The 12-member jury was handed the murder case of George Olson, 42, who is charged with the Aug. 22, 1963, killing of Keith Gates, Boise, at 10:10 p.m. Saturday after final summations by the defense and prosecuting attorneys in Eleventh District Court before Judge Theron Ward.

The jury was still deliberating at 1 a.m. Sunday. James J. May, prosecuting attorney, asked for a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree during a 30-minute summation. In his summation, May stated that testimony given during the six-day trial proved "beyond a doubt" that Olson had malice aforethought when he allegedly committed the shooting and that a verdict of guilty should be returned to the jury.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney James J. May's summation during a 30-minute summation, said that the jury should "bring back a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree because this is the crime that has been proven in this courtroom beyond reasonable doubt."

Strange Habits of Women In Viet Nam Intriguing

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — An open letter home: Dear friend wife: Believe me, baby, when I get back home you're going to be the one who carries out the garbage. It's an old Vietnamese custom that a lot of American men over here are beginning to think makes sense.

I know that there is nothing makes a U.S. woman madder than to tell her she has an easy life — that she is overprivileged and underworked. But I tell you, roundeyes, your eyes would go even rounder if you saw how Vietnamese women live — and apparently like it.

Men have only two chief labor-saving devices in this country — women and water buffaloes. The women work harder.

In the rice paddy country the men and the buffaloes (they've done their bit when they've finished plowing. But women toil in the fields, tend the hills, do the cooking and the laundry, and take care of the chickens, ducks and pigs. The ideal wife is one who produces a good rice crop and a baby every year.

Most of the country's products seem to be transported on women's backs. They use bamboo shoulder poles from which heavily loaded baskets are suspended fore and aft. To balance the baskets, the women walk with a peculiar rhythmic shuffle.

The Vietnamese toiler earns her dough the hard way in the city, too. About 20 per cent of the labor force is feminine.

Women work as ditch diggers, dock wallopers, hod carriers, plasterers and as laborers on heavy construction projects. They get a daily wage of from about 85 cents to $1.20 — depending on their skills.

"The average woman gets almost twice as much done as a man in a day," said an American construction engineer. "Of course, I don't know whether she lasts as long."

But they're all pretty cheerful about life, hard as it is. They aren't nearly as frustrated as our women back home. Maybe they've got the answer over here.

It seems that the harder wives work, the fewer husbands die of ulcers and coronaries.

Well, I guess that's about all the good news I have to report for now. When I get home, get ready to set another rice bowl on the table. By the way, I'm bringing along a bamboo shoulder pole — to make your trips to the supermarket a little easier. You'll get the hang of it in no time.

Rockefeller Will Run for Third Term

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he doubts that anyone can talk him out of running for a third term in 1966. He has left open his ambition for the GOP presidential nomination.

At a news conference Friday, Rockefeller said without qualification that he is running again. Rockefeller's announcement Friday came amid rumblings of discontent among state Republicans.

The governor, just back from vacation at his Venezuelan ranch, said he is not giving any time or thought on whether to seek the presidential nomination again in 1968.

Rockefeller denied the GOP was split in New York. He also insisted there was no split between him and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, around whom Rockefeller dissidents appear to have rallied.

In Washington, Javits dismissed reports that he wants to be governor or would try to persuade Rockefeller not to run again.

Stevenson Described as Sensitive, Highly Intelligent, Intuitive, Aware

By KENNETH S. DAVIS
PRINCETON, Mass. (UPI) — My sense of the unique importance of Adlai E. Stevenson came to me, as it did to millions of other Americans, in a dark, early morning hour of Saturday, July 26, 1952. That was a bad time in American life. Fear, hate, and angry despair were roaming the political scene.

Then came the thrilling electric shock of a wholly new voice, Stevenson's radio voice as he accepted the Democratic nomination for the presidency — a voice that sang with a lyric sense of the past echoes of Lincoln were in it and at the same time was clipped and precise — reminding us that the "ordeal of the 20th Century" was far from over and stating that, amid this "bloodiest and most turbulent era of the Christian age" he proposed to "talk sense to the American people."

I remember that as I listened to these words there at once occurred in me, as I know there occurred in millions of others, a veritable revolution of feeling about politics. Cynical despair was abruptly dissolved in the strange music of this new voice.

Not was sense of the remarkable quality of this man at all reduced when, a few years later, I came to know him personally, and indeed because I eventually became his biographer came to know him intimately as he permitted anyone to know him.

He was not the intellectual that academic people generally thought him to be. He was by no means as widely read as he gave the impression of being though what he had read he had read well, and in his own writing—even writing designed for the permanence of a book—he was often too willing to sacrifice his developed argument to his desire for swift impressions. Neither was he in private the uniformly even-tempered man that he seemed in public to be. He was in fact remarkable thin-skinned and quick-tempered by nature. He could and did lash out on occasion with sharp cutting words against his closest associates when extreme pressures were upon him.

But he was a highly intelligent man, intuitive and sensitive and aware, with great sweetness of character; and no man could have been more remorseful than he at the hurt he sometimes gave others. He strove hard, and generally with success, for self-discipline.

"My father, you know, had no control of his temper" he once said to me, "and I observe the bad effects of that." He had a seemingly inexhaustible physical energy. He was almost always in continuous motion, walking up and down as he talked and punctuating his words with expressive hand gestures.

Of two things he was most proud: that he had enticed into politics a multitude of first-rate young people who might not otherwise have entered it; and that he had helped into being the United Nations which, for all its serious flaws, represented, he was convinced, the "last best hope of earth."

I remember asking him on one occasion what he felt were his greatest personal assets as he faced the presidential campaign of 1956. I took verbatim note of his reply.

"I think probably my strongest asset, personally, is a kind of serenity," he said. "I have no gnawing ambition to be president. I really haven't."

"Oh, I intend to fight for it. I'll do my level best not to let down all these people who are depending on me. That's the part of it that bothers me most. I think the fact so many people are investing time and money and energy in my campaign. I owe debts I can never repay. "But aside from all that I am not in any state of anxiety about

Appeal Filed By Attorney For Auditor

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Salt Lake County Auditor David P. Jones has asked the Utah Supreme Court to reverse the decision of an Ogdan judge that he should stand trial in his removal case.

Jones has served a federal prison term for failing to file a 1958 income tax return.

His attorney filed an appeal with the high court Friday asking for reversal of a ruling by Section District Judge John F. Wahlquist.

The judge made the ruling in denying dismissal of action brought against Jones by the Salt Lake County attorney's office.

Wahlquist agreed to hear the motion after Third District Judge Stewart M. Hanson disqualified all Third District judges on grounds they were too close to the case.

The county attorney's office charges Jones should be removed from office because of his tax sentence.

Walter Parish Funeral Held

Funeral services for Walter S. Parish were held Friday in the First Christian Church, with Rev. Donald Hoffman and the Twin Falls Commandery No. 10, Knights Templar, officiating.

Raft River LDS Stake Sets Fete

MALTA — Raft River LDS Stake will celebrate Pioneer Day in Malta this year on July 24.

A road show will be presented by the MIA during the morning with intermission numbers by the Primary. "Pioneers" will be the theme. In the afternoon there will be sports and a fish-pool for children.

Each family is requested to bring a picnic lunch. Ice cream and soft drinks will be sold.

Declo Plans Pioneer Day Celebration

DECLO—Plans are under way to have a community celebration Pioneer Day, in Declo July 24, beginning with a flag raising ceremony by the Cub Scouts.

An Early Bird breakfast will be sponsored by the Declo Kiwanis from 7:30 to 10 a.m. with the proceeds going toward their park project fund.

The Thrifty Thrivers Home Improvement Club and the Declo Domestic Duchess club have joined together to sponsor the Children's Parade to begin at 10:30 with many prizes to be given. Mrs. Nalon Taylor and Mrs. J. Robert Kelsey will be co-chairmen for this event.

After the parade, games and relays will be held, under the direction of Mrs. Melvin Darrington, assisted by Mrs. Earl Darrington and Mrs. Gale Gillette.

Dangerous

GALLUP, N. M. (AP) — Hollywood actor Ronald Reagan relived the perils of a U. S. cavalry officer Friday when he received a saber wound in the right shoulder.

During the filming of a television program near Gallup, in northwest New Mexico, Reagan was portraying a cavalry colonel who had been captured by the Indians.

One scene called for an Indian to threaten Reagan with his own saber.

But the saber slipped and the threat was made good.

Reagan received a superficial wound in his right shoulder, a spokesman said.

Faculty Concert Program Listed

The third program in the Sun Valley Music Camp series will be presented at 4 p.m. on Sunday in the Opera House.

Included in the selections will be "Six Ornamental Etudes" by Benjamin Lees, presented by Harry Franklin.

A woodwind quintet, composed of Martha Brace, Jean Louis LeRoux, James Hopper, Charles McDonald and Ann Hubbard, accompanied by Jean Louis LeRoux on the piano, will present selections from Mozart.

The program will conclude with a clarinet trio composed of James Hopper, Frank Barton

City to Talk About Urban Renewal Unit

A resolution establishing an urban renewal commission will be considered at the regular meeting of the Twin Falls City Commission Monday night at the city hall.

Members of the Twin Falls study group presented a report concerning such an agency in the city at a meeting with the commission last Monday.

The commission will hold a public hearing concerning zoning matters recommended at the zoning and planning board meeting Monday night. Among these is an amendment of the trailer parking ordinance.

Rezoning application of Al-berston's, Inc., to rezone lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, block 1, Lincoln School addition and lots 1, 2 and 3, block 1, new school addition, from residential-medium density to commercial-general will be considered.

The hearing also will include a rezoning application of Safety Stores, Inc., for variance to the off-street parking requirements.

Youth Speaks To Shoshone Rotary Club

SHOSHONE—Workings of the National Future Business Leaders of America were explained by Charles Neher, 1965 local high school graduate who was a national officer, at the Rotary meeting Wednesday.

Young Neher, who will major in business in college, was introduced by W. E. Grosse.

Howard E. Adkins reported the club had purchased four pair of glasses for needy children the past year and had sent a delegate to Boys' State.

Richard Nolaar, California resident with the Forest Service, was a guest.

Kenneth Blackburn was named a director to replace Vernon Exner who is moving from the community.

Committees for the year were named by Harrell Thorne, president. They include Marvin Pearson, service activities; Clayton Peugh, vocational service; Francis Bergin, community service; C. M. Wilson, international service; Arthur White, attendance; Bergin, classifications; Cecil Cope and Kenneth Crothers, club bulletin.

Rev. John Tulk, fellowship; W. E. Grosse, magazine; Herb Love, membership; Blackburn, program; Dale Bailey, public relations; D. Sidney Smith, Rotary information; Douglas Hansen, sergeant-at-arms; Perry Hadlock, buyer-seller relations.

Burton R. Thorne, competitor relations; E. L. Gomes, four-way test; Burton Thorne and Hadlock, song leaders; Howard E. Adkins, birthday fund and crippled children; Crothers, scholarships, awards and student loans and student guests.

Other committee members are E. I. Shaw, youth; J. R. Churchman, John Thomas and E. I. Shaw, snow cone machine; Frank Burdett, international contacts and international information; Omer Shook, Rotary Foundation and Christmas gifts; Arthur White and John George, news and publicity.

An invitation was read from Twin Falls club asking local members and their families to support the breakfast to be served from 8 to 11 a.m. Aug. 1 at the Twin Falls picnic area. Leon Grieve installed Kenneth Crothers as a new member, explaining the purpose of Rotary and giving a brief history of the organization.

SAYING GOODBYE TO Cadet Maj. Herman Lohman, 17, who is one of four Idaho youths chosen by Civil Air Patrol Special Activities Boards to attend special training sessions in Capt. Susan Shaw, wife of Idaho CAP Wing Commander Dwight

4 CAP Cadets Leave for Special Training Programs

Four 17-year-old Idaho youths left Joslin Field at 9:15 a.m. Saturday to take part in the Cadet Overseas Exchange and the Domestic Special activities programs.

Two of the youths, Fred Coggburn, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coggburn, 271 DuBois Ave., and Herman Lowman, son of Mrs. Velma Lowman, 1092 Second Ave. W., are members of the Twin Falls CAP squadron, which numbers 34 cadets.

Coggburn is going to England for a month as part of the Cadet Exchange Program and Lowman is attending a one-week FAA session in Oklahoma City.

Two Boise cadets boarded the USAF C-47 with the Twin Falls CAP representatives. Cadet John Turnbow is going to Belgium to spend a month touring the country and studying the Belgian air force. Cadet Larry Moore is going to a week-long glider orientation course at Elmira, N. Y.

All four cadets were chosen on a basis of military and aeronautical knowledge and recommendations from church and school authorities.

Capt. Susan Shaw, information officer for the Twin Falls CAP and wife of Idaho CAP wing commander, Col. Dwight Shaw, says the CAP is an introduction to military life and that many of the CAP cadets go on to make a career in the Air Force.

The CAP was founded on Dec. 1941, just six days before Pearl Harbor and currently is represented in Twin Falls by Maj. Edwin A. Butts and Sgt. Willard DeRoun.

Contest for Reading Is Under Way

SHOSHONE — Children in grades one through eight interested in participating in the city library sponsored Reading contest may still enter.

The last series of story hours will be held at the library with Mrs. Jack Miles, Mrs. Wandell Elliott and Mrs. Clarence Maggoffin as story tellers.

Members of the library board have approved purchase of 19 new books and a three-year subscription to Time Magazine. The League of Catholic Women donated the book "My Catholic Faith" to the library.

Ten-year index for the American Heritage books has been received and put on the shelf with the American Heritage books, which run from December, 1956, to December, 1964.

Patrons who live outside the taxing district are reminded the family fee is $2.

There is no fee for residents of Shoshone, as they pay the library levy.

During June, 1400 books were loaned. Children are reading the greater percentage of books loaned during summer months, it was reported.

Judges Adjourn Conference at Sun Valley

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Judges of the United States Ninth Judicial Circuit adjourned their annual conference Friday after urging that the power of appointing and supervising probation officers remain with the federal court.

District Judge Albert C. Woltenberg of San Francisco, a member of the conference's committee on probation and parole, said the probation officer is "the right hand of the district judge."

Highliners' 4-H Group Has Meet

The Highliners' 4-H Club met Friday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Cole.

Plans for raising money for 4-H camp were discussed, as were plans for the fair and a list of members in need of costumes.

Mrs. Cole showed slides of 4-H activity in previous fairs. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be a potluck gathering Sunday at the Cranes.

Hagerman Plans Pioneer Day

HAGERMAN — "Pioneer Memories" will be the theme of the Hagerman Pioneer Day parade to be held at 11 a.m. July 24.

Prizes will be awarded winners in three divisions, pioneer, old time, kids and commercial, according to Jack Allen, parade chairman.

Douglas Wood, general chairman, reports plans for a big celebration, which will honor the late Emerson Pugmire, who for many years was the instigator of this yearly celebration.

At noon, the Relief Society will serve a ham dinner at the American Legion hall. An extra attraction this year will be a cow cutting contest at noon.

This event will be under the supervision of Cliff Harris and Loren Hoagland.

Queen candidates will compete at 1:30 p.m. in the rodeo arena. Verne Voyse, Gooding, is in charge of this portion of the day's activities.

The rodeo will begin at 2 p.m. with stock to be furnished by Jake Pope, Twin Falls. Cowboys planning to enter must do so before 5 p.m. July 23.

Entries should be made with Wood whose telephone number is 837-4473, Hagerman.

Concluding event of the day will be the Queen's dance at 9:30 p.m. at the Legion Hall with "The Saints" and Holland (Happy Holly) Houfburg furnishing the music.

Research Is Financed by Comedy Act

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A microbiologist hopes he can help find a cure for leukemia by telling jokes.

Dr. Carl Abramson, a laboratory research man by day and a night club comic by night, hopes someday to found an institute to study the disease, using the money he makes as a performer.

Abramson, who worked the night club circuit full time for three years as comedian Jerry Young, wears his lab coat at the end of a week and drives to New York's Catskill Mountains to perform at resorts. Monday morning finds him back at Einstein Medical Center, where he is doing research under a $28,000 grant from the National Science Foundation.

"I traveled around the country for three years, up all night and sleeping all day," he said in an interview, recalling his career as a full-time comedian. "I found it lacking, very lacking. It did not fulfill my intellectual appetite."

Abramson said he had a "yearning to do something to give the world," so he came back to Philadelphia and finished work on a bachelor's degree. Abramson, who has four children, continued performing off and on to help pay for his education. He began teaching in 1952, and still teaches at two colleges here.

Bridge Club Has Masterpoint Play

Bids Asked For Valley School Needs

EDEN-HAZELTON — Bids are being asked for the 1965-1966 school term for coal, oil, gas and dairy products for the Valley School system. It was announced Saturday after the school board meeting at the high school.

Bids should be submitted for coal for the Eden and Hazelton elementary schools; fuel oil for the high school, gas for the buses and dairy products for the hot lunch program.

The board approved plans presented by Dr. Thomas Utterback for the employment of high school students 16 years of age or older who need help to stay in school. The plans are available under the Economic Opportunity Act and further information will be published when financial drafting is completed.

Work is progressing on the renovation of the Hazelton lunch room and band room. It was reported. New asphalt has been laid at the rear of the school and also at Valley.

The installation of a new light at the rear of the Hazelton School was approved and new window frames and sills and a new basketball court are yet to be installed.

Dr. Utterback received the board's consent to attend the annual school superintendents' meeting in Sun Valley Aug. 12 and 13.

Mrs. Lillian Perkins, Mrs. Margaret Crumrine, Mrs. Clyde Kaserman and Mrs. Elmer Hageman, cooks in the hot lunch program at Valley, were granted a $10 per month increase in salary. Other cooks will receive $5 per month raise.

Truck Driver Not Seriously Hurt in Crash

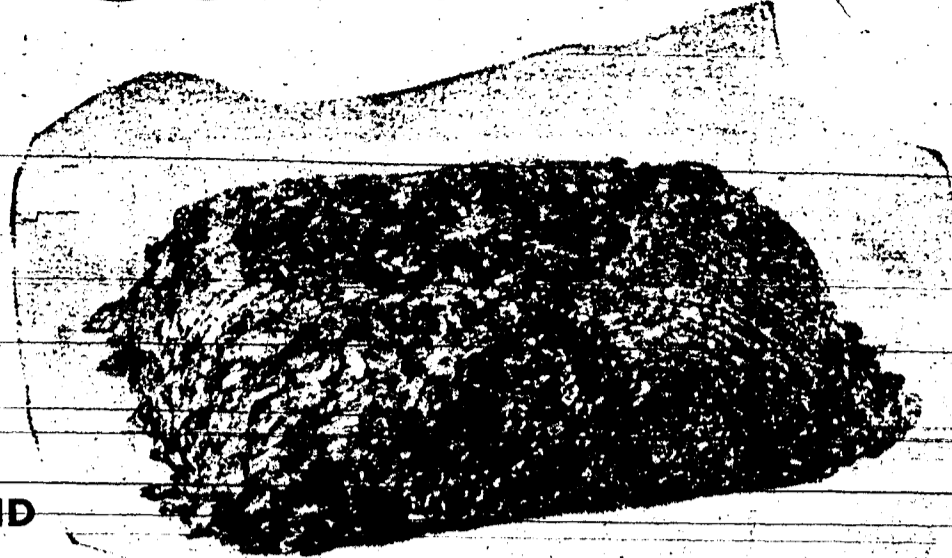

Merlin Fairbanks, 22, 1732 Eldridge Ave., escaped injury about noon Friday when the gravel truck he was driving collided with a parked truck in the 1700 block of Kimberly Road.

Twin Falls police officers said that the Fairbanks and Sons truck young Fairbanks was driving was going west on Kimberly Road when it veered and struck a truck parked in front of Wagner's Coffee Shop.

The driver of the parked truck, which was owned by Hood Construction Co., Whittier, Calif., was inside the coffee shop eating.

Officers said witnesses reported young Fairbanks was thrown out of the cab of his truck. He was taken to a doctor, but was reported not seriously injured. The cab of the Fairbanks truck was a total wreck. Damage to the other truck was not known.

Ice Show Is Feature Attraction for Guests

SUN VALLEY — On Saturday evenings in July and August, there is a bustle and a buzz and a little organized confusion as guests leave the terrace of the lodge and cross the lawn to seats around the ice rink.

The lights are off, and for the time being, the brilliant Idaho stars as they shine above the backdrop of Baldy mountain, steal the show.

The famous Sun Valley Ice Show is about to begin. The show opens with a children's number. Always popular with Sun Valley audiences, this year's version shows little people right in from outer space — dozens of colorful little Martians and Moon People with antennas glowing, rocketing onto the ice by space ship.

Among the new skating stars this year are Dale Marzoni and Terry Marzoni, eastern dance champions, and Rick Inglesi, Pacific Coast Novice champion. Among the soloists who will appear are Carol Johnson, San Diego; Janet Smith, Denver; Jeanie Kondo, Oakland; Petra Beuchel, Phoenix; Ann Glenn, Ketchum; Mary Beth Braun, Hightstown, N. J., and David Mitchel, Seattle.

Other amateur skaters spending the summer at Sun Valley and appearing in the show are Heather Holding, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Marjean Langley, Salt Lake City; Eleanor Lee, Haddonfield, N. J.; Carol Challis, Vancouver, B. C.; Andree Baron and Barbara Baron, Roseland, N. J.; Norm McLeod, Delaware, N. J.; and Jane Malbrook, Newark, N. J.

There are three beautifully costumed group numbers and two old favorite comedy numbers. The "Three Rookies" are back, but this time as three very young draftees, Steve Eife, Billy Shaw and Nicky Maricich.

Herman Maricich, Hugh McAuley and Archie Levitan are the three skaters in the "Bullfight," one of the great comedy acts of this country, perfected at Sun Valley by Maricich who designed the mighty bull with its flashing eyes, its snorting nostrils and whirling horns. This is an act that has won applause in all parts of this country, as well as in Canada and Europe.

The show is put on by a talented and imaginative young director, Herman Maricich, with musical arrangements

ON-~~THEIR WAY TO PRACTICE~~, the girls pick up their costumes in the property room in the Sun Valley Lodge. There are three beautifully costumed group numbers and two old favorite comedy numbers featured in the current ice show. The show always opens with a children's number. This year's version shows little people right in from outer space complete with glowing antennas, rocketing onto the ice in space ships. (Sun Valley photo)

TWO WORLD-WEARY YOUNG DANDIES, Russ Salter and John Salter, Ketchum, are starred with a bevy of turn-of-the-century French ladies in the current Sun Valley Ice Show. There are many amateur skaters who spend the summer in Sun Valley and appear in the show. (Sun Valley photo)

"THIS IS THE WAY I WANT IT DONE," says Herman Maricich, in dark glasses, as he rehearses his cast. Maricich is a talented and imaginative young director who is in charge of the Sun Valley Ice Show. The show can be viewed any Saturday night during July and August. (Sun Valley photo)

Miss Hepperle, Fischer Repeat Nuptial Vows

BUHL—The marriage of Sharon Hepperle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Claxton, and Mrs. Thomas Fischer, son of Mrs. Helen Fischer, all Buhl, was solemnized June 19 in the Buhl Catholic Church.

Vows were exchanged in an afternoon service performed by Rev. Thomas Taylor, Twin Falls. Vases of white gladioli and tall baskets of white gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums tied with yellow bows formed the background setting for the double ring nuptials.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over tulle designed with bouffant skirt and chapel-length train. The fitted bodice was detailed with a scalloped portrait neckline highlighted with seed pearls and petit-point sleeves. A queen's crown studded with pearls released her shoulder-length veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white stephanotis and yellow roses encircling a yellow cymbidium orchid.

Marie Wasko was maid of honor and Marie Ewell was bridesmaid.

Linda Alpert, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She carried a wicker basket tied with ornate yellow ribbon and scattered yellow rose petals.

Mark Fischer, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

James Fischer, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Ray Owen, Lonnie Harold Lee Claxton and Andy Fischer.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Matilda Leahy. She accompanied Mrs. Roberta Sullivan and Mrs. Frank Karel to sing duet selections.

Following the ceremony the newlyweds greeted guests at a reception held in St. John's Lutheran Church. The bride's table featured a white lace tablecloth over yellow with a white daron flounce. The scalloped ruffle was caught at the edges with yellow carnation nosegays and ornate yellow shower ribbons.

The table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, which was baked and decorated by Mrs. Lester Johansen, Richfield. Yellow lace and yellow and white rose embellishments adorned the cake and it was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom against a gold cross background. Double-crystal candelabra with yellow tapers entwined with smilax flanked the cake.

Mrs. Farris Cline, aunt of the bride, cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Leonard Luthers, North Idaho, presided at the coffee service and Mrs. Charles Carte poured punch.

Janet Parish and Mrs. Carl Shafer were in charge of the gift table. Clara Fischer registered guests.

Pre-nuptial events honoring the bride included a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Harlyn Schmeckpepper, with Mrs. Ray Owen as co-hostess, and a miscellaneous shower hosted by Marie Ewell.

Miss Wylie Is Job's Daughters Honored Queen

Cathryn Wylie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Wylie, was installed, honored queen of Bethel No. 19, International Order of Job's Daughters, at a special open installation ceremony at the Masonic Temple.

The Golden Cross ceremony was used for the installation. Assisting with the installation were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Harrisok, associate guardian and guardian.

Officers installed include Barbara Reed, senior princess; Diana Warner, junior princess; Carolyn Olmstead, guide; Jane Anderson, marshal; Nancy Gwartney, inner guard; Vicki Clough, outer guard; Linda Davis, senior custodian; Kay Ihler, junior custodian; Cathie Harvliet, librarian, and Judy Alworth, recorder.

Sue Ann Robinson is musician; Jeannie Dossett, treasurer, and Carol Barker, chaplain. Messengers include Kathy Lincoln, first; Vicki Brown, second; R. Heitz, third; Judy Dossett, fourth, and Susan Summerfield, fifth.

Linda Day is assistant musician; March Pooler, historian; Elizabeth Nesbitt, assistant recorder; Pamela Warner, north page; Jan-Miller, south page; Sandra Hopkins, registrar; Toni Couch, custodian of lights, and Janice Greer and Betty Grose, choir captains.

Miss Anderson sang two songs in honor of the honored queen. Presentations were made by the junior past honored queen, the guardian and associate

Special Guests Are Welcomed At Lodge Parley

HANSEN — Special guests, Mrs. Juanita Peters, Royal Neighbors of America district deputy, Paul; Mrs. Helen Moffit and Lyona Smith, Twin Falls; Lorilee Parmeter, Soap Lake, Wash.; and Shirley Bland, Spring Valley, Calif., were welcomed at the Royal Neighbor Lodge meeting at Woodman Hall.

Two new members, Mrs. Elsie Mae Daniels and Arthur J. Daniels were voted in as new beneficial members.

Mrs. Harry Smith and Mrs. Earl Baker were pro tem officers and Mrs. Peters was musician pro tem.

Mrs. Frank Wright reported on the rummage sale. Mrs. Leo Roberts announced that as chairman for the finance committee for the next group, a bazaar has been planned for the third quarter. Plans for the annual joint Royal Neighbor-Woodmen luncheon booth were discussed.

The semi-annual audit will be held July 30, with Mrs. William Rudd, Filer, as special auditor. Mrs. Peters invited the local camp to the annual all-camps picnic set Sunday in Burley.

Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Helen Remington, Filer, were hostesses. Mrs. Wayne Smith and Mrs. Earl Baker were in charge of the program.

Mrs. Cloe Weech is hostess for the July 27 meeting.

July Meeting Not Scheduled

PAUL—There will not be a Relief Society meeting in July for members of the Paul LDS Ward, it was announced.

Work-day meetings are scheduled for Aug. 9 and Aug. 23 at the Cultural Hall. The meetings will begin at 10 a.m. and a luncheon will be served at noon. The special work-day lesson will be presented in the afternoon.

All members are invited to participate.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM DEE ELLIS

Virginia Cain, Ellis Exchange Nuptial Vows

Virginia Lee Cain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Cain, Wilmington, Calif., and William Dee Ellis, son of Mrs. Evelyn Ellis, Twin Falls, were united in marriage June 14 at Los Angeles, Calif.

The double ring ceremony was performed at Herrick Memorial Chapel, Occidental College, by Dr. Franklin D. Josselyn, associate professor of religion.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a sheath styled gown of white cotton pique, imported from Israel, and carried a bouquet of white gardenias. Her ballerina-length silk illusion veil trimmed with silk lace was held by a floral tiara of cotton pique.

Mrs. Darrel Port, Montrose, Calif., was matron of honor. John T. Latimore, former Twin Falls resident, was best man.

The newlyweds will reside in Los Angeles for the summer, where the bridegroom is working on research in the chemistry department at Occidental College. The young couple will reside in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, after September, where Ellis will be working for his Ph.D. degree in chemistry and the bride will be graduated with a B.S. degree in zoology in June.

Camp Fire Girls Day Camp Set

Camp Fire Girls Day Camp will be held Friday and Saturday. All girls may attend both days if they desire.

Transportation will be by the Sun Valley Stage Line, leaving the Twin Falls City Park at 8 p.m. and returning between 6:30 and 7 p.m.

The small fee will include transportation, food, snacks, handicraft expense and use of the camp.

All girls are asked to wear long pants and sturdy shoes for hiking and to take a sweater, coat, towel, blanket and a sack lunch.

Registration can be made through a Camp Fire Girls leader or at the Camp Fire Girls office, 733-6214.

Patsy Miller, Rogalski Are Married Here

Patsy Gail Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Miller, Twin Falls, exchanged wedding vows with Peter Paul Rogalski, son of Mrs. K. Rogalski and the late Mr. K. Rogalski, Moscow, June 19 at St. Edward's Church, Twin Falls.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edmund R. Cody officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and pink chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza. The fitted bodice was designed with a portrait neckline and elbow-length sleeves. An upswept set-in midriff topped the sheath skirt.

Alencon lace, with pearl embroidery, enhanced the neckline and skirt. A detachable wattleau chapel train embellished with lace motifs highlighted the gown.

Her impromptu silk illusion veil was held by a mid-victorian tiara of organza petals and pearl flowers, each centered with an aurora borealis stone.

The bride carried a bouquet of white roses accented with ivy. Matron of honor was Mrs. Larry Winborg, Logan, Utah. Bridesmaids were Helene Rogalski, Moscow, sister of the bridegroom, and June Naccarato, Spokane, Wash., a sorority sister.

Jimmy Miller and Gary Miller, nephews of the bride, were ringbearers. Richard Kielbon and Edward Kielbon, nephews of the bridegroom, served as altar boys.

Anthony Rogalski, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Howard Miller, brother of the bride, George Rogalski, and John Rogalski, brothers of the bridegroom.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Nellie Ostrom.

A reception was held at the Rogerson Hotel following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with tulle and centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink wedding bells and roses. Orange blossoms and pink rosebuds enhanced the bride's table. The wedding cake was served by Terry Long, Spokane, Wash., and Gayle Cranney, Moscow, Wash., and Idaho.

Punch was served by Mary Hodge, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Stanley Kielbon, Spokane, sister of the bridegroom. Guests were registered by Mrs. Howard Miller, Redding, Calif.

A dinner was given by Sally Anderson, Moscow; Mrs. Kenneth Anderson and Mrs. Howard Miller, Redding, Calif.

A dinner was given at the home of the bride following the wedding rehearsal for the members of the wedding party.

Guests attended from Logan, Utah; Redding, Albany and San Diego, Calif.; Sunnyside, Wash., and Idaho.

The newlyweds will reside in Moscow, where the bridegroom is affiliated with Rogalski Bros. Construction Co. and the University of Idaho.

REUNION HELD

DECLO — A family reunion was held at Bostetter Camping Grounds by the DeL Mallory family. Relatives spent four days fishing and camping.

Ice Show Is Main Feature For Guests

by a no less talented musician, Johnny Lister. One of the featured performers is a star with an international reputation, Jimmy Grogan, and guest stars equally famous will appear from time to time. On any Saturday night, however, the show may be stopped by the unrehearsed antics of some tiny local tot.

It is not at all remarkable that these shows, sponsored by the Sun Valley Figure Skating Club under the auspices of the United States Figure Skating Association, carefully coordinated by the club's secretary, Kay Sconberg, have over the years become increasingly important among the summer entertainment offerings of the state of Idaho. Tourists in the know time their visits to include a Saturday evening at Sun Valley and the cars parked at the resort show licenses with a coast-to-coast span.

Buhl Police, Firemen Set Donkey Game

BUHL — A donkey baseball game featuring the Buhl Police Department vs. the Buhl Fire Department will be presented at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Faria Field under the sponsorship of the Buhl Jay-C-ettes.

Proceeds from the event will be used to purchase a siren-megaphone loudspeaker for the local police department. Reed P. Maughan, mayor of Buhl, and Twin Falls County Sheriff James H. Benham will serve as umpires.

Donkey baseball is played with modified rules of the regular game in which fielders and base runners must ride donkeys to their destination. Pitchers and catchers do not ride. Batters must hit the ball before being eligible to advance to a base-ball runner's position.

Heading the local fire department team under the direction of Louis Monnin, coach, are James Wilson, fire chief, and volunteer firemen, Howard Hopkins, Alfred Daiss, Joel (Porky) Nejezchaba, Bill Johnston, Emile Haumont, Dean Haumont, Gene Fingerson, and G. E. Teply.

Scientists Hope to Save Egypt's Temples From Water

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Cutting through solid rock with electronic chisels, scientists hope to save Egypt's majestic twin temples of Abu Simbel from the rising waters of the Nile.
The massive monuments, with statues of an ancient pharaoh and his pretty queen, four gods and 21 carved baboons, have greeted the rising sun for 32 centuries.
Archaeologists plan to cut the temples into blocks, hoist them 192 feet up a cliff and reassemble them.
They began cutting the stone cliffs around the temples this month. This job will take about six months, engineers say.
Then a line of carved baboons above the king's temple will be cut into 30-ton blocks and carried to a storage area on trucks and barges.
Saving Abu Simbel from the lake that will form when Egypt's immense Aswan high dam backs up the Nile is a project of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.
Forty-seven countries have contributed most of the $36 million cost, with the United States and Egypt bearing the brunt.
A five-nation construction team headed by the Hochtief Co. of West Germany is handling the project.
Workers and engineers cheered as the first giant chunk of rock was cut free and carried away in a truck.

Some fragile parts of the temples are being injected with special chemicals to preserve them under the surgery. Archaeologists are concerned about the towering nude statue of Queen Nefertari. Engineers say she will have scars from the operation.
Work continues on the Soviet-financed Aswan dam. The Nile is rising, but an 111-foot high, 1,200-foot long protective dam has been built around the temples to keep the water away until the salvage project is over.
Dismantling the temples is expected to take until January 1967. Each block is numbered, photographed and catalogued as it is cut free.
When the temples get their new home on the bank of Lake Nasser, they will face the rising sun and look almost exactly as they did before.
Nearby will be a tourist hotel, a swimming pool, a museum and a tourist bazaar.

4,000 Idaho Youths Get Employment

SEATTLE — More than 4,000 young Idahoans have been placed in jobs in the first six weeks of the President's Youth Opportunity Campaign. Clinton A. Johnson, Seattle, regional administrator of the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Employment Security, reported today.

He pointed out that 469 young people were employed as the result of the program during the week ending July 3, bringing the Idaho total to 4,338.

Meantime, interest continues high in all states, with 13 new responses from employers and 546 from young people in Idaho; for the week ending July 3, he noted.

President Johnson has asked employers of the nation to create at least half a million extra jobs for young people between 16 and 21 years of age in order to provide them with meaningful work or training opportunities in a manner that will benefit them as well as the country as a whole.

FIRST IDAHO youth to graduate from the Job Corp is Ray Newman, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Newman, Twin Falls. He has completed three months of training at a Job Corps camp near Lewiston, Calif. The training Newman received in the Job Corps enabled him to enlist in the Army. He had tried numerous times before to enlist but had been turned down for lack of the necessary education. (Times-News photo)

First Idaho Graduate of Job Corps Lauds Program

By WARREN GOSSETT
"Before I went into the Job Corps, I was a goof-off and felt worthless," 18-year-old Ray Newman asserted, "but since I got into the Job Corps and really worked hard at it, I feel I have changed my life."

Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Newman, Twin Falls, has just completed three months of extensive training at a Job Corps camp in the mountainous area near Lewiston, Calif. As Newman explained, he had tried numerous times to enlist in various branches of the service, but lack of adequate education prevented him from being accepted.

Upon the advice of several individuals, he contacted Roy Sloten, employment consultant for the Job Corps, who arranged for him to attend the camp.

Newman is the first Idaho youth to be graduated from the Job Corps. He also has the necessary education to do what he wants most, to join the service.

Newman has a brother in the army and seven in the navy. He plans to make a career of the service and, with the training he received in the Job Corps, he will be able to do so.

Newman has a younger brother, John, who also is receiving training at the camp in Lewiston.

The camp is located in the forest area and offers plenty of wholesome atmosphere. A complex of nearly 200 buildings makes up the camp, and every facility necessary is provided.

According to Newman, the buildings originally were built to house employees of the Shasta Dam project. Three weeks ago the camp was dedicated to the Job Corps.

The camp also offers the nearly 200 youths an assortment of recreation, including baseball, basketball, swimming, hiking and many other outdoor activities.

"I believe that for anyone who wants to get ahead, joining the Job Corps would be one of the best things for him to do," Newman said.

"He has a lot of credit coming for helping the boys of Idaho," he said of Mr. Sloten. "He has taken a lot of time and has done a good job."

The training that Newman received encompassed more than 300 different types of jobs and he now has the necessary training to be an auto diesel mechanic. If he decides not to make the service his career, he has this training to fall back on.

"I am grateful to the Job Corps for giving me the chance to make something of my life," he concluded.

Californians Take Over Ranch in One of Valley's Biggest Deals

BY O. A. (GUS) KELKER Times-News Feature Editor

Like the man who came to dinner—a group of Californians whose ranch purchase was one of the biggest financial deals in the history of the area, plans to be around for a while.

There is Alex Jamieson, who has been a rancher-farmer since 1917 and who, among other things, once operated the Irvine ranch in the Golden State. That ranch is one of the largest Spanish land grants in the West.

There is Merle Wolverton who holds the distinction of being California's "champion" tomato grower, granted because his land produced canning tomatoes at the average of 43 tons an acre.

Then there are Wolverton's three sons—Mike, Gary and Don—and all five of them are bound together as the Golden Valley Land and Cattle Co., Inc.

The land—this tightly knit family group purchased—Jamieson is the boys' grandfather and the elder Wolverton is his son-in-law—was known as the K. C. Barlow spread. It is in Cassia county on the Oakley cutoff road east of Murtaugh. There are 5,200 acres in the setup.

Although purchase price was not disclosed, it is known to be one of the biggest deals in land history of this area. Joe Hackney, Twin Falls realtor, handled the sale details.

Only the 5,200 acres are involved in the group purchase. Wolverton, for instance, purchased the former Corner ranch at the head of Rock Creek two years ago. This purchase totaled 900 acres. Jamieson owns a 1,200 acre setup in the Imperial Valley of California.

In the recently organized company, Jamieson is president. Wolverton is vice president. Gary Wolverton is secretary-treasurer, and Don and Michael are board members.

The 5,200 acres are watered by utilizing 13 wells which are strategically located on and near the property.

Although a late spring and a March 1 purchase delayed start of ranch operation under the new ownership, the five say things are "going fine now" and good crops are anticipated.

Sun Valley's Music Camp Involves No Student Problems, Officers Say

SUN VALLEY — A summer camp for "teen-agers" with no problems!

There was a great deal of skepticism three years ago when the Sun Valley Music camp began, about how a music camp could function — how any work would be done — in a gay summer resort where other young people were devoting all their time to sports and summertime pleasures.

As students gather this year for the first session there is complete confidence that there will be no problems at all — there never have been.

One of the secrets is an exceptional faculty ready not only to give their students the best instruction, but also to know them personally. There is an air of friendliness and comradeship between the students and faculty that is unique.

Unlike many music camps, every instructor is a concert artist so that the musicians that appear in the weekend concerts are also the teachers the pupils meet. This means a great deal of student respect for the teacher as well as artistic stimulation.

There is also the magic of Sun Valley's beauty and most of all its weather. Days are cool enough for concentration and work and both faculty and students are happy. When a picnic is scheduled at one of the beautiful lakes in the Stanley basin, students, faculty and faculty families set out together.

The sports at Sun Valley, rather than being a temptation, are an asset. With a wide range of facilities close at hand, the recreational hour after lunch can be filled with tennis, swimming, skating on the big out-

BECAUSE OF THE small runs of salmon into Idaho this year, it is doubtful that chinook eggs will be taken from the Salmon River drainage to continue the projected eight-year madronous fish restoration experiments in the Clearwater River system, now at the halfway point. However, some eyed salmon eggs, perhaps a total of 500,000, can be obtained from Bonneville Dam on the lower Columbia. Nearly 300 mature salmon were counted over the dam above Lewiston this spring and summer, an indication that the restoration program is at least partly successful. Shown planting eyed eggs in the upper Selway River, a tributary of the Clearwater, are fisheries biologists Tom Welsh, Boise, left, and Jim Keating, Lewiston. Controversy over the closing has been long and loud, officials admit. (Fish and Game photo)

Decline of Salmon Run May Mark End of Sports Fishing in Idaho Waters

BY JIM HUMBIRD
Wallo Fish-Game Department Boise — Hundreds of phone calls and letters from the Pacific Northwest are backing the Fish and Game Department's order that there won't be any sport fishing for chinook salmon in Idaho this year.

Sportsmen, resort owners and countless other people who hate to see the facts of a declining natural resource began to see the handwriting on the wall when the emergency closure on fishing for spring-run chinook salmon became effective June 25.

But the real jolt came a few days ago when the department, in effect, dropped the other shoe by extending the ban to summer chinooks in all waters of the Salmon River drainage.

Robert L. Salter, assistant director of the Idaho Fish and Game Department, said last week that only 11,253 summer-run chinook salmon had been counted at Ice Harbor, the first dam on the Snake River, by July 10.

"This is the lowest count on record for this date and the least apparently is past," he disclosed. "The number of fish in the summer run is not considered adequate for both spawning and sport fishing."

The emergency closures on both spring and summer chinook salmon fishing are drastic conservation measures which hopefully will permit the escapement of all Idaho salmon to seed the spawning beds and continue ocean runs for years to come.

"Based on information now at hand, there may be no more sport fishing for summer chinook salmon for several years — to come unless present trends change," Salter emphasized.

Spring chinook salmon spawning runs into Idaho may be holding their own and may return in great enough numbers next year to divide between the sport catch and spawning beds.

True, less than 12,000 spring chinooks were counted this year over Ice Harbor Dam — less than half the number checked a year ago — and some of these are destined to spawn in eastern Oregon tributaries of the Snake River. Admittedly this is the lowest count made at Ice Harbor since the facility opened in 1962.

But it also is true that an error in forecasting the size of the spring chinook run by fisheries agencies in Oregon and Washington this year led to greater commercial and Indian salmon catches in the Columbia than the actual size of the run warranted.

This did not leave a big enough escapement to provide an adequate seeding of the spawning grounds and a sport fishery in Idaho.

The main difference between spring chinook salmon and the summer-run fish is the time they enter the Columbia River from the Pacific Ocean. This means the two groups of fish coming to Idaho have different timetables.

The spring run starts into the Columbia in late March and April and the bulk of them are in Idaho by mid-June or a little later.

Summer chinook salmon enter the Columbia River during June and July and show up in the Salmon River by early July. There are no obvious physical differences between spring and summer chinook salmon.

Spring chinooks spawn mainly in tributaries of the Middle Fork of the Salmon River, tributaries of the Salmon River upstream from the Middle Fork, and on the upper end of the river in Stanley Basin.

The bulk of the summer chinooks use the South Fork of the Salmon River and its tributaries, and the Upper Big Salmon River near Challis. They normally spawn downstream from areas used by the spring chinooks — and spawn later.

A look at the fish count figures made at Ice Harbor Dam on the lower Snake River just above Pasco, Wash., traces an alarming decline over the past four years for both spring and summer-run chinook salmon:

Year	Spring Run	Sum. Run
1962	33,613	30,639
1963	26,778	20,875
1964	23,116	24,696
1965	12,172	17,000 (estimated)

The 1965 figure for summer chinook salmon at Ice Harbor does not agree with the 11,253 counted by July 10 because it is an estimate of the total run expected this year.

Commenting on these figures, James C. Simpson, chief of fisheries management, says that one reason for the sharp decline in numbers since 1957 is lower fish production.

Where one chinook on the spawning bed returned four or five adult salmon prior to 1957 — which supplied enough for harvest — the rate now seems to be one returning adult for each spawner.

This means that even without any harvest, the run will only maintain itself at the present level unless there is a change for the better in the production rate.

"There has been no change in

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT . . .

Otha McGill, Paul, Has Donated Much Effort to Projects of Legion

PAUL — When the name of Otha McGill is mentioned around the Mini-Cassia area, most people immediately think of the American Legion.

McGill, who has unselfishly donated much of his time and money to helping hundreds of area youngsters and service veterans alike, has earned this distinction.

Four years ago, because of his unending devotion to his country and his desires to keep the meaning of freedom before the public, he was nominated to be recognized in the national "Who's Who."

McGill has been active in the American Legion for the past 21-years and has helped to keep the Paul unit near the top with its accomplishments.

For several years McGill has been interested in the welfare of veterans and has spent much time away from his business to help these people fill out necessary forms so they can receive the financial benefits they have earned. The gratitude of many area residents has been expressed for him because he went out of his way to help veterans receive the benefits they sometimes desperately needed but weren't aware they were entitled to.

OTHA MCGILL.

McGill discovered he was neglecting his business too much with his voluntary work with veterans and sought the assistance of the county commissioners to hire a full time veterans service officer for the county.

The county adopted the idea and hired a man to take over the responsibility about two years ago.

In observing the public, McGill noted the misuse and disrespect for the American flag. Rather than idly suggesting that "sometime, someone ought to do something about teaching flag etiquette to the public," he organized a committee and soon had the complete cooperation of the county school system in presenting this material to every fifth grade student in the county.

This course has been taught the past two years with each student receiving a certificate at its completion.

Minidoka county was the first in Idaho to present this study on an entire county basis.

McGill has worked with several individuals on showing proper respect to the flag and found it hard to "teach an old dog new tricks." He decided the best way to reach the parents was to work through their children.

He noted that during parades the public will applaud a prancing horse or cheer for a participant and yet practically ignore the passing of the flag.

He feels the American people tend to lean towards more social activity which make us lax with our Americanism heritage.

"In our fast moving pace we are forgetting the price we pay for freedom and are putting a bigger emphasis on other things," he says.

"Certain types of social activity are good for people, but sometimes we fail to use wisdom in our choice of time consumption," he noted.

McGill was born April 2, 1915, at McCleasbough, Ill. The family came to Idaho in 1924. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler McGill, still reside at Paul.

McGill was graduated from the former Paul high school in 1935 and became associated with his father in the McGill Gas, Feed and Coal business.

In 1939 he went to Mountain

City, Nev., where he worked in the Rio Tinto copper mine.

He joined the armed forces in January, 1942 and spent the next 21 months as a medical technician in the medical corps of the Air Force. During this time he was in charge of the military ward of a Stockton, California hospital.

After his discharge from the service he returned to Paul where he worked at the Prisoner of War camp, west of Paul.

In 1944 he married Agnes Burnham Lewiston. They have four children, Linda, 19, a student nurse at California; Diana, 17, a senior at Minico high school; James, 16, a junior at Minico; and Mike, 12, a student at Paul school.

In 1957 he went into business as the Magic Valley Sand and Gravel Co. Two years ago he added the red-mix to his operation.

He served as substitute mail carrier for 14 years in the Paul area — he is vice president of the Methodist Men and a former director of the Paul Chamber of Commerce.

He has served on the Scouting committee and almost all the committees in the American Legion, including about four terms as commander. He has served as vice commander for the fifth district Legion. He recently was named alternate to attend the national legion convention next month at Portland.

He is currently community service chairman for the local unit, and has assisted with the Boys' State program for several years.

McGill feels that the Boys' State and flag study programs are the most valuable projects he has ever supported. For several years he has solicited sponsors to enable area boys to attend this function and made all arrangements for them.

It is natural for people to give to others what they would like to have most all for themselves. This follows true for McGill for he has harbored a long time desire to attend this event himself.

He feels the boys receive very valuable material and experience through this project.

He maintains that through projects such as this, our youth may be able to avoid threat of communism in our society.

Married?

Mothers-in-law may well be the builder's best friends. According to a Bureau of Census report, received in Twin Falls, only slightly more than two per cent of all married couples now live with their in-laws, as compared with nine per cent 20 years ago.

This means almost three million more couples became prospects for new homes instead of living with in-laws. Had newlyweds continued to live with "Momma" at the same rate as 20 years ago, 200,000 families would have been kept out of the housing market each year.

Fire Number Is Stressed At Heyburn

HEYBURN — For residents needing assistance during fires in the Heyburn area, Mrs. Bruce Brower, village clerk, notes that the number is listed on the first page of the telephone book and is 878-8062.

There has been some confusion during fire emergencies with people calling the police department or village office at Heyburn. Mrs. Brower pointed out during the village board meeting Wednesday evening, that calling this number will speed response of the fire volunteers.

The zoning committee has approved re-zoning of lot 10 of block 16 from residential to commercial to allow Wayne Watson to construct a house-trailer court on his property.

Street oiling by the Holmes Construction Co. is 90 percent completed. Trustees have received the bid on the 10-mile project.

Board members decided to draw up an ordinance adopting the 1964 building code.

A man will be hired for the position of village building inspector.

Ross Corless, chairman of the board, was excused from the meeting as he is touring with the "Singing K's".

Vic Goertzen Named to Federal Post

Vic Goertzen, former Twin Falls resident, has been named management assistance representative for the Boise regional office of the Small Business Administration, according to word received here.

Formerly sales promotion specialist in the market development department of Idaho Power Co., Goertzen will be responsible for the non-loan activities and services of SBA, according to Oliver Davis, SBA regional director.

"Adding Goertzen to the staff will enable the Boise Region to become a full-service operation providing all phases of management assistance to the small business communities of Southern Idaho and Eastern Oregon," Davis said.

Included in his duties will be the coordination of management training courses and workshops, small business liaison in government contracting and procurement as well as individual management counseling with small businessmen.

Goertzen has had some 30 years experience in business management, administration and sales promotion, including sales organization at Van Engelen's Department Stores and Times-News Publishing Co. in Twin Falls, the Boise Chamber of Commerce, S. R. Ross, Inc., Snake River Valley Electrical Association and Idaho Power Co. in Boise.

During the Korean War, Goertzen headed the Consumer Goods and Services branch of the Boise Office of Price Stabilization.

A veteran of World War II, Goertzen has been interested in tourist promotion for Idaho. He has been a member of the Treasure Valley Chamber of Commerce and active in development of tourist interest activities in Idaho City, including creation of the Boise Basin Museum, development of summer-time special events and chronicling the history of the Boise Basin gold country.

Californians Take Over Huge Ranch In One of Biggest Deals in History

because we have this big investment but even this has problems. The federal income tax is so high that farming in the high brackets hurts.

"Then when the state of Idaho follows another big business through income tax it really hurts. It could be the thing that would break us and force us to get out. We hope this never happens because we like it here but this possibility is a real and dangerous one," Jamieson said.

He is not concerned, he said, about the sales tax because he believes this is a good tax. Only complaint he has, he said, is that food should not be taxed.

"We have a sales tax in California but foodstuffs are exempt and this is usually your biggest expenditure year after year," he said.

And so it goes. For years Idahoans have been concerned about the "invasion" of California residents who come into the state and buy up recreational land. There is no such concern to be expressed over the ranch purchase.

These Californians made their purchase, went to work and will live in Idaho. There will be no absentee ownership or operation involved.

Like a neighboring rancher told this Times-News writer, "These are good people. We're glad they came up here."

Both Jamieson and the elder Wolverton are widely known in farm and ranch circles in California and other western states. Both have been active and have been or are officers at the present time of the Irving Bean and Grain Growers Association and the California Lima Bean Growers Association, both of the Golden state.

Ranch foreman is Milt Nielson, who lives on the place. The new owners will maintain headquarters in Twin Falls and other members of the families are expected in the immediate future. The purchase was made from the estate of the late K. C. Barlow, Burley, and associates.

Neither Jamieson nor Wolverton were strangers to the area when they decided to buy the spread. Wolverton already owned the Coimer ranch and Jamieson had traveled through here at various times. He first saw the Magic Valley 30 years ago.

Both men are used to big farm operations using heavy equipment and planned setups.

In an exclusive interview with the Times-News, both said they decided to come to Idaho because there is so much subdividing in California as the population grows that ranch and farm land is practically out of sight price-wise.

"You would never believe this," Jamieson said, "but where we came from farm land was valued as high as $30,000 an acre and you just cannot make any money when land is that high."

But even in Idaho he is concerned—not with the price of land an acre but with the tax structure of the state.

Plastic Surgeon Works Wonders in Patching up Kansas Prison Convicts

LANSING, Kan. (AP) — "I always cursed this face of mine," said the big man. "It bugged me every time I shaved. It bugged me when I tried to talk to a girl. It bugged me so much it seems I couldn't stop thinking about it."

The man, 31, has been in the Kansas State Penitentiary for four years. He was sentenced to 11-35 years for grand larceny and burglary with explosives.

Once in heavy construction work, he now talks of becoming a salesman when he is released. He no longer is appalled when he looks into the mirror.

Dr. John Simons, 32, a plastic surgeon, carved a new face for the man by removing pockmarks and refitting his loosely hanging skin.

Dr. Simons, senior resident in plastic surgery at the University of Kansas Medical Center in Kansas City, has been reshaping inmates' faces at the rate of two or three a week. He has the enthusiastic support of state prison officials and — particularly — the prisoners.

One inmate, 54, lost his thumb and part of the index finger while working on a prison refrigerator compressor. Dr. Simons made him a new thumb.

"It's the most dramatic operation I've done so far," says Dr. Simons. "I detached the index finger and moved it over. With the loss of the thumb, half of the use of the hand is gone. Taking an index finger away does no damage."

The prisoner, serving 1-7 years for forgery, proudly showed it off, still swollen and not fully healed but already usable.

"This is far beyond any hope I had," he said, carefully touching thumb to the three remaining fingertips. "I'm a commercial refrigeration man and that will be my life when I get back on the street. I won't be a cripple begging for work. I'll be able to work at my trade with the best of them."

The object of the surgical program, of course, is to remove one more barrier to rehabilitation.

"Conceivably a facial disfigurement — a misshapen nose, large flapping ears — could be the emotional upset that pushes them over the line," says Dr. Simons. "We don't know, of course, if pinning the ears back will keep a man out of trouble. But we hope that psychologically this will help. These are legitimate operations, even if they are mostly cosmetic."

Dr. Joseph Satten, director of the Division of Law and Psychiatry for the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, puts it this way: "There are certain kinds of cosmetic repair that are very important. Where a person has a facial abnormality or a disfiguring scar that someone meeting him would shrink from, it will put an additional barrier on him in seeking a job or meeting someone. In that kind of case, cosmetic surgery can help."

"There is some evidence that the obstacle to a man rehabilitating himself is self-confidence, and that sometimes is damaged or hurt by physical blemishes."

Neither Dr. Simons nor Dr. Satten suggests that disfigurement alone will head a man into crime.

The editor of the prison newspaper says: "It could be an indirect cause for some of them to go wrong. They're afraid to meet people, they feel conspicuous and self-conscious about their physical defect. Many men's problem here is that they feel no one outside cares. What Dr. Simons is doing shows these guys that someone does care."

Dr. Simons became interested in establishing the program after hearing that it has been done in several other states.

"At first we were apprehensive about the reaction from the prisoners," he says. "But it was an immediate success. Now we have 140 signed up and the number shoots up every day."

"The prison removes them after the operation. If we take a scar off or remove a mole on the forehead, their pictures are taken again and recirculated. Nobody yet has asked me to change their fingerprints — as you see in some old movies."

"I've been going through some of the records," says the Sherman H. Crouse, the warden. "There is a man born with a bad ear, worse than any cauliflower ear. He has fights all through his childhood. Now, when the ear is fixed, he won't look at himself as a freak. These things are bound to have a total effect on a man, bound to have an effect socially."

"When a man comes in here, he lacks something and we have to try to determine what it is. It may be education, a vocation or religion. Or it may be the inability to put on a good appearance in public because of some facial deformity that has caused him to withdraw."

"In penal work, every time a man comes through the door you have a new problem. It may be that his looks are that problem. If our hope is in changing the outlook of the inmate — and it is — we may have part of the answer."

Meeting Is Held By 4-H Group

Members of the Twin Valley Saddle 4-H Club discussed their community project to be completed in two weeks Wednesday evening at the home of Jane Anderson.

Shana Bixler gave a report on the trail ride and swimming party June 21 at Nat-Soo-Pah. Demonstrations were planned for the remainder of the year.

County Achievement Day, July 31, and the Club Achievement Day, Aug. 18, were discussed.

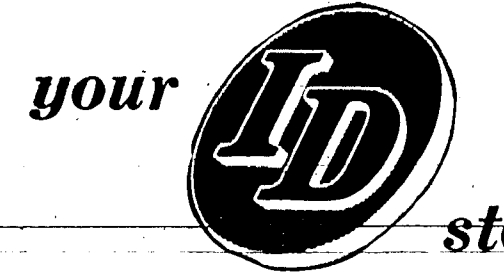

Jackie Brown and Larry Schutte gave reports on 4-H camp. Demonstrations were given by Chris Brown and Susan Kramer. The next meeting will be Aug. 20 at the home of Mrs. Roy Jesser, leader.

ATTENDS CONVENTION JEROME — Mr. and Mrs. Jim Messersmith and children are attending the annual convention of the National Auctioneers Association in Spokane, Wash.

WELL, HERE I GO, AGAIN - ANOTHER INVOLVEMENT TO INCLUDE IN MY MEMOIRS!

EASY IS DINING WITH AN OLD FRIEND, AUTHOR LINDA LANE...

PICK YOU UP IN AN HOUR, LINDA - AND WE'LL DISCUSS YOUR PROBLEM OVER STUFFED LOBSTER!

FINE! I'LL BE WAITING EASY!

LINDA, YOU SAY YOU HAVE A LETTER FROM THE BANKER WHO ABSCONDED WITH $74,000? WHY HAVEN'T YOU GONE TO THE POLICE?

WELL, AS I TOLD YOU, I WAS ONCE ENGAGED TO FRANK DUNBAR...

HE SAID HE HAD TO PAY OFF A GAMBLING DEBT, UNDER PENALTY OF DEATH!

HE'S SURE HE CAN REPLACE THE MONEY - HE BEGGED ME NOT TO GO TO THE POLICE FOR 24 HOURS!

MEANWHILE, YOU'RE WITHHOLDING KNOWLEDGE OF A CRIME!

EASY, IF HE DOESN'T RETURN TOMORROW I PROMISE TO SHOW HIS LETTER TO THE POLICE!

I'LL HOLD YOU TO THAT, LINDA!

NEXT DAY, THE COAST GUARD PREPARES TO TOW POINT CEDAR'S DEAD WHALE OUT TO SEA...

LOOKS LIKE THE END OF THE TRAIL FOR OLD MOBY, LINDA!

YES... HE MADE HEADLINES FOR A FEW DAYS, EASY!

WITH A HAWSER HITCHED TO ITS TAIL, THE WHALE IS YANKED OFF THE SAND BAR AND HAULED SEAWARD...

BUT, WHILE A COAST GUARD COPTER HOVERS ABOVE, READY TO DROP A BOMB ON THE HUGE FISH...

FUNNY THING... I WAS SURF CASTIN' HERE, LAST NIGHT, AN' I SWEAR I SEEN SOMEONE HACK A HOLE IN THAT WHALE AN' STUFF SOMETHIN' INSIDE!

WHAT? LIKE... LIKE A BODY?

WELL, HE'S SHIPPED, AND THAT PROVES LOUIE THE LETTERBOX IS THE MAN WE WANT FOR THE KNIFTER KILLING!

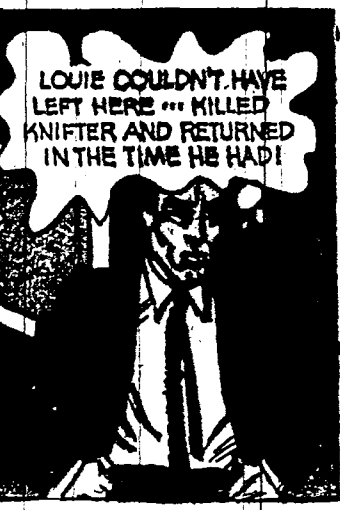

USE YOUR HEAD, INSPECTOR! LOUIE WOULD RUN IF A COP SAID 'GOOD MORNING.'

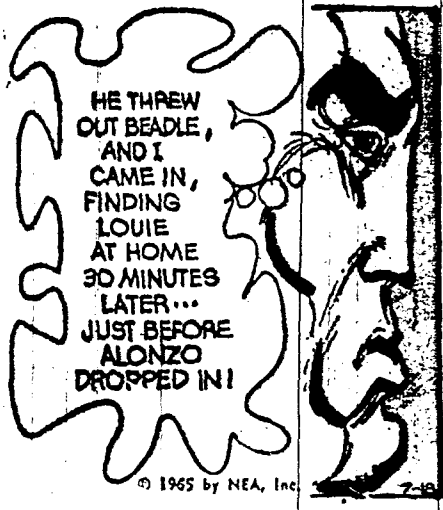

HE WON'T GET FAR!

...YEAH, ALL POINTS... PICK UP LOUIE THE LETTERBOX... SUSPICION OF MURDER!

LOUIE COULDN'T HAVE LEFT HERE... KILLED KNIFTER AND RETURNED IN THE TIME HE HAD!

HE THREW OUT BEADLE, AND I CAME IN, FINDING LOUIE AT HOME 30 MINUTES LATER... JUST BEFORE ALONZO DROPPED IN!

© 1965 by NEA, Inc.

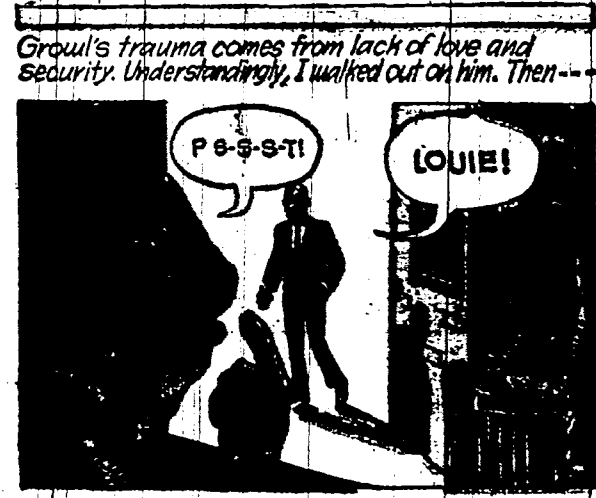

FLINT, YOU AND LOUIE PAID OFF BEADLE, EVEN IF YOU DIDN'T KNOW THE SCORE. MAYBE KNIFTER BLACKMAILED YOU, TOO...

NOW... WHAT'S YOUR ALIBI?

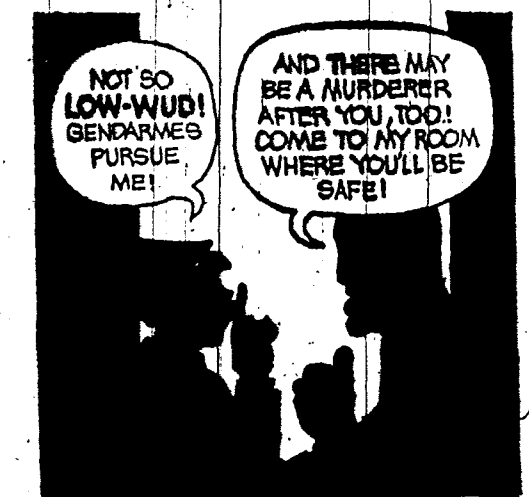

GAD, GROWLIE! DO YOU PRACTICE TO GET SO STUPID?

Growl's trauma comes from lack of love and security. Understandingly, I walked out on him. Then---

P-S-S-T!

LOUIE!

NOT SO LOW-WUD! GENDARMES PURSUE ME!

AND THERE MAY BE A MURDERER AFTER YOU, TOO! COME TO MY ROOM WHERE YOU'LL BE SAFE!

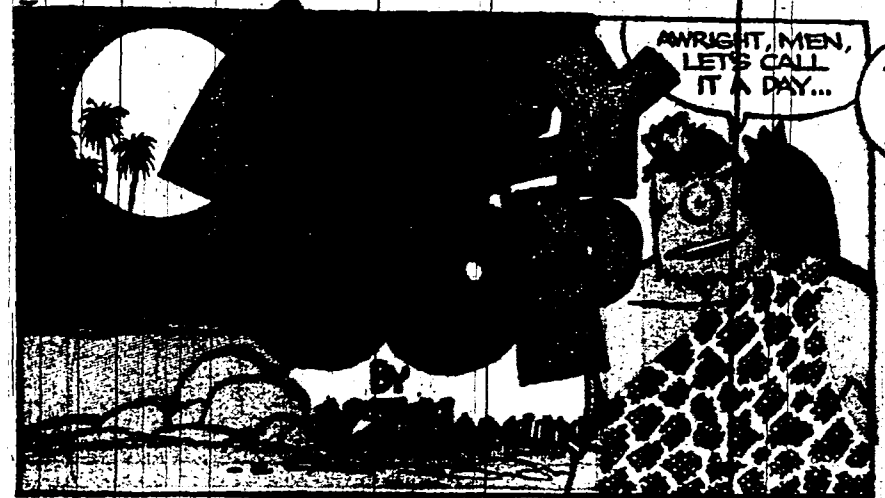

I DO DECLARE! VISITOR'S NIGHT AT THE MANOR! HOW'D YOU GET IN?

MONEY BUYS LOTS OF PASS KEYS, SHAMUS!

THIS BIG BRUISER TRIED TO GET THAT RECEIPT, VIC! I RAN HIM OFF WID ME SWITCH-BLADE!

YEAH! REK BEADLE!

AWRIGHT, MEN, LET'S CALL IT A DAY...

...HOW 'BOUT IT, CAP'N? IS EVERYBODY IN?

ALL PRESENT AND ACCOUNTED FOR, YOUR HIGHNESS!

EXCEPT OOP AN' FOOZY!

NOBODY'S SEEN 'EM SINCE NOON!

IT'S AWFUL DARK... OUT THERE IN THOSE WOODS!

NOSIR, NEITHER OOP NOR FOOZY SHOWED UP ALL NIGHT!

WELL, GET EVERYBODY OUT! WE GOT NO TIME TO LOSE!!

C'MON, SNAP TO IT!

I DON'T THINK WE'VE GOT A CHANCE OF FINDIN' 'EM ALIVE!

NOT AFTER A NIGHT IN THIS VARMINT-INFESTED WILDERNESS!

MAYBE NOT, BUT WE'RE GONNA TRY...

...IT'D BE TOO BAD T'LOSE A COUPLE FINE GUYS LIKE THEM!

I THINK WE'RE ALREADY TOO LATE!

YEH...THEY PROBLY BOTH BEEN ET LONG 'FORE NOW!

IT SURE WON'T BE TH' SAME AROUND HERE WITHOUT OOP AN' FOOZY!

HEY! WHAT'S THAT NOISE?

SOUNDS AWFUL!

'SLIP IN TH' TREES SOMEWHERE

YEAH, LOOK!

IT'S OOP AN' FOOZY! THEY'RE SOUND ASLEEP!

WELL, AWRIGHT, YOU GUYS, WHATCHA WAITIN' ON?

SHOOT 'EM DOWN!

HEY, OOP! GEE WHIZ, I SWEAR I HEAR A VOICE FROM SOMEWHERE, LOUD AN' CLEAR!

AW, YOU'RE DREAMIN'!

THAT DUMB BAZZOO IS TOO FUSSY!

I BRING MY WATER SKIS DOWN TO THE LAKE...

AND NOW HE WON'T TOW ME BECAUSE HE SAYS IT MIGHT DAMAGE HIS BOAT!

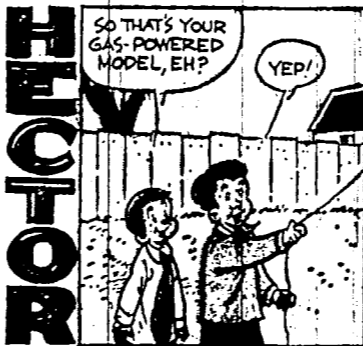

WELL, I KNOW THIS TOWING LINE WILL STRETCH...

SO WITH TWO BIG TREES AND A SLOPING BEACH...

WHO NEEDS YOU?

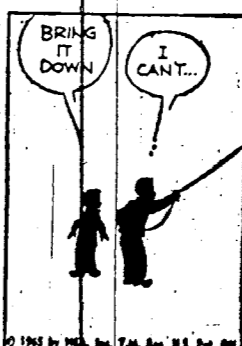

SO THAT'S YOUR GAS-POWERED MODEL, EH?

YEP!

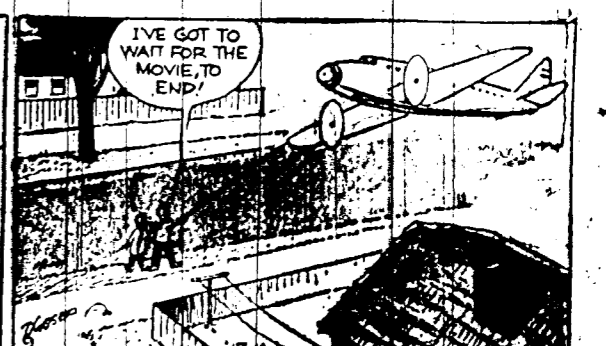

IT SURE LOOKS REAL, HECTOR.

I KNOW.

BRING IT DOWN.

I CAN'T...

I'VE GOT TO WAIT FOR THE MOVIE TO END!

LITTLE PEOPLE

There's old Otto Oter!

Oh my! Oh my golly!

Otto's actin' funny!

What's with that guy?

Do you suppose he was tryin' to tell us something?

Yeah!

HUCKLE-BERRY WINDOW

What's a rush?

C'mon! Oh Gee, oh gosh!

Who's a-belleer-er?

It's an old mourning dove!
