Seattle Man Dies, Wife Is 'Critical' In Hansen Crash

HANSEN—A 25-year-old Seattle man was killed about 4:45 a.m. one mile east of here on U.S. Highway 30 in a three-vehicle accident. Dead is Harvey Roland Pierce, a private investigator. Reported in "very critical" condition in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital is his wife, Mrs. Jacqueline Pierce, 25, with multiple fractures, lacerations and possible head injuries. According to Twin Falls County Sheriff James H. Benham, Mrs. Pierce was driving a 1964 Pontiac GTO west on Highway 30 and struck a large wheel on a hay chopper driven by Roy E. Barker, 44, Route 1, Kimberly, glancing off and into the path of an oncoming 1958 International tractor-trailer driven by Roy W. Lee, 37, 1923 Eleventh Ave. E., Twin Falls.

Benham said the car was pushed backwards by the truck about 48 feet. The front end of the car was forced under the tractor. A wrecker was used to lift the diesel tractor off the car and another wrecker was used to pull the wrecked car out from underneath. The two wreckers then were used to pull the car apart so officers could free Pierce and his wife. Benham added he had to use a large wrecking bar to force open a door. He said the lock on the door was so well made and put together that the door could not be pulled off the car, even with the aid of a wrecker. Benham said apparently Mrs. Pierce did not realize the hay chopper, owned by Idaho Alfalfa Products, Twin Falls, was traveling slowly until too late. Lee was treated at the hospital for minor injuries and released. Barker was not injured. Pierce's death is the 33rd traffic fatality this year in Magic Valley. The last fatality occurred Aug. 5 in Twin Falls when Linda Chandler, 22, Buhl, was killed in a two-car collision.

Murtaugh Has Damage From Strong Winds
MURTAUGH—Strong southerly winds caused considerable damage in and around Murtaugh about 4:45 p.m. Wednesday, interrupting telephone and power services, felling trees and damaging other property. Job Census Blanks Are Mailed in T. F.
The Idaho Department of Employment announced Thursday occupational census questionnaires are being distributed to employers in Twin Falls County this week. The survey covers all jobs in the non-agricultural groupings and is being conducted through local Chamber of Commerce and community service groups. A letter mailed with each questionnaire and signed by H. Fred Garrett, executive director of the department, asks for information on employment for the payroll period which includes Aug. 12 and also asks employers to forecast the total employment they expect by August, 1965, as well as outlining the scope and purpose of the survey. Garrett said while data requested on current job openings will be used to forecast future shortage occupations, the Twin Falls office of the department will not use the information for referral of current applications except at the specific request of employers. All data from individual firms will be kept confidential in keeping with requirements of the Idaho state codes. Garrett said, being released only in statistical form which will not reveal the identity of any individual firm. Co-sponsoring organizations urge local firms to take the time necessary to complete the questionnaire, saying that this response will eliminate need for further contact with Twin Falls area firms. Sponsoring local organizations and official representatives are: Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, Douglas Kramer, president; Buhl Chamber of Commerce, Lloyd E. Byrne, secretary; Kimberly Chamber of Commerce, Frank V. Vosika, president, and Filer Kiwanis Club, A. R. Chaburn, president.

UNITED FUND BUDGET for 1966 is being studied by Ivan Skinner, left, chairman of the budget and admissions committee, and John Peterson, president of the campaign. The $73,900 budget was unanimously approved by the board at a no-host dinner meeting Wednesday night in the Rogerson Hotel Desert Room. (Times-News photo)

United Fund Sets 1965 Goal Of $73,900 for Nine Agencies

"Problems of soliciting funds to meet United Fund budgets could be solved," according to Ivan Skinner, budget and admissions chairman, "if every resident of Twin Falls could listen to the problems of the agencies involved in the United Fund campaign. Each of these organizations," continued Skinner, speaking at a board meeting Wednesday night in the Rogerson Hotel, "has very realistic needs for these funds."

About 20 people attended the no-host dinner meeting in the hotel's Desert Room and voted unanimously to accept the proposed 1966 budget of $73,900. This is an increase of $6,926 over last year's budget of $66,974, with each participating agency receiving an increase of about 10 per cent. Last year's budget was missed by a little more than $1,600. The budget submitted this year by the nine participating agencies was nearly $88,000, but was revised during a final budget hearing Aug. 5 to $73,900. Skinner said the increase in the 1966 budget is due to expansion and increased demands on participating agencies. John Peterson, president of this year's campaign, said the USO was added to the previous eight agencies to make the total of nine agencies. He said the

Selective Service To Cut Deferment Of College Students

NEW YORK (AP)—Some Selective Service boards say they will tighten rules deferring college students from the draft in the Viet Nam crisis. Draft boards that have been liberal in giving students deferments in the past say they are going to get tough to meet heavy draft calls beginning next month. A sampling by The Associated Press of 20 states showed 13 planning to review the status of deferred

Goldwater to Speak At T.F. Scout Event

Sen. Barry Goldwater will be the guest speaker at the second annual Cabaret Internationale hosted this year by the Snake River Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, Sept. 27, at Blue Lakes Country Club. The announcement was made Thursday by Robert Erkins, council president. Goldwater agreed to address the group many months ago, but requested the Boy Scout fund raising party be held late in September, after he recovered from his planned hospital operation. This event, which the council's executive board has arranged and financed, will have Jack Linkletter as master of ceremonies. This is his second year at Cabaret Internationale. He will give up some of his television programs to visit Magic Valley. Both Goldwater and Linkletter are donating their time. Also on the program will be the Laubins (Reginald and Gladys), who actually are more than dancers. They were the first to present authentic American Indian dancing on the concert stage. They have won international acclaim on their successful tours of three continents. The Laubins presently are at Jackson Hole, Wyo. Fine Arts Festival and have appeared on television. Cabaret Internationale will be open to the public, as it was last year. However, only a limited number of reservations are available. Already about 50 per cent of the 400 tickets have been spoken for, Erkins said. The party will begin at 7 p.m. with refreshments and dinner at 8 p.m. The program will be outside, following the dinner. Donations are $100 per couple and the council will use the money to underwrite part of the extensive Boy Scout program in the area. Committee in charge of arrangements for dinner music and dancing after the program consists of Otis Williams, Burley; Rodney Hansen, Paul; Dr. Ruben Matson, Jerome; Jack Rice, Gooding; and Lloyd Walker, James K. In a new, James Phelps, Gordon Gray, John Bertie and Mike Mazzore, all Twin Falls.

Troops Lifted From Duc Co 70-Day Siege
SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. and Vietnamese troops lifted the 70-day-old siege of Duc Co today. Powerful units launched operations to wipe Viet Cong from the jungles flanking 40 miles of highway on which that Special Forces camp is situated near the Cambodian frontier. In the air war, a U.S. Navy A4 Skyhawk was reported shot down by a surface-to-air missile about 50 miles south-southwest of Hanoi. A military spokesman said the downed craft was one in a formation of four of the single-seat lightweight jet bombers. The pilot was presumed killed. The spokesman said the area was outside the range of known anti-aircraft missile sites in North Viet Nam. He would not elaborate, but it was believed this indicated the missile was fired from a mobile unit. U.S. troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade and the 2nd Brigade of the 1st Infantry Division backed up government battalions of a relief column that reached Duc Co Wednesday night.

U. N. Stops Border Battle In Syria
DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A three-hour tank and artillery battle across the Syrian-Israeli border ended in midafternoon today after intervention by the U.N. true supervision organization. Syrian and Israeli planes flew over the battle area but did not make contact, a Syrian army spokesman said. "An enemy helicopter and ambulances were seen carrying enemy dead and wounded away from the battle area," the spokesman added. He reported Syrian losses in the clash as four soldiers and two civilian workers wounded.

Job Census Blanks Are Mailed in T. F.
The Idaho Department of Employment announced Thursday occupational census questionnaires are being distributed to employers in Twin Falls County this week. The survey covers all jobs in the non-agricultural groupings and is being conducted through local Chamber of Commerce and community service groups. A letter mailed with each questionnaire and signed by H. Fred Garrett, executive director of the department, asks for information on employment for the payroll period which includes Aug. 12 and also asks employers to forecast the total employment they expect by August, 1965, as well as outlining the scope and purpose of the survey. Garrett said while data requested on current job openings will be used to forecast future shortage occupations, the Twin Falls office of the department will not use the information for referral of current applications except at the specific request of employers. All data from individual firms will be kept confidential in keeping with requirements of the Idaho state codes. Garrett said, being released only in statistical form which will not reveal the identity of any individual firm. Co-sponsoring organizations urge local firms to take the time necessary to complete the questionnaire, saying that this response will eliminate need for further contact with Twin Falls area firms. Sponsoring local organizations and official representatives are: Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, Douglas Kramer, president; Buhl Chamber of Commerce, Lloyd E. Byrne, secretary; Kimberly Chamber of Commerce, Frank V. Vosika, president, and Filer Kiwanis Club, A. R. Chaburn, president.

Children's and Adult Parades Open Gooding County Fair as Judging Starts
GOODING — The Gooding County Fair got under way today with a children's parade at 1:30 p.m. and an adult parade at 2:30 p.m. The parades traveled from the elementary school north to the railroad tracks and attracting entries from church groups, clubs, organizations and business houses. The children's parade is under the supervision of the Rotary Club, with Dr. Henry Robinson acting as chairman. Clinton Abercrombie is chairman of the adult parade, with Valdo Gray acting as his assistant. Judging of the women's division and 4-H homemaking was completed Wednesday, as was the judging of farm produce and booths. The 4-H style revue was held at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the elementary school. Judging of flowers and various 4-H and FFA dairy, beef, swine, sheep and poultry was under way during the day today. The art exhibit was also judged today. The exhibits in the women's division are larger in number than usual, and the art exhibit seems smaller, but with excellent pictures in all categories. Judging will continue on Friday, mostly in fitting and showing of animals. There will be a horse show in the rodeo arena at 2 p.m. The rodeo will get under way at 8 p.m. each evening in the arena. The rodeo stock is furnished by Harold Prunty and his Flying A Ranch, Elko, Nev. This is an Idaho Cowboys Association approved rodeo. The queen contestants will appear each evening with the 1965 rodeo queen to be selected Saturday night. Saturday activities will include judging of halter classes, agricultural demonstrations, and a 4-H awards assembly at 1 p.m. There will be a quarter horse working event in the arena at 1:30 p.m.

WORKSHOP PARTICIPANTS practice a song and movements from the next Dilettante Group of Magic Valley production, "Music Man", scheduled for next March. With eyes toward choreographer Philip Keeler, not pictured, are Mrs. Larry Harvey, Mrs. Leah Jones and Mrs. Esther Allred, all Twin Falls, and Mrs. Alan Pierce, Castleford. Keeler, from the University of Utah, is conducting the two week workshop at Donna Mauldin's studio. (Times-News photo)

Dilettante Group Members Attending Drama Workshop

Members of the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley are not resting on their laurels after the resounding success of their last production, "South Pacific."

The group had its greatest triumph in March when an unprecedented sellout of tickets prompted an extra performance of the Rogers and Hammerstein musical comedy.

But, almost as soon as the last smear of grease paint was removed from performers' faces, musical instruments packed away, costumes stored, the group began work on next spring's production.

First came selection of new board members and in June Meredith Willson's "Music Man" was chosen for presentation next year by the group of Magic Valley performers, musicians and behind the scenes workers.

Now about 45 of the more than 250 members of the organization are attending a workshop six nights a week in preparation for rehearsals and, finally, presentation of "Music Man." Philip Keeler, who has directed two other workshops for the group, again is in Twin Falls directing the one now in the second and final week at Donna Mauldin's studio.

Keeler is the only person in the United States to hold a master's degree in choreography. He teaches dance at the University of Utah and has choreographed previous Dilettante productions.

He also performs as soloist with the Utah Civic Ballet and recently choreographed and appeared as one of the leads in "West Side Story," presented at the Summer Festival at the University of Utah.

Dilettante members, including many children, taking part in the workshop will not all be chosen for performance in "Music Man," but are attending to get experience and other benefits from the sessions.

Keeler derives little but personal and professional satisfaction from conducting the workshop as payment from the group is more of a token payment than for true worth of valuable training given members.

He drives to Twin Falls to conduct the workshops and stays with various Dilettante members.

At workshop sessions he instructs participants in pantomime, movement to rhythm, actions to song lyrics and song business, always with the show, "Music Man," in mind.

He currently is "setting songs," or figuring out actions to songs and working on vocal arrangements. Most of the actors, actresses, singers and dancers in Dilettante productions are amateurs and these workshops give the young choreographer a chance to add a little professional polish without taking valuable rehearsal time next spring.

Keeler will return to Twin Falls in September to attend auditions for "Music Man."

Auditions are set for 8 p.m. Sept. 18, and 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Sept. 19, at O'Leary Junior High School Auditorium. Anyone whether a member of the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley, an aspiring actress, actor, dancer, singer or behind the scenes worker, is urged to attend auditions.

Those auditioning for parts in the show should come prepared to sing a song from "Music Man" or another well-known musical comedy, and, if possible, should bring their own accompanists.

Pros, Cons

Are you "restless, nervous, extroverted, energetic, thrill-seeking, independent and academically oriented toward the social sciences and engineering?"

If so, you probably smoke too much as well.

Or perhaps you are "puritanical, conservative, stable, agreeable, dependable, religious and oriented toward the physical sciences and engineering?"

Then you probably don't smoke at all.

These at any rate are some of the characteristics turned up by John Pflaum, a behavioral scientist at the University of Wisconsin, who investigated the personalities of smokers and nonsmokers.

Despite their other admirable traits and cigarette advertisements to the contrary, men who smoke are, as a group, he says, more feminine than those who don't and are less inclined to participate in sports. Those who smoke may be symbolically searching for masculinity.

Other Pflaum contentions you may want to put in your pipe and — er, think about:

Nonsmokers are better marriage prospects than smokers.

Heavy smokers are more creative than nonsmokers.

Nonsmokers are chosen more frequently by the U. S. Navy; heavy smokers get drafted into the Army.

Among high school and college students, "smoking reflects a lack of involvement in the scholastic program and an attempt to obtain satisfactions outside the school environment."

For some youngsters, smoking may be a compromise solution to the inability to enjoy other pleasures which society frowns upon.

In times of famine, tobacco is often chosen by starving people in preference to food.

WILL IT LAST?

Let's say you are making more money this year than ever before. (It's a happy thought, anyway.)

If ever you have had it good, it's now. But to live the way you want to live, you are borrowing money hand over fist.

The debts are piling up something awful, and every once in a while you have the horrible thought that maybe you should pull back a little and live within your income. Especially since you can remember the time you thought if you ever made this kind of dough you'd be laying away money like crazy.

But the people you think ought to know about such things tell you that the only way to keep the economy going is to live it up, even if you have to spend more than you make.

This is called deficit spending, which sounds much nicer than saying you're up to your ears in debt.

But somehow you have this nagging feeling that if you keep on putting out more than you take in, there'll come a day when something will go bust — namely you.

Then how can the government do it?

And if Uncle Sam really has found out something about economics that his nieces and nephews don't know, how about cutting us in on it so we can have fun, too?

And don't forget, Uncle, to explain this new system to our creditors. You've no idea how old-fashioned some of them can be!

EFFECTS OF RESPONSIBILITY

It's not so much the danger as the responsibility that makes a man's heart beat faster—if he's a pilot, anyway.

That seems to be the message of electrodes taped to the chests of test pilots and astronauts. NASA physicians long ago encountered fantastic increases in the heartbeat rates of X-15 and Mercury astronauts.

Later, in a series of flights of a high-performance aircraft with two men aboard, it was found that outwardly calm and confident command pilots registered high heartbeat averages while passenger pilots had much lower ones.

Thus, the assumption that it is the responsibility of command and not danger alone that accounts for the high rates.

It is hardly surprising. The possibility of spreading yourself all over the landscape in a research plane or space capsule is one thing. But being put in charge of fifteen million dollars' worth of taxpayers' money would accelerate anybody's circulation.

WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON—It would be convenient to suggest that low pay and poor working conditions are responsible for the country's lousy mail service, climaxed by the recent disappearance of a half-million dollars' worth of coinsance of a Philadelphia Mint—but the facts are in the way.
Our 600,000 postal employees, who seem determined to set a new record in undelivered mail, are paid an average wage of $6,100 a year, the rate climbing from $5,345 to $12,495, and up to $24,000 for executive types. There are built-in automatic wage increases up to seven steps, and in addition a vote-conscious Congress has okayed six pay raises in the last 10 years, including two in 1964.

TIME OFF—The employees work a 40-hour week. They get 13 days vacation a year the first three years, 20 days a year during the next 11 years, and 26 days a year after 14 years of service. All of this leave is cumulative, and it does not include Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Moreover, postal employees are protected by the most elaborate conglomerations of labor unions in government. They are represented by 12 unions—the National Association of Letter Carriers, United Federation of Postal Clerks, National Rural Letter Carriers Association, National Association of Maintenance Employees, National Federation of Post Office Motor Vehicle Employees, National Association of Special Delivery Messengers, National Association of Post Office Mail Handlers, Watchmen, Messengers, and Group Leaders, National Association of Postal Employees, National Postal Union, American Federation of Government Employees Council.

POWERFUL LOBBY—A majority of the employees belong to one union or another, and there is a fierce, continuing battle for members. The National Alliance of Postal Employees, for example, draw its membership mostly from the 80,000-plus Negroes in the department.

It naturally follows that Capitol Hill is most sensitive to the happiness of these workers. With their unions, the postal employees make up one of the most potent lobbies in Washington, and it's a brave member of Congress who dares to criticize their performance or vote against a pay raise.

As one New York City congressman put it, "I'd have to have rocks in my head to take a poke at the postal workers. In my district, they control enough votes to decide an election."

NATIONAL SCANDAL—Yet, the mail service threatens to become a national scandal. Delay is accepted as normal, and few voices on Capitol Hill are raised to protest the hundreds of thousands of pieces of mail that are never delivered. There was an outcry on the Hill when it was revealed the Post Office Department used peep holes to check up on thieves and loafers, but nobody got excited when the department uncovered hundreds of empty whiskey bottles in the main Washington Post Office during the Christmas season a couple of years ago.

Apparently, abuses are almost entirely confined to the big cities—Washington, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles. Postal inspectors who are growing old over the situation report that service is superior in small towns and rural communities. But some important business is transacted through the mails in the big cities, and if the deterioration of mail service continues the dollar cost to the economy will run into the millions.

VETERANS BENEFITS/GI PAY

When it comes to politically attractive veterans benefits, we are conditioned to look twice before applauding congressional action. It takes little political courage to hand out money to a large bloc of voters backed by a strong lobby.

Despite administration opposition, the Senate voted overwhelmingly to extend the "GI bill" of those veterans whose service came after the Korean GI bill had expired. Republican efforts reasonably to limit the benefits to veterans of combat zone service were defeated.

We look to the House of Representatives to restrict this measure in accord with enlightened veteran compensation theory and sound fiscal policy. There is good reason to help those who by virtue of service to their country have suffered disability or been exposed to conditions of unusual hardship or danger. Aiding re-adjustment to civilian life can likewise be justified.

This bill in its present form, however, cannot be justified. It would aid many who have suffered no special hardship or disability, taken no unusual risks, and long since returned to a relatively prosperous life as civilians.

While educational allowances are far better than cash bonuses, we see no justification for expending public funds to educate men merely on the ground that they have served a tour of duty in the military. The allocation of federal funds based on a privileged status accorded indiscriminately to all veterans is poor public policy.

While the Senate was passing the "cold war GI bill," the House was considering a military pay raise measure which had later passed 410-0. The raise was more than twice as much as the administration had requested. The chairman of the House Armed Services Committee called the administration proposal "disgracefully inadequate."

Inadequate military pay has made it difficult to recruit career men and to retain in service those with needed skills and training. Costing $2 billion a year, the House-adopted bill, bringing military pay raises more nearly into line with federal civilian pay should, if passed into law, aid recruitment. — Christian Science Monitor.

ILLS PREDICT WEATHER

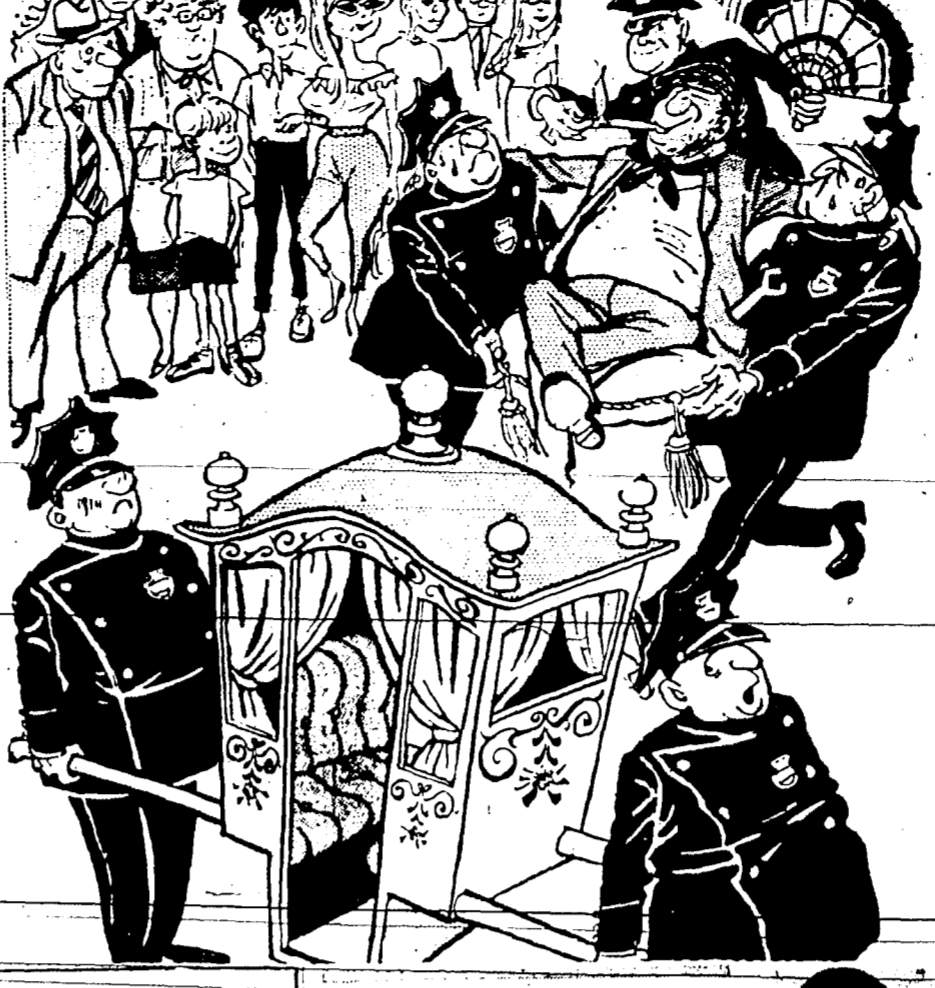

It was just a question of time before those scientific fellows got around to admitting that weather prediction can be done practically single handed by the sufferers from arthritis and rheumatism in all variations.

Eighteen experts from ten nations reported to the World Meteorological Organization in Geneva that certain diseases are notably aggravated by intimations of weather change.
Most barometric sufferers have known this for years. A sudden shoulder twinge last thing at night or first thing in the morning is a sure sign of a stormy day ahead. — Whimper-Tribune.

ON THEIR OWN

An East German mob attacked the U.S. military mission's premises in Potsdam and did the customary variety of damage. However, East Germany is not on our aid list, so at least the cost of getting up a spontaneous anti-American demonstration didn't come out of the American taxpayer's wallet. — Detroit Free Press.

"If You Stumble, He'll Claim Brutality!"

THE LIGHTER SIDE

By DICK WEST

Pot Shots is on vacation. The column will be resumed when he returns.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—According to the magazine Capitol Hill, the social circle here has produced a new ear-bending technique. It's called "poverty-dropping."

An article by Angele de T. Gungas in the current issue reports that "poverty-dropping has supplanted name and place dropping on the Washington social scene."

Anyone who has ever been to a party in Washington knows that the guests usually are about equally divided between name droppers and place droppers.

At a signal from the host or hostess, they converge on the hors d'oeuvres table, the object being to see which can be the first to stultify the conversation.

One group casually mentions the important people they know. The other group casually mentions the interesting places they have visited.

This keeps up until someone is forced to give ground. Then they regroup and attack from another direction.

The new gambit, isolated and identified by Miss Gungas, came into flower after last year's presidential election.

Both President Johnson and Vice President Humphrey are men of humble origin and have on occasion alluded to their youthful lack of affluence.

This provided the impetus for poverty-dropping, it being the custom for those in the social swim to identify as closely as possible with the White House.

The opportunity was provided by the various anti-poverty measures that the administration has sent to Congress.

At any social gathering in the capital, the conversation is likely to touch on some aspect of the program, thus opening the gate for the poverty-droppers.

"I know what it's like to be poor," one of them will say. "Back during the depression, my family lived for a month on jam sandwiches—two pieces of bread jammed together."

"You call that being poor?" scoffs the second dropper. "Listen, when I was a kid..."

The first poverty-dropper does not stand a chance.

When confronted with this sort of thing, the best defense is a good offense. What I do is combine poverty-dropping with name and place dropping.

Did you know that Sen. Dirksen and I once starved to death together on the French Riviera?

Interpreting The News

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Now that the incident is past, it may be safely told how another stock market nose-dive may have been averted recently in connection with a rumor about President Johnson's health.

The New York Stock Exchange, still shaky from a multi-billion dollar plunge set off by mysterious calls to brokerage houses, had just opened.

An editor in United Press International's Washington bureau took an incoming telephone call. A young male wanted to know if the UPI knew that Johnson had been rushed to nearby Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital.

The editor inquired how the caller came by this information and who he was.

Refusing to identify himself, the caller explained that he had a friend who worked at Bethesda. He said the friend had reported to him by telephone moments before that the President had been carried into the hospital secretly. Furthermore, the caller said FBI men were swarming around the big hospital.

The UPI bureau telephoned its staff at the White House and reporters began the delicate job of checking. The task was delicate for one special reason. If the President had been taken to the hospital secretly and did not want the fact known, knowledge that a news agency was checking could cause many official news sources to dry up immediately.

Inside the UPI office, reporters checked with the hospital. Here again was a tough journalistic nut to crack. If the President were a secret patient, the hospital would do all in its power to squelch any rumors to that effect.

In such cases, the news-gathering organization must operate on the simple theory that most officials would lie glibly on grounds of national security.

Therefore, the journalistic job was to seek out stray bits of information such as whether there had been any unusual vehicular traffic out of the White House grounds that morning; whether the President had come to his office from his residential quarters (which he had not when the rumor started).

Men on the UPI news desk exercised unusual caution not to let any word of the rumor get on news wires or message circuits, or, for that matter, discussed on the telephone except with reporters immediately involved.

Suddenly the rumor collapsed as swiftly as it had risen. Almost within the same minute, the White House reporters telephoned the bureau to say that Johnson, looking hale and hearty, had strolled into the West Wing of the White House and chatted with newsmen on the way to his office; and the presence of the "FBI men" at the hospital was explained.

The post exchange at the hospital had been held up earlier in the morning by bandits who escaped with several thousand dollars. Being a federal establishment, it was quite normal for FBI agents to rush to the scene.

The big stock market collapse triggered only a week or so before the hospital incident seemed to defy rational facts. Brokerage offices began receiving calls asking variously whether Johnson was dead or about the severity of a rumored heart attack.

Q—I have a greatly enlarged thyroid. Is there any way of reducing its size without surgery? If not, what would be the effect of just letting it go?

A—Prolonged overdosage of thyroid extract and related drugs such as thyroxin may produce all the symptoms of a toxic goiter—tremor, nervous irritability, protruding eyeballs, palpitation of the heart and loss of weight.

This could wear out the victim's endurance and his heart. Any laboratory procedure is only as accurate as the technician who performs the test. The protein-bound iodine (PBI) test and radioactive iodine uptake have largely replaced the basal metabolic rate (BMR) as tests of thyroid function.

Q—I have been taking theobromine with phenobarbital daily for three years because of high blood pressure.

In the last two years I have had a red nose and recurrent pimples on my nose. Also the skin of my palms gets dry and cracks.

My doctor says that when this occurs I should cut down on the pills. Are these symptoms caused by the pills? Would some other medicine be better for me?

A—Prolonged use of phenobarbital often causes skin disorders. A wide variety of drugs is now available to control high blood pressure. I would advise a trial of some of the others.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

SANTIAGO, Chile—Of all the forces shaking this troubled continent, none is more dramatic than the revolution going on within the Catholic Church.
How much it signifies is elsewhere questioned, but here in Chile it is the main-spring of the drive for social change that hopefully will overcome the great problems confronting the Christian Democratic government of President Eduardo Frei.

Frei is himself a result of the revolution within the church. Because the Catholic Church in Chile long ago agreed to a friendly separation from the state, the eager young men who formed the Christian Democratic party could evolve a program and an ideology that was Christian, compassionate, socialist in some of its aspects, yet not enclosed within the embrace of the church as was the Conservative Party.

As one of these eager young men, grounded in the social theology of the French, Belgian and German bishops and theologians who have played such an important part in the Vatican councils, Frei helped to shape the new party. The leader in last year's election, Frei got a whopping 56 per cent of the vote, unprecedented in this country where splinter parties and bitter factionalism have characterized Chile's political life.

The electoral victory stems in a sense from a remarkable pastoral letter issued in 1962 under the imprimatur of Cardinal Raul Silva Henríquez. The letter said in effect that the church in Chile had followed a wrong course. It had ignored the profound social injustice that condemned the landless masses and the jobless in the cities to unrelieved misery and degradation.

How radical a document this was can best be appreciated by those familiar with the history of the church in Latin America. The identity has been with the elite, the small owning and, until recently, ruling class. Many Catholic orders conducted good works among the poor, but it was with the Biblical conviction that the poor would always be tack. Calls from Wall Street then began pouring into New York press associations and newspaper offices.

Quick checks with Washington then began pouring into New York press associations and newspaper offices.

The difference in the two cases is this: The New York rumor, quite possibly planted to embarrass the administration, shake national confidence or help investors in a position to profit from so-called short selling was in the public domain before it could be checked out.

On the other hand, the Washington rumor was tightly contained and never reached the public.

Rumors of presidential illness are somewhat recurrent, regardless of who occupies the White House. And such gossip or misinformation takes on added weight in Johnson's case since he had a heart attack in 1955. The same was true of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Once he had a heart attack, also in 1955, unfounded stories cropped up periodically to the effect that he had another coronary thrombosis.

Even here in Chile, where one of the few presidents ever elected in Latin America by a large majority in competition with the combined parties of the left is a Christian Democrat, the Conservatives growl about "Catholic Communists." Those who regard any social change as a threat to the established order look with dark suspicion on the church and on Cardinal Silva Henríquez as only slightly less a threat to private property than Communism.

As for the Communists, they make the church and the Christian Democratic party their No. 1 target. The peaceful, non-Marxist revolution—a third force between capitalism and Marxist socialism—steals their stock in trade.

If President Frei can carry through his revolution—the obstacles are very great—he will have set an example throughout the continent. That is why both the extreme right and the extreme left would be delighted to see the experiment come to ruin.

Bridge by Jacoby

DREAM HAND WASHED OUT
While on the subject of fixes we might as well show a hand that has appeared in this column before.

The game was rubber bridge. North was the late Charles Lockett of St. Louis one of the finest players of the thirties and five spades. Jacoby fell right into the trap and doubled. At this point West could not stand prosperity.

He redoubled. Jacoby decided that West was sitting with 11 red cards and ran out to 11 red cards. West tried seven hearts and when it got back to him he redoubled his estimate of 11 red cards and bid seven spades.

West doubled and opened a diamond whereupon Jacoby proceeded to make the spade grand slam. He ruffled with the ace of spades in dummy. Led the three spot and finessed his ace. Ruffed a second diamond high. Led the four and finessed his nine. Ruffed his last diamond.

Returned to his hand with the ace of clubs. Drew trumps and discarded his two hearts on the long clubs.

Girl Learning To Operate Hook as Hand

BOISE (AP)—A little Eastern Idaho girl is learning to manipulate a hook which substitutes for a hand at the end of an artificial arm. She is doing it well, and attendants at the Idaho Elks Rehabilitation Center say she will be able to do what most normal 6-year-olds can do.

The girls is Stephanie Daniel, whose arm was chewed off by two wolves at the Idaho Falls zoo last June. The animals were destroyed. Stephanie and her mother, Mrs. Dayle Daniel, have been in Boise since Aug. 1. Mrs. Daniel said she is confident her daughter "definitely will do anything a normal child can do."

Mrs. Daniel said Stephanie apparently developed a fear of large dogs as a result of her experience. The girl seldom talks about the incident, her mother said, but sometimes will mention it when they are alone, particularly at night.

Perry Silver Jr., a physical therapist at the center, who is working with Stephanie, said she may become self-conscious about the hook when she is a bit older. He said another type of artificial hand might be attached then, better disguising the mechanical device which substitutes for fingers.

Youth, 16, Sets Out for Hawaii In Small Craft

HONOLULU (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Lee Graham, who hopes to become the youngest person ever to sail alone from the United States mainland to Hawaii, is expected here next week.

His mother, Mrs. Lyle Graham of Honolulu, said Wednesday she will start a vigil Saturday on the Oahu coast although her son is not expected until Aug. 19.

He left San Pedro, Calif., July 26 on the first leg of a two-year world trip. Two kittens are with him in a 24-foot sloop, Dove. The fiberglass sailboat has no radio.

Flying U Rodeo Stock Some of Best

Some of the greatest bucking stock in history of the sport will be on hand for the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo, scheduled Sept. 8-11.

Horses and bulls will be provided by the Flying U Rodeo Co., Marysville, Calif., and Fallon, Nev., owned and operated by Cotton Rosser, former intercollegiate champion rider.

Six head of Rosser's buckers, selected by the world's ranking cowboys, were named for the National Finals Rodeo held last December in Los Angeles.

Short Fuse, a bareback bronc, was named as the greatest bareback buck in the world three years ago and named third in the world rankings just two seasons past.

Another champion in the Flying U string but which did not make the trip to Los Angeles is little Booger, rated second best bucking bull in the world three years ago.

In all, the Flying U boasts 89 bucking bulls, 55 bareback horses, and 44 saddle broncs, as well as scores of calves and Mexican roping and bulldogging steers.

Rosser announced that as a throwback to days of the Old West, a "Buffalo scramble" will be included in arena action. All chute gates will open at one time, and out of them will come pouring buffaloes with cowboys aboard. This event is considered extremely dangerous.

Rosser and his wife travel to the rodeos in a P-35 Bonanza airplane. Buster Ivory sticks to the ground and supervises the hauling of stock.

GOP Seeks Backing of Negro Voters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are seeking the aid of Negroes from across the nation in an effort to enlist Negro voters in the South and in the big cities of the North.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., said today his party will be "a bunch of suckers" if they don't do the job.

"We're not talking about taking over the Negro community and turning it into a Republican camp," another party strategist said. "We're not that impractical."

"We're trying to build a very stable, long-range base that we can grow from," he added. "We're not expecting miracles."

National Chairman Ray C. Bliss plans to confer before the month is out with a team of top Negro Republicans from all sections of the country, a party official said.

Treasury to Give Contracts for Half Dollars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department will award two contracts totaling $1 million for minting half dollars in Utah, has announced.

Bennett, ranking Republican on the Senate Banking Committee, said Wednesday the contracts are for material, including silver, to be used in the Mint, beginning this fall.

Englehard Industries will receive an $8 million contract to produce half dollars, one for $3 million.

The Treasury plans to mint 100 million half dollars a year, Bennett said.

Diana Bowman, Arco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bowman, Wendell, is reigning queen for the three nights of the fair which opened Thursday and will continue through Saturday night when next year's queen will be chosen.

Nine Girls Seek Gooding Fair Queen Title for '66

GOODING—Nine girls are entered in the queen's contest for the Gooding County Fair and Rodeo which opened Thursday and runs Friday and Saturday. The queen will be chosen on Saturday night at the rodeo.

Reigning queen is Diana Bowman, Arco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bowman, Wendell. She will reign during the three nights of the fair, with the 1966 queen crowned Saturday night. Carol Frith, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Frith, Wendell, is a junior at Wendell high school this year. She is a member of the Wendell Rangers riding club, and was also a contestant in the queen contest at the Hagerman Pioneer Day celebration.

She will wear lime green pants, multi color shirt and white hat and boots. She will ride a bay quarter horse, "Midge."

Wearing a turquoise western suit and riding "Cindy," Darlene Cheney will be entering her first contest this year. "Cindy" is a dark brown quarter horse. Darlene will be a senior at Gooding high school this year. She is 17, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cheney, Gooding. Connie Goicoechea, 17, Richfield, is a junior at Richfield High School. She is the queen for the 1966 Outlaw Day at Richfield, and was also a queen contestant during the Frontier Days celebration in Twin Falls.

She plans to wear orange pants, white shirt, black bolero and tie and black and white hat.

She will ride a sorrel quarter horse, "Flicka." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Goicoechea.

Maxie Branch, Wendell, was selected second attendant at the Hagerman Pioneer Day celebration and has entered various other contests throughout Magic Valley. She is 17 and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Branch.

She will wear a white western blouse, dark blue brocade satin pants trimmed with sequins, a matching vest, blue and white hat, white belt, gloves and boots. Maxie plans to ride a four-year-old quarter horse belonging to Gene Callen. She is also a member of the fifth district High School Rodeo Association.

Another entry from Wendell is Charnell Lehman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornell Lehman. She is a senior at Wendell High School, and was a contestant in the queen contest in Gooding last year. She tied for first runner-up of the Hagerman Pioneer Day celebration.

She will be riding a quarter horse she broke and trained, by the name of "Snipper." Charnell is a member of the Wendell Rangers, and various 4-H horse clubs. She will wear blue pants and a flowered shirt, white hat and brown boots.

Sandra Bristow, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Bristow, Gooding.

She will be riding a "green" horse which belongs to Andrew James. However, Sandra is breaking it herself. The horse is an Apaloosa. Sandra is entering her first contest this year. She will wear a white suit, white boots and a white hat with a blue band. She will be a senior at Gooding High School this year and is a member of the Gooding Riding Club.

Making another appearance at Gooding this year will be Annell Behunin. She was selected second runner-up in the queen contest last year, and is reigning queen of the Hagerman Pioneer Day celebration. She also entered in the Fairfield contest this year.

Annell, 17, plans to wear a red railroad suit, white hat, boots and gloves. She will ride her own palomino horse, "Tipper."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Behunin, Gooding, and will be a high school senior this year.

Jackie Bodenhofer is 16 and will be a senior at Gooding High School this year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bodenhofer, and was tied for first attendant at the Hagerman Pioneer Day contest. She was also second runner-up at the Fairfield queen contest. Jackie will wear green pants and a green flowered shirt.

Her hat is black with a rhinestone band, and she will wear black belt and boots. Her horse is a bay colored Arabian belonging to her sister, but Jackie helped train the horse.

Vera Christopherson, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Christopherson, Gooding. She will also be riding a horse she broke. The horse is a thoroughbred quarter horse. "Tipper." Vera also entered the Hagerman contest and was also contestant in the Gooding contest last year. She plans to wear black pants, a white blouse with black and white embroidery and a black hat.

Men to Fight Extradition in Murder Case

BEND, Ore. (UPI)—LeWayne Hubert Daniels, 22, wanted on a murder charge in Idaho in connection with the death of his five-month-old stepdaughter, indicated Thursday he plans to fight extradition.

Daniels' court-appointed attorney, Cash Perrie of Bend, informed Deputy Desebutes County Dist. Atty. Gottlieb Baer that Daniels had refused to be taken to Idaho.

Daniels' arraignment here on a fugitive warrant was to continue Thursday.

Pansy Jones Daniels, 22, the slain infant's mother, was arraigned in Justice Court at Idaho Falls, Idaho, Wednesday on a charge of willful omission to provide food and medical attention to a child. She was held on $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Daniels had refused extradition here Tuesday but she changed her mind hours later.

The mother was arrested on Monday night after a coroner's jury at Idaho Falls said little Ella Mae Jones' head had been crushed. Her body was found in a shallow grave Saturday near Swan Valley, Idaho.

Daniels was taken into custody here Tuesday night at the home of a relative after authorities wired a first degree murder warrant from Idaho.

Pallbearers were Larry Guilton, Rodolfo Rodriguez, Jerry Woodall, Jose Antonio Hernandez, Raymond Zamarrillas and Luis Martinez.

Final rites were held at Sunset Memorial Park.

Mountain Is Climbed by Blind Girl

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Susan Maltby has climbed 9,165-foot Broken Top Mountain in the Oregon Cascades and placed her name in the summit book.

Susan, 17, is blind. She made the weekend ascent with a Salem climbing group and for one of the more-dangerous sections was tied close to her brother Peter, 20, and another climber.

When Susan first asked for a chance to climb the mountain her mother, Mrs. Marens Maltby of Salem, refused. But she relented and is glad she did. "She felt like she accomplished something," Mrs. Maltby said. "It was a challenge for her to see if she could do it."

Susan was one of the presidential scholars honored at the White House last spring.

Fire Destroys Shed, Equipment

KING HILL — A trash fire destroyed a small shed and its contents at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Kling Wednesday afternoon.

The Klings' son, Jim, reportedly was burning trash in a trash barrel near the shed and sparks from the fire ignited dry weeds nearby which in turn started the blaze in the shed.

The boy summoned his mother and she called neighbors who helped put out the fire with garden hoses. The King Hill fire truck was brought to the scene by Lynn Sherman who assisted in watering down weeds and debris around the back yard to keep the fire from spreading.

Mrs. Kling reports that a saddle and bridle valued at $160 were lost in the fire, as well as other items.

Rising Hems, Necklines Are Major Trends

PARIS (AP) — Rising hems and necklines and lengthening suit jackets were the dominant fashion trends in the Paris collections for fall and winter.

There was little change in silhouette. Almost every designer built his collection around the familiar shape of the A-line shift. In most cases the look was more conical and more controlled.

Hems hit as high as two inches above the knee, although a midknee level is high enough to be in fashion for the moment.

Collars went up to the chin, sometimes over it. Most popular shapes were high-rising band collars, loose and wide. Rings of soft fur created the right effect over something low-collared.

Sleeves were long and for the most part slender, and often cut very close and high under the arm.

Suit jacket lengths dropped to hip level at most houses. Among the best were Dior's, flipped out in a concave curve over gentle skirts, slightly flared and slightly gathered, and Cardin's, bias-cut with a seam at the natural waistline, and very slightly flaring peplum.

The only sure thing about coat shapes is that, in one way or another, they should loosen up. The fullest of the season were tent styles from Ricci and Molyneux.

Lancetti Hats Shown at Rome Fashion Show

ROME (AP) — The hats ran away with the clothes in the Lancetti collection Tuesday night.

Huge domed brims and felts with floppy brims flapped back in front over a conical crown looked like somebody had slipped too much yeast in the mixture. They were as big as bushy and twice as wide.

Beneath them Lancetti showed a trim, square-shouldered silhouette with very close armholes and narrow sleeves. Seam details suggested a high waist.

Jackets covered the hip bone or were longer. Long, open-collared jackets over matching high-cut gabardine dresses were especially effective. Coats had back panel detail.

For evening he interpreted the rising line with crisscross-halter bodices and with strapless tops that rose in an arc toward the collarbone, then dipped in back.

There were lots of fluttery feathers. The bride wore an oversize Daniel Boone cap in white ostrich with a yards-long feather tail floating out over her stiff brocade train.

Tiziani, the Italian designer from Texas, showed camel fleece coats and suits which opened to a diagrammed riot of color. For each section of their construction he used a differing reverse color — violet, turquoise, cherry and lime.

Tiziani's black suit this season has a small, square-cut jacket and patent hip-belted skirt with a white silk sweater blouse colored in a soft, high stovepipe.

Varied Styles Shown to Paris Fashion World

PARIS (AP) — There was something of everything in the Saint-Laurent show. There were inspirations from Courreges, mod fashions, abstract art and Yves Saint-Laurent's own fisherman's smock. There were square shapes, shift shapes, and empire shapes.

There was the nudest dress seen in Paris this season—baring the back and almost all the ribcage, but not the bosom. And there was a huge white crocheted sarcophagus for the bride.

It was a show full of surprise including Saint-Laurent himself, with a new blond Beatles-coiffure. He wears it brushed back and waved down the back of his neck. Someone called the style French mod.

Saint-Laurent skirts were short, just covering the top of the kneecap. Shoulders were wide and square.

For boxy coats and suits, he played it fairly straight. On coats, narrow front panels framing close double-breasted buttoning were often in contrast, as were deep square-cut yokes, sleeves, or cuffs.

Suits had small square jackets, and skirts slightly full in front.

He mixed colors, patterns and textures. Hats were tiny, chin-strapped domes in pie-quartrings of color. Scarves might be another color, the costume more colors, and there were big belts and buckles studded with semi-precious stones. Legs were often covered by jacquard patterned boots, or argyle plaid or ribbed stockings.

First applause came from his straight jersey dresses in huge helter-skelter blocks of color.

divided by bands of black. They looked like Mondrian paintings. Buyers who saw the Saint-Laurent show earlier this week had raved about these.

Best of the group is one the buyers called his crusade dress: a black cross dividing a dress that is all white except for the upper left section, which is ruby red and frames a multi-faceted jewel.

The cake was flanked by small China cherubs holding yellow roses and snapdragons and silver candle holders with white tapers.

Individual guest tables were decorated with brandy snifters containing large white daisies.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Mary Strickland, Montana, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Armour Anderson, Twin Falls, aunt of the bridegroom. Colonies Like Hemline Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — Those sky-high hemlines that have the British saying "Wow!" have swished into the Colonies. The reaction is approximately the same, with the addition of a little Yankee zest.

In a word: Yippee!

The thigh-high skirts were modeled Monday night in a pair of ceiling-high "bird cages" at an East Side discotheque. A Greenwich Village shop showed them.

The feeling seemed to be that in New York, where subways are for peeping, the skirts would go big.

Andrus' Candidacy Marks Split in Democratic Party

BOISE (UPI) — An intra-party conflict over the sales tax faced Idaho Democrats Thursday following the formal entrance of young State Sen. Cecil D. Andrus into the 1966 governor's race.

Andrus, 34, who represents Clearwater County in the Senate, announced his candidacy Wednesday night, becoming the third man to enter the contest. The Orofino businessman voted for the controversial 3 per cent tax as it passed the Legislature last spring.

The other announced candidates for the Democratic nomination are State Senate minority leader William J. Dee, Grangeville, and former State Atty. Gen. Frank L. Benson.

Jerome. Dee has announced he will run on a sales tax repeal platform, and Benson has indicated he does not favor the present sales tax law.

No Republican has made a formal declaration of his candidacy for governor. There has been speculation, however, that Gov. Robert E. Smylie will seek a fourth term.

Andrus said the Democratic Party needs a positive program to win in 1966.

"I feel strongly that the Democratic Party can win the governorship in November of 1966 with a positive program, a program which will clearly show the people of Idaho where we as a state are going," Andrus said.

Andrus said there is "stagnation" in Smylie's administration. "His administration is crumbling at the very foundation while he concentrates on his national image and perpetuates himself in office by serving as his own budget director," Andrus said.

"He has consistently cut education and institutions far below the agency requests and the Legislature has been forced to restore funds to meet even a minimum program."

Magic Valley Motors at Buhl Is Remodeling

BUHL — Building improvements and new plant facilities for the Magic Valley Motors, Inc., Buhl's Chevrolet dealership, were announced Wednesday by Grady Spradling, president of the corporation.

Renovations currently are under way at the firm, which is located at 1120 Main St., in Buhl. The service entranceway is being moved from the Main Street side and placed on 12th Avenue North, which will provide two service entranceways on that side of the building.

Plans call for the front entranceway to feature an attractive all glass front. The show room will be modernized with cherry wood paneling to add to the decor of the auto display room.

Increased space in the building is being made possible through the firm's purchase of the Conoco Service Station located across the street from the Chevrolet business establishment.

The space at the back of the service station is being utilized to construct a 45 by 65-foot building that will house the company's paint and body shop operations. The service station will continue operations under the new ownership, with business hours remaining the same as the auto firm's hours, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Spradling also noted the transfer of interests in the Magic Valley Motors, Inc. He and Roy Hoffa have purchased the interests of Merrill Bean, president of the corporation since it was established here over five years ago. During those years, Spradling has served as a partner and officer.

Spradling is now serving as president and general manager of the firm, with Roy Hoffa as vice president and service manager. Bean has accepted a Chevrolet dealership in Ogden, Utah.

Bids for Pipes, Fire Hydrants Accepted by Buhl City Council

The low bid of the Pacific States Cast Iron Pipe Co., Provo, for pipe and fire hydrants for the city of Buhl was accepted when the council met Tuesday night. The bid was for 2,310 feet of cast iron pipe with all the valves and fittings and two fire hydrants at $9,326.62. The only other bid was submitted by the Water Works Equipment Co., Salt Lake City, for $9,444.82. The council approved the purchase of a "70" Toro professional-type mower at a cost of $795 from the Turf Equipment Co., Salt Lake City, to be used in the Buhl City Cemetery. Kala Gresky was hired as a lifeguard for the municipal swimming pool for the rest of the season. She takes the place of the late Linda Chandler. The Mountain States Telephone Co. was granted permission to bury a cable on the northside of Elm Street from the alley on Seventh Street to the Condensary Road. An amendment was made to ordinance 478 taking the property of Duane French out of Peck addition as his land comes under the classification of agriculture land. Some $3,000 was taken out of the cemetery perpetual care fund and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds series H. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Goolsby, owner-managers of Guerry's Bee Parlor, met with the city council to protest the ordinance relative to the sale of liquor by the drink within the city limits. Goolsby expressed his opinion that portions of the ordinance are unfair regarding specifications in obtaining a liquor license and asked for amendments. Goolsby referred to the section which stated in order for the city to grant a license a cafe or restaurant as defined in the ordinance means an establishment with a banquet room capable of serving 75 persons or more, excluding counter space. Goolsby noted his establishment could seat up to 75 persons if his counter space could be included. He stated Buhl cannot support three of these type places, (only three liquor licenses can be issued in Buhl) as it can't even support the beer establishments that they have at the present time. He also discussed other sections of the ordinance and said he feels the council was discriminating against beer parlor owners and was trying to put tavern operators out of business. The council assured Goolsby that they weren't discriminating against beer tavern operators and reviewed and explained the various sections of the ordinance in detail. The council took his protests under advisement. Floyd Corbell also met with the council seeking information on the liquor ordinance. Building permits were granted to Clifford Sprier, $175; Gene McDaris, $150; Denny Stewart, $750; Chris Hesselholt, $240, all to re-roof their residences with asphalt shingles; Clyde R. Mills, construct a storage building at $100; Roy Lively, re-roof residence with wood shingles at $250; Henry Graesch, construct an addition to residence at $600, and Angus Schlappi, remodel bathroom in residence at $250.

Riot Breaks In California Negro Suburb

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Stones, bottles and bricks battered squads of helmeted policemen as they charged into 1,500 rioters, mostly teen-agers, in a Negro suburb today.

More than 100 officers were dispatched to the scene, a community named Watts. Deputy Police Chief Roger E. Murdock said about 10 of them, and many Negroes, were injured by flying objects. Few required hospital treatment. Fifteen rioters were arrested.

With quiet restored after about eight hours of fighting, frightened residents huddled in their homes, peering through curtained windows at streets littered with shattered glass, rocks and other debris. Bystanders had been attacked, auto windows smashed and some stores looted.

A Negro youth waiting at a nearby police station for his parents to pick him up was asked what he thought caused the riot.

"Gosh, I don't know, but I suppose they'll be doing it again tonight. Some of the fellows said they're going to," said the youth who declined to give his name.

A police sergeant who asked that his name be withheld said the sparks that ignited race hatred were not smoldering but had become a fire of authority.

As the riot increased in violence early today, a television station's 1965 station wagon motor unit was overturned and burned. Police said rioters attacked fire units at the scene, breaking windshields with rocks and bottles.

Chilean Officials Concerned About Country's Alcoholics

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Chile is officially concerned about the number of citizens whose fondness for the grape has them in trouble.

The government paper La Nacion says every other adult male is an alcoholic or is on the way to becoming one.

The National Health Service is more conservative, but even so it says 250,000 people in this nation of eight million have serious drinking problems and that 750,000 others drink excessively.

"Excessively" is defined as getting drunk more than once a month. The service says 45 per cent of its hospital beds are occupied by persons suffering the effects of alcohol.

In the Santiago area, the service estimates, one death in 10 is caused by cirrhosis of the liver.

The government is committed to helping increase wine production particularly with an eye toward boosting exports.

The government also promised a massive special program aimed at bringing the Chilean people up to somewhere near the levels of middle-class dwellers. Controlling alcoholism among the laboring class is regarded as an important step.

Neither the government nor the private groups interested in the problem believe that the situation will change rapidly. Red and white wines are served with both lunch and dinner every class of restaurant. The national drink is a clear brandy called pisco.

Advertisements often show teen-agers drinking beer or wine. A common sight in a Chilean restaurant is a parent pouring wine for his children.

Idaho Hunters May Have Reduced Waterfowl Bag, Season Says Woodworth

SHOSHONE — Idaho sportsmen can "definitely look forward to a reduced waterfowl bag and season" this year, according to John R. Woodworth, director of the Idaho Fish and Game Department, although he said the cut will not be as drastic as the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife first implied. Woodworth told a group of about 40 sportsmen and department personnel at a Fourth District Associated Sportsmen's Clubs meeting Wednesday night at the Manhattan Cafe that the Bureau considered cutting Idaho's season and bag one-half. However, Woodworth said he called Washington Wednesday afternoon and talked with the Bureau and said that it will be taken under consideration to lessen the cut. The bureau stated earlier that it wanted to have an extra 20 percent of the waterfowl population return to breeding grounds after the season is over because of the poor breeding season this year, Woodworth added. "I'm sure we are going to be reduced, but I don't know how much."

All-Gone

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mississippi football Coach Johnny Vaught told the Memphis Rebel Club Monday night that there will be no undefeated football teams in 1965. "The day of the unbeaten team is gone," he said. "We just want to finish at the top of our conference."

Culp, Johnson Gun Phils to 5-1 Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — Ray Culp scattered eight hits and Alex Johnson drove in two runs, leading the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-1 victory over Houston Wednesday night. The victory evened Culp's record at 8-8. The Phillies started with two runs in the first off young Danny Coombs, making his second start of the year and losing his first game.

John Callison's single, Richie Allen's double and Johnson's two-run single produced the opening runs. The Phillies added an unearned run in the fifth and two more in the sixth off Coombs. Tigers Sweep Pair of Games From A's DETROIT (AP)—Don Wert's single, after reliever Jack Aker hit two batters with pitches, drove in the winning run in the 10th inning as the Detroit Tigers completed a doubleheader sweep by edging Kansas City 5-4 in the second game of a two-nighter Wednesday.

Dick McAuliffe's grand slam homer powered the Tigers to a 6-2 opening game victory. Aker came on at the start of the 10th, got one out and then hit Bill Freehan on the leg and Jake Wood on the hand. Wert followed with a single over second.

The Tigers jumped into the lead in the fifth inning of the second game when Willie Horton hit a three-run home run, his first homer in three weeks. Don Demeter hit a solo homer in the sixth before the Athletics charged back. Rene Lachemann's three-run homer chased Detroit starter Mickey Lolich in the seventh inning before the Athletics tied the score off ex-teammate Orlando Pena in the eighth on Santiago Rosario's pinch-single following a pair of walks.

Mira Decides That "No Rookie Can Blow Professional Football Apart"

MORAGA, Calif. (UPI)—"No rookie can blow professional football apart," quarterback George Mira, a man of experience, smiled the other day from beneath the quilts during the San Francisco Forty Niners training camp Siesta. "I've been in the NFL, the University of Miami passing wizard got fairly well raked up in his bow with the Forty Niners. His first start was a hot one as he rode the distance to pass the Western Division basement club to a 24-14 upset of Green Bay. But in the next game, a screen pass went haywire against the Chicago Bears. Mira thinks that he was flattened by the Bears' rugged Joe Fortuna. At any rate, George left nosed Dave Parks who pulled the game with a slight shoulder separation. "Let's just say that the pros hit harder and with more authority," Mira continued. "And plus a loud television set."

Drysdale and Dodgers Drop Mets by 1-0

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Gilliam singled home a seventh-inning run, helping Don Drysdale gain his first victory since July 19 as the Los Angeles Dodgers handed the New York Mets their 10th straight defeat 1-0 Wednesday night. The victory increased the Dodgers' National League lead to 1 1/2 games over the San Francisco Giants, who were rained out.

Drysdale, 16-10, pitched a five-hitter and survived three eighth-inning errors to beat the Mets for the fourth time in five decisions this year. He has a 17-2 lifetime record against the National League cellar dwellers. Maury Wills singled and took second on a passed ball by Chris Cannizzaro before Gilliam delivered the decisive seventh-inning single. The loss went to Gordon Richardson, who relieved Mets starter Larry Miller and choked off a Dodger threat in the sixth inning.

The victory was the Dodgers' 11th in 14 meetings with the Mets this year. New York 000 000 000—0 5 1 Los Angeles 000 000 01x—1 7 3 L. Miller, Richardson (6), McGraw (8) and Cannizzaro; Drysdale and Roseboro. W—Drysdale (16-10). L—Richardson (0-1).

The landowners, in a prepared statement to the sportsmen, said that thoughtlessness and damaging of property were the main reasons for the closure of portions of Silver Creek access. They said they plan to cooperate, but it is necessary to place some restrictions to protect privacy and improvements.

The landowners also said that they will resist all efforts to declare Silver Creek a navigable stream, but if it is, they will close all private land to trespass. They added that they hope that this situation will not arise.

Group Urges Extension of Fishing Ban

SALMON, Idaho (AP) — The Salmon Chamber of Commerce urged the Idaho Fish and Game Commission Wednesday to insist that the Lower Columbia be included in any future ban on salmon fishing. The chamber expressed its views in a resolution following a meeting last week with fish and game officials from Idaho, Oregon and Washington.

The Idaho Fish and Game Commission has banned sports fishing for chinook salmon in the Salmon River drainage in Salmon. Sportsmen and tourist operators in the Salmon area have protested the exclusion of commercial fishing from the ban and the failure of Oregon and Washington to join in it.

The Salmon Chamber of Commerce sent copies of its resolution to officials in the three states and to the Idaho congressional delegation. It asked Idaho to "inform the fisheries authorities of the Lower Columbia River Basin that regardless of the size of the spring and summer chinook salmon runs which may develop in 1965, unless all fishing, commercial or otherwise, is halted in lower rivers, there will be no closure of sports fishing in the Salmon River drainage or any other waters of Idaho except such waters as normally have been closed."

World Record Is Broken by Press

MOSCOW (AP) — Tamara Press, the Olympic champion, broke her own world record in the women's discus throw with a toss Wednesday of 59.70 meters (195 feet, 10 inches). Miss Press set the Olympic women's discus record at Tokyo last year at 187 feet, 10 3/4 inches. She also won the gold medal in the shot put at Tokyo.

CARSON CITY (UPI) — A Salt Lake City man was knocked down by a bolt of lightning during a thunderstorm Tuesday while he was playing golf here.

Bob Benson was playing the seventh hole when the lightning struck. It drove him to the ground, tore his pants but did not burn him.

He was in apparent shock for several minutes and taken to the Ormsby County Hospital where he was pronounced in satisfactory condition.

Nicklaus Favored in PGA Championship, Palmer Is Sentimental Choice

WILKINSON, Pa. Nichols, the 29-year-old Kentuckian who set the tournament record of 128 in relative solitude in his last year, toured the

Error, Single Shoot Chicago Over Reds 7-2

CINCINNATI (AP)—A two-run error by Leo Cardenas and a two-run single in the fourth inning shot the Chicago Cubs past the Cincinnati Reds 7-2 Wednesday night.

Cardenas paved the way for Chicago's big rally when he let ball hit by Harvey Kuenn go through his legs. Don Kessinger, who had singled, and pitcher Jerry Jackson scored on the error.

Billy Williams followed with a single and stole second. Santo drove in Kuenn and Williams with a single off Joey Jay, who had relieved starter Jim O'Rourke.

Cincinnati's Frank Robinson scored two home runs, his 20th of the season, off Jackson, who brought his record to 14.

Namath Could Be Drafted in Near Future

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Namath, the handsome, rich, bachelor quarterback rookie of the New York Jets, may be drafted for military service in the near future.

The 22-year-old former Alabama star has been called up for a pre-induction physical examination on or about Sept. 1 by the Peekskill, N.Y., draft board, spokesman for the American Football League club said Wednesday. The Jets open their season in Houston, Sept. 12.

Namath originally was scheduled to be examined last Tuesday in his home town of Beaver Falls, Pa., but the Jets said his papers were transferred to Peekskill, where the club is training at the Peekskill Military Academy.

The Jets outbid the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League for his services although the prized passer had suffered an injury to his right knee.

Cartilage was removed from the right knee in an operation in January and he wears a restrictive metal-lined elastic brace. The operation has proved successful and Namath has been good so far in games against the Boston Patriots and against the Houston Oilers on Saturday.

"I liked the way he was able to move the team," said Ewick.

That also was one of the many times paid Namath by his Alabama coach, Paul Bear Bryant. Bryant called Namath the best player he ever coached.

Draft Choice Is Entering College

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Admissions No. 1 choice of the Philadelphia Phillies in professional baseball draft, is planning to enter college rather than play baseball.

Admission, 18, said Tuesday he plans to enter professional baseball after completing studies at the University of Southern California.

Koufax Eyes Chances for 30 Victories

By The Associated Press
Sandy Koufax doesn't want any relief, but he thinks he'll need some to win 30 games.

The inimitable Koufax discussed that elusive plateau after becoming the majors' first 20-game winner in the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 triumph over the New York Mets Tuesday night.

"I feel a little tired," he admitted, "but after a couple of nights' sleep I'm always ready again. It would help if the weather got a little cooler. But I'm not looking for any rest. I still want to pitch every fourth day."

"I have a chance to win 30, but I would have to win every start. I really don't think I'll get 30 because you have to pick up some in relief, and I doubt that I'll be doing that."

If Koufax continues pitching every fourth day, he will have 12 more starts, enough so that he could afford to lose a couple and still become the first to win 30 since Dizzy Dean did it in 1934.

It's even possible that Manager Walt Alton will call upon the left-handed ace for some relief duty if the National League pennant race remains as close as it is now. The Dodgers lead San Francisco by only one game and Milwaukee and Cincinnati by two each.

Koufax, who has lost four games, struck out 14 Mets, and raised his major league-leading total to 267, just 81 away from Bob Feller's all-time season record. He also extended his career mark with the Mets to 13-0 and became the earliest 20-game winner since teammate Don Drysdale won his 20th on Aug. 3, 1962.

Hole-in-One

Paul Shimp, 16, scored his first hole-in-one Wednesday at the Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course.

He used a No. 5-iron on the 11th hole to score the ace.

Pizarro Hurls One-Hitter in Twin Bill

CHICAGO (AP)—Juan Pizarro blanked Washington on one hit—a single by Woodie Held in the fifth inning—for his first victory in two months and second of the year as the Chicago White Sox whipped the Senators 7-0 for a split of their twin-night doubleheader Wednesday.

Held rapped two doubles and a single in the Senators' 5-2 first-game victory.

Pizarro, who came off the disabled list recently and had not pitched a complete game, faced only 30 batters. The only other Washington base runner was Don Lock and Don Zimmer, who walked in the second and eighth innings, respectively.

Karen Muir Fails to Top Career Work

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Karen Muir, gangling 12-year-old from the diamond mines of South Africa, won the girls' 110-yard backstroke easily Wednesday night in the British Swimming Championship but failed to better her own career record.

Karen startled the swimming world Tuesday night by going the distance in 1 minute 9.7 seconds, eclipsing every known time for the event. The listed world record is 1:09.8 by Jill Norfolk of Great Britain although Linda Ludgrove, a London poodle-clipper, did 1:09.5 two weeks ago.

In the Wednesday night championships, Karen was timed in 1:09.9, still the second best time ever recorded but slower than her time of Tuesday.

Earlier Wednesday she took the 220-yard freestyle for girls in 2:23.8, finishing more than five seconds ahead of her nearest competitor.

Cowan Is Sold Again by Bisons

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The New York Mets, who recently sold outfielder Billy Cowan to their Buffalo farm club in the International League, said Tuesday that he has been re-sold by the Bisons to the Milwaukee Braves.

The announcement said in exchange for Cowan the Mets will receive an undesignated player within the next week and another player at the end of the season.

U.S. Team Leads West Germany 63-42 in Two-Day Track Meet

AUGSBURG, Germany (AP)—Americans won eight of 10 events and redeemed themselves in the sprint relay for an imposing 63-42 lead over West Germany Wednesday at the halfway stage of their two-day dual track and field meet. Also a strapping 19-year-old substitute, Don Shy of Pomona, Calif., forged to the front after five tests in the rigorous 10-sport decathlon, with Bill Toomey of Laguna Beach, Calif., a close second. By mutual agreement, each team placed three men in the decathlon with only the two best scorers of each to count. The third U. S. representative, Russ Hodge of San Jose, Calif., gamely competed with an injured right leg.

Tom Farrell of Forest Hills, N.Y., and Blaine Lindgren of Torrance, Calif., led American 1-2 sweeps in the 800 meters and 110-meter hurdles respectively.

The United States' other victors were world record holder Ralph Boston—of Nashville, Tenn., with a broad jump of 26-4¼; George Anderson of Baton Rouge, La., with a sparkling 10.2 seconds in the 100 meters; Ed Burke of San Jose, Calif., hurling the hammer 226-5; giant David Weill of Walnut Creek, Calif., with a discus throw of 186-11, and John Pennel of Miami vaulting 16-1.

Harold Norpoth, Germany's Olympic silver medalist in the 5,000 meters, and Juergen Kalfelder, a fine quarter-mile runner, scored the only triumph of the cool evening for the host team.

Norpoth beat out little Gerry Lindgren of Spokane, Wash., and limping Bob Schul, the Olympic title holder from Dayton, Ohio, in the most stirring race of the meet.

Farrell, who defied the National Collegiate Athletic Association to qualify for the AAU-sponsored trip, won the 800 meters in 1:48.5 with teammate George Germann of Port Crane, N.Y., just two-tenths of a second behind.

Lindgren's winning time in the hurdles was 13.8 seconds.

Mariner IV Sending Data on Million-Mile Journey to BYU

PROVO (AP)—Beeping transmitters aboard the Mariner IV satellite, now best known for its close-up photographs of Mars, are sending a steady stream of certain data on a one hundred million mile journey that ends at Brigham Young University.

The Mariner contains eight measuring devices which record various phenomenon in space. Dr. Douglas E. Jones of the BYU physics faculty is a co-developer of one of these instruments, known as a magnetometer.

The earth is known to have semi-circular magnetic fields like those of a simple bar magnet. But, says Jones, irregular patterns result when gasses streaming from the sun hit these fields. The magnetic field near the sun is compressed, the field away from the sun is stretched into an oblong tail.

Data from the magnetometer will help determine the extent and shape of this tail. Complicating the task is a theory that (the tail may be flapping back and forth like a huge wing. The gasses from the sun which cause this distortion to the Earth's fields are called "solar winds." These winds carry with them their own jumble of magnetic fields drawn outward from the sun. Here, the magnetometer is helping scientists trace these lines and understand their structure.

When the magnetometer swept past Mars, its sensitive measuring chambers didn't detect a magnetic field. But, because Mariner IV was on a 7,000 mile from a collision course with its target, scientists can't say if a field much smaller than Earth's doesn't exist.

Jammed with electronic ears and eyes, Mariner IV was hurled into space Nov. 28 of last year. Enroute to Mars, its trajectory sent it through the heart of the Earth's oblong magnetic tail and into interplanetary darkness.

Readings from the magnetometer, originally were sent to Earth at the rate of a complete magnetic field observation every 12.6 seconds.

The magnetometer is still probing Mars' atmosphere, though at a slower rate. Dr. Jones believes it may remain active, depending on such necessities as its solar batteries, for many months.

Tracking stations on Earth tape record the long stream of data from Mariner IV, then forward it to jet propulsion laboratories in Pasadena, Calif. Coded information then is fed into computers that turn out reams of numbers and symbols for study by scientists.

Information from the magnetometer is analyzed by JPL, the University of California at Los Angeles, The California Institute of Technology and BYU.

In BYU's Eyring Science Center, Dr. Jones, aided by Dr. Jae Baillif and graduate assistants Keith Stirling, David Wheeler and Calvin Candland, prepare the magnetometer's readings for further digestion by computer. Through this statistical analysis and by charting the magnetic fields on the Earth, Sun and Mars, they hope eventually to untangle the characteristics of the interplanetary fields and the magnetic tail.

Dr. Jones has been associated with the space science division at JPL since 1959, working on Ranger, Surveyor and Mariner II (Venus) mission. His research at BYU is being financed by a grant from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

Four Permits Are Approved At Gooding

GOODING—Four building permits were approved by the Gooding City Council at their regular meeting Monday night at the city hall.

Permits approved included Reliance Credit Corp., remodeling office, $3,000; Idaho Grange Coop., Inc., new warehouse, $2,000; Carl Woolley, new home, $15,000; Paul Heyward, remodel kitchen, $250.

An application by W. J. Dilworth to move a three-room house was not approved.

The City of Gooding will give to the Gooding Rural Fire District space adjacent to the south side of the firehouse to construct an additional room to house fire equipment.

Police and fire department reports were read.

Regular city employees were granted a $10 raise in salary.

Auction Held By BPW Club To Aid Funds

KETCHUM—A white elephant auction was held at the Sun Valley Business and Professional Women's Club meeting Monday night at Warm Springs Ranch to boost funds for the club's scholarship project.

Mrs. Dan Knight was auctioneer. Additional funds came from the sale of a bean-salad recipe of Mrs. George F. McCov. The club plans to provide $150 for a deserving Blaine county high school graduate to help finance her business school expenses.

Mrs. Roberta McKercher, second vice president, thanked members for Lucille Friendman, chairman of the scholarship fund committee, for their work in raising funds.

Mrs. Winifred Brooks, Mrs. Knight and Mrs. Charles Dunn were named to a nominating committee to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Stanley Friesen who has resigned as president.

Guests were Mercedes Uphoff, San Francisco, niece of Agnes Barry; Mrs. Russell Klein, Redondo Beach, Calif., daughter of Mrs. Knight, whose husband plays in the Lawrence Welk Orchestra; Mrs. Bess M. Shields, Indio, Calif.; Mrs. Lloyd Simpson, Boise; Mrs. Ethel Nelson, Gannett, and Mrs. Ralph Naser, Lewiston.

Leo Stravos will furnish the program at the Sept. 13 meeting at the Star Cafe, Hailey.

Nature Boys Take Carey Field Tour

CAREY—Nature Boys 4-H Club worked towards completing their entomology and forestry projects when they went on a field trip Monday afternoon with James Eakin, Blaine County agent.

Members collected leaves, flowers and insects around the LDS Church grounds and Eakin assisted in identifying them. Fields in the Carey area then were toured and members caught more insects to complete projects for the Blaine County Fair to be held here Aug. 18 and 19.

Eakin showed the destruction that honeydew aphids do to grain, and Norway Maple aphids do to that tree. Randy Drage demonstrated transplanting a shrub at the last meeting of the Nature Boys 4-H Club held at his home. Robert Hennefer, junior leader, gave a demonstration on making a candleholder out of a tree stump and pine cones and each member made one of the candle holder centerpieces.

Record books were brought up to date and Rusty Baird, reporter, conducted the business meeting.

It was decided to meet at 8 p.m. Friday at the home of Kent Green and the cooked food sale scheduled for Wednesday was canceled until a later date. The record books are to be turned in by Monday, says Mary Ann Hennefer, leader.

Additional Benefits for Disabled Person Added to Social Security

BY JOHN TROAN
NEA Special Writer

You need to be a helpmeet in order to qualify for a Social Security disability benefit. However, you have to be so disabled that you can't engage in any substantial gainful activity. In other words, it must be established that because of established or mental condition you are unable to do any work for a living.

In the past, such benefits were paid only if it was shown the disability was expected to last at least 12 months or to result in death. This has been changed, effective Sept. 1.

Now the law says—if you have a disability which has lasted at least 12 months or is expected to last that long, or is expected to result in death, you may start receiving such a benefit.

Being of course, you have provided long enough under Social Security to be eligible. Generally, you must have worked for Social Security at least one of the 10 years just before you became disabled.

When you apply for a disability benefit, the Social Security form gives you a special medical form to be filled out by your doctor and by hospitals and other institutions where you have been treated.

On this form they tell what has been found to be wrong with you, how severe your condition is, what medical treatments you have received and to what degree you are unable to do such things as move about, handle objects, hear, speak, understand or reason.

All this — plus information about your age, education, training, skills and work experience — is sent to an agency specified by your state. There, a team of doctors and others experienced in this field decide whether you are "disabled" within the definition of the Social Security law.

If your application is okayed, your benefit may start with the seventh full month of disability. And your first check would arrive the following month.

If you resume working despite your disability, you may keep drawing your benefit during a "trial work period" that can last as long as nine months. Once it is determined you are no longer disabled, you may get a benefit for three more months.

Suppose you then became disabled again? Well, you wouldn't have to put in another waiting period if the new disability arises within five years after the previous one ended and your new disability is expected to last at least a year or to result in death.

A special provision covers the blind. If you are totally blind (within the meaning of the Social Security law) but can still work, you may "freeze" your Social Security record. In this way, the years you earn little or nothing won't count against you—so the future benefits you draw won't be reduced.

Under Social Security, a person is regarded as blind if his vision rates no better than 5-200 with glasses or he has such gun-barrel vision that his "visual field" is limited to five degrees in the better eye even with glasses.

The new law also makes it easier for blind persons to collect disability benefits. This applies to persons blinded before age 31 and to jobless blind individuals 55 or older.

The size of the disability benefit depends on the worker's average earnings under Social Security. It is equal to what the worker otherwise would draw upon retiring at age 65—even though the disability benefit is payable to a worker at any age.

The wife of a disabled worker also qualifies for a benefit if she is at least 62, or if she is in her care a child under 18 or a child who became disabled before 18.

Such youngsters also are eligible for benefits. So is any child of a disabled worker who is under 22 and still in school.

Each such child gets one-half of the worker's benefit amount. The wife also draws one-half. But her benefit is reduced slightly if she applies for it before age 65—unless she has a "disabled child" or a child under 18 in her care.

However, no family may now receive more than $309.20 a month.

Lincoln Fair Financial Report Given

SHOSHONE—A financial report was given on Chamber of Commerce activity at the country fair when members met Monday noon at the Manhattan Cafe.

A total of $107 was spent, $30 for parade, $57.60 for races and $19.20 for treats.

Herbert Forbes reported on the feasibility of a road north of the Marley area, stating two highway districts would be involved and the project could probably not be promoted.

Need to remodel the park advertising signs was noted and Reid Newby was appointed to contact Mrs. Robert Gaskill to solicit her aid in this project. Signs also might be made to indicate there are camping facilities at the county fairgrounds.

Ray Oyer reported on cancellation of the dance at the fair. Members decided to have the secretary contact the fair board, suggesting the fair be held later next year and displays remain up until 9 p.m. the day the fair ends.

Cecil Cope reported on a league tour held at the Corwin Silva ranch this week.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, AUG. 12—Born today, you are generous, but you are at the same time not one to waste time, effort, or money on one who you may feel is not worthy of your help. You are sympathetic toward the problems of others, but you are not one to sympathize with those who do nothing to help themselves overcome their own difficulties. You are kind, but you are not kindly toward those who have not shown themselves deserving of kindness.

You have a charming and congenial personality, but you are inclined to show this side of yourself only to those whom you consider your friends. This could be a great drawback to your social success, for it works in a vicious circle: you cannot gain friends if you are not charming and congenial; you are not often charming and congenial except to friends! Have a care, then, that you do not defeat yourself with this trait.

You men have the ability and the determination it takes to succeed professionally; you women have the diversity of interests and the love of detail it takes to succeed as homemakers. Do not think, however, that your roles as men and women are absolutely set; men born on this date can keep an excellent house, and women born today are quite capable of holding down an outside job!

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, August 13
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Plan with great care for a day which may hold your future in the balance. Be sure you know exactly what you want.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—An excellent day for fulfilling at least one personal ambition. Guard against hasty action.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Carry out your plans to the letter. To overlook a single step could change the results completely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Wisdom, caution and efficiency: these are the qualities that should see you through a difficult day successfully.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Morning hours are for solving employment problems. Afternoon and evening are less advantageous.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Be guided by reason rather than wishful thinking and you should be able to take a giant step toward your goal.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Important developments are in the works. Tread carefully when it comes to personal relationships; arguments could spoil things.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—Investigate the soundness of any proposition offered during morning hours. You can relax your vigil after noon.
