ST. PAUL, Minn., April 16 (UPI)—A cold snap held up the highest flood crest on record on the upper Mississippi river today and increased the danger to the dikes and levees protecting St. Paul and Minneapolis. Then the crest, at an expected 26.9 feet, will hold for three to five days.

GOP Congressmen Hit Land Action

WASHINGTON, April 16 (Special)—Idaho's Republican congressmen Friday attacked the action of the department of interior in seeking to revoke desert land entries in the Indian Hills area southwest of Glenns Ferry. Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall has asked the justice department to determine whether a 3,700-acre private reclamation project on public land in Owyhee county is legal, claiming the land had been illegally turned over to private ownership under desert entry laws. Sen. Len Jordan and Rep. George Hansen today declared "Idaho's economic progress was delivered a setback by the department's announcement. In this area we have three essential ingredients for progress—unappropriated water, available land of good quality and eager, able applicants willing to risk their own capital to develop the land."

Christ Paid Tribute by Christians

By The Associated Press Christians around the world again this Good Friday a solemn commemoration of the death of Christ on the cross. Jews prepared for the beginning at sundown of Passover, the most ancient of Jewish festivals. The Christian Holy Week ended Easter Sunday, the joyous day of the Resurrection. The Jewish Seder feast tonight, a week-long observance of the Israelite exodus from Egypt more than 2,000 years ago. Thousands of Christian pilgrims thronged Rome and the Holy Land. In Jerusalem's Jordan sector, worshippers crowded into the church of the Holy Sepulcher, which Christian tradition holds bears the marble tomb of Christ. After sunrise, religious pilgrims were to follow Christ's path to Calvary, singing and praying in the twisted, one-way streets of Old Jerusalem. In Rome, Pope Paul VI leads the world's 500 million Roman Catholics in prayers he has had changed this year to delete references to Jews and others outside his church. The start of Passover coincides with Good Friday this year for the first time in several years. In Moscow, a traditional seder was planned at the Israeli embassy. About 100 Jews in Moscow's Western community, including diplomats, journalists and visitors, were invited.

Negroes Have Bad Time in Soviet Union

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, reporting on his recent trip to the Soviet Union, says Negroes there "have a worse lot" than anywhere in the Southern United States. Racial prejudice in the Soviet Union "is greater than anywhere in the world, and a great many African students are leaving because of it," he says. The former vice president discussed his impressions of the Soviet Union last night in a departure from his prepared speech before 400 business leaders at the national industrial conference board's first public affairs conference. Nixon, who contrasted his recent visit to the one he made six years ago as vice president, said there has been a great growth in racism and race prejudice. He said there is no single leader in Russia today following the ouster of Premier Nikita Khrushchev. Only one man in 25 he questioned acknowledged Khrushchev's existence, he said. He predicted a strong leader will soon emerge, and Russia then will begin a new challenge to the United States in economic development of the area is allowed to proceed," he concluded.

Experts Agree Moon Is Disfigured, But Disagree on Landing Possibility

WASHINGTON, April 16 (UPI)—Lunar experts agreed today that the moon's complexion is disfigured by cracks, dimples, pimples, blisters and mountains, as well as other surface features. They could not, however, agree whether it is a safe place for astronauts to visit. One said, "hell, yes it is." Another said he wouldn't risk his doing it. A third said he was "wary" by some pictures taken by Ranger 9. In the course of the argument possibility was raised that rocks exhausted of descent rock-boards the Apollo landing might turn an otherwise smooth surface into "instant quicksand."

Meet Is Termed 'Successful'

Max Rees, supervisor, Sawtooth National Forest, termed the 1965 annual rangers meeting "successful" at the final session Friday in the Twin Falls city hall. The instruction and training should help us to serve the public better in the Sawtooth national forest," Rees said. Rangers from the eight districts attended the meeting, which began Wednesday, with speakers from the regional forest service, Ogden. Friday's program included talks on "Law Enforcement and Prevention," and "Procedure in Mineral Management." At the conclusion of the meeting an open discussion was held with rangers presenting problems in their districts.

Legislation Explained to School Aides

School administration staffs from throughout Magic Valley Thursday heard two representatives from the state department of education, Harold Farley and Reed Bishop, explain new legislation concerning education and distribution of money for education. Educators from Twin Falls, Blaine, Cassia, Mindoka, Gooding, Jerome, Camas, Lincoln and parts of Elmore county school districts attended the all-day session held Thursday at Robert Stuart junior high school. Ernest Ragland, superintendent of Twin Falls school district No. 411, said of great interest to the large group of educators was the new formula for the distribution of state funds for education. He said the two men from Boise also gave extensive information on the new secondary and elementary education act from congress which was signed by President Johnson Sunday. Ragland said it was too early to tell what the effect of the act will be on education, but added that it undoubtedly will improve the quality. Ragland said the act will have an effect on school districts adding staff members and special departments not now in existence. The state department of education has held several meetings, such as the one held here Thursday, in other parts of the state to advise school administrators and other staff members about newly enacted legislation concerning education. It was reported that this area's was the last in the series of meetings.

India, Pakistan May Talk Peace

NEW DELHI, India, April 16 (AP)—A cease-fire has paved the way for peace talks between India and Pakistan over disputed marshland in the Rann of Kutch, near the Arabian sea. But conflicting statements issued by both sides dimmed prospects for agreement. The Rann of Kutch, an area of mud flats and brine deposits has been the scene of border skirmishes since 1947.

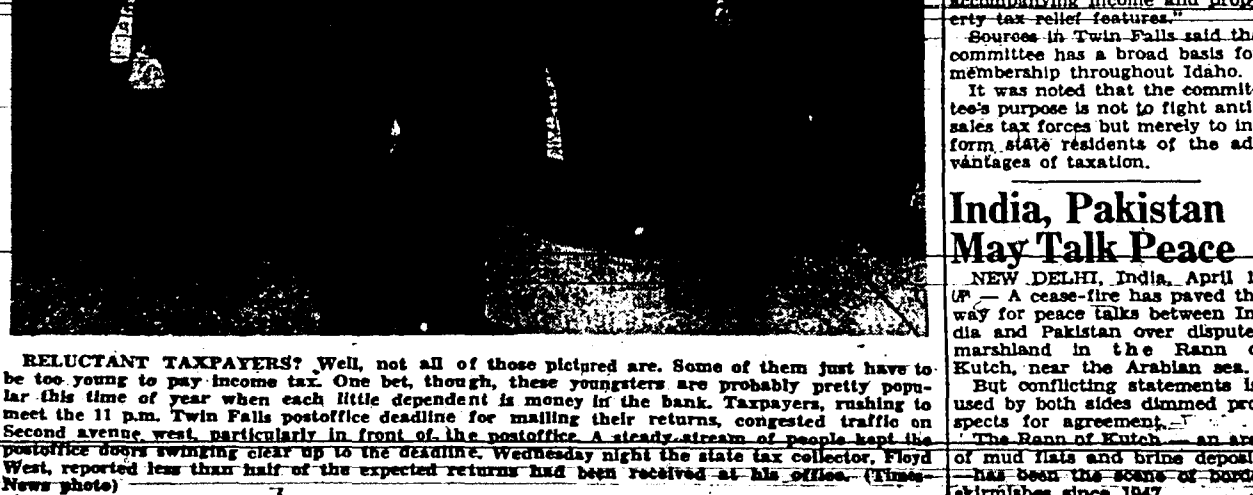

Tax Reform Support Unit Formed

A "Forward Idaho" committee, with its purpose the supporting of the tax reform program enacted by the 1965 Idaho legislature, has been formed in Boise. The committee apparently has gained some support in Twin Falls, although names of local members have not been announced. R. E. Pasley, Caldwell, president of the Idaho Department Store company, announced the formation of the group. He said details will be disclosed later. He said the committee "will advise the people of the advantages of the sales tax and its accompanying income and property tax relief features." Sources in Twin Falls said the committee has a broad basis for membership throughout Idaho. It was noted that the committee's purpose is not to fight anti-sales tax forces but merely to inform state residents of the advantages of taxation.

Reluctant Taxpayers? Well, not all of those pictured are. Some of them just have to be too young to pay income tax. One bet, though, these youngsters are probably pretty popular this time of year when each little dependent is money in the bank. Taxpayers, rushing to meet the 11 p.m. Twin Falls postoffice deadline for mailing their returns, congested traffic on Second Avenue west, particularly in front of the postoffice. A steady stream of people kept the postoffice doors swarming clear up to the deadline, Wednesday night the state tax collector, Floyd West, reported less than half of the expected returns had been received at his office. FIVE-DAY FORECAST

The southwesterly flow of air aloft occurring now into the Intermountain region will be giving way to a west to northwesterly flow bringing some cooling and an increase in clouds to the valleys of southern Idaho.

Temperatures in agricultural valleys will average near normal through Wednesday with cooling into and over the week-end and warming again into the first of next week. Daytime temperatures will average below normal with lowest readings in the 40s and 50s over the week-end but nighttime temperatures will be near or above normal most nights into the first of the week. Some normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Gooding 44-36, Pocatello 48-36 and Buhl 53-54.

Storms moving into the Intermountain region from the Pacific Northwest coast will give scattered light showers to the valleys of southern Idaho at times through the week-end and into the first of the week with clearing indicated after the first of the week. Some snow mixed with the rain showers is possible in higher valleys with the colder air over the week-end. Precipitation amounts from these rain showers will range from .05 to .25 of an inch.

Sunshine will average below normal as around 50 per cent or less of possible sunshine is expected. Winds will be stronger at times over the week-end in association with the storms moving in from the Pacific. Soil temperatures in Magic Valley will continue to average mostly in the 50s, but lowering soil temperatures at the three- to eight-inch depth will occur during the week-end and into the first of the week.

Cool and showery weather the next few days will make field work and outside activities unpleasant and cause temporary delays at times, but wet fields should only be a local problem in these valleys through Wednesday. Fruit trees now in bloom may need protection late in the week-end and the first of next week and later advisories regarding this threat should be watched for. New growth on ranges will continue to be low due to cool weather but added soil moisture will be an aid to future growth. Expected weather conditions should present no large problem to calving and lambing operations although snow mixed with rain showers in higher valleys may necessitate temporary protection at times.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

Low pressure at the surface has moved into the northern Intermountain region as the cold low aloft off the West Coast has weakened and moved closer to the Northwestern coast. The low pressure at the surface now over Idaho has set off some light rain showers as far east as Magic Valley. Considerable cloudiness today and Saturday with scattered showers are expected to occur in the agricultural valleys of southern Idaho as the low pressure aloft moves from off the Northwest coast and across the northern Intermountain region.

Temperatures will be lowering in these valleys as the cold air associated with the low aloft moves into this area, with cooling ranging today and more cooling on Saturday. Highs today will range in the 50s to lower 60s and on Saturday in the mid 40s to mid 50s. Minimum temperatures tonight will remain mostly in the 30s.

Low temperatures last night were higher again as cloudiness during the night kept more of the heat of the day from melting loat.

of the Warford car and that they did not know he was there until the two vehicles were pried apart.

The Rev. Peter Peterson, minister of the American Falls Assembly of God church, talked with the boy in the American Falls hospital. He said Billy was in shock but appeared to be coming out of it.

Neal said Harry J. Bryner apparently crossed over the center line into the path of the Warford car.

"We don't know what caused him to do it and probably never will," Neal said.

Neal said they estimated both cars were traveling about 70 miles an hour at the time of the collision. They said there was no sign of skid marks on the highway.

Byron Roy, owner of the nearby Massacre Rocks resort, said the wreckage literally was welded together. He said the distance between the windshields of the two cars was about the normal distance from the windshield to a car's front bumper.

State Police Supt. A. E. Perkins called the accident "the worst in my 26 years experience in law-enforcement work in Idaho."

In Arkansas, relatives of the Warford family said they were moving from Elkins, described as 12 miles east of Fayetteville, to Wepatch, Wash., where the elder Warford, Elmer, had been offered a job.

Mrs. Russell Anderson and Mrs. Lorenzo Steelman, Sr., gave reports on the South Central district meeting held recently at Gooding. Others attending from Burley were Mrs. Ina Judd, Mrs. P. L. McCormick, Mrs. G. A. Jones, Mrs. Sarah Harrison and Mrs. Emma Olsen.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Robert Denton, vice president; Mrs. Sarah Harrison, secretary; and Mrs. Gay Jones, treasurer.

The program featured a film "Telstar," which was presented under the direction of J. T. Jamison, Mountain States Telephone company.

The next meeting will be a covered dish dinner May 10 in the conference room of the Idaho Bank and Trust company, at which time the new club officers will be installed.

Shepard Is Opposed to Voting Bill

BOISE, April 16 (AP) — Atty. Gen. Allan G. Shepard says he opposes the voting rights bill before congress.

Shepard said there were two sections he specifically opposes that makes the entire bill questionable to him.

He said he objects to one section that requires that all court cases on voting rights be presented before the Washington, D.C., district court and not federal district courts in the states where the violation occurred, and to a section that makes voting rights examiners appointed rather than civil service commission employees.

The attorney general said he agrees that a special meeting of the Republican state central committee should be held to settle political differences in the party.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie called for the meeting Wednesday after Mrs. Gwen Barnett, Idaho's Republican national committeewoman, told she opposed the voting rights bill because it would interfere with voting laws already in effect in states.

Dead Man Comes To Life!

"No man ever lived after he died." Tom asserted to his friend. "When you're dead, you're dead!"

"How do you know?" asked Frank.

"Of course, anyone could go around claiming that he would come to life again. In fact, there was once a famous doctor in France who did that. Like Jesus, he did miracles of healing, he gathered disciples around him and said that he would rise again after his death."

"And did he?" Frank asked.

"No, of course not," answered Tom. "He just stayed dead. And his disciples knew it. They never saw him again."

"That's the big difference," Frank pointed out. "Jesus' disciples DID see Him alive again. They knew that their Master was not dead, but alive!"

That is big news. It is the best news the world has ever heard! It is not rumor, but actual fact. Easter is the festival of the Lord who died for our sins and ROSE again. Come and celebrate this glad day with us. See how it means everlasting life for you.

Proposed New Water Rate Schedule for T. F. Outlined

"How much more will my water bill be?" This is probably the question that comes to the mind of the Twin Falls property owner who will be voting in the water bond election May 18.

For the purpose of illustration city commissioners and H. L. Derrick, city manager, have figured the rates of a number of residents to compare the cost of the proposed SA schedule to the present rates.

A comparison is cost and usage of Frank Feldman, 186 Polk street, who could be considered an average city water user. Feldman's total water bill for 1964 was $46.96 and under the new schedule it would cost him $68.72 for the entire year.

Eden Street Repair Work Under Way

EDEN, April 16 — Reconstruction of two streets was approved by Eden village board members when they met Wednesday evening at the village hall.

Temporary repairs are now under way and plans are to rebuild seven blocks on Idaho street and two blocks of Main street, at a cost of approximately $4,000, as soon as the weather will permit, announces Donald Black, chairman.

May 1 is the deadline for licensing dogs within the village limits. Tags may be purchased from Kenneth Davis, village marshal.

A discussion was held on replacing the village water tower with a steel tank but no decision was reached. Payment was made for the secondary pump unit which has been installed at the water tower.

Applications for someone to mow the village park will be accepted until the next meeting, May 12. They should be made to Mrs. Gordon Newbry, village clerk.

The separate fund for the maintenance of the fire department has been closed and will be included in the regular village fund. The balance in the old account was used to purchase additional water hose for the fire truck.

Churchill Painting Sold For $26,000

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Works of many modern and impressionist painters, including the late Sir Winston Churchill, got a big boost at one of the largest art auctions in recent years.

The 130 art works brought a total of $2,855,800.

The auction last night at the Parke-Bernet galleries was two sales in a program with a black-tie benefit dinner at Intermission.

More than 2,200 persons were there but the gallery could only accommodate about 900 in its main auction room.

The others were in three rooms on other floors of the Madison avenue gallery and could bid by closed-circuit television.

A painting by the late British prime minister, "Canal Scene," about 20 by 24 inches, was bought for $26,000 by a representative of Joyce C. Hall, president of the Hallmark Foundation of Kansas City, Mo. It will be loaned for an exhibition of Churchill's paintings at the World's Fair here.

The top price was $410,000 paid for Degas' "Repetition de Ballet," which went to New York dealer Stephan Hahn.

Everyone's Loss

The death of Warren W. Lowery is a distinct loss, not only to Twin Falls county but to everyone. Mr. Lowery was a capable public official who was widely liked and respected. His many friends were found in both political parties and in every walk of life. It's a rare tribute to any man who ever aspired to an elective office.

Mr. Lowery's popularity, both as an individual and a public official, could be attributed in part, at least, to his ever-present desire to do what was right. As a county commissioner, he always gave due consideration to the taxpayer. And he was never too busy to talk about the public's business.

Mr. Lowery's rare good humor was evident nearly always. Under even the most trying of circumstances, he could be counted on to remain pleasant and more often than not would contribute some lighthearted comment that resulted in relaxing everyone concerned. Yet he never ducked an unpleasant situation or problem.

Mr. Lowery was a calm, orderly person who never permitted himself to be stampeded into a decision or some action he might regret in short order. At the same time, he could be counted on to give due consideration to any proposal submitted to him as a public official, always keeping in mind that he served all citizens of the county as a county commissioner. More than anything else, perhaps, Mr. Lowery was well aware there could be more than one viewpoint on a particular issue. And he respected all viewpoints and opinions.

The county's loss is considerable, but it can't compare with the loss of Mr. Lowery's family and many friends.

IDAHO COULD BENEFIT

Because of the increasing national concern over the outflow of dollars, it is becoming evident there will be some sort of effort again to talk Americans into staying home to "see America first." There have been similar campaigns in the past with varying degrees of success. But always the effort has resulted in increased travel for Americans who already own the world title for traveling. There may be a noticeable increase in travel this summer and with any concerted effort, travel in the summer of 1966 should increase considerably.

Idaho stands to gain a good deal from any campaign using the slogan "see America first." The West should benefit more than any other section of the nation and the Pacific Northwest offers the sort of attractions that are most appealing to the summer tourist, with a big majority of travelers confining their tours to summer months. Tourism already is big business in Idaho and with the new three per cent sales tax becoming effective July 1, it will mean more than ever to the state.

The Idaho department of development and commerce has been working hard to attract summer visitors to Idaho. Those who read national magazines couldn't help spotting those ads declaring that "Idaho is the place to go." Recently, Rep. Compton I. White, jr., inserted a column in the Congressional Record extolling the attractions of Idaho and mentioning that the 50 states should work together to get citizens to "see America first." The latter effort isn't likely to gain any tourists, but it illustrates the sort of attempts that should be made on behalf of Idaho.

More and more tourists have been "discovering" the state in recent years. Visitors to the Stanley basin country during summer months continue to be amazed by the number of out-of-state cars, especially those from California. An increase in the number of tourists will benefit business generally and put a good many more tax dollars into the state treasury. The state should recognize the potential and increase the budget for the department of development and commerce.

SPACE HEADACHE

Inhabitants of Earth still haven't been able to set foot on their own moon, which is hardly a step away in comparison to the vast distances of space. Yet scientists continue talk of establishing contact with possible intelligent forms of life on other planets or in the depths of the universe. These attempts have their own problems, as emphasized the other day when the Russians claimed to have received a communication from outer space, then changed their minds.

A point in space identified only as CT102 supposedly is the source of some sort of radio signal, probably of natural origin. But the point is so far away that signals being received now would have been en route more than six billion years. The time lag is a real bar to interspace communication; sort of like writing a letter to a friend and having the letter delivered to his great-great-great-great-great-great-great-great-grandson.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY.
WASHINGTON, April 16—Like most farm bills of the last two decades, President Johnson's agricultural message to congress is a phony. It would shift the cost of farm supports from the federal government to the consumer, without even the pretense that this is a step toward solving the overall problem of reduced farm income.

Within the United States the cost of wheat and rice subsidies would be borne by the housewife, whereas wheat and rice sold abroad would be shorn of its government export subsidy and permitted to drop to the competitive world market price. Growers would be compensated by higher domestic prices.

NOT QUITE HONEST—This bit of political sophistry is not much of a blow at the household budget, as it is an exercise in dishonesty. The bill would increase food prices in the U.S. about 300 million dollars a year, or about $1.90 per family. Most American families can absorb that boost without going bankrupt, especially since they are spending a smaller part of their income than ever before for better menus. And there is the fact that farmers are receiving five per cent less for their crops than they pocketed 15 years ago. But the Johnson message remains an example of sheer gimmickry. It is designed chiefly as a contribution to Lyndon Johnson's obsession with making the federal budget look smaller. The taxpayer will still pay through the nose, but this time as a food shopper.

VACATION MONEY—Johnson's message also contains something new. Farmers would be permitted to lease or sell their federal planting allotments, presumably to finance a year's vacation at Uncle Sam's expense. This device would smear at the principle of farm subsidies, which originally were granted to offset poor crops and bad-weather disasters. They were never designed to finance holidays in Miami or Paris.

Johnson also continues to make obeisance to the tobacco lobby. Although federal health authorities are spending tax monies to finance educational programs aimed at discouraging cigarette-smoking, Washington will continue to subsidize the tobacco industry through subsidies to planters.

RELIC OF NEW DEAL—All this rationalizing is but a perpetuation of the unrealistic policies first foisted on the American people by the new deal. These policies have never come close to solving the problems of chronic farm surpluses and farmers whose operations are either too small or too inefficient. The proof is in the statistics, which proclaim that sub-marginal farming operations are increasing, with many farmers earning less than the nation's statutory minimum wage.

Basically, the fault lies in the fact that the federal government continues to reward a segment of the population for not producing. This is a curious state of affairs for a country that is always yelping about its "economic growth" and its system of "free enterprise."

Possibly the time has come to treat farmers like other American citizens. Ending farm subsidies is the only way to encourage inefficient farmers to find other means of employment, and this seems cruel, then it is also cruel to permit the natural laws of economics to determine how many bankers there shall be—or ribbon salesman, or short-order cooks.

THIRST FOR WHAT?
The problem of alcoholism has taken on such proportions, both in America and in the rest of the world, that this newspaper believes the time has come for a frank and forthright examination and appraisal of the situation. The Monitor has just begun a series of 16 articles to probe the problem from a variety of angles.

The compulsive drinker who has lost his job as well as his family, friends, health, and hope for the future knows just how great a problem alcoholism is for the individual. Anybody who faces squarely the cost of alcohol to society in terms of crimes committed, lives lost on the highways, families made dependent on public funds for support, and the like, has some idea of the dimensions of the problem.

Legislators, religious leaders, law enforcement officials, medical doctors, psychologists, sociologists, citizens' groups, and alcoholics themselves have all given of their best efforts to try to find solutions. Some tangible gains can be recorded. But society has still to make major progress in solving up to and solving one of its most vexing problems.

The causes of alcoholism are suggestive of possible solutions. These causes are many and diverse. Students of the problem speak, among other things, of insecurity, unbearable monotony, drab lives, and unrelieved toil and hardship. They refer to social pressures and to the inability to find one's place in society or to cope with increasing demands made upon the individual. In short, many seek escape from the uncertainties, burdens, frustrations, and meaninglessness of barren or turbulent lives.

We wholeheartedly support all constructive efforts to find solutions. We do not believe that physiological or psychological techniques by themselves, get at the basic problem. What people are longing for, basically, is peace, security, freedom, satisfaction, friendship, fulfillment. They are thirsting, not for alcohol, but for a satisfying sense of meaning in life. We agree with the man in Anonymous on the point that if the way men find their freedom from compulsion to drink is by developing inner spiritual strength.

As the Psalmist said, referring to the divine source of solace and strength, "They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures."—Christian Science Monitor.

Interpreting the News

BY JAMES MARLOW
(Associated Press News Analyst)
WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—In her autobiography, "Mrs. Roosevelt said she once asked President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who died 20 years ago this week, if he believed all he had been laughed about regarding a war in Europe."
Roosevelt, a ward of the Episcopal church, replied: "I never really thought about it. I think it is just as well not to think about things like that."
James Marlow

He was artistic, which gave him a sense of ease, and rich enough to feel secure within himself. Out of both came his self-confidence. The flexibility and the self-confidence enabled him to welcome change.

These qualities, and his faith in his country, made him the greatest cement-maker in American history. Inheriting a shattered country, his task as he saw it was to glue the pieces together, sometimes with fresh cement.

The new deal has been called a revolution and it was, insofar as it broke with the callous American past by making, for the first time the government responsible for the general welfare.

But he was basically a conservative and so was his revolution which can be seen by looking no further than at those two other revolutions of his day, fascism and communism, which were then itching to take over the world.

Much that he did he played by ear, assuming it would be understood that if he didn't do the best right away he would when he could. Once, when he took a step which looked devious and he got a complaint, he said: "For heaven's sake, have some faith."

He looked upon the presidency primarily as a position of leadership, but was haunted by the feeling he had to prepare people for his next step, so much so that he once complained: "It's a terrible thing to look over your shoulder when you are trying to lead and find no one there."

As a result of this concern, he failed far too long to lead the country out of neutrality and isolation when the opposite might have changed the history of the world by discouraging Hitler and Japan.

In 12 years he steered his country out of chaos and into leadership of the western world. In 1958, Clinton Rossiter, in his book, "The American Presidency," said: "Roosevelt, I am sure, will never be ranked with Washington and Lincoln."
Six years later 75 historians were polled on all the presidents and put Roosevelt next after Lincoln and Washington as great ones.

"When I pay by check, I feel like I'm getting it for nothing—because it's just paper."
Maturity has somewhat tamed Barbra's frankness with which she used to call attention to herself. She remains a loner, given to introspection. Her dark blue eyes amolder with electric intensity.

Here are her likes and dislikes:
"I like Chantilly lace and avocados, scary movies and Barbra's violin concerto. Gardias and enameled snuffboxes, gingerbread and lavender roses."
"Rembrandt paintings and Thomas Mann's novels. Good shoes—the feel of fur blankets the smell of Italian cooking, studying languages and talking to doctors; steak Diane for breakfast, the color of wine but not the taste of it; Sundays, when nothing is going on and everything has stopped."

"I dislike fake fur, arriving early to an appointment, crowded streets, dirty ashtrays, news-hunters' eyes, overcooked food, opportunistic people and ladies who smell like flowers instead of like ladies."

"I also liked envelopes for a printing firm for $45.17 a week and saved $15 of it. I always was saving. The main thing I didn't want to be was a tyvist. I let my fingernails grow long so I couldn't type."
In addition to her stage earnings, royalties from phonograph albums and other sources of income, Barbra has a television contract guaranteeing her $5 million dollars over the next 10 years.
"Any amount of money over $50,000 confuses me. I feel you can live as well on $25,000 a year as on a million. You can ride in only one limousine at a time," she said.

"I allot myself only $25 a

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR
It's astounding, but true; that the communist party, U.S.A., actually planned the Johnson administration's voting rights act of 1965. This is not to argue the merits and demerits of this bill. That's a different topic.

Federal intervention may be needed, and this bill is pending. But the veil should be lifted on a fact of history that is probably unknown to our public and probably unknown even to most congressmen and senators who will vote "yea."

They will be voting a 1956 project designed in Moscow. Soviet attention to our legislation has always been much more constant and effective than we suppose. The pen of Leo Pressman who later confessed to having been a communist, trails all through our initial agricultural act and the labor legislation sponsored by the original Congress of Industrial Organizations, of which Pressman was an official.

Well, the red shadows still breathe, and glow. Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is the Kremlin's top specialist on American affairs. He knows our country like Mickey Mantle knows Yankee Stadium. Nobody in the Soviet hierarchy even approaches his staying power, for he has survived every purge on his knowledge of the United States.

I encountered Gromyko's expertise again and again during Geneva conference. In fact, he came to know this red leader when his concentration on our country began a full 21 years ago. This was during the 1944 Dumbarton Oaks conference called to design the United Nations.

He's acquainted with a surprising quantity of American political, trade-union and industrial leaders on an hour-by-hour conversational basis. Some like Bernard Baruch, whom he respects, always have had his number, but nothing chills this already-cold man in his search for leverage against our internal stability and especially our legislation.

Gromyko's bland, sphinx-like personality reminds you of a magician who comes on stage without tables or props—just a handkerchief hidden in his hand. Then for 20 minutes he pulls unexpected things out of it. For example, in an airplane flying the Atlantic Gromyko once suddenly recited to me the foreign born percentages in our largest cities, and then recited the passing that more Czechs live in Chicago than in any city except Prague.

Or listen to Gromyko on another occasion. "Mr. Taylor," he said "what you Americans call 'law' is really a form of politics. He didn't just say that. He thinks that. Such are the words that when he calls the tune in Kremlin policy inside our country."

This means Gromyko calls the tune for the communist party, U.S.A. In December, 1964, that party began a program which it named the "Lincoln project," its target date for fulfillment about interest us today—1965.

At its inception in 1964 the plan was published in Philadelphia by the respected American Flag Committee and read:
"To implement the Lincoln project, the communist party's central committee will begin to dispatch agents to 11 southern states next month (January, 1965) to work with local party leaders in surveying 20 counties, one of which might be ideally suited as a target for takeover early in 1965."

This survey will continue through 1967. The central committee making the choice of counties with the 1965 selection to be made on the estimated most favorable conditions prevailing in 1965.

"The legislation which the party will seek from congress in 1965 has already been prepared by its legal staff. It provides for elimination of all educational requirements, including minimum literacy tests, as qualifications for voting in federal, state and local elections; voids residence with respect to counties, municipalities and other political subdivisions within a state; establishes a system of direct federal supervision and control of the local election process. Evidently the house and senate will pass the voting rights act of 1965 after debate and amendment. To repeat, its merits and demerits are another matter. Nevertheless, penetrating and exposing the Soviet's secret interest in any legislation is pertinent to our lawmakers and our public. The "Lincoln project" and the example of its bill is a revelation of the steady reds' eternal presence.

The Doctor Says

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Q—My husband has been troubled with bad breath for about two years. What can be done for it?
A—Bad breath has many causes. Infected teeth and gums can usually be discovered and corrected easily. Low grade infections in the parotid gland, the prostate gland and tonsils are a common cause and are often hard to clear up. Bronchitis, a chronic disease, a chronic disease in the lungs is associated with the production of foul sputum and is even harder to cure without operation.

Some drugs taken regularly will cause bad breath so, if your husband is taking medicines of any kind, he should stop them all for a week or 10 days and see whether there is any improvement.

Recently a doctor in Washington, D.C., found that many patients with halitosis, who did not fit into any of the above categories, had chronically dry mouths due to nervous tension. This is akin to the bad taste in the mouth sometimes noticeable on getting up in the morning. A

Q—Is it possible to catch by attilus from treatments with an electric needle if the same needle, though sterilized, is used on different persons?
A—Yes, if the method used in sterilization is inadequate. Greater heat for a longer period is required to kill the hepatitis virus than for most other disease germs—dry heat at 220 degrees for at least an hour or boiling for at least 15 minutes.

Q—Are personality traits inherited?
A—Not in the true meaning of the word. They are inherited in the family, but children inherit the gestures, vocal inflections and attitudes of their parents and other close associates.

For all you know your partner has a really good hand you opponents may be able to romp into four spades or more. If this would happen today, it might some other day.

Your partner has the ace and his king of clubs is a club for you so you chalk up two hearts with 100 honors.
Would anything bad happen to you if you made a takeout double? Not necessarily, but you can't tell West might not try an immediate grand slam and the bid East might bid to five diamonds. You could bid one and have them go to four and have them go to five. You would not make up for you for a game.

Even worse might happen to your partner. You carried with his six card spade suit to four spades. Then he would have to go down one five hearts.

Easter Rites Are Reported At Shoshone

SHOSHONE, April 16—Easter day services at Christ church will be held at 8 and 9:30 a.m. instead of the hours announced previously.

Holy communion will be celebrated with a sermon at 8 a.m. and the family service will be at 9:30 a.m.

The Episcopal Young Churchmen's choir will lead the congregation in singing a folk mass. Singing will be accompanied by guitars, banjo and bass fiddle. This music is an attempt to express the ancient liturgy of the church in the idiom of contemporary music, the Rev. John Turk, pastor, notes.

On Maundy Thursday there will be a family celebration of the holy communion at 8 p.m. Good Friday services will be conducted at 7:30 a.m. and from noon until 3 p.m. The afternoon service is a series of half-hour services interspersed by periods of silent prayer and music.

The individual services will begin at noon, 1, 2 and 3:30 p.m. Holy communion will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. on Saturday and on Easter, Monday and Tuesday.

The public is invited to any of these services.

Master Piano Classes to End Friday

Selected piano students of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Bond will continue through Friday master classes with Mrs. Agnes Crawford Schmidt, professor of music, University of Idaho.

Mrs. Schmidt, as visiting lecturer and adjudicator, holds hourly classes at the Bond residence.

About half of the 50 students selected to receive the individual instruction have performed and receive individual critiques from Mrs. Schmidt.

According to Bond, a similar program is planned for next year with an instructor from another school, perhaps in California. He said working with professors of music gives students the little extra incentive to continue and improve their work.

Bond added that with instructors from many schools conducting such a program each year gives exceptional music students an idea about music curriculum in universities they might attend.

News Around Idaho

BOISE, April 16 (AP)—Distribution of $3,667,576 to Idaho's 44 counties for allocation to local school districts was reported yesterday by the state department of education. The April distribution virtually completed allotment of state fund for aid to the public schools appropriated by the 1963 legislature. The four allotments—made in July and August of 1964 and January and April of this year—totalled $21,122,220 or 93.6 per cent of the funds it had been estimated would be available during the 1964-65 school year.

BOISE, April 16 (AP)—The body of a baby was found yesterday in a paper container on the banks of the Boise river in Ann Morrison park. Two park employees clearing up trash found the box, Coroner Ed Paris said the baby girl apparently was born dead about a month ago. The body was wrapped in a quilt and small blanket.

POCATELLO, April 16 (AP)—Stable-hospital bills rung up by indigent persons may mean an overhaul of Bonneville county's aid program. "We are constantly wading through hospital bills of which we had no previous knowledge," Al Crowder, Bonneville commissioner, said. Commissioners have expressed interest in Bonneville county's welfare program to control the bills. Persons seeking aid are given an interview by a social worker who makes recommendations to the county commission. In Bonneville county, such persons go directly to the commissioners.

IDAHO FALLS, April 16 (AP)—An opposition candidate to the incumbent, Dr. Rheim Jones, entered the Idaho Falls school district 91 trustee race yesterday, stating that he is seeking unity in the district and has an open mind on a second high school site. He is John D. Jorgenson, 50, a native of the Idaho Falls area and employed as a chemist at the Lincoln Utah-Idaho sugar plant. Jorgenson stated that he was neutral on the question of whether the new high school building should be built on the south or west sides of town. "I was approached by the other side (citizens school committee) and after I had put out feelers, I told them I did not want their help, and would not ask for help. I would not vote for a west side location at the present time, with the information I have at present."

IDAHO FALLS, April 16 (AP)—Eighty members of the Idaho-Montana society of mechanical engineers met at the national reactor testing station central facilities cafeteria conference room yesterday for the second annual symposium of the association, Rudy Maroli, chairman, said. The engineers heard Charles V. Moore, an expert on pressure vessel design and analysis, discuss "Introduction to the ASME pressure vessel (DMFV) code." Moore is consultant on operation of pressure vessel and systems for Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory. A nuclear reactor generation engineer of the General Electric company atomic products division, W. Schultheis, talked of "design and fabrication practices for large pressure vessels for boiling water reactors."

LEWISTON, April 16 (AP)—Peter Normark, a 17-year-old student from Odense, Denmark, living here for the past year under sponsorship of the American field service program, was honored yesterday by the Idaho department of the American Legion. Normark, a senior at Lewiston high school, was selected as an at-large delegate to the Legion's General Assembly, a week-long legislative meeting in Idaho's capital city of Boise, June 7-12. Robert Drake, American Legion chairman for the Legion post here, said Normark will accompany six other Lewiston high school students chosen as regular Gen State delegates. Normark lives with the John E. Struff family here. When completing his studies at Lewiston high, Normark plans to return to Denmark for additional language studies. He has studied English, French, German, Swedish and Latin.

IDAHO FALLS, April 16 (AP)—A delegation of 10 Russian nuclear scientists continued their inspection today of facilities at the national reactor testing station near Idaho Falls. The Russians, participating in a state department exchange program, arrived in Idaho Falls yesterday to begin their study of breeder and converter reactor technology. One of the 10, A. P. Aleksandrov, director of Russia's Kurchatov atomic energy institute, told NRTS officials yesterday that nuclear power is already economical in western Russia. He said his country has ample fossil fuel supplies in the east but that the cost of transporting it to the west has resulted in a speedup in development of nuclear power sources.

Campaign Bill For Aircraft Use Is Paid

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The Democratic national committee complained but eventually paid in full the air force's bill for use of President Johnson's fleet of planes in the 1964 presidential campaign, the Pentagon disclosed yesterday.

The tab came to $146,019.86. In a statement, the Pentagon said the national committee "thought the bills were excessive and requested a detailed accounting." Billed after the November election, the committee paid up with a check dated April 1, 1965 after it had reviewed a detailed accounting provided by the office of Johnson's military aide and the air force.

Democrats were billed under the same formula used by the air force in hiring its planes to the Republican national committee for President Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaigning in 1956.

Planes used were those making up the presidential fleet and assigned for business travel of the President and other top officials.

For "Air Force One," the big presidential 707 long-range plane, the charge was $2,350 per hour. The tab for the presidential Jetstar, a small four-engine transport, was $524 an hour. A DC-8 piston-engine transport, used for short hauls in airports where jets are more difficult, rented for $666 per hour.

Along Fences and Canals

New babies, colts that is, are reported on the ranches of Jay Strude, Earl Bennett and Leon Peck, Carey.

Many Carey ranchers have been branding to get their cattle ready to go out on Laidlaw park, and it is reported the new opening date for the park is April 20.

Veterinarians tested the range herds of Glen Berryman, Wallace Sears, Arden Wickel and Donald Chandler, Cassia county ranchers, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Malbourn Barker, Elba, have sold their two ranches on the north side of Elba valley to Mr. and Mrs. Kay Harper, Malta, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Taylor, Elba. The Barkers still have their ranch home in the valley and will continue to live there.

Wallace Sears and Arden Wickel, Elba ranchers, helped Glen Berryman, Burley, brand some of his cattle this week.

Arlo Lloyd, Elba rancher, returned to Arco this week where he will continue drilling wells. Mr. and Mrs. Wells Hepworth, Elba, who assist him in his work, accompanied him. Mrs. Hepworth will cook for the drillers.

A part-Arabian colt was born this week at the Ralph Lierman farm, southwest of Filer. The mare is owned by the Liermans' daughter, Sherri, who is taking training at Sacred Heart hospital, Idaho Falls. The colt's sire is Saark, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jay Strude, Carey.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kast are spending several days out-of-the-week at their Fir Grove ranch near Fairfield, feeding hay to their cattle which were trailed from their 101 ranch in King Hill.

Packs of dogs have been running cattle in the southeast area of Buhl, according to area farmers. In one herd alone 27 cows were destroyed and dogs caused eight more cows to lose their calves.

Robert (Bob) Lawson has finished seeding nine acres of mixed grain at the Robert-Robertson ranch east of King Hill.

Dean Shaffer started plowing this week on ground northeast of Fairfield. The snow is melting on most of the prairie and farmers are busy in their shops getting their machinery ready. They report that their farmyards and roads are muddier than usual this year.

Larry Peterson had 60 acres of ground plowed as of last Saturday. He was the first one to plow this spring in the Carey area as far as he knows.

Beet planting is about finished in the Pasadena Valley area south of King Hill. Lee Trail has planted about 45 acres and William Trail and Don Carnahan also are planting several acres.

Bud Allen and his brother, George Allen, and John Dines, King Hill, are building fence in the north hills near Bennett mountain. They are employed by Darrell Keck.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Allen are living in the basement while they are remodeling the home at their ranch east of King Hill. The upper part of the house will be the main part of the home when it is finished.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thompson have finished branding, vaccinating and spraying their Hereford cattle and have turned them out on the desert, south of King Hill. They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Edon Thompson, Glenns Ferry.

Mr. and Mrs. William Knox has been branding, vaccinating and spraying their cattle at their Pitch Fork ranch, north of King Hill, and turned their cattle out on the North range over the week-end. Employees who helped with the branding were the Knox families, Blaine-Oyerman and family, William Arbaugh and family and Jim Greenstate, Lewistown, Mont., who is an employe at the ranch.

The spring train at Tuttle is coming up with mostly good stands. Winter wheat is growing well with the recent rains helping it along.

The Hereford range herd of the Lloyd company has been moved from the company farm in Malta to the Lloyd ranch south of Elba. The cattle were moved the first day as far as the forest road at Connor where they were branded and sprayed and inspected by Dr. Jerry Toms, Twin Falls. The next day the driving was completed. Driving the herd were Stanley-Lloyd, Lee Halder and John Darrington.

ASC Service Alters Rule
 WASHINGTON, April 16—The combined efforts of Idaho Sen. Frank Church and interested Idaho farmers has resulted in changes in federal controls over all conservation crop acreages. The agricultural stabilization and conservation service has notified Senator Church that it will order adjustments in farm conserving bases where White Dutch Clover is no longer being seeded.

Dry Cows
 DALWOOD, England, April 13 (AP)—Stephanus Rautenback, a dairy farmer, is convinced that the clothes make the cow-give milk. He disclosed yesterday that his nine channel island cows have been outfitted with custom tailored raincoats. Warm, dry cows give more milk, Rautenback says. The raincoats have pleats to fit over the hip bones.

New Record

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The cold weather in March caused a definite delay in farm work in the United States. Consequently, the farm work force in the survey week of March 21-27 totaled 4,877,000 workers, 12 per cent fewer than in March 1964, and a new record low for the period.

Blaine County Is One of Five In Area Free of Brucellosis

HAILEY, April 16 — Blaine county has been declared a completely certified-free area for brucellosis. Stanley Trenhale, Boise, state commissioner of agriculture, presented Blaine county commission with a framed certificate at their meeting Tuesday. Also present for the presentation were Dr. A. P. Schneider, Boise, head of the animal disease research department for Idaho; Dr. E. H. Ikard, Gooding, district veterinarian serving south central Idaho; James Eakin, Blaine county agricultural agent, and Dr. Glen F. Overturf, Bellevue, local veterinarian. Trenhale said Blaine county is one of a block of five counties in the immediate area that has reached this status. The other four counties are Camas, Butte, Lincoln and Jerome. Trenhale said that 25 per cent of the herds in Idaho were infected with brucellosis when the program was first started in the mid-thirties. On July 8, 1960, Idaho was declared a brucellosis modified certified state, meaning that in each county the herd infection rate has been reduced to less than five per cent and the cattle infection rate to less than one per cent. The 147 known infected herds in 32 counties on July 8, 1960, have been reduced to 14 herds in eight counties as of April 1, 1965. The brucellosis certified-free program in Idaho started in Boundary county in January, 1963. Twenty-one counties have now qualified, with three more expected to qualify by July 1 of this year, Trenhale said. Brucellosis eradication is a national program and on Dec. 31, 1964, a total of 32 states and Puerto Rico were modified-certified and four states certified-free. Utah was declared brucellosis certified-free in July, 1964 and in Washington 23 of the 38 counties are now certified-free. Nevada has 10 of 17 counties certified-free.

Flotation Tires on USS bulk spreader trucks minimize harmful soil compaction
 How can a 5-ton truck with a 6-ton load of bulk fertilizer minimize harmful soil compaction? By distributing the load weight over a greater surface area. That's the way the modern new USS bulk spreader trucks do it. They're equipped with giant low-pressure 18-inch wide flotation tires. These special tires give USS bulk spreader trucks twice as much area of ground contact as conventional dual-wheel spreader trucks. The excessive compaction often resulting from conventional spreader trucks can have damaging effects on the soils and the growth of crop plants. Compaction increases the density of soil... thus decreasing its permeability to water and air. Root growth is stymied and crop yields are reduced (See photos at left). So if you want to maximize yields and profits through proper fertilization... and minimize the harmful effect of soil compaction... call United States Steel. Have your fields custom fertilized by modern, efficient USS bulk spreader trucks equipped with giant flotation tires.

Louis Bott Cows Claim Top Honor

RUPERT, April 16—Registered Holsteins owned by Louis Bott and sons claimed the top three spots for individual production for March. Fred Tolman, unit supervisor for Dairy Herd Improvement association Unit 1 reports.

Number 29, produced 2,280 pounds of milk with 122 pounds of butterfat and a 5.4 test to place first. Bobbie, with 1,910 pounds of milk produced 80 pounds of butterfat with a 4.9 test, placed second and Mary, produced 2,110 pounds of milk with 78 pounds of butterfat with a 5.7 test placed third.

Cash Peterman had the high Guernsey in individual production and Geoff H. Dunham had the high registered brown swiss. A herd of registered and grade Holsteins owned by Lyle Barton were top place winners in the herd production. The herd of 19 milking cows produced 1,271 pounds with an average of 45 pounds of butterfat.

Tolman reported a total of 11 herds numbering 299 cows were tested during the month, with 27 of the cows dry. A total of 273,310 pounds of milk was produced and 10,800 total pounds of butterfat. Average pounds of milk produced per cow (including dry cows) was 214; average pounds of butterfat produced per cow (including dry cows) was 36; and the number of cows producing 40 pounds or more butterfat was 12.

Highest cows in the association other than Bott and sons include the registered brown swiss owned by Geoff Dunham producing 77 pounds of butterfat from 1,830 pounds of milk at a 4.2 test.

Other high cows were a grade Holstein owned by Forrest Olson producing 78 pounds of butterfat from 1,560 pounds of milk with a 4.9 test; Birdie, a grade Holstein owned by J. C. Flood produced 75 pounds of butterfat from 1,260 pounds of milk at a 4.8 test; Connie, a grade Holstein owned by Lyle Barton produced 74 pounds of butterfat from 1,390 pounds of milk at a 5.5 test.

Legs, a grade guernsey owned by Cash Peterman, produced 72 pounds of butterfat from 1,360 pounds of milk with a 5.1 test; and Rae, a grade Holstein, produced 69 pounds of butterfat from 1,920 pounds of milk at a 5.8 test, owned by J. C. Flood.

High herd averages other than the herd owned by Lyle Barton include a herd of 26 registered and grade Holsteins owned by Harold J. Nielsen, produced an average of 46.0 pounds of butterfat from an average of 1,085 pounds of milk. A herd of 28 registered Holsteins owned by Louis Bott and sons produced an average of 40 pounds of butterfat from an average of 1,027 pounds of milk.

A herd of 29 registered and grade Holsteins owned by Reed Lewis produced an average of 38

OPEN HOUSE will be held April 23 and 24 at the Snake river conservation research station, Kimberly. The doors will open to the public from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. April 23 and from 8 a.m. until noon April 24. Station director A. R. Robinson said personnel will be on hand to answer questions concerning work and research done at the Kimberly facility which is located west of Twin Falls. (Times-News photo)

Moisture Is Main Factor On Ranges

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The crop reporting board said early grass prospects as of April 1 varied with the moisture supply available throughout the Western range area.

It said the outlook for good forage supply this spring and summer is largely dependent on future precipitation, although prospects currently are very favorable in some sections.

The board said new grass growth was limited during March in the Great Plains and Intermountain areas as cold temperatures and moisture shortages hindered normal early season grass development. Livestock were maintaining generally good condition with heavier supplemental feeding during the cold weather.

Supplemental feed supplies are adequate for the remainder of the feeding season, except for scattered local shortages, the board said.

Sold

Wool offered by the Twin Falls county livestock Marketing association sold for $5.77 per hundredweight and purchased by Caron Spinning company, announced L. A. Winkle, association chairman.

Some 4,400 fleeces were offered. The price received here was the highest paid in the Valley to date, said Winkle. There were three other bidders for the wool.

Outlets Picked By Weed Bureau

W. G. Savage, Twin Falls county weed bureau director, said outlets have been established in the county to facilitate the distribution of chemicals by the bureau to aid farmers in combating weeds.

Savage said the bureau has a warehouse at 450 Sixth avenue west where farmers can obtain chemicals. Other outlets are O. J. Child's Seed company, Filer; Harold's United service, Castleford; L. W. Moore warehouse, Hansen; and Neil's Hardware and Auto Supply, Murtaugh.

Area fieldmen include Leon Martyn, Filer; Paul Bandy, Twin Falls; Edgar Barton, Murtaugh; Kimberly area, and Edward Holjamesek, Buhl; Castleford area.

Kimberly Research Station Sets Plans for Open House

KIMBERLY, April 16—Open house at the Snake river research conservation center will be held next Friday and Saturday and interested Magic Valley residents are invited to attend, said A. R. Robinson, station director.

The open house will be held from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Friday and from 8 a.m. until noon Saturday.

"The open house will afford those curious about the place an opportunity to come and see for themselves what is being done at the center. The doors will be open and staff members will be present to answer questions concerning the operation of the center," said Robinson.

Work being done at the center is highly specialized and detailed. It is more than just testing soil. It is testing soil, conditions in the soil, factors affecting the soil and climatic effects on soil, and this is only a section of the work being done. Irrigation efforts are being studied and researched at the local station.

Robinson said the facility is slowly rounding into shape as new staff members and equipment continue to arrive. About two dozen people are employed at the center.

Staff members are active in the professional world with many consulting calls to speak at various conferences involving soil and water study. Robinson recently returned from a Nevada

Extension of Indemnity Bill Passes

WASHINGTON, April 16—Legislation to extend the pesticide indemnity payment program for dairy farmers from its previous expiration date of Jan. 31 to June 30, was passed by the house on April 6 as a part of the second supplemental appropriation bill. The measure now goes to the senate.

On the house floor, Wisconsin Rep. Melvin Laird urged that the amendment be accepted since the delay in the consideration of the extension bills pending in the house education and labor committee would work an undue hardship on dairy farmers now facing severe economic loss.

SWITCHES TO BULK

WASHINGTON, April 16—Grade A milk producers in Kansas have gone about as far as they can go with the switch from can to bulk milk tanks nearly complete. It looks like the swing to bulk by manufacturing milk producers is gaining momentum, reports Kansas State university.

Farm Prices Make Some March Gains

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Farm prices received for crops and livestock rose a bare half cent in the month ended March 15, the agriculture department reports.

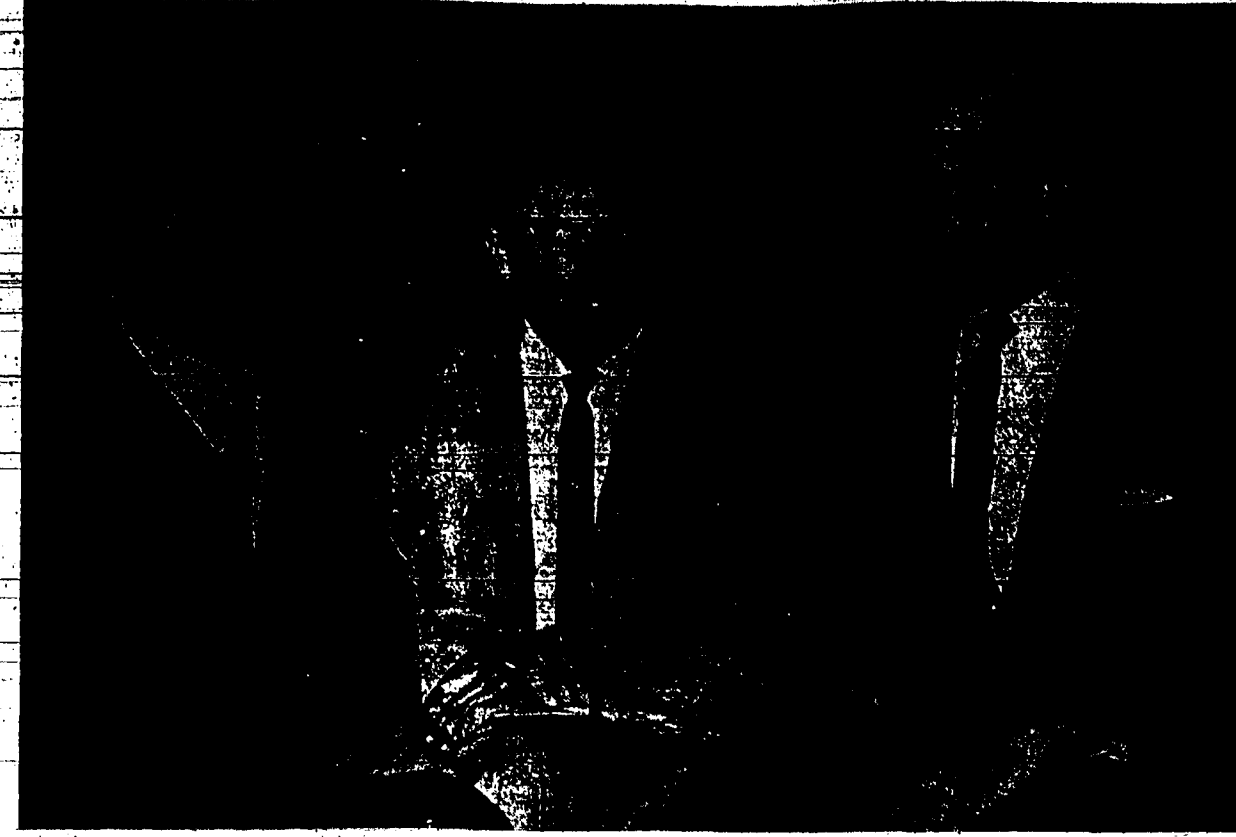

The index of prices received by farmers for the month was unchanged from that of a year earlier.

The department said farmers received higher prices for tomatoes, celery, beef, cattle, cotton, soybeans, and corn in the month ended March 15. But these returns were offset in part by lower returns for wholesale hogs, lettuce, and wheat.

Farm costs—including interest and farm wage rates—were unchanged for the month and were 1 1/2 per cent above those of a year earlier.

Prices for family living items averaged slightly lower during the month, but not enough to curb the index of prices paid for large declines were for auto supplies. Clothing was down slightly as were prices of household furnishings.

The parity ratio for the month was 75, the same as in mid-February, but one point below mid-March, 1964.

COOPERATIVE EFFORTS of 40 Magic Valley farmers and ranchers are discussed by Blair Spaulding, left, and Carl J. Williams, both Rupert, with Sen. Frank Church, right. The Rupert men were spokesmen for the 64-M Grazing association seeking a farm home administration loan to purchase a ranch in the Magic Valley to be owned and operated cooperatively by the members.

FFA Chief Washes Out at Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—James O. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, said the administration farm bill is "unworkable" in its present form.

Patton said the bill is "unworkable" because it does not provide the same that farm families and all Americans need if they are to survive.

Patton and his farm group are staunch supporters of the administration moves. But he was out at the proposed farm bill.

The president has entrusted a policy formation to those government who know least about agriculture and the bill is "unworkable."

Patton said, "Looking over the bill, I cannot find anyone who has ever had any experience in farm or in the department of agriculture."

It is high time that the department of agriculture policies be taken back to the department of agriculture or to people with experience in farming. I believe the congress also recognizes that and therefore will take immediate specific steps to correct the deficiencies in the administration's farm bill."

Lamb Pool

The first lamb pool of the Twin Falls County Livestock Marketing association will be held April 28 at the Filer stockyards. Lambs will be received at the stockyards between the hours of 7:30 and 10:30 in the morning.

Lamb committee members Marvin Lohr, Filer, and M. F. Custer, Twin Falls, will mark lambs in Jerome county April 26 and in Twin Falls county April 27.

Communist Takeover in North Viet Nam Results in Agriculture Failures

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The communist takeover in North Viet Nam in the 1960's and the collectivization of agriculture has resulted in a gradual slowdown in the nation's output of basic food, according to the agriculture department.

A study by the department's economic research service shows that since the 1957-58 period, production has stagnated in the area ruled by the Hanoi regime while the population has continued to increase.

ERS said major food items such as rice, meat and sugar now are strictly rationed.

The agency said that under the harsh system of collectivization, North Vietnamese agriculture has languished. That of South Viet Nam, ERS said, has been able to push output slowly ahead. Using 1955 as a base period, the index of North Viet Nam production of rice has risen to 128 per cent of the base, while in South Viet Nam the index is 187 per cent.

ERS said that during the food shortages of 1960-61 in North Viet Nam, the quota for rice, at its most generous, was the equivalent of slightly more than a pound per day per person. This was cut more than a third before the shortages eased, ERS said.

In May, 1963, the meat ration was cut from 17 1/2 ounces per month per person to 3.5 ounces, ERS said.

ERS said North Viet Nam started collectivizing its farms in 1953 and completed it in 1956. But the new farms that were parceled out were too small to be worked economically. The landlord class was liquidated, ERS said, and the level of technical skill dropped disastrously.

Minico Chapters Receive Honors

RUPERT, April 16—The East and West FFA chapters of Minico high school received top honors in the annual FFA farm mechanics district contest held last week in the Burley high school.

East Minico took first place, West Minico second and Burley third in competition with other teams from Valley and Oakley.

The contest included arc and acetylene welding, braising, tool sharpening, tool identification, safter cutting, wire splices and use of tools.

Members of the winning team were Steven Bott, Jerry Bott, Jerry Gibson and Rodney Steward. West Minico's team included Ted MacNeil, Lloyd Young and Eideh Steffer.

Spuds Shipped by Baldwin Brothers

HAILEY, April 16—Baldwin brothers of Queen's Crown ranch near Pico have completed marketing their 1964 potato crop. They shipped four carloads via Union Pacific to California last week.

The potatoes, consigned to Bob Weaver, brought $6.25 per hundred on the car, sorted there. They sold their certified Russett seed at Jerome.

They planted 30 acres to potatoes in 1964 and plan to put in about the same amount this spring.

"That just about fills up our potato cellar," said Don Baldwin and Wayne Baldwin.

Checks Sent to Potogrowers

RUPERT, April 16—Checks for payment on the 1965 crop pool have been mailed to growers of the Minidoka county pool, according to Lamont A. extension agriculture.

Checks for the pool sold the March 31. Bids were received from Caron Spinning company, $31.42; Elliotts Inc., $33.28, and Whitaker and company, $32.68 per hundredweight.

The county lamb pool Tuesday sold 249 head of lambs to Ted Whiting, Burley, for $24.25 hundredweight. Three other bids were received, Smith said.

Cassia Herd Production Report Given

DECILO, April 16—Bryce Alford, supervisor of the Cassia County Dairy Herd Improvement Association, reports 1,031 dairy cows from 33 herds on production tests during March averaged 25.7 pounds of butterfat and 966 pounds of milk.

The tests included 898 cows in production and 133 dry cows.

In the herds with over 20 cows, Jack Cochnous had the high production average of 33.9 of butterfat and 1,236 pounds of milk from a herd of 45 grade Holsteins.

Blair Cochnous had the second high herd average, with 45 pounds butterfat and 1,236 pounds of milk, with 65 cows milking from a total of 74 grade Holsteins.

Jack Cochnous had the highest producing grade Holstein cow, with 119 pounds of butterfat and 2,370 pounds of milk with a 5. test.

George Brady had second highest producing cow with 102 pounds of butterfat and 2,680 pounds of milk with a 3.8 test.

Rex Gerratt's No. 106 grade Holstein produced 101 pounds of butterfat and 2,980 pounds of milk with a 3.4 test.

In the herds of 20 and under, Clifford Sutton, Declo, had the high production average, with 40.9 pounds of butterfat and 730 pounds of milk from seven registered Guernseys and Arvil Voyce had second high with an average of 40.5 of butterfat and 1,077 pounds of milk from six grade Holsteins.

Insecticide residue? Not when you control potato wireworms with dependable Diazinon.

You won't have your potatoes rejected for insecticide residue if you use Diazinon® insecticide to control wireworms. That's because there are no Diazinon residues in the potato tuber at harvest as is the case with previously used insecticides.

But you will get outstanding control of potato wireworms, even strains resistant to some other insecticides.

For best results, apply Diazinon prior to planting, when soil temperatures indicate that wireworms have become active and have moved into the upper levels of the soil. This is usually within one week of planting. Disc or harrow the Diazinon into the top six inches or more of soil.

Although Diazinon is strong against wireworms, it's less toxic for you to handle than other insecticides recommended for wireworm control. Tests conducted in U.S. Public Health Service laboratories prove it.

Diazinon is available in a number of formulations: liquid, wettable powder, and granular. This means it will work in all standard equipment and fit any program you decide on. You can broadcast Diazinon either as granular or as a spray, or put it on in combination with fertilizer prior to planting. Or you can put it on as a band application as you plant.

Ask your local supplier for Diazinon.

877,257 Farm Operators to Divert Acres

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The agriculture department said operators of 877,257 farms had agreed through March 25 to divert 7,320,125 acres from wheat production.

The signed farms represent effective wheat allotments of 43,738,138 acres, or 52 per cent of the national total.

The sign-up period, originally scheduled to end March 25, was extended to April 2 in some of the spring wheat areas hit by heavy snow and cold weather.

The department said the current sign-up for participation in the 1965 wheat program already had exceeded the record year of 1962 when 820,079 producers were enrolled.

The 1965 feed grain sign-up as of March 25 shows that 1,378,138 producers have agreed to divert 34.1 million acres from production of feed grains during the current crop year.

The diverted acres include 23.3 million acres of cornland.

A diversion program for cotton shows that as of March 25 some 52,985 producers have agreed to take 796,310 acres out of production under the domestic cotton allotment program.

Consumer Income, Increased Supply Are Main Reasons for Boost in Meat

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The agriculture department considered the two obvious factors in expanded production and consumption of beef and poultry to be "productivity on the supply side and consumer incomes on the demand side."

The supply of beef and ready-to-eat chicken has risen rapidly, the department said in a discussion of the agricultural outlook.

Beef consumption per person in the depression days was about 47 pounds annually. Twenty years ago it was about 65 pounds per person.

Now, the per capita consumption of beef stands at about 100 pounds annually. Consumption of chicken has risen from about 14 pounds per person in the early 1900's to more than 30 pounds nowadays.

The department's economic research service said most of the recent gains in beef productivity arose from shifts in management practices; shorter feeding periods; a giant increase in feedlot fattening, thanks to the availability of grains; and a higher culling rate.

Production of chickens for meat has changed from a sideline to the egg-laying flock to a big business, and efficiency has skyrocketed. Chickens go from egg to drumstick-in-the-skillet in barely three months now, about half as long as it used to take, and on little more than half the feed.

Some of the rise in the efficiency of chickens was output is due to production line management, according to ERS. Much progress also has been made in boosting the genetic capabilities of birds to gain weight and in supplying tailor-made rations.

Military Boosts Fluid Milk Use

WASHINGTON, April 16—The U.S. armed forces and veterans' hospitals more than tripled their 1964 fluid milk consumption over the standard ration, it was reported April 7.

Some 688 million pounds of milk were supplied under the armed forces program. Under this program commodity credit corporation pays part of the cost to an amount which would have been spent in converting the milk to dairy products for price support purchase.

Also used in addition to normal consumption in 1964 by the army, navy, air force, coast guard, merchant marine academy and veterans' hospitals were 25 million pounds of butter and almost four million pounds of cheese.

Screwworm Still Costs U. S. Money

WASHINGTON, April 16 — With the screwworm livestock pest virtually eradicated from the southwest, it is still costing about five million dollars a year to keep them south of the international border.

Except for Arizona and California the U.S. is free of the pest. But Texas and New Mexico are subject to reinestation by migrating flies which can wing their way 180 miles or more. They used to cause losses of 25 to 700 million dollars each year in the southwest alone.

Farm Secretary Announces New Pesticide Data Center

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has announced establishment of a pesticide information center in the department's national agricultural library.

Freeman said the center is a pioneering development which marks a significant advance in making widely available masses of scientific and technical information on pests and their control. He said the department has under consideration establishment of additional science information centers to serve other subject matter areas.

An important product of the center is a bi-weekly publication, the Pesticides Documentation Bulletin.

It will inventory the literature in pest control fields and disseminate it to scientists and other interested personnel in agriculture, other agencies, and state, private, and industrial organizations.

The first issue of the bulletin contained these subjects: Chemical and biological pest control, plant and animal diseases, insects, weeds, spraying and dusting equipment, and the effects of pests and their control on plants, animals, man, natural resources, and other values of man's environment.

Cattle Feeders Announce Plans for Beef Field Day

CALDWELL, April 16 — The Idaho Cattle Feeders today announced plans for their annual Beef-O-Rama dinner and dance to be held in conjunction with the Beef Field day scheduled for May 1 at the University of Idaho branch experiment station here.

Russell Lindstrom has appointed the association's research committee to make arrangements for this annual function. The Beef-O-Rama dinner will be held at the Saratoga hotel, starting at 8:30 p.m., with an Idaho beef buffet dinner as the feature of the evening.

The newly remodeled Saratoga hotel has facilities for dancing which will follow dinner. It was noted by William Kouns, research committee chairman.

This function has been a feature of the Beef Field day for several years. It was noted by Lindstrom, and businessmen and interested townspeople from the entire Caldwell area have also participated with livestock men.

Through the cooperation of the Caldwell Chamber of Commerce, area agricultural people will be invited to the Beef-O-Rama.

Joe Dahmen, experimental station superintendent, is announcing that May 1 is the date for the traditional Beef Field day at the station. Reports on current research on steer feeding will be made at that time. The feeding trials are a cooperative effort between the Idaho Cattle Feeders association and the animal science department at the University of Idaho.

Currently in progress is a feeding trial using 150 beef cattle on tests comparing wheat in all concentrate feed using barley and beet pulp in numerous combinations. Another one of the cooperative feed trials compares feed efficiency of steers and heifers.

All cattle feeders and cattle growers are being invited to participate in both programs at the experiment station and the celebration dinner and dance which follows.

Exports to Australia Aid Rebates

WASHINGTON, April 16 — A one billion dollar gain in Australian exports since 1960-61, over three-fourths of which are agricultural, is credited in part to tax rebates and special income tax deductions. The nation's 1963-64 exports totaled three billion dollars.

The tax rebate is figured on an exporter's increase in exports over this base period, which is the average of his two-year exports ending June 30, 1960.

An increase of one per cent means a refund of 12.5 per cent of his payroll tax. An increase of eight per cent earns a complete rebate of the tax.

Deductions from income taxes are allowed for overseas market promotion which includes advertising, salaries and expenses of sales representatives, fares for overseas travel, and items. An exporter is allowed to subtract from taxable income twice the amount so expended.

Improved Stands Could Aid Spud Crop, Says Specialist

Improved stands could add 200 per cent to the income of Idaho potato growers, according to information received from Richard Ohms, potato specialist, University of Idaho extension service.

A survey of the potato crop showed a reduction of about 300 pounds in yield for every one per cent reduction in stand.

Closest spacing the higher was the total yield and the percentage of number ones. This verified under actual farming conditions.

ASC Chairman Announces Payment on Shorn Wool

Shorn wool payments for the 1964 marketing year will amount to 165 per cent of the dollar returns based on producer received.

This payment on sales of live lambs that have never been shorn is based on the shorn wool payment and is designed to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before marketing.

The rate of payment was determined by the department of agriculture as the percentage necessary to bring the national average wool price of 33 cents per pound received by producers during 1964 up to the previously announced incentive level of 62 cents per pound under the national wool program.

The wool incentive program was originally authorized by the national wool act of 1954, which has been extended twice as a means of encouraging the domestic production of wool.

Idaho Range Condition Declining

BOISE, April 16—Idaho range feed condition on April 1 at 75 was four points below both a month ago and the 1959-63 average for this date.

Continued below normal precipitation in most areas during March coupled with high winds and two hard frosts held new growth of range feed to a minimum.

The high winds drew heavily on soil moisture supplies in many lower elevation areas. Soil moisture supplies on higher elevation ranges are very good in most areas. Movement of livestock onto lower elevation spring ranges has been slow because of limited grazing supplies.

Late spring and summer range feed prospects look good at this time.

The condition of cattle and calves at 85 was unchanged from a month ago. Calving continues to progress satisfactorily under generally favorable weather conditions. Death losses to date have been near normal and are far below the extensive losses reported a year ago. Sheep condition at 85 is also unchanged from a month ago.

Movement onto spring ranges is progressing. Early shearing is in progress and earliest lambs are beginning to move to market.

Lambing conditions were mostly favorable during March and death losses have not been significant.

Building Is Converted to Milking Barn

TUTTLE, April 16 — Mr. and Mrs. Edon Arriaga have remodeled an old building they purchased and moved to their ranch near Tuttle into a modern milking barn.

The building is 20 by 50 feet in size and the frame building has been finished on the outside with white shake siding. The barn has a stall, walk through milking parlor, milk room, grain room, pump room for the various motors used and a maternity pen.

The floors are all of cement for easy cleaning and the milk room is equipped with hot and cold water for washing milkers and other equipment. Drains in the floors carry away the wastes. A refrigerated bulk tank is used to store the milk. The Arriagas are milking some 30 cows at present and plan to increase their herd of grade Holsteins to at least 45. They plan later to have the cows tested for herd improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Arriaga and family have recently moved to their ranch which they purchased this last winter from Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lenker who owned and farmed the ranch for many years. It is located south and west of Tuttle.

The Arriagas redecorated the home on the ranch and rewired the basement before moving from a small farm nearby which they have been renting from Mr. and Mrs. Chester Loucks, Twin Falls, former Tuttle residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Strickland and family, who have been farming the Lenker ranch for several years, have moved to Wendell.

Serology School Held to Help Area Laboratory Aides

About two dozen area technicians attended a special halo blight serology workshop which was held at the Northrup-King plant here last week.

The school was supervised by Dr. Harry Fenwick and Dr. James Guthrie, both University of Idaho plant pathologists who aided in the development of a serum to detect the presence of halo blight in beans.

The course was designed to familiarize seed company pathologists and laboratory technicians with the tests and what is accomplished by using the new technique.

The bean company representatives brought samples of beans to be tested to the Northrup-King laboratory on Monday and the following Wednesday they returned to view the samples. The serum gives a vivid reaction when the halo blight bacteria organism is present in the beans. The serum solution becomes quite cloudy if the bacteria is present.

The new technique makes it possible to detect the presence of blight within 48 hours. Under the old method it took some three to four weeks to determine if beans were infected.

Dr. Fenwick and Dr. Guthrie said the new technique speeds up detection and gives the pathologist a valuable tool in locating the disease.

Farmer Still Outworks Hired Help

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The farm operator—the guy who actually runs his farm—works more than his hired hands or other members of his family, according to the crop-reporting board.

The board's report on farm labor for the survey week of March 21-27 shows that the farm operator throughout the United States averaged 38.4 hours of work.

Other members of the family averaged working 29.8 hours during the week. The hired hands averaged 34.3 hours of labor.

Farmers who worked the greatest number of hours during the survey week represented Vermont. The Vermonters averaged 60.4 hours. Farmers in Massachusetts averaged 57.7 hours, and the workers with the third longest average time were from Wisconsin, with 54.9 hours. New York farmers were fourth with 54.3 hours.

Smith Guides Bruins to Track Win; Schorzman Hits 20.3 in Low Hurdles

RUPERT, April 16—Lanky George Smith picked up a pair of individual firsts and anchored a winning relay team Thursday to pace the Twin Falls Bruins' victory in the Minico invitational. Twin Falls, with its thinnest team in five years, piled up enough first places to offset the depth of Idaho Falls as the Tigers doubled up in several events. The Bruins won eight of the 12 running events and two of five field competitions. Twin Falls ended up with 61 points against 48 1/2 for Idaho Falls. They were followed by Burley at 30 1/2, Blackfoot 26 and Minico 21.

Murtaugh Cops Win In Southside Meet

Murtaugh's Red Devils showed surprising quality in plucking off seven first places Thursday as they nipped the Declo Hornets 67-66 in a Southside track and field meet. Murtaugh struck for three first places in relay events and added four individual events, the best being a 6-foot leap by senior Brian Ward in the high jump. The point totals ran Murtaugh 67, Declo 66, Oakley 54, Raft River 51 and Hansen 29. Castleford did not participate as expected.

Reds Coast Past Cards On Homers

ST. LOUIS, April 16 (AP)—Gordie Coleman cracked a grand slam homerun and Vada Pinson homered with two on as Cincinnati beat St. Louis 10-4 in the Cardinals home opener Thursday.

Each blow came off Bob Purkey, a former Red making his first start for the Cardinals. John Toltouris went all the way for the victory, allowing five hits.

Cincinnati jumped in front with four runs in the third inning. Leo Cardenas opened the inning with a walk and reached third on a stolen base and wild throw.

Purkey appeared on his way out of the inning unscathed, but Pete Rose walked and Tommy Harper singled in one run. Pinson followed with his blast to the right field pavilion roof, aided by a 20-mile an hour wind.

Cincinnati — 004 040 100—10 11 2 St. Louis — 008 000 010—0 1 0
Pitching and batting: Purkey, Stallard (7), Schultz (8), and Rickette; Uecker (8), W-Talouris (1-0), L-Purkey (0-1).
Home runs: Cincinnati, Pinson (1), Coleman (1), St. Louis, Flood (1).

Stottlemire, Maris Guide Yank Victory

LOS ANGELES, April 16 (AP)—Rogers Maris hit a homer and drove in two runs in support of Mel Stottlemire's seven-hit pitching Thursday night as the New York Yankees defeated the Los Angeles Angels 4-0 for their first victory under Manager Johnny Keane.

The Yankees pinned the loss on rookie left-hander Marcelino Lopez, who allowed four runs and only five hits in eight innings.

Stottlemire walked home and struck out four. He was supported by three double plays and allowed only one Angel to advance as far as third base. Willie Smith accounted for three of the Angels' hits.

The Yankees scored in the first inning after loading the bases on two walks and a single by Maris. Tony Kubek drove in Bobby Richardson with a sacrifice fly.

Singles by Tom Tresh and Richardson, followed by Maris' sacrifice fly, produced a New York run in the third. The Yankees scored an unearned run in the fifth on a walk to Bob Schmidt, a throwing error by Lopez and a wild pitch.

Maris accounted for the final Yankee run in the eighth with his first homer.

Brave Fans Enjoy Opener Despite Shift Overtones

MILWAUKEE, April 16 (AP)—Baseball's bouncing Braves knocked out the previous incumbent Chicago Cubs in the home opener of their larky duck season in Milwaukee Thursday, and the city treated the occasion as a lark in hopes it doesn't wind up a dead pigeon.

Despite threatening skies and a damp, chilly wind, 33,874 customers paid to see the Braves open their final home campaign before shipping off to Atlanta in 1966.

And, with a few exceptions, the spectators comported themselves exactly as they had when they turned out in throngs totaling nearly 19 million in the 12 previous seasons since the Braves moved from Boston.

The tune-up was a tribute to the efforts of Teams, Inc., a civic group formed to bring another major league team to Milwaukee. Teams, Inc., bought out the house for the opener for $35,000 and handled the sale of tickets, saying it needed to attract 26,000 to break even.

The fans, bundled against the chill, enjoyed every minute of it. They cheered the Braves. They cheered the Cubs. They cheered Charlie Grimm, now a Cub official, when he marched out in a Braves uniform and was introduced as the manager of the 1953 Braves team.

Yancey Grabs Early Lead in Houston Meet

HOUSTON, April 16 (AP)—Bert Yancey, former West Point cadet, who takes his wife's predictions seriously, fired a six-under-par 31-34-65 Thursday for the first round lead in the $55,900 added Houston golf classic.

Yancey's par breaker included six birdies and no bogies on the 7,233-yard, par 35-36-71 Sharpstown Country club course and it matched the score predicted by his pretty wife, Linda, as the 26-year-old Florida native teed off on the windswept layout.

It also gave him a one-stroke lead over a gallery favorite, Homero Blanca, the 1964 all-service champion who returned to his hometown this week to make his debut as a pro after his release from Army service.

Blanca, former University of Houston star and a 1963 national amateur quarterfinalist, was five under par through 18 holes but closed with three pars for a 33-33-66.

Tied at 67 were Bobby Nichols, last year's PGA champion, Buddy Weaver, a young Texas pro, and Ken Still, a pro tour veteran of four years from Tacoma, Wash.

A seven-way tie at 68 included Mike Scholze, the defending champion, and Bruce Devlin, the Australian who shot a course record 63 in a Wednesday practice round that was part of a $2,500 pro-am event.

Yancey, playing out of Philadelphia, thought his round was so good it was a shame so few people saw it.

The 1 1/4 miles of the Wood is the final Eastern prep for the May 1 running of the classic for 3-year-olds at Churchill Downs.

I'M GETTING CLAUSTROPHOBIA SITTING IN MY ROOM, MISS WHITNEY! I'M GOING TO WANDER ABOUT A BIT!

JUST BE SURE YOU COME BACK, MR. MARSTON! WE DON'T LIKE PATIENTS TO LEAVE THE HOSPITAL WITHOUT A DISCHARGE ORDER!

DR. MORGAN!

YOU LOOKED AS THOUGH YOU WERE ON YOUR WAY TO BLAST SOMEONE!

I EXPECT I'D FEEL BETTER IF I COULD! THERE'S NOTHING WORSE THAN FRUSTRATION, ROGER! LET'S GO INTO THE COFFEE SHOP!

Gasoline Alley

Wait! Someone is knocking at the front door!

At this time of night, Phyllis? Who in the world—

Joel!

I was wonderin' if you could put a person up for the night?

I thought you were staying with Rufus!

It ain't me, Mister Wait! They's a little lady!

Rip Kirby

HELLO, RIP, I SEE YOU'RE IN COSTUME. HAVE YOU MET OUR STAR, GLADYS GIBSON?

YES, I HAVE, W.J. SHE'S AN INTERESTING AND LOVELY PERSON...

BUT AWFULLY TEMPERAMENTAL, RIP, EVER SINCE WE STARTED THIS NEW PICTURE SHE'S DRIVEN US CRAZY WITH THESE FEARS OF HERS.

SHE GETS SO INVOLVED IN A PART, SHE ALMOST THINKS SHE'S THE WOMAN WHOSE LIFE SHE'S PORTRAYING.

AND WHOSE DEATH, DON'T FORGET THAT, SHE MAY HAVE SOMETHING THERE...

Short Ribs

WORLD'S LARGEST NOW!

170 LBS.—

SORRY, WE CAN'T TAKE YOU, YOU'RE OVERWEIGHT.

170 LBS ISN'T OVERWEIGHT!

FOR THE LIGHT BRIGADE?

Alley Oop

WELL, I GUESS IT'S ALL SETTLED ABOUT YOU GOING INTO RETIREMENT!

I'LL TAKE AN HOUR OR SO TO CHECK THE TIME-MACHINE!

OKAY, NO HURRY— I GOTTA COUPLE THINGS 'DO BEFORE I GO AWAY.

HEY! WHAT'S ALL THAT?

OH, JUST A FEW LITTLE THINGS I THOUGHT MIGHT COME IN HANDY BACK IN MOO!

Steve Roper

AD—HE'D FIND OUT ABOUT THE WHYNESSES SOMEHOW AND EVEN IF HE DIDN'T HAVE US HIT, WE'D BE LUCKY IF WE EVER GOT A CONTRACT TO SWAT FLIES.

THE GUY AND HIS CHICK ARE HERE SOMEPLACE—AND WE'RE GOING TO FIND THEM.

MIKE!—THIS DUST!—I'VE GOT TO SNEEZE!

Terry and the Pirates

WELL, WELL! AT LEAST I HAD YOU PEGGED RIGHT, COME IN!

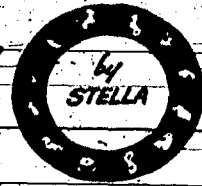

PLEASE, M'SIEUR, IT IS VERY DANGEROUS, IF IT WERE KNOWN I CAME HERE...

THE TWO POLICE, THEIR EYES WERE ONLY ON YOU, THEY DID NOT SEE ME FOLLOW... YOU WISH TO BUY SOMETHING, YES?

INFORMATION ABOUT A RED HEADED AMERICAN OFFICER... HE'S A PRISONER SOMEWHERE HERE IN KAT.

WHAT CAN YOU TELL ME? ONLY THAT WHOEVER KNOWS WOULD NEVER TALK REVEAL SUCH A THING. IS IT NOT WORTH GOOD MONEY FOR YOU TO KNOW THIS?

At times there is a pain in my side that was not there before, and now and then it makes a dull bid for attention. But when it does I smile to myself. It is a quiet reminder that no task is insurmountable, no loneliness unshared, and no sky empty — of God.

When my husband learned what had happened he could not believe that a lone woman had the strength to lift that huge steel tank full of water — and he was right. It took extra strength, and in the moment of my greatest need God gave me His strength.

A year has gone by. Spring already is behind us. The rains began with such frequency in late April is still with us and the barrenness of the past summers is only a harsh memory...
