthly average of 350.

More Viet Cong are being captured in battle. Captured and defeated Viet Cong totaled 1,040 in January, more than twice the rate of a few months back.

Until recently, the number of government troops defecting and collections were—and are still rising.

Stories have come out through relatives of increasing sabotage in some Viet Cong villages. Farmers have quietly refused to turn over rice to the Viet Cong and have shipped it off to the free markets instead.

Third—Of late, communist terrorists have been killing "too many" people in some sections of the country. Terrorism is a delicate business. "Too little" is ineffective. "Too much" creates a reaction.

Mao Tse-tung learned this in his early days as a Red boss in central China. He and his men killed "too many" officials, landlords and others who did not cooperate. The people turned against the communists. Mao was forced to give up most of his gains and retreat (the Long March) 2,000 miles to the North.

Fourth—The Viet Cong have been losing numbers of irreplaceable experienced local leaders. Many of their best officers, non-commissioned officers and officials have been 15-year veterans who got their start in the Indo-

China war against the French. They're men of experience. They know the people and the terrain. They have many relatives and friends in the areas in which they operate. Often these men have been looked up to as patriots because of their fight for "national independence" against the French. More and more of these men have been killed off in the fighting or by disease. They have been replaced by younger, greener men and by North Vietnamese.

A considerable number of the newest Viet Cong recruits are draft dodgers, with no feeling for the Viet Cong cause.

Don't take these Viet Cong troubles as a sign the U.S.-South Vietnamese government forces are about to win a quick victory in South Viet Nam.

The current failure of the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments to take advantage of these Viet Cong weaknesses gives the communists time to recoup their losses and move on to more victories.

The need is for teams of underground men to move into Viet Spring Is Coming On Fast . . .

Not weeks but days will bring the bursting of buds and the annual awakening of life and loveliness in our Park.

One of our most attractive features is the sculptured beauty of the bronze memorials that mark the graves and adorn the family plots.

We are trying to see each family that has an unmarked grave before the April 17 deadline for installation before Memorial Day. Possibly you may wish to make a selection now.

A selection need not cause you much expense. We have styles, designs and prices to suit your taste and fit your purse. A call to 733-5743 will bring those designs to your living room. If some other member of the family should be interviewed won't you call and tell us?

The pride and satisfaction that comes to you from a suitable memorial on the grave of a loved one exceeds many lesser daily gratifications. Let us serve you.

Humphrey Turns Down Idaho Visit

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Vice President Humphrey Tuesday turned down an invitation to celebrate May day in Moscow. But he made it clear it was not for ideological reasons.

It was just that he already had a prior commitment for May 1, Humphrey said when invited to celebrate the day in Moscow, Idaho.

The invitation was extended by Rep. Compton I. White, Jr., D., Idaho, who said the Idaho city of 11,000 each year celebrates "Loyalty day" on the same day that Soviet tanks rumble through Red Square to mark the communist holiday.

In expressing his regrets, Humphrey said the Idaho city's celebration emphasized that "there are two ways of life and that our way, the way of peace and human dignity, is the best way."

"It is important to our nation and the free world that Moscow will be marching for peace, and not as a show of armed might such as will be on display in the other Moscow."

The vice president and Mrs. Humphrey were invited to Moscow by Judd Kenworthy, president of the local chamber of commerce, in a letter presented by White.

The letter also boasted that Moscow was the "dry pea capital of the world" as well as the "home of the University of Idaho."

Sox Convert Oriole Errors Into 5-3 Win

BALTIMORE, April 14 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox, aided by walks, an error and other Baltimore miscues, scored four runs in the first three innings and went on to defeat the Orioles 5-3 in Baltimore's home baseball opener Tuesday.

Don Buford, playing the lead-off man role perfectly, opened three Chicago scoring innings with walks and also singled. He scored in the first inning without the aid of a hit and was knocked in on a single by Pete Ward in the fifth.

In the third, when Chicago scored three runs off Baltimore starter and loser Steve Barber, Buford opened with a walk but was thrown out trying to reach third on a single by Floyd Robinson.

Then John Romane singled Robinson to second and Ward followed with his first run-scoring single. A throwing error on the tag end of the play by Brooks Robinson, last year's most valuable player in the American league, allowed Romane to score and Ward ended up on third. Ron Hansen's sacrifice fly scored Ward.

Liston Vows He'll Sting Clay Back

DENVER, April 14 (AP)—Casius Clay may flap like a butterfly and sting like a bee, but a vengeful Sonny Liston vowed Tuesday, "I'll be stinging back," when the two meet for the National Boxing association's world heavyweight title May 25.

And Liston's retinue — from trainer Willie Reddish to sparring partner Arnie ("Big Train") Lincoln — all feel the former champion will reverse the defeat he absorbed from Clay in February, 1964.

"So Clay says he's retiring after the fight," Liston said. "Well, I'll help him out. I've got a retirement plan all made out for him."

Liston, while refusing to pick the round he would dispose of Muhammad Ali, predicted the bout would not go the distance.

He reported his shoulder completely healed from the ailment which halted the last Clay fight.

Liston went through a two-hour workout Tuesday, including two rounds of sparring with Lincoln, and showed signs of his reputed temper only twice.

He snapped once when a rope-skipping record was set at the wrong speed and brawled when a newsman later asked him about a minor traffic ticket he picked up last week.

Reddish, the former champion's 245-pound trainer, pronounced Liston ready to go after topping the workout with 10 minutes of heaving a 14-pound medicine ball at Sonny's mid-section.

A small training camp gathering was sent buzzing early in the workout when Liston started lined up with a short right chop but pulled his next punch when Reddish shouted, "Hold it!"

Former heavyweight titlist Joe Louis, a neighbor and adviser to Liston, said he had never seen Sonny look better but said he was holding up a prediction on the fight until after he sees Clay.

Horse Wins After Dumping Jockey

ALBANY, Calif., April 14 (AP)—Jockey Johnny Longden, 58-year-old rider who has won more races than any other in the horse racing profession, picked himself up off the Golden Gate fields track Tuesday in time to see his mount finish first.

Bud 'N' Bob, the 3-year-old which Longden was to pilot in the featured eighth race, stumbled at the gate and dumped Longden on the turf.

Longden evaded the flying hooves of other horses. He suffered a bruised hip.

With help from track assistants, Longden was on his feet before the race ended.

Massengale Tops Pro Qualifying

HOUSTON, April 14 (AP)—Don Massengale, young pro from Jacksboro, Tex., fired a three-under-par 68 Tuesday as 54 professionals and two amateurs qualified for Thursday's opening round of the $55,000 Houston golf classic.

Massengale, former Texas Christian university player, had a 35-33 for the 6,728-yard par 35-71 Brae Burn Country club course.

A score of 77 or lower was needed to qualify as 82 players sought the 56 spots available for Thursday's starting field of 144.

Idaho Defeats Washington 7-3

SEATTLE, April 14 (AP)—Gary Kaatz' three-run homer in the seventh broke a 2-2 tie Tuesday and lifted the Idaho Vandals to a 7-3 baseball victory over Washington Huskies.

Idaho took a two-run lead in the first, but Mike Matheo's single in the fourth brought two runners home to tie the count.

Kaatz was aided by Wally Posey, who cracked off three singles and scored two of Idaho's runs.

The loss left the Huskies with a 5-6 record.

Pena Guides Cubs Past Cards 3-1

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—Rookie shortstop Roberto Pena smashed his second homer in two days and scored an insurance run on an error as the Chicago Cubs defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 3-1 Tuesday.

It was the first decision of the season for both clubs which played a 10-10 tie called after 11 innings because of darkness in Monday's opener.

Pena's homer, backing a five-hitter pitching job by Bob Buhl, broke a three-inning hitless skid by Curt Simmons, the loser.

It came in a two-run, Cub fourth which erased a 1-0 lead the Cardinals fashioned in the first on successive doubles by Lou Brock and Bill White.

After Pena's homer, Ron Santo's scratch single and theft of second, a walk and Ernie Banks' sharp single to left gave the Cubs a second run.

Hawks Blank Wings, Force Showdown

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—A flurry of three goals in the final period carried the Chicago Black Hawks to a 4-0 victory over the Detroit Red Wings Tuesday night in the National Hockey league's Stanley cup playoffs.

The victory lifted the Hawks into a tie with the champion Red Wings at three games each in the best-of-seven semifinal series.

The two teams will play the deciding game in Detroit Thursday night. As yet, neither of the two clubs has won away from home.

Kenny Wharram gave Chicago a 1-0 lead at 3:18 of the second period when he took a pass from Doug Mohs, sped up the center and whistled a 25-footer past goalie Roger Crozier.

Actually that was all goalie Glenn Hall needed as he turned back 33 Detroit shots in a brilliant exhibition of guarding the net.

But the Hawks saved their fury for the final 10 minutes which suddenly found the Red Wings demoralized.

Midway in the third period, Detroit's Gordie Howe drew a penalty and seven seconds after Howe left the penalty box, Chicago made it 3-0 on Esposito's shot.

Bobby Hull, Chicago hero of the series, faked a shot and fired in on Crozier only to pass off to Esposito. Esposito shot three times before finally stuffing it into the net.

Lee than three minutes later Stan Mikita scored Chicago's third goal and at 18:48, while the Hawks were short-handed, Red Hay made it 4-0 over the Red Wings.

BYU Whips Cal, Oregon State

BERKELEY, Calif., April 14 (AP)—Brigham Young university scored in all but one of 17 track events Tuesday and the Cougars' depth carried them to a triumph over Oregon State and California at Berkeley in a triangular meet.

Scoring in the triangular was Brigham Young 70, Oregon State 63 and California 48. In dual scoring, Brigham Young defeated Oregon State 79-66 and California 85-60; Oregon State defeated California 82-63.

Oregon State won eight first places, Brigham Young won only five. But BYU was shut out only in the high jump, 440-yard relay and the mile relay.

76ers Drop Celts, Even Playoff 3-3

PHILADELPHIA, April 14 (AP)—The Philadelphia 76ers raced to a 16-point, halftime lead and with their 7-foot, 1-inch Will Chamberlain in foul trouble, had to withstand a Boston rally to defeat the Celtics 112-106 and deadlock the National Basketball association Eastern final series at three games apiece.

The seventh and deciding game will be played in Boston Thursday night.

Chamberlain scored 24 of his 30 points in the first half as the 76ers forged an early lead that Boston never was able to overcome, although the Celtics moved to within three points at 107-104 with 1:30 left in the game.

Chamberlain committed his fifth personal foul with 11:42 to play in the final period and, as a result, had to play it comparatively safe against Boston's big Bill Russell.

Penn Relay Field Tests Villanova

PHILADELPHIA, April 14 (AP)—Villanova's past domination of the Penn relays appears in for a stiff challenge April 23-24 at the 71st annual track and field meet on Franklin field.

Big of the Southwest conference and Missouri are sending strong entries for the meet, which has drawn more than 6,000 competitors from 119 colleges, universities and high schools.

Coach Jim Jumbo Elliott's Villanova runners will be defending the two-mile, four-mile, eight-mile and distance medley events. The Wildcats last year joined Pitt 1959 and Michigan 1960 as the only teams ever to win four Penn relay races in one year.

Anti-Trust Suit Slated By Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, April 14 (AP)—The Milwaukee county board voted Tuesday to initiate a federal court action against the Milwaukee Braves "and other necessary parties" to have baseball declared in violation of the anti-trust laws. The move is based on the Braves' scheduled move to Atlanta after this season.

The 20-3 vote authorizes the county corporation council to begin suit in an appropriate federal court "to recover damages which may have been sustained by Milwaukee county, and/or injunctive relief by reason of violation of the federal anti-trust acts."

"Injunctive relief" could mean asking a federal court to block the proposed transfer, approved by the National league last year. It was delayed until the end of this season only after the county went to court previously to seek enforcement of its contract with the club for Milwaukee County stadium.

Duren Returns To Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, April 14 (AP)—Ryne Duren, 36-year-old veteran pitcher, signed Tuesday for his second hitch with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Duren obtained his unconditional release from the Cincinnati Reds with whom he pitched most of the season. He was sold to the Reds in 1963 after working in two games for the Phillies with no record.

Magic Valley Shooters Seize Top Awards

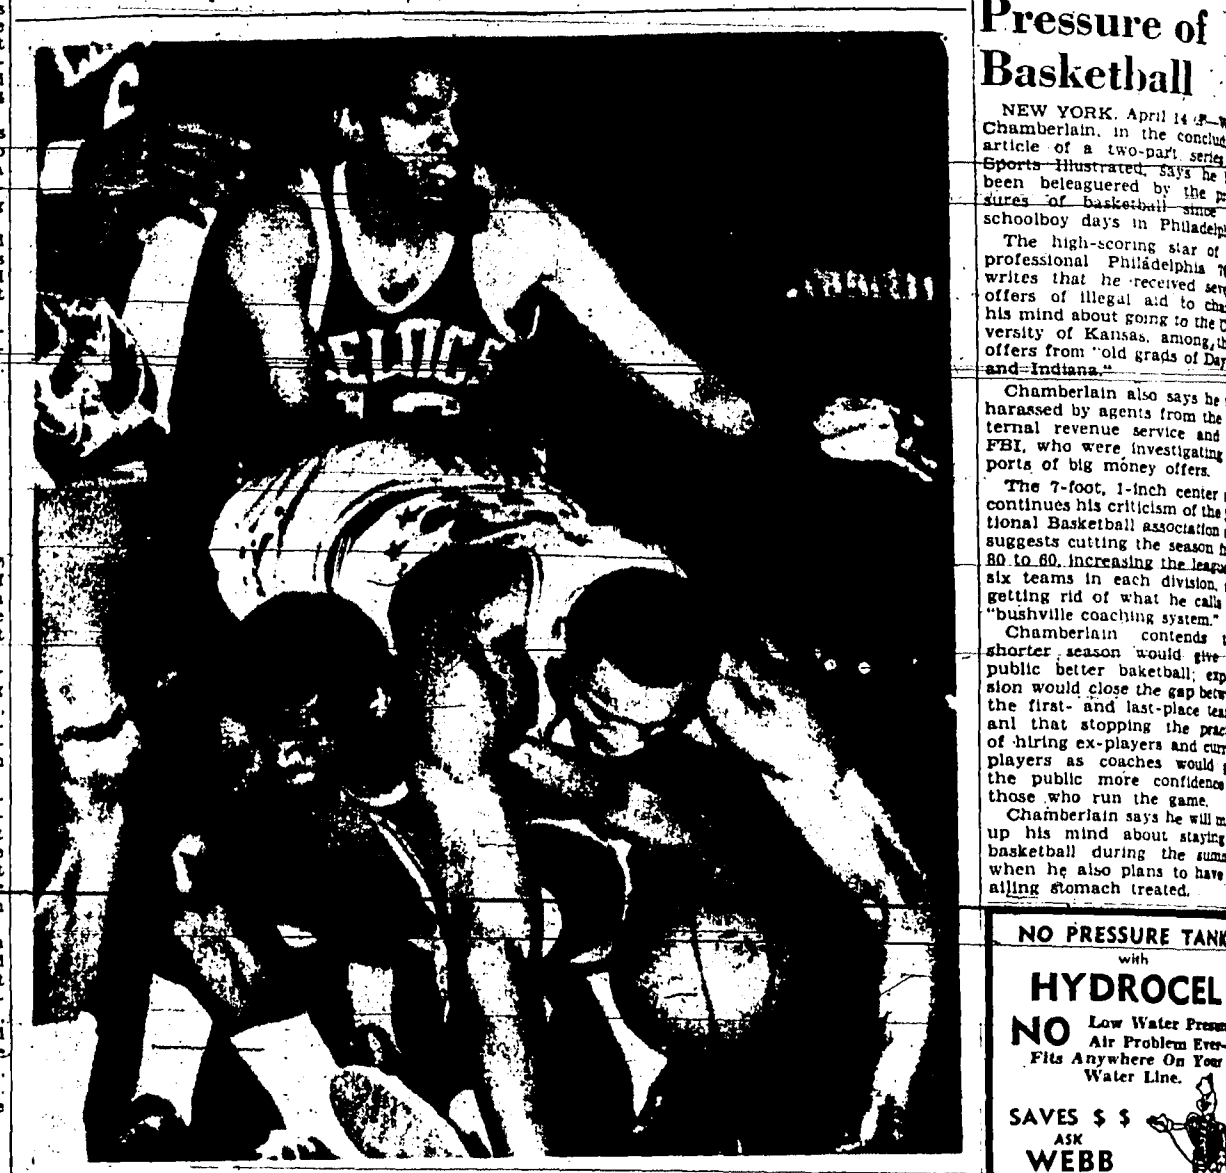

Magic Valley individuals and teams ran off with the majority of the top honors in the National Rifle association's section indoor rifle matches at Boise over the week-end.

Craig Tucker, Fairfield, and Stephen Dick, Twin Falls, ran off two in the boys' division. Tucker posted a 383 out of a possible 400, while Dick had 381. Sharon Rees, Twin Falls, took the top girl honors with a 363.

The Twin Falls junior rifle club girls team won that championship by firing a 1,373. On the club were Sharon Rees, Carol Reppeto, Roberta Filinn and Ruth Baltzer.

Filer's boys' team copped the other major championship with a 1,464 out of a possible 1,500. Members of that team are James Beaver, Edwin DeVal, Carl Price and Jarel Carey.

Wilt Decries Pressure of Basketball

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Will Chamberlain, in the concluding article of a two-part series by Sports Illustrated, says he is being beleaguered by the pressures of basketball since schoolboy days in Philadelphia.

The high-scoring star of the professional Philadelphia 76ers writes that he received several offers of illegal aid to the university of Kansas, among others from "old grads of Dayton and Indiana."

Chamberlain also says he is harassed by agents from the Internal Revenue Service and FBI, who were investigating reports of big money offers.

The 7-foot, 1-inch center continues his criticism of the National Basketball association, suggesting cutting the season from 80 to 60, increasing the league's six teams in each division, getting rid of what he calls "bushy" coaching system.

Chamberlain contends a shorter season would give the public better basketball, expansion would close the gap between the first- and last-place teams, and that stopping the practice of hiring ex-players and current players as coaches would give the public more confidence in those who run the game.

Chamberlain says he will keep his mind about staying in basketball during the summer when he also plans to have ailing stomach treated.

Lakers Outlast Bullets to Move Into NBA Finals

BALTIMORE, April 14 (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers held off a late rally by Baltimore and defeated the Bullets 117-115 Tuesday night to advance to the National Basketball Association final playoffs. Jerry West scored 42 points for the Lakers and Dick Barnett added 31 as Los Angeles won the Western division final series four games to two.

Billboards to Help Protect Private Land

BOISE, April 14—Idaho fishermen and hunters this year will be reminded repeatedly where they go to respect property rights when crossing private lands to follow their favorite sports, the Idaho fish and game department announced today.

The simple messages, and the appealing to fishermen and hunters, will be posted around the state as part of a program to help protect private land by member of the Idaho Wildlife Federation. This program was endorsed at the January convention of the federation in Boise.

K. Kluss Brown, chief of the information and education division of the fish and game department, says about 40 club affiliates of the federation have been mailed sets of two outdoor signs for use in their local communities.

It is hoped that the fishing sign will be displayed during the spring and early summer months and that the hunting sign will go up just before the hunting season. Brown commented.

Under the plan, local clubs will pay for the signs and support a diagram for construction of the signs. The signs will be mailed with the posters. Many groups will make this a club project. Others are expected to engage the local outdoor sporting agency to handle the work.

Rookie Hits 4-Run Homer in Reds' Win

CINCINNATI, April 14 (AP)—Tony Perez' first homer of his major league career—a four-run, home-runder—powered Cincinnati to Milwaukee 8-3 Tuesday night.

The first baseman's hit broke open a tight game in the fifth inning. With the Reds leading 4-1 and one out, Vada Pinson singled for one of his three hits and stole second. Milwaukee reliever Denny Lemaster then inserted Frank Robinson and Ron Johnson, filling the bases.

Perez, inserted into the Reds' lineup to add right-handed power, followed with a home run. The homer was the first grand slam of the season in the majors, the ball landing on top of the concrete center field wall.

The Braves scored once in the second on two singles and a walk and twice in the third on two singles and a single. Joe Torre, the homered twice Monday, led off the plate in both innings.

Base-Stealing Mark Is Goal For Wills

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Maury Wills says somebody will break his record of 104 stolen bases. It might just be a fellow named Maury Wills.

"I think it's possible," said the new captain of the Los Angeles Dodgers. "But if I should go for the record right now I'd never break it. The moment I decided to shoot at it, I'd start pressing and I would tighten up. You do better if you just let them flow, nice and easy."

Wills got off to a jack rabbit start by stealing two bases in Monday's opener at Shea stadium. He believes in putting the pressure on the other fellow.

"You try to force the other club into mistakes," he said. "Some people play more cautiously but where are they? In the second division. Name me one outstanding player who plays it cautious."

"If I became cautious I wouldn't be Maury Wills. I wouldn't be the captain of this club."

"It is a known fact that if our club is going to be motivated, I have to get on base and do things. So do Willie Davis and Tommy Davis."

"The way I feel right now I think it is possible to go at top speed all the way. I feel better than when I was 19. Maybe I'm just getting my second wind. I weigh 173, and I weighed 167 in 1962 when I set my record. And they are a good, solid nine pounds."

"My mental state is fine. I had to go hard and hustle in spring training to show people who had a feeling I had slowed down. I feel I proved them wrong."

Pirates Hand Second Loss To Giants

PITTSBURGH, April 14 (AP)—Pit specialist Al McEvedan put up a ninth inning uprising, turning Bob Friend's victory Tuesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the San Francisco Giants 5-2.

McEvedan came on after Jim Holt and Jesus Alou opened the eighth with singles. He got Tommie Agee to hit into a double play and pinch hitter Ed Bailey took out.

Friend, starting his 15th season with the Pirates, had a five-inning shutout until the eighth when Alou beat out a bunt and Willie Mays followed with a homer. They were the first San Francisco runs of the season, ending an 18-inning drought.

San Francisco right-hander Ed Sanford, starting his first season since last year, hit one batter and committed an error in the third inning. He hit Jim Fagalloni with a pitch, then fumbled Friend's hit, putting two runners on base. Bill Virdon led a single fight for a run.

Running Wastes Time, Says Clay

MIAMI, April 14 (AP)—Cassius Clay said Tuesday he's wasting his time running to get into shape for his May 25 rematch with Sonny Liston at Boston.

"What I mean is that Liston is so old and so slow that I can walk faster than he can run," said Clay. "So all my road work is a fast walk."

Twice a week Clay has been walking the 11.5 miles from the gym on Miami Beach to his home in the northwest section of Miami. The champion's No. 2 trainer, Beudini Brown, clocked the walk with a pedometer.

Clay, however, is running six miles daily, and Brown said the champion may stop that up to 10 miles before leaving for Boston early in May.

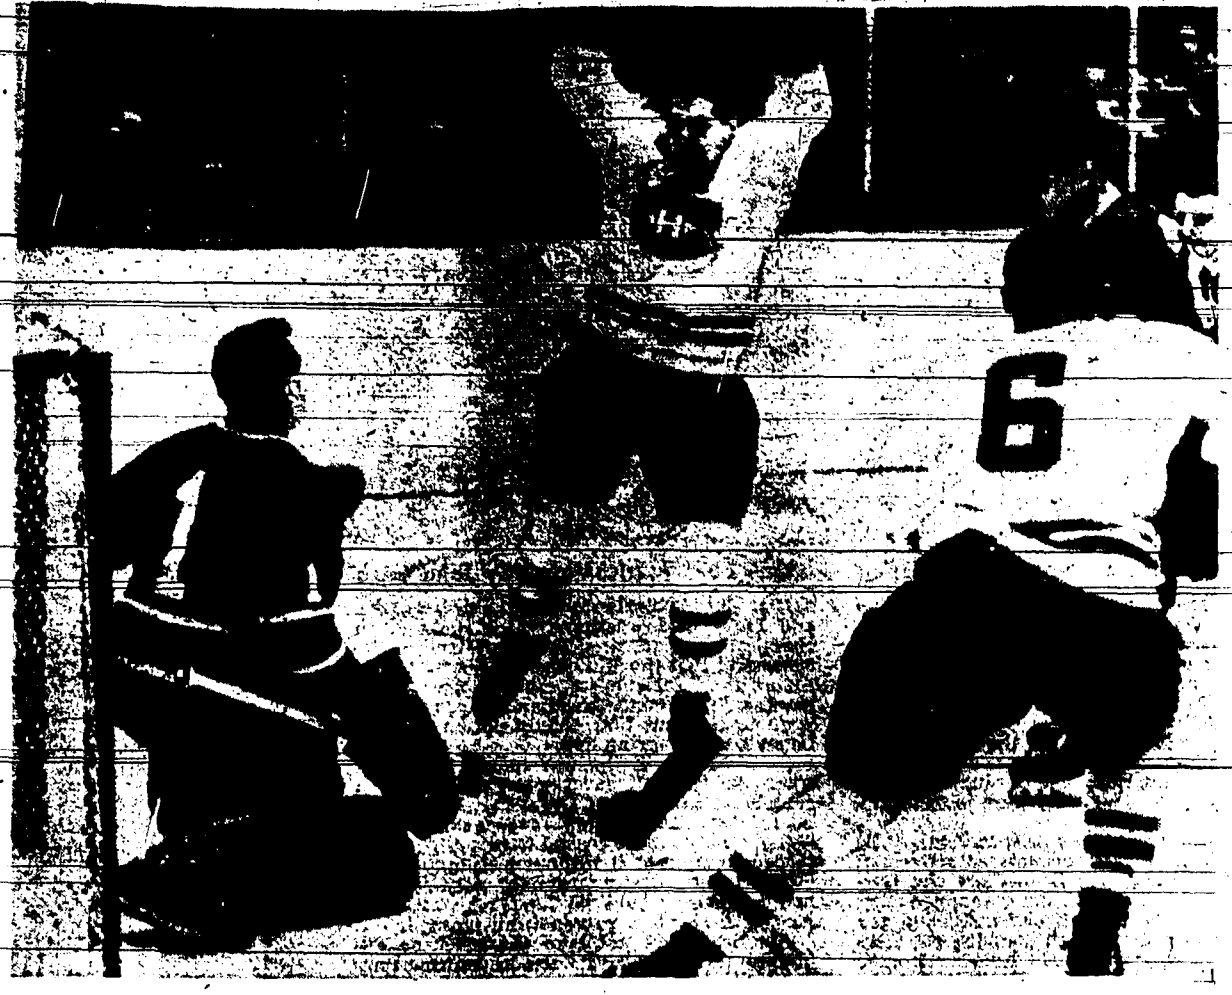

Track Feud Isn't Hurting Entries

LOS ANGELES, April 14 (AP)—The NCAA is not hurting us, says the San Antonio College track and field director, claiming he does not need U.S. Track and Field Federation sanction for April 24 meet.

The director, Hilmer Lodge, said Tuesday no NCAA athletes are expected to compete because of the NCAA's Amateur Athletic Union feud.

"Only collegiate athletes are expected to compete with us," Lodge said.

"We have an entry list—except the college class—best field and largest advance ticket sales."

SETTING THE RECORD, Claude Larose, Montreal, leaps into the air as John Ferguson's shot goes past Toronto Maple Leaf goalie Johnny Bower during Stanley cup action Tuesday night. The goal, together with three scored by the Leafs, went to set a record of four goals in a span of 99 seconds. Skating away from goal is Ralph Backstrom (6). Montreal won to eliminate the Leafs and will play in the finals against Detroit or Chicago. (AP Wirephoto)

Soviets May Renege on Pro Contests

ST. LOUIS, April 14 (AP)—The St. Louis Globe-Democrat reported in its Wednesday editions that the Soviet Union national basketball team had backed out of playing two U. S. professional teams.

Col. Donald A. Hull, executive secretary of the national Amateur Athletic Union, was quoted by the newspaper as saying that the Russians "were reneging" on signed contracts. The Soviet basketball team had been scheduled to play the Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks—both of the National Basketball Association—during an April and May tour of the United States.

Hull said there was still a chance the Russians might play but the Globe-Democrat quoted him as saying: "We have been interfering with them through their embassy in Washington but without much success."

The agreement for the two games with professional teams was signed in Tokyo last fall, said Hull.

"The games with the Celtics and Hawks," the Globe-Democrat quoted Hull, "would be merely exhibitions, and that was emphasized in the contract which had the approval of amateur bodies in both countries."

Hull was quoted as saying that the Russians had decided in the last few days not to play the NBA teams.

"The Russians aren't coming to the United States just to lose," Hull was quoted as saying. "And I suspect it dawned on them that they didn't stand much chance of winning against the pros."

Printer Is Arrested For Forgery

ATHENS, April 14 (AP)—A printer was arrested Tuesday in the forgery of tickets to the Atlanta Masters golf tournament and the forgery of tickets to the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race.

Police Chief E. E. Hardy said Ronnie Paul Condon, 31, Athens, was charged with forgery.

M. P. Dorsch, chief of the internal revenue service's intelligence division in Georgia, said in Atlanta that Condon would be questioned by federal agents in connection with the forging of tickets at Indianapolis.

"We want to determine whether there is any connection between Condon and what we believe to be a nationwide operation," Dorsch said.

Four university of Georgia students were charged with forgery last Sunday after 150 counterfeit Masters tickets were impounded by security guards at the Augusta National Golf club. Condon, released on bond of $5,000, said in a statement to police that he printed the tickets at the request of two of the students and charged them his usual printing rate of $35 for that type of a job. He faces a hearing Wednesday before Magistrate Raymond Lester.

Revenue agents said the counterfeit season tickets to the Masters were sold for up to $50 each. They said about 300 tickets were printed and would have been worth about $15,000 at scalper's prices.

Bowling Terry Blanks Angels in Indian Debut

LOS ANGELES, April 14 (AP)—Ralph Terry pitched a four-hitter in his Cleveland debut Tuesday night as the Indians defeated the Los Angeles Angels 7-1 in an American League baseball opener before 11,278.

Terry, acquired from the New York Yankees last October, walked one and struck out two. He retired 14 Angels in succession at one stretch.

The Indians shelled Fred Newman, Don Lee, Dick Winters and Don Piche for 12 hits, including a two-run homer by Leon Wagner, Newman, the victim of three errors, went the first six innings and suffered the loss.

Wagner's two-run homer came in the seventh inning at the expense of Lee. It followed a single by Chuck Hinton. In the eighth the Indians scored twice off Wantz when Danillio and Brown doubled and Jose Azucue singled.

East German Bicyclist Defects

LONDON, April 14 (AP)—Hartmut Scholz, East German cycling ace, disappeared from his team soon after arrival at London airport and is presumed to have defected, cycling officials said Tuesday.

Scholz, star of the East German pursuit squad, arrived with two other riders and a trainer Monday night to compete in Friday's big meet at Herne Hill stadium.

Officials said he passed through customs and immigration ahead of his teammates, leaving them to bring in the team's bikes. Then he grabbed his bags and made off into the crowded airport buildings.

James Wallace, promoter of the event for the southern counties cycling union, said: "It may be of course, that he's just lost. But that seems highly unlikely."

Scholz was booked for a return contest with Czechoslovakia's Olympic pursuit champion, Jiri Daler. Scholz beat Daler in East Berlin earlier this year.

Opposition to South Hills Open Deer Hunt Heard

Opposition to the Idaho fish and game department's idea of including the Cassia division in this fall's general deer season was voiced Tuesday night at the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association's monthly meeting. The group spent over an hour discussing the range conditions, population trend counts and other facets of big game management, but the controversy passed without any formal action.

Tigers Strike Early, Coast Past A's 11-4

KANSAS CITY, April 14 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers jumped on three Kansas City pitchers for seven runs in the first two innings Tuesday and breezed to an 11-4 victory over the Athletics before a crowd of 2,028 at municipal stadium. Al Kaline drove in five of the Detroit runs.

Diego Segui, the A's starter, allowed just one hit but walked six and was touched for four runs. He left with two on and none but in the second, and the Tigers continued to peck away at Jose Santiago and Fred Talbot.

Kaline singled across two runs in the second and knocked in three more with a double in the ninth as the Tigers swept the two-game series here.

Winning pitcher Hank Aguirre yielded the three Kansas City runs in the second on four hits. Aguirre (1-0), Talbot (0-1), Dickson (0-1) and Bryan W. Aguirre (1-0), L-Segui (0-1).

Packers Swap Currie for Split End

GREENBAY, Wis., April 14 (AP)—The Green Bay Packers traded veteran linebacker Dan Currie to the Los Angeles Rams for split end Carrel Dale Tuesday in a National Football League deal.

The Packers, who lost their top draft choice, end Larry Elkington of Baylor, to the rival American Football league, moved to strengthen their pass-receiving corps by acquiring the speedy Dale.

"We lost our first draft choice and as a result we needed a receiver with speed," Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi said. "Dale can run the 100 in less than 10 seconds."

Dale, 26, has been a starter for the Rams for five years. He caught 32 passes for 544 yards and two touchdowns last season. A graduate of Virginia Tech, he stands 6 feet, 2 inches and weighs 200. He was the Rams' No. 8 choice in the 1959 draft.

Currie, who will be 30 in June, has been a standout for the Packers for seven years. He was Green Bay's top draft choice in 1958 after he starred at Michigan State. Currie, who stands 6 feet, 3 inches and weighs 240, was an All-NFL selection in 1962.

Montreal Tips Leafs 4-3 in Sudden Death

TORONTO, April 14 (AP)—Claude Provost's goal, with almost 17 minutes gone in overtime, gave Montreal a 4-3 victory over defending Stanley cup champion Toronto Tuesday night and shot the Canadiens into the National Hockey league playoff finals for the first time in five years.

The sudden death victory closed out the best-of-seven semifinal series in six games and gave the Canadiens their first berth in the finals since 1960, when they won the cup for an unprecedented fifth straight year.

Provost, the Canadiens' leading scorer during the regular season, tallied on passes from Henri Richard and defenseman J. C. Tremblay at 16:33 of the 20-minute overtime period.

Bobby Rousseau's power-play goal, early in the third period, had lifted Montreal into a 3-3 tie, forcing the sudden death session.

Toronto had taken a 3-1 lead during a record scoring spree in the first four minutes of the game.

The First World War

The Second Year of the War Begins: 16

Written By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN for Newspaper Enterprise Association

Illustrated By John Lane

On Jan. 1, 1915, the First World War was only five months old, and generals as well as privates were still learning how to fight. One thing they already knew—that it was suicide to march in closed ranks across an open field. The machine gun had stopped forever the gallant flag-waving charges of the past. And the devastating effect of long-range, high-explosive shells had made troops take shelter in trenches and dugouts.

As a result, the Western Front had become stabilized along a 400-mile line of trenches running from the North Sea to the Swiss border. For nearly four years several million men were to drag out a miserable existence while they hugged the raw earth along this line in all kinds of weather. Countless numbers of them were to be killed or wounded.

Today, you can still pick up shell fragments there, and if you look sharply you will find shattered bits of bone.

The year 1915 was to be a time for raising new armies, for preparing to produce more weapons and ammunition, and for making plans for future assaults. Meanwhile, action along the Western Front was stalemated although there was plenty of useless fighting and useless dying. By the end of 1915 so little had been accomplished on this front that three hard-won miles marked the greatest advance made.

The year began badly for the Allies when the British battleship Formidable was sunk by a U-boat on January 1. The Germans had few submarines as yet, but they were industriously building many more.

The British navy struck back on January 24 when one of its fleets encountered a German squadron in the North Sea. Since the Germans were outnumbered and outgunned they tried to get back to Heligoland. During the running battle, the British pounded the fleeing ships heavily and might have sunk even more of them if Admiral Beatty's instructions had not been misread.

The end of January saw the first use of poison gas when the Germans, fighting at Bolimov in Poland, fired numerous gas-filled shells. But inexperience with the new weapon and bitter cold weather, which slows down chemical reaction, rendered the attack so unsuccessful that the Russians did not bother to report it to their allies. In less than three months, French and Canadian troops at Ypres were to find out how deadly poison gas can be on a warm spring day.

On February 4, the war took a new turn when the German government proclaimed a submarine blockade of Great Britain and Ireland. Any merchant ship—even a neutral one—that entered those coastal waters might have torpedoes fired at it without warning.

The United States promptly notified Germany that it would be held responsible if American ships or people were harmed.

Americans did not take the blockade announcement seriously. Even in wartime they had been able to take passage to Europe whenever they wished. Tickets were being sold for the May 1 sailing of the Cunard luxury liner Lusitania, and many American citizens bought them.

CHELMSFORD, England, April 13 (AP)—"What is that smell?" asked the bewigged judge at the Essex Quarter sessions.

"Then unless something is done to prevent this smell entering court, I shall refuse to sit here," the judge snapped.

An officer closed the court doors—and justice proceeded.

Survey Shows Merchants To Have Record Easter Sales

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Bad weather has put a crimp in Easter buying in many areas but merchants generally are optimistic that their cash registers will ring up record sales.

The late Easter—it comes three weeks later than in 1964—was a favorable factor.

"It's always better for business when Easter is late," said a Denver merchant. "A woman is less apt to be in the mood to buy a flowery spring hat when it's snowing."

"We would have fallen on our faces if Easter had been early this year," said an executive of Filene's, which has 10 department stores in the Boston area. "People are like crocuses. They don't come out until the sun gets warmer."

Only a few retailers contacted in a nationwide Associated Press survey said that the heavier income tax payments which many people faced due to underwithholding had affected sales.

"Business has been—in one word—lousy," said an executive of a big Philadelphia store. "Unfavorable weather. The late Easter. Then there is this (tax) thing, which must be fouling up the affairs of millions of people, and certainly not helping the economy."

In New York, David Yunich, president of Macy's Big department store chain, said, "We have noted an upsurge that indicates a big pickup this month and I expect Macy's New York to turn in about a three to four per cent increase for March and April" over the like period of 1964.

Bernard Zients, executive head of Gimbels, another major New York department store chain, said he expects a "wonderful" Easter business and indicated the present trend shows "all the earmarks" of a gain over last year.

Rich's, Inc., Atlanta, Ga., department store, expects a six per cent gain over last year, according to its president, Harold Brockey.

"What Easter buying?" remarked a Minneapolis merchant when asked if much finery was moving. "Weather the last two months has killed everything by miserable weather during February and March."

Edward Marcus, vice president of Nieman-Marcus department store in Dallas, Tex., said:

"We haven't seen that the income tax underwithholding has made any difference yet, but it might as the days get close to Easter. Styles and colors are about the same with the exception that they're a bit younger this year."

An executive of a leading Seattle department store reported sales running between 10 and 15 per cent ahead of last year.

Sales in Los Angeles stores appeared to be better than last year for the most part.

Sears, Roebuck and company reported sales for its entire system in March were up 8.8 per cent over a year earlier despite the later Easter.

Asked on April 6 about Easter sales, a spokesman for Goidblatt Brothers department stores in Chicago, said, "They just let the Easter bunny out of its cage today." He was referring to the first warm, sunny weather of the year.

A CENTURY OF SERVICE TO THE PEOPLE OF IDAHO

APRIL 14, OUR 100th ANNIVERSARY

When furs were money and wagons were schooners J. C. Anderson started a trading post at what now is Idaho Falls. Trappers, traders and miners brought their furs, gold and valuables to the post for safekeeping. The Anderson Brothers Bank prospered and grew through the years to the First Security System of Banks — with 44 offices in 36 Idaho communities today.

Idaho has had a great history of growth and progress to which First Security has made substantial contributions. In the past five years alone, we have paid more than 13½ million dollars in interest on savings accounts deposited with us. In addition, during these same five years, we have made over 300,000 loans amounting to more than 1 billion 110 million dollars to individuals and businesses in Idaho. This, indeed, is banking that is building Idaho!

From the past 100 years we draw inspiration as well as experience, both of which aid us in providing ever better and more helpful banking service to the people of Idaho.

Many Idaho Teachers Get Wage Raises

April 14 (Special) — Idaho schools districts reported average salary increases of 3 to 5 percent for next year, according to the Idaho Education Association.

Boise school district No. 1 will raise its salaries nearly 5 percent, to $10,000 a year. Pocatello reports about a 4 percent increase, Blackfoot, $550, and Cascade approximately $500. These salary increases are the first indications of what the increased education appropriation means for the public schools of Idaho.

These salary increases will go toward reducing the differential existing in 1964-65 between average salaries in Idaho and the United States as a whole. As a result, teachers should be high and more should be less-teacher turnover than at any time in the past 10 years, said Wayne York, executive secretary of IEA.

The IEA has urged that 70 percent of general fund money be used for teacher salaries. Most Idaho districts spend at least that for that purpose.

That leaves about 30 percent of the additional appropriation made by the 1965 legislature, to be used for better libraries, the textbook budget, laboratory equipment and pupil-service specialists. Changes in these categories will appear in the fall when the public schools are able to make curriculum and instructional program changes, York said.

Flip of Coin Decides Tie for Bellevue Council

BELLEVUE, April 14—A flip of a coin has decided the sixth member of the Bellevue city council for the next two years, it was announced today.

The coin was flipped after a recount of votes cast April 5 which resulted in a tie of 16 votes each for Ruben Griffith, incumbent, and William Kohler.

Other candidates included Mayor for a one-year term, will have serving with him as aldermen Griffith, who won the flip, Orville Cameron and Joseph Bergin, all newly elected, and holdovers Ralph Griffin, Richard Beardsley and Mark Patterson.

Defeated were James D. Etchings for mayor and Charles Wright, Everett O'Donnell and John McGee for aldermen.

Stevenson Gets Memorial Award

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP) — Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson received the third annual Eleanor Roosevelt political and public service memorial award last night. His friends staged a "This is Your Life" program for him in New York.

The two-time Democratic presidential candidate, who twice was defeated by Dwight D. Eisenhower, joked: "When I was a boy I was told anybody could be president. Unfortunately, I believed that."

Need Summer Job? Try "YES"

With vacation just around the corner, summer employment is on the minds of many students. This also is the time of year the local employment security agency endeavors to encourage area residents and businessmen to give young people opportunities to work, earn money and learn responsibility.

In carrying out its responsibilities to the youth, the employment security agency attempts to provide youngsters with the kind of help they need in choosing a field of work that is in keeping with their interests, abilities and aspirations.

Last year, through the Youth Employment Services, (YES), the Twin Falls employment security agency office made 1,375 placements. Of this number, 778 were agricultural, while 597 were non-agricultural in nature.

The employment service will be visiting the schools and explaining the YES program and local service clubs will aid in contacting businesses and area residents to cooperate.

Jobs offered great variety, both in types of jobs and duration. The jobs included child monitors, mothers' helpers, office workers, and sales clerking for girls. Boys worked as yardmen, car washers, poultry processors, janitors, store clerks, chauffeurs, dishwashers and service station attendants.

Of the 1,375 placements, only three complaints were received, according to Larry Mitchell, employment security agency.

Each of these could be attributed directly to inexperience and lack of knowledge, rather than to laziness or indifference.

More permanent parttime jobs for youths were recorded during 1964 than in any past year.

One of the local businesses, Buttry's Super store, makes a practice of hiring young people to sack groceries, stock shelves and work in the snack bar.

According to Stan Dunham, manager, the firm has had success with the young people working in its store.

He pointed out that it is the first step the young person takes toward his life's work. Dunham also noted that their contact with the customers, courtesies, etc., are important to the store.

New Dial Tone Being Used by Phone Company

A new dial tone will be heard by Twin Falls telephone subscribers beginning April 24, according to Leo C. Vogel, district manager, Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company.

He pointed out that subscribers need not be alarmed nor think their telephone needs repair.

The new dial tone sounds like a humming wire or a low musical note and will allow the company to make available new style telephones in the future. The old sound contained tones that could interfere with the quality of reception in new Touch-Tone telephone sets, he concluded.

Church Heating Problems Eyed

SHOSHONE, April 14—Methodist Men's club members discussed closing the church basement so it can be heated since the new furnace has been installed. Members met Sunday at the home of Marvin Pearson.

Saturday a work project was held at the church. Consideration was given to sponsoring a pancake dinner soon, with the date to be announced.

Burley Plans Music Event For Region

BURLEY, April 14—Regional music festival will be held April 22-24 at the Burley high school. Schools which receive high ratings at the district festival last week-end at Gooding will be represented at the regional.

During the district festival Burley received several superior ratings including a mixed ensemble composed of Vance Matthews, Alma Beutler, Doug Hall, Rod Draper, Brad Bandy, Des Yarrington, Frazier King, Mike Chesley, Linda Rowley, Janet McCardell, Lynn Curtis, Christine Haight, Johmarie Hall, Christine Tibby and Sheila Stocks.

Another group included Daryl Dille, Brad Bandy, Janet McCardell and Christine Haight. The mixed ensemble and the mixed quartet were formed one day prior to the festival.

Another mixed quartet including Gerg Rasmussen, Dennis Yarrington, Connie Price and Karina Kidd singing "A Song in the Wind" was formed approximately five minutes before the performance with no coaching from the director and received superior rating.

The Burley high school Bel Canto choir and the Burley high school Girls' choir both received superior rating at the district festival in Gooding. Because of the performance that the Bel Canto choir gave at Gooding they have received an invitation to sing May 14 at the College of Idaho.

Soloists from Burley which received superior ratings were Des Yarrington, tenor; Juil Tjadelt, soprano; Karina Kidd, soprano; Johmarie Hall, soprano; Dennis Yarrington, tenor; Sharon Johnson and Lora Kidd, altos.

Military Career Fields Open to Ex-Servicemen

More than 250 career fields are now open in the air force to qualified former service men of all branches of military service. It was announced Tuesday by T/Sgt. Arthur A. Harmon, air force recruiter, Twin Falls.

Harmon said former servicemen may, in some instances, reenlist in the grade they held at the time of discharge from their last active service.

Further information may be obtained from Sergeant Harmon at his office, 235 Main avenue west, or by calling 733-1681.

Red Cross Gray Ladies Host Party for Manor Residents

An Easter party given by the Gray Ladies of the Twin Falls chapter of the American Red Cross Monday at Hazelidel Manor highlighted the month of April for the residents of Hazelidel and SkyView Manors.

The program began with songs led by Mrs. Pat Metzler, with Mrs. Blanche Smith, Buhl, at the organ. Mrs. Ethel Martin presented a game, "Romance in Flowers." Entertainment featured dances by Jaynalene Shew and several young children, all students of Mrs. Merle Stoddard.

Decorations included Easter dinner favors and an Easter tree made by several women at Hazelidel. The tree later was presented to guests at Sky View. Refreshments were served to approximately 40 guests.

According to Mrs. Roy Russell, one of the Gray Ladies at the party, the group sponsors a party about once a month for rest homes throughout the county, in addition to providing everyday services to the residents.

Members write letters, run errands, comb hair and go for walks with the people at the homes.

Before receiving their cap and uniform, the Gray Ladies serve a training period. It is a relative-ly new service to the community and this is the first year an Easter party has been held.

Wood River Jaycees Set New Officers

HAILEY, April 14—Newly elected officers of the Wood River Jaycees were installed Monday evening at a meeting at the Star cafe.

They include Wayne Winter, Halley, president; Richard Davis, Ketchum, vice president; Wallace DeBoard, Halley, secretary; Glenn Brannen, Ketchum, treasurer; Robert Smith, Halley, external director; and Harold Ruby, Ketchum, internal director.

Keneth Worthington, Gannett, was installing officer. Rodney Braase and John A. Davi's were introduced as new members. Robert Swaner and Ruby, co-chairmen of the Days of the Old West committee, reported that Barbara Schwartz, daughter of Mrs. Ray Kinkade, Ketchum, has been chosen as Jaycee entrant in the Days of the Old West queen contest.

Jaycees have been given the rodeo grounds concession for the Days of the Old West celebration July 4 and have bid for concessions for the Wagou Days celebration in Ketchum in August.

LENTEEN GUIDEPOSTS . . . I Grew up That Night

By JOHN McLAUGHLIN
Reno, Nev.

I think I grew up one night in a hospital parking lot, underneath my desperately ill father's window.

When you're a kid, your life covers such a small area—places, people, events, thoughts and dreams all revolve about you. Even at 17, I guess I was pretty self-centered. Unhappiness was only something read about in newspapers.

Death was something I thought about from time to time but not until my first concern. After all, Mother, Dad, my sister Nancy, and even I were all pretty healthy, and even if my grandparents were getting on in years, they too were well. At 17 you don't think too much of death.

I gave little thought to the important things in life, especially did I veer away from anything remotely religious or spiritual.

When I was much younger, I went to church because I was encouraged to do so by my parents. I always disliked it and resented having to go. Finally I stopped attending. I didn't need Sunday school or God, I thought.

Last summer I found out how wrong I was.

I loved my father as any boy loves a good father. However, I seldom let him know this. We were close—Dad and I—but it wasn't a closeness of speech as much as a quiet sharing.

I remember those golden times when just the two of us would pack and go off camping for a few days. Or those happy ventures to the river to do a little fishing.

Dad never preached, yet I remember some of the things he told me, not in vague recall, but in crystal clearness. One thing especially stands out.

Last year, during summer vacation, I told him I did not believe in God.

"I'm not sure I even believe there is a God," I said.

"Don't worry about it," Dad said. "It's not unusual for a young man, growing up, to start questioning. God will understand your searching for truth," and he told me to repeat the words, "Lord, help Thou mine unbelief."

"Some day your mind will surely change," Dad reassured me. He was right for I changed it in the course of the very next week.

The day following our conversation, I came home from my summer job for lunch. Dad was washing Mother's car, in tee shirt and old pants, his balding head gleaming in the sun.

That afternoon he had a stroke. Nancy told me about it when I came home from work.

"There's nothing to worry about," she said. We weren't to go to the hospital, though. Mother was with Dad and we were to see him when he felt a little better.

The next day, thinking Dad was safe and recovering, I went on enjoying my carefree life.

That evening when I came home Mother told me the sad news: Dad had had a second major stroke. There was absolutely no chance for recovery.

I did not cry. I showed no emotion. I could not even comfort my mother. I went to bed that night hoping that Mother and the doctors were wrong; that Dad would live.

But the days ahead held out no hope. Dad was sinking.

One night, I could not stay home. Something impelled me to try to get closer to Dad.

I drove out to the hospital parking lot and got out of the car. I looked up at the windows, trying to figure out which was Dad's. When I had located it, I stood staring. I think this was the first time that I really knew I would not see him again.

I was standing there, release came. Tears rolled down my cheeks. Out loud, in a shaky voice, I said, "Goodbye, Dad," and, at that moment, I felt something come over me that I cannot explain.

It seemed suddenly that Dad had replied to me. He replied, not in a way that can be heard nor even known for sure, yet I know he had said:

"Do not grieve, Son, you can't realize how soon we will meet again."

I got back in the car and drove home. And with me went the certainty that death, when it came, would not be the end—that what Dad had said was true.

He died the next morning. The week between Dad's stroke and his funeral was surely the unhappiest in my life and yet, it did something to change me. I guess you can say I grew up overnight.

This was my first experience with the sadness of life and I saw in a moment that life must have its pain as well as its joy, that this is not yet the perfect world.

I discovered that Dad was many things to many people. He had been a wonderful father to Nancy and me. He had been a beloved husband to my mother. He was greatly respected by his company for being an efficient, pleasant and conscientious insurance adjuster. I am proud of all my father was to others and to me.

And suddenly God was in my world, too. When sadness overwhelmed me, and I found it impossible to cope with, I turned the whole thing over to God. I could actually feel His presence, sustaining and strengthening me. It was so real that I no longer doubted His existence. It was just as Dad had predicted: "Some day your mind will surely change."

Of course, there is still grief for all of us. But now I feel the gentle hand of God reaching out to me.

Gaming Causes Las Vegas Building Boom

LAS VEGAS, April 14 (AP)—A building boom has turned this gambling resort into a sort of Disneyland for sidewalk superintendents.

Everywhere workmen swarm over construction scaffolds. Gambling is setting the construction pace.

Downtown, Nevada's tallest building, the Mint hotel-casino, leveled off at 26 stories. The 13-story Fremont is considering a 31-story addition.

Downtown gamblers are busy planning heliports, plush restaurants, and showrooms to compete with the more publicized Las Vegas strip. A few years ago, the highest building in town was three stories and in town was suspected of only wanting to get out of the weather to hunt for nickles under slot machines.

"I've always been bullish about this area," says Four Queens owner Benny Goffstein. Horse-shoe club owner Jack Binson looks forward to the day when the three-block casino area will be "one big joint."

From a distance, the 13 major strip hotel-casinos look like the rocket gantries spread along Cape Kennedy.

The recently finished Dunes stops at 24 stories, and the Sands is going for 17, seven short of the Sahara's 24, but a comfortable eight above the Desert Inn's nine. Tourism remains the backbone of the economy. Officials figure Las Vegas attracts 18 million of the state's 20 million tourists each year. Gambling employs 20,000 of the county's work force of 77,000.

The convention bureau says to date 244 conventions have been booked through 1971 that will bring at least 309,000 to Las Vegas to spend 70 million dollars. A bureau study estimates each delegate will spend $50 a day before he moseys into the casino.

But there are some twists in the economic spiral.

The federal housing administration says 2,600 new homes are vacant. While commercial construction is steady, housing construction is only about 10 per cent of what it was before the spring of 1963.

Nearly eight per cent of the work force is unemployed.

However, banker, real estate man, and city planner remain confident of a rosy future.

The consensus is the town will continue to grow — gradually, soundly — buoyed by new light industries employing 200 - 400 each.

And where growth is concerned, the Nevada test site is important. The nuclear test facility 60 miles northwest of Las Vegas employs 6,000 from the city. Observers think a takeoff in the nuclear rocket program, project over, would mean employment for an additional 2,000.

Then there is the Las Vegas real estate broker who gazes fondly across the desert to distant mountains and says, "In another 15 years we'll have another 15 years worth of this valley filled."
