STALELINE, Nev. (AP)—A solution to the West's water problems is sure to come from the federal level if the 11 western states don't join to find an answer, Nevada Gov. Grant Sawyer said today. Any federal solution to water shortage problems, he warned the organizational meeting of the Western States Water Council, "may not take into account public interest as we see it. If we can't work out a solution on the local level, let us not hear complaints if it's done on the federal level." Sawyer said.

3 Idahoans Attend Water Conference

BOISE (UPI)—Three members of the Idaho Water Resources Agency were off to California Tuesday to represent the state's new water guardian. Attending the Western Governor's Water Conference at Lake Tahoe, Calif., are George Crookham, Caldwell; Arlie Parkington, Homedale; and William Holden, Idaho Falls attorney, the governor's special representative to the board.

Crookham was elected chairman of the Idaho board at Monday's organizational meeting. The new Idaho agency, created by constitutional amendment, met for the first time in the State capitol and pledged to rise above partisan politics to protect Idaho's water from would-be Southwestern invaders. Gov. Robert E. Smylie told the eight-member board its duties are non-partisan because the Snake River is neither Democratic or Republican.

Crookham told members the number one problem facing the board is inventory of uses of water for Idaho people. He said it will be necessary for the members to discuss and disagree "openly and pointedly" in arriving at a program for Idaho's first resource. The agency was created after several Southwestern plans were submitted in public to tap the Snake River and pipe excess Idaho water to southern cities.

Growing War in Viet Nam May Change Draft Restrictions for Many Idahoans

BOISE (UPI)—The growing war in Viet Nam may change the draft status of many Idahoans previously rejected by their draft boards.

Maj. Gen. John Walsh, Idaho's Selective Service director, said Tuesday he expects the Department of the Army to order a review of persons turned down in the peacetime past.

Walsh said recent draft standards have become increasingly strict, but the rejection rate may drop because of the widening war in Viet Nam.

House Okays Bill Protecting Voting Rights of Negroes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House quickly passed and sent to the Senate today a compromise bill to protect registration and voting rights of Negroes. The vote was 328 to 74. Prior to passage, the House rejected 284 to 118 an effort to send the bill back to committee. The Senate scheduled a vote Thursday to send the landmark measure to President Johnson. The bill is a compromise of separate measures passed earlier by the House and the Senate.

The major aim of the bill is to provide for the suspension of literacy tests and other tests used to keep Negroes from voting.

To accomplish this, special federal examiners would be appointed in states and voting districts where less than 50 per cent of otherwise eligible voters are registered.

And where examiners are appointed, poll watchers could be designated by the attorney general in subsequent elections. Public officials or private individuals who interfere with the voting process could face criminal charges.

Under terms of the bill literacy tests would be suspended in Alabama, Alaska, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia, in 34 counties in North Carolina and in one county each in Arizona, Idaho and Maine.

An important provision calls for an early Supreme Court test of state and local poll taxes. Poll taxes already are outlawed in federal elections by constitutional amendment.

The House bill would have outlawed outright all state and local poll taxes. But the administration claimed this approach was of doubtful constitutionality and induced the Senate to include, instead, direction to the attorney general to bring immediate court action to have the poll tax declared unconstitutional.

Only Alabama, Mississippi, Virginia and Texas have such a tax.

September Draft Quota Is Doubled

WASHINGTON (AP)—The original September draft quota of 17,000 was nearly doubled today and a still higher call for October was announced in Pentagon action to carry out President Johnson's military manpower expansion order.

The new figures: September 27,400, all for the Army; and October 33,600, including 4,600 for the Navy.

The revised September quota and the October call are the highest draft quotas since the Korean War when 80,000 were called some months.

The October draft for the Navy will be the first time that service has used Selective Service since 1956. In the last two months of 1955 the Navy asked for 10,000 men each month and made a similar quota request in the following March.

Today's announcement said the Marine Corps and Air Force placed no requests for quotas during September or October.

The announcement noted that: "The revised September call and the October call are in accord with the President's recently announced decision to increase the active armed forces strength in connection with Southeast Asia."

In the Korean War, the quotas reached about 20,000 a month by the fall of 1950 and climbed to 80,000 by March.

Philadelphian Dies in Area Road Mishap

RAFT RIVER — Paul Bednarczuk, 41, Philadelphia, Pa., died about midnight Sunday at an American Falls hospital of injuries received about 4 p.m. Sunday in an accident on a Cassia County road southeast of the Raft River store.

Police reported Bednarczuk apparently was riding on the right front fender of a truck, being used to push a stalled vehicle. He fell off the truck and he was run over by the front wheel and axle, crushing his legs and chest.

Bednarczuk and two other men, Ted Meronk, 46, Milwaukee, Wis., and Verl Gray, 31, Arkansas, Kan., had left the Vern Ranch southeast of Raft River and were traveling north when their car stalled.

Meronk walked back to the ranch and got a 2-ton GMC truck loaded with grain. Gray steered the car while Meronk drove the truck, pushing the stalled vehicle, while Bednarczuk was on the front of the truck.

Kenneth Reeves, an employee at the Rehn ranch, came upon the scene and took Mr. Bednarczuk to the American Falls hospital.

The accident is still under investigation by the Cassia County sheriff's office.

Three Men Preparing Probe Of Bay in Search for Gold

LEWES, Del. (AP) — Three men are preparing to probe the murky depths of Delaware Bay for a trove of Spanish gold and silver.

They hope to find captured booty valued at more than $8 million that was aboard the British sloop of war De Braak when it sank in a vale off Lewes, Del., in May, 1798.

The searchers, Louis De Cerchio, Mario S. Busa, and Dr. William T. De Feo, a dentist, all of Philadelphia, estimate they have spent $80,000 locating the sunken ship and preparing for the recovery operation. The State of Delaware granted their company a three-year exclusive salvage permit and Monday the U.S. Navy also approved the operation.

According to records, the De Braak was carrying 800 pounds of gold, silver valued at $2.5 million and 70 tons of copper. The sloop was a Spanish galleon. When she sank, legend says, 34 crewmen and more than 100 Spanish prisoners drowned. Four of the prisoners reportedly floated ashore aboard a chest.

Through the years numerous expeditions to recover the treasure have failed.

Tomb Uncovered in N.Y. Park by Electrical Crew

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 150 bodies were sealed in a 12-by-20-foot room under what is now Washington Square Park.

The grim room was sealed a second time Monday, leaving its meaning as such a mystery as ever.

The Consolidated Edison Co., which brought the mystery to light, made a slight alteration in the location of a new electrical transformer it was installing in the area.

A power company crew was sinking a shaft for the transformer Friday when workmen encountered a concrete dome. Breaking through the concrete, they discovered a brick and mortar dome under it. When they broke through the brick, they found themselves looking into a brick-walled room — full of skeletons.

"The room was whitewashed, dry and odorless," a spokesman for the utility said. "Stairs led upward, as if it had been a cellar, but the stairs had been completely sealed off by the dome."

There were the outlines of coffins — the wood had disintegrated — and one of the skeletons was lying in or near the outline of a coffin. Other skeletons were piled in a corner.

The whole Washington Square area was a city cemetery or "Potter's field" from the 1770's to 1823, and some 2,000 persons, most of them paupers, were buried there in unmarked graves.

"But no one can put their finger on why there would be a building of this nature there," the Con Edison spokesman said. One speculation was that the bodies sealed in the cellar were those of victims of a plague which struck the city during the 18th century.

They Love 'Em

Lester L. Wolff, a freshman congressman from New York, thinks trading stamps may result in higher fewer bills. So he thought it would be a good idea if he asked the trading stamp companies a few questions. He invited them to send representatives to Washington, but no one showed up. The stamp companies have been questioned before and it does not seem likely they'd pay much attention to a first-term member of congress. Rep. Wolff will find out some other things when he goes poking around in the trading stamp business, too.

Among the first things he's likely to discover is that the women, bless 'em, love those trading stamps. It doesn't seem to make a particle of difference to them if the price of trading stamps is added to merchandise or not. To them, trading stamps offer a means of saving for something they might not acquire otherwise. Furthermore, they have a way of rising up in arms whenever and wherever anyone poses any threat to their trading stamps. They don't want to be bothered by facts—they want the stamps!

Rep. Wolff spent 25 years as a marketing and advertising agent for food chains. He said no one has investigated the trading stamp companies for seven years and the stamps have proliferated in the meantime to the point where they figure in more than $38 billion of retail sales. The woman who saves stamps might be able to tell you in short order how many books of stamps that means.

So now Rep. Wolff is asking the House Banking and Currency Committee to investigate stamp companies and consider possible restraints on the firms. The committee hasn't committed itself yet, but Rep. Wolff also wants several governmental agencies to question the stamp companies. If the freshman congressman knows what's good for his future, he'll sneak quietly away from this one and if anyone should happen to ask if he's involved, he should react with a surprised, "Who, Me?"

Rep. Wolff might discover that the distaff side of his own household has some different ideas on trading stamps. The congressman makes no bones of the fact his wife also is caught in the national mania of saving, tucking and pasting trading stamps.

WHAT ELSE?

Perhaps Gov. Robert E. Smylie felt constrained to comment on the withdrawal of the right of governors to veto anti-poverty projects. Yet it was rather amusing to read that he felt the move had turned the program into an "instrument for purchasing political support for the federal bureaucracy." Realistically, the primary objective of nearly all "Great Society" programs is nothing more than purchasing votes. It's nothing more or less than greater concentration on the philosophy of spend and spend, elect and elect, tax and tax.

The fact that governors no longer are given the chance to veto projects is of no significance in the program one way or another. Some governors might have felt inclined to make a little political hay by vetoing specific projects. Others might have seized the opportunity to climb on the bandwagon, sewing up a few votes for themselves. Now all the credit or blame will accrue to the Johnson administration.

In his statement, Gov. Smylie declared federal bureaucrats "can now pursue without fear of state and local objection their policy of allocating anti-poverty funds to meet the administration's political needs rather than the financial needs of the poor for whom the program was supposedly designed." It somehow seems to indicate that the program as originally constituted would have been quite effective in combating poverty. So far as the end results are concerned, there'll be no change in the anti-poverty program.

Gov. Smylie and others who may be opposed to the vast federal spending program would do well to concentrate their fire on vast federal expenditures, rather than nit-picking tactics on the way federal taxes are being spent. For instance, it has been fairly well established that the anti-poverty program's biggest success is in handing out fat, high-paying positions to party faithful. One program which involves expenditure of some $55,000 supposedly has earmarked almost $40,000 for executive salaries, for example.

It may not be popular to criticize Santa Claus, but the long-suffering taxpayer must be made to realize that vast federal spending programs only add to the tax burden and help increase the ever-spiraling federal debt. The programs must be ended at the top, if they're ever ended, because bureaucrats aren't paying any attention to grass roots objections. Turning down appropriated funds won't work either, because someone else will just grab them.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — A hue and cry has been raised over the recent daytime raping of a Georgetown woman by three Negro youths, to which females in other, less fashionable districts of Washington can ask "So what else is new?"
Certainly not rape, which has become commonplace in the nation's capital along with other serious crime. But the attack on the wife of a State Department official as she walked her dogs at 9 o'clock in the morning in a Georgetown park is news because that sort of thing is not supposed to happen in chic Georgetown. This is a section reserved for tenancy by the egg-head-diplomatic complex, wealthy lobbyists and members of Congress and a sprinkling of shallow status seekers, and thus is presumed to be safe.

Naturally, then, officialdom was appalled that crime should rear its head in this sacrosanct neighborhood. But as the cops were telling themselves it couldn't happen there, they were greeted by a second victim, who reported she had been raped in a second-floor bedroom of her Georgetown home.

GREAT, CRIMELESS SOCIETY — Now at last it appears that Washington will do something about protecting its citizenry. The President has told his new District of Columbia Crime Commission to rattle its hocks and report to him within a year on recommendations for making the capital a model of efficient law enforcement. The police department has been given more money and new equipment and a system of overtime payments will put the equivalent of 250 additional cops on the streets.

Unfortunately, however, Washington remains a city in which law-abiding citizens are not safe on the streets or in their homes. Serious crimes in the city rose 12.4 per cent in fiscal 1965, and in June they increased by 26.3 per cent over June, 1964. Most of these crimes, especially the rape cases, go unreported in the press because they occur in stum areas where such incidents are almost a way of life.

EVERYBODY LIVES DANGEROUSLY — In my apartment building — only a block from fashionable Connecticut Avenue and two blocks from Massachusetts Avenue's Embassy Row — women tenants won't go out alone after dark. Robberies and assaults occur frequently in parking lots in the area. A citizen who parks his car more than three blocks from his home in the nighttime is living dangerously.
President Johnson has ordered the Crime Commission to study several broad areas of law enforcement, ranging from crime causes to the operations of the District's Juvenile Court. But he has not taken note of the chief obstacle to law enforcement here — namely, the Mallory decision by the Supreme Court which has been interpreted by courts as making it virtually impossible for police to interrogate a suspect prior to arraignment.

MALLORY RULE AIDS CRIME — Few suspects can be convicted if police are not permitted to question them immediately after apprehension, and U.S. Attorney David Ache-son, who has to live with such facts of criminal life, has tried to give the cops a hand. He has ordered that suspects, after being fully warned of their rights, may be questioned for up to three hours. He is also preparing legislation for submission to Congress this fall which would give this procedure the force of law.
It is plain that in approving a federal law of evidence, Congress did not intend that voluntary confessions be thrown out merely because of a delay between arrest and arraignment. The law was aimed, instead, at the old police practice of using force and intimidation to extract a confession.
But thanks to the Mallory ruling, any rapist is assured that court will bar from evidence all admissions he made to police, whether or not they were voluntary.

MODERATION FOR GOP

The computer has spoken, and it is now respectable to suggest that the Republican party is not going to win many national elections until it moves away from the far right toward its traditional and more than moderately successful position near the middle of the road.
Such is the verdict of an IBM 1620, fed on data from a nationwide survey of last November's voters. The verdict says in effect that the gaudy flop of Senator Goldwater and his allied congressional and gubernatorial candidates was due to social and economic attitudes that gave the party and the candidates an ultra-conservative and Birch-like appearance that frightened and alienated voters by the million.

This is hardly new. It was being said by numerous unheeded prophets as the extremists captured the party by default at the Cow Palace a year ago this month. It has been said by countless commentators and analysts ever since the devastating returns came in. But now, being writ on computer tape, it gains credence hitherto denied to the mere output of a human brain-pan.

The computer's pronouncements have another notable advantage that has not hitherto been commented upon, so far as we know. Nobody, not even the hardest-core, dues-paying, card-carrying Birchers is going to denounce a computer as a crypto-Communist or dupe.
The far right is peopled by opponents of social security, medicare, and other socio-economic policies that are favored by a great majority of the American voters. To gain victory at the polls, the Republican Party must appeal to that majority, not to the far right.

That is what the computer is saying when it says, as newly translated by University of California sociologists and researchers: "Economic conservatism, while not the only ideological concern, is the sine qua non of the right wing, and this factor would seem to guarantee its minority status. The preponderance of the lower class and its commitment to liberal economic policies militates against any right-wing access to power in the near future." — San Francisco Chronicle.

SELLING CHANGES, NOT HABITS

Nineteenth century British investors had a pat theory that they would never lose by putting their money into either liquor or tobacco enterprises.

Now, a year and more since the U. S. Surgeon general issued a report emphasizing the health hazards involved in cigarette smoking, we read that Americans are puffing more than ever before. And a check of the World Almanac shows that annual liquor sales have been rising steadily despite price increases.
The world of finance has changed in many ways since the turn of the century, but that basic British reliance upon the hardhood of bad habits has yet to be depreciated. — Eugene Register-Guard.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

Q—In a recent column on fainting you mentioned a test for spasmophilia. My doctor has not heard of this test. Could you give more details?

A—Several readers have asked the same question. The test, which takes only about four minutes, reveals spasmophilia or excessive irritability of the nerves that control the voluntary muscles.

The doctor places a tourniquet on your arm and you take several deep breaths rapidly. This causes hyperventilation. If either a spasm of your facial muscles or a muscular contraction of your hand on the side of the tourniquet occurs involuntarily the test is positive. In this case treatment with calcium and vitamin D-2 should be beneficial.

Q—I am a 53-year-old housewife. My doctor says I have pernicious anemia. Is this a deficiency of the bone marrow? Can it be cured?
A—In this disease, which is rare in persons under 30, there is a deficiency both in the bone marrow and in the acid-secreting glands of the stomach. The disease can be controlled rather than cured by taking vit-

By LYLE WILSON (United Press International)

The general welfare requires a two-party system in the United States.

This, in turn, may require amendment of the Constitution to enable the Republican Party or any opposition party to survive.

The amendment can be had. But first Republican politicians must understand a situation that gives them an enormous potential advantage over the Democrats. The Republican big chance is to rally the little states against the big ones. It can be done.

The situation which demands this Republican breakthrough is the political favoritism accorded by the Electoral College to the great urban areas where the Democratic power structure is firmly founded on racial, religious and economic minorities.

Republicans can cut the Democrats and their minorities down to size if they have the will to do it.

Voters in the great concentrations of population such as New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and California tend to follow the lead of their big cities in presidential elections. The United States, in turn, tends to follow the lead of the great industrial states. The smaller, less populous states are unable to cope with these massive political currents.

The gimmick which so benefits the greater states and so penalizes the lesser is the system by which members of the Electoral College are chosen by state-wide vote. They run at large on what is known as a general ticket. This permits the most outrageous excesses of multiple voting.

Each voter in New York state votes for 43 electors. New York's allotment of electors being equal to the state's representation in Congress. Each Pennsylvania voter for 29 electors, each in California for 40. A Delaware voter can vote for only 3 electors. A citizen in Kansas votes for and is represented by 7 Maine votes for 3 electors, Minnesota for 10, Massachusetts for 14 and so on. The United States has had two principal purposes in helping South Vietnam — one humane, the other selfish.

This country wanted to help the Vietnamese masses out of their ancient backwardness but, for its own sake, the United States wanted to stop the spread of communism by preventing a Red take-over in Viet Nam. This has been American policy around the world since 1948.

The Vietnamese, impoverished, largely illiterate, and with a life expectancy of 32 years, had no understanding of democracy, communism, capitalism, or socialism.

They wanted as little government of any kind as possible. What they wanted was a better, longer and richer life for themselves and their children. Like anyone else, they could be expected to turn to the side that helped them the most or promised the most.

When Diem, despite all the American help, failed to provide this incentive, the United States could have taken one of these three courses:

Try to compel him to end the tyranny, put in reforms and provide hope; get out if he didn't on the grounds that without change the cause was helpless; or sweat it out with him in the hope things might turn out right.

The United States chose the third course. The failure of the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations to make the tough decisions just left the country wide open to discontent and growing guerrilla war.

Interpreting The News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The stepped-up war in Viet Nam ordered by President Johnson might never have been necessary if the United States had been tougher sooner.

Johnson's actions are a major effort to save Viet Nam from a Communist take-over although the United States has been pumping money, arms and, to a limited degree, men into that country for more than 10 years. The American military manpower buildup began five years ago.

For eight of those years the United States, under Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy, backed a dictator who finally was ousted in a coup and killed.

This was President Ngo Dinh Diem, assassinated in 1963. Because he was a strong anti-Communist, the two American administrations apparently felt they had to put up with him or see chaos and communism take over the country.

The United States has had two principal purposes in helping South Vietnam — one humane, the other selfish.

This country wanted to help the Vietnamese masses out of their ancient backwardness but, for its own sake, the United States wanted to stop the spread of communism by preventing a Red take-over in Viet Nam. This has been American policy around the world since 1948.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

LIMA, PERU — Between the propaganda of the deed and the propaganda of the word there is often a large gap. The most important function of the United States Information Agency is to try to fill that gap presenting the American viewpoint on passing events.

— In the Near East last fall and now in South America this observer has found that the USA does a conscientious and, within available resources, a thorough job. It is not always easy to "explain" American actions as in the instance of the intervention in the Dominican Republic. Thousands of words have been made available by the USA to press, radio and television to tell why President Johnson felt he had no choice but to send in the marines.

An unhappy condition plaguing the USA from its beginning has come to the fore again however. The top command has been abruptly changed, leaving as several times in the past, a great doubt about future direction. The resignation of the No. 1 man, Carl Rowan, followed that of No. 2, Donald Wilson. And just below the top other recent resignations have created a large area of uncertainty. Rowan, who was director for in each state as U.S. senators are elected. Under such a system, a voter in New York City would vote for one only member of the electoral college as would a voter in Boonock, Nev.

Republican leaders generally are slow to develop good political issues. This is a good one. The smaller states would support an amendment if they understood the prevailing situation.

There is another route to reform the Electoral College. That would be by legal action undertaken by a state to challenge the constitutionality of the present system on grounds that it violated the Supreme Court's one-man-one-vote rule.

Such a move is likely to be made—and soon. Its success, of course, would depend on whether the court could recognize in the Electoral College gimmick the enormous injustice that it so clearly discerned in the method of apportioning state legislatures which had prevailed since the founding of the republic. On that, one guess as good as another, a year and a half, had the con-

On the other hand, to try to paint with too rosy a brush is obviously self-defeating. This is nowhere more evident than in the troubled area lumped for North Americans under the convenient term, Latin America. Many aspects of the Dominican intervention were deeply disquieting to Latins and the long-term consequences are still to be measured with respect to the difficult policy decisions to be taken in the months and years ahead. If the USA, while recognizing the doubts and uncertainties, could nevertheless put the American action in the perspective of a perilous decision however taken, it has done a proper job. That, at any rate, is how it appears to one observer from this perspective.

Here, of course, the pained hand of bureaucracy is a deadly impediment. In one of his wrathful moods, Murrow once expressed himself in words not suitable for a family newspaper on the problem of weeding out incompetents. The bureaucratic mazz was his constant enemy.

But the men and women of the firing line, aware of all the doubts of America's course in the world, deserve a sure command and a steady command. Morale suffers badly as commanders come and go.

Hence, Commander Jacoby found himself playing four spades opposite two.

(A side remark from Jim Jacoby: "It is never hard to get to be dummy when you are dad's partner. I don't know any one who likes to play hands more than he does.")

Five odd was actually made when West cashed two hearts and continued the suit. Jacoby, Senior, ruffed in dummy and discarded one club. Then he drew trumps and discarded his other two losers on the long diamonds.

At the other table North and South gambled on three spades and the Navy pair cashed five heart tricks before giving up the lead.

Paris Designer May Stem Tide, Lower Hemline

By LOUISE HICKMAN
PARIS (AP)—Balmain showed knee-covering skirts. They may not stem the rising hemline tide, but they were true to the fashion designer's tradition.

While Balmain did not tawny, courageous-high hemlines, he did find courage's well-seaming useful for his constructions. Even when seams were just seams, there was courage-like geometric interest.

His cut was trapezoidal: twin front seams created a center panel that widened toward the base—on bodices, jackets, and dresses. Double-breasted jacket buttonings also widened toward the base.

There were many diagonal seams, diagonal wraps and on long evening gowns, diagonal skirt slashes. Typical of the Balmain collection were wide-shouldered, narrow-hipped dresses cut without a waistline. A steam belt detail inserted across the tummy held the diagonal wrap of the skirt.

Wide-shouldered balmain coats had a squarish look in spite of a gentle body curve in front. In back, some had a long, barely visible, shell curve and others had slight widening flare. Coatings had a light, bulky look and there were many bulky furs. A coat in four deep tiers of black fox, another in horizontal bands of fisher, and a big cape of horizontally striped "roinos," which looks a bit like skunk.

Concern for Northern Negro Voiced

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says the Negro in the South is deeply concerned about the Negro in the North.

"We are with you in the North," the Baptist minister and Nobel Peace prize winner who heads the Southern Christian Leadership conference told a mass meeting Monday night at a predominantly-Negro housing project.

King said the purpose of his current tour of big Northern cities is "to let you know that we are with you in the struggle for freedom and human dignity that is taking place in this community."

Specifically, he alluded to the current struggle by civil rights leaders to integrate the all-white Girard College here.

"The walls of segregation will come tumbling down at Girard College," King told the cheering crowd of about 3,000.

Girard, actually a boys' school instead of a college, has been the target of civil rights picketing for three months.

Established in 1831 under the will of Stephen Girard, Revolutionary War banker, Girard is still restricted to "poor white male orphans." It is in the heart of a large Negro district, near the scene of Negro rioting last summer.

HEARING SCHEDULED
DOWNEY, Idaho (AP)—A public hearing is scheduled Tuesday at the Downey elementary school to discuss location of the Downey interchange and connector road on Interstate Highway 25.

HEARINGS SET
IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—The State Board of Health Wednesday will consider testimony at two public hearings in Boise last month on health sanitation and new-born baby testing.

On Thursday the board will conduct the final day of the quarterly meeting at the St. Anthony Youth Training Center.

The public hearings were required in new legislation raising food service sanitation standards, and on Phenylketonuria PKU testing for mental flaws in new born babies.

HIGHWAY BLOCKED
BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Highway Department reported Monday a series of slides have blocked a section of Highway 15 between Horseshoe Bend and Banks, north of Boise.

The department said equipment was sent to the area and that the road was expected to be reopened by Monday evening.

NEW FUND LISTED
BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Library Association announced a new student loan fund for Idahoans taking university courses in library science.

The fund was established as a memorial to Marion Bingham, the chief librarian of the Boise Public Library for 20 years until his death Friday.

ENGINEER DIES
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Ernest G. Keller, 69, scientist and engineer, who helped to develop the P-38 during World War II, died Monday of a heart attack. Keller worked for General Electric Co. from 1929 to 1947 until his retirement a few years ago.

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—Bureau of Land Management fire crews mopped up a fire Monday that burned some 230 acres of BLM land north of Springfield in Bingham County.

PIONEER DIES
PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Dr. Nathaniel Howell Furman, 73, retired chairman of Princeton University's chemistry department and a pioneer in development of the atomic bomb, died Monday.

PURCHASE QUESTIONED
POCATELLO (AP)—Bannock County Commissioner Emmette Spraker has questioned the legality of buying lumber for a county project from a firm partly owned by Commission Chairman Lawrence Lystrup.

Spraker said the lumber was being used for an $84,460 county hospital remodeling project. He said it was purchased from Pole Line Lumber Co. of Pocatello.

Spraker said Lystrup was part owner of the lumber company. Under Spraker's questioning, Lystrup said he was aware of the purchase.

But he said he did not think Idaho's conflict-of-interest statute would apply because the project contractor made the purchase.

REQUEST CONSIDERED
BOISE (UPI)—The Boise City Council has taken under advisement a request from Mayor E. W. Shellworth to create a Boise redevelopment agency.

Shellworth, given the request by officials of the Boise Planning and Development Committee, Inc., asked the council to take it under advisement.

50 ACRES BURNED

Bureau of Land Management fire crews were brought from surrounding areas to fight the blaze.

MEASURE INTRODUCED
WASHINGTON (AP)—A measure to reduce the working hours of railroad train crews was introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives Monday by Rep. Compton I. White, D-Idaho.

Under the measure, continuous duty for most railroad employees would be reduced from 16 to 12 hours. Locomotive engineers would be limited to nine hours continuous duty.

JUDGMENT REVERSED
BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Supreme Court has reversed a summary judgment by District Court against a Grangeville ranchworker who sued his employer for personal injury.

The high court ordered new proceedings for Lavern Deshazer, who claimed he was hurt while moving a sprinkler system down a pasture slope because the ranch owners did not provide him a helper.

The owners, Rusty Thompkins and Homer Rhett, denied negligence. They said Deshazer had assumed any risk involved.

TERM CHANGED
CALDWELL (UPI)—Its rules suspended, the City Council Monday night approved an ordinance amending changing the term of mayor to four years from two, effective Jan. 1.

Action came after City Atty. William E. Gilgray Jr. told the council the 1965 Legislature had changed the state law for mayors of cities of the second class to four years. The local council approved compliance with the state code.

Three Types of Monthly Payments Are Available Under Social Security Plan

By JOHN TROAN
NEA Special Writer

Three types of monthly payments are available under Social Security:

- Retirement benefits, survivors' benefits and disability benefits.
- To draw any of them, you must apply at a Social Security district office. For the nearest office, inquire at your post office or check under "Social Security Administration" in your telephone directory.
- You must be at least 62 years old to get a retirement benefit. But you can never draw your full retirement benefit unless you wait until you are at least 65 to start collecting it.
- When you apply for your retirement benefit you should take along:

- ### IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS
- Here's a check list of important documents you should have on hand for Social Security purposes:
- Husband's Social Security card (or a record showing his Social Security number).
  - Wife's Social Security card (or a record showing her number).
  - Proof of husband's age.
  - Proof of wife's age.
  - Your marriage certificate.
  - Copy of your latest income tax "withholding statement" (Form W-2). Or, if you are self-employed, copy of your last income tax return.
  - Birth certificate of each child for whom a benefit is sought.
  - Certified copy of adoption order (if child is adopted).
  - Death certificate of worker who dies.
  - Receipted funeral bill if somebody other than widow or widower claims lump-sum death benefit.
  - Divorce papers (where applicable).
- Also, if you should become so disabled that you can't work, it is a good idea to keep a list of doctors who have treated you as well as hospitals, clinics and other institutions where you have been treated.

Your Social Security card, or some record on which your Social Security number appears.

Your income tax "withholding statement" (Form W-2) for the previous year. (Or if you are self-employed, a copy of your last federal income tax return.)

Some proof of your age. The best proof of age is a birth certificate, or a baptismal certificate issued shortly after birth.

If you don't have either, you may use some other document to establish your age. Such as a certified hospital birth record; a signed statement from the midwife or doctor who attended your birth; a marriage record showing your age when married; a child's birth certificate which happens to show your age; a family Bible; a military discharge paper; an immigration or naturalization record; a passport; a vaccination record; an old insurance policy; a certified union record; an employment record showing your age; a record from a foreign church or government; or a license, permit or voting record showing your age.

Generally, the older the document the better. And if you don't have any other satisfactory evidence of age, you may ask the U. S. Census Bureau to check its records for you. The fee: $4.

If you qualify for retirement benefits, your wife also may be eligible—provided she is at least 62. In such case, she must prove her age and her relationship to you (a marriage certificate will do).

She also should produce her own Social Security card, if she has one, so the government can figure out whether she qualifies for a higher benefit on the basis of her own work record or yours.

Even if she's under 62, your wife may draw a retirement benefit provided you have in your care a child who is under 18 or is incapable of self-support due to a disability incurred before age 18. In such event, the child also would be eligible for monthly benefits. So proof of the child's age (or disability) would be required.

Where a wife draws a retirement benefit on her own, her husband also may qualify—provided he is at least 62 and can prove he depends on her for at least half of his financial support.

You may apply for retirement benefits three months before reaching retirement age (to avoid delay of payments) or any time thereafter. But retirement checks can't be dated back more than 12 months.

In case of death, the widow may draw survivors' benefits provided she is at least 60—or has in her care at least one child who is under 18 or was disabled before age 18.

To claim survivor's benefits, a widow must submit her husband's death certificate, his Social Security card or a record of his Social Security number, her marriage certificate, and proof of her age. Also, birth certificates of any children eligible to draw such payments.

Incidentally, an unmarried child aged 18 through 21 who is still in school may now qualify for retirement or survivors' benefits but the mother doesn't. Again, evidence of the child's age is needed—as well as proof the child is a full-time student in a college or other bona fide school (including vocational school).

Survivors' benefits also may

State Title Taken Away From Negro

NEW YORK (AP) — Gloria Jon charges her title as Miss New York State in the Miss Universe contest was taken away because she is a Negro. But the contest director says she broke her contract and race was not a factor. The argument broke out Monday night and about the only thing the disputants agreed on was that there will be no Miss New York State for this year. Miss Jon, 24, who lives in Manhattan, won the state contest May 20. She was the first Negro to win the title. She was among 15 finalists in the Miss USA competition to pick a winner for the Miss Universe title last month at Miami Beach. Ted Marshall, contest director who owns the New York franchise in the Miss USA and Miss Universe contests, said "there's nothing racial here at all." He confirmed the title had been taken from Miss Jon, but said "it's strictly contractual."

Union Aide Seeks Help in Rail Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — A union official asked Monday for congressional help in averting a possible rail crisis next spring. E. Gilbert, president of the American Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, told the Senate Commerce Committee it should force early talks with railroads over the status of locomotive firemen. Management representatives are to be heard by the committee later. At stake is a 1963 arbitration board ruling which provided for abolition of up to 90 per cent of firemen's jobs on diesel yard and freight engines. The decision, which expires March 31, 1966, ended a five-year dispute involving all major railroads except the Southern Railway.

Verbal Duel Lost by New Party Leader

LONDON (AP) — Two leading British newspapers said today that Edward Heath, making his parliamentary debut as Conservative party leader, lost a verbal duel with Labor Prime Minister Harold Wilson. "He lost by a knockout," the independent Times of London said. "When it comes to the art of fighting, Mr. Wilson has no peer. By the same token, Mr. Heath has a lot to learn." "Disappointed was a daily and generally registered by Conservatives when they heard their new leader," said the conservative Daily Telegraph. The House of Commons debate Monday night centered on a motion by Heath expressing no confidence in the Labor government and deploring Wilson's handling of the affairs of state. With the 10 Liberal members abstaining, the government defeated the motion 303-290. Heath accused the Laborites of destroying confidence by overdramatizing the extent of Britain's financial crisis and by using piecemeal measures to ease it.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, Aug. 3—Born today, you are artistic by nature, and extremely sensitive to your surroundings. It is absolutely necessary that you create good working conditions for yourself, including congenial companions with whom to work, if you are to fulfill your potential. Try to work in the midst of confusion or ugliness would only frustrate your desires and waste your efforts. Highly intuitive, you are very likely to be interested in the occult and the mysterious. Keep this interest on a scientific level, giving weight to fact but not to fancy or wishful thinking, and you should be able to have an intelligent and fascinating hobby; but should you go overboard, accepting every charlatan and sham, you may be in for some serious disappointments. You would be happiest marrying early in life, establishing a family while you are young enough to join the thoughts and games of childhood with youthful abandon. Select your mate with care, being especially careful to choose one whose intellectual and cultural interests are similar to yours. To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Entrance to the building was gained through picking the lock on the front door. City police officers are investigating.

A Savings Plan for Young People on the GO!

NEW YORK (UPI) — John C. Hammerslough, editor and publisher of the Hammer Report, says he believes the market must have improved hopes for peace and a resolution of the international monetary situation before a meaningful rise can occur. The Alexander Hamilton Institute says it continues to advise clients to hold only good quality issues and to maintain cash reserves. Thomson and McKinnon says the decisive pathway from the crucial 860 test level in the Dow-Jones industrial average is a technical manifestation implying further strength for the trading market in August, barring some surprise or shock element in the news.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A team of experts will fly to Moscow soon to negotiate the purchase of Soviet submarines for the Indian navy. Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan said today. Asked if India had tried to buy submarines from Western sources, he replied: "We have to purchase naval craft from wherever we can get them."

Ashe, Ralston Give U.S. Davis Cup Zone Victory

DALLAS (UPI)—Arthur Ashe captured the clinching match and Dennis Ralston followed it up with another in the second singles battle Monday to give the United States the American zone Davis Cup finals over Mexico, 4-1. Ashe, displaying a rocket-like serve and deadly accurate placements, whipped Antonio Palafox of Mexico 6-1, 6-4, 6-4 in the first match and Ralston throttled Mexican ace Rafael Osuna, 6-0, 6-2, 6-4 in the second singles.

Pinch Homer Lets Twins Nip Orioles

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Jimmie Hall, a pinch hitter, walloped a home run in the bottom of the ninth inning to give the Minnesota Twins a 6-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Monday.

Hall's homer ruined a dramatic last ditch comeback by the Orioles, who had tied the score at 5-5 on Dick Brown's three-run homer with two out in the top of the ninth.

The victory, which restored the Twins' American League lead to six games over the Orioles, was costly, however.

Harmon Killebrew, leading the Twins in runs batted in with 70 and tied for the league lead in home runs with 22, suffered a dislocated left elbow in a collision with Baltimore's Russ Snyder in the sixth inning.

Killebrew likely will be lost for at least two weeks.

Southpaw Jim Merritt, in his first appearance since his recall from Denver, held the Orioles to six hits and appeared headed for the victory going into the ninth.

But with one out, Bob Johnson got a bunt single and, after Carl Warwick had fouled out, Brown slammed a home run over the left field fence to tie the score.

John Klippstein took over and struck out Jim Palmer, his rival pitcher.

Klippstein was due to be the first Twins' hitter in the bottom of the ninth, but Manager Sam Mele sent Hall to bat for him, and Jimmie responded by hitting a 1-2 pitch about 360 feet over the left field fence.

Stengel Is Progressing, Takes Walk

NEW YORK (UPI)—Casey Stengel continued to progress from an operation on his fractured left hip Monday as he walked with the aid of a walker.

The New York Mets' manager was visited by his wife Edna and also received two physiotherapy treatments.

Dr. Peter La Motte, the Mets' team physician, said the 75-year-old Stengel was "doing just fine." La Motte allowed Stengel to get out of bed to take a few steps Sunday for the first time.

Stengel, who broke his hip while getting out of a car Sunday, July 25, still is not allowed to receive visitors besides his wife and a few close friends.

However, interim manager Wes Westrum frequently calls for advice on running the Mets during Stengel's absence.

Cards Rally In Seventh to Edge Dodgers

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ted Savage's double, sparked St. Louis to a two-run rally that broke a seventh inning deadlock and carried the Cardinals to a 6-5 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Monday night.

The loss cut the Dodgers' National League lead over second place Cincinnati to one game.

Savage, who had gone hitless in 18 times at bat since being called up from the minor leagues, opened the seventh with his hit off reliever Ron Perranoski. He stole third base and then raced home with the tie-breaking run on Lou Brock's grounder.

Curt Flood singled home an insurance run moments later.

The Cardinals came from behind after the Dodgers jumped to a 4-1 lead on solo home runs by Lou Johnson and John Roseboro and run-scoring singles by starting pitcher Johnny Podres and Maury Wills.

Lions' Back, Rookie Fined For 'Fracas'

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP)—Halfback Joe Don Looney and rookie end John Flynn, involved in a wee hours restaurant fracas Sunday, were given stiff fines Monday night by Coach Harry Gilmer of the Detroit Lions.

Gilmer, sticking to a previous pledge, declined to divulge the amount of the fines.

A Lions' spokesman, making the announcement for Gilmer, indicated the coach handed down the penalties as much for the violation of the team curfew by Looney and Flynn as for the 3 a.m. cafe incident in nearby Royal Oak.

Looney, already known as a National Football League problem boy, and Flynn figured in a ruckus to which police were called. Police said there was a dispute over whether the two players had paid a $3.38 bill.

Though police intervened, no charges were filed from the incident.

Gilmer assessed the fines after meeting in private with Looney and Flynn.

AL Head Says Frozen Baseball Charge Should Be Investigated

CHICAGO (AP)—Joe Cronin, president of the American League, said Monday night charges by Detroit players that the Chicago White Sox were using frozen baseballs should be investigated. Cronin said his umpire-in-chief, Cal Hubbard, is on a tour to determine at what temperature baseballs were being stored and if any of the clubs were manipulating temperatures to suit their own purposes.

Members of the Detroit Tigers charged after a doubleheader in Chicago Sunday that the baseballs were frozen and therefore difficult to hit.

Tiger hurler Hank Aguirre, who lost the first game of the doubleheader Sunday, said he had never held such cold baseballs.

Dave Wicksham, who hurled the Tigers to a victory in the nightcap, also complained the balls were cold and hard to hit.

The Sox won the first game 1-0, and Detroit took the second 2-1. The two teams totaled 22 hits for the day, each getting 11 and none longer than a two-base walkoff.

This was in contrast to a four-game series between the two teams in Detroit last weekend when they scored 54 runs including 19 home runs.

After the scoring series in Detroit, Sox Manager Al Lopez said the balls were so dry they popped out like lively golf balls.

Detroit pitcher Hank Aguirre, the loser in Sunday's opener, said after the game, "Those balls were playing with were frozen. They were ice cold. When you freeze a ball, it sure won't go any place."

Umpire Ed Hurley admitted the balls were cold but dismissed the matter by saying they were probably stored somewhere near air conditioning and added the weather also was cold.

Lopez said he didn't know anything about frozen balls.

Results Given For Burley Kart Race

BURLEY — Larry Everton, Twin Falls, took first place in the A super heavy division and second in the Australian pursuit race Sunday at the Burley raceway while Dustin Rose of Shelley turned the fastest lap of the day during the Mini-Cassia Karting Association's "Save Our Track Race."

Rose's time for 2 mile track was 21 seconds flat, 1.5 seconds off the track record. Everton placed behind Patricia Blackley of Salt Lake City in the special event.

According to Bill Schoen, president of the Mini-Cassia group, who also took second in the A super heavy class, the proceeds of the race will go to seal coat the track to keep it in top running condition.

Ricky McGuire, Salt Lake City, topped the junior class with Kelly Peterson, Ogden, placing second. Third went to Chris Thompson, Shelley, and Ward Powell, Ogden, placed fourth.

Rose took first in a standard light competition followed by Glenn Spencer, Ogden; James Britton, Tooele, Utah, and Dave Dredge, Mini-Cassia.

Mrs. Blackley claimed first in a super light while the A standard heavy trophy went to Gary Rene, Twin Falls.

Behind Everton and Schoen in super heavy were Dean Mason, Twin Falls, and Paul Bean, Mini-Cassia.

Hairston Homers in 12th To Let Treasure Valley Tip Magic Valley by 2-0

CALDWELL (UPI)—Treasure Valley Cub catcher John Hairston went hitless for four innings, but when he stepped up to bat with a man on in the bottom half of the 12th inning, he unloaded a drive over the left field fence that went at least 400 feet. It was good enough to edge Magic Valley 2-0 in one of the most tense ball games of the Pioneer-League season. Starting hurlers Dave Amman of the Cubs and Bill Patrick dueled to a 0-0 deadlock before they were both pulled at the end of nine complete innings.

Good Sport

Bob Paarberg came on in relief to collect the victory for the Cubs, while Jack Hedrick was charged with the loss. Rightfielder Ron Webb exploded with a double, to right center to open the 12th inning, and then Hairston belted his sixth home run of the year.

Magic Valley had 11 scattered hits. Treasure Valley had five. With the bases loaded and two out in the top of the 12th inning, Tony Vargas whipped a smoking grounder to Cub second baseman Jeff Allen. As the winning run streaked toward home, Allen dived to scoop up the ball and threw it first from flat on his back. It bounced once, but was in time to put out the Vargas.

Twins' Killebrew Dislocates Elbow

MINNEAPOLIS, ST. PAUL (AP)—Harmon Killebrew suffered a dislocated left elbow Monday in a base-path collision with Russ Snyder during the Minnesota-Baltimore Oriole game and will be lost to the league leading Twins for at least 10 days. No break was disclosed in X rays of the big slugger's elbow, and he was not hospitalized. Minnesota team physician Dr. William Proffitt said how soon Killebrew can return to the lineup will depend "on how soon the soreness and swelling disappear and how soon he can regain his strength in the arm."

The Twins' slugger and Baltimore pitcher Steve Barber both were forced to leave the game because of injuries. Barber had a vertebrae slip out of place in the lower section of his back in the third inning. The injury was the second blow inside of a week to Minnesota's hopes for its first pennant since the team was moved from Washington to the Twin Cities in 1961.

Last Wednesday ace pitcher Camilo Pascual was told he had a tumor on the under side of his pitching arm that would necessitate surgery. He was placed on the disabled list and underwent surgery for torn muscles Monday. Based on past experience with similar injuries, Dr. Proffitt said he would assume it would take 10 days to two weeks for Killebrew to return to action. "He wants to play," Proffitt said, "and he's pretty tough."

Killebrew said he didn't remember exactly what happened in the sixth inning collision with Snyder. Killebrew reached for a wide throw from third baseman Rich Rollins on Snyder's bunt. Killebrew had his left arm with the glove on it extended across the basepath about four feet toward home.

His left arm was bent inversely as Snyder ran into it, knocking the elbow out of its socket. Killebrew "dropped to the ground, writhing in pain." Team trainer George Lentz popped the elbow back into place and packed it in ice to relieve swelling. Killebrew was taken to a hospital for the X-rays. Killebrew was tied for the American League lead with 22 home runs and led the Twins with 70 runs batted in. He is batting .275. Proffitt said the injury will affect Killebrew's batting more than it will affect his fielding.

Question Raised About Russian Harassment Before Track Meet

MOSCOW (AP)—Was the United States track and field effort sabotaged by subtle delaying and harassing tactics on the part of the Russians before the jolting American defeat last weekend in Kiev? One of the team managers, Pete Bowen of Lyndon, Ky., made the charge Monday as the 70-member U.S. squad stopped in Moscow en route for a meet next Saturday and Sunday with Poland.

"I suspected it when we first arrived here and now I am convinced of it," the former Pittsburgh and New York Athletic Club quarter-miler said. "It was a sly way they did it, but to me it seems unquestionable. Personally, I think it was terrible."

The convincer was our return trip from Kiev to Moscow. When we arrived in Moscow Tuesday—the team tired and without sleep—everything possible was done to nettle them and fray their nerves. "It's odd to me that going from Moscow to Kiev it took us nearly two hours by air, another 1 1/2 hours to get to our hotel in the middle of the night, and coming back, it was minutes to the Kiev airport and one hour by plane to Moscow."

Kiev is 475 miles from Moscow. The flying time normally is between one and 1 1/2 hours. The sentiment was shared by some other officials and team members of the Amateur Athletic Union party but few were as outspoken as Bowen. "When the team arrived here around noon last Tuesday after an overnight flight from New York, the athletes had to remain at the airport for two hours. Then they were put into buses and taken to a Moscow hotel for lunch, and then had to stand around the lobby for several hours before departing around 9 p.m. for Kiev."

"It would have been a simple matter for the team to have gone immediately to Kiev," Bowen insisted. "The long ride into Moscow was ridiculous." Bowen said he found the Russians constantly doing little things to upset the morale of the squad. The Americans scoffed at a late decision by the Russians—well after Sunday's competition was complete—to announce that the Soviet 1,600-meter relay team was being disqualified for an act of interference. It cost the Russians three points. "They wanted to see what the total was before making an announcement," one American said.

Armed policemen stood by at some arenas where Communists had threatened to stage demonstrations, while striking government employees left the Cougars stranded an extra day in Uruguay. But an estimated 84,000 persons, filling most of the arenas to capacity, saw the Cougars play on "blacktop, tile and everything else." "Center Craig Raymond, who averaged seven points per game, was slowed down by the wide free-throw lane used in South America, Watts said. "Offensively," he added, "we didn't burn many people." Watts sat down to a roast beef dinner at the luncheon, only to report that he and the team had eaten steak, French fries and soup for breakfast, lunch and dinner in South America. In most areas, the team kept away from drinking water and milk, instead turned to "bottles and bottles of Orange Crush."

LDS missionaries translated for the team, not only on tours, but at the bench and scoring table during games. But coach Watts said the referees were a little one-sided. "What we should have had," he chuckled, "was missionaries as referees." Coach Watts said he hopes the day will come when the team will take a similar trip every three years. Since politics are not involved, he said, "our teams can do a lot of good for people down there."

He said spectators naturally associated the team with the Mormon Church which received a great deal of publicity from the games. Playing techniques are about the same in South America, Watts said, though individual effort seems to be more emphasized than team unity. He noted that basketball has gained popularity in South America, but still is far from catching soccer, a national sport that starts children kicking a ball nearly as soon as they can walk.

The Cougars saw a soccer match where "all the teams did was kick a ball up and down the field for 90 minutes and the score was still one to nothing." "I wasn't impressed at all," said Watts. While basketball has improved in South America, Watts pointed to a similar improvement in the United States. The Cougars scored an average of 45 points per game when in South America in 1950. On this trip, the Cougars scored an average of almost 86 points per game.

Dodgers Nip Angels 6-5 in Ninth Inning

POCATELLO (UPI)—Pocatelto pushed across an unearned run in the ninth inning Monday night to defeat Idaho Falls 6-5 in Pioneer League competition. Lefthander Tim Thompson pitched a six-hitter to gain the victory. Johnson and Barfield hit solo homers in the first and third innings and the Dodgers scored two in the second on four doubles. A three-run double by Terry Thompson capped a four-run outburst in the fourth inning for Idaho Falls. Bob Smithson, who relieved Ed Rhyman in the fourth inning, took the loss. ## Area Labor Force Above Last Month

A healthy gain in agricultural employment, coupled with an increase in nonagricultural workers, boosted the Twin Falls area labor force well above the May level.

Construction continues at an active pace with many small projects underway and several large jobs coming up in the near future.

Agricultural operators report crop development excellent with a very favorable farm season in prospect. The farming employment gains were primarily responsible for a sizeable increase from May to June.

Unemployment during June increased from the previous month, but fell far short of the previous year. This was attributed to the increased nonagricultural employment along with the earlier shutdown of food processing plants, which, by June of this year had allowed many of the food processing workers time to find other employment, while last year they were still unemployed during June after the seasonal shutdown.

Nonmanufacturing employment, when compared with last year, tallied a sizeable increase of 400 workers. Wholesale and retail trade establishments provided more jobs this year than last to account for most of the gain. The addition of new establishments of this type made a considerable contribution to the increase.

Agricultural labor demands have very nearly balanced supply with only spotty shortages occurring in the haying operations. A demand exceeding supply continues for experienced row crop irrigators.

Hiccups

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Lucy McDonald, whose two-year siege of hiccuping drew national attention, has them again.

After unsuccessfully trying remedies sent to her from all sections of the country, Mrs. McDonald underwent an operation July 2 in which the phrenic nerve on the left side was crushed.

Mrs. McDonald, 37, said the hiccups returned Saturday—just four weeks after the operation.

THIS 1964 DODGE rests on its side after veering off a county road, striking a ditchbank, traveling about 100 yards through the air and landing on its top and coming to rest on its side in a field east of Twin Falls. The accident occurred about 10:30 p.m. Monday one mile east of Twin Falls between U.S. Highway 30 and Addison Avenue East. Four men were taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for treatment as a result of the accident. (Times-News photo)

There was the "Queen's Dance" with music by Holland (Happy Holly) Houf-burg and the Saints in the American Legion Hall after the Saturday night rodeo performance.

The bucking Shetland ponies for children provided an added attraction to the rodeo. Winners were Jeff Juker and Randy Bauscher, tied for first and second; Mike Gill, third; Bruce Lanman, fourth; Brent Giesler, fifth, and Gary Cox, sixth.

Tough Fight Forecast in Viet Nam War

LONDON (AP) — W. Averell Harriman said today he got the impression in talks in Moscow with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin that the Russians looked to a peaceful settlement in Viet Nam. But he saw tough fighting ahead.

Harriman, who just concluded a tour of European capitals where he talked with government leaders, told reporters before flying home to Washington: "I got the general impression that Moscow would like to see a settlement. President Johnson has said on many occasions that he is willing to undertake discussions with any government. "But the Hanoi government continues to say they will not have any part of it. Hanoi thinks it can take over South Viet Nam by force."

Museum at Hailey Has Many Visitors

HAILEY — The Blaine County Historical Museum has had many visitors so far this season, and they have come from many different states and foreign countries.

Mrs. W. D. Ellway, who is in charge of the museum Wednesday through Sunday each week, reports visitors from Denmark, Germany, Manila in the Philippine Islands, Italy, Canada and Nairobi, East Africa have registered. Siegfried Walther, Rochowitz of Merano, Italy; grandson of Ezra Pound; came to Hailey to see the house where his grandfather was born.

Sunday is the most popular day for museum viewers. On July 3, 4, 5 an average of 50 visitors registered each day.

Mrs. Ellway says local visitors and former residents enjoy the pioneer pictures most, scanning each photo closely to find familiar faces or names, which they usually do.

The museum will close at 1 p.m. Sept. 12, when Wagner Days is over.

Fairfield Lists Minor Accidents

FAIRFIELD — Camas County Sheriff Jerry Moon reports three minor accidents over the weekend with no one receiving injuries.

On Saturday, cars driven by William F. Bryan, Arizona, and Clarence Forrey, Boise, collided on a road along the South Boise River. About $200 damage was reported to one of the vehicles.

On Sunday afternoon cars driven by Rod Tucker, Fairfield, and Gary Byrum, Gooding, collided on the main street of Fairfield. The fenders were bent on the Tucker car.

114 Quality

HAILEY — The Red Cross "Learn to Swim" campaign closed here Friday at the Hiawatha pool and 114 qualified for certificates in the various divisions.

Cherry Povey, instructor, said certificates may be picked up at her home.

Muscular Model

HUCKNALL, England (UPI) — Wanted: A model with big biceps.

A local farm machinery firm, looking for a girl to advertise its products, says all those who have applied have been rejected because they looked "too fragile and delicate to be at home with a cultivator or grass cutter."

Unidentified Sky Objects May Be Stars

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says people who reported a rash of unidentified flying objects Sunday apparently were seeing stars.

The reports came from a variety of locations in the Southwest.

An Air Force spokesman said: "Initial study of reports received would indicate that the observations were astronomical in nature. The objects observed may have been the planet Jupiter or the stars Rigel, Capella, Betelgeuse or Aldebaran which were visible. At the time of the reported sightings, the azimuth and elevation of the reported sightings support this preliminary conclusion."

Nonetheless, the Air Force said it would continue to check the reports.

Fire at Utah Firm Causes Heavy Ruin

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A spectacular fire at Overman's Mattress Co. here has caused property damage estimated at $22,000.

Owner A. E. Overman said Monday a small inventory at the plant, 740 Pacific Ave., cut the loss sharply.

Fire Marshal William Kresse said the blaze apparently started from a spark on a cotton grinding machine.

Flames, fed by paraffin, cotton and mattress ticking, set billows of smoke over the area. Three alarms were turned on.

The museum will close at 1 p.m. Sept. 12, when Wagner Days is over.
