Indonesia Army Said In Control

KUALA-LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Radio Jakarta said today that the Indonesian army is now in "firm control" of Jakarta but added there are reports of Communist activity in other parts of the country.

The broadcast gave no details of the Revolutionary Indonesian observers in Kuala Lumpur said Communist paramilitary units, who are believed to have been supplied arms from Red China, could be preparing to take on army units loyal to the government.

Associated Press correspondent Antoine Yared reported

Jakarta that there were rebel troops from central

Java who would attack the capital.

President Sukarno in a broadcast Sunday said he was "firmin charge" and "the leadership of the army at the moment is directly under me."

Sukarno's broadcast was his first public statement since a "revolutionary council" led by an officer in the president's page guard attempted to seize power on Thursday.

Radio Jakarta also confirmed that six army generals had been killed in the uprising. It did not identify them but they were believed to include the army chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Achmad Yani.

However, Radio Medan, in Sumatra, reported Gen. Abdul

Haris Nasution, the armed forces

chief and defense minister, was safe at the headquarters of

Gen. Suharto.

British Embassy sources in Jakarta reported to Singapore that Suharto and another right-wing general, Maj. Gen. Pramapurno, appeared to be in control of the capital but that Sukarno was trying to reduce their power to redress the balance.

For years Sukarno has played the role of a communist military leader against the Communists.

In recent months he had appeared to listen more and more to the Reds and even "will not wash with each other."

He also said accusations that his air force was involved in the coup attempt were not true.

In a broadcast made while the rebels held Jakarta radio last week, the air force commander, Vice Marshall Omer Dianhi, was listed as a member of the revolutionary council. A state-broadcast by Jakarta radio

Sunday said Dianhi had retracted an earlier statement giving support to the rebels.

It was not known under what circumstances Sukarno made his broadcasts. (Monitors in Kuala Lumpur said his first announcement did not appear to have been taped, but the second one did.)

proved by the parent AFL-CIO

at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Details of the settlement were not disclosed.

ges to a unique world conference on desalination were ment Sunday to work cooperatively toward "turning the ocean into a well that never dries."

Binh Dinh Has Fierce Fighting, Government Losses Are Heavy

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — Fierce fighting broke out today between a Vietnamese army battalion and a strong Viet Cong force in Binh Dinh province, 275 miles northeast of Saigon. A U.S. military spokesman said the battle was still raging late today. Government losses were described as heavy. The Vietnamese autonomous unit was protecting an engineer battalion rebuilding a bridge which had been destroyed in heavy fighting near Phu Cu last week. A relief force was dispatched but it reportedly made little contact with the enemy.

U.S. casualties in the action were described as light. All were advisers with the Vietnamese units.

South of the Da Nang Air Base, an estimated 150 to 200 Viet Cong ambushed a U.S. Marine patrol of 13 men and killed or wounded 10 of them Sunday. Reinforcements sent to aid them Sunday.

Patrick J. Smith, who had been a cook at several Burley cafés during the past few years, was reported to have been dead for several hours when he was found Sunday morning.

Officers said cause of death was not known. An autopsy is pending until the return of the Cassia County coroner who was out of town. The incident is being investigated by Burley Police.

Maj. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, U.S. Marine commander in Viet Nam, said at least 11 Viet Cong were killed by infantry, artillery and air attack but other officers believed the toll was higher.

Because of an intransigent superintendant of schools and a school board hardly able to take the most feasible steps forward, integration and equality in Chicago's schools has brought on a crisis of catastrophic proportions with the withholding of federal funds.

Another major battle appeared to be developing in South Viet Nam's southernmost province of An Xuyen, 130 miles southwest of Saigon.

Several government battalions caught up with a Viet Cong battalion, but there were no reports of casualties on either side.

A U.S. Air Force A-10 Skyraider crashed today near Tay Ninh, 60 miles north of Saigon, killing the pilot. The plane was on an escort mission, but the cause of the crash was not known. The pilot's body was recovered.

At sea, the carrier Midway launched more than 70 sorties against suspected Viet Cong concentrations along the coast.

The automatic station was found to be in an intermediate orbit of a satellite of the earth and then in accordance with a present program put the automatic station into the trajectory of its movement, toward the moon.

The accident occurred at approximately 7:30 p.m. and visibility was poor, officers reported, and Simmons said he did not see the youth.

The youth was taken to the Twin Falls hospital for surgery and a large rock was removed from his cheek.

Negotiators reached the accord shortly before 2 a.m. Sunday after a 15-hour session with federal mediators.

No planes were lost, a spokesman said.

The U.S. Air Force said its planes flew 150 sorties during the 24-hour period ending today, dropped 228 tons of bombs and destroyed 21 buildings.

The battalion of Marines was operating in amphibious vehicles and helicopters on a peninsula 60 miles northwest of Qui Nhon, in Binh Dinh province, Friday and cleared the area Saturday, spokesman said.

The automatic station was equipped with telemetering, measuring and other scientific instruments.

The term automatic space station naturally means the device can be automated. It was expected the Russians again would try to make a soft landing on the moon with the station in a trial run for a manned moon flight.

If all goes well, Luna 7 would be expected to reach the moon Thursday night.

Reference to the satellite's trajectory being close to the prescribed one hinted that the space station may be slightly off course.

The Idaho Democrats said the $1,168,700 will be allocated in three chunks: $363,400 for a 12-month period beginning Oct. 1.

It is intended to train persons now unable to find work so they can be removed from the public welfare rolls.

Woman Is Injured in 3-Car Crash

A Hazelton woman is listed in fairly good condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Monday morning as a result of a three-car accident at the intersection of Sunstone Street North and Main Avenue East Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Ralph Balsch, Hazelton, was riding in a 1963 Mercury driven by her husband when it was struck broadside by a car driven by Henry Vi-Hays, 49, Kimberly.

Officers said Hays' auto was traveling northwest on Main Avenue East when it failed to stop for a red traffic light and struck the Balsch automobile, spinning it around and knocking it into a 1962 Dodge driven by Deputy Sheriff A. Matt Vice.

Mrs. Balsch was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Hays was cited for driving while intoxicated.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

High pressure at the surface is situated over the Intermountain Region with a frontal system approaching the Pacific Northwest but clear skies with occasional high thin clouds continue over the valleys of Southern Idaho.

High pressure aloft remains well established over the Intermountain Region and into Western Canada. Although the high pressure will weaken somewhat in Canada, high pressure over the Intermountain Region both at the surface and aloft should remain strong enough to hold out the frontal system now approaching the Pacific Northwest coast. As a result, fair weather with variable high cloudiness is forecast to continue over the valleys of Southern Idaho through Wednesday.

Some slight cooling was noted in southwestern and Magic Valleys yesterday but maximum temperature readings remained above normal in all valleys. Much the same trend in temperatures is expected the next few days with only small daily variations but with daytime temperatures well above normal.

Maximum temperatures today and Tuesday will range from the mid 70s to mid 80s with nighttime readings from the mid 30s into the 40s.

Highest daytime reading yesterday was 87 degrees at Ontario followed by 84 degrees at Rupert and 83 degrees at Wendell and Emmett. Lowest daytime reading was again at Bear Lake with 71 degrees. Minimum temperatures ranged from 23 degrees at Fairfield to 48 degrees at Boise.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

High pressure aloft is expected to remain over the Intermountain Region through much of the next five days with low pressure both at the surface and aloft in the Gulf of Alaska.

Temperatures over the valleys of Southern Idaho will average 7 degrees or more above normal Tuesday through Saturday. Daytime temperatures will continue well above normal with nighttime temperatures nearer to normal. Only small day-to-day variations in temperatures are expected through Saturday.

Some normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Gooding, 89 to 40; Twin Falls, 71 to 37, and Burley, 70 to 34.

Storms moving out of the parent low pressure center in the Gulf of Alaska will move across the northern portion of the Pacific Northwest bringing rain to those areas. But high pressure over the Intermountain Region is forecast to weaken these storms as they move inland and force them to the north of the valleys of Southern Idaho with little or no precipitation expected in our valleys through Saturday.

Sunshine will average around 75 to 85 per cent of possible with cloudiness mostly of the high thin type perhaps thickening at times. Soil temperatures at the three to eight-inch depth will continue in the 50s to low 60s through this week. Periods of slightly stronger southeasterly winds are possible into mid week with lighter winds into the latter part of the week.

Weather conditions should continue to favor potato and sugar beet digging with other final harvesting operations moving into finishing stages. Plowing and other field work can continue to make good headway. Rangelands should furnish good grazing yet with warmer weather conducive to some further growth.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON—There is a shocking, dirty-words-on-the-fence quality to the latest intrusion of school children's minds made by the U.S. Office of Education, which admits that a lack of researchers paid with taxpayers' money has been asking the kids about their sex life and their parents' compatibility.

This tidy inquisition, we are told by Francis Janni, the Education Office's acting associate commissioner for research, contributes to the advancement of education. As revealed by a special House subcommittee investigating the test, it sounds more like the OE has gone into competition with those slyly pornographic paperbacks available "at your friendly neighborhood drugstore."

THOUGHTS TOO BAD TO TALK ABOUT? Children may be smarter these days, but it is not prudish to suggest that the average tad might find it traumatic to be confronted with such true-and-false questions as "my sex life is satisfactory," and "once in a while I think of things too bad to talk about." Assuming that third-graders have a flourishing sex life, a few of them might be shying about discussing it with some noisy stranger brandishing a degree from psychology U.

Most of these questions, such as "I have never indulged in any unusual sex practices," are asked of elementary and high school students, on the grounds they produce understanding of the "phenomena of the underprivileged kid." Those, at least, are the words of one of the New Parkers, Dr. Arthur H. Brayfield, executive officer for the American Psychological Association. Specifically, Brayfield contends that such inquiries have helped researchers discover that some lower-income Negro children feel "the lack of a father figure."

MASCULINITY TESTED — To gain such knowledge, the researchers ask kids such questions as "How often do your parents quarrel with each other?" "What is the value of your parents' home?" and "How large savings account do they have?" In one case, according to Rep. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., 5-year-old boys in kindergarten were given "tests" to determine the extent of their masculinity.

Asked about the inquisition, Janni's attitude was patricianally arrogant. He admitted officials had begun weeding out the more intrusive questions, but insisted that children should be "willing to cooperate." And when asked whether parents would be permitted a look at the questions, he replied firmly that such a practice would reduce the effectiveness of the program.

BRAINS IN PUBLIC DOMAIN? — Even allowing for the prevalent view of most head-shrinkers that people's minds are public property, to be dusted and aired out at their whim, this is still revolting stuff. Aside from the fact that even children's thoughts should be held private, there is a nasty authoritarian smell to these shenanigans. Hitler built up an army of monster children—with such mischief, and George Orwell's "1984" was full of it.

Possibly there are parents hungry for the details of their offspring's erotic fantasies, but Uncle Sam should not be called upon to finance such furtive prying. There is always some quack available for a fee to fatten their curiosity. Meanwhile, I've got to go; I think I'm going to throw up.

Views of Others

LIPS THAT TOUCH NEAR-BEER

A rather insubstantial and anemic shade, even for a ghost, is evoked from the Volstead Era by the howls the drys are hurling against near-beer. Near-beer! Dear days forever past, we thought near-beer was as dead as home brew and bathtub gin. The trouble with near-beer always was that it wasn't anywhere near beer, and this became a widespread but not terribly popular joke those four decades ago (a weak joke, naturally, in keeping with its subject).

We would not go so far as to say the tastes for near-beer and beer are mutually exclusive, but would gladly make affidavit that—the roar of beer-lovers to quaffing a swig of near-beer has to our knowledge without exception been one of profound melancholy. Nevertheless, near-beer now outlasted in Michigan, Alabama and Oklahoma. The Sinner state (the monicker must mean they would sooner be silly than sensible) goes far as to outlaw any soft drink imitating an alcoholic beverage by appearance, taste or smell.

The American Brewer magazine has unwittingly given comfort to these nonsensicality by editorializing that the taste of beer is alien to many youths coming of age and that they should be conditioned to it by means of heating soft drinks in their earlier years. This, too, is twaddle, we believe. Beer is an acquired taste—along with many other things: Oysters, caviar, oysters, ripe cheeses, country hams, etc., and it takes some effort to acquire at any time of life. The younger the individual, the more apt he might be to put it in a class with spinach and other things that are good for him.

Our advice to the drys and the American Brewer alike is to wash down this nonsense on both sides with something very pale dry. The cordon sanitaire against viewers with alarm must be held firm at the near-beer line if only to prevent them from breaking through and grabbing our ginger-ale bottle.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

INSERT KOPPEK

In the United States the interests of vending-machine operators were considered in designing coins of new alloys. Everybody heaved a sigh of relief when informed that the new coins would work in the old machines. Well, almost everybody. Now comes word that the newspaper Izvestia does not believe the Soviet Union need give priority to catching up with the United States in the vending-machine race. For one thing, it points out, Soviet machines are often used in such a way as to be an inconvenience rather than a convenience to the customer. And can do Cologne machines, for example, lose 61 rubles a year, which is less than is lost by those that dispense notebooks. Also, many machines plain don't work.

In the United States we have the impression that if a vending machine fails to make money it is removed. On the other hand it sometimes seems that the only customer is bothered when this doesn't work.

Russians might take heart for the future from the fact that American vending machines have steadily improved. Sometimes we wish we had a coin for every time a machine has taken our money and not given us our peanuts. But it hasn't happened lately.—Christian Science Monitor.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Ulcerative colitis is a serious disease at any age. In children it is apt to be more severe than in adults. The cause is unknown.

All children with this disease are emotionally disturbed but whether this is the cause or the result of the disease is hard to say.

The disease is characterized by chronic diarrhea, with blood and mucus in the stools. Each bowel movement is preceded by abdominal cramps. The victim is always underweight.

When the diagnosis is suspected it is readily confirmed by X-rays following a barium enema and by a proctoscopic examination.

If treatment is begun early in its course, it is sometimes possible to avoid operation.

A bland diet (no roughage), medicines to soothe the bowel and laxatives are given.

Laxatives must be avoided if anemia develops. About all one per cent of the victims, however, will require operation.

Ileostomy, bringing the lower end of the small intestine out to rest the inflamed colon, was tried for many years but results were disappointing and now most surgeons believe it best to remove the entire colon. Following this operation there is usually a relief of symptoms and a rapid gain in weight.

—We have a 2-year-old son with celiac disease who is on a gluten-free diet. What can you tell us about the new enzyme treatment for this disease?

A Celiac disease is caused by a deficiency of one or more of the digestive enzymes in the intestines. These enzymes are being used experimentally to predigest wheat-gluten, the part of the normal diet that causes severe diarrhea in children with this disease. These children are not given the enzyme but are given the predigested product. Encouraging results have been reported, but this treatment is not yet generally available.

Q—Our son was not circumcised when he was born. Our doctor says he doesn't need this operation. Should we take his advice or should we find someone who will perform the operation?

A—Circumcision has become a routine procedure in many hospitals just as removal of the tonsils (a little later in life) was a few years ago. There is, however, a growing feeling among physicians that this operation is unnecessary, has little to recommend it and may even be detrimental except in those infants whose foreskin is extremely tight and cannot be drawn back to facilitate cleaning. You should consult a progressive doctor — follow his advice.

Johnson Offers Refuge to Cubans Leaving Island

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson set the gears of government and diplomacy in motion today to offer America's protection to those who seek to leave the Communist island of Cuba.

"Let the United States permit any citizen to come freely to Cuba," Castro shouted to a cheering audience. "Let them permit any citizen to come freely to Cuba."

Johnson said Sunday in a wind-swept "signing ceremony" at the Statue of Liberty:

"The dedication of America to our traditions as an asylum for oppressed people is going to be upheld."

Johnson thus took up the challenge posed by Castro's offer to those of his people who wish to leave their homeland and go to America.

But just hours after Johnson spoke, Castro laid down a new challenge in a Havana speech,

Officers for Grange Unit Re-Elected

HOLLISTER — All presiding officers, for the second time, were unanimously elected to remain in their respective offices for the coming year at a special grange meeting held recently at the Hollister Grange hall.

Those re-elected were Lyle Schipper, master; Heber Loughmiller, overseer; Mrs. E. Kunkel, chaplain; Mrs. Bertough Miller, lecturer; Dale Kunkel, steward; A. E. Kunkel, keeper; Lester McGregor, treasurer; Mrs. Donna Laning, secretary; Gary Nelson, assistant steward; Mrs. W. J. Mrs. Lester McGregor presented the evenup program in the absence of Mrs. Heber Loughmiller, who was ill. An article was read by Mrs. Glenn Nelson on old wedding customs. A report on growing tobacco and a "hand" of tobacco was shown to the members.

Mrs. Lyle Schipper, and Mrs. Gary Nelson sang a duet. Closing thought was a poem "My Teacher" read by Homer Roberts.

Resolutions concerning sales tax, trading stamps, farm property tax and others to be presented at the state grange meeting were discussed.

An Idaho produce dinner at the grange hall is scheduled for Oct. 13. All members are urged to bring guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Schipper were elected delegates to the state meeting to be held at Gooding, Oct. 26-28. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Nelson were chosen as alternates. All members are urged to attend the state meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester McGregor served refreshments.

Naming It Not Healing It

By Dr. Elmer D. Paul, D.C.
This is a whole of it different between correctly naming your ailments and healing them. Sick people spend their time and money going from doctor to doctor looking for help. They are aware that all that is being done is to get their attention. Many names will be given to sick people want something to say about their condition.

It is enough to just dull the pain and try to make the patient comfortable. The cause of the condition must be found before therapy can be effective.

The cause of the trouble is usually an impairment induced upon which the interfering with the natural flow of energy along nerve lines.

Remember this, this impairment caused nerve creates the irritation automatically. The nervous system is always disordered as health returns.

In a series of articles published in the public interest to explain the practice of scientific chiropractic written by Dr. Elmer D. Paul, D.C., Dr. Kilian O'Neil who offices are located at 40 Main Ave. W., Twin Falls, appointment only. Telephone — Adv.

telling the U.S. President to also open the doors to permit Americans to travel to Cuba if they wish.

"Let the United States permit any citizen to come freely to Cuba," Castro shouted to a cheering audience.

He said he has asked the State Department to seek through the Swiss government these steps to open America's doors for Cubans who seek to join some 270,000 of their countrymen already in the United States.

He said he has asked the State Department to seek through the Swiss government an arrangement for the movement of refugees from Cuba to Miami. The United States does not maintain diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Johnson's proposal to permit Cubans to come to America, U.S. government sources believe, might seize the opportunity to leave their homeland and take refuge in the United States.

Johnson stood at one historic port of entry — choppy, white-capped New York harbor — to open the gates of another, Miami. He said the Florida city will be "a temporary stepping place for refugees as they resettle in other parts of the country."

Johnson's dramatic announcement overshadowed his major mission on Liberty Island, the ceremony in which he signed a new immigration bill into law. It will erase the system of immigration quotas based on national origin. Johnson called the old system un-American.

Scores of government officials and hundreds of sight-seers thronged Liberty Island as Johnson signed the measure and passed out souvenir pens. Before the crush of pen-seekers was over, he passed out three cartons full, perhaps 300 pens.

Johnson said first priority in immigration to the United States will go to Cuban refugees who have relatives here, and to political prisoners.

State Department sources estimated 30,000 to 50,000 Cubans may be in those categories.

The President announced these steps to open America's doors for Cubans who seek to join some 270,000 of their countrymen already in the United States.

He appealed to agencies which represent the U.S. government to expand their efforts.

"Their help is needed in the reception and resettlement of those who choose to leave Cuba," Johnson said.

As Johnson declared that the United States would welcome Cuban refugees, government sources said the flow of Cubans probably would be about 5,000 a month. They said the United States will emphasize orderly movement of refugees.

Most of the Cubans now in this country flew here from Havana before direct airline service was halted during the missile crisis that erupted three years ago.

About 1,000 a month are entering the United States, most of them with immigrant visas, by way of Mexico City and Madrid. Others have fled Cuba in small boats, crossing the Florida Straits to the United States.

Elaine Johnson Is Bride of Ronald Hansen

BUHL—Elaine Kay Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Johnson, Buhl, became the bride of Ronald E. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hansen, Twin Falls, in LDS Temple rites solemnized Aug. 19 in Idaho Falls.

President William Killpack officiated at the double-ring nuptials. The couple was accompanied to the temple by friends and relatives.

The following evening the newlyweds greeted guests at a reception at the Buhl LDS Cultural Hall. The bride greeted guests in an original creation she made and designed, fashioned of white silk organza over silk faced peau de soie. The fitted bodice was accented with a scalloped sweetheart neckline and petit point sleeves highlighted appliques of re-embroidered imported lace. The boudoir skirt flowed into a chapel train. A single strand cultured pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, complemented her ensemble.

A queen's crown studded with pearls and crystals released her shoulder-length veil of silk bridal illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink rosebuds and white stephanotis laced with ivy and white ribbon bows.

Mrs. Larry Wimmer, Provo, daughter of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Cecilia Armstrong, cousin of the bride; Cecilia Allen, niece of the bride; and Sue Bonar.

Collie Johnson, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Paul Johnson, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Jon Hansen, Pocatello, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Keith Johnson and Ted Johnson, Boise, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Wimmer was soloist and duet selections were sung by Mr.

and Mrs. Sterling Halladay, uncle and aunt of the bride, with

DROPPING ACROSS THE GOAL is New York Giants halfback Steve Thurlow (27) for a touchdown in the first quarter of a game with the Pittsburgh Steelers in Pittsburgh Sunday. Bowens-Bats Orioles Past

Indians 2-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sam Bowens' ninth-inning home run off Sam McDowell gave Baltimore a 3-1 victory over Cleveland Sunday behind Steve Barber's three-hit pitching.

The Indians are lost in the major with home runs and way down in all the power departments. A typical rally by Los Angeles in the ninth, in which Wills, a stolen base, wild throw and a sacrifice fly, Willis, stealing bases the ninth, has been the best and often the only threat to rival pitchers.

The story of the Dodger attack is best told by noting that Drysdale, the pitcher, is their top batter. They won the clincher from Milwaukee on two hits with the help of a walk, stolen base, error and wild pitch and got two runs on walks with the bases full.

The Dodgers are 2-0 in Series competition since they moved to Los Angeles but were only 1-8 at Brooklyn for an over-all record of 3-8.

Salem Drops Pro Baseball Team

PORLAND (AP) — Salem will be without professional baseball next season for the first time since 1940.

The Salem club, on uncertain financial grounds for some years, returned its franchise to the Class A Northwest League Sunday at a league meeting in Portland's Benson Hotel.

Jim Fleishman, league president, said two other cities, Klamath Falls and Medford, applied for franchises, thus assuring the league of operation again next year.

Wenatchee and Tri-City, also said to be in financial trouble, will remain in the league.

Fumble Keys Cleveland's 35-17 Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A fumbled punt recovered by linebacker Sid Williams on the two-yard line set up Jim Brown's second touchdown play and keyed a 35-17 victory for the Cleveland Browns over the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday before a crowd of 60,759.

The Eagles led 17-14, and the defense forced Cleveland to punt with about eight minutes remaining in the fourth quarter.

But safety Jim Brown dropped the ball at the 13 and booted it to the two, where Williams recovered. Jim Brown crashed over on the first play.

Cleveland went on to score two more touchdowns before it was over, but the punt fumble broke the game wide open and gave Cleveland its second win in three games, while the Eagles lost their second straight after defeating St. Louis in the opener.
