Johnson Declares 3 Midwest States Disaster Areas

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—President Johnson, misty-eyed at times during a tour of Midwest areas devastated by tornadoes and floods, has declared Indiana, Ohio and Michigan major disaster areas. The President issued the disaster proclamations at the requests of governors of the three states. His action opens the way for the channelling of millions of dollars of federal aid to the stricken areas where more than 250 persons lost their lives. The exact amount of the relief funds will be determined after damage surveys are completed. In the meantime, several federal agencies are giving help to the afflicted areas.

A disaster proclamation had been issued earlier for areas of Minnesota hit by floods. The proclamations covering Indiana, Ohio and Michigan were issued last night shortly after Johnson returned to Washington following a hastily arranged trip through parts of Indiana, Minnesota and Ohio. After completing the trip, the President said: "It was enough to bring tears to the eyes of anyone."

Spreading waters of the flooding Mississippi river and its tributaries engulfed new areas in Minnesota and Wisconsin today, forcing hundreds of additional families to flee their homes. The mighty Mississippi, racing toward an expected record of 27 feet at St. Paul, Minn., by Friday, already is responsible for the evacuation of more than 31,000 persons in five flood devastated Midwest states.

In Minnesota, where the flood presently is centered, more industrial plants and homes in low-lying sections of St. Paul were engulfed as the water level continued to rise. At least 12 deaths were blamed on the flood—10 in Minnesota and two in Wisconsin. During his on-the-scene tour, Johnson visited sections of Elkhart county, Ind., and the Toledo area hit by last Sunday's twisters. And, in a pelting rain, he watched volunteer workers struggle to raise sandbag dikes at St. Paul, Minn., against a record-breaking Mississippi river flood.

Johnson and the governors and congressmen who accompanied him saw from the windows of the presidential jet aircraft flood and tornado damage in Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Joseph O. Leggett, vice president of the Janus corporation, announced that the contract for a life-up Warm Springs run will be let to the Riblet company. The new lift, which will be the mountain top in two sections, will make it possible for skiers to ski Warm Springs and return to the top without using the bus ride back to the top of the main lift. At least a new run will be cut on the side of the mountain. Plans for the 50 condominiums to be built near the lodge during the summer have been submitted to Idaho firms for bids. Warm Valley's spring convention season opens May 8 with the opening of the Idaho Library association.

Senate Has Short Session of 13 Seconds

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The senate held another of its tickle sessions today. It lasted 13 seconds.

The 13-second session was necessary to give most of the 100 senators an Easter vacation. Unless the senate and house have agreed on a formal recess, the Constitution requires that they meet every third day, not counting Sundays.

Republican Sen. Fred R. Harris (Calif.) handled the gavel today. He read quickly that "Under order of Tuesday last, the senate adjourns until 9 a.m. Monday."

Clerks said the record books, far short of the record books established twice last year by Sen. Lee Metcalf (Mont.) known as the "13-second" senate.

House Okays Funds To Investigate Klan

WASHINGTON, April 15 (UPI)—The house yesterday gave strong support to an investigation of the Ku Klux Klan (KKK) by voting the committee on un-American activities an extra $50,000 to study the hooded society. By a lopsided 312 to 43, the house approved extra funds for the committee investigation. Public hearings on what President Johnson called "a hooded staff investigations already are under way. On the roll call, 205 Democrats voted with 107 Republicans for the appropriation. Forty Democrats and three Republicans voted against it. Those voting "no" ranged from conservative Southern Republicans to liberal Northern Democrats, with the latter group predominant.

Members ignored objections from both liberals and conservatives in approving the funds. The committee could have a report on the Klan by June 15. Here are votes by important areas: A congressional vote in the house roll call approving a $50,000 appropriation to finance an investigation of the Ku Klux Klan: Idaho—Democrat for, White; Republican for, Hansen. Utah—Democrat for, King; Republican for, Burton.

Legality of Land Project in Owyhee County Questioned

WASHINGTON, April 15 (UPI)—Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall yesterday asked the justice department to determine whether a 3,700-acre "do-it-yourself" private reclamation project on public land in Idaho was legal. Udall made the request after Interior Department Solicitor Frank J. Barry held that government-owned lands along the Snake river in Idaho's Owyhee county, 12 miles from Glenna Ferry, had been illegally turned over to private owners under desert land laws similar to the Homestead acts.

Barry suggested applicants for the publicly owned land might actually have been serving as "strawmen" for promoters. In question are 12 parcels of land operated as a single irrigated farm by Hoodco farms, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Hood corporation. When Hoodco was organized in 1933, Hood corporation was owned by Charles R. Shearman, now dead, and Bernard L. Lauhere, now sole owner. Water is supplied to the land by the Indian Hill Irrigation company, a non-profit corporation formed by Shearman and other persons who applied for the land under laws leading eventually to private ownership.

The entrants received Udall's blessing less than eight months ago when Charles H. Stoddard, bureau of land management director, approved the land entries in an action which Barry now says was illegal. At the time, Udall termed it a "do-it-yourself" project, which "represents private initiative at work with state and federal governments in the best American tradition."

Stoddard approved the plan despite protests by A. J. Jolley, a See LEGALITY, Page 2, Col. 4, 1966.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie, who asked the legislature to enact the sales tax, said he supports fully the proposed debate between Sen. William J. DeWitt, D-ID, a vigorous opponent of the sales tax, and Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Bonneville, a supporter.

Rep. Phillip Batt, R., Canyon, Caldwell, said there are two courses the state could take if the sales tax is nullified. Batt was a member of the house revenue and taxation committee in the 1965 session.

"First," he said in a statement, "we could cut our expenditures drastically and resume our position of having the highest teacher turnover in the nation. The other alternative would be to dramatically increase our income and property taxes. These taxes already are at dizzying heights and I feel certain that large additions to them would cripple our economy."

Summit Road Opening Set For April 26

HAYLEY, April 15 (AP)—It is planned to start opening the Couch summit road from the Camas prairie side about April 26, Ralph Burr, general foreman of the improvement crew of the Sawtooth national forest, said today.

He and two other forest service officials look an aerial survey this week of roads up Warm Springs creek over Dollarhide summit and onto the south fork of the Boise river.

Four large land slides were observed covering the road along the "narrows" going down into the south fork of the Boise from the Smokey guard station. The road at the mouth of Barr gulch up Warm Springs creek has been washed out.

No land slides were seen on the Warm Springs-Smokey road, but the men agreed if there had been any they would not have been able to see them because of the deep snow. They estimated the snowslide at Cape Horn, near Couch summit, always the largest, to be about 35 feet deep.

Smylie to Appoint Lowery's Successor

The county commissioner post vacated by the death Wednesday of Mr. Warren W. Lowery might possibly be filled next week, Morris Carlson, one of the two remaining commissioners, said Thursday. Gov. Robert E. Smylie is responsible for appointing a new Twin Falls county commissioner. As soon as one is appointed Commissioner Carlson and Maurice Klaas will meet with the appointee and a new chairman will be selected.

The regular meetings on Monday and Tuesday in the county commissioners' office, county courthouse, will continue, Carlson said. "Mr. Lowery, a Democrat, certainly did put people above politics, but our party probably will be sold down the river by the Republican governor," W. D. (Bill) Wiseman, former county Democratic central committee chairman said Thursday.

Lloyd Walker, state Democratic chairman, and Grady Spradling, present county central committee chairman, both were unavailable for comment Thursday.

Funeral services for Mr. Lowery will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday in Reynolds funeral chapel by the Rev. Donald Hoffman. Final rites will be held at Twin Falls cemetery.

The family suggests that contributions may be made to the Elks rehabilitation center and can be left at Reynolds funeral chapel. Friends may call Thursday and Friday until 9 p.m. and until time of services Saturday.

Complete Airing Urged On Sales Tax

BOISE, April 15 (AP)—A complete airing of the sales tax argument was urged yesterday and a backer of the levy listed alternate courses he said could be followed if the law is nullified.

Petitions now are being circulated calling for a referendum on the sales tax law enacted by the 1965 legislature. If enough signatures are obtained, the referendum will be held November, 1966.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie, who asked the legislature to enact the sales tax, said he supports fully the proposed debate between Sen. William J. DeWitt, D-ID, a vigorous opponent of the sales tax, and Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Bonneville, a supporter.

2 Arraigned For Selling U.S. Secrets

ALEXANLRIA, Va., April 15 (AP)—Two men accused of selling U.S. military secrets to the Soviet Union pleaded innocent today and demanded a jury trial.

The pleas were entered in federal court by Sgt. Robert Lee Johnson, a former Pentagon courier, and James Allen Mintkenbaugh, one-time army buddy of Johnson's.

U. S. District Judge Oren R. Lewis set trial for Sept. 7 and continued $20,000 bond for each defendant.

The two were accused of conspiring for 11 years to obtain military secrets on missiles, army codes and weapons and turning them over to Soviet agents.

The maximum penalty upon conviction on the espionage charges is death. The two accused men also could be jailed for 15 years and fined $20,000 each if found guilty under the two other counts.

The indictment charged that the two used hollowed-out shoe heels, batteries and cigarette lighters to conceal and transport the information they gave to the Soviets.

Riley Creek Will Be Open To All Ages

Riley creek, open in previous years for only fishermen under 14 years of age, this season will be open to fishermen of all ages.

The 1965 state fish and game department regulations provide that the creek, located on the Hagerman refuge in Gooding county, will not be limited to a children's stream this season.

Officials said there will be a poster in the middle of the creek to serve as a guide for fishermen. Rules governing fishing in the creek are the same as those applying throughout the refuge, the department said. The bag limit is five trout—or seven pounds and one fish. Fishing is limited to the hours of 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The season opens with the regular statewide trout season, May 29.

Driver Manages Safe Jump As Auto Sails Into Canyon

"I felt a bump, looked up and saw nothing but sky so I jumped," said Richard A. Shockey, 24, Boise, while examining his wrecked, foreign compact car as it lay on rocks in the canyon at Shoshone falls Wednesday. Shockey, a former Twin Falls resident, had started to drive his 1961 Volkswagen about 2:30 p.m. down the grade to pick up two friends who had skateboarded on down.

According to the investigating deputy sheriff, Shockey was attempting to light his pipe and was about 200 feet down the road into the canyon when he felt the bump. The car was upside down when he saw nothing but blue sky, he jumped, the deputy relayed. Shockey landed on a rocky ledge about 15 feet below the road level. His vehicle lay torn and battered, below him. Shockey, who escaped with only minor bruises, noted later that he was lucky he didn't jump further, because he would have sailed into the canyon and onto rocks far below.

Shockey, 24, Boise, was lighting his pipe and fell a bump. When he looked up all he could see was sky, he said. He jumped out and fell about 15 feet onto some rocks. He received only bruises. POINTING OUT Blue Lakes springs where the consulting engineers feel they have found the best supply of good water for Twin Falls is Paul Newton, city engineer. The engineers say the spring will provide the city not only with a greater quantity of water, but a better quality than now is being taken from wells. (Times-News photo)

Blue Lakes Spring Stands Out as Prime Water Source

The Blue Lakes spring was found to be the prime major outlet of the ground water flowing north of the Snake river after a year-old investigation by engineers of the firm of Morrison-Maierle and associates, Helena, Mont.

The consultants have found the water to be of excellent quality, except for a hardness of 200 to 225 parts per million. This hardness is approximately equal to the treated water from the present supply. Contamination of the spring water is minor, but the quantity of water available is sufficient for the city and the foreseeable future until 1985.

Devil's Corral and Devil's Washbowl are a short distance upstream from Twin Falls, but their flow is too small to be considered as a total supply for the city for more than the immediate future.

The decision to use the water from Blue Lakes spring was arrived at after many aspects were considered.

It has been suggested that the existing supply be enlarged by the addition of settling basins, filters and controls and by the transfer of the existing water rights from ditch irrigation to water plant use. This action would necessitate the purchase of farm land for water rights, a new water plant or an alternate source of supply to supplement the existing source.

In considering upper Rock creek it was found that the storage reservoir, treatment facilities and long supply line required to bring the water to Twin Falls would make this venture, too expensive.

Water from lower Rock creek would require approximately the same treatment as the existing supply, with the additional requirement that the water would have to be pumped from Rock creek to the elevation of the existing reservoir.

Seepage from ditches and transmission is supposed to be the supply for the two good wells now maintained by the water system near the filter plant. It also has been suggested that more wells be drilled in the area of the filter plant, but engineers feel, that based on available geological data, there isn't sufficient capacity.

They also pointed out that the testing and drilling would run into large sums of money.

So, it seems the Blue Lakes spring is the answer to the problem—supply Twin Falls with more water of better quality with less expense.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, April 15 — I am afraid the adventures of Joe Smitherman, mayor of Selma, Ala., have created an image of Washington not quite deserved by this curiously provincial capital of the world.
Until now, Washington's status as a modern Gomorrah has always been roughly comparable to that of Stubbled Toe, Ark. The visiting shoe salesman—or mayor—seeking sin has usually been disappointed to discover that Washington's idea of a wild time consists of knocking off a platter of spare ribs or hurting a flatter of spiced snags. Abandon has been a stranger on Pennsylvania avenue.

FLIMMED AND FLAMMED—But now police reports suggest that Washington is almost as dangerous as Havana, Ill. They depose that Smitherman and a Selma lawyer, one Joe Pilcher, were victimized by a film-flam artist whose assistance they sought in finding some midnight excitement. The con man allegedly bilked the duo out of $100 by means of the ancient envelope-switch trick after leading the Alabamians to an apartment building.
Smitherman denies the police report that he and Pilcher were looking for excitement, or "film-flam" companionship. He says they sought, instead, a midnight snack not available in the numerous restaurants of downtown Washington. And he insists the con man acquired their 100 fish by pocket-picking, not film-flamming.

SEX? PERISH THE THOUGHT!—Nevertheless, it is intriguing for the average Washington resident to speculate on the existence of forbidden pleasures in his fair city. After the use of suffering the gibes of New York and Chicago, he should like to point to the Smitherman-Pilcher case as proof that Washington is, too, a city where a man may live dangerously after 9 p.m. Politicians caught with their hand in the till are good meat-and-potatoes fare, but the suggestion that illicit sex occasionally rears its head hereabouts is the chocolate soufflé.

There is also a modicum of titillation for the faceless citizen in Smitherman's and Pilcher's story of what happened. They claim the con man, a Negro named James Edwards, offered to take them to a private club frequented by members of congress. Most knowledgeable citizens of Washington would shun such a place, being allergic to lustrous boredom, but it is nice to know that such distinguished visitors were willing to share a groaning board with our legislators.

GOSH! Edwards, who told police Smitherman and Pilcher were looking for girls, was nabbed when a customer overheard him bragging in a saloon that he had fleeced "the mayor of Selma." Smitherman was astounded when informed of this version of the adventure. Asked by a reporter whether female companionship had been mentioned, the mayor replied with a splendid, red-blooded American expression: "Gosh no!"

A more cynical Washington would be tempted to go along with Smitherman. Despite its sophisticated pretenses, the nation's capital is no rival to Park—or even Troy, N.Y.—in the girl department. It is too heavily populated with Kansans, who find it difficult to be sporting lest they be discovered by Aunt Agatha. In such a community, headlines await the con man who can even claim acquaintance with a lady of easy virtue.
And for the civil rights mob, there is a dollop of comfort. They can perhaps see progress in the tolerance displayed by Smitherman and Pilcher in doing business with a Negro.

'EARLY WARNING' FOR AUTOMATION
In Oberhausen, an international conference on technology and automation is sponsored by the Metalworkers Industrial Union of the Federal Republic of Germany.

In San Francisco, a national conference on automation is sponsored by the American Bankers association.

In Pittsburgh, the United Steelworkers of America propose contract changes to ease the impact of automation.

In London, Sir Leon Bagrit, chairman of Elliott-Automation, Ltd., says that rapid adaptation to automation will determine the survival of nations in the industrial competition to come.

In Washington, the senate passes a four-year extension of the manpower development and training act.

With all of this going on during one week, it might seem that the world is sufficiently alert to automation. Yet even the head of IBM expressed doubt about just what the effects of automation will be. And while some were speaking of it as just one more stage of progress—recalling the misguided lamentations of those who thought the steam engine would increase unemployment—others were calling automation a radically new challenge.

"Mechanization has sometimes given millions of people subhuman work to do," said Sir Leon in an interview in the New York Times. "Automation does the exact opposite."
In the United States, unemployment remains high while automation increases. Yet those companies which have invested most in plant and equipment have shown highest profits. New jobs are created even while old jobs are destroyed.

More study clearly is needed, such as that being carried on by a governmental commission on automation. Even if it indicates that automation—through increased production, markets, etc.—produces a net increase in jobs, the problem of displaced workers will remain.

Buried in the minority views in the latest report of congress' joint economic committee are some interesting specific steps the nation should be considering:
Providing full unemployment compensation to persons taking training or retraining; disqualifying from unemployment compensation workers who refuse training without good cause; transferring pension and job rights for those who must change jobs, setting up a nationwide "early warning system" to allow preparation for technological job displacement.

Such concrete proposals help bring automation out of the mists of tedious abstraction that often surround it. So, encouragingly, do the events of the past week.—Christian Science Monitor.

SILENCING THE PHONE
Over in West Germany all telephone calls are "verboten" by a Bavarian industrial firm for one hour each day.
All internal and outgoing calls are banned during the "silent hour" so that everyone on the boss down can concentrate on his work. Even customers and officials of the company have been requested not to place calls to the firm's office in the quiet period.

We know a lot of parents who would like to impose a similar restriction on their teenage daughters. That'll be the day.—Beaver County (Pa.) Times.

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE
About the only consolation today's citizen can consider is that the children being educated today will soon be grown and adding their own tax levies. Perhaps they will be wiser than we are. Maybe their advance education will enable them to use improved methods of public administration.

But for the immediate future, the burden is ours and we must shoulder it to the best of our abilities. Right now the prospect is for greater emphasis on the necessities of government or suffer a real belt-tightening at home.—Greenfield, (Mass.) Recorder-Gazette.

POT SHOTS

WHO, ME??
If when you read this little piece, you think I need a muzzle, Perhaps you're right, it could be so, but it still is quite a puzzle.

For years I've fixed up damaged cars, some bent nearly double, But I never yet have fixed a car for the man who caused the trouble.

I have dealt with all the owners and as far as I could see They were just the average fellow, about like you or me.

I have talked with all the drivers, some who barely saved their neck, But I never yet have fixed a car for the man who caused the wreck.

It was always some drunken driver who wasn't worth his salt, No matter how it happened, 'twas the other fellow's fault. Do you suppose it's someone who just jumps from place to place

And is just so doggoned clever that he never shows his face? And if we found the slimy skunk, do you think it would be fun

When once we got him out to light, to just hang the sonova gun?

And after he had breathed his last do you think you'd bet a fiver

That if blame were put where it belonged our cars would have a driver?

Then, of course, there's the driver whose car runs off the road

But who says he was being careful by anybody's code. He was only doing seventy, certainly not faster.

When all at once the car got mean and turned against its master.

I've pondered long and deeply, it might involve my neck. The only thing that I could find—fix the blame before the wreck.

Washington News

There is one road only toward political salvation for the unaffiliated little fellow and his folks who live in a little town or a family size farm far removed from the con-plex centers of urban civilization. This road leads to amendment of the U. S. Constitution to give the country folk an honest count in the election of a president of the United States or it lies in judicial remedy.

The present system is rigged like a crooked carnival wheel. The system is rigged against rural and small-town citizens and in favor of the city slickers. These city citizens are organized and affiliated by race, color, religion and occupation.

By the millions they coalesce into cliques, groups and blocs—racial, religious or economic. They comprise the pressure groups which are coming to control the major political parties and to dominate national elections.

By political chance, these pressure groups comprise the experimenters, the liberals, the avant garde, the pre-to-change of elements of American politics. They press for change and ever faster acceleration in the political evolution of the United States from where it was to where it is going.

Some press for change merely for the sake of change. One result is that political conservatism is being squeezed out of the cities. Political conservatism is becoming concentrated in little rural dikes of opposition to the massive ground swells generated by the pulsating activity of big town pressure groups.

But these are feeble dikes, as demonstrated by national elections over the past 30 years. In terms of muscle and physical force, the present method of electing a president simply hamstringing the country folk, the conservatives. What to do?

Atty. Gen. David C. Buckson of Delaware filed suit in behalf of Delaware against the 45 states which have more than one representative in the U. S. house of representatives. Delaware has but one seat and Buckson's purpose is to obtain a supreme court ruling applying the one-man-one-vote principle to Delaware's delegates. Buckson would outlaw the general ticket system of choosing presidential electors. Under that system all electors run at large. Here is how it worked in one state in 1960 as explained by the American Good Government society, Washington, D. C.

"In New York (as in other states with more than one representative) the citizens of one congressional district could vote for presidential electors corresponding to all other representatives in the state. Thus, seven million-odd New Yorkers who voted in the 1960 presidential election elected 43 representatives in 43 districts with seven million-odd votes each, apiece.

Simultaneously they elected 43 corresponding presidential electors by general ticket (at-large), each voting for the whole number rather than for just one.

"With 42 excess votes each, these New Yorkers cast some 300 million excess votes in that presidential election. If New York's congressional districts are representative of its population, the use of the general ticket for presidential electors is surely unrepresentative."

Buckson argued that the general ticket system was the sole source of extreme distortion between New Yorkers and Delawareans and added:
"It is extremely unfair and unjust to us."

It is proposed that each congressional district elect one presidential elector and that two in each state be elected at large. The one-man-one-vote rule seems to be absolutely controlling.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

BY MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON, April 15 — The date will be set soon for a trial likely to make political history for at least in an unprecedented form of political character assassination.

The four men indicted in Los Angeles for criminal conspiracy to libel Sen. Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif.) are to have a preliminary hearing.

The widely circulated affidavit which is the basis of the indictment was shown by the district attorney's investigators in evidence before the grand jury to be wholly false. A new law in political affairs, it alleged that Kuchel had been arrested on a morals charge.

Kuchel has long been the target in California of the extreme right in his party because of his moderate-to-liberal stand. What is astonishing in the light of last November's election and in view of the latest attempt to destroy him is that these same elements are retaining their grip on major party organizations and offices.

In a three-way split in the responding to all other representatives in the state. Thus, seven million-odd New Yorkers who voted in the 1960 presidential election elected 43 representatives in 43 districts with seven million-odd votes each, apiece.

Simultaneously they elected 43 corresponding presidential electors by general ticket (at-large), each voting for the whole number rather than for just one.

"With 42 excess votes each, these New Yorkers cast some 300 million excess votes in that presidential election. If New York's congressional districts are representative of its population, the use of the general ticket for presidential electors is surely unrepresentative."

Buckson argued that the general ticket system was the sole source of extreme distortion between New Yorkers and Delawareans and added:
"It is extremely unfair and unjust to us."

It is proposed that each congressional district elect one presidential elector and that two in each state be elected at large. The one-man-one-vote rule seems to be absolutely controlling.

California Republican assembly recently Cyril Stevenson, Jr., Berkeley realtor and a military aviator, was elected president. William E. Exline, spokesman for a minority of 22 of the delegates, petitioned that the convention had failed to adopt a meaningful resolution against discrimination in voting rights.

The majority of delegates, however, approved the so-called liberty amendment calling for a constitutional amendment to repeal the income tax. But Exline went on to make a remarkable disclosure.

"In the convention we were solicited for a most curious cause. We were asked to help two of the four men currently under indictment for conspiracy to libel Senator Kuchel, the greatest vote-getter in modern Republican politics."

After a protest at the start of the convention extreme-right pamphlets were removed from the assembly hall headquarters. One addressed to "Dear fellow patriots" also contained an appeal to help two of the indicted men, describing them as "two of California's most active and dedicated constitutional conservatives." The two are John F. Ferguson, who resigned as a public relations executive for Eversharp-Schick Inc., and Jack D. Clemmons, a police sergeant who resigned after nearly 15 years of service when the indictment was returned.

According to the testimony of one of the district attorney's investigators, Ferguson said the purpose of the affidavit "was to stir up a riot." The other two indicted are Norman H. Kraus, a former police officer, and Francis A. Cappell, New Jersey publisher of the Herald-Examiner. According to testimony, Cappell has a connection with the senate internal security subcommittee.

Clemmons and Ferguson both declined to testify. Ferguson's employer, Patrick J. Frawley, Jr. of Eversharp-Schick, after a preliminary discussion, testified that he had signed the affidavit until he was told by Ferguson. Several little old ladies in front rows took offense at the "liberty amendment." The affidavit is said to have been circulated surreptitiously by right-wing bookshoppers.

What makes the continuing grip of the rightists all the more remarkable is that Republican moderates believe they have a good chance next year of winning the governorship and capturing some of the general election during the term of Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown. Instead to run for a third term. But to arch-enemy, Jesse Unruh, speaker of the house, is reported to be out to do him. The division of the party that was revealed by the defeat of Pierre Salinger in the senate, even though President Johnson was carrying the state by a landslide majority, could work against Brown.

There are plenty of right-wing aspirants ready to rush into the breach. But the polls indicate that Kuchel would be by far the strongest candidate. His results stand against an unprecedented smear-heat-if-anything, strengthened him in California. Wozniak members of the grand jury was as he testified to what the order meant to him.

Wozniak, a former Democratic member of the California congressional delegation, he was afraid to take on Kuchel. He also said he was unconvinced by the Unruh threat, telling 23 congressmen that it through-would to challenge him all he had to do was enter the Democratic primary next year. But Kuchel could work against Brown.

Once having California's electoral governor to a third term, the South being Earl Warren was the very model of the art of moderation that attracts Californians.

Kuchel has not yet decided about the governorship. The trial will be a trip through the maze of political extremism, the kind of bruising was the order of an attempted character assassination that Kuchel emptied at times to step out of politics entirely.

THREE WAYS FOR JUMP OVERCALL
One bid that the modern experts have three ways of playing is the single jump overcall. Some play it as pre-emptive, others as very strong and the rest as intermediate. I play it either intermediate or pre-emptive and recommend the intermediate style for general use.

In this style the single jump or with a flexible bid. South's two spade bid is a perfect example of this type. He expects to have seven tricks in his own hand and may take eight if he can pick up the spade king.

The bid gives North no problem at all. He may have a partner's nine there is no way about missing a game.

For East and West they can make three hearts or three clubs but the two spade bid effectively stymies them. West could bid two hearts over a double but a one spade overcall is a strong enough bid to bid three hearts.

East could find a three heart bid after a single raise by partner. He would be forced to bid three hearts bid all by himself. South buys the hand at a spade. He tries the trump suit in an effort to make his bid but the finesse fails and he makes his contract.

A—Bid three hearts. You should have bid three hearts. You should have bid three hearts. You should have bid three hearts.

Q—What is the best bid with one heart, what is the best bid with one heart, what is the best bid with one heart.

The Doctor Says

The stomach and to reduce the excessive muscular activity of the stomach. It is especially valuable in the treatment of peptic ulcers though it may be given for other stomach ailments. Side effects occur only with too great a dosage and consist of dry mouth, blurred vision, constipation and retention of urine. If your ulcer is healed and if the tensions that caused it have been eliminated you can safely stop taking it.

Q—What causes a bleeding peptic ulcer? Is there any cure and, if cured, will the ulcer come back?

A—Some ulcers of the stomach or duodenum eat away tissues around a relatively large blood vessel and eventually erode it. In some persons whose ulcer causes no pain (a silent ulcer) bleeding may be the first indication that an ulcer is present. Prompt treatment with absolute rest, intravenous feeding and later a bland diet will usually cure a bleeding ulcer. More recently freezing the stomach has been used. If the bleeding cannot be controlled, the bleeding area must be removed surgically. Once cured the ulcer may recur unless the tensions that caused it in the first place are relieved.

Q—I have been taking Robinul ever since an attack of bleeding ulcer. What is it? Are there any side effects? Can I safely discontinue the use of this drug?

A—Glycopyrrolate (Robinul) is given to decrease the excess production of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and to reduce the excessive muscular activity of the stomach. It is especially valuable in the treatment of peptic ulcers though it may be given for other stomach ailments. Side effects occur only with too great a dosage and consist of dry mouth, blurred vision, constipation and retention of urine. If your ulcer is healed and if the tensions that caused it have been eliminated you can safely stop taking it.

Q—What is pseudomembranous colitis? What causes chronic colitis with superficial ulcerations? These were on my hospital chart.

A—The trigone of the bladder is a small triangular area near the bladder's outlet. In persons with cystitis inflammation of the bladder is a false membrane consisting of germs, mucus, and cellular debris often forms in this region. This is pseudomembranous colitis.

Cystitis may be a complication of influenza, scarlet fever, septic sore throat, a common cold or other infections. The infecting germ may reach the bladder through the blood stream or may travel up the urethra. Treatment is likely to be prolonged and consists of using urinary antiseptics. These must be changed from time to time as the infecting organisms become resistant to them. Antibiotics are also helpful.

He said federal returns filed in Idaho will total about 250,000 with about half of them expected to be mailed today.

IDAHO FALLS, April 15 (AP)—Jack G. Voshell, Bonneville county prosecuting attorney, ruled in the case of the carpenters' union yesterday in a labor dispute at the national reactor testing station. The dispute occurred when carpenters walked off the job to protest termination of a union steward by the Howard S. Wright and associates, general construction contractor at the site. Voshell, chosen to arbitrate the dispute, said he could not elaborate on his decision. He said he would not release his opinion without approval from both parties.

MOUNTAIN HOME, April 15 (AP)—A practice wartime mission exercise will be conducted at Mountain Home air force base April 23. Col. Roy J. Sausley, Jr., base commander, announced today. The exercise will continue from 12 to 24 hours with simulated enemy nuclear attack conditions prevailing. Sausley said that during the period the base will be closed to the general public, except in the event of an emergency.

LEWISTON, April 15 (AP)—A shift of some of its executive offices to San Francisco and a major realignment of management responsibilities has been announced by Potlatch Forests, Inc. in making the announcement Benton Cancell, president, said comprehensive studies over the past 18 months have shown that realignment of some management activities is necessary to obtain top efficiency. Cancell said the shift in management responsibilities was effective April 12th and the move to San Francisco will take place in late summer or early fall.

BOISE, April 15 (AP)—Expansion of the territory served by the Overland Water Corporation of Boise was authorized yesterday by the Idaho public utilities commission. The company provides domestic water for areas in southern and western portions of Boise. It was authorized to provide similar service for adjacent suburban areas which now have only individual water wells.

BOISE, April 15 (AP)—Marshall Newton, assistant administrator of the farmers home administration, called on Idaho FFA officials yesterday to "forget" state statistics that indicate the eventual blotting out of the rural community. Newton keynoted the annual convention of the Idaho FFA, which concluded in Boise today. "The tables look neat," he said. "The conclusions drawn seem obvious... but behind those numbers are people and you cannot fit people into the unreal world of statistics... I say forget figures." Newton also urged the more than 100 FFA officials to work harder to identify the needs of the families that apply for economic loans.

POCATELLO, April 15 (AP)—Bannock county commissioners were pondering today a bid of $84,460 for remodeling Marsh Valley hospital at Downey. The bid was $20,000 higher than expected. Cooper Brothers Construction company, Pocatello, was low among three firms submitting bids Tuesday. Work would include an addition to the 17-bed hospital to house surgical and obstetric facilities, and do remodeling. The hospital is operating under a provisional license from the state board of health. The commission will decide on a course of action at a meeting next Tuesday.

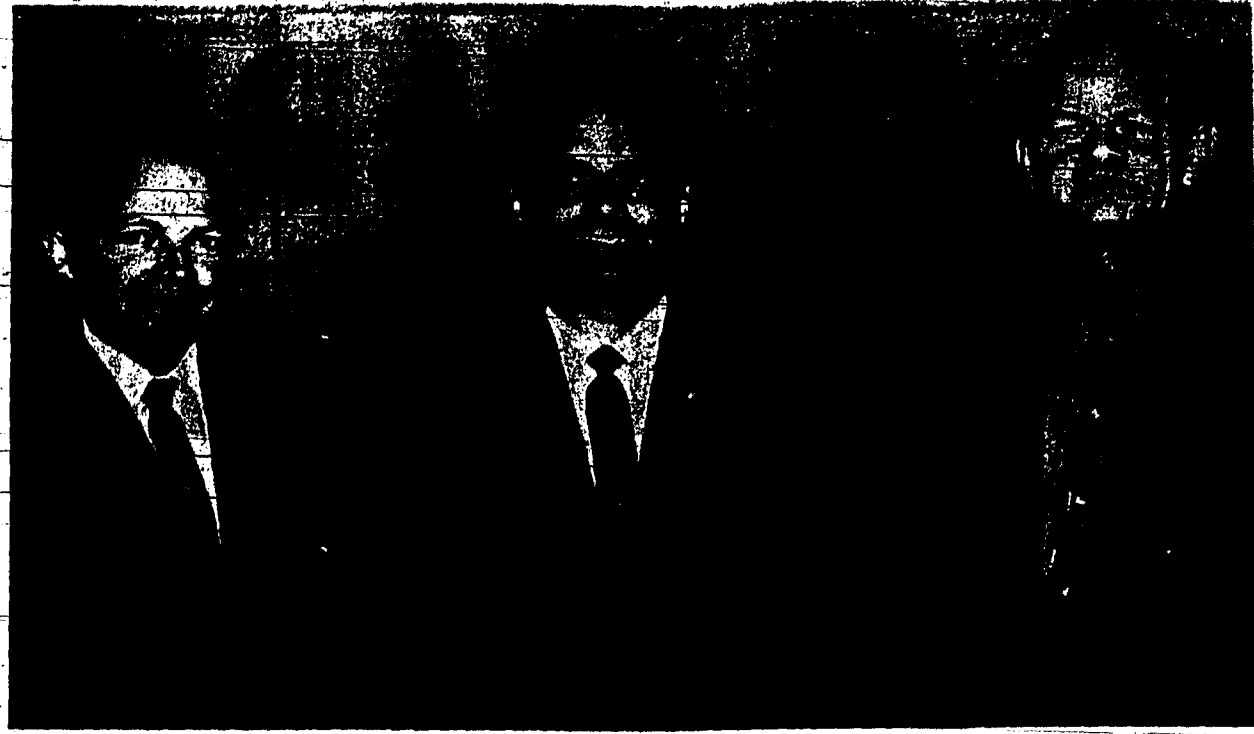

BOISE, April 15 (AP)—Idaho Republican National Committee woman Mrs. Gwen Barnett said today she welcomes a suggestion by Gov. Robert E. Smylie that a conference of GOP leaders be called to resolve differences on proposed voting rights legislation. At the same time she took issue with Smylie's comment that her stand on the proposal is "most distressing." "I feel," said Mrs. Barnett, "that individuals in the party should be free to express opinions on any subject that might be before congress as long as they are construed to be opinions of the party." Mrs. Barnett said the proposed conference would give Republican party leaders an opportunity to discuss several issues she said need airing.

BOISE, April 15 (AP)—Two Idaho state penitentiary inmates walked away from the Eagle Island prison farm during the night. Bill West captured about the time authorities learned they were missing. Warden L. E. Clapp said the two were reported missing at the morning checkup at the farm. On the Boise river a few miles west of Boise. About the same time, Clapp said, he was notified that two men were arrested at Burns, Ore., driving an automobile reported stolen in Boise. A check showed the two were the missing prisoners. Clapp identified them as Elmer Jackson Tramel, 26, serving a three-year sentence from Twin Falls county for forgery, and Dennis Guy Pharris, 20, serving a five-year sentence from Cassia county for grand larceny.

KELLOGG, April 15 (AP)—Representatives of the Boise Cascade corporation will be here Friday to discuss the first housing project of any size in this community since the end of World War II. The firm plans to build new homes on the site of the old airport at Kellogg, an upshot in mining activity has put housing at a premium. The land on which the houses will be built is owned by the Bunker Hill company. Initially, Boise Cascade will build a dozen houses. Sunshine Mining company announced it has sold 30 of its company houses to make room for a tailing disposal pond to help help pollution of the south fork of the Coeur d'Alene river. Fifteen of these houses will be moved across from the airport, while the others will go to the Osburn area. Meanwhile, Sunshine has put out the "help wanted" sign, and other mining firms also are adding workers.

POCATELLO, April 15 (AP)—Idaho house minority leader Darrell Manning said today that he would hope "no member of the house Democratic caucus would serve on the Idaho legislative council." Manning, a Bannock county Democrat, said he was referring to State Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft of Gooding, who was appointed to the council against the wishes of the caucus. House Speaker Pete Cenarrusa, who appointed Ravenscroft, is the official charged with making the house appointments. Manning said, however, that protocol has it that the speaker abide by the recommendations of the Democratic caucus on the Democratic appointment. Manning said the caucus voted "overwhelmingly" to have Bannock state Rep. Herman J. McDevitt appointed to the position, but Cenarrusa named an automatically a member of the council. Two years ago, when McDevitt was minority leader, Manning was the choice of the caucus for the additional appointment, and Cenarrusa followed that recommendation.

Hard Hands

DOWNEY, Calif., April 15 (AP)—Plans for a milking contest at the Downey Community fair next month had to be altered because dairy officials say many tired businessmen have wrinkled hands.

A pair of goats will be substituted after fair officials protested the original plan to use cows, saying:

"It's too risky having the wrinkled hands of any old businessman trying to squeeze milk out of our modern-day cows. Cows nowadays are used to the soft touch of a milking machine."

Claire Slaughter will teach English and Mrs. Margaret Gehrig will teach in junior high school.

Miss Slaughter has a BA degree from the University of Idaho and studied one year in France on a Fulbright scholarship. She is now teaching in Caldwell high school.

Miss Gehrig has a BA degree from Idaho State university and is presently teaching at Shoshone.

In other business, the 1965-66 budget was approved with no protests. The budget is set at $451,340, compared to $409,959.50 for 1964-65. The increase of $41,380.50 is principally in the $300,100 setup for instructional expense, compared to the current $267,740.

Trustees granted permission for girls' league officers to attend a tri-state conference April 22-24 in Pullman, Wash.

Richard Strickland, vice chairman, was selected to present diplomas to the high school graduates.

Gooding Grange was granted a bid to purchase a stove and oven from the school.

Edwin Black Relected as VFW Chief

BUHL, April 15—Edwin C. Black was relected commander of Buhl Thurston Fence post No. 3604, Veterans of Foreign Wars, it was reported today.

Other new officers for 1965-66 are Truman Probasco, senior vice commander; Frank Rippee, junior vice commander; Joseph A. Hartl, quartermaster; Lawrence Johnson, chaplain; William B. Hopple, judge advocate, and Dean Hahn, surgeon. John Mackay was elected trustee for a three-year term.

Holdover trustees and their remaining terms are Wesley Fuller, two years, and Primo Gabardi, one year.

New officers will be installed at the May 10 meeting. At this time the commander will also announce the appointive officers.

Charter draping ceremonies in memory of Roy Heyer were conducted. Participating in the ritual were Black, commander; Hopple, chaplain; and Rippee, officer of the day.

A victory ribbon, a national award for signing up 75 per cent of the continuous membership by Jan. 31, was presented the post by William B. Hopple, department inspector. It was noted the last time the local unit won the ribbon was in 1961.

Commander Black received the commander of the month award and Joseph Hartl the quartermaster of the month award. This is the third time the two received this honor, an award given by the department of Idaho since November.

Hopple said closure of VA hospitals was discussed at a meeting in Glenn Ferry. Tentative plans being made in Washington, D.C. are for closure of the small VA hospitals with new, larger ones to be constructed in the metropolitan areas, he said.

Members of the local post were urged to write to their congressmen and the President expressing their views on the proposed closure of VA hospitals, which has been expressed. Hopple said was to urge congress to establish at least one VA hospital in each state rather than just have them located in metropolitan areas.

It was announced funds were appropriated by the recent Idaho state legislature for the erection of a new Idaho Soldier's Home. Plans are in the hands of the Idaho Soldier's Home permanent building committee with contracts to be let this summer and construction to begin on the site of the VA hospital grounds in Boise.

"ALADDIN'S" PALACE, one of the biggest problems facing the crew of the new Children's Theater production, has been conquered with this cleverly designed, sectioned palace. Putting the finishing touches on the palace are, from left, George Brown, who portrays "Aladdin"; Mrs. Howard Hagemelster, a worker in the properties department, and Bob Thomas, also a property worker. Cast and crew of "Aladdin" have been putting the finishing touches on the production in preparation for the first performance Saturday morning at O'Leary Junior high school. (Times-News photo)

Children's Theater Opens "Aladdin" Run on Saturday

Special effects will be among the outstanding features of the Children's Theater production of "Aladdin," scheduled to open Saturday morning.

Mrs. Eugene Sturgill, director, reports that all scenery and properties will be fancifully colored and built in keeping with the fairy tale theme of "Aladdin."

Black rocks? Not in "Aladdin" land. Pink and orange rocks, gold trees and a pink palace are among just a few of the cleverly designed and built properties which promise to add to the enchantment of "Aladdin."

Lighting also will add much to the fanciful colors which predominate in the production.

Mrs. Sturgill adds that other special effects, such as black lights, luminous paint, dry ice and flash powder will be used to make this the "most fun" of any Children's Theater production yet.

She said some of the property problems facing the crew were rather frightening at first. But, with the able help and assistance of many people, all major problems have been solved and cast and crew are ready for the opening performance.

The first performance will be at 10 a.m. Saturday. Mrs. Sturgill said tickets still are available for this performance and urged any youngsters wishing to see "Aladdin" to attend Saturday morning.

She also stressed that although "Aladdin" is essentially a children's fairy tale, adults will enjoy it as much as their children.

Performance dates for "Aladdin" are April 17, 23 and 24.

School Fund Is Approved In Minidoka

RUPERT, April 15 — The board of trustees of the Minidoka county school district have unanimously approved the 1965-66 operating budget, it was reported today.

All income totals are expected to increase from $1,908,113.37 for the 1964-65 school year to $2,060,476 for the 1965-66 year.

All expenditure totals are expected to rise from the anticipated $1,871,568.50 budgeted for the 1964-65 school year to $2,060,476 for the 1965-66 year.

The budget hearing will be held at 8 p.m. April 26 at the Minidoka county high school. Included in the budget are salary increases for the faculty ranging from $150 to $500. The starting salary for faculty with two years of college is $3,550, three years, $3,750, and BA $5,000. Those with a BA plus 30 semester hours will get $5,200, MA $5,800, MA plus 30 semester hours, $5,800.

Bids will be let at the May 10 regular board meeting for the purchase of five 1966 passenger school buses.

It was announced the trustee election will be held May 24 in zone two in the Paul area and zone three in the Rupert rural area. Incumbents in these zones are Leonard Martin for the Paul area and Harold Peterson for the Rupert rural.

Election petitions may be obtained at the Central office for those interested in filing for those offices. The petitions must be in the Central school office at 5 p.m. May 15.

Trustees discussed a possible building program, but no action was taken.

Possibility of a summer school for children of migratory workers coming into Minidoka county was noted. One of the priorities of the education opportunity act is to give a community authority to operate a summer school for these children, according to Camden Meyer, county superintendent.

Meyer said that plans for organizing the school in this county were progressing and a faculty is being organized.

The possibility of organizing summer school courses for grade as well as high school students in the planning stage also, according to Meyer.

The school will be open to all interested persons in the community, with both remedial and enrichment courses to be considered.

National NEO Directors Speak at Buhl Area Meet

BUHL, April 15—National NFO directors describe the progress made by the organization during the past year at an area NFO meeting Monday evening at the Buhl Moose hall with the Twin Falls county NFO unit as hosts.

Speakers were Herbert Goodman, Colo. Ia., grain commodity director, and Gordon Shafer, Kingsville, Mo., chief negotiator. Dale Gould, chairman of the Twin Falls county bargaining committee, discussed the bean program.

An initial crop survey to be made at planting and harvesting time was urged. Coordination of all crop producing areas for effective bargaining power was emphasized.

Representatives from throughout Magic Valley attended the session. During the evening a poll on price parity according to the economy of the rest of the nation was taken. The poll covered heavy duty farm machinery.

The poll showed seven pieces of new heavy duty farm machinery had been purchased by those in attendance during the 1964 season. There were 45 pieces of farm machinery in the two to five year old bracket; 93 pieces in the five to 10-year-old bracket, and 156 pieces in the 10-year-old and over bracket.

It was indicated 80 pieces of farm machinery would be purchased this year if prices show an increase to allow the farmer to make a profit on his goods. No purchases were indicated if prices did not increase.

Sets Record

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Mariner 4, heading for a close look at Mars, set a distance record for communications from American spacecraft today.

The national aeronautics and space administration said Mariner 4 transmitted scientific and engineering data from 34 million miles out, thus topping the previous record of 53.9 million miles.

The earlier mark was set by Mariner 2 which flew past Venus Dec. 14, 1962, and sent back valuable information on that planet. The Mariner 2 signals faded out 19 days after the Venus fly-by, on Jan. 3, 1963, on the spacecraft's 129th day of flight.

The First World War

Written By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN for Newspaper Enterprise Association

By April 22, 1915, death was a regular visitor to the battlefields of Europe. But on that day French and British troops fighting in the Second Battle of Ypres saw the bony-faced scythe carrier arrive in a new guise.

April 22 had been a fine spring day—if spring can ever be said to come to a land where all the plants have been destroyed by constant shelling and the perfume of flowers is replaced by the sickly sweet stench of corpses rotting in the mud.

Toward sunset German guns began a brief but furious bombardment. Then, in the quiet that followed, a shapeless, curling, billowing cloud, yellowish-green in color, and heavy enough to cling closely to the ground, began to creep westward from the lines where German soldiers were opening more than 5,000 cylinders of chlorine gas. Since the prevailing wind at Ypres blows toward the east, they had been waiting for weeks for this occasion when the air-currents had just the right direction and velocity.

The slow-traveling cloud advanced toward the French and British trenches; then it poured down into the narrow slots in the earth.

Death Rides a Green Cloud: 17

Illustrated By John Lane

French Algerian troops were the first to suffer. They coughed and vomited and tore at themselves in agony. Some of them broke and ran while others sank down, never to rise again.

Those who reached the British lines tried to warn the Tommies by frantic gestures that something unknown and dreadful was loose on the battlefield. But their warning was too late, for close on their heels came the insubstantial, writhing green monster to asphyxiate more victims.

German inventiveness won a victory that day, but the German army failed to take full advantage of the 4-mile gap that had been opened in the French and British fronts. The infantrymen who cautiously followed the silent green killer were afraid of their chemical ally, which had a nasty way of settling down in pockets and shell holes where it remained a menace.

As a result, they did not advance as far as they might have in an area where there were no able-bodied troops left to resist them. Nor had the German high command moved up enough reserves to make a massive breakthrough. At headquarters, gas was still considered an unproved weapon.

Even stranger is the fact that French and British staff officers did not realize how terribly effective poison gas was. And they had had previous warning, for it had been tried out in Poland on January 31.

Then, on April 13, a deserter had come through the lines near Ypres equipped with a crude gas mask. He also brought news that the chlorine cylinders were already in place.

The use of poison gas was, of course, a direct flouting of the Geneva Convention of 1906, but so were many of the other new weapons and practices that were rapidly being adopted. It is ironic that the 20th century, which had been ushered in so hopefully at Geneva, was quickly to degenerate into the most murderous period in mankind's long history of slaughter.

The Second Battle of Ypres was a good beginning for such an era, for it was one of the most terrible of the war, with more than 100,000 casualties. Death was riding high over the battlefields of Europe where it was the only consistent victor.

NEW YORK, April 15 (U.S.)—The market had a partial recovery in late trading today and ended in a mixture of plus and minus.

Late in the day, however, a number of losers came back vigorously and others cut their losses.

Two points at the top were Du Pont and U.S. Steel. Fractional losses were taken on General Motors, U.S. Steel and Radio Corporation.

Chrysler rallied briskly to a two-point gain while Rockwell, Caterpillar and Reynolds also advanced a point or better.

Jackpot

INGLEWOOD, Calif., April 15 (U.S.)—It was jackpot night at the postoffice.

Jeah Gillis, 29, put a quarter in the stamp machine at the postoffice to get five-cent stamps, and—

"The five stamps came out, there was a pause, a little hum then all of a sudden it went whirr," she said today.

"Pennies and four-cent stamps started pouring out all over the floor like ticker tape. It wouldn't stop. Then a red light came on that said, 'Out of Order!'"

For her quarter Mrs. Gillis got five 5-cent stamps, 483 four-cent stamps and 146 pennies.

All postal employees had gone home, so Mrs. Gillis went to the sheriff's substation and turned in all but her five-cent stamps. A postal official claimed the remainder.

Robinson Outpoints Internal Revenue Service on Tax Claim

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Former middleweight boxing champion Sugar Ray Robinson has won one of his toughest bouts by outpointing the internal revenue service. A ruling by the U.S. tax court wipes out most of a back tax claim of $352,000 stemming from Robinson's purse from an unsuccessful defense of his title against Carmen Basilio in September, 1957. The court ruled that the IRS was wrong in taxing Robinson for any more than he actually received in 1957 as a result of the Basilio fight.

Step Over Edge

BY MURIEL B. JACKSON

The other day a woman told me she was leaving her husband. "It would take an alcoholic to help him," she said. "Thee let's pray for one," I said. And I told her my suggestion.

Years ago when I married Joe he was bright, handsome and ambitious. But somewhere in the early years of our marriage he lost control of his drinking. We began moving from place to place; from job to job.

Finally in 1953 we came back to live in the small Texas town where I was born. An old aunt gave us living quarters in a shack by the river. Meanwhile, Joe worked just enough to buy liquor and we barely existed.

It had been raised to believe in prayer. God answers earnest prayer, I thought, and I certainly prayed earnestly for Joe. He passed and I was left alone.

But as the days passed, I felt Joe slipping from me too. Where was God? Why didn't He hear?

And if there were no God then I saw no reason to live. I had no children, no friends any more, no hope for Joe. I kept thinking of the swift Llano river swirling past our door. How quickly it would be done the dreadful night when I knew I could do it. Joe had begged himself from bed to go out and get the bottle he could not live without.

After he left a deep depression set in. I ran outside and headed for the stream.

The moon slid behind a cloud just as I reached the swift deep pools below the Slab in the Llano.

At the very edge of the water something restrained me. Long religious habit forced me to my knees to ask forgiveness from the God I no longer believed in. How long I remained in this attitude of prayer, hands clasped, head bowed, I do not know.

I raised my head, ready to stand and take the short step over the edge. Then I blinked my eyes to be sure I was seeing clearly. The water which had been inky black when I knelt, was a flaming, scarlet red.

I watched, transfixed, then I saw what had happened.

Across the river was the old farm house — my birthplace — long abandoned. Bright red light was streaming from every window. First, but what could have started it? The house a shack worse than ours — was uninhabitable.

Was this a sign that my life was not my own to take?

All my conscious mind was aware of was the mighty hand of God, closer than I had ever felt it.

When I arrived home I found Joe lying across the bed in an alcoholic stupor. That night, instead of going to the cot in the corner where I always slept when he was drunk, I lay down beside him.

Joe had been seeing a doctor at a small clinic in a nearby town. As I served him black coffee next morning his eyes followed me. "Will you come with me to the doctor's today?" he asked suddenly.

The doctor had been treating Joe for arthritis, migraine headaches, and other ills that his mistreated body suffered. But that morning he didn't ask about Joe's physical condition at all. He spent the entire session talking to us about Alcoholics Anonymous. He told how A. A. had helped many problem drinkers find sobriety.

Suddenly the doctor asked us to follow him. Across the hall he led us into a room marked, "No Visitors."

On a narrow bed lay a figure covered, except for the head, with a white hospital sheet. The face was almost invisible under a layer of thick white ointment, but even so we could see that it was horribly burned.

Outside again, he told us who the man was — another notorious town drunk. He said the man had crawled into the old house, out by the Slab, the night before.

"In some manner, probably with a cigarette, he had set fire to the pile of ragged quilts he lay on. He was dragged out by some fishermen, but it was too late. It was a miracle that he had lived this long."

"These are the things," said the doctor, looking at Joe, "that happen to men with your particular problem. For an alcoholic it must be complete abstinence, a mental institution, or an early grave. In A. A., other alcoholics will show you how to overcome your problem."

Six weeks later Joe found his way into the Alcoholics Anonymous group in San Antonio, A. A. became our way of life. Joe turned his will and his life over to the care of God and God did an awful lot with the seven years that were left of it. He became a valuable citizen in our community, a member of the Bishops committee at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, the president of the local Rotary club.

He was appointed rehabilitation counselor at our state's toughest maximum security hospital. He worked and lived among criminal alcoholics, filled with love and humility and the grace of God.

When Joe entered the hospital in Dallas in 1959 with Hodgkins disease, he knew he was dying. Yet his thin body could hardly

Castro's Propaganda Line Reaches Idaho

BOISE, April 15 (AP) — Those who are disturbed about the presence of communism 90 miles from American shores might be interested to learn Castro's propaganda line reaches Idaho every Sunday.

Through use of a powerful transmitter, Radio Havana beams an English-language broadcast at North, Central and South America each week.

Supposedly a question-answer type program, it usually is based on questions written to the Cuban station by English-speaking listeners. Then, through half-truths, selective quotations and a heavy sprinkling of the latest communist line it presents lengthy "answers" to them.

Short-wave buffs, of course, have monitored the program for some time. And, though atmospheric disturbances sometimes distort reception, Boise and apparently other listeners in the Intermountain West have heard it.

Recently, one such broadcast touched off a private war between a Boise broadcaster and Fidel Castro.

When he heard Radio Havana's answer last Nov. 15 to a question about free enterprise, Ralph F. Frazer, (of KATN) decided to give the Cubans a few facts, particularly about American broadcasting freedom.

He wrote Castro, care of Radio Havana, the next day. First, he took note of the broadcast in which the Cubans contended that American broadcasters are controlled by network monopolies.

Then, pointing out that he believes he has the right of free choice, free enterprise and freedom of speech he asked Castro whether such freedom would be offered a Cuban citizen.

Finally, he challenged the Cuban premier to permit reading in full of his letter over Radio Havana on the same program along with Castro's answer — and so within 39 days.

When he heard nothing from Havana in the next two months, Frazer dismissed the matter — believing the Cubans had consigned his letter, as he wrote them he believed they would, to the waste basket.

Then, in the middle of January his phone rang. The operator said it was a call from Havana — a collect call. The name of the calling party was not stated. Frazer declined to accept the call.

But, a day or so later, on Jan. 17, he tuned in Radio Havana. Reception that night was poor but enough of what was said was clear to indicate the Cubans were trying to answer him. Frazer wrote again the next day, asking for a transcript and stating reception was spotty.

Later, he heard another broadcast — this one clearer — quoting his latest letter and ridiculing his reception, trying to imply he didn't want to hear the answer. This was followed a short time later by a letter from a California listener who sent him a transcript he said he had monitored.

There was challenge to rebroadcast the program in Boise.

As yet, Frazer has never received the transcript he asked Radio Havana to send him. But he has had some interesting correspondence with the California listener.

It became so interesting, in fact, that Frazer finally bluntly asked the man in one letter whether he was a communist. That was some time ago. He hasn't heard from the fellow since.

Lincoln Gets Brucellosis 5-Year Award

SHOOSHONE, April 15 — A certificate designating Lincoln county as a five-year brucellosis free area was presented to county commissioners Monday night by Dr. E. H. Ikhard, district federal veterinarian; Dr. Arthur P. Schneider, director of the bureau of animal industry, and Stanley Trenhale, state commissioner of agriculture.

Monthly reports showed $516.30 from Justice of the Peace C. W. Owen; $85 from C. M. Wilson, probate judge; $53.40 from Sheriff Thomas W. Coiner and $1,020 from Mrs. Luella L. Kinsey, auditor.

The American Oil company was awarded the contract for county gasoline at a price of 21.1, while Chipman Chemical company took the bid for DDT at $1.757 per gallon in 55-gallon containers.

After discussion with R. B. Nehr, county doctor, the commission decided to purchase a life-sized mannequin for teaching artificial respiration and mouth to mouth resuscitation.

A bid of $218.13 was accepted from Riley Matheson for the former William Wilcox property.

A delegation from the Kimama and Dietrich highway districts met with commissioners to discuss appropriations of road funds. They were Wayne Crystal, Joe Taylor, Kimama, and Hyrum Meservy, Oten Nelson and Franklin Orr, Dietrich.

A recessed meeting will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday to consider a petition presented by elective county officers asking for salaries to be set according to action by the legislature.

Eighth Grade Ceremony Is Eliminated

HAILEY, April 15 — Trustees of class A school district No. 61 have voted to do away with eighth grade graduation exercises.

Supt. Homer D. Williams explained years ago the eighth grade terminated education of many youths, but the law now requires that students remain in school until 16 years of age.

A salary committee of Blaine county teachers met with trustees Monday night to recommend a salary increase. The matter was taken under advisement and trustees will meet next Monday to further discuss the recommendation and adopt the budget for next year.

No teachers have signed contracts as yet. Theodore Bracke, principal of Wood River high school, has resigned and plans to go to Cascade where he will coach and teach. He came to Hailey from Amity, Ore., but had taught at Cascade previously.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, April 15—Born today, you are essentially of an artistic nature, with little regard for the practical aspects of life. This is not to say that you do not understand practically, for indeed you do, and are much interested in watching its effect on others as they pursue the sort of life that the practical mind demands. Your own needs and desires, however, are simple—the tools with which to translate what you see and hear into art, either symbolic or realistic.

Buhl School Budget Gets Nod

BUHL, April 15—No protests were voiced and the Buhl school district budget for 1965-66 totaling $504,546 was approved after a public hearing Monday evening in the high school.

Although the budget shows an increase of $78,387 over last year's figure of $426,159, there is a decrease in the mill levy. The mill levy was reduced from 41 mills to 38 mills, with the three-mill deduction made possible because of the increase in assessed valuation coupled with the proper investment of bond money in the past three years. The assessed valuation is $8,288,000, which is higher by some $123,487 compared to last year's figure of $8,164,513.

Six additional teachers will be hired in the school system with a $500 across the board raise for all teachers in the district. This will make beginning salary at $4,825 for a teacher with BS or BA degree.

Nominees Listed For Lions Club

RUPERT, April 15—A slate of nominees for the Rupert Lions club was presented during the Monday meeting. Officers will be elected April 26.

Youths Outline Child Welfare Activities

EDEN, April 15 — Three Boys State delegates discussed the American Legion child welfare activities at a Legion post meeting here Tuesday night.

Speakers were Larry Webb, Lupe Torres and Monte Turner. Webb noted in Idaho 26 per cent of high school students drop out of school before graduating. The Legion encourages youths to complete their education and seek expanded job training which will meet the labor needs.

Unsupervised use of pep pills by teenagers and young adults constitutes a serious hazard to the physical and mental health of the nation. More than 10 billion pills are manufactured annually and authorities estimate that more than one-half of this production moves into illegal markets. Strengthening of state and federal laws in this area is urged by the American Legion, Webb stated.

Lupe Torres explained how the national child welfare foundation has accomplished so much with so little by wise choices of programs which needed financial assistance in the beginning, but now are snowballing into self-supporting activities.

Research into the cause and cures of mental retardation is one part of the foundation's program. Turner described a test given at Magic Valley Memorial hospital, Twin Falls, to help determine mental retardation. He explained that babies unable to use certain protein elements in their food will become mentally retarded if the condition is not discovered. Idaho was a test state in the program for one and one-half years. He said of the 50 hospitals in the state only 14 are giving the tests known as PKU tests. Retardation may be prevented if a special modified milk diet is started during the first few weeks of life, the youth said.

He added that public interest in this testing program could result in other hospitals in the state adopting the test which, he

He outlined the different phases of research at the soil and water laboratory and invited the chamber to attend the open house to be held at the center April 23 and 24.

Cecil Macaw, chamber president, announced the nominating committee has selected Dr. Frank Vosika as candidate for president; Hal Hill, vice president; Mrs. Floyd Pollard, treasurer, and Mrs. Edward Thompson, secretary. Members selected for the board of directors are Thompson, Kenneth (Ooch) - Dodds, Robert Walker, William (Whimpy) Spahn and Macaw.

Until now, automatic sprinkler systems that water your lawn while you sleep were for large estates . . . for high income homes that could afford $1,000 or more for this luxury. Today, even the most modest home can afford this wonderful convenience.

Toro's new Moist O'Matic underground sprinkler system comes complete in a package, has everything you need to automatically sprinkle an area as large as 85' x 100'. PRICE: ONLY $189.95.

Here's how the Moist O'Matic system works:
A series of wave heads and pop up sprinkler heads are installed below the grass surface. They're easily located so that your lawn gets exactly the right amount of water (no waste!). All you do is set the timer on the electric control center, which installs in garage, basement or utility room. You can set it to water any hour of the day or night . . . and it'll do a perfect job even if you're away on vacation.

SET IT AND FORGET IT! Electric control center works like a clock radio, turning sprinklers on and off automatically. Even while you sleep. Plugs into any 110 volt a.c. outlet.

NEW WAVE SPRINKLERS (5 included in Moist O'Matic package) are for larger square or rectangular areas of your lawn. Each is adjustable to cover areas as large as 50' x 50'.

NEW POP-UP SPRINKLERS (5 in package) are for smaller areas. Pop up for watering, pop down automatically when job is done. Never in the way of lawn mowers or children.

Add-on design lets you install part of a system (or several systems) for any size yard.
