NEW YORK (AP) — New confusion, compounded by seemingly contradictory government pronouncements, has grown up around the U.S. balance of payments and gold problems.

The confusion may have hit a high point a few days ago when Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler indicated the U.S. program to trim the U.S. balance of payments deficit is working so well he is worried about overoptimism.

The Federal Reserve announced the greatest weekly outflow of gold in six years, $350 million.

The statements were the latest zig-zags in the government's on-again, off-again enthusiasm about its efforts to preserve the United States' dwindling gold stock.

Here are some basic questions and answers on the current U.S. gold and balance of payments situation:

Q: What is the status of the U.S. gold stock now?

A: The U.S. monetary gold stock now is worth $13,934,000,000. It has declined $1,454,000,000 since Jan. 1. The outflow in six months of 1965 is exceeded only by the total yearly losses in 1958 and 1960. The present supply of gold is now back to the level it was in 1938 before the nation built up its vast gold pile during World War II.

Q: Why has the gold stock declined?

A: Because the United States has had a balance of payments deficit every year since 1949 (except 1957). A deficit results when the nation spends more overseas than foreign nations spend in the United States. Since we have a deficit, it figures that some other nations will have a surplus. Some foreign governments convert their surplus dollars into gold. The United States guarantees it will buy or sell gold at the fixed price of $35 a troy ounce.

Q: What is the so-called voluntary program and how does it fit into the picture?

A: The program was established by the government in February via "guidelines" to banks and manufacturers. One of the basic features of the program calls on organizations to limit their overseas investments to 105 per cent of their 1964 investment. Foreign investment was one of the biggest single items in the 1964 balance of payments deficit. That deficit provided the vast pool of dollars which some foreign governments are converting into gold this year.

Q: What is the U.S. balance of payments position now?

A: Despite optimism about the voluntary program, the United States deficit in the first three months of the year was $733 million. The program did not really begin to tell until the second three months. Though statistics presently are not available for the second quarter of 1965, it is believed the balance is showing a surplus. Some economists project the net deficit for 1965 at about $1 billion, or one-third the total deficit for 1964.

2 Men Found Guilty Of Armed Robbery

BURLEY—A verdict of guilty was returned at 7:10 p.m. Wednesday against two men charged with the Aug. 14, 1964, armed robbery of the Parish Motel, Burley. After deliberating for just over two and one-half hours the jury returned the verdict to Judge Tom Felton, Moscow. Found guilty were David J. Cypher, 25, and Robert W. Mueller, 23, both Pittsburgh, Pa., who testified in their own defense Wednesday morning.

Data Shows Influence of Mars' Gravity

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Mariner 4, launched Nov. 28, 1964 from Cape Kennedy, today felt a gravitational pull from the planet Mars.

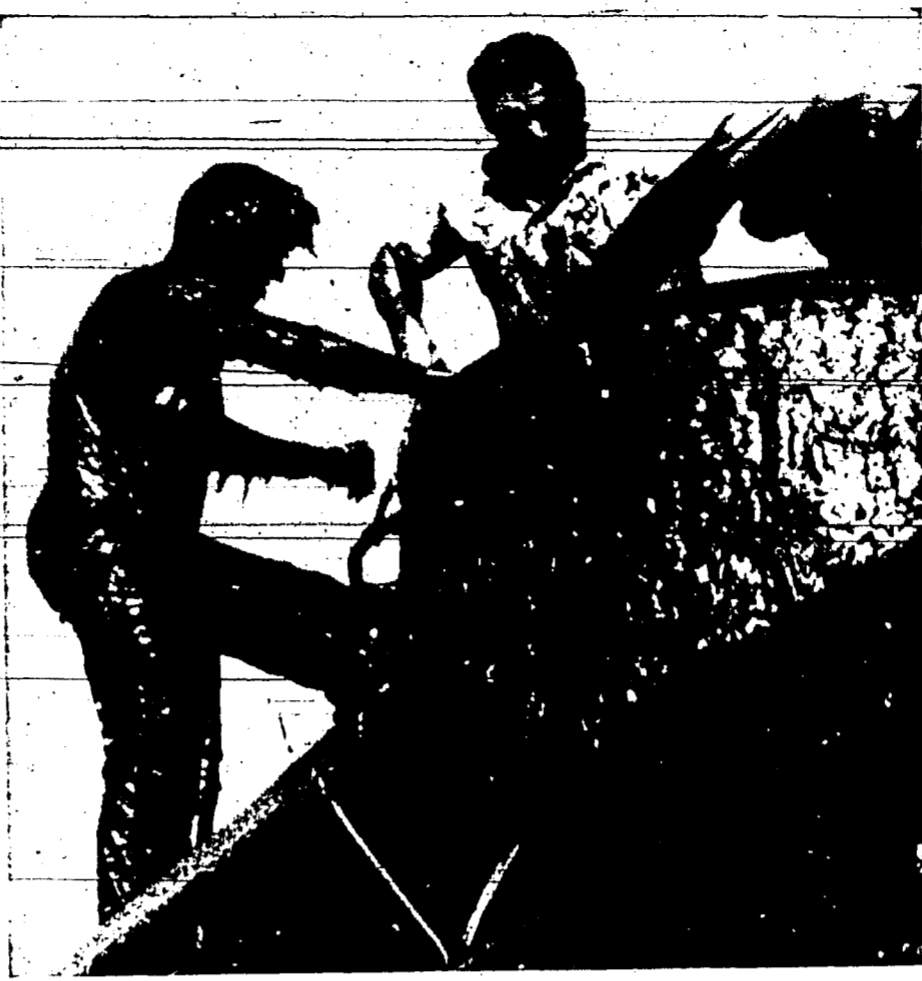

Scientists and engineers at Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) reported telemeasured data from Mariner 4 showed it slowed its velocity under the initial influence of the Martian gravity.

The spacecraft was pulled toward the planet in preparation for a picture-taking encounter next Wednesday when it will come as close as 5,600 miles.

At noon PDT, 3 p.m. EDT, Mariner 4 was 1,484,244 miles above Mars and 128,935,990 miles above Earth.

JAPANESE LEADER DIES

TOKYO (UPI)—Ichiro Kono, former state minister and one of Japan's most influential political leaders, died Thursday.

THINGS GOT STICKY, literally, in South El Paso, Tex., Wednesday when a molasses tank car blew its top and covered several feed yard workmen and homes in the area. No injuries were reported, but yards soon overflowed with molasses and workmen hurriedly uncapped other cars on the siding to keep the expanding molasses from doing more damage. El Paso has been having upper 90-degree temperatures the past few days. (AP wirephoto)

Forces Hit Heavily on Viet Cong

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. paratroopers have scored heavily in a series of clashes with the Viet Cong 23 miles northeast of Saigon in the D-zone jungle. American authorities reported today. They said 25 of the guerrillas were known dead and it was estimated Red casualties Wednesday totaled more than 100. On the other side, the Viet Cong ambushed a Vietnamese government battalion 37 miles northwest of Saigon today and a U.S. spokesman said most of the battalion apparently was wiped out.

Wilson Hopes To Commence Peace Talks

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson told Parliament today he has sent one of his junior ministers to Hanoi "to get a dialogue started" with the Communists on possible Viet Nam peace talks.

Wilson said the serious crisis in Viet Nam "should be brought for negotiations to the conference table."

Wilson identified his emissary as left-wing junior minister Harold Davies, joint parliamentary secretary at the ministry of pensions and national insurance. He is described as having friendly relations with North Vietnamese Communist leader Ho Chi Minh.

Plant Fire Threatens Explosives

SWANNANOA, N.C. (AP) — Some 2,000 confused and excited persons were routed from bed and westered from a wide area in western North Carolina's mountains early today when fire at a jet fuel manufacturing plant threatened to touch off a stockpile of high explosives.

The fire burned itself out without causing an explosion and no injuries were reported.

Officials of the Amcel Propulsion Laboratory, situated in the Swannanoa Valley about 10 miles east of Asheville, said the blaze, small at first, was discovered about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Bill Requires Control of Drug Usage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress sent to the White House today a bill to crack down on bootleg traffic in goof balls and pep pills.

President Johnson asked for the legislation, saying the growing illicit use of stimulant and depressant drugs was a factor in the trend toward lawlessness in the United States.

The House completed congressional action on the bill with a voice vote.

The bill provides increased federal controls over the distribution of barbiturates, amphetamines and other drugs.

Republicans In Untenable Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack said today a Southern Democrat's appeal for votes for the Republican version of a voting rights bill had put House Republicans "in a very untenable position."

McCormack, meeting with newsmen just before the House went into its third day of debate on the bill, referred to a speech Wednesday by Rep. William M. Tuck, D-Va.

Tuck urged members opposed to these so-called voting rights bills "to vote for the GOP substitute offered by minority leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and Rep. William M. McCulloch, D-Ohio."

Attempt to Have Old Saltair Resort Declared Public Nuisance Fails

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Representatives of the Sheriff's department and the county fire department said Saltair was an extreme fire hazard and a place where un-supervised juveniles could hurt themselves.

But Giles said there was a contract between the state and the Great Salt Lake Yacht Club, which says it can renovate the resort.

The question, Giles said, is whether that contract has been breached.

The state contends that it owns the resort if the yacht club has not lived up to terms of a restoration contract.

Until this is settled, Giles said, the county will be stopping in the jurisdiction of the courts if it tried to have Saltair torn down as a public nuisance.

The commission took no action, although Tuck contended that everyone knows Saltair is an eyesore and a danger. But nobody, Crer said, seems to want to face up to the issue.

County Fire Chief Frank Jones said "Saltair is past restoration and we can't provide any fire protection whatsoever there. One of these days, you are going to see a big blaze in the west, and that will do it."

Hearings Set For 2 Prison Escapees

BOISE (AP) — Preliminary hearings have been scheduled for late July for two Idaho State Penitentiary inmates charged with escape.

William Pulver, 23, a convicted murderer, and Dennis Pharris, 20, and a third inmate, Edwin Austin, 23, escaped from the penitentiary June 29 after overpowering three guards.

Pulver and Pharris were captured last Saturday near Boise and charged with escape.

Austin is still at large and the object of a widespread hunt by Idaho law enforcement authorities.

Pharris and Pulver demanded preliminary hearing Wednesday in an appearance in Justice Court in Boise.

Pulver, who is serving a 75-year sentence for the murder of a town marshal in Downey last year, will appear July 28 for his preliminary hearing. A hearing for Pharris, serving five years for grand larceny, was set for July 30.

Conviction on escape charges could bring additional five-year terms.

Lawyer Raps Civil Rights Disobedience

CHICAGO (AP) — The concept of "righteous civil disobedience" to achieve civil rights or other goals is "incompatible with the American legal system and society," says an American Bar Association official.

Morris I. Leibman, chairman of the organization's Committee on Education Against Communism, said in an article published in the current issue of the "American Bar Association Journal": "I cannot accept the right to disobey when the law is not static and effective channels for change are constantly available."

The journal is the official journal for the bar association's 120,000 member-lawyers.

A leader in the civil rights movement, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., is an advocate of passive civil disobedience. Such demonstrations, King said Wednesday in Chicago, become "a weapon dramatizing the evils of injustice." He was here to confer with leaders of a continuing demonstration protesting alleged de facto racial segregation in the city's public schools.

Leibman, a Chicago lawyer, argued that the concepts of "freedom now" and "righteous civil disobedience" are "semantic traps and only add heat to the problems of freedom and justice for all."

He said: "Freedom now" is an illusion. The desire for self-expression can be satisfied only in an atmosphere of freedom, and freedom is not an absolute. It exists only within the confines of the necessary restraining measures of society."

IDAHO GETS GRANT

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grant of $30,100 to finance improved statistical reporting by the Idaho State Department of Education was announced today.

First Revenue

Treasurer Marjorie R. Moon reported a remittance of $19.95 was received from the department of law enforcement. It represented payment of use tax on a vehicle purchased in another state and licensed in Idaho.

The sales tax law became effective July 1. Retailers collecting the tax normally make their remittances in the month following collection.

Hearings Set for U.S. Involvement In Dominican

WASHINGTON (AP) — Closed hearings on the U.S. involvement in the Dominican Republic will start next Wednesday before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said the first witness will be Undersecretary of State Thomas C. Mann, President Johnson's top adviser on Latin American affairs.

Dirksen Returns To Army Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, who left the Walter Reed Army Hospital Monday after a two-day series of tests for stomach cramps, is reentering the hospital.

"Apparently he left the hospital too soon," a secretary said.

Dirksen Monday told a reporter that the doctors had been unable to find anything to account for his cramps and theorized they might be brought on by tension.

Civil Rights Leader Is Free on Bond

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A civil rights leader, the Rev. Frederick D. Reese, is free on bond today, while the investigation of his alleged embezzlement of funds continues. Reese was released on $5,000 bond late Wednesday after spending more than 24 hours in the Dallas County Jail. He had been arrested and indicted by a grand jury on charges of embezzling $1,850 from the Dallas County Voters League, of which he is president. Reese, supported by civil rights leaders during his brief sojourn in jail and enthusiastically cheered by supporters on his release, was freed after attorneys arranged bond with a private bonding company. The tall ex-schoolteacher, who worked closely with Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the SCLC during the Selma civil rights drive, appeared at a mass meeting at Brown's Chapel AME Church a few hours after his release. He repeated claims made by other civil rights leaders about the three indictments against him — that the charges were an effort to discredit him and the entire civil rights effort in Selma.

A city official said Baker would visit New Jersey and other states which he did not name. Selma Mayor Joe Smitherman said the city hopes to "get the case wrapped up as soon as possible. We think we are in a position to prosecute."

ELKO, Nev. (AP) — A 2,000-acre fire which roared across rangeland near the Lander-Elko County line Wednesday was brought under control in the afternoon, Bureau of Land Management officials said. BLM officials said the fire, located 30 miles northeast of Battle Mountain at Rock Creek, broke out Tuesday night from a lightning storm.

Shopkeeper Fined for Excess Liquor

SUVA, Uji (AP) — Ram Shankar, 46, a shopkeeper, was fined 80 pounds ($224) today and told to throw a party. Shankar was charged with having liquor in his possession in excess of personal requirements. Police seized 184 bottles of beer and 44 bottles of spirits in a raid on his premises. Shankar told the court he planned to hold a party for 30 people. The magistrate said he could keep 80 bottles of beer and eight bottles of spirits. "This is on the basis that you are going to hold a party for 30 people," the magistrate said. "If you retain the liquor and do not give a party, it is still in excess of your own personal requirements. It is up to you to give a party."

Good for All

From some of the Jerome reaction, it looks like the Fish and Game Commission stirred up a hornet's nest when it proposed to establish a district office in Twin Falls. The department's director wasn't too subtle in making the announcement, but just out-and-out declared the department would establish a district headquarters here and said new personnel would be advised to obtain housing in Twin Falls. Jerome reaction was immediate and loud. Perhaps that's the way it should be because nearly any community can be expected to fight to keep what it has while aggressively seeking more enterprises.

However, there are some extenuating circumstances in the proposal to establish a district office in Twin Falls. Perhaps the most important factor is the fact that no district office, as such, now exists. Certainly, district personnel maintain files and have something of an "office" in quarters at the Jerome game farm, but it's not the sort of office designed to handle the public and improve public relations.

This whole business of a district office is a sort of evolutionary process within the Fish and Game Department. At first, the district office—if it could be called that—was maintained in the home of the district supervisor. Gradually district personnel have been involved more and more in public relations and their field projects have been expanded tremendously. So now the Fish and Game Commission has reached the point where it either has to establish an office, as such, or cut back to the point where biologists, supervisors, management personnel and conservation officers will go back to maintaining their own little individual offices and files in their homes.

Obviously, members of the Fish and Game Commission believe they're taking a big forward step in the decision to establish a district office. Plans have specified the office will be located in Twin Falls for the simple reason that an office here will be of most benefit to the public and the department. It would be easy to justify the action on the basis of greater interest, more license fees, etc. but that shouldn't be necessary.

The big point is that Magic Valley stands to gain something it hasn't had to date. A district office of the Fish and Game Department could be a place where Magic Valley residents could get answers to their many questions and it could be a distinct asset in dealing with all the out-of-state residents, particularly the ever-increasing numbers of Californians, who seek fishing and hunting recreation in this area.

It's not a matter of choosing up sides and battling over the location for the district office. By this time, everyone should start to realize that what benefits one community in Magic Valley benefits all communities in Magic Valley. The provincial attitude that has hindered the joint development and mutual progress of Magic Valley must be changed.

Above all, everyone should avoid any action that might involve the Fish and Game Department in some sort of political tug-of-war. The department has done very well since it was removed from the influence of the politicians and it should continue to be free of politics.

POOR MEMORY

James Meredith, the first Negro graduate of the University of Mississippi, must be plagued with a poor memory. He's now living in Nigeria on Africa's West Coast and is gaining quite a reputation as a public speaker. In one of his more recent talks, he declared that American Negroes have no choice but to seek the overthrow of the U.S. government if they cannot win equality under it.

That's a rather peculiar statement to come from Mr. Meredith. Perhaps he doesn't recall that he enrolled at the University of Mississippi only because of the tremendous effort on the part of the U.S. government which ordered scores of U.S. marshals to the University of Mississippi campus to protect him. Perhaps he doesn't recall that people died in rioting that accompanied his registration. He might have forgotten now that U.S. marshals protected him on the campus and even accompanied him to classes. Certainly no government has gone so far for an individual as the U.S. government did for Meredith.

Mr. Meredith, of all people, should know that the U.S. government is making every effort to bring equality of opportunity and equal civil rights to the American Negro. His criticism not only is unjustified, it's definitely in poor taste. The attitude can only hurt efforts being made continually on behalf of American Negroes.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON—Bob Ruark is dead in London, and as a friend who mourns his departure I yet reject the premise that at 49 his best years were ahead. Ruark lived his best year every year. Possibly Bob would have committed another book or two which would have brought a languid salute even from the daisy-chain school of critics who sniped at him as a Philistine. But while he lived, Ruark wrote the kind of books he wanted to write, and the back of his hand to the New York Times Book Review.

HIS OWN BOSS—He wrote good books, especially when his typewriter was concerned with the Africa he loved, and they never suffered from the disease of being overly precise so prevalent among the bleeders of the Significant Set. The words in Ruark's books were Ruark's words and, to borrow a Ruarkian phrase, they read good. Some of the critics noted that Hemingway influenced Bob's writing, to which the only possible retort comes out: Is that bad?

I suppose it is true that toward the end, when he was sick, Ruark's newspaper column suffered. But most writers are intimidated by a bellyache or a hangover, and I prefer to recall that when Bob was writing his piece with both hands he was a superb essayist in the Swiftian tradition. He wielded both the broadsword and the rapier with equal effectiveness, and he persisted in regarding politicians, generals and even newspaper editors as fallible human animals. To Ruark, nobody's name down here was God.

LIVED OWN LIFE—But to the average man, more important than what Ruark wrote was what he did with his life. He took the wherewithal earned by his talent and lived the kind of life he wanted to live. He died young, but he had been around the track. He was recognizable by bartenders and charwomen and statesmen in Singapore and Nairobi and Prague. He shot some lions and an errant tiger or two and he caught some fish. Sometimes the things he did were foolish and thoughtless. Sometimes he drank too much. But he touched all the bases.

Ruark called himself a hack, but he had a respect for his craft and he was sensitive enough to be hurt by some of the unfavorable reviews of his monumental "Something of Value," a long and painstakingly researched novel about the Mau-Mau in Kenya. "Yeah, I'm crying all the way to the bank," he told me after selling the book to Hollywood for $400,000. But the craftsman showed after a couple of scotches. "Hell," he said, "I still think it's a good book."

"I WON'T CRY"—The last time I saw Ruark was in the hospital room to which he had been shipped after breaking a hip in a fall from a horse owned by a rich, red-headed editor. "They'll kill me one of these days," he said. "But I won't cry. I ain't never been short-changed by life."

Horatio's goodbye was good enough for Hamlet, who was merely a sweet prince. To Bob Ruark, who was always good company, his friends can only say hail and farewell—you're going to like a guy named Falstaff.

Views of Others

CHEAPER TO RENT
A new truck trailer costs about $6,000 and rents for about $10 a day. If its owner is willing to rent it, a modern boxcar costs $12,000 to $15,000 but can be "rented" for only $4.50 a day. This testimony in support of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson's bill to cure the railroad car shortage problem was given before the Senate Commerce Committee by Elton Martin, vice president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad.

Actually the boxcar may cost a railroad much less than that. Charles A. Webb, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, testified that some eastern lines refuse to pay more than $2 a day for the use of other railroads' cars, although the agreed scale ranges from $2.16 to $12.18.

The difference between rental charges for truck trailers and railroad freight cars explains why there is an adequate supply of truck trailers and an inadequate supply of boxcars, said Mr. Martin. Although western railroads build a lot of cars, some eastern lines find it much less expensive to use the cars of other lines on a per diem basis than to build their own. The result is a scarcity of cars in the West; instead of returning them promptly, the eastern lines use them to haul freight on their own tracks. A diminishing overall supply of cars also results from the failure of all roads to build enough of them. Last year, 37,301 boxcars were scrapped and only 16,116 were built. The Magnuson bill would give the ICC authority to fix reasonable per diem rates. This is a logical means of overcoming the periodic shortages of freight cars which seriously disrupt the shipment of such vital commodities as lumber and grain. Congress should not hesitate to give the ICC this essential authority.—The Oregonian.

Colorado Project Review
Interior Secretary Stewart Udall holds the view shared by many that the Lower Colorado River is the West's last major undeveloped recreation area and as such should be developed for the use of all.
Senate documents recognize the need for balanced development of water and related resources, including recreation, and fish and wildlife enhancement and preservation.
Yet the Bureau of Reclamation is now pressing requests before congressional subcommittees for funds for channelization of the river, despite the fact that it has not yet submitted the proposed projects for review by the states.
It is estimated that channelization, which entails elimination of side channels, pools and marshes, will salvage approximately 100,000 acre-feet of water.
Conservationists argue that the value of that saving could be more than offset by the destruction of the scenic, recreational, fish and wildlife potential of the area. Side channels, pools and marshes, they contend, are essential to full and proper development of the Lower Colorado.

In the past the Bureau of Reclamation has made project proposals available for review by the states concerned before submission. It should resume that practice, particularly if, as in this instance, it appears to be going counter to the views of both the administration and Congress.
Hugo Fisher, administrator of the California Resources Agency, is right in opposing the fund request until such time as the Lower Colorado basin states are given an opportunity to study exactly what is proposed.—Los Angeles Times.

Interpreting The News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower were seldom out of the news but they never dominated it in the manner of Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy.

In their sense of the dramatic, Truman and Eisenhower were no match for Kennedy and Johnson. Kennedy always knew where the center of the stage was but he never occupied it so steadily as Johnson, who has built his tent there.

In the first half of 1965 events seemed to revolve around Johnson and he could have been overshadowed in the process. He made them revolve around him.

His aides and members of his administration, either naturally or by order, let him do the talking. And what he had to say came in a ceaseless torrent: speeches, news conference, statements, messages, garden conversations.

The two men in Johnson's administration who, next to the President, do most of the talking are Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Even so, they're just echoes of Johnson. They're explainers, not announcers. Johnson does all the major announcing.

Thus the Vietnamese war was obscured a bit as the nation waited to see what Johnson would do—or say—about the bombing, suspending it, peace, troop buildups, or plans for Southeast Asia.

Since Johnson has shown himself a man of action, particularly in the use of armed force, this added to the attention he got and the suspense he created. The effect was stunning, because it was so unexpected, when he suddenly sent troops into the Dominican Republic. But it was Johnson on television who broke the news.

Ordinarily, if nothing else had happened, this American involvement in the Dominican revolution would have been enough to keep the American

World Corners

By PHIL NEWSOM (UPI Foreign News Analyst)

Except for the fact it almost caused a war, there would be little reason for the world to concern itself about the Rann of Kutch.

It is a vast salt marsh in an area of about 9,000 square miles sandwiched between Pakistan and India. The land around the marsh is rocky, wild and inhospitable. What water there is brackish and the whole area possesses neither economic nor strategic value.

In the dry season temperatures soar over the 100-degree mark. During the monsoons, high tides sweeping in from the Arabian Sea and rushing streams place much of it under water.

Yet over this desolate tract there have been real fears Pakistan and India would be willing to go to war over a matter of pride.

A cease-fire arranged through the efforts of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson eased a potentially dangerous situation but could not get at the underlying causes of the deep suspicion existing between the two countries and of the frequent border clashes which have marked relations between them since their division 18 years ago.

In the Rann of Kutch each accused the other of starting the dispute.

On April 9, two Pakistani battalions attacked an Indian police company. The Pakistani said the Indians had "intruded" upon Pakistani territory. In the ensuing clash, both sides claimed victory.

A decision on who had intruded upon whom depended on conflicting border claims. Pakistan says the border follows a ridge some miles to the north. Before Britain could arrange the cease-fire, the two had an estimated 30,000 regular army troops lined up against each other.

For the United States there was some embarrassment because each presented proof the other was using arms supplied by the U.S.

Politically, India suspected Pakistan was working in the interests of Red China, whose forces are poised on India's northern border.

Pakistan suggested the In-

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—"The aid you give my country is most generous. It has helped us to make considerable progress that would otherwise have been impossible. But the concept of aid? Foreign aid, as you call it? This is what I question. I wish it could be instead a joint program to which you are committed with us. Not something that you can stop and start as you will."

This is a Latin American ambassador of the new, realistic school. He reflects the growing awareness of the political differences that have been sharpened since the Dominican crisis and the shadow of those differences cast on the ties between North and South.

This coincides with the doubts that have grown up over the whole aid program in Congress. Staff specialists for Sen. Ernest Gruening's Subcommittee on Government Reorganization are now combing over the records of the operation in Latin America. They expect to come up with a report similar to that on the Middle East, which was highly critical. In an operation as sweeping as foreign aid, involving so many government agencies in Washington and in the recipient countries, blunders or worse are bound to occur. A conclusion of the Middle East report was:

"What is desperately needed in the aid program is a set of criteria for determining which nations in the free world are worthy of receiving U.S. foreign economic assistance. These criteria should be widely published. And, even more important, they should be rigidly followed."

coming up. True, Johnson's foreign policies got some criticism in Congress and from other sources. Some of it may have nudged him sooner than otherwise into welcoming "unconditional" peace talks on the war in Vietnam.

But, by and large, he seemed undisturbed and kept on making statements or talking of new programs that got a lot more attention than the criticism.

Some of his best help came from the Republic leadership on Capitol Hill. Lately there's been some rumbling from congressional Republicans, but not of a strenuous kind. It may pick up sound as the 1966 congressional elections get closer.

Nevertheless, as rosy as this Johnson public-relations picture is, there's a wait-and-see air about it. No one knows, and perhaps Johnson himself doesn't know, how he'll perform if events turn sour on him.

But Rogers insists that the policy in Latin America has been to take into full account the lack of trained people and where it is necessary to provide training programs. An understanding of the differences between the most-advanced industrial country and those that are just starting on the road to modernization in agriculture and industry has been in the forefront of thinking on every project, according to Rogers.

Budgeting for the AID program in Latin America in the year now begun is on the scale of the one just ended. The country-by-country figures are not yet released if only to prevent rivalry among those who see that country is getting more than country X. This suggests one of the weaknesses of the program—if only for diplomatic reason the assistance goes to all countries regardless of whether a backward military dictatorship or a democratic regime is struggling to carry out reforms.

But the cloud of doubt stirs in many Latin minds the concern that this could be another example of the stop-and-start policy of the past. When you need us you turn to us, when you don't you ignore us—that is the reproach.

FOUR CLUB BID
With all its advantages there is still a sound reason why the Gerber convention has never achieved great popularity except as an adjunct to Blackwood.

Wednesday Is Family Night At City's Harmon Park Pool

Wednesday night Harmon Park Pool held its first family night of the summer.

According to pool manager Bob Stevens, the family night program, initiated last summer, has become one of the most popular nights at the pool. Stevens said the program started slowly, but by the end of the summer had become very popular with Twin Falls families.

He explained the program was started because there were so many adults who like to swim, but the pool is generally so crowded with youngsters that swimming was not too enjoyable for adults.

On family nights, no youngsters are allowed in the pool unless they are accompanied by their parents. The program will run through the summer and families can swim in the city-run, heated pool at reduced rates.

Thursday night at the pool is scheduled as "Knothole night," when Knothole baseball teams accompanied by their sponsor or an adult advisor, may swim at reduced rates. Stevens said that unlike family night, other swimmers will be allowed in the pool. Red Cross swimming instructions are given at the pool from 9-12 p.m. and junior and senior life saving classes and diving instructions are given from 5-7 p.m. during the summer. By the end of the summer about 1,200 youngsters will have participated in the program.

The driver and his son, Jerry Montgomery, 19, were uninjured, according to Deputy Sheriff Curtis Pryor.

Man's Trip to Kill Johnson Is Stopped

WEST HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Husky post office worker Leo Arthur Messier Jr., 38, doesn't like President Johnson and was hitch-hiking to Washington to kill him with his bare hands.

He didn't make it because he told his plans to the fellow who gave him a ride Wednesday—a Connecticut state policeman.

Messier, a former sergeant in both the Army and Marine Corps, lives in Pawtucket, R.I. Police said he had been undergoing treatment recently in a veterans hospital.

Just why Messier was unhappy with Johnson was not clear. But it was enough to start him driving toward the nation's capital. His car broke down and he abandoned it.

The trooper who picked him up on the Connecticut Turnpike arrested him and he was lodged in the New Haven state jail in lieu of $5,000 bond on state charges of breach of peace and hitchhiking.

Officials said the state charges would be dropped when he is turned over to federal authorities today for arraignment and prosecution on a charge of threatening the life of a president.

Park Officials Study Hiker's Death in Fall

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Grand Teton National Park officials are still investigating the circumstances surrounding the mountain climbing death of a 26-year-old Alabama man Wednesday.

Dead is Edwin L. Speth of Huntsville, who fell from Jensen Ridge on Spine Mountain. Speth was linked to a climbing companion, Thomas C. Peterson of Idaho Falls, Idaho, when his rope apparently snapped or was cut by falling rocks.

Park officials said Peterson confirmed early reports that Speth broke loose, hit a sheer rock wall about four times and fell about 400 feet to his death on a snow crevasse.

Peterson was stranded on the face of the ridge for several hours before being rescued by a Grand Teton National Park ranger team. A guide, Rick Medrick of Jackson, located Speth's body.

Peterson was brought back down the mountain and was treated for shock. He left immediately for his home in Idaho Falls, about 100 miles away.

A rescue team joined the removal of Speth's body, which was brought back to Jackson late Wednesday night by a pack service crew.

Vital Need of Blood Noted By Red Cross

The American Red Cross is urging all healthy Americans aged 18 through 59 to make a date to give blood as they prepare to go on vacation, Milo Pope, chairman of the local chapter, reported Thursday.

"Accidents and illness never take a holiday," Pope noted, "so before you start on your vacation this summer, call your local Red Cross blood center or community blood bank and make a date to give blood."

"You'll be helping to save someone's life, and you never know, it might be your own."

The main problem during the summer is that vacation travelers pile up the highest highway death and injury record of the entire year, and at the same time the number of volunteer blood donations is lower than at any time during the year.

Pope noted, "Last weekend Idaho motorists recorded the highest traffic death toll in the state's history. Fortunately many Idahomans involved in traffic accidents and other mishaps did not lose their lives and the Red Cross Blood Program is now playing a vital role in saving the lives of numerous accident victims."

Pope further stated, "The blood program in Twin Falls County is a vital adjunct to the current campaign to reduce the number of deaths from highway accidents. A pint of blood donated at the Red Cross blood drawing next Monday at the American Legion Hall can save a life, perhaps the donor's."

Church Built After Flood In December

KLAMATH, Calif. (AP) — This tiny logging town, wiped out in northern California's $300 million flood last Christmas week, today has its first rebuilt church — the work of volunteer strangers from 300 miles away.

The church, the Calvary Temple of the Assembly of God, was built in a week of 17-hour days by a handful of unpaid volunteers from a sister Assembly of God congregation at Oakland, Calif.

Painting will be completed this week.

This time the church was constructed on high ground, in a quiet Redwood grove where the pastor's wife hopes to face nothing worse than an occasional friendly bear.

The site lies three miles from where only bare concrete slabs attest to the location of the previous church, swept away with Klamath's three-block downtown sector and scores of homes by the Klamath River, gorged by unceasing rains and mountain runoff.

No deaths were reported in the 1,000-population community but only four buildings are left downtown — a gas station, restaurant, bait shop and market.

The pastor of the new church, the Rev. Jack Iness, said that he and his wife Betty and their children Thelma, 13, Daniel, 11, and Celeste, 9, escaped with their lives "and nothing else."

Negro Hero Disappears From Scene

UNIONTOWN, Ala. (AP) — A Negro laborer—the only one of about 30 spectators to respond to a state trooper's plea for aid in pulling four people from an automobile which had plunged into a creek—disappeared from the scene after he made the dramatic rescue.

"I don't know what happened to him," said Lt. R.E. Ethridge of the highway patrol. "But I wanted the old man to get credit for this because he was the only one who would help me."

Ethridge said William Henry Fitts of Faunsdale, Ala., rushed into the creek and wrenched open the door of the automobile which had landed upside down in the water, pinning three children and a man inside.

A baby was thrown clear of the car and its mother managed to crawl out. All six persons, Negroes, were hospitalized in Demopolis where they are listed in serious condition.

Ethridge said Fitts crawled inside the car and handed the children out. The trooper said two of the children were completely submerged and had stopped breathing, but were revived with resuscitators en route to the hospital.

Ethridge said the crowd, composed of both Negroes and whites, were staring at the wreck when he arrived at the scene.

Foreign Aid Bill Deadlocked In Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees are still deadlocked on the foreign aid authorization bill.

The conferees have been arguing for weeks over the Senate bill's provision for a two-year, $3.24 billion-a-year authorization with a two-year deadline to terminate the program in its present form.

Steer Struck By Car, Killed

A Buhl woman escaped injury about 10:20 p.m. Tuesday when the 1956 Ford she was driving collided with a 900-pound Angus steer, killing the steer about four miles east of Buhl on the river road.

Marsha Brown, 22, Route 4, Buhl, was traveling eastward on the river road and told investigating officers she did not see the black steer until the collision.

The steer, belonging to Jess Whalen, was killed instantly. There was no estimate of damage to the car.

Heading the array of Japanese officials who will arrive in San Francisco and fly from there directly to the park will be an ambassador to the United States, Ryuji Takeuchi and the United States envoy to Japan, Edwin O. Reischauer. In addition, six members of the cabinet will be with the group. They are the ministers of foreign affairs, finance, agriculture and forestry, international trade and industry, transportation labor and the economic planning agency.

Call to Settle Viet Nam War Unpopular

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King's call for an immediate negotiated settlement of the Viet Nam war has drawn a cool response from several members of Congress.

Rep. Frances P. Bolton of Ohio, top ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said today the civil rights leader "doesn't know what he's talking about" on the Viet Nam situation.

King suggested the United States seek such a settlement last Friday in a speech to a Virginia convention of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. He is president of the conference.

"I'm as concerned about destroying communism as the next fellow," the Nobel Peace Prize winner said. "But we aren't going to defeat communism with guns, bombs and gases."

Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., second ranking Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said King "is just as wrong as he can be in calling for a negotiated settlement regardless of what the other side might demand."

Nature Boys to Hold Food Sale

CAREY — Nature Boys 4-H Club members decided the best way to raise funds for a contribution to the new 4-H Camp will be to hold a cooked food sale July 23 at Carey Mercantile and Don's Food Bank.

The boys showed where the most trees grow and the names of trees on maps of the United States. A demonstration showing how to build a fire and extinguish it was given by Dennis Hennefer.

Randy Drage led the flag pledges. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Kay Thatcher.

Hot Feet

CONCORD, Mass. (AP) — The fire wasn't serious, but it gave some elephants the hot foot.

A blaze flared up Wednesday in the wheel bearings and tires of a truck containing four elephants of the Clyde Beauty-Cole Bros. Circus.

While firemen battled flames, the truck's metal floor got hot and the pachyderms began to dance.

After the fire was doused, workers opened the cages and freed the elephants.

Trail camps are planned for July 30 and Aug. 22. A family camp for ministers will be held Aug. 2-4, and for laymen, Sept. 4-6.

Smiling Stone Sculpture in Phoenix Is Controversial

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Untroubled by the controversy surrounding her, "Diana of the Woods" stands smiling in the mall of the new multimillion-dollar Maricopa County government complex.

Dedicated Wednesday the stone sculpture gave pause to countless admirers, despite charges that as the huntress of Greek mythology, she was "a cruel goddess" and a killer.

Mrs. Gilbert Hall donated the Italian-made sculpture placed in the complex's fountain and dedicated it to the Arizona Humane Society.

The animal crusaders of Arizona opposed the gesture from the start.

"Humane societies have always opposed cruelty, including blood sports," said Betty B. Eilers, the group's executive secretary.

"Not even the human side of Diana is pleasant," she said.

"When the son of a king surprised her bathing, she turned him into a stag and wasn't satisfied or revenged until his own hounds ran him down and tore him to bits," Mrs. Eilers said.

Undaunted, Mrs. Hall didn't budge an inch.

"Good art not only gives pleasure," Mrs. Hall said, "but it also stimulates an appreciation of the beautiful."

Not so, said Mrs. Eilers, who made her group's view known to the county supervisors.

The supervisors sided with Mrs. Hall, agreeing that Diana would give pleasure to visitors to the recently dedicated complex.

Mrs. Hall admits the tempest was something of an ordeal before it blew over.

"A hideous experience and one I don't want to go through again," she said. "They claimed Diana was a killer. Why, in Italy, Diana is known as a protec-

England June Brides Given Special Warning

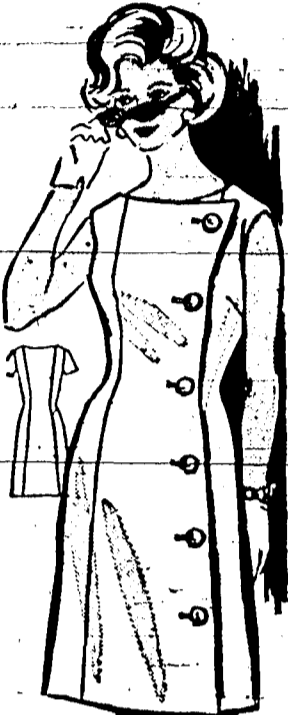

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI)—June brides were warned to watch out for that marriage wrenker MILT—mother-in-law trouble.

The best way to safeguard marriage during the first year is to keep hubby's mother away, according to a Roman Catholic survey which said it's usually the bridegroom's mother and not the wife's that makes marriages in the first 12 months.

The survey of 7,000 wrecked marriages showed the new husband's mother seldom believed her daughter-in-law was capable of caring for her son.

It found the husband's mother to be "jealous and possessive."

President William Killpack performed the double ring ceremony. Accompanying the couple to the temple were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Verd Murdock, Mrs. Muriel Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. D. Peterson, Mrs. Geneva Peterson and Mrs. Clyde Smith.

Pop Art Suntan Jewelry Creates Latest Craze

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEW YORK (NEA)—There have been many kookie fads that pass as fashion. But this year's preoccupation with pop art jewelry has finally brought about a fad that out-kooks them all. We now have pop art suntan "jewelry."

What you do is pick your spot—your sun spot, that is. The new swimsuits, fish net here, lace there, cut out completely in some places, have offered a challenge to the imagination of some of our more daring sun maidens.

For instance, the gal who wears a swimsuit that covers only one shoulder, can cut a piece of tape into the shape of a butterfly, flower, bird or bug and plunk it high on her bare shoulder.

Generous application of sun lotion everywhere else is the next step. After a day at the beach when she's toasty all over, she can remove the tape. Presto, a built-in pale butterfly "pin" for her strapless summer evening gowns.

The girl who chooses a swimsuit with cut-out sides can either confine her suntan "jewelry" to her legs to show through sheer stockings or sport a small sailboat, perhaps, on one side when she slips into a bare midriff play suit.

Any way you look at it, imagination is the primary requirement and a good tanning lotion does the rest. Maybe you would like to be the new Rose Tattoo? Well, a current fad this may be, but I doubt it will ever put the jewelers out of business.

Attend Reunion

KING HILL—Mr. and Mrs. Lee Trail, Mr. and Mrs. William Trail and families and Mr. and Mrs. Don Carnahan and family attended a family reunion and picnic at the Julia Davis Park, Boise.

DRESSING SUGGESTED

Valley Couple Repeats Vows in June Wedding

HAGERMAN—Mary M. Erwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Erwin, Hagerman, and Lt. LeRoy Mink, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Cline Mink, Gooding, were married in a double ring ceremony June 19 at the Hagerman Methodist Church.

Rev. Edward V. Hargreaves performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by chapel baskets of Madonna lilies, mock orange blossoms and white tapers in floor candle-labra.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a floor-length gown of white satin, featuring a sculptured neckline, fitted bodice and long lily point sleeves. The semi-sheath skirt front was accented with lace applied flowers. The fitted waistline formed a V in the back and the pleats fell into a chapel train.

Her elbow-length veil of illusion was held by a lace flower crown enhanced with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and white baby roses with satin streamers on a white Bible.

Mrs. Robert Moore Jr., Pocatello, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Janet Fish, Meridian, and Mrs. Robert Gayon, Pocatello. Rhonda Mink, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Larry Mink, brother of the bridegroom, was ring-bearer, and Linda Mink, sister of the bridegroom, and Brett Timus, Hagerman, were candlelighters.

Sidney Erwin, brother of the bride, was best man. Other attendants of the bridegroom were Robert Moore Jr., Pocatello; Duane Peterson and Lloyd McLeod, Gooding, and Frank Erwin.

Mrs. Warren Berry played the organ and accompanied Tish Paulson, Dietrich, soloist.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church parlor. The bride's table was covered with lace over blue, and centered with a four-tiered wedding cake. The cake was iced in white and topped with white satin bells and lilies of the Valley. Tall tapers in crystal

Sun Valley Construction On Schedule

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — The luxury apartments are being built on schedule at the Sun Valley resort.
They are expected to be ready for the 1965-66 winter ski season that starts just before Christmas.
The 50 apartments will be located in six lodges being built northwest of the main Sun Valley Lodge, just off the road from Ketchum.
Their estimated construction cost is $15 million. They were started in the middle of June as a part of a program to develop the Sawtooth Mountain resort.
The new owners of Sun Valley are the Janss Corp. of Los Angeles, a land development firm that bought Sun Valley from the Union Pacific Railroad Co. last year.

2 Lemhi Men Refuse to Pay Property Tax

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho attorney general's office contends the refusal of two Lemhi County officials to remit to the state a $2,108 in 1962 property taxes is a violation of the Idaho Constitution.

Lemhi County Auditor Paul Adams and Treasurer Alice Hobbs have appealed to the Idaho Supreme Court a lower court decision ordering them to forward the money to the treasurer.

The county officials contend they overpaid Lemhi County's tax assessments in 1960 and 1961 and that they are within their rights to withhold the $2,108.
Asst. Atty. Gen. Larry D. Ripley contended in a brief filed with the high court that such an action was in violation of a constitutional provision requiring that all taxes for state purposes must be paid in full.
He said the provision prohibits what the Lemhi County officials are attempting to do and that they have a "mandatory and nondiscretionary duty to forward these funds to the state treasurer."

Communists Aware of Weak Points in Government, Hope to Overcome Them

OTTAWA (AP) — The Chinese Communists are aware of the weaknesses in their system of government, and are confident they can overcome them.
This confidence, however, seems to be built on a foundation of wishful thinking, and represents the weakest link in what must be the most tightly organized society in the world.
The greatest weakness is the natural tendency toward what the Chinese Communists call "revisionism." My own definition of "revisionism" would be that it represents the irresistible tendency of human beings to seek the better life, usually on an individual rather than a collective basis.
This, it seems to me, is a law of nature. Against it, the Chinese Communists have their thesis that world capitalism and imperialism are marching toward doom, that socialism and communism are marching toward victory.
"This historical trend," says Peking, "is an objective law which operates independently of man's will, and it is irresistible."
The Chinese Communists recognize that every man has the germ of revisionism in him, and that selfish personal ambition will show itself unless active steps are taken to stifle it. Such active steps are constantly in evidence in Red China, with emphasis always on the welfare of the collective.
In such a system, the lowest common denominator of society becomes the norm. The peasant and the worker, in the collective sense, are glorified to hero status, and collecting human excrement for fertilizer becomes the highest form of toil.
Budding intellectuals are scrunched into conformity and warned against isolating themselves from the masses. Regular spells of labor with broom or shovel drive home the lesson. The object is to prevent the outcropping of new privileged classes, as happens traditionally in the later phases of great revolutions.

Yet China is a place of special privilege for a small percentage. Anybody who is a functionary of the Communist Party is privileged.
Leaders live better than workers, and engineers live better than leaders, in terms of state-provided accommodations and monthly incomes.
In steering foreign guests around, party functionaries act as though they were old-fashioned Oriental potentates. Sometimes people actually are pushed out of the way.
All automobiles are deemed to be official, and get the green light wherever they go. Their drivers extend no courtesies to pedestrians, bicyclists or the pullers of the cargo rickshaws.
Yet Chinese in the lower ranks derive comfort from being told that Chairman Mao Tse-tung draws only $150 monthly, and lives in a modest villa. His image is that of a man of the people, even though the people seldom, if ever, see him.
The government's ranks have scarcely opened for a newcomer in 17 years since the Communists came to power. Emergence of leaders from the masses has not been a notable feature of present-day China, and the only leader whose stature has increased has been old Mao himself, whose deification proceeds apace.
The latest in an almost frantic series of equalization measures has been the abolition of insignnia of rank in the armed forces.
My own feeling is that such measures will breed inefficiency and frustration, and will have to be reversed because of the pressures they will generate. After all, what the Chinese Communists say about the special virtues of leadership at the top can be applied at all levels of society.

And if you accept the special virtues of leadership at all levels of society, you open the way for a new privileged class to emerge. In other words, revisionism sets in.
Ironically, the very fact that the revolution is creating a better material life for the Chinese people will hasten the process, by sharpening appetites for better things.

In years to come, if events run their course without war, the Chinese will come to resemble the Russians of today, just as the Russians of today are coming to resemble the rest of the developed world.

ONE OF SIX HOSTAGES freed early Thursday by two Oregon gunmen, Uldis Riekstins, Seattle, Wash., arrives at a Woodland, Calif., motel to rest. Riekstins and the others were guarded by the FBI after their release. (AP wirephoto)

Two Oregon Gunmen Free 6 Hostages

WOODLAND, Calif. (AP) — Six kidnap victims — taken by two gunmen in Oregon — were released unharmed near Woodland Wednesday night by the fugitives who had held up a bank and later killed an Oregon deputy sheriff.

A three-state manhunt was continuing for Wilbur Marion Grey, 30, a native of Brunswick, Ga., and Karl Clites Bowles, 24, originally from Amarillo, Tex.

The FBI said the search was centered around nearby Sacramento, where the gunmen released the hostages and fled on foot.

The hostages were Mrs. David Corbin, 33, and her 12-year-old son by a previous marriage, Clinton Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Uldis Riekstins — Seattle, their son and their son's friend.

Grey and Bowles, who completed terms at Oregon State Prison only last week, also are suspected of robbing an Oregon bank Tuesday of about $14,000, the FBI said.

"It wasn't bad on us at all," Mrs. Corbin said.

"I just hate them for killing that policeman. I just hope they get the same thing."

"They were so confused all the time," she said. "I had to show them how to get out of town. They talked about everything under the sun. They told me a lot of stories."

She said the six hostages made no attempt to escape.

They evaded police cars, Mrs. Corbin told police, by forcing one adult to drive and keeping everyone else in the rear of the camper.

Market and Financial Report

Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market put on a late rally Thursday and closed sharply higher. Prices had been mixed to slightly lower through the morning. The rally boosted prices in a wide range of stocks. The advance came after two consecutive losing sessions snapped last week's four day lull. National Distillers 4-25-60 advanced a point on a block of 26,900 shares and Emerson gained nearly a point on a block of 23,600 shares. International Business Machines jumped 8 points and Xerox advanced nearly 6. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials spurted 4 points in an hour. Prices had been mixed to slightly lower throughout the morning. Trading picked up toward the close from its lethargic pace of the last two days. There was no particular development to explain the turnabout. Changes of key issues ranged from fractions to a point and more. Some losses were erased. Volume for the day was estimated at 4.02 million shares from 3.03 million Wednesday. Gains of a point or more were made by United Aircraft, Control Data, High Voltage Engineering, New York Central and Eastern Air Lines. Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate and Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

ONE OF SOUTHERN IDAHO'S most unique electric-pump irrigation projects will officially start its first season Friday with dedication ceremonies and public tours. It is the Cottonwood Mutual Canal Company's development on the Snake River near Glenns Ferry, where a two-stage lift will boost water to one of the biggest potato fields in a single project. Aerial photo of development shows how water is drawn from Snake by river pumping plant (No. 1) and pushed to lift plant (No. 2) where additional pumps boost it rest of way up steep bluff to farmland (No. 3). All-electric development, whose river and lift-pump plants total 9,500 horsepower, also includes such pioneering features as semi-permanent system on which sprinkler laterals remain in place throughout season. ## The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. I am now 58 and, because my pension will be insufficient when I retire, I turned to the stock market. On the advice of my broker, I have been buying and selling stocks on margin for a number of years. I now have the stocks of 17 different companies in my margin account.

Most of the stocks I own have risen in value. But the broker's commissions and the interest on my margin account have been just about equal to the dividends paid on my stocks—leaving me with no real income from the stocks.

Is the course I am following good for retirement purposes? A. You'll get all kinds of arguments on that one. But I would say no.

When you buy stocks on margin, you put up only part of the purchase price. You borrow the rest through your broker. And you pay interest on the amount you owe.

You are face to face with a situation many others have run into. The constant interest charges on what you owe can take a big bite out of (sometimes wipe out) the dividends paid on the stocks in your margin account.

If the stocks you own continue to go up in value, everything will be dandy. At retirement time you can sell some of the stocks, in order to square away your debt to the broker. Then the dividends on the stocks you continue to own could give you the extra retirement income you need—without being gobbled up by interest charges.

If the stocks don't go up, your retirement hopes could be in trouble. Buying on margin increases the risks (as well as the potential profits) of stock ownership.

In your case it would seem to be time to start cutting back on the amount you owe to the broker—thereby reducing those interest charges. For most people margin buying is not a wise thing.

Q. When I went to a brokerage firm to open an account I was told that I would have to put up 70 percent of the purchase price in order to buy stocks on margin. But friends of mine tell me that they have been buying and selling stock on only 50 per cent margin for years.

What's the story here? A. It's a story that dates back some years and gets somewhat complicated.

If you make a new margin purchase now, you must put up collateral equal to 70 per cent of the market price—just as the broker told you.

The percentages that must be put up (the "margin requirements") are set by the Federal Reserve Board. They have been raised and lowered at different times.

The margin requirement was 50 per cent for a while a couple of years ago. And anyone who owned stock on 50 per cent margin could trade on 50 per cent margin—under certain circumstances.

Such a person can sell stock he had on 50 per cent margin and buy another security listed on a stock exchange on 50 per cent margin—if he does it the same business day. This is the "substitution" rule.

If he waits until even the next day, he's out of luck and must meet the 70 per cent margin requirement.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—If you suspect that despite all the talk about tax cuts your tax bills have been adding up to as much or even more than ever, you may well be right.

Much of this is due to rising state and local taxes. The total tax is estimated at around $50 billion this year. In 1963 these levies averaged out to about $250 per capita. This year the figure is close to $290 per capita.

But the federal government, too, has been taking in more than before it cut the rates. Its receipts from all sources are up $4 billion over a year ago.

The Treasury explains that with two million more persons employed now than before the tax cut early in 1964, and with many others getting higher pay and working longer hours, the total personal income has been rising. So there is more subject to tax, even if the rates have been lowered.

Also corporate profits have been soaring. The corporate income tax rate was lowered in two steps—from 52 per cent to 48 per cent. But tax collections on the larger earnings netted the Treasury nearly $2 billion more in the fiscal year that ended June 30.

The Treasury also suspects that much of the increase in collections in the past year has been due to their new computers. These machines keep a closer eye on an individual's sources of income, such as interest and dividends. And more of these are being reported now than when tax forms were inspected only by the human eye, and on a sampling basis.

Some taxes you pay the federal government aren't included in the cut on income rates. Social Security levies, for instance, have risen as more persons were employed. And next year the percentage withheld from pay checks will be steeper than ever.

But the biggest percentage rise in tax collections has been at the state and local level.

The Tax Foundation, a New York-based research agency, reports that from fiscal 1955 to 1965 federal tax receipts rose 72 per cent. In the same 10 years state tax receipts jumped 136 per cent, and local governments increased their take by 117 per cent.

Some of this was due to increased prosperity supplying higher incomes and swelling property values on which to levy taxes. Much of it was due to use of new taxes or higher rates on old ones.

If the U.S. Treasury could take in about $4 billion more from all sources in the 1965 fiscal year, the state and local collectors probably did at least as well.

One way or another, many Americans will be paying more taxes this year, even if the federal income rate has been cut.

Lema Fires Record 68 to Take Lead In British Open; Palmer Is Third

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Defending champion Tony Lema, cocky and casual, scored a record five-under-par 68 over Royal Birkdale Wednesday and leaped ahead of favorites Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer for the first-round lead in the British Open Golf Championship. The flamboyant Champagne Kid from San Leandro, Calif., using only 29 putts, gained a single-stroke edge over Ireland's rugged Christy O'Connor, at 69, with Palmer and Irish Joe Carr tied at 70.

Bruce Devlin, the reed-thin Australian hardened by the American tour, held fourth place with 71 but a good showing was made by the nine-man American contingent.

The 210-pound Nicklaus, spraying his drives and finding Birkdale's greens bumpy, struggled in with an even par 73 that left him five shots off the pace. As he was better off than Gary Player, the newly crowned U.S. Open champion from South Africa, who took a double bogey seven on the 15th for a 76.

The 53-year-old Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, West Va., shot a creditable 74 with three putts on the first and last holes. Phil Rodgers of LaJolla, Calif., and Terry Dill of Mulhouse, Tex., each shot 75 while Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., came in with a heart-breaking 78 after a four-over-par nine on the 10th hole.

The wind-swept, 7,037-yard seaside links had hidden dangers for most of the field. Player and Sanders particularly hit the greens with such consistency that he knocked in six birdies. He had seven one-putt greens and three-putted none.

The suave Californian, who smokes cigarettes in a long holder, hit the greens with such consistency that he knocked in six birdies. He had seven one-putt greens and three-putted none.

Lema, as at St. Andrews a year ago, showed up for his first practice round Monday and brazenly turned his championship trophy over to the authorities with the admonition: "Please keep it for me for four days — I'll pick it up Friday."

Palmer scored well although he was unhappy with his game. "I played some good shots and did some scrambling," the general of Arnie's Army lamented. "My putting was better but my iron play was the weakest part of my game."

Thirteen players bettered par and seven equaled it on a day that started with blustery winds but ended in bright sunshine.

Little Leaguer Has Unassisted Triple Play
FREDONIA, Kan. (AP) — The center fielder for the Katch Athletics made an unassisted triple play during a Fredonia midget league baseball game Wednesday.

The score was tied 2-2 in the second inning and the bases were loaded. The batter hit a long fly.

Kevin Son, 9-year-old center fielder, caught the ball for one out, ran to second to double off the runner who had failed to tag up and then tagged out the runner who was on first.

Smiled Kevin: "When I felt the ball hit my glove, splat, I just started running — and ran and ran until I had them all out."

Despite the triple play, the Athletics lost, 4-2.

Congress Told Title Match Wasn't Fixed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee heard it from an expert Wednesday: "There was nothing wrong with the Clay-Liston fight." The expert was Constantine d'Amato, better known in ring circles as "Cus" — the former manager of Floyd Patterson. He appeared before the House Commerce Committee, which is considering bills to set up a federal boxing commission. These bills poured in with the angry backwash after the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston championship heavyweight bout in Lewiston, Maine, in May.

D'Amato said one big reason for all the trouble was that the theater-television camera at ringside wasn't in position to pick up Clay's knockout punch. Thus, observed the fast-talking d'Amato, "The people watching on closed-circuit television couldn't see the blow — they thought it was what we call a tank job."

And another thing, Cus noticed that Liston and Clay were wearing "fragger gloves." Fragger gloves, he explained, have little or no padding across the knuckles and that's why the blow which appeared to be not so tremendous "floored Liston."

These gloves favor a hard puncher, D'Amato said, and Liston's people insisted on them, figuring they would give Sonny an advantage. But the plan backfired.

"Liston's group became victims of their own strategy," D'Amato declared.

One of the things that brought suspicious sniffs from the committee was that the fight had been shifted from Boston to Lewiston.

Rep. Torbert H. McDonald, a Democrat from suburban Boston and a former Harvard football player, told the committee for the sixth or seventh time that "had nothing to do with rumors of a fix or Black Muslims — it was just a breach of Massachusetts law."

McDonald said the promoters didn't know the law requires the promoter of a Massachusetts fight to be a Massachusetts resident. When their promoter was challenged in the court, the fight backers decided they couldn't risk the time required for a court battle, so they moved the fight across the line into Maine.

Short Blanks Pirates 1-0 For Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chris Short's three-hit pitching and a leadoff homer in the eighth inning by Clay Dalrymple carried the Philadelphia Phillies to a 1-0 victory over Pittsburgh and Bob Friend Wednesday night.

Short, bringing his record to 10-6, was locked in a pitching duel all the way with Friend who lost his seventh in 11 decisions when Dalrymple homered over the right-field fence.

The Pirates missed out on their only chance to score in the second when Donn Clendenon singled and moved around to third with one out. But he was tagged out at the plate on Willie Stargell's grounder to shortstop Bobby Wine.

Each player drew 18 votes in the balloting of 50 press-radio-television representatives announced Tuesday.

Law, winner of six games for 32 in 62 innings with an earned run average of 0.87. Stargell's 10 home runs and 33 runs batted in helped spark the drive that moved the Pirates from ninth to sixth place in the league's standings.

Dodger hurler Sandy Koufax took third place with eight votes.
Philadelphia's Richie Allen (2) and pitcher Chris Short (1) were the only other players to receive votes.

Brunswick Accepts Bowladrome Operation

The Bowling Center Operations division of the Brunswick Co., will take over management of the 30-lane Bowladrome in Twin Falls immediately, the company and O. J. Hazen, Salt Lake City, president of Associated Amusement Co., announced Wednesday night.

Rudy Leewaye, Denver, who will be the local manager of the plant, said some modernization and reduction of lanes will be completed soon and an announcement of opening is imminent.

Skip Ruckert, San Diego, district manager for Brunswick, said 12 old lanes will be taken out of the current 30-lane house and six new ones will be installed. He said the extra space probably would be filled by billiard tables, although the introduction of the tables would not be immediate.

Leewaye comes to Twin Falls from Northpark, Colo., where he was in education for the past 10 years and principal of the Northpark High School. He has completed the Brunswick manager training school and this will be his first position with Brunswick. He added he's always been interested in bowling and is hopeful of remaining in the sport as a lifetime career.

The announcement brought to an end the speculation of what would happen to the Bowladrome. It closed this spring when Tucker Morashita returned to Idaho Falls after being manager for one year. The original Bowladrome corporation went into bankruptcy a year ago.

Vincent's Grand-Slammer Drives Magic Valley to 14-5 Victory Over Angels

Centerfielder Jim Vincent drove in six runs—four with a grand slam homer—Wednesday night to lead Magic Valley past Idaho Falls 14-5 and into an even split of the four-game Pioneer league series. Vincent, who earlier had plated two runs with singles, capped the Cowboys' scoring effort in the sixth inning after an error, walk and hit batsman. That rather told the story as the two teams swapped places from Idaho Falls' 4-1 Tuesday.

Appling Is "Throw'd Out" of A's Dugout

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Luke Appling, Kansas City A's coach, scratched his head and said, "This is the first time I ever got throw'd out in the dugout to the dugout before I ever got on the field—and I was only joshing."

Twins Dump Sox 5-2 for 7th Straight

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP)—American League-leading Minnesota scored its seventh straight victory Wednesday night, beating Boston 5-2 behind Johnny Klippstein's relief pitching and Bernie Allen's three runs batted in.

Allen delivered a two-run single in the second inning, following a walk to Don Mincher and a double by Earl Battey. His sacrifice fly delivered another run in the fourth after singles by Sandy Valdespino and Battey and one of four errors by the Boston outfield.

Chicago (AP)—Clutch singles by Rocky Colavito and Fred Whitfield keyed a three-run 11th inning as the Cleveland Indians beat the Chicago White Sox 4-2 for a sweep of their Wednesday night doubleheader.

Mauch Departs From Custom as He Completes NL Batting Order

CINCINNATI (AP)—National League All-Star Manager Gene Mauch departed from custom Wednesday and passed over three "second choices" as he picked nine players for the 1965 All-Star team. The annual game between the All-Star teams of the National and American Leagues will be played at Minnesota July 13. The starting line-ups, except for pitchers, were picked by a vote of players. To augment the starters, Mauch, manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, picked catcher Johnny Edwards of the Cincinnati Reds; infielder Ed Kranepool of the New York Mets; Cookie Rojas of the Philadelphia Phillies; Roberto Cardenas of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Frank Robinson of the Reds and Billy Williams of the Cubs.

Eden-Hazelton—Lyle Uscola, head football and basketball coach and athletic director at Valley High School for the past two years, has resigned, announces Dr. Thomas Utterback, Valley school superintendent.

Uscola indicated he is going into fulltime work for the Sierra Life Insurance Co.

Uscola, a high school star at now defunct Teyburn High School in the early 1950s, spent two seasons at Valley. He served as assistant coach for two years, moved to Melba as head coach and then returned as athletic director in 1963.

Dr. Utterback said the school board is seeking applications for replacements. He added the selections will be made as soon as possible.

Idaho Golf Open Set for Aug. 7-9
CALDWELL, Idaho (AP)—Idaho's 1965 Open Golf Tournament will be played Aug. 7-9 at the new Purple Sage course in Caldwell, the host professional, Ken Haines, announced today.

Eighteen holes of medal play are scheduled Aug. 7 with an additional 18 on Aug. 8. A final 36-hole round limited to the top 60 players is set for Aug. 9.

Cash awards of $2,000 will be distributed among the top pros, with first place paying $500 and second $300.

Major Loops Start Second Half of Season, Probably Last for Stengel

NEW YORK (UPI)—They started the second time around all over the majors Tuesday and it will be the last one in all likelihood for Charles Dillon (Casey) Stengel.

Casey, who'll be 75 on the 30th of this month, merely grows any time someone has the impudence to bring up his retirement and he heatedly calls attention to the fact there's still half a season to go, but that doesn't mean he hasn't given any thought to quitting.

Stengel not only has tremendous pride, he also has a deep sense of the proper courtesy, so the last thing he ever wants to do is wear out his welcome.

He saw how it was with the Yankees in 1960. Originally, he made up his mind to quit at the end of that year and then when he got the notion the Yankees were pushing him, he decided he'd like to stay.

TV Schedules

THURSDAY, JULY 8
"Dr. Kildare," (7:30 p.m. NBC)—Jack Lord and Mala Powers are featured in tonight's episode. A surgeon is haunted by fears that arthritis, which once forced him to give up being a professional football player, may now force him to give up his professional practice.
"The Defenders," (8 p.m. CBS)—Teresa Wright stars in "The Pill Man," drama about a pharmacist accused of selling narcotics without prescriptions.

BEST THURSDAY NIGHT MOVIES
"Summer Stock," (1950) Judy Garland, Gene Kelly and Eddie Bracken (9:30 p.m. KMVT)—Entertaining little musical-comedy. Judy's farm isn't making much money, so when a group of entertainers comes along, she moves the livestock out of her barn and lets the summer stock company move in.
"The Mirror Has Two Faces," (French, 1958) Michele Morgan and Gerard Oury (10:15 p.m. KCPN)—Plastic surgery does more than change the looks of a plain-looking woman—it alters her mental outlook, too. Interesting "adult" drama.

Arco Reactor Station Has Three New Revolutionary Atomic Age Products

NATIONAL REACTOR TESTING STATION, Idaho (AP) — Three new and potentially revolutionary atomic age developments are progressing well at Uncle Sam's "reactor farm" where scientific and engineering breakthroughs are almost old hat.

Here, on an isolated, 900-square-mile area of sagebrush and basalt fields on the Snake River plains, Atomic Energy Commission scientists believe they've struck new kinds of nuclear pay dirt with these developments.

—Achievement of "the country's first major breakthrough" in treating potentially deadly radioactive wastes from atomic power and research reactors — the so-called "garage" of the atomic era. The process, which reduces the dangerous liquid wastes to a much safer form having only one-tenth the volume previously stored, uses equipment which works something like a popcorn machine.

—Promising results with a new type of experimental "breeder" reactor system — actually a kind of controlled atomic bomb. Like other experimental breeders, it is designed to create more nuclear fuel than it actually consumes by producing power. But its unique feature consists of a built-in process for cleaning up and recycling partly used fuel. It dishes the fuel back into the furnace almost like loaves of bread.

—Near-completion for military field use of compact, mobile nuclear power reactors which can be flown intact in a cargo airplane to any corner of the world — ready to begin generating power for field hospitals, radar equipment and other uses, within 12 hours after arrival.

Those are among the most exciting new ventures at this $500-million station — site of the world's largest and most varied collection of nuclear reactors, or "furnaces," for research, testing, electric power production, and propulsion. The area — in southeastern Idaho, 30 miles from Idaho Falls — is three-fourths the size of the State of Rhode Island. None of the reactor structures, operational or otherwise, would rate any beauty prizes. From the outside, most of them are huge, boxlike affairs which look like warehouses.

But they house some of the world's most ingenious and complicated machinery and hidden, heavily shielded pots of controlled nuclear fury — designed to "help" produce more powerful, safer and more efficient civilian and military reactors of the future.

And, some of them are devices which, since 1951, already have achieved these "firsts" in the atomic race:

—Proof-testing the feasibility of nuclear propulsion for both submarines and surface ships — thus paving the way for the United States' present nuclear fleet of 51 submarines, the aircraft carrier Enterprise and several other surface warships.

—Production of the world's first usable quantities of electricity from the atom — including the test-lighting of the city of Arco, seven miles from the site.

—Powering of a turbine engine exclusively from nuclear heat.

And engineers here say that one of their reactors — called the "materials testing reactor" (MTR) — has played a vital role in aiding the development of every nuclear power reactor in the world, "including those of the Russians." This is because virtually all results achieved at the station are published in scientific and popular literature.

The AEC says more than 1 1/2 million American homes now are powered by atom-produced electricity — and forecasts that at least seven million will be so powered by 1980.

The "only" secret, it says, of the "reactor farm" here is one housing reactors developed or still under development by the Navy in cooperation with the AEC.

Up until around 1958, reports sometimes were allowed in but the unofficial word is that Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover, who heads the program for the Navy, put the curtain down after making a trip to the Soviet Union — and reportedly finding the Russians were not as far advanced in the maritime nuclear propulsion field as had previously been thought.

But, still in view from beyond the guarded fence is the reactor structure housing the still-operating prototype of the pioneer nuclear submarine Nautilus.

Close by the Nautilus prototype is the "large ship reactor" which paved the way for the carrier Enterprise and other surface craft.

And, still under construction, is a new type of naval propulsion system.

Advice

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — New Mexico's newest district court judge got some advice from a veteran jurist as he was sworn in Tuesday.

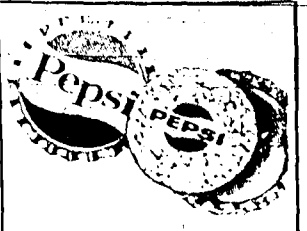

Supreme Court Chief Justice David W. Carmichael told Judge Matias A. Zamora, "Remember that a lay judge is a poor one. Don't be dismayed when reversed. Remember there are no important cases. Don't forget your common sense."

His last piece of advice: "Play for divine guidance."

Boy Hurt

SPRINGDALE — Keith Adams, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Adams, is receiving treatment on a broken leg and injured foot he received when a hay wagon on which he was riding backed into a roller.

The accident occurred Saturday at his farm home. He was treated and released from the Cassia Memorial Hospital and Tuesday was returned for additional treatment. His leg was placed in a cast.

Elmore Sets Fund Drive For 4-H Camp

KING HILL — A drive to raise Elmore county's share of $3,000 will be launched the week of July 19, reports Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby, home demonstration agent.

Elmore county 4-H leaders and council members suggest each family contribute $6 to the project. Estimated cost for the new camp, to be located one and one-half miles south of Russian John ranger station, west of Ketchum, is $80,000.

The camp will provide facilities for 200 campers at one time plus leaders it is expected to be ready for limited use by the summer of 1966, Mrs. Ruby said.

Facilities will allow continuation of the camping program even in inclement weather. At present 4-H members rent church camp facilities. Proposed plans call for a dining hall, recreation hall, kitchen, and 15 cabins which will accommodate 16 persons.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, July 8 — Born today, you are both inventive and intuitive, as well as gifted with a generous amount of drive, self-confidence, and self-reliance — all necessary to the putting over of your ideas. Not one to be discouraged to the point of giving up, you may be disappointed by adverse criticism or financial setbacks, but you are never defeated. Know the difference between surrender and strategic retreat; the latter you may often make use of, but the former, never.

Basically a person of intellectual rather than physical interests, you nevertheless are not the stay-at-home, nose-in-a-book type. Your greatest pleasure comes from conceiving ideas, formulating plans for carrying out those ideas, and the execution of those plans to the point of a profitable end. But you are still a person who enjoys socializing with others — so much so that at times such socializing may even interfere with your work.

Very much interested in other people and the forming of close, rewarding ties of friendship, you are bound to have many stimulating and affectionate relationships. But when it comes to choosing a mate, you must be highly selective. There are many of the opposite sex who can interest you for the moment, or periodically, but to find a person with whom you can live in a continuously "good" relationship will be more difficult.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, July 9
CANCER (June 22-July 23) — A cooperative effort is needed if you and co-workers are to solve difficulties effectively. Have a brain-busting session.
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Stick to the larger issues today if you would achieve the larger success: To consider minor matters may only confuse things.

Wealthier

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The average Californian had more pocket money to jingle than residents of any other state during the first three months of 1965, Gov. Edmund G. Brown says.
Gov. Brown reported Tuesday that California's total personal income stood at $59,052,000,000 — surpassing the total income of New York for the first time.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Tackle financial affairs without further delay. Gains should be immediate if you handle matters wisely and with discretion.
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — This can be an excellent day for the Libra who takes advantage of every opportunity. Good fortune depends on an alert mind.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Dispose of left-over projects now, either by completing them or dropping them for good. Free yourself for moving forward.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Apply yourself to the most vital issue at hand. No time for dawdling over small matters.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Take one chbre at a time and see it through to the end.

Girl Scouts to Arrive in Idaho Next Week

FARRAGUT STATE PARK (UPI) — One week from Thursday in the early morning chill, uniformed Girl Scouts from the Southwest plains of Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico will alight from a train at Sandpoint in the heart of Idaho's forested panhandle.
They will be the vanguard of Girl Scouts from all over the nation and 44 foreign countries who will camp for 10 days near the shore of Lake Pend Oreille in the fourth International Girl Scout Roundup.

For two days, trains of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Union Pacific will unload girls and their camping gear at Sandpoint, Spokane, Wash., and the whistle stop of Athol.
By 5 p.m. July 16, 9,000 of them will be at the roundup site in this 5,000-acre state park. Theoretically, their tents and baggage will be with them. Labeled and colored tags to designate which of the five roundup camps will be its destination and the code number of its owner, each piece of baggage and gear is supposed to arrive at the proper place at the same time as its owner.
Each girl was given a number weeks ago, designating her camp, her troop, her patrol and herself. Roundup officials say it should be possible to write a letter to a roundup girl using her number and the Farragut zip code, 83803.
The Post Office at Spokane 50 miles west of the roundup site, will break the mail down to the troop level, leaving the Scouts the chore only of sorting it for the proper eight-girls patrol and the individual.
The numbering system is indicative of the planning that has gone into the massing of Scouts and 2,000 adult supervisors. Already the roundup site is largely ready for the girls: Army troops have erected tents for service facilities and staff housing, and a 100-bed field hospital.

The girls will put up their own tents after they arrive.
A major share of the 10-day program, which formally opens July 17 will be devoted to a series of forums. Featured as leaders will be such officials as Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie; Mrs. Robert Stewart, Spokane, president of the National League of Women Voters; Dr. James Eagan, New York City, vice president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and the Rev. Fred Shute, pastor of the Revelation Baptist Church of Cincinnati and a civil rights leader.
The girls also will hike through the woods, stage demonstrations on topics ranging from traditional woods lore to uses of atomic energy, and cook their own meals.
They'll get a look at some caged wildlife from the Idaho woods in a temporary zoo erected on the site.
One thing the girls won't do is go swimming, although the roundup site is just above the shore of the region's largest and most beautiful lakes. Explained a roundup official: "It's considered too dangerous. Besides, the girls just won't have the time."
