

Fighting Erupts in Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Snipers fired on soldiers and police in the streets of La Paz today and in the ensuing gunfight, at least one person was killed and six were wounded, including two women.

The shooting broke out in the capital's manufacturing district. A public dispensary gave the figure on the wounded and said other casualties were possible.

The ruling military junta, pressed its drive for a military occupation of the government. A government announcement said the mine at Milluni fell to the armed forces just before noon and that a battle was under way at Telamayo.

Earlier today the junta rejected a 48-hour truce proposed by the striking miners, insisting that the miners first release all their hostages.

Gen. Alfredo Ovando, commander in chief of the armed forces, said there will be no truce until "they free the 70 hostages detained by the miners in various mines."

It was the first official disclosure that the miners had so many captives. Army and air force troops searched this morning on the Milluni Mine, 24 miles north of the capital, and shooting developed. A radio station controlled by the miners said there were deaths and injuries.

Church Will Return for Cloture Vote

BOISE (AP) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said today he will fly to Washington after making a commencement address at nearby Caldwell Monday night to cast his vote Tuesday in a move to cut off debate on the voting rights bill.

"I'll be voting for cloture," said Church, who is interrupting a 10-day, 1,500-mile tour of his home state to return to Washington for the vote on a cloture petition.

"I would be at my desk to cast my vote if I had to walk to Washington," Church said. Earlier it had been reported in Washington that Church would not be on hand for the vote.

Idaho senator said he does not know how that impression was gained, saying that as soon as he heard of the impending vote he rearranged his schedule to permit his return to the capital.

After-Dark Launching of Rocket Set

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Saturn 1 super-rocket is scheduled for its first after-dark launching Tuesday to continue a flurry of space activity that began Saturday with the successful Project Fire mission.

Also on the firing line are an interplanetary probe on Friday and the four-day orbital ride of astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II on June 1.

Florida missile watchers may see quite a spectacle as the Saturn 1, the world's most powerful rocket, pushes the Pegasus 2 meteoroid-detection satellite toward orbit.

The launching is scheduled between 2:30 a.m. and 8:52 a.m. (EST). If the rocket gets off in darkness, the 300-foot exhaust flame from the eight-engine powerplant should be visible from much of Florida, weather permitting.

MOSCOW (UPI) — William Foster, Twin Falls, was elected president of the Idaho Federation of Postal Clerks at the conclusion of a three-day convention during the weekend.

Dolph Hitesman, Mountain Home, was elected vice president and Bert Edwards, Boise, secretary-treasurer.

Next year's convention will be held May 20-22 in Boise.

30,000 Greeks March for Peace

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — About 30,000 Greeks marched 25 miles from ancient Marathon to Athens Sunday demanding a "Marathon peace march."

The "Marathon peace march" was organized by the pro-Communist United Democratic Left Party. It took about 12 hours under a hot sun.

MAIN ENTRANCE to an atomic bomb-proof underground combat operations post of the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) is this tunnel 1,400 feet long, 29 feet wide and 22 feet high. It will accommodate two-way vehicular traffic on a paved road. Tunnel leads to a central tunnel from which other tunnels branch off inside Cheyenne Mountain near Colorado Springs, Colo. The NORAD command post is scheduled to be set up early in 1966. (AP wirephoto)

Atom-Proof Command Post Is Under Construction in Colorado

CHEYENNE MOUNTAIN, Colo. (AP) — Deep inside this granite mountain, technicians have started installing secret new electronic gear that will enable U.S. commanders to react within seconds to any attack on North America.

This is the final phase of a four-year, $89-million effort to build an atom-proof command post for the North American Air Defense Command.

The NORAD command post now is above ground, about five miles away in Colorado Springs, and is vulnerable to an atomic knockout.

By early 1966, after the specially designed computers and other fancy new equipment have been checked out, the U.S. and Canadian military staff will take over the underground Combat Operations Center.

There, these keenly trained experts will maintain a 24-hour vigil for signs of impending attack by missile, bomber or satellite.

If attack should come, the NORAD commander in chief and his battle staff would "button up" behind a brace of 15-ton steel blast doors and call the shots for the defense — sending up jet interceptor fighter planes, launching antimissile and antisatellite weapons.

A serious deficiency in the present above ground command post whose communications lines are exposed to possible interruption.

All phone cables are buried in steel conduits several feet below ground. They are embedded in granite and sheathed in concrete, steel and copper.

The normal 300-man staff manning the center would swell to about 800 in a "button up" emergency.

To prepare for this, the Cheyenne Mountain complex has been designed as a sort of underground town with the capability to sustain its population for about 30 days without outside contact.

Inside the windowless walls of the 11 interconnected rectangular steel buildings are dormitories, mess halls, food storage areas, offices, computer rooms and the main theater where the battle staff would assemble.

The center has its own seven-room hospital, with separate places for major and minor surgery, a recovery room, laboratory, dental clinic and other facilities.

Buildup

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — The Communist Chinese have been moving military equipment toward the Vietnamese border in the last two weeks, Nationalist Chinese intelligence authorities said Monday.

The authorities said they did not see the troop buildup as a move toward outright Chinese intervention in Viet Nam but rather as an attempt to warn the United States against further extension of the war.

Official word of the buildup came on the heels of recent rumors that the Chinese were moving both military gear and possibly large numbers of soldiers into Yunnan Province in Southwest China.

Dynamite Is Found in Post Office

MONTREAL (AP) — Two sticks of dynamite wrapped in newspaper were found in the main post office today less than two hours after a time bomb smashed doors and windows in downtown Montreal.

No one was injured in the explosion, which ripped doors off the 12-story Prudential of England building and broke windows on the first six floors.

It was assumed the explosion was the work of Quebec Separatists who want to separate French Canada from the English-speaking part. Today is Victoria Day, a holiday named for the British queen and honoring Canada's membership in the Commonwealth.

Brazilian General Heads Peace Force in Dominican Area

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Brazilian Gen. Hugo Panasco Alvim was named to command the Inter-American Peace Force in the Dominican Republic Sunday night as the truce in Santo Domingo continued. U.S. Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer was named deputy commander of the force in which U.S. Marines and paratroopers will outnumber Latin Americans 10 to 1.

Flooding Increases On Big Wood River

Flooding increased Monday along Big Wood River in the Bradford area north of Bellevue with water rising on the Charles Early ranch and spreading over a field on the Edward Gage ranch, upstream from Early's place. An effort was made Saturday to dynamite brush caught on sandbars in the river, but it was reported unsuccessful.

Court Strikes Down Law On Red Mail

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court struck down today a 1962 law authorizing the Post Office Department to hold up Communist mail from abroad.

Justice William O. Douglas delivered the 8-0 decision. Justice Byron R. White took no part.

The government contended the law served two basic purposes: It protected American citizens, especially those of recent foreign origin, from harassment; it denied foreign powers the service of having the United States deliver their propaganda to people who did not want it.

The law was attacked as contradictory to a free and open society and as an unwarranted invasion of privacy.

The law provided that mailed matter—except sealed letters—that originated in a foreign country and was determined by the secretary of the treasury to be Communist political propaganda was to be held up by the postmaster general.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An American adviser and 35 South Vietnamese troops were killed in a Viet Cong ambush 150 miles south of Saigon Sunday night, a U.S. spokesman announced. Another American adviser and 25 Vietnamese are missing. Four other Americans were killed and one was wounded in two ambushes Saturday near Ben Cat and near Song Be.

2-Car Crash Injures Four Near Bliss

BLISS—Lawrence A. Lephart, 59, Boise, a certified public accountant, remained in critical condition Monday from traffic injuries.

Lephart sustained chest injuries, including multiple broken ribs, in a head-on collision Sunday morning about one mile east of Bliss on Highway 25. His wife, 57, has cuts on her face and head. She is in fair condition at Gooding Memorial Hospital.

Others hurt in the accident are Leonard Yazzie Nez, 29, and James Howard, 24, both of Banks. They were listed in fair condition and arrangements were being made to transfer Nez to a Pocatello hospital.

State Patrolman Walter J. Kirtley said the 1954 Ford sedan driven by Nez apparently crossed the center line of the highway and struck the 1958 Buick driven by Lephart.

Both cars were demolished and a citation is pending, according to Kirtley and Dal Murr, Gooding county deputy sheriff.

Metric Plan For Measures, Weights Eyed

LONDON (AP) — The British government has decided to switch the nation's weights and measures to the metric system. It was officially announced today.

The president of the Board of Trade, Douglas Jay, advised Britain's businessmen and industrialists to make the big adjustment on a gradual sector-by-sector basis to conform with the system preferred in Continental Europe.

The British move is intended among other things to help the nation's exporters trading with Europe and with other countries around the world using the metric system.

2 Area Pioneers Named To Cowboy Hall of Fame

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Two pioneer Idaho cowboys have been named to the new National Cowboy Hall of Fame which opens in Oklahoma City June 26.

Idaho representatives on the list of cowboys hall of fame are former Gem State Governor, U.S. Senator and stockman Frank R. Gooding and Oregon trail driver, Indian fighter and cattleman John Hailey.

Gooding lived from 1859 to 1929, while Hailey's life span was from 1835 to 1921. Idaho towns are named after both men.

Church Ends Three-Day Session Here

Jehovah's Witnesses were told Sunday during the conclusion of their three-day session that all persons taking part in or condoning immoral practices will be destroyed just as surely as God's chief enemy, Satan.

Speaking during the concluding session of the Bible training program at Robert Stuart Junior High School was M. L. Holien, district supervisor. His subject was, "The Moral Breakdown—What Can Be Done About It."

Holien said the moral decay can be seen in employee-employer relationships, in the alarming rise of juvenile delinquency, lack of fidelity in marriage and even in compromise and condoning of immorality of some church leaders.

He urged parents to show humility rather than sophistication in dealing with their children and their problems. He said God's kingdom will soon bring a complete end to all wickedness.

Holien said this breakdown can be avoided by learning God's righteous laws and principles and applying them to every facet of life.

There were 799 persons on hand for Holien's speech.

In final remarks he expressed gratitude to the businessmen and people of Twin Falls and Magic Valley for their assistance in making the convention a success. He said the church looked forward to future conventions in the community.

Members of Jehovah Witnesses of Idaho Circuit No. 3 also will attend a meeting June 24 through June 27 in Seattle, according to Holien. He said an attendance of 16,000 may be expected during the peak of the convention. Delegates will come from Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

First Public Wedding by KKK Is Held

FARMVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan wedding, was performed under the glare of spotlights on a dusty, plowed field in the heart of North Carolina's tobacco country.

The bridegroom, James Earl Taylor, 27, wore the white robe and peaked cap of the Klan.

The bride, Bessie Irene Taylor, 37, was in a light blue party gown with hooped skirt.

Encircling the council Saturday night were the Klansmen, some in robes, others in the military uniforms of the KKK security guard.

The minister, the Rev. George F. Dorsett of Greensboro, N.C., wore a black robe, decorated with a silver-colored sash — the official dress for the Klan's imperial chaplain.

In the darkness outside the brightly lit circle were an estimated 5,000 persons who had come to watch North Carolina's first Ku Klux Klan public wedding in 39 years.

The ceremony was another step in the Klan's sudden resurgence in North Carolina. The KKK revival has been marked with periodic rallies and street walks, most in the eastern section of the state.

The Klan also has announced plans to march Sunday, June 6, down Peachtree Street, a main thoroughfare in Atlanta, Ga.

The wedding near Farmville attracted Klansmen and curiosity seekers from many sections of the state.

The ceremony was brief, and ended when the minister prayed:

"May this couple be a blessing to the Klan and may the Klan be a blessing to them."

Taylor, who described himself as a body shop worker, told newsmen he had been married at the Klan rally because "it was the proper place for it. I believe in the Klan."

The bride said she was "very happy to agree to a Klan wedding."

The marriage license listed both Taylor and his bride as divorced.

"Separate Wheat From Chaff" In Endeavors, Seniors Told

RUPERT — Minico High School seniors were counseled to "separate the wheat from the chaff in the field of human endeavor" during Baccalaureate services Sunday afternoon at the high school gymnasium.

Elder Thorpe B. Isaacson, assistant to the Council of the Twelve of the LDS Church, Salt Lake City, urged students to set goals, to have a purpose and then decide what to do.

He spoke briefly of the motivation of great leaders of the nation, pointing out they had reached heights unexcelled in preserving the nation and the nation's standards because of their ideals and faith.

He said knowledge acquired and not used becomes useless and this generation inherits a world of danger and difficulty but also the most promising in history. They will also witness a rebirth of the nation or the destruction of civilization, Isaacson said.

He said youth can be likened

Go Ahead... Go Cadillac!

Before you buy any car at any price, consider a Cadillac first of all. New or previously owned, a Cadillac is the one way to be sure your investment will buy the most and last the longest.

Whatever you have budgeted for your next car, your Cadillac dealer has a Cadillac to fit your plans. Naturally, if your choice were unrestricted, you would prefer a new 1965 Cadillac like the Sedan de Ville in front. Next best would be a late-model, previously-owned Cadillac such as the black 1963 Sedan de Ville, above. A well-maintained, one-owner used Cadillac is actually the only real rival of a new Cadillac. Because of the popularity of the 1965 model, your authorized dealer is the one logical place to go for the best selection of fine used Cadillacs.

Minico Teacher Retiring Soon

RUPERT — Mrs. Ruby Gilmore, high school instructor, is retiring following the closing of school this week.

She has taught in the county for 21 years after beginning her teaching career in 1923 in Hazelton, where she taught for six years. In 1927 she was married to Lloyd Gilmore who served as superintendent of schools at Glenns Ferry and Hazelton before they moved to Twin Falls. They later moved to Jerome where Mrs. Gilmore taught in Jerome High School one year and then to Rupert in 1944. Mr. Gilmore died in 1951.

Mrs. Gilmore taught in Rupert High School from 1944 to 1955 and moved to the new Minico High School when it was opened. She has served four years as counselor and French teacher, and six as sophomore English teacher.

In 1910 she came to Rupert with her parents and attended Rupert High School and Cornell College at Mt. Vernon, Iowa, for two years, then was graduated with a B.A. from the University of Idaho.

She has seen many changes in education since graduation from Rupert High School in 1918, when there were 24 graduates to the present Minico graduating class of 320.

Mrs. Gilmore has been active in the Methodist Church, Order of Eastern Star, PEO and is serving as second vice president of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary sorority for teachers.

The Minico faculty presented her a wrist watch, the student body presented her a chain lamp and a floral centerpiece with a silver centerpiece bearing the words: "Our Teacher" was presented by the William Henschel family. The sophomore class gave her a corsage.

Mrs. Gilmore has one son, Lloyd, residing in California. She has no definite plans for the future and will continue to reside north of Rupert in the family home.

British Troops To Leave Libya

LONDON (AP) — Defense Secretary Denis Healey announced today British troops will be withdrawn from the Middle East kingdom of Libya by next March.

Healey's statement to the House of Commons made clear that the British pullout from Libya is taking place by agreement with the government of King Idris al Senussi.

Libya last year, under some pressure from the neighboring United Arab Republic, called formally for the removal of British as well as American military bases.

Fine Instructors

The College of Southern Idaho is pretty much of an orphan right now. It has no campus it can call its own, no tradition, no graduates, rather limited finances and few assets. Yet the president, Dr. James L. Taylor, has announced faculty appointments that would be envied by many established colleges and universities. As he promised earlier, Dr. Taylor has been hiring only instructors who have earned a master's degree in their particular field. The first students enrolling at the College of Southern Idaho are assured of instruction equal to that in many larger colleges and better than available in many established schools.

The new Twin Falls county junior college will be judged eventually on its own merits, of course, but it's getting off to an enviable start. Students who study here for their first two years of college have a good chance of winding up with better preparation for further education than those who enroll at larger colleges.

One advantage is already quite clear. At least in its earlier stages, College of Southern Idaho will have none of the distractions and extra-curricular events that can interfere with learning and study. It's also clear that many of the students enrolling here next fall will have a seriousness of purpose that's not always found in college students.

Perhaps CSI will offer the opportunity for more education to Magic Valley residents who either didn't have the opportunity of attending college or never took advantage of it. Such persons who are working in the daytime may jump at the chance to attend college at night. In this respect, CSI may open new doors to local persons who previously had abandoned any dreams of college.

If College of Southern Idaho follows up with other features as outstanding as the early list of instructors, it will develop a fine reputation in the next few years.

NO SAFEGUARD

A time-honored custom that permits persons to spend money they don't have, but expect to receive in a few days, is fraught with danger, according to a new ruling by the Idaho Supreme Court. The high court ruled the other day that postdating a check doesn't protect a person from prosecution for writing a check with insufficient funds to cover it. The ruling came on an appeal from a district court decision in which a check writer, who postdated a check, was sentenced to two years in the state prison.

Postdating checks is a rather common custom. It's used widely where purchases exceed an individual's checking account or just before pay day when a checking account may reach a low point. Yet those who follow the practice have been warned by the Supreme Court decision. If the person who accepts the check manages to cash it before the writer has enough funds, the check writer can be prosecuted for writing an insufficient funds check.

Actually, postdating is such a common practice that bank tellers watch dates on checks closely. One of the biggest offenders is the federal government and it's not rare for a pensioner or other beneficiary of a federal program to receive a check two or three days before the date that appears on the check.

Yet even if the U.S. treasurer follows the practice, it's not a good course to follow in Idaho where the Supreme Court says a prison term is possible.

GOLD-PLATED

For years, the Airline Pilots Association has been the envy of working men everywhere. News stories invariably refer to the union as "gold-plated." Its members have the highest pay—or perhaps "salary" is better—scale of any union and they work something like 80 hours a month. Perhaps no other union could be considered in the same gold-plated class, but there are some silver-plated unions.

Take the case of construction electricians, whose union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, has just negotiated a new contract in San Francisco. Right now construction electricians receive $45.71 for an eight-hour day, but come 1967 and they'll be drawing $243.05 for a 35-hour week, just short of $7 an hour.

The news might give some individuals the idea they'd like to be construction electricians, but the union isn't going to run out of membership application blanks. For this sort of job, requirements are generally high and numbers usually are quite restricted.

It's the old law of supply and demand functioning all over again. Certainly if construction electricians were numerous they wouldn't be able to command pay of $7 an hour. And they still have a long way to go before they're in the same class as the pilots.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON—A sipping case can be made for the argument that the United Nations as an effective instrument of world peace is on its death bed. It has all but decided, in effect, that it cannot protect a peace the communist bloc doesn't want. This decision is inherent in the little-noted resolution circulated by the U.N.'s Special Committee on Peace-Keeping Operations, putting all past obligations to the organization on a voluntary basis. In U.N. language, the resolution declares that "the financial situation of the organization should be brought to solvency by contributions by the entire membership."

Apparently, the United States has abandoned its stand that the Soviet Union and 12 other nations must pay their back dues or lose their seats in the Assembly. At least, our delegation has not come out against the new resolution, and the word here is that Washington will go along with it because there is no alternative but stalemate.

Another U.S. defeat—If the resolution is approved, however, the U.N. will have surrendered its taxing power as vested in the General Assembly. The Soviet Union is being told that in the future it would not have to pay for any General Assembly operation it opposed, which is precisely the concession Moscow has been demanding. The resolution is a major defeat for the United States, which hitherto has supported the principle that the Assembly may approve any peace-keeping operation that has been vetoed by the Security Council.

Almost incidentally, the U.S. has quietly surrendered in its fight to implement Article 19 of the U.N. Charter. That article deposes that nations more than two years in arrears in their dues shall be denied a vote in the Assembly. Washington has surrendered on this one because it was obviously a fight it couldn't win.

What the Peace-Keeping committee hopes is that its resolution will bring a temporary solution to the U.N.'s financial troubles. The organization is all but bankrupt. It needs a fast $110 million to pay its current debts. Unless its gets this money somewhere, any discussion of the U.N.'s future usefulness will be academic.

BANKRUPT DEBATING SOCIETY—Russia is about $60 million in arrears and would have to pay about $22 million to get off the two-year list. France owes about $18 million and would have to cough up nearly $2 million. Other Red bloc nations in arrears include Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland and Rumania. Presumably, these nations would get it up if the U.N. offered assurances that they could not be taxed in the future without their consent.

But stopgap tactics such as these are merely postponing the U.N.'s day of reckoning. At some point, the U.N. membership is going to have to decide whether it should deteriorate into a debating society, with no power to intervene in international crises. The U.S. is in South Viet Nam and Santo Domingo because, as President Johnson has frankly stated, the U.N. was powerless to do anything in either of those countries. And the U.N. is powerless because that, apparently, is how its membership wants it.

Views of Others

NOT EVEN ALMANAC CAN PREDICT
A Seattle columnist quoted something about earthquakes from the Old Farmer's Almanac in such a way that many readers thought the almanac predicted an earthquake for yesterday. In short order, the rumor was abroad that another quake was due to hit on Wednesday and so watch out. We heard the rumor here in Longview.

People removed vases from shelves and took other precautions against another shake-up and then went around all day getting nervous every time a heavy truck went by and made the windows shudder.

Of course the quake didn't come. We say "of course" because there is no such thing as a predictable earthquake. Unlike bad weather, no one can see earth slippage coming. There could have been a quake yesterday, or any day for that matter, but the odds against it were great. A fault in the earth may slip, then slip a little more within hours before finally settling down; but usually a long period of stability follows a major slippage.

It was 1906 when the long San Andreas fault that runs through San Francisco jarred central California. It has remained pretty steady ever since. Our heavy quake in 1949 was the first of such size in many decades. No almanac writer knows any more about when one will happen again than any of the rest of us.—Longview Daily News.

Arizonans, along with nearly everyone else in the Southwest, have a water problem. In some sections of the state, wells must be dug 25 feet deeper every year to reach the water table.

The situation is serious enough to be driving some people to alcohol for at least a partial solution to their troubles.

Temperance folk need not be alarmed, however. The alcohol is being used to cut down the evaporation of stored water.

Researchers at the University of Arizona are working on a wind-powered device that meters emulsified alcohol onto the surface of tanks and reservoirs where it forms a thin film that retards evaporation. As the film dissipates, the gadget automatically supplies more evaporation suppressant.

Two years of tests with a 53 by eight-foot pond at Tucson show that evaporation was cut up to 35 per cent. It is estimated that the system would cost a farmer only 80 cents for every thousand gallons of water saved.

Couldn't help smiling over the writer who writes notes to himself, misplaces them and then can't read them when he finds them eventually.

Nothing like that ever happened to me. But there's one little odd thing that does keep happening. I always pick up little odds and ends of nuts and bolts—little ones—and put them in my pocket. For all I know, they don't fit anything, but I just can't bring myself to throw them away! I'm getting quite a collection!

Religion In America

By LOUIS CASSELS

"It is possible to be both an honest Christian and an honest scientist."
So says a man who has achieved professional distinction as a research scientist and as a Christian theologian. He is Dr. John Habgood, formerly a biologist on the faculty of Cambridge University in England and now an Anglican priest, serving as a rector of St. John's Church in Jedburgh, Scotland. His conviction that "there is no need for science and Christianity to be in fundamental conflict" is the theme of a new book, "Truths in Tension" (Holt, Rinehart and Winston). Packed into its 151 pages are more penetrating insights into science and religion than the lay reader is likely to find in any comparable volume now in print.

"Science and religion belong to different ends of the spectrum of knowledge," says Dr. Habgood. "Neither has all of the answers; man needs both to make sense out of his experience as a thinking creature in an orderly universe. Confusion arises only when people fall

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

Overweight children become overweight adults unless steps are taken to bring their weight down. About 25 per cent of our teen-aged population has been found to be overweight. The proportion is higher in the girls than in the boys. It has been amply proved that these youngsters are shortening their lives by carrying this excess fat.

The causes of obesity in children are complex. Under-activity is as much a factor as over-eating. The obese child is often merely copying the eating habits of the rest of the family. In some, however, the trouble starts with a trip to the hospital or with some severe emotional upset.

A great variety of emotional problems may be responsible. These tend to work in a vicious circle. As the child becomes more obese he becomes more upset or embarrassed by his deviation from the norm and he seeks solace in eating. At the same time the child becomes more withdrawn and less interested in physical activity.

Before anything can be done to reduce his weight he must have a strong desire to help himself (and I don't mean to a candy bar). No one can do his dieting for him but mother can do much to smooth the way.

Feed him several small meals a day rather than three large ones. Offer him foods that are high in protein and low in sugars, starches and fats. Cut away the fat from the meat before serving. Give the child snacks of low-calory fruits and skim milk. Don't rely on appetite-depressing drugs to solve the problem.

Remember that an obese child who is growing does not need to lose weight. Just keep him from gaining and his normal growth will bring him into line. Stress the advantages of a trim appearance. Praise him for small successes but avoid shaming or scolding for failures.

Serving meals on a smaller plate will make it appear that he is getting more than he actually is. Help him find satisfaction in physical activity rather than eating. Provide a peaceful environment by avoiding emotional crises and never let him doubt for a minute that he is a cherished and valued member of the household. Above all, set a good example by not overeating yourself.

Obesity in children is a many-sided problem for which there is no single, simple solution. The diet you provide must give your child all the essential nutrients but in controlled amounts. Remember, the child's future health and happiness depend on it.

CHINA BEACH, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Coney Island of the Vietnamese war is China Beach. It is here the troops come for a refreshing dip in the soft and sibilant surf of the South China Sea whenever they get a break in their battle duties.

The atmosphere of the place is almost unbelievable. In a way it is better than Coney Island, because the water looks cleaner and you can walk for miles without stepping on an orange peel.

China Beach is a long curve of hot sand dominated at one end by Monkey Mountain and at the other end by Marble Mountain. We own Monkey Mountain and atop it are the radar installations guarding the vast Da Nang airbase from which our planes roar off on missions. The area around Marble Mountain is off limits to the troops because of Viet Cong activity.

I went to the beach on a recent Sunday with two veteran Air Force sergeant friends—John C. Gouleke of Kansas City, Mo., and Jim Stroud of Doniphan, Mo. Both worked long hours and welcomed having an afternoon off.

The beach has almost as many small kids on it as grains of sand, and if you are wise you pay them protection money.

Poor Man's Plato

By HAL BOYLE

Then we picked a partly shaded spot in front of the Rang-Dong bar, where you can buy native beer and sandwiches.

There were hundreds of Americans and Vietnamese at the beach. Some of the Vietnamese wore white fedora-type bamboo hats, and had an oddly formal look as they bobbed up and down in the water.

Trucks unloaded scores of Marines who had been on combat patrols in the heat-seared hills for days.

They ran into the surf like crazed prospectors seeing a desert mirage. There also were a number of pretty local belles clad in skimpy bikinis.

Whenever they entered the eddy of the water, they were surrounded by whooping Marines who showed off like small boys by splashing each other and standing on their heads.

After a swim we stretched out in our chairs and as a warplane throbbed past in the peaceful sky, Jim said:

"Everything about the war seems unrealistic. Take this place. The guerrillas are close enough to lob an artillery shell on this beach if they wanted to—but they haven't."

Some women and children peddlers surrounded us with bargains in withered pineapples and marble statues of Buddha. I forked over $1.50 for one of the Buddhas because he resembled one of my employers after a hard night.

Several children immediately started patting the statue's stomach, then my stomach, and exclaiming:

"Same, same—like Buddha!"

On the way back from our outing we gave a lift to Mike Insted of Rochester, N.Y., a young Air Policeman who acts as a lifeguard.

"There is a bad rip tide here, but we haven't had a single drowning," he said.

"I don't see how the men could take it out here except for a chance to come to this beach every week or so. A lot of them can't be sure they'll ever get another swim."

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

We are still treating our balance-of-payments problem on a "Waltz me around again, Willie" basis. In spite of Washington's own warnings about how vital it is to reduce overseas expenditures—our cash foreign aid outlay exceeds last year's.

Our taxpayers' dollars still fly like leaping fish to 82 countries. Tootsie, toot-tot, Tootsie, good-bye!

A meat-ax slash in foreign aid would be both foolhardy and dangerous, but we are supposed to be battling the gold crisis.

We've just finished a free $2.5 million municipal center for Adis Ababa, although Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie, the Lion of Judah, is one of the richest men in all Africa. You'd think this brother could have spared a dime.

We've poured a $65 million tidbit into coal mines in Turkey that still do not pour out coal. A $48 million gift to be matched in the Philippines remains unmatched—but our money is gone. King Mwambutsa IV ("The Mwami") in Burundi, a Peking outpost bordering the Congo, buys sports cars and a residence in Paris with some of your money and mine. When Thailand Prime Minister Sarit Thanarat died in 1964 he left an estate estimated at $131 million.

"I was surprised," said successor Thanom Kittikachorn. In country after country in the 82 countries our taxes fly into the pockets of the rich, and precious little trickles down to the poor.

Then when demagogues bite our hand that feeds them we keep them on the list just the same. Nasser has conned us for $1.2 billion and Red stooge Sukarno for even more. Yet in Egypt, in Indonesia or nearly anywhere it seems utterly impossible for any demagogue to do anything that disqualifies him for our foreign aid.

Our politicians turn to American enterprises to ease the gold crisis while our government itself still deals mostly in palliatives and leaves undone whatever is politically unpopular or that takes hard doing by our officials themselves.

In the political grab bag and economic monstrosity known as the farm program, the cotton export and domestic subsidies, and government holdings for example, will cost nearly $1 billion this year. Cotton exports are down about 40 per cent low last year. Government cotton stocks are up to nearly the all-time high of 14 1/2 million bales. This is almost a full year's total production. If the crops were liberated into the channels of trade it would reduce our balance-of-payments deficit approximately $50 million a year.

More than 325,000 dependents of government nonmilitary personnel remain abroad. And they're abroad not only at the expense of the gold crisis—but of the American taxpayer while Americans not to travel.

The Defense Department ordered servicemen's dependents home nearly five years ago. But one of President Kennedy's first official acts was to countermand the unpopular directive. Those in hardship posts deserve special consideration; in many localities their life is much harder than we know. But servicemen's dependents abroad now total more than 462,000. As this column has pointed out, less than 2,000 are with our servicemen in Korea, for example. More than half of the 462,000 are in Europe.

Debtor nations that somehow call themselves creditors continue to draw our gold, especially France. France still owes us $6.3 billion in World War I debts that remain due and unpaid to this very day. Yet our officials are so busy explaining why they can't do anything about it that they're doing nothing about it except to cook up nonproductive explanations on a "let bygones be bygones" basis.

Our taxpayers' $3 billion hoanza in foreign currencies on deposit abroad—dealt out free to official junketeers—encourages the same do-nothing dalliance as if we had all the time in the world to put this scandal-ridden situation in order.

The outlook for real action is far better under new Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler than under retired Robin Hood of the Red Ink Douglas Dillon whose performance in this respect was electrifyingly limp from start to finish. But with the needed correctives still delayed time is working against us, not for us.

wins the trick as surely as the ace would have.

His next play is to lead a heart from dummy. He chooses the heart in preference to a club since dummy holds three hearts and only two clubs. He is prepared to finesse the eight but East plays the nine so he wins the trick with the ten.

A second spade is led and he selects the appropriate card from dummy to cover whatever card West plays. A second heart finesse, a third spade finesse and a third heart finesse follow and South has eight tricks before starting on either clubs or diamonds.

He does not need to finesse the eight spots in these suits since he only needs five more tricks for the grand slam but ten spot finessses succeed. He makes all the tricks and complains mildly about underbidding.

Just for the fun of it shift the East and West cards. Now all finessses will be wrong and South will do well to make as many as six tricks with the same cards that have just produced 12.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, MAY 24 — Born today, you have a remarkable facility for getting things done both in the best way and in the best time. This is a trait which, no matter what type of career you choose, should ease your way to the top considerably. You need only take care that you keep that careful balance between time and quality; for should you begin to let quality suffer in order to shorten the time it takes you to complete any given project, your advantage would be lost.

One whose true emotions may be deeply hidden behind the facade of external appearance and behavior, you are not an easy person to know, although you are easy to get along with. Even your best friends may not know precisely how you feel about things, and unless you tell them, they probably never will. This is a trait which can be carried too far, making you seem, if you're not careful, cold and distant rather than strong and silent.

Although you may think the family circle unimportant to you emotionally, you will find as you grow older that the bonds of domesticity grow both firmer and more vital to your happiness. Think twice, therefore, before you decide against marriage, as you may be tempted to do when you are young.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

N.Y. Has Ban on Serving Water In Restaurants

NEW YORK (AP) — If you want a glass of water in a New York City restaurant, you'll have to ask for it.

If you get it without asking, the proprietor will be risking a summons to court and a fine up to $50.

The water conservation measure, effective Tuesday, was ordered because the drought is continuing to lower levels in the city's reservoirs.

The ban on serving water in restaurants will save 12 to 15 million gallons a day, estimates Armand D'Angelo, commissioner of water supply, gas and electricity.

ENDORSES RIVERS ACT IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Idaho Fish and Game Commission Chairman Glenn Stanger said Sunday the commission not only endorses the proposed Wild Rivers Bill but wants the designation for the Salmon River extended.

A U. S. Senate subcommittee hearing on the measure was held in Boise last week.

State Police Car Strikes Pickup Truck

An Idaho State Police car driven by Chester K. Hillman, 30, 278 Wiseman St. collided with a pickup truck about 6 p.m. Sunday two miles east of Murtaugh. No injuries were reported.

Patrolman Hillman was driving the 1964 Dodge east on Highway 30 when the vehicle collided with the rear of a 1957 Ford pickup truck stopped on the highway for a left turn by Alvin Konicek, 59, Murtaugh.

Deputy Sheriff Dennis Haynes said the pickup truck was attempting to turn into the driveway of the Alvin Barton home. The impact turned the truck over on its top.

Konicek told Haynes he had his turn signals on, but Hillman said he did not see them. Haynes reported when he arrived at the scene all the lights were working except the turn signals.

A witness, Albert Bruce, 109 Madison St., told Deputy Haynes he did not see Konicek's turn signal.

No citations were issued.

Referee Is Still Big Question for Tuesday's Championship Fight

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — The strain, in Maine lies mainly on the brain who will referee the storm-tossed Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight Tuesday night? Don't overlook Barney Felix, the man who handled the Miami bout. The Maine State Boxing Commission had a series of meetings Sunday to select the non-voting man in the ring. The commission's intention, however, is to keep the identity of the referee a secret until fight time at the Central Maine Youth Center.

Yankees Split Pair With Solons

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Pepitone's second homer of the day, a three-run shot in the sixth inning of the nightcap, plus Pedro Martinez's clutch relief pitching in the ninth carried the New York Yankees to a 3-2 victory and a split of their doubleheader with Washington Sunday.

Pepitone and Tom Tresh homered for New York in the opener, but the Senators, paced by Jim King and Phil Ortega, breezed to a 7-3 triumph.

New York's Al Downing gave up only two singles until the eighth inning of the second game when Frank Howard crashed a 450-foot triple following a base on balls for the Senators' first run.

King drove in three runs with a homer, double and sacrifice fly in the Senators' first game victory. Ken McMullen also homered while Ortega pitched four-hit ball for eight innings and doubled in two runs in the Senators' four-run sixth.

Giants Down Astros 5-2 on Fluke Homer

HOUSTON (AP) — A three-run, inside the park homer by Jim Ray Hart, on a routine fly ball that Jimmy Wynn lost in the dome, sent the San Francisco Giants on to an easy 5-2 victory over the Houston Astros Sunday.

The fluke homer came off Ken Johnson, who left the game in the fourth and learned three innings later that he had been traded to Milwaukee for outfielder Lee Maye.

Hart's high fly homer came with two out after singles by Jim Davenport and Willie Mays. Wynn moved in on the ball, then lost it completely. Hart rounded the bases and scored standing up.

Astros' Dome Needs Second Coat of Paint

HOUSTON (AP) — The solution to the glare problem in Houston's Astro dome is more paint, says Tal Smith, assistant to Astro President Roy Hofheinz.

Smith and General Manager Paul Richards toured the outfield with a band of players and coaches Sunday after San Francisco beat Houston, 5-2, on Jim Hart's fly ball that center fielder Jim Wynn lost in the glare of the dome. The routine chance turned into a three-run homer.

A $20,000 paint job last month put a coating of off-white paint over the plastic bubble, reducing the glare substantially, but not enough.

Dressen suffered a minor heart attack during spring training in Lakeland, Fla., last March 8.

Bob Swift, who has been serving as acting manager, will stay on the bench with Dressen, the Tigers said.

Sox Defeat Angeles, Snap Loss Skein

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Chicago White Sox capitalized on Dean Chance's wildness for six runs in the first three innings Sunday as they broke a three-game losing streak by beating the Los Angeles Angels 8-3.

Chance, the Cy Young award winner as major league baseball's outstanding pitcher in 1964, walked five batters and gave up five hits in 2 2/3 innings. It was his third loss in six decisions and inflated his earned run average to 3.88.
