

U.S. Warplanes Strike Deep in North Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U. S. war planes flew closer today to the Red Chinese border than ever before on an air strike over North Viet Nam, a U. S. military spokesman said. Three A-1H Force F105 Thunderchiefs bombed a highway bridge only 41 miles from the Chinese frontier, the spokesman said. The raiders destroyed the bridge 105 miles northwest of Hanoi and also cratered the Yen Bay railroad yards 80 miles northwest of the Communist capital. The pilots reported heavy Communist groundfire, but the spokesman said all planes returned safely.

In the only other raid on North Viet Nam reported today, eight F4 Starfighters destroyed 20 buildings and damaged numerous others at the Dong Cao barracks 60 miles inside Communist territory, the spokesman said.

He also reported heavy air action against the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam and scattered clashes on the ground. The Viet Cong kept up pressure on troops of the U. S. 1st Division Wednesday night for the fourth consecutive night. American casualties again were reported light and the infiltrators were repulsed.

Through most of the night, a newsman with the troops reported guerrillas tried unsuccessfully to slip through a sector held by the 2nd Battalion of the 19th Regiment. The unit, which has seen much of this week's action, was well dug in and this enabled it to drive off the infiltrators, he said. Although the number of American casualties was not disclosed, two men were wounded when a grenade, thrown at the Viet Cong, hit a bunker, bounced back and exploded.

A U. S. spokesman announced Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who is retiring as U. S. ambassador, will leave Viet Nam Friday. Henry Cabot Lodge is due back in Saigon in mid-August to succeed him. This arrangement conforms with diplomatic protocol calling for an outgoing ambassador to depart before his successor arrives.

Judgement on Price Fixing Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department said today three leading producers of chemical fertilizer have agreed to a judgment forbidding them to fix prices in 11 western states where they do an annual $35 million business.

Officers Hunt School Escapees

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—Eastern Idaho officers Thursday sought two escapees from the State Youth Training School at St. Anthony.

Area Moose, Goat Permit Winners Listed

The Idaho Fish and Game Department announced Thursday winners have been chosen in the moose, Big Horn sheep and mountain goat hunts. Eighty-six winners were chosen from 73 applications in the moose drawing, all units being over-subscribed.

Report Says Slums May Be Beneficial

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A U.N. report on housing says some slums benefit their inhabitants and should be improved instead of torn down.

It complains that the dwindling size of houses and apartments is helping break up the three-generation household and separates old people from children and grandchildren.

Amendment to Poverty Bill Is Defeated

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democrats turned back Wednesday the first Republican effort to amend the administration's $1.9-billion anti-poverty bill.

By voice vote, they defeated a proposal by Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., that would have required local communities to get anti-poverty projects approved by a state agency.

2 Sentenced For Robbery

BURLEY—Two Pittsburgh, Pa., men were sentenced Thursday morning for armed robbery of a Burley motel last August.

Declined

WASHINGTON (AP)—Final figures on government spending in the fiscal year which ended June 30 showed that Defense Department expenditures declined by $3.5 billion.

SUPPORTERS of ousted Greek Premier George Papandreou fall atop one another as they try to flee from club-wielding policemen during demonstrations in Athens Wednesday evening. (AP wirephoto via cable from Athens)

Measures Are Threatened After Riots

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Greece's new premier today threatened tougher measures against supporters of ousted George Papandreou after the worst riot in Athens in years.

One student was killed and more than 150 persons were hurt in a three-hour battle Wednesday night between club-wielding police and more than 10,000 demonstrators screaming for Papandreou's return as premier.

Dozens of foreign tourists caught in the melee were felled by tear gas intended for the rioters.

Armed police patrols moved today through streets littered with glass and splashed with blood.

The student's death was the first fatality since a crisis developed eight days ago after King Constantine named Papandreou President George Athanasiadis Novas to replace Papandreou. The king and Papandreou had been contesting for control of the armed forces.

Athanasiadis Novas and Papandreou blamed each other for the bloodshed.

15 Selected For Finals of Beauty Event

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Fifteen beauty queens, with more confidence in cosmetics, gowns and hairdressers than old-fashioned good luck charms are semifinalists for the crown of Miss Universe.

The 15, chosen Wednesday night from the representatives of 56 countries, include Miss U.S.A. and Miss Greece, whose predecessor now holds the title.

Among them are eight blondes and freckled, red-haired Miss Israel. The winner will be crowned Saturday night.

"I'd like to jump up and down and scream!" said Miss Israel, Alisa Panfil Sadeh. She ruffled her hair, threw her arms into the air and noted: "We're beautiful. She's a comic in the pageant, a soldier at home."

Lower Court Judges Have Meeting Here

The second training session of the Idaho Magistrates Association got under way Thursday morning at O'Leary Junior High School. Judge Theron Ward, district judge of the Eleventh Judicial District, stressed the importance of the justice and police courts, saying that 90 per cent of law violators are handled by the lower courts. He said the lower courts are thus the main contact most citizens have with the judicial process and are responsible for the image that the public has of the courts. The importance of training and responsibility on the part of lower court judges also was stressed by Ward.

T.F. Chamber Leader Lauds Area Talent

Douglas Kramer, president of Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, lauded and urged recognition of talent in Magic Valley.

Kramer said in a statement Thursday, "Honors to Magic Valley recently should make us all proud. Mrs. Sterling Vaughn won a national speech contest. Robert Nora was the winner of a national talent event. The latest victor is John Tarp, Hazelton, who was elected president of the senate of Boys' Nation in Washington, D.C."

"All of these honors are firsts for Idaho, and outstanding accomplishments, particularly when you think of the population here, which won't even register in the national population total."

"The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce is extremely proud of all these individuals and now takes its hat off to another outstanding accomplishment, the Antique Festival Theater."

"This theater opened its second season last Friday at Buhl under the direction of Aldrich Bowler. A professional performance was given and people of this area who do not attend one of the performances this summer will miss a new, dynamic cultural aspect of Magic Valley that is worthy of note."

"I predict that the Antique Festival Theater will be a drawing card to the nation for this area. It merits our strongest support. All communities in Magic Valley should get behind the Buhl effort."

Tribes Continue Ritual Dances

FORT HALL (UPI)—Members of the Bannock and Shoshone Indian tribes continued their sun dance Thursday, the second day of dancing around a pole without food and drink.

The annual ritual began at sundown Tuesday and will last through Friday.

Britain's Leader Of Conservatives Resigns Position

LONDON (AP)—Sir Alec Douglas-Home, former prime minister, resigned tonight as leader of Britain's opposition Conservative Party. An official statement by the Conservative party announced that the first ballot for his successor will be taken next Tuesday with the result announced two days later. The former prime minister had been under pressure from factions within the party to bow out on the ground he has failed to provide sufficiently dynamic leadership. Douglas-Home succeeded Harold Macmillan as prime minister and party leader in October 1963.

Heyburn Man Killed, Five Hurt in Crash

RUPERT—A Heyburn man was killed and five other Burley-Rupert area residents were hospitalized as the result of a two-car accident on State Highway 24 four miles south of Rupert about midnight Wednesday. Dead was Milton Lee Fernau, 23, who had been making his home with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Allen, Heyburn, his uncle and aunt. The young man had lived in Ainsworth, Neb., until recently. He was one of seven persons riding in a 1958 Chevrolet driven by Thomas Spry, Heyburn, which struck the rear of a 1963 Ford driven by Mrs. Bessie Cliff, Burley. Sheriff Theo Johnson said both vehicles were driving north toward Rupert. Both an inquest and autopsy into the death are pending. Robert Walk, Minidoka county coroner, said Thursday.

War on Crime Imperative, Says Senator

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said today "a nationwide war on crime is imperative as our continuing war on poverty and unemployment."

Ervin's statement was prepared for the opening of a special Senate Judiciary subcommittee's hearings on legislation to provide federal assistance in training local police and improving law enforcement techniques.

Ervin, subcommittee chairman, listed as the first witness Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach.

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, one of the sponsors of the legislation, said in his prepared testimony that in many places the battle against crime is being waged with horse-and-buggy methods.

Red Paper on Removal of Troops Found

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The official Viet Nam Press Agency distributed a story today that a document found on the body of a Viet Cong officer calls for the withdrawal of Viet Cong troops to Communist North Viet Nam.

The alleged document was reported to have been sent by North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh to the South Viet Nam Liberation Front, the Viet Cong's political agency.

There was a quoted notation that Red China's leader, Mao Tse-tung, had been notified of the order.

There was no confirmation of the agency's account. The agency said the document was in cable form and was found on the body of a Viet Cong battalion commander slain in the Xuyen Moc battle Wednesday morning.

All recent military intelligence reports have indicated that, rather than calling Viet Cong troops North, the North Vietnamese Communists have been stepping up the dispatch of men to the South.

Man Extradited On Drug Charge After Recapture

OTTAWA (AP)—Lucian Rivard has been extradited to the United States, Justice Minister Lucien Cardin announced today. Cardin told reporters Rivard was handed over to American authorities about noon and "I imagine they are taking him out now."

Rivard, 50, is under indictment in Laredo, Tex., for alleged complicity in a $56 million narcotics smuggling racket across the Mexican border. Rivard was the center of a government scandal before he escaped from a Montreal jail last March 2. He was recaptured near Montreal Friday.

GOP Leaders Ask Reason For Callup

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican congressional leaders called on President Johnson today to tell Congress and the American people why the crisis in Viet Nam may necessitate the callup of Reserves, extended enlistments and increased draft calls.

"We do not shrink from doing what the situation calls for, but we ought to be told and the American people ought to be alerted," Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the Senate minority leader, told a news conference.

"If this situation is deteriorating, we should be told precisely how grave it is, and precisely what our experts think should be done."

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., House minority leader, speaking at the same news conference, said he personally feels the President should come before Congress and ask authority before calling up Reserves.

Damage Great In Northside Truck Crash

JEROME—Damages estimated at $30,000 to $40,000 resulted from a truck accident about noon Wednesday 10 miles southeast of Jerome on alternate Idaho Highway 25.

Driver of the tractor-trailer unit, Vincent Hickman, 42, Boise, received only minor injuries and was not hospitalized.

He told State Patrolman James Gerke that a car crowded him over to the edge of the detour highway, causing him to lose control of the truck on a curve. The tractor unit took over a bridge railing and the trailer broke loose, tearing out a part of the right side of the cab. The trailer slid off the road and came to rest on the embankment.

Four beet harvesters were being hauled on the trailer. The farm equipment and the tractor-trailer rig all were damaged. Hickman is driver for Opol, Harvester Company of Boise.

Probate Court Starts Work Policy for Guilty Juveniles

Judge Zoe Ann Shaub announced Wednesday that the Twin Falls Probate Court has inaugurated a new policy of work sentences for juvenile offenders.

Under the new policy, juveniles found guilty of relatively minor offenses will be set to work with no pay, at jobs that are beneficial to the city, county, state or some charitable organization.

The judge says it is the hope of the court that working at the jobs will instill good work habits in the children and, where the work involves charity groups helping those in affliction, give them an insight into the problems of others.

Georgia Baby Lives After Wild Ride

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Tiny Renea Fortson is alive today after a wild ride to reach a doctor — aided by firemen with emergency oxygen equipment and cooperating trainmen who uncoupled a freight to let the car through.

Mrs. Eileen Fortson noticed Wednesday that Renea, only a month old, was gasping for breath. When she was unable to breathe, she was unable to clear the baby's throat. Mrs. Fortson called to a neighbor to drive them to a doctor's office in suburban Forest Park—some miles away.

On the way, Renea began to turn blue. The neighbor, Mrs. Barbara Burrell, spotted a fireman and called for help. Firemen C.T. Kilgore and E.F. Bennett rushed out with the oxygen equipment, then placed the child in Kilgore's car to resume the race to the doctor's office.

Just before reaching their destination, the route was blocked by a long, slow-moving freight train. Kilgore summoned a fireman with his horn and quickly explained the situation. The train was stopped and uncoupled to let Kilgore's car through.

The doctor removed a mucous obstruction from the baby's throat and her breathing was returned to normal.

Homesteader

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—A 31-year-old machinist who left Elwood, Ind., because of "just a little town with too much folks in it" hopes to set sail Friday for British Columbia to homestead in the wilderness.

With David Stafford and his wife, Jean, also 31, and their four children and two dogs, Stafford bought a steel-hulled lifeboat here, installed a 25-horsepower engine and built a superstructure of plywood and tarpaper.

It's cost him $500. The rig still must be approved by the Coast Guard, but Stafford is confident.

Funeral for Korean Chief Is Argued

SEOUL, South Korea, (AP)—A controversy developed today over funeral services in Korea for former President Syngman Rhee as the body was en route from Honolulu to Seoul.

Rhee's former associates said they would refuse the "people's funeral" planned by the government and sponsor private services unless the government agreed to a state funeral. A people's funeral ranks below a state funeral.

A government subcommittee had planned to hold the people's funeral on Tuesday, but Rhee's widow cabled that she preferred it be held Sunday.

The subcommittee met with government and civic leaders to discuss the funeral date, then adjourned without a decision.

Texans Visit Richfield Lions

RICHFIELD—Texas visitors highlighted the Richfield Lions Club family picnic at the town park.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McAdams, Plainview, Tex., told of their attendance at Lions International Convention in Los Angeles, Calif., this month. The visitors were tourists at the Richfield park and McAdams attended the Lions Club meeting to keep his perfect attendance record.

Albert Pelley, club president, introduced the visitors and made arrangements for a film shown at the Methodist Church recreation rooms.

Definition Lags

The so-called family farm once was regarded as the backbone of this nation's agriculture, and it may still be although it's harder and harder to define what is meant by a family farm. In Magic Valley, it was once possible to raise and educate a family and then retire on the accumulations from an 80-acre farm. Perhaps other types of farming required anything from 40 acres all the way to two or more sections of land. But costs and mechanization have raised land requirements steadily, and still farmers are caught in the cost-price squeeze.
The other day, Max Hanson, state director of the Farmer's Home Administration, declared in Twin Falls, "The farmer is caught in a double squeeze from which there is no escape by individual effort." He meant that costs of things farmers must buy keep going up while the prices they get for their produce keep going down. The only escape open to the farmer is to increase his operation to the point where he's big enough to cope with the situation. Get big or get out, as the business saying goes.
Hanson declared "the plight of the small farmer has grown worse and their liquidation has accelerated." He added that subsidization has "served to enrich the greedy, not the needy" and pointed out that commercial producers and absentee landlords profit as agriculture becomes more and more concentrated in the hands of a few.
It's not that farmers are woefully inefficient because the reverse is true. Last year, the individual farm worker produced enough food and fiber to supply 33.25 persons, which set a new record in farming efficiency. It reflects mechanization, improved practices, use of more and better chemicals and better seed.
There's reason to expect even greater efficiency and production per worker as the farm revolution continues. But at the same time, farming can be expected to become more and more of a business and less a way of life.
Today's "small" farmer, who needs something like 160 acres in Magic Valley to survive the cost-price squeeze and make the most economical use of expensive farm machinery, would have been considered almost a land baron in the early days of horse farming. Still, the man who farms a quarter section today probably does so with less effort and time than his predecessor who used horses. He's still a small farmer who has taken the step expansion necessary to remain in agriculture. The standard of gauging the family-size farm hasn't kept pace with expansion with the result too many persons still regard 80 acres as the family unit size.

FAINT HOPE

The extravagantly expensive space program may yet pave the way to a sort of peace on earth that has been impossible to achieve any other way. The possibility is posed in what appears to be a mutual respect for space achievement between some of the highest officials in the United States and Russia. It may be nothing more than a mere hope, yet the possibility exists and shouldn't be ignored.
There's no denying a terrific rivalry between the world's two mightiest powers, a rivalry that is carried right into the space program. Some have termed the rivalry is competition in an effort to be the first to reach the moon. Others have declared the first nation to conquer space stands to gain tremendously. Perhaps, but some of the byproducts from the space race are quite important and peace on earth might well be one of the byproducts. There has been some belittling between the two space giants, but there have been a few exchanges of congratulations, too, and therein lies a faint hope, if nothing else.
Just the other day, the Tass News Agency praised the Mariner 4 as a vehicle of "new achievements" in space exploration. When there appeared to be a possibility of failure for Mariner 4, Tass declared that an unsuccessful mission would not detract from "quite a few new achievements added to the record of interplanetary flight." The U. S. hasn't hesitated to congratulate the Russians on some of their achievements, too.
Even if the rank and file citizens of the two nations aren't aware of it, considerable technology is necessary for any sort of space effort. Political leaders and scientists of both nations fully realize the intricate nature of the program. The mutual respect may harbor the seeds of understanding and agreement in other fields, even political.

VALID DISTINCTION

The judge in the Berkeley, Calif., student sit-in case made a valid distinction between peaceful assembly and disorderly trespassing in handing down his verdicts against 154 students and non-students. He acquitted all of illegal assembly but found them guilty of trespassing and resisting arrest.
Americans have a right to gather in protest against or in support of any issue so long as they do not infringe on the rights of other citizens. But they are not entitled to invade a building and be or sit down in defiance of laws or rules adopted to promote orderly conduct of public or private business. If the police have to carry or drag them from the place after they have been told to leave they are further guilty of resisting arrest.
Such tactics sometimes are successful, as in the sit-down strikes during the 1930s and in the sit-in against segregated restaurants and other public accommodations in the South. In some instances the ends may appear to justify the means. But there's grave danger in substituting law violation, however unjust the violated law may seem to be, for the slower but orderly processes of the courts.
The University of California, sit-in could not be condoned even though the administration's rules on political activity and freedom of speech may have been unjust. There were other, orderly means of resisting and protesting. Civil disobedience has gotten out of hand in this country. More courts should make the distinction followed by the Berkeley municipal judge.—The Oregonian

FAMOUS LAST LINE

"... Some of those sonic booms have been doozies!"
GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON—I suppose John Williams will never get anywhere, but he is good for the taxpayer's glands. The Republican senator from Delaware with the squeaky, all-but-audible voice, is one of a small band of outlaws in Congress who are always trying to save a buck.
His latest attempt admittedly was small potatoes, but it illustrated the sharp eye Williams keeps on his colleagues. All he wanted was a little law requiring senators either to spend the $2,400 stationery allotment in the Senate Stationery Store or return any surplus to the Treasury.

LA DOLCE VITA—To Williams, the stationery allowance offers a chance to "do a little chiseling," a charge other senators cheerfully admit. They say they need the money to buy tapes for radio and television talks for the folks back home and to buy hometown newspapers. Since the stationery store also stocks some attractive gift items, senators also are able to pick up an occasional gew-gaw for the little woman—or little secretary.
It was indicative of the senate's tendency for low-grade debate that the matter was argued for three hours by one of the best-attended sessions in months. Half the Senate won't trouble to show up when the body is dealing with something like the war in Viet Nam or civil rights, but when some traitor in their ranks tries to raid their pocketbooks there is always an uproar.

CLASS BY THEMSELVES—Williams' curious premise is that the Senate should set an example. Ever since 1957 he has been returning surplus stationery money to the Treasury, but few of his colleagues have joined him in this economy move. Yet, as Williams pointed out, the ordinary taxpayer has to account for his expense money.
Few taxpayers, therefore, will be moved to tears by the plaintive whine of Sen. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., that Williams "is voting to establish a rich man's club." Bass complained that he doesn't have a pocket he can dig down into for his Senate expenses, which is too bad but irrelevant. It is not recorded that Bass was dragged kicking and screaming into the race for the Senate. Like his colleagues, he ran fast for the job.

CROCODILE TEARS—Nor will Main Street be "shocked," as Sen. Gale McGee, D., Wyo., was by what he called Williams' "questioning the judgment of members of this body on how they spend their money." It is not their money; it belongs to the taxpayers.
Sen. Richard Russell, D., Ga., was hurt by what he called Williams' assumption that "the Senate has to be watched with exceeding care." Russell's sensitivity could be understandable in a Senate composed entirely of angels, but a Senate that spends more than a year trying to whitewash the Bobby Baker case could use a watchdog.
Williams lost this little fight, as he loses so many. But it is nice to know that he is still in there slugging. He deserves to get his face on a stamp, but he would never stand still for that sort of thing. Costs too much.

STATE LOTTERY
"Our state has firmly committed itself to public gambling, whether under the pretext of improving the breed or not. The mortality of this is something we should not give a great deal of time to." So spoke a New York senator, a supporter of a plan to help pay for education with a state lottery. The Senate passed the measure by a vote of 35-18, as a first step toward amending the constitution of the Empire State to authorize a public lottery.
This newspaper recently undertook a worldwide survey to determine the revenue-collecting efficiency of existing lotteries, the susceptibility of state lotteries to corruption, and the extent of hardship which lotteries cause for low-income families.
Tax experts interviewed were in fundamental agreement. As one professor put it, "When all is said and done, the states just can't get much money from lotteries." In confirmation of this opinion the Monitor study showed surprisingly low revenue returns from national lotteries in European countries.
As for corruption, past experience has not been encouraging. On the other hand, New Hampshire, by stringent policing of its lottery during the first year of operation, has managed to keep illegitimate operators from muscling in.
Concerning the extent of hardship, a sweepstakes commission study concludes that the bulk of those purchasing lottery tickets are not, as frequently charged, "those who can ill-afford spending the money." But a survey by Massachusetts lottery opponents found to the contrary that "four out of five of those who could least afford to gamble" bought New Hampshire sweepstakes tickets.

We believe it's basically wrong for a state to raise revenue whatever the purpose, by taking advantage of the weakness of its own citizens, especially those for whose families it means real hardship and suffering. We trust that the New York State Legislature will ultimately reject this lottery plan in favor of a truly responsible and effective program for raising revenue. Christian Science Monitor.

Dear Sir:
You may not have noticed, but men and women have markedly different attitudes toward clothing. When women get casual, brother! Do they get casual! Men just sort of relax.
And when men buy clothes, they generally make certain it fits the way they want it to fit. Then they just go ahead and wear it out. But women—ha! A woman will buy a dress, wear it a couple of times and from that moment on it's an old dress and hangs among the rest of the clothes described as nothing that's fit to wear. Or she might take the dress back two days after she bought it and exchange it for another.

Maybe "one of these days an old-timer will be a person who can remember when trousers and pants were rather loose-fitting."
The kids are wearing pants so tight they might as well be wearing tighties. Or maybe they are. And that includes the girls, too.
But the women and their so-called slacks! Believe me, some of them have nothing slack about them! I just wonder how many women would wear those tight-fitting so-called slacks if they could watch themselves from a point of vantage some-what to the north. Or maybe it's to the south.
But what puzzles me is why anyone would wear something that doesn't look comfortable and must be hard to get over the feet.

PLEASE, MR. DIOR
These shoes hurt my feet something awful:
My dress is too short to sit down;
My wig, bleached and dry, is the best I could buy.
But it still makes me look like a clown.
These styles make no sense—give no comfort:
They show too much bust, too much knee;
I'm over-exposed in these premature clothes.
That were made for no woman like me.

Poor Man's Plato

By HAL BOYLE

Editor's note — Hal Boyle has returned from an assignment to Viet Nam. This is his sign-off column from the war zone.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — There is a time to stay and a time to go, and my time to leave South Viet Nam has come.
At least for now. The way the war is going, however, none can say how many, who have served here for a while may be summoned to come again.
For this is the war nobody really knows. Most of us see only fragments of it — even those in high places on both sides — and can only guess what final pattern will emerge.
But it is clear that many more American tears and much more American blood will be shed before the situation is ended by a political agreement or a battlefield conclusion.
We are no longer a referee or an umpire in a foreign civil struggle. We are no longer merely advisers. We are no longer simply pocketbook supporters of the side we favor. We are military participants and will become so in fuller measure.
Now we must supply more than cash. Now we must provide both backbone and muscle if we propose to continue here. And it would help the situation if we were to realize this fully ourselves.
It is easier to be an authority on the war in Viet Nam if you have never been here, or if you have been here 50 hours, than if you have been here 50 days or, probably, 50 months. It is easier to have hard and clear views as to how it can be settled.
The longer you stay here the more difficult it is to be sure you understand what really is going on, or whether any solution offered is the right and satisfactory one.
Here are a few of the confusing things you run into in this most bewildering of wars:
The land is lovely, but it is studded with millions of hidden bamboo and steel spike traps that will rip an unwary foot through the bone.
The people seem, on the whole, friendly to the American outsider. But a cousin of the smiling little boy you pat on the head this morning may blow up your billet tonight.
There are no fixed lines as in previous wars. The enemy is before you, beside you, and behind you. There is no absolute trust to tell friend from foe.
Our side holds the big cities; their side holds most of the countryside. But they have fifth columns in every city, and we are trying to infiltrate the land areas they run.
Our side has all the necessary big weapons to win an orthodox war — from aircraft carriers to self-propelled guns. But they know better how and where and when to ambush us than we seem to know how, where and when to ambush them.
The more Viet Cong we kill, the more of them come into the fight.
Some hold the war can never be won on the battlefield by either side, and that the only answer to military stalemate is diplomatic bargaining.
Some hold that diplomatic compromise would only postpone the issue. They feel that after a pause of a few months or years the Viet Cong would take over political power they have been unable so far to achieve by ambush.

This, in summary, is the present state of the war nobody knows the outcome of.
But it is obvious that we can no longer win it with a checkbook alone. As scores of thousands more U.S. troops make the long journey to Viet Nam, what they do there will bring home to us all the deepening price we must pay if we are to achieve our purpose in this mixed-up land.

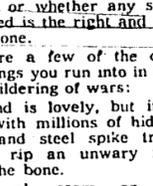

THE DOCTOR SAYS
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is the latest treatment for emphysema?
A—An operation that was first recommended for asthma—the removal of the carotid body (a nerve center in the neck) on one side has been used with some success. The operation can be performed under local anesthesia. In one series of 137 persons with emphysema who had this operation, 36 were able to return to their jobs; 69 were able to walk a couple of blocks without puffing, and 116 were much improved. This is not a cure but it does give some persons with this disease a new lease on life.
Q—How does one get rheumatoid arthritis? What are the symptoms and what are the chances of getting over it?
A—The cause of rheumatoid arthritis is unknown. The onset may be acute, with fever and painful swelling of the joints, or gradual, with loss of appetite, easy fatigability, loss of weight and pains in the joints. The joints are likely to shift about from one joint to another.
Although there is no cure, skillful treatment, preferably by a team representing several specialties, can do much for the victim. Aspirin is still a most valuable drug in treating this disease. Phenylbutazone, chloroquine and drugs of the cortisone group are also of value and physical therapy should not be neglected.

Q—Application of tincture of Mercuriole, rather than tincture of iodine, has been recommended for the relief of joint pains. How often should this be applied?
A—Neither of these antiseptic solutions is recommended for anything but killing germs on a contaminated surface. Any relief of joint pains obtained is purely of psychic—a result of a feeling that something is being done for you.
Q—I have pains in my back. Could they be due to the type of arthritis called fusing of the joints?
A—There are many causes of pain in the back besides an arthritis with fusion of the joints. One of the most common causes is faulty posture while sleeping, due to sagging bed springs. Other causes include osteoarthritis (the common or garden variety of arthritis), a strain due to heavy lifting in which the back muscles are used instead of those of the legs and hips, and walking in high-heeled shoes when you are used to low heels or vice versa.

locate important cards whenever it becomes necessary.
Raymond likes to bid a lot and also believes in old-fashioned simple bidding. His partner opened the bidding and gave him a spade raise. Raymond investigated a slam with a three diamond call and jumped to six spades after his partner showed him the ace of hearts.
He won the opening diamond lead and led a trump toward dummy. West played the jack and dummy's king held the trick. Raymond finessed for the queen on the way back. This wasn't sixth sense but rather the correct mathematical play. (Please don't write us about it until you read tomorrow's article while will explain the principle of restricted choice.)

He drew the last trump, cashed the other high diamond and ran off four rounds of clubs. He discarded one heart on the third club and ruffed the fourth club after East played the jack.
Then he had to go after hearts and by this time the sixth sense had told him where the king and jack were. So he led a low heart from his hand and simply played the three spot from dummy. East won and led back the nine whereupon Raymond played low from his hand again and West's king was dead.
CARD SENSE
Q—The bidding has been: East South West North 1♦ Dbic. Pass 2NT. Pass 3♦. South, hold: ♠AQT6 ♥KJ86 ♣AK32. What do you do?
A—Bid three no-trump. Pass is a close second choice, but under no circumstances should you try to improve matters by bidding one of your four-card suits.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You hold the same hand. East opens one heart instead of one diamond. What do you do?

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

BOGOTA, Colombia—The Alliance for Progress has come to all but a full stop here in Colombia where, at the outset, the prospects seemed so bright.
While it is hard to separate cause and effect, the government of the country is at the same time lapsing into a state of near paralysis. Unemployment is rapidly rising. The flight of capital continues, despite measures intended to stop it. Foreign exchange is all but exhausted and the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund and the U. S. Administration for International Development are saying a stern no to impassioned pleas for help.
Yet hope springs eternal that when the prospect is for bloodshed, breakdown, complete anarchy in the country, Washington will come to the rescue.
Last December when the situation was not quite so desperate, an Aid loan bailed out the government. Of that loan $10,000,000 is expected despite the earnest petitions of President Guillermo Leon Valencia who has been unable or unwilling to enforce austerity and who has only just now, after several attempts, found someone willing to take the thankless job of minister of finance. The American intervention in the Dominican Republic underwrote the hopes of those who cling to the conviction that if the worse comes to the worst and if the worst can be shown to be communitarian, the Marines will be sent in.
A report from an American source, saying that plans were in readiness for the occupation of Colombia as the Dominican Republic had been occupied, made big headlines. Despite official denials, this put new life in the conviction that a reprieve could be counted on.
As one of the harassed Americans trying to bring some order out of the mess put it: "For us the Dominican crisis could not have come at a worse time."
Yet in the long view, the eruption in Santo Domingo is comparatively unimportant when put alongside the dilemma of Colombia and, for that matter, much of Latin America. It is simply that the frame of political and economic reference is far too narrow. What worked in a genteel way in the first part of this century is unworkable in the 1960s, with an exploding population and a revolution not of rising expectations but rising demands.
Bogota was once known as the Athens of South America. A cultivated and, on the whole, enlightened elite governed responsibly with a caste system firmly fixed so there was rarely trouble from the lower orders. Presidential compromise would only postpone the issue. They feel that after a pause of a few months or years the Viet Cong would take over political power they have been unable so far to achieve by ambush.
This, in summary, is the present state of the war nobody knows the outcome of.
But it is obvious that we can no longer win it with a checkbook alone. As scores of thousands more U.S. troops make the long journey to Viet Nam, what they do there will bring home to us all the deepening price we must pay if we are to achieve our purpose in this mixed-up land.

ident Valencia, the son of one of Colombia's great poets, is a representative of that elite. But he finds himself helpless in the face of inexorable demands calling for skills, disciplines, techniques beyond the capacity of a 19th Century government and a 19th Century political system.
Following the outbreak of violence in 1948 in Bogota, which occurred in the middle of an Inter-American conference when Gen. George C. Marshall, as Secretary of State, headed the American delegation, came nearly a decade of bloodshed in the countryside. The liberals and conservatives carried on a Kentucky-type feud that cost up to 100,000 lives. This ended with agreement for a national front to last 16 years, under which liberal and conservative presidents would alternate every four years. That, in effect, suspended the nation's political strife. But it did not bring vigorous or popular government. Valencia, a conservative, finds it difficult or impossible to get a two-thirds vote in the congress required under the state of siege he declared some time ago.
Conspicuously on the left, splinter parties are breaking away from the national front. The population of Colombia has doubled in less than 20 years and today half of the population is under 20 years old. This poses an enormous task of education, training, the creation of new jobs. As a foreign observer put it to a leading Colombian politician: "It means that what you have to do in five to ten years is double all the facilities that were created in the 400 years since the Spaniards came here."
Even for a strong government with a viable economy, plus American help, that is a prospect so overwhelming as to create a sense of despair and defeat. If anyone knows the answer, this reporter in interview with Colombians in and out of the government, has not heard it. President Valencia, who is said to weep when he talks of his frustrations, reportedly will impose some form of currency control to stop the drain of dollars flowing to America. But this requires administrative techniques that seem beyond the government. Bankers and industrialists fear that such an attempt widely evaded will make the situation worse.
Others talk of a military takeover in the near future, but the Colombian military is not of the "man on horseback" school, having, it is said, an inherent respect for civilian government. And as a leading banker put it: "They are not likely to take over a bankrupt government confronted by problems which they certainly do not know how to solve."
The sad commentary is that Colombia is potentially rich in resources. If it were not for a dispute with cabinet ministers in charge of petroleum and minerals, American oil companies would like to exploit a promising strike in Putumayo in the south, eventually carrying the oil by pipeline across the Andes to the coast. Iron ore and coal are in plentiful supply and large areas of fertile land could be farmed with an expenditure of capital and strong governmental direction.
U.S. Aid loans already made and technical assistance—the total for three years through 1964 was just under $340,000,000—still go on. But it is a long way from that brave moment when President Kennedy, visiting here in December, 1961, cheered the Alianza Para El Progreso in a speech that drew a wildly fervent response.

This ended with agreement for a national front to last 16 years, under which liberal and conservative presidents would alternate every four years. That, in effect, suspended the nation's political strife. But it did not bring vigorous or popular government. Valencia, a conservative, finds it difficult or impossible to get a two-thirds vote in the congress required under the state of siege he declared some time ago.
Conspicuously on the left, splinter parties are breaking away from the national front. The population of Colombia has doubled in less than 20 years and today half of the population is under 20 years old. This poses an enormous task of education, training, the creation of new jobs. As a foreign observer put it to a leading Colombian politician: "It means that what you have to do in five to ten years is double all the facilities that were created in the 400 years since the Spaniards came here."
Even for a strong government with a viable economy, plus American help, that is a prospect so overwhelming as to create a sense of despair and defeat. If anyone knows the answer, this reporter in interview with Colombians in and out of the government, has not heard it. President Valencia, who is said to weep when he talks of his frustrations, reportedly will impose some form of currency control to stop the drain of dollars flowing to America. But this requires administrative techniques that seem beyond the government. Bankers and industrialists fear that such an attempt widely evaded will make the situation worse.
Others talk of a military takeover in the near future, but the Colombian military is not of the "man on horseback" school, having, it is said, an inherent respect for civilian government. And as a leading banker put it: "They are not likely to take over a bankrupt government confronted by problems which they certainly do not know how to solve."
The sad commentary is that Colombia is potentially rich in resources. If it were not for a dispute with cabinet ministers in charge of petroleum and minerals, American oil companies would like to exploit a promising strike in Putumayo in the south, eventually carrying the oil by pipeline across the Andes to the coast. Iron ore and coal are in plentiful supply and large areas of fertile land could be farmed with an expenditure of capital and strong governmental direction.
U.S. Aid loans already made and technical assistance—the total for three years through 1964 was just under $340,000,000—still go on. But it is a long way from that brave moment when President Kennedy, visiting here in December, 1961, cheered the Alianza Para El Progreso in a speech that drew a wildly fervent response.

ident Valencia, the son of one of Colombia's great poets, is a representative of that elite. But he finds himself helpless in the face of inexorable demands calling for skills, disciplines, techniques beyond the capacity of a 19th Century government and a 19th Century political system.
Following the outbreak of violence in 1948 in Bogota, which occurred in the middle of an Inter-American conference when Gen. George C. Marshall, as Secretary of State, headed the American delegation, came nearly a decade of bloodshed in the

Joint Meet Is Proposed About Bridge

BUHL — Twin Falls County Commissioner Morris W. Carlson indicated the commission will sponsor a meeting of the Twin Falls and Gooding County Highway Department to seek means of getting a better bridge across the Snake River in the Clear Lake area north of Buhl. He addressed the Buhl Chamber of Commerce Monday night at the A and A Cafe. Carlson pointed out since no financial assistance can be given on the county level, to give on the construction of a new bridge, the commissioners will sponsor the meeting to see if the highway districts have any suggestions on the problem. Carlson also spoke on the numerous problems confronting the county commissioners of the county. Among those the need for better airport facilities, more nursing home facilities for the elderly. He also touched on the need for a mental health clinic for Twin Falls county. The Twin Falls County hospital has a big problem of bad debts, mostly owned by outsiders and transients that simply will not pay their bills, but will not refuse emergency care, Carlson said. Some $70,000 in bad debts was charged off this spring at the hospital, he asserted.

Green Team Wins Shoot

HANSEN — The Green team with seven members present scored 335 points at the Modern Woodmen of America Rifle Shoot held Tuesday night at the Woodman hall. The Red team with just two members present received a score of 77 points. Joe Hill and Norville Reynolds tied for first place in the men's division with scores each of 52 points. James Bennett was second with a score of 56, and Earl Shole was third with a score of 41.

Mrs. Ruth Hill was high for women with a score of 49 points; Mrs. Norville Reynolds second with a score of 46; and Mrs. Minerva Smith and Mrs. Mildred Shole tied for third places with scores each of 44 points. It was announced the Joint Woodmen Royal Neighbor luncheon booth for the Twin Falls County Fair will be set up Aug. 15. All members are to bring a potluck dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Vergil Ball were hosts at the Tuesday meeting.

Louisianians To Tour West

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — A special train carrying 220 Louisiana bankers, farmers and soil conservationists will roll into Butte Monday to start a five-day tour of Montana, Washington, Idaho and Oregon. They will be joined in Butte by about 50 Montanans who will accompany them on a tour ending in Missoula Monday night. They will hear a talk by President Robert Johns of the University of Montana. Hosts for the tour in Montana will be the Montana Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, Montana Bankers Association, the Anaconda Co., and the Montana Power Co. The tour is sponsored by Louisiana Bankers, and Soil and Water Conservation Supervisors associations.

Medical Unit's Next Boss to Live With Medicare

Dr. Hudson, who next June will succeed Dr. James Z. Appel, a general practitioner and surgeon from Lancaster, Pa., as non-salaried AMA president, considers himself a moderate. "I know how to talk to people on both sides of an issue," he says, "without alienating either group. I can usually help them find a compromise position." Dr. Hudson's election is seen as an indication that the AMA itself is seeking a compromise in its long-standing struggle with Washington over what the AMA sees as increased federal intervention in medicine. At the AMA convention in New York, where Hudson won the most hotly contested election in years, delegates agreed that government financing of health care for the aged will lead to eventual federal control of the medical profession. With this, the delegates apparently believe, will come deterioration in the quality of care. One group felt that doctors should boycott Medicare and that the convention should adopt a policy of nonparticipation. Another faction, backed by Dr. Appel, took the position that while Medicare was to be opposed, nonparticipation would be foolish and that the medical profession would have to participate in the implementation of the legislation when it became law. Dr. Hudson, who supported the more conservative stand, now faces the task of bringing these divided groups together under his leadership. "Right now," he says, "we're taking a wait-and-see attitude toward Medicare. We have to react to the situation of the times. I do feel there is room for an honest difference of opinion within the organization." He doesn't believe that any AMA members will ever find it necessary to strike because of Medicare. Dr. Hudson's victory is seen as an indication that the AMA is moving away from the field of all-out battle and is headed in the direction of cautious compromise. The son of the only physician in Merrill, Mich., Charles Hudson never had any doubts about his future. An excellent student, he graduated from high school at 15 and went on to Alma (Mich.) College. "At that point," he recalls, "I felt I was a couple of years ahead of myself, so I taught English, debating, public speaking and chemistry in high school for two years before entering medical school at the University of Michigan." An avid musician, Dr. Hudson helped finance his way through college and medical school by playing the saxophone in dance bands. Most of his dwindling leisure time is devoted to fishing and boating ventures in Canada with his wife and three children. Dr. Hudson feels that the chief purpose of the AMA is to express the feelings of the organization's more than 200,000 members. "I can act as an individual physician," he says, "but on the county, state and national levels I need organizations to reflect my views on taking care of people. I like to think of us as an organization of people who give service. "We hold to the principle that every American must have access to the very best medical care. But we feel that those who can afford to buy it should pay for it. Our profession is the last bastion of free enterprise in the United States. To destroy our present system would be the height of folly. We know our doctor-patient relationship works well. We don't know what will happen when a third party (the government) enters the picture. We are trying to preserve something that the public should want to cherish rather than destroy. Somehow, no matter what we do or say, the feeling comes out in reverse."

Deadly Game Being Played At Airport

LIVERMORE, Calif. (UPI)—There's a deadly new kid's game being played around the airport here and officials hope it hasn't replaced the skateboard fad.

It's called jump-in-front-of-a landing-aircraft and-try-to-scare-it-away. So far, Richard Capehart, the manager of the small airport, has had most of the scares.

"They hide in the tall weeds and run onto the runway when a plane comes in for a landing," Capehart said.

A few weeks ago, a private plane coming in for a landing was confronted with two small children jumping up and down on the runway, Capehart said. The pilot had to swerve off his path to avoid hitting them.

"Kids playing around the airport have become a serious menace to flying," Capehart said.

COMPLAINING

POCATELLO (AP)—Local contractors are complaining this week about the loan of county equipment for use on a street project in the Village of Inkom.

Commission Chairman Lawrence Lystrup said today Bannock County commissioners had agreed to lend county equipment to the village a week ago. County employees are being paid by the village to operate the equipment, and the village is also buying the gas. No rent is being paid.

BACKS BILL

POCATELLO (AP)—The president of the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation says the proposed omnibus farm bill approved by the House Agriculture Committee would make farmers dependent on the federal treasury for their income.

Nyal Rydatch of Pocatello was critical of the agriculture committee's action and urged consideration of proposed substitute measures. He said would strengthen the market system and reduce government costs.

MEET PLANNED

POCATELLO (AP)—The Pocatello Real Estate Board plans to meet soon with a representative of the House and Home Finance Agency to discuss a proposed urban renewal project.

The project could result in a new look for the downtown area and a bright east side residential section. City commissioners are seriously considering undertaking the project—which would be financed mostly by federal funds.

PLEASD

FARRAGUT, Idaho (AP)—The administrative assistant to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says the interest in civil rights evidenced by young people could bring an end to segregation "faster than if we wait for the older people to deal with it."

The Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth said Wednesday he was pleased by the interest in civil rights shown by girl scouts attending a forum he conducted at the 1965 roundup at Farragut.

TESTS GIVEN

BOISE (AP)—Tests for persons—other than attorneys and certified public accountants—wishing to qualify as representatives of clients in tax matters will be given in Idaho in September, the Tax and Revenue Service said Wednesday.

Idaho Director Calvin E. Wright said the examinations will be given in Boise Sept. 24 and 25. Applications must be filed by Aug. 31.

COST DIMINISHES

BOISE (UPI)—Four hatcheries operated by the Idaho Fish and Game Department produced 445,000 pounds of fish last year at a cost of 52 cents per pound for producing and planting.

TOPS AGENDA

BOISE (AP)—A discussion on the possible effect of the recently enacted medicare legislation on operations of the Idaho Blue Cross will top the agenda Friday at the plan's quarterly meeting in Boise.

Leonard O. Thompson, president, said Blue Cross provides health care coverage for more than 10 per cent of the state's population over 65, the group which will come under the medicare plan.

WOMAN KILLED

AMERICAN FALLS (UPI)—A California woman became Idaho's 134th traffic victim of the year Thursday when she died of injuries sustained in a Tuesday accident in Power County.

Sheriff's officers said the victim was Ruth Marie Sorenson, 54, Alameda, Calif. She was hurt about 4:20 p.m. Tuesday when her car was involved in a rear end collision about nine miles west of American Falls on U.S. 30N.

The Idaho traffic toll on this date a year ago was 118.

DEDICATES BRIDGE

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie dedicated the new Moyie River Bridge on U. S. Highway 2 north of Bonners Ferry today declaring it would result in a "safer and freer flow of people and goods through this beautiful mountain region."

Alabama Has New Literacy Voter Test

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A new and simpler literacy test for prospective voters went into effect throughout Alabama today, replacing the questionnaire under attack in federal court.

A registration specialist said the 118 Negroes at Greensboro who signed up Monday after the Hale County Board of Registrars agreed to discontinue the old test will have to take the new one before they can be registered.

Mrs. Martha Witt-Smith, who works with the State Sovereignty Commission, said the Hale County board, in abandoning the old literacy test, did not promise to register the Negro applicants until it was determined whether it could do away with the test altogether.

Clifford Barlow Honored at Rites

EMERSON—Funeral services for Clifford Clark Barlow were conducted Monday in the Joseph Payne Memorial Chapel by Bishop Aiton L. Haslam.

Family prayer was given by Frank Rayvesten. Meditation music was played by Susanne Haslam. Howard Corless sang two solos. Invocation was given by Bishop Haslam. Life sketch was given by Bishop Clifton May. Speaker was Davis Green. Benediction was given by Darrel Green.

Pallbearers were Walter Bandley, Albert Larsen, William

California Bathers Discover Sea Stained With "Red Tide"

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The gonyaulax are proliferating again.

In other words, the red tide is in.

And California bathers are finding the sea stained dirty red. The ocean breeze is tainted with the odor of decay. Fish flee the stain or die.

But at night, the waters are a luminous wonderland.

The gonyaulax are microscopic plants which, come summer, have a population explosion. Scientists don't know why. But they're planning to find out.

One theory is that deep ocean currents come to the surface, bringing up nutrients on which the plant life flourishes. Another is that the hot summer sun lures the plantlets to the surface and wind and currents concentrate them into small areas where they are more apparent.

From the str the red masses are strikingly visible. There's a sharp dividing line between the water stained red and the water that's a normal blue-green—as though two cans of paint were being swirled. Streaks and patches of red sometimes extend miles seaward from the shore.

When it appears along a beach it can change a pleasant strand overnight into something which looks like a Mississippi.

Cole, Archie Stapley, Nicholas Mark and Joe Avelar.

Floral arrangements were under the direction of friends of the family.

Final rites were held in the Ogden City Cemetery, Ogden, Utah. Dedicatory prayer was given by John Clark Barlow.

Duplicate Club Meets at Burley

BURLEY—Mini-Cassia Duplicate Bridge Club had nine tables in play Tuesday evening at the Burley Elks' Lodge Hall.

North and south winners were Mr. and Mrs. Max Hogg, Elaine Sounders and Mrs. H. P. Ross tied for first place; Charles Moffett and Barbara Zollinger, second; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warnke, Heyburn, third.

East and west winners included Mrs. Charles Hendricks and Mrs. Ludwig Haight, first; Mr. and Mrs. Gail Wolf, second; Mr. and Mrs. C. Hunter, third, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Holmes, fourth.

The ninth nationwide charity party will be played at the Burley Elks' Hall.

All the hands will be pre-arranged. The American Credited Bridge League Charity Fund will award local, district and national awards to the winners.

Bridge players are expected to attend from Rupert, Hazelton, Twin Falls and Burley for the national bridge game.

Swim

WASHINGTON (AP)—Benja, a white drill horse, went for a moonlight swim in Washington's Tidal Basin with nothing but a rope on.

Benja was being loaded into a van after a pageant by the 3rd Infantry Regiment's Old Guard when he bolted and leaped into the basin near the Jefferson Memorial.

He swam across the basin to a boathouse but the dock was too high for him to scale.

The Army called for mechanized reinforcements. After two smaller cranes failed to do the trick, the Army brought out one it uses to pull tanks out of ditches and Benja was brought to shore.

His nocturnal dip lasted more than two hours.

Judging Tour Is Held at Lincoln

RICHFIELD—More than 60 4-H club members took part in the judging tour held Tuesday at Richfield.

Individual score cards were kept for sheep judging at the Carl Morgan place, dairy cattle and hogs at the Ralph Riley Jr. ranch, horses at Robert Myers and beef at the LeRoy Magoffin ranch.

Leaders from Dietrich, Shoshone and Richfield accompanied the group and assisted County Agent Ivan Hopkins with giving pointers. Leaders Glen Ross and Ralph Riley Jr. and their wives served lunch at the Richfield Park.

Richfield Achievement Day July 31 at the local park is the next event scheduled for both clubs.

Game Warden Waging War On Poachers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Sweeping the skies with planes and churning through bayous in high-powered boats, Louisiana's game wardens are waging a blitzkrieg on alligator poachers. There has been shooting in the swamplands from both sides. Wildlife agents are using the most modern pursuit equipment. The marshes are abuzz with walkie-talkies and two-way radios. And state judges are cracking down with jail terms of up to six months and stiff fines. The trouble stems from a scarcity of alligators in Louisiana. The State Wild Life and Fisheries Commission, trying to increase the gator population, has closed the hunting season for the past two years.

U.S. Supply Of Wood May Run Short

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—The United States will run short of natural wood supply by the year 2,000 unless there is broadscale adoption of modern forest management programs, an executive of one of the nation's leading papermaking firms warned recently. John R. Kimberly, president of Kimberly-Clark Corporation, said long-range estimates based on population trends indicate that timber growth and forest inventories will fall about 25 per cent short of meeting the nation's total wood requirements 35 years from now. In that span of time there will be at least an 80 per cent increase in demand for all forest products, without any comparable expansion in the supply of raw material — trees — he said. Kimberly told a Governors' Conference on Forestry and Forest Recreation Land Use that the techniques and the knowledge exist today to prevent this depletion of forest preserves, but that the implementing of such programs on a broad scale "suffers from combined lack of communication, education and motivation to overcome the inertia of the unconcerned." Modern forest-management programs, he said, reseed or plant more than 1.5 million acres of trees a year, but there still exist approximately 100 million acres of vacant or sparsely stocked forest land. Stocking or reforesting this land, Kimberly said, could provide enough wood annually to meet the nation's needs for the next century.

Initiative

ROCHESTER, England (UPI) — Geoffrey Sherratt missed the train taking a party from his high school on a trip to Belgium. But without tickets, money or passport he caught a later train, marched aboard the channel ferry and re-joined the party at Ostend, having passed rail, boat and immigration officials by muttering "school party." His school awarded him a prize for "initiative."

Police Probe For Body of Former Nazi

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin police have stopped digging up a shipping company's yard in which they had been tipped they might find the body of Hitler's long missing aide, Martin Bormann. West German Prosecutor Joachim Richter said there was no trace of two bodies a former mailman claimed were buried there. There have been persistent reports that Bormann was killed trying to flee Berlin in final days of World War II. Other reports said he escaped to South America.

DEDICATED

CROYDON, England (UPI) — A fireman was slightly injured when he rushed into a burning shop to rescue a "man" — which turned out to be a tailor's dummy.

Wounded Soldier Describes Viet Cong Guerrilla Assault

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — "It was like seeing ants on an ant hill," said Sgt. Edward Chamberlain as he lay in his hospital bed. The slender, blond 25-year-old from Watertown, N.Y., was describing the Viet Cong guerrillas who on Tuesday swarmed over the walls of the Vietnam special forces camp at Bu Do, 80 miles north of Saigon. Chamberlain, one of six American advisers in the camp, was wounded in the right arm. The other five Americans were either killed or wounded and casualties among the 300 Vietnamese troops were described as heavy. "We fired all night long," said Chamberlain. "The Lord must have been with me that night." Chamberlain was on guard in the mess hall when the Communists opened the attack with mortars. He said the guerrillas were already in the camp by the time he got to a bunker. "I wasn't scared until it was all over. Then I started shaking," he said. Sgt. Willie Cheatham, 28, of Tampa, Fla., called the battle "five hours of hell." Cheatham was hit by submachine-gun fire. Two Americans with him were killed. "I had to watch for them behind me as well as in front of me," he said. "There was no place to hide. I was suddenly alone."

Korean Burial Site Selected For Ex-Leader

SEOUL (UPI) — The government selected a hill in the Dongjak-Dong National Cemetery as the burial site for Syngman Rhee, the former president of South Korea who died Monday. The government also formed a preparatory committee to organize national funeral services for him instead of the state services his family had demanded. The national services are less official.

Play Slated

BUHL — Antique Festival Theatre play production schedule for this weekend is announced. Friday night will feature the two one-act plays, "The Boor" and "The Broken Jug." "The Intellectual Ladies" will be presented Saturday evening, and "The Beggar's Opera," Sunday night. Curtain time for each evening's performance is 8:30 p.m.

Sharon Carver, Osborne Wed in Home Ceremony

Sharon Rae Carver, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Max W. Carver, Twin Falls, became the bride of Richard G. Osborne, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Osborne, Salt Lake City, July 3 in a ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Bishop Melvin E. Anderson performed the double ring ceremony before an arch flanked by baskets of white gladioli, yellow chrysanthemums and yellow bells. Mrs. John W. Birrell, Twin Falls, played the traditional wedding music. Roger Vincent, Filer, was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and silk organza. The fitted bodice, enhanced with pearls and iridescent sequins, featured a scalloped square neckline and long lily point sleeves. The floor-length skirt was of colonial design with ruffles and scallops of lace with a chapel-length train. A crown of orange blossoms and pearls released her elbow-length veil of illusion.

She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white rosebuds with satin streamers on a white Bible. The bride's only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. James W. Boehm, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. James W. Osborne, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Jimmy Boehm, nephew of the bride, registered the guests.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. The bride's table was skirted with white nylon lace over yellow. The three-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with yellow roses and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and centered on the table. Tall yellow tapers in crystal holders flanked the cake.

Mrs. Ellis A. Brown, Roy, Utah, aunt of the bride, served the punch. Mrs. James R. Carver, Salt Lake City, sister-in-law of the bride, cut and served the cake.

The bride's parents hosted members of the wedding party at a dinner at the Blue Lakes Country Club.

Following a honeymoon trip to Sun Valley, the couple will reside in Salt Lake City.

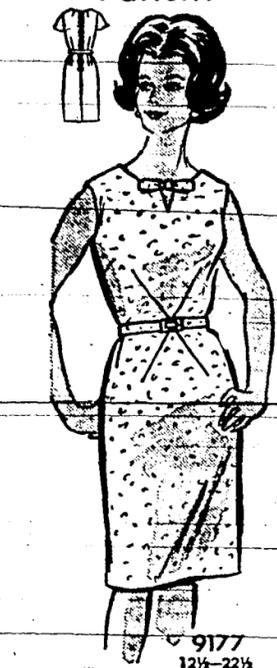

Pre-nuptial showers were given for the bride by Melody Clark, Mrs. James R. Carver, Mrs. George B. Osborne, Mrs. J. Bryant Clark, Mrs. James W. Osborne, supervisor of surgery, Salt Lake City County Hospital, Dorothy Carmichael and the surgical nurses.

Shower Held

DECLU — Pauline Jones was honored at a kitchen shower hosted by her sister, Mrs. Dennis Bruderer, Heyburn.

Guests spent the evening preparing a bride's book and presented it to Miss Jones. It depicted her childhood, school days, dating period and her marriage.

Three Named To Water Study Unit

BOISE (AP)—Three Idahoans were designated Wednesday as the state's members of a Western Water Study Committee.

The agency was formed by the Western Governors Conference and each state was assigned three members.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie appointed as Idaho's representatives George Crookham of Caldwell and Arlie Parkins of Marsing, both also members of the newly named State Water Resources Board, and William Holden of Idaho Falls, liaison representative for the governor's office with the board.

Those three and State Reclamation Engineer Carl Tappan will attend the committee's first meeting Aug. 3 at Lake Tahoe, Calif.

That session will come one day after the organizational meeting of the Idaho Board, on Aug. 2.

Smylie said the 1965 law creating the state water board gives that agency the right to represent Idaho in water matters with other states. For that reason he said the board likely has authority to name the Idaho members of the interstate committee.

But the governor said it would not be practical to wait until the Aug. 2 meeting of the state agency to designate representatives to attend the interstate session one day later. He said he will ask the state board to ratify his appointments to the interstate agency.

WORKING PARTS of an engine analyzer are being explained here by Joe Milrany, right, to Larry Stuhlberg, Jerome, who plans to take the automotive mechanics course offered by the vocational school, College of Southern Idaho. The forestry members studied leaf specimens. An entomology field trip was planned for Friday afternoon.

Brian Cooper demonstrated how to make a spreading board.

Mechanic Courses Offered By School to Meet Demand

The vocational school of the College of Southern Idaho will endeavor to satisfy the need for skilled automotive mechanics with a course in this field, according to Larry Rowe, vocational guidance director.

Rowe says employment opportunities for automobile mechanics are expected to increase rapidly during the remainder of the 1960's and longer. In addition to jobs resulting from growth of the occupation, many openings will result from the need to replace experienced auto mechanics who retire from the field.

More consumer purchasing power, increased population and multi-car ownerships are other factors contributing to the expected increase in demand for auto mechanics, Rowe said. He pointed out that the person who specializes and becomes proficient should experience no difficulty in locating employment.

A survey conducted by the board of directors of College of Southern Idaho indicated that in a survey of 23 businesses in Magic Valley a total of 123 auto mechanics were currently employed. These firms projected an anticipated need for 206 auto mechanics in the next five years.

Most employers are reluctant to train workers through an organized training program. Formal vocational training in this occupation has become the popular and accepted method for entering the field.

The vocational education division of College of Southern Idaho is offering a two-year training program in automotive mechanics. During the first semester the student will receive a basic orientation into the field—tool familiarization, safety, disassembling and identifying of component engine parts, measuring with micrometers and other instruments.

In the second semester the student will learn to disassemble, adjust and rebuild the standard transmission and overdrive. The drive mechanisms (universal joints, drive line, differential and driving axles) will be overhauled.

During the second year the more complex features of the automobile will be learned. The ignition system, generator, alternators and regulators will be studied. The multiple bore carburetor will be analyzed. Students will be instructed in all phases of engine tune-up and in the use of various types of testing equipment, such as the engine analyzer, oscilloscope, combustion analyzer and distributor stroboscope.

Final semester work will consist of adjustment and repair of the automatic transmission, as well as the suspension and steering system. The individual will be given an opportunity to specialize in the aspect of automotive mechanics which he prefers during this semester.

Classes will be held in the area vocational school near

Gravesite Rites

—VAEXSJOE, Sweden (AP).—A man bought a gravesite at the Oejoby church yard near here, then brought his own coffin on his car and then shot himself in the cemetery parking lot, police reported Wednesday.

The man, about 40, was buried there Wednesday.

Five Points East. The shop area is being supplied with the latest equipment and the instructor will have over eight years of experience as a mechanic. The classes, which will begin Sept. 1, will be in session from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Approximately two hours per day will be spent in class and the balance of time in practical application. Tuition for the vocational courses will be about $93 per semester, regardless of the county in Idaho which the student resides. Students will be required to furnish their own hand tools.

Applications for the course are being taken at the school's temporary office in the old hospital building.

Workshop Held By T.F. 4-H Club

The Twin Valley Saddle 4-H club held a workshop Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Roy Jessor, leader, and several demonstrations were given. Laura Danos demonstrated how to teach a colt to lead and G. Linn Ward explained the single rein bridle. Susan Sommer presented a talk on halters and saddles. Terry Bixler showed and told about the parts of a horse. Linda Danos and Jane Anderson discussed breeds of horses and how to judge horses.

Achievement Day will be held July 31 at the Filer Fairgrounds. Club members will meet at 9 a.m. and are asked to bring a sack lunch.

Clown, Skunk Reunited for Performance

NAMPA, Idaho (AP)—Rodeo clown Jimmy Schumacher will complete his performances in Salt Lake City with his pet skunk.

The animal disappeared during the final performance of the Snake River Stampede in Nampa Saturday night.

But it was found this week at a farm about three miles from the rodeo grounds. Thirteen-year-old Jimmy Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Brooks, found the skunk when he investigated why some dogs were barking.

Schumacher was contacted, and arranged to have the animal sent by plane to Salt Lake City.

Church Aide Will Attend World's Fair

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—President Hugh B. Brown of the first presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will represent the church at Utah Day ceremonies Saturday at the New York World's Fair, the church announced Wednesday.

President and Mrs. Brown are to leave Friday by air for New York, where they will meet Gov. Calvin L. Rampton and other state officials.

Utah Day will consist of a breakfast at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, at which President Brown and Gov. Rampton will speak. The Utah party will be greeted at the fair at 10 a.m. by fair officials, and a ceremony will be held at 11 a.m. at the Mormon Pavilion.

TOO MANY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, thinks there are too many U.S. servicemen in Europe—20 years after World War II.

DEMOLISHED in the car-bus crash Tuesday afternoon which claimed the lives of two Boise women was this 1965 Rambler, driven by Mrs. Marie Cain Gorton, 70. She and her daughter, Mrs. Stella Margarette Hopper, 41, were killed instantly and Mrs. Hopper's two daughters, Rebecca, 8, and Rachel, 3, were injured. The Rambler collided with a Trailways bus on a construction stretch of highway 20-26 west of Gooding. The Hopper girls are reported in improved condition Wednesday at St. Luke's hospital, Boise. Mrs. Hopper had been concertmaster of the Boise Philharmonic Orchestra and her mother was a music teacher. They were returning from Sun Valley. (Times-News photo)

Richard M. Nixon Appears to Be Building Bases for GOP Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard M. Nixon appears to be building a broad base for a potential bid for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination in his political travels around the country.

Nixon dropped in on Republican congressional leaders this week to chat with them about party affairs, including the lean condition of its coffers, and such matters as the GOP position on Viet Nam.

Asked at a news conference Wednesday whether he thinks the 1960 party nominee is likely to become a candidate again, Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen replied: "He didn't say."

But Dirksen went on to note that a survey made under the sponsorship of House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., and 11 GOP colleagues said Nixon lacked in the 1960 campaign and his unsuccessful 1962 race for governor of California.

The survey, which urged Republicans to take advantage of what it said was President Johnson's "inability to deal effectively with the press," said Nixon's "bitter denunciation of the press" following his defeat in California was "an intemperate outburst to be long remembered by the candidate, the press and the public."

The former vice president also is displaying a new affability with the press. This is an

U. S. Planes Flying Over East Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Two newly arrived U.S. Army L19 liaison planes have been flying over Communist East Berlin, an informed source said Wednesday.

The source said the flights were according to Allied four-power rights restricting air traffic in the Berlin control zone to American, Russian, French and British aircraft. East Berlin is within the control zone.

The single engine L19s and two helicopters were brought into Berlin after Communist East German helicopters flew over West Berlin twice in June. These flights brought a U.S. protest to the Russians.

The source said there had been no Russian protest over the L19 flights.

Politician Dial Service Is Initiated

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "dial-a-politician" service has been thrown open to the public.

Call any hour of the day or night, and you may hear President Johnson's voice at the other end. Or if you dial the Republicans, you'll get the views of three or four GOP members of Congress or party leaders.

But there's no talking back. It's all done by tape recording.

The initial purpose of the service operated separately by both parties was to provide radio and television stations with comment to record and play back on news broadcasts.

At first, only the stations were given the phone numbers. But now anyone may dial.

Here are the telephone numbers:

Democrats—area code 202, telephone 333-8260.
Republicans—area code 202, telephone 544-7277.

U. S. Patrol in Korea Fired on

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A man believed to be a North Korean agent exchanged fire with five men of a U.S. infantry patrol in the demilitarized zone, a U.S. Army spokesman said Wednesday.

Pfc. Leroy King of the patrol fired at the man, who threw seven grenades. The Korean was believed to have been wounded in the head.

Egyptian Is Charged With Aiding U. S.

CAIRO (AP) — The editor of one of Egypt's most influential newspapers has been arrested, reportedly on charges of giving information to U. S. authorities. Reliable sources said an American Embassy official was picked up and questioned in the case Wednesday.

The United Arab Republic's attorney general in a statement said Mustafa Amin, editor and founder of the newspaper Akhbar El Youm, had been arrested in "an important case," but gave no details. It did not mention American officials.

Egyptian authorities searched his house and the offices of his government controlled newspaper in Cairo.

Well-informed sources said Egyptian officials in the seaside resort of Alexandria, where Amin was arrested July 17, had questioned an American Embassy official there, but apparently released him later.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said, "We are aware of the reports and we are checking them but we believe no Americans are being held at this time." The embassy had no further comment.

Worker Killed, Several Injured At Dam Project

METALINE FALLS, Wash. (AP) — One worker was killed and four others injured Wednesday night in a rock slide at the Boundary Dam project near here.

Sheriff's officers identified the victim as Armando Hoyos, 26, of Los Angeles, Calif.

Injured were Richard Peterson, 18, of Spokane, Wash.; Glen Rader, 20, of Martin City, Mont.; and Guy Davis, 55, of Clayton, Wash.

Men Drown as Boat Capsizes

SEATTLE (AP) — The Coast Guard said at least one and probably two men drowned Wednesday when an 18-foot pleasure craft capsized in the Pacific Ocean about a mile south of the Columbia River mouth.

The body of Fharo Winfield Moss, 61, of Ocean Park, was recovered, the Coast Guard said. Coast Guard boats and a helicopter were being used in the search for the other man, tentatively identified as William Brock, 78, of Nahcotta.

"NO MORE ZIP CODES," is the motto for this Indiana family as they prepare to "head into the wilderness" of British Columbia with their converted lifeboat into an ark to carry them from the pressures of civilization to a peaceful homestead. Clockwise, the pioneers are, Mrs. David Stafford, holding Susie, 2; Ruth, 6; David II, 10; Stafford, and Kathy, 12. This family is from Elwood, Ind. "We're going to just fish and hunt and have a good time," Stafford says, "—and no more ZIP codes." (AP wirephoto)

Japanese "GI Babies" Seek Life in Strange Brazilian Jungle Colony

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Six Japanese youths — handsome but rejected by their countrymen — have turned their backs on Japan and are seeking a new life in a strange colony in the Brazilian jungle.

They are "GI babies" — abandoned children of American soldiers and Japanese girls who were rescued from garbage cans, streets and riverbanks, by the wife of a retired United Nations ambassador.

The youths, Simon Hirokazu, Christopher Ryuki, Mark Toshitaka, David Ikuo, Christopher Junichi and Stephen Yashiro, were in Los Angeles earlier this week aboard the passenger-freighter Santos Maru on a 12-hour stopover between Japan and Brazil.

With them was their "mother," Miki Sawada of Tokyo, granddaughter of the founder of the Mitsubishi industrial empire and wife of Renzo Sawada, Japan's first U.N. ambassador.

The six youths, each 18-years-old, were among her original "adopted" children. She has cared for and educated a total of 1,280 since opening her orphanage at her father's Tokyo villa in 1947.

"GI babies were appearing everywhere that year," recalls 64-year-old Mrs. Sawada. "No one wanted them. There is an age-old resentment of mixed races by my people. The illegitimate stigma shows unmistakably in their faces. Deeds of their parents hurt the feelings of the Japanese."

For those who were not adopted, Mrs. Sawada built seven dormitories and classrooms for kindergarten through high school at the 12-acre villa.

"Now, as many of my children who have not been adopted grow older, it has become necessary for me to help plan their future lives. That is why I bought 350 acres of wilderness near Belem on a tributary of the Amazon."

Buildings have been erected and farm machinery sent in for the youthful colonists. Of the first six, three plan to start a poultry business, two will start a tropical fish business and one wants to breed horses.

What reception can they expect in the jungle? Says Mrs. Sawada: "More than 2,000 Japanese already live in the area. They are of pioneer stock, much more open-minded. They are willing to accept my mixed-race children as neighbors, and as members of their families later through marriage."

Jockeying of Satellites Is Planned

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The first of two nuclear-detector satellites orbited on station 69,000 miles from the earth Wednesday, and its twin is scheduled to jockey into a similar orbit late Thursday.

The first Sentry, capable of spotting a nuclear test 200 million miles in space, was maneuvered into its final orbit Tuesday night.

Sometime Thursday a signal to the second will command a small motor to kick it into orbit on the opposite side of the earth. They were launched Tuesday to help enforce the nuclear test-ban treaty.

Women's Unit Pays Tribute To Stevenson

A tribute to Adlai E. Stevenson was given by Mrs. Jack Swisher at the Tuesday morning meeting of the Democratic Women's Club.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Mary Bolton. Mrs. Swisher closed with the statement that "Adlai E. Stevenson was honorable, wise, and witty. Any one of these traits would have made him distinctive together, they make him distinguished."

Excerpts of letters from Richard Lord, Yakima Valley College instructor, were read. Lord is spending six weeks in the American Federation of Teachers Freedom School Project in Jackson, Miss. Lord taught at Twin Falls High School from 1953 to 1955.

The next meeting will be a morning coffee on Aug. 17, also at the home of Mrs. Bolton. A speaker will talk on the Youth Corps and all interested women are invited to attend. Information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Ada Powell at 733-2033.

Price Increase On Gold Noted

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold jumped a penny a troy ounce today to $35.14 1/2 in U.S. dollar terms.

It was the third straight day that the gold price moved up by a penny. The present level is the highest since early spring. The price was set today at the traditional daily meeting of bullion-dealers.

DR. ROBERT L. PAUL, a podiatrist, will be associated with Dr. Gordon R. Tobin, 153 Third Ave. N., on Aug. 1. Dr. Paul took his pre-medical training at the University of Minnesota and was graduated from the Illinois College of Podiatry. His preceptorship was conducted at St. Mary's Hospital, associated with the Mayo Clinic. Since that time he has served as staff podiatrist at Cambridge State School and Hospital, Cambridge, Minn., and had a private practice in Spencer, Iowa, for three years. His wife and two sons will move to Twin Falls soon. (Times-News photo)

RICHFIELD — Pvt. John Brown leaves this week for eight weeks special training in wheel mechanics at Ft. Ord, Calif., after a two-week furlough visiting relatives and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Richfield. He completed basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Officers Notice Bulge, Fine Woman for Smuggling

LONDON (AP) — The case of the loaded undies ended Wednesday with hefty fines for a smuggling, battling midwife. It started when customs officers noticed an unusual bulge beneath the skirt of the midwife, Henriette Peace MacLachlan, as she returned from a vacation in Switzerland.

They took her to a private room where Miss MacLachlan produced bottles of brandy and whisky from beneath her skirt and a watch from her brassiere. The customs men still were not satisfied. They demanded a search. The woman refused. The men called in a magistrate who ordered a search, by force if necessary.

Search for Texas Girls Is Conducted

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Concern mounted today for two University of Texas co-eds whose yellow sports car turned up Wednesday night, three days after the young women vanished.

A search began Wednesday after two dozen dresses and other clothing identified as theirs were found in a ditch beside a northeast Austin street.

The missing co-eds, both brunettes and attractive, are Susan Rigby and Shirley Ann Stark; each 21 and from Dallas. They are sorority sisters.

Police found the car parked on a street about 10 blocks from an apartment where Miss Rigby planned to live while attending summer classes.

They were last seen driving on a street here Sunday afternoon.

Miss Rigby is the daughter of Mrs. Bobby Rigby of Dallas and Theo Rigby, coach at Richland High School in Fort Worth and president of the Texas Coaches Association.

Miss Stark has been making her home with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Nellie Kinard of Dallas.

Section Foreman Killed in Mine

SUNNYSIDE, Utah (AP) — A 41-year-old coal mine section foreman was killed Wednesday afternoon when the roof of a mine tunnel caved in.

Richard J. O'Neill, the father of four, was the victim, according to John Peperakis, mine manager at Kaiser Steel Corp.'s Sunnyside Mine No. 1.

Peperakis said O'Neill was alone in the section of mine which fell in. He said no one else was injured.

Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today in heavy trading.

Wall Street was still awaiting statement as to U.S. policy in Vietnam but it was not forthcoming. Many traders and investors stood aside from the market.

Losses of some blue chips deepened as the session neared its end. Du Pont was off 2 and Kennecott about a point and a half.

General Motors erased a fractional gain. Fairchild Camera held a gain exceeding a point.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3.7 million shares compared with 4.36 million Wednesday.

Gains and losses were fairly even, with changes ranging mostly from fractions to about 1/8.

Big Three motors firmed, all showing fractional gains after wavering at the start. Most of the major steels were steady, as were nonferrous metals and building materials were slightly lower.

Moderate gains among some of the aerospace stocks, chemicals, utilities, airlines, electronics and listed issues helped keep the list on an even keel.

E. Heller traded on a block of 46,800 shares, off 1/4.

Cities Service, up 2, and McKesson & Robbins, Allied Mills, National Lead and Armstrong Cork were among the stronger features.

Down about a point were IBM, Kennecott, Johns-Manville, Burlington Industries, Monsanto and Singer.

Air Reduction was up about a point and Xerox rose about a point and a half.

100 Employees At Utah Shop Are Off Job

By The Associated Press Some 100 employees at General Electric Co.'s heavy appliance repair shop in Salt Lake City remained off their jobs today as a dispute continued mainly over pay scales and job classification.

In Midvale, striking steelworkers of the U. S. Smelting, Refining and Mining Co. ratified Wednesday night a three-year contract calling for an across-the-board wage increase of 16 cents an hour this year.

Work at the company's mines in Lark and Brigham was to resume today with operation of the mill at Midvale due the first of next week, according to Benton Boyd, vice president and general manager.

A meeting Wednesday of the International Association of Machinists, Lodge 1525, General Electric management, and the U. S. Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service failed to break the deadlock.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the United States is facing a crisis in Viet Nam because the Communists are "not interested in discussing" a peaceful solution of the war.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q.—You have explained that each person can give away up to $30,000 (in money, securities or anything else) under the "lifetime exemption" in addition to away up to $3,000 to each of as many people he wants to every year under the "annual exclusion"—without paying any Federal gift tax.

And you have noted that those figures double for married couples making gifts jointly. Don't you think you should also point out that the gifts must be made at least three years before the donor dies?

A. Good point. You bring up the subject of "gifts made in contemplation of death."

The hard fact that we all have this vale of tears sooner or later is the basic motive behind sizeable gift-giving.

If you have a bundle, it can be smart to start giving it away—to your children, your grandchildren or anyone else you would normally name as your heirs.

After you make sizable gifts you have reduced what you have left. And you have reduced the size of the estate you will leave—thereby cutting down (often eliminating) estate taxes on what you leave.

A sensible gift program (under the guidance of a competent tax attorney) can save a lot of tax dollars for your heirs.

But, under the "gifts made in contemplation of death" rule, gifts made within the period three years before your death will be included in your estate for estate tax purposes.

There's an easy moral to this one. If you're in a position where gift-giving can save tax dollars, start being generous before you're near the end of the line.

Q. In reply to a person who inquired about a mutual fund you wrote, "If you want to keep your capital at work, you should reinvest it"—by using capital-gains distributions to buy additional shares.

I would like very much to do that. But I need my dividends and my capital-gains distributions in cash to meet living costs. I have done this since I bought some mutual fund shares six years ago. I have the same number of shares I originally purchased and they haven't dropped in market value.

Isn't my original capital still working for me? A. No. But that shouldn't upset you. You and many, many other people take their capital-gains distributions (as well as their dividends) from mutual fund shares in cash.

When you get a dividend from a mutual fund in which you own shares, that dividend is pure income. It comes from the dividends and interest the fund receives on the many different securities the fund holds. The fund passes it on to its shareholders, after deducting the expenses of operating the fund.

However, when you get a capital-gains distribution, part of your capital is being returned to you. It comes from the net profits a fund makes by selling securities it has held at higher prices than it paid for them.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stanley Heller and Co. says the recent dullness and the apparent lack of institutional support suggests that a partial retracement of recent gains could develop over the near-term.

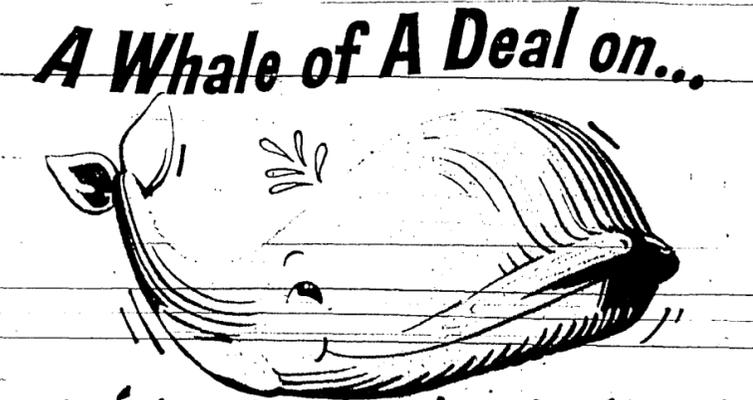

Indicator Digest Inc. says the recent narrow trading ranges may go on for a while but eventually the short-term indicators will begin acting in unison again to give a clear-cut definition of the direction. Until this occurs, the firm says, attention might be concentrated more profitably on individual stock performances than on the averages.

Edward F. Underwood of Mitchum, Jones and Templeton Inc. says that under cover of aimless fluctuations in the averages, significant shifts in investment funds are taking place.

Underwood says these shifts in investment favor quickly show up in the relative strength as well as the relative weakness of individual issues.

Deciding on Passer to Go With Top Receivers Is Problem of All-Stars

EVANSTON, Ill., (AP) — Coach Otto Graham has an exceptional crop of receivers, but conceded Wednesday he is uncertain which of four heralded quarterbacks will be firing the most passes against the Cleveland Browns in the All-Star football game at Soldier Field Aug. 6. Graham, in his eighth term as All-Star coach, commented in the collegian camp at Northwestern University: "We have four very fine receivers, as good or better than I have had in all my All-Star assignments against the champions of the National Football League."

Tresh Paces Yankees to Win Over Sox

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Tresh, who made a game-saving catch in the top of the 10th inning, won the game in the bottom half with a home run as the New York Yankees came from behind for a 7-6 victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday night.

Tresh dove into the stands with two-out in the Chicago 10th, robbing Danny Cater of a home run with a man on. Then Tresh hit his 13th homer with one out for the victory.

Joe Peplone tied it for the Yankees in the bottom of the ninth with his 10th homer of the year after Elston Howard opened the inning with a single.

Hoyt Wilhelm had allowed only one hit in four innings of relief going into the ninth before Peplone's shot tied it.

Twins Sweep From Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Bob Allison smacked a two-run triple in the ninth inning and scored on an error as the American League-leading Minnesota Twins whipped Boston 11-8 Wednesday night and completed a double-header sweep.

Tony Oliva's five-hit performance led the Twins to an 8-6 victory.

The sweep kept the Twins' American League lead at 3 1/2 games.

Singles by Rich Rollins and Harmon Killebrew preceded Allison's smash to center field.

When Ed Bressoud bobbled the relay from the outfield, Allison also came around to score.

The Red Sox had tied the score in the ninth on a three-run homer by Bressoud after a three-run homer by Killebrew had given the Twins an 8-5 lead in the fourth.

Oliva's performance paced the 15-hit Minnesota attack in the opener. Killebrew had three hits and Earl Battey contributed a pair of runs batted in.

Twins' starter Jim Kant staggered through five innings to earn his ninth victory against eight losses.

Angels Blank Senators on Schaal's Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Schaal's two-run single with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th inning gave the Los Angeles Angels and George Brunet a 2-0 victory over Washington and Buster Narum Wednesday night.

Narum, who had allowed only three hits, was in trouble right at the start of the 10th when Jim Fregosi singled. After a sacrifice, Joe Adcock was walked intentionally but then Fregosi was thrown out at home trying to score on a single by Bob Rodgers.

On the play, Adcock went to third and Rodgers to second. Bobby Knoop then walked and Schaal drove his game-winning home run.

Brunet allowed only four hits in bringing his record to 6-6. Narum is 4-10.

Wife of Champ Explains Divorce

MIAMI (AP) — Mrs. Cassius Clay blamed "the leader of the Moslem nation" Wednesday for the breakup of her 11-month-old marriage to the heavy-weight boxing champion.

In a circuit court counter-action, pretty, 25-year-old Sonji Clay asked that Clay's suit for annulment or divorce be dismissed, and that she be granted a legal separation and "permanent alimony."

Chamber to Defy Ban On Salmon Fishing

SALMON, Idaho (AP) — The Board of Directors of the Salmon Chamber of Commerce resolved Wednesday to defy regulations banning salmon fishing in the Salmon River and its tributaries. The directors took the action after a meeting Tuesday night with John C. Woodworth, director of the Idaho Fish and Game Department; Jim Simpson, fisheries director, and Hawley Hill, enforcement director.

The Chamber of Commerce directors said they learned commercial fishing would be resumed July 29 on the lower Columbia River.

They said Salmon area fishermen contend that if commercial fishing is allowed in the Lower Columbia drainage, sport fishing could be allowed in its headwaters.

Fishery specialists said the contentions are wrong. They said commercial fishing will be for farm run Chinook salmon, which they said do not migrate to the upper Salmon River.

The specialists said Salmon area fishermen would be angling for summer and spring run Chinook.

The said the summer and spring run Chinook are scarce in the Salmon area because the Oregon Fisheries Department allowed an excessively heavy early catch by commercial fishermen.

The Chamber of Commerce directors said Salmon area fishermen contend that if there are enough salmon in the lower Columbia drainage during any run, there are enough in upper tributaries for a small sport catch.

The directors said Salmon businessmen contend the slowdown in summer traffic of salmon fishermen has damaged their firms.

Idaho Director Asks Oregon to Protect Anadromous Fish Runs

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Careful management of the fall chinook and steelhead runs to assure commercial fishing will not interfere with fish returning to Idaho rivers was urged Wednesday by Idaho Fish and Game Director John Woodworth. Woodworth was in Portland to attend a meeting of the Oregon State Fish Commission called to consider the commercial fishing seasons on the fall chinook run in the Columbia River.

He assured the commissioners that Idaho will continue working with them as well as the Washington Department of Fisheries in efforts to develop an anadromous fisheries program.

But, he said, "Our people feel that we have unduly restricted them over a number of years to protect a run of chinook salmon that is being overharvested by commercial fishing."

"It is very doubtful if we can continue to sell a sound, scientific program of anadromous fish management unless a reasonable amount of sport fishing can be maintained in our state."

Woodworth told the Oregon commissioners that Idaho does not receive an appreciable amount of the fall chinook run with only a few fish migrating to the Hells Canyon region of the Snake River and the possibility of a few returning from plants made in the Clearwater River.

"Nevertheless," he said, "we do urge you to take these small runs into consideration and give credence to even these few fish which would return to Idaho as a part of the fall chinook run."

Woodworth also expressed concern over the effect of commercial fall chinook fishing on the steelhead run.

"We feel strongly that a minimum escapement of 120,000 steelhead must get past all commercial fishing in order to maintain the fishery and provide Idaho fishermen with some sea-run sport fishing this year."

Referring to the closure of the Salmon and Columbia river drainages to all sport spring and summer chinook fishing, Woodworth said most Idaho sportsmen and some businessmen have been willing to accept the closures especially on the summer run.

But he said, "the reaction to the harvest of the spring chinook run is quite different, since a 75,000 fish harvest by commercial fishermen is quite a contrast to practically nothing for the sportsmen of Idaho."

Two-Hitter by Jackson Leads Mets to Win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Al Jackson of the New York Mets pitched no-hit ball until Willie Stargell singled with one out in the eighth inning and wound up with a two-hit, 1-0 victory over the Pirates Wednesday night. The triumph ended the Mets' 10-game losing streak.

Jackson, picked off the Pittsburgh roster in the National League expansion draft in 1961, had allowed only two base runners before Stargell lined a 1-0 pitch to left field. Pinch hitter Ossie Virgil collected the other Pittsburgh hit, a leadoff single in the ninth.

Jackson, a 29-year-old left-hander, had no difficulty after Stargell singled, getting Jim Pagliarini to hit into a force out and getting Gene Alley to ground out to third.

Astros Defeat Cards 2-0 On Six-Hitter

HOUSTON (AP) — Bob Bruce's six-hit pitching and a two-run double by Bob Lillis in the fifth inning carried the Houston Astros to a 2-0 victory over St. Louis Wednesday night.

Bruce, bringing his record to 7-11, allowed the Cardinals only singles, did not allow a base runner past second base and kept St. Louis winless in four games under the Astrodome.

The Astros, who collected only four hits off Bob Gibson before he left for a pinch hitter in the eighth, broke a scoreless tie in the fifth after Jim Gentile led off with a walk.

Bob Aspromonte followed with a single and one out later Lillis doubled to right for two runs.

Chicago Past Phils in 10th

CHICAGO (AP) — Ernie Banks rapped a 10th-inning single that brought the Chicago Cubs an 8-7 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday.

Don Landrum ignited the rally against Bo Belinsky, Philadelphia's sixth pitcher, with his fourth hit of the game — a lead-off single. Billy Williams then drew a walk, and Banks followed with his deciding single to left. It was the Cubs' 18th hit.

The Cubs, who twice blew three-run leads, pulled into a 7-7 tie in the ninth when Jim Stewart tripled after Doug Clemens had singled for his fourth hit of the day.

Chamber to Defy Ban On Salmon Fishing

SALMON, Idaho (AP) — The Board of Directors of the Salmon Chamber of Commerce resolved Wednesday to defy regulations banning salmon fishing in the Salmon River and its tributaries. The directors took the action after a meeting Tuesday night with John C. Woodworth, director of the Idaho Fish and Game Department; Jim Simpson, fisheries director, and Hawley Hill, enforcement director.

The Chamber of Commerce directors said they learned commercial fishing would be resumed July 29 on the lower Columbia River.

They said Salmon area fishermen contend that if there are enough salmon in the lower Columbia drainage during any run, there are enough in upper tributaries for a small sport catch.

The directors said Salmon businessmen contend the slowdown in summer traffic of salmon fishermen has damaged their firms.

Candidate Field Narrowed to 20 By Major Owners

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — The next baseball commissioner probably will be named soon after the World Series next October. In all likelihood, he will be a man outside baseball. This was the impression left Wednesday at the midsummer meeting of major league club owners by Ford Frick, the retiring commissioner, and John E. Fetzer, Detroit Tigers owner and a member of the special two-man committee assigned to screen the numerous candidates for the sport's No. 1 job. "Baseball's biggest problems today concern ownership, management and business rather than the game itself," said Frick, who will retire at the end of this baseball season.

Bases-Loaded Single Gives Giants Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bob Schroder lashed a pinch-hit single off the right-field fence with the bases loaded in the 11th inning, bringing the San Francisco Giants a 5-4 victory over Cincinnati Wednesday. Jim Hart started the Giants off in the 11th with a leadoff single and took second on Leo Carlin's throwing error. After Dick Bertell sacrificed, Len Gabrielson and Jim Davenport were given intentional walks. Schroder then smashed his game-winning hit off Roger Craig. The victory went to Masanori Mura-kami, who held the Reds hitless and struck out four in two innings of relief. His record is now 3-1.

Orioles Use Big Inning to Wallop A's

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles turned three Kansas City errors into a seven-run fourth-inning uprising and completed a doubleheader sweep by walloping the A's 9-2 Wednesday night behind the five-hit pitching of John Miller. The Orioles won the opener 1-0 on consecutive fifth-inning doubles by Curt Blefary and Sam Bowens. Kansas City's John O'Donoghue, locked in a pitching duel with Milt Pappas in the first game, had not allowed a hit when Baltimore scored with two out in the fifth inning. An error by shortstop Bert Campaneris on the lead-off batter turned the fourth inning into a seven-run nightmare for the A's and starter Diego Segui. Two runs came in on a single by Russ Snyder. John Orsino, who hit a homer later, doubled home another run. The inning included six hits, three errors including a pick-off throw to an unprotected base, a wild pitch, a passed ball and two stolen bases—one when reliever Jim Dickson took a wind up with men on base. Jim Brown Denies Girl's Charges

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Jim Brown denied Wednesday he had sexual relations with or beat up an 18-year-old girl who has accused him of assault and battery. Brenda Ayres, 18, had testified that the professional football star slapped her on the face, stomach and hip in his motel room the night of June 19 and that they had sex relations after he had given her whisky.

Detroit Takes Pair of Wins From Indians

DETROIT (AP) — A two-run homer by Don Demeter in the seventh inning carried the Detroit Tigers to a 2-1 victory over Cleveland and, coupled with a 10-5 victory in the first game, gave them their first doubleheader sweep of the season. The Tigers were held to two hits through the first six innings by Sonny Siebert, who was projected a 1-0 lead on Chuck Hinton's homer in the second inning. It was Hinton's 12th of the season, the last four in successive games. Dick McAuliffe doubled with one out in the Detroit seventh, and Demeter hit Siebert's first pitch after Gates Brown flied out. Denny McLain made good on his third attempt for his seventh straight victory and brought his record to 8-3. Willie Horton batted in five runs, three on a home run in leading the Tigers in the opener. Horton's home run, his 22nd, moved him into the American League lead. Al Kaline also hit a three-run homer and Ray Oyler and Norm Cash hit solo shames for the Tigers; Oyler's was the first of his career. Cleveland, 010 000 000-1 3 1

JOOLY 23, 24 TOWNWIDE

Pick up your hat, get out of your flat . . . and RUN, DON'T WALK . . . to the downtown savings-sprees called CRAZY DAZE! Better wear your running-shoes, and you might need Johnny's football shoulder pads to help you crash through the rampaging crowds! Maybe you'd better wear shin-guards, too . . . 'cause you will be knee-deep in bargains before you know it! Oh, and don't forget to bring some money . . . although the savings are SO BIG, you'll think your money multiplied!

SIDEWALK BAZAAR

We are going to roll out the sidewalks on Friday and on Saturday! While they are rolled out, you will find them jam-packed with the hottest bargains in town. You better hurry for these because they won't last long!

Shop 'til 9 p.m.

Bald, Sedate Friar Secludes Self in Remote Monastery

BERGAMO, Italy (UPI)—Father Aldo da Milano, bearded Capuchin exorcist who drove "evil spirits" out of men and women amid wild scenes of collective excitement, has gone into seclusion in a remote monastery.

The people of Bergamo are still wondering whether his removal was a good or bad event. The bald, sedate Capuchin friar who recently was the center of a nationwide controversy, bowed to orders from his superiors after a few days of disobedience and left Bergamo still contending that his mysterious powers came from God, but resigned not to use them if his superiors wouldn't let him.

He left behind 29 poor children in a charity home he built six years ago, and which he said he considered his chief mission—far more important than driving out the demons.

The 44-year-old priest, born Carlo Donizelli, incurred the disfavor of his superiors after Italian newspapers gave much space to what they called scenes of "collective hysteria" during his exorcism sessions.

The driving out of evil spirits is permitted by the Catholic Church, although it is far less common now than in the Middle Ages, but Father Aldo's methods were considered irregular. Those who came to him rolled about on the ground while Father Aldo always insisted he had kept his two activities entirely separate.

"The children's home is my true activity, or at least the main one," Father Aldo said in an interview shortly before leaving Bergamo.

Father Aldo founded the home in a villa on the outskirts of the town, the gift of an aged woman whom Father Aldo said he cured from a mysterious disease. Funds came from a number of contributors.

Father Aldo ran the home with almost military efficiency. The 29 boys, aged six to 17, got up at quarter past six, made their own beds, cleaned their rooms and attended school at the home. Several of them got vocational training.

Asked about his exorcisms, Father Aldo said the practice was part of the most ancient church tradition. "And going forth, they preached that men should repent, and they cast out many devils, and anointed with oil many sick people, and healed them," he quoted St. Mark.

Man Sentenced For Series of Bank Robberies

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Ralph Raymond Murray, 27, of Los Angeles, was sentenced to 20 years in a federal institution today on four bank robbery charges.

Murray pleaded guilty earlier to a charge of robbing the Uinta State Bank of Mountain View at gunpoint May 28. He was captured 90 minutes later in a Lyman motel room, six miles away. His wife and young son

Woman Charged

Mrs. Louis Amy Kay, 30, 24 Washington St. N., was arraigned before Deputy U.S. Commissioner J. O. Pumphrey Tuesday on a charge of forging a government check.

She was released to the custody of a U.S. marshal who took her to Boise where she will be held for trial in federal court.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS

CORRECTED NOTICE OF SALE OF $2,500,000 GENERAL OBLIGATION WATER BONDS CITY OF TWIN FALLS, IDAHO.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN by the Board of Commissioners of the City of Twin Falls, Idaho, that said city intends to sell and issue its $2,500,000 General Obligation Water Bonds and will receive sealed bids therefor up to 8:00 o'clock P.M. on August 2, 1965, at which time said bonds will be opened and considered at an adjourned public meeting of the Board to be held in the City Hall in the City of Twin Falls, Idaho. The Board of Commissioners will sell such bonds to the highest bidder making the best bid therefor, which bid will be considered to be that of a responsible bidder submitting the bid which results in the lowest net interest cost to the city.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS

now estimated that the bonds will be delivered on or about September 8, 1965.
The bonds may bear interest at not more than five different rates expressed in multiples of one-eighth of one percent of 1% and all bonds of the same maturity shall bear a single rate of interest. There must not be more than one and one-half per cent (1-1/2%) difference between the highest and lowest rates specified in any bid. Only one coupon will be attached to each bond for each installment of interest thereon.
Award or rejection of bids will be made on the date above stated for receipt of bids and the checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned immediately.
For informative purposes only, the city requests each bidder to submit a tabulation of the total interest cost and the net effective rate under his bid to be filed with the Board of Commissioners of the City of Twin Falls, Idaho.
By Order of the Board of Commissioners of the City of Twin Falls, Idaho:
EGON H. KROLL
Chairman

Said bonds are dated September 1, 1965, denomination $5,000, bear interest not exceeding 4% per annum, payable September 1, 1966 and semi-annually thereafter until 1985, and will be sold in the following order on September 1 of each of the years as follows:

IN ANOTHER SUMMONS IN THE PROBATE COURT OF TWIN FALLS COUNTY, STATE OF IDAHO.
FIRST SECURITY BANK OF IDAHO, a corporation, Plaintiff, vs.
LEE ROY WALTER, Defendant.
THE STATE OF IDAHO SENDS GREETINGS TO THIS A-B-O-P-NAMED DEFENDANT:

The bonds maturing after September 1, 1978, will be callable for redemption on that date and on any interest payment date thereafter in inverse numerical order at par and accrued interest plus a premium of $100 for each bond so redeemed thereafter and on or prior to September 1, 1980 and a premium of $100 for each bond so redeemed thereafter prior to bonds to be redeemed payable at Fidelity National Bank of Twin Falls in the City of Twin Falls, Idaho, and all full general obligations of the city shall be a first lien to be levied without limitation as to rate or amount. None of the bonds will be sold for less than par and accrued interest to the date of delivery.
The bids submitted shall specify (a) the lowest rate of interest and (b) the lowest rate of interest at which the bidder will purchase such bonds at par, and each bidder (except the State of Idaho or its department of public investments) must accompany his bid with a certified or cashier's check made payable to the City of Twin Falls in the amount of five per cent of the amount of the bid, or by cash deposit of like amount, which check or deposit will be returned to the bidder if his bid is not accepted. The check or deposit of the successful bidder will be forfeited to the city if the bidder shall fail, neglect or refuse to accept the bonds and to complete and pay therefor in accordance with the terms of his bid within thirty days following its acceptance.
The right is reserved to reject any or all bids and to waive all irregularities.
The unqualified approving opinion of Chapman and Cutler covering the legality of the bonds will be furnished without cost to the purchaser. There will also be furnished the usual closing certificate, dated as of the date of delivery and payment for the bonds, including a statement that there is no litigation pending or threatened, affecting the validity of the bonds.
The purchasers will be given at least seven business days advance notice of the proposed date of the delivery of the bonds when that date has been tentatively determined. It is

You are hereby summoned to appear in the above entitled Court to be held at the County Court House in Twin Falls, Idaho, in the above entitled cause, within five (5) days from the date of service of this Another Summons upon you, or if served within this County, or if served elsewhere, then within twenty (20) days from the date of service of this Another Summons upon you, and plead to the plaintiff's complaint. If you fail to appear and plead as prayed in said Complaint, the plaintiff will take judgment against you as prayed in said Complaint.
WITNESS My hand and official Seal this 7th day of July, 1965.

Australian Youths Attend School Via Radio

ALICE SPRINGS, Australia (NEA)—How do you educate youngsters scattered sparsely through an area embracing two million square miles in the heart of the Australian continent?

By radio, of course. And as far back as 1951, the unique Schools of the Air have been transmitting lectures, tests and discussions to thousands of Australians.

The schools are unique because the students never see a teacher, or use a blackboard, or study together. The youngsters do not walk to school, or even ride, turning a control knob on their home transceivers puts them in class.

Mrs. Nancy Barrett, headmistress of the Alice Springs school, presides over just one section of this unusual school. She has about 50 students in classes from kindergarten to the seventh grade.

Promptly at 10 each morning Mrs. Barrett says "good morning, children" into the microphone. Each child then greets her in turn and school begins. The teacher introduces the subject of the lesson she has prepared for the first class, sometimes plays appropriate records or tapes, asks questions and nominates unseen pupils to answer them.

The entire system links more than 600 children to eight radio bases, all similar to Mrs. Barrett's, from which lessons are transmitted. The area in which the kids live is equivalent to that of India, Burma and Pakistan combined.

In one area alone, a "classroom" of 184 children covers half a million square miles. Because the seasons are reversed Down Under, school is held during the summer months of much of the rest of the world, recessing in November for the "summer holidays" and resuming in February.

The subjects taught include speech training, music appreciation, social studies, current affairs, as well as the usual reading, writing and arithmetic. The acting out of playlets is done with students picking up their cues from one another, even though the actors cannot see each other and are many miles apart.

To enable lessons to be devoted equally to the wide range of ages and grades, a timetable is drawn up for each five-week period and sent to all children. In that way, each pupil knows exactly when his time is due on the air. Parents see that punctuality is maintained, and the novelty of operating two-way radios helps prevent absenteeism.

All pupils are also enrolled in the correspondence schools of the departments of education of several Australian states. Weekly reports are sent by the correspondence school teachers to the School of the Air, and vice versa. The 40-week sessions per year go just as smoothly as any ordinary classroom and equally important, just as much knowledge is imparted as in ordinary schools.

VISITS PLANTS
LONDON (AP)—One of the Soviet Union's top atomic energy experts, Andronik Penzants, arrived from Moscow to visit Britain's atomic energy plants.

Disabled Liner Is Towed in

NEW YORK (AP)—The disabled passenger liner Seven Seas was under tow in the Atlantic Wednesday for St. John's, Newfoundland, the Coast Guard reported.

The ship, stopped by an engine room fire Saturday night, is expected to reach port Saturday.

A tug hooked up to the liner Tuesday night for the 500-mile trip.

Aboard the 492-foot German liner, the 400 passengers and 210 crewmen remained in good spirits.

STARS AGAIN
MOSCOW (AP)—Charlie Chaplin, who hasn't made a movie in years, may be returning to films to star with Italian actress Sophia Loren, it was reported.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, July 22—Born today, you are extremely independent. You have original ideas, strong desires, and if you are not careful may develop a dictatorial attitude toward others, desiring them to do your bidding, but refusing to do theirs. Like the leopard, you cannot change your spots; you can, however, remember that turnabout is fair play, and be willing to cooperate with the demands of others as much as you ask and expect others to cooperate when you are making the demands.

A person of widely diversified interests, you may run afoul of your own nature and talents when it comes to choosing a career. Though you are highly intelligent and capable of the greatest concentration, it is not in you to do your best at more than one thing at a time. Thus a choice in the matter of a career is an absolute necessity, and one which you should meet as early in life as possible.

Though both men and women born on this date are attractive to the opposite sex, it is you women who may have the difficult time making up your minds as to whom to marry. Though you may seem fickle or flighty beforehand, once you are married, you will prove a loyal and loving spouse.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, July 23
CANCER (June 22-July 23)—A good day for expressing yourself artistically. In business affairs, heed your hunches.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Play your cards right, and this can be your best day of the month for both private and professional affairs.

Virgo (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Make the best possible use of your time today and you can realize at least one ambition of long standing.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—A favorable time for all your general interests. Plan on a large scale and you should see big results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Don't allow a morning of varying moods keep you from progressing along lines of vital importance to you at this time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—An excellent and profitable day for the Sagittarius who combines business activities with social engagements advantageously.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Opportunities are in the air. Personal gains should come automatically with professional ones.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—The contacts you make today can be the basis of your success tomorrow.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—You can be sure of real success and a goal attained if you are intelligent in your handling of an unexpected opportunity.

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—A day for following your hunches insofar as your relationship with others is concerned.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Concentrate on improving your financial status. A steady effort will be more rewarding than a brief "crash session."

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Excellent prospects of both personal and professional success if your face your problems squarely.

Korean Burns Self in Protest

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A 62-year-old political worker set himself afire on the steps of the National Assembly building Wednesday to protest the Japanese-Korean amity treaty.

Huh Jik, chief of the statistics department of the minor Chun-pung-hoi party, smashed a bag of gasoline inside his coat pocket and then put a cigarette lighter to his coat.

Police put out the fire but Huh's face was burned black and his clothes were charred. He was reported in critical condition.

Larger Pension Checks and Higher Taxes Result From Bill

By STERLING F. GREEN WASHINGTON (AP) — If you are 65 or older, you are an immediate beneficiary of what Congress considers the greatest contribution in 30 years to security in old age.

Bigger monthly pension checks to senior Americans and sharply higher payroll taxes to younger citizens are in prospect.

And a year from now, if you are among the 18 million in the older group, it can allow what may be your foremost concern — that fear that a long or critical illness may wipe out your savings, your home, and your personal independence.

President Johnson soon will sign into law a huge bundle of amendments to the Social Security Act of 1935, assuming neither House nor Senate balks at the compromises reached by their conferees Wednesday.

The health insurance is of two types, both effective July 1, 1966. The first is a basic hospital plan; after Jan. 1, 1967, it also will include nursing home care. The second is an optional medical plan; it will pay most of your doctor bills, but if you want it, you must make monthly payment.

The hospital plan is yours to use automatically, whether or not you have worked under Social Security, whether or not you are now receiving a Social Security pension.

You are covered, in fact, even if you are ineligible for other Social Security benefits because you still work and earn a good income. The reason is this: Your illness may end your earning career; your retirement may begin the day you enter the hospital.

So you qualify simply by becoming 65.

You will get your "health insurance card" by mail from the Social Security administration, if you are among the more than 16 million already receiving monthly benefit checks. It may come in September, or soon after.

Those who are not now receiving Social Security payments will have ample notice of how and when to get a card — through the newspapers, radio and television, and through employers and organizations. A major information effort is planned.

If you miss those notices, don't worry. You will get the benefits if and when you enter a hospital.

Most people of 65 and over are expected to drop their private hospital policies when the government plan goes into effect. But the Social Security Administration issues two warnings:

First: The basic plan covers only hospital services rendered after next July 1, and nursing home services starting six months later. So:

Don't drop your private insurance yet. And don't assume now that you will want to cancel it completely. Your insurance company may offer you a worthwhile supplemental plan providing benefits not included in the government insurance.

Second: The basic hospital plan does not pay any doctor bills.

The services of physicians and surgeons are covered by a separate section of the new law — the medical insurance program. The choice of taking it is up to you: Do you want to pay $3 a month for insurance which covers a substantial part of your doctor bills?

If the cost is a deterrent, keep this in mind: Your monthly Social Security benefit is being increased — this year, not next — by more than enough to cover the $3 charge.

There will be a sign-up period for the voluntary doctor-bill plan, probably starting in September and running through next March. The plan will be described in detail in the next article in this series.

Meantime, here's how the basic hospital plan will work —

Meantime, here's how the basic hospital plan will work — Assume that you and your wife are both over 65. You have retired, receive Social Security payments, and have only modest savings.

Without warning a heart attack strikes you down. You wind up in a hospital for an eight-week stay. The cost, in a semi-private room, is $27 a day. For rest, 56 days, it adds up to $1,512. The plan entitles you to 60 days of hospital care. If your recovery is seriously hit by that cost. But had taken longer than that, you all of it is covered by the hospital plan except the first $40. The $40 is a "deductible" paid by you paying $10 of the cost of your auto collision insurance. In your case, the doctor says in each spell of illness require the intensive care of a hospitaling hospitalization under the is no longer necessary, but he new coverage, you pay the first arrangements for you to enter a $40 and the insurance covers the nursing home for a period of recuperation. This "extended care" provision will be available in 1967, but not before.

Assume that you stay in the nursing home for 35 days in accommodation cost $11 a day. The law provides for up to 100 days, but you must pay $5 of the cost for each day after 20.

The entire nursing home cost for your recuperation is $385. Twenty days are on the government. Your share of the other 15 days is $75. That is all you pay.

This is how you come out of your illness financially: Hospital, $1,512, of which you pay $40. Nursing home, $385; of which you pay $75. Cost-over-all, $1,897. Cost to you, $115.

In both the hospital and the nursing home, the government payments cover the cost of drugs, supplies and services customarily furnished. But not private-duty nurses or items you request which a hospital does not ordinarily provide.

In addition, you are entitled to as many as 100 visits in your home by nurses or other health workers — but not by doctors — during the first year following your discharge, provided you were in the hospital or nursing home for at least three days.

If your illness required diagnostic tests, the plan would pay for tests in a 20-day period in the outpatient clinic of the hospital, except for another "deductible" — you would pay the first $20 of the cost.

Suppose you have a second attack. If it comes more than 60 days after you leave the nursing home, you can re-enter the hospital and receive the same benefits.

The plan pays also for hospital treatment of mental illness, but imposes a lifetime limit of 190 days on the hospitalization.

Next: How you enroll in the new voluntary medical plan and how it pays most of your bigger doctor bills.

Soviet Espionage Chief Has Spell of Bad Luck

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In Russia's unending struggle for power Aleksander Shelepin has long been regarded by Kremlinologists as a front runner for the job once held by Nikita Khrushchev. At 47, he is the youngest of the faceless men who now rule Russia. He is also the most ambitious.

However, as boss of Moscow's vast espionage network, GRU (Glavnoye Rzedvyatelnoye Upravleniye), Shelepin lately has had a spell of bad luck that may send him off to oblivion and not to the Kremlin's spies.

Scores of his top spies were recently caught and jailed or expelled from the United States, Britain, France, Switzerland, Norway, West Germany and Latin America, Asia and Africa. Top Red bureaucrats are known to have been shot or exiled to Siberia for lesser "acts of negligence." But Shelepin seems to assume he can violate with impunity the rules of the espionage game. Everyone knows that once a spy is exposed his usefulness is at an end. You give him a pension and pack him off to grogery changes. But Shelepin merely changes the agent's name and sends them again as diplomats to spy in some other country. Khairoullam Shalkarov, one of Moscow's top secret agents, has achieved the remarkable feat of being caught in three Southeast Asian countries.

Senate Okays Golden Spike Park in Utah

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate stamped its approval Wednesday on legislation to create a Golden Spike National Historic Site at Utah's Promontory Point.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, would expand the national monument at the point into a 2,175-acre historic site. It was at Promontory point that the nation's first transcontinental railroad was laid 96 years ago.

The National Park Service plans to spend $1 million developing the site. Construction plans include a visitor's center, roads and trails.

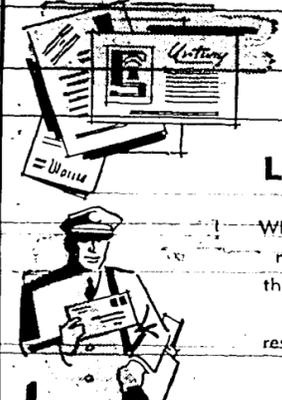

The house has passed a similar bill. Moss asked the Senate to accept minor House amendments in order to expedite passage of the measure.

CO-PRODUCTION
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Toho Productions of Japan and Henry Saperstein Enterprises of Hollywood will co-produce "Frankenstein vs. the Giant Devil Fish" — for better or worse.

Files Suit

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—The wife of Maj. Duane E. Graveline, 34, one of six newly named scientist-astronauts, has filed a suit for divorce, charging he is a man of "ungovernable outbursts of temper and passion," it was learned Wednesday.

The suit for divorce was filed Tuesday in 4th District Court, which granted Mrs. Carole Jane Graveline a temporary restraining order against Graveline.

The order tells Graveline not to harm, injure or molest Mrs. Graveline or to approach her residence in San Antonio.

She asked Graveline be restrained because she might "suffer physical bodily injury and even lose her life."

The Gravelines have four children and were married June 30, 1951 and separated July 16, 1965.

Bids Let on Surplus Silos For Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Government is letting bids Wednesday ranging from $1 to $26,110 for more than 100 surplus concrete-lined underground missile silos.

A spokesman said it would be a while before information is available as to what the bidders intend to do with the 160-foot deep, air-conditioned silos, declared obsolete because of advances in missile technology.

Three sites near Mountain Home in southern Idaho received eight bids. E. Earl and Carol Norwood of Billings, Mont., bid $26,110 — the highest offer — for a silo near Mountain home.

The government paid $12 million to $25 million each for 148 silos scattered around the country. The silos once housed Atlas E, Atlas F and Titan I missiles. Most of the bids ranged from $2,500 to $7,500 each.

Fairchild Air Force Base near Spokane, Wash. Warren Air Force Base near Cheyenne, Wyo. and Larson Air Force base near Moses Lake, Wash., were among areas where the government is selling the sites.

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED WANT AD

- 1-IT'S ALWAYS BEST to start your advertisement with the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent or property for sale start your advertisement with the location.
- 2-BE CLEAR. Readers respond more quickly and favorably when given complete and definite information. One of the very most important aspects of any advertisement is to include the price.
- 3-MAKE IT EASY for the reader's position and ask yourself: insert your telephone number or your name and address. If you cannot have regular hours, give a preferred time to have projects contact you.
- 4-THE GREATEST READER ATTENTION can be secured for your advertisement by using concise, pertinent, and to the point copy. A seven-day offer is best and less than 100 words are very special monthly rates for those who are desirous of keeping their name and offering before the public every day. Do not stop your ad in the event of results, and then you pay only for the days it is published.

- 5-PLACE YOURSELF in the position of the reader and ask yourself what you would like to know about your offer. The answer you give will make a good Classified Ad.
- 6-CLASSIFIED readers are more interested in buying your used or new merchandise. These people have the money and are ready to buy. Do not give them every advantage you can with good ad copy.
- 7-WANT ADS THAT FAIL to bring satisfaction do so, not through any lack of readership, but because they are often carelessly worded and do not contain enough information to get prompt action.
- 8-TO PLACE YOUR ADVERTISEMENT in the Twin Falls Newspaper, where you reach the greatest Classified Want Ad audience in Magic Valley, call 733-0931 or one of the Times-News free phone numbers if you live in an area outside Twin Falls and ask for an advertiser. It's as easy as calling a friend because our Ad-Takers are cheerful and helpful in such matters. Remember, you get 7 days for the price of 5.

Make That Extra Cash With Classified Ads!

ADVERTISERS
Please Check Your Ad on the First Day

We make every effort to avoid errors in your advertisements. Each ad is carefully checked and proof read, but when you handle thousands of ads each day, mistakes do slip through. We ask therefore, that you check your ad the first evening and if you find an error, report it to the Classified Department in the morning by calling 733-0931, ext. 88. We regret that we cannot be responsible for more than one day's incorrect insertion if you do not call an error to our attention. Thank you for cooperating.

IN EVENT OF ERROR, notify our Classified Departments at once. Advertisers are expected to check the first insertion; we will not be responsible for any errors after the first day.

READ YOUR AD carefully before placing it. Due to mechanical operation it is impossible to correct or change an ad until it has appeared one time.

WHEN PHONING your Want Ad always refer to the ad number back to you. Be sure to check your phone number and address. An experienced operator will help you word your result-pulling ad.

Stevenson's Friend Remembers Him as Man Who Truly Cared

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Porter McKeever, one of Adlai Stevenson's closest friends and associates for 20 years. Today McKeever is chief executive officer of the United Nations Association of the U.S.A., Inc.

By PORTER MCKEEVER
Written for Newspaper
Enterprise Assn.

A few sunny Sundays ago in San Francisco, John Fell Stevenson gathered some friends together to meet his father—who insisted, of course, that the real reason they had come was to meet his grandson. Finally, Ambassador Stevenson was persuaded that his grandson could survive a few moments in someone else's arms while he yielded to pleas to "say a few words."

Looking down on the group from the high back porch of his son's Victorian house, he said, "At last I am willing to admit that I am talking over people's heads."

Laughter changed to rapt silence as he went on to speak, almost sadly, of the struggle for survival that words, ideas and ideals must wage amid the clangor of arms and the scramble for power.

The tens of millions of grandchildren in the world, he said, could look forward to a wondrous future if only this generation does not fail them. And he ended expressing a deep conviction that the peace and freedom such a future requires are attainable.

This last encounter revealed so many aspects of this complex man. Loving your children and grandchildren is not an unusual attribute. But he had fought, and occasionally lost, some heart-searing battles to keep his public life from intruding upon his family life, and there was a special intensity about his sense of obligation to his sons.

One of the real but never publicly expressed reasons why he was reluctant to run for the presidency in 1952 was his desire to spare the boys, then just entering their teens, the added upheavals a campaign was certain to bring. He earnestly hoped they might have at least four more years of maturing and adjustment before being subjected to the glare of publicity. I recall with awe his wrath one night in Denver when his feelings on this score were overlooked.

It was one of the governor's major campaign speeches, but as so often happened, he had worked on his manuscript up until the last minute and it did not fill the half hour of costly time on national television. Standing in the wings and worrying about how the next four minutes on television were going to be occupied, I turned to one of the boys beside me and said, "Go out, shake your dad's hand, and tell him it was a great speech."

It made a wonderful scene in millions of living rooms. But as soon as the cameras were turned off, the governor strode from the stage and made clear to his entire entourage and especially to me that his boys were never again to be used for campaign purposes.

Among the millions of words he uttered and wrote, the only ones that even smacked of pride were directed not toward himself or anything he had done, but toward his sons. Like his love for them, his humility was inherent in his character.

He saw more clearly than most the power of decision in high public office and he was not ashamed to express doubt about his capacity to carry the burden without stumbling. For this some called him Hamlet. But those close to him never saw him indecisive in the face of a public issue or a public responsibility. For example, in Illinois persons who counseled the governor to condone so-called "honest graft" got short shrift.

Being both sensitive and wise, he was alive to both the frailty and majesty of man and he was his own severest judge. The problems which did not require him to judge himself he cut through unhesitatingly. And his courage in the face of physical danger from crowds during his campaign was the wonder of those who witnessed it.

The strong tie between Stevenson and Eleanor Roosevelt was woven with many threads, but there was one central core. Both of them were remarkably incapable of thinking of themselves as being important. There were ideas, issues, causes—other people—who were vitally important, but they could never think of themselves in those terms.

During the 1956 campaign, Mrs. Roosevelt was accompanying him on a whirlwind tour of New York City. The crowds along the way were delaying them and they realized they were going to be late for a rally in the Bronx. As the car stopped for a light, Mrs. Roosevelt hopped out, and as she disappeared into the subway entrance she called back over her shoulder:

"I think I can get there faster this way and I'll try to hold them for you."

One night, after a session of recalling a number of such incidents, a mutual friend asked her why she had committed herself so unsparingly to his cause.

"That's simple," she replied instantly. "It's because he cares."

He did care — about many things, the quality of public service, the integrity of government.

One weekend in Springfield, when he was governor, he disappeared as soon as Sunday dinner was served. About midnight I went looking for him and found him in his basement office surrounded by stacks of papers. Told that it was time to get some sleep, he instead brought me awake by saying he was certain there was graft hidden in those papers and he wasn't going to bed until he found it. My imagination started to count the millions he must be on the trail of in that pile of documents and drawings and scholars volunteered to draft speeches for him. But every speech he gave, even at lonely whistle stops, emerged as uniquely his own. He sought public office, but the goal closest to his heart was to raise the level of public discourse.

If he ever felt he was speaking over people's heads, he believed we, his listeners, would rather stretch than stoop.

On that Sunday in San Francisco which I mentioned at the outset, he spoke of how deeply moved he had been by the U.N.'s 20th anniversary celebration despite the dullness of the proceedings. He had been the press liaison man for the U. S. delegation to that historic meeting 20 years earlier.

A few months later in London when the organization was being formed, the illness of Edward W. Stettinius thrust Stevenson into the limelight. His success in London opened the way for a brilliant diplomatic career.

But when he came home, he decided he could serve best by speaking out in his own nation's heartland rather than in other nations' chancelleries.

And now, 20 years later, he was back in San Francisco having achieved prominence as the spokesman for his country and for the conscience of mankind.

almost breathlessly I asked him what was involved. It was a contract for asbestos pipe covering in a small state hospital! "Good lord, governor," I exploded, "How can you justify spending your time on something as small as that?"

"If the governor doesn't show he cares about something as small as that," he retorted, "he won't have those who work for him looking for the bigger things."

Most of all, he cared for ideas, and it seems to me the effective communication of ideas was the most powerful driving force in his life.

As a young lawyer in Chicago, he spoke out against the loud thunder of isolationism. The eloquence he will be remembered for was acquired painfully in the passionate effort to get a hearing for his ideas. He wanted people to listen, not to satisfy his own ego, but to arouse them to the dangers of Hitler and Mussolini.

In his political campaigns he was the despair of his aides who wanted his speeches to fit neatly into radio and television schedules. Thought and expression, not the timing, concerned him.

Many outstanding writers and scholars volunteered to draft speeches for him. But every speech he gave, even at lonely whistle stops, emerged as uniquely his own. He sought public office, but the goal closest to his heart was to raise the level of public discourse.

If he ever felt he was speaking over people's heads, he believed we, his listeners, would rather stretch than stoop.
