WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson signed a $280 million health research bill today and announced he is going to create a top-level task force to set for the nation goals that will be at once ambitious and realistic. Johnson said his panel will set national goals in education, in health and in the quest for happiness for all the world's children. Composed of experts in and out of government under presidential leadership, he said, the task force will tell America where we are, where we are going and how we are going to get there.

Third Phase Of Vote Bill Starts Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the third phase of putting the new voting rights bill into action, the Justice Department designates today those counties where federal registrars will be used.

And Tuesday, in keeping with a presidential timetable, about 45 of the 75 federal voting examiners—all employees of the Civil Service Commission—will start signing up voters in 10 to 15 counties.

The Justice Department also is to go to court Tuesday in an effort to upset the poll tax requirement for voting in state and local elections in Texas, Alabama and Virginia.

President Johnson established the schedule Friday when he signed the voting rights bill into law.

The first two phases of enforcement went into effect Saturday.

Literacy tests as a prerequisite to voting were suspended in Alabama, Alaska, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia and in 26 counties in North Carolina and one each in Arizona, Idaho and Maine.

The first of the poll tax suits was filed against Mississippi. The state plans to defend the constitutionality of the $2 fee required of its voters in state and local elections. The poll tax requirement already has been banned in federal elections through a constitutional amendment.

The grants go to universities, hospitals, medical schools and nonprofit groups where they are needed on a 50-50 basis.

The 1965 measure also grants authority to the Public Health Service, under which the NIH operates, to enter into research contracts with private agencies, and creates three additional assistant secretaries in the department of health, education and welfare.

The 1957 congress authorized the first of the present institutes for the study of cancer.

Today, the NIH encompasses seven research institutes on its 65-acre tract in suburban Bethesda, Md.

A 10-story hospital serves as a clinical center where doctors can work with patients who have a disease being studied.

The patients must be volunteers who are referred by private physicians.

SINGAPORE (AP)—This is the state pulled out of the 23-nation-old Federation of Malaysia today and immediately became embroiled with federal Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman over relations with Indonesia.

Premier Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore told a news conference today that Singapore wants to be friends with Indonesia, which has sworn to crush Malaysia.

Singapore once carried on a flourishing trade with Indonesia and wants to regain it.

Lee declared, however, that cooperation with Indonesia is not to be impossible unless the Indonesians recognize Singapore as a sovereign, independent nation.

In Jakarta, Indonesian Deputy Premier Subandono said Indonesia was ready to recognize Singapore but would continue its state policy toward the federation.

Four Injured As Train Jumps Tracks

PASCO, Wash. (AP)—Twenty-five cars of a 70-car freight train jumped the tracks five miles east of here Sunday, injuring four transients.

All four men were reported out of danger and resting comfortably at a hospital here.

Officials of the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Railroad said the freight cars were demolished and it would probably take several days to clear the tracks.

Damage was unofficially estimated at $500,000 or more.

The 25 cars were in the middle of the westbound freight. About 20 were boxcars and the rest empty flatcars. Some of the boxcars were loaded with grain, which was spilled along the right-of-way.

A preliminary investigation of the 6:40 a.m. derailment indicated it might have been caused by a broken axle.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union will continue to support peaceful and nonpeaceful "national liberation movements," Pravda said Sunday. It expressed full Soviet support for North Vietnamese views in the Vietnamese struggle.

The newspaper, organ of the ruling Communist party, carried a long defense of Soviet foreign policy against criticism from Red China. As usual, Red China was clearly implied but not mentioned by name.

"The Communist party of the Soviet Union is of the opinion that in the present situation it would be correct to act jointly in the struggle against imperialism and reaction instead of artificially aggravating our differences," Pravda said. "Only imperialism benefits from this."

The newspaper claimed the Soviet government is taking the right line in Southeast Asia.

"All aid necessary for repulsing aggression is being and will be rendered to the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam," it declared.

Meantime, the OAS, in a related development, provided the means for a Dominican accord.

It unveiled an institutional act which the Inter-American organization hopes will serve as a constitution for a provisional government. The act was to be submitted later today to leaders of the opposing sides in the island republic.

Body of T.F. Boy Found in Reservoir

BOISE (AP)—No inquest is planned in the drowning of nine-year-old Ricky Smith, Twin Falls, whose body was found Sunday in Lucky Peak Reservoir. Ricky's body was found late Sunday after the search in the surrounding hills had failed. Divers had found no evidence earlier in the day that the boy might have drowned. He had been missing since Saturday night when he was on a picnic outing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Del Smith, 228 Du Bois Ave., and Boise relatives.

Ada County Coroner Ed Paris said the boy apparently went hiking along the shore of the lake near the backwaters. He said it appeared Ricky slipped on a shale rock formation and fell into a deep hole in the stream. He said the boy could not swim.

Another source said about 100 youths would be sent out of Viet Nam because of their age.

The brigade began landing in Viet Nam on May 5 and is stationed around Bien Hoa air base, north of Saigon, where it has been taking part in operations against the Viet Cong.

The spokesman said soldiers under 18 will be sent back to Okinawa or perhaps to the United States. He said there are certain provisions in enlistment and draft regulations under which soldiers under 18 can be sent overseas but not to combat zones.

War Policy Protested At Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group protesting U.S. policy in Viet Nam adopted a "declaration of peace" at a meeting on the Washington Monument grounds today and voted to march to the Capitol.

Some 350 persons were at the meeting of the newly formed Assembly of Unrepresented People.

The decision to march to the Capitol steps was despite advice from police that it would be illegal to march past the end of the mall a half-dozen blocks away.

An earlier idea of attempting to invade the U.S. House chamber appeared to have been dropped. Several speakers suggested it, but there was no support from the rest of the group.

The "declaration of peace" stated: "Because we believe that the steady escalation of the war in Viet Nam threatens all people with nuclear death, we declare peace with the people of Viet Nam."

"Because millions of Americans had hoped and expected that their votes in the 1964 presidential election would move our country away from war toward peace and because these hopes and expectations have been betrayed in Viet Nam, we declare peace with the people of Viet Nam."

Troops Hit On Way to Aid Camp

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Government forces on the march to relieve the besieged Duc Co special forces camp were attacked by snipers today, a U. S. military spokesman reported. "Cavalry elements attached to road clearing troops on Route 19 took some sniper fire Monday with light casualties," the spokesman said. Communist forces have laid siege to the camp 220 miles northeast of Saigon near the Cambodian border for 66 days. Twelve Americans and more than 150 mountain tribesmen and Vietnamese are in the camp.

The Viet Cong hits the Duc Co camp daily with mortars and small arms fire. Two Americans and 20 Vietnamese have been killed since June 3.

A large Vietnamese paratrooper force was sent in last Thursday to lift the siege but was driven back into the camp lines when it tried to move out against the Viet Cong.

Forward action in other areas continued light over the weekend and into today.

U.S. spokesmen gave this report of military actions:

Government forces made a sweep through the much fought over rice paddies near Ba Gia, 4 miles west of Quang Ngai, killing 17 Viet Cong and capturing nine. There were no government losses.

A second search and destroy operation was launched 20 miles west of Quang Ngai, but there were no immediate reports of results.

A Viet Cong regiment is known to be in the area around Quang Ngai, and the two operations apparently were aimed at preventing small enemy units from joining up for another big offensive. Quang Ngai city is 330 miles northeast of Saigon.

A small group of government militiamen killed seven Viet Cong and captured 60 pounds of TNT in an operation 6 miles south of Da Nang. No government casualties were reported.

Viet Cong harassment continued in Chuong Thien Province 100 to 120 miles southwest of Saigon. It was the fourth time in the last five nights that the Communists opened up on watchtowers or outposts. Small arms or mortar fire were used against five targets, but no government or Viet Cong casualties were reported.

In a government ambush 10 miles southwest of Saigon in Binh Chanh district two Viet Cong were killed. Government casualties were described as very light.

A U.S. Marine patrol fought an unknown number of Viet Cong in the vicinity of Chu Lai Saturday, capturing two Viet Cong. There were no Marine casualties.

Another Marine patrol killed three Viet Cong in a fire fight in the Da Nang area, again without Marine casualties.

Heavy air strikes continued against suspected Viet Cong concentrations and installations.

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Police today opened fire on crowds of rioters in Patna. Unofficial reports said at least five persons were injured and two may have been killed.

The rioters were protesting against rising prices, India's foreign policy, and increased tuition fees.

Police fired 25 shots to disperse the rioters.

Among the injured was Bihar State's inspector general of police, the region's top-ranking law enforcement official.

Crowds of demonstrators had been protesting price hikes and India's recent agreement with Pakistan on the Rann of Kutch border area. Violence erupted when students joined the protest in front of the state legislature, demonstrating against a recent rise in tuition fees.

Army troops in the area were placed on alert in the event local police were unable to cope with the mobs.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India is rushing security forces to Kashmir to cope with Pakistani "infiltrators" who already have clashed with Indian troops in several places, an official spokesman said early Monday.

He said there has been "extensive infiltration" of armed men from Pakistan since Aug. 5 at several points along the cease-fire line and the number of infiltrators has swelled to considerable strength.

There was no immediate comment from Pakistan on the Indian statement.

However, a Pakistan news agency reported hearing a radio station describing itself as "Voice of Kashmir" announce the establishment of a revolutionary council in the part of Kashmir controlled by India to "lead an all out war of liberation against India imperialism."

Summons Will Be Issued to Utah Mayor

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The Federal District Attorney's Office said a summons would be issued today to St. George, Utah, Mayor William A. Barlock on a federal grand jury indictment.

Named in indictments along with Barlock, a former candidate for Utah governor, were William C. Lasseter and Andrew B. Pace. All three are former Bank of St. George officers.

The Federal District Attorney's Office said warrants would be issued for Lasseter and Pace. The grand jury recommended $1000 bail each for Lasseter and Pace.

The indictments accused Barlock of abstracting and converting to his own use a bank certificate covering 20,000 shares of common stock of the American Holding Co.

The indictments against Lasseter and Pace charged embezzlement and misapplication of bank funds.

$3 Bill

SUFFOLK, Va. (AP)—The cost of living index is up and the value of the dollar has declined. Just how this affects Mrs. D. O. Taylor's $3 bill is problematical.

The Suffolk housewife actually owns a $3 bill. She found it while cleaning out an old dresser in her home the other day.

It was issued in October, 1961, by the Andover Bank of Massachusetts.

Whatever it's worth, Mrs. Taylor says it already has aroused $100 worth of curiosity.

Security Is Increased For Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department shut off free public access to its building today for the first time in peacetime.

In announcing this, a spokesman said the action is being taken to improve security following recommendations by a State Department task force on security.

The spokesman denied there have been breaches of security but said "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Two incidents last month in which female employees complained of being molested in the building were not the basic reason for the new step, he said.

Under the new setup, costing about $50,000 this year, a force of 75 guards will man all pedestrian and auto entrances to the big State Department building located in Washington's Foggy Bottom area near the Potomac.

No one is to be allowed into the building without approved accreditation or permission.

Accidents in Utah Claim Four Persons

By The Associated Press

Four persons, including a father and his 14-month-old daughter, died in traffic accidents over the weekend in Utah.

Three of the four were officially listed as traffic fatalities, boosting Utah's toll to 154 for the year, nine fewer than a year ago.

The other death — William E. Schwartz — was listed as a possible heart attack, although the car he was driving smacked into a tree at 3rd North and First West in Bountiful Saturday.

But Schwartz's infant daughter, Cheryl, succumbed of accident injuries Sunday in the South Davis Community Hospital.

A two-car collision in West Jordan killed Miss Carol Victoria Polve, 23, of Kearns.

Her sister, Mrs. Joan Mortensen, 27, was seriously hurt, as was the driver of the other car, Clark Frandsen, 18.

And a Bureau of Indian Affairs employe, Ralph T. Tso, 47, was struck by two cars as he walked across U.S. Highway 89 near Willard Saturday night.

Golf Shoes Aided in Deaths

LOUISVILLE, Ga. (AP)—A doctor says he believes metal-spiked golf shoes contributed to the deaths of two golfers killed by lightning Sunday as they took shelter in a metal shed.

Three Programs Offered Under Medicare-Social Security

By JOHN TROAN, (NEA Special Writer)

The health benefits provided by the new Social Security Medicare law have been likened to a three-layered cake.

The basic layer is what people call "Medicare." With funds collected from Social Security taxes, it offers certain hospital, nursing-home and other health benefits to persons 65 and older.

Layer No. 2 is the supplemental health-insurance program which provides additional benefits, including coverage of regular doctor bills, on an optional basis to persons past 65 who agree to split the $6-a-month premium with Uncle Sam.

The third layer offers free health benefits to the needy and the near-needy. It embraces what is now known as the Kerr-Mills program of "medical assistance for the aged" as well as health benefits available to regular recipients of public assistance (welfare).

This free care is financed jointly by the U.S. Treasury and the states. In some cases, counties and local communities also chip in money.

All states provide health benefits for recipients of "old-age assistance," a form of relief available to generally needy persons past 65. In addition, all but six states—Alaska, Georgia, Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio and Texas—have put into effect so-called Kerr-Mills programs to care for the "medically indigent." These are persons past 65 who aren't poor enough to rate regular welfare checks, yet can't afford to pay their sick bills.

Programs for the "medically indigent" vary from state to state. All provide some hospital care. Some also cover certain doctor bills, some drugs, some care in a nursing home or the patient's own home and even such things as eyeglasses and false teeth.

Eligibility rules also differ. For instance, up to now, in some counties of Maryland an elderly person with an income exceeding $1,080 a year couldn't qualify but in Louisiana he might have an annual income as high as $3,000 and still get "medical assistance."

The ceiling on assets also varies. So does the definition of assets. Examples: Massachusetts disregards an elderly person's life insurance policy in figuring his assets but most states calculate the cash surrender value. California discounts any auto needed for transportation "regardless of market value" but Idaho specifies a "popular-priced car" and Hawaii sets a flat $500 limit. Iowa exempts "tools or equipment necessary for pursuit of an occupation," and Colorado discounts $200 worth of "working animals."

States still may set their own rules concerning assets. But Congress now has jiggled the law to encourage states to drop fixed income ceilings and to consider, in determining a person's need, only income "actually available."

(Thus, a state wouldn't count nonexistent income a woman is supposed to be getting from a runaway husband or reluctant relative.)

Nor could a grown son or daughter be required to pay for an elderly parent's health care, as some states now demand. However, if you draw "medical assistance," a state still could place a claim against your property—so as to get its money back after you and your spouse die, and all your children grow up.

(At least 18 states and the District of Columbia have such a "recovery" provision.)

Effective Jan. 1, 1966, the same health benefits offered to "medically indigent" persons past 65 may be extended by a state to certain other individuals under 65 who would ordinarily qualify for the welfare rolls except for the fact that, when they aren't sick, their incomes or assets exceed the specified ceilings. This includes children under 21 and some of their parents; the blind; and persons who are totally and permanently disabled.

And by Jan. 1, 1970, minimum standards will be applied to all such welfare-type, free-care programs. Every state which implements such a program will have to offer some hospital benefits, some nursing-home care, some laboratory and X-ray services, and some coverage of doctor bills. Beyond this, any state may add almost any "extras" it wishes—and can afford.

Because these programs vary so much, and will be in a state of flux for some time to come, the best way to find out if YOU qualify for any such benefits is to check with your nearest public assistance (welfare) office.

Your hospital or county medical society also may be of help. (NEXT—Cash Retirement Benefits.)

Old Hazards

Old traffic hazards seem to continue for years without correction. After several accidents have occurred at the same location, public officials should be moved to eliminate a hazard if one is obvious or at least try to find out why accidents continue to occur at a specific place.

Two such locations figured in two accidents reported in adjacent stories the other day. One spot is Cedar Crossing two and one-fourth miles east of Buhl on U. S. Highway 30. Several major accidents have occurred there in recent years and the railroad crossing signal has been broken off at least twice, including the most recent accident. The crossing is marked plainly and it would appear that everything humanly possible has been done to warn drivers of the danger.

The other location is the curve one-fourth of a mile north of Rogerson where accidents have occurred for years. In both of these accidents, it is significant that both drivers were cited.

It becomes obvious that the driver is the biggest single factor in accidents that continue to occur at a specific location. Big warning signs somehow fail to alert some drivers. It becomes a question of whether state officials and highway engineers should consider changing the highway route to eliminate these danger spots. Serious consideration should be given to that course of action if for no other reason than the danger that exists.

Courts also should consider revoking the licenses of drivers who can't be alerted by all sorts of warning signs. Quite obviously they endanger the lives of all other persons on a public highway.

NEW ALIBI

All this business about "frozen baseballs" might leave some of the fans slightly cold. Somehow it smacks of the so-called showmanship of the wrestling game where only the wrestlers and a few befuddled fans continue to insist that wrestling is a sport. Just as soon as the charge was aired, someone should have tossed a few baseballs into a freezer to determine just what would happen when a baseball is frozen.

Offhand and without any experimenting, it would seem that a baseball that was actually frozen wouldn't stay in that condition too long. Certainly it would be impossible to have frozen baseballs all during a game without keeping them in a portable freezer close to the field. It doesn't seem likely a super-cooled baseball carried around in an umpire's pocket would remain cold indefinitely.

And even if a baseball is frozen, what happens to the ball? Can a pitcher hold onto the frozen baseball long enough to go through all the motions, delays and windups so common for pitchers today?

From the batter's standpoint, does freezing a baseball affect its hitting qualities? Does a frozen baseball bounce as well as one that's at normal temperature? On the other hand, does a super-heated baseball bounce better than one that's kept at a normal temperature? Or is there any marked difference? If temperature does have a bearing on performance of a ball, there should be a little research and then perhaps officials should specify the temperature at which baseballs should be stored.

Somehow, it has some of the overtones of all the talk of "curve" balls in baseball. Players continue to insist a pitcher can throw a curve and baseball writers continue to write about curve balls. But high speed cameras have been used to prove beyond a doubt that the baseball travels in a straight line regardless of what the players and writers may believe.

It might be a better game if everyone concerned would concentrate on playing and stop trying to come up with new alibis for losing.

NO CRITERION

In England, a farm machinery firm rejected all applicants for a position posing with farm machinery. The girls were rejected because they looked "too fragile and delicate to be at home with a cultivator or grass cutter". The firm is off a tangent. That's precisely the sort of girl that should be modeling with machinery.

In these days of refined machines and machinery, it doesn't take muscles to operate equipment. And more of the persons who purchase machines are likely to be "fragile and delicate". They should get the idea quite easily they won't wear themselves out. After all, it's the machine that's supposed to do all the work!

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLEY
WASHINGTON—Now that the new Social Security law, complete with medicare, is a reality, opponents of the legislation characteristically are trying to scare the daylight out of the citizenry. It will cost too much, they sneer, and plunge us all into bankruptcy and or debtors' prison.

These calamity howlers are talking through their hats, as usual. To be sure, the Social Security tax will go up for everybody because the new benefits have to be paid for, but the new system remains a bargain. As much as $103 will be added to the annual tax on many, and eventually this increase will come to nearly $200. But for this, the citizens will get a seven percent increase in pension benefits, plus hospitalization and nursing care. Additionally, there is a supplemental plan costing $3 a month which covers doctors' bills after a $50 annual deduction.

SPENDING MONEY—The pension plan alone is almost worth the tariff. A citizen who has been getting the minimum retirement benefit of $40 a month will get $44 from September on. If he's been getting the top benefit, $127, he'll get $133.90. Eventually, the monthly check will climb as high as $168 for individuals, while the limit for a family, now $254, will be increased to $368.

Thus, between pensions and medicare, the retired American will draw much more from the Social Security fund than he contributes. Under medicare he'll get 90 days of hospitalization for each illness, 100 days of nursing home care after his hospital stay, outpatient hospital diagnostic services, and up to 100 home health visits after hospitalization.

WON'T HURT BLUE CROSS—Nor am I moved by predictions from such as the myopic American Medical Association that the legislation will put hospital insurance plans out of business. There will always be those who want more protection than the government offers, and the new law will make it financially more attractive for them to buy it.

Most persons over 65 undoubtedly will drop their voluntary insurance plans because they're assured of medicare benefits, and thus private insurers will be freed of the burden of the high cost of providing health benefits to the aged. Presumably, they then will be able to offer reduced premiums and perhaps expanded benefits to younger citizens. In Michigan alone, for example, Blue Cross people say medicare will save them $16 million a year in such payments to old folks.

20 YEARS IN MAKING—Critics are also complaining that medicare was steamrollered through Congress by President Johnson. Admittedly, Johnson got the job done, but it can't truthfully be said that Congress was rushed into its decision. Harry Truman first recommended a form of medicare more than 20 years ago, and it was on President Kennedy's priority list when he was shot down in Dallas. It has been debated over a longer period of time than any piece of modern legislation except civil rights.

But all this is beside the main point, which is that the law reflects the conscience of a civilized country. It tells the old folks that from here on they can afford to be sick.

Views of Others

HOW ABOUT THE TREATY?
Southern California and Arizona advocates are becoming increasingly dogmatic in their projections for the diversion of the Columbia River.

"Growth needs of Arizona and California within the next century require some 15 million acre-feet more water a year—which must come from the Columbia River," states the Colorado River Association, with headquarters in Los Angeles, in its July newsletter.
Studies in the Pacific Northwest of future needs of this region are brushed aside as needless impediments to progress. President Philip Corrin of the Colorado River Association is quoted as saying, also, that "debates" about how to share impending shortages of water in the Southwest "become academic if definite plans were made to import substantial quantities of water to the Colorado River from areas of abundant surplus such as the Columbia River Basin."

The Southwesterners are entranced by estimates of a mean annual natural run-off of the Columbia at its mouth of 178,600,000 acre feet. It is perhaps coincidental that the 15-million acre-foot "need" called out of the air by the Colorado Association is only 500,000 acre-feet less than the effective storage to be provided in Canada under terms of the Columbia River Treaty with the United States.

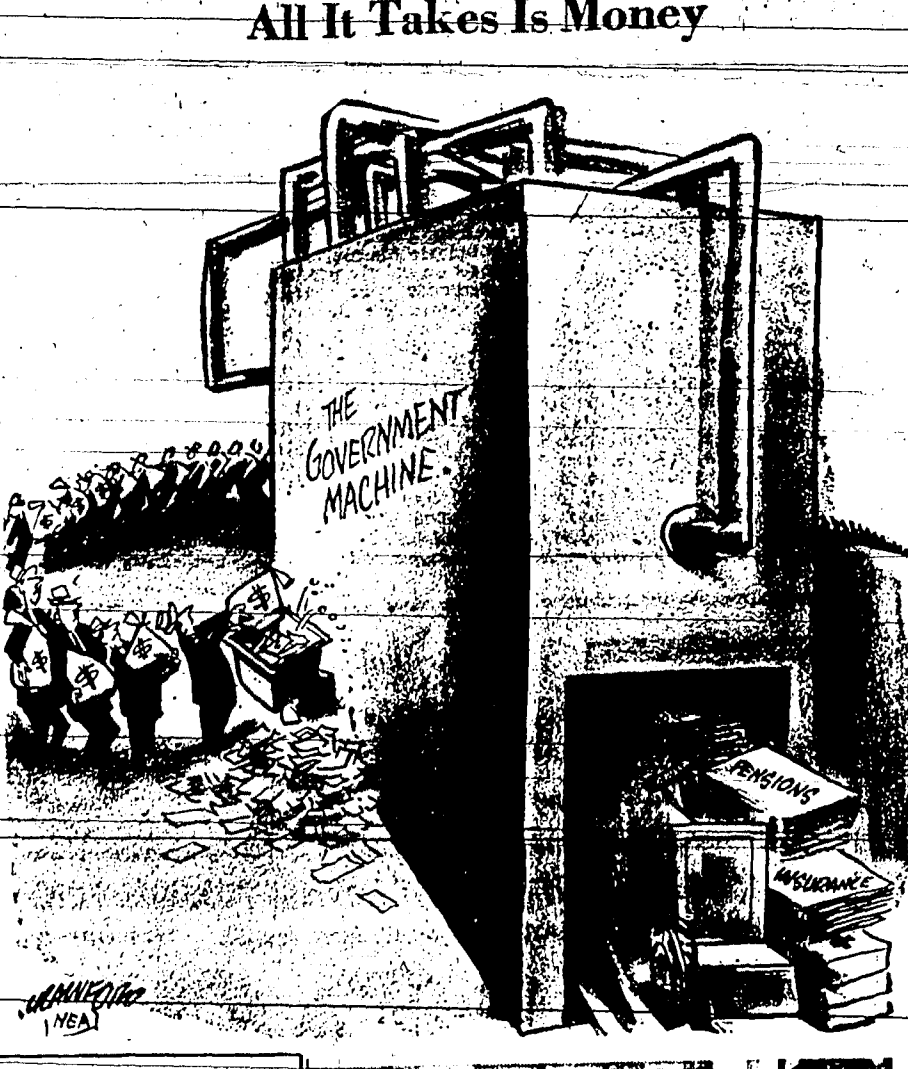

Yet the thirsty Californians and Arizonans ought at least to explain to us northerners why they expect to divert 15 million acre-feet (three times the potential storage of the yet unbuilt Libby Dam) from the Columbia without doing violence to the treaty for maximum utilization of the Columbia's flow for power, flood control, navigation, the fishery and other purposes.

The Congress has committed itself to payment of $6.4 billion to Canada for flood control over the 60-year treaty period. Regional private and public power utilities have paid British Columbia $254 million to build three dams. The province is to get 50 per cent of the power increase in the U.S. Columbia resulting from Canadian storage, or its equivalent in dollars. Optimum use of this storage is required by the treaty. Bypassing of water at main-stem Columbia River projects in the United States is held to be conclusive evidence of non-use of Canadian storage.

The U.S.-Canadian treaty is full of fine-print items the Southwesterners should bone up on before they make such untempered claims on Columbia water. Basic in the treaty is that all Canadian storage shall be used for maximum power production and flood control. Any diversions incompatible with this principle would detract from Canada's money-share of the benefits, but would be at the cost of the U.S. government and utilities.

The lower Colorado River Project's plan to divert the Columbia needs a lot more study before any association is entitled to make the bald statement that 15 million acre-feet a year "must" come from the great river of the north.—The Oregonian.

Nearly every night, I spend hours just tossing and turning. Or perhaps I try counting sheep and I've gone through the routine of smoking a cigarette, sitting up to read and drinking a glass of warm milk. All the tried and true cures have failed with me.

The prickly heat season is here. This disease is especially common in infants when the weather is hot and sticky. It need not occur, however, if you avoid putting too much clothing on your baby in the daytime and too many blankets at night. If you do overdress your baby the openings of his sweat glands will become plugged and inflamed.

This is prickly heat. Any area of his body may be affected but the neck, shoulders and chest are especially vulnerable. Since the salt in his sweat aggravates this condition, you should keep your baby's skin clean and dry in hot weather. Don't be afraid to remove his clothes.

All It Takes Is Money

Washington News

By LYLE WILSON
(United Press International)

Editor James J. Kilpatrick of the Richmond Va. News Leader faults the U.S. Senate for voting again for home rule in the District of Columbia without spreading on the record of debate the uneasy racial aspects of the proposal.

House action on home rule for the nation's capital is up next. It is likely one or more angry white supremacists in the Senate will raise the race issue in connection with D.C. home rule. But there was not in the Senate nor is there likely to be in the House a calmly respectable consideration of several startling facts of which most Americans are unaware.

These facts are that Negroes in the District of Columbia outnumber whites by about 75,000, that the public schools are about 85 per cent Negro and that the home rule setup as proposed probably would establish a Negro government in Washington, D.C. On the U.S. Senate floor and in committee there was a disposition to brush such facts under the rug. Supporters of home rule for Washington suggested during Senate committee hearings that some of the opposition to home rule was based on racial considerations.

Home rule opponents generally denied in tones of shocked indignation that they were not at all swayed by racial considerations. But anyone familiar with the district by reason of long residence would know the out-numbered white community is divided on the matter of home rule. This division extends to members of Congress other than the fire-breathing segregationists from Southern states. Race and fear of a Negro government in Washington are the basis of division among the outnumbered whites.

The congressional segregationists on half a dozen occasions have prevented the House passing a home rule bill that already had Senate approval. They could not accomplish this alone, however. The House segregationists needed help and they got it.

It will not be easy in this year of civil rights for members of the House to oppose home rule in the nation's capital. American Negroes are coming to realize their power as voters. They can and probably will penalize a great many congressmen who dare to vote against home rule.

Therefore, it seems possible Congress will enact home rule this year for the nation's capital and that there will be a Negro dominated government in Washington, D.C. Such a development would be good or bad, according to the prejudices of the individual.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration recommended no civil rights legislation — and Congress enacted none — but in 1941 he did crack down a bit on discrimination by companies and unions doing government work.

The change began in 1946 when President Harry S. Truman created a committee on civil rights to see how protections for Negroes could be improved. In 1948 the committee proposed laws against discrimination in voting, among other things.

In the 1948 presidential campaign Truman promised civil rights legislation. If he won, he did and tried to make good in 1949 but Southern senators filibustered his civil rights bill to death.

He also ordered equality of treatment in the armed forces. This took time. And it wasn't until 1962 that the Defense Department called for abolition of all-white and all-Negro units in the reserves.
The great watershed in civil rights came on May 17, 1954 when the Supreme Court, overturning the 1896 ruling, banned segregation in public schools and declared segregation unconstitutional.
The court has followed a straight line ever since in wiping out segregation.
But it wasn't until the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1957 that Congress passed a civil rights act, the first since 1875.
It was mild, with delay and frustration built into it. It created a Civil Rights Commission permanently and, among other things, sought to protect Negro voting rights.
Under a 19th century law a players would content them-

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Secretary of State Dean Rusk's long 10-month attempt to persuade the U.S.S.R. to reconvene the Geneva disarmament conference is enough to discourage any man of good will.

This writer has had some experience with Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin. He is a mouse with cobra emotions, ideally chosen for the Geneva job. For he extorts well the only interest the Kremlin has in this 17-nation meeting: the use of the platform for propaganda.

Because French President Charles de Gaulle boycotted the meeting and Red China is absent, only three of the five nuclear powers are present to talk about anything at all.

As early as 1961 President Kennedy predicted that perhaps 10 or 15 nations could possess nuclear weapons within about 10 years. But the Russians take an entirely different slant, and this is the principle we must grasp.

In Russian, mekh dvukh ognef means "caught between two stones." This is the purpose of Soviet foreign policy applied against the United States; do as we say, or else, or else, or else.

A hot war is a struggle where physical forces predominate. Naturally, these forces are mutually self-defeating in an atomic exchange. The Russians do not want all-out war and do not intend to have it. But they also do not want all-out peace.

The resulting cold war is a clash where diplomatic skill and psychological factors predominate. This lets them turn their vast atomic costs into nuclear diplomacy. And they've absolutely no intention of surrendering this carefully thought-out tool at Geneva or anywhere else.

Moreover, in atomic discussions in Geneva, of which there were 304 sessions across a period of 34 months, I found it evident that they were as prepared to apply the tool to Red China as to us.

Thus the Kremlin's nuclear diplomacy strives to make more certain every day Russia's victory in the cold war while the destructiveness of the H-bomb makes an all-out war less and less likely.

The Soviet nuclear diplomacy literacy tests used to prevent Negro voting. This was made part of the 1965 act, too. Meanwhile, in 1964 Congress approved its third civil rights law. This tried to improve on the 1960 act by narrowing down the way in which Southern registrars could use literacy tests to prevent Negro voting. Still slow.

President Johnson asked Congress in person for still another and better civil rights act last March after the nation was shocked by the treatment given Negro demonstrators in Selma, Ala., by State Police and a local posse.

The House finally approved it Tuesday, the Senate Wednesday. And now it goes to Johnson to be signed into law. It's the strongest of all the voting acts. It would suspend the use of literacy tests in much of the South and let the federal government take over the registration of voters where less than 50 per cent of the voting age population voted in 1964. This affects the South most.

While Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach this year explained to Congress why this new act was needed, he said at previous procedures through the lower courts were too slow, and with plenty of ways left to dodge a court order.

Bridge by Jacoby

What does a bridge player mean when he says, "We were fixed?"
The expression is used by a duplicate player to describe a hand on which he and his partner received a bad score through no fault of their own. Sometimes a fix results from elves with a bid of game and that there just might be a strategy.

Anyways, South saw no danger in bidding three hearts to see what his partner would do. He knew that his partner would not pass since his partner was a good player and good players treat a bid of a new suit after a suit has been raised as a one round force.
South expected that his partner would merely bid three spades in which case South would bid game and hope that his call would stop a heart lead, but North jumped to four spades.
Now South pursued his bid by asking for aces and bid by the slam.
The slam was a laydown since North held perfect cards, including the right doubleton. South had to lose one heart, but could ruff his third heart with dummy.
South had his top score. Poor East and West had been fixed.

Yacht Towed Into France For Probe

MARSEILLE, France (AP)—A yacht found abandoned in the Mediterranean was towed into Marseille today where maritime authorities probed for some reason. The yacht was sighted Sunday afternoon by officers of a Swedish ship. They ordered a search of the yacht when they saw it drifting aimlessly off the Balearic Islands. Officers who boarded found personal baggage and fuel in reserve tanks but no sign of crew or passengers. The Swedish officers reported by radio the yacht apparently belonged to the Belgian Yacht Club. It could accommodate four or six persons. The Swedish officers reported.

Two smoke jumpers were sent into Nezperce. Only two of the fires reported were larger than one-quarter acre. Those were classified as between one-quarter and 10 acres and were in the Helena and Beaverhead forests.

Court Rules State Law to Be Reversed

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI)—The Wyoming Supreme Court ruled today that a portion of a two-year-old state law relating to mental hearings is unconstitutional. The court in a unanimous opinion delivered by Justice John J. McIntyre held that a sentence in a law enacted by the 1963 Legislature saying evidence that may be offered in court hearings relating to mental illness need not be bound by the rules of evidence is unconstitutional. The court acted in the case of Carl W. Holm, who had appealed from a Sheridan District Court ruling ordering Holm hospitalized under provisions of state law covering treatment of mentally ill persons. The court ordered the decision reversed and remanded to the district court for a new trial.

Coal Power Needed in South Dakota

SPOKANE (AP)—Coal-powered generating plants are helping supply electrical power to South Dakota because hydroelectric power produced by Missouri River dams is insufficient, an electric power official said here Monday. Virgil T. Hanlon, manager of a power cooperative in Madison, S. D., made that observation as a group of 32 electric power officials from his state began an 800-mile tour of the Bonneville Power Administration system on the Columbia River. Hanlon said thermal power produced by lignite coal from North Dakota is as cheap as hydroelectric power in the Dakotas. The first thermal plant is to open next month, generating 200,000 kilowatts.

Tour Scheduled

ROME (AP)—The office of Italy's President Giuseppe Saragat announced he will officially visit five South American countries—Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile and Venezuela—Sept. 10-23 and will make an unofficial stopover in Peru.

Former Resident Finds Cheerleader Has Clothing Problems, Many Worries

(Editor's Note: The following story by a former resident of Twin Falls outlines the trials and tribulations of the parent of a high school cheerleader. Bob Leeright tells about his daughter, Robin, who was born in Twin Falls while Leeright was Magic Valley editor of the Times-News.)
By BOB LEERIGHT
CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—A high school football player wears 20 pounds of protective equipment—and causes his parents about 10,000 worries a season. But have you heard about the clothing problems and worries caused by a high school cheerleader?
Troubles began in our household years ago when youngest daughter, Robin, won the cheerleading tryouts at Carey Junior High. It was a bright day in her life—but the start of gloomy ones for mama and papa. First came the bill for pretty gold and black uniforms, gold and black megaphones—and gold and black everything else. The parents worked out a deal to swap transportation on out-of-town trips. Unfortunately I drew the trip to Laramie, some 50 miles distant. This meant eight teenage girls jammed into a station wagon; yelling, screaming and singing all the way.
After the game, Robin cooed: "Daddy, please get hamburgers and milk shakes for the whole gang."

But the next year she wasn't a cheerleader. She'd moved up to high school where the sophomore girls are pompon girls.
So papa shelled out again for black, blue and white pompon uniforms and pompons.
It was another year of the same—out-of-town trips with shrieking, screaming girls; mustard and catsup dripping out of hamburgers.
My hat goes off to one mother, though. By some miracle Cheyenne East made it to the state basketball tournament. She chaperoned the six pompon girls through four days and nights of a basketball tournament.
Robin was picked as a junior varsity cheerleader her junior year. Here's where I learned another lesson. The pretty black and blue pompon uniform just wasn't suitable for a junior varsity cheerleader. It meant another set of uniforms for the whole crew. And more trips, screaming girls, mustard and hamburgers.
Now she is a senior. I lost again last spring. Robin was elected to the varsity cheerleading team. And here came another lesson. Varsity cheerleaders just can't be seen in the same uniform for football as for basketball. So, already it's cost a couple weeks' paychecks for a basketball cheer-leading uniform, a football cheer-leading uniform and, believe it or not, a traveling uniform.

Virtually the same girls have been on the cheer-leading team since junior high, but they still need to practice. Each has a summer job, so they found only one convenient time to meet. They came to our house every morning. At 6 a.m. I am awakened with a "Six boom bah, East High, East High, Rah Rah Rah!"

Mining Town In Colorado To Be Sold

CREEDE, Colo. (AP) — Creede, onetime gold mine bonanza town high up in southwestern Colorado's rugged San Juan mountains is about to be sold—at least a big chunk of it.

The sale, by the Colorado Board of Land Commissioners, is to clear up a land ownership muddle that has existed for at least 30 years — ever since the courthouse went up in flames, and the land records burned with it.

Creede isn't what it was 70 years ago when it was a boom town of 15,000; when Bob Ford, slayer of Jesse James, was shot to death there, and confidence man Soapy Smith made it his base of operations.

Then it was a roaring city of tough, hardrock miners, gamblers, girls and gay saloons.

Today, the town has about 350 permanent residents. It attracts visitors chiefly interested in fishing or skiing.

Commissioner Wesley Woodward of the land board says that for years he has been trying to unscramble the muddle of who owns what land in Creede, particularly in the southern part of the community.

Anyway, in mid-August the state will sell quickclaim deeds to 219 lots and a 10-acre hill. But it won't think of buying an old gold mine and heading for the Rockies with pickax and mule, don't. The state reserves mineral rights at these sales.

Chess Match To Be Played By Telephone

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. chess champion Bobby Fischer, who can't get government permission to go to Cuba for an international tournament, will participate anyway — by telephone.

The State Department rejected his travel bid on grounds he didn't meet any of the classifications for Americans allowed to visit Cuba.

His attorney, Andrew P. Davis, then took a chess enthusiast's suggestion and proposed the play-by-phone idea to the 22-year-old champion.

"Sure, I would be willing," said Fischer. "It's an interesting idea. Let's see if we can do it."

So Davis talked with officials of the Capablanca Memorial Tournament in Havana and they agreed.

The tournament runs from Aug. 25 to Sept. 25 and Fischer will make his moves at the Marshall Chess Club in New York. A referee will watch his play.

Wanderer

MADERA, Calif. (AP) — Madera sewer system officials are pretty sure that Andy, a sluggish, 6½-foot-long anaconda, is roaming the city's sewers.

The snake was last seen soaking in a bathtub at the Floyd Feaver home — Andy's home. Andy vanished. Feaver figured Andy got itchy scales — and wiggled down the toilet.

Public works officials say that if Andy really is in the sewers it is likely he'll return to civilization via someone's toilet.

Simplot Begins Processing

HEYBURN — The J.R. Simplot Heyburn operations began its processing season this week, announced Bill Daniels, personnel manager.

All three plants here are in operation with the processing of potatoes from the Grandview area. The unit started this season with 450 employees.

Daniels noted this is the earliest time of the summer the plant has begun their processing season, but said there was no particular reason for it. He reports the company is anticipating a full run this season.

Tax Service Notes Use of Spy Devices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., said Sunday night the Internal Revenue Service has acknowledged it "bugged" conference rooms in cities from coast to coast, using hidden recording devices and two-way, see-through mirrors.

Long heads a Senate Judiciary subcommittee conducting a critical investigation of what he calls "snooping" practices by various federal agencies.

He has denounced many of the investigative practices, saying they involve unwarranted invasions of privacy not necessary in the solution of suspected crimes.

Long said in a statement that Internal Revenue Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen has sent him a letter "divulging a new and extended list of cities in which IRS had bugged conference rooms. The list indicates there are 10 cities with two-way mirrors and 22 cities with concealed microphones."

Horse Races In Jerome Set For Thursday

JEROME — Jerome County's 1965 parimutuel horse racing season starts next week with 10 big races each evening starting Thursday and ending Sunday, according to Jerome County Recreation Association President Tom Prescott.

The Jerome County Fairgrounds boasts the only lighted track in southern Idaho and post time is 7 p.m.

Featured during the four-day pari-mutuel race meet will be the region's top Thoroughbreds, Appaloosas and Quarter horses.

Profits from the race meet will be used to pay for improvements made in connection with the county's racing program.

Spectators jammed the fairgrounds last year in the county's first parimutuel race meet and this year officials are also predicting a capacity crowd.

Next week's event is sponsored by the Jerome County Recreation Association.

Parimutuel racing is also scheduled Aug. 25-28 at the fairgrounds sponsored by the fair board.

Fire Burns Hay

RICHFIELD — A fire at the LaRae Brown Ranch Saturday morning destroyed a stack of baled hay and two sheds before voluntary firemen could bring it under control.

The men used pumps in irrigation ditches to fight the fire and keep it from spreading to the house and nearby buildings.

Mrs. Brown smelled smoke and discovered the fire about 11 a.m. The Richfield fire siren was blown, but the village fire truck could not leave the city limits to give aid.

T. F. Girl Injured In Area Accident

Pamela Ann Sharp, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel M. Sharp, 607 Pierce St., was reported in good condition Monday morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where she is undergoing treatment for facial cuts and lacerations she received in a one-car accident about 12:55 p.m. Sunday on Pole Line Road about three miles northwest of Twin Falls.

Miss Sharp told investigating officers her head was hurting before the accident and that she remembered feeling faint, but remembered nothing until after the accident. The 1955 Chevrolet she was driving missed a curve and went off the road, shattering the windshield and damaging the front end.

YOUTH DIES

CALDWELL (AP) — A Nampa youth died Monday of injuries received in a collision between his motorbike and a truck.

The death increased Idaho's traffic toll for the year to 156, fifteen more than were killed in the corresponding period last year.

Officers identified the victim as Clark J. Skidmore, 17, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Skidmore, Nampa. Authorities said the motorbike he was riding hit the rear of a truck driven by Calvin Pease, 63, Caldwell.

The accident occurred Wednesday in Caldwell.

Proposed River Preservation Bill Outlined

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief sponsor of a bill to preserve stretches of some of the nation's more picturesque rivers in a national system of wild rivers, in as near their natural state as possible, is hopeful of Senate passage of the measure this year.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, author of the bill and chairman of a Senate interior subcommittee handling it, outlined objectives of the bill in an interview that went like this:

Question: What would the bill do?

Answer: Its purpose is to preserve certain segments of our most beautiful rivers in their original free-flowing state — to assure that scenic, sport and recreational values will not be lost to future generations of Americans' tremendous economic and population pressures have ruined many of our magnificent rivers, and we must — as President Johnson noted in his natural beauty message — act soon if we are to save some of them.

Q. How would the rivers be preserved?

A. Restrictions would ban the construction of dams and preserve the natural or pastoral character of the river banks. The construction of commercial facilities next to the rivers would be prohibited.

Q. What rivers would be placed in the system and what would be studied for possible inclusion later?

A. Those rivers which would be wholly or partially included in the system by the present bill are the Salmon, Middle Fork of the Clearwater and its tributaries, the Lochsa and Selway, all in Idaho; the Rogue in Oregon; the Rio Grande in New Mexico; the Suwanee in Georgia and Florida and the Green River in Wyoming.

Rivers scheduled for study as potential additions to the system include segments of the Buffalo in Tennessee, Cacapon in West Virginia, Hudson in New York, Missouri in Montana, Niobrara in Nebraska, Skagit in Washington, Susquehanna in New York and Pennsylvania.

Wolf in Wisconsin, and Eleven Point in Missouri.

Q. How were these rivers selected?

A. In 1963 the department of interior and agriculture initiated a study which revealed that of 100,000 miles of rivers and tributaries in the nation only a few might still be classified as "wild" or relatively unspoiled. The special study team recommended establishment of a system of wild rivers under either state or federal administration. It also made initial identification of 73 rivers which still had some wild characteristics. This group was winnowed down and those in the bill finally selected.

Q. Your subcommittee held hearings here and in the West. Please comment on testimony for or against the proposal.

A. Testimony in Wyoming was weighted against inclusion of the Green River, in the bill, while testimony in Idaho was more in favor than against including the Idaho rivers. A number of Wyoming witnesses voiced fears that establishment of the wild river would mean the loss of a potential damsite.

Q. Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo.,

has asked that the Green River be transferred to the study section and not be included in the first group. Why?

A. If the Green River is removed from the group of rivers to be originally included in the system and placed in the group for further study, it will be because Senator McGee wants to make sure that the wild river designation will not leave Wyoming without a storage site needed to hold her water entitlement under an interstate compact. Idaho has no such problem.

Q. What are the chances that Congress will approve your bill, and when?

A. I hope that the Senate Interior Committee will report the bill some time this month and that the Senate will act to send it to the House before adjournment. This is as much as we could hope to accomplish this year.

Woman, Pilot Unhurt as Jet Crashes

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — An F100 National Guard fighter plane exploded and crashed into a suburban St. Louis home, demolishing an attached garage and ripping a 10-foot hole in the brick home.

The pilot, Lt. Frederick Moore of the Air National Guard's 131st Tactical Fighter Command, bailed out safely before the crash.

Mrs. Robert Crowder, 65, the only occupant of the home at the time, escaped serious injury. She was taken to St. Louis County Hospital for X-rays and examination.

The plane took off from near Lambert Field only minutes before the crash.

Mrs. Glenn James, who lives near Mrs. Crowder in one of four homes along a man-made lake in suburban Carrollton said she heard an explosion and then saw the plane strike a hillside along the lake.

"There was terrific fire. Then a loud boom and clouds of black smoke," she said.

The flaming plane bounced off the hillside. Its engine tore loose from the fuselage and struck the garage, setting it afire.

Other sections of the plane tore a gaping hole in the $35,000 brick home.

Reds Take Advantage of U.S. Operations in Viet Nam War

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong agents have moved rapidly and astutely to take advantage of the burned homes and civilian casualties caused by U.S. Marine and Air Force operations south of Da Nang, well informed military sources said today.

They said some military circles believe the Communist drive to undermine politically the American position around this strategic air base is gaining momentum.

Senior Viet Cong leaders have moved into villages in the densely populated area south of the base. They tell the peasants they are from the Viet Minh, Ho Chi Minh's army which destroyed French power in Indochina and won the peninsula its independence. The Viet Minh is still respected by many older Vietnamese who are not Communists.

The Communist propaganda line now is that the Americans have replaced the French and are trying to take over the country in a new war against the Vietnamese people. It claims this is proven by recent operations south of the base.

During the past week Marines killed at least five civilians in one operation. About 100 homes were destroyed in another by Marines. The Marines had received sniper fire from both villages.

Marine artillery and U.S. Air Force and Marine planes also have blasted villages the Viet Cong were using as bases from which to harass Marine patrols and outposts. A number of buildings were destroyed and some civilian casualties were reported.

The Viet Cong reportedly have tightened their discipline to prevent friction with villagers. They are said to be paying for all food and going out of their way to aid villagers caught in recent Marine operations. In some areas the guerrillas reportedly have put down their rifles long enough to help rebuild destroyed bamboo and thatch huts.

Glamour Kit Is Needed to Aid Career Girls

By ALICIA HART

The possibility of a rewarding chance encounter at lunchtime or a date after work keeps a career girl on her toes.

The one who is going places reports for work each day well-groomed, as though she were impressing a date or having tea with the girls. Her boss enjoys looking at her all day when she is neat and wears a smile.

Her grooming fits into an office image of efficiency, employers reveal. Such daytime grooming awareness spills over into her social life after five.

Even the married career woman doesn't slack on her out-of-the-office appearance, although she may be going home to "take" the kitchen range instead of dining in her favorite restaurant.

How do you keep up such a front? The secret is a so-called glamor kit. A small, empty candy box or inexpensive transparent plastic tray with compartments keeps priming supplies neatly in a desk-drawer.

High school girls may find such a kit convenient when kept in their lockers. It helps lighten the load in a handbag, too.

Miss Jacobs was graduated from Kimberly High School and attended the University of Idaho.

Laughlin, a graduate of Kimberly High School, attended the University of Washington, Seattle, and Washington State University, Pullman. He is employed at Lektronix, Inc., Portland, Ore. Both will enroll at Portland State College this fall.

A Sept. 3 wedding is planned.

Utah Boy, 14, Found After Being Lost

COALVILLE, Utah (AP) — Young David Tischner, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Delaun Tischner of Holladay, was found today after becoming lost in the rugged Chaik Creek area 25 miles east of Coalville Saturday.

He was found by the Summit County Jeep Posse Sunday morning and told rescuers he "got kind of mixed up" trying to rendezvous with his fishing partner.

So when it got dark, he curled up and went to sleep. "There was nothing else to do," he explained.

He said he heard a lot of strange noises during the night and saw a deer and a moose. The only thing he didn't get was what he and his dad were after — fish.

Registrars Are Sought By NAACP

BARNWELL, S.C. (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced Sunday that the Justice Department has been petitioned to send federal voting registrars to Barnwell.

The Rev. I. Dequincey Newman, South Carolina field secretary for the NAACP, said the request was made by 34 Negroes whom he said were turned away by Barnwell registrars Saturday on grounds of illiteracy.

The Rev. Mr. Newman pointed out that the new Voting Rights Act suspends literacy tests in states in which less than 50 per cent of the adult population voted last year. The law primarily affects Southern states.

The law also provides for use of federal officials to register voters.

Barnwell was one of three counties in which the registration books were open Saturday. The others were Newberry and Richland Counties.

Upon recommendation of South Carolina Atty. Gen. Daniel R. McLeod literacy tests were suspended Saturday in Richland and Newberry Counties.

Mr. Nick Martin, a Barnwell registrar, said no such recommendation was made to her by the attorney general.

Theories Concerning Soviet Union's Return to Arms Meet Are Reported

GENEVA (AP) — Why has the Soviet Union returned to the 17-nation disarmament conference after 10 months?

Western diplomats have been asking this question ever since the Russians accepted early last month President Johnson's appeal for a resumption of the talks.

Since his return to Geneva, Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin has made no attempt to produce any new initiative.

He rejected out of hand a British-sponsored treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons even before the West itself agreed on a final draft to put before the conference.

Tsarapkin has spent far more time attacking the West than talking about disarmament measures. Talk of "American aggression and imperialism" has reappeared. The only difference from the speeches he was making two years ago is that Viet Nam has now taken the place of Cuba.

A close second on the Soviet target list are "the West German revanchists" who have faced familiar charges of desperately seeking to get hold of nuclear weapons and seeing the Western Multilateral Nuclear Force — MFL — as a good way of doing so.

"Not only have the Russians brought no new proposals, they have rejected every current Western proposal on disarmament and arms control," chief U.S. negotiator William C. Foster told newsmen after one anti-West blast from Tsarapkin.

So why did the Russians come back? Four theories are put forward by diplomats:

1. The Russians knew the West was not ready with its nonproliferation treaty and agreed to a resumption to embarrass the Western allies. To a certain extent this has happened. Differences of approach over the treaty have been caught in the glare of publicity.

2. The Soviet Union saw the disarmament conference as a forum in which to exploit the United States position in Viet Nam.

3. The Russians have come with the intention of signing a nondissemination treaty.

4. The Russians share President Johnson's concern over the dangers of proliferation and are anxious to keep the lines of contact between East and West open, although not yet prepared to enter into serious negotiations.

The fourth theory is the most popular. Several senior American delegates believe that while having to take the toughest possible line over Viet Nam and the Western nuclear force, the Russians are anxious to keep up contact with the West on disarmament.

The world is approaching a stage where a number of potential nuclear powers will have to make the vital political choice whether to acquire nuclear weapons. A nonproliferation agreement might tend to restrict the membership of the nuclear club to five countries as at present.

The Russians know that if they overplay their hand in trying to block a Western nuclear force they face the possibility that West Germany may make its own nuclear weapons. The real answer to the question will probably not be found until the conference breaks up in mid-September to report to the annual assembly of the United Nations in New York.

Drive Begins In Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Border police Monday began an intensified drive against terrorists in northeast Thailand after a gun battle in which one policeman was killed and two others wounded.

The police skirmished with about 15 terrorists Sunday in a jungle region of Nakorn Phanom Province, directly across the Mekong River from Laos, police said.

One terrorist was killed and a pile of Communist literature was captured.

Approval Asked

Under the agreement, Poland agreed to pay to the United States $40 million in settlement of all claims against the Polish government for the nationalization or seizure of properties.

Westerners Outnumbered, But Will Fight for Silver

WASHINGTON (AP) — Westerners are in the minority on the new coinage commission, but they promised today to fight for silver coins and mining.

Only four of the 16 members of the commission, formed to advise the president and Congress on coinage matters, are from the silver-producing Rocky Mountain region.

They are Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., and Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, and Rep. James F. Battin, R-Mont.

The commission was created under a law which eliminates silver from dimes and quarters and cuts its content in half dollars. Most members of Congress from silver mining states opposed the provision.

Although outnumbered, Bible said the Westerners "must take a determined part in the work of the commission and its guiding voice in coinage and silver policies over these next few critical years."

Bible said he would urge the Treasury Department to take immediate steps to stop the melting, exporting and bank vault hoarding of silver coins.

Bible said he would seek to convince his colleagues that the silver coinage system should be protected and federal restraints on the price of silver should be lifted. These two moves, he added, would ease both coin and silver shortages.

Dominick said he also would recommend the lifting of the price ceiling which "would result in a vast resurgence in the silver mining industry."

He said one duty of the commission will be to determine the availability of metals for old and new coinage, including silver, and to look into the feasibility of minting new silver dollars.

Dominick said he would try possibly to take away the artificial ceiling price that the Treasury has been holding on silver.

"As soon as the transition is over I look forward to the time when the commission will recommend the release of silver from the ceiling price, and at the time when silver will be allowed to seek its own market price based on supply and demand."

Taylor Sees No Need to Bomb Hanoi

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former ambassador to South Viet Nam, said Sunday "we don't need to bomb Hanoi."

Taylor was asked during the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press" whether the United States can win the war in South Viet Nam without bombing Hanoi, seat of Communist leadership in North Viet Nam.

"As a matter of fact, we don't," Taylor began, and then paused. "I wouldn't think we would want to bomb Hanoi. I think we need the leadership in Hanoi to be intact to make those essential decisions we hope they will make at some time."

Presumably the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff was referring to negotiations which the United States has sought in efforts to end the Vietnamese War.

Taylor was then asked: "Then our aim is to fight this war without bombing Hanoi?"

"I would not make that statement," he replied.

Pope Paul Appeals for Weapons Ban

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Paul VI on Sunday described the atomic bombing of Hiroshima as an "infernal massacre" and an "outrage against civilization. He appealed once more for a total worldwide ban on nuclear weapons.

The pontiff's appeal for an end to "dishonorable weapons" came during his usual Sunday noon appearance on the balcony of the apostolic summer residence in this Alban Hills town, south of Rome.

Speaking two days after the 20th anniversary of the World War II atomic bombing of Hiroshima by the United States, the Pope told more than 10,000 tourists and Italians in the square beneath his balcony: "We pray that the world may never again see such a wretched day as that of Hiroshima; that never again may men put their confidence, their calculation and their prestige into such disastrous and dishonorable weapons."

The pontiff said he hoped the Hiroshima bomb had not "impaird forever the honor of science."

1,000 Acres Burned on Utah Peak

Lead fire d17
WENDOVER, Utah (AP) — Fire broke out on the north and northeast sides of rugged Pilot Peak north of Wendover Sunday and had burned an estimated 1,000 acres by early today.

A crew of 100 Shoshon Indians was being brought in from Pocatello, Idaho, to help control the blaze, burning grass and timber.

The Bureau of Land Management fire headquarters in Elko, Nev., said the fire was at about the 8,000- and 9,000-foot levels of the 10,704-foot mountain, which thrusts out of the North-west Nevada desert near the Utah-Nevada border.

The peak is about 20 miles north of Wendover, on the state line and at the western edge of Utah's Bonneville Salt Flats, site of world record auto speed runs.

Bureau officials presumed the fire was man-caused since there had been no lightning in the area for several days.

Death Ship Heads for Port In Florida After Incidents

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The death ship Seven Seas, stained by the blood of her captain, first mate and two crewmen, battled rough currents today toward Key West, where investigators waited to hear the story of sudden violence that swept her decks.

Only one frightened crewman remained alive on board. He was one of eight aboard the 125-foot Panamanian flag vessel when she left Miami Saturday bound for a Tampa drydock.

Elvin Burywise, 25, said he saw the first mate shot to death in his bunk, the captain lying dead in a pool of blood on the bridge and that he believed two other crewmen were shot.

Only three bodies were found aboard. The Coast Guard speculated that the fourth was thrown overboard. The ship's 14-foot skiff was missing, along with the remaining three crewmen.

FBI agents, a U.S. marshal and Coast Guard investigators waited at the docks for the arrival of the Seven Seas under tow by the cutter Cape Shoalwater.

Murder on the high seas is a matter for the FBI. Mutiny comes under Coast Guard jurisdiction.

Lt. Paul R. Lewis, a Coast Guard pilot, was on his daily patrol in Cuban shipping lanes Sunday when he spotted the Seven Seas adrift.

"The ship looked seaworthy,"

Republican Eyes Hope On Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert L. Dole says "there still is a glimmer of hope" for a constitutional amendment which would permit states to appoint one house of their legislature on a basis other than population.

The Kansas Republican said Sunday bipartisan effort was made to get a House vote on the plan.

The Senate voted 59 to 39 in favor of such an amendment last week, but a two-thirds majority of the 100-man body was required for approval.

Novelist, 45, Dies at Home

NORTH BENNINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Novelist Shirley Jackson, 45, died at her home Sunday. Cause of death was not announced immediately.

Miss Jackson was the author of several novels, including "The Haunting of Hill House," "The Sundial," and "We Have Always Lived in the Castle."

Party Aide Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Victor J. Jerome, a leader of the Communist party in the United States, died Saturday of a brain tumor. He was 68. He was one of 13 party officials convicted in 1953 of conspiring to teach the overthrow of the U.S. government by violence. He was released from prison in 1957.

Lewis said, "but no one came to the deck to wave at us. I made many low passes but there were no signs of life."

Burywise, a Honduran, told Coast Guardsmen boarding the vessel that he saw a crewman shoot the first mate dead in his bunk Saturday night.

Terrified, he said he raced to the bridge to warn the captain and found him also shot to death. Then, fearing for his own life, he hid in a chain locker, where he heard other bursts of gunfire indicating two more men were shot.

When he emerged from his hiding place, Burywise said he found only the three bodies aboard the skiff, powered only by two oars, missing.

The Coast Guard declined to speculate on whether the Seven Seas had been racked by a mutiny. Names of the captain and crewmen were withheld, and little information was released on the interrogation of Burywise.

Five planes, two helicopters, four patrol boats and the cutter Diligence scoured the seas in the area of Elbow Cay in the Bahamas, searching for the missing skiff and its riders. The crewmen all were of Panamanian or Honduran nationality.

The Seven Seas, which hauls bananas from Mexican ports to Miami, was not carrying a cargo when she left for Tampa for repairs.

Utah People Start Letter To Aid Man

TOOELE, Utah (AP) — Townspeople of two Utah communities have started a letter-writing campaign to help an escaped murderer who lived among them unsuspected for 16 years.

Tilton James Hall, 59, arrived in Utah in May 1949. An employe of Western Pacific Railroad, Hall was known as Melvin J. Hurley in Grantsville and Wendover.

But last Monday night after a family spat, Hall confessed to sheriff's officers that he had escaped from the West Virginia Penitentiary in November 1948.

The residents of both communities, at first shocked by Hall's confession, are gathering signatures for letters to send to West Virginia authorities.

Raymond W. Geldmacher, a Grantsville store owner with whom Hall traded for 10 years, says, "everyone here feels the same way about him. No one around here was more honest than Hall. He should be paroled. Look how long he's gone straight."

No Grounds

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—The South Carolina Supreme Court has ruled that nagging is not physical cruelty and, therefore, not grounds for divorce. The ruling reversed a divorce decree granted in a Greenville County court.

A Greenville County man claimed in his suit that his wife's "unjustified jealousy and nagging grew so unreasonable that he was deprived of rest and sleep, and that such conduct amounted to physical cruelty within the meaning of our divorce statute."

DEAR PRESENT AND FUTURE PATRON OF CABLE VISION:

The "Fall" TV program schedule will include the greatest array of fine programs that this great entertainment industry has ever produced. All three networks, NBC, CBS, ABC, will be competing for your attention. Many of the programs will be produced in color, however, if you do not have a color receiver, your black and white TV set will give you a more vivid picture than from a black and white program.

Cable Vision offers you five channels from which to choose; Cable Vision offers you one exceptional advantage—VARIETY. We bring the entire TV world into your home. This VARIETY offers you all the programs from NBC, CBS and ABC. You decide what you want to watch and when you want to watch it. In addition to the three complete commercial network programs, Cable Vision brings you Educational TV which offers not only academic programs, but drama, symphony, historical and travel documentaries and many other fine presentations uninterrupted by commercials.

Cable Vision has been bringing you an excellent color signal whenever a good color signal has been transmitted. Now that many TV stations are improving their color transmission equipment, Cable Vision will bring you an even better color signal. If you have Cable Vision service, you will receive a good picture on color and black and white without any antenna investment. Antennas are not only expensive but require continual maintenance for best performance. In this area of sometimes severe winds, antennas can be dangerous to people and property.

We at Cable Vision would welcome any opportunity to talk with you. Please feel free to call us any time. Our phone number is 733-6230. Our only product is VARIETY and excellent TV reception without antenna expense.

Very truly yours,

RCA, up nearly a point, appeared headed for the top of the day's most-active list. Eastern Air Lines and Fairchild Camera also were very active. The averages, which had been up slightly in early trading, slipped into the minus column, depressed by losses of a point or so by Du Pont and General Electric. The motors eased after having been up a bit. General Motors was down about a half a point. Prices advanced in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Grain

CHICAGO (AP)—Demand was fairly brisk for wheat futures in the early afternoon today and gains ranged to well over a cent a bushel but all other commodities on the Board of Trade were weak. Brokers credited a good deal of the support for wheat to speculators, who, they said, may have been impressed by rather pessimistic reports about the crop in Europe. The grain has been consistently firm for more than a week on prospects of good export demand.

Theologian Notes Threat On Religion

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—A leading theologian said today religion is threatened by a secular revolution that reduces man rather than enlarges him.
Dean Samuel Miller of the Harvard Divinity School made the statement at a lecture opening the second International Ecumenical Conference today at Western Michigan University.
"Religion is ready boxed in by a vast and powerful adversary," Miller told his audience of clergy and laymen representing a wide range of faiths.
"It does not make any difference," he added, "whether we are optimistic or pessimistic—this is the real question whether we understand the situation correctly and can match its gravity with appropriate discipline and action."

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The business firms that made the most money last year are doing even better this year.
Twenty-eight U.S. corporations that made more than $100 million each in profits in 1964 have reported their earnings for the first half of 1965. And with only two exceptions their net income this year is running ahead of the like period last year. Their gains range from 5.3 to 41.5 per cent.
In addition there are at least three corporations which in 1964 fell below the $100 million profit mark that may make the grade this year, on the basis of showings in the first six months. Their first half profits top $50 million each.
Since corporations still turn over almost half of their gross earnings to the U.S. Treasury, despite the modest lowering in corporate income tax rates, this year's merry jingle in company tills should mean that the treasury will have raked in larger revenues than ever when the firms finally balance their books for the year.
First half net income of all corporations reporting so far is running 16 per cent ahead of a year ago.
Among the champion profit makers, the only two in the $100 million-plus club so far to report declines this year in first half earnings are Jersey Standard Oil and Du Pont chemical.
The oil giant had profits just above $1 billion for all 1964. In the first half of this year net earnings were $505 million, more than half of last year's total but 5.9 per cent lower than the $537 million that 1964's first six months produced. Price weakness in European and other markets is blamed for the dip in the first months of 1965.
Du Pont's six-month profit of $214 million this year was down 8.9 per cent over its $235 million of the first half last year. Credit for the decline is the loss of General Motors dividends after disposal of the motor stock under a court order following an antitrust suit. For all 1964 Du Pont made $471 million.
The rest of the giants reporting are all in the plus column. GM's first half profit of $1.27 billion was 12 per cent ahead of the year-ago figure and almost up to the $1.7 billion for the whole of 1964.
A.T.&T. made $860 million in the first half of this fiscal year, up 7.8 per cent. Ford Motor's $438 million this year was 35.2 per cent ahead of its 1964 first half.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Newton D. Zinder of E. F. Hutton and Co., says that technically the market seems to be in a far more advantageous position currently to move above the 890 level in the Dow-Jones industrial average than it was in either June or July.
Purcell, Graham and Co., says that over the longer-term the sharply contrasting action of growth stocks and cyclical stocks should become more marked.
Richard B. Doyle of Winslow, Cohn and Stetson Inc., says the market will probably plod ahead in a weary fashion until after Labor Day. Doyle says this is a most propitious time to pick, choose, and look for neglected values.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE
Q—After reading your continued statements that a family should have insurance and savings before investing in mutual funds or stock, I can't help but ask the following question: What field do you represent, insurance or investments?
You mention life insurance. But you don't tell people that the right kind is term insurance. I am enclosing an article which, if you need it, will inform you of the true facts about insurance.
A—First things first, I don't represent any "field." This column tries to touch all bases. As a result, some toes get stepped on.
And I certainly have mentioned term insurance here. But I will never be so silly as to hold it up as the only "right" kind of insurance. If you think it is, you're soft in the head.
Term insurance is straight insurance—protection, pure and simple.
When you buy term insurance on your life, in effect you gamble with an insurance company. If you die, the company pays off. If you don't die, the company wins its bet.
Term insurance does not build up cash surrender values, as other types of life insurance do. Term insurance is generally less expensive, especially for young people.
But other types of life insurance (the so-called permanent life policies) build up cash surrender values which can be drawn on for retirement and other purposes.
For many, many families, permanent life insurance represents the only real savings they have. For such families, permanent life insurance serves a need and is very "right."
I opened a margin account with a major brokerage firm some months ago. The broker sends me a "statement" showing the transactions in my account each month. But the statements do not show the interest rate the broker is charging me. Is this proper?
A—Yes—unfortunately for you and other people who buy stock on margin.
(For the benefit of all readers, let's point out that buying on margin is the process of putting up only part of the purchase price and borrowing the rest through the broker.)
Naturally the broker charges you interest on what you own. The interest charge (in dollars) normally shows up on your monthly statement. But the broker doesn't have to state the interest rate on those statements.
The interest rate you will be charged is stated on the margin agreement you sign when you open a margin account. You'll find it if your eyes are good enough to read the fine print.
And if you read the margin agreement carefully, you'll learn that the broker has the right to change that interest rate. He's likely to do that if his costs of borrowing money increase—or if you are not a particularly active customer.
Q—I leave the dividends paid on my life insurance policy with the insurance company, which pays interest on my dividends. How does the interest paid by the insurance company compare with the interest paid on savings accounts?
A—The answer comes in a short phrase—generally quite low.
(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Father, Son Have Quarrel; Both Die

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP)—Henry C. Fisher Sr., 40, and his son, Henry Jr., 16, got into a heated quarrel Sunday night about cutting the lawn.
The quarrel became so heated that Mrs. Fisher called police.
By the time the police arrived, however, both father and son were dead. Both had suffered apparent heart attacks.
The captain of detectives, Robert Hunt, said that the father and son were known to have cardiac conditions.
Hunt said that the son, a high school pupil, was the first to collapse.
The father went to the aid of his son, applying mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Then he collapsed and died, Hunt said.

China Says U.S. Hit Red Boats

TOKYO (AP)—Red China charged today that U.S. warships and military planes attacked Chinese Communist fishing vessels in its territorial waters twice in the last 22 days and that six fishermen and one vessel are missing.
The New China News Agency said in a broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, that the incidents occurred in the South China Sea southwest of Hainan Island. That would be in the 150-mile wide strip of the sea between the Chinese island and Communist North Viet Nam.

1932 Car Is Crushed for Tombstone

STRAITFORD, AVON, England (UPI)—Wreckers crushed a beautifully preserved 1932 automobile into a giant lump of metal Monday to serve as its owner's tombstone.
The owner, who wanted her name kept secret, had cared lovingly for the 1932 Austin and could not bear the thought of anyone else driving it.
"Everyone who saw it wanted to buy it," said a spokesman for the firm which crushed the car. "But the owner had given instructions for the car to be crushed. It was a horrible decision for her to have to make, but she had had the car for years and did not want anyone else to have it."
"The column of metal will stand in her garden until she dies. Then it will be moved to her grave as a headstone."
"It was a pity," the spokesman said. "It was heartbreaking to see the car go through the crusher."

Computerized System Urged For Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress was told Monday it should become computerized—at least a little bit.
A spokesman for the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants urged establishment of a modern congressional "information system" that would take advantage of computerized data processing.
Karney A. Brasfield, chairman of the CPA organization's committee on relations with the federal government, recommended that the first step should be establishment of a small staff operating under a joint committee.
He said the information system should embrace revenues, authorizations and expenditures.

Delegate to Crime Meet Is Picketed

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—The South African delegate to the third United Nations Anti-Crime Congress was picketed Monday by anti-segregation demonstrators. He walked into the meeting place and took a seat next to a Negro delegate.
A handful of teen-agers took up positions by the entrance to the building as the 1,000 delegates from 75 nations began arriving for the first meeting of the congress.
They waved integration placards attacking Maj. Gen. Johannes C. Steyn, chief of prisons for the government of South Africa. Premier Dr. Hendrik Verwoerd, Steyn endorsed the building through a side door.
The 24-member U.S. delegation to the congress is headed by Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall, former head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Nicklaus Holes 45-Foot Eagle Putt on 17th to Top Philadelphia Meet

WHITEMARSH, Pa. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus ramed home a 45-foot eagle putt on the 17th hole Sunday to break a four-way tie and win the $125,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic for the second straight year. He won by one stroke with an 11-under-par 72-hole total of 277. The 25-year-old Masters champion hit his drive into the woods behind some trees off the 17th tee, and the huge gallery figured this was the end for the Columbus strong boy. But he winged the next shot on to the green, past the cup to the fringe about 45 feet away.

Cubs Sweep Twin Bill Over Mets

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Williams' high fly ball safely between two New York outfielders in the tie-breaking run crossed the plate in a bizarre ninth-inning uprising that gave the Chicago Cubs a 14-10 victory over the skidding Mets and a sweep of their Sunday doubleheader.

The Cubs' six-run rally extended New York's losing streak to eight after Ernie Banks and Ed Bailey had combined to drive in all of the runs in a 7-6 first-game victory.

Bailey started the winning rally in the nightcap with a one-out walk. Ellis Burton singled and Joe Amalfitano looped a double into short right, scoring Bailey and cutting the Mets' lead to 10-9.

Glenn Beckert smashed a liner off the glove of third baseman Charlie Smith, who recovered the ball but made no attempt to throw out the latebreaking Burton as he scored the tying run.

Williams then popped into right center, but right fielder Gary Kolb and center fielder John Lewis let the ball drop. Amalfitano tallying the go-ahead run.

Two walks and a hit batsman, all with the bases loaded, forced in the final three runs.

Kraus-Led Angels Stop Cowboys' Rally for 9-8 Pioneer League Victory

IDAHO FALLS—A Magic Valley rally was stopped short in the ninth inning Sunday night as the Idaho Falls Angels, paced in the hitting department by catcher Jim Kraus, took a 9-8 Pioneer League victory. Jim Vincent had a big catch for the Cowboys in the ninth, knocking in Luis Diaz and Noel Finley with a homerun. Winning pitcher Robert Smithson, who came on in the second, got the next two out before walking Antonio Vargas. Vargas took second on a passed ball and stole third before Rene Dema took the mound and retired Al Dervin to end the rally.

Duck Production Is Increased This Year

BOISE—Plenty of water and lots of broods seen throughout southern Idaho during the current nesting season point to good duck production that will be better than normal years, the Idaho Fish and Game Department said Monday. Standardized brood route counts through major duck producing areas are the basis of the forecast by Elwood Bizeau, state bird supervisor. "Canada's breeding duck populations now in the prairie provinces appear below average even though water is abundant there this year," he commented. "However, the brood season is still in progress and no conclusive results on Canadian duck production is available now. Eighty per cent of the ducks shot every fall in the United States are hatched and raised in these provinces."

Mathews-Led Braves Drop Astros Twice

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Ed Mathews belted five hits, driving in seven runs, and Billy O'Dell turned in clutch relief performances as the Milwaukee Braves swept a Sunday doubleheader from Houston 8-5 and 8-3.

Mathews socked home runs 23 and 24 in the first game, driving in six runs, and added another RBI in the nightcap with a seventh-inning double.

O'Dell fanned Jim Gentile in crucial spots in both games, cutting off Houston rallies.

In the first game, the Astros were down 8-1, but they added three runs in the eighth in a rally sparked by home runs by Joe Morgan and Jim Wynn.

Gentile represented the tying run in the ninth inning after the Astros had scored one more run and put runners on first and second. O'Dell came on and got the game-ending strikeout.

In the nightcap the Braves grabbed a 4-0 lead with a two-out rally in the first inning that was helped by two Houston errors.

But again the Astros staged a comeback, drawing to within one-run after home runs by Gentile and Lee Maye. But in the fifth inning with runners on first and second and two out, O'Dell came in to relieve and again struck out Gentile.

Phillies Rally To Gain Split With Pirates

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tony Gonzalez ignited a three-run rally with a double in the second inning and cracked a third-inning homer, leading the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-2 victory over Pittsburgh and a split of their doubleheader Sunday.

The Pirates took the opener 7-1 behind the six-hit pitching of left-hander Bob Veale.

Bobby Wine doubled across the Phillies' first two runs in the nightcap after Gonzalez' double, a walk to Clay Dalrymple and a wild pitch by Pittsburgh starter Tommy Sick. Wine scored the third run on Rich Allen's triple.

Gonzalez unloaded his 10th homer in the third and Dick Stuart completed the Phils' scoring with his 20th homer in the sixth.

Paglioni's 13th homer ignited a three-run rally in the fifth inning, starting the Pirates on the way to their first-game victory. Robert Clemente singled in one run and Donn Clendenon's double delivered the third, helping Veale breeze to his 12th victory in 20 decisions.

Indians Top Sox, Second Game Called

CHICAGO (AP) — Chico Salmon's double with one out in the seventh inning triggered a five-run rally that carried the Cleveland Indians past the Chicago White Sox 6-4 Sunday in the first game of a doubleheader.

The second game was called because of rain in the first inning.

Salmon doubled down the left field line and scored on Chuck Hinton's single, snapping a 1-1 pitching deadlock between Sonny Siebert of the Indians and Chicago's Gary Peters.

Ricky Colavito greeted reliever Frank Lary with a run-scoring single and Pedro Gonzalez singled another run across before Joe Azcue's two-run single capped the rally.

The White Sox rallied for two runs in the inning on Don Buford's single, but Gary Bell ended the game by getting Pete Ward to hit into a force play with the bases loaded.

Clay Talking About Swedish Title Fight

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay is talking Saturday about the possibility of a title defense in Sweden—but local fans aren't sure whether it's a promise or a threat. Clay staged the first exhibition of his Swedish tour Friday and was met with loud boos and jeers from the crowd of 10,000 which turned out in chilly weather in an outdoor amusement park. Clay didn't even bother to take off his woolen sweater during two rounds of sparring and the fans let him know they didn't like it.

"Hooray Floyd Patterson . . . hooray Sonny Liston," they yelled while Clay plodded after sparring partners James Ellis and Cody Jones, throwing harmless punches with 12-ounce pillow-case gloves.

Clay explained that he was tired because of his long trip from the United States and promised to do better in future exhibitions.

Then he and trainer Angelo Dundee of Miami, Fla., discussed the possibility of a Clay title defense against Floyd Patterson in Sweden.

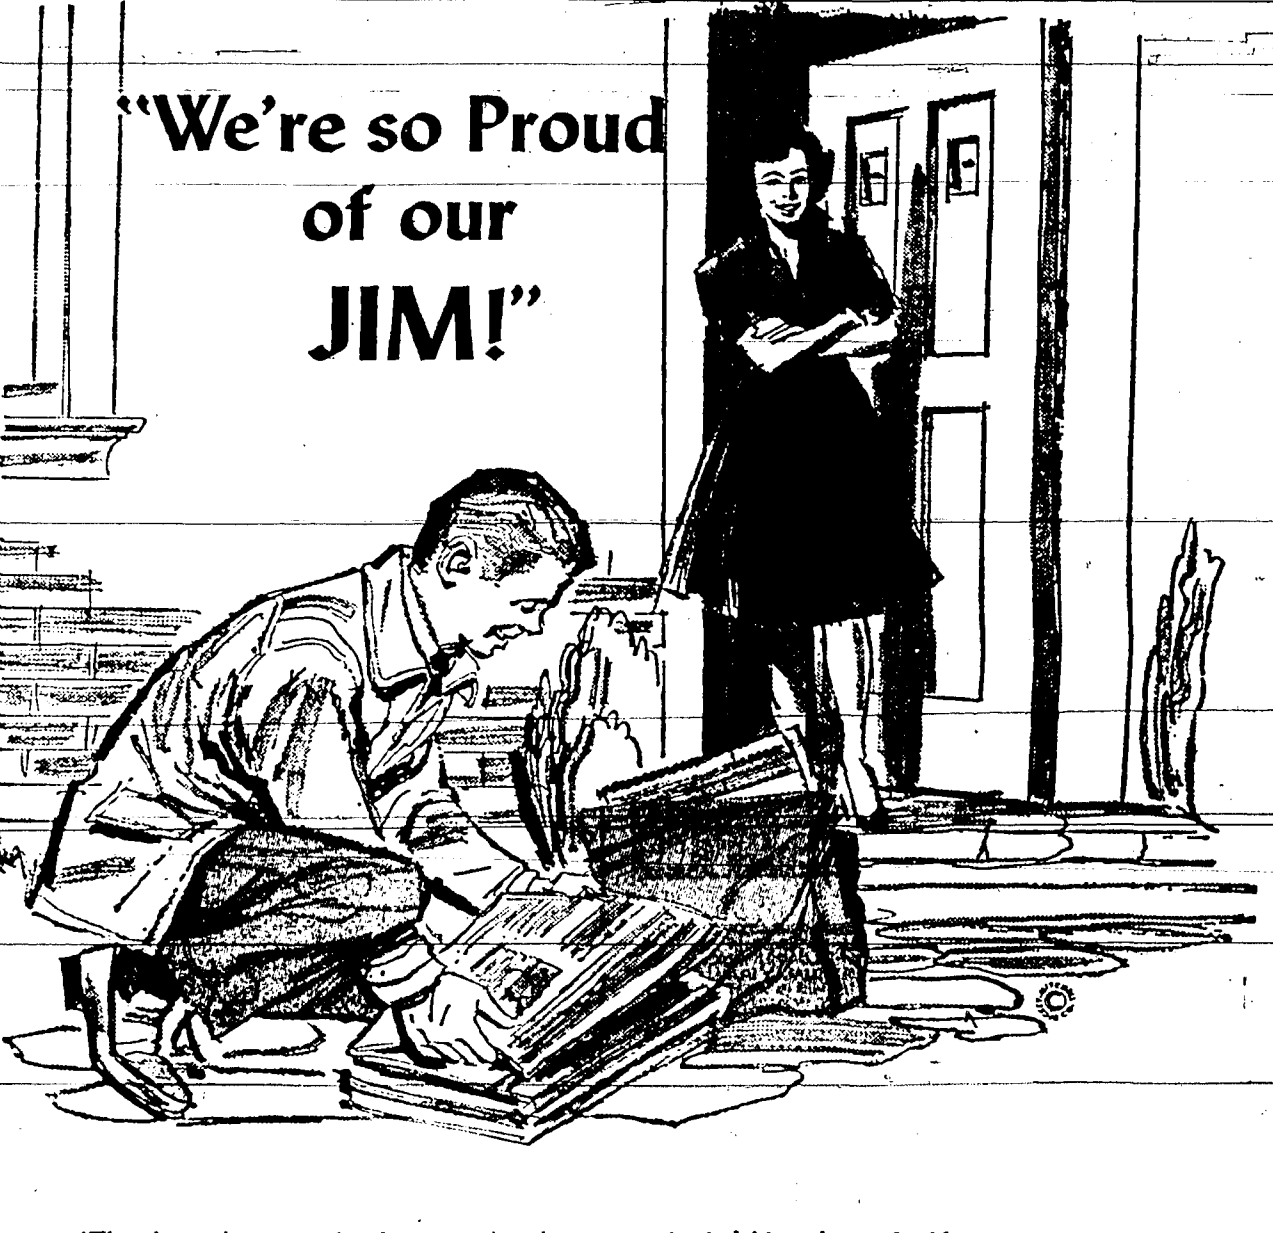

"There may be a preliminary agreement about an outdoor match in Stockholm or Goteborg some time next year and it would probably be televised to the United States," said Dundee. Edwin Ahlquist, the Swedish promoter, said such a bout might take place at midnight Swedish time so that it would be seen on television in the United States in the early evening.

"Our Jim had always been a shy, retiring youngster—timid in new situations and bashful when meeting people he didn't know.

"In just a few weeks he has grown up to the responsibility of having a business of his own.

"Just like his Dad, as a Junior Independent Merchant, he buys at wholesale and sells at retail to earn his profit. He is learning by experience that if he keeps his customers satisfied, his accounts straight, and pays for his newspapers on time, his profits will grow. Jim is also learning the principles of salesmanship by calling on prospects and signing up new subscribers under the guidance of men who are interested in and trained to work with boys.

"Through his experience as a newspaperboy, our son is developing poise and a real sense of values as a teenager, which will serve him throughout his lifetime.

"Yes, it's easy to see why we're proud . . . just look at JIM!"

Only about one boy in ten gets the opportunity to have a newspaper route. If you think your son or some other youngster might profit by newspaperboy route experience, why not suggest that he come in and talk to us.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, Aug. 9—Born to day, you are a strict believer in the old adage, "Honesty is the best policy." You are not one to pass up an opportunity to advance yourself either professionally or socially, but at the same time you would not make a bid for or accept any opportunity that you did not believe to be rightfully yours. Only take care that such an attitude, fine as it is, does not disintegrate into the meekness that leads to lack of confidence. Keep both of mind and intuition; you are seldom led astray either by your intellect or by your hunches. In addition, you are wise enough not to place one above the other when it comes

Suspect in Coed Murders Is Examined

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — James C. Cross Jr., 22-year-old University of Texas student charged with the slaying of two attractive coeds, has been examined by a psychiatrist, says Sheriff T. O. Lang.

Lang said Sunday that Cross, a Fort Worth English major, was examined by a psychiatrist in his Travis County Jail cell at the request of his defense attorneys.

One of the lawyers, Roy C. Minton, said he has not yet received a report from the psychiatrist.

Cross is charged in the slaying of Shirley Ann Stark and Susan Rigby, 21, sorority sisters from Dallas, whose partly nude bodies were found July 30 in a vacant lot in North Austin.

Lang said Sunday that Cross, a Fort Worth English major, was examined by a psychiatrist in his Travis County Jail cell at the request of his defense attorneys.

Transplant Fatal for Denver Man

DENVER (UPI) — A 47-year-old Navy veteran who had lived longer with a liver transplanted from a dead person than anyone else in the world died Sunday, 34 days after the delicate operation.

Death came at 6:30 a.m. for the Denver man, who Veterans Administration hospital officials had refused to identify. A spokesman said the patient probably never would be identified.

The spokesman said the exact cause of death was not immediately determined, but the patient was suffering from internal bleeding near the end.

The patient received the organ July 5. The liver came from a young boy killed earlier that day in an auto accident.

Letter Reveals Son Hospitalized

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Sy Keith of Coral Gables received this letter from their 9-year-old son at camp:

"Dear Mom and Dad,

"Having a nice time. Will be out soon. I have a roommate in the hospital. Love and kisses,

"Gary."

A quick phone call to Gary's summer camp in Hendersonville, N.C., provided the assurance that Gary was suffering from a case of poison oak, but was doing fine.

Yugoslav Author Denied Plea

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Mihajlo Mihajlov, Yugoslav author who criticized the Soviet Union, was turned down Sunday in his plea for reinstatement as an officer at Zadar University.

Officials upheld the dismissal of the 30-year-old writer who was sentenced to nine months in prison last April for writing that the Soviet Union had concentration camps and practiced genocide before the Germans did.

Martin King To Visit Harlem

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said in New York Sunday that he intended to visit Harlem later this year as part of his tour of Northern cities.

After a sermon at Riverside Church, the civil rights leader told newsmen: "Harlem is the nation's latest Negro ghetto and the very symbol of Negro degradation."

Girl, 8, Handles Large Elephant

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Robb Hill is 8 years old and weighs 65 pounds, but she is in charge of a one-ton baby elephant.

Hill supervises the elephant at the children's baryard at the Jackson County Fair here where her father, Murray, runs the chimpanzee show in a building next door.

The elephant performs about 15 stunts and her parents live in Jackson, Wis.
