Walkout Is Threatened By Doctors

SWANSEA, Wales (AP) — British doctors Saturday threatened a mass walkout from the national free health scheme unless they are permitted to charge consultation fees — and to discourage hypochondriacs and malingerers.

A resolution to this effect was passed by a vote at the annual conference of the British Medical Association after one of the 500 delegates, Dr. Alan L. Bussey, told the meeting: "Let there be no mistake — the present system of free access has resulted in a national soup kitchen of health."

Another delegate, Dr. D. L. Williams, said a certain amount of abuse of the right to free visits to doctors was expected but "we now know that we do 16 per cent of our work on 4 per cent of our patients."

Dr. Williams said this has "corroded the idealism of general practice and interfered with the service given to the genuinely sick."

Representatives of the medical association have been negotiating with the Health Ministry for months for improved pay and working conditions. The ministry already has turned down one plea that general practitioners be permitted to charge for consultations.

Dr. J. C. Cameron, chairman of the BMA committee which has been carrying on the negotiations, asked the delegates: "If I go back and say to the Health Ministry that you are insisting on such payment and the answer is again 'no' are you prepared to make this a resignation issue?"

There was a loud chorus of "yes" from the delegates.

Medicare Will Burden Many Generations, T. F. Man Avers

Editor, Times-News:

Who is going to pay for Medicare? The answer is our future generations.

If and when the Medicare bill goes into effect, it will result in $64 a year annual tax plus $174 Social Security tax on the first $5,600 income plus the employer's share for a grand total of $476. With the scheduled increases, the total by 1971 will be $562 or more than 10 per cent of a gross earning of $5,600.

With the Great Society progressing as it is, the tax burden will be much greater even for our children. Just think how great it will be for them by the time they are grown, married and struggling to raise a family. This Great Society may well progress to the point that our grandchildren may well be put in a position whereby they will not even be able to afford to marry and raise a family.

I think that the most stupid statement I have heard on the subject is "Sure I am in favor of Medicare, I don't want to be a burden to my children." If we accept Medicare we shall not only be a burden to our children but their children and their children's children.

GOODING—Funeral services for Mrs. Edna E. Barrett Devaney were conducted at 2 p.m. Friday at the LDS Church by Bishop C. Aldon Johnson.

May Nielson played the prelude and the postlude and also accompanied Mrs. Johnson and a trio, Iona Tranmer, Twila Bingham and Juanita Riby.

The invocation was given by K. T. Butler and Bishop Johnson gave the obituary. Remarks were by V. L. Dixon and Walter Tranmer.

Stanley G. Smith gave the benediction and R. L. Dixon dedicated the grave at Elmwood cemetery.

Pallbearers were Jim Sims, John Bener, Luciano Uria, John Braga, E. L. Leeper and Herbert Meyer.

Flowers Planted At Post Office

Many patrons have noted the flower plantings around the curbside potted trees at the Twin Falls Post Office, says Postmaster Fred Sanger.

Flowers were planted by Junior High Gardeners, Dorothy Nutting, Gaydena Stocking, Pamela and Paul Sharrar and Steven Nichol. They were assisted by their leader, Mrs. Russell Miller, and Mrs. T. W. Hicks, president of the Twin Falls Garden Club.

"Such improvement is consistent with the Post Office Department's interest in the beautification of its buildings, and we are grateful to the gardening people for the fine work they performed," Sanger said.

Irrigator Says He Uses Shovel To Help Pay Tax

Editor, Times-News:

Now that we have the much-wanted and much-needed sales tax that our honorable lawmakers so thoughtfully gave us in order to pay for the raise they so generously gave themselves, I hope they are enjoying their summer vacations and fishing trips while I'm out here operating an irrigation shovel seven days a week to help pay for it.

Industry to Face Charges About Safety

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry will send some of its biggest wheels to Washington this week to answer charges it has dragged its feet on traffic safety.

President of General Motors, Ford and American Motors head the list of witnesses who will appear before a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn. Chrysler Corp. will be represented by two of its top vice presidents.

Ribicoff, during a preliminary three-day hearing last March, charged the industry had not done all possible in the field of auto safety. He expressed alarm at the nation's increasing annual traffic death toll which reached 47,000 last year.

The General Services Administration July 1 publicized a list of 17 safety devices which must be on all cars the industry supplies to federal agencies, effective Sept. 28, 1966.

The GSA items ranged from an exhaust control system to limit the flow of contaminating gases into the atmosphere to mandatory outside rearview mirrors. GSA buys about 37,000 cars a year.

General Motors stole some of the thunder from the upcoming hearings when it announced Wednesday that six of the GSA items would be standard equipment in 1966 GM cars.

Garrison Named Director Again

Neal D. Garrison, assistant cashier of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co., has been re-appointed Idaho state director of NABAC, The Association for Bank Audit, Control and Operation for the 1965-66 year.

CASE SLATED
SALMON, Idaho (AP) — A long dispute between two guides and outfitters over operating territory has landed in district court again.

Wayne England, a Salmon outfitter, sued the Idaho Outfitters Board asking invalidation of a May 14 ruling which allowed Harold H. Hanson, another Salmon outfitter, a state license.

STUDY SET
BOISE (AP) — The state health department has undertaken a study of a two-year plan listing goals for its various divisions and institutions.

Dr. T. O. Carver, health administrator, said the plan is designed to bring about changes needed to keep pace with the demand for higher standards brought about by the economy and population growth of Idaho.

Dr. Carver said at present the state provides about 65 per cent of the funds used by the health department, with the remainder coming from the federal government.

BOY KILLED
ROCKFORD, Idaho (AP) — A farm accident near Rockford has claimed the life of six-year-old Neil Stuckl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvon Stuckl.

Officials said the boy fell from a tractor he was driving and that the vehicle rolled over on his head and chest.

PROGRAM EXTENDED
BOISE (AP) — Idaho's program to obtain summer jobs for youth has been extended through the remainder of the summer.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie says he ordered extension of the program, originally scheduled to end this month at the request of the U.S. Labor Department.

Smylie said 200 employers offered jobs to 3,565 Idaho youth during June.

RULING NOTED
BOISE (AP) — Idaho public schools will get an additional $1 million during the current biennium under a ruling handed down by the attorney general's office.

In answer to a question posed by State Treasurer Marjorie Moon, the attorney general said that the nearly $500,000 a year paid to the state under the federal mineral leasing act should be deposited to the public school income fund.

MEET SLATED

The convention has been scheduled at Sun Valley Sept. 4-9, 1966. The 14 western states make up the organization.

OFFICIAL ACQUITTED
BOISE (AP) — A Mountain Home Air Force Base official was acquitted of bribery charges Friday by a Federal District Court jury.

The jury returned its verdict freeing Milas Adkins, entomology supervisor of the Ninth Engineering Squadron at Mountain Home, after deliberating for more than three hours.

Adkins was charged in a federal indictment of demanding $500 to influence operation of termite and pest control programs on government lands.

BOISE (AP) — Gov. Robert E. Smylie assumed the duties of state finance commissioner today pending appointment of a successor to Joseph Mc Carthy, who resigned Friday.

Smylie said he accepted Mc Carthy's resignation with regret and that the finance commissioner had served "brilliantly" during his four-year term.

In addition to serving as finance commissioner, Smylie is acting as budget director, a post he assumed when Don Walker resigned earlier this year after a disagreement with the governor.

Bagpipes Play As Scottish Clans Gather

GRANDFATHER MOUNTAIN, N.C. (AP) — The skirl of bagpipes floated through North Carolina mountain meadows Saturday as thousands in Scottish dress joined in the nation's largest salute to the tartan.

The eerie music set the mood and the magic for the 10th annual Highland games and gathering of Scottish clans at Grandfather Mountain in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Tartan kilts and Balmoral bonnets dotted Macrae Meadows for the two-day show where a Scottish burr is more prized than money in the bank.

Folks of Scottish ancestry claim it is the biggest Scottish gathering in America and the biggest held any place outside Scotland.

The U.S. Air Force bagpipe band, making its first appearance at the gathering, is a featured attraction this year. Dozens of other pipe bands in colorful costume — including the famed Carnegie Tech and Miami pipers — also paraded.

Lassies bounced and whirled in such Highland dances as the Fling, the Sword Dance and the Seann Truibhas while stalwart young men competed in track and field events such as the tossing of the caber and the sheaf and Highland wrestling.

Piping contests and much parading and serenading was climaxed Saturday night with the annual Tartan Ball. A community-type songfest of Scottish songs left many tearful.

N. J. MacDonald, president of the games and vice president of the Saint Andrews Society of New York, welcomed fellow Scots and non-Scots to the festivities during midmorning ceremonies.

The thousands attending the weekend gathering represent some 100 different clans from throughout the United States — participants registered from 23 states, New Zealand, Scotland and Canada.

Sites Picked For Missiles Near Hanoi

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five sites for antiaircraft missiles are being prepared in the vicinity of Hanoi, the capital of North Viet Nam. This is one more than the figure used by a State Department spokesman last week. It was learned that the five sites are in position to guard

Hanoi from U.S. air attack. The State Department also mentioned Haiphong, a major port about 55 miles east of Hanoi, as guarded by such missile sites.

For the most part, the sites spotted by U.S. reconnaissance aircraft are ranged south of Hanoi, about 15 miles away. U.S. authorities are not concerned about these sites, considering them of minor importance unless a decision is made to strike at Hanoi itself — which is considered unlikely for political reasons.

So far U.S. bombers have come no closer than 40 miles to the almost daily raids which the North Vietnamese capital began in early February.

It is not certain whether Russians are doing the missile site preparation work, although the assumption is that they are there as they were at similar antiaircraft missile bases in Cuba.

Explosion Is Blamed for Plane Crash

100 MILE HOUSE, B.C. (AP) — Investigators said Saturday they were convinced an explosion in the rear toilet-luggage section caused Thursday's crash of a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane in which 52 persons died.

The authorities, who declined use of their names, said they found black smudges and other evidence of a blast on the left side of the four-engine DC6B airliner.

"The left side toilet, made of stainless steel, was crumpled like tissue paper," one investigator said in an interview with a Vancouver Sun reporter.

"The floor was blown out by a tremendous force and there were black smudges around the toilet."

The lavatory bulkhead (wall) and the fuselage in this area were blown out. Rivets on the side of the plane were sheared off.

The authorities did not use the word "bomb" but said there was no fuel or equipment in that part of the plane which could have caused an explosion.

The airliner crashed en route from Vancouver to Whitehorse, Y.T. Witnesses on the ground said the plane exploded and split apart. The main cabin was found intact, a half-mile from the tail section.

Possibility

Ray Clifton, Filer, made a possible identification Saturday of a photograph of escaped convict Earl Edwin Austin as the hitchhiker he picked up near Buhl last Monday evening.

Clifton could not make a positive identification but he noted a great resemblance between the man he picked up and the escaped convict.

Sheriff James H. Benham said his office and other Magic Valley law officers have been checking all possible leads but have found no one resembling the man.

Austin is 24 years old, five feet, eight inches tall, weighs 124 pounds and has blue eyes and light brown hair.

Antique Festival Theater at Buhl to Open Second Season on Friday Night

BUHL—Even though it is not new in concept, it is new to this region and many are not aware of the scope and future plans of the Antique Festival Theater, which opens its second season on Friday evening, directors announce.

Being fashioned after the Ashland, Ore., Shakespearean Festival type theater, the Buhl Repertory classical theater will be presenting comedies of the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries during this summer. Such plays have sometimes been labeled "period pieces."

That might be true, but merely because they wear costumes of another era. As far as plot is concerned, it is recognized that playwrights of this century often base their writings on the works of the masters of the past. What was funny then is still funny now (and sometimes even funnier) and more often than not we can find parallels in our present day life!

As outlined in the "Aims and Purposes" of the theater's plan, the organization expects to create in the Buhl-Thousand Springs area a performing arts atmosphere which will attract nationwide attention.

They also intend to work closely with colleges, art guilds, and other theatrical producing groups to create a closely integrated tourism aspect which can enhance the tourist attractions of all southern Idaho. They desire to give scope to the education theater and provide an atmosphere where scholarships granted to undergraduates and graduates can promote the highest in the performing arts including drama, dance, music, art, and mime.

This year the theater has five scholarship students: Vyril Alcorn, Caldwell; Joe Haggard and Joyce Conrad, Buhl; Alexandra Shenk, Sewickley, Pa.; and Mike Wetherell, Mountain Home. All of these scholars are appearing in two of the plays.

In addition Joe Haggard is stage manager for the second year, and all scholars fill a valuable position on the technical staff in the true tradition of the repertory theater.

The theater is the culmination of 17 years of planning by Aldrich Bowler, and his wife, Di, with the enthusiastic assistance of another well-known figure in Idaho drama circles, H. Paul Kliss. Together they have logged many, many years of training and experience in the theater, and they hope Buhl some day will be as famous for its summer repertory theatre as Ashland, Oregon, and Stratford, Connecticut.

Opening night on Friday will see presentation of Moliere's "The Intellectual Ladies" which is a spirited farce of manners from the pen of the greatest French wit of all time. Men in the audience will especially enjoy this comedy, which proves that the "feminine mystique" of today is really nothing new but has been going on for a long, long time!

"The Beggar's Opera" by John Gay will be presented on Saturday evening, July 17. This work was recently updated and played on Broadway under the title of "The Threepenny Opera," and one of the songs therefrom was the pop song, "Mack, the Knife." The play opens with a beggar in London telling that he has dared to write an opera, in a time when only Italian opera was consid-

"Alley Fair" Is Set for Festival

BUHL — An "Alley Fair" will be featured as an added attraction to the Antique Festival Theater productions July 16 through Aug. 29.

Quality items received on consignment from artists and craftsmen from throughout Southern Idaho will be displayed and offered for sale. Audiences may visit the Alley Fair, which will be set up behind the Ramona Theater, during intermissions. They will find refreshments, and browse among oil paintings, antiques, wood pictures, identifying pennants, handcrafted jewelry, and many items from individual artisans and from art guild groups.

This is a part of the non-profit theater organization and all proceeds realized from the Alley Fair will go toward building a scholarship fund for art students.

Jordan Gives Reason for Opposing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, says he voted against the medicare bill that passed the Senate Friday because it benefits many who do not need and puts more tax burden on people who cannot afford it.

Jordan said he favored an improved social security program with substantial increases in benefit payments.

"I shall always support the proposition that our society is affluent enough and compassionate enough," he said, "to provide adequate hospital and medical services for those needy persons who cannot provide for themselves."

"This bill," he said, "departs completely from this philosophy."

Honorary pallbearers were Charles Keenan, T. M. Knight, I. T. Creed, Frank Houston, Walter Miller and Ray Jones.

Active pallbearers were Marvin Anderson, Leon Grieve, Harry Wilson, Glenn Dossett, R. B. Modeen and Harry Sharp.

Baptism of Luci Johnson Causes Much Discussion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — The baptismal rite marking the entry of Luci Baines Johnson into the Roman Catholic Church was a matter of discussion Saturday in several diocesan newspapers.

Generally the Catholic publications saw the procedure as theologically unnecessary. But they said it has been a widespread practice. And they deplored the publicity surrounding it.

Some of them also emphasized that the individual episode should not be viewed as an index of over-all interchurch relationships.

The Evangelist, of the Albany, N.Y., diocese, said the outburst about the affair gave the impression that "the whole ecumenical movement is suddenly being brought to a halt."

The editorial added, "The foundations upon which the efforts toward Christian unity are built would be pathetically unstable if an incident of this nature could cause them to crumble."

Roman Catholicism recognizes properly administered baptism in any church as valid. Church leaders have regularly cited baptism as the basic tie binding all Christians together.

The President's daughter had been baptized in the Episcopal Church when she was a child.

Taking note of this, the Rev. Edmond Bliven, editorial page editor of the Catholic Sentinel, official paper of the Archdiocese of Portland, Ore., and the diocese of Baker, Ore., commented:

"There is no reason to question the validity of Episcopal baptism and therefore no reason for 'rebaptizing' converts from the Episcopal Church even conditionally."

Some Protestants, notably Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike of California, had objected to the "rebaptism" of Miss Johnson as a slur against his church, a sacrilege and a denigration of a previous sacrament.

Conditional baptism—as in her case—is used when there is uncertainty about prior baptism. It has been practiced extensively for Protestant converts to Catholicism.

"The National Catholic Reporter, published in Kansas City, said that apparently 'there was no necessity or justification for conditionally baptizing Miss Johnson.'

If she did not understand this, 'it should have been explained to her,' the editorial said, 'but added that the "vociferous protest" by Bishop Pike "magnified the incident" and "creates unnecessary embarrassment for an 18-year-old girl."

"It is good to defend the sacrament from any shadow of abuse, and a moderate, phrased and courteous protest might have been appropriate in view of the publicity surrounding Miss Johnson's reception."

"But—Bishop—Pike—surely knows that conditional baptism, even if clearly superfluous, is not and cannot be a second baptism, so there is no question of 'sacrilege'."

The Catholic weekly of the Mobile-Birmingham, Ala., diocese regretted what it called the "sensationalism" and heated theological discussion about an event Miss Johnson considered "one of the happiest days" of her life.

However, a Protestant leader, the Rev. Dr. Fredrik A. Schioler, of Minneapolis, president of the American Lutheran Church, said the fact that the "baptism" was carried out at an individual's request was disturbing.

"It suggests an inadequate pastoral ministry during the period of instruction," he said. "The sacrament's meaning is thus obliterated and it becomes a psychological device to serve the feelings of an individual."

In Christian belief, baptism permanently unites a person with Christ and His help.

The Albany, N.Y., diocesan paper said that "the very use of the conditional form is an affirmation, rather than a denial, of Protestant baptism."

Had the prior Episcopal baptism been considered invalid, Miss Johnson simply would have been baptized anew, not conditionally, a spokesman said.

Southern Hospitality Evident In Spacious Country Home

By SYLVIA HITE

JEROME—Southern tradition, hospitality and gentility, which most people have forgotten existed, can be found right here in Magic Valley.

A chance drive in the country the other day gave this writer opportunity to view a home that has been the scene of some of the largest socials and family outings in Magic Valley.

The home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Campbell, is located on the Mountain View Ranch southeast of Jerome. It is modeled after a southern colonial home with large rooms and screened-in porches, which originally were built to keep the sun off the windows and to allow generous outdoor living.

A smile from my hostess and we stepped back in time into Southern tradition of ante bellum days. From the kitchen opens a hallway, which Mrs. Campbell explained was at one time a pantry which had been changed to a china closet and downstairs bathroom. She pulled open the closet doors and snapped on the lights and each shelf was lighted, so that the crystal glistened and gleamed and the china shone. One could only stand and admire.

In the dining room we found triangular china closets in two corners, a fireplace at one side and a dining table which at this time was covered with plaques, wall plaques of every color and description. Again a light was snapped on and one almost felt that she had stepped back into Christmas morning as experienced when a child, when everything was shining.

My hostess explained that she makes these plaques from various sized cans and with the use of special paints and shellac. To make these you need only a pair of tin snips and pointed pliers and lots of patience and perseverance, and the end result is beauty.

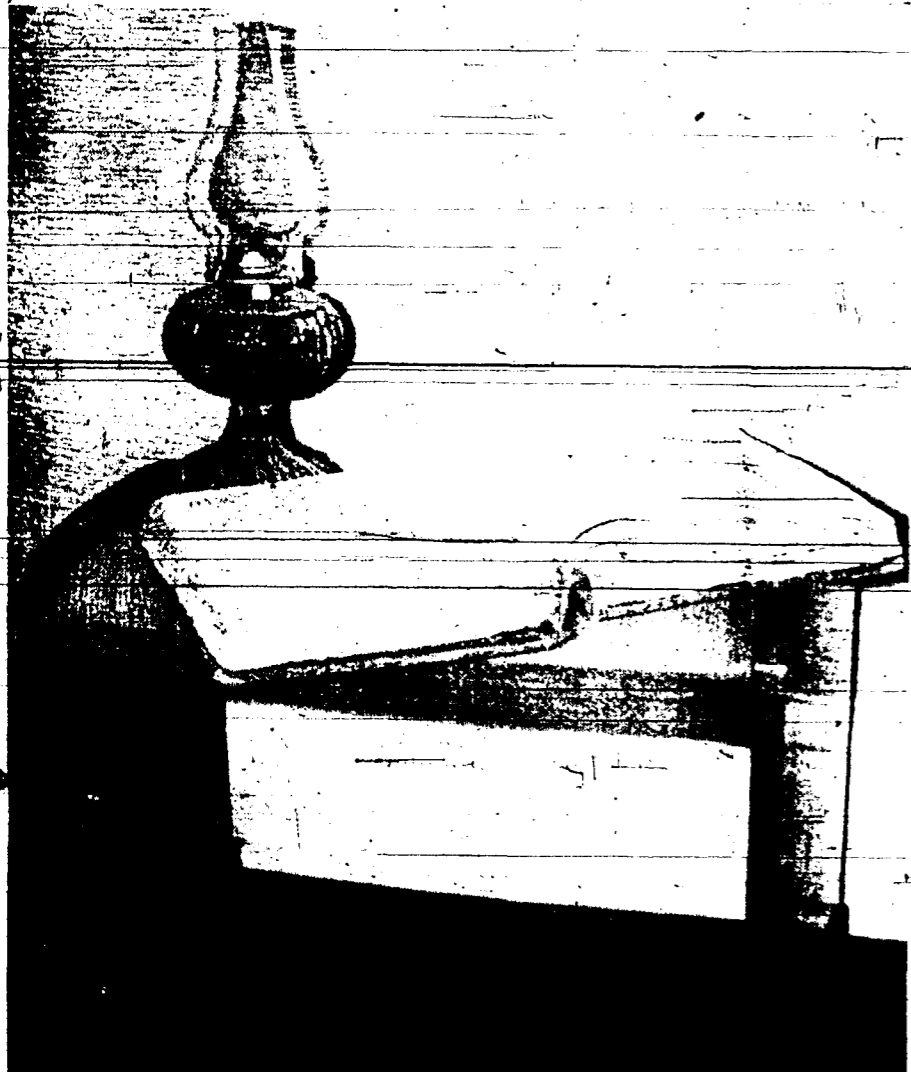

From the dining room, we stepped through a hallway, past a stairway, through an archway hung with deep green velveteen drapes and into a living room of yesterday. The windows are draped with velveteen curtains over unique curtain rods of another era.

A Baby Grand and an upright piano stand in the living room. Again my hostess displays her graciousness as she sits at the piano and plays the "National Grange March" and "North Country," which she

DISPLAYING some of her many beautiful wall plaques is Mrs. Laurence Campbell, Jerome. She explained the plaques were very easy to make and all that is needed is a pair of tin snips, pointed pliers and lots of patience and perseverance. Special paint and shellac gives just the right finish for her entire collection. (Times-News photo)

AN OLD FAMILY BIBLE, printed prior to 1850, is displayed on an antique table, complete with kerosene lamp. The lamp and Bible are just two of the many unusual and antique articles and furnishings found in the southern-styled home of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Campbell, Jerome. The home was built in 1910. (Shig Morita photo)

Marian Shank, Hancox Repeat Wedding Vows

FILER—A double ring ceremony at the Faith Memorial Church united in marriage Marian Shank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Shank, Filer, and Robert O. Hancox, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Owen Hancox, Centralia, Mo.

The wedding rites were performed June 27 by Rev. Frank Horst before a background of baskets of pink gladioli, white chrysanthemums and candelabra holding white tapers entwined with ivy.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of silk organza with inserts of Chantilly lace. The gown featured a Sabrina neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves.

The bride's fingertip veil of illusion was held by a coronet of Austrian azure stones and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink shattered carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. George Dey was matron of honor. Rhonda Dey, niece of the bride, was flower girl. George Dey, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Ushers and candlelighters were William Shank and Randy Shank, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Frank Horst, organist, accompanied Mrs. Carl Stutzman, Twin Falls, soloist.

A reception was held at the American Legion Hall. The bride's table was covered with lace over pink and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink flowers and topped with three white satin bells on a heart-shaped base.

Mrs. Glenn Stutzman, American Falls, was reception hostess. She was assisted by Mrs. R. W. Schiffer, Mrs. Ernest Blades, Mrs. Paul Shetler and Mrs. Walter Shetler. Mrs. Reuben Lierman baked and decorated the wedding cake.

British Accent Is Evident

DALEAS, Tex.—America's teen-aged girls no longer are squares copying their moms in dress.

Now they're "bird," for girl with British accent, as they look across the Atlantic to London for ideas.

Young fashions are as British as the Beatles, as off-beat as the Mod, so copied from the Chelsea look promulgated by such internationally successful designers as Mary Quant that traditional polka or coin dots no longer are so-called. Now, they are sixpence dots.

Virginia Baker of the firm of Todda Togs, Winnsboro, Tex., makers of teen and sub-teen fashions, talked of the strong British influence on young fashions in America as the Texas Fashion Creators Association closed its 15th annual "press week" for reporters from New York to California.

Most of the clothes shown this week were for summer; but some manufacturers included highlights of fall collections.

"Once we would refer to that as a floral print," she said, as a teen-aged girl walked on the runway in a white and pink print dress of dacron and cotton. "Now it's the English garden print. That long-waisted silhouette and the flat, flirty young pleats are pure English."

Soviets View Men's Fashions From West

MOSCOW (UPI)—One of America's leading clothing manufacturers staged the first U.S. men's fashion show in the Soviet Union.

A group of 138 persons, representing officials of the sponsoring Petrocelli Organization, New York, retailers, newsmen and fashion experts and models, arrived in Moscow.

The fashion show was held in the "Sovetskaya Hotel" and Russians had a chance to see the latest men's clothes styles.

But the company did not plan to use the occasion to make any sales to the Russians.

The men's fashion show coincided with Soviet attempts to spruce up men's and women's clothing. The Russians, however, have a long way to go before the bell-bottomed, baggy pants look is eliminated.

Good Lighting Essential to Apply Make-Up

By ALICIA HART
NEW YORK—(NEA) Indoor lighting plays tricks with make-up. Most women make do with inadequate bedroom or bathroom lights, accepting them as inevitable.

Often, though, a glance in a compact or rear view mirror market brings a jolt. The woman who thought her make-up properly toned indoors suddenly sees it is most unflattering in another light.

Few lighting fixtures in a home or apartment are set up to cast a flattering light on a woman's complexion or allow her to make-up properly.

Actresses know the secret of having lights that allow you to apply make-up so your complexion looks its best in contrasting indoor or outdoor light, during the day or night. One model solved her lighting problem by making up in front of her bedroom window in daylight. This does not always work.

What can poor light do? Your powder base and powder may look fine but actually be too yellow, too white or too pink when seen in another light.

Now that more women recognize the importance of good lighting to proper make-up, lighting experts have devised units for the home within most budgets.

There are a variety of new theatrical-type mirrors or strip lights. Some stand-up mirrors have built-in lights to give true lighting values and eliminate facial contour shadows. Vertical side lights, for example, now come in strips and may be installed on either side of a flush mirror. Lighting experts (for Lightolier) say the minimum recommended spacing for these is 24 inches.

Non-glare bulbs, those designed for make-up if they are available in your area, are best. Do not use bare bulbs brighter than 15 watts each if bare bulbs are the only ones available.

You can dress up your make-up alcove in bedroom or bath with your make-up lighting unit. Select an attractive wallpaper, perhaps a vinyl stain-proof wall covering, so you can wash off make-up splatters easily.

Future of Idaho State Parks System in Hands of 6 Persons

By EARLE L. JESTER
BOISE (AP) — In the hands of six people rests the future of Idaho's state parks system. It was put there by the 1965 Legislature, which was convinced that only by having an independent, nonpartisan agency in charge of the parks, could they best be developed for public use.

Many Idahoans will be watching the result with interest. In the past, the parks have been administered as a division of the State Land Department, which is controlled by the State Land Board. The latter is made up of five elected state officials, chosen on a political basis. This result often gives a political complexion to parks administration. The legislature made the parks department an independent agency and set up a six-member board to administer it. The law specified that the board should be made up of three Republicans and three Democrats and it permitted state legislators to serve on it.

One of the latter, State Rep. William Frome, a Republican, of St. Anthony, was named chairman. He said he is certain that the five other board members are as determined as he is to make the program a success.

"This is a real challenge to the parks board," Frome said,

"and the possibilities for the future are tremendous. There is no end to what might be done in the area of developing our outdoor resources for recreational uses."

As the board sees it, there are two aspects to the program: Improving present parks and developing new ones.

The six members decided the best way to start is to take a look at what Idaho has now. They asked acting Parks Director Jon Soderblom to set up a schedule that will take them to all major existing state parks, beginning late this month.

"It's really too late to do much more than plan for this summer," Frome said. "However, we hope we may be able to undertake some upgrading projects."

Frome said he thinks one need is in the area of planning. He said a professional parks planner could look over what Idaho has and draw up a program for improvement and expansion.

The board already has outlined qualifications for the new state parks director: he hopes to employ at its October meeting. It says it will pay at least $12,000 per year. That salary is regarded as sufficient to attract someone who has had 10 to 15 years experience in parks administration.

The new parks department will have considerably more money to spend than its predecessors. But it also will have more expenses.

In the past part of the administrative cost of operating the department has been borne by the land department. This included such things as secretarial and accounting help.

Now the department is an independent agency and will have its own employees.

The appropriation for the biennium is about $750,000. That is more than double the $353,000 the department had in the past two years.

Possessing probably the greatest potentials for new state parks are the Farragut area on Lake Pend Oreille and the Harman Ranch in eastern Idaho. Farragut was transferred to the state by the federal government which used it as a naval training station site in World War II. It has been developed for use by Girl Scouts for their international roundup this month and many improvements for that can be retained.

The deed giving the Harfman Ranch to the state provides the transfer will not be effective until the deaths of the two Harfman brothers. But the land could become available sooner.

One of the requirements in the gift deed is that the land be developed by a professionally-staffed parks department. There have been hints that if the state develops such a department, the area might be turned over to Idaho at once.

Mannie Shaw, Corral, is chairman for the old-fashioned gettogether and some folks plan to take a lunch and make the day a full outing.

Lincoln County Farm Bureau will hold its annual picnic at the same time.

CALDWELL (AP)—The Treasure Valley Cubs bunched their runs in the third and sixth innings and rode strong pitching for a 5-2 win over the Magic Valley Cowboys. With the win, Treasure Valley swept all three games with Magic Valley in a Pioneer League series. The two teams begin another series at Twin Falls Sunday night. League pitcher Ken Holtzman fought a pitching duel with the Cowboys' Doug McMillan until the Cubs' third inning when the roof fell in on McMillan. ## Boyer's Grand Slam Halts Twins' Streak

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Clete Boyer halted Minnesota's winning streak at nine games, clouting a grand slam home run in the eighth inning that gave the New York Yankees an 8-6 victory over the American League-leading Twins Saturday night. Minnesota won the opener of the day-night doubleheader 4-1 behind Zolito Versalles' two-run homer. The Yankees, however, loaded the bases behind 5-4, loaded the bases in the eighth inning of the second game against reliever Dick Stigman with singles by Roger Repoz, his fourth hit of the game, and Ray Barker plus a walk to Hector Lopez. John Klippstein relieved Stigman to face Boyer, who hit the second pitch 365 feet over the left field fence. New York tagged starter Jim Grant for four runs and nine hits, including bases-empty homers by Repoz and Lopez, before he went out in the seventh. The Twins beat Whitey Ford, now 10-5, in the opener. A three-run rally in the fifth did it as pitcher Jim Perry squeezed home one run and Versalles

Angels Win First Home Game of Year

IDAHO FALLS (AP)—The Idaho Falls Angels won their first home game of the year in a Pioneer League season Saturday night by defeating Pocatello 7-4. The Angels led most of the contest. Angel center fielder Lee Massey led the game off with a solo home run. Pocatello's Rhett Thompson tied the contest in the fifth with another home run. Pocatello picked up one other run in that inning after Jim Garfield singled, stole second, and scored on another wild pitch. Idaho Falls tied it in the bottom of the fifth on a double by Massey, who scored on a Pocatello error. The Angels picked up two more runs in the sixth, and in the eighth got three.

The Dodgers scored two runs in the first inning on Maury Wills' single, a double by Jim Gilliam, a sacrifice bunt and Fairly's sacrifice fly. They put the game away in the fifth. ## Newman, Lee Blank Indians For Angels

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fred Newman and Bob Lee of Los Angeles combined efforts for a 10-hit shutout against Cleveland Saturday night as the Angels beat the Indians for the third straight time, 1-0. Newman was in and out of trouble for eight innings and allowed all 10 hits before giving way to Lee in the ninth. Vic Power singled home the first-inning run that gave Newman, 9-7, the edge in a pitching duel against Sam McDowell, 9-6, who hurled a five-hitter. Newman, who had lost three straight to the Indians, didn't allow an extra-base hit, walked none and benefitted from two double plays. The Indians were able to advance only one runner as far as third base. The Angels bunched two of their hits off McDowell in the first inning. # Kelso Opens Quest for Sixth Horse of Year Rating

STANTON, Del. (UPI)—Kelso, quarter length victory at Delaware Park Saturday in the "Horse of the Year" title, romped to an easy three and one-closer to the $2 million mark. The mighty gelding, owned by Mrs. Richard C. Dupont, had no trouble going to the front in the stretch and pulling away from three rivals to record his first stakes triumph of the year in his second start.

IT'S ANOTHER VICTORY for Mrs. Richard C. du Pont's mighty Kelso as he crosses the finish line in the $20,000 added Diamond State Handicap at Delaware Park Saturday for his first stakes win of 1965. Jockey Ismael Valenzuela was in the irons as Kelso finished 3/4 lengths over Kilmoray, left. Big Brigade finished third. (AP wirephoto)

Campbell Plans Speed Mark Try

LONDON (AP)—Donald Campbell says he plans to build a jet car to go faster than sound and use it to take the world land speed record away from Art Arfons of Akron, Ohio. Campbell, a 44-year-old British daredevil, said Thursday he will build a car capable of going 840 miles per hour. The speed of sound is about 760 m.p.h. Campbell said the car would have three wheels, be 22 feet long, 11 feet wide and three feet high. He said he will probably make his faster-than-sound attempt on Lake Eyrie, Australia.

Public Demands Drive Swimmer to Sick Bed

LAKE OSWEGO, Ore. (AP)—In October, a scrub-faced teenager, Don Schollander, swam away with the 1964 Tokyo Olympics, winning four gold medals. His picture was on magazine covers through the world, and thousands of letters and invitations poured into his home here. Eight months later, he collapsed in Switzerland with mononucleosis, exhausted after his first semester at Yale, three trips to Europe, two to the White House and dozens of banquets and parades across the country. Mononucleosis — sometimes called glandular fever — is a disease bringing on fever, general weakness, and swellings of the lymph glands. It probably is caused by a virus. It usually affects young people and rest is the main treatment. It's fatal only in rare cases when complications occur. The disease left Schollander 11 pounds lighter at 165, hollow-eyed and wobbly legged. "The American public just honors its heroes to the point of destruction," Carolyn Wood, 19, a 1960 Olympic swimmer from nearby Portland, wrote him at the hospital in Berne. Schollander has been ordered to bed for the summer and will miss the national outdoor swimming meet at Toledo, Ohio, next month. The doctors say, however, he should be able to return to Yale this fall, and be swimming again by Christmas. By then, he expects some of the pressure to ease. "I think they'll find new heroes by then," Schollander said, sprawled in bed. "I want to stay home and just sit around, doing nothing for awhile. Sure I'll miss seeing my friends at Toledo. But the rest will be good—mentally and physically." "The Olympics kind of changed my life," Schollander said. "I've been on the go ever since, and I was pretty worn down by the time for final examinations. Yale is a darn hard school, and it would have been hard enough without the banquet circuit, swimming and working part-time. It was just too much. "I feel obligated to the public — after all, it wasn't the government that paid my way to Tokyo, it was the taxpayer. I owe so much to swimming, I feel obligated to promote it, too. But now I've discovered I have some obligations to myself, too. "If I accepted all of the invitations, I'd flunk out, get fat and not be able to swim. So now I know I have to balance the obligations."

Fan Dancer Arrested at Night Spot

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Fan dancer Sully Rand, who first attracted wide attention at the Chicago Century of Progress in 1933, was arrested following her first performance in an Omaha night club Friday night. She was booked for investigation under her real name, Helel Gould Beck, and released on $300 bond. The night club owner, George F. Earl, also was booked and freed on $300 bond. The Omaha vice squad report said Miss Rand admitted that she was nude during her dance. Vice squad patrolman Vern Presher said Miss Rand appeared first in a white gown and carried two large feather fans. She started a slow tempo dance to recorded organ music. The officer said that after about one minute she exposed her body to the audience and danced nude for about six minutes.

After being booked she returned to the club and was back on stage at 1 a.m. but there was no arrest this time.

The 61-year-old dancer said she had been doing the same act since the 1933 Chicago Century of Progress fair. She said she was charged in Chicago in 1933 and in Los Angeles and San Francisco in 1946 but was never convicted.

On his arrival in Omaha, the dancer parried a question about what she wore behind her fans with the comment: "That's like asking the magician where he gets the rabbit."

Following her arrest she met a similar question with the reply: "The Rand is quicker than the eye."

Death Claims Peter Boyd

RUPERT — Peter Boyd, 76, died Thursday in the Veteran's Hospital, Boise, of a long illness.

He was born April 29, 1889, in Whooplaw, Scotland, and came to the United States in 1913 to work for Laidlaw and Brockie. After working with them for eight years he became postmaster at Muldoon, a position he held until 1930, when he moved to Rupert.

He married Ruth Higgins on April 5, 1921, in Boise. Mr. Boyd was a veteran of World War I.

He is survived by his widow, one brother, John Boyd, Victoria, B.C., and one sister, Mary Walker, Duns, Scotland. He was preceded in death by a son.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Walk Mortuary.

STATE HIGHWAY Department truck splashes through water running over U.S. Highway 93 alternate near Leslie where Big Lost River washed out a diversion dam Friday and flooded the highway. The Arco-Mackay area has been plagued by high water for weeks and residents don't expect any relief for another three weeks. The Highway Department set up a detour around this area to reroute traffic until the high water subsides. (Times-News photo)

Crew Working on Flooded Road in Lost River Valley

MACKAY — Sixteen trucks, heavy equipment and a crew of highway department men continued work Saturday to reclaim a flooded section of U.S. Highway 93 alternate south of here near Leslie.

High water in the Big Lost River washed out a diversion dam Friday and water covered the low section of highway.

H. H. Hubbard, maintenance superintendent at the state highway department's district office in Shoshone, said nine trucks from the Shoshone area and seven from the Mackay-Arco area are working on the project, plus three loaders, a power shovel and a bulldozer.

He said it is hoped the breach in the bank of the river will be sealed by Wednesday. Then, he added, the road across the marshy area will have to be rebuilt.

Traffic is being rerouted on a 14-mile detour between Moore and Leslie. A water wagon is being run over the dirt road detour to keep the dust down, Hubbard said.

The Mackay-Arco area has been plagued by high water for weeks. Indications are that high water conditions will continue for another three weeks.

Hatfield to Seek Senate Next Year

BEND, Ore. (AP) — Republicans in Oregon have a new state chairman and the assurance from him that Gov. Mark Hatfield will run for the U.S. Senate next year.

Peter Gunnar, a political friend and legal advisor of the governor, became the Republicans' first paid chairman Saturday. He will receive up to $15,000 a year, but said he would continue some of his law practice and take party money only on the basis of work done.

He succeeds Elmo Smith, Albany publisher, who resigned.

Gunnar said Saturday that the Senate needs the Mark O. Hatfield brand of Republicanism. He added that the Oregon Republicans can be proud of representation in Washington by their "present governor and next senator."

In accepting the state chairmanship, Gunnar outlined three programs for Republicans in Oregon:

1. Propose a constitutional amendment to permit high school graduates of any age to vote in Oregon.

2. Set up a program that will make use of the skills and experience of retired citizens.

3. Propose a legislative program to construct forest access roads into areas of federal timber which he said were overripe and rotting; and give summer jobs to high school and college students building the roads.

Photographer Describes Marine Assault on Hoa

Editor's Note — AP photographer Eddie Adams accompanied U.S. Marines assaulting An Hoa Island Friday. This is his account.

By EDDIE ADAMS
AN HOA, Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Marines based across the bay used to call this island Little Hawaii because of its rolling surf and happy people. In one day, An Hoa became a little hell.

When the Marines landed here they found the South Vietnamese coastal patrol headquarters overrun by Viet Cong guerrillas. At the headquarters itself, 16 South Vietnamese sailors had been killed, along with two U.S. Navy advisers, both shot in the head. Nearby, the Viet Cong had slain six members of the local militia.

Then, as the day wore on three Marines died in Viet Cong fire and 13 were wounded. The guerrillas lost six killed and 51 taken prisoners.

But the heaviest toll: According to U.S. sources, about 100 civilians caught in the crossfire.

An-Hoa Island lies just across the bay from the U.S. Marine installations at Chu Lai. Capt. Richard Theer, of Davenport, Iowa, was awakened by the sound of the Viet Cong attack.

Theer and his men crossed the bay in amphibious tanks.

Alpha Company, a force of 120 Marines, moved west across the island, with their first objective the village of Xuan My. The Viet Cong had dug themselves in beside every house. As the U.S. Marines advanced across the deep sand dunes, an enemy 81mm mortar shell hit, wounding seven men, all seriously.

More mortar rounds came in and heavy machinegun fire zoomed in from a 12-foot-high mound of sand called "Hill 12" by the Marines.

Sgt. Roger Provost, 24, from Holyoke, Mass., led a squad of Marines up to the barbed wire entanglements around Xuan My. As he cut the wire for his men to pass, one Marine was wounded. Provost moved back to help him and a bullet grazed his head. Within minutes he was back at the wire, and led his squad through.

But the two Marines covering his movements were killed by Viet Cong fire.

Xuan My headquarters had been attacked earlier by the Viet Cong. The Marines found that many of the Viet Cong had escaped in junk.

Other Marines were taking the town of Long Thanh that had been occupied by the Viet Cong. As the Marines moved through Xuan My, a Viet Cong jumped from behind a burning home. He was grabbed by two Marines but he broke away.

A Marine fired a shot over his head, and he kept running. The next shot killed him.

All morning civilians appealed to the Marines for help.

The fight continued until 2 p.m. Another Marine company was moving across An Hoa from the

Young Men, Full of Ideas. Rush Sun Valley Plans From Dreams to Reality

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor

SUN VALLEY—The young men are getting things done in this world famed resort. The Sun Valley which was growing comfortably old now is taking another deep breath, and the results of the inhalation are becoming obvious even to those people who never notice such things.

Big thing right now is the $1.5 million program which is under way and which, by Dec. 15, will result in 50 Lodge Apartments being located adjacent to Sun Valley Lodge.

The job is being rushed under direction of Mitchell Construction Co., Pocatello. There are about 70 men on the job now and the number will swell to more than 100 when the final push comes. The apartments are destined to be occupied by the snow season.

Will the 50 Lodge Apartments—with two and three bedrooms and related areas spread over one and two story heights—be accepted by the public? By now the fact they will is a foregone conclusion.

Sun Valley officials have had more than 200 inquiries for the 50 available units. It will be more of a problem as to who will get them, rather than if the supply will exceed the demand.

And that isn't all. Probably next summer there will be another 25 similar apartments constructed. Based on current costs, this will probably mean another expenditure of a quarter of a million.

Present plans call for each unit to be sold to an individual or corporation for a stipulated amount.

Then, when the owner is not using the apartment, it could be rented to other individuals by the lodge management. The money received in this manner will be divided between the owner and the company.

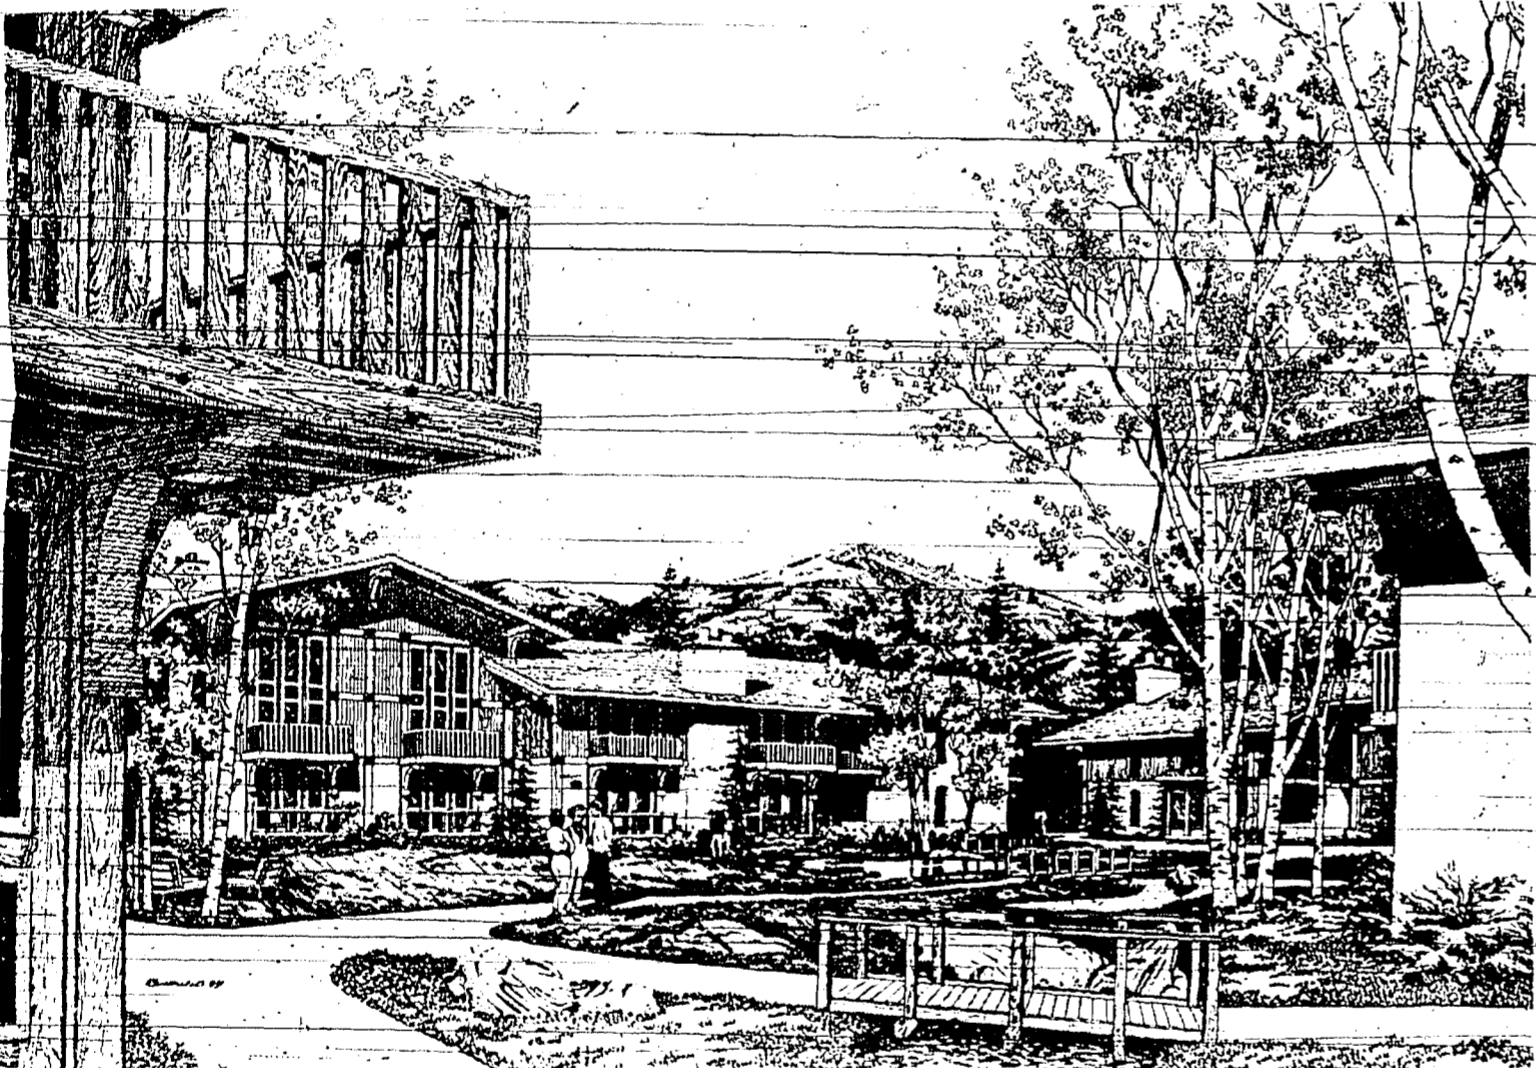

Another major improvement scheduled for construction next spring involves what might be

Jerome Teaching Couple Creates Enthusiasm

By SYLVIA HITE
Times-News Correspondent

JEROME — Jerome High School is fortunate indeed to have the teaching team of Warren and Reta Van Camp. Both teachers have an intangible asset which brings out the best from the students with whom they work.

Other faculty members of Jerome High School state that Van Camp seems to generate an enthusiasm among his students, which instills in them the desire to learn. "He has a certain spark which seems to kindle a flame," they say.

Mrs. Van Camp says that her husband has such a consuming interest in his work that it overflows and since there is never a lack of material there is no time for boredom in his classes. Van Camp teaches biology and advanced biology at the Jerome High School.

Mrs. Van Camp, while praising her husband, has earned the praise of those with whom she works because of her interest in her own field, music. She teaches one-half day, directing the eighth grade girls' chorus, ninth grade mixed chorus and varsity choir, and loves every minute of it.

Both teachers stated that they do not have any discipline problems.

Students contacted feel the reason for this is the fact that both teachers know their field and are able to get it across, and both teachers show their respect for the students they are teaching and therefore earn the respect that is shown to them. When asked why they chose Jerome, when they could earn more money elsewhere, their reply was united, "We like the location, the community and the people. We like to camp out, hunt and fish and while we could make more money elsewhere, it would not compensate for the advantages we receive here."

Warren was the only child of Rev. and Mrs. C. Warren Van Camp and was born in Santa Cruz, Calif., on May 22, 1934. He was graduated from Modesto, Calif., high school, where he was active in track, specializing in pole vaulting.

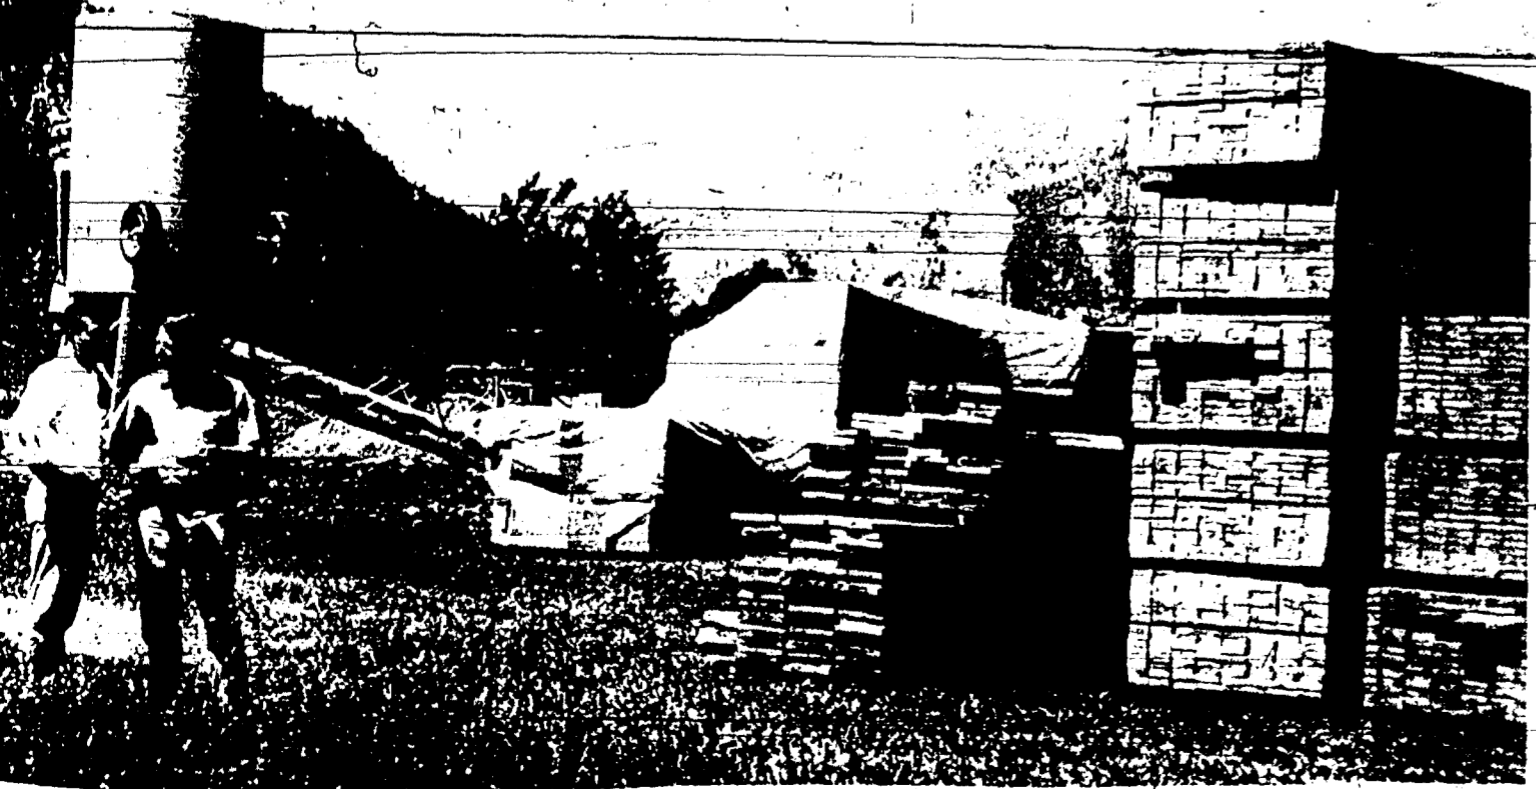

He spent three years in the Army, serving in the army band and was stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., between Springfield and St. Louis.

He attended the Naval School of Music at Washington, D.C., for five months and was discharged in February, 1956.

He graduated cum laude with a bachelor of science degree from the University of Idaho in 1956. (Continued on Page 25)

DECLO VILLAGE blacksmith for nearly half a century, John Hill, has sold his blacksmith shop to Chester Parke who had the landmark torn down. Hill worked over the anvil in the shop for more than 48 years. He is an active member of the LDS church and has served on the village board. "The village blacksmith" no more, he still works part time in the Declo Welding shop.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

The old DECLO village blacksmith shop recently was torn down by Chester Parke who has purchased the property from John Hill. Hill purchased the property in 1915 and built his shop the same year. He toiled over the anvil in his little shop for over 49 years, retiring last September. When Hill started his career as the village blacksmith, Declo was known as Marshfield and was made up of two small stores, a lumberyard, a community church and three homes. Born Jan. 18, 1885, in Ogden, Utah, Hill learned the blacksmith trade under the direction of Jess Savage. In 1907 he moved to HEYBURN and worked there until his move to Declo where he built his home in 1916 and has continued to live and raise his family.

Hill and his family have been active members of the LDS church and he has served on the village board several terms. He has had two families with four children in the first and seven in the second. Mr. and Mrs. Hill have also made a home for by hand in those days. I think we did more than we do today with all our modern machinery to work with. We didn't count our time by the hours we put in, like today, but we were paid by the piece or so much a day for our labor," he stated.

He mentioned that more than once he narrowly escaped injury when he was shoeing horses and mules, many of them weighing a ton or more and he weighing just over a hundred pounds.

Hill helped to put electricity in the village and assisted with installing electric lights in the homes.

Hill still works part time in the Declo welding shop and enjoys reading good books and keeps up with the news of the day.

When asked what invention or discovery he considers the most important, in his opinion, during his lifetime, Hill replied, "There have been so many it is really hard to pick out just one, but I think that radio, and radar, and splitting the atom are all things that are wonderful discoveries."

Now another page in the history of Declo has closed with the tearing down of the old familiar shop where Hill worked and served his community and friends so faithfully for almost half a century.

Longfellow's well known poem, "The Village Blacksmith," could well describe Declo's retired smithy.

Residents of the little rural community of TUTTLE in Gooding county are getting the same service as usual despite the fact the Tuttle post office had been officially closed as a fourth class office after 49 years of operation.

The postal facility is now designated as an independent rural station, according to Mrs. Gladys Douglas, who was appointed postmaster May 31, 1942. She still distributes the mail into boxes, cancels stamps with the Tuttle postmark, but the mail is handled through the HAGERMAN post office where she also gets her stamps.

The postmaster recalls that the mail came by train until Oct. 31, 1951 when the train discontinued the Tuttle stop. The mail was then brought from Hagerman and later from BLISS.

The fixtures of the station are picturesque, having been acquired many years ago, about 1919. It is thought, when the Tuttle Post Office was moved into a new store building owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dave Eakin, on the present site of the Tuttle Grange Hall.

Some years later it was moved to Hagerman for a house. The mail was handled before that from a house southwest of the location of the store. Mrs. Eakin was the postmaster from April of that year for a few months until Frank Shepherd Sr. was appointed and served for a month or so with Faye Ravenscroft as assistant.

Miss Ravenscroft, who is now Mrs. Faye Crawford, Tuttle, then was postmaster with her mother, Mrs. T. L. Ravenscroft, as assistant. Mrs. Ravenscroft became postmaster in February, 1921, and the post office was moved to a hardware store building which had been built by Mr. and Mrs. Ravenscroft.

The post office has been in this location since then. Mrs.

FOUR MOUNTAIN GOATS feed near trap atop Snow Peak on North Fork of Clearwater River. Seven of these highly valued trophy animals were live-trapped, ear-tagged and moved via helicopter, airplane, truck and boat to Lake Pend Oreille, north of Coeur d'Alene, making 17 that have been transplanted to the rough terrain above Echo Bay. (Fish and Game photo)

Idaho Mountain Goats Will Thrill Girl Scouts at Coeur d'Alene Camp

BY JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho Fish-Game Department COEUR D'ALENE — Some 11,000 young ladies and their advisers and executive officers attending the 1965 Girl Scout Roundup on the south end of Big Lake Pend Oreille near Coeur d'Alene will carry tall tales of Idaho mountain goats back to their homes throughout this land of ours, this America, and to 40 foreign countries as well.

They will tell friends and relations about sighting these nimble, rapier-horned creatures in small groups of three or four — sometimes with a kid or yearling — across the lake from their encampment at Farragut State Park, the very epitome of wildlife in a natural state.

They will describe the antics of their camp mascot, a wild young billy goat, to be liberated across the lake when the girls go home.

They will tell of other mountain goats taken from trucks and ferried across the lake in boats to the release site alongside a rocky slide, a deeply eroding scar slashing steeply upward from the mountain top several thousand feet above the water.

This will be heard and possibly will be ranked as a tall tale from Idaho.

For whoever dreamed of wild mountain goats being trapped at the top of the world on two jagged peaks in the Clearwater River drainage, crated in wooden boxes, helicoptered to Larsen's Bar on the North Fork, thence by conventional aircraft to Coeur d'Alene and the waiting trucks to transport them on the last leg of their journey to Lake Pend Oreille?

The Girl Scouts will hear about it, although this release of three nannies and three billy goats, five of them yearlings, occurred several weeks before their encampment at Farragut State Park July 17 for a 10-day roundup.

Two other mountain goat releases totaling 11 animals were made in 1960 and 1962 at Echo Bay, and several young goats have been observed over the past year or two. These are known to have been born at Lake Pend Oreille, a good indication that the transplant is successful.

However, just the lakeside face of the mountain towering above Echo Bay is suitable habitat for these wilderness animals. The other side is poor side of the Pahsimeroi Valley. Occasional goats are seen further down on the divide between Birch and Little Lost River north of the Atomic Energy plant near the edge of the desert.

The third potentially good mountain goat habitat area is located 18-20 miles southeast of Grangeville between the South Fork of the Clearwater and Salmon rivers. This is in the headwaters of Johns Creek and tributaries. A release of mountain goats here is planned a year from now.

Seven nannies and two billy goats, trapped on Snow Peak and Black Mountain, were released in 1964 in the Seven Devils Mountains on a ridge above Basin Lake near Cow Camp.

This transplant supplemented eight mountain goats trapped in the same area and liberated at the same site in 1962. Trapping in the Pahsimeroi has not been successful to date because of snow and fog.

Six animals were lured into traps but escaped before the helicopter arrived to ferry them down the mountainside to a landing strip.

Goats trapped and released at the Pend Oreille site are part of current work to establish small bands in suitable habitat. One of the more spectacular phases of the Fish and Game Department's Five Point Program for the future is the transplanting of game animals and birds in good habitat where they have not been for years, if ever, according to Williams.

Following the study, Brandborg published a definitive 142-page bulletin on the life history and management of the species called "Mountain Goat in Idaho."

Three other ranges are deemed suitable habitat for mountain goats, although none live in them now.

These are in the Seven Devils Mountains near the abyssal rim of Hells Canyon, and the Lemhi range on the southeast

HEARING MADE POSSIBLE With Nothing In Either Ear

Ossining, N. Y. — A recently patented invention now makes it possible for tens of thousands of people to enjoy hearing again yet puts nothing in either ear, according to Oticon Listener Laboratories.

Instead of forcing amplified sound through the impaired outer ear, the new patented "Tympano Technique" conducts sound smoothly through the mastoid process directly to the "hearing center," the inner ear. It was created to enable people to hear with Bone Conduction, even those who may have been told that they could not hear by Bone Conduction.

This hearing invention has no buttons, no tubes, no wires, no bulky batteries. You may wear it without even your closest friends realizing it's a hearing aid unless you tell them.

The invention is called RX-88 and is the result of 23 years of experience by Oticon specialists. Now made possible by a development of the Bell Telephone Laboratories — the miracle transistor similar to those used in U. S. space satellites.

The RX-88 is truly a dramatic step forward in hearing aid technology. It not only brings you a thrilling new world of sound, but also privacy and convenience never achieved before. If you'd like to know more about this patented hearing device with Oticon, and how it may help you, write Oticon Listener Laboratories, Box 7699, One Post Road, Ossining, N. Y. — Adv.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT ...

Many Dreams Fade With Age, but Not Those of Twin Falls Airport Manager

Most people dream as youngsters then forget the dreams as they grow up. Not so with Edwin C. Woods, manager of Joslin Field, Twin Falls municipal airport.

As a youth he dreamed of flying. In later life he accomplished that dream by becoming a flying officer in the United States Navy, then still later he remained in that field by joining United Airlines at the Gooding office and later at Twin Falls.

It was a transfer from Twin Falls to Sacramento for United Airlines that convinced him that living in the Magic Valley was really the only way to live.

While in Sacramento he decided there were just too many people around to enjoy the kind of life he really aspired to and so when he heard that the job as manager of the local field was open, he applied and was accepted for the post.

He left United Airlines after 14 years and brought his family back to Twin Falls — at a drop in salary from what he was getting in California but nevertheless, as he puts it, "glad to be back."

Woods' life really started almost within sight of where he is now working. He was born on what is now the airport road.

The town airport was then actually located near Kimberly road where the United Oil Co. headquarters is now maintained. As the airport location changed from one area to another in this region, Woods always knew where it was because he managed to "hang around" when he wasn't in school.

He completed the first eight grades of his formal education at St. Edward's school and then graduated from the local high school in 1938. During his studies he favored mathematics and science and planned for the day when he could enter the air corps (now called the air force) and head for flight training at Randolph Field.

After high school he entered the University of Idaho, Southern Branch at Pocatello (now Idaho State University) and completed a two-year course in engineering. About that time Lockheed needed "junior engineers" and Woods was one of those selected for the coveted jobs. He was working there on Dec. 7, 1941 when World War II started and that brings up another story about his flying exploits.

"I ran right down to enlist in the Air Corps and found a line at the army recruiting office was about three blocks long. I looked across the street and noticed there was no crowd at all at the Navy recruiting depot so I walked across the street.

"To make a long story short, after all these years of dreaming of being an Air Corps flier, I joined the Navy and was soon on my way to Yuma, Arizona where I entered Civilian Pilot Training as a Navy cadet."

He was later transferred to

An award of a special certificate and $10 will be given to an outstanding exhibit, which may or may not be received by one of the winners of the previous awards. A rosette will be awarded to the outstanding merchant exhibit.

Woods resides with his family at 552 Eastland Drive. He has seven children, six residing at home. The eldest daughter, Mrs. Gary (Peggy) Pedrow lives at Filer. Steve is a student at the University of Idaho and Susan is a senior at the local high school. Jim is a seventh grader, Bob in the third grade, Kathy is four years old and Katelyn is two.

Space Agency Plans Orbit Of "Coupons"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency plans to orbit a luminous monster bearing 48 brightly colored "coupons" which officials hope a Gemini or Apollo astronaut will clip and bring back to earth a year or so hence.

The space monster is the 1-1/2 ton Pegasus C meteoroid satellite which the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) will launch with its 10th and last Saturn-I rocket July 30. Like two other Pegasus cosmic dust detectors launched by Saturn boosters in the past eight months, Pegasus C will expose a giant wing, 96 by 14 feet, to bombardment by the fast-moving particles of matter which swarm in space.

Unlike its predecessors, Pegasus C will be coated with luminous paint to make it more visible to any astronaut who may be soaring through space in its general vicinity. It also will carry vividly marked metallic panels of varying thickness which could easily be detached by a space-walking astronaut.

The hope is to bring back to earth for laboratory study metal targets which have been hit and perhaps pierced by meteoroids. Information about cosmic dust near the earth, important to spacecraft designers, has been reported heretofore solely by radio signals from orbiting detectors.

The two-man Gemini space program is designed among other things to perfect rendezvous and docking maneuvers vital to success of the Apollo moon voyages later in this decade. The early three-man Apollo flights also will be devoted to astronaut training in joining spacecraft in flight.

So it occurred to the scientists charged with studying space dust and its possible effect on space exploration that the Gemini or early Apollo pilots might help them out.

4-H Club Plans Swimming Party

FILER—The Wideawake 4-H Club met at the home of Ray Ohtenseler, leader, and planned a swimming party at Banbury's July 16.

Demonstrations were given by Barbara Gihring on gardening, Warren Lassen on changing from swine to dairy and Bonnie Gihring on beef.

Games were played and refreshments served following the business meeting. The next meeting will be July 22 at the home of Larry Stiegemeier.

HEAD COOK FOR the annual 4-H summer camp, Clarinda Barney, looks over the food she is preparing for the noon meal. The meals are dietetically prepared and are served by the staff at the camp. Thirty junior leaders help in the activities by assisting in preparation and serving of the meals and in other activities. (Times-News photo)

CABINS MADE OF WOOD and canvas, as shown, are where the members stay during 4-H summer camp at Camp Sawtooth, seven miles north of Ketchum. The camp is held to teach members attending about the surrounding area, from which they take their heritage. The camp is proving more popular each year. (Times-News photo)

4-H Members Entertained By Idaho State Policemen

KETCHUM—Each year, during the month of June, some 150 young people from 4-H clubs all over Twin Falls county converge on Camp Sawtooth, seven miles north of Ketchum. The youngsters who attend the annual camp range in age from 10 to 16. This year was one of the largest camps ever held on the camp site. One hundred and sixty-five 4-H members attended the camp.

Area Scouts Being Taught Water Safety

A program under way this summer to teach water skills and safety has drawn more than 100 scouts from the Snake River Council, it was announced Saturday.

The council also is training adult leaders who attend Camp Bradley this summer on the "safe swim defense." Scout leaders have a way of preventing tragedies they call the "buddy system."

Gordon Beckstead, chairman of the health and safety committee of the council, explained the idea of the buddy system is for boys to engage in activities in pairs.

"There's no doubt," Beckstead says, "that the buddy system will make outdoor activities twice as much fun and many times safer."

Beckstead listed the following tips for those who participate in water activities: Swim in a safe place and in the presence of lifeguards or competent adult swimmers; stay away from the area immediately in front of the diving board.

Be sure rescue equipment, such as buoys, boats and reaching poles are readily available at your swimming area; in case of trouble, assume a face-up floating position, keep your hands under water, slowly move your feet up and down and move your hands in a gentle circular motion; whenever a storm approaches, get out of the water."

Michael J. Mazzone, council scout executive, will be in charge of the course.

Anyone interested may contact the Scout Service Center, Twin Falls.

REHABILITATED SPOKANE (AP)—The Woodrat silver-lead-zinc mine at Luby Bay, Priest Lake, Idaho, is being rehabilitated under a reactivation program at Kanisu Mines, Inc., it was reported here today.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, July 11—Born to accomplish. What do you do you, like many born under the sign of Cancer, are drawn to "causes." You have a desire to do good, to spread cheer, to better the lot of those less fortunate than yourself. But at the same time, you are not completely a "giver." You have great faith that good given will result in good received, and you fully expect that if you are charitable in word and action toward others, others will be the same way toward you.

Despite the fact that you are drawn to those with problems and difficulties, and that you are willing to do what you can to help, you are nevertheless a person who does not like unpleasantness. Sordid situations or circumstances do not attract you; morbid conditions hold no fascination for you. You like the good things of life, and this, in reality, is the secret of your charitable nature; you want the good things of life for others too!

In choosing a mate, you must take care to select someone who is as open-hearted and open-minded as you are. You must also take care not to choose someone who overdoes generosity and kindness. That healthy balance between giving and receiving that you believe in is necessary to your happiness, and it can only be maintained in marriage if both partners work at it.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday July 12
CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Quite unusual results can come about if you participate in what seems to be a run-of-the-mill event.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Should you decide to speculate financially, remember that these are high risk days for Leo—particularly where money is concerned.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Don't be set off your guard by what appears to be a routine day. Surprises calling for speedy action may occur at any time.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Don't get routine matters out of the way early. Afternoon hours may be taken up with affairs neither planned nor especially desired.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—At mid-summer, it's an excellent day for looking both forward and back. What have you accomplished? What do you plan to accomplish? SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Avoid expending unnecessary energy during morning hours. You may need all your resources for evening chores.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Carry off morning chores dutifully and cheerfully; precision rather than speed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Delay no further in settling your financial obligations. There are those who are depending upon your prompt action.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—Take on all responsibilities in a quiet, willing manner. To protest may be to lose out.

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—Clear away all paper work if possible. Be free for the type of action that takes you away from your desk.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—A slow beginning, with a gradual increase of energy output until full speed is achieved by mid-afternoon, is the best work pattern for today.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Desired results come from a day devoted to business concerns. Loss could come tomorrow as a result of wasted time today.

Jerome Teaching Couple Creates Enthusiasm Among Students

Reta has a twin sister, Leta, wife of Capt. Sam Ragland, now in Madrid and one brother, Robert Pace.

She taught two years at Jerome High School with classes in English, literature, and music. She resigned prior to the birth of their daughter, Tricia, who is now two. They also have a son, Brent, who is seven.

In the fall of 1964, Reta returned to Jerome High School, teaching one-half day.

The Van Camps are members of the Presbyterian Church and Mrs. Van Camp is choir director. Van Camp, who shares his wife's love of music, is a member of the choir.

The couple is joint-skipper (president) of the "Mariners," the young married group.

She is a member of the Presbyterian Women's Association and is active in the Interscholastic Activities Board of Music in the Fourth District, which meets once a month in various Magic Valley towns.

Van Camp, who plans to work for his Ph.D., also is an instructor of the drivers' education classes in the high school.

The couple find their time filled with their children, school activities and their church work.

This young couple proves the saying, "A teacher is born, not made," and with their youth, vitality, intelligence, knowledge, enthusiasm and love of their work they will continue to be successful in their chosen fields.

Proceeds Given To T. F. Center

Fun Acres Miniature Golf Course, operated by Donald Hartwick, donated all proceeds collected Monday, $93.52, to the Easter Seal Center, Twin Falls.

Hartwick said proceeds from the course every other Monday also will go to the center.

Independent Meat Co. donated wiener, Wonder Bread Co. donated buns, Buttery's Super Store donated mustard and ketchup and the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. donated soft drinks.

Activities of the day were arranged by the Twin Falls Jay-C-Ettes, who also will be in charge July 19, when proceeds once again will be donated to the Easter Seal Center.

She was active in dramatics, debate and music during her high school years.

Reta met Warren at the College of Idaho and they were married July 28, 1956, at Caldwell. She graduated cum laude with a bachelor of arts degree in 1959 and taught at Eagle Junior High near Boise for one year.

Officers Named By Valley Group

Officers of the Magic Valley Muscular Dystrophy Association for the coming year were announced Saturday.

They were Dick Messersmith, Twin Falls, camping chairman; Mrs. Earl Carter, Twin Falls, camping treasurer; Mrs. Clifton Peterson, Jerome, chapter president; Mrs. Carpenter, Twin Falls, vice president; Mrs. Glenn Fordyce, Twin Falls, patient service chairman; Mrs. R. TELEVISION SCHEDULES

Young Men, Full of New Ideas, Put Plans for Sun Valley Into High Gear

This "Village" would feature a steak house, a restaurant (which would rival the Ram), a pastry shop, a soda fountain and other specified small businesses. The present soda fountain, the Continental, would be eliminated after completion of this phase of the expansion under the Janss Corp.

A new entrance to the grounds is in the cards starting late this fall. At present the entry road takes off from the Trail Creek road at a point opposite the lodge. The new road will leave the highway about one-fourth of a mile closer to Ketchum. This will eliminate traffic which now is routed past the area where the ski buses load.

Officials also said that special ski trains from the Los Angeles area to the resort will run again next winter, as they did in previous years under Union Pacific ownership.

But the Janss Corp., will go the railroad a better. A third special train is planned from the Northwest to Sun Valley, bringing in skiers from Vancouver, Seattle and Portland.

The new ski train from the Northwest will be scheduled for late January arrival, while the Los Angeles trains will arrive in January and February. People who were skeptical as to promised improvements when Janss took over now will change their tune.

For the most part the new firm is one staffed with "youngsters" of the business world—men whose ages range from the late 20's to the late 30's or early 40's. "They are full of ideas and these ideas are being transferred to the drawing board and into reality."

As one said last week, "We want Sun Valley to be the best and the biggest. We want this entire area to be the best, too, and we are just as interested in the improvements being made at Ketchum as we are in those we are making and those we plan for the future.

"What helps Ketchum will help Sun Valley. Sun Valley is really something and we want everyone to realize this. We are all in this venture together."

Everywhere you look the young men are at work in executive capacities. There is Joseph Leggett, the vice president of the corporation who has been here since his firm first moved in; there is Neil Wright, the project architect; there is David Jay Flood, the architect in residence, from whose fertile brain comes many of the accepted ideas; there is Bailey Hutchins Jr., who heads up the small business staff; there is Harry Holmes, the new manager. All are on the young side. The ideas are here and the men to push the ideas are here. The new owners are banking that Idaho's great outdoors will be the drawing card making the whole project click.

Answer to Question of Life on Mars May Come This Week, Experts Say

By RALPH DIGHTON AP Science Writer PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — One of the most exciting mysteries of space — does intelligent life exist, or has it ever existed on the planet Mars? — may be answered this week.

The U.S. spacecraft Mariner 4, now a record 131 million miles from earth and at last report functioning well, is scheduled to fly past Mars Wednesday evening, July 14, snapping pictures 100 times better than any ever made with telescopes.

Scientists say these photographs, outlining details as small as 1.5 miles in diameter, could show whether the long dark lines seen on Mars really are canals and whether the sections are complexes of structures like our cities.

Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which built and is guiding Mariner 4 on its 228-day voyage, says the first few pictures received will be released as soon as they can be put through a preliminary processing procedure.

The remainder will be withheld for additional processing to improve accuracy but no good estimate could be obtained as to how long this would take. Originally JPL scientists had planned to withhold most of the pictures for weeks or even months of analysis.

Dr. Robert Leighton, California Institute of Technology physicist and chief of the team chosen to study the photographs, says the first one or two may show only the "limb" or edge of the planet, at the start of a 4,000-mile-long sweep from north to south. These would be taken from a height of about 7,000 miles, at an angle.

The best photographs, snapped 1,000 miles closer to the surface with the camera pointing nearly straight down, would be withheld from immediate publication. If the first-released pictures are as meager as Leighton expects, about all that the world will glean immediately from the $100 million Mariner program will be some scientific tidbits about the density of Mars' atmosphere and the intensity of radiation trapped in its magnetic field, if the planet has one.

That radiation, incidentally, may become a hazard in the final hours of Mariner 4's approach to Mars.

"Because Mariner 4 would be the first earth craft to report from the vicinity of Mars — the radio on Russia's Zond 2, launched two days after the U.S. vehicle's takeoff Nov. 28, failed weeks ago — no one knows whether Mars has a magnetically trapped zone of radiation like the so-called Van Allen Belt around earth."

Some scientists believe Mars' magnetic field could hold enough trapped radiation from the sun to confuse or damage Mariner 4's electronic control systems. With its aiming devices blinded, the camera might be pointing in some other direction as it flies past Mars.

Mars' atmospheric density — a key clue in determining whether life could exist — will be measured by calculating changes in radio signal strength as Mariner 4 swings behind the planet. The signal, aimed at earth, will have to go through the Martian atmosphere. The weaker the signal would be, the denser the atmosphere.

Mariner 4 will record its pictures on tape and replay them slowly after it emerges from behind Mars.

All the pictures will be taken within 25 minutes, but it will take 8.5 hours for each one to be transmitted. They will come in slowly, so that only pieces of pictures will be received at each of three tracking stations around the earth. First piece of the first picture will be received at a station in Johannesburg, South Africa. As the Goldstone, Calif., station comes into view of Mars, it will receive most of the remainder. The final piece of the first picture may be received at another station near Woomera, Australia.

After all the pieces are received here—from around the world—they must be patched together and run through a device which filters static out of the signals. This could take hours.

It will take 12 minutes for a radio signal to travel from Mariner 4 to earth Wednesday, and another 12 minutes for a signal from earth to get back to the spacecraft.

If something went to go wrong during the fly-by, it would take at least 24 minutes for earth scientists to receive warning and transmit corrective commands — and that's all the time Mariner 4 has to take pictures.

Anticipating this possibility, scientists have decided to try to take over control early from the automatic timer now set to start the camera when the spacecraft is 8,000 miles above the Martian surface. By direct command, they start the camera a few seconds later and this means the camera will photograph a different set of targets from a lower altitude, starting at a height of about 7,000 miles.

HOMICIDE!

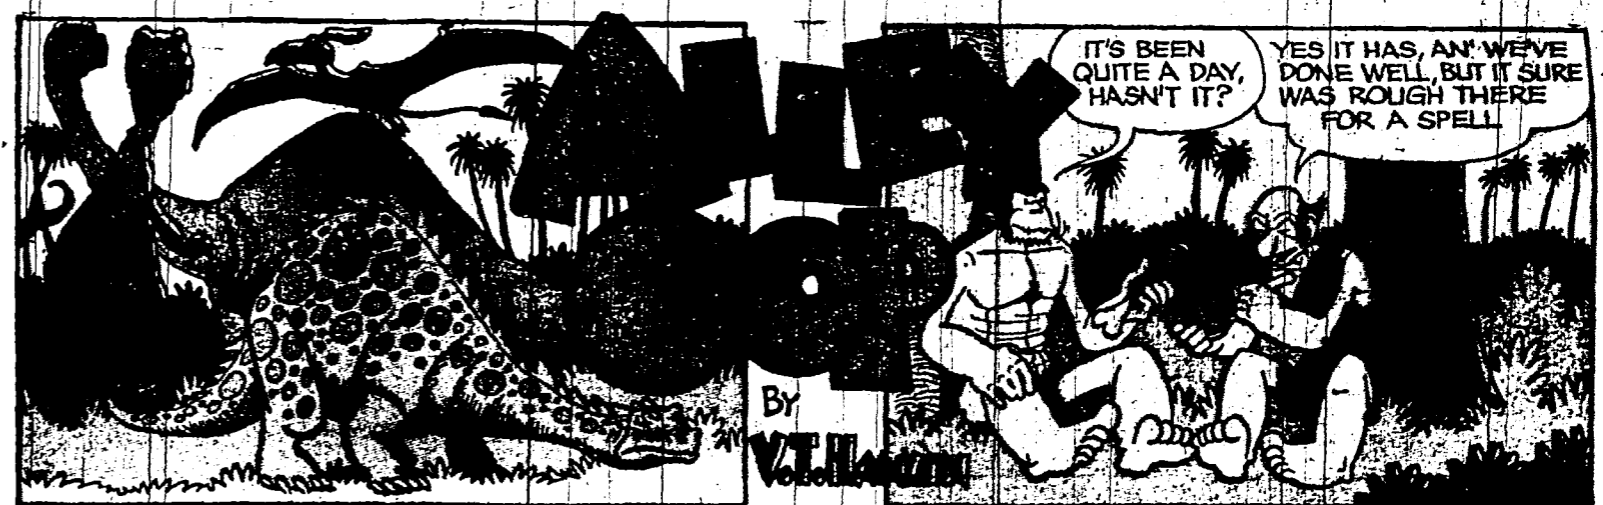

I HOPE FLINT MAKES
ENOUGH OF A GENTLEMAN
OUTA THAT COP TO INSIST
ON COMIN' IN THE FRONT
DOOR... BECAUSE I'M GOIN' OUT THE BACK!

HE'S GONE!

WELL, FLINT,
ARE YOU STILL HIGH
ON YOUR LONG-
NOSED PAL?

HE'S AS GUILTY
AS NERO'S
FIDDLE TEACHER!

IT'S BEEN QUITE A DAY,
HASN'T IT?
YES IT HAS, AN' WE'VE DONE WELL, BUT IT SURE
WAS ROUGH THERE
FOR A SPELL

By
V.L.H.

IT CERTAINLY SEEMED
WE FACED DEFEAT, ALL
TH' TROUBLE WE HAD.
A-GETTIN' MEAT!

GOOD MEAL,
WASN'T IT?

AYE, AN' TH' MEMORY
GIVES ME CHEER! IN FACT I'M FULL CLEAR
UP T'HERE!

SAY! IT'S GETTIN'
LATE! WE GOTTA
GET GOIN'!

YES, I GUESS
WE BETTER
HAD! A NIGHT
OUT HERE COULD

WE'RE NEVER GONNA
MAKE IT BACK 'FORE
DARK, FOOZY... TH'
SUN'S ABOUT GONE

THAT IT IS! OH ME,
OH ME! I THINK
WE'RE STUCK
FOR A NIGHT
IN A TREE!

YEAH... AN'
TH' SOONER,
TH' BETTER!

THIS PERCH WE GOT'S
NONE TOO STABLE! TO SPEND TH' NIGHT, I HOPE WE'RE ABLE

'S A CINCH
WE DON'T
DARE GO
T'SLEEP...

...LISSEN
TO THOSE CRITTERS

I SHOULD SAY! IT
LIFTS YOUR HAIR!
A MAN WOULD'N'T
LAST SO LONG
DOWN THERE

THINK Y'CAN
STAY AWAKE
ALL NIGHT?

OF COURSE I
CAN... 'S EASY
I'DO! I'M NOT
TIRED... HOW

OH, I'M FINE...

FOSTER'S BEEN UP THERE FOR YEARS. WON'T HE EVER COME DOWN?

HE'S DETERMINED TO STAY UP THERE UNTIL NASA RECOGNIZES HIM AS A GENUINE ASTRONAUT.

T.M. Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

I THINK HE SHOULD SEE A GOOD PSYCHIATRIST.

THIS IS HINSDALE'S FOREMOST ASTRONAUT, FOSTER NORMAN, YOUR "EYE IN THE SKY" REPORTING.

MR. CARRUTHERS IS SITTING AROUND IN HIS UNDERSHIRT, DRINKING BEER.

YANCEY IS SMOOCHING WITH LINDA BENTLEY IN HIS CONVERTIBLE.

DICK CAVALLI

WINTHROP IS GETTING READY FOR BED. HE WEARS RED POLKA DOT SHORTS.

MRS. DUDLEY IS SWEEPING HER KITCHEN FLOOR. SHE'S SWEEPING THE DIRT UNDER THE REFRIGERATOR.

PHFF-FT!

BANG!

THAT'S THE THANKS I GET FOR TRYING TO KEEP PEOPLE INFORMED.

I HEAR LARD PASSED THE JUNIOR LIFEGUARD TESTS. FRECKLES!

YEAH, HE WAS DETERMINED TO BE A LIFEGUARD THIS YEAR!

MEET LOTS OF GIRLS THAT WAY, HE KEPT SAYING...

SO HE APPLIED FOR A JOB AT THE WAWASEE PLUNGE...

BUT HE FORGOT ONE THING...

DRESSING ROOMS

THEY HAVE A BIG POOL AND A LITTLE POOL...

AND JUNIOR LIFEGUARD MEANS EXACTLY THAT!

THE TROUBLE WITH MAKING A SKATE BOARD IS...

YOU HAVE TO BREAK UP A GOOD PAIR OF SKATES!

AND NONE OF US WANTED TO DO THAT...

BUT HECTOR ONLY HAD ONE SKATE ANYWAY...

SO THIS WORKS OUT FINE!!

LITTLE PEOPLE

Um-m! Good old Black Swamp! So nice and dark and oozy!

It's cool, man, cool!

I wish it was Poky's turn to visit me!

Gettin' out in that hot sun terries me, but--

--it'd be just as rough on Poky!

Ugh! That sun!

Well, here I go! After all, one can't risk bein' called antisocial!

Wackleberrys HOLLOW

They say mosquitoes won't bother you if stay outta the shade, but--

--whew!

If you do swimmin' in the water some- to get cool, the fish body's sure gonna nibble your toes!

And if you don't get in the water some- body's sure gonna say you oughta!

If doesn't seem havin' a wenthwhin!
