

Viet Cong Forces Continue Strike On Plei Me Camp

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Viet Cong forces kept hitting at the Plei Me Special Forces camp today despite more heavy air strikes and Vietnamese ground reinforcements supported by U.S. troops. Military authorities said after a quiet night at the camp 210 miles northeast of Saigon, the Communists launched a "vigorous attack" shortly after noon using mortars and recoilless rifles. Military spokesmen said a firefight developed a short distance southwest of the camp in the afternoon. They said the Viet Cong were firing from well-timed positions, but they had no additional details.

"Light" U.S. casualties were reported during the day at the camp, which the Viet Cong have been trying to knock out for a week. U.S. and Vietnamese planes flew 375 air-cover and close-support sorties over the area, the spokesman said. During the night 375 flares were dropped over the camp while attack craft pounded Viet Cong positions.

The Communists struck from the southwest, an area to which strong U.S. and South Vietnamese relief force had not extended control after lifting a seven-day siege on the camp Monday night.

U.S. jets swarmed in and hammered the Viet Cong with bombs and cannon fire. The strength of the attacking force was not known. An informant said Monday reports indicated that a regiment of North Vietnamese regulars had been thrown into the fight. A U.S. military informant in Plei Me said about 750 of the 1,200-man Communist force had been knocked out in the past week of fighting around Plei Me.

Before the attack today, the relief units had begun patrols to search out any Viet Cong left in the area. They had set up positions half a mile to the east and north of the camp.

Indonesia Chief Asks Purge of Reds

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Armed forces chief Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution has called for a purge of Indonesia's Communists and their sympathizers. He warned in a speech broadcast by Jakarta Radio that unless the Reds and their fellow travelers are rooted out, they will attempt to overthrow the government again.

"All these institutions should purge these elements... all their followers and sympathizers should be eliminated; otherwise the incident will recur," Nasution said.

Nasution escaped the rebels' Oct. 1 coup attempt, but until he spoke Monday to an armed forces staff meeting had mostly remained out of the public eye. However, he was reliably reported to be the prime mover behind the army's crackdown on the Communists.

His speech was considered a move to counter President Sukarno's pressure on the army to ease up on the Communists.

Referring to Smith's threats to declare independence unilaterally rather than guarantee ultimate control to the colony's Negro majority, Wilson told a news conference:

"I want to do everything possible to avert a tragedy if certain action were to be taken." Wilson has said previously that a declaration of unilateral independence would be considered an act of rebellion against the crown. He refused, however, to tell newsmen what counter measures his government has in mind. He said his first aim is to break the deadlock in which the recent negotiations with Smith in London ended.

Canada and Red China to Sign Contract

TORONTO (AP)—A senior official of the Department of Trade and Commerce said today that Red China and Canada soon will sign a contract for about $335-million worth of Canadian wheat.

He said the deal was not yet concluded but probably will be about equal to the 1963 sale of 187-million bushels. The official denied earlier reports that the sale was worth $403 million.

The deal was announced Monday night by Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp. He was quoted as saying the contract called for Red China to buy a minimum of 223.8-million bushels. He could not be reached for comment.

The transaction will be the third arranged between the two countries. Deliveries would begin next August and run for about three years.

The strength of the attacking force was not known. An informant said Monday reports indicated that a regiment of North Vietnamese regulars had been thrown into the fight.

Sen. Jordan Raps Government Farm Control at Grange Meet

GOODING—"Uncle Sam is spending more than ever for agriculture and farmers are enjoying it less," Sen. Len B. Jordan declared at the opening session of the Idaho State Grange Tuesday at the National Guard Armory. The belief that farmers want and need present government program is "folklore," the senator declared. Government control in agriculture has been a failure, Jordan said, noting food prices have gone up 29 per cent in the past 16 years while net farm income has gone down by about the same amount.

The convention officially opened in the sixth degree at 8 a.m. Leland Burgess, representing the Gooding Chamber of Commerce, and Elmer Hanson, Gooding Pomona Grange master, welcomed delegates from throughout Idaho attending the five-day meet.

Directors and policyholders of the Grange Mutual Fire Insurance Co. met and elected officers Monday. Other prominent speakers at the convales will be Gov. Robert Smylie, Sen. Frank Church and Roy Bates, Washington, D.C., director of the Clear Channel Broadcasting Service.

Jordan said "There is an urgent need to shift from a government rigid production and price control policy to one that recognizes the proper role and function of the market price system."

"Government control of commodities in production and marketing values makes government the landlord and we surrender our right to property with a corresponding loss of initiative and freedom."

The Idaho Republican said the agriculture secretary is trying to force farmers into government programs by dumping surplus commodities, such as feed grains, on the market at cut-rate prices.

Ernest Jerome, Kuna, state Grange master, in his annual address Tuesday noon said, "In many ways the American agriculture is a success story. However, in time of increasing prosperity in other segments of our economy, a shadow covers the farm front."

In order for farmers to continue their operation they have had to substitute credit for income, the official declared. Farm credit has become harder to obtain and in some rural areas bankers are placing farmers on month-to-month credit basis.

Quota up

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho Selective Service officials said Tuesday that "undoubtedly" some married men will be drafted during December.

Major Gen. John E. Walsh, state director of selective service, said the December draft call for the Gen State will be 127 men. This compares with the December, 1964, quota of 22 men.

"Restrictions have been removed on the calling of married men for the month of December, and undoubtedly some will be ordered to report for induction during that month," Walsh said.

Benham stated that the camp was practically cleaned out. Taken were saddles, bridles, blankets, cooking utensils, saws, axes and various other articles. The youths were apprehended when the sheriff's office received information that the equipment was in their possession.

FBI Agents Kill Gunman Near Salmon

SALMON, Idaho (AP)—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents shot and killed today an elusive gunman who had been the object of an intense search through four states for more than a week. The FBI said the gunman was shot down in forested country about five miles north of Gibbonsville, Idaho shortly after 7 a.m. Announcement of the killing was made by FBI Agent William Sullivan in Butte, Mont. Sullivan said the dead man was identified as Paul Ballard, an alias. He said the man's fingerprints will determine his true identity.

"He had been charged in a federal warrant with kidnapping Lehigh County Sheriff William Baker of Salmon, Idaho."

Sullivan said the shooting occurred about five miles from where Sheriff Baker escaped from the gunman last Thursday. He said the FBI and U.S. Forest Service men involved were not injured.

"This morning, as a result of a fire being seen in the Twin Creeks campground area of Idaho, north of Gibbonsville, FBI agents and a Forest Service man went to check out the area. The fugitive was spotted in the rocks and started shooting at the FBI agents."

"They returned the fire and killed the man."

The number of FBI people involved was not immediately known.

The gunman was believed responsible for a gun battle with Nevada Highway Patrol officers near Wells, Nev., two robberies in Idaho, and kidnapping of a Nevada rancher and Sheriff Baker.

The search had shifted to the rough mountain country of the Nevada Highway Patrol officers near Wells, Nev., two robberies in Idaho, and kidnapping of a Nevada rancher and Sheriff Baker.

The search was temporarily suspended Sunday, but Idaho state police and FBI agents swarmed into the region again late Monday after the fugitive was reported seen at a ranch. Baker was xx etc. 5th graf d31.

Baker was forced to drive the gunman to Darby, Mont., and escape. But the sheriff escaped by jumping from a moving car in the Gibbonsville area, about 40 miles north of here.

Over the weekend, the man hunt shifted to Montana when a man matching the description of the gunman was reported seen. But the hunt began again in Idaho Monday afternoon when a rancher living near Gibbonsville said a fugitive who looked like the wanted man tried to get into his house.

The rancher, identified as Pearl MacMackin by sheriff's officers, said the man then fled into a canyon near the ranch, apparently headed in the direction of the Idaho-Montana border.

The ranch is about five miles from where Baker escaped the gunman last week. The FBI confirmed agents were sent into the area Monday. State Police from Idaho Falls and Twin Falls were also called in.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson signed the $2-billion public works bill today but served notice he would ignore one provision giving congressional committees a veto over some of the projects involved.

Johnson issued a statement denouncing a provision in the bill that no appropriation can be made for water resource development projects carrying individual price tags of under $10 million without the approval of the Senate and House Public Works committees.

Johnson said the provision "is a direct challenge to the authority of the President to execute the laws of the United States."

Gemini 7 Plans Speeded, Rocket Failure Is Probed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration pushed ahead with plans for the 14-day Gemini 7 flight today while engineering detectives sought the cause of the failure of the Agena rocket that wrecked the Gemini 6 mission.

There also was some second-guessing on whether the modified Agena should have been fired for the first time on a mission as important as Gemini 6.

The Agena failure wiped out an intended chase across the sky by astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford. They had planned to catch

Dr. Don Keith, dean of faculty and student personnel at the College of Southern Idaho, was guest speaker at Harrison School PTA Monday evening.

His topic was to prepare students for college.

He said it is most important that they know how to get along with other people, and that they be encouraged to show initiative and yet conform to society.

Parents should ask themselves why their child is going to college and set good examples in attitude and in the use of correct grammar in the home, Dr. Keith said. He also briefly outlined what students can expect from the junior college and the approximate cost of attending.

Invocation was given by Jay Nielsen and group singing was led by Milton Barrus, accompanied by Mrs. Lela Forrester. Refreshments were served.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

High pressure at the surface and aloft is continuing to bring mild daytime temperatures with cool nights to the valleys of Southern Idaho. Mostly clear skies are the rule today, although some high thin clouds are showing up in some of the southwestern valleys.

High pressure aloft is beginning to be weakened somewhat by impulses from the Pacific in the upper levels but high-pressure at the surface is forecast to remain nearly stationary in the Intermountain Region today and Wednesday. Some high thin cloudiness is possible at times as the impulses aloft bring in some moisture but fair weather will continue today and Wednesday. An increase in higher clouds is possible for Southern Idaho valleys on Thursday as a stronger impulse aloft moves into the Pacific Northwest.

Daytime temperatures will show only small variations with readings ranging in the mid 60s to mid 70s today and Wednesday. Minimum temperatures tonight will range again in the 20s and 30s.

Cool nights are aiding in the piling of sugar beets so that much progress should continue to be made in beet digging. Other farm and outdoor activities can be accomplished with ideal weather conditions prevailing.

Gemini (Continued From Page One) Manned Spacecraft Center, said the failure would not delay the over-all goal of landing the first Americans on the moon in both April 1969, at Twin Falls.

He was a sophomore at Pocatello High School and a member of the Future Homemakers of America.

With the Gemini-Agena flights sidetracked temporarily, Dr. George Mueller, NASA associate administrator for manned space flight, directed removal of the Gemini 6 spacecraft from its Titan 2 rocket. He said it would be replaced by the Gemini 7 capsule, now undergoing tests at Cape Kennedy.

Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. are to ride Gemini 7 on the marathon two-week journey, the longest manned flight yet planned. Borman, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and Lovell, a Navy commander, had a Navy command tour in the Pacific.

Dr. Mueller said the Gemini 6 spacecraft was scheduled for launch about Dec. 10, but sources indicated they could go as early as Dec. 2.

The earlier date would be possible because the Titan 2 already has been thoroughly checked for Gemini 6.

All are to be Agena rendezvous and docking shots, emphasizing the importance NASA places on perfecting this maneuver. All but Gemini 6 involve a space question by one of the astronauts.

A major question raised by the Agena failure was why this relatively new rocket had not undergone a more thorough test program.

The rocket which failed Monday was a greatly modified version of an earlier-model Agena which had logged a 90 per cent success rate in placing more than 135 U.S. payloads in space.

Beatles Prepare for Royal Award

LONDON (UPI)—The Beatles, highly trimmed but never shaven, moved up the social ladder Tuesday when Queen Elizabeth makes them members of the Order of the British Empire.

For the solemn occasion, they are getting hair cuts. But it will be only a light trim, leaving the essential Beatles untouched.

There will be enough of the sheepdog mop remaining, as a matter of fact, to make it impossible for them to wear top hats.

Queen Elizabeth appointed the Beatles members of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire in her birthday honor's list last June. Their names were proposed by Prime Minister Harold Wilson who represents a Liverpool district in Parliament.

The award was made because of the millions of dollars in royalties from songs and earnings

Refreshing Example

Few persons can refrain from turning to find the source of the so-called "wolf whistle" commonly used by the male of the species to express admiration of the female of the species. The familiar "wee-wee" turned some heads in Heyburn the other day and the result was one of the most heart-warming little brighteners that has appeared in the Times-News in many a day.

The whistler was Scotty Henderson and the object of his expression of admiration was none other than Mrs. Henderson. She was descending the steps of a beauty shop where she had acquired a new hair-do. Mr. Henderson, who was opening the car door for his wife in the gentlemanly fashion of an era that appears all but dead, explained in a matter-of-fact way that he always whistles at his spouse. There may be nothing so unusual about the practice, except that both Mr. and Mrs. Henderson are 85 years old and they've been married 55 years.

It's a far cry from the common modern pattern of domestic rows, marriages and divorces of which the Hollywood colony provides one of the most lurid examples. One suspects that if more individuals were like Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, the world somehow would be brighter and more peaceful, a much nicer place in which to live. Here's hoping Mr. and Mrs. Henderson enjoy many more years of happy wolf whistling and more and more observers profit from the example.

HUMAN RIGHTS

Many Idaho communities, including Twin Falls, will have an active interest in legal action pending before a Boise justice of the peace. The case questions the constitutionality of an Ada County ordinance which requires ex-convicts to register with police. Twin Falls has a similar ordinance, as do many communities. The theory behind the legislation is that an ex-convict poses a potential threat to the peace, security and welfare of a community and police must know of the presence of such a person. Undoubtedly, convict registration can make much easier the task of local police when they're hunting suspects for crimes.

But that's not the whole picture by any means. Society has assumed for years that a man who completes a prison sentence has paid his obligation and is entitled to a normal, happy existence, if possible, following his release. In actual practice, the shadow of a prison sentence sometimes hangs over an individual for the rest of his life.

However, that's not the basis for the present challenge in the Boise court. The law is being contested on the claim it's in "direct and shocking conflict" with the system of parole and probation established by the Idaho Board of Corrections. It also is contended the "ultimate aim of rehabilitation would be seriously impaired" if the ordinance remains on the books. Other points in the challenge to registration include the assertion that violators have no warning of the law and may be arrested without knowing it exists.

These arguments have merit, just as there is merit to the claim that police should know when a released convict is in the community. There's also a vast difference between protection of the public and persecution of an individual. There have been cases in some communities where the convict registration law has been used as a means of hurting an individual who is trying to be a law-abiding, honest citizen.

It will be interesting to note the outcome of the Boise case. It would be even more interesting if the law were being challenged on the claim it infringes on human rights.

NEGATIVE APPROACH

The suggestion of State Sen. Harold Collett, D-Elmore, to devise an alternate tax in case the sales tax is repealed is nothing more or less than a negative approach. Furthermore, the proposal may have been voiced for the sole purpose of devising another reason for Idahoans to vote against the sales tax in the referendum about a year from now. Regardless of the intent behind the proposal, it would tend to bring more votes against the sales tax, if only because someone might like to try anything.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie was quite right in turning thumbs down on the idea immediately. It's interesting that he also pointed out the only alternatives to the sales tax are "a drastic reduction in appropriations or a tremendous increase in the income and property taxes." He might have added, "or a combination of both."

In spite of some of the opposition that has been expressed to the sales tax, it's inconceivable that the vast majority of Idaho taxpayers aren't well aware of the benefits of the tax and keenly conscious of what is going to happen if the tax is repealed. Anyone who isn't aware of these factors now could be accused of spending recent months in a vacuum.

WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — The charge against Sargent Shriver here is that he is too sloppy and emotional in his administration of the anti-poverty program. "The adopted Dauphin of the Kennedy royal family is so confused by his ideological musings that he buys certain outrageous procedures, usually right unoon."

Thus we have this engaging princeling admitting to a Senate Appropriations subcommittee that some $1,000 in Head Start funds were used to pay fines and bail for employees hauled off to the house of the pandemonium. And depositing with considerable piety that he would take no action against anti-poverty employees who take to the streets to protest the administration's Viet Nam policy.

THE RIGHT TO RAISE HELL—Presumably it had not occurred to Shriver to disclose that some of his employees had been engaging in such activities. But under questioning he confirmed that Mrs. Jeanne Herron of New Orleans and Richard K. Dodge of Beulah, Miss., were arrested Aug. 9 during a march on the Capitol and that two other employees at the same Beulah project also had demonstrated.

Shriver takes the determinedly righteous position that his employees have a constitutional right to raise their private hell over governmental policies, and it is here that he is doing his thinking with his left ventricle. Federal employees do not have all the rights of private citizens. For example, they may not engage in politics, including the interventional brand. Counseling against the Viet Nam war is just as political as running for city council or president.

GOOD TIME BY ALL — Yet the evidence is that the Poor Corps has taken a most tolerant view of both war protesters and civil rights agitators. In Beulah, Head Start headquarters was set up in a community center used to house civil rights demonstrators, and apparently everybody had a jolly time. There was a cash disbursement of $50 for food for a party, and "reimbursement" of $100 allegedly stolen from an employee while the employee allegedly stole.

Oh, how said Shriver, his own auditors had uncovered these questionable practices and ordered many of them disallowed. He also noted that the four Head Start workers who took part in the Washington demonstration were here at their own expense and on their own time. But Mrs. Herron collected $125 a week from Uncle Sam and Dodge $100, circumstances which arouse the suspicion that the taxpayers were footing this little civil rights expedition.

Presumably, this did not trouble Mrs. Herron, who was identified by the subcommittee as a citizen unconcerned with tax matters. She is listed on her job application form as a "tax refuser."

THE POOR HAVE VOTES — Shriver, of course, is under constraint to preserve his image as an ultra, civil-rights liberal as long as an organization which is nominally headed by him, Goldwater. The Poor Corps is a kind of refuge for all the bleeders dedicated to forcing prosperity on those among the masses who would rather go fishing or shoot a little pool, and while Shriver is a practical man who usually gets things done, he has found out where the votes are. Politicians who are stern with the civil rights crowd do not get reelected, or reappointed.

But it passes understanding why a bright guy like Shriver should stand still while the bleeders make him look bad. He knows a Cabinet officer must divest himself of stocks whose possession might create a conflict of interest, and he ought safely be able to insist that his troops stop their politicking for the same reason. The job he's doing is worthwhile and most of the time he does it efficiently, but the Poor Corps belongs to all the citizens, not just those who voted Democratic last November.

Views of Others

RESPECT FOR UPHELDERS OF LAW

Alabama Attorney General Richmond Flowers' reported segregationist views are out of step with the law of the land. Yet it appears that he intends to fight for justice under the law. He is said to believe that violence will lead to his state unless gradual integration proceeds.

All through the South there are men of segregationist convictions—as well as men who deny them—who are ready to let the law take its course. Those who further the law—and even those who do no more than refuse to obstruct—need the understanding and encouragement of all Americans.

Yet in some places such men are still the objects of harassment by some elements in their communities. Attorney General Flowers is the most recent prominent example.

Here is Alabama's own attorney general brought to the point of claiming that he needs armed escort to ensure his safety in leaving the courthouse in Lawrence County. He requests a postponement of the manslaughter trial of Thomas Coleman on the grounds that the main state witness is not yet physically able to attend the trial. (The witness was shot at the same time as the killing of Jonathan Daniels for which Mr. Coleman is being tried.)

The postponement is denied. Mr. Flowers persists in his views that a fair trial is not possible. His staff refuses to prosecute. Finally, the circuit judge removes them from the case. Remember, Mr. Flowers is not some shy criminal lawyer devoutly seeking to get a defendant off the hook. He is the chief law officer of his state.

Some representatives of the law are treated in the manner that Mr. Flowers appears to have been treated, respect for the law itself is in danger of being shaken. Never was such a danger more ominous. For in the testing times ahead, chaos could be the alternative to an increasingly strong, increasingly enlightened respect for the law—Christian Science Monitor.

BANDS GONE SOFT

Hemlines and car models aren't the only things that change with the years. Add to the list marching bands and bugle corps.

When a military band whipped down the street in olden times, it thrilled "The Stars and Stripes Forever" or "Under the Double Eagle," or something equally as stirring and ardent.

But the rigmorale offered by half-time bands at football games, to say nothing of the five-hour parade staged by the American Legion during its convention here last summer, reminds us that progress leaves its mark on all things.

These days one must expect to see a spit-and-polish color guard stepping it off resolutely to the strains of "Night and Day," or "Love in the Sweetest Thing."

Time was when a good military band made you want to march off to war or at least around the breakfast table.

Now it just makes you want to kiss everybody in cadence. Sorry, Mr. Sousa.—The Oregonian.

The

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

Q—What is the difference between Hodgkin's disease, myelogenous leukemia and lymphatic leukemia? Do any of these ever change into one of the others? Is leukemia caused by a virus?

A—In myelogenous leukemia the predominant white cells in the blood are myelocytes (literally marrow cells) and in lymphatic leukemia the predominant cells are lymphocytes which are smaller and clearer when stained and seen under a microscope. In lymphatic leukemia painless enlargement of the lymph nodes in the armpits and groin is an early finding, whereas in myelogenous leukemia weakness and anemia are the first signs of disease. The skin and digestive tract are more likely to be involved in lymphatic leukemia.

All evidence points to a virus being the cause but there is no conclusive proof of this as yet. In Hodgkin's disease, the enlarged lymph nodes are often tender to touch, especially when the enlargement has been rapid. Although treatment with X-rays and some of the newer drugs will prolong the victim's life, there is as yet no cure for these malignant diseases. Q—My mother has been getting migraine headaches for about a year. Lately she has had to have shots once or twice a week for them. Could this cause drug addiction?

A—If morphine, or any other opium derivative, is used twice a week your mother would be coming addicted in time. There are other drugs that are injected for migraine, however, that are not habit-forming.

Q—Is migraine the same as a nervous or sick headache? Is migraine ever called sensory epilepsy? How does migraine affect a person's intelligence?

A—Sick headaches refer to migraine because the attacks are usually associated with vomiting. A nervous headache is a tension headache and is less severe. Sensory epilepsy (literally epilepsy of the senses) is a form of epilepsy characterized by hallucinations (sensations arising within the brain rather than from an outside stimulus) of vision, taste or smell.

Migraine neither improves nor impairs a person's intelligence. Many victims of this disease have above average intelligence.

Interpreting The News

By JAMES MARLOW

By WALTER R. MEARS (Marlow is vacationing)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican policymakers may be headed for a December showdown on the nagging question mark of John Birch Society influence within their party.

The question zoomed into prominence when Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky tied into the Birch Society and said its influence should be booted out of the GOP.

Morton, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, charged the militantly conservative organization is trying to take over the party.

GOP floor leaders of the House and Senate joined him in declaring the society is no part of the GOP.

The Birch Society promptly denied it has designs on the Republican party. As the Democratic National Committee gleefully noted, society founder Robert Welch said that would be "pretty farcical."

Most state GOP chairmen said they doubt the Capitol Hill denunciation will have any particular impact on the party itself.

"The denunciation was more for the edification of the public than the party," said West Virginia Chairman John Scott.

At last year's San Francisco convention, when nominated Barry Goldwater for the presidency, delegates jeered to defeat a platform amendment that would have denounced the society.

Now a similar proposal may face the next session of the Republican Coordinating Committee, a council of party leaders due to meet in Washington Dec. 13.

Morton and Michigan Gov. George Romney have said they may seek to have the committee declare itself on the Birch Society.

Goldwater, who has denounced the positions taken by Welch but not the society's members, serves on the coordinating committee.

So does New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who has expressed delight at "a growing awareness that the John Birch group is trying to gain control of the party."

Goldwater has said he sees no such threat, but he has suggested that Republicans resign from the society and spend their time working for the party.

The represents little change from a position he took long before the presidential nomination.

Compounding the division in Washington is the crack in the facade in West Germany. With the political pressures growing in Germany for big power status in nuclear weaponry, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard had been unable, despite his election victory, to form a government.

Russians Plan Underground Nuclear Blast

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Thirty-six Russian whaling and fishing vessels presumed to be equipped with electronic gear, were reported in the area of the Aleutian Islands today as preparations continued for an underground nuclear blast.

Despite stormy weather, the shot was still tentatively scheduled for 10 a.m. Bering Standard Time (4 p.m. EST) Wednesday on Anichika Island near the far tip of the Aleutian chain.

Robert M. Paul, deputy assistant secretary of the interior, said the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries counted the Russian vessels. They included 16 trawlers, in international waters west of Alaska, and two whale factory ships with nuclear reactors each, about 100 miles south of Alaska and moving west.

"We assume they are equipped with all modern electronic gear," Paul said. "However, I don't know whether they are carrying gear sophisticated enough to measure radiation."

The Pentagon has said there is no chance that the nuclear charge, to be set off in a deep well 2,300 feet below the surface, will release any radiation into the atmosphere. Tests which do release radiation are forbidden by the test-ban treaty with the Soviet Union.

Boy Dies in Unpowered Iron Lung

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Audie Barrett, 11, died Monday night in an iron lung after Nashville Electric Service shut off electric power to his home because no one was paying the bill.

The boy, who had suffered from the after-effects of polio for six years, had to sleep in the respirator, officers said, and his mother sought to operate the machine by hand when power was shut off.

"She left the machine for some reason — she got tired or something — for just a few minutes," police said, "and when she returned to the iron lung, she realized the boy was dead."

"We definitely had no idea that the power to that address was being used to power an iron lung," said Jack Buckingham, NES customer service representative.

He said NES shut off power to the home because "our records show that the service to that address is not charged to them (the Barretts) or anyone else — and hadn't been for several months."

Buckingham said there had been repeated attempts by NES to try to make arrangements for someone to assume responsibility for the service, but "according to our records — and that's all we can go by at the moment — we had not talked to Mrs. Barrett and she had made no attempt to contact us."

Dr. W.J. Core, metropolitan medical examiner, attributed the death to polio.

Regional Library Meeting Is Conducted in Gooding

GOODING — A Regional Library meeting was held Saturday for television, newspaper and radio at Gooding under the direction of Helen M. Miller, Idaho ways of making library news to State Librarian.

Object of the meeting was to emphasize that library trustees are responsible for policies of the library regarding their services and how to better these services.

Registration was held at a door. Claude Seltman, chief librarian at Boulder Public Library, Boulder, Colo., was keynote speaker and talked about "Policy-Making, The Trustee's Chief Business."

He pointed out that library cooperation is most necessary and that by pooling resources with others, more can be accomplished. Without this cooperation objectives cannot be accomplished both because of lack of trained personnel and lack of funds.

A panel discussion was held concerning the policy needs in the areas of personnel, political action and public information. Panelists included Mrs. Loren Street, Burley, chairman of the library board; Mrs. K. A. Keveran, Twin Falls, secretary of the library board, and Alan Mencher, editor of Northside News, Jerome.

Mrs. Street talked on writing policies for personnel, covering such needs as retirement, holidays, vacations and sick leaves.

Mrs. Keveran, discussing political action, mentioned the fact that library trustees are appointed by the city council, handle public funds and prepare budgets, so therefore fall in the political category. She also discussed public information and talked about what is news and in not news. He pointed out that libraries have to compete with other cul-

Policy Clashes Seen Among Red Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the best-informed U.S. officials believe there are probable serious policy differences among North Vietnamese Communist leaders in the near future.

Persistent reports of developing differences between Communist North Viet Nam and Red China are also being carefully examined here for possible bearing on the future trend of North Vietnamese war policy.

The dominant judgment in the Johnson administration at present is that peace prospects are exceedingly dim and that a long hard fight still lies ahead.

Nevertheless, officials do not entirely exclude some shift in Communist policy in Viet Nam in the next few months as Red forces increasingly feel the weight of American military power in ground and air operations in the South and bombings in the North.

The United States now has about 150,000 fighting men in South Viet Nam. A build-up to 200,000 by the end of the year is now generally forecast in official quarters here.

At the moment, aside from pressing military operations, U.S. authorities say they do not see any action which could be taken by the United States to promote the chances for a peaceful settlement in the absence of some move in that direction on the part of North Viet Nam.

Fall Meeting Scheduled by Churchwomen
Annual Fall Conference of the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Episcopal District of Idaho will be held this Thursday at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension.

Delegates will come from throughout the portion of the state south of the Salmon River. Leaders will include the Rt. Rev. Norman L. Foote, bishop of Idaho; the Very Rev. William H. Spofford Jr., dean of St. Michael's Cathedral, Boise, and officers and committee chairmen of the Episcopal Churchwomen of Idaho.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 3 p.m. Lunch will be served at noon in the Bishop Rhea Auditorium. Local women of the Ascension Guild will be hostesses.

Student Council Elects Officers
BELLEVUE — Bellevue High School Student Council have elected as their officers Jesse Hurst, president; Lana Baldwin, vice president; and Melba Van Hook, secretary-treasurer.

Cheerleaders are Rosella Friedstad, Kathleen Patterson, Dianna Byington, Millie Biggs, Miss Van Hook and Miss Baldwin.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Monday that there is no indication, for example, that a pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam would be productive at this time. Nevertheless he made clear that President Johnson is prepared to halt the bombing if he gets some indication that it would promote peace prospects.

It is against this background that officials here are seeking all available information on reports of divisions within the North Vietnamese Communist leadership and tensions which may exist between the Reds in Hanoi and Peking.

Officials have been interested in the last few days in reports of statements allegedly made by the Moscow representative of the political arm of the Viet Cong, Nguyen Van Dong, during a visit to Finland.

A broadcast by Prague radio in Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia reported: "He said that relations between the Viet Cong and People's China now are considerably strained."

This broadcast, heard by Western monitors, also quoted the Communist spokesman as saying that the Viet Cong is not insisting that the United States "would have to withdraw its units from South Viet Nam before it would be possible to start peace talks." But Monday he went on to say that the Viet Cong is not WINFIELD HURST and CARL OSTERHOUT are vying for election to the Declo Village board in the Nov. 2 municipal election. Both are former board members. Osterhout and Hurst seek the four-year post.

Two Former Village Trustees Compete for Election Nov. 2

DECLO — Declo voters will have a choice for the four-year trustee term in the election Nov. 2 when two board members will be elected.

Vying for the four-year term are Carl Osterhout and Winfield Hurst, reports Mrs. Ray Messinger, village board secretary. Both men are former board members.

Merle Riding is running unopposed for the two-year board post. Voting will be conducted from noon to 8 p.m. Nov. 2 at the Declo Village Hall.

Voter League To Discuss State Item

BURLEY — The League of Women Voters of Burley will hold two discussion meetings at 1:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. Wednesday on the Idaho executive department.

The afternoon meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Keith Stoddard, 599 Cedar Drive, and Mrs. Lex Kuna, Grandview Addition, will be hostess for the evening meeting. Guests are welcome at both meetings, announced Mrs. George H. Quarterman Jr., president of the Burley League.

How well does the Idaho constitution provide for efficiency and responsiveness in the executive branch of government, and how well balanced are the executive powers with those of the legislature and judiciary?

The League of Women Voters of Idaho asks these questions in a new publication distributed to its membership this week as part of its continuing study of the state constitution, Mrs. Quarterman said.

The publication, "A Closer Look at Idaho's Constitution: The Executive Department," follows earlier League pamphlets concerned with methods of revising constitutions and with constitutional provisions for Idaho legislative department and local (municipal and county) government.

WARNING TO PROSPECTIVE GUITAR BUYERS

As a sideline to the great popularity of all types of guitars at this time, there are a great many cheap imported guitars on the market being offered by people whose only interest is a quick profit. These instruments are poorly made and require much upkeep. Many of them are very difficult to play, thereby discouraging anyone who has a desire to learn to play. Some cannot be played at all.

How can the average person who knows nothing about guitars be protected? Seek the advice of a professional teacher or other qualified individual who knows and plays the type of guitar you are interested in. Buy your instrument only from a local dealer whose principal business is music and who will stand behind the instrument he sells you.

No one is better qualified to know guitars than a guitar teacher. He teaches and plays guitars six days a week and sees all types of the instruments. He, if anyone, would know the difference.

If you are interested in buying a guitar, we would be happy to talk with you and show you our stock of all types of guitars. We are an authorized guitar dealer, offering sales, instruction and repairs on accordion, guitar and piano. Sales by appointment only.

Blaine Assessor Talks to Chamber on Taxes

HAILEY — W. D. Martindale, Blaine County assessor, spoke to members of the Chamber of Commerce Monday noon, explaining the methods the Idaho Tax Commission has set up for determining a tax base for assessing Idaho property.

After his talk he answered questions, most of which reverted to whether or not taxes on Blaine County property would be higher for 1965.

Martindale explained there will be a raise because cities, with the exception of Sun Valley, have found it necessary to raise their levies. The bond interest on the schools has been raised, the county fair levy is a new one and the road and bridge and charity and indigent levies were raised.

John Davies, chairman for the Thanksgiving planning committee, reported 20 turkeys have been purchased for the Turkey Derby and guessing contest. The turkeys will be donated by merchants and rules for the derby and contest will be announced next week.

President Leo Stavros announced he has asked his brother-in-law, J. Lane Christensen, who is a senior in landscaping at Utah State University, to submit a plan for the beautification of Hailey's Main Street.

Leo Durocher Returns to Majors, Plans to Lift Cubs Into Top Division

CHICAGO (AP)—Brash Leo Durocher returned to the major league managerial scene Monday with a three-year contract to lead the Chicago Cubs and immediate plans to lift the National League team out of the second division. Durocher's initial appearance at a news conference called by Vice President John Holland ignited an atmosphere unknown in Wrigley Field for the last 19 years during which the Cubs have been mired in the bottom bracket.

Holland said it was a straight salary deal with no bonuses or stock involved. Shortly after he left the New York Giants a decade ago, rumors once had it Durocher would return to baseball unless he received stock in a club.

Salary details were not revealed.

Durocher ended the conference by saying "Gentlemen, we're going to have some fun around here."

After the announcement that Durocher would be the manager, Holland said the Cub system of rotating head coaches was junked at the major league level but would be retained in the minor leagues.

Lou Klein, head coach during the last half of the 1965 season, will be retained in the Cub system, but Durocher kept only Vernon Walker as an immediate aide.

Lippy Leo said Walker, Whitely Lockman and Fred Fitzsimmons would make up his coaching staff.

The 50-year-old Durocher, one of baseball's most controversial figures, managed the 1941 Brooklyn Dodgers to a pennant. He also clicked with the New York Giants in 1951 and 1954. His 1954 team won the world championship in a four-game sweep over the Cleveland Indians.

Durocher resigned as Giants manager in 1955 and went into television. He returned to baseball as a coach of the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1961 and stayed on through 1964. Last season he was a television announcer on the American Broadcasting Co. Game of the Week.

Durocher said the fact he hadn't managed for 10 years wouldn't be any problem.

"The diamond is still the same size," he said, "and you still need to score more runs than the other team in order to win."

"I didn't come here to win any popularity contests. I came to win games and that's what we're going to do."

"The first thing I'm looking for is speed. I'm a gambler, not a safety first guy. Guys who want to play safety first baseball won't be around me very long."

"If the book says punt, I might just hit and run. I want to play baseball not sit in the dugout and wait for someone to hit the ball out of the park."

Jets Need Receivers to Stay in Race

NEW YORK (AP)—The future of the New York Jets is in the hands of the receivers. And that's what's keeping them bankrupt in the American Football League.

We just have to find somebody who can catch the ball," said Coach Weeb Ewbank after the winless Jets' latest disaster, a 34-0 loss to San Diego last Saturday night.

The chief culprit was Don Maynard, who dropped two passes in the end zone from quarterback Mike Taliaferro—the first after the defender fell down.

Maynard, however, had help. Two other receivers, Duke Turner and Jim Evans, each were called once for offensive passing.

Maynard said he lost the passes in the lights.

"We haven't worked out enough under the lights," said Maynard.

Taliaferro, who had a good night with 17 completions in 35 attempts despite the muffs, said the dropped passes "were just something that happens. Something must have been wrong—it must have been the lights."

Phew, said Ewbank. "It's not the lights," said Ewbank. "We just dropped the ball. I've told all of them if the lights bother them we got outfielders' sun glasses."

Gogolak's Kicking Is Problem For Princeton, as Well as Foes

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Charles Gogolak kicks field goals with such proficiency he creates problems not only for the opposition but for his own team.

Gogolak, Princeton's favorite scoring threat, has become the greatest placekicker in collegiate football history simply by approaching the ball from a 70-degree angle and booting it with the instep of his right foot instead of his toes.

The maneuver has brought the Hungarian refugee five national records, two of which he gained last Saturday by kicking three field goals and six extra points in unbeaten Princeton's 51-0 romp over Penn.

It also has brought the Tigers some animosity.

Because Gogolak tried a 55-yard field goal on the last play of the game, Penn coach Bob Odell refused to shake hands with his Princeton counterpart, Dick Colman. Odell was angered, believing the Tigers were trying to add unnecessary points.

But Gogolak had a different explanation, one that pointed up Princeton's dilemma.

"I was fairly content after I made the 47-yarder. I felt I had good odds with the rest of the game," he said. "But there were two seconds left, and the players and the fans were yelling."

"I didn't really want to kick it, and Mr. Colman didn't want me to. But if I hadn't gone in, all of the fans would have been disappointed. First it was from 50 yards away. Then we got a penalty, and I had to try from 55 yards."

"I was feeling fairly pessimistic. It was kind of a useless guess, but it was pleasing the crowd. I started walking off the field, and they started yelling, 'No! No! No!' so I went back in. As it turned out, the kick was 12 yards short and marked Gogolak's third miss in 17 tries this season."

Gogolak's 14 field goals in five games are one more than the old record for a single season, and his 15 points against Penn raised his season point total to 62, a record for scoring by kicking alone.

He also holds the records for career field goals, career scoring and field goals in a game.

Gogolak has only one assignment besides kicking. He acts as the safety man when he kicks off.

But the Tigers are more concerned for his safety and make sure the 180-pounder doesn't have to get involved in any body contact. Asked if he has made any tackles for Princeton, the Wilton, N.Y., resident said:

"Once in my sophomore year against Cornell. It was near the sideline, and I sort of drove him out of bounds. It really wasn't anything great."

Volts Hire Trail

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Ray Trail, 24, former star guard at Arkansas, was hired Monday as an assistant football coach at the University of Tennessee.

He fills one of the vacancies on the Tennessee staff left by the deaths last week of three assistant coaches in a car-train crash. Fatally injured were Bill Majors, Bob Jones and Charles Nash.

WINTERGREEN FLAVORED SKOAL CHEWING TOBACCO

Here's how to enjoy it most:

1. Take a small pinch of wintergreen flavored Skoal between your thumb and forefinger.
2. Place the Skoal between cheek and upper or lower gum.
3. Tuck it in comfortably with your tongue, and just leave it there. Skoal releases its rich tobacco pleasure slowly, without chewing. Every can is dated for freshness.

How can you know till you try it?

Koufax, McDowell Are ERA Champions

NEW YORK (AP)—Left-handers Sandy Koufax and Sam McDowell captured major league earned run championships in 1965, the final averages showed Monday. Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodgers' star, led the National League for a record fourth straight time. McDowell was the first Cleveland pitcher to win the American League crown since Mike Garcia in 1954.

McPeak Cites 'Team Effort' For Victory

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Coach Bill McPeak of the no-longer-existent Washington Redskins Monday explained his team's upset of the St. Louis Cardinals in three words—Jurgensen, effort and surprise.

The burly coach, smiling easily for the first time in weeks, said quarterback Sonny Jurgensen "was just hitting his targets" behind good protection.

"I don't really want to single out any individuals for praise," McPeak added. "I'll use that cliché 'team effort' and it pretty well describes what happened."

McPeak said a bit of new offensive strategy and an unexpected defensive alignment may have surprised the Cardinals.

Offensively, the Redskins ran as well as passed from their flood formation, which is not supposed to be a ground weapon. Washington netted only 74 yards rushing, but a lot of it came when the Tribe needed a crucial first down and the flood formation seemed to befuddle the St. Louis defenders.

McPeak also used an odd spacing with his defensive "front four" stationing a tackle directly opposite the Cardinal center. The tactic, used by Pittsburgh a week ago against the Cards with moderate success, worked even better last Sunday. The St. Louis offensive line had trouble with its blocking assignments.

USC Coach Doesn't Lose Wit in Defeat

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coach John McKay of the University of Southern California said none of his well-known wit in the Trojan's 28-7 loss to Notre Dame.

He appeared at the weekly football writers' luncheon Monday in good humor and said:

"We have no excuses. We just got the hell kicked out of us."

McKay recalled the opening play when Notre Dame kicked off and the crowd at South Bend, Ind., was in a frenzy of excitement.

"Our receiver took the ball and moved up to about the 13-yard line. There wasn't anybody within 15 yards of him, and he fell down."

"One of my assistant coaches stood over and screamed: 'For goodness sakes, they shot him!'"

But the crowd had nothing to do with the defeat, McKay added.

Southern Cal has no game scheduled this week.

"After that one, we need the week off. We should have taken last week," he concluded.

Bengals to Meet Top Quarterback

POCATELLO (UPI)—Idaho State University's Bengals will face one of the best fullbacks in Western Small College circles Saturday when Portland State invades Pocatello for a single-game game.

The fullback is 215-pound Andy Berkis, who has set new season and career rushing records for Portland State. Berkis has won all-Oregon Collegiate Conference honors three times in a row.

The improving Bengals will be trying to even their record to 3-3 after losing a 28-17 Big Sky Conference decision to Weber State last week.

It will be the first meeting in history between Portland State, a candidate for membership in the Big Sky, and ISU.

Legislation Reaches Nearly Every Part of American Life

WASHINGTON (AP)—A tidal wave of legislation that reaches into almost every segment of American life is the legacy of a Congress that President Johnson has labeled—at its midpoint—the most effective in history.

During its first session, the 89th Congress swept into law a vast range of Johnson proposals to spur American education, combat poverty, insure the nation's elderly against the economic ravages of illness, cut excise taxes, and boost Social Security levies.

It acted to cut scarce silver out of quarters and to make more gold available for international exchange. It moved to curtail scenery-hiding highway billboards and offer a helping hand to the arts in America.

And to do all this, it appropriated more money than any Congress since World War II. The grand total is around $118 billion. That is second only to the $147 billion appropriated in 1942, with America at war.

If you are a wage earner, you're getting some income tax relief, but you face a boost in your Social Security tax payments next year. So does your employer.

And your share of the national debt is bigger than ever. By next July, the total is expected to be $322.5 billion—or $1,027 for every man, woman and child.

Congress has boosted the temporary national debt limit to $228 billion.

During the current bookkeeping year, interest on the debt will total about $11.5 billion, up $500 million from last year's figure.

Total appropriations are up about $12 billion from the figure voted by the previous session of Congress.

Defense spending is up about $500 million. And about $2.4 billion of the defense budget was voted specifically to pay for the war in Viet Nam.

Two revenue steps that may have the most direct effect on you are a tax cut—and a tax increase.

Social Security taxes are going up by about $5 billion next year to finance increased pension payments and medical insurance.

That means an increase of $103 in Social Security levies for every worker who earns more than $6,600 next year. Employers face an increase, too.

Another boost of $13 is in prospect in 1967, $33 more in 1968. By 1973, if the law passed this year stands unchanged, the worker will be paying $165 a year, his employer matching it.

For the typical wage earner, increased Social Security taxes will eat up about 60 per cent of the income tax cut he got from the last Congress.

This year's tax reduction was in excise taxes—a total cut of $4.7 billion in three stages. The first step already is in effect.

But the tax cuts don't automatically go to you as a purchaser. They were levied at the manufacturer's level. President Johnson has told the Commerce Department to prod manufacturers who have not passed on the reductions.

Johnson's economic advisers still are keeping an eye on the retail-level impact of the tax-cutting measures.

They figured by mid-July that some 75 per cent of the immediate reduction, or about $1.7 billion a year, had been passed on to lower consumer prices.

Excise reductions were noted in the prices of items ranging from automobiles to home furnishings.

The result, the board said, was a price range about the same as that a year ago.

Then, when 1966 automobile prices were announced, the Federal Reserve Board reported they had been adjusted downward to take into account the excise tax cuts—but they also reflected the additional cost of newly introduced safety features.

The result, the board said, was a price range about the same as that a year ago.

Tax reductions on automobiles and telephone calls will not take their final downward step until Jan. 1, 1969.

The automobile excise was cut from 10 to 7 per cent—an average of $70 on a new car—in the first stage. The later reductions will peg the tax at a permanent one per cent level.

If the full impact of the excise tax cuts on other items is passed on to you as a consumer, and gasoline.

If you're planning a trip abroad, you may well feel the impact of a congressional step aimed at one of the government's big economic problems—the outflow of U.S. gold.

Congress has enacted a series of banking and finance bills designed to ease that problem.

One of them eliminates a requirement that the Federal Reserve System maintain gold stocks equal to 25 per cent of the deposits it holds from member banks. The effect is to free nearly $5 billion in gold which now can be used to redeem U.S. dollars held by foreigners.

Another measure is more like a free purchase worth more than $100 at retail. That's based on wholesale prices, one time, the limit was $50 wholesale value.

Johnson figures that with at home about $60 million in U.S. dollars that otherwise have been abroad.

ly to bring the gold back to the doorstep of Americans.

If you go on vacation this year, you can bring back a free purchase worth more than $100 at retail. That's based on wholesale prices, one time, the limit was $50 wholesale value.

Johnson figures that with at home about $60 million in U.S. dollars that otherwise have been abroad.
