

Engineers Back Northside Source For T.F. Water

A report by the consulting engineers for the city of Twin Falls highlighted a public meeting at the Idaho Power company auditorium Wednesday night, when about 45 interested citizens gathered for a discussion of the city's May 18 water bond election. Voters will cast ballots on a two and a half million dollar bond issue for new supply pipeline and pumping facilities to bring water up from Blue lakes on the north side of the Snake river canyon. During the meeting "TWIN" (Twin Water Improvement) committee members, now committee members, and city commission members heard reports from John Morrison and Rodney Fretator, project engineers from Morrison, Matrele and Associates, Helena, Mont., and Kenneth Newman, fiscal agent from Burroughs and Smith, Salt Lake City.

The three men reported decisions they had reached after considerable study of the water problem in Twin Falls. Morrison said that after the study of the existing system, he and Fretator determined that it was deficient in many ways and, although they recognized a number of water sources are available to supply the city, at the end of their study they concluded the Blue lakes supply to be the surest and best solution. The engineers felt that although there could possibly be a supply on the south side of the canyon, it was at best questionable. Revere Hansen, who described himself as "merely an interested citizen," said he was interested in the water bond, Pg. 2, Col. 4.

Cigarette Warning Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The senate commerce committee unanimously approved today a bill to require "health hazard" warnings on all cigarette packages. The measure would make it illegal to sell or distribute within the United States cigarettes in a package which does not contain a label asserting "caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

Cold Weather Touches Fruit At Hagerman

Light snow flurries fell across Magic Valley Thursday morning and orchardists in Hagerman valley reported "some loss" of their fruit crops as Old Man Winter made a parting thrust at the spring season. Mountains both to the south of Twin Falls and Burley and north of Halley were white after snow there the past few nights. Sprinklers left running on lawns in Burley, as well as in Halley, made icy patterns. Two inches of snow were reported at Obsidian, in the Sawtooth valley north of Galena summit, but in the Halley areas and Carey no snow was staying on the ground. Overcast skies and wind accompanied the light snow. At Hagerman orchardists have smudged the past several nights in an effort to keep their fruit crops from freezing. Evered Jensen said he believed smudging had saved most of his peas. Juan Moore, who raises mostly apples in Hagerman valley, said he smudged Tuesday night, but not Wednesday night because it was 30 degrees. It is too early to determine full extent of the frost damage to the fruit, the men said. Farmers are keeping a close watch on sugar beets to see how much the below freezing temperatures have damaged that crop. Spring flowers were drooping in Halley and other towns Thursday after the cold nights.

Air Force Jets Smash Arms Complex

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, May 6 (AP)—U. S. air force jets smashed a North Vietnamese ammunition complex today and claimed "spectacular results." A spokesman said four underground ammunition bunkers blew up after direct hits and four others were left burning. On the political front, South Viet Nam's armed forces council dissolved itself, ending 18 months of military control of the civilian government. The development strengthened Premier Phan Huy Quat's hand. A task force of transport planes continued to shuttle the 500 men of the U. S. army's 13th airborne brigade from Okinawa to South Viet Nam. Reports circulated that the landing of another large group of U. S. marines was imminent. In the raid north across the 17th parallel, 25 F105 jet fighters dumped 80 tons of bombs on the Phu Van ammunition complex, 125 miles southwest of Hanoi. A U. S. military spokesman said there were black clouds of smoke rising from the area as the jet pilots broke off their 46-minute attack. All returned home safely in the first day of perfect weather in almost a week. Air force pilots hit the eight ammunition bunkers and also destroyed five out of six buildings in the complex.

Williams said petitions received today included those with 51 signatures from Power county, 92 from Twin Falls county and 283 from Latah county.

Protest Demonstrations Erupt On U.S. Actions in Dominican

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, May 6 (AP)—Six thousand students denouncing U. S. action in the Dominican Republic hurled fire bombs at police outside the Argentine congress last night in an hour-long battle that left at least 13 injured. Demonstrations also flared in Venezuela, Colombia, Peru and Chile. Most of the Argentine demonstrators were leftist students, but police said communists joined in and touched off the violence. Chanting anti-Yankee slogans, the mob hurled incendiary bombs and rocks at mounted police, smashed shop windows and set chairs and tables ablaze in sidewalk cafes.

Defense Rests Case In Alabama Trial

HAYNEVILLE, Ala., May 6 (AP)—The defense rested its case in the civil rights murder trial of a young Ku Klux Klansman today after FBI agents testified that a gun identified as the one which killed the civil rights worker was not tested for fingerprints. Attorney Matt H. Murphy, jr., brought his testimony to an abrupt close after questioning six witnesses in an effort to discredit a story told earlier by the prosecution's chief witness, Gary Thomas Rowe, jr., Circuit Solicitor Arthur F. Gamble, jr., the chief prosecutor, did not indicate immediately whether he would put in rebuttal testimony. If not, the case would go to the jury this afternoon in the fourth day of the trial.

OAS Votes to Form Inter-American Force in Dominican

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The Organization of American States made a historic break from tradition early today and voted to establish an inter-American force in the Dominican Republic. The force will include some of the approximately 20,000 U. S. marines and paratroopers already patrolling the Dominican capital of Santo Domingo. As other nations contribute to the joint force, part of the U. S. contingent will be withdrawn. Ellsworth Bunker, U. S. ambassador to the OAS, told the American nations. He said he was speaking on the authorization of President Johnson, who had been urging since last week that an inter-American military force be set up in the riot-torn Caribbean republic.

700 Million Request OK'd by Senate 87-3

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The senate, by an overwhelming vote, gave final congressional approval today to the 700-million-dollar military money bill which President Johnson had tagged a test measure on his Viet Nam policy. The vote was 87 to 3 with the dissenting votes cast by Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, Ernest Gruening of Alaska and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, all Democrats. Passage came just two days after congressional leaders had been called to the White House and asked to stage this demonstration of bipartisan unity and support. But critics of the senate action were protesting against use of U. S. combat troops for any land war in Southeast Asia, and sharp criticism of policies in Viet Nam and elsewhere. During five hours of limited debate, Sen. John Stennis, D., Miss., floor manager for the measure, was pressed into denials that the hurried measure was "a blank check" for future policies, a declaration of war in Viet Nam. Sen. Wayne Morse, D., Ore., and other opponents, had made these charges prior to the vote. The measure whizzed through the house yesterday. Passage on a 408-7 vote came after less than two hours' debate.

Rueben Garcia, 23, New York City, and Pvt. Darrell J. Southwell, 21, Mason, Mich. A U. S. military spokesman confirmed the death of the marine and the two wounded but said he knew nothing of any Americans being captured.

The victim of the assault was taken to Twin Falls clinic hospital for treatment.

30 Killed in Air Crash Off African Coast

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands, May 6 (AP)—An Iberia Airlines Super Constellation crashed last night while landing in a fog and burst into flames. Authorities said 30 persons were killed and 18 injured, many of them critically. The plane with 39 passengers from Madrid and nine crewmen loughed down on the runway at mountain rimmed Los Rodeos airport but veered off to one side and crashed. There were reports it had hit machinery being used to improve the runway. The dead included 10 foreigners. No Americans were aboard. A spokesman issued a revised casualty list which said 28 persons died in the crash and two more in a hospital. The plane broke in two and then burst into flames, a spokesman for the airport here reported.

Kremlin Aide Criticizes U.S. "Aggression"

MOSCOW, May 6 (AP)—A high-ranking Kremlin leader today denounced U. S. "aggression" and America's "military gamble" in sending troops into the Dominican Republic. Alexander Shelepin, chairman of the party-state control committee and a member of the presidium of the central committee of the Soviet communist party, coupled sharp words with renewed assurances of Russian aid for socialist countries being attacked "with impunity." Shelepin said the interests of these countries — whether they were the Republic of Cuba or North Viet Nam — "are not less cherished by us than our own interests and security." It was the first time a top Soviet official in Moscow has criticized U. S. action in the Dominican Republic. The Soviet news media have criticized the Americans for sending marines and paratroopers to the Caribbean island. Shelepin did not make any threat of direct Soviet action in the latest Caribbean crisis. According to a Tass news agency version of his speech, Shelepin said American "aggression" proved once again the United States was ready to commit any arbitrary act in order to suppress the liberation movement of the people.

Lowest reading reported by the weather bureau was a 24 at Fairfield. The outlook is for a warming trend Friday, not quite so cold Friday night, and fair and warmer Saturday.

Nun, 65, to Retire; Start New Career

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 6 (AP) — Sister Francetta Barberis is becoming a full-time consultant and coordinator for job placement centers for women in St. Louis. She will wear secular clothing while working at the Roman Catholic Sisters of Loretta.

"Life is a series of beginnings," she says, "and the final great beginning is death."

When she became Webster college president in 1958, the school needed money and Sister Francetta started a fund drive. One day a student stopped her. "One day the silver dollar and handed her a silver dollar and said it was all she had to give."

"That silver dollar was part of my beginning here and I don't think I'll ever give it away," says Sister Francetta.

Sister Francetta thinks nothing of working in secular dress. She has been a Roman Catholic nun since 1928 as a Roman Catholic nun.

"People put too much emphasis on clothing," she says. "When I go swimming, I wear a swimsuit. When I work among the people, it would behoove me to wear the habit of the people."

Permission to wear the secular clothing was obtained from the head of her order, Sister Mary Luke, when Sister Francetta decided she wanted to keep working after retirement from Webster.

"I believe in retirement at age 65," she says. "But, I don't believe in stagnating."

She said she called Sen. Stuart Symington, D. Mo., and asked him if he could help find her a job in the antipoverty program. Symington did — with the office of economic opportunity.

Washington's Legislature To Adjourn

OLYMPIA, May 6 (AP) — The Washington legislature today adjourned after passing a 1.5-billion-dollar budget bill and the senate approved a 59-million-dollar boost in taxes to balance it.

The house was scheduled to pass the tax program today, to be followed by senate approval of the big appropriation bill to run state government during the next two years.

There were reports that the tax bill might have trouble in the lower chamber from the Democratic majority because its major provision calls for an increase in the state sales tax from four to 4.2 percent.

The tax bill passed the senate last night 22 after only 30 minutes of debate. Thirteen Democrats joined 13 Republicans to put the measure across. It was opposed by 19 Democrats and three Republicans.

It took longer to pass the budget bill in the house.

After one and one-half hours of debate, 38 Democrats joined 13 Republicans to pass the bill. It was opposed by 20 Democrats and nine Republicans.

Rep. William S. Day of Spokane led the attack on the measure, saying it carried no guarantee that the money appropriated for teacher pay raises would ever reach classroom teachers.

He also said the senate-house conference committee that crafted the bill had increased the appropriation to the University of Washington 36.7 percent for a 23.8 percent increase in number of students, while giving Washington State university an increase of only 22.4 percent for 21.5 percent more students.

Day claimed there was eight million dollars of "fat" in the appropriation for University of Washington.

The budget was defended by Rep. Wesley C. Uhlman, Seattle Democrat, Damon R. Canfield, Sunnyside Republican, and Arlie U. DeJarnatt, Longview Democrat, who represented the house in the conference committee.

Uhlman, who steered the budget through the lower chamber, described it as a "true compromise" between the senate and house.

Water Supply In Northwest Listed Good

BOISE, May 6 (AP) — Regional Reclamation Director Harold Nelson said today that over-all irrigation water supply outlook for bureau projects in the Pacific Northwest this year is very good.

"Water storage in bureau reservoirs, in some areas," he said, "is much below normal because of flood control operations in view of the high stream flow potential in most of these areas."

"The filling of these reservoirs has been delayed in order to provide space for regulation of expected flood runoff later this spring," he said. "These reservoirs are expected to be filled by the end of the flood runoff period, probably by late June."

Nelson said reports covering 44 reclamation reservoirs throughout the Pacific Northwest indicate an aggregate usable storage content of 11,311,000 acre-feet at the end of April.

This compared with a total usable capacity of 18,300,000 acre-feet. Normal storage content for this time of year is about 14 million acre-feet.

Storage content of six reservoirs in the upper Snake river in Idaho and Wyoming—Jackson lake, Island Park, Grassy Lake, Palsades, American Falls and Lake Walcott—was 2,663,000 acre feet on April 30.

At the same time last year storage in these same reservoirs totaled 3,385,000 acre feet. The total storage capacity in these reservoirs is 3,985,000 acre feet, Nelson said.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, May 5.—In affluent America, this is the fun season in the new-car dodge because the rising sap makes a man hanker for something sippy on four wheels. In point of fact, the new cars do look mighty nice and in this giddy age I would not be surprised to discover that you can drive some of the latest vehicles without even bothering to get in.
Nevertheless, none of these chic jobs is my dream wagon, even if the salesman promises to add a set of bull-in dancing to the girls. The Tully model is simpler and cheaper, which perhaps explains the disinterest of Detroit.

BUMPERS TO BUMP—For example, my car will be equipped with bumpers — for bumping purposes. They will not be pretty, but when they bump something it will be the something that will give, not the bumpers. This is crucial stuff, because today's bumpers are sheets of gleaming chromium beauty which only a cad would consider using for bumpers and which, when damaged, cost as much to repair as any other part of the body.
Likewise, the fenders on my car are going to be just that—fenders. They are not going to ruin the length of the car, so that when you dent one of them you have to buy half a car. The hood will be set down low and the front seat high so you can see something besides the horizon.

The roof of my car is going to be a real roof, not a hatch. It is going to be high enough so a man can sit in his car without getting down on all fours. I figure to save enough on hats to run away from home and live it up for a year in Dubuque.
My car will have a trunk, or luggage compartment, but it will be a little smaller than Yankee stadium. The few inches of space here will be lavished on leg room inside the car. I am tired of horseless carriages in which the suitcases are more comfortable than the people.
There is no big hump in the middle of the floor in the Tully Special. I got gears and stuff underneath my car, too, but it's built high enough off the ground so you don't have to be a jockey to sit in the middle of the front seat.

JACK THAT JACKS—I also have in my economy-sized trunk a jack that works. This, too, is flying in the face of tradition, because everybody knows a jack is intended only as an excuse for adding 20 bucks to the bill. In my deluxe model, I've got a jack that works by push-button. I've also got a set of skid chains that can be put on without employing the services of a nuclear physicist.
My convertible model is fastened together real tight; it's guaranteed not to rattle for at least a week. I've got a clock that keeps time, and an engine whose parts can be repaired without taking the car apart, piece by piece, at $50 an hour. Now you tell me your dreams.

Views of Others

BRAINS AND TOOLS
We beg to differ with Dr. Sherwood L. Washburn, anthropologist of the University of California, whose theories on the evolution of man have been in the news lately.
Dr. Washburn says that a couple of million years ago two groups of apes in Africa took a stride forward in the evolutionary process. Their brains were about the same size, which was small. They both walked upright.
But one primate had a larger jaw than the other and, as Africa became drier than it had been, he took to eating more meat. This required that he move about more in the search of game and he had to develop tools for slaying and skinning animals. His brain increased in size in the process and finally he learned to talk and to use fire. He evolved into man.
The other primate never learned to make and use tools and his brain didn't grow. He became extinct about 500,000 years ago.
It is the latter statement that we challenge. Thousands of men now living have never learned to use tools. They cannot even replace a washer in a faucet. Though they have learned to eat meat, they must call on their wives to carve it. Obviously primate No. 2 did not become extinct. Somehow we survived and now lie around at ease while primate No. 1 is always busy with wrenches, screwdrivers, computers and all sorts of tools. Question: Which primate's brain developed more?—The Oregonian.

CIGARETTES AND TV IN BRITAIN
The British government is right to stop the advertisement of cigarettes on television. The mathematical connection between lung cancer and cigarettes has been proved beyond reasonable doubt, even if the biochemical causes remain mysterious. The government believes that cigarettes are dangerous and habit-forming and that their use should be discouraged.
Given this conviction the minister of health has a plain duty to try to make us give them up, or at least to smoke less. And given the powers that the government already has to prevent the almost unbridled advertising of television, Mr. Robinson's not so conscientious objection but to use them. He cannot order us not to smoke, but he can, at least, prevent others from urging us to smoke more.
It is also right that ministers and others should consider the question of cigarette advertisements in what Mr. Robinson described on Monday as "other media." Advertisers and the television companies are, understandably, put out, but it is hard to see how the government could have acted otherwise with honesty.—Manchester Guardian.

FLAG TELLS THE STORY
In every picture of the state capital of Alabama in the newspapers in recent days, the Confederate flag is flying atop the capital dome.
The Confederate flag is an "American" flag in the sense that it is a part of American history. When it is flown as a substitute for the flag of the United States, as an obvious act of defiance, it is certain to instill defiance in the minds of the citizens of the state in which it is flown.
Conversely, the sight of the Confederate flag over the Alabama capital hardens the determination of the civil rights demonstrators to erase the injustice of which that flag is a symbol.
Governor Wallace may mouth the peaceful intentions he chooses and talk of easing tensions, but as long as he flies the Confederate banner in the place of Old Glory, his real intentions are hidden neither from the civil rights workers nor from those elements within his own state who shield their own inadequacies by promoting hatred of the Negro.—Salem Statesman.

ENOUGH TO WHOOP ABOUT
For years now, federal and state conservation interests have fought a last-ditch battle to preserve the almost extinct whooping crane.
But not so slightly members of the house appropriations committee drew the line on expenditure of $1,000,000 to provide 5,000 acres of additional breeding habitat for the remaining 32 members of that avian species.
Desirability of preserving whooping cranes is readily conceded by solons and public alike. But conservation at a cost of more than $34,000 a bird is enough to set a protesting whoop out of any lawmaker.—New Orleans States-Item.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

Washington News

BY LYLE WILSON
United Press International
In comparison with the men who just preceded him in the White House, President Johnson's handling of problems in the Dominican Republic should rate very high marks. President Johnson and his administration have handled the situation with a firmness and a consistency that is commendable.
The difference between LBJ and LBJ is that Johnson operates on a personal preserve, assuming total responsibility in all areas. Johnson reads the fine print as well as the captions in the reports that come to him. He rejected all fine print and demanded that questions be presented to him briefly and with solid recommendations.
That was the so-called staff system by which Eisenhower administered the executive department precisely as he administered the allied and long-standing commander. On the record as he stands, LBJ's staff system works better for military operations than it does for civilian government.
If there were floating around the White House or the state department an important paper, such as the FBI report on Castro, LBJ would know about it. If someone goofed and he was permitted to remain in ignorance of something like that, Johnson would punish severely the understrappers responsible.
Eisenhower didn't punish anyone. So far as is known, Ike never was fully aware that vital information had been withheld from him at a time when he could have knocked Castro over with a waggle of his little finger.
JFK's blunder was in the Bay of Pigs fiasco. The record seems to prove that it was Kennedy who pulled promised air cover away from the unfortunate invasion force. JFK publicly demanded that he be held responsible for invasion failure. In his angry, semi-private moments, however, Kennedy blamed the joint chiefs of staff in language fit to set—em—fire.
JFK was just as personal as LBJ in his work as President.

DA NANG, South Viet Nam, May 6 (AP)—The marines are friendly at the front. Maj. Mark Moore is known as the hospitable host of Backbreak hotel.
"Welcome to your home away from home," he said at the entrance of his command tent at the base of Hill 312 where U. S. marines have thrust out their perimeter of the vast Da Nang air base.
"All the conveniences you'd want including hot and cold running water," he pointed at a bag hung from some posts and single or double sleeping bags.
Moore, 36, is a lanky 6-foot, 4-inch officer with low-colored hair and blue eyes that crinkle easily into laughter. He is seeing his first battle action since serving 13 months as an aerial observer during the Korean campaign. He comes from Dallas, Tex., but his wife and four children now are staying in Carlsbad, Calif.
As operations officer of the Second Battalion of Third Marine Regiment, Moore helped plan the first patrols to push out from the key airbase. It is from here that several types of planes strike at military targets in North Viet Nam.
So far, the marine patrols have been conducted in hot and sticky daylight hours. But the enemy is likely to have its sleep disturbed in the future. "We like to work at night," said the major. "That's when the Viet Cong thinks he really owns the territory—and we want to show him that he doesn't."
As Moore spoke, marines under shelter to protect them from the sultry sun were doing, reading, or methodically cleaning their guns. They were as relaxed as if they were in a training area.
The command post was situated in thick, shoulder-high scrub in which bloomed bright yellow and purple flowers.
A few feet to one side of the tent was an open bunker banked with sandbags—just in case the enemy might hurl a mortar barrage.

The Doctor Says

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Q—What is peritonitis? Can it be cured?
A—Peritonitis is an inflammation of the inner wall of the abdominal cavity. The commonest causes are rupture of the appendix or of a peptic ulcer. It may also follow a gunshot or stab wound of the abdomen or it may occur by extension from a liver abscess or abscess of the uterine tubes. The victim has a severe pain which may be diffused throughout the abdomen or localized in a small area. The patient is aggravated by movement or pressure. There is fever and the victim's breathing is rapid and shallow in order to minimize the pain.
The treatment usually involves opening the abdomen, stopping the leak, flushing out the abdominal cavity and giving massive doses of antibiotics. Fluids by vein and blood transfusions are also often necessary. With prompt treatment recovery is to be expected.
Q—Ever since I had my second baby 2½ years ago I have had a feeling of nausea whenever I go into a store. My doctor says it's all in my head. What do you think?
A—Persistent nausea is often caused by anemia, cirrhosis of the liver and chronic low-grade colitis. Even though your doctor may have ruled out these and other possible organic causes, this does not necessarily mean it is all in your head. Emotional tension may, however, be a factor.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, May 6.—While Nikita Khrushchev was abruptly shoved off the stage into obscurity, the doctrine he proclaimed still prevails. For harassed American policy-makers the new way on the war was on their hands and their feet.
The landing of the Marines in the Dominican Republic is not comparable as yet with the Marshall Islands effort in Viet Nam. But the two conflicts seem to fall roughly into the formula of "wars of liberation" prescribed by Khrushchev in a speech that has been combed over, studied, analyzed and interpreted more than any communist utterance since the end of the war.
The Khrushchev declaration of Jan. 6, 1961, followed a meeting in Moscow of delegates of 81 communist parties. It was the first authoritative definition of the reasons for the split between Red China and the Soviet Union. Khrushchev declared for "peaceful coexistence," since a nuclear war would destroy all civilization. China was contending for war as an instrument to impose communism, with the

Poor Man's Plato

Moore makes no attempt to belittle the "fighting" quality of the enemy.
"They like to pull surprises, and so do we. We hope to keep them off balance," he said.
"Until now we've really been on what amounts to a ground orientation program. We've just been running snatch patrols."
"The enemy knows what we are doing. They signal our movements by beating drums, flashing mirrors from the hillside and by blowing whistles."
"We've had no trouble cooperating with the Vietnamese troops. We take some of them along on our patrols, and if we take prisoners let them do the talking to them."
The marines have been well indoctrinated into the fact that this is as much a political as a military war. The patrols take along gifts of candy and school textbooks to distribute to friendly villagers.
"This is a whole new challenging role for us with a lot of challenging overtones," said Moore soberly. "We've always considered ourselves a shock outfit. But this is not just a frontal assault as in World War II."
"For the marines merely to land and take a position is no longer the answer. There's a new perspective to this warfare."
"It's a long-range problem, not an overnight deal. We may be here for years."

Little arithmetic is needed to see how this trained and ready force in being can be chewed up in subsequent "wars of liberation" in Asia, Latin America or Africa. Reserves would have to be called back and the draft inevitably expanded. That is the next phase in contingency planning.
According to the Khrushchev doctrine, communists opposed the "export of revolution." But they also opposed the imperialist, export counter-revolution. Kremlinologists interpreted this as a reference to the uprising in Hungary, which was brutally suppressed by Soviet tanks.
The theme of the Khrushchev speech was communism's inevitable triumph by peaceful means if possible and by civil wars of liberation if the imperialists resisted. But in the present confrontation the striking fact is that so far as is known not a single Russian soldier is in combat. Only 35,000 are already at hand, already at the aborting stage. That is the painful dilemma for American policy-makers.

Bridge by Jacoby

DANGEROUS PLAY MAY MAKE SEVEN
Sometimes a bridge expert can't see the forest for the trees. The American Contract Bridge League analysis in their discussion of hand 24 from the nationwide charity game imply that few pairs will reach the fine no-trump slam.
It probably is hard to bid if you want to be super-scientific to his contract. If West opens a diamond and dealer will also be held to six hearts but club opening will allow some gambling declarers to make all the tricks.
South will cash dummy's two clubs right away and find out that East holds five clubs to the ten. Then he will run dummy's hearts. East will have to discard two diamonds in order to hasten to the ace of spades and his clubs. South will discard the nine and three of spades and nine of diamonds, being finally stopping his last low club.
Then he crosses to his king of diamonds and cashes his two good clubs. Finally he leads the seven of diamonds and fineses successfully against West's jack.
Why did we call this play a gamble? Because East's last-two cards might be the ten of clubs and jack of diamonds where the try for an overtrick would cost him his small slam contract.

16 U.S. Ships Patrolling In Caribbean

NORFOLK, Va., May 6 (AP)—A task force of 16 ships, led by the heavy cruiser Newport News, the fleet flagship, is patrolling the shoreline of the Dominican Republic the Atlantic command announced yesterday. The task force, involving 6,000 men, is "very close" to the beach, but the ships have not fired on the island, a spokesman said. The force included two guided missile frigates, the Luce from Mayport, Fla., and the Leahy from Charleston, S. C. Counting the men aboard ships, the total commitment of man-power in the Caribbean rose to 25,000 yesterday, with an estimated 19,000 fighting troops and support elements in Santo Domingo. The Atlantic command gave an official number of 13,362 marines and paratroopers in Santo Domingo but shipments of Marines from Morehead City, N. C., and airborne troops from Ft. Bragg, N. C., to the Caribbean since Monday were not included in the official total.

Students At Berkeley Stage Protest

BERKELEY, Calif., May 6 (AP)—Hundreds of University of California students marched on the Berkeley draft board headquarters yesterday, presented the board coordinator with a black coffin, and 40 students burned their draft cards. Leaders of the group said they staged the "symbolic protest" against the invasion of the Dominican Republic. The march and card-burning climaxed a noon rally at Sproul hall on the Berkeley campus. Students and faculty members assailed American intervention in the Dominican Republic crisis. Marchers were led by James Petras, a graduate student in Latin American studies. He presented the crepe-draped coffin to Nell Head, baffled coordinator of the draft board. Berkeley police photographed the burning of the draft cards. "It's purely a symbolic protest," one student explained. "We have been told we can get new cards if we apply for them." Earlier at the Sproul hall rally, Paul Jacobs, labor authority and writer and one of the architects of President Johnson's job corps program, called upon students to "avoid the draft." He told the audience intellectuals must "refuse to affiliate themselves in any way with the United States government" in the Dominican Republic situation and added, "We resign from this horrible war!"

Senate Unit Okays Bill on Land in Utah

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—A Senate interior subcommittee approved yesterday a bill to give Utah title to about 600,000 acres surrounding Great Salt Lake. The bill, which now goes to the full interior committee, would give Utah ownership of land exposed by the receding shoreline of the Great Salt Lake since statehood days. It would end a controversy with the federal government, which claimed ownership of some of the areas. One amendment voted by the public lands subcommittee provides that the Utah legislature recognize federal ownership of lands outside the meander line, regardless of whether they once were covered by the lake or may become submerged in the future. Sen. Frank E. Moss, D., Utah, sponsor of the bill, said: "Utah needs the revenues which can be gained from possession of the land. The bill fixes the meander line as of the 1856 federal survey, and will open up general development of the lake by private interests. "The tax revenue which our state will receive, once the title is no longer clouded will be a boon to the schools and state finances in general."

Plant Is Toured By Busy Beavers

DECLO, May 6 — Members of the Busy Beavers 4-H club toured the grade A milk barn at the Lloyd Blake ranch and the Kraft milk plant in Rupert Tuesday, to fulfill requirements in their project on milk. Blake explained procedures in milking and storing milk and Denton Darrington, field representative for the Kraft company, showed the processes of making Swiss cheese. Mrs. Joseph Preston, local leader of the club, and Mrs. Gerald Mallory accompanied the group on the tour. Dennis Mallory and David Hurst were on the transportation committee. Stephen and Stanley Preston were in charge of arrangements for the tour and Brent Mitchell, notified member. Illustrated talks were given by Stephen Preston on "Food values in milk," David Hurst, "Pasteurization and homogenization," Stanley Preston, "Raw milk," and Gen Whipple, "The history of milk."

Paul School Library Gets Books Through Lions Club

PAUL, May 6 — The Paul school library will be about 2,000 books richer this week because of extended efforts of the Paul Lions club and generous local residents. "The Bag of Books" project drive was held last Saturday after large paper bags had been distributed and filled by local residents and collected by the Lions for the school library. J. A. Bauer, president, said that on Monday morning approximately 700 books had been delivered to Mrs. Harold Wilson, school librarian, with another 1,300 more coming in. The book project was instigated in January, 1960, after it was reported the Paul school was without a central library and the only reading books for students were the few in individual rooms. A special library room was "set apart" by school officials and the Lions members built book shelves. Approximately 1,500 books went into the library the past five years through school purchase and private donation. Mrs. Wilson noted that with 1,500 books in the library, she has had about 10,000 checkouts so far this year, meaning a lot of wear on the books. The past two months the Lions personally have requested the public to give the much needed

Klansman Loses Bid in Election

ATLANTA, May 6 (AP) — Ku Klux Klan Grand Dragon Calvin Craig lost his bid for a seat in the Georgia legislature yesterday in a topsy turvy special primary election that nominated 11 Negroes and threw out lieutenants of former segregationist Gov. Marvin Griffin. Among the Negroes nominated was Julian Bond, a publicist for the civil rights Student Non-Violent Coordinating committee. The election was to name Democratic and Republican candidates for 141 of the 205 seats as the result of a federal court ordered legislative act to reapportion the house. No other offices were affected. Mrs. Wilson reported that seven sets of encyclopedias have been received through the Lions efforts and the books are well used by students.

Air Search Starts for Lost Plane

GLASGOW, Mont., May 6 (AP) — About two dozen airplanes took off at daybreak today along the Montana Hi-line in search of a small craft carrying three Glasgow residents missing on a flight from Kalspell to Glasgow.

Aboard the red and white Cessna 182 were Dr. Paul Haucesna, a Glasgow physician; his wife, Billy, 8, and a companion, son, Larry Gallagher, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gallagher, and Mrs. George Gallagher.

The four-place single-engine plane made last radio contact with an operator while flying over Havre about 8 p.m., the federal aviation agency in Helena reported. It reported no mechanical difficulty and should have been at Glasgow about 9 p.m.

Haubrick reportedly had told a friend in Kalspell before takeoff that he would land at Havre if the weather was too bad to go on. The FFA controller at the plane had not found that.

The weather was described as "deteriorating" over the Hi-line community by the FAA last night. A steady rain was falling and clouds hovered as low as 600 feet off the ground.

It is the second major air search in the region in little more than a month. A four-day search in late March found the wreckage of a small plane between Havre and Glasgow. Three Glasgow residents were killed in that crash.

Another Glasgow resident, Orville Unsworth, was originally believed aboard the missing craft last night. But later reports said he had remained at Kalspell.

JOE SHELBY, 1809 Dorlan drive, owner of the three Shelby's IGA markets in Twin Falls, Buhl and Burley, was presented with the Argonaut insurance safety award Wednesday by Harvey Cook, Twin Falls insurance agent, left. The award was presented to Shelby's for an outstanding record of lower accidents involving his some 110 employees. (Times-News photo)

Cheerleaders School Planned

SUN VALLEY, May 6 — Sun Valley will brace itself for a week-long invasion of some 200 school cheerleaders and song leaders during June.

The event is the annual Sun Valley cheerleaders camp which will be held June 20-25. An expert staff of instructors will demonstrate the latest yells and pom-pom routines that will be unveiled to the public at football games this fall.

The yell squads, representing high schools from all over the Pacific Northwest, will also work on their cheerleading techniques in supervised workshop sessions.

Heading the list of instructors are Bill Moulton, Las Vegas, Nev.; Deanna Zinko Vancouver, British Columbia; and Marylou and Ron Humphrey, Seattle.

No Bugs

CAIRO, Ill., May 6 (AP) — The Douglas Franklins, who used to be plagued by mosquitoes around their house, had no such problem today.

They also had no house.

Fire Chief Bill Brooks said the house burned down when a pilot light on a gas heater apparently ignited a flammable spray used to rid the house of mosquitoes.

Shoshone to Have Contest For Trustees

SHOSHONE, May 6 — There will be a contest in both trustee districts for the school election to be held here Monday.

Ernest Werry, incumbent, will be opposed in zone two by Francis Bergin and in zone three Jack Dunn, William Trammel and Clarence Magoffin will be running. They all are newcomers.

Michael Urrutia, whose term expires, declined to run again. Previously Dr. Arthur White's name was filed in zone two, but he withdrew.

Polls at the school will be open from noon to 7 p.m.

Holdover members are Elden Guthrie, Fern Manning and Fredrick Struchen.

A public hearing on the budget will be held at the board meeting Monday evening.

Speeder

CUDAHDY, Calif., May 6 (AP) — Think it's tough to stop a speeder? Consider the trouble Sheriff's Deputy Luis Puncel had with Charles Briggs who was driving only 20 miles an hour.

Puncel wheeled his cruiser in behind Briggs' car and turned on his red light. Then he switched on the spotlights. He honked his horn and gave a few blasts on the siren.

Two miles later, Puncel turned on the cruiser's public address system and begged Briggs to stop. Finally, he blared "Stop, or I'll do something drastic!"

Briggs, 52, stopped. He said he hadn't pulled over sooner because Puncel wasn't driving an ambulance — only a police car. He got two citations.

Britain Shows Future Telephone

LONDON, May 6 (AP) — The telephone of the future — one without a ring — was introduced to the British public yesterday.

Instead of ringing, the telephone starts with a soft birdlike chirp that slowly builds up to a loud but not a nerve-shattering warble.

The new telephone was shown at London's design center.

THERE'S A GIANT IN TODAY'S PAPER!

In fact there is more than one. There are a couple of hundred of them, and they are the smallest giants you ever saw.

Each one of them is in the paper to do an important job, and each one of them works with super strength to get that job done.

These are the little giants of advertising, the Want Ads. Each year over 300 million of them are born in the newspapers of North America. Their lives are short, because they do their jobs quickly and disappear.

It is very easy to put a Want Ad to work. Simply pick up your phone and call 733-6931 and ask for an ad-visor. A friendly, well trained person will help you word and place your ad.

Seventh Annual IFWC Conclave Held in Filer

Morgan stated that pollution can be controlled and that remedies now available will prevent most of it. He said that many states are returning their streams and rivers to their former purity through carefully planned pollution measures.

Morgan concluded his talk by urging the clubs to study conservation problems and awake their communities to the needs of each.

Activities by Viet Cong Increasing

SAIGON, May 6 (AP)—Communist Viet Cong guerrillas have sharply increased their activities with the coming of the first monsoon rains. American military spokesmen reported today that Viet Cong action listed 23 "incidents" including one attack, seven cases of sabotage and 17 incidents of terrorism or harassment in the previous 24 hours. Yesterday's spot reports included only ten incidents. The average for the past two weeks had been only six.

Research by Legislature Cost $14,000

BOISE, May 6 (AP)—Research on the sales, income and property taxes cost the 38th Idaho legislature nearly $14,000, files showed today, the bulk of the money going to a Boise certified public accountant.

At a meeting here last Saturday, files showed, the revenue and taxation committee approved a subcommittee report on expenses and approved payment of all bills.

Biggest of the bills was one for $12,303.22 submitted by S. Del Low of the Boise CPA firm of Low, Vohwig, Hill and Grow. A breakdown of the charges showed half of them allocated to drafting and research for the new three per cent retail sales and use tax.

Money for all the bills will come from an appropriation to the tax committee of $14,500. In a report to the full committee, subcommittee Chairman Philip E. Batt, R., Canyon, recommended that "in future sessions the probable cost of such services should be negotiated and determined before such services are collected."

Leading Lassies Meet at Declo

DECLO, May 6 — Members of the Leading Lassies 4-H club gave demonstrations at a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Austin Walker.

MARINE CPL. RUSSELL ROWE, Zion, Ill., shown with his fiancée, Doris Compostella, wrote her on eve of his landing in Dominican Republic. "Now is my chance to do something for my country." The letter hadn't reached her last Friday when Rowe was trapped in a machine gun ambush and wounded in both arms, both legs and abdomen. He is now in Washington's Walter Reed hospital in critical condition with both legs amputated. (AP wirephoto)

Marine Shot By Sniper; Legs Removed

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Marine Lance Cpl. Russell Rowe is in critical condition today at Walter Reed army medical center. Both his legs have been amputated.

"All the fight has gone out of him," said his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Harkness, Zion, Ill. It was different last week when he went into Santo Domingo. He wrote his mother:

"I'm in the first assault wave. There's really nothing to worry about. The rebels are very unorganized and 10 to one it won't last long. I feel proud to be a marine, protecting my country. I am only upset to a certain extent because I know that if I did get hurt, people who love me such as you would feel the pain."

In the dark hours before dawn last Friday, the 20-year-old Rowe was defending a mound of earth in the revoltionary Caribbean island. A sniper shot him in the leg, knocking him to the ground. Despite the wound, Rowe bounced up and fired his rifle into the darkness. The sniper fired again, hitting Rowe in the other leg. A third sniper bullet ripped into his back, stopping in his stomach.

General Fund Better Than Year Ago

BOISE, May 6 (AP)—Idaho's general fund was reported today about 2.8 million dollars better off than a year earlier.

A joint report from Auditor Joe R. Williams and Treasurer Marjorie E. Moon said the general fund was overdrawn $4,062,000 on April 30 compared with $6,861,654 a year earlier.

All outstanding tax notes have been redeemed this year but last year's overdraft included 1.5 million dollars in outstanding notes.

Soviet Mars Shot Has Quit Transmitting

CHICAGO, May 6 (AP)—A spokesman for six Soviet space scientists disclosed yesterday that Zond II, the Soviet Mars spaceship, has completely stopped transmitting information.

The spacecraft's communications system has been working irregularly for about a month, but now seems to have quit for good, said Dr. Gennady Skrudin, a physicist and head of the Soviet group.

Skudin told a news conference that the communication breakdown appears to involve a failure in the solar cells which supply the ship's electric power. Mariner IV, the United States Mars probe ship, is on course and American scientists have reported that it is still functioning.

The Russians arrived in Chicago on Tuesday night, the second day of SPACE—the Symposium on Post Apollo Space exploration—presented by the American Astronautical Society and Illinois Institute of Technology research institute. They told of Zond II's failure during a news conference.

Guidelines Are Set on Deductions

The internal revenue service said yesterday that the guidelines are "used when taxpayers are challenged and asked to produce evidence of the deductions shown on their return."

ACTOR IN HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—Actor Zachary Scott went into a New York hospital yesterday for what was described by his representative as an annual checkup.

They have four sons attending Minidoka county schools and Mrs. Jones has been active in PTA work and has been a Cub Scout den mother for two years.

Camden Meyer, county school superintendent, reported an additional petition was taken out Wednesday for the same post. "Paul is the other zone which will elect a school trustee on May 24. Leonard Martin is the present trustee from Paul, having been appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Russell-Adams. Meyer reported a petition is out for this zone and Martin has also indicated he will seek the post."

The nation's economy stayed healthy. We didn't see a depression, such as followed the '29 crash. Real investors, who still hold the stocks they held in 1929, didn't suffer. It was the gamblers (the in-and-out traders) who took the beating.

Science Fair Slated May 11

RICHFIELD, May 6 — A science fair is scheduled at Richfield high school May 11.

Howard Knowles, high school science teacher, has supervised junior high school students, who will be the principal participants of the fair this year.

Mr. King will be Richfield's entry in the district track meet at Twin Falls Friday evening. Miss King, a high school junior, will run in the 100 yard dash. Freshmen and sophomore track members will compete in the meet at Gooding State Thursday afternoon.

The high school athletic banquet has been set for May 14. Pins, letters and other awards will be presented at the banquet.

Student body election is scheduled for next week.

Alcatraz Is Closed, but Still Tourist Attraction

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6 (AP) — Alcatraz island's notoriety may have allayed, but the famed prison site remains as aloof and mysterious as ever in its picture-postcard setting in San Francisco Bay.

The tiny island, which hasn't seen a criminal since the prison closed in June 1963, is still off limits to the public. It can't even have visiting hours.

Although it is gallows humor even today to suggest a "visit" to the island, Alcatraz is in fact a genuine tourist attraction. Camerabugs delight in snapping its stony features from Fisherman's Wharf and the Golden Gate bridge.

Lately the public has actively complained about the "look but don't touch" rule and has clamored for public use of the 12-acre isle.

One proposal, now before Congress, would turn Alcatraz into a United Nations' monument. Another popular idea is to establish a Western Statue of Liberty.

To caretaker John Hart and his son William, assistant caretaker, the island's popularity means they spend increasing time waving away boatloads of would-be tourists.

"It's getting to be a problem," Hart said, "especially any time the island gets a little publicity. People wonder why they can't visit."

The island's landlord, the U.S. general services administration, recently said "no" to a boat company that wanted to start ferry service.

Although the likes of gangster Al Capone are long gone, the island's protectors say tourists are kept off for their own safety. Ghosts?

"It's just not safe for tourists here," Hart said. "The old prison buildings cover two-thirds of the island and are in bad condition. There are no facilities for tourists and no staff to supervise them."

But Hart said he understands why Alcatraz would be a tourist attraction; the mystery and notoriety.

"Alcatraz has been shrouded in secrecy for years," he said. "It was official policy while it was a prison. There was almost no news given out, even during escapes."

"Also, we used to get the most notorious criminals in America, although not necessarily the toughest. We got the troublemakers from the other prisons in one country."

Hart has been employed at Alcatraz for 17 years. He and his wife, Marie, raised five children there. All went on to other occupations except William.

The younger Hart now has his own family — his wife, Carol, and daughters Debbie, 5, and Kimmie, 2½. Both families live on the island year-around and commute to San Francisco by boat when they wish.

Why do they like Alcatraz? "It's the view," the elder Hart said. "You can't beat it."

Demonstrations Given at Meet

SHOESHONE, May 6 — How to cut a layer cake properly was demonstrated by Mrs. Arthur Osborn at the Busy Bees 4-H club meeting.

Recognition assignments were made to members and events of the year discussed.

A custard pie was demonstrated by Marilyn Manning at the Shoshone Shriner's club meeting held at the home of leader, Mrs. Howard Manning Saturday. Doris McDonald illustrated a talk on making angel food cake.

The members were reminded to turn in their stories by the end of the week. Tick shots will be taken by members of the club.

Dinner Party Is Set by Grange

HAZELTON, May 6 — Plans for a dinner party in honor of Mother's day and Father's day were discussed by members of the Frontier Grange Monday evening at the Grange hall.

The date for the dinner has not been announced but tentative plans are set for the next meeting.

Master Body Hagan appointed Edward Carlton, Dale Budd and Ernest Buschhorn as a committee to nominate queen contestants to be sponsored by the Grange for the Jerome county fair.

Plans are being made to assist with the state Grange meeting to be held in Gooding in October.

Maidens Hear Talk on Posture

CAREY, May 6 — Mary Ann Hennefer, junior leader, talked to the members of Miscellaneous Maidens 4-H club on posture improvement when the club met Monday in the science room of the high school.

James Eakin, Blaine county agent, showed a film about posture. Members discussed the Mothers day informal dinner they have planned for Saturday in honor of the mothers. The dinner will help members to improve their table manners, it was noted. A money raising project was also discussed.

Becky Day was a new member attending. The next meeting will be May 10.

4-H Members to Collect Funds

EBBY, May 6 — The Merry Mixers and the Busy Bees 4-H clubs met Monday afternoon at the home of Deanna Schwab to complete plans to collect for the cancer drive.

The groups will collect in both Eden and Hazelton this week. Another project decided upon by the members was to wash windows for the elderly residents of both towns.

Officers elected at the meeting were Carla Crumrine, song leader; Deanna Schwab, sergeant-at-arms, and Dorothy Burks, game leader.

Meat Prices In U.S. May Rise Soon

By The Associated Press

Meat prices at food markets may increase in the next few weeks and may stay high for several months. Fewer cattle and hogs are moving to market and supplies are tight.

There are also reports that the wholesale price of sugar is rising, partly due to the disorders in the Dominican Republic, a source of quick supplies of sugar.

However, only the major producers of candy and foods using sugar may feel the increase. The increase could be absorbed by the time the refined sugar reaches grocers' shelves.

Likely prospects for bargains at the nation's supermarkets this week are ribs of beef and steaks. Round roasts and poultry also may be featured.

Fresh fish are reported to be plentiful in many parts of the nation. Eggs still are below normal price levels for this time of year.

Orange production has been larger than expected recently, wholesale prices are lower and housewives may find the frozen concentrate cheaper at some markets.

Spring vegetables are moving to market at lower prices, with the possible exception of the Midwest, where unseasonable weather put a crimp in supplies.

Seven Tapped

IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY, Pocatello, May 6 — Seven coeds from Magic Valley at ISU have been tapped for membership in Chinese honorary society for junior women students.

They include Bonnie Blakelee, Filer; Dolores Eggleston, Declo; Anne Falk, and Billie Johnson, both Burley; Sallie Lyon, Twin Falls; Sara Serpa, Shoshone; and Linda Sheiangoskie, Twin Falls.

FOUR REPORTED

MILNER, May 6 — Members of the Friendship circle met for dinner at the Depot grill. After dinner, members toured the Easter Seal clinic and observed activities of the pupils.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, MAY 6 — Born today, you have a strong streak of the philosophically religious about you and, at the same time, an equally strong bent for the strictly analytical, facts-and-figures type of thinking. Realist figures type of once, it may be and idealists at once, it may be extremely difficult for you to choose which way you will go unless it is a choice which your education makes for you when you are very young. One thing is certain, you will not be able to develop both ideas of your nature, and a choice will be necessary.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Make sure everything is in readiness before you set out on a trip of any length.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — The best way not to cause hard feelings among your associates is not to have any yourself.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Professional counselling might serve you well at this point.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Avoid large expenses at this time. You may need all your assets soon.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) —

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Keep your hopes high regardless of what happens setbacks. Things should perk up by afternoon.
GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — This would be a good day for you to repay outstanding social obligations.
CANCER (June 22-July 23) — You cannot avoid domestic issues merely by keeping your nose to the employment grindstone.
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Avoid even the semblance of anger. This is no day for Leo to antagonize or be antagonized.
VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Take care not to make any decisions in haste, particularly those of a romantic nature.
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Avoid shirking your employment responsibilities. The week end begins this evening—not today!

Paddling Bill

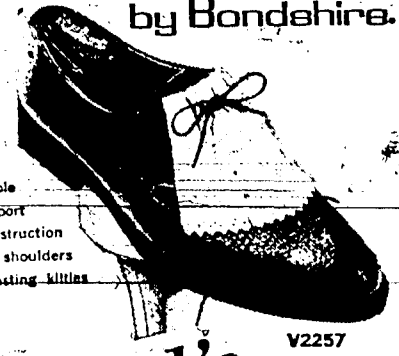

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 6 (UPI)—Illinois school teachers may soon have the legal right to "whale the hell" out of sassy children. A bill authorizing corporal punishment sailed through the Illinois house recently by a 164-8 vote.
 "If the kid wises off and cusses the teacher, then the teacher should have the right to whale the hell out of him," Rep. Don Moore said in support of the measure.

Illinois Criminal, 68, Is Oldest Person on FBI List

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—A 68-year-old patriarch of lawlessness, Charles Bryan Harris, today became the oldest person ever placed on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals.

Harris, a reputed member of the "old Shelton gang" that operated three decades ago in southern Illinois, is sought for the double murder of a former girl friend and a man who had testified against him in a previous murder trial.

Their bodies were found on Aug. 16, 1964, in a burned-out building at Fairfield, Ill.

Despite his age, Harris is described by the FBI as "extremely dangerous." He probably is heavily armed and has warned that he will shoot it out with any police who seek to arrest him.

The wanted man has a criminal record dating back to 1927 when he was sent to prison for counterfeiting in Detroit. Subsequently, he became known as a gunman for the "Little Egypt" area of Illinois in the 1930's.

Harris has been a suspect in a number of murder cases—the latest case in July, 1963, when he was acquitted of a charge in Wayne county, Ill.

He allegedly has threatened the lives of an Illinois state's attorney and a state circuit court judge. The FBI warns that he has been known to carry a .45 caliber pistol in a cigar box under the front seat of his automobile and to be in possession of a submachine gun. The fugitive is reputed to be an excellent shot with all types of guns.

Although quiet and soft-spoken, Harris is known to have a violent temper when angered. The FBI reports that he is an excessive drinker on occasion, generally patronizing low-class night clubs. He fancies himself as a ladies' man and dresses well.

Harris also has employed disguises in the past, sometimes dressing as a woman. He has a knack of using a high-pitched voice to carry out the female masquerade.

Born on July 28, 1896, at Fairfield, Ill., the wanted man stands five feet, seven inches, weighs about 147 pounds, is of medium build and has brown eyes and a dark complexion. His hair is black but graying.

Inflation

BIDEFORD, England, May 6 (AP)—Notice in a gift shop window here: "Penny whistles, three-pence each. Sorry!"

The Georgia legislature has appointed both senate and house committees to investigate the matter. The trouble began in Georgia some months ago after state insurance Commissioner James Bentley denied some rate increases demanded by the underwriters.

The homeowners who are having the insurance miseries all have houses valued at less than $8,000. State officials say 40 per cent of Georgia's homes are in that class. But the Georgia officials and insurance brokers in the state said they learned the problem is country wide.

Homeowners Having Fire Insurance Woes

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—Some hundreds of thousands of small homeowners across the United States suddenly are having trouble getting their fire insurance policies renewed. Others are getting letters from the companies serving notice of cancellation of their policies.

The Georgia legislature has appointed both senate and house committees to investigate the matter. The trouble began in Georgia some months ago after state insurance Commissioner James Bentley denied some rate increases demanded by the underwriters.

The homeowners who are having the insurance miseries all have houses valued at less than $8,000. State officials say 40 per cent of Georgia's homes are in that class. But the Georgia officials and insurance brokers in the state said they learned the problem is country wide.

They're absolutely right," agreed Kent H. Parker, general manager of the Fire Research and Actuarial association in New York. "The problem is country wide—it's acute in about 15 states and exists in varying degree in most of the others. It's just as serious in the North as in the South."

Parker said that what has happened is that separate fire insurance policies for dwelling houses, which a generation ago were close to the most profitable business the insurance companies wrote, have become unprofitable—to the tune of a $9 million dollar annual underwriting loss for the companies. This has been caused by rising fire and storm damage claims due to rapid inflation of repair costs, failure of the states to grant needed rate increases on time and growth of the homeowner policy.

The homeowner policy issued by the big multi-line insurance companies has become very popular in recent years. It protects against fire, storm, burglary, and all sorts of liability claims at a rate that is quite reasonable. But, generally, it is obtainable only for houses worth substantially more than $8,000.

The switching of the more expensive homes to the homeowner policy reduced the national annual premium volume of such separate dwelling policies from $75 million dollars in 1955 to 244 million dollars in 1963 years loss claims against this type of policy rose from 163 million dollars to 192 million dollars. In other words, the loss ratio jumped from 43.4 per cent to 78.5 per cent.

Parker said the larger companies, most of whom write all kinds of insurance, perhaps including life insurance which is very profitable, could stand the growing underwriting losses on separate small-dwelling fire and storm policies and were continuing to write them even though they are very dissatisfied with the rates increases granted so far.

He said rate increases of 50 to 60 per cent have been necessary and have been granted in some states but in other states the rates granted so far haven't been enough. In consequence, some companies simply have had to refuse to write these small separate policies for the present.

Another aspect of the problem, he said, is the tendency of small homeowners who have paid out their mortgages to underinsure.

"If they still have a mortgage, the bank will make them insure up to enough to protect the bank's claim, but even that may not be a safe amount," Parker said.

And on dwelling policies, there is no co-insurance penalty clause to compel people to carry adequate insurance. "Also, the fact that few people really understand the value, either at market or replacement cost, of their homes, is rate increases due to the fact that five years on the installment payment plan. Even when rate increases are granted, the companies don't get any quick benefit from them, Parker said. In consequence there is a tendency to refuse to write these small policies on installment payment basis or for five years.

Parker said the problem is soluble but the homeowners and the state insurance officials must understand the changes that have taken place and the necessity for adequate rate increases and increasing the amounts of insurance to be written on these small houses to compensate for the increased replacement and repair cost risks.

How America Saw the War in 1915: 24

Illustrated By John Lane

Written By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN for Newspaper Enterprise Association

The people of the United States, who wanted to remain neutral, were brought nearer to the European conflict in the spring of 1915. In February Germany declared British waters to be a war zone and on May 7, within sight of the Irish coast, sank the Lusitania with a loss of 124 American lives.

After that, relations with Germany grew steadily worse. Most Americans outspokenly favored the Allied cause. But they still wanted to stay out of the war.

When 1915 began, the American economy was depressed as a result of the shock of the declaration of war in Europe in August 1914. Arms shipments had not yet started, and so far only wheat had advanced in price.

Then England began to make heavy purchases, and the mines and factories of the United States were soon busy with war orders. By mid-July a new era of prosperity was under way. On September 25, an Anglo-French loan gave those countries more credit to buy more goods.

Very little could be sold to Germany, because there was no way of shipping it there while the ever-vigilant British fleet patrolled the entrances to the North Sea.

The scholarly American president, 59-year-old Woodrow Wilson, favored the Allies, but he was determined to keep the United States neutral. Sometimes this was difficult, but he always tried to take the sober, rational course in time of crisis.

Before the year was out, however, he moved toward a policy of military preparedness.

America's distaste for the war that was decimating Europe took a remarkable turn in December 1915, when Henry Ford embarked on his "Peace Ship" venture.

A newspaper story, reporting that 20,000 men had been slain in battle the day before without even bringing about a change in position, suddenly brought home to him how utterly senseless the unceasing slaughter was.

In 1915 the famous Model T, which was bringing in millions of dollars of profit, had been on the market for only six years, but it had already made Ford rich enough to indulge in expensive gestures.

He chartered a small ocean liner to take an oddly assorted group of would-be peace-makers to Europe. And somehow the reckless phrase, "We'll get the boys out of the trenches before Christmas" got around when Christmas was only a few weeks away.

What had begun as a well-intentioned effort quickly degenerated into farce because all kinds of crackpots, attracted to the scheme, drew unfavorable newspaper comment.

The ship sailed on December 4 and arrived at Christiania, Norway, on December 19, where the sad comedy suddenly came to an abrupt end—five days later when the disillusioned millionaire abandoned the project and returned home.

Christmas passed, and the soldiers were still in the trenches. Over their huddled forms, exploding shells kept sending down the lethal iron rain that had been exterminating European youth for more than a year. And there was no end in sight.

Idaho, Montana Mines Have Poor Accident Record

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Montana metal mines have the worst fatal-accident record in the nation and Idaho's mine safety record isn't much better, a house-labor subcommittee was told yesterday.

The statement was made by Bernard Rask, who testified for the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers at a hearing on mining safety legislation.

Rask said his native city, Butte, "has the worst fatal-accident record of any major copper-mining district in the United States, and this has been true for many years."

"In Idaho the record is almost as bad," Rask said. "The interior department inspected 16 mines in this state in 1962 and 1963. . . . all 16 were found to be violating the state mine safety law."

Rask said conditions in Washington State are "a little better."

School Bill Is Seen as Boon to Education

BOISE, May 6 (AP) — Among the flurry of education bills proposed by the 1965 legislature was one taking a step toward a coordinated system of Idaho universities, colleges and junior colleges.

The bill separates colleges and universities from lower public schools by directing the board of education to appoint an executive director to supervise their administration.

Curtis Eaton, Twin Falls, new president of the board, sees the bill as a start in developing a close-knit college system similar to those in California and New York.

"We may see the time," said Eaton, "when the mother University of Idaho stresses graduate work for students from other universities and colleges in the state — like the University of California at Berkeley."

California students may transfer from junior college to state college — or directly to the university if they have the grades — and on to the graduate school with little loss of credit.

Such uniformity of credit will be one of the first things for the new Idaho executive director to work for, said Eaton, adding: "Sometimes a student can't transfer from one Idaho university to the other without losing credit. It seems foolish not to coordinate so students can follow through from junior colleges to universities."

The director also will continue under the board's direction to implement recommendations in the study "Long Range Planning for Higher Education in Idaho" prepared by Stanford

The study recommends special staff employ to recruitment and administrator policy set by the board.

"I would not say a chancellor might not be better in the future for directing higher education in Idaho," he said, "but I don't think we're ready for that yet."

The bill specifies that the director will replace the superintendent of public instruction on the university board of regents — composed of board of education members.

The superintendent also is limited to supervising education below the college level under terms of the bill.

But Eaton said these are his own views of what the executive director will do; the board has not yet formally considered the matter.

A study to determine the director's specific responsibilities will be necessary, he said, and it probably will be some time before the appointment is made.

The director will not have the authority of a university chancellor, Eaton said. He will be a staff employ to recruitment and administrator policy set by the board.

"I would not say a chancellor might not be better in the future for directing higher education in Idaho," he said, "but I don't think we're ready for that yet."

The bill specifies that the director will replace the superintendent of public instruction on the university board of regents — composed of board of education members.

The superintendent also is limited to supervising education below the college level under terms of the bill.

But Eaton said D. F. Engelking, the present superintendent, can continue to be "helpful on the board as he has been in the past and he should sit with the board."

Eaton also said he did not believe correlation between higher and lower education in the state should be broken.

Higher education in Idaho now consists of the two universities, Boise College which is becoming a four year school, North Idaho Junior College at Coeur d'Alene and Lewis-Clark Normal School in Lewiston.

Another junior college is being formed in Twin Falls and the 1965 Legislature divided Idaho into six areas for formation of more junior college districts.

Eaton hopes the junior colleges, as formed, will be coordinated into a statewide system resulting from the legislative bill.

"I think this bill could be a boon to education," he said.

CAIRO, May 6 (AP) — A trailer loaded with farm workers overturned and plunged into a canal in the Nile delta yesterday, killing 19 persons. The accident happened at the village of Abshaway El-malak. Police said there were 11 survivors.

SMOKE BILLOWS from North Vietnamese train during attack by U.S. navy planes Tuesday. Smoking Institutes Help New Yorkers Fight Habit

NEW YORK, May 6 (UPI)—She stood on the stage of the auditorium in public school No. 128 and with a sly grin asked for a moment of silence. She grinned because she knew what she was going to get.

The coughing started with a clap and rose to a rumble. There was a lot of nervous laughter.

Dr. Catherine Hess smiled her sly smile and boomed into the microphone "Listen to your colleagues! Listen to yourselves!"

Dr. Hess took her medicine show to Manhattan Tuesday night. She stood before 425 hard core smokers, who came voluntarily, and tried to convince them to stop.

A husky woman with a husky voice, she is assistant city commissioner of health, a former two pack a day woman herself who long ago gave up the habit and now, she confesses, has an abject problem.

She used statistics and sarcasm. She encoiled, she scared, she scolded, she begged and she promised to pray for her audience.

To some extent, this technique works. Last October, the city of New York decided to fight smoking.

Of the 1,000 Queens residents who turned out for "stop smoking institutes," half dropped out before the four sessions had ended. Of the 500 who saw them through, 45 to 50 per cent quit. Through, about 160 were still not smoking three months later.

Dr. Hess is not depressed.

After listening to coughs and wheezes during the moment of silence, she talked about tobacco. "We couldn't make weed killers without tobacco," she said.

Phenol is in tobacco. And arsenic. Smoking puts carbon monoxide in your lungs. Oh, yes — and ammonia. There are 200 irritating chemicals in every cigarette you smoke.

Sarcasm: "Have fun with the next cigarette you smoke, won't you?"

Statistics: "One out of eight individuals in this room will die of lung cancer if you continue smoking."

And advice: "You've got to adopt a whole set of new habits. Smoking is not one habit, it's a thousand habits. You finish a meal, you lean back and light up. The phone rings, you answer it, you light up. You wake up at night and say, 'I've just got to have a cigarette.'"

"Stop carrying cigarettes in the usual place. I want no one to carry matches. Then, when you just have to have a cigarette, you are forced to think, 'Do I really need this cigarette?'"

"Make a list of why you want to quit. Three times a day recite it out loud. Learn to relax."

When Dr. Hess finished, she called for questions. A woman rose.

"Is it all right," she asked, "if we quit now?"
