

Attorneys, Judge Discuss Idaho's Reapportionment

BOISE (AP)—Attorneys involved in Idaho's reapportionment suit met with U.S. District Judge Fred M. Taylor today in an effort to determine what steps to take to decide the case, but failed to reach an agreement.

Flood Danger Decreased in Magic Valley

Cloyd Mecham, chairman of the Little Wood River Irrigation District, said Monday there seems to be no present danger of flooding of the Little Wood River.

Mecham, Carey, said, in his opinion warm weather would raise the inflow of the river faster than the small amounts of rain which have been falling in the area.

In the Hailey area danger of flooding has decreased and it was reported that there is no danger from rain.

Crews from the Union Pacific Railroad were working along the railroad tracks to fill in places where the waters have washed away soil in the Hailey area.

Rain was reported falling in the Hailey area Monday.

No flood danger was reported in the Richfield area and clear skies were alternating with clouds in that area Monday but no rain had fallen.

Church Asks Increase for Soil Program

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Idaho Sen. Frank Church has asked the senate appropriations subcommittee for agriculture to retain $4.3 million for 10 pilot soil conservation programs in Idaho that would increase a five-county area income more than $20 million a year.

Under the program, Church said, local farmers and the federal government take on large conservation tasks normally impossible.

The president recommended the $4.3 million figure but the House of Representatives trimmed this to $2.8 million.

California Firm To Work on Dam On Lower Snake

WASHINGTON (AP)—The largest civil works contract ever awarded by the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers will be assigned Tuesday to a California combine for work on Little Goose Lock and Dam on the Lower Snake River in southeastern Washington.

Rep. Catherine May, R-Wash., announced Monday she said the Walla Walla District of the Corps of Engineers will award the $71,956,573 contract to the Vinnell-Minnix-Fuller-Dillingham combine of Alhambra, Calif.

Gooding Boy and Malta Girl Are Tops at Rodeo

GOODING — Byron Gorrell, Gooding, and Vicki Parke, Malta, emerged as best all-around cowboy and cowgirl at the conclusion of the two-day fifth district high school and rodeo held Friday and Saturday in Gooding.

Miss Parke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Parke, was also selected as queen of the rodeo from a field of 13 contestants.

Meeting with Judge Taylor were Rep. Herman McDevitt, D-Bannock, a Pocatello attorney who filed the suit on behalf of two private citizens; Atty Gen. Allan G. Shepard, and Boise attorney Blaine Evans. Evans represents Gov. Robert E. Smylie and Shepard appeared for other state officials named in the suit.

The Supreme Court's early June decision marked the second time the case had been sent back to the Idaho district court. The three judge panel, composed of Taylor, District Judge William Mathes of Los Angeles, and Appellate Judge M. Oliver Koelsch of San Francisco, will now have to decide whether the changes in legislative makeup approved by the 1965 legislature are acceptable under standards set by the high court.

The legislature revised the makeup of both the House and Senate. Prior to the session the Senate had one member from each county, regardless of population. The House had 79 members, apportioned among the counties on a basis of population, except that each county was entitled to one representative regardless of population.

The legislature created nine districts for the election of 44 senators. Each district has a number of senators as it has counties, but the law provides that one senator must live in each county.

The state was divided into 27 districts for the election of 67 state representatives. The districts vary in size from one to four counties. They also vary in population but are set up so that each House member represents approximately the same number of people.

The suit involved is one of two cases affecting reapportionment which are pending in the federal court.

Plane Wreck Is Spotted By Searchers

ST. GEORGE, Utah (AP)—Search planes spotted today the burned wreckage of what was believed to be a missing Civil Air Patrol plane lost in the search for a New Mexico aircraft.

Harlan Bement, Utah aeronautics director, flew over the scene of the sighting, 23 miles south-southwest of Panguitch, in south central Utah, and reported: "It is almost completely consumed and there was no sign of life."

Bement said helicopters would attempt to land. The New Mexico plane has been missing since it left Salt Lake City Friday for Farmington, N.M. The search plane was overdue Sunday night in a southeastern Utah hunt for the New Mexico craft.

The New Mexico plane was piloted by J.F. Jeansonne of Hobbs, N.M., and carried his wife, Gene, and daughter, Suzanne, 16.

The search plane was piloted by Dr. Elmer Cox and carried Jim Middleton and Jim Miles, all of St. George.

Disorderly Welcome in Chicago Greets Astronauts

CHICAGO (AP)—James McDivitt and Edward White II, the Gemini 4 astronauts, came to Chicago today and were greeted by a tumultuous welcome. McDivitt, a native of Chicago, said he felt "very humble" and added: "We were just doing our jobs."

State BPW Conclave Concludes in T. F.

The largest state convention of the Idaho Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs ever to be held, with more than 160 registered members attending the three-day event, adjourned here Sunday after an Emblem Breakfast and closing programs.

They were whisked to the downtown lake front in open white cars. Waves of cheers from crowds five deep rolled along with them.

"When I was a kid in Chicago," said McDivitt, "I never dreamed of a day like this. The last few days make me feel very humble. We were just doing our jobs."

White, responding to greetings at the airport, said, "We are very greatly honored to have the day with you. We are accepting it for the industry that created the space craft and the booster."

There was no sign of a threatened demonstration by civil rights protesters as the official parade began on a section of Michigan Avenue north of the Chicago River.

The vice president, his wife, and their two sons flew in from Washington before the plane carrying the Gemini 4 crew arrived.

After a special meeting of the City Council to confer honorary Chicago citizenship on McDivitt, White, and two officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Dr. George E. Mueller, associate director, and Charles W. Matthews, Gemini project manager, there was a meeting set with school children.

About 6,500 pupils were to put McDivitt and White through a question-and-answer period in McCormick Place. Other plans for the day included a dinner for the astronauts party given by Mayor Daley, and a fireworks display at night.

The astronauts will spend tonight in Chicago and fly to Ann Arbor, Mich., early Tuesday for another round of celebrations at the University of Michigan.

Other speakers were Louise Shaddock, head of the Idaho Department of Commerce and Development, and Dr. R. Curtis Westfall, vice president of the College of Idaho.

Three delegates to attend the national convention of the BPW were elected Saturday. Marygrace Cox, Jerome; Elizabeth Williams, Emmett; and Joseph Kroush, Emmett, will attend the national convention to be held July 25-29 in Washington, D. C.

The 10th International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will meet in Twin Falls, Idaho, July 25-29. The ex-suburbanites are assured of a cordial reception.

Rangers Find 100 Bodies of Troops Near Dong Xoai

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Vietnamese rangers combing a rubber plantation just north of the shattered town of Dong Xoai found the bodies of about 100 government troops today, the remains of the 7th Airborne Battalion, a U.S. military spokesman announced. Dong Xoai was reported quiet but braced for more trouble from the Viet Cong. As the rangers moved through the French-owned Michelin rubber plantation a few miles north of Dong Xoai they found an assortment of grim relics left behind by the Viet Cong, among them the wreckage of a U.S. Army helicopter and a U.S. Army man's identification tag.

Texas Town Digging Out After Flood

SANDERSON, Tex. (AP)—The people in this southwest Texas farm community stopped and thought for a moment Sunday and then resumed the laborious job of digging out after the flash flood which virtually wiped out three families and destroyed one-third of the town.

Three search teams continued down the narrow dry Sanderson Creek Canyon which just two days ago surged with water from an 11-inch cloudburst that carried at least 15 persons to death. Another 11 persons were missing and feared dead in the debris left by the crushing 15-foot wall of water which hit at breakfast time Friday.

Searchers say some bodies may never be found in the rugged country.

Sheriff Bill Cooksey issued these damage figures: 44 homes destroyed, 36 homes with major damage, 106 with minor damage, 13 trailer homes destroyed, 8 trailers with minor damage, 27 business houses with major to total damage, and 244 families sustaining losses.

President Johnson expressed sympathy Sunday for the flood victims and ordered an emergency center at Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, to coordinate military assistance to the stricken town.

Johnson's Strategy Hit By Goldwater

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Barry M. Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee, says President Johnson should "stop trying to be general" and let the military decide strategy and tactics in Viet Nam.

The former Arizona senator also said Sunday night in a television interview that the Reds should be put on notice that Hanoi itself could be bombed unless they gave in.

"I fully think that if we do this that some time in the early winter or fall Hanoi will say they have had enough and they won't take that next step," Goldwater said.

THEY BOUGHT A TOWN! Kenneth Krueger, 45, and his wife, Jeanette, are looking forward to the responsibilities of town ownership in eastern Nevada, even though it's a very small town. They depart Tuesday from their Menlo Park, Calif., home for their newly purchased town of Currie, on U.S. 93, where Krueger will be the town's only businessman, but where the couple hopes to relieve frontier days. Both are giving up lucrative positions for their grubstake in the wilds. (AP wirephoto)

White House Honors Tops In Art World

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders of the art world gathered at a White House festival in their honor today, and right off there was public note of misgivings by some over President Johnson's foreign policies.

Four poets and writers launched the day-long program by reading from their works in the historic East Room. The master of ceremonies, Mark Van Doren, himself a poet, noted with regret the absence of poet Robert Lowell, who declined an invitation because of his "dismay and distrust" of the administration's foreign policy.

Van Doren said he had been troubled as to whether to mention the absence of Lowell, "who assumed that he could not enjoy public celebration without making subtle public commitments."

Ninety American and Vietnamese planes hammered targets in North Viet Nam in a series of separate raids.

Twenty U.S. Air Force jet bombers escorted by 30 other jets attacked the Ban Xom Lom barracks 70 miles southwest of Hanoi. Five buildings were reported destroyed and 10 heavily damaged.

Forty-two planes hit three areas of the Ba Bon army barracks 60 miles north of the demilitarized zone, U.S. spokesmen said.

Heavy air strikes also continued inside South Viet Nam against suspected Viet Cong targets. U.S. Navy and Marine Corps planes were said to have flown 118 sorties Sunday. Pilots claimed heavy damage to targets and suspected troop concentrations.

Six Americans were killed over the weekend, but none appeared to have died as the result of enemy action.

Four U.S. Army helicopter crewmen were killed Saturday night when their craft crashed 30 miles east of Saigon during a storm.

He said nationalization of the enterprises would be an "extreme solution and we in Monaco do not insist on having croupiers and restaurant employees as civil servants." He said, however, that a new company might be formed with both government and private interests holding shares.

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — The curious and pathetic quality-most apparent in the demands from the halls of academe that the United States withdraw from Viet Nam and Santo Domingo is a stubborn refusal to come to grips with history.

It has always been the teacher's boast that he, more than any other human animal, had a speaking acquaintance with the past. History, he has insisted, was only prologue. This and that would happen, he taught, because history said so.

Constantly, he hammered on the theme that mankind should learn from its mistakes and short-sightedness of the past.

Now, however, the professor and the student who seek peace at any price are ignoring the history books on their shelves. In their view, it is now safe to knuckle under to totalitarianism, because the times are different.

Everything will come out all right, they say, if Uncle Sam just stops meddling in the affairs of other countries.

LESSONS OF RECENT HISTORY — Well, Mrs. Balderdash, 20 years ago communism as an effective force was virtually absent from Latin America. And because Uncle Sam kept hands off, we now have a Castro Cuba, a chaotic Santo Domingo, and flourishing communist threats in Colombia, Venezuela and Bolivia.

Fifty years ago, the communist state existed only in the minds of Lenin and Co. Today, it controls a third of the world and has infiltrated or is busy softening up the remaining two-thirds.

In the 1940's, China was a country waiting for someone to build it into a democratic state, or at least a state allied with the free world. Today its more than 600 million people are under the thumb of a communist regime outspokenly dedicated to the destruction of the rights of man.

NOW "ACCOMMODATION" CALLED FOR — For the most part, freedom not only has kept hands off, it has retreated. Until recently, it paid scant attention to an emerging Africa. It permitted Indonesia to fall to the egomaniac, fellow-traveling Sukarno. It watched while Fidel Castro betrayed his grass-roots supporters and swept his country into the communist orbit.

But, say the academic appeasers, the free world now must reach an accommodation with communism as the inevitable wave of the future. South Viet Nam, some of them insist, would be better off Red. Because some Latin American regimes are stupid and brutal, they say, the people's only path toward achieving their aspirations is Marxism.

LACK OF DECISION — They are so pathetically wrong. If history has taught us anything, it is that nothing is inevitable. A communist state in Russia was not inevitable; it could have been avoided by a capacity for decision and swift action by the western allies.

China could have been saved by massive American support not only of Chiang Kai-shek, but of the democratic forces with which Chiang could have been forced to do business.

Early on, Cuba could have been saved by American intervention under Eisenhower, or a little later—by a Kennedy more familiar with the uses of power.

The French, who have known their moments of wisdom, have an old phrase which answers the shrill cries of the classrooms. It is "Plus ça change, plus change la memo."

In case the professors have forgotten their French, too, it means: "The more things change, the more they remain the same."

SCHOOL VANDALISM MYSTERY
When human behavior is reduced to mathematical statistics, the result is often as bewildering as it is dubious. We felt this to be particularly so when we saw the recent statistics on school vandalism as reported from 32 major American cities.

Assuming that the reporting was done correctly, we find that Richmond, Va., led the country in school vandalism losses, coming to an average of $2.70 per pupil yearly. Boston was second at $2, followed by Chicago with $1.61, San Francisco with $1.22, and New York with $1.20. At the other end of the scale were Omaha and El Paso with only 3 cents, Oakland with 7, Los Angeles and Austin with 15.

We are not surprised to read of the high rate in Boston, Chicago and New York. These cities' racial, social, and economic problems are intense. On the other hand, and despite its southern racial problem, there has been little reason to think of Richmond as a likely city to lead the nation in school vandalism.

When we turn to those cities with the lowest rates, we also run into perplexing questions. It is generally believed that cities with a heavy concentration of members of minority races subject to discrimination will automatically have a high vandalism score. Yet what about Oakland, Los Angeles and El Paso? The first has had a heavy inflow of Negroes; yet Oakland's vandalism rate is only one-eighth that of San Francisco across the Bay. Los Angeles has half-a-million Negroes and hundreds of thousands of Mexicans, yet look at its low rate. Even more striking is El Paso, which shares the lowest rate in the land, yet is heavily lower-class Mexican, a group increasingly unhappy over its place in American society.

Such data should be useful warning against stereotyped thinking about people, races, and situations, reminding us of how much more insight and understanding we need about our fellow men.—Christian-Science Monitor.

PEORIA TRIES IDEA IN TRANSIT
Peoria, Ill., has been experimenting with a new idea in public transit. The bus company, in cooperation with academic specialists from the state university, has put in a premium service that provides front-door pickup, a regularly reserved seat for each passenger, stewardess service, reading matter and a monthly charge for regular patrons.

Commuting time is reduced, the ride is made more pleasant than in the usual kind of public bus and, hopefully, more pleasant than the task of driving and parking one's private car.

The experiment has been under way since the beginning of the year. Current reports, according to Passenger Transport, are that the subscription commuter service has been a resounding success.

If the present indications of good results are borne out more conclusively over a greater time, the implications for cities may be important.

If all-day parkers can be persuaded to ride the bus in preference, the customers of the business and professional places downtown will find it more convenient to shop and to keep their appointments. Parking will be eased, congestion will be lessened, and everybody, including the commuters, will be better off.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Trouble for the Congo certainly could not be said to be over, but as the former Belgian colony approached the end of its fifth year of independence the outlook was far more encouraging than even a few months before.

For Moise Tshombe also things had changed for the better.

A year ago at this time he was an exile living in Spain. This time he was back in Madrid but under entirely different circumstances. For now he no longer was the disgraced leader of an abortive attempt to break up the Congo. He was instead the premier of the whole of the Congo.

And in Madrid he had negotiated a commercial agreement under which, in exchange for Spanish technical aid and financial cooperation, the Congo would supply Spain with tropical woods, coffee, tea, rubber and other raw materials.

The new climate in which Tshombe found himself also represented a change for the United States.

In the Congo, the United States had given full support to a four-year United Nations attempt to restore peace and stability, the military phase of which ended on June 30 of last year still far from success.

In so doing, the United States chose a deliberate course which won the contemptuous disapproval of French President Charles de Gaulle and strident propaganda attacks from the Soviet Union, Red China and such presumably non-aligned African states as Ghana, the United Arab Republic and Algeria.

The attacks redoubled when last July the United States elected to support Tshombe as Congolese premier and the latter hired white mercenaries to put down Communist-supported at-

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
1964. Moreover, this increase is concentrated that it compounds the concern about it. Their commercial-industrial loans not only increased more than all other kinds of loans but actually increased twice as much as all other kinds of loans put together.

Meanwhile, and as one result, such major institutions have largely run out of money from ordinary depositors. Their demand deposits from you or me or from companies have remained practically stationary.

Their savings deposits are up somewhat, and the interest being paid on these is proving very costly. But the money needed to support the expanded loans has acquired something of a new flavor.

The banks are buying very large chunks of money from corporations and others who, at the moment, have surplus amounts. For the loan picture has become extraordinarily mixed. While the pressure mounts for loans to many firms, other firms have seldom in history had so much money on hand in excess of what they think they need.

The banks are beating the bushes to gather this through what's technically called time certificates of deposit, rewarding the supplier by a good interest rate in exchange for its extended use.

Large corporations today shop around among the great banks for the best rates, and the shifting in the deposits behind the scenes is enormous.

Thus, in effect, the banks are performing as a clearing house between corporations with extra money and those who need it. They're buying the money at one price and selling it at only a slightly higher price in the form of a loan.

This recourse is not new. What is new is the size and scope of our banks' search for funds and their dependence on such gutted chunks of deposits.

A sudden spark behind the scenes ignited parts of Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin's vigorous warning about our boom.

President Johnson, who finds himself in the position of having practically guaranteed the boom forever, made a noncommittal m m m - m m noise. His White House economic advisers likewise outlance the Sphinx. But Mr. Martin probed an area that is astonishing, and concerning, many bankers.

Commercial and industrial credit is running up a vertical slope like fire along a fuse. And this touch of a torch has happened much more lately and with far greater force than the President seems willing to recognize.

Bank credit was in strong demand and fairly balanced among commercial - industrial loans, institutional, brokers', real estate and other loans when the year began.

But, starting in January, timed nearly to the tick of the New Year's clock, businesses turned to banks for even more money on an unexpected scale that baffled not only many banks themselves but the Federal Reserve Board.

The mystery was softened by the thought that the added surge was temporary. This conviction held awhile, both in the banks and the Federal Reserve, for on the vast scale that credit and spending circulates it's not easy to catch up with, and discover, the total purposes.

Then came the second surprise. The heat-up, the pressure, the bulge was not temporary. By the day Mr. Martin spoke the total lendings by many large New York banks hit a new high at about 22 per cent above June, 1964.

Poor Man's Plato
By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Leaves from a war reporter's notebook:

Every military campaign creates new slang and fresh expressions that make our English language more colorful.

The war in South Viet Nam has produced a number of them already — and more will follow as the fighting goes on.

For example, French maps are used here that measure distances in kilometers rather than in miles. But no one calls a kilometer a kilometer. It's a "click."

In Korea, the enemy was referred to as "gooks." Here they are called the Viet Cong, but the U.S. Marines have shortened this to "them Congs."

The big verb over here is some form of the word "zap." You don't shoot an enemy — you zap him. And if he wounds you, you've been zapped.

But by far the most widely used expression is "sorry about that." It is ironical in nature and can be translated roughly as meaning, "I know you've got big troubles, but why do you think that makes you any different from me? Solve them yourself."

Many of the servicemen now are wearing "sorry about that" shoulder patches sewn on to their uniforms by Chinese or Indian tailors. When someone starts to pour out his woes to you, you simply point at the patch, smile sympathetically — and go your way.

The language barrier here creates some antic moments.

Wary of insect pests, a couple of correspondents told the waitress at the Da Nang press center, "Can't you find us a couple of fly swatters?"

The girl smiled, nodded, disappeared. She returned shortly and set two glasses of ice water before them.

The newsmen were mystified. Finally, one said glumly: "I get it. You ask for fly swatters and you get iced waters. I'm afraid we're going to be in this country longer than I thought."

Tall, slender Herbert J. Mikus, 35, an Air Force sergeant who plans to settle in Austin, Tex., some day, received the pleasant news that he had been promoted to master sergeant. In a mood of celebration he went to the noncommissioned officers club. "Take Ten."

There, he fished a final quarter out of his pocket and put it in a slot machine. Three stars showed up it paid $250. The celebration continued.

A mother writes that two years ago her daughter, then 6, was hospitalized for three weeks with nephritis. Since then she has taken penicillin daily. This mother wants to know how much longer the child will have to take this antibiotic.

About 97 per cent of all children who have acute kidney inflammation (nephritic) make a complete recovery. During the acute stage bed rest and a low protein, salt-poor diet is advisable but, after the child begins to improve, these measures are no longer necessary. In any child who has had nephritis, usually as a complication of a streptococcal infection, it is important to guard against reinfection.

This means prompt treatment with an antibiotic or a sulfa drug at the first sign of a fever. Unless there is some other reason such as damage to the heart, treatment with penicillin is not usually given.

Q—My daughter, 4, was vaccinated and a week later she got sick. The doctor said she had nephritis. Could she have gotten it from the vaccinations? She died and the autopsy showed she had pneumonia, nephrosis and thymus hypertrophy.

A—The autopsy diagnosis of nephrosis is technically more accurate than any diagnosis made before death. Nephrosis is a kidney degeneration which may be a complication of pneumonia. In children of preschool age nephrosis is common and nephritis is rare. In addition to infections such as pneumonia, nephrosis may be due to a hereditary defect in the kidney or to an allergy.

Your child's vaccination would not cause either nephrosis or nephritis but if, through scratching, the vaccination became contaminated with streptococci or other disease germs a generalized infection could occur and this might affect the kidneys.

The thymus is a gland that is normally enlarged (hypertrophied) in children. This finding would, therefore, have no real significance.

Q—An examination of my daughter, 10, shows she has a hole in the partition of her heart. Does this require an operation or will she outgrow it?

A—A congenital defect in the heart is fairly common and the severity of the symptoms it produces varies widely. The hole would not close spontaneously but, on the other hand, operation is not usually needed for this type of defect. If your daughter develops marked shortness of breath on exertion and water-logging of her ankles after being up and around all day, she may

THE DOCTOR SAYS
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

A mother writes that two years ago her daughter, then 6, was hospitalized for three weeks with nephritis. Since then she has taken penicillin daily. This mother wants to know how much longer the child will have to take this antibiotic.

About 97 per cent of all children who have acute kidney inflammation (nephritic) make a complete recovery. During the acute stage bed rest and a low protein, salt-poor diet is advisable but, after the child begins to improve, these measures are no longer necessary. Butte Gets Five-Inch Snowfall

BUTTE, Mont. (UPI)—Snow piled five inches deep at Butte early Sunday, then chilly weather pelted $100,000 in hail damage at Broadus in the afternoon.

Hailstones as big as golf balls pelted Broadus, 330 miles east of the Mining City. Mayor Ben Heidel estimated damages at $100,000. He said three-fourths of the city's west windows were shattered by the giant stones.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the hailstones measured 2 1/2 inches in circumference, stripping leaves from trees and bouncing 15 feet in the air on impact with earth.

A white blanket up to three inches deep spread across the highway 15 miles east of Hardin, 80 miles west of Broadus. The snow at Butte poured down for two hours, cutting visibility to a mile and providing fun for children.

A Butte-Kalispell American Legion baseball game, making up a rained-out Saturday contest, was stopped by the snow.

Visitor Says Red China Is Clean Place

By JOHN HAYLOCK
Written for Associated Press
PEKING (AP) — "The native quarter with its narrow, filthy streets" says Everyman's Encyclopedia (1931-32) on Shanghai.

The streets may be narrow in parts, but they are not filthy; in fact, all the streets of the four cities I visited in Red China were completely free of litter.

When I asked how this has been achieved, I was told that the people had been educated to keep the streets clean and that if someone drops a piece of paper a passerby will politely remonstrate with him.

Shanghai, "known once as the center of gangsterism and a city of beggars and prostitutes"

(Encyclopedia Britannica 1962) is today the most moral of cities. Shanghai, where people starved to death on the streets and about whose thoroughfares fathers carried babies to whose backs "for sale" notices were fixed, is now without beggars; no one is in rags and everyone has enough to eat.

There is no doubt that the people have enough to eat. In their blue cotton clothes they look poor but they do not seem undernourished, and the children look healthy and are full of energy.

Luxuries are expensive, essentials are not. The average salary for a worker is $28-$32 a month — there is no income tax — but rent is never more than 10 per cent of the salary.

Rice is rationed but it is cheap and at the moment the ration is liberal. Eating apples, rather poor ones, were selling at 17 cents a pound this spring, eggs 3 cents each and cooked ham cost 50 cents a pound. A bicycle costs $56 and a steel wrist watch $36. In the station restaurant in Peking prices ranged from 17 cents for bacon and eggs to 60 cents for a pork dish.

The anti-U.S.-imperialist theme is played up more in Communist China than is the anti-Soviet revisionist-one.

But there is a fairly deep feeling that the Soviet Union let China down by talking of "peaceful coexistence" and by withdrawing their atomic weapons from Cuba.

In the hotels for foreigners there are pamphlets in many languages attacking former-Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Russian revisionism.

Search Finds Car of Lost Utah Family

By The Associated Press
Searchers have located the battered car belonging to a Salt Lake City family of seven lost in a flood in Northeastern Utah's Sheep Creek Canyon near the Utah-Wyoming state line.

The highway patrol said searchers were unable to see into the car because of silt and water. They planned to use pumps and shovels to remove the water and debris.

The search continued for the bodies of the Keith Woodruff family and a nephew, Salt Lake City.

The body of a second nephew, Randy Swenson, 15, Salt Lake City, was found Saturday about five miles below the battered car downstream from the Woodruff's flooded campground.

Woodruff, 31, his wife, three children and the two nephews were washed out when rain sent Sheep Creek on a rampage Thursday, ripping out five miles of highway and several campgrounds.

The highway patrol said the Woodruff car was buried in more than six feet of mud. It was found with a metal detector.

GETS HONORARY DEGREE
MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — University of Idaho regents announced Sunday the awarding of the school's first honorary Ph.D. degree (putting husbands through). The award went to Mrs. D. R. Theophilus, wife of University President Donald R. Theophilus.

Eroding of Freedoms Is Deplored

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — Individual covering is rapidly leading to social anarchy, Dr. Donald R. Theophilus, president of the University of Idaho, told graduates Sunday in a farewell address.

"Individuals, feeling themselves unable to control or even understand the forces that shape their destinies," said Theophilus, "retreat from the vital problems of our times."

"Thus are eroded our basic freedoms, year after year."

The address was the college president's valediction to faculty, staff and students at the 70th annual commencement exercises of the university.

Dr. Theophilus retires July 31 after 38 years at the university. Gov. Robert E. Smylie paid tribute to the 1,134 graduates and to the president in a brief address.

Theophilus said the developing indifference of the individual is society's greatest danger.

"It may be counteracted only as intelligent and educated men and women exercise their rights and responsibilities of citizenship," he said.

"Everywhere there is evidence of a weakening of the moral fiber of our people," he added, "a feeling that everyone's behavior is his own affair, a deterioration which is rapidly leading us to social anarchy unless soon stemmed."

Curtis T. Eaton of Twin Falls, president of the Board of Regents, said Dr. Theophilus' assignments on state and national levels have gained him a reputation for "insistence upon excellence in education at all levels."

Honorary doctorate degrees were presented to Mrs. Carol Ryrle Brink, author, La Jolla, Calif., and Charles A. Connaughton, regional forester with the Forest Service in San Francisco, Calif. Both are alumni of the university.

Utah Beauty Once Killed Rattlesnake

PROVO (AP) — An Intrepid university coed who admits having killed a rattlesnake has been chosen Miss Liberty Bell for Provo's Fourth of July Freedom Festival.

But rattlesnake hunting is temporarily over for 18-year-old Ruth Thompson who won the title Saturday night.

"I'll probably have to keep my hair in perfect fashion from now until the Fourth of July," she said after the contest. "That means no more rattlesnake hunts."

Miss Thompson, who stands 5 feet, 7 inches, has brown hair and deep blue eyes. She is going into her senior year at Brigham Young University early, her father says, because she skipped elementary grade and has been taking summer school classes.

Miss Thompson likes the outdoors, and it was on a recent hike that she killed the rattlesnake. She also says she likes bowling—and several boys.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House and Senate conferees Monday decided to appropriate $4 million for the Alaskan railroad.

The House had earlier voted $3 million to run the railroad during the fiscal year starting July 1. But because of earthquake damage to the line, the Senate added $2.2 million to the appropriation.

GUARDSMEN AIRLIFTED
BOISE (UPI) — Idaho National Guard units were being airlifted to Kentucky Monday while Ohio Guardsmen settled at Gowen Field for two weeks' training.

The Idaho units were to leave Monday morning on C97 transports in the exchange training program with the Ohio Army National Guard.

The Ohio Guardsmen represent the Second Squadron, 107th Armored Cavalry regiment. They will train at Gowen Field until June 26.

RIVER RISES
SALMON, Idaho (AP) — The Salmon River rose to more than eight feet at a measuring station in Salmon Sunday.

The reading was made as a storm left mountains in the area white with snow above 5,000 feet.

Dave Alnsworth, operator of Radio Station KSRA at Salmon, said the river measured 8.2 feet. He said this was only a fraction below the highest reading in the last 15 years — 8.24 in 1956.

The Weather Bureau, in a river forecast Saturday, predicted the river at Salmon would crest at 7.68 feet Sunday, and begin dropping Monday.

Alnsworth said there were two inches of snow at Leadore, 50 miles southeast of Salmon, and that a rodeo scheduled at the Ralph Burrows Ranch in the Upper Pahsimeroi Valley Sunday was cancelled because of snow.

APPLE WORKERS NEEDED
SUN VALLEY (UPI) — The National Apple Institute to be held here June 24-27, will seek answers to the problem of finding enough workers to harvest this year's apple crop.

Shortage of agricultural labor is described as "our most critical problem" by R. D. Robinson, Winchester, Va., president of the institute.

The problem will be discussed in detail by Palmer C. Mendelson, president of Mendelson-Zeller Co., San Francisco, one of the nation's largest firms in producing, buying and selling of produce.

SCOUTS HONOR SMYLIE
FARRAGUT STATE PARK (AP) — The Girl Scouts of America will honor Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie for his work in bringing their 1965 international roundup to Northern Idaho by naming the main street of their tent city "Smylie Boulevard."

More than 9,000 senior Girl Scouts from the U.S. and 45 other countries, some 2,000 supervisors and an estimated 70,000 tourists are expected to attend the roundup scheduled for July 15-28.

Smylie Boulevard will be dedicated July 14.

Tests Said Used to Fire U.S. Workers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A report by the American Civil Liberties Union charged today that supervisors at Kelly Air Force Base used psychiatric tests to get rid of unwanted Civil Service employees.

Copies of the report were sent to U.S. Senate and House committees inquiring into the practice of giving psychological tests to government employees.

The ACLU report said the tests at Kelly have been going on for two years. It also said they seem to indicate the "Kelly psychiatrist has been assisting supervisors in improperly removing Civil Service employees from their jobs."

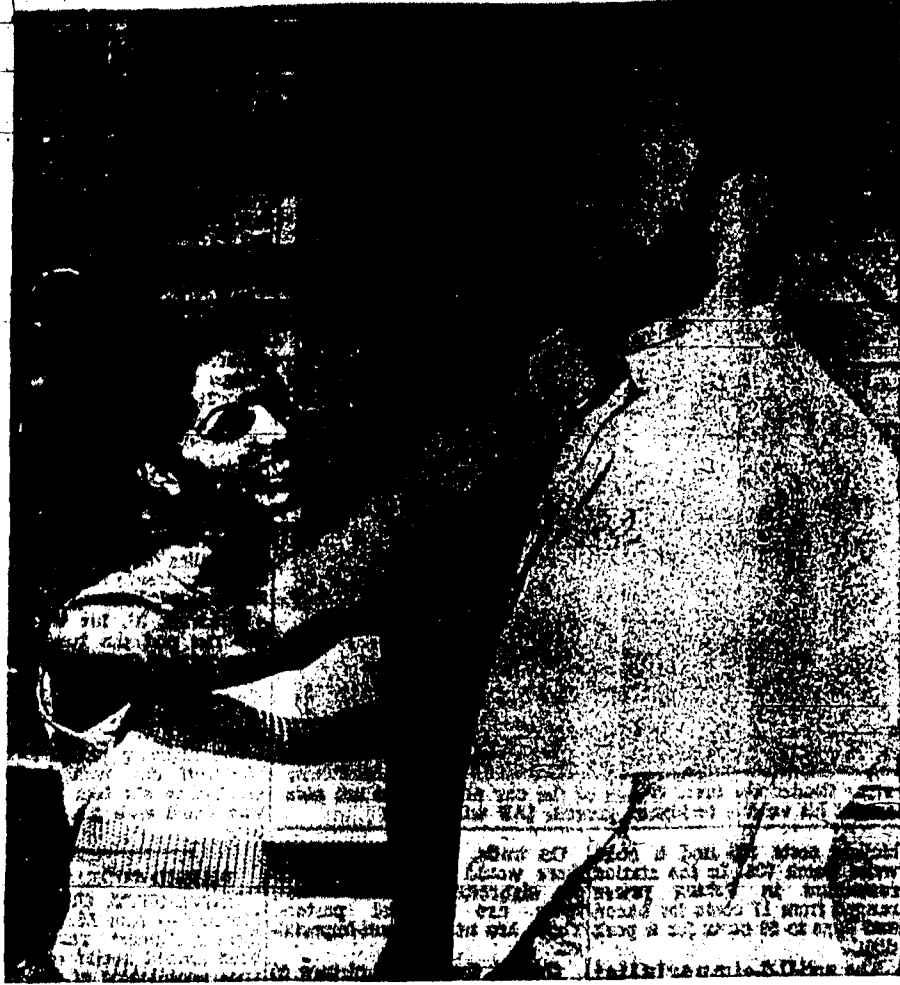

The employees removed, according to the report, had conflicts with their supervisors because of job grievances or personal differences. An ACLU subcommittee studied five cases at random. None had past indications of mental illness or instability on their records.

The report said the involved employees "were advised by their supervisors that they were to take a medical examination immediately . . . and women in most cases already were before psychiatrists before they realized their mental health was in question."

Booming
WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — After nearly half a century, business is still booming for George Goetsch, 81.

A licensed blaster, he blows up the unwanted river ice jams, rock deposits, farm silos blocking suburban developments. For him, it is hobby, habit and profit.

A tall, big-boned man with large hands, he has never had an accident. "If you had one, it would just be one good one," he says.

CHECKING TO SEE if it's real is Renee Barrett, Salmon. Being checked is Dee Kelnes, chairman of the beard-growing contest for the Salmon Jaycees. Contest winners will be announced during activities of the annual Salmon River Days celebration scheduled here July 2, 3 and 4. Beards started before Jan. 1 are disqualified, the chairman noted. Price Hikes Of Vegetables May Reverse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housewives got some good news today: Recent vegetable price increases may soon be reversed.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture George L. Mehren made the prediction, saying the production of fresh vegetables during the next 8 to 10 weeks should be about 5 per cent higher than in 1964. This, he said, should bring reduced prices.

But Mehren had no such prediction for the price of meat which also took a recent upturn.

Mehren also denied, as some producer and distributor groups have charged, that the recent small supply of vegetables—accompanied by price advances—was caused by a farm labor shortage. These critics have contended that the administration's refusal to allow more foreign agricultural workers to enter this country made it impossible for many farmers to harvest their full crop.

Mehren said the reduced supply of some vegetables this spring largely reflected adverse weather.

Mehren said in a statement: "Food prices today are about 1.5 per cent higher than a year ago—or about a third as much as the increase in per capita income over the same period. These increases have largely centered in fresh meat and some fresh vegetables."

"After about two years of low cattle prices, farmers today are receiving about $5 to $7 more per hundred pounds for fed beef cattle than they were a year ago. Hog prices have advanced $5 to $6 per hundred pounds. Retail meat prices, as a result, are about 3 per cent higher."

"Retail prices for fresh vegetables are about 2 per cent higher than a year ago."

"In the case of lettuce, 80 per cent of the spring production comes from Arizona and California. Acreage is down and output was about 8 per cent below a year ago."

"Nationally, lettuce supplies were down only 3 per cent in the spring—and we expect production to be down 6 per cent this summer."

Makers of illicit whiskey—usually country boys, according to the folk legends—are moving to the city because, says Stanley E. Eisenhower Speaks on Nuclear War

CARLISLE (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower told the nation's future generals and admirals today that although he does not foresee any global nuclear war their planning for the future must always consider that possibility.

Eisenhower, speaking without notes, told the graduating class at the U.S. Army War College, here, that "the possibility of nuclear war is almost too terrifying to contemplate."

He added that he did not anticipate nuclear war and quickly corrected himself to say, "At least in what we would think of as a global nuclear war."

A SECTION OF the Salmon River Road which carries an increasing number of visitors to the Salmon National Forest each year is shown in this photo near Shoup. Value, Wide Scope of Activity on Salmon National Forest Is Reported

SALMON—Some indication of the value of the 1,768,105 acres of land included within the Salmon National Forest is shown in the annual report of the forest issued this week.

The Salmon Forest has 50 fulltime employees engaged in planning, organizing and carrying out the management of the forest, said F. E. Powers, forest supervisor.

The work is undertaken through the supervisor's office in Salmon and at five ranger district headquarters, at Cobalt, North Fork, Indianola, Leanoire and Salmon.

The annual report noted that the forest lands are "very valuable to the people economically and socially. They are used for many purposes. These uses are coordinated under the basic principle of multiple use for the benefit of all the people."

In 1964, a total of 204,000 visitors enjoyed the recreation facilities and attractions on the forest for a total of 306,000 days. The use of the campgrounds and public areas alone has shown a tremendous increase in number of visits in the last 10 years; 4,200 visits were made in 1955; 81,700 visits were made in 1964.

The forest recreation facilities construction program has been expanding each year, the report indicated. In 1964, work was begun or completed to make room for 240 more persons at any one time at campgrounds and picnic areas.

A more intensive management program was initiated in 1964 for the Salmon National Forest portion of the Idaho Primitive Area.

A Big Horn Crags recreation patrolman was hired to contact primitive area visitors, clean up campsites, perform light trail maintenance work, maintain and put up signs, maintain records of livestock and human use and assist in various studies associated with primitive area management.

In 1964, 22,500 visitors spent an average time of four days for 90,000 man-days in the Salmon Forest portion of the Idaho Primitive Area.

There are 322,000 acres open for grazing on the Salmon National Forest; 123 ranchers grazed 10,100 cattle and horses, and 7,600 sheep in 1964 on 54 grazing allotments.

District rangers and range technicians completed range allotment analysis mapping studies on approximately 210,000 acres of range in 1964, which included eight cattle allotments and one sheep allotment. These studies have been completed on 24 of the 54 allotments on the forest.

The Salmon National Forest produces 1,433,000 acre feet of water annually. This is an average for each acre of land of three-fourths acre feet.

The forest has 3,800 miles of streams and 804 acres of lakes which make up some of the finest fishing waters in the West; 58,000 fishermen tried them out in 1964.

Mule and white-tailed deer, elk, antelope, bighorn sheep, Rocky Mountain goats and black bear can be hunted as well; 24,900 visits by hunters were made on the forest in 1964.

In fiscal year 1964, the Salmon National Forest sold 29,100,000 board feet of timber and purchasers cut 31,200,000 board feet. The total value of the stumpage sold amounted to $129,434.11.

There were 252 acres planted to seedling trees and an additional 58 acres seeded with treated Ponderosa Pine seeds. Three hundred and sixty-one acres were sacrificed to enhance natural regeneration. Treatment to improve three growth and quality was accomplished on 1,125 acres and consisted of release, weeding, thinning and pruning.

About 500,000 acres of the Salmon National Forest were sprayed with DDT in an attempt to control the Spruce Budworm infestation that has built up steadily since 1952.

According to surveys conducted in 1963, a total of 1,600,000 acres of the Salmon and Challis National Forest was infested.

A small test project, using malathion, is scheduled to be conducted on the Salmon National Forest in 1965 to study the effects of pesticides other than DDT in controlling Spruce Budworm infestations.

The 1964 fire season produced the third lightest fire year for numbers of fires over the past 15-year period. There were 44 fires recorded compared to 40 in 1951 and 38 in 1955. This is 26 fires less than the average for the 1955-1964 10-year period.

The air tanker base at the Salmon Airport was equipped with electricity during the past season. The Salmon Forest is in the process of converting the motor equipment from gas to electric which will provide for a more efficient operation.

The air tankers were used on five fires effectively dropping 11,400 gallons of benonite retardant.

The helitack unit, consisting on one contract helicopter with pilot, and seven forest crew members based at Swamp Camp, were effectively used on 15 fires with 14 of them initial attack.

For the first time boat patrols were used on the Middle Fork and main Salmon River. They were cooperative ventures between forests of Region 4 and Region 1.

Engineering activities were particularly concentrated on the Salmon River during 1964. The eight-mile section of reconstruction from Indianola to Shoup was completed during June at a cost of $317,000.

In addition the 8.5-mile section from Shoup to Panther Creek was surveyed and designed. A partial contract was awarded on this section at an estimated cost of $364,000.

Other contract road construction projects completed during the year were access roads into Iron Creek, Pine Creek and Dump Creek.

A 6.3-mile contract trail project was completed into Puddin Lakes in the Big Horn Crags portion of the Idaho Primitive Area.

Approximately 50 miles of roads were surveyed to be constructed by timber purchasers as part payment for national forest timber.

A reconnaissance analysis and report was completed of the Dump Creek erosion problem. Physical and condition surveys were completed on all the special use dams on the forest.

Condition surveys were completed on the 65 road and trail bridges on the forest. A survey and site investigation was completed for a proposed bridge across the Salmon River at Corn Creek.

University Senior Dies After Brawl

LEWISTON (AP)—A University of Idaho senior died of excessive brain hemorrhage after a fight in a Lapwai tavern over the weekend, according to authorities.

Conner Wilfred J. Duclos said Jess Tilden, 26, Lapwai, may have died as a result of a blow on the chin.

The fight was being investigated by FBI agents because it was in a bar on an Indian reservation. Agents said another participant was Harold Tuschhoff, about 40, Clarkston, Wash., but released no further details.

Tilden had been majoring in education at the university. He played football and basketball for Lapwai High School and Lewis and Clark Normal School in Lewiston.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available in asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurring of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold without prescription in most states—in tiny tablets called Primatens®.

These Primatens Tablets open bronchial tubes, loosen congestion, relieve taut nervous tension. All without painful injections.

The secret in Primatens combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress.

So look forward to sleep at night, and freedom from asthma spasms.

Speaking Ability Will Be Talent of Miss T. F. Entry

Chemistry and nuclear physics is a special field of Sherry Stuart, 19, a 1964 graduate of Twin Falls High School. She is entered in the Miss Twin Falls Pageant competition.

The beauty parade, which will climax in Idaho with the Miss Idaho Pageant, will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 19, at the Twin Falls High School Gymnasium.

Winner of the pageant will receive a $300 scholarship from the Twin Falls Lions Club, sponsor of the pageant, plus numerous other awards.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Stuart, 368 Teton St., Miss Stuart has completed one year at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah.

In the talent contest at the pageant she will use her ability at speaking in an attempt to capture the $25 gift certificate offered by The Mayfair Shop to the winner of that segment of the contest.

Miss Stuart has dark brown hair, blue eyes and a fair complexion. Tipping the scales at 127, she is 5 feet, 6 inches in height and has measurements of 37-25-36.

One interesting thing about

SHERRY STUART

Miss Stuart: When she goes after something she usually gets it. At the ripe age of 10, she wanted to see her grandmother, and rode horseback nearly 30 miles to realize her desire.

She is talented in other ways, too. She has played the piano since her second grade in school and has worked at Twin Falls stores to help pay for her college education at BYU.

To keep her busy during free time, Miss Stuart engages in skiing, bareback riding, baseball, tennis, swimming, hiking, cooking, art, dancing, singing and playing the piano.

She hopes to secure a B. S. degree in nuclear physics.

Miss Hatfield, Howell Repeat Nuptial Vows

Buhl—Nuptial vows recited June 5 in the Buhl First Baptist Church united in marriage Kayla Hatfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hatfield, Buhl, and Kim Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howell, Pocatello. Rev. Robert F. Burchell solemnized the double ring wedding rites in the presence of the couple's immediate families. Beauty baskets of white peonies formed the background setting for the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, recited vows in a gown of white peau de soie and lace accented with an empire bodice and three-quarter length sleeves. A lace pillbox crown released her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried an ornate lace fan topped with a white orchid.

Mrs. Gerald Neiwert, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor.

Carl Hatfield, brother of the bride, Jerome, was best man.

Traditional background wedding music was played by Mrs. Jerry Maxton.

Following the ceremony, a buffet wedding supper was served in the church parlors. A white square wedding cake, detailed with blue satin bell trim and white tapers, enhanced the table decorations. Mrs. Howard Reed and Mrs. Louie Baty cut and served the cake.

Reception assistants were Mrs. Louie Baty, Mrs. Craig Casebeer, Mrs. James Wray, Carmen Baty and Lula Casebeer. Marsha Howell, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

The couple will reside in Las Vegas.

State Agency Explains Idaho Sales Tax

EDITOR'S note: Collection of Idaho's new sales and use tax begins July 1. This is the first in a series of stories by the Associated Press on regulations, drafted by the State Tax Collector's office, governing payment and collection of the tax.

BOISE (AP)—What is a sales tax? What is a use tax? Here's the way the Idaho Tax Collector's Office defines the levies enacted by the 1965 Legislature and effective July 1. A sales tax is imposed upon the purchase of tangible personal property sold in Idaho. It is imposed upon and payable by the purchaser and must be collected by the retailer and remitted to the state.

Primary liability for its payment to the state is imposed upon the retailer.

It is measured by the retailer's gross receipts from the sale of tangible personal property, including receipts from meals, drinks, made-to-order goods, use of recreational facilities, motel, hotels, tourist home or trailer, and rental receipts.

A use tax is imposed on the property in Idaho upon which a sales tax has not been paid. It normally will apply to purchases made outside Idaho.

Tangible personal property purchased by a retailer for resale, but later used instead of being resold, is subject to the use tax.

Retailers are not allowed direct compensation for collecting and reporting sales and use tax collections. However, under a bracket system devised by the Tax Collector's Office, taxes collected will exceed 3 per cent of gross sales. The retailer must remit to the state only the 3 per cent, and may keep the difference as payment for his work.

Missionary Tells of Life In India

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP)—"My host was a headhunter."

"Of course he gave up that sort of thing when he became a Christian, but he was still proud of the photograph showing him with the skulls of his victims, and in a neighboring village not long ago, they cut off 34 heads."

The speaker was a spectacled, white-haired Englishman named Lily Qui, the first missionary allowed to enter northeast India's Nagaland for 10 years.

She didn't go to the primitive Indian state to campaign against head hunting, but to launch a program to teach the Nagas to read, write and start development programs to improve their villages.

Nagaland has 17 languages, but almost none of the people can read or write any of them," Miss Qui recounts. "But in two weeks, 30 volunteers walked in from the hills for training, and then went back to the villages to teach literacy."

Miss Qui, who has been spreading education and the Gospel in India since 1938, is one of about 40 experts from 23 countries who have been meeting in Jerusalem on ways to fulfill one of the world's great hungers—the hunger to read and write.

Few of the experts at the Jerusalem meeting have mingled with headhunters or dodged "elephants in jeeps" the way Miss Qui has, but all of them have faced the same problem of bringing knowledge and the urge for progress to countries where few have been to school.

The Jerusalem literacy seminar was sponsored by the Committee on World Literacy and Christian Literature. The committee, part of the U.S. National Council of Churches with headquarters in New York, is one of the organizations working with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and overseas governments to help wipe out illiteracy.

According to UNESCO figures, only 6 of every 10 persons in the world have ever been to school, and 700 million adults—including 8 million in the United States—can neither read nor write.

"Illiteracy is a waste of the world's resources, and the urge

Death of Youth Hikes Road Toll

LEWISTON (AP)—Death of a youth in a car-truck collision has raised Idaho's death toll to 87—one less than during the same period last year.

Lyle Hamrin, 19, who worked in Lewiston, was killed when a car he was riding rammed a truck at a Lewiston intersection, reports Deputy Sheriff Basil Wiggins.

The driver of the car, Ronald G. Morisset, 19, Lewiston, was hospitalized with multiple injuries. The truck driver, Seraydoral Reynolds, Lewiston, was not believed injured.

Hamrin lived in a Lewiston apartment. Wiggins said. The victim also was reported to be a resident of Clarkston, Wash.

Death Takes Jerome Woman

JEROME—Mrs. Cecile Driebergen, 71, died Sunday in Jerome of a brief illness.

She was born May 10, 1894, in Hawkins County, Tenn., and was married to Ross Spears at Persia, Tenn., in 1914.

She later was married to Dick Driebergen on Jan. 23, 1933, at Boise. Mr. Driebergen died Aug. 30, 1964.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Coy Harris, Russellville, Tenn.; three sons, William Driebergen, stationed in the Air Force; Clarence Spears, Boise, and Arnold Spears, Jerome; one step-daughter, Alice Hutchens, Boise; one sister, Mrs. Catherine Riggins, Indian Valley, and one brother, Rod Sams, Denver, Colo.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Wiley Funeral Chapel by Elder J. D. Nichols, Seventh-Day Adventist Church. Friends may call Monday afternoon and evening and until time of services at the Wiley Funeral Chapel. Final rites will be held at the Jerome Cemetery.

Chou Finds No Need to Offer Guns

By LYNN HEINZERLING
DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Prime Minister Chou En-lai of China, spreading his message of revolution in Africa on a state visit to Tanzania, found no need to offer guns and ammunition. They are already here and still coming.

Dar es Salaam means "Haven of Peace," but in the past year it has become the arsenal of African nationalism.

Here are gathered the leaders of the "liberation movements" whose aim is to bring down the remaining white governments in Africa — those in Mozambique, Angola, Rhodesia and South Africa. Chou's message that the climate was favorable for revolution in Africa was addressed as much to them as to the Tanzania leaders who surrounded him.

But the climate has changed a little since Chou made a similar pronouncement in Mogadishu, Somali Republic, a little more than a year ago. Neighboring Kenya has seen Communist agents at work, buying officials, smuggling arms and infiltrating presumably democratic institutions.

President Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, the most stable and respected statesman in East Africa, does not consider Kenya ripe for revolution. His position permitted the issuance of a statement by his government throwing back Chou's revolutionary gospel.

Kenyatta's action and Tanzania President Julius K. Nyerere's firm stand for nonalignment probably say more about the success of Chou's mission than all the words uttered during the visit.

Tanzania-United States relations have been improving in recent weeks and there is no reason to feel that Chou's visit has reversed the trend. But the visit was of prime importance because it put the spotlight on the ultimate confrontation of black and white in Africa which now is taking form here. Communism is supplying the guns.

Ships call regularly at the picturebook harbor, studded with handsome yachts and grimy dhows, to unload Chinese and Russian weapons. They have been coming at an average rate of about one a month. Portuguese officials say two a month. Soviet planes fly in with more arms and ammunition.

A dozen or more organizations of "freedom fighters" headquarters here, issuing regular and violent threats against "colonialists" and "imperialists." There are strictly restricted training camps in the Tanzania countryside.

It is no diplomatic accident that Red China has its largest East African embassy in Dar es Salaam. There are believed to be nearly 300 Chinese diplomats, technicians, military advisers and espionage experts in Tanzania.

This once sleepy colonial capital, where the most sustained thought formerly was devoted to sisal growing and the humidity, now is alive with intrigue. A dozen Chinese and other Communist newsmen have been attracted here.

Diplomatic travel is limited to the city limits, unless express government permission is granted. A number of areas in the country have been designated as restricted — presumably for the storage of arms and the training of the liberation forces.

King Hill Grange Has Special Meet

KING HILL—A special meeting of the King Hill Grange Home Economics Committee was held Friday night at the Grange Hall to make plans for fall activities.

Mrs. Joel Young, home economics chairman, announced plans for bazaar and program entitled "All Ages of Women" to be held Oct. 2 at the Grange Hall.

Plans also were discussed for a booth for the Fourth of July celebration to be held at Hull Memorial Park in Glenns Ferry.

Mrs. Rindley Ruberry, leader of the fourth degree drill team, discussed practice which will start at 8 p.m. Thursday night at the Grange Hall.

The King Grange will put on the fourth degree work at State Grange Convention in October at Gooding.

Funeral services for Mrs. Louise C. Kral were conducted Saturday at the First Methodist Church by the Rev. Paul LaRue. Mrs. Denny Patrick was soloist and Mrs. Everett Martin was organist.

Pallbearers were Stanley Herzinger, W. B. Stonemets, Earl Hudson, Adolph Machacek, Thomas Novacek and Irven Crisp.

Final rites were under the direction of the ZCBJ Lodge at Buhl Cemetery.

Negroes Protest Reading of Poem In Classroom

BOSTON (UPI) — Nearly a dozen Negro parents staged a sit-in in the classroom of a predominantly Negro school today to protest the firing of a teacher for allegedly reading a poem depicting Negro misery.

The parents, one man and 10 women, occupied seats of fourth-grade students deliberately kept home in the protest over the discharge of Jonathan Kozol, 28, a Harvard University graduate and onetime Rhodes scholar.

A dozen policemen were summoned to the Christopher Gibson School in Boston's Dorchester section when the parents invaded the school. A police official said they were violating the law by trespassing and disrupting a school classroom.

Outlawed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If a pigeon could read, he'd know he is outlawed from downtown San Francisco, starting July 1.

That's when a new section of the Police Code, approved by the Board of Supervisors, takes effect. It sets up 10 areas—all away from downtown—where pigeons may be fed. Elsewhere, the code calls for pigeon traps.

But the code isn't clear on who's responsible. So the swarms of pigeons go right on convening at the bus terminal, the railroad depot, on corners of downtown buildings, monuments, fountains and streets.

Lawyer for Pope To Be Appointed

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — An attorney for Duane Pope was expected to be appointed today on request of U.S. Attorney F. Russell Millin.

Millin asked Dist. Judge John W. Oliver Sunday to name a former assistant U.S. attorney, J. Whitfield Moody, to represent the Kansas farm youth as long as he is held here.

Pope, 22, is charged with the bloodiest bank robbery in modern times, the June 4 holdup of a Big Springs, Neb., bank in which three persons were slain and a fourth wounded.

Millin said Pope should have an attorney to advise him although he has declined thus far to accept counsel. Moody currently is public defender of the legal aid committee in Jackson County.

Year-Old Robbery Is Unsolved

By DICK JOHNSON
BOISE (AP) — Ask any law officer about a burglary that took place at 801 Reserve St. a year ago and chances are he'll break off the conversation by suddenly remembering he's late for an appointment.

Nobody's trying to officially forget about 801 Reserve St., because on June 17, 1964, the address was the scene of probably the biggest safe-cracking haul in written history in Idaho.

The 801 Reserve St. address is that of the Idaho National Guard Armory.

June 17 marks the anniversary of the loss of approximately $147,000 in small bills.

The money was, according to stories released at the time, to pay national guardsmen working at the site of the World War II Farragut Naval Training Station to prepare it for this summer's International Girl Scout Roundup.

The payroll was met, but it took a little longer than anticipated.

But the official silence from law enforcement circles — the case is in the Federal Bureau of Investigation's jurisdiction — prevails.

About the only comment this reporter could get was that the investigation is continuing. Aside from that it has been "no comment."

A few months ago, some wag put a small sign on a bulletin board at the armory reading: "Crime doesn't pay—unless, of course, one does it well."

Indications thus far are that the crime was done well.

Johnson Asks Lawyer to Go To Australia

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson Sunday nominated a longtime personal and political friend, Austin banker-attorney Edward A. Clark, as ambassador to Australia.

Clark, 58, once was Texas secretary of state and has been active in state and national politics increasingly since 1928.

He is senior partner in a law firm, also chairman of the board of Austin's Capital National Bank, and published reports put his personal interests in the bank at about $1.1 million. In addition, he is president of banks in San Augustine, San Benito, and Center.

Clark has never been to Australia.

Clark was one of the attorneys representing Johnson in the court suit after the 1948 contested runoff election, in which Johnson beat former Gov. Coke Stevenson by 87 votes for a U.S. Senate seat.

Clark also went to court in 1960 to obtain the right for Johnson to run both for the Senate and vice president on the Democratic ticket.

OPPOSITION DOUBTED

Year-Old Robbery Is Unsolved

If there are any clues to the identity of the person or persons involved in the burglary, they lie locked within the inner recesses of officialdom.

The burglary, however, is still good as a conversation topic outside official circles.

There was a time, though, when mere mention of the word "burglary" could bring quick exchanges of nervous glances and spilled coffee.

And there's no question but that the burglary is foremost in the minds of those given the task of solving it.

I met a local FBI agent on the steps of a downtown building the other day. Before I could give the standard "Hello, what's new?" greeting, he began talking about the burglary—not the details, but that as soon as something broke in the case, the press would get the word.

He's a nice guy. I believed him.

Armless, Legless Boy Gets Car for Graduation

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

SEBASTOPOLE, Calif. (AP) — David Taylor thinks he is a very lucky 18-year-old. He just got a new car as a high school graduation present.

His new car is a one-of-a-kind model, especially rigged for David because he has no arms and only rudimentary legs. He was born that way.

Despite his handicap, David has ambition. He went through high school like any other youngster, and plans to go on to college.

That's one reason his father, Russell Taylor, who is in the trucking business, paid for the 1965 model car and modifications — so David could get around.

The other reason is, David is a hot-rod fan. He knows more about cars than a lot of mechanics and has stubbornly refused to face the possibility that he might never be able to drive.

A few months ago David's father went to Dr. Milo Brooks, medical director of the child amputee project at the University of California at Los Angeles, because he had heard of a motorized car built at the school.

The upshot was that David became the subject of a research project which Dr. Brooks now believes has application not only for defective youngsters and war casualties but could revolutionize the design of all automobile controls.

Because David has no arms, his car has no steering wheel. "But," asks Dr. Brooks, "what good is a steering wheel? It only gets in the way. We've found that drivers have much better control with levers like the small control sticks on arm rests in advanced experimental planes.

David's "stick" is a cradle for his right foot. He steers by moving it right or left, accelerates by pressing forward. Brakes, lights, windows and wipers are controlled with the left foot.

David passed a rigid driving test and the state has issued him a license. In the past two weeks he has driven 2,000 miles.

His teacher was Carl Sumida, an artist-engineer who modified the popular-make car to fit David's thighless, kneeless 24-inch-long legs. A specialist in prosthetics, Sumida also is a consultant on the U.S. space agency's lunar-walker, which is being adapted as an all-terrain substitute for wheelchairs.

Dr. Yoshio Sotoguchi, assistant project director and David's physician, says the boy gets around remarkably well on his rudimentary legs, walking between classes and climbing in and out of the car by himself. He writes with his right foot — his left leg has only limited motion.

David and his family have permitted this story to be told only because it may help others with similar limitations," says Dr. Sotoguchi. "You can't imagine what this new freedom means to a boy with heart and spirit like David."

Pigeon Feed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Pigeons helped put a working mother through college and they may help her win a master's degree.

Marjorie Gleason graduated this spring in Florida Atlantic University's first class as a bachelor of arts in humanities. She paid for gasoline used commuting between her Opa-locka home, near Miami, and Florida Atlantic in Boca Raton, 30 miles north, by carrying caged racing pigeons in the trunk of her car and releasing them on campus for training flights back to Opa-locka.

The brown-haired, brown-eyed housewife is showing now for her master's and has lined up another pigeon-ferrying deal to pay commuting expenses.

Sikes Comes From Behind With 66 to Pass Lema And Win Cleveland Open

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Attorney Dan Sikes Jr., who has spent more time on the golf course than in the courtroom, surged from behind with a five-under-par 66 Sunday to win the $135,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament with a 72-hole total of 272. The Jacksonville, Fla., barrister started the final round three shots behind defending champion Tony Lema, but dropped a 30-foot birdie putt on the edge of the green on the 18th hole to edge Lema by a single stroke. The victory was worth $25,000, the largest payoff on the tour so far this year, to Sikes, who turned in a 33-33 card.

Lema, seeking his second tournament victory in a row, missed the 18th green with his approach shot and wound up with a par and one-under-par 70 for a 72-hole total of 273.

Bruce Devlin of Australia fired a sensational six-under-par 65, the hottest round of the tournament, and finished third at 274, only two shots behind Sikes.

Bert Weaver of Broadwater Beach, Miss., carded a final round 71 for a total of 279 and fourth place.

Tied for fifth were Mike Souchak, Julius Boros, Tommy Aaron and R. H. (Dick) Sikes who came in at 280. Bob Rosburg was all alone at 281 and Arnold Palmer, Randy Glover, Gordon Jones and Billy Maxwell were grouped at 282.

The 34-year-old Sikes, winless since his victory in the Doral Open in 1963, fired three birdies on the front side for a 33 to pull even with Lema, who finished the front nine with a one-under-par 35.

Sikes, who started the final round two strokes behind Lema, the third round leader, then waged a neck-and-neck battle until the 18th when Sikes came through with his sensational birdie after Lema had missed the green.

Jones of Orlando, Fla., was only two strokes behind Lema following the third round, but he skidded to a 77 and finished among those at 282, 10 strokes behind Sikes.

The 28-year-old Aaron, who trailed Lema by only three strokes after 54 holes and appeared to have a good chance of winning his first tournament shot a two-over par 74 for a total of 280.

Indians, A's Split Short Twin Bill

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Chuck Hinton and Vic Davalillo paced the Cleveland Indians to a 5-2 victory over Kansas City in the rain-shortened second game of a doubleheader Sunday after the Athletics won the opener 8-4.

Hinton cracked his fifth home run, igniting a four-run Cleveland rally in the second inning of the nightcap, which was called after 7½ innings because of rain. Davalillo collected three singles, scored a run and stole two bases, helping right-hander Lee Stange breeze to his first victory of the year.

Stange checked the A's on five hits, giving up single runs in the third and fourth innings.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Tony Gonzalez, bawled out Saturday for lackadaisical baserunning, collected three hits including a homer Sunday as the Philadelphia Phillies whipped Houston 5-0 for their fifth straight triumph.

Chris Short limited the Astros to five hits, evening his record at 6-6. The loss was the sixth straight for Houston.

Gonzalez led off the first inning with his sixth homer, singled in the third and ignited a three-run rally with a double in the fifth.

Gonzalez was reprimanded in the dugout Saturday by Manager Gene Mauch and then replaced in the outfield. Mauch refused to say if he fined the outfielder as the two traded hot words.

SALMON—The Idaho Fish and Game Department is undertaking a program to assist in the future management of the fish population at Williams Lake south of Salmon. The lake is one of the most popular and heavily used fishing spots in the Salmon area. Don Corley, Salmon, area fisheries biologist for the department, has been taking water samples from the lake, determining the different chemical

Reds Shut Out Cubs 7-0 for Split Bill

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Robinson drove in three runs and scored two, sparking Cincinnati to a 7-0 second-game victory over the Chicago Cubs and a split of their doubleheader Sunday.

The Cubs took the opener 9-7 behind three-run homers by rookie Chris Krug and Ron Santo.

Robinson's two-run double in the fourth inning, following walks to Pete Rose and Vada Pinson, was the only hit off starter Bob Hendley and reliever Lindy McDaniel until the Reds exploded for four more runs in the eighth.

In the opener the Cubs packed three homers into their 10-hit assault as Ted Abernathy saved Cal Koonce's fifth victory among nine decisions. The Reds scored four times in the ninth before Abernathy fanned Deron Johnson.

Phils' Gonzalez Fined by Mauch

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A chastened Tony Gonzalez shrugged moodily Sunday and said "You don't get back the money you're fined."

Gonzalez had just hit a home-run, double and a single in the Philadelphia Phillies 5-0 victory over the Houston Astros, hiked his batting average to .298, and felt no pain other than in his pocketbook.

He admitted manager Gene Mauch took a bite out of his paycheck following some hot and heavy words on the bench Saturday afternoon.

Mauch wouldn't admit the fine. But he pointed out four instances where Gonzalez didn't hustle, in his opinion, during the game. He benched him midway during the game with Houston.

Triandos Sold

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Phillies sold veteran catcher Gus Triandos to the Houston Astros Sunday for what was described as a nominal sum and recalled catcher Pat Carrales from Little Rock.

Triandos, 34, came to the Phils from Detroit with Jim Bunning in the deal which sent Don Demeter to the Tigers in December of 1963.

Three Ejected as Braves, Cards Split

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Milwaukee's pitcher, catcher and manager were all ejected in one wild inning Sunday as the Braves and St. Louis split a doubleheader, Milwaukee winning the first game 4-2 and the Cardinals taking the rhubarb-punctured nightcap 12-2. The Cardinals collected seven unearned runs in the comic opera fourth inning of the second game. Braves Manager Bobby Bragan, pitcher Hank Fischer and catcher Gene Oliver were ejected—Oliver twice.

Skowron-Led Chicago Nips Solons 2-1

WASHINGTON (AP)—Moose Skowron, who homered in the seventh of the tying run, tripled home the winning run in the ninth inning as the Chicago White Sox edged Washington 2-1 Sunday.

Skowron's game-winning triple off Pete Richert followed a leadoff double by Floyd Robinson, and hit just inches inside the foul line.

The hits were only the fifth and sixth off Richert, who protected a 1-0 lead from the second to the seventh inning when Skowron hit his seventh homer of the season.

Don Lock provided the Washington run with a second-inning homer off White Sox starter Bruce Howard. Lock also contributed two doubles to the Sox' five-hit attack.

Pan American Takes Net Title

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Pan American of Edinburg, Tex., Sunday walked away with honors in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Tennis Tournament for the sixth consecutive year.

Pan American took the title with 29 points when Deller Nitsche and Sherwood Stewart defeated teammates George Koc and Lornie Kuhl 6-3, 6-4.

The Texas college earlier won the singles crown when Koc whipped Nitsche 6-2, 7-5. East Texas State finished second with 15 points and South-eastern Oklahoma was third with 14.

Two Title Bouts Slated This Week

By The Associated Press
Two world boxing champions are scheduled to put their titles on the line this week and a third world titleholder is due to appear in a non-title bout.

Welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York begins the action Monday when he takes on Eddie Pace of Los Angeles in a 10-round non-title bout at Honolulu Monday night. Griffith, Ring Magazine's fighter of the Year for 1964, defended his title against Jose Stable in New York March 30.

Sandro Mazzinghi of Italy, world junior welterweight champ, defends his title against the top Italian challenger Nino Benvenuti in Milan, Italy, Friday.

Ismael Laguna of Panama, world lightweight champion, is slated to face Mexico's Raul Soriano, the fourth-ranked contender, in Panama Saturday night.

Mazzinghi has made three successful defenses of the junior welter title since he won it by knocking out Ralph Dupas of New Orleans in 1963. Laguna won the lightweight crown April 12 with a split decision over Carlos Ortiz.

HITTING THE DIRT AS he ducks a high and inside pitch from Houston's Don Lee in the eighth inning Sunday at Philadelphia is Phillies' pitcher Chris Short. Catcher Ron Brand appears to be covering his head with umpire Bill Williams turning away. Short hurled a 5-0 shutout for the Phils. (AP wirephoto)

You Can't Wish Yourself Well

By Dr. Ethel O. Paul, D.C.
Many people are half sick and half well nearly all the time. grunting and complaining, yet wishing for health. Newspaper headlines tell you about the risk and the famous committing suicide—reason—ill health.

What has preceded this mental attitude? The sufferer has been treated, diagnosed, operated on, analyzed, examined and shuffled from one specialist to another. Life becomes miserable. The will to live wanes. Things lose their importance. Faith in everyone and everything is lost.

It's impossible to be a good husband, wife, son, daughter or grandparent when you feel sick and miserable. Does it give you courage to know that chiropractors have helped millions when all else has failed?

Chiropractic may be your answer too. You can't wish yourself well but you could be very glad you investigated the natural way—the Chiropractic way.

One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain the practice of scientific Chiropractic written by Dr. Ernest D. Paul or Dr. Ethel O. Paul whose offices are located at 217 Main Ave. W., Twin Falls. By appointment only. Telephone 733-0522. Adv.

NCAA Plans to Counter Blow to Its Prestige by USOC's Power Decision

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association planned Sunday to counter a hard blow to its Olympic organization prestige. The setback came Saturday as the United States Olympic Committee, in special session, approved a measure increasing the power of the Amateur Athletic Union in Olympic sports. The AAU and NCAA have been feuding five years over sanctioning of national and amateur competitions, but the USOC's overwhelming vote to give majority membership on various Olympic sports committees to groups holding international recognition stoked a fresh controversy.

Clark Easily Wins Belgian Grand Prix

FRANCORCHAMPS, Belgium (UPI)—Jim Clark of Scotland, winner of the Indianapolis 500, flashed across the finish line in a Lotus Coventry Climax nearly a minute ahead of his nearest pursuer Sunday to win the Belgian Automobile Grand Prix for a record fourth year in a row.

Clark finished the 451.2 kilometer (280.20 miles) race in 2 hours 23 minutes, 34.8 seconds, averaging 117.160 miles per hour in driving rain and wind.

Fellow Scot Jackie Stewart finished 44.8 seconds later in a BRM, with New Zealander Bruce McLaren third, one lap back in a Cooper Coventry Climax.

The rain and wind made the 14.1-kilometer (8.7 miles) course dangerous and no record was possible. Clark set in a 4.12.9 circuit to record the fastest lap of 124.716 m.p.h., but this fell well short of the record 3:49.2 and 137.613 m.p.h. turned in by Californian Dan Gurney last year in a Brabham. Gurney, in a Brabham Coventry Climax, was 10th this year while fellow American Richie Ginther was sixth in a Honda.

Clark, who won the Memorial Day 500 two weeks ago, was in brilliant form. He was on the front line of the grid and shot into the lead on the first of the 32 laps. He never was challenged as he put his machine through its paces and by the halfway mark it was obvious only an accident or mechanical failure could stop him from winning.

Only 12 of the 24 starters finished.

Ford, Ramos Blank Angels For Yankees

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Whitey Ford and Pedro Ramos collaborated on a five-hitter and Hector Lopez drove in two runs as the New York Yankees defeated the Los Angeles Angels 3-0 Sunday.

Ford, who has allowed only three earned runs in his last 32 2/3 innings, needed Ramos' help with two out in the ninth when Jim Fregosi and Lou Clinton singled struck out Vic Power to end it, preserving Ford's sixth victory against the same number of losses. Fred Newman took the loss for a 7-4 record and an 0-5 lifetime mark against the Yankees.

The Yankees scored their three runs in the fourth inning after loading the bases on singles by Roger Maris and Tom Tresh and a walk to Joe Pepitone. Lopez followed with a two-run single. Pepitone reached third on the play and scored as Lopez, breaking from first to begin a double steal, was being caught in a rundown.

Panch Bests Johnson in Race

ATLANTA (AP)—Marvin Panch bested Junior Johnson in a feder-to-feder duel and then held on to win the Dixie 400 stock car race under the caution flag Sunday when another car had a spectacular crash with just three laps to go.

Johnson, who like Panch drives a 1965 Ford, blew an engine with just four laps to go and finished unofficially in fourth place.

Darel Dieringer of Charlotte, N.C., driving a 1964 Mercury, was second and Ned Jarrett of Camden, S.C., was third in a 1965 Ford.

The average winning speed was 110.394 miles an hour, and was held down by nine caution flags which were up for about 13.8 miles of the race.

Immediately following the USOC's 1,339 to 585 vote which gave the AAU control of major games committees, an NCAA-backed caucus met to decide a course of rebuttal.

The group of collegiate, high school and junior college kingpins decided to appoint a "select committee of nationally prominent educational leaders — to make a major issue of Saturday's USOC action."

"Our entire group feels that more than an athletic stalemate now is at stake — the problem reaches to the administrative level, concerning how much finance and effort should be directed towards participating in the Olympic picture."

For 35 years, following a protest walkout by the NCAA prior to the 1928 Olympics in Amsterdam, the collegiate forces were accorded equal representation with AAU on Games committees.

Now, collegiate representation will be in a minority, up to the discretion of the USOC's board of directors.

Pappas and Orioles Edge Boston 1-0

BOSTON (AP)—Baltimore's Milt Pappas picked up his first victory in nearly a month with Stu Miller's ninth-inning relief help as Baltimore edged Boston 1-0 Sunday. A sacrifice fly to deep right in the fifth inning by batterymate John Orsino brought the winning run.

Miller relieved Pappas, who had allowed only six hits, with one out and two on in the ninth. He threw one pitch, getting Tony Conigliaro to hit into a game-ending double play.

Pappas, who won his fifth straight game on May 21, had since lost two and been involved in a pair of no-decision affairs.

The Baltimore run came off Boston starter Bill Monbouquette when Brooks Robinson doubled, moved up on a sacrifice and scored on Orsino's long fly.

Interstate Fishing Pacts Spelled Out

BOISE (AP)—Interstate fishing agreements on the Snake River — which forms part of Idaho's boundary with Oregon and Washington — was spelled out Sunday by the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

Idaho and Oregon fishermen are permitted to fish any part of the Snake River's boundary between the two states under an agreement approved this year by both legislatures.

But a fisherman with a license in one state may not fish from the bank on the other side or in any tributary streams, the Idaho Department said.

A similar agreement for Idaho and Washington was approved by the Idaho legislature but not the Washington legislature, the department said.

Therefore, the boundary runs down the middle of the river and fishermen from the other state may not legally cross it.

Boater Killed In Race Trial

HOPEWELL, Va. (UPI)—One driver was killed and a former national champion was injured in a hydroplane accident during a warmup for the last of six races in the 16th annual Gold Cup Regatta on the Appomattox River.

Homer I. Brand, 50, of Williamsburg, Va., was killed instantly when his 266-cubic inch hydroplane was clipped by another hydroplane, which shot over it at an estimated speed of 80 miles per hour.

The driver of the other craft, former national champion Cal-dolph Hospital here. C. A. Fore, who was manning a patrol boat on the race course, said Brand's boat "went right over the top of Johnson's boat."

Fine

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wilt Chamberlain, star center of the Philadelphia Warriors, Sunday was fined $750 by the National Basketball Association for an article he wrote last April for a leading sports magazine.

The article, which was entitled "My Life in a Bush League," drew heavy criticism from Walter Kennedy, president of the NBA, and others connected with the League.

Kennedy declared that the article was "detrimental to the best interests of the NBA" and contained "many wholly inaccurate statements of fact, all of which drew conclusions from an erroneous premise."

Law Guides Pirates Past Giants 2-1

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Vernon Law pitched a three-hitter for his fifth straight victory and singled and scored the winning run on Bill Virdon's triple, leading Pittsburgh to a 2-1 victory over San Francisco Sunday.

The triumph was the Pirates' eighth in nine games and 20th in 23.

Law, squaring his record at 5-5, gave up Willie McCovey's 14th home run in the second inning. Hal Lanier doubled in the same inning and singled in the fifth for the only other Giant hits.

The Pirates had tied the game in the sixth. Bob Bailey led off with a single and went to third on Virdon's double. After Roberto Clemente was intentionally walked, Bailey scored on Jerry Lynch's sacrifice fly.

Aguirre Hits, Hurls Tigers Over Twins

DETROIT (AP)—Hank Aguirre singled across the deciding run in the seventh inning, then needed relief help from Mickey Lolich in the ninth as Detroit edged American League leading Minnesota 5-4 Sunday.

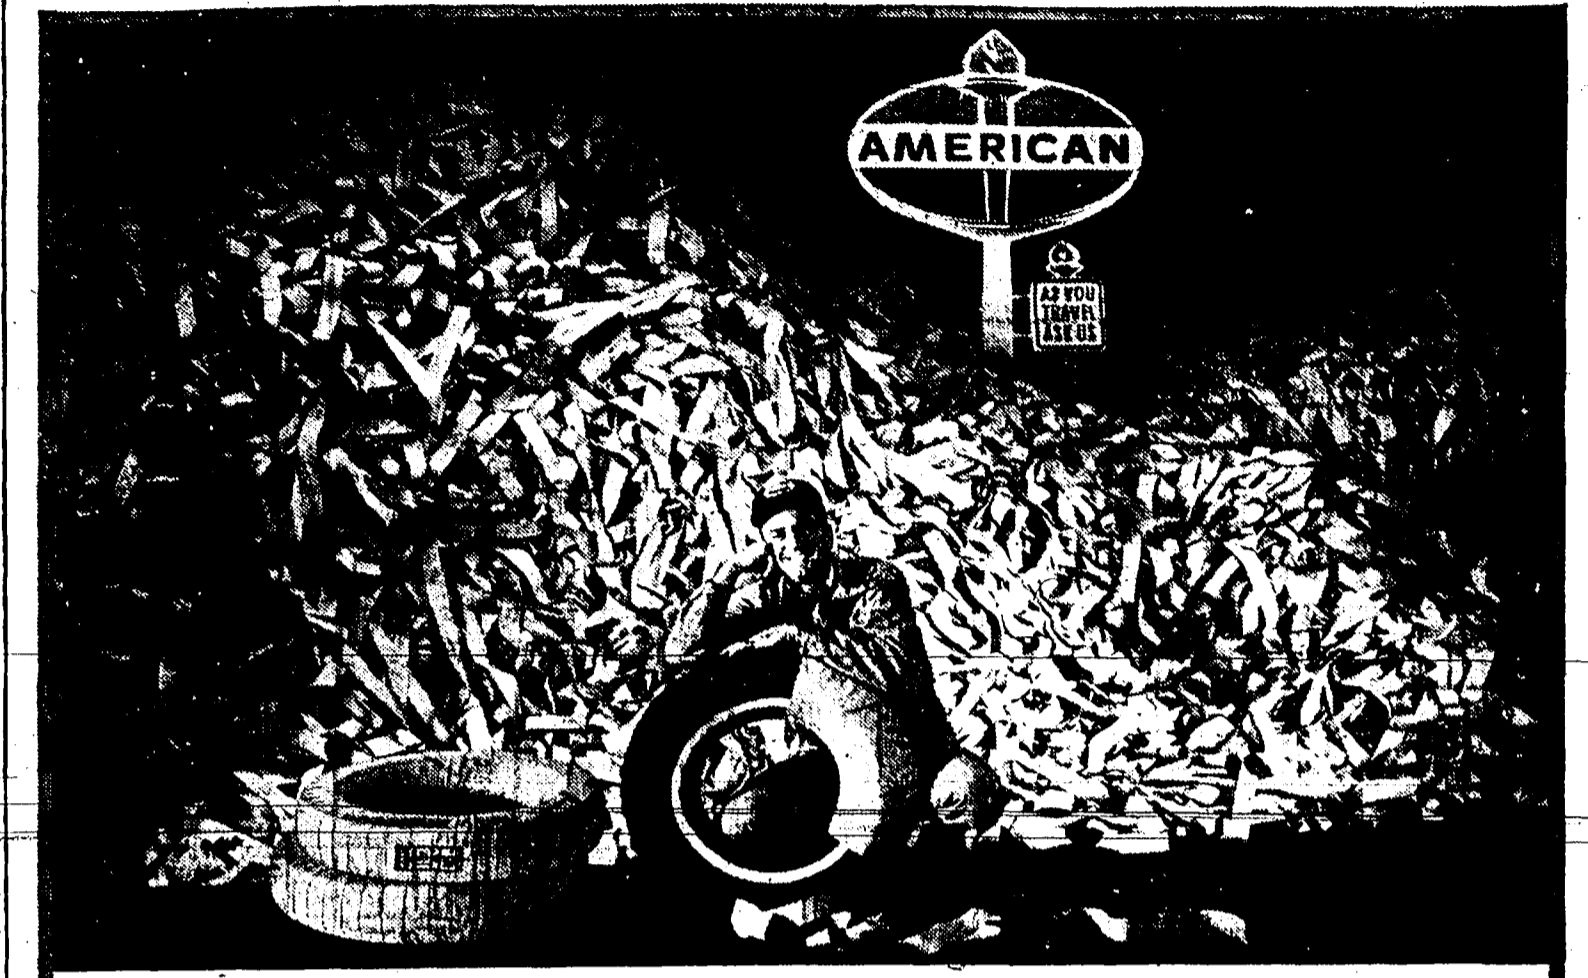

Lolich saved Aguirre's seventh victory against two defeats when the left-hander tired. Lolich started the ninth and retired the Twins in order.

Aguirre's bases-loaded single in the seventh brought in Willie Horton with a run that gave the Tigers a 5-2 lead. However, Bob Allison slammed a two-run homer, his 10th, in the Twins' eighth.
