A Pocatello man who was completely paralyzed in a logging accident when he was 12 years old, but who today is almost fully recovered thanks to medical help from the Elks Rehabilitation Center, Boise, spoke to some 300 Idaho Elks registered for the 43rd annual Idaho State Elks Convention Thursday morning. DeLoy Giles, Pocatello, volunteered to talk to the Elks Thursday on his personal views of the Elks center, which he attended for about 15 years. Giles was paralyzed in a logging accident. Today he has almost completely recovered, although he has to walk with the aid of a cane. He is employed as Bannock County treasurer.

Astronauts Are Honored By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Standing amid flowers on a choice bit of terra firma, America's Gemini spacemen heard President Johnson hail them today as heroes who closed the manned space flight gap between the United States and Russia. The President planned Exceptional Service medals on astronaut James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II in a color ceremony in the White House rose garden. Their brilliant performance, he said, "together with the progress of our Apollo (moon flight) program, clearly indicates that the United States has closed the gap in manned space flight." But the Gemini feat did more than that, the President said, it opened wider the doors for cooperation among nations in conquering space for peaceful purposes. Many top Washington leaders, including Chief Justice Earl Warren and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, watched as the President awarded the astronauts the medals of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The same medal went to one of the top brains of NASA — Charles W. Mathews, manager of the Gemini program office of the Manned Space Center at Houston, Tex. The President even had medals for the astronauts' children — bearing his likeness and the seal of the presidential office. He invited the youngsters, and their parents, "to come to supper and stay all night."

2 Planes Shot in Viet Nam by U.S.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U. S. Navy Phantom jets shot down two Communist MIA17 fighters in flames today in a dogfight 50 miles south of Hanoi, a U. S. military spokesman announced. The clash occurred while the Phantoms were flying escort for other U. S. warplanes bombing targets about 20 miles north of Thanh Hoa. The spokesman said four Communist jets appeared and turned toward the American planes as if they were going to attack. But apparently they were hit before they had a chance to open fire, he said. One parachute was seen opening, but it was not known what happened to the Communist pilot. The other two MIGs escaped.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — An American paratrooper was killed and seven soldiers — four of them Brazilians — were wounded in nine hours of sporadic fighting Wednesday night with the Dominican rebels. A spokesman for the inter-American peace force announced the casualties and said at least eight rebels were killed in the fighting, which finally ended at midnight. The fighting involved, at different times, nearly the entire perimeter of the international security zone that encircles the rebel stronghold in downtown Santo Domingo. Brazilian, Honduran and American units took part in the exchange of fire. "We fired when they fired at us and kept it up until they stopped firing," said Lt. Frank Ramirez, 23, a Honduran soldier.

Western Horse Show Activities Start Here

Each year a group of Magic Valley horse enthusiasts organize and present the Magic Valley Western Horse Show. This show was organized more than 10 years ago by the Twin Falls Junior Riding club and has progressed since to be one of the northwest's largest and finest horse shows. Activities for this year's show started Wednesday night with the first phase of judging for the queen contest, and continue with a parade Friday. The contest, which is open statewide, has 13 entries this year. Last year's queen, Bonnie Bruning, Twin Falls, is the reigning Miss Rodeo Idaho. Wednesday night she, 13 entries in this year's contest, judges and horse show committeemen and women gathered at the Depot Grill Caboose Room for a smorgasbord and judging session. Miss Bruning asked several questions of each contestant, which were answered by the girls in front of the judges, Mrs. Sharon Taylor, Dean Hopkins and Jim Prunty. During this first phase of the contest the girls were judged on appearance, personality and speaking ability. During the horse show, to be held June 25-26-27 at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds, Filer, judging on horsemanship, with continued appearance judging will be held, with half the entries riding the first night, half the second and six finalists competing the last night. The girls also are required to ride in the parade Friday evening. The parade will begin at 6 p.m. and will travel through downtown Twin Falls.

Denver Hit By Floods, One Killed

DENVER, Colo. (AP) Flood waters hammered Denver and nearby communities Wednesday night and today in one of the worst natural disasters in the city's history. Despite the ferocity of the raging waters and of tornado winds that preceded the flood, only one death was reported. Several persons were injured. There were unconfirmed reports of persons missing from modest homes, some little better than shacks, in the South Platte River bottoms. The usually placid South Platte and tributaries, dry just before mountain cloud-bursts, were turned into torrents a half-mile wide in places. Bridges were swept away, thousands of homes, business firms and factories flooded, roads washed away, power and gas lines severed. It was too early to total up the damage, but property losses seemed sure to run into the tens of millions of dollars. The metropolitan area has more than a million residents. The flood plunged out of the mountain canyons southeast of Denver Wednesday a few hours after a tornado struck Palmer Lake, south of here, and also pounded down in an area south-east of Denver. At the Valley Country Club, three golfers on the course were injured as terrific winds smashed flimsy shelter houses in which they had sought refuge. Hundreds of persons living close to the South Platte River had to leave their homes. They were given shelter in schools and other buildings. Water flowed into motels, restaurants and other business houses at the south edge of Denver. The crest of the South Platte flood struck shortly before midnight. Another crest, three hours later, flattened out before reaching the metropolitan area.

Scouts Need 16 Boys for World's Fair

Sixteen more Boy Scouts are eligible to go to the World's Fair in New York with the group from the Snake River Area Council. The group is leaving July 6 and returning July 14. While at the fair the boys will serve as guides and participate in an exhibit called the "Wonderful World of Scouting."

Requirements are that the boys must be first class scouts and 14 years old. The trip will cost $225, and this will cover transportation, accommodations, and any expenses for the trip. Any boy interested in this trip should contact the council service center in Twin Falls by Monday, or call Leslie Jones at 733-2067. Idaho has 36 boys already going to the World's Fair. All accommodations for the boys have been arranged and scout leaders will accompany them. An opening also is available for a scout leader to accompany the group and anyone interested should contact the council service center.

Price Cuts Should Be Effective Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress set up a tight schedule today to bring price cuts through excise tax reductions to U. S. consumers at the earliest possible date — perhaps Saturday. Conferees from the House and Senate agreed Wednesday night on a compromise excise tax bill ultimately trimming $4.6 billion a year from the levies on a wide variety of goods, from automobiles to matches. House leaders plan, barring unforeseen setbacks, to take up the compromise bill as the first order of business today. Since the conference version closely resembles the bill the House has already passed, quick approval was expected. Sen. Russell Long, D-La., one of the principal Senate conferees, said that chamber will act as soon as possible after the House votes.

Such a legislative schedule could send the measure to President Johnson in time for him to sign it Friday, bringing most tax cuts into effect Saturday. Actually the initial 3 per cent reduction in the automobile excise — $70 on an average car — and the repeal of the 10 per cent levy on the manufacturer's price on air conditioners are retroactive to May 15. Anyone who purchased such an article on that date or later would be eligible for a refund. Tax cuts going into effect the day after the President signs the bill include repeal of the 10 per cent retail excise taxes on jewelry, furs, toilet preparations and luggage, and of the manufacturer's excise taxes on a variety of goods including appliances, radio and television sets, cameras, business machines, musical instruments and most sporting goods.

No Danger

Rain and hail poured down on Twin Falls around noon Thursday, but apparently did not cause any crop damage. Olan Genn, assistant agricultural agent, said the weather has been excellent for the bean stand, and if the rain didn't hit too hard to pack the soil and make a hard crust, there shouldn't be any damage. The storm lasted only for a few minutes. The weather bureau at Kimberly reported storms were hitting most parts of Magic Valley, but some were "just a little harder than others."

Bolt of Lightning Damages Residence East of Twin Falls

A brief, rumbling thunderstorm Wednesday afternoon was more than just noisy — it accompanied a bolt of lightning which struck at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Murphy, route 1, Kimberly, damaging windows, light fixtures, their garage and a large tree. Murphy said the lightning struck at 5 p.m., when the power to his house was knocked out and the clocks stopped. Extent of damage was not determined Wednesday night, but he said nearly all the fixtures in the house were destroyed and most of the windows were broken. There also was damage to plumbing and plaster. A large Lombard Poplar tree, about 50 feet from the house, located two and a fourth miles east of Twin Falls on Addison Ave. E., was damaged extensively. The power meter was knocked from the house and the transformer was blown out. Insulation also was burned off wires leading into the house and the power line was knocked loose. A corner section of the garage, about 30 feet from the house, was knocked away by the lightning and some pieces of lumber were thrown several yards. A nearby ditchbank full of water also was stripped bare of grass. Windows in a 1951 Ford pickup truck parked near the house and windows in the camper unit on the vehicle were broken. Murphy said the lightning "didn't seem to affect any of the appliances — mostly just the lighting fixtures." Children of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were playing in a tree. See STORM, Page 2, Col. 1

Cumulus clouds are expected to increase and thicken during the day, producing scattered showers or thundershowers this afternoon and evening. Conditions are expected to stabilize considerably Friday with the low moving away from this area. Partly cloudy skies are expected and afternoon showers, if any, will be sparse and most likely in eastern sections.

A warning trend will begin today and continue tomorrow over the district. It was already evident in Magic Valley during the forenoon today. NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — There are differences of opinion concerning Lady Bird Johnson's role as a kind of distaff Vice President, but she gets my vote for a simple and unpolitical reason — to wit, she is the kind of First Lady her husband ordered.

Mrs. Johnson would wear me down to a nubbin if I tried to keep up with her, but I am one for lazy days on the beach and frequent pauses to crank the feet up on the desk. Lyndon Johnson, who sleeps only when there is no one left to talk to, happily seems to have found a mate whose motion is almost as perpetual as his own. As he told a recent visitor, "My wife is pretty, rich—and a hard worker." It was obvious the President could do without her good looks and wealth, but not her velocity.

TALKATIVE, TOO—There is a story, which does not sound apocryphal, that the President greeted Lady Bird on her return from a whistle-stop tour last fall with amiable asperity. The First Lady had made 47 speeches in four days, but the President feigned displeasure. "Why didn't you make it a round 50?" he asked.

Mrs. J., of course, would have squeezed in those last three orations if somebody had doctored the clock, because she is that kind of person. She is a new experience even for a country that knew, and alternately enjoyed and suffered, Eleanor Roosevelt. Next to Lady Bird, some nice First Ladies named Bess Truman, Mamie Eisenhower and Jackie Kennedy are becoming anonymous.

POLITICAL RIGHT ARM—It is not that Lady Bird necessarily is a better First Lady, but that she is a different type. Bess Truman believed a President's wife should stay home and out of the spotlight, and Mamie Eisenhower's health was too delicate for more ceremonial appearances on the hustings. There is a suspicion John Kennedy would have liked Jackie to do more politicking, but she frankly found it dull stuff and anyway preferred to baby-sit with young John and Caroline.

Lady Bird, on the other hand, could no more sit at home with her tattling than Sen. Wayne Morse could stop talking. She has been Lyndon Johnson's political right arm every since he ran for Congress, and in the old days handled most of his more important correspondence. Unlike most politicians' wives, she seems to thrive on those teapots with female constituents, and she will make a speech at the drop of a dipthong.

NICE WRITE-UPS—Curiously, Lady Bird's activities by and large have brought her a good press. Curiously, because poor Eleanor Roosevelt took a beating from some of the neurotic scribes and even suffered personal insults from the more microcephalic journalists, Lady Bird does better because she eschews Mrs. Roosevelt's aggressiveness and association with the more controversial issues. She is also better looking, which anybody in show biz will affirm is a big part of the battle.

Democratic politicians do not attempt to analyze her, however. Wherever she goes, Lady Bird means votes for her husband and that is the kind of wife the precinct captains—and a husband named Lyndon Johnson—like in the White House.

Views of Others

WHOSE RIVER?

In all the talk about keeping California's hands off OUR Columbia River, we've kind of lost sight of the fact that it isn't OUR river after all; it's really Canada's.

At least, that's where most of it comes from. And the provincial deputy minister of water resources for British Columbia forcefully reminded us of the fact this week when he warned that just a few more feet on the top of Mica Creek Dam would divert most of OUR river into the Fraser.

And where would California be then? The deputy minister, Arthur Paget, was talking to the Northwest Trade Association meeting in Portland about general water diversion. He noted that almost all of Northwestern Canada's waters can be profitably diverted, some to provide power and others to provide waterways to open up new timberlands.

H. Dewayne Kreager, former head of the Washington Department of Business and Industry, said diversion of Northwest water to the Southwest and East is "inevitable." He said that there is plenty of water in the United States, but it's not all at the right place and is not all utilized to the best purpose.

"What is short is not water," he said, "but experience in managing the use of water. It seems probable, as time goes on, that the shortage of water in any area should be equal only to man's inability to manage water resources."

He added: "Whether we like it or not, in due course of time we will see vast and continuing quantities of Pacific Northwest water moving southward and eastward to meet the needs of areas in which water demands have greatly exceeded available water supplies."

However, he said the principle of regional preference should be applied to water in the same way it is to hydroelectric power surpluses: "The present and future needs of the area supplying the resource should be protected before exports are made.—Wenatchee World.

C-PLUS STUDENTS

A research study of 1,072 leaders in business, education and government listed in "Who's Who in America" found that a majority of them had averaged C-plus to B in grades during college. From this it does not follow the way to get into "Who's Who" is to avoid getting A. But the lack of connection between who's at the top of the class accidentally and who's at the top of the nation in these fields a generation later does indicate that school grades don't measure some important things.

The reasons for a student's not getting the best grades may be poor ones, such as laziness and inefficiency just as there are poor reasons for getting high grades, such as overly-narrow interests or caring more for marks than for learning.

But there are also valid reasons why many students get less than the highest grades, such as the development of interests and abilities not contained in the curriculum. It should be noted that the three fields included in the research study—business, education and government—require interest in the skills with people.

Grades provide needed incentives and useful measurements. But it is healthful to be reminded that life and human nature are too complex and varied to be caught by grades and pinned for all time, like dead butterflies in an exhibit case. We suspect that most inhabitants of the big red book are more outstanding for continuing to learn and grow after graduation than for their high grades while in school.—Chicago Daily News.

WHO CAN'T?
Dear Pot Shots: I'd like to sign up for the war on poverty.

No, I'm not poverty-stricken. But I've been reading about what fancy salaries the politicians and their cohorts will get from the poverty war headquarters, and I could use one of those soft, well-paying jobs.

So far as that goes, I'll pass up any chance at a soft job if they'll just share the wealth a little more. Believe me, I can use it!

TURN-ABOUT
Dear Pot Shots: It sort of shakes you up if you stop to think about it.

Here there are all sorts of wives working in the stores and offices around town. Then if you drive along the streets in the residential districts you can see "men" of the family out in the smoke arising from the backyard barbecue.

Who's the breadwinner and who's the homemaker these days?

The Doctor Says

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

Q—My husband has bursitis of his shoulder. It is so painful he can hardly work. He has been taking cortisone tablets with no relief. He says an ice pack gives the most comfort. Wouldn't heat be better?

A—Bursitis is an inflammation of the lubricating sac attached to large tendons near the joints. The shoulder is one of the commonest locations. Hydrocortisone gives the best results when it is injected directly into the affected bursa. But, if the condition is chronic, this will do no good. Procaine, a local anesthetic, injected into the bursa will make it possible to move the joint through its full range and break up any adhesions that may have formed. This can be followed by an injection of hydrocortisone.

The arm should be moved through its full range several times a day thereafter, even though it causes some pain, to prevent a recurrence of the stiffness.

Heat is usually preferred to cold for this condition. Short wave diathermy has also been used with success.

Q—My doctor says I have a condition called "Asian Torture." Is there really an ailment by this name? What is it and is there a cure?

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON — This is a signal from the closed world of the Kremlin in Moscow. It is sent by a responsible Western statesman long familiar at first-hand with the course of world affairs.

Several hours spent with Premier Kosygin brought a sense of dismay and alarm. The propaganda intention was there, of course — the desire to spread the Kremlin line as widely as possible through the channels of the West.

But with this discounted to the limit, the impression was of a man searching almost desperately for a way out of an impossible box. Kosygin talked about the United States for virtually the entire time. Washington was ruining any hope for co-existence. The policy of the Johnson administration would soon leave the Soviet Union with no alternative but to join the war in Viet Nam in full force.

The attack was obviously part of a genuine and deep-seated concern was the lack of communication between the two worlds. While he did not say it in so many words, the visitor brought away the impression that the private and personal exchange begun between Nikita Khrushchev and John F. Kennedy after the Cuban missile crisis and continued by President Johnson with Khrushchev and later with Kosygin had been suspended. A further impression winds. There are two monsoons, not one. "In the summer monsoon the winds blow from the southwest and it rains heavily around Saigon and the delta region.

"But by the time the winds reach Da Nang, several hundred miles to the north, the mountains have wrung out most of their moisture. So it is comparatively dry up here."

"During the winter monsoon the situation is reversed. The winds blow from the northeast and dump heavy rains on Da Nang and smaller amounts of moisture around Saigon.

"But throughout the entire country some rain normally falls in every month of the year."

"That means, whenever stormy weather appears, the enemy can plan a surprise attack in any part of South Viet Nam at any season, and they do.

Any questions about monsoons? If so, please address them to Capt. Jacobs.

United Press International
As an individual, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson is a man who exudes confidence.

His portly figure is relaxed. The puffs he takes on his pipe, unharmed. But it is with some what less confidence that Britain's friends and neighbors have been watching Wilson's efforts to cope with his country's greatest single problem—the question of finances.

As it has for years, Britain still is spending more than it is taking in.

International financiers put the problem into more formidable phraseology, calling it "balance of payments."

Correcting it is the more difficult because it runs contrary to human nature.

It is a problem faced to a lesser degree by the United States.

Under Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and now Johnson, the United States has worried about the outflow of gold. It led the United States to institute "buy American" policy which required in so far as possible that foreign recipients of U. S. aid spend it on the purchase of American products.

It led to government appeals to American tourists to spend their tourist dollars in their own country and to American industry to put a damper on investments abroad.

EVER MAKE A "2 ♠ FINESSÉ"?
A letter from Cleveland reads in part: "I had 17 points for my no-trump opening and my partner was certainly entitled to go to three no-trump with his 11. According to you and all other authorities 11 plus 17 equals 28 and all you need for game is 26. I made game all right but must consider that I was lucky. East won the first trick with the jack of hearts for my ninth trick. Was that a triple finesse?"

The answer to his final question is that it was about a two and one-half finesse. It was also correct play since it gave the best chance for a ninth trick. The chance wasn't too good since it depended on finding East with the ten spot and either the king or queen of hearts but that one chance in four came off and South made his game.

Twenty-six points or even 29 or 30 don't guarantee a game. All we know is that when the partnership has 26 high card points it belongs in game provided that it can find a satisfactory spot.

Twenty North-South points were concentrated in two suits but could only produce six tricks. Give either North or South a fourth spade or diamond and there would be another top trick and three no-trump would have been a lead pipe cinch.

YES Program Operating in Twin Falls for Ninth Year

This is the ninth consecutive year Twin Falls has had the Youth Employment Service, better known as YES, in operation, co-sponsored by the Idaho Department of Employment and the Jaycees.

This year there are 800 students registered for the YES program. So far this summer non-agricultural jobs have been found for 200 of the students.

The success of the program shows how well the community has cooperated. Before the summer is over, 1,000 Twin Falls youths from 12 to 21 years old, are expected to register for the program.

According to Larry Mitchell, director of YES, only 40 girls have been placed in jobs, out of 395 who have registered. He urged anyone who has work suitable for teen-age girls to call him at the Twin Falls office of the Idaho Department of Employment, 733-4880.

The YES program has three purposes. The first is for young people to fill their free time in the summer months with useful activities.

Secondly, many young people find it necessary to work in the summer to assist their family or to help pay for their schooling.

Elephant Has School Tour At Leisure

TWEEDMOUTH, England (UPI)—A friendly elephant named Monica wandered away from a circus parade Wednesday and strolled into a schoolhouse—right through the big double doors.

The 4,000-pound pachyderm strolled up and down the corridors to the delight of school children.

Leslie Gleg, the principal, heard the commotion and stepped out of his office to see what was going on. He came face to face with Monica, eyeball to eyeball.

Monica's keeper finally caught up with the animal and led her back to the circus grounds.

No one was injured during Monica's walk, but a teacher's car parked outside was damaged when the elephant marched into the school yard. A gatepost was uprooted and the glass in the double doors was shattered.

Meat Packing Plant Event Set Aug. 14

GOODING—Dedication of the $1 million Stockmen's Meat Packing Corp. plant is scheduled for Aug. 14, according to Donald Stroud, manager of the plant.

Present plans call for dedication rites at 11 a.m. and guided tours of the plant. The first animal will be slaughtered on Aug. 16.

Work at the plant, located four miles east of Gooding, is progressing. Contract work has been completed and the companies are in the process of cleaning up. Equipment is to be installed by employees of the plant. Stroud and his assistants are installed in the plant office.

The plant includes cattle holding pens with a capacity of 400. Corrals, 200 by 200 feet, are located southwest of the holding pens. Also included are the main kill floor and refrigeration building. Offices of the firm are located on the south side of this building.

The plant has a potential to process 400 head of cattle per eight-hour shift and the manager hopes to get the plant operating two shifts per day.

Leo Rice is the president of the corporation; Robert Fields, vice president; Leland Burgess, secretary-treasurer, and directors are V. A. Thompson, Valdo Gray, James Muffley, all Gooding; Stanley Huskey and Robert Anderson, both Boise; Harvey Schwendimen, St. Anthony; Roy Stroschein, Sterling; Monty Rife, Salmon; James Stewart, Terrellton; Russell Biggs, Twin Falls, and Wayne Meyers, Sugar City.

West Berlin Is Indignant Over Killing

BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners, still indignant over this week's shooting of two boaters by East German guards, paid tribute today to the victims of the revolt against communism in East Germany 12 years ago.

Because of the nature of this holiday and the latest shooting, in which Hermann Doebler, 42, was killed and his woman companion seriously wounded, police were alerted for possible disturbances along the wall.

June 17 is a national holiday known as Unity Day.

Anger over the machine-gunning Tuesday of Doebler and his fiancée continued to dominate public opinion here. All West Berlin newspapers played up the unusually sharp protest letter of U.S. Ambassador George C. McGhee to Pyotr Abrassimov, the Soviet envoy in East Berlin.

McGhee warned the Russians that the United States would take measures to protect the West Berliners. Officials declined to divulge what these measures might be.

Tuesday's shooting occurred on the Teltow Canal when the boaters apparently strayed into East German waters by mistake.

Beatles Hit; Man Returns 12 Medals

LONDON (AP) — A colonel set a record for anti-Beatleism today by sending 12 medals back to Queen Elizabeth II.

Col. Frederick Wagg, 74, veteran of two world wars, joined the protest movement against the award of the M.B.E. — Member of the Order of the British Empire — to the lank-haired pop quartet.

He also resigned from Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor party and canceled a $33,600 bequest to it.

"Decorating the Beatles," said the colonel, "has made a mockery of everything this country stands for."

"I've heard them sing and play and I think they're terrible."

At least six holders of the M.B.E. already had mailed their insignia — a heavy silver cross — back to Buckingham Palace.

He said he sent back the foreign decorations because they were granted with royal approval. Britons may not accept foreign medals without royal permission.

The only medal he is keeping, he said, is the Croix de Lorraine which Gen. Charles de Gaulle handed to him personally after World War II.

Hundreds of letters about the Beatles award cascaded into the prime minister's office at No. 10 Downing Street and Buckingham Palace. Officials said roughly two in three opposed it — but some of the opposition came from supporters of rival pop groups.

Idaho Woman Is Honored in Utah

FAIRFIELD — Betty South, daughter of Mrs. Arnold Hubbard, Fairfield, recently was presented with the 1965 Alumni achievement award in Journalism at the University of Utah. Miss South is press secretary to Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Miss South is the first woman to receive the award at the university. Her name will appear on a gold plaque at the university. The award was made at a breakfast given by the Kappa Tau Alpha and Sigma Delta Phi journalism societies.

Miss South is a 1955 graduate of the University of Utah and a 1950 graduate of Malad High School. She was society editor of a Brighton, Colo., paper before becoming assistant to Henry Aldous Dixon, Utah. She was administrative assistant to former Rep. Ralph Harding before joining the staff of Vice President Humphrey in February.

OLD CAR BODIES, unsightly reminders of where Big Wood Flood waters raged last week, can be seen from Bellevue's Main Street, looking across the river which is still more than a quarter of a mile wide. On a gravel bar now in the middle of the river, which will be far from the east bank when the water recedes, five or six cars are standing on their noses, one jammed against another. The Union Pacific work crew brought in about 50 railroad and auto car bodies last week and anchored them with cables against the river bank which was being eaten away not far from the Shoshone-Ketchum branch line tracks. They said eight of the car bodies got away from them and floated downstream. Victor Bowman, of Clarendon Hot Springs resort, said four car bodies were washed out in one night. (Times-News photo)

Unattired

GRAND FORKS, N. D. (AP) — A store offered $50 in clothing to the first person to enter wearing only a barrel—but had to award duplicate prizes.

Keith Anderson and Paul Balbas raced for the narrow entrance at the same time. Crummett went Anderson's barrel in a collision witnessed by 150 people recently.

The barrel went to pieces and Anderson tried vainly to shove off nuditly until he could be hustled inside—and into more conventional attire.

OBBERDORFER RESIGNS WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has accepted the resignation of Louis F. Oberdorfer as assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's tax division. Oberdorfer, 46, resigned Wednesday to return to private law practice. He is a native of Birmingham, Ala.

Hailey Farmers Face Repair Work on Canal Structures

HAILEY — Whether Big Wood river will reach flood stage again this year is anybody's guess, says watermaster Woodrow Watts.

He believes, however, that even with continued warm weather the crest of the river would not again be as high as it was last Saturday, when it reached 6.02 feet at the Hailey measuring station.

The problem many farmers will face when the waters recede is how to get water to their land. Damage to diversion points of several large canals will have to be repaired. Much debris and many trees which washed downstream will have to be removed. In several places old car bodies will be left "high and dry" as unsightly reminders of just where the flood waters raged.

James Knighton of the Army Engineers-Corps, who spent a week here during the highest water, said unless car bodies are weighted down with cement or huge boulders, "high waters many times will wash beneath them and eat them away from the bank."

Knights Council Elects Officers

Richard Fuchs was elected grand knight of the Twin Falls Knights of Columbus, council No. 1416, during a meeting Wednesday night.

Other newly-elected officers are Frank Karel, deputy grand knight; Noel Brittain, chancellor; Robert Fries, recorder; Nelson Jarvis, treasurer; Richard Henning, Sr., advocate; Dale Schloader, warden; Leo McFarland, inside guard, and Dean Nichols, outside guard.

A social hour was held after the business meeting.

Save Water

NEW YORK (UPI) — A foreign car manufacturer (Volkswagen) took full-page newspaper ads today to advise drought-threatened New Yorkers to "save water."

A tiny inscription at the bottom informed readers the ad was presented by "the car with the air-cooled engine that doesn't use any."

Recovering

SHOSHONE—Richie McCrea, 2½ year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCrea, is recovering satisfactorily after being kicked in the head by a 3-month-old colt.

The boy was visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Del Glauner, north Shoshone, and crawled under the fence into where the colt was kept. A blood vessel was broken, causing a blood clot on the right side of his head and both of the child's eyes turned dark.

3 Idaho Water Projects To Get Federal Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee recommended $13,317,000 today for construction of three Idaho water projects.

The money was included in $1,598,705,500 recommended for water project planning and building by the Army Engineers and the Reclamation Bureau.

It includes $11,000,000 for Dworshak (Bruce Eddy) Reservoir, $100,000 for Heise-Roberts-Extension, $400,000 for the Portneuf River and Marsh Creek and $1,817,000 for the Mann Creek Project.

Also included was $44,000 for planning Blackfoot Reservoir, $300,000 for planning Ririe Reservoir, $75,000 for a survey of the Portneuf River and its tributaries, $5,000 for a survey of the Salmon River at Challis and $50,000 for a survey of Asotin Lock, Wash., and Idaho.

The recommendation also included a $175,000 loan program for Idaho's King Hill Irrigation District and $162,281 loan program for St. John Irrigation Co. Washington was allotted $1,000 for construction of the Chief Joseph Dam Project in the Oroville-Tonasket Unit; $9,300,000 for construction on the Columbia Basin Project and $2,860,000 for the Spokane Valley Project.

Also included for Washington was $600,000 for construction of Chief Joseph Dam, Stilling Basin; $720,000 for Colfax; $200,000 for Grays Harbor and Chehalis River, South Jetty; $405,000 for Kingston Harbor; $14,000,000 for Little Goose Lock and Dam; $14,000,000 for Lower Granite Lock and Dam; $47,000,000 for Lower Monumental Lock and Dam; $700,000 for Tacoma Harbor, and $727,000 for the Washougal Area.

The money, which would be for use in the year starting July 1, is in a public works appropriation bill sent to the House.

Athol Girl Elected at Girls State

CALDWELL, Idaho (AP) — Holly Hatch of Athol will be installed as governor of the mythical Syringa Girls State today along with other state officials named in balloting Wednesday.

Miss Hatch, the Nationalist Party nominee, defeated Federalist Vicki Pearson of Preston. They will preside Friday over a mock-legislative session in Boise which will conclude the week-long course in American government.

Other officials elected Wednesday were Janie Jenkins, Nampa, Federalist, lieutenant governor; Barbara Rice, Preston, Federalist, state auditor; Pat Carter, Pocatello, Federalist, superintendent of public instruction; Linda Scott, Salmon, Nationalist, state treasurer; Patti Powers, Pocatello, Nationalist, attorney general, and Lynn Standley, Moscow, Nationalist, inspector of mines.

Sunday, Rae Le Bour of Grangeville and Betty Jo Ross of Idaho Falls won election as U. S. senators to give the Federalist Party a clean sweep in that race.

Elected U. S. representatives were Ann Hays, Idaho Falls, a Federalist, and Cathi Clark, Payette, a Nationalist. Shaway Christian of Coeur d'Alene was elected to the supreme court on a non-partisan judicial ballot.

Pulsations

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Can rock 'n' roll music on car radios lead to a different kind of rush-hour bop? It's possible, says John Anello, cultural director for Milwaukee County Park and music director of a local opera company. Anello suggests stations should soothe the driver with soft music.

He said, "When you have music with a certain tempo and certain dissonances and you are irritated with automobile traffic, you may step it up to keep pace with the music. It's amazing how certain pulsations of music affect you."

Israel's Party Split Imminent

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — A split in Israel's dominant Mapai party seemed imminent today after former Premier David Ben-Gurion urged his supporters in the party to set up separate slate of candidates for the November national Parliament elections.

Ben-Gurion, who has been attacking the party leader, Premier Levi Eshkol, told a meeting of 150 supporters Wednesday night: "Mapai in its present form is unfit to head a government."

The party has headed the government ever since Israel became a nation.

Art Director Remarks On Kennedy's Paintings

(See pictures on page 25) and friends were on a plane trip to Massachusetts. The plane came down "like a toboggan ride through the treetops" as Kennedy later related.

Kennedy fastened his seat belt, but his back was broken. The pilot and a Kennedy aide were killed, everybody else aboard was hurt.

So it was six months in a Boston hospital for Kennedy, strapped onto a thing called a Stryker frame. This holds your back immobile, but if you get tired looking at the ceiling, it will flip you over on your stomach.

So what did Ted do? For his blonde wife Joan he did a winter landscape with a covered bridge and New England farmhouse. For Mrs. John F. Kennedy a red cottage on a spit of sand with a sailboat on the horizon. And so on.

The picture of the two Marblehead boats was presented to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy. When the Washington Post printed a color reproduction of it, an Associated Press newsman submitted the print to gallery director Walker for his comment.

Walker dictated the following statement, and note what a diplomat he turns out to be:

"Sen. Kennedy is a talented painter. Like Winston Churchill, he may not have all the time he wishes to develop this talent until his retirement, which we hope will be many years hence."

All told, the senator did seven paintings in the hospital.

Right now, Kennedy doesn't have too much time for painting. Politics is his main work, and many of his Senate colleagues figure he is a comer.

Kennedy, now 43, was first elected to the Senate in 1962 to fill out two years in a seat once held by his brother, the late president. While in the hospital, he was re-elected to a full six-year term in 1964.

"The best politician in the family," John F. Kennedy once called him — and some experts figure he has even more command over Massachusetts politics than his brother ever did.

Mrs. Undhjem Carves Out

5-Shot Lead in Women's Magic Valley Tournament

RUPERT—Mrs. Marlon Undhjem, Twin Falls, took a giant stride toward her sixth consecutive Magic Valley Women's Amateur Golf Championship Wednesday when she took a five-stroke lead in the opening 18 holes of the 36-hole tournament. Playing the 76-women's par Rupert Country Club course, Mrs. Undhjem had an 83. The tournament winds up Thursday afternoon and if she can hold her lead, Mrs. Undhjem will retire her second straight traveling trophy. Although the weather held up quite well at the tournament site, showers through most of Magic Valley held the expected field of about 80 to 100 women to less than 50. The turnout was a blow to the hosting Rupert Women's Golf Association which had three social events planned in conjunction with the tournament.

Beat Pro

Twin Falls men golfers will take their shots at a local "beat the pro" tournament Sunday. All men will be allowed full handicap deductions in medal play against host professional Clyde Thomson, who will set the standard Sunday morning. Some 28 women turned the trick against Thomson last month. "I'd better shoot about a 64 or this will be a tough year," Thomson smiled.

Purves Leads Qualifying For City Meet

Jim Purves paced all qualifiers for the second straight year when he fired a one-under par 67 to win the medalist honors in the Twin Falls Men's Golf Association city championship tournament.

First round matches began this week and the meet will continue through four weeks before the champion is decided. Head professional Clyde Thomson announced the pairings for the first round. These include:

Tiant Hurls One-Hitter At Senators

CLEVELAND (AP) — Luis Tiant pitched a one-hitter, allowing only a seventh inning single by Woodie Held, and Leon Wagner drove in four runs as Cleveland defeated Washington 5-0 Wednesday night.

Tiant, bringing his record to 6-3, allowed only Held's leadoff single in the seventh, while striking out seven and walking three. Washington loaded the bases in the second on a hit batsman, an error by second baseman Pedro Gonzalez and an intentional walk, but Tiant struck out pitcher Phil Ortega to end the threat.

Phil Ortega took the loss for a 6-8 record.

Let Pirates

Cop 10-9 Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Willie Stargell's 14th homer, a three-run shot in the ninth inning following a dropped third strike and an error, carried Pittsburgh to a 10-9 victory over St. Louis Wednesday night.

Trailing 9-7, the Pirates got started when catcher Tim McCarver dropped a third strike by Barney Schultz that enabled Bill Virdon to reach base. Manny Mota's grounder then went through Jerry Buchek's legs and Stargell's homer went over the right field roof.

The Cardinals had just moved ahead in the eighth, snapping a 7-7 tie on Bill White's sacrifice fly and a run-scoring single by Ken Boyer.

The Pirates, who trailed 6-0 at one time, finally pulled into the tie in their half of the eighth on Don Clendenen's two-run homer.

Landowners

To Call Access Meeting Soon

PICABO — Formulation of a statement to be issued on behalf of landowners along Silver Creek is nearing completion and the group expects to call a meeting with area fishermen shortly after July 4.

The landowners, who have been threatened with a navigability test on the stream, requested and received a 30-day moratorium from fishermen at a public meeting here last month. The fishermen maintain the stream is navigable and planned a log floating test last month. This was called off when landowners raised strong opposition, and the public meeting was set up. The crux of the controversy is access to the stream.

Twin Falls attorney Ed Benoit has been retained by the landowners. The fishermen are represented by E. H. Heap, Twin Falls.

Bud Purdy, one of the area landowners, said Wednesday night "we are preparing a statement which will be read at the next meeting. We are hopeful of settling this thing amicably because if we can't it's going to cost both sides a lot of money."

Mathews Almost Bunted to Get 2,000th Safety

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee slugger Eddie Mathews resisted an impulse to bunt for his 2,000th National League hit and was duly rewarded with the 458th homer of his career.

Mathews was in a merry mood after reaching another milestone and contributing to the Braves' 21-hit attack, high in the league this season, in a 12-7 victory over Philadelphia Tuesday night.

"I didn't think I was pressing for the 2,000th hit, but I wasn't sure and even thought about bunting," the 33-year-old third baseman said.

Trackmen May Jump NCAA Boycott

Trackmen

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Don't be too surprised if the three-day NCAA Track and Field Championships which got underway at the University of California's Edwards Stadium Thursday wind up as a "tune-up" for next week's more prestigious AAU championships at San Diego.

That's because a number of the 500 or so athletes who will be here for the NCAA championships are equally interested in the taboo AAU championships from which the United States team for next month's trip to Russia will be picked.

Four top trackmen—sprinters Larry Questad of Stanford and Forrest Beatty of California, distance runner Gerry Lindgren from Washington State and miler Bob Day of UCLA—already have publicly announced they'll compete for places on the traveling U.S. team at San Diego.

It has been learned that quite a few others also have the AAU championships in mind but are holding off announcing their plans until after this weekend. Notable among these is world shot put champion (70 feet, 7 inches) Randy Matson of Texas A&M who will not compete here but dearly would like to make the trip to Russia.

Matson did not file for the NCAA championships because of a sore knee. He could use the same excuse for not participating in the AAU championships and still gain a spot on the traveling team. According to Col. Don Hull, executive director of the AAU, Matson could get into the Russian meet by later filing application and showing he was in proper condition.

All the subterfuge is a result of the continuing jurisdictional fight between the nation's two amateur athletic groups. Week-end meetings in Chicago of the U.S. Olympic Committee failed to heal the rift, and in fact widened it. The athletes, as they have for the last five years with the exception of a short period in 1964, have suffered because of the fight.

With "peace" even farther away than ever, some athletes, collegiate trackmen that is, are ready to embark on their own defiance of an NCAA ban prohibiting them from competing in AAU sponsored meets that have not been sanctioned by the NCAA.

Anyway, when they come together, some 130 schools, both from the university and college divisions, will be shooting for the team title with no clear-cut favorite in sight. At least 10 most events will be contested, run and the steeplechase. Schools are given a chance to through three rounds—qualify—even the mile and the three-mile. The exception of the six-mile nation round.

Early Homers Send Orioles Past Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Backed by three early home runs, Dave McNally pitched the Baltimore Orioles to their sixth straight victory Wednesday night, trimming the New York Yankees 5-1.

Jerry Adair tagged loser Al Downing's second pitch of the game for a homer in the first inning. Sam Bowers led off the second with a homer and Jackie Brandt homered off Downing with two out in the third. Adair capped the Oriole attack with a two-run double in the ninth, his third hit.

McNally, beating the Yanks for the first time in five career decisions, was a replacement for Steve Barber, sidelined with a finger injury.

In the first flight Marilyn Saxvik, Burley, and Dorothy Zahn, Jerome, were tied at 99 while Vera Howarth had a 103. Ruth Cammozzi, Jerome, paced the second flight at 110 while Phyllis Wiswell, Jerome, and Bernice Gnaou were tied one stroke back.

Coy Tazzer fired a 118 to lead the third flight with Mardean Goitaneia, Johnnie DeBlancques and Mary Kuhl sharing 119. In the fourth flight, Molly Jarvis was on top at 124 followed by Rose Jensen 125 and Carolyn Schuch 128.

Chicago Tips Twins, Nears League Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox handed Minnesota's Camilo Pascual his first loss after eight victories, 3-1 and moved to within one-half game of the American League leading Twins Wednesday night.

Pascual was chased in a three-run White Sox third and Chicago's Johnny Buzhardt, with help from Eddie Fisher, checked the Twins to record his sixth triumph against one defeat.

In the eighth, Buzhardt was replaced by Fisher with Zoilo Versalles on second and two out. Fisher struck out Harmon Killebrew to end the threat.

Pascual allowed only a scratch single by Floyd Robinson, before the White Sox got to him in the fourth.

Robinson's second single, a bad-hopper to short, was followed by Pete Ward's double down the left field line, the first clean hit off Pascual.

With the bases loaded, Minnesota third baseman Rich Rollins failed in a tag play at third on Moose Skowron's bounder.

Clean singles by J. C. Martin and Ron Hansen scored two runs. The third run came across when pinch hitter Smokey Burgess coaxed a walk from Pascual with the bases loaded.

AFL May Invade Philadelphia

NEW YORK (AP) — Philadelphia, a National Football League stronghold for many years, appears headed for a franchise in the American Football League as well.

AFL Commissioner Joe Foss gave strong support to this premise Wednesday by revealing that the league's expansion committee will begin screening applicants for the Philadelphia franchise next Monday.

The AFL voted June 7 to expand from eight to 10 teams for the 1966 season and two days later awarded a franchise for Atlanta to the Cox Broadcasting Co. of that city. The cost of the franchise was $7.5 million.

Philadelphia was rumored then to be in line for the second new franchise but Foss said the league needed more time to inspect and decide which city would get the other club.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

BY LARRY HOVEY

After a year of charges and countercharges, the Amateur Athletic Union and the NCAA Federation backed by the NCAA are farther apart than ever in their fight for control of their sports.

It should be quite apparent to the NCAA by now, however, that it really has very little punch with which to back its claim.

Not only as the International AAU told the college coaches where to get off, the U. S. Olympic committee further dimmed their hopes by voting majority control to the AAU last week-end. It was, evidently, the straw that broke the camel's back.

The coup d' grace will be administered, it appears, by the very people the fight concerned—the athletes. A story in this sports section tells of at least four collegians and hints at several more who are willing to reject the NCAA ban and go after spots on the United States team that will travel to Russia later this summer.

If only a few athletes join the "rebellion" the NCAA can cope with it for the time being by going through with its promise of curtailing further eligibility. Doubtless, the NCAA believes sacrificing someone of the stature of Gerry Lindgren would be justified in the power struggle.

But if a large number of the "quality" boys go along with the AAU, the NCAA and its bid will be dead. And even if the NCAA should be able to struggle along for another year or two, its chances of getting past the Olympics of 1968 are less than slim.

It will be very interesting to see how the decisions of the individual athletes will affect the feud. It appears that it should kill it. More will be known by next week-end.

In the meantime, we still find it difficult to choose sides in the affair. Both are hurting the individuals.

It's been five years since Dick Wilson, field skipper of the Magic Valley Cowboys, got off the field and into the stands as a scout. He believes he's thoroughly going to enjoy the return.

"I guess its (scouting) a step up in baseball, but you always like to be on the field," Wilson says.

Wilson, who probably best remembers Twin Falls for the near mid-season swoon the franchise took, also is happy to be back here. In July of his last season—1958—the franchise ran flat out of money and a subscription was taken among townsfolk to keep baseball around until the end of the season. The town then went without a team for two years before coming back with the Philadelphia Phillies.

"I was very happy to see Magic Valley back in baseball," Wilson says. "Its too good a baseball town to be left out. Right now its facilities are better than a lot of other parks, the light, locker rooms and things like that."

Wilson is in a rather unusual position. Some of the boys he studied and signed as a scout are now on his ball club. He isn't particularly worried though about his reports as a manager on a particular boy being compared with the sheets he sent in on the same individuals as a high school amateur.

He finds some of the reason for this back in his earlier career as a player.

"The youngsters don't get the chance they did several years ago. The clubs often give up on them very early," he said. As an example he noted a case where a youngster had a winning record, pitched two shut-outs and still was released by another organization last fall. Thinking like that is hard to follow for me," Wilson continued.

"But I guess I'm always remembering the way it was several years ago."

As for this year's club, Wilson is quite satisfied with what he's seen so far. But he's anxious to get a look at the rest of them.

Wills, Koufax Lead Dodgers Past Giants

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jim Gilliam broke a seventh-inning lead with his second run-scoring single Wednesday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated San Francisco 2-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Sandy Koufax.

A crowd of 44,499 watched the Dodgers' Maury Wills score twice after stealing his 40th and 41st bases of the year.

Koufax, 10-3, lost a shutout in the seventh inning when Willie Mays tripled and scored on Jim Hart's single. However, Koufax struck out eight en route to his fourth straight victory and his first over the Giants since 1963.

The loss went to Bob Shaw, 6-4, who allowed seven hits in seven innings, including three singles by Gilliam and two by Wills.

Care Needed on Permit Blanks

BOISE (AP)—Sportsmen were advised Wednesday to use extra care in preparing applications for this year's controlled big game hunts in Idaho.

The Fish and Game Department said changes in the regulations permit filing of applications without sending in fees. Fees will be required only if the applicant wins a permit.

But Kay Belpap, chief of business administration, said as a result only the information on the application will be available to the department for processing purposes.

He also said the applications will not be returned and only the winners will be notified. Any illegible, unreadable or incomplete applications, he said, will not be entered in the drawing.

Deadline for submitting the applications is July 14.

Phillies Use Big Inning to Dump Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Rookie Pat Corrales triggered a five-run third inning uprising with his first major league homer as Philadelphia defeated Milwaukee 6-2 Wednesday night behind the clutch pitching of Jim Bunning.

Corrales, called up from Arkansas of the Pacific Coast League last Sunday, cracked his homer after Ruben Amaro opened the third with a walk.

Singles by Bunning, Tony Taylor and Cookie Rojas, a sacrifice fly by John Callison, a single by Richie Allen and a pair of walks accounted for the other three runs.

Bunning struck out 10, but was nicked for nine hits and had to pitch his way out of several jams. He fanned Joe Torre, Ed Die Mathews, Mack Jones and Hank Aaron twice each, in boosting his record to 6-5.

Six Stars to Defend NCAA Track Titles

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Six track and field stars who captured titles in 1964 seek to defend their crowns this weekend in a National Collegiate Athletic Association meet which shapes up as tough individually and collectively.

Back seeking new laurels are hammer thrower Alex Schulten of Bowdoin, pole vaulter John Uelses of LaSalle, Oregon State miler Morgan Groth, St. John's half miler Tom Farrell and discus champion Larry Kennedy of New Mexico.

California's mile relay team won last year and ranks among the favorites this time as the Bears bid farewell to Brutus Hamilton, their track coach for 33 years who has reached the mandatory retirement age.

Oregon captured the team championship a year ago but with distance ace Ken Moore out with a foot injury, the Ducks aren't figured in the top category this time as the collegians compete at California's Edwards Stadium.

The team race could be the closest in years and with the winner getting only about 40 points. Maryland, Villanova, Kansas, Oregon State, New Mexico, Brigham Young, Stanford, California, and Southern California all are mentioned as possible title winners.

No one of the 1964 champions rules as a clear cut favorite. California's relay team has run a 3:08.7 this year but Abilene Christian has 3:08.5, Iowa and Drake each 3:08.7.

The mile is the only championship to be decided on the opening day. The broad jump, 100, 120 high hurdles and steeplechase finals will be on Friday with all other finals in the 20-event program slated Saturday.

Astros Snap Eight-Game Loss Streak

HOUSTON (AP)—Bob Aspromonte's 13th inning single drove in Joe Morgan with the winning run as the Houston Astros snapped their eight-game losing streak with a 3-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday night.

Morgan opened the 13th with a double to left and after Jim Wynn fouled out, Walt Bond walked. Then Aspromonte singled to left.

The Cubs had scored both their runs in the third inning against Astro starter Dick Farrell on Don Landrum's double. Farrell then held the Cubs scoreless until leaving for a pinch hitter in the 12th. Jim Owens blanked the Cubs in the 13th and picked up the victory.

Farrell scored the Astros' first run in the third when he singled and came around on Joe Gaines' double. That broke a runless skein of 33 innings for Houston.

Employees in Idaho's Parks Department Eye Jobs, Future

BOISE (UPI)—From the bottom up, the some-30-persons now working for the Idaho Parks Department are wondering about their jobs and future come July 1.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie announced the appointment of six persons to create a new Idaho Parks Department Wednesday. The new commission will swallow up the smaller Idaho Parks Department on July 1 to begin an operation twice the size of the old agency.

Jon Soderblom, who has been running the department for the past five years, said he will "very definitely" apply for the post of director of the new parks department.

The new commission meets in Boise Monday. Soderblom has been told to stand by in event the commission needs him. This has been the first and only word regarding his future since the last legislature created the new department.

The old department has been working with a steady force of 12 persons. In the summer months, the personnel increase to about 30. None of the permanent employees know what will happen to them or their jobs when the new commission has established itself.

One employee said "There is a certain amount of uncertainty" among the personnel of the department.

Soderblom pointed out there originally demanded that Mayor Daley oust Willis.

Now, they say, Daley also is a target.

"Willis is not important," said Raby. "If we can topple the Daley machine in Chicago, we can topple the machine of any Northern City."

"If we are not successful in marches, we will find economic means."

Protests in Chicago Said Like South

CHICAGO (AP) — The mass rallies, daily marches and civil disobedience marking the civil rights drive in Chicago are patterned after protests in the South, its leaders say.

"We're demonstrating for the same reason in Chicago as they are in Jackson, Miss. — against the basic injustice of our society," said Albert A. Raby, 32, lead of the Coordinating Committee of Community Organizations, the group leading the protests.

"It's our intention," he said in an interview, "to have the same kind of drive here as in the South."

In six days, the protest leaders have staged three rallies, one prayer meeting and four marches on City Hall. The marches resulted in mass arrests and traffic chaos. More than 525 persons have been arrested.

At least 85 marchers were arrested Tuesday after a sit-down at State and Madison streets in the downtown district. About 250 other marchers, led by Raby, who was not arrested, continued to City Hall for conferences with a group of clergymen acting as mediators between the protestors and Mayor Richard J. Daley.

"There's a growing awareness that this is a long-term project," a spokesman for the demonstrators said. "We are not just going to march around a building and magically solve the problem."

The first target of the protests was Schools Supt. Benjamin C. Willis, rehired for another 18 months by the Board of Education May 29. The integrationists was nothing that could be said or done concerning their future until the commission has organized the new parks department.

While the present department operated this biennium with a $352,000 appropriation, the new department was born with a $620,000 appropriation — nearly twice as much as Soderblom has been operating the department with.

The commission will appoint a director of Idaho parks at a salary to be set according to the experience of the director.

Soderblom, a 27-year-old Democrat, is a graduate of the University of Idaho Forestry Department. Though young, Soderblom has conducted his department with maturity. Among the steady employees of the department, Soderblom is the youngest.

"I've been involved in the Idaho parks system for several years and I've tried as hard as I am able to promote it," Soderblom said. "I would naturally like to continue to be involved in this program."

"I am very definitely applying for the directorship," Gov. Smylie, a Republican, once remarked that Soderblom probably had a good chance to land the job. However, it will be up to the commission to decide, Smylie added.

Princess' Match Could Cause Crisis

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Princess Beatrix of the Netherlands may announce her engagement soon to a junior German diplomat who once served in the Nazi army. A Dutch newspaper warned Wednesday it could cost her the right to the throne of this country twice invaded by Germany.

The princess, 27, has been linked with Claus von Amberg, 38, a minor scion of West German nobility and a distant relative of her father, Prince Bernhard. The match threatens to cause a royal crisis.

Von Amberg was captured by American troops in Italy while serving with the elite "Todeskopf" (death's head) tank regiment. As a student, he had attended the aristocratic "Nestroy" boarding school for boys where Hitler youth membership was obligatory.

The newspaper Het Virje Volk, organ of the Labor party, recently said Dutchmen were asking each other, "Why must the princess become engaged to a German who fought in the German army to make the Reich of Hitler win?"

If returned to the issue again Wednesday with a comment that underlined the possible seriousness of the whole affair. The paper said it is now imaginable that Beatrix might face the choice between the throne and marrying the man she loves.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

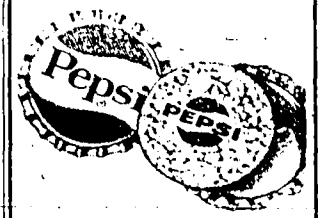

THURSDAY, June 17 — Born today, you are unlikely to find yourself on the horns of a dilemma very often in life. To begin with, you have definite ideas as to what you want to accomplish, what your standards are, and where and when you will compromise, making it relatively simple for you to make up your mind when presented with any given choice. You realize quickly and weigh accurately the pros and cons of a situation, and since for you the balance is seldom equal, the choice is simple.

You have a grace and wit and natural charm that make you the envy of many but, because of your way with people, the enemy of few. One who finds a ready welcome almost everywhere he goes, you must be on your guard against taking advantage of this situation. It would not be difficult for you to begin to live off the generosity of others, and you must therefore guard your independence carefully.

The choosing of a mate may well prove difficult for you—not because you don't know what you want in a spouse, but because you want so much that it may be hard to find. You will need to bear in mind that it is your spouse's responsibility to bring the makings of half a marriage with him or her; it is your responsibility to provide the other half!

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, June 18
GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Stick to business and make real progress toward your ultimate goal today. Take a rain check on social invitations.
CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Long-term benefits should accrue to the Cancer who begins now to set something aside for his future.
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — The creative Leo should find this an unusual day. Seek new horizons through artistic endeavor.

New Learning Way Advised To Graduates

High school graduates who plan to start their college education in the fall should prepare themselves for a somewhat different approach to learning. There are several ways in which the summer months can be used to assist these students in adjusting to college life.

In many cases, the greatest change will be the increased emphasis on the student's responsibility for his own education. Since college is voluntary, it can be assumed that the student wants to learn. The colleges will make every attempt to help a student who makes a sincere effort to succeed. They usually have little patience with a student who is lazy. The student is expected to fulfill his responsibilities without constant prodding by the instructors.

This does not mean that the college will avoid its own responsibilities. It will provide guidance and other forms of assistance for students who need it. The colleges generally recognize the need for an adjustment period at the beginning of the freshman year. There are orientation programs as well as individual counseling opportunities. A student who desires to succeed will find that help is available.

What can be done during the summer months? It is a good idea to become familiar with the campus and buildings. If possible, a visit and a talk with one of the advisors can be helpful.

If the student will be living at the college, all arrangements should be completed as early as possible. The purchase of required materials and books may have to wait until the classes begin. However, if lists are provided beforehand it would be most helpful to do this in advance. Becoming familiar with the books for a course can be valuable.

Many colleges provide a list of suggestions and directions for new students. Follow these carefully. They have been planned to help avoid problems.

College work can be interesting and challenging. It provides an opportunity for a student to learn as much as his ability and desire permit. The benefits of a college education are mostly a result of the student's own efforts and desire to learn.

Red China, Russia Not too Close, Even at Paris Fair

By LEON DENNEN
PARIS — (NEA) — The Red Chinese official said: "We shall destroy the Americans in Viet Nam. We shall drive them out of Asia and then liberate the world from Yankee imperialism."

I spoke in French to Mao Tse-tung's agent in the Chinese pavilion of the Paris Fair where Peking and Moscow, the two Red rivals, were the biggest foreign exhibitors.

He was a little, austere man, about 40, in a gray working-man's cap pulled over his eyes and a black raincoat. He reminded me of the Russian commissars in the early days of communism—before they turned "capitalist" and discarded leather jackets and bell-bottom trousers.

The Chinese official refused to give his name. But from the way other Chinese at the exhibit stood at attention whenever he barked orders it was obvious that he wielded authority.

"It is historically inevitable that American imperialism should be destroyed by the international proletariat," the Chinese Red said.

He smiled, showing a mouthful of gold teeth. It was a grin rather than a smile. I thought that if I were a U.S. Marine I would hate to come face-to-face with this fanatic in Viet Nam.

"You probably expect Russia to help you in Viet Nam," I said.

The Chinese official looked contemptuously in the direction of the Soviet exhibit. "Are the Russians much better than the Americans?" he asked.

With this he terminated our brief informal interview and began to bark orders in Chinese.

The Russian exhibit was about 100 steps from the Chinese pavilion. But they might as well have been a thousand miles apart. There was no communication between the two Red rivals.

For three hours I watched French pro-Chinese Reds admiring Peking's machines and products bearing, ironically enough, English labels such as "Merry Christmas Chocolates" and "Sweet Home Candy." But they demonstratively avoided the Russian exhibit.

In turn, pro-Moscow Reds, with a few exceptions, acted as though the Chinese pavilion did not exist at all.

I asked a well-groomed young Russian engineer what he thought of the Chinese machines.

"Junk," he said. "They used our blueprints but did not know what to do with them. It is with Western Europe and with America that Russia is competing and not with the Chinese. They have a long way to go."

"But they have atomic weapons," I said.

"Russia's weapons are better," he replied. This, in a nutshell, seems to be the true state of relations between Russia and Red China. To be sure, Moscow and Peking will continue to talk from time to time about Red unity and a common Communist front. But even among third-class Red bureaucrats there is not much love lost.

The Chinese display in Paris was housed in a big red pagoda with "golden books" at every exit for visitors' comments.

Many of the remarks, obviously written by pro-Chinese Reds, were effusively favorable. But virtually every page also had derisive comments by pro-Russian Communists. They were especially critical of China's "cult of personality" which was underscored by two huge photographs of Mao Tse-tung beaming down on the exhibition.

"Down with the personality cult," wrote a majority of the pro-Russian Reds.

French Snub Celebration on Eve of Battle of Waterloo

BRISSELS (UPI) — British and Belgian aristocrats danced into the small hours Wednesday in a re-enactment of the glittering ball held on the eve of the Battle of Waterloo 150 years ago. The French snubbed it.

British Ambassador Sir Rodrick Barclay received 550 guests, chosen from the descendants of those who fought in the famous battle which settled the fate of Europe for a century.

Among them was the Duke of Wellington, descendant of the famous British general who defeated Napoleon.

Conspicuously absent were representatives of the French who apparently felt that a lost battle was not an occasion for dancing and feasting.

French Ambassador Henri Spitzmuller declined Sir Rodrick's invitation, saying he would be out of town.

The French also made it known that none of their troops would take part in today's religious ceremony when regimental units from Britain and Holland gather on the battlefield near Waterloo to say prayers before an altar of drums.

Leading the ball were Prince Albert of Liege and Princess Paola, the Duke and Duchess of Kent and the Duke of Wellington, who was accompanied to Brussels by his son, the Marquess of Douro, and his grandson, the Earl of Mornington.

The guests, many of whom were dressed in styles reminiscent of the Empire period, were received by the ambassador, resplendent in a gold embroidered coat with knee breeches and buckled shoes.

In a large reception room eight buffet tables, each 50 feet long, were laden with champagne, smoked salmon and gigantic plates of cold meats.

WAVING TO CROWD is Lt. Col. James McDivitt, as he passes through his hometown of Jackson, Mich., Wednesday. It was the second day of fanfare in Michigan for McDivitt, who shared the spotlight with his space twin Edward White at the University of Michigan Tuesday, both receiving honorary degrees and assisting in the dedication of the new space center on the campus. McDivitt's parents live in Jackson. (AP wirephoto)

Peace Talks Are Opposed by China, Viet Nam Communists

LONDON (UPI) — The Chinese and North Vietnamese Communists have agreed to oppose Viet Nam peace talks and are readying an all-out offensive during the monsoon season of the next three months, diplomats' sources said Wednesday.

The sources said the Peking and Hanoi governments will ignore all suggestions for such talks, at least until September, because American air activity in South Viet Nam is bound to be seriously impeded by weather conditions.

But if the Communists fail to take advantage of the monsoon season, there is good reason to believe they will be forced to seek a negotiated settlement later in the fall, the sources said.

Twelve Labor members of Parliament, meanwhile, appealed to President Johnson and the American Congress Wednesday to "pause and reflect" on the probable results of increased fighting in Viet Nam. In a motion placed before the House of Commons, the twelve expressed "astonishment" at a U.S. announcement that American combat troops were prepared for fuller participation in the war.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson also was urged today by a group of Laborites to warn the United States that Britain cannot continue to back its policy in Viet Nam. A letter signed by about 50 left and center Laborites told Wilson that Socialists throughout the country were disillusioned by the government's continued support of President Johnson.

President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, here to attend the Commonwealth prime ministers conference opening Thursday, called Wednesday for a solution to the conflict outside its "cold war" perspective. He said, "too many other political and national issues have become involved in the question of Viet Nam which cloud the real issue of the problem."

Texas Solon Says Arms Are Given Extremists

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Texas congressman said Wednesday the federal government is supplying arms and ammunition to extremist groups throughout the country. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D., Tex., said it was probable that groups of self-styled "super patriots" such as the Minutemen may have enough weapons to "completely overwhelm" any state or local law enforcement agency.

The Minutemen believe that the United States is threatened by a Communist takeover. They conduct training in the hills now so that they will be ready to offer guerrilla resistance in the future.

"I consider the present situation to be critical and one that could easily become a national emergency," Gonzalez said in a statement inserted in the Congressional Record.

The Texas Democrat noted that a cache of dynamite and a training ground apparently used

Road Mishaps Accounted For by Meteorologists

GENEVA (AP)—Take it from the meteorologists—if you have an accident on the road or on the job you can probably blame it on a change in the weather.

Eighteen experts from 10 nations in a report to the World Meteorological Organization said Wednesday figures based on one million individual statistics indicate that during periods of increased atmospheric activity—a thunderstorm for example:

Traffic accidents rise by 70 per cent, births rise by 11 per cent, deaths by 20 per cent, pains in chronic patients by 100 per cent, work accidents by 20 per cent, polio admissions by 6 per cent and mining accidents by 12 per cent. At the same time human reactions are 6 per cent slower.

Statistics also indicate that a baby conceived in cold weather is more likely to be a boy, and in hot weather a girl, they reported.

The study pointed out that these figures are based on statistics. But in studies of aspects of human behavior involving such things as traffic accidents it claims the evidence is irrefutable.

Accident statistics from 50 major European cities show that figures increase sharply during biologically unfavorable weather.

Sudden changes in atmospheric levels can have a marked effect on drivers, the study claims.

"The disturbance caused by weather stimuli may be especially dangerous because, even without any perceptible general symptoms, a driver's efficiency may be reduced through a reduction in his power of concentration and a lengthening of his reaction time, these latter changes being generally unnoticed," the report said.

U.S. Unveils 'Lunar Housing' Bubble for '67 World's Fair

OTTAWA (UPI)—The United States unveiled Wednesday its plans for a 19-story space age bubble described as a first step toward "lunar housing," at the 1967 Canadian World's Fair.

Officials exhibited a display model at a special news conference and ceremony in Parliament's main centre block. The same type of transparent, metal-reinforced bubble could, they said, be used some day to provide environmental protection for entire communities in the frozen Arctic or on the moon.

Work on the $9.3 million project will start this October on the island site of Expo 67, a man-and-nature made location in the St. Lawrence River offshore from Montreal, Canada's largest city.

Across the water from the American display will be the exhibit of the Soviet Union, details of which have not been announced.

Principal architect of the structure, R. Buckminster Fuller, designed the bubble-like domes protecting radar installations on the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line in Canada's north.

His Expo bubble is described as a "geodesic skybreak bubble, 250 feet in spherical diameter and 187 feet in height."

It will be capable of handling some 5,000 people at one time and about 40,000 a day.

Theme of the exhibits inside will be "Creative America," showing U.S. break-throughs in the arts, space and technology.

A special 20-minute color film will enlarge on the inanimate displays and a special events theatre on the grounds will give live entertainment by top American performers.

Young Republicans' State Battle Similar to National One

Thursday, June 17, 1965
Twin Falls Times-News 29

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI)—While a fight for control of the National Young Republicans approaches a climax at Miami, Fla., this week a similar battle is under way at the state level in Idaho.

On June 25 and 26, Idaho Young Republicans gather at Idaho Falls to pick new officers and chart the course the YR's in the Gem State are to follow for the next two years.

Insiders believe this convention will be just as intense as the national meeting in Miami. Both reflect the moderate-conservative conflict that has ripped the senior party at both the national and state levels.

While the incumbent state president, Mrs. R. B. Kading Jr. of Boise, cannot seek reelection she is bound to be the center of controversy at the state meeting.

This week she is seeking the post of national co-chairman at Miami against Jill Dover of Florida. Her success or failure, as well as her stewardship in the state post, will be an issue at Idaho Falls.

Candidates for the office now held by Mrs. Kading in the Idaho YR's are two lawyers—

James L. (Larry) Shoenhut of Cascade and Dennis Olsen of Idaho Falls.

Running for national committeeman are D. Stanton Daly of Boise and Elwyn Larsen of Nampa. Candidates for national committeewoman are Barbara Fitch of Payette and Barbara McKenzie of Boise.

Aside from the controversy over Mrs. Kading and the ideological problem confronting the Young Republicans another issue at the state meeting will be the age limit for YR membership.

Although the age limit for holding office in the organization is in the mid-30's, the cut-off age for membership presently is 40. Many believe this is too old.

Arguments for lowering the age limit center on the function of the Young Republican clubs as a training ground for later service in the senior party.

As YR's move into their 30's some already are active in the senior party organization, even holding offices in that body. And as a consequence, at least equalization for widows to apply for exemption of real property taxes. The board will meet in continuous session through July 12.

Part of the controversy over Mrs. Kading has resulted from this — both in endorsement of Barry Goldwater by the Idaho YR's 13 months ago and the Idaho Falls last June. Conservatives tagged her with the moderates at both gatherings.

Some believe the age limit for membership should be lowered to 30. Others consider this too drastic and would prefer to lower it to 35 or 36.

Whatever is decided on these issues, however, the forthcoming YR convention has all the advance earmarks of being a lively one.

CHEESE GAINS
WASHINGTON — All types of miscellaneous or foreign-type cheese manufactured in the United States, with the exception of brick and muenster, showed a production gain during the last recording period. The gain amounted to about 11 per cent. Manufacture of ice cream also showed a substantial gain in the nation.

Cautioned
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Rules Committee Tuesday approved a bill to put this label on cigarette packages: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The action clears the measure for House action expected some time next week. The Senate is expected to take up similar legislation by the end of next week.
