Holiday Drivers Warned

By The Associated Press
Millions of motorists heading for the highways today in the first part of the extended Christmas weekend were warned of hazardous driving conditions in many areas. Traffic accidents in the first part of the holiday period killed at least 115 persons, including 12 in a Greyhound bus which went off an icy highway north of Portland in southern Oregon.

The count of traffic deaths started at 6 p.m. (local time) Thursday. The National Safety Council estimated that at the end of the 78-hour holiday period on Sunday between 500 and 600 persons may die in traffic accidents.

A state police officer at Medford said the bus went over an embankment on Interstate 5, going over a ditch and fence. Three persons were reported injured. The bus was from Spokane, Wash., to San Francisco, and had stopped at Portland.

The council terms this Christmas weekend the most dangerous holiday period of any year, a time of big traffic volume, bright and inclement weather, stormy, wet weather, with snow, rain and gusty winds, fog, ice, and heavy rain, with a high half of the nation to day.

Traffic deaths during last year's three-day Christmas holiday totaled 518. The record for a three-day Christmas period is set at 565. The highest for any Christmas holiday was 706 in a four-day holiday period.

CHRISTMAS BASKETS with food for 151 needy Magic Valley families were filled Thursday night by members of the Twin Falls Elks Club. From left are H. E. (Bud) Cheney, Elks basket chairman, and Doner Bertsch, Elks Club secretary-manager, placing oranges in one of the many bushel baskets. The food was distributed Friday morning to families whose names earlier had been turned into the Twin Falls YM-YWCA, which acted as a "clearing house" to avoid duplication of contributing by the Elks, the Salvation Army, churches and other service organizations. Christmas Truce By Allied Forces, Reds Silences Guns

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A Christmas Eve truce declared by both the allied armed forces and the insurgent Communist Viet Cong appeared to have stilled the guns, the terror and the slaughter that has tortured South Viet Nam for years. The American-South Vietnamese decision to stop all offensive action for 30 hours went into effect at 6 p.m. (5 a.m. EST) and the Viet Cong seemed to have been faithful to their announced promise of a 12-hour truce as of 7 p.m. strict cease-fire in the embattled country turned at least some of it back to the little people. Most noticeable was the reaction in Saigon, the capital.

The streets were a mass of humanity. People who have not been on these streets perhaps for months were out in force with their children.

There were three million population of Saigon strolled out in confidence as though all of them had heard directly about the truce. The thousands of Americans in Saigon were, on the other hand, confined to their billets until dawn Christmas day under a curfew imposed Dec. 18. The curfew will be lifted at 6 a.m. Saturday.

The atmosphere was electric, but loaded with a sense of relief.

From the jungles and the outposts, reports filtering into Saigon indicated that the cease-fire was just that. From An Khe, where the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division is deployed, Associated Press Correspondent Bob Fos reported "all's quiet."

From Da Nang on the northern coast where the Marines are based, a report came of a holiday feast—turkey or baked Virginia ham after a Christmas dinner and a winding up with mince or pumpkin pie.

The truce orders went to Air Force units that had been fighting in both North and South Viet Nam and to 7th Fleet carriers operating in the South China Sea in support of the ballooning war.

The Communist Viet Cong announced there is no intention to undertake an offensive action or acts of terrorism from Christmas Eve, one hour after the Allied cease-fire started, until 7 a.m. Saturday.

Bus Overturns, 12 Killed, 26 Injured

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP)—A Greyhound bus overturned on an icy highway, killing 12 holiday-bound passengers and injuring 26 other persons last night. Slight Christmas gifts with the bus, bound from Spokane, Wash., to San Francisco, plunged from Interstate 5 between the southern Oregon cities of Grants Pass and Medford. Nine persons were dead at the scene, state police said. One was dead on arrival at a hospital and two others died later. A balance of emergency vehicles from surrounding communities took the injured to three hospitals in the two cities.

State police said the Greyhound superintendent at Medford, said there were 33 persons on the bus when it left Portland, 250 miles to the north.

Sacred Heart Hospital in Medford reported the driver of the bus, Joseph B. Bales of Battle Ground, Wash., was in good condition.

Bales told state police he was traveling alone about 45 miles per hour when, without warning, the bus began to skid. He attempted to correct the skid, he said, but the steering did not respond, then the bus went off the highway and rolled over.

State police said the bus flipped completely, going over a ditch and fence, landing on its side about 100 feet from the highway.

Highway conditions were icy when the accident happened and it was raining steadily, police said. Some 40 other accidents were reported in the area during the night, none serious.

Johnson and Family Open Gifts Tonight

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson said tonight through accumulated press work, he was ready to open Christmas gifts with his family tonight.

Traditionally, the Johnsons set aside Christmas Eve to open gifts exchanged within the family. None of the gifts was announced in advance.

The President, his wife and two daughters actually got off to a running start on the holiday driving Thursday night to his renovated boyhood home here, 25 miles east of the LBJ ranch to hear Christmas carols sung by the combined choirs of the town's three churches—First Christian, Methodist and Baptist.

Johnson, dressed very casually and smiling, was ready to open gifts tonight, warm at the sight of his neighbors—more than 50 strong—assembled to greet him with traditional Christmas tunes.

Jerusalem's Gates Opened To Christians

JERUSALEM, Jordan, Sector (AP)—Jerusalem's maddening gate opened at dawn today to let nearly 5,000 Arab Christians from Israel, who left their families in Jordan to celebrate Christ's birth.

Sites cleared after a night of pouring rain. The first arrival was a young couple with a swaddled baby in his father's arms. They stepped through the barbed wire barricades and fell into the arms of waiting relatives.

Total of 4,932 Christian Arabs will be allowed through the gate to spend 24 days with their families on the Jordanian side of this divided Holy City.

The armistice line of stone walls and short-term buildings from the Arab-Israeli War divides Jerusalem.

The gate is opened only at Christmas, the Christians from Israel.

War, Tension Mar Christmas Season

By The Associated Press
As the Christian world prepares today to observe Christmas, war and tension more marred the celebration of the birth of the Prince of Peace. In Viet Nam, both the United States and its allies on one side and the Communists on the other announced the start of a Christmas truce—30 hours on the American side and 12 on the Communist. But, the 24 hours before was as bloody as ever.

U.S. officials expected the war to resume in full violence after midnight Christmas. India and Pakistan stood stretched in hostile positions through the border, dead-end in the Kashmir dispute. India also confronted the menace of Communist China, whose border troops have been involved in recent shooting incidents with the Chinese.

U.S. and Santo Domingo in the wake of last April's revolt in Dominican Republic. In Africa, black-led nations press demands that Britain trade Rhodesia and crush the white minority in the British, who limited their reactions to economic sanctions, are aware that the tensions may burst into a war.

But, as always, there were bright spots for peace. Pope Paul VI in his annual Christmas broadcast appealed for peace negotiations in Viet Nam.

In Viet Nam, Francis Cardinal Spellman flew by helicopter to bring Vietnam's Christmas message expressing the economy of the U.S. Army 31st Division.

Throughout South Viet Nam, troops planned parties for Vietnamese children around the encampments. Americans who had, had Christmas Eve and Christmas gifts to the little Vietnamese.

Negroes Plan Marches on Christmas Eve

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP)—On the eve of Christmas, Negroes here plan to march through the Mississippi strongholds of the Ku Klux Klan to dramatize their "Black Christmas" protest.

The "marchers" come with Christmas - buying boycotts in Natchez and Fayette, 25 miles to the north.

They are Christmas Eve, a holiday that Negroes have observed through the Grand Dragon of the United Kingdom of America, out of Africa, charging Natchez Police Chief J. T. Robinson with willful neglect of duty.

The segregationist maneuver came after civil rights-church leaders ordered a renewed boycott against merchants in Natchez, three weeks old under racial differences.

The marcher committee with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Natchez, Christmas Eve, a boycott similar to one which shocked the economy of Natchez until it ended Dec. 3.

Sixty state troopers were ordered into the tense rural town to keep order during the demonstration. Troops were said would include 2,000 officers and their followers they must go on the streets of Natchez later in the day unless the police are involved in a racial riot Wednesday were fired.

Elks Lodge Distributes Yule Baskets

While some Twin Falls residents were busy Thursday night doing last-minute Christmas shopping, wrapping gifts, baking cookies, stringing candy, or possibly just taking it easy and resting up for Saturday-morning Christmas, the Elks Club was busy distributing 50 members of the Twin Falls Elks Club were occupied in packing bushel baskets of food, potatoes and other items for distribution Friday morning to needy families throughout Twin Falls and in surrounding communities.

The Elks Club, YM-YWCA, Salvation Army, local churches and other service organizations are involved in the Christmas basket project.

Names of families to receive the baskets were turned in earlier to the YM-YWCA, which acted as a "clearing house" to avoid duplication, and assigned the names to the various groups to fill and distribute the baskets.

Doner Bertsch, Elks Club secretary-manager, said 10 of the baskets were the largest number of baskets of any of the groups involved in the program—15 baskets with enough food for 825 persons.

Gifts donated to the Elks Club included 10-pound sacks of potatoes from Carl Glib, Inc.; 5-pound sacks of sugar from the Ammansted Sugar Co., and SEELKS, Page 2, Column 2.

2 Outlying Positions Hit By Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Viet Cong overran two outlying positions of the Lac Son outpost near Da Nang early Friday as the hour for the Christmas truce approached.

Five hours before the start of the 30-hour cease-fire proclaimed by U.S. and South Vietnamese Communist and Communist radio broadcasts had made no mention of it. The Americans and their allies held to their position in all areas of the Viet Cong ground their planes, but they stayed on the alert.

The Communist forces launched a heavy mortar attack against Lac Son, about 20 miles south of Da Nang, before overrunning the two outlying posts. They inflicted heavy casualties on the defenders, but the main position held out.

South Vietnamese officers reported 100 Viet Cong bodies in the area after the attack. Planes came to the aid of the post. The Viet Cong were reported withdrawing at daybreak.

Neither Soldier Mountain nor Magic Mountain areas have opened yet because of lack of snow.

It was snowing Friday morning at Sun Valley and Don Anderson, sports director, said weather reports indicate that snow will be adequate soon. The Christmas Eve torchlight procession "is slated on Dollar Mountain and the Warm Springs runs are operating."

Snow, Rain, Winds Hit Western U. S.

By The Associated Press
Stormy wet weather, with snow, rain and gusty winds, whipped across broad areas in the western half of the nation.

The three-day storm left heavy snow coverings in sections of the Rockies, in the northern Sierra Nevada and in the Pacific. Colder air swept into snow-covered regions and temperatures dropped to below zero in parts of Montana, Idaho, Utah, Nevada.

The Weather Bureau reports a heavy winter storm which developed in the Oklahoma-Texas northern New Mexico region spread northeastward through Kansas and Nebraska. Heavy snow fell in Guyn, Okla., and strong winds cut, causing drifting. Wind was reported near zero in parts of Cimarron County, Okla. Thursday night.

Snow or rain fell in most of the nation's midsection, the white covering in Northern Plains and eastward to the southern Plains and the Mississippi Valley.

Snow tapered off in Arizona and New Mexico, where it measured 17 inches at Flagstaff. But snow continued in parts of New Mexico, Colorado and Nevada. The Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Wisconsin and Iowa.

Rain-swollen rivers and melting snow from mountain areas sent floodwaters across sections of Arizona, forcing hundreds of persons from their homes. The swollen streams raced through a mining area of eastern Arizona, forcing the town of Kivini.

Hazardous driving warnings were in effect from New Mexico to Kansas and Nebraska because of slick and snow-covered highways.

TV Viewers Mistaken On Program

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—American television viewers are flooding the U.N. with inquiries about the espionage arm of the United Nations, and they want to enlist. In recent months, the U.N. has been deluged with letters and telephone calls from fans of the popular N.Y.U. program "The U.N. Confidential." "It's the U.N. in the title that gets them," said Maurice Lutz, director of the division. "When they hear that bit of humor that the show would not be of the U.N. type, they are sure we are tied up with it." Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin work for the U.N. Command for Law and Enforcement, but the U.N. stands for United Network, not United Nations. "Most of the applications come from teen-agers," said Lutz. "They are not adults, too, and they are the hardest to convince that we are not run by the U.N. Confidential." "One guy was so intent on becoming a secret agent that we finally suggested that he get in touch with the U.N. Confidential National Police organization." "I don't know what they told him," Lutz said. "They come in from all over the country."

Actor Goes From Cold to Hot Regions

NEW YORK (UPI) — "I've been in one of the coldest places in the world. I might as well try one of the hottest."

In between, actor Arthur Kennedy was knee-deep in snow in Louisiana, and all in pursuit of movie-making. "I only spent eight months at home this year," Kennedy said. "I'm on an executive home in Westport, Conn. A place he finds so dull after 15 years he will put his house up for sale and move."

Bored with settling anywhere for long, Kennedy, the actor, has an itch to travel. He is in Florida with wife Palm Beach, Fla., the millionaires' playground, as home base and a 15-acre parcel of land near Lantana, Nova Scotia, as a retreat.

The Maine coast has been spotted with places you can find nowhere else in Canada," said Kennedy, whose mother was born in Ontario. He is a native of Worcester, Mass.

His latest Russian, an American-Italian picture, venture about World War II in which he plays an Italian army officer, took Kennedy to Moscow.

"The Russians didn't quite know what to make of me," he said. "They elevate their musicals and ballerinas but in film-making the Russians have an eye for an eye. They don't think much of actors."

Now 52, Kennedy has made a successful career out of diverse fields. He has worked in radio, television, and in the movies. He stepped from the stark war film, which he frankly admits "has some poor acting," to the role of a hunted murderer in a sequel to the "Carpenter" series.

It was filmed in the Louisiana swamps. "Pretty country. I get shot, fortunately. Standing in knee-deep water for hours was a little hard to take," Kennedy will probably stick to movies.

"I can't travel as much as I can," he said. "I've been of a few picture companies, trying to make near the Red Sea."

"That's supposed to be the hottest place in the world. I've seen to the coldest. Maybe I'll go there next."

Post Office Back to Normal After Pre-Christmas Rush

Window, operations and workroom operations were back to normal at the Twin Falls Post Office after the rush of incoming and outgoing Christmas mail, Twin Falls Postmaster Fred Sanger announced Friday.

Sanger said combined outgoing and incoming mail exceeded two million pieces for the first three weeks of December, a 10.5 per cent increase over the same three-week period of 1964.

"The workroom is emptying out with only about 100 parcels left to be delivered," Sanger reported that only two weeks ago there were 25 workmen busy during the afternoon with just three employees on two million pieces for the first three weeks of December, a 10.5 per cent increase over the same three-week period of 1964.

Horseback Mail Carrier Makes 22-Mile Trip in Snow

HINDMAN, Ky. (AP) — "I've gone through these mountains since I had to turn my horse over to take the snow off her and I've found snow a foot deep in the saddle many a time."

"I've seen it so cold my feet froze in the stirrups and I had to reach down and break 'em loose."

"And there have been times that my horse or mule would get so covered with ice that I'd get his tail weighed 20 pounds. Oh, Lord, I've been through snow, down to zero, temperatures and below zero."

At 62, Ivan Pratt figures he's made about 1,500 trips through the surrounding hills on his horseback mail carrier's mail route. He missed only one trip.

"And that was back some years when I had pneumonia. But now, he's just so sure, he wants to continue. It's been a while since the Post Office Department raised his salary with pensions, he would live comfortably without it."

"For asked for a raise and they asked me if they gave me one would I keep on," he said. "I told 'em I might, I'm not sure."

Pratt, a tall, thin mountain man, concedes that his age isn't making the 22-mile daily trip any easier. And he points out

Practices in Reclamation Are Cited

BOISE (AP) — A reclamation project to reseed and terrace an eroding mountain watershed outside Boise has been cited as a showpiece of good land management in which state, private and federal interests cooperate.

The story of the restoration of the watershed is told in the winter issue of "Our Public Lands," publication of the Bureau of Land Management of the Department of the Interior.

Two grass fires started on the mountain slope Aug. 3, 1959, and denuded 9,500 acres before they were put out. Rainstorms Aug. 20 and Sept. 22-26 that year washed tons of silt and debris down into Boise, causing half a million dollars damage.

Author of the BLM article, Robert D. Martin, tells how obstacles of divided land ownership and money were overcome by complete cooperation of the BLM, the Department of Agriculture's Forest Service and Soil Conservation Service, and city, county, state and private interests.

Nearly 1,500 acres of upper drainages were contoured with large trenches two feet deep and ten feet wide. Smaller furrows were built on 134 additional acres. Crews planted 1,100 acres of perennial grasses on the slopes and legumes and browse plants and tree seedlings were planted in the furrows.

The whole project cost $100,000. The watershed was put to a severe test in February, 1963, when a quick thaw was followed by heavy rains. Again in December, heavy rains struck. Major damage was averted both times.

Plans are being made to improve rehabilitation of the Boise watershed making use of manpower from the 200-man Job Corps Center 40 miles away at Mountain Home, the BLM said.

horses back route. Pratt has been his only postman. Pratt now has 21 families on his route between Pine Top and Pigna Passes. "Besides delivering mail, I keep 'em posted on what's going on," he said.

Counting the distance to and from the post office, Pratt figures he travels about 22 miles each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday carrying the mail.

"I never see any snow, just that ice on the winding eastern Kentucky roads made it impossible for mail trucks to reach the tiny Pine Top office. But Pratt made his rounds anyway."

People Must Be Careful Not to Stereotype Idea of Santa Claus

By The Associated Press

Around Christmas time people have to be careful about how they think of Santa Claus, or they'll wind up getting him stereotyped.

Sure, he's fat and rosy-cheeked and wears a red suit. But he also can be clean shaven and wear the turtleneck of a train — or sit on top of a house and talk to toddlers over a telephone.

Santa Claus is this and much more. He's love and kindness and the spirit of good will that descends on mankind this time of year. Here are a few of his many faces:

I am fat and I have blue eyes and rosy cheeks and a special feeling for children, says Raymond A. Harney, a former director in Revere, Mass. "I was born to be Santa Claus."

For nearly 20 years Harney has taken his vacation in December to be Santa Claus in "schools," hospitals, or any place there are children.

In Grinder's Switch, Tenn., Santa Claus wears an engineer's cap and rides the crooked rails through the wooded hills, leaving candy the year 'round in his young friends.

But at Christmas, Frank Easley pulls his train to a halt before the Merrie Acres school, run by the Seventh-day Adventists for underprivileged children.

"Here he comes," one youngster yelled at the sound of his descent here in the distance. The youngsters were ready for

Jesus Began Life as Exile From Egypt

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Belleville, Ill.

For the wanderer, nothing is fixed, nothing steady. There are no comforting landmarks, no familiar points of reference. Without a familiar place, no step is sure, no path is certain. It is a life of wandering, a displaced Jewish family of old walked to a virgin point in Egypt. It was a foreboding low for the couple, the child, and ensuing generations.

This was the chance, insecure environment in which Jesus entered, and experienced, and grew. He was a toddler in the arms of a nomadic family in flight from desolation and catastrophe. He was a refugee, probably more than a year, in Egypt, make up a nebulous interlude, a veiled secret, a hidden past.

That is the kind of indistinct, unstable trail left by the fugitive family of Nazareth. It was a continuously moving from one uncertain spot to another, with strangers all about and no one known or named to call their own. Although Scripture tells hardly anything about that episode, accounts going back into antiquity indicate some of its features.

Over the trail they followed, it was a 250-mile trek from Bethlehem to the Nile Valley, going through Hebron and the pagan land of Gaza, meeting with robbers, sultan, and slave trade, and thence across the desert to the Sinai Peninsula.

They had a donkey and took turns riding it, holding the infant Jesus in a palm. At one point, the donkey broke, dropping riders into the dust.

A broiling sun beat on their heads, and the night, they nibbled from a sack of corn and dried bread, rationing their food. They were in a front oasis to oasis.

They went through Goshen and came eventually to the delta, that river-enclosed "black land" of Upper Egypt, hemmed in by red, rolling sands of desert.

As a woodworker, Joseph had trouble finding work, since in that almost treeless, rainless land, firm wood is scarce. Besides that, particular hard work there were everywhere more workers than work.

But it is said he eventually got employment for a time building coffins for a burying ground at Beth Shean.

According to stories circulated in that ancient land for nearly 2,000 years, the family moved about a great deal, to various towns, living sometimes alone, sometimes with others in towns and mansions, once with a kindly widow, once with a wealthy benefactor named Elizabeth.

The scene about them was the once powerful kingdom of the Ptolemies, which had become a vassal province of Rome, following Cleopatra's loss of her throne and suicide about 37 years earlier after Antony's defeat at Actium.

But the atmosphere remained Egyptian, with its elaborate processions for "sacred bulls," the incantations, clattering chariots, magicians, and the great pyramids.

But it also was a time of intellectual activity at Alexandria, the Roman-built coastal city, where the great Jewish philosopher, Philo was preaching, and teachings about the "logos," the divine intermediary among men, revealing God.

That concept ultimately would be applied to the then ignored unknown child-in-exile, "Jesus of Nazareth," and his mother, (logos) became flesh and dwell among us.

His wanderer-Jesus pre-emptive, His wobbly legs gaining strength and balance. An ancient Coptic tale offers this description of Him and His mother:

ALLOCATION AUTHORIZED

IDAHO FALLS (AP)—A federal order for $197,641 for 1965-66 for lengthening-Paving Field has been authorized by the Federal Aeronautics Agency, U.S. Dept. of Commerce, V. H. Hartzel, Idaho, said Thursday.

The southwest-northeast run was increased from 8,600 feet to 8,800 to permit landing of large jet planes. The appropriation is a phase of a three-year program at the airport. Under the plan, the city's share would be $158,000, the state $22,250 and the federal government $22,250 (or 56.2 per cent) of the $463,322.16 project.

Four other bids were received.

Solon Says Viet Nam to Have TV

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Television is coming to South Viet Nam.

Rep. Charles F. Chamberlain, R-Mich., said today that a television network, using an airborne transmitter, would begin operation on a small scale Jan. 21. By the end of 1966, however, it hopes the network will be expanded to cover the entire of South Viet Nam, he said.

Chamberlain said he was told by the U.S. Information Agency (USIA) that the network would be operated jointly by the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments. Initially, it will function through the U.S. Armed Forces Radio Service and will have two channels, one of which will be for Vietnamese language stations.

While the airborne transmitters are in operation, eight U.S. Capital is going to have power blackout, Sunday — on purpose.

George Stewart, the architect of the Capitol, announced Thursday all power on the Senate side of the building will be deliberately interrupted at 10 a.m.

Within 30 seconds thereafter, power will be restored, but a diesel generator should provide service to all the emergency circuits in the Senate.

After an hour or two tests and inspections, power will be restored on the Senate side of the Capitol and a similar blackout will be conducted on the House side.

Stewart says that because of recent network failures, particularly the blackout in the North last month, it has been decided to make a full-scale test of the Capitol's emergency power installations.

SUGGESTS PLAN

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—A legislative bill was introduced Thursday, a reauthorization plan to be adopted which would give the State a 10-cent-a-share satellite in circling the Earth with a "ho-ho-ho" Christmas greeting for "ho-ho-ho" radio operators around the world.

It's Oscar IV, brainchild of a group of California radio enthusiasts and built by the TRF Radio Club of Redondo Beach. Oscar was shot into a cigar-shaped orbit Tuesday aboard Titan 3C rocket, and immediately began transmitting its four dot-dot message—the international code for friendly greeting or laughter.

Although the four dot-dot combination literally means "ho-ho-ho," it is the first amateur radio operator around the world use as shorthand for laughter.

The satellite is the fourth amateur-built Oscar using parts bought for "dime-store prices." Total cost of construction of the four-dot-dot satellite was $200.

"We made the antenna, for example, from a piece of aluminum tubing," said rocket engineer Mirabeau C. Towns Jr., who has been in the Oscar project since its beginning five years ago.

Purpose of the project is to relay amateur radio signals to radio operators around the world on frequencies that usually are limited to line-of-sight exchanges.

Oscar IV's translator operates on an input frequency of 144.1 megacycles and an output frequency of 431.92 megacycles. A beacon signal for tracking and identification can be heard at 431.902 megacycles.

The designation "Oscar" stands for "Orbiting Satellite Carrying Amateur Radio."

THREE CHARGED

HOMEDALE, Idaho (AP)—Three men have been charged with burglary after their capture by Owyhee County sheriff's officers and Homedale police.

The men are Richard Keith Collins, 32, and Richard Gollinger, both of Sparke, Nev., and Richard S. Warner, 40, of Homedale. They were captured Thursday as they left the home of Harley M. Warner.

Authorities staked out the home after receiving a tip of the apparent burglary attempt.

JUDGMENT UPHELD

BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Supreme Court upheld today a judgment awarding $200,000 to a plaintiff against Dr. W. H. Warner, an osteopathic physician.

The law suit was brought by Lester Flowerdew, who contended he had adverse reaction to one of his treatments administered by Dr. Warner. The district court ordered a directed verdict for Dr. Warner at the conclusion of the presentation of Flowerdew's case.

The appeal was from that order, but the Supreme Court ruled there was no evidence to support the plaintiff's charges.

LICENSE FEES DUE

BOISE (AP)—The board of control today announced that the State Bar reminded attorneys Thursday that their annual license fees are due Jan. 1. The board said the fees become delinquent as of March 1.

The fees vary, depending upon the length of an attorney's practice. During the year before admission to the bar, and in the first year thereafter, the attorney pays $15 per year.

The fee is $30 per year for the next two years and it is $50 per year thereafter.

Satellite Has "Ho-Ho-Ho" Yule Greeting

LEGENDS OF CHRISTMAS

Peter wasn't the only one interested in the snow last night. People stored it in a magnificent fir tree growing there!

At the top, snow had collected on the branches. People like a crown!

It snowed at 12:15. The snow had been planted with love, the cost-off-free.

Mother asked him if he left all right. "I left all right," he said. "I left WONDERFUL!"

Broomball to Be Played by Sen. Kennedy

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts will play practical soccer with Sen. Robert Kennedy, D.N.Y., in a game of broomball on a holiday vacation in the Sun Valley resort.

The New York Democrat said Thursday he is taking a break from the ice skating game he is playing with the younger set's intensive answer to hockey — next Tuesday night.

The object is, in hockey, to put the ball—a softball—into the other side's net with a broom taped together at the ends.

Meanwhile, Jacqueline Kennedy is expected to arrive with her two children the day after Christmas.

She will join Kennedy's family, sister-in-law Mrs. P. E. (Pat) Lawford and her four children.

One of Kennedy's sons, David, was back on the slopes Thursday.

He suffered a mild sprain in a fall Wednesday. Vacationing with the Kennedys is James Whitaker, the senator's fellow in a U.S. House of Representatives.

Report Income, Veterans Advised

Lorin E. Kopan, director of the Veterans Administration Center in Boise, reminds all veterans and dependents of deceased veterans in Idaho to report their annual income promptly to the VA.

Failure to do so by those people receiving money—compensated pension payments could result in termination of the payments.

Kopan said the VA has mailed new and simplified income report cards to all those receiving pensions. These questionnaires must be filled out otherwise mutilated, as they are processed through automatic data processing machines. Dependents also receive these questionnaires.

The amount of payment is regulated in proportion to income. The payments will stop if the recipient's income goes over an established amount.

Labor Department Surveys Situation of Farm Migrant

Recent studies conducted by the Labor Department have provided insight into the working and living conditions of migrants and their reasons for seeking work outside their home communities.

In recent years, the number of migrants has remained fairly constant at approximately 400,000, more than one-tenth of the total U.S. hired farm work force.

Members of minority groups, blocked from other kinds of jobs, also turn to this alternative.

The department said workers in an area of labor surplus must move to find jobs. Workers in low wage areas may be able to improve their earnings by moving out of the area for short periods of work in better-paid seasonal jobs.

Rosy Picture Painted by USDA Head

WASHINGTON - Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman painted a rosy outlook for the American farmer in his annual report.

He said the new legislation will "make certain" that consumers will be eating better and less real food in 1970. The average American family will have $160 more to spend for things other than food by this time.

Harvest of U.S. Corn Nears Finish

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The record 1965 corn crop is nearly harvested, according to the government's Weather and Crop Service, which said on Dec. 13.

1966 Turkey, Egg Prices Are Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Turkey prices will be down in 1966, according to the Poultry Survey Committee. The committee is composed of five university economists and is sponsored by the American Feed Manufacturers Association and the National Turkey Federation.

The committee forecast a six to eight per cent increase in 1966 turkey production. It said farm prices during the heavy turkey marketing season in 1966 were likely to average slightly lower than during the same period in 1965.

It predicted farm egg prices next year would average about one-half cent per dozen above year earlier levels, with the 1968 January-June hatch five to eight per cent above 1967.

The committee said that despite a 10 to 15 per cent increase in marketing U.S. farm broiler prices will average about 15 cents during the first half of 1966.

ASCS Programs Under Farm Law Reviewed

Details of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 that will affect Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation programs and other farm programs were discussed at a two-day workshop session last week.

Robert Pratt, chairman of the Idaho State ASC Committee noted that under the act farmers will have a four-year legislative period to allow them to plan their operation for more than a year at a time.

According to Pratt, among programs in which Idaho will participate are the Cropland Adjustment Program, Voluntary Acreage Program, Wheat Grain Program and Wool Program.

Cropland Adjustment Program provides for diversion of whole or part farms under five- to 10-year agreements. Priority is to be given to elderly farmers and low income farms where producers have to depend on off-farm incomes to support their families.

The program assists state and local governments acquire cropland for nonfarm uses, recreation, beautification, wildlife reserves and for air and water pollution control.

The rates of payment for cropland adjustment will be determined on the basis of past crops and yields of the farm. The program in Twin Falls County will vary from $5 to $7 per acre.

Wheat and feed grain acreage rates will be the applicable rates yield per acre times allocation or base acre. The rates are: Wheat, 45 cents per bushel; corn, 45 cents; grain sorghum, 30 cents; and barley, 30 cents.

According to Pratt, in order to protect local businessmen from the maximum amount of land that can be taken out of a community for this program is 25 per cent in any one year.

The 1966 Feed Grain Program is a voluntary program. It provides for farmers to reduce his plantings by 20 per cent, divert these acres, and maintain his conserving acreage.

In return for this he will receive price-support payments of 20 per cent of his feed grain base acres, 30 cents a bushel on corn, 20 cents on barley and 22.50 cents on grain sorghum.

In addition, he will be eligible for crop loan at the support level. For example, the national average total price support for corn is a loan rate of $1 and price-support payment is 30 cents a bushel making a national average of $1.30.

The Twin Falls county support rate for wheat is $2.50. Special provisions are made for small farmers with feed grain bases of less than 20 acres. A farmer may lay out additional acreage from feed grain base acres.

The substitution provision is also in effect. A farmer may plant in substitution feed grains for wheat or wheat for feed grains within the total acreage permitted under the program.

The 1966 Voluntary Wheat Program provides for farmers to divert an amount to be eligible to participate. A minimum requirements the farmer must meet are: The program during the sign-up period.

Divert an acreage equal to 15 per cent of his wheat allotment.

Leases Gain Popularity as Way to Maximize Capital

CINCINNATI - Increasingly young farmers have leased or rented land, equipment, buildings and livestock using their cash or credit for operating expenses.

Plant within his farm allotment. Comply with wheat program provisions and all other allotments as required by law on that farm and with wheat allotments on all other farms in which he has an interest in the wheat crop.

In return for compliance with the above the farmer will be eligible for price support loans to be announced in July and based on the market prices at that time and recent domestic marketing certificates on 45 per cent of his allotment.

Young farmers' farmers often find dollars are worth more in assets such as productive equipment, other production items. They let those who can afford ownership keep the land and use leasing to tie it up in profitable farming.

Some farmers get it too trouble by spending all their money on office personnel and with the aid of photo copies of aerial maps. Measurement service will be offered at the farmer's expense if he requests such an assistance. This expense will be on an actual cost basis.

Oats and tys are eligible for feed grain participation. However, Pratt said, the farmer must request this be added to his feed-grain base and the farmer must have the oats on hand in 1959 or 1960 and in 1964.

Under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 wool marketing program in effect since 1956 will be continued with a new formula providing a higher minimum support price. The support price, now 62 cents per pound, will be 65 cents in 1966.

Pratt noted performance regulations have been changed. For 1966 farmers will report their wool acreage. Except for limited spot checks, rooster employment will not be used for wool mohair and payments. The program during the sign-up period.

Divert an acreage equal to 15 per cent of his wheat allotment.

Leases Gain Popularity as Way to Maximize Capital

land and buildings and obligating all of the capital they can realistically hope to generate to the payment of interest on principal. They have no capital for expansion, or for replacing equipment which can become outdated quicker than expected.

A farmer can get into the consolidation stage by beginning to buy land. In addition, he may be able to take advantage of the inherent advantages of leasing with options to buy when the price in the future. As leased land proves profitable, he can add his earnings to make the purchase at his option.

Once he has acquired the land, it has appreciated above the option price, and it usually does, his ability to borrow is tremendously enhanced.

The a two-edged proposition that landowners are reluctant to sell and that would-be operators are limited to the amount of capital which they can apply to farming. And the situation is not likely to change its direction. Instead, the trend may continue to such an extent that the line between investor and operator becomes more distinct and many farm operators will lease for profits and buy land for investments.

Marketing Unit Pays $77,833 to Area Sheepsmen

Area sheepsmen were paid $77,833 by the Twin Falls County Livestock Marketing Association, Inc., for marketing of sheep and wool during the year ending Nov. 30, Luis Alstra, Hazelton, association president.

Four sheep marketing pools netted sheepsmen $34,875, and a wool pool netted payments to growers of $22,835.

Jim Brown Is Selected As National Grid Football's Most Valuable Player

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Brown, everybody's choice for All-Star fullback, has been named the Most Valuable Player in the National Football League in an Associated Press poll. A total of six million received votes from the 42-man panel, including 100,000 from 14 league cities. Brown drew 34 more of the crippled quarterback, got three and Dave Parks, San Francisco's great end, received two. The others were scattered over the league, with the Chicago Bears' Ken Willard of San Francisco and Pete Retzlaff of Philadelphia.

Brodie Cited for 'Comeback of Year'

NEW YORK (AP)—John Riley Brodie didn't really make a comeback this year. He merely came in as an All-Star in the National Football League. Perhaps, the best title would be Most Improved. Whatever the title, Brodie won recognition for a superb performance that lifted the San Francisco 49ers out of the cellar. For lack of a better name, it was named by 42 sports writers and sportscasters, three from each league city, named Brodie the Associated Press Comeback of the Year award in the NFL.

2nd Chance Pays Off for Linebacker

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Emanuel had been kicked off Tennessee's football squad for rowdiness and this time was given a second chance. Now the All-American linebacker is in San Francisco preparing for the East-West game and the pro are reported bidding upward of $200,000 for his services.

Coach Doug Getley dropped Emanuel from the team last December for getting involved in an off-campus altercation. Emanuel later was cleared of blame in the incident, and Getley decided to give him another chance.

An auto accident crippled Brodie in 1963 and he was only a limited reserve, but he came back strong in 1964 and set 46 career records. However, his performance was not universally recognized and there were persistent rumors that he might be traded.

The emergence of Brodie as a star quarterback in 1965 was paced by the help of his Y. Title, acting as a special assistant coach. George Mira, who had been expected to come here to the throne, said he completed 61.9 per cent of his touchdowns and 3,112 yards.

The 225-pound senior from Newport News, Va., proved his coach's faith in him was justified.

Emanuel joined the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He began making talks to youth groups at churches. His teammates demonstrated their respect for him by electing him alternate captain.

Tommy McDonald, gabby flanker back of the Los Angeles Rams, also was named to the voting. Brodie had 12 votes and McDonald 11 for his fine year as a pass catcher from Dallas during the off season.

Tarkenton's Success in Running on Packers Buys Colts' Playoff Hopes

NEW YORK (AP)—Fran Tarkenton's success in running against Green Bay raises a faint hope for Tom Matte and the underdog Baltimore Colts in the NFL's National Football League playoff game. If Matte could throw like Tarkenton, the hope would be much brighter.

Although there is a vast difference between the two men, it remains a fact that both Tarkenton and Matte do run with the same ball. Tarkenton's success in running against Green Bay game Monday night, Tarkenton was the leading passer with 54 yards on eight carries. That was the day the Vikings took a 13-0 lead into the last period, only to have the Colts come back with four touchdowns for a 38-13 victory.

Tom Matte, who has been named to the first seven spots on the Colts' roster, is expected to be a major contributor. He has been named to the first seven spots on the Colts' roster, is expected to be a major contributor.

Stock Market Reaches All-Time High During Week

By JACK LEFLER AP Business News Writer NEW YORK (AP)—This was a merry Christmas for the stock market. The market reached an all-time high in the week before Christmas.

Holiday shoppers had plenty of money and spent it on the National Retail Merchants Association estimated Christmas sales of $2.9 billion to $3.2 billion, up 10 percent from the record 1964 season.

Shortages of cameras, toys and other goods were reported by merchants before the buying spree ended.

The season was made more cheerful by the consensus that 1966 would be another good year.

Sam Townsend, president of Chrysler Corp., said the automobile industry's 1966 sales should be at least as good as 1965.

Even if the industry sells no more cars in 1966 than it did in 1965, sales next year will be up 10 percent from the upward trend that has been so strikingly consistent since the fall of 1964.

Scrapbook Shows Record of Blood Program in Filer

FILER—One of the best-kept and largest scrapbooks of any organization is the one made by Mrs. Alfred Theener and other members of the Filer Red Cross blood committee.

The scrapbook shows a record of all blood drawings held in the community. This is the first time in the history of the organization that the blood committee has been so successful in participating in blood drawings.

The first of these was held Dec. 22, 1955. Many of the first donors and workers are still serving at all subsequent ones.

Mrs. Theener is one of those who has been a part of the scrapbook but helps in various other capacities at the drawing.

The Filer Grange often assists with serving refreshments to blood donors.

Mrs. Craig-Dunlap, long-time volunteer, does clerical work at the drawings and is on the local committee.

One of these is Henry Westendorp, local business man, who has been a donor at every drawing since he was 15 years old.

The drawings have been held at the American Legion Hall where it is donated by the members of the hall.

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP)—With 1965 ebbing rapidly, businessmen predicted a slight dip in the week on 1966. What they saw looked good.

It was the time-of-year factor that they expected in the year to come.

They were almost unanimous in predicting that next year will be about as good as 1965, which was predicted to be a year of "no change."

There was little talk about the danger of inflation, and those who mentioned it minimized it.

Frederic G. Donner, chairman of General Motors Corp., said the world's biggest manufacturer predicted that 1966 would be the another boom-year for the automobile industry.

With continued consumer confidence, products that the public wants to buy, and a further expansion of employment and personal income, the 1966 level of sales of cars and trucks in the United States should be maintained.

In 1965, sales of 3.3 million cars and 1.5 million trucks topped 1964 levels by more than 10 percent.

Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., was equally optimistic.

"We detect no signs of strain in the automobile market and consider the outlook for the economy should mean another good year for the automobile industry," he said.

However, he said production in the first half of next year probably would range between 100 million and 110 million tons.

Other comment included: Austin T. Gashman, chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., said the company's sales in the first half of 1965 were up 15 percent from the 1964 first half.

John R. Kimberly, president of Kimberly-Clark Co., said the expanding economy of 1966 should favor continued growth of sales and earnings for the company.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

I have read a number of articles lately about "professional traders" and their activities in the stock market.

There are many people who think they are pros but aren't. A real pro has a lot of his time to be spent on the stock market.

Those who try to do a part-time job in the stock market are just suckers who will end up broke.

I spend a number of hours each day in a local brokerage office, watching the stock prices on the ticker tape.

Your name remains a "tape-watcher." You wrote that you are "high on feet" planted firmly on the floor—to hide the holes in their shoes? Just what do you think you accomplished by that statement?

I hope I warned most of you about the dangers of trying to make money the way you are.

Tape-watching is a silly prelude to what might be a reply to a reader who says he "dabbles" (gambles) in the stock market.

This column isn't written by a professional trader. It is intended for investors.

And a recent month's stock market has been hit by wild speculation. Where are aimed at keeping the market from falling over.

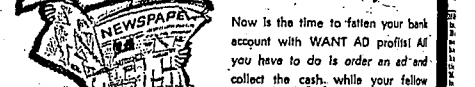

Surely, even you dabblers in tape-watching don't want to get so far out of hand that you see the stock market reach a peak of 400 in 1966.

Doyle will receive only the letters of general interest to the general reader.

and Taki Chan

Sai-Min-Jutsu Artist

Ed Sullivan calls him the "people sticker." Johnny Aladdin is a HYPNO-COMIC, magician who dances, possesses an ad-lib wit and winds up with an audience participation act that completely mystifies and stuns the actors. He sticks their hands to the floor or to the wall. He sticks their head to the wall and their heads to their hands and keeps the audience in an uproar all the time. Taki helps with a special brand of magic each night.
