Sky Cavalrymen Fight Guerrillas To Save U.S. Crew

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP)—U.S. Sky cavalrymen held Saturday off Viet Cong guerrillas in Phu Yen Province, 250 miles northeast of Saigon, to save a downed American helicopter and its four-man crew. Men of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division—Almabody—launched and accomplished their mission Friday while some college students and others in the United States, to Hanou's delight, were launching their weekend demonstrations against American participation in the war. Seven guerrillas were believed killed and four wounded in the exchange, a spokesman said. No American casualties were reported. The details as related in Saigon:

VICTOR H. PALMIERI, president of Janss Corp., owner of Sun Valley, will be guest speaker at the annual Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Banquet Nov. 13 in the Elks Lodge ballroom.

One of the division's UH1D helicopters, carrying four men, was shot down by enemy fire southeast of the divisional base at An Khe. Two helicopters sped to the rescue. One was a heavily armed combat machine, the other a big salvage craft, the CH-53 Chinook. The armed chopper fought off the guerrillas while the Chinook hooked onto the UH1D and lifted it to safety. B-52 jet bombers of the U.S. Strategic Air Command staged another saturation bombing Saturday, this time on a suspected Viet Cong supply zone in the coastal province of Quang Ngai, 330 miles northeast of Saigon. Reporting on two days of scattered action, government troops said they killed 88 guerrillas. Their night were confirmed by body count.

Fishing Encyclopedia Brags About Idaho

Nearly everything in the way of fish that a fisherman could desire in mountain country is provided by Idaho—in quantity, variety and size.

The kind of fishing to make an angler's yearnings spring fully unimaginative by comparison is the basis of a feature article in McClure's Standard Fishing Encyclopedia and International Angling Guide, published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc., of New York, and edited by Al McClure, fishing editor of Field and Stream Magazine.

In 3,000 words the fishing in Idaho is described by Clare Conley, nation's top and most successful editor of field and stream. That fabled fishing country's grandeur and facts and figures on where and when to go and what to expect are all included.

The word-picture of the high mountain country is one of the contributions from 14 scientists and anglers experts in the massive Encyclopedia embracing more than a million words in 1,288 pages lavishly illustrated in full color and black and white.

And this article is one that likely to make an angler want to pack up and begin moving west, with this encouragement from Conley:

"Idaho is a state with an almost limitless variety of fishing water. It has 10,000-foot-high mountains, vast, unspoiled scenery and a wide variety of fishing. It has tiny creeks, wide, shallow, forest meadows that challenge dry-fly fishermen. It is the only inland state that has runs of salmon and trout. And finally Idaho has large lakes and reservoirs that provide some of the largest fish taken in the United States.

"They are recognized as the world's best for their species: two of the 32-pound Dolly Varden and a 14-pound Kamikup fish, came from the famed and remote Lake in northern Idaho.

"Eye-opening spectacular is the 32-pound steelhead, salmon taken in the Snake River in southern Idaho by Willard Craven in 1951. This huge fish is the largest ever officially recorded taken by rod and reel from freshwater.

"In the coldwaters of the state are seven kinds of trout—brown, cutthroat, brook, lake, black, Dolly Varden, and golden. In addition two kinds of salmon come to the rivers of the state in annual runs. They are chinook and steelhead.

"Much like salmon are the anadromous rainbow trout, known as steelhead, that also return to the rivers of the Gem State. There is yet another salmon in Idaho—the small, landlocked sockeye or kokanee in the large lakes of the state.

"As a result of the wide variety of terrain, Idaho has an equally large warmwater fishery, which includes largemouth bass, smallmouth bass, crappie, perch, sturgeon, bullheads, sunfish and channel catfish."

"More trout are caught in Idaho than any other fish. Eleven and a half million trout are taken each year, due partly to the state's system of 11 full-time hatcheries, which supply trout not only of catchable size but also of smaller size for planting in large lakes and reservoirs."

Mournfully, Conley says, the dam-builders have left their handwork on some streams and some pollution has moved in with industry and increased population.

But the fishing remnants of a kind to be found in few places and some of the best is in the fastness of wilderness country still untouched by automobile and rubbish.

26 Firms Seek to Have New Assessment Law Invalidated

BOISE (AP) — Does the so-called equalized assessment law passed by the 1967 Legislature provide an equitable tax on real personal and operating property?

Twenty-six public utility, doing business in Idaho say it doesn't and have gone to court in an effort to have the statute invalidated.

Their supporters of the law, who contend it will bring order to what they describe as Idaho's "chaotic, archaic and obsolete" property tax structure, by surprise.

Rep. Eugene Bush, R-Bonneville, who guided the measure through the legislature, says the utilities should have come forward with their objections during committee hearings.

"We asked the utilities," said Bush, "to look into the proposal and tell us if it would result in an unfair tax burden. They didn't come back and I think that proves they couldn't come up with a case against it."

Basically, the law is a simple remedy provides for creation of three classes of property—real personal and operating utility—and the setting of a standard assessment rate for each.

Under its provisions, real and personal property will be assessed at 20 per cent of true cash value, operating property at 40 per cent.

Currently assessments vary by county to county and from 10 to 98 per cent to a high of 20 per cent on real and personal property. Operating property is assessed at 30 per cent.

Their creation by the legislature is challenged by the utilities, who contend the law discriminates against them and that the three classes of property prohibited by the State Constitution.

Their case is based on a section of the State Constitution that provides "all taxes shall be levied upon the same class of property within the same territory."

This is interpreted by the utilities as a ban against legislative creation of property classifications.

Bush says, however, that the law, generally, which would be an opinion while the law was being drafted, said the law was in favor of the constitutionality of the law.

He also pointed out that classification of property has been made in other states with similar constitutional provisions.

Each conceded there will be a change in the tax burden on personal to real property in some counties, while in others it will be from real to personal and in some areas it is to utility property.

But he contends the 40 per cent assessment rate will not re-

The vehicle, owned by Gale Washburn, Oakley, was taken about 7:30 p.m. Friday from the Whiteley parking lot.

State Patrolman Duane Owen and Murtagh Marshal Charles Johnson were en route to Murtagh when, after hearing a description of the vehicle, spotted it about five miles east of Murtagh. # Bus Drivers Are Needed In Minidoka

Minidoka County schools are still in need of eight school bus drivers, according to Superintendent Camden Meyer.

Meyer also reported school board trustees are considering a revised budget in order to take advantage of funds provided by Public Law 89-10 recently passed by congress to aid education of secondary schools.

The funds are made available according to the number of tax cuts from $1,000 in 1959, and Minidoka County schools had over 200 such families.

The law stipulates that expenditures must be submitted before the funds are received; also that the funds must be spent for something over and above the usual normal expenditure.

Changes in the spring 1965-66 income estimates were changed as follows: school district levy raised from $318,354 to $322,085; emergency levy from $32,800 to $31,352; capital outlay raised from $32,800 to $35,227.

The possibility of organizing a citizens committee to work on a building plan is being considered by the school board, according to Meyer.

School enrollment in the county increased 1.7 percent over last year. The school, which was built to accommodate 1,200 pupils has an enrollment of 1,168.

Meyer said harvest vacation was discussed by the board and it was felt this should be eliminated next year.

Twin Falls Printers Do Not Swear, According to Humorous Book on Golf

"80 Years in a Sand Trap" is the title of a book to be published in New York Oct. 25 (Hill and Wang, $3.95) which purports to be filled with the lore and the laughter of "the second greatest game ever played by man or beast," golf.

At that time the author, Fred Beck, and the late Grandfather Rice, who wrote the foreword, estimated that between them they had spent 73 yards in one 9/16ths sand trap or another. Now, 16 years later, author Beck puts 16 with 73 and adds up to 89 — years in a sand trap.

Court Rules On Damage Case in Area

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Supreme Court justices ruled Friday the Union Pacific Railroad may be sued in Bannock County for damages arising out of a crossing accident in Minidoka County.

The high court said the district court acted properly because the railroad is an out-of-state corporation which can be sued in the county where it maintains its principal place of business in Idaho.

Prisoners In Arkansas Want Warden

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — More than 300 convicts have bombarded Gov. Orval E. Faubus with letters beseeching him to reject the resignation of prison warden Dan Stephens, who is under fire for whipping convicts.

"We need Capt. Dan!" wrote convict Leon Calvin Moore from Cummins Prison Farm.

The letters represent about 15 per cent of the prison population.

Stephens, called "captain" by the convicts, is a former legislator and prosecutor who resigned this week, effective Jan. 1, in the wake of controversy over his use of a 5-foot, 1-pound strap on inmates.

"I don't apologize for it," Stephens says. "Every man who was whipped knows he needed it. We have no walls, no fences, no solitary confinement. We have to have some form of discipline for the few incorrigibles who aren't happy unless they're causing trouble."

Many of the letters reflect the angry view Stephens referred to as "hard-heads and troublemakers making it miserable for the rest of us."

Hansen Asks For World Food Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, has joined 60 other Republican congressmen in introducing legislation to establish a U. S. world food study.

The bill also would set up a coordinating commission to coordinate the study and to evaluate the future role of U. S. efforts in this field.

The 18-member commission would include four senators and four representatives, divided equally between the political parties, and 10 other members to be appointed by the president.

The commission would publish its findings and such interim reports as necessary and would make a final report to the president and Congress by Jan. 2, 1967, Hansen said.

"There is every reason to believe that such a commission could very well prove to be a catalytic agent that would not only help to bring food to the hungry mouths of the world but also stability and a new vitality to American agriculture," he said.

U.S. Has Not Tried Rocket Like Soviet's

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has been working for several years on rocket projects looking toward nuclear power for space missions.

But it has not yet tried — and has no known plans — to launch a nuclear-powered rocket such as that which the London newspaper Guardian said blew up on a launching pad in the Soviet Union in 1960, killing 300 persons. The paper said that rocket was the "fantastic" secret weapon of which former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev had boasted in advance.

U.S. activities in the nuclear rocket field have been limited to technical studies and testing of ground-based devices.

These programs are under the joint direction of the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Wendell Aides Establish Ordinance

WENDELL — The city council met with Carl Gustafson, mayor, for a special session this week to draw up an ordinance fixing and calling for a special election for the purpose of determining whether lots 12, 13 and 14 in block 96, city of Wendell should be sold for cash at a private sale.

The ordinance provides an election will be held on Nov. 2, on the same election date as the election of city officials, with the same election board and the qualifications of the electors shall be the same. For the ordinance to pass, a majority of qualified voters must be in favor of the sale. In this case, the council will publish notice in at least two consecutive weekly issues of the paper to denote the time and date, when and where, sealed bids are to be received.

The council also passed an ordinance relating to the removal of weeds and rubbish from private property. Notice will be given to the property owner and in the event the landowner fails to remove debris, the city will do so and assessment be placed and collected the same as other municipal taxes are collected.

Mrs. Gwen Collett, city clerk, reminded residents Thursday is the last day for filing petitions for mayor and councilmen.

Petitions have been filed for Carl Gustafson, incumbent, for mayor; for M. L. Gates, and Dale (Bud) Bitterli for councilman in the east ward, and for Earl Nielson, as councilman in the west ward.

Councilmen and mayor elected will each serve the term of Wendell for a period of four years.

No Kebab

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — Fresno attorney Paul S. Mosesian told Municipal Judge George A. Hopper Friday he got a speeding ticket because he was rushing home to prepare shish kebab for a party.

Hopper fined Mosesian $12 and placed him on six months probation.

One of the probation's terms is that Mosesian shall abstain from eating shish kebab for two weeks.

The priests, some 20 in all, conferred again on the situation Saturday.

Priests from five Roman Catholic parishes, all in Negro sections, had pledged to support the boycott which is scheduled to begin Monday in protest against alleged racial imbalance in Milwaukee's public schools.

A vice chairman of the boycott committee is the Rev. James E. Groppi, one of the priests.

Father Groppi's pastor, the Rev. Eugene Bleidorn, said the priests involved would not act without thought and prayer.

But, he said, "we face a difficult situation."

Father Bleidorn's parish was one that had promised to lend its facilities for a "freedom school" being organized for pupils honoring the boycott.

Businessmen Given Report Of Optimism

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Government leaders assured the Business Council Saturday that President Johnson's administration means to keep economic expansion going without inflation.

"The general mood of the businessmen is one of optimism," Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told newsmen.

"The mood is one of a much better relationship between government and business," Humphrey added.

Going into their semiannual meeting Thursday, council members had indicated they consider inflation the principal threat to the economy, even though they expect continued economic growth next year.

Following two days of meetings with government and industry leaders, council members appear confident that expansion will outpace any erosion of purchasing power.

"Government has the weapons and the will to maintain expansion within noninflationary bounds," said Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's council of Economic Advisers.

Ackley told newsmen following his closed meeting with the council that he expects stable labor costs in the coming year and "that is a favorable factor in the outlook."

He said he expects wage settlements to average increases of less than 3 1/2 per cent, the limit established by the administration's so-called guidelines.

"I am optimistic about the continued stability of costs and prices," Ackley added.

2 Spacecraft To Be Linked On Oct. 25

WASHINGTON (AP) — History's first linking of two spacecraft is scheduled for the evening of Monday, Oct. 25. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration set the time Friday for astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford to link their Gemini spacecraft with an Agena rocket.

Both the manned Gemini and the unmanned target vehicle will be launched earlier that day from Cape Kennedy, Fla. If all goes well the spacecraft will be linked over the Indian Ocean at about 5:21 p.m. EST Oct. 25.

Experience in linking up with another spacecraft is an essential part of training of astronauts for future flights to the moon in larger three-man Apollo spacecraft.

Blaze Razes House Near Shoshone

SHOSHONE — A five-room, frame house and household furnishings belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Helsey, North Shoshone, were destroyed in a fire Saturday evening. The cause is undetermined.

Mr. Helsey had gone to Nebraska to take home his mother, who had been visiting here. Helsey also was out of town, according to firemen.

Several neighbors reported seeing smoke early Saturday evening near the Helsey home, but thought the family was burning weeds or trash. By the time the source of the fire was discovered, it was too late to save the house and its contents.

The North Shoshone and Shoshone City Fire Departments sent trucks to the fire and it was confined only to the area of the house. According to firemen, there was some concern over an oil barrel of gas near the end of the house and a gasoline tank nearby, but the blaze was kept from reaching both objects.

Ku Klux Klan Linked With Bombings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers Saturday night released a report linking the Ku Klux Klan with southern bombings and describing it as an organization "founded on the worst instincts of mankind."

Flowers in an interview called the report a weapon to help educate Alabamians and other citizens. It was originally scheduled for release Monday. He released it Saturday night after its publication in Alabama.

The report portrayed the average Alabama Klansman as having only a fifth grade education, most of them high school dropouts and failures socially and economically.

But it added: "Peace officers of high and low degree have been numbered among its members. Some of these police officials get in the Klan for political reasons. It is founded on the worst instincts of mankind. At its best it is intolerant and bigoted."

"At its worst, it is a foul pollution in the body politic," the report said.

Flowers, here for a television appearance tomorrow, said he hopes the report will arouse citizens from a state of apathy regarding the Klan.

He said the report was based on information from former Klan members, "planted" observers and reports from law enforcement agencies.

The report branded the Klan as a "vicious, perverted organization" but said many citizens fail to take it seriously.

"With few exceptions the Klansman has no economic or social standing in his community, and most who appear at the rallies are portraits in despair."

LDS Aide Denies Television Plan

LONDON (AP) — The president of the British Mission of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, O. Preston Robinson, has denied any plans of the church to set up its own commercial television station here.

"We've nothing of that kind in mind," Robinson said Friday. Last week, newspaper reports said the church planned to seek a station to send more uplifting material into British homes to counteract the violence and sex in many television programs.

Robinson said Friday that is his opinion of British television but insisted the church has made no move for a television station.

Doctors Told to Get New Methods

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The president-elect of the American Medical Association says doctors must take the lead in formulating new methods of medical practice or the federal government will do it for them.

"We've become somewhat complacent with the best this and that," he said, adding that "Change is constantly with us."

New Cherry Trees Sent From Japan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first of 3,000 new Japanese cherry trees—a gift from the Japanese people—will be planted around the Washington monument in early November. But they're American-grown trees.

That's the way experts decided to get around a legal snafu—a U.S. ban on the import of foreign trees to prevent spread of tree diseases.

After Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato announced the gift during the cherry blossom festival here last April, it was discovered his government couldn't send along its own home-grown trees.

So, the six to eight-foot tall single petal variety Japanese cherry trees, which cost about $20,000, are being obtained from American nurseries.

The White House announced today it has been informed by Japan's ambassador that the first 700 trees are on their way for November planting. The rest will come as soon as they're available.

Amendment to Limit Sugar Bill Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has rejected an amendment to limit the sugar bill to an increase in U.S. quotas.

A committee member, who did not want his name used, told The Associated Press Friday the senators voted down a proposal by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to throw out provisions on foreign quotas in the bill. The vote was 11 to 4, the source said.

The bill provides for a 50 percent increase in the domestic sugar quota for the rest of the year. Congress members from sugar producing states say that unless the increase is voted, many producers will go bankrupt because of heavy unmarketable surpluses.

Fulbright agreed that the domestic boost could be made but

Wrong Sex

LIVINGSTON, N.J. (UPI) — A national merit scholarship semifinalist from Livingston High School has laughed off an invitation to apply for admission to the U.S. Naval Academy.

"Although I'm tempted to go because I think the social life would be great, I just don't think it's possible," said 17-year-old Andrea (Andy) Heaps.

Heaps fought against the foreign quotas, arguing that they should at least be put over until next year and considered more carefully.

The administration contends that the foreign quotas are as important as domestic ones and should be approved this year.

The House approved the bill Wednesday after accepting a series of changes in the foreign quotas made by the House Agriculture Committee.

Russ to Help With Asian Development

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed to join the United States and more than 21 other countries in a meeting to develop a billion-dollar Asian development bank, says the Treasury Department.

Officials said Friday night the meeting will be held in Bangkok, Thailand, beginning next Thursday. Prime goals of the sessions will be the drafting of a proposed charter for the Asian bank. The charter must be approved by the representatives and ratified by their countries before the bank becomes operative.

Eugene R. Black, special adviser to President Johnson, recently announced that the United States would provide $200 million of the initial billion dol-

There Are Over Half A Million
Good Reasons
Why We Observe

NATIONAL NEWSPAPERBOY DAY

One of them is the lad who delivers your newspaper.

Today we pay tribute to him and to all of the other youngsters who, by the prompt delivery of newspapers, help make us the best informed people on earth. We're especially grateful to these young businessmen who deliver our newspapers, bringing you factual news, pictures, and interesting features of the world's free press.

The next time he calls, give your Newspaperboy a word of encouragement for the job he is doing. Then take a second look at him. You'll probably be able to spot that "something extra" that sets him apart from most youngsters his age.

This often results from the specialized training and experience which youngsters receive under the direction of men interested in and trained to work with boys.

A newspaper route is the one part-time work experience that is different. There is no other way in which a youngster can so quickly develop the self-confidence which comes from being a successful Junior Independent Merchant. Here he becomes a young business executive, applying many of the lessons learned in school to everyday situations encountered in newspaper route management. Here he also learns how service, courtesy, salesmanship, and collections mean increased profits.

Many of yesterday's newspaperboys are today's leaders in this community and throughout the nation. That will be equally true in the future.

Newsboys are thrifty, too
Times-News carriers regularly invest over $1,000.00 each month in savings.

MRS. WAYNE ROSE, left, and Mrs. Ron Booth were among the models who showed the latest in fall millinery at a hat revue and luncheon at the YWCA building. Now hat collures are more casual, hats are again a necessity in every woman's wardrobe. Hat designers have gone all out this season to conquer women's reluctance to wear anything on their heads. Women, young and old alike, will have a hard time resisting the lure of the new head coverings which are casual, youthful and easy to wear. All hats shown were from the Paris Co. (Times-News photo).

NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVES, Mrs. Anita Swanson, left, and Margaret Christensen, Kansas City, Mo., are assisting local women in organizing the Christian Women's Club. The unit is part of a national organization with headquarters in Kansas City. The club requires no membership or dues and all women are invited to attend. (Times-News photo)

LUNCHEON GUESTS check over the program at the newly organized Christian Women's Club luncheon. The club is composed of homemakers who meet for a two-hour luncheon and program once each month. Luncheons are scheduled for the second Wednesday of each month at the YWCA. There are approximately 375 Christian Women's Club units, extending from Maine to California. They have all been organized since 1950. Several groups have been organized in Idaho during the past few years, including Boise, Mountain Home, Caldwell, Pocatello and Fairfield. (Times-News photo)

Christian Club Is New to Magic Valley Women's World

BY NORMA HERZINGER

Stylish hats, the latest in fall millinery, took the spotlight at a recent luncheon at the YWCA building. Women's reluctance to wear hats in past seasons will not be true this fall if all creations are as stunning as those shown at this revue, courtesy of the Paris Co.

The organization sponsoring the fashionable millinery parade is as new to the Magic Valley women's world as the hats are for the forthcoming season. This unit is known as the Christian Women's Club and has only been in existence in our area for two months.

Models walked among the luncheon tables so all guests could see the youthful and casual stylings of the latest in women's head coverings.

Women disliked hats in the past because they did not flatter their bouffant hairdos. Now that coiffures are more casual, hats are again in vogue and women will have a difficult time resisting the lure of the new creations.

Those modeling hats from the Paris Co. include Mrs. Paul Heuston, Mrs. Wayne Rose, Mrs. Merrill Summers, Mrs. Ron Booth and Mrs. Henry Westendorf.

Mrs. Clyde Koontz was narrator for the revue. Soloist was Mrs. David Mead, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Youtz.

National representatives, Mrs. Anita Swanson and Margaret Christensen, Kansas City, Mo., have been in Magic Valley this past two months organizing this unit, which is a part of a national organization with headquarters in Kansas City.

The club is comprised of homemakers who meet for a two-hour luncheon and program in many of the leading cities of our country. There is no membership or dues and all women are invited to attend.

The Christian Business and Professional Women's Council of America is the sister organization and is now open to working women who meet for a dinner and program once each month. This branch of the organization began in 1941, and the Christian Women's Club in 1950. The latter is an outgrowth of the earlier business women's group because women at home with families could not so readily attend the evening meetings.

There are approximately 375 groups now, extending from Maine to California.

Luncheons for the local unit will be held the second Wednesday of each month at the YWCA building and all women are invited and urged to attend. "This is not a club you can join," Miss Christensen stated, "you are just asked to attend and enjoy."

NARRATOR, Mrs. Clyde Koontz, described the lovely fall hats shown at a recent club luncheon at the YWCA. Models walked among the luncheon tables so all guests could see the youthful and casual stylings of the latest in women's millinery. (Times-News photo)

MRS. DAVID MEAD, right, was featured soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Youtz, left, at a recent luncheon in Twin Falls. Mrs. Mead and Mrs. Youtz are well known in the Magic Valley area for their splendid musical abilities. (Times-News photo)

FEATHERS are a classic feature of this hat worn by Mrs. Merrill Summers and shown to guests at the Christian Women's Club luncheon at the YWCA. (Times-News photo)

No. But we can learn to let it mold and fill our lives. Hear this one-hour public lecture, "What Is Your Potential?" by JANE O. ROBBINS, C.S., a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Unbeaten Filer Uses Fumble to Tip Wendell 13-7

WENDELL — The Filer Wildcats gratefully took a fumble at the Trojan 25-yard line Friday night, which they used to tip Wendell 13-7. Not expected to stay within two touchdowns of the Wildcats, the Trojans took the play to the larger, faster club much of the time and at most broke the opening kickoff on them. The Wildcats were not anything else together on the ground or in the air. Wendell moved well during its scoring drive, which gave them a surprising 7-6 half-time edge. It was Wendell's first loss after four wins and a tie.

Hepworth Passes Murtaugh Past Trojans

MURTAUGH — Jim Hepworth in the first half when the Devils scored the first four times they had the ball. Two fumbles and a punt, which Raft River fumbled, interception kept Raft River's expected offensive show on the Trojan 25-yard line. Cummings notched another of the four before Cummings went in standing up. Raft River, which had a good march but stalled at the 20-yard line. Hepworth kept the Devils on the ground, passing only twice. The first for a first and 10 near midfield and the second a 12-yard touchdown strike to Ron Anderson.

On the ensuing kickoff, Raft River almost broke the run open but 245-pound Mike Love came out of nowhere, leveled the runner with a devastating tackle and jarred the ball loose. Lou Anderson recovered for Murtaugh at the Devil 35-yard line and six plays later the Devil scored again. The payoff came on a 38-yard pass from Hepworth to Derrick Ater.

QUARTERBACK ROLLOUT by Jim Hepworth ended in the clutches of a Raft River defender during action Friday at Murtaugh. Hepworth had the last say, however, throwing three touchdowns passes in leading Murtaugh to a 25-6 win. (Times-News photo)

Vandals Miss on Field Goal Try In Last Minutes

BY LARRY HOVEY
(Times-News Sports Editor)

BOISE—Oregon State ground through routines Vandals on two touchdown marches and took a 14-14 win Saturday when an Idaho field goal attempt missed by inches in the final four minutes; Oregon State, general-ly by Paul Brothers who was supposedly too injured to play, stayed largely on the ground in carrying out the victory as a sharp wind was a deciding factor in the battle. Idaho's offense again lost its outside punch when

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY

It can be said Idaho is a football team of inches. It is a good club, it misses by inches of being very good. It loses games by inches. Saturday it did so again after coming very close, closer than most of the fans attending the game thought it usually injured on the third play of the game and was taken to the hospital with a broken kidney. It was the third time this year the injury shelved Foruria and left the Vandals looking desperately for a replacement. A capacity crowd of 11,000 came out to see OSC coach Doc Andros return to the state for the first time since forgoing the Idaho job last spring. In the game he headed long-time assistant Steve Musseau. The overplay put extra emphasis on the battle which was hard hitting.

Oregon State twice presented the Vandals with golden scoring opportunities on fumbles deep in their own territory. The Vandals fumbled the ball back once and was stopped on a fourth and two on the 20 another time. Scooter Scott's 37-yard punt return set up the first Idaho touchdown and a third quarter fumble was the springboard for the second.

Oregon State drove for its first touchdown in the second quarter, getting it on a fourth and one situation that had the Idaho defensive unit and fans protesting Idaho had held a foot short. Late in the half, Oregon State missed the decisive field goal and then wrapped up with a gutsy drive of 60 yards.

Oregon State's bad hike from center gave Idaho its first chance at the 19-yard line but on the first play the Vandals fumbled it back. The teams exchanged punts, Oregon State kicking the second time. Scott took the kick on his own 20-yard line and almost broke away before being hauled down at the 23. Big Ray McDonald then carried four times, once for 10 yards and the last time for one, to put the Vandals on top.

Jerry Campbell converted. Brothers took the ensuing kickoff and started Oregon State downhill, targetly on the running of Pete Pifer, who later was injured and left the game. They beat a fourth and two situation at the Idaho 34 and got a first down at the 19 on two plays. Four plays later Pifer cracked off tackle from the one and was met by linebacker LaVerl Pratt. The official ruled the ball had gone into the end zone. Mary Crowston converted to tie it.

A pair of penalties put Idaho deep in the hole after the kickoff and they punted out to the OSC 48-yard line. In 10 plays, beating one fourth and one, Oregon State again was put out, this time sent to a hospital, with a bruised kidney. That left only Joe Rodriguez to quarterback, particularly after Jerry Ahlin, sustained a defensive specialist, sustained a leg injury.

The injury to Foruria switched our game plan around. It took away our wide stuff. Foruria is quick enough to get outside and around. Rodriguez is just too slow. When Foruria left we were limited to power up the middle and drop back passing. That wasn't our game plan," he added.

The next plan Idaho has to come up with is a way to move the offense. Foruria can't be counted on. Without him, the Vandals are lifeless. Never has this writer seen a crowd so quiet. In the 11th minute words were said as the people watched the final minutes. Coach Musseau was more dejected than we've ever seen him. The Idaho dressing room was quiet.

"I never wanted to win a game more badly," said Tim Lavens as a doctor repaired a split over his left eye. "They were tough, but not that tough."

On the opposite side Coach Andros, who last year accepted the winning prize after his Vandals slipped Utah State, was beaming.

"This has got to be a great win," he said, sporting a pair of orange and black shoes in place of the silver and gold of last year. "It's got to be a great win, only because I can't see the boys for three years and know they wanted to beat me as badly as I wanted to beat them, but because we really needed a win this week. We've been playing past the desperate fingertips of Burley and Jess Ellis during play against the Idaho Falls Tigers Friday night. Coming up are defense men Mike Edwards (11) and Larry Lombard (53). Idaho Falls won 53-13 after holding a tight 14-0 edge at intermission. (Times-News photo)

Groth, Miller Lift I.F. Past Burley 53-13

BURLEY—Ray Groth passed for five touchdowns, and Bill Miller turned in a great all-around performance Friday night as Idaho Falls handed Burley one of its worst defeats ever—53-13.

Groth opened the game with a touchdown strike to Miller on plays covering 25 and 31 yards, the second after a Burley fumble at the Bobcats' 36-yard line. Burley rebounded in the running game after a 14-yard pass play and after a Burley fumble seconds later Miller ripped off tackle and sprinted 68 yards. Dixon plunged one yard for the next touchdown and then took a screen pass 48 yards for another six points.

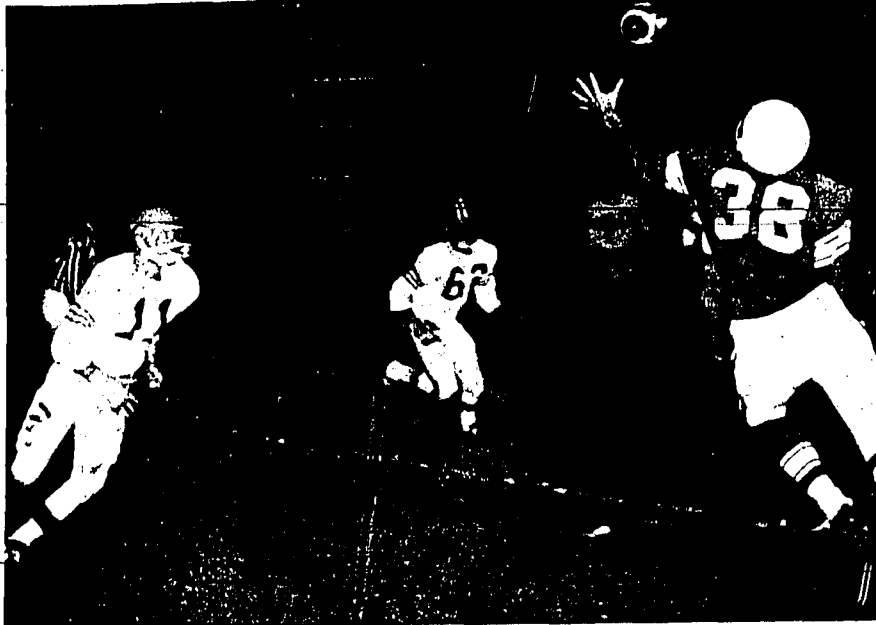

In the closing minutes Burley gave up a two-point safety and Groth ran the ensuing kickoff back 67 yards for the final touchdown with two seconds remaining.

Oregon State attained the Idaho 22-yard line, then sent in Crowston for a field goal from 29 yards.

Oregon State received the second half kickoff, got one first down and fumbled, Pratt recovering for Idaho at the 29. Tim Lavens belted for 12 in the big play before Rodriguez went over on a quarterback rollout and cutback of seven yards. Campbell again converted.

Oregon State showed its mettle on the next drive. They beat third and eight, third and fourth and third and two situations to keep the drive alive and Slim Vanderhoof finally drilled for the last yard after 50 yards and 14 plays, plus a three-yard penalty against the Vandals. Crowston missed the kick to give the Vandals one last chance.

Idaho tried to capitalize on its last big offensive bid early in the fourth quarter, snapping from its own 38 to the OSC's 19 in 11 plays. The Vandals almost caught the Beavers hanging on a fourth and one situation when Rodriguez lashed McDonald into the line, and then straightened to find Rich Foley with a look in pass. Foley almost broke clear but was stopped after 22 yards. At the 16-yard line Idaho drilled and Darrell Danielson tried a field goal that missed to the right by inches.

OVERTHROWN PASS slipped past the desperate fingertips of Burley and Jess Ellis during play against the Idaho Falls Tigers Friday night. Coming up are defense men Mike Ed-wards (11) and Larry Lombard (53). Idaho Falls won 53-13 after holding a tight 14-0 edge at intermission. (Times-News photo)

BOISE—The Borah Lions exploded for three touchdowns late in the third and early in the fourth quarters Saturday night to whip a stubborn bunch of Twin Falls Bruins 37-14. The victory moved the Lions into a tie with Caldwell for the Southern Idaho Conference lead and left Twin Falls seeking its first win. Borah took the opening kickoff 65 in 13 plays, ending with a three-yard run by Larry Wright into the end zone.

But before the half came back with a touchdown. Flint intercepted a Borah pass and romped 68 yards. A pass from Dick Johnson to Steve Soran got the touchdown and Johnson converted.

But before the half Borah came back with a touchdown. Flint intercepted a Borah pass and romped 68 yards. A pass from Dick Johnson to Steve Soran got the touchdown and Johnson converted.

The Bruins made a strong threat in the third quarter, taking the kickoff and rolling to the Borah 11-yard line before a fourth-down pass fell incomplete. Borah then marched 89 yards with Troxel ending it on a 58-yard run. Dave Sommerberg put the fourth Borah score on a 28-yard pass from Troxel.

Conservation of Available Water Important Part in Irrigation Task

By O. A. (Gus) REIKER, Times-News Feature Editor

It took an ambitious bunch of people from the Southwest portion of the United States to bring home to Idaho citizens the fact they had a good thing going.

Now that the point has struck home — and the reality is that the good thing is water — those having to do with the water resources of this state are moving at breakneck speed.

As a result, water has become a scarce commodity, and it is being lost among the less important stories a newspaper carries. In this particular instance it is even feature material.

Water has become so important in the scheme of things that conservation practices wherein the aim is to put to beneficial use all the moisture available—with a minimum of waste—are probably as important as those which search for new sources of supply.

Such a project is that which is now well along on the Cedar Creek watershed above and below the Roseworth Reservoir. Organized under public law 566, approximately 40 per cent. of the cost has been borne by the U.S. government and the balance by local people. All technical service has been provided by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

Actually there are six agencies cooperating in the venture, five in addition to the Conservation Service. They are the U.S. Bureau of Land Management, the U.S. Forest Service, the Farmers Home Administration, the Twin Falls County A.S.C. and the Twin Falls Highway District.

Behind it all is the primary objective which amounts to utilizing available water to better advantage rather than scout around for a more adequate supply which may never be found.

The work will improve irrigation water supply, prevent distribution system failure, improve irrigation efficiency and carry out a proper land use treatment program on all lands.

Government officials, interested landowners and others, including this Times-News writer, made an all day inspection of the project last week. The look-see proved the work to be beneficial.

Although main portions of the project have been completed, there is still much work left to be done. Land treatment on thousands of acres will continue for several years and work to continue on the upper watershed in the matter of construction measures.

Probably the most noticeable improvement is the installation of a new, underground pipeline more than 8,200 feet long which replaces the rapidly deteriorating flume which formerly transported the water.

Part of this installation called for a new diversion dam which is now completed and in use. The pipeline forms an inverted siphon and transports water to the enlarged main canal on the Canyon rim. This pipe was constructed in 1963 and the water saving as a result is "terrific," according to officials in charge.

It was in 1961 that the main canal took place. This canal, below the pipeline, now has been widened and deepened sufficiently to carry the greater amount of water available. It delivers the water from the pipeline to the Roseworth tract.

Then in 1965 a regulating reservoir and a new canal system was constructed. In addition to the regulating feature, the reservoir will also be used to store stock water during the winter months.

Right now work goes ahead providing efficient delivery of water through concrete lined ditches, pipelines and properly graded canals. All of this will provide the necessary control

OLD FLUME, which for years carried water to irrigated lands below, is inspected by Forrest Closser, left, area conservationist from Pocatello and Clarence Hedrick, unit conservationist, Soil Conservation District, Twin Falls. An underground concrete pipe now replaces the flume from which much of the irrigation water escaped before it reached the farmlands. It is planned to remove the flume from the canyon. This particular reservoir will also be used to provide winter water for cattle. (Times-News photo)

Old Style Competitive Talent Show Is Revived by Jaycees at Shoshone

SHOSHONE—The days of the competitive talent show is not dead and, although they have disappeared from many of the larger communities, they are still the big entertainment media in the small towns.

In this instance the community of Shoshone is no exception. The town's second annual show, sponsored by the Jaycees and the Jay-C-ettes, is set for the big event at the Lincoln auditorium next Thursday at 8 p.m.

Last year the initial event was a howling success, to use that word lightly. Rumors got around that the Beatles were going to be in town—going from somewhere to Sun Valley—and would appear as the feature act. Tickets went like hotcakes.

It got so hectic that Jaycee members decided something must be done. As a result, the same number of Jaycees as there are Beatles donned the long-hair wigs, gathered up the instruments, and put on a show. There are some who declare they were better than the originals.

This year's mystery act is still a mystery and, it is hoped, word about it will not leak out until the show comes to that point at which the group appears.

The program, according to Robert Miller, talent night chairman, will be a varied one. Try-outs have been going on for quite a spell and all acts will compete in their respective age groups for trophies and other awards.

There will be no professionals—unless the mystery act falls into that category—but the amateurs will be of all ages levels.

"There will even be adults in the lineup," Miller said. "There are some in the age group who still think they are pretty good. They will find out the night of."

LOOKING FOR BUG in the Beatles wig worn by Robert Miller, center, are Tony Borzuto, left, and Steven Sorenson. The two boys are made up in blackface for their part in the Shoshone program. Miller, who actually does not have as much hair as he appears to have, is talent night chairman for the Jaycees. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

The Buhl feather artists are at it again! Mrs. Harvey (Gladys) Bickelhaup, a farm wife, and Lucille Huston, a retired school teacher, who gained commendable praise and special recognition with their outstanding feather creations, "Glad-Lou" the purple cow in the Twin Falls county fair, as well as artistic float in the local Fourth of July parade, are now starting work on a Christmas project. The operation, however, is being kept a secret. Their concoction will not be revealed until Dec. 1 when they plan to exhibit their finished product in a window display, pending unforeseen complications.

Judging from past models of their artistic feather creations, local residents can look forward to a unique and enchanting holiday surprise. "Glad-Lou" appropriately named after her makers, Gladys and Lucille, caused quite a stir in the Twin Falls county fair and was a main attraction in the dairy barn. A steady stream of visitors came to view her as word spread as the fair about "The Purple Cow." The first impression that flashed through many people's mind, was it a real cow possibly dyed purple?

Glad-Lou, however, was as real as any cow and was petted and patted and loved by all who saw her. The two women ingeniously shaped the cow with tender love and devotion. Feathers from some 50 chickens, died purple, pink, yellow and green, were skillfully glued each one in its appropriate place. The idea to make the cow for the fair was originated when Mrs. Bickelhaup, who saves the feathers after dressing chickens, tinted some feathers purple and recalled a poem she heard Miss Huston recite at one time about a purple cow.

The poem the grade school teacher often recites to her students went like this: "I never saw a purple cow, I never hope to see one; But I can tell you anyhow, I'd rather see than be one!" Mrs. Bickelhaup's enthusiastic spirit was conferred to her co-hort and partner and she and Miss Huston began creating the cow after the Fourth of July holiday. The two long-time friends, rather than sit and visit over a coffee session, devoted this time in assembling the cow.

As soon as the first leg was put up until the time it was finished, friends and neighbors came in droves and kept checking on how the cow was progressing. The two spent many hours sitting on the floor as each feather one by one was glued lovingly into place. The feathers give the cow a soft appearance. It is a purple cow with a pink udder and tail with yellow horns. The traditional gold cow bell dangles from her neck and a wreath of daisies adorns her head. The soft, doleful eye look so characteristic of a cow has admittedly been captured by the women giving much expression to the cow's face. The cow is about the size of a Jersey. She is contentedly thusiastic reception given "Glad-Lou" at the Twin Falls county fair, Buhl residents expect a unique surprise. The purple cow, inspired by the children's poem of that name is made of feathers, each carefully placed in position. (Times-News photo)

Toothless

LONDON (AP) — Officials at nearby Gatwick Airport said today that during the last 12 months six sets of false teeth had been found in airport rest rooms.

LEY, the "luxury" may be a little far-fetched.

Young Keller has had his right leg in traction since the Sept. 19 accident and won't be able to attend regular school until about the middle of December.

Does this bother him? His biggest complaint seems to be concerning his "dented pride" resulting from the experience of being teased by nurses who infer he has little girlfriends.

"I would rather be in school than lie here and hear them talk about silly girlfriends," he insisted, but with a shy grin.

Dale, the second child of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Keller, who live in the McElride addition, is being tutored by his mother. An older brother, Nile, attends school at Heyburn and their younger sister is cared for by a neighbor while Mrs. Keller instructs Dale with his daily lessons at the hospital.

"Before school started this year, I told my husband I sure hoped Dale would be assigned to a good first grade teacher, but I surely didn't think it would have to be me," she commented.

The boy enjoys recess and television all morning and studies with his mother from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. According to his school teacher, Mrs. Velma White, he is keeping up with the other students.

On Sept. 19 Dale, his brother Nile, and neighbor, James Paul, were walking home from Sunday School when suddenly Dale said he was going to beat the other two boys home. He bolted across the highway directly in the path of a car driven by a Heyburn woman.

One eye witness to the accident told the mother she had nightmares for a few nights after seeing the youngster being "tossed several feet in the air and landing on the pavement."

CONVALESCES — Mrs. Kent Springdale — Mrs. Kent Woodland has been substitute teaching in the fourth grade at the Springdale school the past two weeks while Mrs. Kathryn Bryan convalesces at her home after surgery. She is expected to return to work the first of the week.

Greenhands Initiated by Valley FFA

EDENHJAZELTON — Seventeen Greenhands were initiated into the Valley chapter of the Future Farmers of America at a meeting at the Valley high school.

Neil Cross, adviser, presented membership pins to each of the boys. They are Karl West, Doug Kroff, Rocky Matis, Randy Sellers, Fred Baldwin, Glen Jones, David Gordon, Dale Romer, Ronald McClain, Tom Oels, Don Galindo, Scott Smith, Alvin Meyer, Wayne Watson, Gary Roach, Donald Meyer and Glen Urie.

Committee reports were heard at the Harvest Ball to be held later this month. Theme for the event is "Bonanza." The Rubins, Twin Falls orchestra, will provide the music.

John Metzler, president, asked the group for help in the work at the Greenwood Park. He stressed the need to plant the grass, trim trees and do the fall plowing in the adjoining field in preparation for the planting of a row crop next spring.

Chapter officers also were presented pins at the meeting. Those receiving the presentation were Metzler, president; John Meyer, vice president; Greg Waters, treasurer; Ronald Estep, reporter; Richard Butler, secretary, and Mike Weathers, sentinel.

After the presentations Gene Shirley, Shirley-Mendoza, Twin Falls, spoke on good grooming.

The estimated value of all construction in Idaho through August, including contracts awarded for public works, highways, utilities and other heavy construction, was $134 million, an increase of $26 million over a year ago.

I Like Bible Camp

Pastor Eugene Tjarks
Our Savior Lutheran Church
A recent article in this paper about break-ins at several summer camps used by youth and adults, plus uninvited guests at summer homes, calls our attention to these camps. One of these camps, with which I have been associated, has grown from a very humble beginning to a camp where God's Word can be studied in the beauty of surrounding mountains, with a few of the comforts of modern life.

The improvements at these camps were possible because people of the churches believe in an educational program in the setting of God's created beauty. These people have sacrificed much time, involved themselves in much effort, and contributed the necessary funds for such bible camps. I remember a few sore muscles and blisters of my own.

We enjoy building a good bible camp. Our greatest joy is seeing the camp accomplish its purpose in young and old. Not just a chance for inexpensive baby-sitting, or opportunity to escape the rush of modern life, but a time and a place to let God speak to us.

He can do this in nature, when we slow down our daily, breath-taking pace, as sincere leaders direct our thoughts toward God, and even through sharing thoughts, ideas, hopes, ambitions, frustrations, with others, in the unique setting of a summer bible camp.

Part of this has been destroyed. Enthusiasm for replicating the stolen and destroyed items will surely be lacking. Yet, the real purpose of a bible camp is unchanged. In a very real sense, the increasing need for learning about God, an act having an appreciation, from a safe distance, of things He has given others, is now more evident than before.

Perhaps through this unfortunate and costly event, more people might give attention to this worthwhile program, for the benefit of youth, especially. Could it be that you will swing the hammer that replaces the secure latch on the door to discourage future losses, or one who supervises a class of youth this year to know they do not steal from another?

You might even be instrumental in the return of the stolen property.

Though we are discouraged by what has happened, we should remember God tells us there may be suffering and tribulation in the world. The losses can be turned into good if more

Conservation of Available Water Is Important Part of Irrigation Task

(Continued From Page 23) of the leadership. Annual inspections of structural works will be made and individual landowners will be assisted in land treatment measures.

Through the watershed loan program the FTA made available a $337,200 loan for a 50-year period at 2.742 per cent interest to the Canal company to finance their share of the cost. Money from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service has amounted to $8,000 in 1963, another $10,000 in 1964 and $12,400 to date this year.

The Bureau of Land Management has spent $500,000 for development of the project on federal lands with another $10,000 contributed by rancher permittees. Local people have provided eliminates waste of available irrigation water and which provides the means of getting that water to the point where it will be most beneficial," he said.

And so water is front page news. Not a new source but the adequate and beneficial use of an existing source. With the importance of water to Idaho's growth, officials say this is one important project which means more dollars in the pockets of everyone in this section of the state.

MASTERED THE MATTER? 2 Difficult Areas in Spelling Are Reviewed

BY THE READING LABORATORY, INC.
Written for NEA Special Services

SO FAR in our columns we have covered the two most difficult areas in spelling, and it should be clear that they are really not so difficult as you may have been told. To solidify the gains we have made, and before going on to still easier areas, it is wise to sum up and to test ourselves.

First, we shall repeat the verses covering the rules and exceptions. If you have not memorized them by now, resolve to do so today and never be bothered again with these annoying decisions.

The first rhyme told you when to place the e before the l. If you know all the times when the e precedes, then it follows that on all other occasions the l will precede. Here is our rhyme:

When e is soft, as in perceive,
And foreign sovereigns we receive
When horses neigh in fright of height
—E before l is the rule that's right.
Now that you know the rule you feared,
Add neither, leisure, seize and weird.

In other words, e will precede l after soft e (e sounded like a), when the combination of el and l is pronounced like foreign, sovereign, when the combination is pronounced like height, and when the combination is pronounced like leisure. In all other cases, l precedes e, except—see the last line of the ditty—neither, leisure, seize and weird.

Our second rule dealt with the matter of keeping or dropping the final silent e of a word before a suffix. The ditty goes like this:

When suffixes begin with vowels
Silent e grabs crying towels.
When suffixes start other ways,
Then silent e—make sure it stays.

The chief exceptions to this rule, we stated in these verses:

If suffixes start in, o
When g precedes, it's g in go,
To save soft g keep e you must,
And save the g like j in just.
Avoid the f's in profusion.
Seek the meaning, not confusion.

What these last two rhymes are saying are (1) in order to keep the original soft g in a word which has a suffix starting with an a, o, or u, then leave the final silent e in the word.

(2) use your head and make exceptions when common sense calls for it. For example, avoid dling and lling, and write dying and lying; rather than get mixed up with writing, keep the e in singling so as not to get confused with singing.

Pick out the correct spelling in the parentheses, and quote the appropriate part of the rhymes which lead you to your choice.

1. Father lay (dyeing, dying) while mother was (dyeing, dying) the drapes.
2. The check was returned for (insufficient, insuffiecent) funds.
3. Ever since (arriving, arrieving), he has been a large pest.
4. This umpire is simply (outrageous, outragous).
5. Neither, neither of them (sized, sized) the right criminal.
6. What a (trounish, roughis) fool am I!
7. In order to write, you need (liessure, leisure).
8. I'm tired after (arranging, arranging) all that furniture.
9. Your slip is (noticable, noticeable) beneath your dress.
10. We have the snoopest (neighbors, neighbors).
11. I enjoy (sleight, sleight)-of-hand artists.
12. He devised a (practicable, practicable) method.
13. Mother was (singng, singing) while the dryer was (singeing, singing) her hair.
14. Three blondes were (vying, vying) for the title.
15. Be sure to get a (receipt, receipt) for your purchase.
16. Our team had to (forfeit, forfeit) the game.
17. Pull in the horse's (riens, reins).
18. Why all the (excitement, excitement)?

are Georgia Depow, Marilyn Manning, Geanine Cope, Vicky Hozzuto and Maxine Eldridge. The show is expected to attract a record turnout. (Times-News photo)

19. She is (careless, carless) about her room.
20. I hate walking on (stoney, stony) paths.
After you have checked the words within the parentheses you feel are correct, then check with the answers at the bottom of the article. Give yourself 5 points for each correct answer.

Rush to Buy Suit Costs Gunman Loot

BERWYN, Ill. (AP) — A lone gunman robbed a bank Friday, but his rush to buy a suit — any old size would do — cost him his loot and his liberty.

The stickup man got $7,800 from the Commercial National Bank in Berwyn, a Chicago suburb.

Then he hotted it to a clothing store two doors away. Richard Fox, a clerk, took up the story from there, as follows: The customer hurried to a rear dressing room and shouted: "Get me a suit."

"What size?" the clerk asked. "Just get me a suit," the patron replied.

The clerk became suspicious. He saw police conferring with bank officials outside.

"What's going on?" he inquired. He was told the bank had been robbed. "He's in there," the clerk said, pointing to the store. Police found the man in the dressing room, clutching a brown paper bag containing the loot. He had it for only 10 minutes.

Rumored Plan of British LDS TV Station Denied

LONDON, (AP) — O. Preston Robinson, head of the Mormon Church's British Mission, denied Friday that the church wanted to set up its own commercial television station here.

Newspaper reports last week said the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter-day Saints intended applying for permission to set up a station of their own to send more uplifting material into British homes than the violence and sex contained in many television programs.

Robinson said the church had no such plans. He said the church had no intention of setting up a station of their own to send more uplifting material into British homes than the violence and sex contained in many television programs.

Old Style Competitive Talent Show Is Revived by Jaycees at Shoshone

The general chairman promises two hours of fast entertainment equal to that of last year, which attracted a record crowd of 610 spectators. Money from such Jaycee projects is "plowed back" into the community. Last year members voted to donate $250 to the swimming pool fund.

It was pointed out that many of the acts participating in the show last year have provided community entertainment on numerous occasions during the past several months.

"It provides those with talent an outlet which they would not otherwise have," Miller commented. "Looking over the acts which will appear this year brings the observation that the presentation this week will be the best in the history of the arena. There will be something to please everyone."

The Shoshone event, he points out, is more than just another show. "Participants compete against other acts in their own age group and this competition makes for an interesting situation," he said.

Although it is certain that the Bentles are not in this area this year and will not appear, a new rumor is circulating around town to the effect a nationally known group named the Blue Mountain Birddogs may be the mystery unit. Those in the know say it is a Western group specializing in swing music.

"But we are not promising anything but good entertainment and we are not denying any rumor that might come up," Miller laughed.

Student From Peru Visits In Richfield

RICHFIELD—Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Chutfield have taken their guest, exchange student, Emperatriz Arroyo, Lima, Peru, to Meridian.

She spent three weeks at Richfield with the Chutfields while studying methods of work and leadership in the United States.

A 4-11 leader in Peru, Miss Arroyo proved very interesting to the sixth grade class in a visit to the room. Unable to speak English when she came to this country six months ago, she was still able to converse quite well with the students. Miss Richard Powell served as interpreter for her when the Spanish language was necessary.

The exchange student found the Gign Ross and Bill Paulson poultry farms very instructive as poultry was of prime interest to her. The Chutfields also took her on tours of the Ida Gem Creamery at Jerome and she spoke to several high school classes. She noted boys and girls classes are separated in Peru.

Miss Arroyo's present assignment is in Midvale. She is the second exchange student the Chutfields have entertained. The previous one came from Ireland.

PACK STRINGS TAKE work out of back country hunting, especially when it comes to moving heavy elk quarters. This picture of Ingeborg Lake was snapped in Sawtooth Wilderness Area on a saddle between the headwaters of the Boise and Payette Rivers. Nonresident elk hunters generally hire outfitures and guides to properly equip them for back country trips, plus plenty of time, and results show higher success rate for horses. Hunters who are in a hurry to get in and out never seem to have good results. (Fish and Game photo)

Experienced Elk Hunters Use Horses To Probe Bountiful Back Areas

By JIM HUMBERT
Idaho Fish-Game Department BOISE — Anyone who thinks hunting elk is like shooting cows in a feed lot faces a quick change of opinion unless he buys his meat over the counter and his trophy from a taxidermist shop.

It's not entirely a man against beast proposition, either, because a hunter alone and on foot certainly does not have the advantages of those who go hunting well equipped to work the rugged back country.

Experienced ninnyards think in terms of saddle and pack horses even before deciding which weapons and tripods are likely to have the most game during the week or two they plan to hunt.

Stories are heard every fall that somebody shot an elk which practically rolled down a hill into a pickup truck. Some of them are true. But most of these magnificent big game animals usually match wits with sportsmen in rugged, timbered regions far from roads and the haunts of men.

Moreover, the carcass is too heavy to bring to camp without horses. One quarter is more of a load than the average man wants to backpack.

Elk are altogether unlike deer because they are not tied to one particularly locality.

During the September and early October hunting season, bulls are fighting each other and herding together all the cows they can defend. Tomorrow they may be many miles from where they were yesterday.

Anywhere from 40 to 90 per cent of Idaho's annual elk kill by hunters is made on north-central ranges, depending on weather, and a number of other factors.

The good harvests, from the standpoint of sound game management, and those low that harvests and range sometimes are out of balance, often are separated by just a few steep trail miles.

Horseback hunting generally follows a basic pattern. The most common is for riders to dismount as soon as their elk sign is found, hunting quietly and slowly on foot.

Elk sometimes can be taken completely by surprise—provided the stalking is from the downwind side—and a shot can be squeezed off with deliberation. But if they get a trace of human scent, elk break for cover without waiting for their natural enemy to come into sight.

However, they are not the speedsters that smaller members of the deer family are. They are bigger, easier targets. Escape routes often are predictable, and guides often cover such crossings with hunters taking strategic "stands." Success again depends somewhat on favorable wind currents.

There is a notable single-mindedness about elk hunters in the back country. Relatively few deer are shot, especially early in the season. They are trophy hunters, shooting more bulls than cows until time begins running out and the ticking tyranny of clocks calls them back to responsibilities on the home front.

Despite long seasons from mid-September to early December, and increased license sales, elk hunting pressure in the Lochsa, Selway and Salmon River drainages has not increased significantly.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT . . .

First Period Away From Home Proved Hectic for Idaho State Policeman

Nothing much exciting happened during Frank W. Mogensen's first 19 years of his life—but after that you might say that the roof fell in.

It all happened when he was serving in the infantry during World War II as a sniper and scout. He had successfully fought his way through two campaigns—the Aleutian-Marshall Islands—and then was engaged in the Philippines fighting when it all happened.

It was at Leyte. He was pinned down by enemy fire and had taken refuge under what was apparently, at one time, a church. A shell struck the building and he was wounded by shrapnel.

Almost at the same time the building collapsed and he was pinned to the ground by a large, hardwood building beam. Other soldiers had to dig him out and he ended up with broken jaws, fractures of the face and head.

"They didn't think I was going to make it and, to tell the truth, I didn't much care," Mogensen told the Times-News. "Injuries were so serious that, after weeks of treatment, it was decided that he would have to return to the states by boat rather than plane."

Because the injuries also had resulted in a damaged optic nerve and resultant loss of sight, he was transported to the Dibble General Hospital. After much time there he was allowed to go to his home in Filer for a month. This, incidentally, was his first leave.

"I left for the Army I had probably spent one night away from home," he laughed, "but when I did get away it seemed like everything happened."

After his leave he returned to a hospital for "eye repairs" and then was assigned to Ft. Ord for re-assignment. It was not long, however, before he was honorably discharged on points and returned to his Filer home.

Mogensen was born at Filer on May 17, 1923. His father, the late Carl C. Mogensen, was a farmer near there. His mother presently resides in Twin Falls but the family continues to operate the home place.

His first eight years of schooling were at the old Maroon school which is now being torn down.

"I hate to see the old structure go because I have many fond memories of the time I spent there," he said. "We lived close enough to the school that I walked to and from the site. In fact I would have had to walk anyway because there were no buses in those days."

FRANK W. MOGENSEN

He has been with the department for eight years and four months and is now a patrolman first class, based in Twin Falls. His first job with the department was at the Hollister port of entry, records shop.

Although he will not readily admit it, his interest in Scouting probably stems from the fact he is the father of three children—all girls. He is currently Scoutmaster of Troop 67, sponsored by the Methodist church, Twin Falls, the largest troop in the district. For several years he arranged his vacation of coincide with the Scout's summer camp but recently his assistant has taken over this task because his police work makes it impossible to get away.

"Being Scoutmaster sometimes makes me feel older than I really am," he said. "Two of the Scouts in the troop are sons of a man who was a Scout in the troop I worked with at Filer."

In spite of the 24-hour on call police job, he still finds time to enter into community work. He has served as adjutant of the Twin Falls American Legion post, is a member of the Magic Valley Peace Officer's association, the Idaho Peace Officer's Association and the local Methodist church.

He is an associate instructor in Red Cross first aid and, as such, is the only man in Idaho qualified to teach instruction in first aid work. He makes it a point to give blood to the Red Cross bloodmobile whenever possible with the result he has now donated seven and one-half gallons.

"I just figure that this is one way to say thanks for all the blood that was given to me when I was wounded during the war," he said. "I could never repay this debt in any other way than this way."

The three Mogensen children, include Mellynee, 13, who resides at home and works for a local travel bureau; Nancy, 18, who is employed at the local telephone office and Joan, 14, a student at O'Leary Junior High School. The family home is at 210 Jefferson St.

Special fade or wear-resistant conventional brakes also are available as Mercury options, as well as luxury duty suspension.

The unusual given name of his oldest daughter also has a story behind it. That was the name of the nurse who took care of him in one of the army hospitals.

"That nurse was really a great gal," he recalls, "she even wrote all my letters for me and so my wife-to-be got to know her as well as I did. When our first daughter was born, my wife insisted that I name her after the nurse."

"And you know, we still get Christmas letters from the nurse, even after all these years."

Running Rapids in Salmon River Is Part of Forest Service's Patrol Job

SALMON—Running the rapids of the Salmon River is just a part of the job of the U.S. Forest Service's jet patrol. Patrolman Dick Leonard, fire prevention technician stationed at Lantz Bar, and Joe Scoble, jet boat operator, run the rapids three times a week, both downstream and upstream. During hot fire weather they do it more often.

Leonard, a summer employee on the Magruder District, Bitterroot National Forest, is a resident of Hamilton, Mont. Scoble, Salmon, maintains his headquarters at the river camp just below the mouth of Horse Creek in the Idaho Primitive Area.

Lantz Bar, further down river, is in the Bitterroot-Selway Primitive Area.

The patrol boat operates from Corn Creek at the end of the Salmon River Road downstream to Salmon Falls, a distance of 27.8 miles.

Its chief function is to serve in fire control and to assist boaters and others using the Salmon River through the primitive areas. Cooperating in the program are the Bitterroot, Salmon and Payette national forests.

A similar program with a patrol boat is conducted on the lower end of the river from Spring Bar near Riggins upstream to Salmon Falls, an undertaking of the Payette and Nezperce national forests.

The patrol, operating out of Lantz Bar, counted 409 travelers on the river during July, 438 during August and 100 so far in September.

Leonard said half of the river travelers, mostly in float parties, stopped at the visitor information center opened this summer at Lantz Bar in the Bitterroot National Forest.

The patrol operates on the river from the time the ice leaves in the spring to when it comes over in the fall.

From June 15 to Sept. 30, the patrol operates generally Mondays, Thursdays and Saturdays. During hot weather when fire danger is high, additional runs are made.

Before June 15 and after Sept. 30, only one run a week is made.

The patrol boat maintains communications via the forest radio network with the fire dispatcher's command and Scoble and Leonard operate the patrol oper-

Trustee Talks On Kimberly School Needs

KIMBERLY—Dr. V. Ellis Knight, chairman of the board of trustees of the Kimberly school district, spoke to the members of the Kimberly Chamber of Commerce during their meeting Tuesday.

He discussed problems facing the school system since the consolidation issue with the Kimberly-Hansen-Murtaugh districts was defeated by the voters at the polls last week.

Some discussion was held on the possibility of a merger between the Kimberly and Hansen districts. Dr. Knight said he and Supt. Robert (Dutch) Sherman were meeting with officials Friday in Boise to ascertain how the new rulings on state aid to schools would affect the Kimberly school system.

The next meeting of the chamber will be held Nov. 8 in the Town House. All members are urged to attend.

Ex-Soldier From China Out of Work

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — After nearly a month of job-hunting here, William C. White, the former U.S. soldier who refused repatriation at the end of the Korean War, still is without work.

He returned here Sept. 20 after 1 1/2 years in China with his Chinese wife and their two children, John, 6, and Ann, 4. They are staying with White's aunt, Bertha L. Johnson, 113 mother, Mattie Gorman, lives in Plumerville, Ark.

White, 35, and a Negro, said several jobs had been offered but most of them are in New York, California or Hawaii.

"But, I'd rather work near home," he said, "so I can be with my aunt and my mother."

He said he hopes to find a teaching job in the Oriental language department of some university but for the moment he is looking for work "of any sort."

White was one of 21 prisoners of war who chose to remain with their Chinese captors after the war.

He said he went to China with the intention of studying the language and that he was no turncoat.

When Steele stopped before Police Judge R.P. Maloney, the judge said he'd been "waiting for this man to come in here for a long time."

"I was in the Army down at Ft. Knox about 12 years ago when this guy said I'd get some extra money if I signed a paper he had," the judge grinned.

"I signed, but what I got was
