

American Aide to Face Vietnamese Trial in Slayings

SAIGON, South-Viet Nam (AP)—Robert Kimball, an American aid official, is expected to be tried in a Vietnamese court on charges of murdering a senior U.S. police adviser and a Vietnamese woman. Le Tu Truc, chief of police of Saigon's 3rd precinct, said that Kimball, 36, had confessed killing Jack E. Ryan, 44, chief of the U.S. Aid Mission's public safety division, and Mrs. Nguyen Thi Hai, 26, outside Ryan's house Friday night. A reliable police source said Kimball would be charged with homicide. Truc said Kimball had signed a statement admitting the killings. But the police chief refused to disclose any details of the statement.

Barge Traffic Shut Down in West Reich

BERLIN (AP)—Communist troop maneuvers shut down nearly all barge traffic between West Germany and isolated West Berlin today.

West Berlin customs officials said barge traffic was halted in the Rathenow-Brandenburg area in East Germany, about 35 miles west of Berlin. It was the first time since the Red troop exercises began 10 days ago that the shutdown on the Elbe and Havel rivers was virtually complete. There had been earlier delays around the locks on the Havel near Rathenow.

Bargemen arriving in West Berlin Saturday said that East German, Russian and Polish units were crossing the streams. Allied military sources said the exercises were normal. They said that because of spring flooding they were taking place now rather than earlier in the year as is usual.

Kimball was so upset after the shooting that he tried to kill himself, but had no more cartridges in his revolver. Kimball has been seeing Mrs. Hai for two years and believed she was in love with him. But he said he noticed a change in her when Ryan returned to Saigon after a visit to the United States.

Goldberg Is Sworn in as Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arthur J. Goldberg was sworn in today as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and promised to strive "in my own way to help keep the candle of peace burning."

Shifting from the Supreme Court to take the diplomatic post, Goldberg said the quest for peace will be the true memorial to the late Adlai E. Stevenson, the man he succeeds.

"I have no illusions that peace can be achieved rapidly," Goldberg told President Johnson and an audience of Cabinet members, congressmen and other officials in the White House rose garden.

"But I have every confidence that it is going to be possible to inch forward to it, inch by agonizing inch," Goldberg said. He said there is no alternative in a nuclear age.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey were among those who stood behind him. After completing the oath, Goldberg turned to Johnson and handed him a letter of resignation from the Supreme Court.

Three Named For British Party Race

LONDON (AP)—Three contenders were nominated today in the race for leader of Britain's Conservative party and potential prime minister. Nomination of the third man made a decision on the first ballot Tuesday unlikely.

The three put forward by Tory members of Parliament were: Edward Heath, 49, a bachelor who tried to negotiate Britain's entry into the Common Market until he ran up against President Charles de Gaulle's veto. Reginald Maudling, 48, chancellor of the exchequer in the last Conservative government. Regarded as an able and affable administrator, he was the favorite.

Enoch Powell, 53, former health minister who believes in modern methods, unbridled free enterprise and has the backing of some younger members of his party.

If Heath and Maudling had stood alone, it might have been a quick contest ending Tuesday. The entry of Powell into the ring makes a second ballot likely.

Crime Commission Set up by Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson set up today a national crime commission to be headed by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach. The White House said Johnson will name 17 other members later in the day. The commission will be known officially as the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice. Its functions, outlined by Johnson in an executive order include: 1. Inquire into the causes of crime and delinquency, measures for their prevention, the adequacy of law enforcement and administration of justice and the factors "encouraging respect or disrespect for law at the national and local levels."

Death Takes Constance Bennett, 59

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP)—Constance Bennett, a willowy, blonde actress whose movie career dated back to the silent screen days, died of a cerebral hemorrhage late Saturday night in Walston Army Hospital. She was 59.

Best known for her roles as the bewitching female ghost of the "Topper" series—later remade as a highly successful television series—Miss Bennett came from a theatrical family to star in 47 films.

She also was a successful businesswoman through her Constance Bennett cosmetics. Miss Bennett was married to her fifth husband, Air Force Brig. Gen. Theron Coulter, commander of the New York Air Defense Sector, which is responsible for air defense in an area which includes New York City and Philadelphia.

Miss Bennett was one of the first female movie stars to earn more than $30,000 a week. She also became one of the first woman film producers with "Paris Underground" in 1945.

Among her best known films before her career began to taper off after World War II were "The Goose and the Gander," "Code of the West," "Sally, Irene and Mary," "Tattletale," "This Thing Called Love," "Three Faces East," "Our Betters" and "Madame Spy."

Miss Bennett returned to Hollywood this year for her first film after a long absence, playing with Lana Turner in a remake of "Madame X." Her return was heralded by a gala party on the set of the film, and guests were amazed at how slender and youthful the veteran star looked.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Frank E. Campbell Funeral Home.

Attorney May Be Named to Elmore County Position

BOISE (AP)—Lt. Gov. William E. Drevlow indicated today he will appoint Mountain Home attorney Francis Hicks to succeed Victor Lassen as Elmore County commissioner.

Drevlow, a Democrat, is acting as state chief executive in the absence of Republican Gov. Robert E. Smylie, who is in Minneapolis at the National Governors' Conference.

Bubble Bath

RENO (AP)—Soap suds fluttered down on Reno during a thunderstorm Sunday evening, giving the area around Commercial Row and Center Street a bubble bath.

The suds apparently originated with an overload of soap in the automatic dishwasher in the Golden Casino.

An air duct lifted the suds to the roof—and the wind did the rest.

People Crowd Hotel During Coronation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Two thousand people crowded an oceanfront hotel to watch Thailand's Miss Universe celebrate the biggest party of her life: her coronation ball.

Hundreds waved, applauded and tooted horns as Apsara (Pook) Hongsakula walked through the hotel lobby on a red carpet to the ballroom Sunday night.

She smiled and waved back, saying, "Thank you, thank you."

In the ballroom, her escort, Marine 2nd Lt. Robert Wade of Charleston, S.C., had to battle autograph seekers to keep his date within arm's reach.

It was the 18-year-old first-dyed Pook's first date. For first dates, it was a dinger.

Six hundred persons paid $50 each to eat a seven-course candle-light dinner and gaze at the Miss Universe lovelies. Seventy-two U.S. Marine officers in dress whites did the honors on the dance floor.

"I'm still dazed," said Pook, the nickname meaning "Fatty" by which everyone now calls her. Her name Apsara, or fairy, is too hard for most to pronounce. It's Ap-sa-lah.

A thousand persons milled in the hotel lobby and on the streets during the ball hopeful one beauty would slip out.

Sand, Rocks, Logs and Skull Are Among Girl Scout Treasures at Camp

FARRAGUT, Idaho (AP)—Porters who carry suitcases for 3,000 Girl Scouts leaving the 1965 Girl Scout Senior Roundup Tuesday and Wednesday are, in for a surprise.

One of the suitcases is going to be full of rocks—200 of them. Another will be loaded with sand. "Almost none will contain clothes. The scouts have been collecting these treasures for almost two weeks. 'I've already sent home 18 pounds of the stuff,'" said Maureen Strafford, 15, Douglasston, N.Y. "But now there aren't any boxes left."

That presents a real problem for Anna Lee Harris, G.C. at it. "I honestly don't know," she said.

Other items the scouts are bringing home aren't as bulky. Pat Sawchuk, 16, Corning, N.Y., says she is taking back a pocket of dust. Carol Coval, 17, Campbell, N.Y., has a southern accent, sore feet and dirty socks her mother probably will throw away.

But Jane Murphy, 17, Astoria, N.Y., is going home almost empty-handed. She came to the roundup with a dozen orders for famous Idaho potatoes. So far, she says, she hasn't been able to buy one.

Policies for Viet Nam Are Backed

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Democratic governors gave unanimous backing today to President Johnson's Viet Nam policies but Republicans called for greater presidential "frankness" before joining in any endorsement. Gov. John B. Connally of Texas told a news conference that the Democrats expressed in a closed meeting "the unanimous opinion that we strongly support the leadership of President Johnson in foreign affairs, his actions in the Dominican Republic and the pursuance of a course of action in Viet Nam."

Connally, who heads the Democratic Conference of Governors, said that he hopes Republicans will sign a foreign policy statement of this nature to be drafted subsequently.

However, Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho said the GOP Governors' Association which he heads, has some reservations about the President's course.

"We think that before we are called upon to vote on any resolution we are entitled to a greater degree of frankness about the Viet Nam situation than we have been getting from the State Department and the President," he said.

Smylie said the Republican state executives had received from Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House minority leader, an explanation of the GOP congressional leadership's position on Viet Nam. He indicated the governors were generally in accord with the leaders' stand.

Republican governors gave unanimous support in their caucus to what Smylie said were National Chairman Ray Bliss's efforts to unify the party. Smylie announced the governors will set up an office in Washington in September in the same building as the National Committee.

Smylie was reelected head of the association. Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington was named as chairman for a campaign to elect GOP governors this year and next. Gov. George Romney of Michigan was named chairman of a group to draft policy statements. Govs. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and John A. Love of Colorado were appointed to the executive committee.

Negro Leader Rests After 2-Day Rally

CHICAGO (AP)—A tired Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., skipped today a breakfast with Illinois union leaders after two days of marathon integration stumping at Chicago street corner rallies.

An aide told the labor officials Dr. King was sleeping. "He's hoarse; he's tired; he talked himself out," said Andrew Young, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference which is headed by Dr. King. "He worked on his speech for the Buckingham Fountain rally this afternoon until 3 a.m."

Sunday night, after 17 speeches exhorting Chicago Negroes to participate in a march on the City Hall, Dr. King addressed a predominantly white audience of suburbanites.

A crowd that Police Chief Don Derner of Winnetka estimated at 8,000 listened to a plea for understanding and support of the Negro rights movement and afterward applauded Dr. King.

Two Youths Held In Pocatello Row

POCATELLO (AP)—Two teenagers are in jail today, booked for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon in a fracas involving 12 youths at Rainey Park Saturday afternoon.

Police said Fred Madrid, 19, cut off the shirts of three youths with a knife, struck and kicked them. Madrid's companion, 16, also brandished a knife, according to police. Reports said the two and four others forced six teenage boys out of their stalled car at knife point and roughed them up. Four of the assaulted group suffered cuts and bruises.

A Havana Radio broadcast, monitored here, said Castro would speak at the city of Santa Clara in central Cuba.

Residents of Flood Areas Return Home

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Hundreds of mountain residents in flood-stricken east Tennessee and southeast Kentucky headed home today, some to clear mud from their houses, others to build new ones.

They also faced the problem of snakes and the threat of typhoid.

Flash floods raced through the valleys early Saturday leaving eight persons known dead. Five of the victims were from one family.

Rep. John Duncan, R-Tenn., said he would ask the Office of Emergency Planning today for disaster relief funds for victims. Clinchmore, 40 miles north of Knoxville, was hardest hit.

Water rose in houses before some sleeping residents could escape. Coal mining equipment and steel railroad cars were flattened as if by a bulldozer. Roads turned to rivers. Houses, cars and huge trees were swept away.

"Now, besides typhoid, one of the worst things we have to look out for is snakes," said a state trooper. "I understand five copperheads have been killed by search parties."

Dee Charges Sales Tax Police State

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho (AP)—Charges that the sales tax law might lead to a "police state" situation in Idaho were leveled today by State Sen. William Dee, D-Idaho.

Dee said in an interview plans outlined by State Tax Collector Floyd West to collect the levy from Idahoans who have purchased tax exemption certificates from Washington State appeared to be "illegal."

"First he (West) proposed to set up inspection stations on the Washington border to check Idaho cars but he pulled his horns in on that one pretty fast," Dee said. "Now he proposes to send government snooters into Washington to follow Idaho shoppers and estimate their purchases."

"This amounts to search and seizure and a police state," he said. The Idaho County senator who has announced he will seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, questioned the legality of estimating purchases made in Washington under the tax exemption certificates.

Typhoon Strikes Formosa, Then China Mainland

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Typhoon Harriet ripped across southern Formosa today and then, its force blunted by the island's mountains, moved on to the Communist-ruled China mainland.

The typhoon struck Formosa with winds up to 125 miles an hour. One man was found dead at Taitung, on the southeast coast.

Six persons were injured by the collapse of a Protestant church being constructed in Taipei, though this northern city was only on the fringe of the storm.

Civil Rights Patrols Are Initiated

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Civil rights workers calling themselves "freedom patrols" followed police on Sunday in a surveillance demonstration stemming from the slaying of a Negro by an off-duty officer.

The patrols, some Negroes and some whites, and all with identifying armbands, were instructed to watch for possible wrongful conduct or discrimination and to avoid force or argument.

The assistant police chief, Charles Rouse, has called the idea "ridiculous and juvenile" but police were told to go about their work as usual.

"Uniformed policemen work in the open at all times," said Police Chief Frank Ramon. "Being subject to scrutiny of the public is nothing new."

Robert L. Reese, Negro, was shot to death by an off-duty policeman June 20 after an altercation in a cafe. A coroner's jury held it was excusable homicide and no charge was filed.

After that the citizens patrols were planned "to look over the shoulders of policemen." The patrolling began Saturday night.

Search Started For Mountaineer

MOUNT SHASTA, Calif. (AP) — The Siskiyou County sheriff's office feared Sunday for the life of John Nizza, who set out a week ago to scale 14,162-foot-high Mt. Shasta.

A search has been unavailing for the 60-year-old veteran mountaineer, whose provisions consisted of a fried chicken and two bottles — one of wine, the other of whiskey.

University Students Teach Underprivileged Children

ARVIN, Calif. (AP) — While migrant workers harvest crops in California's Kern County, 26 college students are sowing the seeds of learning among the workers' underprivileged children.

It's catching. Older children and parents are beginning to drop by the labor camp school after work.

When the workers and their older children — 12 and up — leave the Arvin farm labor supply center camp to pick in nearby fields, the younger children stay behind.

With them are 26 young men and women from the University of California at Los Angeles, most of them earning $12 for the summer's work, financed by a $12,500 federal war on poverty grant.

Each student takes five children for tutoring in the morning. The afternoon is devoted to recreation and arts and crafts.

"It's too early to say what good we are doing," said Karen Palmer, 18, a freshman who conceived the migrant workers project. "But the library is in continual use, and adults have asked us to help them better themselves."

The library is another tool of learning. The students brought with them — 1,000 books donated by UCLA students. When the summer project ends the books will remain in camp, to be used by the 70 families who winter here.

"Many families are so poor they encourage their children to drop out of school and go to work," said Miss Palmer.

Now even the adults and older children, after returning from the fields, collar the student-teachers when they can, and some workers who never have spoken English before are learning to say, "Hello, my name is."

The student-teachers will return to their homes at the end of this month and most of the migrant workers will head for Texas. They'll all take learning with them, but they'll leave behind the start of a project which Arvin High School and Bakersfield College students say they'll continue.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By Andrew Tully
LAKE WALLEPAUPACK, Pa.—Here in the mountain air, there is a ponder the serious failures of American civilization. There is time, that is, to indulge in a lament over the decline and fall of an ambrosia called ice cream.

It is called ice cream, but in most cases it is nothing of the sort. Call for ice cream in the average chromium-trimmed emporium of today, and you are assured an outrage that is at once gelatinous and crystallized. Its chief ingredients are cornstarch and air. On a lucky day, this horrip will not be emetic, but merely nauseous.

WHEN ICE CREAM WAS ICE CREAM—After the muted oaths came a period of intense and painful nostalgia. Memory intrudes of a day when ice cream tasted like ice cream, not like some frightful concoction committed by a Borgia for the liquidation of a troublesome prince. Memory speaks softly of an ice cream parlor named Dakin's in a little Massachusetts town, where ice cream was made on the premises by hands which were certainly expert and which must have been loving.

Dakin's ice cream was soft, but not too soft. It had substance; the customer with good teeth could bite into it if he so chose. It obviously was made with plenty of cream; ice crystals were outlawed. The flavors were authentic, not synthetic. Your palate told you that Dakin's was well-stocked with vanilla beans and fresh strawberries from Cheney's patch. The chocolate was chocolate-colored; neither beige nor mocha in shade.

AND ICE CREAM SODAS—In my boyhood, the tad with an understanding parent was taken to Dakin's for ice cream after every visit to the dentist. Doc Johnson was gentle, but he was not painless, and the only thing that restrained a boy from running away from home and marrying a barback rider was the knowledge that a Dakin's ice cream soda beckoned down the street.

Ice cream sodas were made in those days, not synthesized. First a generous spurt of chocolate syrup, then a half-pint of rich milk from Bill Bouvier's farm, then two blobs of ice cream, and finally the gentle intrusion of just the right amount of soda water to create the ayrighted bubbles on top. A boy neither ate nor drank that ice cream soda; he lived it.

A GOURMANDIZING HERO—In the life of a rather indolent schoolboy who could never find a ground ball to his left, Babe Ruth was merely a hero. Genuine envy was reserved for an upper classman named Bill Power, who wangled an odd-jobs career at Dakin's. The pay was small, but there were no budding capitalists in my crowd. Bill was permitted to eat all the ice cream he could hold, and his capality was that of a bottomless pit.

Such gourmandizing never hurt Billy, of course, because he was eating real ice cream, not something out of a box packed three months before. Mr. Dakin, who happily went to his reward many years ago, would have gone along with a wry comment uttered by Adial Stevenson in the dining room of a Midwestern hotel during the 1956 campaign.

Chatting with newsmen while struggling with a noxious mound of what the menu caustically described as ice cream, Stevenson paused to sigh hugely. "You know," he confided, "the only time I'm ever nostalgic about the days of William McKinley is when I try to eat something like this."

Views of Others

OBVIOUSLY AN ICHTHYOSAUR
It is not at all clear what is going on at Lake Khaynor, in northern Siberia, but folks in that neighborhood seem to have a genuine alleged monster on their hands. Not that this is news to them. The "thermal" lake never had any fish, wild ducks refused to settle on it and strange splashes could be heard at odd hours, they said.

City slickers from Moscow chuckled, as city slickers do, until a staff biologist of the USSR Academy of Sciences nearly stumbled over the thing and ran for dear life. Or so goes, in part, a new dispatch published originally in Pravda: "N. Gladkikh went to the lake to draw water and saw a creature that had crawled out onto shore, apparently to eat a grass—small head on a long gleaming neck, a huge body covered with a jet-black skin, a vertical fin along the spine." Sighted later by other biologists, the monster "beat the water with its long tail."

Equally puzzling is the fact that this account was turned in by a scientist who did not see anything. "Is it the last of the long-extinct ichthyosaurs?" writes G. Rukosev, assistant chief of Moscow University's North-east Expedition. "I do not know. I am a geologist."

With the geologists suddenly making themselves scarce, we wonder who said what out of turn. Several months ago, a Soviet astronaut announced the discovery of radio signals from a "supercivilization" in deep space. Perhaps the monster sighting also was "pre-mature." If, on the other hand, there is need for a capitalistic myth to titillate the tourists, we quite understand.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WATER
In America water is still more for drinking than for thinking.

For the American people have not yet faced up to the dry problem of water. It's too easy to take it for granted, to turn on the tap and assume an endless supply.

The public, industry, and local communities are guilty of stupendous waste of water. Cities and factories shamelessly fill the nation's streams with untreated sewage and waste products.

City fathers try to get by with leaky mains, inadequate reservoirs, insufficient sources of supply and outdated sewage treatment plants. While they dawdle, water uses multiply and population soars.

Individuals, industry, and government are all reluctant to spend the money and to do the research and planning necessary to protect and develop water resources.

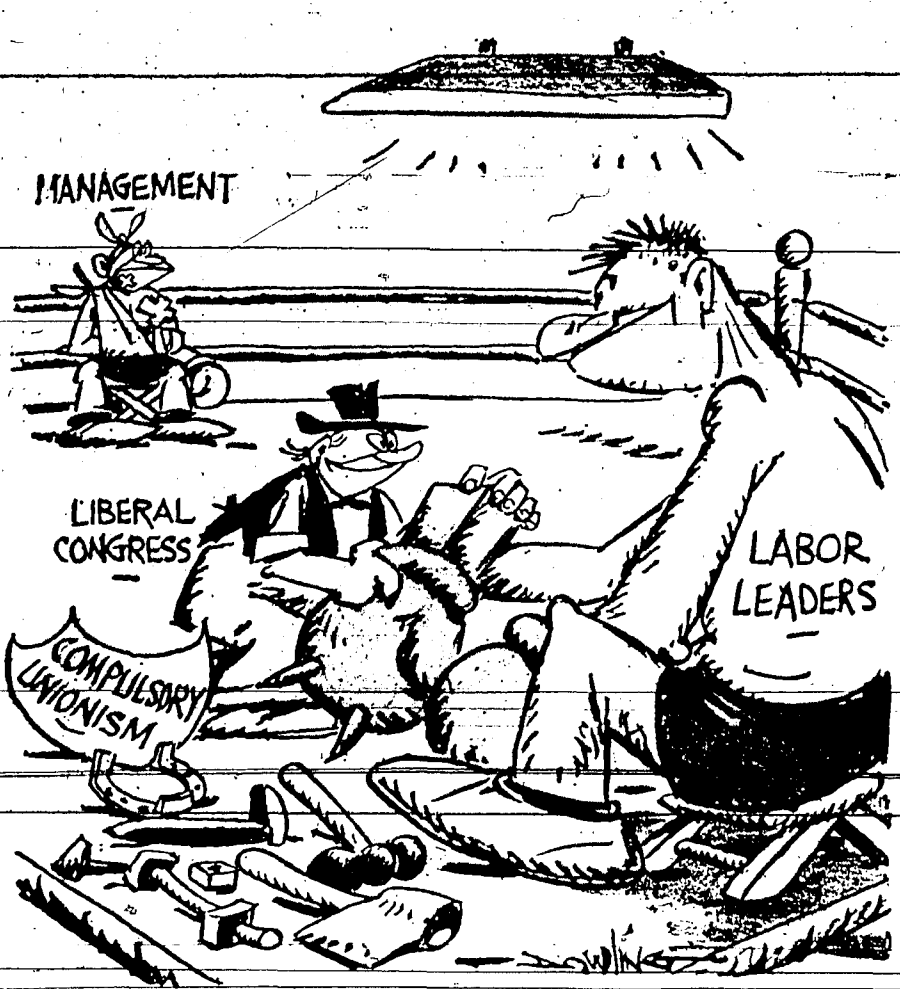

When a crisis comes, such as severe drought, then troubled public officials cast about in search of stopgap measures. They undertake "crash programs" and promulgate stringent emergency procedures. This is abundantly documented in drought-stricken East Coast communities this summer.

When the crisis subsides, the water problem is conveniently forgotten—until the next crisis comes along. We are fast coming to a time when muddling through will no longer do.

There is urgent need to develop a nationwide water policy. There is need for joint federal and state programs to chart the long-range use of the water of entire river basins. And there is need at all levels—local, state, and federal—for comprehensive planning and management of water resources.—Christian Science Monitor.

Dear Pot Shots:
Someone is always telling me that white is the easiest color in the world to keep clean. The big trouble is that I fall it so often that I finally started believing it.

So now we have a white car and let me tell you, brother, it shows every speck of dirt, every bit of lint and anything else that's around.

Hopefully, we're looking forward to winter and considering moving into the snow country. However, there's a chance we'll lose it in a snowdrift!

Any ideas on how to keep a white car white?

Religion In America
By LOUIS CASSELS
(United Press International)

The most libeled woman in Christian history was named Mary Magdalene.

Solely because of a mistake spoken of in a dictionary as a fallen woman.

Look in any dictionary and you'll see that her very name has entered the language as a synonym for a reformed prostitute.

But there is in fact no shred of evidence to indicate that she ever lived a life of sin.

Mary Magdalene was a victim of juxtaposition. She is mentioned by name in St. Luke's Gospel immediately following the story of the prostitute who washed Jesus' feet with her tears.

Luke, who was a very careful reporter, does not say that the prostitute was Mary Magdalene. On the contrary, he separates the prostitute nameless, and then introduces an entirely different person, "Mary, called Magdalene," as one of the women who accompanied Jesus and the disciples as they "went on through cities and villages, preaching and bringing the good news of the kingdom of God."

The interpreter's dictionary of the Bible says that the mistake identification of Mary Magdalene as an ex-proti has been "widely accepted" in Western churches though never in Eastern Orthodox churches since about the 6th Century A.D.

It points out two circumstances that may have contributed to the error.

First, the name "Magdalene" indicates that she came from Magdala, a fishing port on the Sea of Galilee which was notorious for its licentiousness. The unsavory reputation of her hometown was simply transferred to Mary.

Second, the New Testament describes Mary as a woman whom Jesus had healed by casting out "seven demons." To modern scholars, this means that Mary was healed of a serious mental illness. But in earlier centuries, it was taken to mean that she had been possessed by demons of unchastity.

PERISH THE THOUGHT!
I have my faults; I must confess, And my view of these faults is dim— But let me tell you, here and now, Being wrong isn't one of them!

OUR CATS
Tootsie is a black cat. And with long hair to boot. She doesn't like the yellow cat because she acts so cute.

She stares and snarls at her. And looks at her so cross. For she's a jealous cat, you see. And thinks that she is boss.

But the kitty takes it calmly. And looks at her green eyes. And wonders why she looks so cross.

And then she heaves a sigh. But the greatest wonder, in my mind, Is why people act like this. And pattern after dogs and cats. Missing so much happiness.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

The Doctor Says
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

A mother asks whether she should give calcium tablets to her 2-year-old son who won't drink milk or eat milk products. She adds that her pediatrician did not seem concerned about this. It is true that calcium is an essential element of the diet. It makes up a large part of the bones and teeth. It is also necessary for the proper function of muscles and nerves and the clotting of blood.

The amount of calcium absorbed from the diet depends not only on the amount present in the foods eaten but also on the amount of phosphorus in the diet and on the presence of vitamin D and other factors.

Large amounts of fat in the diet will decrease the calcium absorption.

Although milk and milk products are the chief sources of calcium in the diet of most children, eggs and leafy vegetables are also good sources. If a child gets plenty of these he will not need calcium tablets. An egg-shell and all-runs through a blender with chocolate and water would give him enough calcium and phosphorus for a day. If, for any reason, a calcium deficiency should develop calcium gluconate tablets could be given.

Q—The doctor says my son, 13, has infectious mononucleosis. What are the symptoms? What causes it? How serious is it? What can be done for it?

A—Infectious mononucleosis is caused by a virus that has recently been identified. The victim has fever, sore throat and tender, swollen lymph nodes in the neck. The disease is self-limited and complete recovery is the rule. Drugs of the cortisone group and chloroquine may help to make the attack a mild one if they are given early in the course of the disease.

Q—My daughter began to have her periods when she was 11½ years old and had them every three weeks. She is healthy in every other way. Our doctor says time will help her to get on a four-week cycle. What do you think?

A—The normal menstrual cycle is 28 days long. It is common for a girl to have her first period at 11½ years of age. If the cycles are irregular, it is usually due to a temporary imbalance of the hormones. Time will help her to get on a regular cycle.

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

A very taciturn Western European diplomat long on Post in Moscow—an intimate, and indeed consultant, of Nikita Khrushchev and the present hierarchy alike—is the most solidly knowledgeable man I know in respect to the Kremlin.

I have experienced his accuracy again and again and find great significance in what he tells me now at the moment of Ambassador Averell Harriman's mission.

He decidedly downgrades the authority of both Premier Alexei Kosygin and party functionary Leonid Brezhnev today and states that their decisive importance has largely gone with the wind.

In fact, he attributes even the appearance of authority in this two-headed leadership to the removal of a man who still remains out of sight as he begins the Kosygin-Brezhnev bargaining. And he adds that two-headedness is impossible in the Kremlin system.

He may be pointing to a wielding the final power while the front pair talk and talk and go through the motions? "It is Alexander Shelepin," he states. "And I say 'alas' because I have always found Shelepin intensely anti-American."

"Also, Stalin had an uncommon suspicion of all Jews and purged them on a scale proportionate to Nazi Germany. So has Shelepin."

"My experience with him has been that he systematically masks a grievance until such time as it suits him to release it in a dramatic temper tantrum. And I have seen this happen in the presence of Kosygin, Brezhnev, Nikolai Podgorny, a man little known abroad but of much consequence in the secretariat; Valerian Zorin, now the Soviet Ambassador to de Gaulle and chief of their Western espionage as he was previously in Prague and at the U.N. in the United States, and such other top Kremlin colleagues."

"In Russian the word 'durak' means imbecile. Durake is a favorite word with Shelepin. But it is his resilience—his ability by sheer persistence to wear others down—which in the end impresses one the most about him."

"Shelepin stands on five sources of internal strength," he continued, "and no one else in the Kremlin hierarchy, including shadowy Mikhail Suslov, combines Shelepin's sources. This combination of controls is the key to the subservience, behind the scenes, of all the evident persons such as Kosygin and Brezhnev and, yes, Suslov—who, incidentally, remains very ill."

"Shelepin is (1) a member of the government itself, (2) a senior member of the party and thus (3) a member of both the secretariat and the presidium of the Central Committee; but he is also (4) chief of the secret police. Moreover, Shelepin has been for years the president of the Communist Youth and is (5) in control of all youth and student organizations."

"You will never hear an authoritative 'yes' or 'no' from Kosygin or Brezhnev unless they hear from Shelepin and part of the advantage in Soviet foreign policy through having this pair in front, as Shelepin sees it, is that he himself can remain anonymous and, therefore, uncomfrontable."

"Commissar Andrei Y. Vishinsky once said, 'The Soviet Union regards concealment as its first line of defense.' Concealment behind one man might be dangerous for Shelepin, but behind two men it is not. And if it were he would not permit it."

When Secret Police Chief Lavrenti Beria was shot after Stalin died, the Kremlin leaders prudently shattered his united organizations into a splintered self-protection. Each commissar feared too much police power in the hands of the other. Now, I gather, Shelepin has reorganized the security system back to the Beria unification, with the channels all running straight up to himself.

The so-called KGB sections (state security) is now responsible to Shelepin for vital security both at home and abroad, and so is its counterintelligence unit, the GUKR. This gives Shelepin first claim on the secret dossiers of all officials as well as everyone changed after Beria into an umbrella organization loosely supervising the whole, now handles all police, including highway aid, prisons, concentration camps, immigration and even the fire services. The top MVD man? Shelepin.

ing. If he had been allowed to play the hand at six spades he would have handed the trump suit by simply leading out his ace. This play would insure the small slam contract against any and all combination of adverse cards, but unfortunately South had to make all the tricks or explain to the rest of the table why greed is such a terrible thing.

The finesse is a far better play than the drop when you miss the king and two more of the suit, so South entered dummy with a diamond in order to take the finesse.

He went one step further. He led the jack of spades and not a low one. East covered with the ace king, South won with the ace king, and when West showed out, the wisdom of the jack lead was apparent. South returned to dummy with a second finesse picked up East's ten spot.

A—Bid two spades. Pass is a clear second choice.

Grass Roots

Rep. George Hansen declares he's "delighted by the excellent response" to a questionnaire he mailed out a few months ago. He reports more than 10 per cent response on the questionnaire, which is somewhat better than could be expected normally. More important, Mr. Hansen's questionnaire is the only effort in Idaho's Second Congressional District to determine grass roots opinion. Admittedly, it's unscientific and might even be called hap-hazard or misleading, but there's nothing else that even approaches it.

Cong. Hansen's report for Twin Falls County is interesting although most of the answers could be predicted for a county that has a reputation of being predominantly Republican and markedly on the conservative side. For example, the questionnaires returned from this county opposed deficit spending, the big federal welfare program, federal aid for school construction and teachers' salaries, Medicare, firearms controls and a proposed Sawtooth National Park.

If Mr. Hansen uses tabulations from the questionnaire as a guide for voting in the House, he's going to be on the losing side of many legislative matters, but he would be in any event because he qualifies as a conservative while the heavily Democratic Congress is liberal. Without knowing Mr. Hansen's personal stand on many of the items covered in his questionnaire, one would guess that his constituents have voiced opinions quite similar to the opinions of Hansen. In other words, the election of Mr. Hansen last year gave the Second Congressional District a representative who truly represents majority opinion of district voters. It doesn't always happen that way.

If Mr. Hansen is as delighted with the results of his first questionnaire as he has indicated, district voters can expect to receive more along the same line. Now that everyone knows the questionnaires are tabulated and studied, future responses might be greater. From the standpoint of Mr. Hansen, he might be using a vehicle that will keep him in office for several terms, or even indefinitely.

Contrary to opinion in some political circles, voters like to know their views are reflected by their representatives in Congress. At least a few voters wax indignant when a congressman argues for his own personal opinion or even derides the opinion of voters. One Twin Falls resident wrote only recently to a congressman to declare "... I think it is your duty to represent the people, not to try and bulldoze your ideas upon the people."

Perhaps more members of Congress should spend more time trying to determine majority opinion on specific issues and then voting to represent the majority of the voters who elect them. Many citizens believe that's the way representative government should work. Moreover, from the viewpoint of the politician who would like to remain in office, he has more assurance of keeping his job if most voters are convinced he's representing them.

A politician who ignores opinions of his constituents or who tries to impose his own beliefs on the voters, can look forward to eventual defeat when the right opponent comes along.

WHAT IS JUSTICE?
Every so often there's a story in the news about some person who became a fugitive from justice only to be exposed by a quirk of fate after a number of years. A current example is the case of Charlie Kemp, 62, who escaped from a prison work camp 26 years ago, just a month after being sentenced to life imprisonment for murder. He went to Fort Myers, Fla., became a businessman and deacon of his church. Routine fingerprinting following a traffic accident revealed his real name is Hubert Bentley.

Legally and technically, the man is a murderer who is under sentence to serve a life term, a term he already has reduced by 26 years through the simple expedient of a successful escape. At the age of 62, society could expect no more than another eight or ten years of life left for the escapee. Would society gain more from permitting him to remain free the rest of his life or should those remaining years be spent behind bars to satisfy the sentence?

There's little doubt in the case of a man who has rehabilitated himself to the extent of succeeding in business and becoming a church deacon. He's more useful to society as a free man. But what about justice? The best interests of society and justice aren't necessarily identical. Perhaps the average person would be quite relieved and pleased to leave the decision in the hands of someone else.

Inquiry Into Sea Disaster Is Started

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Coast Guard today began a formal inquiry into the death of the trawler Snoopy, blown to matchsticks Friday night by a torpedo dredged up from the ocean floor.

A formal hearing, mandatory in all sea disasters, will be held soon but Coast Guard spokesmen said no date has yet been set.

Only four members of the Snoopy's 12-man crew survived the blast, 41 miles off False Cape on North Carolina's Outer Banks.

All of them are in satisfactory condition at the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital here.

Only three bodies have been recovered.

Former Greek Deputy May Serve Nation

ATHENS (AP) — Former Deputy Premier Stephanos Stephanopoulos said he would be willing to serve as premier to help pull Greece out of its dangerous political crisis.

Stephanopoulos, a member of ousted Premier George Papandreu's Center Union party, said he would accept the role of compromise candidate "if I have the support of the majority of Center Union party deputies."

Papandreu's campaign to regain control of the government appeared to be losing ground.

Stephanopoulos asserted that the new premier named by King Constantine, George Athanasiadis Novas, "doesn't have a chance of winning a confidence vote in Parliament."

He said the members in Parliament of the Center Union party, which he, Papandreu and Athanasiadis Novas all belong, would "prepare a solution to offer the moment Athanasiadis Novas is defeated."

Parliamentary debate prior to the confidence vote starts July 29.

About 100 center union deputies were reported remaining aloof from the power struggle between the 77-year-old ex-premier and the 72-year-old Athanasiadis Novas.

Hagerman Home Guttered by Blaze; Dog Suffocates

HAGERMAN — The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Don LaMoyné, one and one-half miles east of Hagerman, was gutted by fire about 5 p.m. Sunday with damages of $15,000 to $20,000.

Passersby noticed smoke coming out of the chimney and upstairs windows and called firemen. Both trucks of the Hagerman volunteer fire department answered the alarm.

Some furniture was saved but all clothing was damaged by water and smoke. A French Poodle inside died of asphyxiation.

The fire is believed to have started in the air conditioner or faulty wiring. No one was at home when it started.

High Water Is Cause of Derailment

PINECLIFFE, Colo. (AP) — Two passenger coaches, a baggage car and five diesel units of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad's eastbound California Zephyr derailed Sunday night in the Rocky Mountains 33 miles west of Denver.

Railroad officials said no passengers were injured. The engineer was shaken up and the fireman slightly injured. All of the derailed cars remained upright.

High water that either washed out or weakened the foundation under the track was blamed for the derailment. The mountain area has been hit with heavy rains daily for a week.

The train carried 305 passengers, many on their way to Chicago. It left San Francisco at 10 a.m. Saturday and was scheduled to arrive in Denver at 8:10 p.m. (MDT) Sunday but was running about an hour late.

Buses were sent for Denver-bound passengers. But H. P. Eno, passenger traffic manager in Denver, said others would remain on the train.

Utah Girl, 2, Found After Long Search

INDIANOLA, Utah (AP) — A 28-hour search ended happily Sunday for a 2-year-old Granger, Utah girl lost overnight in the farming area of Central Utah.

Tiny Mitzi Hermansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hermansen wandered away from her grandparents' farm about 9 a.m. Saturday. She was found unharmed about 2 p.m. Sunday.

A search that at one time involved nearly 1,000 persons began 30 minutes after the child disappeared. But heavy rains Saturday afternoon and evening hampered efforts to locate the girl.

Mitzi, youngest of five Hermansen children, was found Sunday afternoon by her grandfather, Wallace Petersen, in a field about two miles from the Peterson farm. He was riding with the North Sanpete Riding Club, which was fanning out to cover the foothills.

T.F. Resident Doing Research on Early Man

POCATELLO — Members of the Idaho State University museum staff have received National Science Foundation grants totaling $58,900 for research relating to early man in Idaho, California and Alberta, Canada.

The largest of the three grants is a two-year, $30,200 award to finance experiments in flint knapping technology by B. Robert Butler, curator of education, and Don E. Crabtree, Twin Falls.

Dr. Claude N. Warren, assistant professor of anthropology, has received a $22,700 grant for excavation of an early man site near San Diego, Calif. The third award is a $6,000 grant to Dr. Alan L. Bryan, research associate, for an attempt to trace Pleistocene Man's trail through southern Alberta.

The NSF grant to Butler and Crabtree will allow continuation and expansion of the work Crabtree has been doing for about 30 years on techniques prehistoric man used to make chipped stone implements, such as knives and projectile points.

So far, Crabtree has developed a heat treatment technique which he believes duplicates that used by the early Indians. His method involves heating the silica material to a high temperature to improve its working qualities, then shaping it with hand tools.

With the NSF funds, Crabtree and Butler plan to continue this work in an effort to pinpoint exact methods used by various groups to make different tools and to organize the results of Crabtree's extensive experience into a handbook on flint knapping.

As part of their work under the NSF grant, the men will make a photo study of Crabtree's flint knapping techniques using a special high-speed movie camera that will allow them to project the results at slow motion.

Dr. Warren's grant will cover at least two summers' field work at the southern California site which he has titled the San Dieguito Complex, plus the necessary followup in the laboratory and museum workrooms.

Warren and his crew of 10 are now excavating the site which is located on a river terrace near San Diego. He believes that the site may hold evidence of human occupation between 7,500 and 10,000 years ago and offer valuable clues as to the earliest occupation dates for California.

The professor has been involved in research dealing with the archeology of California for a number of years, though this is his first work at the San Diego site.

Dr. Bryan's NSF-financed project is an initial effort to find the trail early man took on his migration down the eastern flank of the Rocky Mountains.

Concentrating on three non-glaciated areas of southern Alberta, he is looking for natural features which combine desirable conditions for man to live or camp in prehistoric times with climatic sequences that would make preservation of deposited material likely.

Under the 18-month project Bryan will be charting the climatic sequences stratigraphy of the areas and identifying sites which might be considered for future archeological excavation.

Recreation Bill Planned For Nevada

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Walter S. Baring, D-Nev., said today he plans to introduce immediately a bill to establish a national recreation area in Eastern Nevada.

The legislation, he added, would pave the way for a $20 million to $30 million winter sports complex and will guarantee protection for grazing, mining and hunting in the White Pine's South Snake Range.

Observing that he has not withdrawn his bill to create a Great Basin national park in the region, Baring said:

"This gives the people of Nevada a choice of either a small park or a recreation area, and represents my honest attempt to effect a compromise of this highly controversial issue."

Brutality Is Charged in South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The Johannesburg Sunday Times charged in a front page story Sunday that electric shock treatment is used to make prisoners talk and that there is widespread brutality in South African prisons.

It was the latest effort in an opposition campaign to force Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's white Nationalist government to hold a public inquiry into the management of this country's prisons.

One newspaper editor, Laurence Gander of the Rand Daily Mail, already faces prosecution for publishing a three-part description of hardships and brutalities suffered by political prisoners.

Quoting a sworn affidavit and official reports by the head warden of a prison near Johannesburg, the Sunday Times said it was evidence of brutality, victimization, bribery and corruption. The newspaper said it held the report for two weeks of cross-checking before publishing.

Under this country's wide-ranging prison laws, anyone publishing false statements about jail conditions is liable to heavy penalties.

Head Warden Johannes Andries Theron is quoted by the Sunday Times as saying: "I have seen electric shock treatment being given prisoners as a punishment and in order to make them talk."

Theron also alleged misuse of convict labor on farms. South African farmers are allowed to hire forced convict labor for nominal wages.

Active pallbearers were J. William Roberts, Roland Hardin, Cecil Childs, Thaine Roberts, Gerald Jensen and John Baty.

Concluding rites were held in the Buhl City Cemetery.

Way to Check Prison Arson, Riots Is Sought

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, (AP) — The New Zealand government is threatening to take away cigarettes and matches from some convicts in an attempt to check spreading arson and rioting in the nation's prisons.

Secretary of Justice J.L. Robson said Sunday night that smoking privileges "might be withdrawn from certain types of prisoners."

Convicts burned out New Zealand's top-security prison in Auckland last Tuesday in a futile attempt to break out. The prisoners were transferred to other jails. New arson attempts were made over the weekend.

Return to Richfield

RICHFIELD — Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schmidt have returned from Kennewick, Wash., where they were called because of the illness of his brother, Joe Schmidt, former Jerome resident, who had a heart attack.

Prospect for Some Crops Bleak

Severe drought conditions have left withered fields, emaciated cattle, dry streams and bleak prospects for crops in many parts of the world.

The drought has hit parts of Australia, Korea, India, Italy, Portugal, Kenya, Panama and other areas.

Parts of Australia are undergoing one of the worst droughts on record. The outlook is grim in many of the nation's richest agricultural areas.

Heavy rains the past few days broke the drought in the coastal areas of eastern Australia, but vast sheep and cattle ranches to the west still are dry.

The federal minister for primary production, C. F. Adernmann, said "undoubtedly the drought will have adverse effects on our wheat and other cereal production in the coming season. Wool, meat and milk production also will be affected."

Here is a brief summary of drought conditions in other areas:

New Mexico Town Gains Beauty Title

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — This town has a Miss New Mexico for every 10,000 residents.

Judy Baldwin, 19, was Miss New Mexico in the Miss U.S.A. contest at Miami Beach, Fla., and as second runner-up served as a hostess in the Miss Universe pageant.

Ellen Growdon, 21, will be the Miss New Mexico in this year's Miss America pageant at Atlantic City, N.J.

Miss Sandra Lee Van Houten, 18, who said she had anticipated a long boring summer and entered a beauty contest for a thrill, is going to New York to compete in September for this nation's representative in the Miss World pageant.

Japanese Student Visits at Wendell

WENDELL — Susumu Onishi, Supporo Hokkaido, Japan, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith and family.

Onishi, 21, sponsored by the Smiths, will spend the summer in Wendell and plans to enter Ricks College at Rexburg this fall.

Kenya Two Years Ago Was a corn exporter. Today corn crops stand shriveled in the fields and the nation is importing tons of U.S. corn to feed its people. The drought is the worst since 1961 when vast cattle herds were decimated and many people died.

ITALY

Drought in northern Italy this spring was the worst since 1938. The thaw was slower than usual and in addition there was no rain all May. Rice industry spokesmen estimate a crop yield about 5 per cent below normal. The corn crop also is expected to be affected.

SOUTH AFRICA

Vast areas of the cane belt have suffered an unprecedented summer drought and many rivers have stopped flowing, preventing irrigation of sugar cane fields. The shortage of water may cut the cane crop from an expected 1.5 million tons to 1.1 million, official estimates said. The wool clip is down.

INDIA

Eastern India suffered under the worst dry spell in a decade this spring, but Food Ministry officials in New Delhi said that viewed from a nationwide basis, there appeared to be no fear of serious economic dislocation. Officials in Calcutta estimated at least one million acres of jute, India's big money-making export, were damaged. Another 300,000 acres of the crop were not planted this year.

PANAMA

A 30-50 per cent drop in average rainfall in central Panama has affected the country's richest farming zone and prime cattle area.

Cattle herds find little food on the parched, cracking pastures. Unless rain comes soon, rice fields will be a total loss. The Panama Canal restricts the draft of shipping due to low lake levels.

Market and Financial Report

Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with aerospace defense stock and some metals issues strong today, but the overall market was irregular. Trading was fairly active.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3.8 million shares compared with 3.6 million on Friday.

Gains and losses of fractions to a point or so were posted by leading issues.

Defense issues were spurred by expectations of bigger military outlays resulting from the high-level talks in Washington about Viet Nam.

As interest faded in the general run of industrials, gold miners became more attractive as an outlet for funds, as did some other mining issues.

United Aircraft climbed nearly 3 points and Boeing almost 2. Douglas Aircraft and Lockheed rose more than a point each. General Dynamics about a point.

Among the golds, American South African advanced more than 2 and Dome Mines well over a point while Homestake added a fraction.

The trend was slightly lower among steels, motors, airlines, mail order-retails and chemicals.

Oils, tobaccos and drugs were mixed.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

CHICAGO (AP)—Renewed apprehension concerning the military situation in Viet Nam created a brisk demand in the grain futures market most of the time today and prices of all commodities became firm to strong.

Soybeans led the advance with gains running to more than four cents a bushel in the early afternoon after having started with declines of more than a cent.

Brokers said the buying was largely speculative short covering all around with offerings light.

Soybeans finished 2 1/2 cents a bushel higher, August $2.80 1/2, wheat 1/2 to 1 1/2 higher, September $1.46 3/4, corn 1/4 to 1 cent higher, September $1.25 1/2, oats 1/4 lower to 3/4 higher, September 67 1/2 cents, rye 1/2 to 1 cent higher, September $1.18 1/4.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bache and Co. says concern over the current international situation has overshadowed impressive second quarter earnings reports, but once a definitive statement is made by the administration on the extent of our commitment in Viet Nam, fundamentals will take hold again and a favorable outlook is expected.

E. F. Hutton and Co. believes the light volume test of previous lows has favorable connotations and could induce buying at the lower prices. It is their opinion that the volume trend, in this case, is more significant than the decline itself.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam has cleared the way to keep up with the big jump in the demand for coins and currency in the United States.

His plan, in a sense, is less silver and more gold.

The abnormal increase in the last two years in the volume of coins and paper money in circulation caught the United States by surprise. Apparently it wasn't duplicated in other lands.

To free its mints to meet the coin shortage, past and potential, the United States is changing the metal content of coins. Silver, in greater demand both for coins and industrial use, is being dropped from dimes and quarters and cut to 49 per cent in half dollars. With copper and nickel Uncle Sam can make more and cheaper coins — and avoid running out of silver.

The growing economy calls for more money and credit. But in the last two years the demand has grown much faster than the economy.

Vending machines and turnstiles have multiplied. The coin demand has spurred even more. Here is how the U.S. Treasury reports the rising demand for coins:

The average annual increase between 1954 and 1961 was $95 million. In 1962 this jumped to $190 million; in 1963 to $226 million; and in 1964 to $327 million.

Federal Reserve figures show the annual increase in "paper money in circulation in 1954-1961 was $260 million. This jumped to $1.17 billion in 1962, $1.47 billion in 1963 and $1.94 billion in 1964.

The increase in coinage demand this year is estimated at $495 million and in currency at $1.97 billion.

The totals are sizable. In June 1965, paper money in circulation plus demand deposits for which currency can be obtained reached $35 billion. The Treasury reports 12 billion silver dimes, quarters and half dollars are now outstanding. And 3.5 million of the new coins will be minted in the next year.

While the value of the outstanding coins is much less than that of the paper money, the rate of increase in demand for coins has been much faster. This year coin demand is 15.4 per cent higher than last, while currency growth is up 5.7 per cent.

One reason given is the advent of the vending machine age. Another is the growth of the economy. A third is the increase in the number of coin collectors and in the size of the collections in an affluent society. A fourth is possible hoarding in expectation of a shortage increasing either the value of collector's items or of the metal content of the coins.

Magic Valley Hits Five Pocatello Hurlers for 15-2 Pioneer Loop Rout

POCATELLO (AP)—Magic Valley pounded five Pocatello hurlers for 15 hits here Sunday night to grab a 15-2 victory in Pioneer League baseball. The Cowboys started to unlimber in the third inning, pushing across five runs on five hits. They continued their onslaught throughout the remainder of the game. Highlight for the losing Dodgers came in the eighth inning when Dan Prentice smashed a two-run homer. Billy Patrick came in as a relief pitcher for the Cowboys to pick up the win. He struck out seven while working 5 2/3 innings.

Stengel Breaks Hip; Operation Planned

NEW YORK (UPI)—Casey Stengel, 74-year-old manager of the New York Mets, suffered a displaced fracture of the left hip Sunday and will be operated on within a few days. Stengel was stricken with a "severe pain" in his hip only hours before a special birthday party for him was to take place at Shea Stadium, home of the Mets, in celebration of Stengel's 75th birthday on Friday, July 30.

The colorful manager was rushed to Roosevelt Hospital by ambulance Sunday morning. X-rays ordered by club physician Dr. Peter Lamotte revealed the fracture and it was announced that the operation will be performed after three or four days of observation. Stengel will be hospitalized for about three weeks. Mets officials said that Stengel himself will determine in the next 24 hours who will serve as team manager in his place.

Mrs. Edna Stengel will fly to New York from Burbank, Calif., Monday to be with her husband.

The Mets took the field Sunday afternoon against the Philadelphia Phillies in a doubleheader with Coach Wes Westrum acting as field manager in Stengel's absence. Stengel watched the game on television in his hospital room.

After managing the team on the field Saturday, Stengel attended a special party for old time baseball players at Toots Shor's restaurant in midtown Manhattan Saturday night.

Before leaving for the hospital Sunday the jovial Stengel, originator of the rapid-fire talk known as Stengelese, apologized for not being able to attend his own birthday party.

"I apologize for all the trouble I am giving the people who made this day in my honor," Stengel said. "But I know I can't make the stadium today. The pain is too strong."

Athletics Gain Split Over Solons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ken Harrelson doubled and scored the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning, then hit a home run in the ninth as Kansas City trimmed Washington 5-3 in the second game and gained a split of their Sunday doubleheader. The Senators won the opener 4-3 on Don Mossi's bases-loaded walk-to-Willsie-Kirkland-in-the-ninth.

Harrelson batted for pitcher John O'Donoghue in the seventh and doubled off Marshall Bridges. With two out, Wayne Causey blooped a single to the opposite field for the run. Harrelson then clinched the victory, leading off the ninth with his 15th homer.

The Magic Valley Cowboys ended their stint at Pocatello Sunday and will return home Monday to a day off before squaring off against the Idaho Falls Angels in a three game stand at Jaycee Park.

Versalles and Oliva Lead Twin Victory

BALTIMORE (AP)—Zolito led the Minnesota Twins past Baltimore 8-5 Sunday. The come-from-behind victory moved the American League-leading Twins 3 1/2 games ahead of second-place Baltimore, which had won the first two games of the series.

Carl Battley led off the ninth against reliever Harvey Haddix with a single. Jim Grant ran for Battley and advanced to second on a sacrifice. Pinch hitter Rich Rollins then drew an intentional walk, setting the stage for Versalles' tie-breaking triple to the center field fence.

Oliva's three-run homer in the eighth capped a four-run rally as the Twins stormed from behind to tie the score 5-5.

McCool Stops Astros' Rally For Red Win

HOUSTON (AP)—Reliever Bill McCool pulled John Tsitouris out of a bases-loaded jam in the eighth inning and the Cincinnati Reds went on to beat the Houston Astros 3-1 Sunday.

The Reds scored one run in the fourth inning against Mike Cuellar on doubles by Frank Robinson and Don Pavletich and added two more in the ninth on Lazaro Cardenas' double.

Tsitouris stopped the Astros on three singles until the eighth when Cardenas and Deron Johnson batted, successfully ground balls and Bob Lillis hit out in the ninth, loading the bases with none out.

Tsitouris got pinch hitter Nellie Fox to bounce into a force at the plate before giving way to McCool, who retired Joe Morgan on a foul pop and pinch hitter Frank Thomas on a force play, ending the threat.

Malzone and Red Sox Nip Angels 5-4

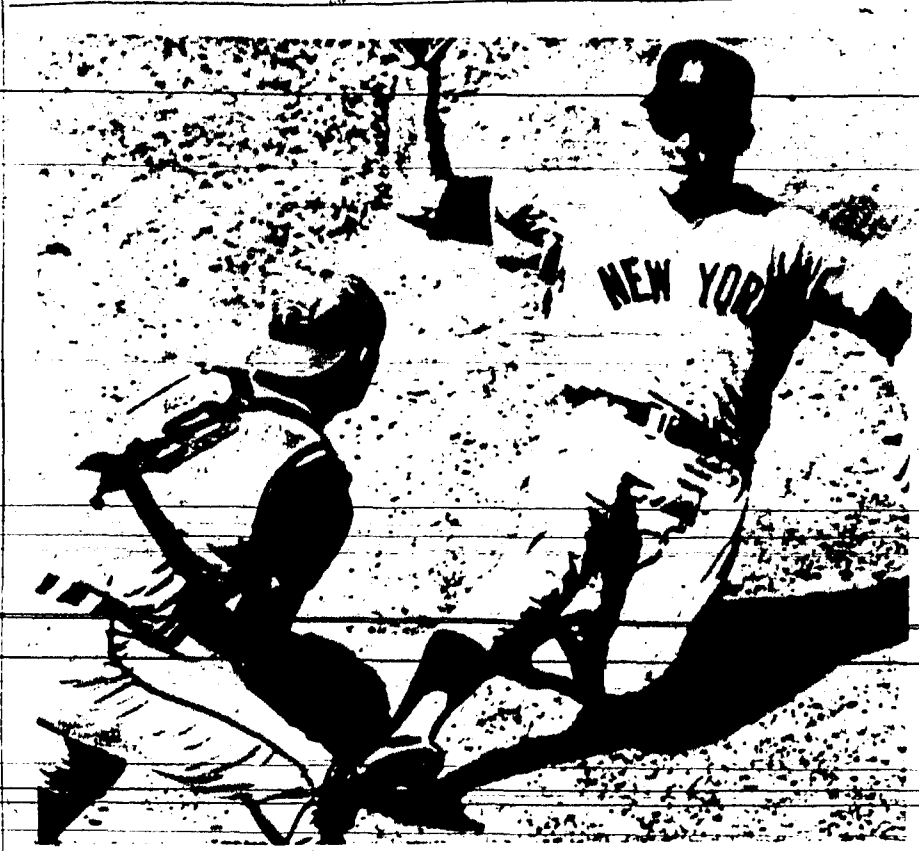

BOSTON (AP)—Frank Malzone's run-scoring double snapped a tie in the fifth inning and sparked Boston to a 5-4 victory over the Los Angeles Angels Sunday.

Malzone drove in Chuck Schilling, who had tripled, and scored as Tom Satriano picked up Carl Yastrzemski's bunt single and threw wildly to first. That gave Boston a 5-3 lead.

The Red Sox got off to a 2-1 lead in the first inning on Tony Conigliaro's two-run homer following a walk to Malzone.

Earl Wilson gained his seventh against six defeats with ninth inning help from Dick Radatz.

Casper Takes Insurance City Open in Playoff Against Pott

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Billy Casper won the $70,000 Insurance City Open Golf Tournament in a one-hole sudden-death playoff against Johnny Pott Sunday at the Wethersfield Country Club. With both players tied at 274, 10-under par, for the regulation 72 holes, Casper birdied the par-four 15th hole, the start of the playoff round that could have gone all the way to the 18th. He sank a 20-foot putt to take the $11,000 first prize out of the hands of Pott, 31-year-old veteran from Gulf Hills, Miss.

Pott, who parred the hole, settled for second prize of $6,200 in his fifth playoff loss against one success in his PGA career.

It was Casper's third playoff win in five attempts. Both players had lost playoffs earlier this year. Pott in the Memphis Open and Jack Nicklaus and Casper to Wes Ellis in the San Diego Open.

On the playoff hole, Casper was interrupted by a local fire whistle marking 6 p.m. while lining up his putt. But the sound broke the tension and a smile crossed Casper's face before he canned the big putt.

Casper, the 31-year-old PGA veteran playing out of Peacock Gap, Calif., was plagued with a virus infection in the early rounds of this tournament. This was after he had dieted to reduce his weight from 220 to 180 pounds. The infection he picked up in last week's Canadian Open forced him to go without food for two days at mid-week and his weight dropped to about 175.

He also faced stifling heat and humidity during the final two rounds when his health began returning to normal.

"I feel very excited about winning it and I was very fortunate," said Casper, who gave credit to the effort put forth by Pott.

"Johnny is ready to win any tournament in the near future," Casper said.

On the playoff round Casper, who won this tourney in 1963, confessed he was not too sure that his uphill putt would drop.

"I feared it would roll short, but from three feet out I knew it was there," he said.

Pott landed his second shot.

T. F. Legion Drops I. F. and Blackfoot

The Twin Falls Legion team put the finishing touches on a four-game home stand Sunday, edging past Idaho Falls 7-6 in a morning contest and drubbing Blackfoot 10-2 in the afternoon. Idaho Falls looked like an easy victor in the first game when the visitors struck for five runs off Grant Simonds in the first inning. Simonds held them in the second but Gary Rasmussen had to come in in the third to pull him out of trouble.

Twin Falls was held scoreless until the fourth when Roby Oliphant smacked one over the fence in Jaycee Park.

The home team went ahead in the next frame, using four singles and three walks for five runs. But the lead didn't last as Idaho Falls hurler Norman got on a single, moved to second on a passed ball and scored on a single by Corbett.

Twin Falls led the game in the top of the seventh when Jim Hunter doubled and came home on a single by Mark Brown.

Twin Falls had no trouble with Blackfoot in the afternoon game, taking a three-run lead in the first, adding two more in the third, one in the fourth, three in the fifth and one in the seventh.

Blackfoot's only runs came in the fourth and seventh, the first by losing hurler D. Jensen and the second by shortstop C. Young.

Direct, Daily Motor Freight Service to 3950 Western Points

Road use taxes are paid to the Federal or State agencies and are levied on gasoline, diesel fuel, license fees, gross weight, mileage and (in some areas) ton miles.

This is the average tax paid in 1964 by each Garrett highway unit (tractor-trailer combination). This is paid in addition to the usual business taxes on income, property, and payroll.

What's so special about a Twin Falls MONY man?

He's a professional, carefully-trained in all aspects of life and health insurance. He can tell you how to build up cash values. Cash you can use any number of ways... college education, perhaps, or retirement, an emergency fund... lots more. Another thing, he works for a MONY office which has received a special distinction. A MONY office that's been named Pace Setter or company leader. There are only 14 out of 178 MONY offices in the U.S. holding this honor. Now you know why people in this city own many millions of dollars of MONY insurance.

Want to get professional advice from a MONY man? Call Nyle Kinghorn. He's assistant manager of the MONY office here. You won't be under any obligation. If you want to get ALL the facts... ask a Twin Falls MONY man.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, July 26 — Born to day, you are one to make great sacrifices, if necessary, to insure the happiness and security of your loved ones. Home ties and close family associations are more to you than any other thing in life — but you must take care that you do not work too hard into ill health and yourself — the consequent adverse circumstances that could reverse — all your good intentions. The family would rather have you well and with them, than to have all the security in the world without you!

An excellent judge of human nature, you have a quick and active mind and can spot a "phony" a mile away. Not one to be taken in by a sob story, you are still sympathetic to the genuine tale of woe, and the first to go to another's aid when the person and cause are worthy.

You have a high code of ethics — one which would not allow you to take advantage of another any more than it would allow you to put up with being taken advantage of. Independent though you are upon yourself for success — you are a help — or a hindrance — to be offered uncompromisingly and freely.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

TUESDAY, July 27

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) — Whatever you undertake today has an excellent chance of turning out successfully — provided you keep on your toes!

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — The astute Virgo should be able to resolve all legal or technical matters successfully. Rely on your own judgment.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Favorable results ahead should you undertake a business journey now. Success is brewing at a distance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Romance is in the air for Scorpio. But don't be carried away by your emotions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) — Significant gains for the Sagittarius who puts forth more than the effort required of him. Go that extra mile.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Success and effort go hand in hand today. Expect nothing for nothing and you'll not be disappointed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — A day which can end in a memorable meeting with one you've worshipped from afar.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) — Make progress in both social and business ventures. Business and pleasure will mix.

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — Guard against upsets in a

Results Will Determine Tax Future

By EARLE L. JESTER BOISE (AP) — How well they do their job may determine whether Idaho's public schools continue to get the extra revenue the sales tax is bringing them.

The first installment of increased state aid provided by the 1965 Legislature has gone to the school district and administrators now are in the process of determining how to spend the extra money.

If the educators fail to show concrete improvement in their local school districts, the voters may toss out the sales levy in the referendum in November, 1966.

Enactment of the sales tax resulted from a belief by a majority of legislators that the public schools needed more money, and that the sales tax was the fairest way to get it.

D. F. Engeling, state superintendent of public instruction, believes educators are well aware of the importance of improving their school programs. "I know most of them are conscious of the increased responsibilities they will have in administering their school programs because of the expanded state aid made available to them," Engeling said.

"I think they are determined to prove to the taxpayers that the legislature acted wisely," Engeling outlined shortly after the legislature adjourned improvements in the public school program he thought could be achieved with the additional funds. He said his staff will endeavor to see that as much of the improvement as possible is undertaken by the local school districts.

So far he has received from only one district information on improvements planned. That one came in voluntarily, since there has been no specific request.

But the state superintendent said he expects by letter or personal conference to discuss the matter with most administrators before the beginning of the fall term.

In addition to more state aid, the districts have in prospect more federal financial assistance. One new program provides funds on a non-matching basis to public schools at elementary and secondary levels. Congress has not yet provided the money to implement the program but it is fully funded it would give Idaho about $3.3 million a year.

These funds would be available primarily to districts which prove that improved school programs would result from their use.

Declines

ROME (AP) — Illiteracy has declined about 1 per cent in Italy in the last decade.

Government figures put the number of illiterates in Italy's current population of 50 million at 13 million; in 1955 there were 15 million illiterates in a population of 47.2 million.

NEW STAMP ISSUED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Adlai E. Stevenson memorial postage stamp will go on sale Oct. 23 in Bloomington, Ill., home of the late ambassador to the United Nations.
