

Social Security Will Be Given to People at Age 60

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted today to allow all persons covered by Social Security the option of retiring at age 60 with monthly payments at two-thirds of the rate that would apply at age 65. It accepted by voice vote and with only brief debate an amendment to accomplish this by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., to the Social Security health care bill. Byrd said he was primarily interested in persons "in the twilight zone primarily interested in persons "in the twilight zone over age 60" who lose their jobs and cannot find new employment. Under the law now, a worker may retire at age 62 with a monthly payment equal to 80 per cent of what would be received at age 65.

Mariner 4 to Feel Gravity Pull of Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Sometime today U.S. spacecraft Mariner 4 is expected to begin feeling the gravitational tug of the planet Mars.

The 575-pound vehicle is 1.5 million miles to one side of Mars and about nine million miles from its historic July 14 photographic rendezvous with the mysterious planet.

Hopefully, 21 pictures will be transmitted to earth then when Mariner 4 emerges from behind the planet.

Jet Propulsion Laboratory said Tuesday that radioed data indicate the vehicle's instruments are working well. JPL said it is tracking the craft's 228-day voyage.

Bid Opening Is Slated on Water Bonds

The Twin Falls City Commission Tuesday night adopted a resolution providing for the sale of $2.5 million in general obligation water bonds.

Authorization also was given by the commissioners to authorize the notice of such a sale, with bids to be opened at 8 p.m. Aug. 9. The obligation bonds will provide revenue for the new water system planned for the city.

In other action Tuesday night the commission voted to waive the entertainment license fees when the organization requesting such a license is a non-profit, benevolent or religious organization. In such cases a police inspection must still be made and insurance obtained, but the license fee will be waived.

The commission also voted on recommendation to be made to the Planning and Zoning Commission to the effect that trailer homes may be parked in the "industrial" section of the city.

The meeting was adjourned to continue July 12 when bids for installation of a storm sewer, sidewalk, curb and gutter work, a one-half ton pickup truck for the sanitation department and accounting equipment for the waterworks department will be considered.

Buhl Uneasy Over Report On Convict

BUHL.—An uneasy feeling prevailed over the Buhl area Tuesday night as reports grew of the possibility of an escaped convict in the community. However, no definite clues were discovered, police said Wednesday.

People were more cautious and many more doors and windows were locked for the night, as people wondered if the convict had been apprehended.

Buhl police were kept busy with reports about prowlers near homes and unknown persons knocking on doors.

Lawrence Fawcett, 117 12th Ave. N., reported seeing a stranger walking down the street who darted between some houses when he discovered Fawcett was watching him. About 20 minutes later Estel Roberts, 415 11th Ave. N., noticed lights on his car had been turned off and on and when he went out to investigate he saw a man running on foot.

When he went back into his house there was a knock on his back door. He notified police who searched the area. A man of slight build was seen crawling from under a pickup truck and ran off on foot.

Chief Police Charles Burbank said there were too many calls for the same person to possibly be involved in each incident reported. Some of the knocking on doors probably was done by youngsters playing pranks, he added.

He warned against the danger of accidents or shooting as the result of such pranks.

Boy Thrown From Horse, Hospitalized

PAUL.—A 6-year-old Paul boy remained in a coma Wednesday night at Cassia Memorial Hospital, Burley, with injuries received when he was thrown from a horse Sunday evening at his parents' farm west of here.

Clint Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Harper, reportedly was riding a saddled horse with Lonna Jackson, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Jackson, Burley, when the horse suddenly started bucking and the two were thrown to the ground.

Harper said the horse was tame and it was possible it had accidentally been flanked. The boy was taken to the hospital by his parents.

He has a brain concussion and other undetermined injuries. The girl was bruised, but not seriously hurt. She was riding behind the Harper boy.

Treasury Cash Deficit Is Down From Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury's cash deficit for fiscal 1965 was only about $900 million — compared with $2.5 billion in the preceding fiscal year — despite the massive 1964 tax cut.

The Treasury's daily statement dated June 30, the fiscal year end, showed that cash receipts rose by $3.9 billion to $125.5 billion against outlays of $126.4 billion.

The government's so-called "cash budget" thus drew close to a balance, while President Johnson's administrative budget — the one normally referred to since it is the one on which Congress acts in appropriating money — showed a deficit estimated at $3.5 billion.

The difference between the two is that the cash budget includes the income and outlays of the government-held trust funds, including Social Security and the highway funds. These are technically not government-owned funds, but money held in trust for those who contribute to them and receive the benefits.

The cash budget has been closely watched all year as its deficit narrowed because it provides a more complete picture of the impact on the economy of government fiscal operations.

The big increase in receipts — much of which came from unexpectedly large individual income tax payments — has suggested to some economists that the stimulative effects of the 1964 tax cut were considerably greater than had been expected, offsetting in large part the loss of revenues resulting from the tax rate reductions.

The final cash figures for the year, as shown in the Treasury's daily statement for June 30, were: Deposits (receipts), $125,464,340,732.05; withdrawals (payments) $126,395,262,802.35.

Presidential Disability Bill Amendment Given Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has given its final stamp of approval, and now it's up to the state legislatures to decide whether an amendment covering presidential disability should be added to the Constitution. Sponsors believe that sometime in 1967 the proposal will be approved as the 25th Amendment by the legislatures of 38 states—three-fourths of the nation's 50 states. Such action thus would seal into the Constitution the first definitive answer to the query of John Dickinson of Delaware when he asked the Constitutional Convention in 1787:

"What is the extent of the term 'disability' and who is to be the judge of it?"

Ex-Convicts Sought for Coast Killing

SPRINGDALE, Ore. (UPI)—Authorities today issued an all-points bulletin for a missing housewife and her son feared kidnapped by two ex-convicts suspected of slaying a deputy sheriff.

"At the present time, we're operating on the assumption that there's a possibility the woman and her son are being held hostages," said a spokesman for the Lane County sheriff's office.

Officers said the woman, Mrs. Shirley Corbin, 33, and her boy, Clinton, 12, disappeared sometime between midnight and 2 a.m. along with the family car, a 1960 blue and white Thunderbird.

Five other children were sleeping in the house at the time Mrs. Corbin and her son disappeared. The home is located about three blocks from the spot where the two ex-convicts abandoned their car shortly before midnight.

Mrs. Corbin's husband was working at a dam construction site in northeastern Oregon at the time.

One of the Corbin children told investigators she awoke this morning and found the lights on in the house, and her mother and brother gone.

A heavily armed posse of about 100 law enforcement officers, using dogs and aircraft, cautiously searched the one-mile square area in the rural residential area for the ex-convicts.

Lynda Bird Plans Trip on Snake River

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP)—Park officials at Grand Teton National Park say Lynda Bird Johnson will duplicate the scenic raft trip down the Snake River her mother made last fall.

Lynda's schedule calls for her to make the 30 mile trip down the winding Snake and also do some horseback riding in the foothills of the majestic Teton Mountains in Northwestern Wyoming. She arrived in the Tetons Tuesday.

Officials at Jackson Lake Lodge say Miss Johnson plans to stay there, however she has reservations at Colter Bay for three trailers in which her party is traveling. Colter Bay is located on the edge of Jackson Lake.

Her press secretary, Marta Ross, said it is not known definitely which day Lynda Bird would take the float trip. Miss Johnson is scheduled to stay in Grand Teton through Saturday.

Kennedy Library Gets Check From West Germans

BONN, Germany (AP)—U.S. Ambassador George McGhee was given a check today for 1,186,129 marks ($294,532.25) collected in West Germany for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library in Boston.

Bundestag (parliament) member Kurt Birrenbach, who handed over the check in a ceremony at the U.S. Embassy, said that the collection showed "how much alive the memory of the dead American president has remained in the Federal Republic."

Burning Propane Gas Truck Caused Spectacular Display

BUHL.—A propane gas truck caused a spectacular display three miles south and one-half mile east of Jerome Tuesday night. According to Don Rupert, Jerome rural fire chief, an Idaho Gas Co. truck driven by Von Mays, 26, was crossing the intersection of the Interstate and a county road when either the front axle or the frame of the truck broke, pushing the tank back into the gas tank. The gas line was broken and sparks from the engine ignited the fire. The driver was not injured. Firemen warned pedestrians to keep back as there was danger the entire tank would explode. A U.S. spokesman announced the rest will come ashore in the next week to boost American military strength in Viet Nam to nearly 60,000 men. The movement coincides with heavy Communist probing of govern-

Truck Mishap Kills Castleford Youth

CASTLEFORD — A 17-year-old Castleford youth was killed Tuesday evening when the hay-loaded truck he was driving went off the south side of Lily Grade, six and three-fourths miles south of here, and dropped about 120 feet into the rocky ravine. Gerry Easterday, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Easterday, Route 2, Buhl, apparently was killed instantly in the accident. It was the ninth traffic fatality in Magic Valley in the last five days. Easterday's cousin, Charles Webb, 18, also Castleford, was dismissed Wednesday morning from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. Webb told a nurse at the hospital his cousin pushed him out of the cab of the 1962 Ford truck, apparently before it

Men Testify As Trial Nears End

BURLEY—Two men charged with armed robbery testified in their own defense Wednesday morning as the district court jury trial being heard before Judge Thomas Felton, Moscow, neared an end. The case was expected to go to the jury Wednesday afternoon.

David J. Cypher, 25, and Robert W. Mueller, 23, who are charged with armed robbery in the robbery last Aug. 14 of the Parish Motel, Burley, in which Mrs. Norma Newcomb was shot, claimed they had left Burley about 9 p.m. that date.

They described working their way through Texas, Missouri and into Idaho where they worked for DeLoss Stoker, Burley. After leaving Burley Aug. 14, 1964, they testified they spent the night sleeping in their car at Bliss and then continued on into Oregon.

Both men denied any knowledge of the Parish Motel or Gibbs Bar-B-Q, Sgt. Floyd Higgins was recalled Wednesday morning as a rebuttal witness.

He was questioned by James Annett, defense attorney. The two defendants were cross-examined by Richard K. Smith, county prosecuting attorney.

Seven witnesses testified Tuesday at the trial which began June 28. Dr. C. Hayden Ellingham, attendant for Mrs. Newcomb, identified X-rays.

Others who testified Tuesday were Mrs. LaDean Hendricks, Mary Lou Mann, Mrs. Nelma Cresap, all Burley; Dr. Samuel Wayne Smith, a Pocatello psychiatrist; Robert Ingram, a sheriff from Vale, Ore., and Dalton Derrick, Ontario, Ore., a state patrolman.

hit the bottom of the embankment.

According to State Patrolman Richard Burns, the youths had stopped at the Lawrence O. Hill farm in the Roseworth district because the brakes had gone out on the truck. They tightened the emergency brake and continued on down the steep canyon grade, against Hill's advice.

When they began the descent the Easterday youth was unable to shift into low gear and the truck gained momentum. He ran the vehicle into the bank and at this point the Webb youth was thrown out, the patrolman said.

Impact of the truck on the canyon wall knocked the vehicle back across the road and it dropped off the right side of the canyon wall, some 120 to 150 feet to the bottom of the canyon.

Officers surmise that rocks were loosened as the truck dropped and a large rock, weighing approximately 500 pounds, had to be rolled off the body of the dead youth.

The Webb youth climbed down. See TRUCK CRASH, P. 2, Col. 7

Ford Asks for Bombing of Missile Sites

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said today the United States should bomb Russian-built missile sites in North Viet Nam.

The bases, Ford said in an interview with Mutual Broadcasting System, are a threat to the security of American forces in Viet Nam.

"There are, therefore, significant military targets which should be bombed by our U. S. forces that are in Viet Nam," he said.

"This can be done and should be done at the present time. "And it is possible to do it without bombing or destroying nonmilitary targets."

The anti-aircraft missile sites are being prepared near North Viet Nam's capital and its chief port.

Ford's decision on whether the United States should try to knock them out would be up to President Johnson, sources said today.

Bandit Robs Supermarket In Boise

BOISE (AP) — A lone bandit robbed a Boise supermarket of between $500 and $1,000 Tuesday night with at least 20 customers apparently unaware that anything unusual was happening.

It was the fifth robbery in the Boise area in slightly more than a week.

Police said a senior employee, George Rene, was collecting money from cash registers just before closing time when the bandit entered with a drawn revolver and forced him to put the money in a sack.

Store employees were unable to determine how much was taken without counting receipts but estimated it was between $500 and $1,000.

Sight Loss Is Blamed On Army

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — James P. Speights of Raleigh is suing the government for $5 million, claiming clerical duties in the Army ruined his eyes.

In a suit filed in federal court, he blames the Army for his "inability to read at length or to view TV or motion pictures without discomfort which has disturbed me emotionally."

The suit said Speights began having eye trouble in January 1963, after working as clerk for four months. He said his efforts to be transferred were fruitless.

"Finally," the suit adds, "because of my eye condition, I was given a medical discharge... saying I had had a nervous breakdown."

Panther Creek Man Held on Murder Charge in Slaying

SALMON — A 68-year-old Panther Creek resident is being held in Lemhi County Jail here, charged with first degree murder in the pistol slaying Saturday evening of Joseph Enos, 24, Shoup.

Enos was struck in the head above the left eyebrow as he turned to look over his shoulder while driving down the Salmon River Road at Deadwater Campground, three miles from North Fork.

William Baker, Lemhi County sheriff, who investigated, said he and Glenn Munkres, deputy, arrested Major Burnett later at a cafe in nearby Gibbonsville.

Baker said Enos was shot about 8:30 p.m. while driving his 1958 station wagon. The bullet crashed through a left side window behind the driver. Riding with him was David Lanier, 22, also of Shoup.

The vehicle went out of control and collided with a tree at the side of the road, bursting into flames. Lanier incurred broken cheek and collar bones and cuts. He was brought to Steele Memorial Hospital by ambulance and his condition is listed as good.

Passersby extinguished the fire in the vehicle's motor with dirt. The auto's front end was smashed.

Burnett appeared Monday afternoon before Ervin Robertson, probate judge, and asked for counsel. The complaint was signed by Sheriff Baker.

Baker said that both Enos and Lanier had been employed by Burnett at one time the past year to work a mining claim. Burnett was retired and was in the process of moving from Panther Creek to Gibbonsville.

The bullet was removed from the victim and will be sent to the FBI laboratory in Washington for comparison with a .357 Magnum pistol officers said belongs to Burnett.

Air Pollution May Be Cause of U. S. Drought

RENSELAERVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — Air pollution may be one of the causes of the prolonged drought in the northeastern United States, a researcher says.

Dr. Vincent J. Schaefer of the Atmospheric Research Center in Albany said pollution of the air results in dust particles absorbing the moisture that normally would fall as rain.

Man, 62, Says He Still Can Fight Bulls

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — At age 62 Sidney Franklin says he can still fight the bulls.

Franklin, the man from Brooklyn who became the greatest bullfighter produced in America, lives at Bay View, Tex., in the Rio Grande Valley, where he works with bulls and hopeful bullfighters.

A proud, confident man, he takes great delight in being the only American to teach Spaniards how to fight bulls. A few years ago he owned a bullring in Spain. A star pupil was Jaime Ostos, now a top matador.

Franklin, visiting here, was asked if he still could fight the bulls.

"Certainly, why not?"

"Well, it's been a long time."

"Not so long. My last official fight was in Reynosa, just four years ago."

"You mean you fought bulls at the age of 58?"

"Yes, but the bulls didn't know my age."

What's Different?

Was there anything so different between the Fourth of July holiday this year in Magic Valley and any previous year? Individual observances followed the same general lines that have existed for many years. The same public events were scheduled and the weather was just about what could be expected around July 4; give or take a few degrees. Traffic patterns were roughly the same, although highways have been improved a little at a time for the past few years.

Why, then, did Magic Valley suddenly count eight fatalities on its highways for this particular holiday? In some previous years, Magic Valley hasn't had a single highway death and Idaho also has gone through a fourth of July holiday without a single road fatality. For the state, this year's toll was 12, with two-thirds occurring in Magic Valley. Even allowing for the five deaths resulting from a single crash, Magic Valley still had another three fatalities, just one less than all the rest of the state. Why? Is there some reason?

There didn't seem to be any flagrant violations leading to the high holiday death toll this year. About the worst that could be determined in the way of a pattern was inattention on the part of drivers, but that's one of the major factors behind many accidents, not just those that occur on a holiday weekend.

Perhaps inattention, combined with all the distractions that beset drivers, is the major cause of accidents after all. Yet even this theory doesn't explain why Magic Valley would count eight dead on its roads during the holiday when other similar holidays have passed with scarcely an accident, let alone deaths. If there's some hidden reason for the high toll this year, everyone can only hope the experts detect it. That tragic holiday suddenly has pushed this year's death toll on Magic Valley highways to more than 50 per cent ahead of the rate for the same period last year.

If the trend continues for the remainder of the year, Magic Valley may have a new record of deaths for auto traffic.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Sometimes the innocent bystander gets the impression that business protests too much in its optimistic predictions that the present boom will continue. It seems to be saying, in effect, well anyway, a little inflation will be good for you.

For example, it is comforting to learn from Nation's Business Magazine that 248 out of 250 top business executives polled predict that business in general "will either maintain its present high level or climb to new peaks in the year ahead."

At the same time, however, these same businessmen say that, naturally, they will have to raise prices in the coming year an average of two per cent because of increased wage and production costs and all that jazz. And some of them expressed uneasiness at what they called "weaknesses" in some areas due to "excess supply," or inventories.

"FORTUNE" DIFFERS—Meanwhile, Fortune magazine has taken a much dimmer view of the future. Its semi-annual forecast refers to such things as a coming period of subnormal growth and sluggishness, resulting from inventory accumulation and slowdown in consumer spending and capital goods outlays by business. Fortune's premise is that the projected increase of two per cent in the total output of goods and services in the next 18 months is not good enough to support a growing labor force and increased production efficiency.

Nation's Business is pleased with its survey. Its editors say the poll resulted in "the most impressive show of confidence" they have encountered in nine years. Particularly pleasing were statements from businessmen polled that they planned to spend more on capital projects next year. And most of them felt the consumer would be right in their buying at a fast clip.

YES, BUT—Most business experts agree with Fortune that the gross national product should be up around $675 billion at the end of the next 18 months. But one of President Johnson's hired economists, who naturally prefers anonymity, was not so sanguine.

"That projected $675 billion sounds good, and we ought to make it," he says. "The way things are going now, it may be too low an estimate. But that's the joker. Things have to go the way they're going now. And any little thing or a combination of circumstances can slow us down."

STOCK MARKET ROLLER COASTER—One of these things, not so little, is the way the stock market has been going down while all other indexes have been going up. A lot of the experts are blaming recent remarks by Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin comparing today's situation with that preceding the 1929 crash, but the fact is nobody really can explain why the stock market acts as it does. It is an economic law of itself; its speculators operate under their own peculiar brand of logic.

But a stock market that continues to fall or continues to betray signs of uneasiness can make the whole economy uncomfortable until the man down the street decides he'd better not buy that TV set or even a couple of dozen golf balls. Those businessmen protesting their brimming confidence undoubtedly have an eye cocked at Wall Street.

Views of Others

THINGS JOHNNY MUST KNOW
Perhaps we have been too harsh in condemning Johnny because he can't read as well as we think he should. Johnny has a lot more to absorb to keep up with his world than we ever had to contend with. Take space, for instance. In our school days almost the only printed matter on the subject was a book by Jules Verne about a voyage to the moon. It took Tom Swift years and a hundred earth-bound ventures before he ever stuck his first foot into space.

But today an aerospace company is advertising in a trade magazine that it puts great store by "blue sky, visionary deep-think involving moon hardware, bio-sciences and technological leapingfrogging." That's the way those space people talk regularly—when they aren't expounding on such matters as "decaying orbit," "roll, yaw and pitch" and some strange new species called "wild bird engineers."

All this and the new mathematics, to say nothing of the old spelling and English—no wonder Johnny can't keep up. To play at being an astronaut he has to know a thousand special words. In our day only one word was needed to play cowboy and Indian. It was "bang!"—Grand Rapids (Mich.) Press.

NATURALLY, 25-HOUR DAY
As we have always suspected, a man is smarter than the rest of nature. If cut off from dawn and dusk and other signs of time, he will naturally choose to live a 25-hour day. Somehow this knowledge puts all the concern about things like the four-day week in perspective.

Or, as it seems to us after reading about experiments in three countries that may be useful to astronauts in the sealed capsules of space. With practice, it appears they could go on 16-hour days, or 12-hour days, if that seemed convenient for research purposes. But, without rehearsal, the waking and sleeping functions of the body tend to settle into a cycle of 24 hours or more.

All fact aside, we wonder if this yearning for more hours in a day is not related to a man's uncomfortable feeling that most conventional days end with something left undone or done badly. With just an hour more—maybe, perhaps, possibly—everything would come out all right.

At least it's worth sleeping on for an extra hour.—Christian Science Monitor.

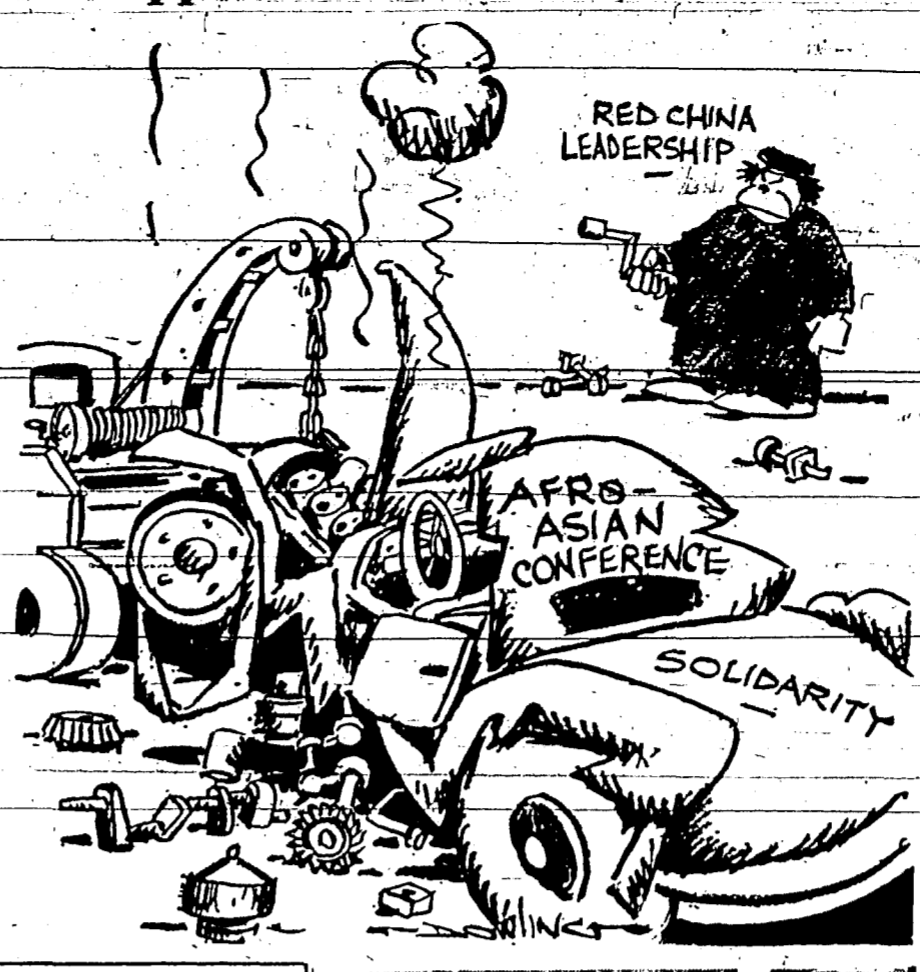

WELFARE ENEMY OF INDIVIDUAL
What is the ultimate effect of a welfare state on the individual? A recent editorial in the Richmond, Va., News Leader had this answer: "In Mount Rainier National Park, Wash., a ranger cautions visitors against feeding the animals. The ranger explained that deer grow accustomed to visitors' handouts and lose the ability to fend for themselves. Bears, he says, come to believe that free food is their due—and become grouchy and violent if they don't get it. Chipmunks and squirrels congregate where handouts are supplied, and thus upset the balance of nature."

There is a lesson here for people, and for their governments.

That's certainly it, and it's about the most important lesson we can learn. The welfare state is the enemy of individual pride, individual responsibility, individual initiative and individual freedom.—Beaverton County (Pa.) Times.

GEN. LEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

Poor Man's Plato

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—It all happened in 16 terrible minutes.

In that incredible fraction of an hour, a U.S. Air Force pilot napalm-bombed a target, his plane caught fire, he bailed out, landed in enemy territory and was plucked to safety by a passing Army helicopter.

"That's the only real emergency I've had in more than 4,000 hours in the air," said Capt. Edward F. Gallardo, 33, of Armstrong Creek, Wis.

"I feel much safer flying a jet plane than I do driving an automobile."

Ed is a dark-haired, F100 pilot who stands 5 feet 5, and weighs only 137 pounds. His wife, Pat, and their five children—none of whom is more than 5 years old—live in Hampton, Va.

The fighter pilot's battle ordeal came on a recent Sunday when he had to skip morning religious services because of an early mission.

The mission was his 35th in some 40 days.

"I was first of our flight in on the target, some Viet Cong encampments 42 miles south of here," said Gallardo. "I came in fast at 50 to 100 feet above the ground."

"I pushed what we call the pickle button to release the napalm cans. Immediately there was a loud explosion, and the cockpit was filled with smoke. I didn't know whether I had been hit by ground fire, or something had gone wrong with the napalm."

"But I couldn't see out. My plane was on fire."

Instinctively, he put the plane into a climb.

"The smoke began to clear, but my plane was burning badly. I didn't know whether it would blow up or not. But you don't bail out over a target area if you can help it, and I headed

Religion In America

By LOUIS CASSELS (United Press International)

Until a year or so ago, America was lagging behind Europe in the establishment of friendly relations between Catholics and Protestants.

But the "ecumenical gap" has been closed. Today, theological dialogue between Catholics and Protestants is probably more advanced in the United States than in any Western European country.

Fourteen leading American Catholic and Lutheran theologians are meeting in Baltimore for discussions concerning the Nicene Creed, a confession of faith adopted at the Council of Nicaea in 325 A.D. and subscribed to by both Lutherans and Catholics.

The meeting is sponsored by the Catholic Bishops' Ecumenical Commission and the National Lutheran Council. It is expected to be only the first of a series of formal theological conversations between the two groups.

Father Haring said that in earlier times, it was possible to help priests and monks keep their vows of chastity by surrounding them by various protections against temptation. But "in our social life of today, there are many distractions and possibilities of escape from this external protection."

"There are also greater dangers because modern life is full of unredeemed sex," he said.

He said the only answer is to look upon celibacy, not as a rule imposed by discipline, but as a profoundly spiritual commitment.

The Jacobys discuss the way to ask for kings via the Gerber convention.

Jim: "When John Gerber uses his convention and follows up the four club request with a bid in the cheapest possible bid for a new suit, he is asking for kings."

Oswald: "That's fine for John. But those of us who use his convention sparingly find that your jump rebid of two no-trump."

Jim: "It was barely possible that I could have jumped to two no-trump with only one ace. In that case, Judy had planned to sign off at four diamonds. Had I shown two aces, she planned to bid six spades. When I showed three aces, Judy saw that we would hit 13 top tricks at no-trump. She could produce the two kings that she missed. When I bid five spades to show those two kings she went right to seven no-trump and of course we had those 13 top tricks."

Oswald: "I think a little further comment on Judy's plan to stop at four no-trump—if you showed only one ace is appropriate. You must have been playing duplicate and Judy could see that in order for you to bid that two no-trump with only one ace you would have to be loaded with kings, queens and jacks and that the hand would make as many tricks at no-trump as spades."

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

New light has been shed on the relationship between German measles (rubella) and birth defects by studies of the widespread epidemic of this disease in the winter of 1963-1964.

With new tests for detecting the virus in the blood, it has been found that many babies are infected with rubella at birth, even though their mothers had no history of exposure or infection during pregnancy. Some of these babies had defects at birth but more than 50 per cent of the defects caused by rubella do not show up at birth and many are not detectable until about the age of one year.

It must be concluded that mild, unrecognized infections in the mother can be just as damaging to the baby as a clinically recognized case. This also suggests that many birth defects which in the past were due to these mild infections in the mother.

This has given rise to the concept of the "rubella baby." Such a baby is defined as one whose mother had German measles during pregnancy, whether she knew it or not, and whose blood at birth contains the virus, whether any visible defects are present or not. Many rubella babies have now been found with defects not previously as-

On the fact that the broadcast of our troops hear come from Havana, he also omits the fact that he fled the United States (via Canada) under indictment for kidnaping at gunpoint, and is widely supposed to have acquired in both Red China and Hanoi.

Radio Havana also broadcasts to our Southern states. Williams joins a group of other buzzing flies who get out a weekly half-hour program called "The Voice of Free Dixie." Free Dixie's voice is Castro's Cuba! Free Dixie's voice where if a neighbor dislikes you his word may kill you!

The House Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs, in turn, confirms that Red propaganda is now being broadcast to Latin America from Peking, the U.S.S.R., Eastern Europe and Cuba at the rate of 425 hours a week, of which 155 hours are from Cuba.

It's carried in English, Spanish, Portuguese and Creole. It's also sent out in Quechua by the Indian populations of Bolivia, Ecuador, Peru and Northern Argentina and in Guarani, the language of the Indians in Paraguay. Nor does the scope stop there. It is even carried in Ayмара, the language of the descendants of the Incas.

Strangely, however, the use of films and such TV as exists remains limited.

House subcommittee investigators attribute a reorganization of the push and the stepped-up propaganda and infiltration to a secret meeting in Havana last November of Latin-American Communist parties. Castro himself called it to coordinate the local plans into a hemisphere-wide effort. Chief of Moscow, Tass and Peking's New China News Agency attended to set this into the global picture. We're now seeing the fruit of that meeting.

Contrary to our impressions, the Moscow line is often fully as belligerent as the Red Chinese line, in fact, Pravda promptly endorsed the use of "nonpeaceful forms of struggle" in the hemisphere-wide campaign, the main targets for armed action being the Dominican Republic, Colombia, Venezuela, Guatemala, Honduras, Haiti and Panama.

Meanwhile, an Intramural fight stirs directly south of our border.

All but one member of the Organization of American States has severed diplomatic or consular relations with Castro's Cuba and agreed to suspend all direct and indirect trade except humanitarian foodstuffs and medicines. The single exception is Mexico, where the U. S. S. R. has long been entrenched.

Now Red China is staging an all-out attempt to whittle the Soviet down to size there. Peking's move began with an elaborate trade fair—followed by noisily buying Mexican wheat and cotton to make its trade presence felt in a big way. Further, the Red Chinese are now hitting Colombia, Chile and Uruguay (and negotiating with Argentina) with trade fairs and missions in the same way.

The rift between the U. S. S. R. and Red China in Africa is well known, but their rift in Latin America is being intensified as well.

Cuban underground sources inside Cuba see Castro festooned with troubles, increasing troubles—an egg between two stones.

Appeal of Farmers Is Overruled

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Supreme Court has overruled a farmers' association appeal and upheld the Idaho Power Co. 7 1/2 per cent rate increase on electricity used to pump water. The Idaho Underground Water Users Association, made up of farmers who use electrical power to pump their water, appealed to the Supreme Court when the Public Utilities Commission approved the increase. The court Tuesday upheld the PUC decision.

Blast Shakes Western Part Of Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — An explosion shook the western portion of downtown Chicago early today and investigators said it was caused "by a powerful bomb." Force of the blast smashed hundreds of windows in office buildings in the area but no injuries were reported. It apparently had been placed in the vicinity of the Masonite Building at 29 N. Wacker Drive, directly across from the Kemper Building, known in recent years as the Civic opera house. Windows in neighboring buildings were cracked or broken as high as the 17th floor. Metal window frames on the Masonite Building's ground floor were twisted by the explosion. Investigators could not offer a reason for the blast, which occurred at about 3:45 a.m. CDT. A member of the fire department's bomb and arson squad said it appeared the bomb was filled with black powder. The engineer of the Masonite Building, Richard McGahey, told police he was on the second floor of the building when the blast occurred and that he was knocked down. Marshal Mullin, whose fire house is four blocks from the scene, said he was lifted from his bed by the force of the blast. He said his investigators found fragments "of a powerful bomb" at the scene.

WORKING ON HIS FARM is Boyd Cole, who this spring became seriously ill and while at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital received 19 pints of blood through American Red Cross Bloodmobile program. Boyd said about the program, "I owe my life to it." (Times-News photo)

Farmer Found Red Cross Blood Program Valuable

Sitting on his tractor at his farm south of Twin Falls, Boyd Cole commented recently, "I would be dead today if it hadn't been for all the blood transfusions that were available to keep me alive until I was out of danger." This spring, just about the time farming operations got into high gear, Cole became seriously ill and was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. During his stay there he received 19 pints of blood through the American Red Cross Bloodmobile program.

"I didn't realize what a wonderful and necessary program it was until I owed my life to it," he said. "I can tell you, you have to be hit hard sometimes to find out how important and how very lucky we are to have Red Cross blood for such emergencies as mine for saving people's lives." Besides being grateful for the blood program, Cole notes how helpful his neighbors were while he was hospitalized. They all turned out and did his plowing, planted grain, corrugated fields, spread phosphate, hauled manure, cut corrugates for the first irrigation and did his daily chores. Cole also expressed his thanks to the donors, some of whom he doesn't know personally, for helping replace the 19 pints at the last blood drawing. Jack Swisher, Twin Falls blood drawing chairman, notes that two drawings are slated Monday and Tues in this area. "It is vital that everyone who can, will try and donate this time," he said. "During the summer months with so many people vacationing and the inevitable accidents, everyone who is able should be willing to take an extra hour or so and donate to the blood program." The blood drawing will be held from 1 to 6 p.m. Monday at the Twin Falls American Legion Hall. The bloodmobile will visit the Filer American Legion Hall from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday. Quota for the Twin Falls drawing will be 175 pints.

Blind People Convene in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — A convention of blind people is crowding the corridors and lobbies of a leading Washington hotel this week. They are hardly distinguishable from anyone else except for their long canes. Many of them are taking a bus tour of the sights today — the Washington Monument, the Lincoln and Jefferson memorials and the two Jima Monument. They also plan to visit the grave of President John F. Kennedy and the Tomb of the Unknowns.

The sightseeing guides have been specially briefed to tell them what things look like rather than just saying, "That's the State Department over there." It is the 25th anniversary convention of the National Federation of the Blind, an organization of, by and for the blind — the blind leading the blind, as the federation says. About 500 to 600 blind persons are expected to attend before the convention ends Friday. A few are from other countries. Many are accompanied by families, but about half traveled alone. Local Boy and Girl Scouts have volunteered to guide them around town if they desire help. Most of them don't.

Large Vote Is Lost by Labor Government

LONDON (AP) — The Labor Government lost a Commons vote on its finance bill by 180 to 166 Tuesday night, an opposition majority of 14. This was its first Commons defeat on the bill but the effect on the government's future was not yet clear. As the result was announced, a roar of cheers went up from Conservative opposition benches, with jubilant Tories crying "Out" and "Resign." The vote was on a Conservative motion designed to limit the effect of the government's new capital gains tax on investment trusts, a popular method of investment for small savers. Immediately afterward the government suffered a second defeat, this time by 13 votes on a technical motion concerning the same clause.

Boating Season Begins on Middle Fork of Salmon

SALMON — Another boating season is under way on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River and the main Salmon River. The first parties to tackle the two rivers in the Idaho primitive areas were on the river over the Fourth of July weekend, one group entering the Middle Fork at Dagger Falls and another going into the Salmon near the end of the Salmon River Road. Both rivers still were high from a heavy runoff and the general season for float trips has been delayed a week to 10 days. The season normally gets under way July 1. Float trips cover the 90-mile section between the end of the Salmon River Road below the

The jet patrol boat operated by the Salmon, Bitterroot and Payette Forests on the main Salmon River again is on duty from Corn Creek at the end of the road down river to Salmon Falls.

The session was the first time personnel from three forests have trained jointly for handling the Middle Fork administration.

Forest officials who administer the Middle Fork held an information training session at Challis last week. Representatives of the Salmon, Challis and Boise National Forests were on hand to coordinate their program on the Middle Fork and to train personnel in handling fire control, recreation cleanup, public contracts and information. The three forests again will operate a Middle Fork patrol with a float trip every two weeks from Dagger Falls or later in the season at Indian Creek landing field to the mouth.

Woodworth said hunters are wise to improve their eye and hand coordination with off-season target shooting — but should be careful about it.

Sandstone From Egyptian Temple Given to Institute

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Egyptian government relocate chunk of sandstone from an ancient Egyptian temple was turned over to the Smithsonian Institution today for testing.

The outcome of the tests will help determine where in the United States the 2,000-year-old Temple of Augustus may be set up.

Egypt has offered the temple to this country in return for its contribution toward relocation of others that would be flooded by the Aswan Dam.

The 14-pound cube of stone was brought to Washington Sunday on a flight from Cairo by Miss Joan Gibbons, Chicago, a secretary of the U.S. Information Service in Cairo.

The two-room temple, originally set up in the Nubian Valley of southern Egypt in Roman times, is known as the temple of Augustus or, alternatively, the Temple of Dendur. Dendur is the place where the temple served first as a Roman place of worship and later as a Coptic Christian church.

It was dismantled and its shipping in 1962 because of waters backed up by Egypt's Aswan low dam. The Aswan high dam would flood the valley.

well the old sandstone of the temple will stand various possible weather conditions — information which will help the Johnson administration decide where in this country the historic building should be placed. Officials said that citizens in a dozen different states have expressed interest.

Policeman's Use of Off-Duty Time Is Subject of Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Has a policeman as much right as anyone else to engage in civil rights and foreign policy demonstrations in his off-duty hours?

That issue is on trial along with a blond young officer who says he became interested in civil rights while assigned to an impoverished Negro section of Los Angeles.

Officer Michael B. Hannon's attorney says: "At issue is whether a police officer on his own time has the status of a citizen or is a second-class citizen under coerced silence."

Sgt. Roger M. Moulton was the 22nd fellow officer to testify against Hannon. He told a police Board of Rights Tuesday that Hannon, 28, father of four and a part-time law student.

Stated he belonged to the Congress of Racial Equality and the Socialist party.

Joined May 3 in a picket line at the Federal Building, handed out placards and carried one, which he said he authored, reading: "What Khrushchev did in Hungary, Johnson is doing in the Dominican Republic."

SPARKS FROM A Union Pacific Diesel freight train are believed to have started two fires between Hansen and Murtaugh about midnight Tuesday. One fire burned itself out along the Bickel Railroad siding and the other burned pigsties and cheat grass on the west side of the overpass on U.S. Highway 30 four and one-half miles east of Hansen. Earl Barnes called the Kimberly volunteer fire department after smelling smoke and the Twin Falls County Mutual Fire Department sent two trucks after being contacted by State Patrolman S. D. Leuckert. Firemen kept the blaze from spreading to the house, corral, and other buildings on the east side of the overpass, but a pile of lumber was burned. The place is owned by the Carstean Holding Co., and Ray Skelton, Idaho Falls. The Tax Bouscal family moved out of the house Tuesday. (Times-News photo)

Reasons for Big Increase In Draft Quotas Discussed

Several factors have caused forces to drop a large increase in the draft. Mrs. Van Hook also said many of the young men were not returning to the service after their two-year enlistment period expires because of fear of being sent to Viet Nam.

Locally the figures have only increased insignificantly, but the national draft quota has risen dramatically.

Twin Falls County was required to supply one or two men last year during the month of July. This year the June quota was three men, with 18 to 20 18-year-olds being called in to take the armed forces physical examination.

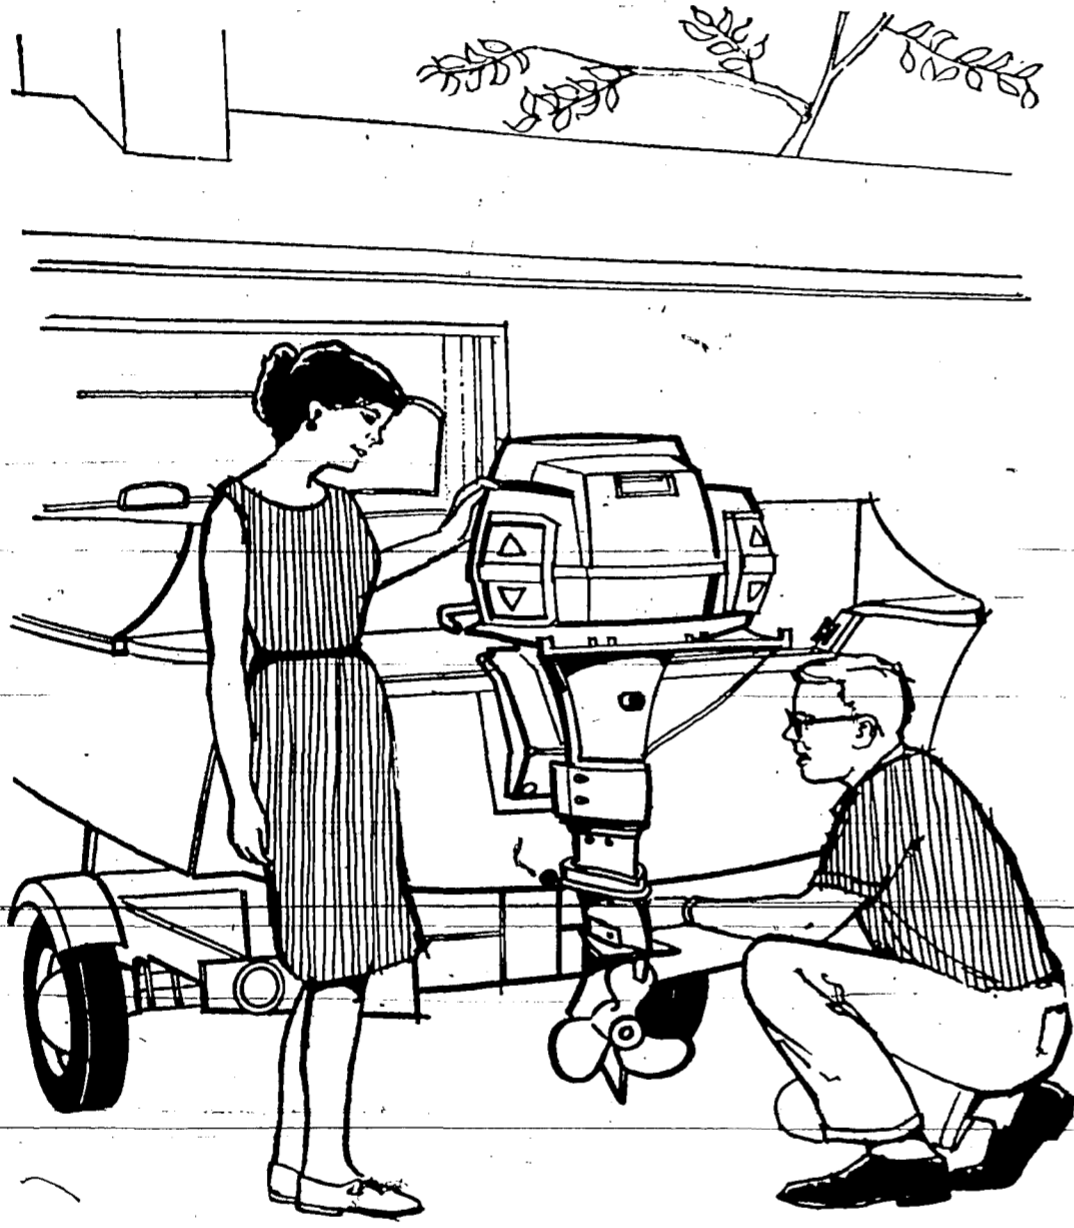

DISCUSS RIOTS ROCKAWAY BEACH, Mo. (AP) — This lake resort's city council has called a town meeting Friday night to discuss steps for preventing a recurrence of its fourth of July rioting by college-age visitors.

Mrs. Van Hook said she could not remember any draftees from this area being sent overseas. Mrs. Van Hook became the board clerk for the Twin Falls County Selective Service Board when Mrs. Pearl Aldrich retired last month. She is a Jerome resident and also is the clerk for the Jerome board.

Members of the Shoshone LDS Relief Society were in charge of the reception.

Mrs. Wayne Stutzman registered the guests.

Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Paul Osborne, Gooding, and Mrs. Linda Roessler and Mrs. Dana Sturgeon, Shoshone. Carrying the gifts were Clair Thorne and Lorna Thorne, Shoshone.

Beer Is Rated As Excellent Hair Set Agent

ALICIA HART
NEW YORK (NEA)—In some cities a woman might wonder whether she was in a saloon or a beauty salon. Many hairdressers swear by beer as an excellent hair setting agent and use it lavishly.

Fortunately for the local minister's wife or a bulwark in the WCTU, the alcohol and the odor evaporate without any heady effects other than a nice coiffure.

A hair set preparation now comes in concentrate form using the real beer idea. In an aerosol can, it is non-alcoholic yet protein-rich. It now is available in beauty salons for take-home purposes.

One well-known hairdresser Miss Beck presented the Bethel a gift.

Refreshments were served following the ceremony. The decorations and the refreshments were prepared by Mrs. Peckardt.

Criminal Code Tightened by Russian Federation RSFR

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Russian Federation (RSFR), biggest state in the Soviet Union, tightened its criminal code Tuesday.

It introduced severe penalties for the corruption of youth, for making moonshine, growing narcotics and stealing automobiles.

The indictments of minors in to alcoholism, prostitution, begging and gambling will henceforth be punishable by jail terms of up to five years.

Adult alcoholism and prostitution are not punishable except by social reprimand and provision for forcible medical treatment.

The penalty for planting opium, marijuana and other narcotic weeds has been raised from two to three years.

To discourage home liquor-making for private use a penalty of three to six months has been decreed. Hitherto the penalty has been a mere administrative fine and confiscation of the liquor.

The practice of begging will be punished by two years instead of one year under the old law—although there is comparatively little of it in this country.

Further tightening of the laws governing guard duty for soldiers was decreed. Minor violations of the rules

A hospital spokesman said she is expected to be discharged in a few days.

Not Eligible

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP) — Emmet County Sheriff Richard Zink didn't think it would be right to issue a driver's license to Amelia Krumri of rural Alderson after she took her driver's test Tuesday.

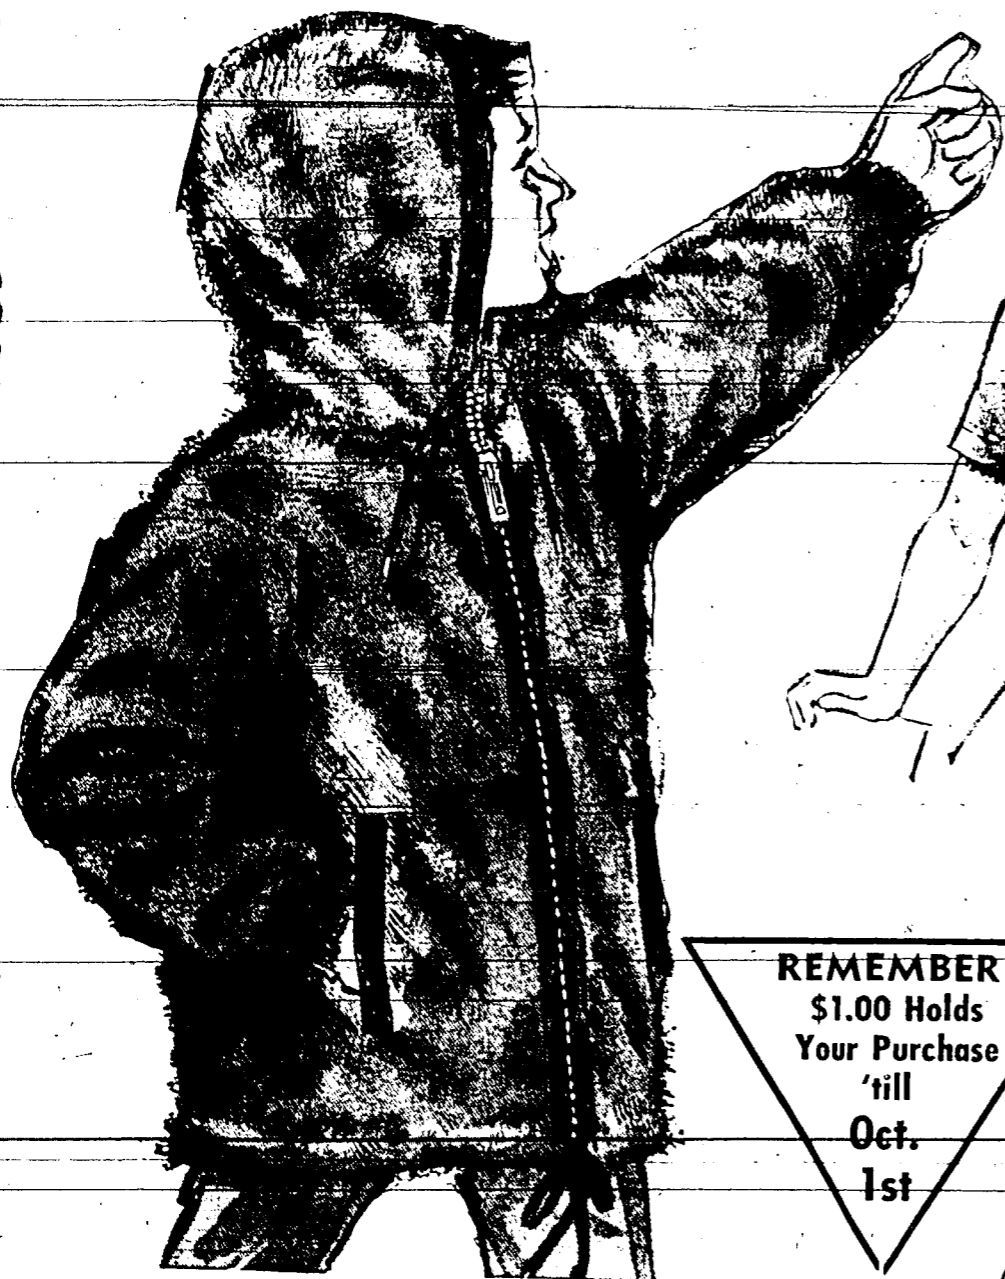

Mrs. Krumri stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake and crunched her car backwards into the sheriff's office during the driver's test, he said. The damage: two cedar trees flanking the entrance, a broken window, a smashed door and a crumpled wall.

Idaho Falls Coasts Into 4-1 Win; Cowboys Break Shutout in Ninth Frame

Idaho Falls' Angels gave the Magic Valley Cowboys a lesson in timely hitting Tuesday night as they picked up a 4-1 Pioneer League victory. The Angels scored two runs each in the first and third innings for the victory and Tony Esqueda and Rene Romo hurled shutout ball until two were out in the ninth inning. The Cowboys left 13 men on base in the first five innings, twice loading the bases with

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY
Magic Valley sportsmen are concerned about things these days, drawing for permits, the Silver Creek controversy and a dozen things. But their biggest concern should be Senate bill 1992—sponsored by Sen. Thomas J. Dodds, Conn. In fact, it would appear from this angle that hunters should be more alarmed than members of the National Rifle Association—and that association is alarmed enough.

Considering the custom building of a target rifle, it is inconceivable that—at the outset at least—target shooters would have trouble keeping their guns. Unwieldy and good for only one purpose, the target rifle isn't a particular menace, as NRA president Harlon B. Carter pointed out here last Saturday night. But the field gun is another matter. It can be used criminally with ease. It would be a primary mark of any restrictive legislation.

Millions of words have been written and spoken about the Dodds bill. It is definitely a play on hysteria. It is backed by a cunning people, thinking people.

A week ago this reporter caught a five-minute news blurb on national television. It showed a brief excerpt from the gun hearing, being conducted and presided over by Sen. Dodds. It was enough to make you realize these people just don't like guns and nothing is too unethical to attain the regulation of firearms.

The chairman had the editor of a gun magazine on the stand and with the restraint of a Latin American dictator fanatic was belaboring him mercilessly. He read a short paragraph from an editorial from Gun and Ammo magazine which said in effect under the wording of the Dodds' bill, a man could be restrained from owning firearms for reasons of race, color or creed.

"What kind of reporting do you call that?" Dodds demanded. "Editorializing," the Gun and Ammo man replied. "You may call it editorializing, but I call it lying," Dodds screamed.

He went on to say it was such editorializing that had brought down a huge avalanche of mail on himself, and other congressional delegates. It is shocking to hear a man draw that specially-granted cloak of congressional immunity about himself and berate a man for doing no more than speaking his mind—in print, as we are doing here.

It is worse to hear a "servant of the public" complaining because his constituents are sending their opinions to him by mail. On reflection, however, it shouldn't have been. A man who would have the audacity to challenge the U.S. Constitution's Bill of Rights on the matter of gun ownership would have no qualms about challenging another section which guaranteed freedom of speech and press. A fanatic on the subject, Dodds may be a real steam-headed man. But stupid he isn't.

Cubs Take First Loss of Season 12-2

CALDWELL (UPI) — The Treasure Valley Cubs went down to defeat 12-2 to the Pocatello Dodgers Tuesday night, the Cubs first loss of the season.

Two Pocatello pitchers, Walt Peterson and Mike Price, combined for 15 strikeouts as they held the Cubs to four hits. Peterson got seven and Price eight. Jim Bartfeld got two solo homers, one in the third and one in the seventh. He was the only Pocatello batter to get two hits.

In the fourth inning the Dodgers exploded for seven runs on three hits, five walks and two Treasure Valley errors. Two runs were walked in.

Losing pitcher was starter Larry Lobb who went three and two-thirds innings, giving up seven runs. Peterson took the win.

Indians-Sox Game Halted Due to Rain

CHICAGO (AP) — The game between the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox was called because of rain in the fourth inning Tuesday night. It was rescheduled as part of a two-night doubleheader Wednesday.

Rain delayed the start of the contest by 14 minutes and then came a 30-minute delay in the first inning with the Sox at bat and the score tied 1-1.

The Indians took a 3-1 lead in the fourth, but before the Sox came to bat in the ninth inning came again and play never was resumed.

L.A. Climbs Back Into Loop Lead

CINCINNATI (AP) — Lou Johnson rapped three hits, driving in two runs, and Dick Tracawski knocked in two runs on two hits as the Los Angeles Dodgers outslugged Cincinnati 11-7 Tuesday night and climbed back into first place in the National League.

ELEVEN POUNDS or rainbow trout brings a smile to the face of John Anderson, Hagerman, who netted the prize Tuesday afternoon on Riley Creek. The fish was 27 inches long and 20 inches in girth. The trout took a dead minnow at the end of a six-pound test line and fought for about 10 minutes. (Times-News photo)

11-Pounder Taken From Riley Creek

"There's a bigger one down there and I'm going to catch him."

That statement summed up the feeling Tuesday night of John Anderson, Hagerman, after he pulled an 11-pound, 27-inch rainbow trout out of Riley Creek. That's behind him, now. The big one—the one he rolled over last week—is still waiting.

Anderson, a lifelong fisherman, reached the high point of his career with a casting outfit, rigged with a six-pound test line. The attraction was a dead minnow.

Anderson set the hook while standing on the bank but he soon got wet when the fish took off. He ended up battling in water up to his neck, with the fish close to him, but not available. Finally, another fisherman brought him a large net and he secured the prize. The fight lasted only 10 minutes.

Cardwell-Led Pirates Tip Phillies 8-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Don Cardwell pitched a six-hitter for his seventh straight victory and singled in two runs as Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 8-4 Tuesday night.

Cardwell, now 8-2, allowed only four hits, three in the fourth, until the eighth inning. Then Johnny Callison unloaded a three-run homer following Don Clendenon's two-out error on Johnny Briggs' grounder and a single by Cookie Rojas.

Cubs' Buhl Asks to be Traded Off

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran pitcher Bob Buhl of the Chicago Cubs wants to be traded because he feels Head Coach Lou Klein has no confidence in him.

"It's nothing personal," the 36-year-old right-hander emphasized Tuesday. "I've never had any words with Klein. It's just that the man hasn't got any confidence in me. That's why I asked to be traded."

Buhl, a man who believes in speaking his mind, went directly to Klein and told him he wanted to be traded shortly after he had been yanked from the mound in a game against the San Francisco Giants Sunday.

Still fresh in Buhl's mind was an incident in Houston June 14, a day after Klein had replaced Bob Kennedy as head coach. Klein had pulled him with a five-hitter and a 5-0 lead over the Astros going into the ninth.

"The climax, as far as I'm concerned, came Sunday in Chicago," Buhl said. "This time I was out of the game with just one out to go in the fifth. In the process of getting the first two outs, Willie Mays and Jesus Alou reached base on a pair of infield scratches.

Now, he's (Klein) out there to get me, while I'm trying to tell him I'm okay. I had good stuff, but it didn't make any difference, I was gone."

Klein could not be reached immediately.

Charley Grimm, a Cubs' official, said, "I'm completely out of it. No comment."

Farrell Is Lone American Winner

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP) — Tom Farrell of St. John's University was the lone American winner in an international track meet here Monday.

Farrell passed Germany's Dieter Bogatzki in the home stretch to win the 800-meter run by six feet in 1:50.4.

Seconds and thirds were the best that long-distance ace Gerry Lindgren, Olympic 800-meter champion Mike Larabee and young pole vaulter Paul Wilson could manage. The four Americans are on a barnstorming tour of Europe.

Dempsey, Tunney Team to Throw Punch at Fight Game at Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two famous rivals from boxing's golden age, Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, teamed Tuesday to throw a one-two punch at the fight game in its electronic age. Both former heavyweight champions from the 1920s came out strongly for a national boxing commission at the opening round of hearings before the House Interstate Commerce Committee. Former champion Rocky Marciano also was listed as a witness.

"SIMPLOR OR BUST" painted on the pack of his mule, leaves little doubt where he is headed. He is "Wild Horse" Anderson, who homesteads near Declo, and he is on his way to Jaycee Park to shake hands with Jack Simplot, whom he "hasn't seen for 30 years." Anderson made the trip from his homestead to Twin Falls by horse when he heard Simplot would be at the park "no matter what" for Simplot Day Tuesday. (Times-News photo)

"Wild Horse" Arrives Right On Schedule

"Wild Horse" Anderson arrived in Twin Falls Tuesday night on schedule, thanks to a friendly neighborhood. Anderson, upon hearing that his old friend Jack Simplot would be at Jaycee Park Tuesday "no matter what" for Simplot Day, set off from his homestead near Declo by his only means of transportation—a mule. His neighbor, hearing of his plight, thoughtfully lent him his horse so he would be sure to make it on time. Upon arriving in Twin Falls, Anderson was picked up by a city police car and given a short tour of the downtown area before being escorted to the ball park. At his destination, "Wild Bill" was rushed out to home plate where he was met by his old friend. Both told how nice it was to meet again after 30 years and reminisced about their boyhood days in the Declo area. It was a fitting end to Anderson's long ride.

Hall's Homers Pace Twins Over Sox 9-0

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Jimmie Hall crashed a pair of two-run homers and Jim Grant checked Boston and Jimmie Hall checked Boston on eight hits, leading Minnesota to a 9-0 victory Tuesday night. It was the sixth straight triumph for the American League — leading Twins. Hall cracked his first homer in the first inning after Zoilo Versalles had doubled. His second blast, in the second inning, came with Versalles aboard on a fielder's choice. Don Mincher hit a solo homer for Minnesota in the first inning and the Twins added four more runs in the seventh. Bernie Allen's single scoring two of them. Boston — 000-000-0-0-8-1 Minnesota — 320-000-40x-9-9-0 Stephenson, Heffner (2), Dulliba (7) and Tillman; Grant and Batten; Zimmerman (8). W — Grant (9-2). L — Stephenson (1-3).

Chance Gets Credit for Angels' Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dean Chance pitched only the first five innings but received credit for his first victory in five weeks as the Los Angeles Angels defeated Washington 6-2 Tuesday night. Jim Fregosi drove in three runs with three singles, Willie Smith hit a two-run homer and Joe Adcock clouted one with none aboard, giving the Angels their fifth victory in the last seven games. Nicklaus Fires 65, Still Not Satisfied

SOUTHPORT, England (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, the reigning Masters champion, fired an eight-under-par 65 Tuesday in a final practice for the Wednesday opening of the British Open Golf Championship and then remarked: "I'm still not completely satisfied." The husky blond bomber from Columbus, Ohio, is the 3-1 favorite to be at a star-studded international field and capture the only major championship to elude his grasp so far. Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., a two-time winner of the British Open, is the second favorite at 5-1 odds. The field of 130 will start off with single 18-hole rounds over the par-73, 7,035-yard Royal Birkdale course on Wednesday and Thursday. Then the survivors of the cutoff will play the final 36 holes on Friday. Other fancied players breathing down the favorites' necks are Gary Player, South African winner of the U.S. Open this year; defending champion Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif.; Bob Charles, left-handed New Zealander who won in 1963. And Kel Nagle, Australian runner-up to Player in the U.S. Open and winner of the Centenary British Open by one stroke from Palmer in 1960; Peter Thomson, four-time winner from Australia; Bruce Devlin of Australia, and Doug Sanders from Ojai, Calif.

The United States has seven pros in the glittering field. In addition to Nicklaus, Palmer, Lema and Sanders, there's Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif.; Terry Dill, a 26-year-old bomber from Muleshoe, Tex., and Sam Snead, the World Seniors champion and winner of the British Open in 1946, from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. It all adds up to one of the most fascinating championships in 105 years—and most experts agree that any from a dozen could take the title. The winner qualifies automatically for the $100,000 World Series which matches the British Open champion and the winners of the U.S. Open, Masters and PGA. Lema won the British title at St. Andrews in Scotland last year and then went on to pick up $50,000 for victory in the World Series.

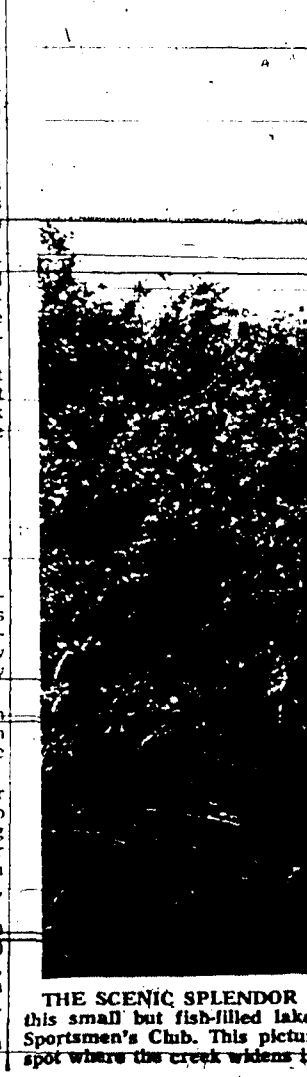

Bill Freehan and Norm Cash led the Tigers' 12-hit attack with two-run homers, and each drove in three runs. Freehan homered off loser Mel Stottlemyre after a walk-off Don Wert in the second inning and Cash connected off reliever Gil Blanco in the eighth with Willie Horton, who had doubled, on base. Detroit — 000-000-000-0-7-0 Stottlemyre, Tiebout, McLean (5), Blanco (8) and Howard, McLean and Freehan. W — McLean (7-3). L — Stottlemyre (9-5). Home runs — Detroit, Freehan (4), Cash (3).

Tigers Pound Yankees 8-0

DETROIT (AP) — Denny McLain scattered seven hits for his sixth straight victory as the Detroit Tigers pounded the New York Yankees 8-0 Tuesday night. Bill Freehan and Norm Cash led the Tigers' 12-hit attack with two-run homers, and each drove in three runs. Freehan homered off loser Mel Stottlemyre after a walk-off Don Wert in the second inning and Cash connected off reliever Gil Blanco in the eighth with Willie Horton, who had doubled, on base. Broek Gives Cards Win Over Giants

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lou Brock collected three hits, drove in one run and scored the other two as the St. Louis Cardinals edged San Francisco 3-2 Tuesday night for their seventh straight triumph. Brock's hitting and running helped stop Juan Marichal's scoreless-inning string at 20 and hand the Giant ace his seventh defeat against 13 victories. With the score tied 2-2 in the sixth inning, Brock beat out a bunt for his third straight hit, then stole his 35th base of the season. Curt Flood singled Brock home. San Fran. — 100-100-000-2-7-1 St. Louis — 100-101-00x-3-6-1 Marichal and Bertell; Simmons, Dennis (8), Woodeshick (9) and McCarver. W — Simmons (5-8). L — Marichal (13-7).

THE SCENIC SPILLER of the canyon walls of the Snake River overlooks this small but fish-filled lake, one of two kept stocked by the Sunny Brook Sportsmen's Club. This picture was taken about 30 yards upstream from the spot where the creek widens into the lake. The lake is about a quarter of a mile Hangover over the proceedings like a bad memory was the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston fight in Lewiston-Maine, last May. But with a standing-room-only crowd in the big hearing room one wit remarked: "This is drawing a bigger crowd than the fight." Looking muscular and fit at 70, Dempsey told the committee how he started out in the old days in Colorado when he was a teenager. "I used to go into the back room of these saloons and say, 'I'll fight any man in the house'... Then they'd pass a hat."

The way a fighter got a crack at the champion then, recalled Dempsey, was to whip everyone in his path. And that, he said, is the way it should be today. Although Dempsey had a return-bout contract with Tunney after "Gentleman Gene" lifted his title, Dempsey said this practice was one of the things killing boxing.

The practice of guaranteeing the champion a return bout if the challenger licks him has resulted, Dempsey said, in "one-round knockouts in return bouts between Liston and Floyd Patterson and Cassius Clay and Liston."

Dempsey, who has a fair list of one-round knockouts in his record, acknowledged under questioning that a one-round knockout didn't mean that anything was wrong with a fight.

As for Clay's one-round knockout of Liston, Dempsey said the punch that decked Liston didn't look like much "but the punch before that could have affected him." He suggested Liston may have lost "his will or desire to fight."

Tunney said he was "strongly in favor" of the bill to set up a national boxing commission which could bar a description of any suspicious fight from being carried in interstate commerce by television, radio or wire services.

"Had such authorization been in existence through a law passed by Congress earlier, we would not have had the sorry spectacles produced in the last four so-called heavyweight championship matches," Tunney said.

Another, more recent heavyweight champion, Marciano arrived a little late at the hearing. He echoed Dempsey's sentiments that boxing is "getting worse every day."

Marciano, a lot heavier since he retired as champion, called for a boxing league to develop talent.

He said it is necessary for the federal government to step in to control boxing because he said state boxing commissions are making a mockery of the sport.

Silvester May Make Russ Meet

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — L. J. Silvester, who holds the American discus record, said Tuesday there is a slight chance he will join the U.S. track and field team against the Russians later this month. Silvester, who holds the American mark of 210 ft., 6 in.—15 inches short of the world record — has a place on the U.S. team if he can make it to Kiev.

BRINGING IT IN CLOSE so he can release it and then try for another is Burton Perrine Jr., founder of the Sunny Brook Sportsmen's Club, located in the Snake River canyon just west of Blue-Lakes Country Club. Perrine caught this one for the camera in the "fly pond," where fly fishing only, with barbless hooks, is allowed. This lake, one of two, puts emphasis on sports fishing as it is strictly a "hook and release proposition." (Times-News photo)

Sportsmen's Club Started by Area Angler

By BOB MAGEE
What started out as more of a personal quest for a better fishing early in March has developed into a sportsmen's club with a large membership from Magic Valley and some members from as far as Los Angeles and San Francisco.

With two small lakes and a mile of stream, the Sunny Brook Sportsmen's club area offers plenty of room for its 182 members and also plenty of fish. Burton Perrine Jr., who manages the land and water rights for his father, started fishing the waters below the Blue Lakes Trout Ranch, finding a great number of natural reproduction trout in the waters.

Since that time Perrine has stocked the waters with specially selected "full-filled" trout from the Blue Lakes Ranch and when the Ralston-Purina experiment station moved, another batch of well developed fish was added to the waters.

Since the land, water and fish are privately owned, there is no license required and the club waters can also be fished the year around.

The club's main purpose is to provide anglers with "sports fishing." Barbless hooks are required in the stream and lower lake and fly fishing only, also with barbless hooks, is allowed in the upper lake. The "take-home" limit is five fish with no poundage restriction in the stream and lower lake and many of the members hook and land as many as 30 of 40 fish while waiting for the "one that got away." The ones that are not hooked too badly are thrown back, that is unless they are of the trophy variety. The fly lake is strictly a hook and release proposition.

The fish in the club's waters average about a pound and many tip the scales at two. Perrine noted that, in both the upper and lower lakes, there have been several caught that run over five pounds and that there are still many of the big lunkers that are still uncaught.

One of the main reasons the club was started was that the people in Twin Falls wanted a place to bring out-of-state visitors and relatives that was close and would leave a good impression of the area. Many of the out-of-state members use Twin Falls as a headquarters, fish a day or two at the club site and then head off for other fishing waters in southern Idaho. In addition to members from Los Angeles and San Francisco, there are some from Boise, Salt Lake City and Reno.

The club also offers instruction in fishing techniques to youngsters. There have been groups from the YMCA and Boy Scouts that have been under the club's tutelage and Perrine said that he would be more than happy to help anyone wanting to learn.

Perrine pointed out that club members have complete access to the Snake River and the immediate area and that the no trespass signs pertain only to Blue-Lakes Country Club and not the road into the canyon or the land to the west of the golf course.

A nominal fee is charged for membership and is immediately put into more trout for the lakes. There is also a small trespass charge, which goes into a kitty for improvements. Perrine has several improvements planned for the club area, the first one being a 35-acre lake directly below the lower lake, at the west of the club grounds. It will be large enough for small craft and boats with motors will not be allowed.

Also planned is a "trophy pond" which will be stocked with four varieties of trout, German brown, golden hybrid rainbow and brook. The smallest these select specimens will run will be three pounds and some will tip the scales at around 10. Perrine said there are now a few cabin sites opening in the area and plans are in the of for an archery range. The plans are still incomplete for the range, however, Perrine commented that the running water in the area will probably be used to operate moving targets, putting it more or less in the novelty vein.

There has been some infestation of "river fish," mostly squawfish, noted in the lower lake, although, to date, few are being caught. The trash fish were brought over from the river by what Perrine described as "pranksters." Perrine said when the new lake is put in, the trash fish, along with the trout, will be "flushed" out. Perrine added that the unwanted finny creatures have not developed into a problem as yet and most likely will not before they are "flushed."

Skeptics like to point out that, because you are fishing below a fish hatchery, it's the same thing as dipping your worm in one of the hatchery's overflowing ponds. But let them take heed to the words of many of the club members, such as the one that said, "the trout in the club's lakes and stream, for my money, put up more of a fight than those stocked by the Fish and Game Department in the area's streams." There was another that added, "even the small (7-10 inch) ones seem to have something to fight about."

All the club members interviewed by this reporter seemed quite content with the "wildness" of the Sunny Brook trout, however, many of them continue to fish other streams, reservoirs and lakes. As one put it, "I like a little variety in my fishing so I hit quite a few spots," and then quickly added that, "but, I still haven't found a place that equals the club waters for a good fight."

The fish are there, with plenty of get-up and go, and the improvements are on their way, so it shouldn't be too long before the club blossoms into one of the largest in the West.

Barber Hits; Hurls Orioles Over A's 4-1

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Steve Barber drove in two runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly and stopped Kansas City on three hits before needing Dick Hall's relief help in the ninth inning as Baltimore defeated the Athletics 4-1 Tuesday night. Barber had retired 15 consecutive batters before walking Jim Landis and Ed Charles with two out in the ninth. Hall came on and ended the threat by retiring Ken Harrelson on a fly ball. Barber, now 7-6, hit his first homer of the season in the third inning and drove in Sam Bowens with a sacrifice fly in the fourth. Baltimore — 101-100-010-1-3-0 Kansas City — 001-000-000-1-3-0 Barber, Hall (9) and Brown; Hunter; Dickson (6), Hickman (7), Woot (9), and Lachemann. W — Barber (7-6). L — Hunter (0-2).

Home runs — Baltimore, Barber (1). Kansas City, Lachemann (9).

Strike Keeps Vessels Dead In Waters

NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands of summer vacationers, bound for Europe or just arrived in America, swarmed over Manhattan piers today as foreign liners came and went. But most U.S. vessels lay dead in the water, strikebound.

Vessels of France, Britain, Holland, Germany docked or embarked.

Wharves serving various U.S. ships, including the superliner United States, were mostly empty, except for a few pickets, and with sailing schedules canceled or in doubt.

A strike of ship's officers and engineers, entering its fourth week, has idled 111 U.S. ships on the East and Gulf coasts. One U.S. liner unaffected, the Constitution, sailed for Europe.

The deadlock involved arbitration machinery, pensions and the manning of American-flag ships.

The U.S. Maritime Administration reported 111 ships tied up.

Cargo movements have been little affected. Foreign and domestic traders have been able to shift to foreign-flag vessels.

New Fruit

LONDON (UPI)—Australian officials reported today that a square pineapple is being developed at the Alison Tropical Research Station in New South Wales.

"It is intended for canning and has been developed to produce a more-can-shaped fruit which will be less wasteful in the cannery," officials said.

The variety is described as "bigger, juicier and with a better balance of acid and sugar than the normal pineapple."

Theft Probed

FILER—No new information has been found concerning the June 23 theft at Sheridan Building and Supply Co., when 62 guns were stolen and a typewriter and adding machine were taken.

Twin Falls County Sheriff's office, assisted by an FBI agent and the Filer police, still is investigating the theft.

*Acres-feet; other quantities in cubic second feet.
Inflow Blackfoot to Nesley (actual 2,713 cubic second feet); (corrected 2,816 cubic second feet).
Palladas and Jackson Lake reservoirs will fill to top of all other reservoirs which include American Falls, Walcott, Inland Park, Grassy Lake and Henry Lake will also be filled. Again this year this will permit filling all allotments 100 per cent.
Heavy rains at the end of June resulted in the refilling of American Falls. Had this not occurred some American Falls water would have been retained in Palladas and that right could have been 100 per cent filled.
On July 6 the flow at Heise would have been about 21,000 cubic second feet. Had there been no reduction of flow by storage in Palladas and Jackson Lake reservoirs. The actual flow at Heise is being raised to 17,000 cubic second feet on July 6. After Jackson Lake and Palladas fill it may be necessary to further increase this flow.

Study Set on New Energy Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has impaneled seven senior scientists to study American efforts to produce energy with hydrogen fusion.

The report, expected by the end of the year, will help determine the course of the 14-year-old program. And it will suggest how much money the government should put into the project.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the AEC, told of the panel's assignment in replying to questions from members of the House subcommittee on Science, Research and Development. He appeared before the committee to recommend additional support for the National Science Foundation.

Controlled fusion is a field in which both the United States and the Soviet Union are vitally interested. The U.S. investment has grown from $50,000 in support of AEC-overseen studies in 1951 to $2.5 million this year.

Seaborg told the subcommittee the research is not expected to pay off in practical production of energy before the end of the century.

The thermonuclear studies are now under way at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Los Alamos, N.M., Livermore, Calif., and Princeton, N.J.

The study committee is headed by Prof. Samuel K. Ellison, a University of Chicago scientist.

Imaginative Inventors of Past Are Vanishing

LONDON (UPI)—They laughed when Richard Boyman Boyman told his friends he was going to patent an idea for jet air transport and as far as anyone knows they all died laughing.

For this was 99 years ago and Boyman Boyman's dream that by using steam jets main "could outdo the birds of the air" was too far ahead of its time to do him or humanity any good.

Nobody laughed when an electrician named Mumford invented reversible trousers (with flaps front and back) in 1907. It sounded to his friend like a sure-fire commercial success but they had overlooked one small detail.

Turning the pants around got rid of the shiny seat, all right. But who wanted pants with a shiny front?

So ended another of the visions of riches, fame or benefaction to mankind which have passed through the British Patent Office since King Henry VI granted John of Uytynam the right to make stained glass of his own process for Eton College in 1449.

The Mumfords and the Boyman Boymans are rare these practical days. The stereotype inventor tinkering away at a collection of nuts and bolts and wires and wheels in his garage or cellar is rarely seen in the old building off Chancery Lane. And Gordon Grant, Comptroller General of the Patent Office, is one who sentimentally regrets his passing.

"If a man turned up at the door with an invention under his arm," Grant said in an interview, "we would rush to help him."

As it is, the individual inventor seems to be giving way to the big corporations who are represented by agents expert in the intricacies of ferrying an idea through to its final patent. The types of invention are changing as well.

"These days they often concern electronics, physics, engineering or chemistry," Grant said. "There is a worldwide surge of patenting on at the moment, not because so many new things are being invented but because corporations tend to protect their rights in all countries."

Grant says most inventions are not spontaneous bursts of creativity but the end product of long chains of ideas. Only a few that he could recall were novel enough in recent years to start new industries on their own—for example, the transistor, penicillin and the electronic computer.

Many inventors had inched along the road to television before John Logie Baird of Britain came up with the solution in 1926. "An inventor's ideas should not be in advance of the technology of his era," Grant said. "Back at the end of the last century a man brought in a plan for what he called 'a computing machine.' He had all the right ideas—but he had them too soon. The same thing happened with the first man to think of a self-winding watch."

Preparations Are Made for 8-Day Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The federal space agency lowered the Gemini-5 spaceship to its Titan-2 launch rocket Tuesday to start final preparations for an eight-day orbital flight next month.

The mission, to be made by astronauts Gordon Cooper and Charles Pete Conrad, will double the orbital time logged by Gemini-4 pilots James McDivitt and Edward White last month and should surpass the Soviet five-day endurance record.

The spacecraft had been hung above the sleek rocket for several days for a series of electrical checks. A spokesman said the final mating process began Tuesday morning and was expected to be completed later Tuesday.

If tests and checks of the combined rocket-spacecraft system proceed without trouble, Gemini-5 is expected to be ready for launch in five weeks. The shot is set for mid-August.

Dominican Crisis May Have Impact on U. S. Relations

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Dominican Republic crisis may prove to have had strong long-range impact on U.S. relations with the hemisphere.

While Latin-American governments remain anxious to proceed with cooperation in the economic sphere, there is a noticeable interest in influential areas now in developing foreign policy attitudes demonstrably independent of U.S. leadership.

Lessons of the crisis are being weighed thoughtfully. Nations which rejected the U.S. lead found they had little trouble with repercussions at home. Attempts to stir revolutionary rioting against "Yankee imperialism" fell flat.

Chile's Christian Democratic government rejected the U.S. lead and deplored the Dominican action.

One Chilean leader told me: "This stopped Communist agitation at once. The Communists had no propaganda weapon in this case. We took it away from them."

Peru and even Ecuador, with its multiplicity of economic and political troubles, had next to no difficulty with the backwash of the crisis.

Uruguay, once called the Switzerland of South America because of its record of political stability, now is in difficulties. But in the crisis, Uruguay insisted on a "fundamental principle" and rejected intervention for any reason. Later, when the time came for Uruguay's government to send a Communist continental "solidarity conference" packing, the Communists could work up little steam about their protests. Latin nations have been eyeing Mexico's experience for some

Despite the sharp foreign policy differences, by all appearances at this moment the relations of the United States and Mexico on a day-to-day basis in all other fields never seem to have been better.

Account Paid

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — A Clovis man has received a $3 payment for two sacks of bran his father sold to a Nebraska farmer 42 years ago.

Bob Lea said his father, V. F. Lea, lives in Falls City, Neb., but the payment was forwarded here where the father is visiting.

The payment and an original $2.30 statement for the bran purchases in 1923 arrived with this explanation: "I was going through some old papers and found this. Enclosed is $3 on a much overdue account."

The sender was unidentified.

Work on Missile Sites Completed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department spokesman said today work on two missile sites in North Viet Nam is virtually complete and two other missile sites have reached an advanced stage.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said that there is no evidence that missiles have been installed in the two completed sites. But obviously, he added, this is a question of time.

All the work on missile installations is being done in the Hanoi and port of Haiphong areas, he said.

Rockefeller Aid Denied By Candidate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Congressman John V. Lindsay, Republican candidate for mayor of New York, denied Tuesday that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had pledged $500,000 of Rockefeller family funds to his campaign.

But Lindsay admitted that he had flown to Albany on May 11, the date Newsweek magazine reported Rockefeller convinced Lindsay he should run and pledged the money. The magazine described Rockefeller as the prime mover in Lindsay's decision to make the race.

Concerning the alleged campaign nest egg, Lindsay said, "There is no basis at all for the statement."

He said he doubted that it would be legal to accept such a large campaign contribution

Youth Jailed; Dad Refuses To Pay Fine

DETROIT (UPI) — A jailed suburban teen-ager, disowned by his father for throwing a wild party, said he regretted beer party, but hopes his case would "serve as an example" so other kids can avoid making the same mistakes.

Speaking from his Wayne County Jail cell, where he is serving 15 days because his father refused to pay "five cents" for a $100 fine for him, Albert P. Scobie, 16, said he wasn't surprised that his father planned to lock him out of his home.

The father, Albert J. Scobie, 44, of Southgate, said he would "disown him completely" for holding a party last weekend without permission.

The party, planned as a gathering for "nine or ten couples and a three-piece band," turned into a bottle-throwing riot when police attempted to quiet the youths met with 60 scuffling guests.

Four of the 40 policemen and two of the teen-agers were injured and 14 youths arrested.

The younger Scobie, who held the party while the rest of the family was vacationing, said he hoped when he got older he would become "worthy of my father's affection. I definitely am not worthy of it now."

Students in Wilderness Survival Class Survive 'Night of Terror' on Mountain

By SALLY RYAN
BRETENBUSH LAKE, Ore. (AP) — We were lost in the fog on a snowpatched hill, high in Oregon's Cascade Mountains. A gale wind threatened to blow us into an ice-covered pond 15 feet below.

It was a night of terror. But we survived it, and seven other nights like it in freezing temperatures, with no food except what we could carry.

There were 16 of us — 10 men and 6 women — ranging in age from 15 to 48, taking part in a wilderness survival school.

We went into the mountains 70 miles southwest of Portland armed only with hunting knives and survival kits, consisting mainly of fishing gear and one match for each day.

We hiked 45 miles with 20-pound backpacks — a physician, a mailman, a transportation company comptroller, two housewives, two teachers and a cream and candy bars.

At first, we worried primarily about food. We stopped at a restaurant for a last cup of coffee, and found a black and white puppy. I wanted to take him along. "Don't," advised Odd Bjerke, a native of Norway who conducts survival training exercises for military and civilian groups. "You'll eat it."

We left the puppy behind. That night we went to bed hungry, wet and exhausted.

The second day we ate wild sorrel, broiled ferns and skunk cabbage.

By the third day we were listless and wobbly, talking of nothing but food.

Then Mrs. Bjerke, a 100-pound elf who grew up on the Oregon coast hunting bullfrogs, clubbed a water snake to death. Another crew came up with a sack of salamanders. Someone caught a frog.

We ate only the tails of the salamander, but were so hungry we used them twice: once boiled for soup and then roasted to eat like shrimp. You must be very hungry to spend 10 minutes skinning one tail, but we were very hungry.

The snake, cut up, was soup, boiled and roasted.

Actually, all reptiles are edible. Bjerke said the poisonous ones — such as rattlesnakes — actually taste the best. We never saw any to check.

More than a mile above sea level with snow still melting, we saw deer tracks only once and one squirrel as we hiked out. So we had to rely on the plants we picked on the way up and on the streams.

There always were streams to fish or to fall into, and fish, baked or smoked, formed the basis of our diet the final days — after we reached Dark Lake, where the fish were biting.

Bjerke said most plants are edible. To test one, put about a teaspoon in your mouth, chew it five minutes and if there is no stinging, swallow it. Wait eight hours. If you have suffered no ill effect, eat more of it.

On the fifth day, manna fell from heaven, on two orange and white parachutes. Food for one day was dropped — a chicken, potatoes, carrots, bread, ice

Three Range Fires Are Extinguished

SHOSHONE — Three more small range fires were reported Monday by the Bureau of Land Management district office here, but all of them were soon brought under control.

On Sunday, six range fires, all believed resulting from lightning, were reported, but were declared out by 9 p.m.

The Monday fires were at Fish Creek Reservoir northeast of Carey and near Kimama Butte. The Fish Creek blaze, believed to be man-caused, started about 2 p.m. and was out by 4 p.m.

One of the fires near Kimama Butte, which started at 4 p.m. southeast of the butte, was believed to have started from a spark from a piece of farm machinery, according to Wandell Elliott, BLM fire control officer.

The other fire, south of the butte, was caused when a controlled burn along a ditch bank got out of control. Minidoka guard station crews extinguished the fires at Kimama Butte and the BLM crew put out the Carey blaze.

Parisians Mourn Rubirosa Death

PARIS (UPI) — Parisians Tuesday mourned the death of millionaire playboy - diplomat Perforio Rubirosa. Plans for his burial were still not arranged.

Rubirosa, 56, was killed when his sports car hurled into a tree Monday morning after a night of celebrating a victory at the polo fields.

Police kept the wreckage of the sleek Ferrari roadster under seals pending investigation by a mechanic of the possibility of sabotage. A preliminary investigation indicated a momentary lapse on Rubirosa's part while traveling at too great a speed.

Vatican's Secretariat Says Luci's Baptism Regrettable

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — A spokesman for the Vatican's Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity said Tuesday the baptism of Luci Johnson as she embraced the Roman Catholic faith has had a "regrettable" effect on the Christian unity movement.

The spokesman, Father Thomas Stransky of Milwaukee, Wis., emphasized that the problem centered on Miss Johnson's baptism and not on her conversion, which he called a "personal matter." She is welcomed into the church by all Catholics, he said.

Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, in a sermon at San Francisco, had called the baptism "totally void of any sacramental effect" because the President's daughter had previously been baptized in the Episcopal Church.

Father Stransky, who is a member of the secretariat, said baptism by the Episcopal Church is a valid baptism. "Normally, a convert to Catholicism from Episcopalian would only take the profession of the faith," he said.

Father Stransky said he did not know why the Catholic priest involved decided that rebaptism was necessary. He said it seemed the priest followed "what is a bad practice in the United States — indiscriminate baptism."

Father Stransky said American priests have this tendency "despite clear rulings to the contrary by the holy office in a number of cases."

"The public interest in Miss Johnson's conversion makes the case doubly regrettable," Father Stransky said. "If there was some reason for doubt as to the validity of her earlier baptism it should have been made clear."

"If there was no such doubt a conditional baptism into the Catholic Church runs counter to the ecumenical spirit and would be even more regrettable."

Combs, probably Prestonsburg's most famous son, was honored with a street in front of Prestonsburg Community College being named after him. Signs at either end of the street read: "Bert Combs Dr."

Utahn Dies in Fall From Truck

AMALGA, Utah (AP) — An 18-year-old Cache County youth was killed Tuesday when he was knocked from the top of a load-hay truck by a telephone cable across a road.

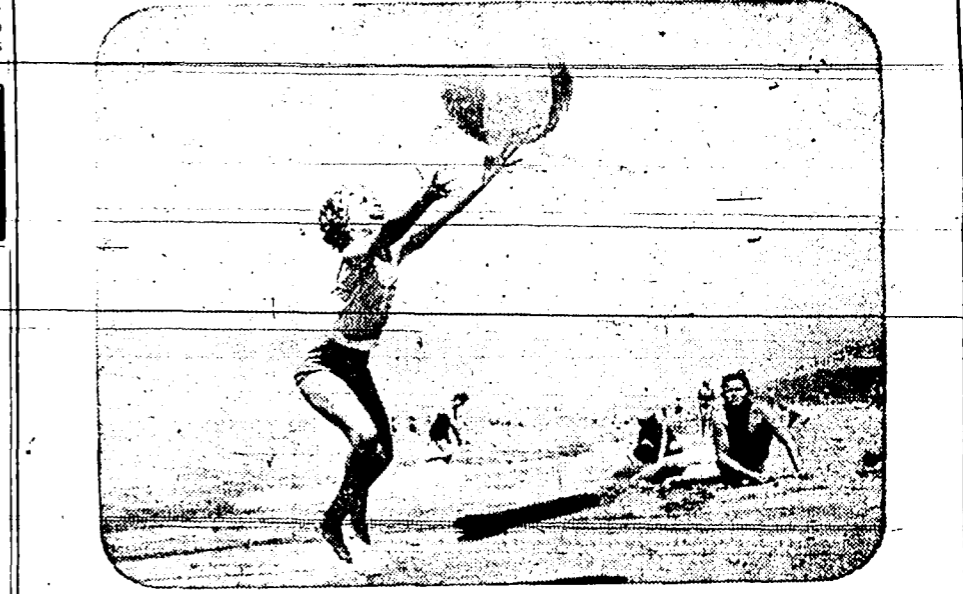

The Utah Highway Patrol said Jay William Smith, of Amalga, was the victim. They said he was riding atop a stack of hay on a truck driven by his father, G. Arrol Smith, 33.

The patrol said the elder Smith traveled a mile after the boy was knocked off before he realized the accident had happened.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

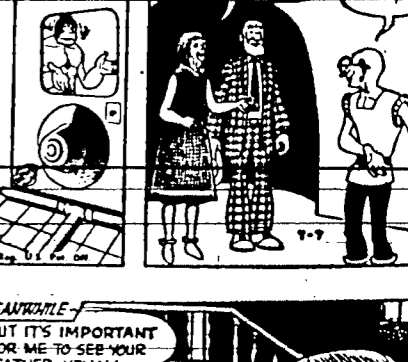

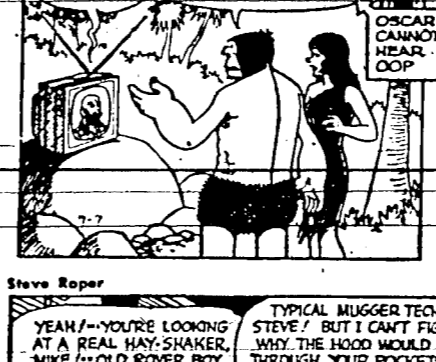

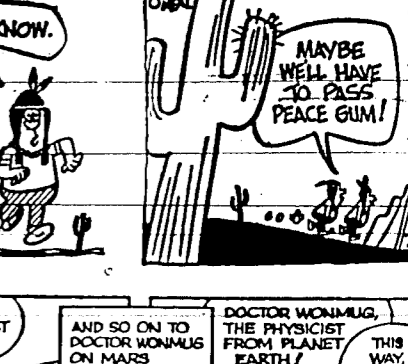

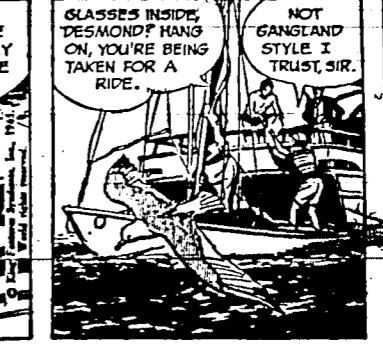

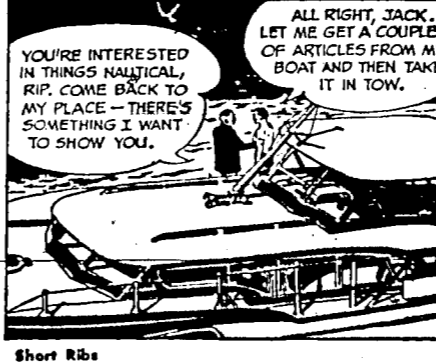

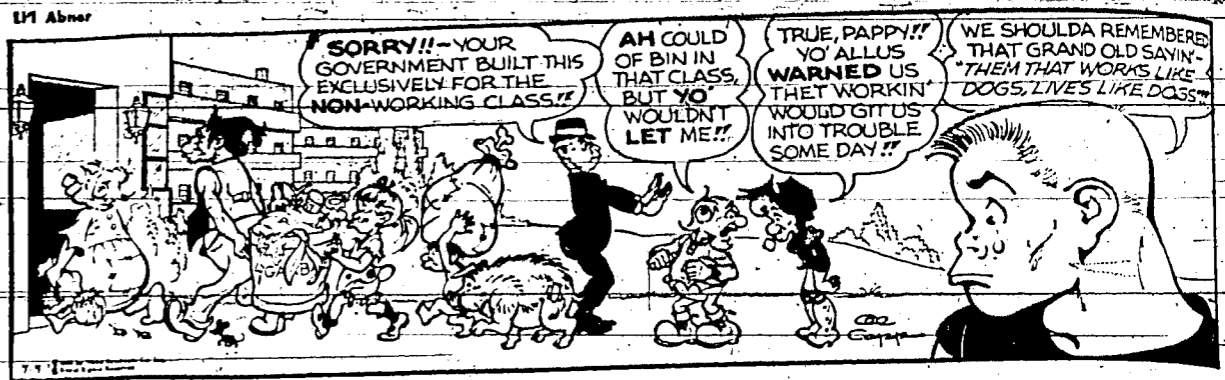

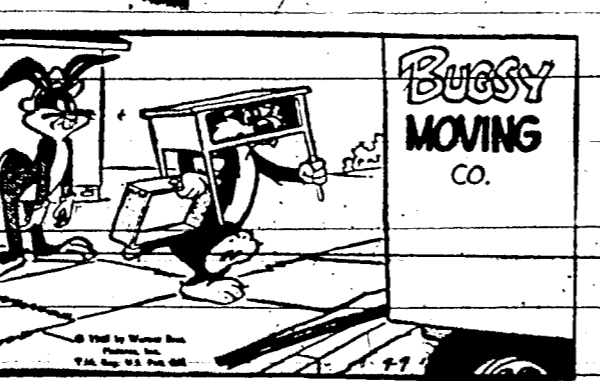

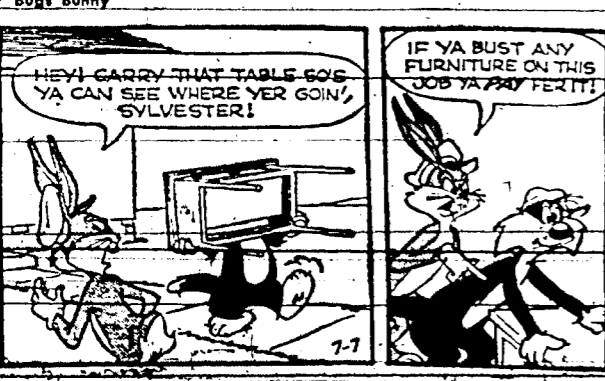

"Guess I'll apply. After all, happiness isn't everything!"

"What do you mean you can't think of any fairy tales to tell me before I go to bed, Grandpa? You been watching commercials all evening!"

"We haven't been talking for an hour. We're only talking during commercials!"

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, July 7 - Born today, you are the sort of person who, with certain social and financial advantages, could easily become a "citizen of the world." Your great interest in people, places, and things both here and abroad should make you a lively, interesting person - one that you should be around, and you should be around for friends and advisers if for no other reason than this.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) - Though you may feel the need to accomplish two days' work in one, take care not to overdo. Intersperse active periods with rest. VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) - The solution to problems along financial, domestic, and health lines in paying proper attention to detail. LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) - Time given over to buying and selling should prove profitable. Attend to personal matters in the evening. Seek to please partners. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) - If you would avoid mixing business and pleasure during evening hours, you had best attend to essentials during the morning. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) - The wise Sagittarius will schedule time so that matters of vital interest can be taken care of during morning hours. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) - Avoid entering into any agreements that are binding if you have the slightest doubt as to the success of the venture. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) - The answers to questions long-asked may come through the pursuit of artistic hobbies today. Make it a creative day on all counts. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) - Consider whether the results you are achieving these days are in proportion to the energy you are expending. If not, a change is in order. TAURUS (April 21-May 21) - An excellent day for business if you take advantage of new advertising methods. Dispose of unfinished business.

Thursday, July 8 - CANCER (June 22-July 23) - A good day for personal achievements. Character development has it over business affairs today.

Zip Code

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) - Zip, a - collie mixed with something else, has been hanging around the Salisbury post office for a year, and some of his favorite people are postmen. They feed him, pet him, step over him and take him on their routes. He sleeps in an old mail bag in one corner of the post office. Once he got on the wrong mail truck and ended up in Spencer, just north of Salisbury. The postmen there hung a "missed to Spencer" tag around his neck and loaded him on the next truck to Salisbury. How did he get his name? It was shortened from Zip code.
