CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Flight officials swept away today most of the troubles that stymied Thursday's attempt to send two Americans on man's longest space voyage. They now hope to blast off Saturday.

Engineers and scientists, working much of the night, dealt with three electrical problems that combined with a thunderstorm to first delay and then to halt Thursday's countdown 10 minutes before launch time. They interrogated and found unarmored the tape memory of a spacecraft computer. A lightning-generated power surge had forced it to cut off Thursday, the last trouble before the flight was postponed.

A programmer had been rechecked in the telemetry system, and it was undergoing checks as the flight officials moved to an abbreviated countdown integrating the rocket and the spacecraft.

A cable fire caused by an industrial accident would not hinder Saturday's planned flight and was under repair.

All other aspects of the flight were satisfactory, space agency officials reported.

The weather was generally moderate for the launch time, but there are afternoon thunder showers predicted for the launch area, well after the 9 p.m. (EST) flight time.

It was stormy weather Thursday that forced the scrub of the Gemini 5 mission and sent the crew waiting astronauts back to the suiting up trailer to strip away their silver light suits. They were smiling, but disappointed.

Senate OK's Increase in Poverty War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Thursday night passed the $1.65-billion bill authorizing a doubling of President Johnson's antipoverty program in its second year.

The roll-call was 61 to 29.

Passage came after four days of debate in which Republicans charged that the program was riddled with abuse, waste and political manipulation. But they failed in their efforts to cut it back or revise the bill significantly.

The measure was returned to the House, which passed it July 22 with a larger authorization, $1.9 billion, for the year ahead.

Managers of the legislation said they are confident the two branches will quickly settle their differences. The bill is on Johnson's priority list.

The actual cash for the program must be obtained in a later appropriations measure.

HEADING FOR MRS. AMERICA contest, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vincent, Filer, are shown boarding a West Coast Airlines prop-jet at Twin Falls' Joslin Field early Friday morning en route to San Diego, Calif. The contestants will be judged in a variety of events ranging from sewing to doing laundry to parking cars. The contest ends Aug. 30. (Times-News photo)

Marines Mop up Area After War's Biggest Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U. S. Marines drew Viet Cong fire from tunnels and fortifications today as they swept back across the Van Tuong Peninsula after the biggest American battle of the Vietnamese war. A U. S. military spokesman said Communist guerrillas opened up on the Marines with sporadic small arms fire as the Americans continued mop-up operations on the peninsula 12 miles south of Chu Lai.

The area was the stronghold of the 1st Viet Cong regiment, "one of the toughest" the spokesman said.

The spokesman said 563 Viet Cong bodies had been counted. The Marines estimated that more than 600 of the enemy were killed and more than 1,000 wounded in the battle that began with an amphibious and helicopter assault Wednesday.

The spokesman said 52 guerrillas were captured and 64 suspects were held.

One Marine intelligence officer estimated that 1,200 Viet Cong had been in the combat zone and another 800 in the general area.

Casualties among the several thousand Americans involved were light, Marine officials said. But a U. S. military spokesman in Saigon said the Americans had suffered their heaviest losses of any single engagement of the war. Security rules forbid disclosure of U. S. casualties in specific battles.

"The Viet Cong who survived pushed out to sea or infiltrated around and through positions in the rear," said Marine Maj. E. W. Snyder of Oceanside, Calif.

Meanwhile, Henry Cabot Lodge arrived in Saigon to start his second tour of duty as U. S. ambassador. He told newsmen the United States "is both united and persistent in continuing its belief that the current aggression against Viet-Nam must and will be warded off."

"The fight which our military men — Vietnamese, American and allied alike — are making to this end gives us all the opportunity to help bring about a true revolution which will make possible a new and better life for the Vietnamese people," the ambassador said.

Lodge first served as ambassador to South Viet Nam for nine months in 1963-64. He was succeeded in June 1964 by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who resigned last month and left Viet Nam July 30.

House Passes Farm Bill After Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a sweeping four-year farm bill after stormy debate. Now the measure heads for more conflict in the Senate.

Cost of the four years of government-authorized supports have been estimated at between $16 billion and $18 billion. Key farm-state senators already have announced strong opposition to the omnibus bill that was approved, 221 to 172, by the House Thursday night after three days of argument.

The measure, one of the most comprehensive farm bills ever handled by Congress, deals with what one member described as "everything eatable, wearable and smokeable." Its production-control and price-support sections include programs for wheat, feed grains, cotton, wool and dairy-feeding.

In addition to continuing existing programs on feed grains and a wide range of other crops, the bill would make major changes in cotton and wheat programs, set up a new dairy program, and authorize a long-range land-retirement program aimed at taking 40 million acres out of the production of crops now under government regulation.

The administration suffered one setback after another as the legislation went through the Agriculture Committee. Finally, it had to accept major changes in the wheat and cotton sections on the eve of the opening of House debate.

Suspect Held In Sun Valley Robbery Try

HAILEY—Leonard Lloyd Hensley, 20, Pocatello, was being held in Blaine County jail Friday after failing to post $2,000 bond on a charge of attempted armed robbery of The Ram at Sun Valley.

He appeared before Probate Judge J. E. Leichter and requested a preliminary hearing and services of a court-appointed attorney.

Hensley, a parolee from Idaho State Penitentiary, was arrested by Dudo Cain, a Sun Valley special agent, who had been called by a patron of the bar.

Blaine County Sheriff Orville Drexler said Tony Raebler, bartender at The Ram, charged Hensley had forced him at gunpoint into the bar's restroom and was ordering him to get money from the bar when Cain made the arrest.

Raebler said Hensley claimed to be 21 years old and used the draft card of his cousin, Michael Hensley, Pocatello, at the bar.

Both Pocatello men are wanted in Pocatello in connection with the theft of a collection of about 80 silver dollars, valued at $1,000, from a store in Pocatello.

Michael Hensley was arrested in Hailey and is being returned to Spencer for questioning.

Start of Weekend Swells Fair Crowd

BURLEY—Traditionally heavy Friday crowds were expected as a warm sun ushered in the second day of the Cassia County Fair. Friday's events opened at 11 a.m. with the 4-H and FFA showing of horses in the arena, followed in the little arena by grand champion milking and showing. At 9 a.m. the girl's division of the 4-H teamed with the FFA to present home economics demonstrations. The 4-H and FFA fat stock sale will be held in the little arena at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Thursday night's rodeo was "Kid's Night" and drew a crowd estimated at 5,500, who watched a precision drill by the Jerome County Sheriff's Posse, as well as regular rodeo events.

Helps "Sails"

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Robert Manry's solo voyage across the Atlantic affected real estate prices today in his suburban hometown of Willowick.

A home for sale is advertised as located on "Bob Manry's street" in an "ideal location" for a family to "sail on the nearby freeway or to the shopping center."

Mrs. Idaho Leaves For National Event

Like any other typical American housewife, Mrs. Roger Vincent, Filer, will be busy cooking, sewing and doing laundry next week. But the similarity with other young mothers ends right there. Instead of performing these domestic chores at home, on her husband's dairy farm, where she also looks after her six children and "foster-homes" a seventh, she'll be baking, washing and even parking cars at San Diego, Calif.—competing with 50 other American housewives for the title of Mrs. America. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent left bright and early Friday morning for San Diego aboard a West Coast Airlines plane at Twin Falls' Joslin Field.

"All the husbands are required to be there," she said, noting that they'll be engaged in fishing and golf tournaments—"men of leisure, really"—while the womenfolk are busy with the competitive events.

Mrs. Vincent, an attractive 35-year-old mother who manages to combine a busy home life and varied musical activities, said all the Mrs. America contestants will convene Friday afternoon at Los Angeles International Airport and travel to San Diego as a group. There, they'll be met by California Gov. Edmund G. Brown and the mayor of San Diego.

Each of the contestants will present Gov. Brown with a gift from her own governor during a brief ceremony. Mrs. Vincent, who was in Boise Monday and talked with Gov. Robert E. Smylie, will present Gov. Brown a bronze medallion of the Centennial Medal of Idaho.

After getting settled later during the day in the two hotels being used by the contestants, the women will attend a briefing session at 8 p.m., when they'll be given a run-down on activities scheduled next week.

Then, over the weekend, Mrs. Vincent says, "I think we're supposed to relax and get ready for the official competitive events, which start Tuesday morning."

Besides being judged on various domestic activities, the women will drive cars and park diagonally or parallel, Mrs. Vincent said, "I'm not certain, but I've been practicing both."

Also this year, the housewives will compete in a creative event. Mrs. Vincent, who teaches 37 piano lessons a week and continues to study music herself, will be competing.

Blaine Fair Ends With Fall Rodeo

CAREY—The Blaine County Fair ended Thursday with a special awards program during the afternoon at the Carey Ward LDS Church and a rodeo Thursday night, which attracted a good turnout.

Highlighting the awards program was presentation of the first annual Sportsmanship Award to Trudi Justesen, Carey. She received $5 from Mr. and Mrs. Jay Strode, Carey.

A purebred Suffolk ewe lamb was awarded to Ellen Browning, Gannett, who placed first in the senior 4-H sheep division. The lamb was donated by Robert Bappte, Carey.

Other 4-H awards included sewing kits and rhinestone pins to 25 girls and silver belt buckles to eight boys.

The 4-H awards were presented to youths who placed first in the various divisions.

Inquest Set In Death of Oakley Man

BURLEY—An inquest into the death of Fred Hollam, 53, Oakley, who died during a fist fight with his stepson, Donald Pearson, 36, Oakley, about 10:15 p.m. Wednesday, was set by Cassia County Coroner Dr. Leslie Fillmore for 2 p.m. Thursday in Cassia County Probate Court.

Pearson was charged with assault and battery and arraigned Thursday before Probate Judge Vern Carter, who allowed Pearson until Monday to seek legal counsel. Pearson remained in jail after failing to post $500 bond.

An autopsy was performed Thursday on Hollam but results were not released, due to the absence of Dr. Fillmore, who is out of town until Tuesday.

Mr. Hollam was born April 29, 1912, at Bragg, Okla. He married Eulah Pearson in 1948 at Joplin, Mo. He moved to Oakley eight months ago from Del Hi, Calif.

Surviving, besides his widow, Burley, are two daughters, Mrs. Sammy Weathersby and Mrs. Barbara Howard, both Oakley; a brother, Arlis Hollam, Cayuus, Calif., and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Monday at McCullough Funeral Home, Burley, with concluding rites at Pleasant View Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday afternoon and evening and Monday until time of services.

Guardsmen Called to Iowa Fair

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The 107th Iowa State Fair opened today with a Boy Scout bugle call, three planned aerial bombs and armed National Guardsmen called out by the governor to assure a peaceful exposition.

Gov. Harold Hughes said he ordered guardsmen to the fairgrounds here because of "persistent rumors" that "everything from civil demonstrations to riots" might occur during the 10-day fair. No incidents have taken place.

The governor, after a conference Thursday night with law enforcement officers and state officials, told a news conference the rumors had it that "a small group of people" would create "some civil strife" at the fair. He refused to identify the people.

About 50 guardsmen were seen entering the fairgrounds.

Launch Site Tourists Are Fined $100

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two young tourists from State College, Pa., who breached security at Cape Kennedy and skirted dangerously close to a 2 rocket were fined $100 each today and placed on probation for six months.

"Man, we never knew we'd be in this much trouble," said Gary Ralph Young, 22, after he and Theodore Lee Ballenger, 17, were sentenced by U.S. Commissioner Tom Henderson on charges of trespassing on government property.

"We went out there because we were curious. We had no idea we were risking our lives. A security police had better been up."

At one point, Young told newsmen after the hearing, he approached within 200 feet of a giant rocket and stood there for 15 minutes. The cape is cleared to a distance of 100 feet for launches.

Both youths were critical of security measures at the cape.

Raiding Party Led by British

KUANG, Sarawak, Malaysia (AP) — British commandos led or wounded six Indonesian raiders in a battle Thursday in Malaysian Borneo, a military spokesman reported.

The spokesman said one British soldier was wounded during the battle about 30 miles south of Kuang.

There was no immediate information on how many Indonesians were killed or how large the raiding party was.

It was the first such clash since June 24, when British paratroopers killed 12 Indonesian guerrillas near Sarawak's border with Indonesia.

Water Board Has Closed Meet to Set Battle Plans

BOISE (AP)—Idaho set battle Thursday for its first of 11 votes against Southwest water demands — but the plans remain secret until the battle.

The state's new Water Resources Board convened in the house and almost immediately went into closed session to discuss the state's position on the Colorado River Basin Reclamation Act which board member Dr. Evan Kackley of Wayan said anticipates diversion of 2.5 million acre feet of water from the Northwest.

Kackley, who laid a packet of information and ideas before the board in the closed session, said he does not believe the Aug. 23 hearing will be decisive.

But he added: "Those boys (Southwest interests) are playing for keeps. They won't give up without a fight. We're going to have to dig up help from Washington and Oregon — and every organization in Idaho."

The board decided to send three delegates to the hearing before the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. The three will be Chairman George Crookham and board members Kackley and Arlie Parkins of Homedale.

Kackley indicated two other Idaho water agencies also plan to attend the hearing but would not name them.

The board delegates' testimony apparently will be a composite of whatever ideas Kackley offered in the closed session and ideas Crookham offered the board in a prepared statement.

Crookham's statement criticizes a section of the Lower Colorado Project Act that would authorize the secretary of interior to study plans for importing water into the Colorado River Basin.

The act does not suggest where the water should come from but Crookham said he believes it anticipates water from the Columbia River — into which Idaho's Snake, Salmon and Clearwater rivers flow.

Crookham's statement proposes that any importation of water to the Colorado Basin require a specific act of Congress.

The water board also considered several other federal proposals and programs on which it may later decide to take stands.

Crookham favored removal of Idaho's Salmon and Clearwater rivers from immediate inclusion in the proposed Wild Rivers Bill now in the Senate.

Viet Nam Crisis May Increase Marriages

NEW YORK (AP) — Is there something about the thought of serving in Viet Nam that brings out the romance in draft-age youths?

Not the kind of romance that sends young men down to enlist — but the kind that sends them into the arms of their beloved and draft-free status. No married man living with his wife has been drafted since 1963.

An Associated Press survey shows marriages by young persons on the increase in many major cities since the American commitment in Viet Nam was stepped up last month.

Some of the people who man the marriage license bureaus say the Viet Nam crisis is the main factor behind the increased marriages.

"I think that influenced it," said R. K. Thomas, clerk of the Salt Lake County marriage bureau in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Washington Social Circle Goes to Dogs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Status, away much in demand in pres-conscious Washington so-cial circles, has gone to the dogs.

The District of Columbia's Department of Licenses and Inspections Thursday issued its 10 list for 1965 revealing the names of the "in" set in the canine world who hold dog licenses numbered one through 10.

The top of the list was shared by the presidential beagle Him, whose registered owner is Luci Johnson, and Blanco, the Johnsons' white collie.

Family's white collie, whose owner of record was listed as President Lyndon B. Johnson. Him and Blanco hold dog tags Nos. 1 and 2, respectively.

The department also disclosed that the death of the White House beagle Her after swallowing a stone on the lawn of the executive mansion had created a vacancy on the elite list.

This allowed Beau, a poodle belonging to Gen. Omar N. Bradley, to join the list. Beau at the No. 10 spot after all the other dogs moved up a notch.

Among the other top dogs in town are two cairns, G Boy and Cindy, owned by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. They hold tags Nos. 6 and 7. The remainder of the upper crust dogs belong to District of Columbia officials and socially prominent persons.

KNOWN AS THE "World's Greatest Bucking Mule", is this onery, mean and ugly mule, Khrushchev. Although he is barred from the rodeo contest, an exhibition ride will be one of the features at the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo, scheduled for Sept. 8 through 11 at Filer. Anyone is invited to try his luck to make qualified ride on this mean critter, but if his luck holds out like it has for several years, Khrushchev still will be the winner.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Objections are raised almost daily to Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler's proposal that the leading industrial nations discuss ways to meet the world's probable need for a greater supply of money and credit to finance international trade.

The stumbling blocks are in many and obvious. But the advantages of at least exploring the problem weigh heavily, too, and the backlash to the American economy of any collapse could sting you badly.

One charge is that the big powers who presumably would formulate such a parley as Fowler proposes would benefit themselves. The smaller nations which most need an international supply of money and credit if they're to grow, might end up worse off than they are that is, with less money from whatever source to spend.

On a different tack, conservatives of the old stripe, as distinguished from champions of the new Economics, question whether the international money supply isn't too large rather than too small. They contend that the expansion of international money and credit sources since World War II has led to inflation. They fear that a parley such as Fowler suggests might just create new instruments of inflation — helping a little and perhaps even helping a lot.

The real need, they say, is for nations that are in trouble to cause a balance of payments deficit to put their own houses in order. These critics see all the talk about more international money being needed shortly as just a cover up for the inflation they have brought on themselves at home.

Standpatters, another group, say that the International Monetary Fund can do the job ahead, they contend that this body, set up at Bretton Woods in 1944 to stabilize national currencies of member nations through the loans and whirlpools of international finance, hasn't been led to its full potentialities. Be all its resources, they say, you won't need something else.

Some practical objections center on fear that the "Club of 10" — the 10 biggest industrial and financial powers this side of the Iron Curtain — would beocratic and corner all the profits. The club would set up control any new form of international monetary exchange and use it to fatten the members' economies.

Others warn that if a parley is held, under the glare of worldwide attention, any sudden international political develop-

Negotiations Continue in Shipping Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations continue today in the 66-day East and Gulf Coast shipping strike, with a spokesman reporting no prospect of an early settlement.

Another fruitless session between shipping and two unions ended just before midnight Thursday night at the Labor Department and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz asked both sides to return to the conference table today.

Earlier Thursday, Marine Engineers voted overwhelmingly to accept a contract with the eight shipping lines which had been worked out under Wirtz' direction earlier in the week.

LEAVES LARGE ESTATE

LONDON (AP) — American writer Quentin Reynolds left an estate in England valued at 10,533 pounds ($29,492.40), according to his will made public today.

ment could ruin everything. If such a crisis brought on a breakdown of the parley it could cause a run on the dollar and the pound that might prove disastrous.

One answer to all this by proponents of change is: Talk now so as to move "with all due deliberation" before the present system of international money supply breaks down and some crisis-born measure of doubtful worth would have to be devised.

Ike's Support of Johnson's Policy Is Hit by Republicans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower caused fresh twinges of pain today among his Republican admirers in Congress with his all-out endorsement of President Johnson in two areas of foreign policy.

Eisenhower, who is still a towering figure in the GOP, is giving Johnson virtually unreserved backing for U. S. military action in Viet Nam and for a reversal of position in the United Nations.

The Republicans learned years ago that Eisenhower could disarm them when they were in a mood for a good political scrap.

But they have been looking for ways to criticize while supporting administration policy in Viet Nam. They also felt that they had found an issue when the administration retreated from its demand that Russia and other countries pay United Nations assessments to remain votes in the U. N. assembly.

Eisenhower deflated both issues at a Gettysburg, Pa., news conference Thursday after serving as host to GOP leaders and wealthy contributors at a tent meeting luncheon on his farm.

Although the former President has repeatedly declared his support for the administration stand in Viet Nam, he caused some uncertainty about his position Tuesday with a comment that his administration had only a pledge of economic support to South Viet Nam.

Warden Clapp Sees Youth Program Need

BOISE (UPI)—Prison Warden L. E. Clapp says youth programs should be enlarged to keep youngsters busy and out of trouble.

Clapp told a Boise civic group Thursday that idleness brings about much of the trouble in which children become involved.

"It is a serious situation when young people can't go out and earn a few dollars," Clapp said. "This may be a cause of juvenile delinquency, he said, and later crime which results in imprisonment."

He recommended enlarging present youth camps in the state and suggested teen-agers be given work in clearing and replacing burned-off forest areas.

Clapp also said that ground clearing for Idaho's new prison south of Boise will begin in the next few days. He said new buildings will be rising early next year.

Transfer of Permit OK'd By PUC

BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Public Utilities Commission announced today the transfer of a truck permit from David Randall Osborne, Fairfield, to Willes Cheney, Gooding, despite Osborne's opposition to the transfer.

The commission said it was advised by Fourth District Court, in an order signed by Judge Charles Scoggin, that K.N.A.B., an Idaho corporation, was designated as an agent for Osborne, with authority to sign papers making the transfer of the trucking permit.

"The circumstances surrounding this application for transfer," the public utilities commission said, "are unusual in the sense that the present holder of IPU permit No. 5794 is objecting to the transfer of the permit."

"However, this commission has no authority or jurisdiction to question the act of the district court in appointing K. N. A. B. as agent for Mr. Osborne... if the intervenor, Mr. Osborne, questioned the court's authority or propriety he should have brought the matter to the attention of the district court."

The permit authorizes transportation of livestock feed, farm products, livestock and machinery.

Traffic Heavier On Middle Fork

SALMON—More than 500 persons traveled down the Middle Fork of the Salmon River in the Idaho Primitive Area during July. Forest Services authorities report.

This represents a 20 per cent increase over July, 1964, the report states.

The patrol boat service, operated by the Salmon, Challis, Boise and Payette national forests, reports that due to the unseasonably high water this year there have been an unusual number of boat wrecks, but that no loss of life has yet been involved.

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (AP) Authorities began a litterbug investigation after old furniture was dumped in a ditch west of nearby Bridge-water. They found a note with a Sioux Falls address, which led them to a truck apparently used to haul cattle—and two suspects were arrested for cattle theft.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — This was an ordinary day in Washington. The morning paper was sprinkled with pious comments on the Los Angeles riots, and as usual white society got it in the neck because too many Negroes were underprivileged and unemployed. As usual, bands of Negro youths rode around town in late model cars.
And the Washington Post carried eight and a third pages of classified advertising labeled "Help Wanted—Male."

On such a day, I find it hard to be satisfied with President Johnson's sorrowful statements denouncing violence in the streets and with the findings of the sociologists that the rioting in Los Angeles was triggered by the Negro's feeling that he was trapped in a ghetto. The Rev. Martin Luther King leaves me cold when he calls for "a program . . . to give the Negro people hope."

NEGRO PRINCIPAL VICTIM — Every time a Negro is arrested for rape or robbery or murder, the blame is put on poverty, slums and racial discrimination. But there was a great deal more poverty and racial discrimination in America 20 years ago—and yet it was relatively safe to walk the streets. The crime rate has risen, it seems, in direct proportion to the number of civil rights laws passed by Congress.
Moreover, it is the Negro who is the principal victim of this rising crime rate. In Washington, 55 per cent of the crimes of violence are committed by Negroes against Negroes. The dogooders who would coddle the rapist and the switch-blade artist in effect are exposing the Negro population to their mercies.

NOT SPONTANEOUS — Worse, there is accumulating evidence that the Los Angeles riots were an organized insurrection — not a spontaneous protest by second-class citizens. In each area, it has been found, there was someone who took charge, someone who knew how to mix a Molotov cocktail, someone who marked certain buildings for destruction. These are not the ingredients of spontaneity.
In depression days, the fact that unemployment in Los Angeles' Watts district was 34 per cent and that 60 per cent of the population were on relief would have had significance. But like most other cities today, Los Angeles is a boom town in which thousands of jobs — many of them requiring unskilled labor — go begging. In Los Angeles as in Washington, too many Negroes are unemployed because they don't want to work.

CHOOSE LAWS TO OBEY — Even so, I suppose these people have a right to protest against the size of their relief checks if nothing else. But a protest is suspect when gun shops report a sell-out business of arms and ammunition, when whole city blocks are set afire and when looters strip liquor stores of their stocks. A demonstrator with a gun in his hand and whiskey in his belly is not exactly in the Gandhi tradition.
I am afraid that the Martin Luther Kings, despite their talk about the "non-violent approach," bear a heavy responsibility for outrages of the Los Angeles variety. By their sit-ins and other intimidating tactics, they have fostered the premise that people can choose which laws they will obey and which laws they will flout. The Negro rioter in Los Angeles was exercising this choice.

'FELLOW REVOLUTIONARIES'
President Johnson was not just wading the next voting generation when he sought to align himself with the ideals of the young the other day. He has a record of concern for youth going back to his Texas days of teaching and of administering a governing program to find jobs for unemployed young people. As President he has pressed ahead with action to improve education, reduce disadvantages of poverty and race, and prepare young people for changing patterns of employment.
Many of his steps have been controversial. He is proceeding in a risky area where necessary federal aid to release the potentialities of youth can become confused with a paternalism tending to deaden or delay independent thought and action.
Yet the criticism of the Johnson domestic programs—whether they are specifically directed at youth or not—does not discredit the conclusions of such Washington commentators as Richard Rovere. He says that "something very close to a peaceful social revolution has been taking place."
So the President had reason for addressing a White House crowd of college students as "fellow revolutionaries." Despite the narrow intellectuality or self-indulgent time-serving of many students, many others have given the present college generation an air of unusual concern for causes beyond itself.
Some may demonstrate against Mr. Johnson's Viet Nam policy. For the so-called "new radicals" emerging on some campuses, the "consensus" man's claim to be a revolutionary will probably be the occasion for coffee-house cynicism.
Yet Mr. Johnson disarmed hostility by speaking somewhat philosophically about Robert Lowell, the poet whose conscience would not let him attend the White House Festival of the Arts. And it would seem that young people in general can hardly fail to be encouraged when their President sympathizes with their "restlessness." And when, while reminding them to respect the rights of others, he smiles upon their urge to protest what they think is wrong—which in itself so often involves fighting for the rights of others.
Such a voice from their fathers' generation could not help to offset opinions such as that of a teen-ager on a television panel: "We can't expect our parents to fight. They have prejudice ingrained in them."
The fact is that not only the President and the students are allied when he says: "Neither you nor I are willing to accept the tyranny of poverty, nor the dictatorship of ignorance, nor the despotism of ill health, nor the oppression of bias and prejudice and bigotry. We want change. We want progress. We want it both abroad and at home—and we aim to get it."
If a good many of the elders did not also agree, the peaceful revolution would not be happening.—Christian Science Monitor.

BUNGLING BUREAUCRATS
The all-knowing federal bureaucrats who want to place everything under their control may have a lot of explaining to do.
Sen. John Williams, R-Del., has called for a full-scale investigation into reports that housewives in three states—New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio—have been sold horsemeat labeled "Government-Inspected Boneless Beef."
"It's a great mystery," says Williams, "how for more than a year these federal meat inspectors failed to detect the difference between horsemeat and beef?"—Indianapolis News.

"Mr. Frank Caruso
"West Hartford, Conn.
"Dear Sir:
"Thank you very much for taking an interest in my problem. With your help, I think I will soon be able to sing 'The Star Spangled Banner' without getting a nose bleed.
"As you are aware, I have no difficulty with the rampart watching, the bomb bursting and most of the other parts of the song. My trouble comes in two places.
"One is the 'rockets red glare' and the other is 'o'er the land of the free.'
"Both phrases end on notes so high that the altitude causes hemorrhaging in my sinus passages.
"In a way, of course, this adds an extra patriotic element, signifying a willingness to shed blood for one's country. But my wife complains that it makes my linen more difficult to launder.
"When I mentioned the problem in a recent column reporting on congressional consideration of a bill to adopt an official version of the National Anthem, you were kind enough to offer a solution.
"You sent me copies of your own arrangement of the anthem done in three different keys. One is in the key of 'E-flat' for 'elderly groups,' one in 'F' for 'public gatherings' and one in 'G' for 'school choruses.'
"You suggested that of the three, there should be one that I could get through without reaching for a handkerchief.
"Over the Fourth of July weekend, which seemed an appropriate time for such an experiment, I had my daughter run through them on the piano so that I could try matching them to my voice.
"I am delighted to report that in the key of 'G' I got all the way to 'the home of the brave' without a single red drop appearing. There is, however, one thing that still bothers me.
"This particular key is the one you designated for 'school choruses.' Unfortunately, I rarely have an opportunity to sing with a school chorus.
"Most of my singing is done at 'public gatherings,' such as ball games, where the key of 'F' is indicated.
"Do you think it will be all right if I sing in 'G' while everyone else is singing in 'F'? This being the land of the free," as it says in the song, it seems to me a person should have the right to choose his own key.
"I am anxiously awaiting your advice in this matter. Meanwhile, the Red Cross blood bank is standing by for emergencies."

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Not this year but maybe next year, or the next year, or the next, will bring some kind of overhaul in foreign aid which has cost the government $11 billion in the past 20 years.
But the program in some form seems destined to go on indefinitely. Congress is about to authorize spending $3.36 billion more on it for another year.
As it turns out, this is another pretty good victory for President Johnson.
Earlier this year in an interview David E. Bell, head of the Agency for International Development, which handles foreign aid, was asked if he could foresee the day when it would come to an end.
He said: Yes, certainly. But he didn't say when. He pointed out that various programs of aid to European countries have come to an orderly finish. He expects the same to happen elsewhere, he said.
This year there was the usual irritation and agitation about foreign aid in Congress, which traditionally has approved continuing it but on a year-by-year basis.
One of the most discontented was also one of the most powerful men in the Senate, J. W. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.
Military and economic assistance have always been lumped together, requiring Congress to approve them in a single parcel. Fulbright wanted them separated. The Senate wouldn't buy the idea. Neither would the House.
Fulbright called this lumping together "a garbage can . . . and conglomeration" of all sorts of amendments which have nothing to do with foreign aid. He asked: How could any senator know what he was voting for or against?
But his opposite number had some things to say, setting his teeth against any major change. In the end he won. This was Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, Pennsylvania Democrat and chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.
He said foreign aid is "not a miracle vaccine that will make every country in the world immune to communism. But it is vital to our security" and it has "enabled us to win important battles."
The Senate, but not the House,

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
A family with an annual income of $6,600 spends about $24,000 to raise a child to age 18. Twenty years ago a family earning $3,000 a year could bring a youngster up for $9,000—and faced less danger of winding up with a beatnik.
Do you know what fruit product is used most often in the American home? It's coffee, old bean.
India is one of the world's hugriest nations. It is estimated that three out of four of her 483 million people get less than the 2,500 daily calories needed for good health.
The price of freedom: Since Japanese women have been granted more equal rights, medicines have found an increase in high blood pressure among them. But they still outlive the average Japanese man, 72.8 years to his 67.5.
The price of peace in a cold war era: Secretary of State Dean Rusk figures the United States has spent $600 billion on defense since the end of World War II.
Who litters our city streets? A survey found that men are worse offenders in this respect than women. Women are kept so busy cluttering up their bathrooms that they don't have time to litter up the streets.
Our quotable notables: "It is only in the upper-class level that each husband sits next to the other man's wife"—Louis Kronenberger.

Prosperity note: America has only about 6 per cent of the world's population—but more than 22 per cent of its drug stores.
South Viet Nam may have had nine or ten changes of government in the last few years, but Bolivia may hold the record for political restlessness. That country has had some 179 revolutions where to hang up his coat and hat he may be out of office.

Life is getting lovelier all the time: A whisky-scented soap made in bottle-shaped bars is being sold in Austria. Du Pont may become the postman's best friend. It is marketing something called "dog-stopper," a new push-button aerosol which sends off angry dogs by spraying them with a harmless white foam.

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
GENEVA — Sheltered by the Alps and framing the rounded end of the lake where it flows into the river, the old town of Geneva is a city of trees and bells and bridges and the gentle, charming variations of color and light that a beautiful lake always gives the buildings and foliage that circle its shores and are mirrored in its shining surface.
Here and in the six other watchmaking cantons (states) along the French border, the timepiece traditions started almost four centuries ago; for time is the art of the Swiss. So is the defense of their independence and their homes.
This began even earlier when attacking Gauls first slid down the snowy slopes on giant war shields; Switzerland, which broke the battle axe of Austria and shattered the fear of a sword of Charles the Bold; Switzerland, which, as I mentioned recently, maintains today the largest ready army in all Western Europe—600,000 fully trained men, backed by 400 jets.

On Geneva's Restoration Movement you can see an example claiming free compulsory education for all children; another old. Most European countries did not have compulsory education for children until after World War I.
The people are sovereign—really sovereign. Accordingly, the government's performance for them is probably the best in the world. For the Swiss are determined to keep the government as close to hand as possible. Thus the 22 cantons are intensely concerned with cantonal responsibilities (states' rights) and intensely antagonistic to any seeming encroachment by the Federal authority at the capital in Bern.
As one result, there are few Federal taxes, except for defense and national highways. Most revenue and other taxes must originate in the cantons. Then a sufficient number of cantons must ask Bern for Federal enactment by the equal of our House and Senate before the law can become national.
Finally, the proposed legislation must clear the hurdle of a direct vote. (Sundays) by the people in a nationwide referendum.

There is no chief-of-state, and a personality cult is utterly impossible. The parliament in Bern annually elects a seven-member Federal Council from among the abundant political parties that hold seats. A different Federal Councillor is chosen President of Switzerland each year.
If you want to see in action Winston Churchill's advice that "On the whole it is wise to separate pomp from power," come here.
The business boom is creating problems for the government, nevertheless, with its pressure toward higher prices but, more or all, through the Niagara-like influx of foreign workers.
More than 800,000 are at work here now while Switzerland's own population is only 5.5 million. This is a third of the total work force and Italians account for nearly 70 per cent of it. With dependents, these foreign workers total more than a million, a larger proportion of foreign workers than any European country.
Newspapers, of course, are the untiring watchdogs in problems and in the great hard-hitting "no nonsense from the politicians" tradition, led by the immensely respected Nur Zurcher Zeitung, which ranks European prestige with The Times of London.
In neighboring Italy, few newspapers are sold per million population than in any country in Western Europe. More sold per capita in Switzerland than anywhere in the world. Switzerland has 504 newspapers. It has 743 technical magazines whose total circulation is also so wide abroad that it exceeds Switzerland's entire adult population by 50 per cent.
The overwhelming number are published in German. The language balance in this country is much more out of balance than generally supposed. More than 74 per cent of the Swiss speak German (Schwyzerdeutsch), only 21 per cent French, less than 5 per cent Italian.
There is an inspiring charm of good judgment, harmony, vigor and individual self-reliance to be seen here. I write next from Czechoslovakia, an Iron Curtain country where perhaps freedom is only a crushed dream, but sometimes it seems that Switzerland has stayed closer to the Jeffersonian ideal than even our United States.

Senate backed down.
The Senate proposal to end the program in two years was dropped. Instead, the conferees agreed on suggesting a committee be created to think up some new approaches on foreign aid.
The House agreed that next year, when the program comes up again, Congress may consider extending it for "two or more years" at a time. That's about as vague as an agreement can be.
Considering the way Congress had slashed other presidents' aid programs, it treated Johnson very well.
He had asked $3.38 billion, plus $89 million to finance the start of an economic and social program in Southeast Asia. The conference committee's agreement to let him have $3.36 billion included the $89 million.
It's usually routine for both houses to approve what their compromise committees agree on. House and Senate are expected to do that in this case quickly.

The Doctor Says
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

Q—My doctor says I have labyrinthitis but he didn't explain what it is. What causes it and can it be cured?
A—Labyrinthitis is Meniere's disease, a condition that appears to be increasing in prevalence. The cause is unknown except that there is some evidence that the stress of modern living is a factor.
A disturbance in the circulation of the inner ear (labyrinth) is a causative factor in some cases. Since this is usually due to hardening of the arteries, the disease is seen most often in persons who are past 60.
Since the inner ear houses the mechanism that controls equilibrium, the victim has attacks of dizziness which may be accompanied by vomiting. He may also complain of ringing in the ears and some loss of hearing. The disease is aggravated by smoking, alcohol, quinine and arsenic.
The dizziness may be relieved by the antihistamines prescribed for motion sickness and by large doses of the vitamin, niacin.
Water pills and omitting salt from the diet give relief if swelling of the tissues in the inner ear is present.
In some persons there may be a gradual improvement without any treatment but, if the symptoms are severe and persistent, surgical destruction of the nerve supplying the equilibrium apparatus may be necessary.
This is a delicate operation as there is always the danger that the hearing nerve will be destroyed as well. A new technique using ultrasound waves has been used for this purpose with excellent results.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By BOB REESE

He was just a rookie pitcher that nobody knew. Bill Metchum, manager of the Cincinnati Reds that year, thought the young hurler was a comer and had confidence in him. Although he'd only won five games in the minors the year before, Metchum made him a regular on his staff. His name was Johnny Vander Meer.

Johnny got off to a good start that year, tossing a shutout in his first game... but there was nothing in his record to prepare the baseball public for what happened in June.

On June 11th against Boston, Vander Meer was suddenly catapulted into national fame when he pitched a no-hit game. Few hurlers ever achieve this greatest of pitching feats... and it's likely that no pitcher will ever match what Vander Meer did... for on June 15th, against Brooklyn, he accomplished the incredible by pitching his second successive no-hitter!

Remember the year? In those days a car buyer was suspicious of the incredible especially claims of unbelievable savings on a new car. He had to be shown in black-and-white that he was getting more than "paper savings."

The year was 1938. We'll be glad to show you in black-and-white just how much we can save you on the longer lower new Chrysler or Imperial. We don't make wild claims... but we can give you a better deal—and we'd like to prove it! Come in this week! Bob Reese Motor Co., 500 Block, Second Ave. So., Twin Falls. Phone 733-5726.

Birth Rate Declines in June, 1965
WASHINGTON (AP)—The birth rate continued to decline during June, with an estimated 310,000 babies being born as compared with 331,000 in June 1964, the Public Health Service reported today.

The rate was only 19.4 births for each 1,000 population, down from a rate of 21.1 a year earlier.

For the 12 months ended June 30 there were an estimated 3,908,000 births, compared with 4,081,000 in the similar period ended with June 1964.

It now appears certain this will be the first year since 1953 in which the number of births has not exceeded 4 million.

The births during the first six months of this year totaled 1,832,000, down from 1,978,000 in the comparable 1964 span.

The service also reported that the number of marriages in June—usually considered the month with the most marriages—dropped below the 1964 June figure—226,000 and 229,000. Since population has increased, the rate was 14.2 per 1,000 population in this June and 14.6 a year earlier.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. I am deeply interested in purchasing some English stock in the Lennon-McCartney Song Publishing Co. I heard about it on a radio program and I read about it in a magazine. It has more than tripled in value. But neither my bank nor several brokerage firms can provide any information about it.

A. The company's name has been changed to AMK Corp. Look it up in the American Stock Exchange table under that name.

Stockholders approved the change in the corporate name at a meeting May 19. As a stockholder, you were entitled to vote your shares at that meeting.

It appears that, like many other stockholders, you don't read the mail the companies send. That's no way to stay informed.

Q. I own more than 100 shares of American Seal Kap Corp. Until recently, I was reasonably satisfied with that investment. But now I am quite concerned. I cannot find the stock listed in any newspaper listing American Stock Exchange transactions. What happened?

Foreign Aid Bill Goes to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A compromise one-year, $3.36 billion foreign aid bill is headed toward a final fight in the Senate next week after passage by the House.

The measure, authorizing $1.7 billion in military assistance abroad, the remainder in economic loan and grant programs, was approved by a 243-150 vote in the House Thursday.

Its chief Senate foe, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said he will ask that body to reject it and send it back to a Senate-House conference committee.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, said he may call the bill up in the Senate Monday.

Q. The latest dividend from some stock I own was due to arrive three weeks ago. When I didn't get the check, I wrote to the bank which is the transfer agent for the stock and which also sends out the dividends. That was two weeks ago. I received no reply.

What would you advise me to do now?

A. Wait a while longer. We know that mail sometimes goes astray. If your check was lost or stolen, the company will want to get things squared away.

I'm sure you appreciate that checking things out such as this can take some time. You should hear from the bank within a reasonable amount of time. If you don't, write another letter. Address the second letter to the office of the treasurer of the company in which you own stock.

Beauty Aids Suggested for Mothers-to-Be

By ALICIA HART
NEW YORK—The sight of more than two pregnant women together seems to unnervé the average male. Consider the reaction, then, of a fleet-footed bachelor reporter who encountered 20 very, very soon-to-be mothers one day while on a casual luncheon stroll.

He's still pale.

The women, a little research revealed, were just leaving their prenatal class. One thing the young man did manage to grasp as he sought the relative safety of the sports department was: "Must they look so slop-Not really."

Designers of maternity fashions are providing clothes to give pregnant women a stylish, relaxed look. The interest is in the neckline, or sleeves, anything to draw the eye above the waistline.

Hairstylists, too, show more attention to the mother-to-be than in previous seasons.

If you are in the waiting stage, a tip from Leslie Blanchard, (hair color) director of Saks Fifth Avenue's Maison Antoine (Salon). He recommends diverting the expanding middle through hairstyling and coloring.

You will find, he says, that a color rinse keeps your hair from looking drab while you are pregnant. Try a new hairdo, he suggests, one that complements your yet adds height. Try, for example, a simple hairstyle which you can comb back from the face and decorate with a night-large bow set at the nape of the neck. Do not neglect your hair during your "confinement," as pregnancy once was called. Keep it clean and combed.

A week or two before you expect to enter the hospital, have your hair cut and set at a becoming length. But even before that you will find a pretty coiffure and fresh make-up provide a subtle emotional lift that only a pregnant woman can appreciate.

MR. AND MRS. STEVEN I. TEUSCHER (Davis photo)

Julie Talbot, Teuscher Say Nuptial Promise

JEROME—The Logan LDS Temple was the setting for the July 15 wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Julie Talbot, daughter of Mrs. Gertie Talbot, Jerome, and Steven I. Teuscher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff J. Teuscher, Buhl, former Jerome residents.

The bridegroom's parents officiated at the ceremony. Accompanying the couple to the temple were the bride's mother, the bridegroom's parents, Bishop and Mrs. Herrick M. Drake, Keith Goddard, Smithfield, Utah, and the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Alma Eschler, Logan.

The couple greeted guests before a background setting of pink and white gladioli.

The bride's floor-length sheath gown of white peau de soie featured a fitted bodice with scooped neckline and long lily point sleeves enhanced with covered buttons. A panel of Swiss embroidery accented with seed pearls enhanced the beauty of the full-length gown.

A detachable chapel train fell from the waist and was gathered by three bows at the back.

Her shoulder-length veil of white tulle was held by a single white rose. The gown was designed and made by the bride's mother.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of pink baby rosebuds and white feathered carnations with white streamers.

The bridegroom's parents honored the newlyweds at an open house reception July 25 at their home at Buhl.

Mrs. Fern Bingham welcomed the guests.

The couple greeted guests before a fireplace banked with pink and white gladioli.

Charla Bingham was in charge of the guest book and Debra Montgomery and Doris Teuscher displayed the gifts.

Mrs. Ellen Johnson and Susan Parker presided at the refreshment table which was centered with a three-tiered cake.

Changes in Living Forseen By Writer

By RUTH MILLETT
NEW YORK—The promise that computer-run homes are going to become a reality sooner than the average housewife imagines sounds great until a woman gets to thinking what a computer can and cannot do.

We are told the housewife of the future who is lucky enough to have a computer for a helper can turn over to it control of meal preparation, let its program cleaning operations and command washing machines, dishwashers, electric stoves and other appliances.

The trouble is, it's not those routine chores that get a housewife, with a kitchen well-equipped with labor saving devices, down in the mouth.

The pressure on today's housewife comes from other things than keeping a house clean and a family fed. It comes from running a family taxi; trying to be a companion to her husband (whose working hours get shorter and shorter) without neglecting the children; trying to look younger than her years (since it is now regarded as a crime for a woman to look her age); worrying about the morals and safety of her children from the time they start having car dates until they are safely married.

It was from worrying about her husband's health (because somehow she feels it is up to her to keep him from having a heart attack); trying to be a helpmate in the new meaning of the word (doing her bit to advance his career by being a social asset to him); trying to provide a close family unity in an environment where everyone is on the move; having to pull up roots and move wherever her husband's company chooses to send him.

And it comes from trying to maintain enough outside interests of her own to keep from feeling like a dud among other women; worrying about whether she is neglecting her family if she holds down an outside job or whether she should be contributing to the family income if she isn't.

These are the pressures on the housewife of today. And no matter how smart a computer moves into her split-level home it's not going to be smart enough to relieve the woman of the house of any of these worries.

Rev. Donald L. Hoffman performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white taffeta and lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, a square neckline and long lily point sleeves. A crown of pearl-studded flowers and bridal net gathered at the back formed her elbow-length veil of illusion. She carried an arrangement of white stephanotis centered with a white orchid on a heart-shaped background of mint green net and ribbon.

Mrs. Earl Romans, Twin Falls, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Ernest Romans served as best man.

Mrs. Keith Ferris was soloist and Mr. and Mrs. John Senecle sang a duet.

A reception was held for the couple June 27 at the Camp Fire building, Rupert. The couple greeted guests before an archway decorated with bouquets of fern, topped with wedding bells and flanked by baskets of white peonies and red and white roses.

A three-tiered ornate wedding cake on a square mirror centered the bride's table, covered with lace. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Austin Walker, Declo.

Guests were served at quartet tables covered with white cloths, each containing a single white rose. Mrs. Jesse Mendez, Mrs. Chad Maxey Jr. and Mrs. William Terry, Idaho Falls, were in charge of refreshments.

Mrs. Robert Jensen, sister of the bride, attended the guest book. Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Merlin Dorsey, Mrs. Blake Morgan and Mrs. Karen Young. Others assisting included Mrs. Gordon Adams, Hagerman, and Mrs. Emerson Adams, Boise, aunts of the bride.

Attorneys General Plan Forest Trip

McCALL (UPI) — Attorneys general from the Western states planned a jaunt into the state primitive area Friday as they continued their 1965 convention. The state legal officers will conclude their meeting Saturday with business sessions in McCall in the morning and a banquet in Boise Saturday night.

At sessions Thursday in Boise, Atty. Gen. Boston E. Witt of New Mexico said there should be a study directed toward eliminating "frontier justice" in the western United States.

Law enforcement in less populous areas is not adequate, Witt said. He said sheriffs are underpaid and deputies often are appointed "without regard to qualifications."

"Our sheriffs' departments are atrocious," Witt said. "We have to make the sheriff a sheriff instead of a process server or do away with county sheriffs."

The attorneys general were in general agreement that law enforcement agencies need better training, better equipment and additional funds.

Teachers Hit Eviction From Negro College

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Thirteen white summer instructors remained in their campus apartments today after defying an eviction order from the president of Bishop College, a predominantly Negro institution.

In dismissing the 13 from the faculty, Dr. Milton K. Curry Jr. told them to vacate their apartments by 6 p.m. and to be off the campus by 7:30 p.m. Thursday. He said he fired them for "stirring up the students."

The instructors appeared in front of the modernistic two-story apartment building as both deadlines rolled past. Then Walter Johnson, the college business manager, said the instructors would be allowed to remain in the apartments until Saturday, when their contracts would have expired.

The instructors are graduate students, aged 22 to 30, from Northern and Eastern colleges who are teaching 10-week remedial English and math courses to high school graduates planning to enter Bishop.

The dismissals came after the instructors staged a campus demonstration against what some of the teachers termed suppression of a school newspaper by the administration, intimidation of students and excessive bookstore charges.

"It was simply a matter of who is running the college," Dr. Curry, a Negro, said. "The instructors were warned after an earlier demonstration. They seem to have the idea that they came down here for a social revolution."

"The protest came from the instructors and not the students themselves," Dr. Curry said. "This was shown when 159 students at the end of the course signed advance applications for admission to Bishop this September."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Goodbody & Co. says it believes the stock market eventually will recover to its all time high, but progress will be slow and tedious.

The company says it feels profit-taking, unsettlement in the steel industry and uncertainty over the international monetary situation will hinder but not stop the progress of the market.

It says the Viet Nam conflict will not play a big role in the trend of the market but it will by no means be ignored.

Bache and Company says it feels there are more gains in store for the market. It says it believes that profit-taking will be prevalent for some time but bargain hunting on the dips of attractive stocks will be rewarded. It believes that year end earnings reports may well exceed expectations.

L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton and Co. believes the stock market as a whole has not been as strong as the good performance of few glamour stocks have made it look. In view of the fact that advances have outnumbered declines in the past 16 sessions, it is historically justified that the near-term upward trend of the market will probably not be as vigorous as expected.

Edward F. Underwood of Mitchum, Jones and Templeton says he feels both the short and long-term trend of the market is on the upside. Despite the economic and psychological ramifications of the world monetary crisis, he says he believes there is a predominantly bullish atmosphere in the market which will permit selected stocks to score outstanding gains.

Johnson Accused Of Manipulating Defense Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of House Republicans accused President Johnson today of having juggled his original defense budget "in order to pave the way for Great Society spending and to keep the facade of a $16 billion budget."

The 10 GOP members of the Appropriations Committee said Johnson's recent request for an extra $1.7 billion for the Viet Nam war is a "meager beginning" on what will be needed.

They called for a review of all nondefense projects with an eye to cutting substantially the money requested to finance them.

Man Must Find New Home For Pet Grey Timber Wolves

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — For more than three years, the neighbors have been talking about George Wilson's boarders. Some have threatened to kill them.

Wilson says it's just a misunderstanding. The boarders are his pet six grey timber wolves.

"Wolves just have a bad reputation," Wilson says. "Many people think they're vicious, but it's not true. The animals only get angry when they see guns and ammunition, which they've learned to associate with death."

After one of the wolves bit a 9-year-old girl recently, the wound requiring several stitches, neighbors got 30 signatures on a petition demanding that Wilson get rid of the wolves.

The board of trustees of suburban Calverton Park, where Wilson lives, ordered him to dispose of his pets.

"At first, I considered having the animals destroyed," Wilson said, "but interested persons advised me against it because of the wolves' great value as research tools to behavioral scientists studying the relationship between animals and humans."

The board granted him until Monday to find another suitable owner. He has visited several zoos to determine where his wolves would have the best home.

Wilson says the biting incident was the first involving his wolves, and the same could have occurred with a dog.

He keeps the wolves in a one-half acre yard with a nine-foot fence around it.

Wilson said a naturalist gave him his first wolf and he got others from veterinarians. Wilson, a custom furniture maker, and his wife, Ruth, have helped the animals give birth and have bottle fed the young, he said.

King of Greece Swears in New Premier, Cabinet

ATHENS (UPI) — King Constantine today swore in Premier Elias Tsirimokos and 14 members of his new cabinet in hopes the action would end the Greek crisis. But new anti-government demonstrations were called for tonight and violence was feared.

Followers of ousted Premier George Papandreou rioted in the streets of Athens Thursday night and club swinging police fought with students, who assaulted them with sticks and rocks. Authorities reported 14 police and 25 civilians injured and 25 demonstrators jailed.

The demonstrators, demanding that Papandreou be returned to power, called for another demonstration tonight at the same place.

Meet Slated For Private Contractors

Private Contractors Association of Idaho, Inc., will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at Idaho Power Auditorium, according to Robert Stepanovich, Twin Falls, chairman of Magic Valley area.

This meeting is for further organization of Magic Valley contractors and to inform contractors of what is taking place in the state organization.

Stepanovich said the organization was formed after the Idaho Private Contractor's License Act was passed by the Legislature. He said the way the bill is written, it would eliminate about 50 to 60 per cent of the contractors in the state, who cannot comply by the mechanics of the law and the principle of it being unconstitutional.

Boy, 2, Dies When Parents Refuse to Get Doctor's Aid

KILPATRICK, Ala. (UPI) — The 2-year-old son of a backwoods "holiness" preacher died Thursday while neighbors, law officers and the driver of a car which struck the child begged his parents to let a doctor treat him.

"The Lord will spare his life," the Rev. Otis Hamilton told a crowd of some 50 persons who gathered at their rough frame home. Philip Hamilton lay dying inside the house.

Hamilton told the crowd that their religious beliefs made it impossible to let their son be taken to a doctor.

County Judge W. G. Hawkins prepared a court order for the child's release and two deputies were standing by to rush it the 35 miles from the county seat at Fort Payne to Kilpatrick. But Philip died before it was ready.

State trooper C. L. Freeman said the child was struck by a car driven by Thomas S. Fielder. He said Philip was playing in the road, or trying to cross it, in front of his house when the accident happened.

By the time officers arrived, the Hamiltons had taken Philip inside. There Mrs. Hamilton placed the dying child on a bed and held his hand.

Fielder joined two state troopers, two sheriff's deputies and about 50 townspeople outside the house, pleading with the Hamiltons to let a doctor see Philip. An ambulance stood by outside the house.

But Hamilton said that if the child was taken to a doctor, it would have to be by force. And when he died, the preacher told the crowd to go away so the family could "concentrate on the Lord." They have four other children.

Judge Hawkins, who received word of the child's death as he was preparing the court order, said, "I felt what the parents were doing was harmful. I don't know what was the matter with the child, but he died."

Hamilton is a preacher in one of the Fundamentalist sects which flourish in this northeast corner of Alabama.

Many of them — including Hamilton's — are nameless. They go by the general name of "holiness" denominations.

BOISE — Carryover stocks of field seeds owned or controlled by dealers and cooperatives on June 30, 1965 totaled 181,403,000 pounds, 10 per cent above last year's carryover and two per cent above the 1959-63 average, according to a nationwide survey just completed by the USDA Crop Reporting Board.

Carryover of winter cover crop seeds was five per cent larger than in 1964. Stocks of grass seeds (excluding ryegrass) were 13 per cent above a year earlier.

Stocks this year compared with 1964 were larger for 23 items and smaller for 18. Largest increases — 30 per cent or more above last year — were reported for certified alfalfa, non-certified red clover, white Dutch clover, other lespedeza, common vetch, Austrian winter peas, wild winter peas, timothy, orchardgrass, tall fescue, and smooth bromegrass.

The largest declines — 30 per cent or more below last year — were reported for alsike clover, Korean and Striate Kobe lespedeza, hairy vetch, other vetches, lupine, chewing fescue, crested wheatgrass, slender wheatgrass, perennial ryegrass and dallisgrass. Stocks of all-alfalfa seed, both certified and non-certified totaled 35,148,000 pounds, 15 per cent more than a year earlier, and 19 per cent more than average. Total clover stocks excluding crimson clover, at 31,559,000 pounds, were 15 per cent above last year and 12 per cent above average.

Significant quantities of grower-owned old-crop seed were stored in dealers' warehouses — especially alfalfa, red clover, white clover, ryegrass, and Sudangrass. Stocks of grower-owned seed in these positions, together with farm-stored seed, will be included in each of the production forecast reports issued during the year. For the ninth consecutive year no commercial stocks, exclusive of foundation seed, were held by the federal government.

Feed Prices Are Increasing

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho farmers paid more for feed during the month ending July 15, the U.S. Agriculture Dept. said Thursday.

The index of prices paid advanced one point during the month, the report said. The July index, however, was unchanged from a year ago but was three points above the five-year average for that month.

Price advances over June were registered for beef cattle concentrates, stock salt, barley, oats and alfalfa hay. All other items were lower or unchanged.

IRRIGATED PASTURE is examined by Charles Allen, left, and Gerald Larson, both Burley. Allen has been able to graze 45 cows, 35 calves and one bull on nine acres of pasture. He divides his pasture into plots which are just large enough to feed all his cattle for one day. After hosting the cattle for a day the Orchard grass-Alfalfa mixture is given at least four weeks time for three irrigations. (Times-News photo)

Burley Man Rotates Cattle Through Small Pasture Units for Large Gains

BURLEY—Forty-five cows, 35 calves and one bull are now being amply grazed by Charles Allen, Burley, on only nine acres of irrigated pasture.

Allen attributes the success of his pasture to daily rotation of cattle from one small section of his pasture to another. Allen has divided his pasture into five strips, each of which is subdivided into seven smaller units by the use of a portable, single strand of electric wire.

The cattle graze on each strip for about a week, and on each subdivision for only one day.

After the forage is removed, the cattle are transferred to another strip of pasture, freeing the most recently used strip for four weeks of uninterrupted growth and three irrigations.

His beef gains have been so high that Allen now intends "to quit the row crops except beans and go into a rotation of beans, grain, hay and irrigated pasture."

"With beans as my only row crop, I have more time to devote to management and my land isn't tied up all season. This makes for more time and water for the beef setup," Allen said.

Allen has gotten gains as high as 1,050 pounds per acre with his rotational method.

According to Gerald Larson, work unit conservationist with the USDA Soil Conservation Service in Burley, Allen's pasture is a good example of proper management.

"Properly managed pasture such as Allen's is comparable with potatoes for returns per acre. Pasture—if managed well (Continued on Page 10)

Farm Bureau Head Cites Omnibus Bill

CHICAGO—Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, representing 1,600,000 member families, today urged President Johnson to recommend to Congress that it seek a new approach to farm legislation to replace a pending House bill.

The national farm leader cited U. S. Department of Agriculture August crop reports indicating record high output which he said "dramatically illustrate the failure of so-called emergency programs to control crop production."

In a telegram to the President, Shuman asked that the Chief Executive call attention of Congress to the high level of crop production and the need to replace the House bill with a new approach which will restore the ability of the market system to guide production and consumption instead of corrupting this system with bread taxes, price-depressing policies of government surpluses and government payments for ineffective acreage diversion programs as proposed in the omnibus farm bill.

The new manager of the fairgrounds, Thomas Shouse, Filer, now has two electricians, six roofers and repairmen and a crew of three cleaning ladies at work putting on the last-minute touches that conclude a year of preparations.

Shouse has been preparing for the fair since February, when he was appointed manager. Since then, according to Olan Gann, Twin Falls county agent,

Face Fly Expected to Be Major Pest for Stockmen

MOSCOW—Appearance of the face fly in two neighboring states spells possible trouble for Idaho stockmen, a University of Idaho entomologist believes.

"Potentially a very serious and costly livestock pest under the range conditions of the West, the face fly had been known only east of the Rocky Mountains," says Prof. H. C. Manis, head of the department of entomology at the university. He noted, however, that some were recently discovered on livestock in Cache County, Utah, and a single face fly was caught in an insect trap just across the Idaho-Washington state line.

"It's inevitable these flies will show up in the state. Hopefully, it may be a few years before we have enough of them to cause economic losses."

Although they look like house flies, face flies can usually be identified by the way they bother livestock. They cluster on the face of an animal, particularly near the eyes, nose and mouth. They are after moisture, Manis points out. They don't bite. But they do cause irritation.

Face flies do not like shady areas so cattle, sheep or horses bothered by the pest tend to stay in shade instead of feeding during the day.

"There is no practical control for face flies under range condi-

Cattle Are Rotated on Pastures

is not a second-rate use of land," Larson said.

Allen is a firm believer in the benefits of a mixture of one grass and one legume. He uses orchard grass and alfalfa. Allen feels that 80 per cent of the mixture should be orchard grass and only 20 per cent alfalfa for best results, although he now has a larger proportion of alfalfa.

Allen finds that there is little danger of bloating with alfalfa which is over four weeks old, particularly when there is a high percentage of grass in the pasture.

Allen and Larson emphasize that ample amounts of loose salt and water are essential to good gain. He uses a split application of fertilizer with phosphate and nitrogen for green forage throughout the season.

Allen has found that he needed to use only one ton of supplementary hay so far this summer.

USDA Eyes High Idaho Potato Yields

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted that this year's production of fall crop potatoes in 10 Southwestern Idaho counties would be 8,810,000 hundredweight.

The department forecast fall crop production in other Idaho counties at 50,635,000 hundredweight.

Predicted yield per acre for the Southwestern Idaho counties was 270 hundredweight and for the rest of Idaho, 205 hundredweight.

Farm Workers Average 49.1 Hours Per Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The USDA Crop Reporting Board said data on average hours worked per person on farms for the week July 18-24 shows that farm operators work longer than family farm members and also hired hands.

Farm operators on reporting farms average 49.1 hours of work during the survey week. This compared with 52.6 hours a month earlier.

The family farm workers other than operators averaged 34.9 hours during the survey week. Hired hands on reporting farms worked an average work week of only 31.1 hours per person.

The board said farm wives regularly contribute significantly to farm work on many farms with more than 15 hours per week.

Farm wage rates as of July 1 averaged a composite rate per hour of 92.9 cents, compared to 89.7 cents on July 1, 1964.

Gaines Wheat Adaptable to Wide Planting Date Range

In response to many queries regarding the best time to plant Gaines wheat, County Agent Donald Youtz said that a wide range of planting dates are acceptable.

Experience during the past two years has shown that Gaines wheat has the ability to adapt to a wide range of planting dates. Limited research indicates, however, that the highest yields have resulted when the wheat is planted from mid-September to mid-October.

At the Aberdeen Branch Experiment Station, three winter wheat varieties, including Gaines, were planted at two different planting dates, Sept. 29 and Oct. 17. Generally, varieties

Don't sell your potatoes short.

They may be worth a lot more than you think.

If you sell your potatoes for delivery in November, you'll probably get a fair price for them. But the longer you can hold them, the more they'll be worth.

With MH-30®, you can hold them as long as you like. MH-30 protects potatoes up to 12 full months. They won't shrink, they won't spoil, they won't sprout. And that can make them a lot more valuable to you.

You can sell them for delivery in March, April, May. Or you can store them until next summer and cash in on lucrative summertime prices. (If you had potatoes available right now, you'd be getting $6, $7, and $8 cwt.)

Even if you sell your crop for delivery right after harvest, you'll get as much as 50¢ cwt more for potatoes protected by MH-30. Don't accept any substitutes. MH-30 never causes internal sprouting; needs no special labeling or equipment.

The potatoes you have in the ground right now will be worth more when you spray them with MH-30. One spraying turns the trick. So spray now. You'll be thanking yourself all the way to the bank.

Consumers Up Spending for Food Items

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department Friday estimated the consumer food bill in 1965 will rise to about $84 billion, up 5 per cent from the $80 billion spent in 1964.

In a review of the demand and price aspects of the general agricultural situation, the department said domestic markets for farm products are continuing to expand during 1965 with the consequence that consumer spending for food is rising.

Contributing to consumer demand is the indicated 1.3 per cent increase this year in population.

Consumer use of crop products on the upturn, but a possible reduction is in prospect for total use of livestock products.

The Agriculture Department said the reduction in red meat output in the face of continued demand has resulted in sharply higher prices for livestock in recent months.

The department said red meat production this year is expected to be 31.5 to 31.7 billion pounds. This would be some 2.5 to 3 per cent less than the 1964 output of 32.7 billion pounds.

It estimated the per capita consumption of all red meats likely will average around 168-169 pounds, down 6-7 pounds from the record 175 pounds consumed per capita in 1964.

The department said fed cattle marketings in April-June dropped 2 per cent below those of the same month of 1964, the first decline from year-earlier levels since the first quarter of 1958.

Rising incomes and continued growth in population also expanded the market for beef, and fed cattle prices rose sharply. Choice steers at Chicago averaged $24.20 per 100 pounds in January-March, but rose to $27.68 in June.

The department said broiler consumption is indicated well above a year earlier, but pork consumption will be down sharply.

Prices Said Unrelated to Labor Costs

WASHINGTON — A Department of Labor report said that the correlation of the field labor costs and the prices for fresh fruits and vegetables "show conclusively that labor costs have had little effect on farm prices."

Tomatoes, for example, which were as high as $8.23 per 40-pound carton at wholesale as recently as mid-May, are down to $2.70—the lowest price for this week in the past five years.

For July the average wholesale price for fresh and dried fruits and vegetables was 4.5 per cent below July a year ago.

Ranges Are Better Than Last Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The USDA Crop Reporting Board said range feed conditions declined in the Western range area during July, but on Aug. 1 were well above a year earlier.

The board said much of the reduction during July in range conditions occurred in Oklahoma, Texas and western portions of Oregon and Washington where lack of rainfall and high summer temperatures prevailed.

Range conditions in other western areas remained near the unusually good level recorded a month earlier.

The board said western Colorado and sections of the northern Plains have particularly good supplies of range feed.

Mayland Gets Ph.D. in Agriculture

Henry F. Mayland, Twin Falls, an employee of the Snake River Conservation Research Center, has been awarded a Ph.D. degree in agricultural chemistry and soils by the University of Arizona.

Dr. Mayland was a 1955 graduate of Riverton High School, Wyo., where he was involved in many activities including the holding of offices of senior class vice-president and president of the Riverton Future Farmers of America Chapter.

The 4-H and FFA programs provided much of the stimulus for achievements in leadership and were sources of college scholarships. The B. S. in agriculture engineering and M. S. in soils were received from the University of Wyoming. In 1955, Mayland was the winner of the State FFA Soil and Water Conservation Award.

In November 1964 Dr. Mayland joined the team of research scientists at the Snake River Conservation Research Center, Agricultural Research Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture. His work at the Center will be as a research soil scientist and his area of research will be on the soil and water management problems of the range lands of the Snake River Basin.

One of his current research projects is the problem of re-seeding of rangelands in co-operation with the Bureau of Land Management.

Evaporated whole milk and sweetened condensed milk production continues to decline, according to a USDA report.

Evaporated Milk Is Said On Decline

WASHINGTON — Evaporated whole milk and sweetened condensed milk production continues to decline, according to a USDA report.

Output of evaporated whole milk, which had been below previous year totals each month since last November, totaled 181 million pounds for June—11 per cent under that of a year ago and 24 per cent below the 1959-63 average for the month.

Production of canned sweetened whole milk, below year-earlier levels since March, totaled 5.4 million pounds for June, down 28 per cent from June, 1964, and 17 per cent below 1959-63.

National Yields Are Said To Be Largest in History

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The biggest field crop in history is in prospect for 1965 harvest. The Agriculture Dept.'s August crop report Tuesday indicated the all-crop production index for 1965 now is a record 116 per cent of the 1957-59 base period.

This is more than 4 per cent above the previous high in 1963 and 6 per cent above the 1964 index of 109.

The department said prospects for all major crops improved during July as moisture was favorable in all areas except the critically dry North Atlantic region.

Temperatures during July continue to average lower than normal over more of the nation. Even so, the weather was warm enough to permit normal development of crops in most areas.

Beneficial moisture fell in all areas, but accumulated shortages remained in the Northeast. The Crop Reporting Board's Aug. 1 estimates showed that the leading index of yield covering 28 composite crops is 122 per cent of the base period. This is 7 per cent above last year's composite index and 5 per cent above the previous high in 1963.

Wheat production is expected to be almost 1.4 billion bushels, up 7 per cent from last year and 16 per cent above average. Other estimates included fall potatoes, 206 million hundredweight, up 20 per cent from 1964 and 8 per cent above average. The total potato crop is expected to be 282.7 million hundredweight, compared with 239.4 million in 1964.

SUNFLOWERS TOWER above their owner, Floyd Lyons, Twin Falls. Lyons has been raising sunflowers in his garden for five years. He has harvested an average of one-half pound of shelled seed from each plant. The flowers may grow to be 20 inches across, and the stalks may be 18 feet high. (Times-News photo)

Man Raises 16-Foot Tall Sunflowers That Yield One-Half Pound of Seed

People who think a sunflower is a weed might well take note of the patch Floyd Lyons, Twin Falls, has grown on Falls Avenue near Washington Street.

Some of his sunflowers have already reached a height of 18 feet, and the average stalk is about 12 feet high. The stalks are often three inches thick at the base.

Lyons, who has been raising these giants in his garden for five years, scoffs at people who think sunflowers are not suited for commercial production in Idaho. His patch produced about 350 pounds of shelled seed last year, or an average of about half a pound per plant.

He is able to keep production high by culling any plant which has more than one flower. If only one flower is allowed on each stalk, it may reach a diameter of 20 inches.

One problem is that the sunflowers may grow so tall that the flower will be too heavy for the stalk to support. For this reason, water often must be withheld to stunt excessive growth.

Lyons expects to harvest the seeds in late September, when the proper time is announced by birds alighting on the ripe flowers in search of the seeds. Lyons harvests the giant flowers by hand. By tapping the flower the shells and seeds can be dislodged. Then he uses a home-made threshing device to remove the shells from the seeds.

Lyons considers sunflowers a delicacy. He prepares them for eating in many ways. They can be eaten raw, roasted, or salted. He has ground the seeds into a flour which he uses for seasoning and for a base in cooking various dishes. He finds the powder particularly good when sprinkled on hamburgers.

One thing Lyons wants understood. "Sunflowers don't turn to face the sun. They just face away from the wind," he said.

Hops Yields Are Forecast Above 1964

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Production of hops was forecast at $2.2 million pounds by the USDA Statistical Reporting Service. This is five per cent greater than last year and 22 per cent above average.

Both acreage and yield are up from last year and above average. In general, prospects improved last month and all states expect better yields than in 1964. Washington growers expect harvest to begin about mid-August and to become general by Aug. 25. Many yards, especially Late Clusters, have "top" crops with few burrs or cones on the lower part of the vines.

Warmer temperatures and drier weather in July favored Idaho's hops. Downy mildew and localized hail in mid-July have caused little damage statewide.

One-Third Ton Grain Grown For Each Person in World

WASHINGTON (UPI)—World grain production has reached more than 900 million tons a year and represents the output of about 1.6 billion acres, or 70 per cent of the world's harvested acreage, according to the Agriculture Department.

The output is about one-third of a ton for each person in the world, and the acreage is more than one-half acre for each person.

The United States, the Soviet Union and mainland China are the giants of grain production. The department said they account for two-fifths of all grain grown in the world.

The department said the United States produces about 170 million tons of grain each year. This is almost one ton for each inhabitant. This is far more than is needed, domestically, consequently about one ton in five is available for export. China is a major producer of rice, but is a major importer of wheat.

Corn Yields Up Because Of Hybrids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Agriculture Dept. report shows that improved corn yields in the corn belt between 1929 and 1962 were attributed almost entirely to the adoption of hybrid seed, the use of nitrogen fertilizer, and other improved production practices.

The report said that while weather affected yields for short periods during the 30-year span, its effect for the entire period was negligible.

The report showed that corn yield moved up each time corn belt farmers began using a new technique.

The adoption of hybrid seed pushed the yields up steadily from 1933 until 1948, when almost all farmers used the hybrids. Increased use of nitrogen fertilizer raised yields to a new plateau by 1956. About 1961 farmers began fertilizing at higher rates and once again yields increased.

Although rice acreage is about half that of wheat, rice output is nearly equal to that of wheat. Corn ranks third in production, with 20 per cent of the total. Barley, millet, sorghums, oats and rye make up the remainder of the world total.

The Soviet Union is the leading wheat producer, with about 50 million tons in recent years. The United States is second with an average of about 33 million tons since 1960.

The department said rice is to the Asian countries what wheat is to the Western world. China and India are the leading producers, about 80 million tons annually in China and 55 million tons in India.

Advertise

BOISE — The Idaho Potato and Onion Commission will advertise during the 1965-66 season in five restaurant trade publications, according to a report by the commission.

The five were chosen for their focus on everyone from chefs at the most exclusive dining establishments to cooks at the most informal drive-in — wherever potatoes and onions are served.

The commission plans for 27 insertions to be placed in Chain Store Age, Drive-In Management, Food Service Magazine, Institutions Magazine, and the School Lunch Journal.

Fescue Seed Crop Is Off In Gem State

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho's 1965 fall fescue seed crop will be down about 15,000 pounds from last year, the U. S. Agriculture Department estimated Tuesday.

This year's crop was forecast at 315,000 pounds.

Although yield per acre, estimated at 350 pounds, would be 50 pounds better than last year the acreage for harvest is down 200 acres at 900.

This is why you should fertilize in the fall...

to get the fertilizer down in the root zone

Down in the root zone... that's where fertilizer belongs. And a good way to get it down there is by plowing it down... this fall. This is true for nitrogen, phosphorus, and other plant foods as well.

Nitrogen applied in the fall moves with the moisture deep into the root zone. Then, during the growing season, while nitrates near the surface accumulate in the top of the beds, the fall applied nitrogen remains available for plant use all season long.

Phosphorus and most other plant foods remain in the soil essentially where they have been placed. So it's important to distribute these elements where they'll do the most good... at the right time! Down in the root zone in the fall, well ahead of planting.

You can get all the factual information you need about fall fertilization just by calling the Soil Fertility Specialists at United States Steel. Choose USS EXTRA MEASURE SERVICE for all your fertilization needs.

EXAMINING EXPERIMENTAL FIELD OF WHITE PROSCO, are Earl A. Young, Murtaugh, and his 4-year-old grandson, Ken. White Proso has never been grown in Magic Valley. It is said to have a short growing season, and can be planted as late as July. (Times-News photo)

Murtaugh Man Raises First Crop of New Grain Variety in Magic Valley

MURTAUGH — An experimental four-acre plot of a new type of grain is being grown by Earl A. Young, Murtaugh, on the Walker Ranch. Young is introducing Magic Valley farmers to White Proso, a grain that has had remarkable success in short-season dryland farming in other parts of the United States.

The most interesting thing about White Proso is that it matures in as little as 60 days in hot regions, and may need only a 75 to 90-day growing season in Southern Idaho.

According to the manager of Globe Seed and Feed Co., L. H. Haslam, Twin Falls, White Proso will be particularly useful to follow the early removal of beets or beans, when there is a need to follow with a short-season crop. Haslam claims that White Proso can be planted as late as July 15.

Although no estimates of yields of White Proso in Magic Valley are possible until this first crop is harvested, Young reported dry-land yields have been as high as 70 bushels per acre in other areas, and he expected yields here under irrigation to be higher.

The seed of this Proso is round and larger than a millet seed, and grows in a sprangly head resembling oats. The inner color of the grain is pure white.

According to Haslam, this Proso is unlike any other grain because of its extreme drought resistance. It needs only one good rain to produce a dry-land crop because of its short growing season.

White Proso can be sown with a regular grain drill and 25 to 35 pounds of seed per acre are recommended.

The feed value of White Proso is high, according to Haslam. He said that farmers claim it will fatten hogs or cattle better than corn, and that chickens lay better when fed the grain. When fed to poultry with corn or oats the ratio should be four parts Proso to one part other grain.

White Proso may be fed without threshing because the kernels are readily removed by chickens and eaten with the hay

Wool Futures Transactions Show Decline

BOISE — The USDA said transactions in wool futures trading for the year 1964-65 show a sharp decline over the prior year.

This is a trend that has been consistent for the last few years.

In the year 1963-64 there were 71,000 transactions in wool futures. In the marketing year 1964-65 this had dropped to 43,000 transactions.

During the same time wool top futures transactions declined from 1,000 to less than 500. Should the trend continue, futures trading will become a minor marketing factor.

Record Operating Credit Is Extended to American Farms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Dept. furnished a record high of 118,000 farmers with operating credit during fiscal 1965, according to Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

More than 73,000 farmers used operating credit from the Farmers Home Administration during the year to make necessary adjustments in their operations and 45,000 used credit advanced in previous years.

FHA advanced slightly more than $300 million during fiscal 1965 to farmers in the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Freeman said the farmers used the money to pay for equipment, feed, seed, livestock, home operating needs and to refinance chattel debts.

"Operating credit has made it possible for many low-income family farmers to become successful operators," Freeman said.

FHA programs supplement other sources of credit in the field. Freeman said it steps in where other programs can't or won't reach.

About 72 per cent of the operating loans to new applicants in fiscal 1965 were advanced to purchase capital items, or to refinance debts on capital items exclusive of farm and family needs.

Freeman said a substantial number of young farmers used their funds to take over farms or retiring farm operators.

Of the farmers using credit during fiscal 1965, Freeman said about 16,700 fully paid their operating loan indebtedness during the year.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Don Fullmer used a stinging body attack in close to win a unanimous decision over world welterweight champion Emile Griffith Thursday night in a 12-round non-title fight. Fullmer, who weighed seven pounds more than Griffith's 153, made good use of his weight advantage as he moved the champion from one corner of the ring to the other. Griffith scored well at

Bears Plan on Improving 1964 Showing

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP) — George Halas looked across the football practice field at St. Joseph's College. His eyes narrowed and his jaw jutted as he spoke.

"I'm not promising a thing but we're going to be better than last year," said the 70-year-old Halas. "That was a disgrace—a losing year for the seventh time in 44 years. We know we're not going to have an eighth losing season."

Cowboys Sweep Twin Bill Over I. F.; Grossmiller's Pinch Hit Wins Nightcap

Magic Valley blew a four-run lead in the top of the seventh inning, then scored an unearned run in the bottom of the frame on Ron Grossmiller's pinch single to complete a sweep of a Pioneer League doubleheader over the Idaho Falls Angels. The Cowboys won the first game 3-2 on a three-hit spree in the fourth inning. The nightcap saw both teams post fairly comfortable leads before it wound up being decided in the bottom of the ninth.

Grossmiller's heroics were made possible by a clutch performance by the top of the seventh. Angel first baseman Don Anderson, with two away Anderson clouted a grand slam homer to erase a 7-3 margin the Cowboys had built largely on the five-RBI hitting of Vincent.

The decisive run came after the pitcher Segundo Al-luckless retired the first two men easily. Then pitcher Dave Madruski hit a routine bouncer to shortstop but the ball got through Rafael Santana. Jay Reed got a squib double that brought up Grossmiller, who dumped Almonte's first pick into left field.

Idaho Falls broke on top in the first when Thomas Silverio homered with the walking Vic Lopez aboard. Anderson then clouted his first homer of the night.

Vincent got two back with a two-run homer in the first and Guthrie tied it with a solo shot leading off the fourth. A three-run fifth seemed to put the Cowboys off to reach. Stan Little and John Marsden opened with singles worth one run and Vincent hit his second homer.

The Cowboys won the first game on a sudden flurry of three hits augmented by an error. The Angels turned a pair of Cowboy errors into two unearned runs off pitcher Ron Bryant. Bryant survived a shakey start and coasted in with a 3-hitter.

Jim Vincent started the decisive fourth with a walk off loser Al Martin. Ron Grossmiller's hit put runners at first and second. Vincent scored on Stan Little's double and then came Marty's two-bagger.

Boyer's Smash Lets N.Y. Nip Angels 3-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Clete Boyer's 13th homer of the season, leading off the seventh inning, propelled the New York Yankees to a 3-1 decision over the Los Angeles Angels Thursday, once again thwarting Angel lefty Marcelino Lopez.

Lopez, 0-4 against New York but a winner over every other American League club, had a 1-0 lead and appeared to be on the way to his first triumph over the Yankees before Boyer took charge.

His fifth inning double moved Hector Lopez into scoring position with the tying run and his homer into the lower left field stands in the seventh wrapped it up, again putting the Yanks one game over .500.

The Angels' only run off Mel Stottlemyre came in the second on a ground rule double by Merritt Ranew and a two-out single by Bobby Knoop.

The Yanks added an insurance run in the ninth. Los Angeles 010 000 000—1 8 0

Dodgers Edge Giants 8-5 In 15 Innings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lou Johnson's two-run homer highlighted a three-run rally in the 15th inning that gave Los Angeles an 8-5 victory over San Francisco Thursday and put the Dodgers back into first place in the National League.

The triumph moved the Dodgers one-half game ahead of the Milwaukee Braves, who lost to St. Louis 5-4. The Giants could have gained the lead by winning but instead remained in third place, 1½ games back.

Ron Fairly triggered the winning rally with a one-out single off Gaylord Perry. Johnson followed with his 10th homer over the left-field fence. Consecutive singles by Wes Parker, Willie Davis and John Roseboro brought in another run.

Ron Perranoski allowed San Francisco only a single in four innings of relief and brought his record to 4-5. Perry is 8-11.

He went into the dressing room and returned after a few minutes, telling Ralston: "You'll play Couder — I saw Santana's hand and it is swollen." Ralston, who lost to Gisbert on opening day, looked shaky and unsure of himself even in beating the ball-hawking Couder. He lost seven services but broke Couder 10 times.

AAU, NCAA Blasted in Hearing, Witnesses Seek Supreme Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both sides in the fight which is confusing U. S. track and field affairs came under fire today in a Senate investigation amid proposals that some new super-authority take over and restore peace.

The proposals and denunciations came from a panel of sports editors whose opinions the Senate Commerce Committee wants to match against those of the battling badge-wearers of the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The committee seeks to determine whether some peace plan can be achieved without enactment of some tough new federal law to force a settlement.

The witnesses used such terms as "sickening" and "childish" in lambasting the failure of the AAU and NCAA to live in peace and concentrate on promoting the welfare of athletes and athletics.

Dodgers Stop Cubs 2-0 on Two-Hitter

CALDWELL (AP) — Pocatello's Walt Peterson held the Pioneer League-leading Treasure Valley Cubs to two hits and no runs Thursday night for a 2-0 shutout.

The Cubs failed to get a runner past second base and only Gary Cortopassi was able to hit off Peterson's pitching—hitting a pair of singles.

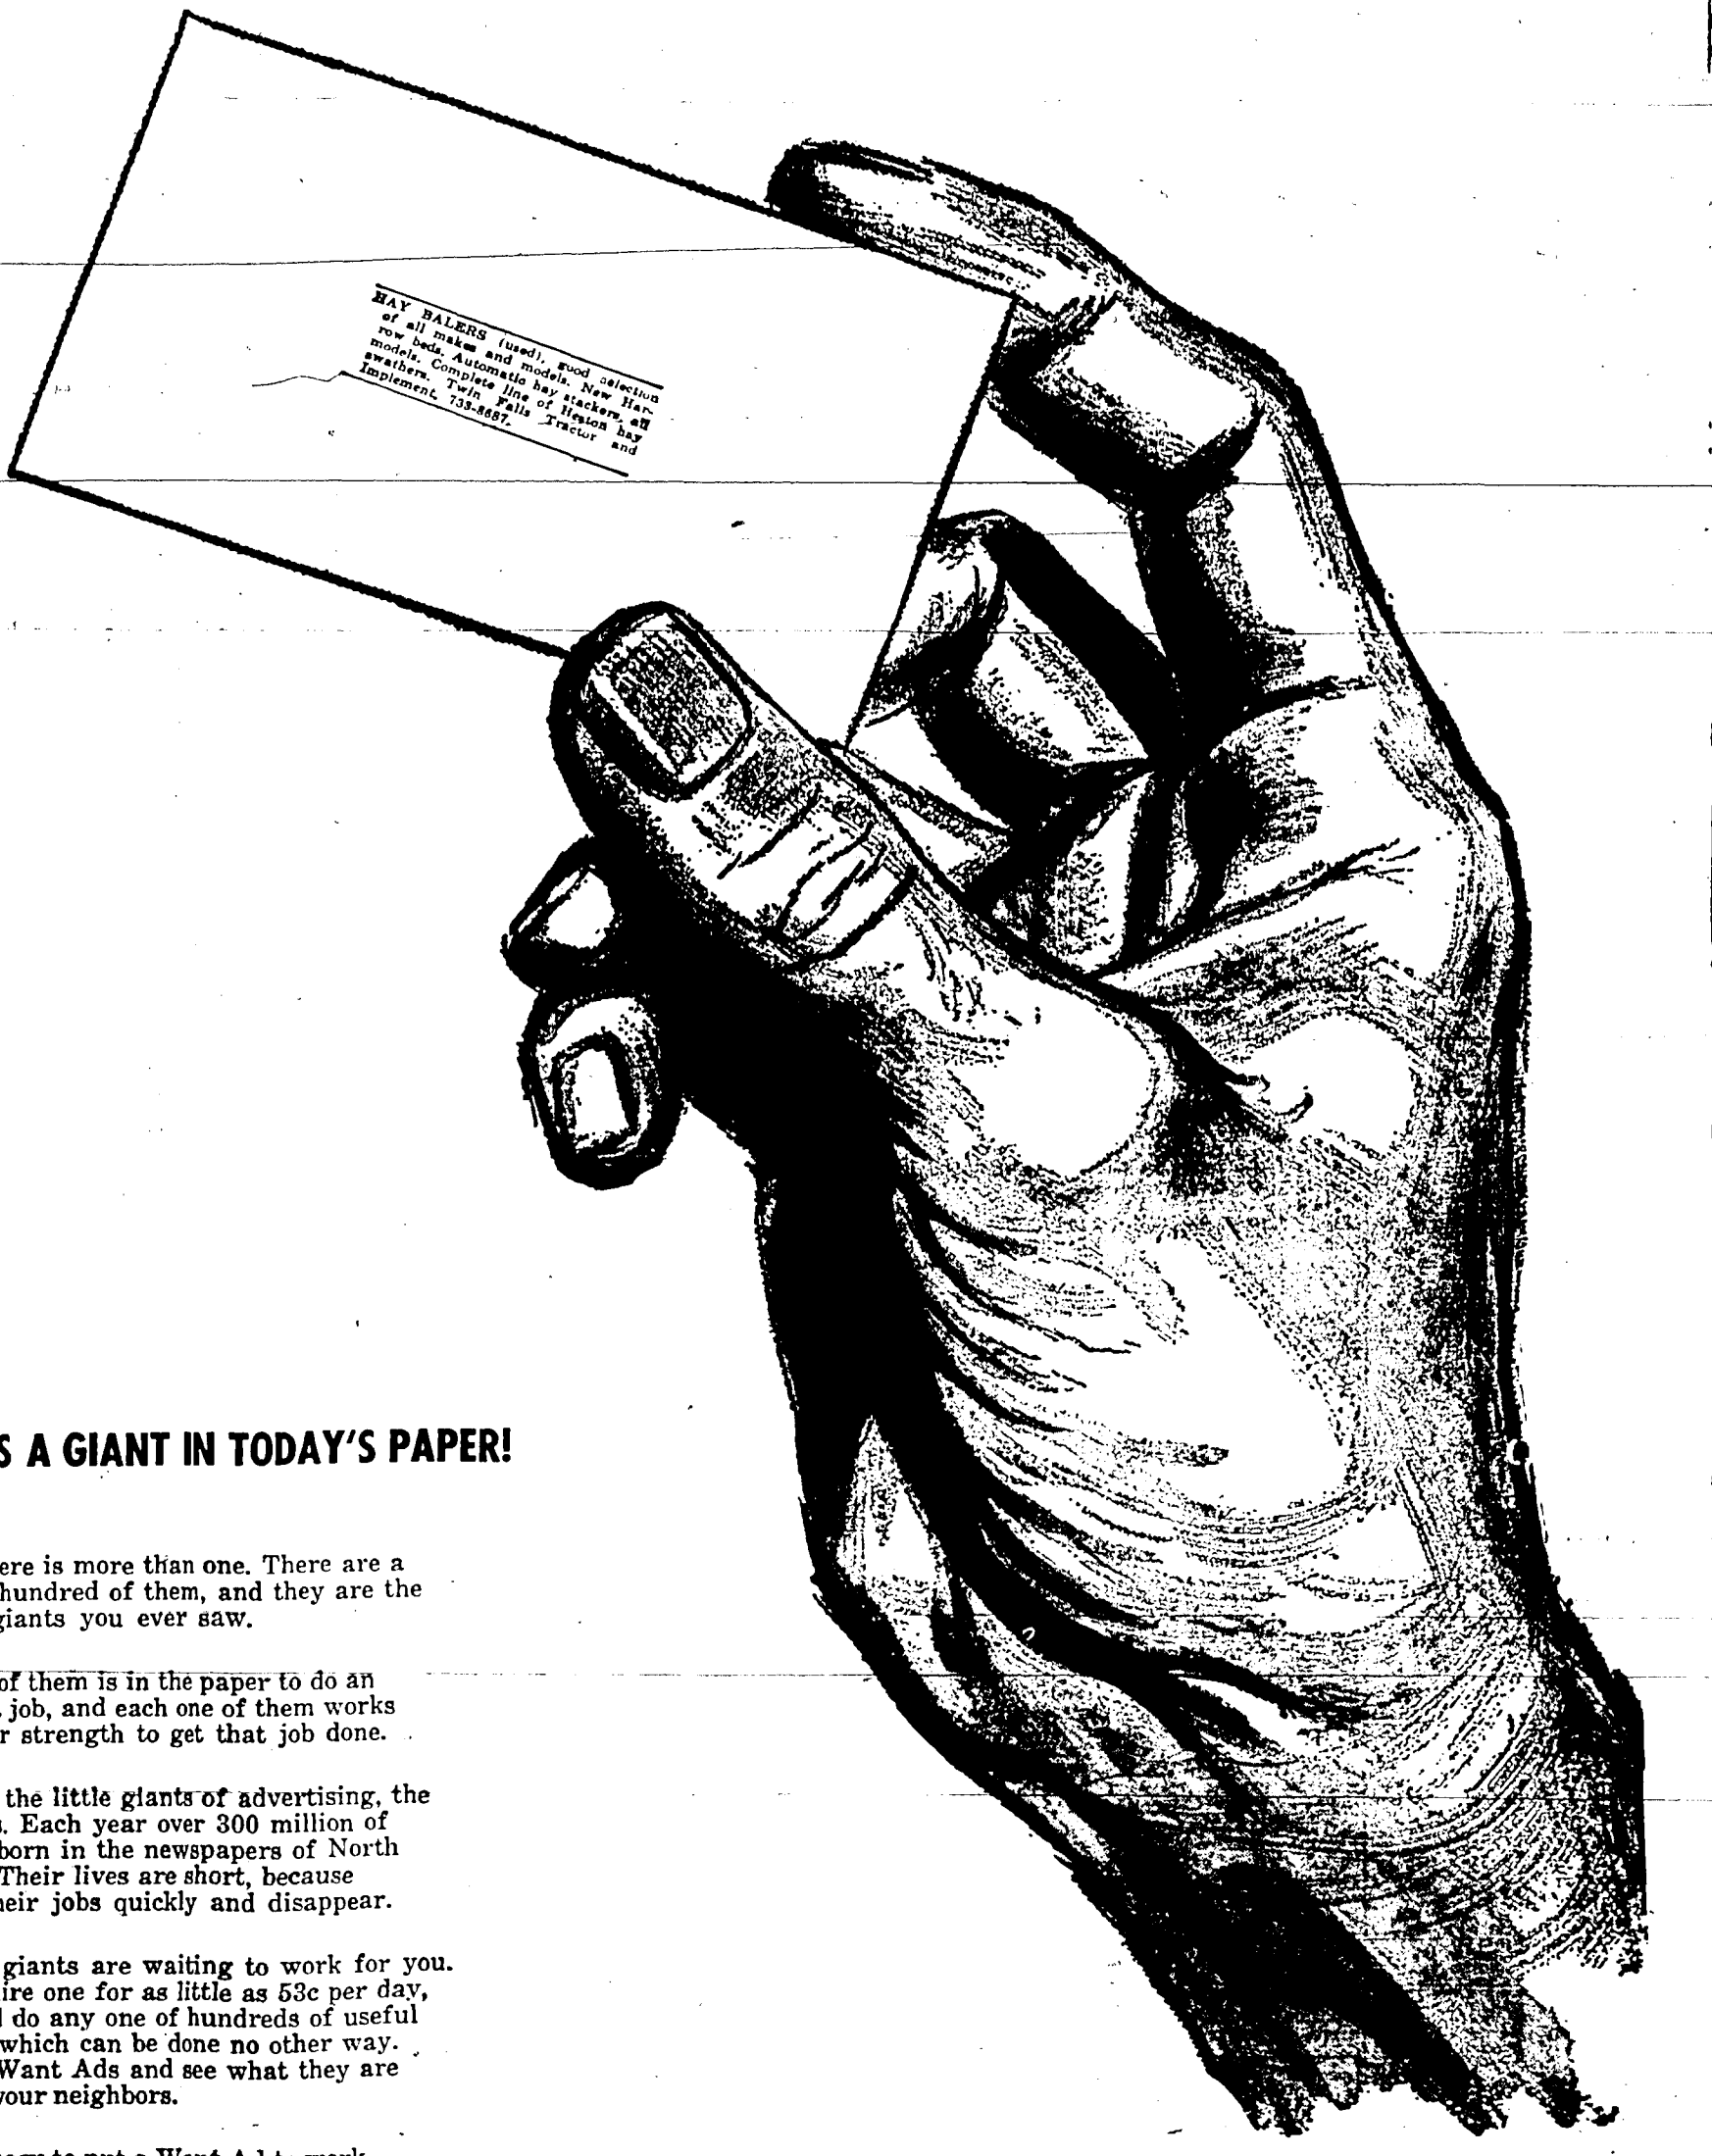

Pocatello scored its first run in the second inning off losing pitcher Lexie Pope and its second in the fifth when Pope walked home Denny Jensen off a bases-loaded situation.

Peterson struck out 16 Cubs. Cortopassi went to first on his second single and stood there while Peterson struck out the next three batters.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY August 20—Born today, you are basically a person of habit; the way you set out will most likely be the way you continue. It is, therefore, of extreme importance that you make the right choice, in the first place, whether it be in regard to a career, a mate, a place to live, or whatever. It is of particular importance that you establish good health habits, for in good health lies your entire future.

You have a tremendous amount of self-confidence, but unfortunately it can be shaken should anyone close to you show any indication—even by implication—of doubt in your ability. It matters little to you what strangers or even employers think of you—though, of course, being human, you prefer to be well thought of—but the shadow of a doubt crossing the face of a loved one can throw you for a loss. Make an effort to look the other way when such shadows show themselves!

You are highly emotional, but you are in no sense flake. It is quite likely that you will have only one love in your life, and that, if you do not secure that love to your side through marriage, you may never marry at all.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Saturday, August 21
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Though work may not appeal to you today, it may be necessary for your survival against the competition.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Avoid plans that would lead to strenuous activities over this week end. Take advantage of an opportunity to relax.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Finish up routine Saturday chores early; spend the day with family and friends in restful enjoyment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Take part in whatever outdoor activities are available to you. To hole up in isolation will only increase your worries.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Avoid making special plans for this week end. Accept available invitations for a relaxing time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Make up for a lazy morning by energetic work and play during the afternoon and evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—A test day as far as personal relationships are concerned. You'll know who your friends are by day's end.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—Don't overtake your energy today. Space your work periods with long intervals of rest.

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—Take care of routine chores quickly; then spend the day in social activities.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—A troublesome morning need not mean a troublesome day. Meet the challenges of the day with courage.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Best to keep to people and activities you know well today. This is no time to cultivate strangers or begin new ventures.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Afternoon and evening are best for stretching yourself both physically and mentally.

SATURDAY, Aug. 21—Born today, you have tremendous endurance and energy coupled with a great desire for authority and power. These traits, if not wisely and sparingly employed, could cause you to develop into something of a tyrant in your relationships with others, especially should you find yourself in an executive position with the right to hire, fire and otherwise direct people's lives. Should this be the case, however, you would not find yourself in such a position for long. Fair warning!

You should begin early in life to channel your energies into some constructive and creative line of work. So direct yourself that the power you desire can be achieved by your mastery over things, over talents, and the like, rather than over people. It is only in this way that you can have your cake and eat it, too: power plus friends.

Highly attractive to the opposite sex, you must be on your guard against becoming fickle or a flirt. Avoid being too reasonable when it comes to affairs of the heart; let yourself go emotionally and you will find that your feelings are truer and more lasting than you thought. You are capable of deep and enduring love; make an effort to exercise that capability. To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, Aug. 22
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—One of your best days of the month, so see that you make the most of it.
VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—To neglect to seek spiritual guidance today may mean doing yourself out of your most needed and helpful activity.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Don't be averse to allowing others to do part of your planning for you.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Avoid making plans from a dreamer's point of view. The realistic approach will bring realistic results!
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Morning worship should be your most satisfying activity of the day. Rest and do some soul-searching later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Make a genuine effort to impress favorably all with whom you come into contact.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—For the Aquarius contemplating a journey, this should be a most enjoyable and profitable day.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—Don't neglect morning devotions. This could be the day when you gain sudden insight into yourself and your future.
ARIES (March 21-April 20)—If planning a trip, get as early a start at possible. If driving, take every safety precaution.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Exert your charm to bring happiness into the life of another. To substitute cheer for drabness is to do the best of good deeds.
GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—A day during which the materialization of a long-standing dream can bring you exceptional joy.
CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Excellent prospects for the Cancer who does not try to pass himself off as more than he is.

News of Record
TWIN FALLS COUNTY

Public Interest
LONDON (AP)—Pis soon will offer postage stamps along with the beer. The post office announced it is licensing pubs as well as theaters and hotels to sell stamps because "it is in the interests of the public at large. It is in our own interests."

Pocatello People Ask Protection From Floods

POCATELLO (AP)—About 35 Pocatello residents, most of them living near the flood-prone Portneuf River, vowed Thursday night to "put the pressure" on city and county commissioners until something is done to alleviate the annual floods on the river.

In an hour and a half grievance session, the residents called for immediate action on the flood problem, and listened to their attorney explain the complexities of the federally sponsored $5 million flood control program being administered here by the Army Corps of Engineers.

City and county officials are obtaining right of way now. Construction is due to begin in the spring of 1966 and be completed by December, 1967.
