Small-Arms Fire Heavy in Large Allied Offensive

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Viet Cong unleashed heavy small-arms fire today as three allied drives pushed deeper into the Communist-held coastal plain. It appeared to be the biggest eruption of fighting since the end of the lunar New Year truce on Sunday night. Helicopters of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division came under intense fire as they landed troops north of Bong Son, a town on Route 1, lying 280 miles northeast of Saigon. Reports from the battle area spoke of repeated skirmishes. No casualties were reported yet.

A U.S. Air Force fighter-bomber supporting the cavalrymen crashed because of engine failure. The pilot bailed out and was picked up by helicopter.

Since opening Operation Master three days ago, the cavalrymen have killed 37 Viet Cong, taken 35 prisoners, but today's action was the first major encounter with the guerrillas. A U.S. spokesman reported. The campaign took the Flying Horsemen out of the jungle and into the coastal plain, the Viet Cong have long dominated the South China Sea.

A combined operation 20 miles to the south by South Korea's Capital Division continued to smoke out insurgents along Route 1, the country's main north-south highway which the Communists have long dominated. South Korean officers reported 10 Viet Cong killed, 61 captured and 137 bunkers and caves blasted.

The U.S. Army's 101st Airborne Division, for its part, encountered heavy Viet Cong resistance, automatic weapons and mortar fire as the paratroopers advanced north of Da Nang, 240 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said the American command had given up trying to find an explanation for the disappearance on Dec. 24 of two Marine F4B Phantom jets. The jets were flying over the Gulf of Tonkin, close to the northern border. The paratroopers completed their climb into thick clouds and were never seen again.

An investigation found no evidence of ground fire. The four crewmen were listed as missing in action. The U.S. command also announced that the arrival of all elements of the 2nd Infantry Division's two brigades had increased total U.S. forces in Vietnam to 157,000 men. They included 120,000 Marines, 33,000 Air Force, 23,000 Army, and shore-based Navy personnel. 50,000 Marines are with the 7th Fleet at sea.

Snow Event Is Scheduled At Ketchum

KETCHUM—First annual snow carnival will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Ketchum Ski Area. The event, which will feature many entries anticipated, Mr. Peter Esterhazy, chairman, said Friday.

Entry fees will be divided for cash prizes. Parking space has been cleared along Highway 23 and spectators will be charged $1 for parking space. Esterhazy said he anticipates a crowd as large as for Wagon Days.

There will be six timed events including a slalom and marathon races. Snow machines competing in the marathon will go up the hill to the east of the course, around Sun Valley and back.

There will be a powder puff derby for women, a buddy race (when two vehicles run together), a children's event for those from 10 to 15 years and an open class for "scooped up" machines.

A parade is scheduled at 10 a.m. Saturday with races to begin at 1 p.m. and continue Sunday.

Shaker Winemucker

WINEMUCKER, Nev. (AP)—A slight earthquake was felt by some residents in Winnemucca this morning. The quake was not reported by any other persons and no damage was done.

One Winnemucca resident said she felt the earth tremor at 10:10 a.m. The quake was strong enough to rattle windows in some areas, but there were no reports of any damage.

The University of Nevada said the tremor recorded on Friday was the strongest since the quake of 1940. The university estimated the quake's epicenter at about 150 miles from the city.

Dr. Alan Ryall said it was probably north or south of Winnemucca. The Shaker community at Fallon, south of Winnemucca, said nothing was felt there.

Smyley Eyes Forest Road Construction

BOISE (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smyley has told Sen. Frank Church, D., Idaho, he agrees with the senator's proposal for a new concept of forest road construction to be developed and implemented.

In a letter to the Idaho Democrat, Smyley called Thursday for "a concerted effort" to develop forest roads in Idaho's national forests.

Identical letters were also sent to Idaho's other congressmen, Sen. Dan Rostenkowski, D., Illinois, and Reps. George Hansen, Republican and Albert J. Isaacs, Democrat.

Smyley referred in the letters to a proposal made by President Richard Nixon in 1961.

"The concept, proposal is sound, but it should be activated by the Department of Agriculture in keeping in mind the views of the Congress," he said.

Smyley also said "the speed with which these roads are needed are opened up is of extreme economic importance to Idaho, and for that matter to all of the West."

He said he could not determine how much money for forest road construction was contained in President Johnson's budget.

The governor said he had little doubt "that the amounts recommended are inadequate to our needs."

Hedy Lamarr Arrested for Petty Theft

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A one-time Hollywood glamour queen, Hedy Lamarr, was arrested on a charge of petty theft Thursday afternoon in a Los Angeles store.

A store security guard, Helen McGarry, said she watched Miss Lamarr drop clothing and other goods worth $86 into a shopping bag before walking out the store.

The arrest, 51, was later released on bond.

Police said she had in her purse a check for $100 and personal valuables totaling at least $14,000.

An attorney who helped arrange her bail, Arthur Lawrence, said: "Miss Lamarr was shopping in the store with a friend and I am thoroughly convinced this is all a matter of misunderstanding."

Both attorneys who said he handled civil matters for Miss Lamarr, Maurice Inman, said she told him by telephone, "I don't know why I was arrested. I have nothing to hide."

Miss Lamarr-Hollywood heyday came in the 1930s and '40s, but Inman said she had a comfortable living on royalties and television parts and is doing commercial advertising.

Lawrence said she is also signed for a movie role and two television parts and is doing commercial advertising.

Police Officer J.P. Flowerer said when she was arrested, Miss Lamarr had in her shopping bag a $40 two-piece knit suit, a $3 pen, a $2 necklace, light green cards, a $200 makeup compact and other expensive items.

Competition Running Hot for Honor of Supplying World's First "Astrospud"

Idaho Prison Inmate Found Dead in Cell

BOISE (AP)—A four-man pre-convention race for Idaho Democrats. It could expand to five and it might drop to three. Whether the convention June 10-11 can trim the list to the primary election to two—the goal of many top-ranking Democrats—apparently depends upon the strength of the anti-slits law element.

A few months ago most observers were sure that his strong opposition to the sales tax assured State Sen. William J. Dee a place on the primary election ballot.

More support the sales tax law have been increasingly frequent predictions that he will be unseated in the 27-year-old convention delegates required to put him in the primary.

That is because of the broad-based support the sales tax law is receiving from statewide organizations. Even the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation, which opposed the sales tax vigorously during the 1965 legislative session which enacted it, says it now has no official position on the levy.

Idaho Prison Inmate Found Dead in Cell

BOISE (AP)—Warden L.E. Clapp said Thursday an inmate of the Idaho Penitentiary was found dead in his cell, with a rope made of strips of toweling knotted around his neck.

Clapp identified the man as Quincy Lafe Diggle, 24, who entered the prison March 28, 1967, after being sentenced to a two-year term for burglary.

Diggle was in solitary confinement, Clapp said, because of infraction of prison rules. The inmate said the wardens forced to eat his food when it was taken to him at 10 a.m. and later was found dead.

The rope was tied to the cell door handle, Clapp said, and by lying down Diggle exerted pressure on his neck until he died.

Clapp said Coroner B. D. Partridge said death by strangulation.

Magic Valley Ski Outlook Is Excellent

The weekend outlook for Magic Valley ski enthusiasts is excellent for this weekend.

National Ski Week, which ends Sunday, will be celebrated by some areas in the interest of ski promotion and introducing newcomers to the winter sport.

The second session of the Soldier Mountain ski school will begin Saturday at the area's ski area. The school has 120 youngsters were registered in the first school which terminated with a make-up session.

Some new areas at Soldier Mountain, according to Robert Frostenson, co-instructor, all run are in excellent condition. More than 40 inches of snow covers slopes and temperatures have been chilly but brisk since Sunday.

The annual Mighty-Mite ski races are scheduled for Feb. 6. The young skiers are expected to compete for prizes on Soldier Mountain's race course.

"National Ski Week Special" will run to Magic Mountain, south of Hansen, Sunday. Leaving the Blue Lake shopping center at 9 a.m. Buses will run Saturday, which is the first of the first ski school session.

The area has more than three ski lifts, according to Clapp.

New Garbage Law Brings Rash of Calls

Much interest has been in evidence concerning the recent Twin Falls Sanitation Department's new ordinance enforcing the city's sanitation code will begin Feb. 1, it was reported Friday by Chad Thompson, city sanitation officer.

Thompson said his office received more than 100 telephone calls about the new ordinance Thursday afternoon and Friday morning. Most of the calls were requests for additional information rather than complaints.

Several Idaho cities have re-enacted their garbage laws. The sanitation department's new policy will include enforcement of provisions prohibiting placing garbage and rubbish containers in city alleyways, except on days of collection.

Young GOPs Are Told to 'Clear House'

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—The Republican State Committee has ordered its Young Republicans to "clear house" the state of New Jersey of those preaching racism and religious intolerance.

The committee chairman, Robert J. Dwyer, Jr., said the committee will take appropriate corrective steps "will necessitate remedial action by the Young Republicans."

Meanwhile, in Washington, Rep. Florence P. Dwyer, R-N.J., urged the chairmen of the Young Republican groups in New Jersey and elsewhere should be revoked or suspended if they are unable to eliminate anti-semitic and racist factions from their ranks.

Dwyer said in a telegram to Gov. Republican Ray Blount and Thomas Van Sickle, chairman of the National Young Republican Federation. She also urged an immediate investigation of alleged racism among the Young Republicans.

Todd's statements were in a letter yesterday to Clark Allen, chairman of the Young Republican Federation.

It grew out of charges that the Young Republican Federation was anti-semitic and racist songs at a convention last summer.

T. F. Attorney to Test Law On Speeding Convictions

S. A. Kolman, Twin Falls attorney, is planning to contest a speed limit law on the grounds that it is unconstitutional. He received her earlier this week.

Kolman, who was cited Tuesday morning by City Patrolman Jerry Thompson for exceeding 35 miles per hour in a 25-mile per hour zone on Washington Street, said he was not driving reasonably and prudently. He said the law was not a law of conviction.

Kolman said Albert Trimmer, a Boise lawyer, was viewed. Elmore County Justice Court of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 60-mile-an-hour zone.

WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON—It is not surprising to learn that the White House is quietly reorganizing efforts to stage a Senate investigation by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The Central Intelligence Agency's impact on foreign policy. Ever since Harry Truman set up the CIA in 1947, Presidents have been scanned to tamper with our spy shop.

Andrew Tully, a Washington, D.C., writer, said the CIA is capable of viewing the CIA with alarm because of its cloak-and-dagger operations, but it was under Truman, he said, that the CIA started meddling in the internal affairs of foreign governments. Eisenhower handed the agency over to the military and authoritarian Allen Dulles and forgot it. Kennedy ran a special investigation of the CIA after the Bay of Pigs, but made no attempt to curb its secret political activities. Johnson, he said, came along with the status quo.

Study It Well

Some taxpayers have contended for years that there are too many governmental employees, and they don't confine their observation to the federal scene. So it's a pleasant surprise that the Idaho Legislative Council recommends streamlining of the state government. One member of the council, Jenkin L. Palmer, Republican representative from Oneida County, said reorganization of state government would save the state money, but he didn't know how much. He added that a similar reorganization under study in Utah is expected to trim government costs by $5 million annually. That's a tidy savings to which the taxpayer is entitled.

But before leaping headlong into reorganization and streamlining of government, Idaho should take a hard look. If streamlining will eliminate some jobs and result in lower costs of state government, well and good. But if so-called streamlining merely brings new state agencies and bureaus into existence, with their own means of giving self-perpetuation and growth, that's something else again.

There's another factor voters should keep in mind as plans unfold for reorganization of the state government. That's the possibility that streamlining isn't actually streamlining at all. It could be a means of more political patronage to the party that happens to have control of the executive department of government. That goal wouldn't serve the best interests of the majority of taxpayers. Increased patronage has been a constant feature of state government with a corresponding increase of benefits to the taxpayer.

Still another potential problem is posed by state government reorganization. The possibility was raised in quoting Rep. Pete E. Canarrus, who is chairman of the committee on reorganization, that the possibility of streamlining. Wire services quoted Mr. Canarrus as saying most of the number of special and dedicated funds now financing some agencies would be eliminated. Spending would be from the general fund, and the plan is reviewed by members of the committee on reorganization.

That's all well and good, but some of the dedicated funds are essential. For instance, if Fish and Game Department revenues were cut into a general fund, the Fish and Game Department wouldn't be eligible to apply for important federal funds that have been used for a number of years. There may be a question as to whether support for the Fish and Game Department money if they are cut is financed from the general fund. Something like 93 per cent of all funds used to build Interstate highways comes from the federal government. With federal assistance limited, that's a pretty good reason for the Fish and Game Department to be quiet clear that the future impact of reorganization and/or streamlining should be explored.

Even in those cases where reorganization promises initial savings, taxpayers should be far from complacent. There's no sign of eventual costs. One should lose sight of the potential in political patronage, either. Taxpayers should never forget the sort of situation that existed in Idaho for many years. Before the change in the state form of government, the state was run by a few men, practically every job in the State Highway Department was regarded as a plum for the party in power.

Reorganization of state government may or may not be desirable. Certainly Idaho residents shouldn't permit themselves to be led blindly into streamlining without knowing where they're going.

AIMING FOR TESTS

The University of Maine made the headlines the other day because of what appeared to be wholesale cheating on a mid-term examination in beginning psychology. One wonders why the matter came up in a development course, or all things. Perhaps the instructor would have been better off to use a little applied psychology on the students.

In any event, a casual outsider is likely to get the impression there's entirely too much emphasis on tests. Of course, if they're necessary to get an idea of what students are learning, but it is aim accomplished when tests are scheduled and students have ample time to prepare for a specific examination.

There's no question about it, the entire course, why schedule tests at all? The instructor is far more likely to get a good idea of his students' assimilation of material with unannounced tests at frequent intervals. "Boning up" for exams has been popular for years, but test results are more likely to reflect "boning up" ability rather than what a student absorbs from day-to-day study and lectures.

At present, surprise tests should result in students being prepared at all times. That procedure might also tend to reduce the inclination toward cheating.

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
Another of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's great plans has faded under him (and under his successor, Gen. Curtis LeMay), like a fading candle. But who would know it?

This war is not the administration's war. It's the American people's war. And the truth we fail to get is utterly-shamefully appalling. Once again, in the largest of the cities, McNamara's judgment apparently vanishing like a puff of smoke from a cracked balloon.

Among other things, McNamara's records show Henry J. Taylor him dead wrong—successfully wrong and wrong on an ideological level. In February, 1962, Mr. McNamara stated: "By every quantitative measure we are winning the war in Viet Nam." And so it goes with Mr. McNamara.

Now it's about ships. And this brings us to the Viet Nam situation. In February, 1962, Mr. McNamara stated: "By every quantitative measure we are winning the war in Viet Nam." And so it goes with Mr. McNamara.

In testifying to Congress four years ago after returning from Viet Nam, Mr. McNamara stated that he had decided to take ships largely out of the defense picture. Air transport would be substituted as our primary military supply vehicle. This would take the place of ships, and we need not be lugged in giant chairs to show how his air tax devices would begin to pay out, presumably, at approximately the right time—first time when the big surge of defense contracts begins to subside.

If, instead, the fighting intensifies and the spending continues to rise sharply, Johnson can turn to the potent and unused fiscal weapon, a general tax increase.

Some of his advisers are with him right now that Johnson had the authority which President John F. Kennedy asked of Congress to stand by the nation's credit or lower taxes temporarily, as needed to cope with slumps or inflationary booms.

Congress ignored Kennedy's plan—and Johnson's. It was a waste of breath to ask the lawmakers to relinquish any of their taxing authority. But he asked once before that Congress streamline its tax-writing process. It's a request for a temporary cut in income.

His aides report that he's been told to "reconsider" the request. Congress "take" such preparedness measures—after first providing the stop-gaps which, he says, are needed right now.

McNamara's computer-literate words are not convincing. His lack of concern in the Defense Department is splendid and his remarkable intelligence fully deserves the praise received. But intelligence is not the same as good judgment. And at that level, no man can claim to have good judgment who fails to make allowances for the consequences. If he is wrong.

That's the first requirement of good judgment. Yet Mr. McNamara repeatedly gets the very essence of national security that he's right, with no place for us to turn if he's wrong.

To that, he added, that positive you are right, is dangerous. On his record in the questions that really count, Mr. McNamara should resign.

WASHINGTON (AP)—With his $15 billion of quickie tax boosters, President Johnson is trying to buy some time. Even if Congress approves them by March 15, as he has asked, the maneuver won't help, but any general tax increase that still could come in 1967 or 1968.

What happens on Viet Nam? Johnson has an escalation to full-fledged war, a negotiated peace, or some combination of the three. "The direct society of our concerns," Johnson told Congress last week.

Poor Man's Plato

NEW YORK (AP)—It is time we had another doubletalk drill. One can get in shape for play by basketball by a few weeks of intensive training. But doubletalk is a demanding skill, and it is a skill that is exercised constantly. Otherwise you might slip and start saying what you really think. And what will that get you—except possibly a bloody nose.

Doubletalk is the one-point drill of the "conventional" save that keeps the human soul order from rubbing itself out.

For the uninitiated, here are a few typical examples of doubletalk with the liberal translation: "Sorry, only one to a customer." Even we don't have the heart to make more than one of these on.

"Frankly, I don't like beards on most men, but you, well, I like it." I am really yet to settle down and get married at 47. At my age on my mealy salary.

"Congratulations, Rose." This is the third month in a row you've led your department in putting new ideas in the office. You have to be a little bit of a suggestion box. When are you going to buckle down and start putting new ideas in the office.

"You have paid me a great honor, thrice, but I don't like it." I am really yet to settle down and get married at 47. At my age on my mealy salary.

"You understand I don't give out my phone number to just anybody." I am really yet to settle down and get married at 47. At my age on my mealy salary.

This offer is good for only a limited time. From now until eternity. "I thought that was you I saw." I am really yet to settle down and get married at 47. At my age on my mealy salary.

DON E. ANDREWS
Filer, will become Filer branch manager. Carlson will be assistant manager at Filer. Andrews will be assistant manager of the Hazelton branch.

4 Advancements Announced By Fidelity National Bank

Advancement of four men, all officials of the Fidelity National Bank, was announced here Friday by Lyle A. Frazier, president.

The four shifts in position will involve individuals at both the Filer and Hazelton branches and will see Jack F. Ramsey, manager of the Filer branch for the past 14 years, moving his offices to the Twin Falls bank as branch coordinator. He previously had been elevated to the position of vice-president in 1961.

Henry G. Westendorf, assistant manager at Filer since 1952, will be manager there, while Clyde N. (Barney) Carlson, manager of the Filer branch since 1950, will be assistant manager. At the Hazelton branch, Don E. Andrews, with the bank since 1964, will take over the position of assistant manager at that point. Frazier said all appointments are effective immediately. The shifts previously had been approved by the board.

Ramsey joined the Fidelity National Bank in 1945 and, after being named manager at Filer in 1952, he became a director of the bank in 1959. He has been a Filer resident since 1929, is a graduate of the Filer High School, a graduate of the University of Idaho and a graduate of the Pacific Coast Banking School.

He is a major in the reserves, having served in the Marine Corps in the Pacific during World War II. Much of his Pacific service was during combat operations against the Japanese during the island hopping campaign.

He and his wife, the former Lucy Adele Dillingham, are parents of four sons and a daughter. Westendorf, a native of Idaho, served with the Navy and was discharged in 1946 with a rating of coxswain. He was educated at Filer schools. He joined the Fidelity Bank in 1947, has completed a number of courses with the American Institute of Banking and is a member of the 1956 class of the Pacific Coast Banking School, Seattle.

He was appointed assistant manager at Filer in 1952. He has served one term as mayor of Filer, is a member of the zoning commission there and has served in various capacities in connection with the Red Cross.

Married in 1949, he and his wife Jacqueline are the parents of four sons and a daughter. Carlson attended school in Twin Falls through junior high and then was graduated from Boise-Goway High School at Juntura, Arco. He is a former student at Idaho State University and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

He became associated with the Filer bank in 1964. Through the American Institute of Banking he has completed various courses and at the present time is a director of the South Central Idaho chapter.

Carlson is married to the former Elizabeth Webster, Twin Falls.

Andrews is a native of Kansas, but came to a farm south-east of Twin Falls with his parents in the fall of 1916. He was graduated from the Twin Falls High School in 1935 and attended Links Business College.

He is former office manager of the Charles W. Barlow Warehouse and left that position in 1964 to become associated with the Hazelton branch.

He was married in 1935 to Emma Lou Jean, member of a pioneer Hazelton family. A son, Douglas, is a graduate of the University of Idaho and is now teaching in Japan. Their son is a junior at Valley High School.

THE F.C.C. NON-DUPPLICATION RULING WILL NOT AFFECT CABLE-VISION PROGRAM VARIETY!

There will be a juggling of programs and in some cases the changes will be inconvenient. But you will lose nothing!

The regulation requires Cable-Vision to delete from all channels any program shown on KMTV for a period of 15 days before and after local showing. Because KMTV uses all 3 networks, ABC, CBS and NBC and because shows are occasionally taped and delayed in showing, there will be brief periods in which Cable-Vision channels 2, 4, 5 will all carry the same program... we elected to do this rather than leave the affected channels blanked out. Cable-Vision channel 3, educational KUED, will not be affected in any way! In order to follow TV schedules... check them closely... If they do not appear on the KMTV schedule it will appear on the other channel as scheduled. Since the local TV station is principally a CBS station, and we have most often carried two simultaneous CBS programs - KMTV & KSL, during non-duplication periods we will remove the second CBS program from our system, but we will be substituting either an NBC or ABC program in its place.

If we have not answered your questions, please feel free to call 733-6230 and we will be happy to discuss this situation with you at length.

Report Given On Reservoir To Rotarians

SHOSHONE—Last year, 1965, was the best in history of water flow into Magic Reservoir, Leon Grize, manager of Big Wood Canal Co., told the Rotary Club Wednesday noon.

The lowest year was in 1931, with the third lowest waterflow into the reservoir.

Magic Reservoir was built in 1939 by the Idaho Irrigation Co. It was turned over to Big Wood Canal Co. in 1921. Over the years the cost of water to individual farmer has run about $55 per share, Grize said.

Magic has filled 31 times in its history, he noted.

Maintenance and operation assessment this year will be $3.30 per share. The reason it costs more for use of this water than some, is that there are so many canals, (700 miles) which would equal the distance to Portland from here.

Water in Milner Canal runs 56 miles to users in a loss of 20 per cent water. Gooding-Milner Canal cost $6,342,000 to construct.

A moss killer, 26 gallons at 30 cents a gallon, was used last year. Big Wood Canal Co. employs 25 men during the summer season, Grize stated.

Birthday anniversaries were observed for Shirley Blackburn and Shane Lewin. Alan McCormick was a guest.

Marilyn Peterson was pianist for the group.

DeMolay officers were Pat Woodruff, Randy Freeman, Tom Walton, Wayne Ingram, Larry Marlowe, Dick Poindexter and Mike Caldwell.

Honorary pallbearers included Arlin Woodruff, George Nickerson, Robert Reed, Dr. Otto A. Moellner, Henry Creason and Bud Felton. Active pallbearers were Ward Woolford, N. S. Miller, William Devo, Ralph Hastings, George Bagnall and Ron Page.

Flowers were arranged by Mrs. Lee Walton, Mrs. Robert Reed, Mrs. Gordon Giff, Mrs. Robert Caldwell, Mrs. Steve Antone and Mrs. Nels Moiler. Final rites were held in the Rupert Cemetery by the Rupert Masonic Lodge No. 65.

Fire Controlled In Wendell Shop

WENDELL—A flash fire from gas was quickly extinguished late Thursday afternoon at Larry Harms' wrecking shop on Shoshone St. and West Avenue B.

The fire department answered the call at 5:30 p.m. and returned to the fire station at 6 p.m.

A workman at the shop who received burns on the face and hands was treated by a local physician and released. There was some damage to the building and merchandise, but alert action by the firemen prevented extensive damage, Harms said.

Mrs Eva Paris Is Winner Of Vacation Trip to Hawaii

A Twin Falls woman celebrated Wednesday what probably will be the most memorable birthday in her life. She won a free vacation for two in Hawaii from the Times-News and Magic Carpet Travels.

The woman, Mrs. Eva B. Paris, 1707 Fourth Ave. E., was declared the lucky winner of the trip after her coupon, which was deposited at Petersen's Western Apparel, 340 Main Ave. S., was drawn from the more than 25,000 other coupons entered at downtown stores by area residents.

According to Mrs. Paris, "I woke up Wednesday morning thinking that it would be just another birthday, but all that changed when I received a phone call and was notified I had won the drawing!"

Mrs. Paris will leave Feb. 16, with about 30 other Magic Carpet residents who are taking the trip to Hawaii. The group will fly via Northwest Orient Airlines and tour the island of Oahu and the city of Honolulu. While there, they will stay at the Waikiki Biltmore Hotel on Waikiki Beach and return to Twin Falls on Feb. 23, again by Northwest Orient Airlines.

Everett Norris has rented the R. F. (Bill) Bally 80-acre farm two and one-quarter miles east and a mile north of Hansen. Norris bought the farm two miles east of Hansen from the Harold Koenigs last year and is living there. He had been renting the 170-acre farm belonging to Kenneth Beach, south of Kimberly, which is now rented by Ogle Wall.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stanger are building a new home on their farm-eight-miles-south-of-Hansen-and-four-miles-east-of-Hansen. They expect to move there sometime this spring. He has rented his 70-acre farm three miles south of Hansen to Raymond Burton, who also has rented the Sam Rosen 100-acre farm three miles south and across the road. Burton has moved into the Rosen farm home. He was formerly in the Milner area.

Arley Cahoon, Almo, has been dynamiting ice from the Irrigation ditch which flows past his home to prevent the water from overflowing and running into his basement.

Wallace C. Taylor and son, Almo, have sold three registered horned Hereford bulls to Henry Grady, Dell, Mont.

Cattlemen in Pasadena-Valley-South of King Hill all had their hoppers vaccinated this week by Gooding veterinarians. They include William Travis, Lee Travis, Karl Carnahan, Martin Woodward, Don Carnahan, Ray Mitchell and Irene Parish.

Lambing operations are in full swing at the John Baple ranch, southwest of King Hill, according to Mrs. Bob Baple.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott and four sons are a new farm family in Richfield, moving here from Caldwell. They have leased the Three Ollies ranch two and one-half miles northeast of town.

Lambing is about half over at Richfield ranches where sheep raising is a major sideline. Forrest Armstrong reports a number of triplets in his band of 300 ewes. Fred Peterson notes the absence of coyotes near his band of 100 ewes this year. No mice to eat has a thinning effect on the coyotes, the farmers believe.

Archie Sherwood, one of Richfield's newer farmers, and owner of the former Newton Crawford ranch, has been improving his barn during the winter months. Additional stalls have been placed in the barn and an overhead granary installed.

Bonanza Cattle Co., Twin Falls, recently purchased 22 registered Angus cows and one Aberdeen-Angus bull from McCollum Angus Ranch, Twin Falls.

High Grain Yields Shown In Lincoln County Report

SHOSHONE — The 1965 year program under direction of an exceptionally good grain Wayne Hickman, superintendent year for Lincoln County, County Extension Agent Ivan Hopkins said.

Use of chemicals by C. D. Hopkins said, "There is big news in the world of wheat now days and that news is Gaines Wheat."

Lincoln County farmers, like most farmers of Magic Valley, are eager for relief from drought that is such a menace to most of the spring varieties of wheat in the area.

High yields such as 125 bushels reported by Glen Ross; Richfield; 123 bushels by C. D. Low and 127 bushels by Francis Stimpson; Shoshone, and 118 bushels by Melhennackers of Klamath were not uncommon last summer. This type of report will no doubt contribute to the rapid acceptance of this winter wheat.

Early in July a big stumbling block appeared in the form of a "no-rain" called Holmsholmism. A survey of the county with the extension plant pathologist Harry Fenwick, revealed the intensity of the drought and recommendations were passed on to farmers for control.

Corn production in the county was cut this past year by a late frost on June 27 and again on Aug. 26. Prior to the freeze, the north Shoshone area was both dry and hilly and yields were reduced by as much as 10 tons in parts of the county.

The usual cost of weeds in the county is estimated at $100,000. These losses occur in taxes that are levied to finance the county noxious weed control in rural crops, losses at harvest time and time spent hoeing when all else fails.

The county does have an excellent noxious weed control program.

ONLY SUGAR BEET not allowed during the run at the Amalgamated Sugar Co. plant at Twin Falls is inspected by Joe Bingham, factory superintendent, left, and Robert B. Day, district manager. The two men admitted that the "final beet" story was all a joke. Actually the 118 silencing days came to an end Tuesday at noon after 470,000 tons of beets had gone through. Day termed it a good run and said that full particulars would be announced. (Times-News photo)

Nationally Noted Horse Trainers to Feature Short Course at University

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow — Two nationally noted horse trainers and teachers will have leading roles in the second Horsemen's Short Course at the University of Idaho Feb. 4-5.

Mrs. Stanton B. Coffin of Coeurville, Wash., and Dave Jones, Tualahasse, Fla., will share the spotlight in presenting the two-day program keyed to training methods and equitation. The short course, directed by Morris Henstrom, Idaho extension livestock specialist, will be held indoors in the new, heated Animal Science Research barn and pavilion on the university campus. It is open to all interested horsemen in Idaho and the surrounding region.

The two featured speakers have backgrounds as different as their addresses. Jones, a native Oregon and onetime Western horseman, has been training professionally since 1942. His training methods, which include teaching both riders and horses, have gained national recognition. He is a frequent contributor to the Quarter Horse Journal and other popular horsemen's magazines.

Jones will emphasize the fundamentals of training the Western horse.

U.S. Agriculture Forecast As Big Force in World Trade

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — American agriculture will soon become a major force in international trade and one of the country's most potent diplomatic tools, J. G. Staiger, president of the Massey-Ferguson, Inc., Des Moines, declared at the 26th annual convention of the Mid-South Equipment Association.

"I believe that the pressures of world conditions, international trade and human needs will bring about more changes in American agriculture in the next decade than have already taken place over the last three decades," Staiger said.

The executive of the third largest farm and industrial equipment manufacturer in the United States and the industry member of the President's Committee on Agriculture and the International Cooperation Year said the impact of the world's growing inability to feed itself will change the face and character of the industry.

Dates Listed For Annual Bull Sales

The Idaho Cattlemen's Association will sponsor two annual spring range bull sales, one at Caldwell and one at Filer, Colin McLeod Jr., Idaho Cattlemen's Association range-bull sale committee chairman, reported in Twin Falls.

The Caldwell sale will be held at the Davis Livestock Auction Market on Friday, Feb. 18. This will be a clean pedigree sale according to McLeod, with all of the bulls coming from beef herds that have eliminated the dwarfism factor from their cattle.

The Filer spring sale will be held on Saturday, March 12 and once again features outstanding range bulls from top beef herds in Idaho and the Northwest.

McLeod stated that Idaho Cattlemen's Association has been instrumental in improving the beef quality of Idaho's cattle industry and is continuing to upgrade reputation cattle by conducting the range bull sales at Filer and Caldwell. This will be the 27th Annual Spring Sale held at the Filer Fairgrounds in Filer.

McLeod said the Idaho Cattlemen's Association was instrumental in developing the graded bull sales which not only has been one of the features and methods of grading top bulls to satisfy the demands of cattle growers of Idaho but has been the pattern for many of the other sales in the state.

The success of the grading system and the dependability of the bulls at the association sales have been proven by the many years of successful sales.

Year-End 4-H Club Report Is Given

More than 211,000 4-H club members shared in recognition last year provided through the national 4-H service committee. This is among the highlights listed in the non-profit, educational organization's recently released progress report, officials in Twin Falls report.

The national committee's director, Norman C. Mindrus, noted that the recognition included 195,000 awards for achievement at the county level, more than 1,300 educational trips and $148,000 divided into 266 scholarship and fellowship grants. Some 14,300 other awards were presented to 4-H members across the nation.

The progress report lists 57 corporations and foundations which contributed during the year, a combined total in excess of $1,000,000 for the support of 4-H programs supervised by the cooperative extension service. Mindrus also credits these donors with contributions of technical assistance, support of leader-training and other aids for the educational enrichment of 4-H member and volunteer leader programs.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES Maestas, Richfield, were named outstanding cooperators in the Wood River Soil and Water Conservation District by supervisors of the district. They operate a dairy farm on the Richfield tract, where they have lived since their marriage in 1946.

Richfield Farmer Named Cooperator for 1965

SHOSHONE — Charles Maestas, Richfield, was named Wood River Soil and Water Conservation District outstanding cooperator for 1965, according to Cecil Cope, soil conservationist.

To be chosen, a farmer must be informed, cooperate with the district in its programs and illustrate all the facets of good farming in his business.

Maestas came to Richfield from the San Luis Valley in Colorado in 1947 at the age of 23. He has lived on the same farm, formerly the Mark Johnson farm, since he came to Lincoln County. Recently he purchased the Ruben Bradshaw place and added this to his holdings.

He and Mrs. Maestas, the daughter of James Wilson, Richfield, were married in 1946.

He has made his own power boxes for feeding livestock. He prefabricated hogsties, managers for livestock and other structures in the yards and placed in the field and feeding yards.

Mrs. Maestas works in the fields with her husband and their sons. She is active in her church and in community projects. Their children are David, Kent, Douglas and Susan.

Market for Cattle Hits Record High

BOISE — The number of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market on Jan. 1, 1966, hit a record high, according to the USDA crop reporting service for Idaho.

This compares with 118,000 head on feed Oct. 1, 1965, and the previous record of 153,000 head on Jan. 1, 1965.

Based on reports from cattle feeders, nearly 67 per cent of the cattle on feed were steers and steer calves, 31 per cent were heifers and heifer calves and 2 per cent were cows and cow calves.

A breakdown for a year ago shows 70 per cent steers and steer calves, 27 per cent heifers and heifer calves, and three per cent cows and cow calves. On Oct. 1, 1965, 66 per cent of the cattle on feed were steers and steer calves, 32 per cent were heifers and heifer calves and the remaining two per cent were cows and cow calves.

About 67 per cent of the cattle on feed Jan. 1 had been on feed less than three months (placed after Oct. 1, 1965), compared with 61 per cent on Jan. 1, 1965, and nearly 56 per cent on Oct. 1, 1965.

Nearly 29 per cent of the current inventory had been on feed less than three months (placed after Oct. 1, 1965), compared with 25 per cent a year ago and 24 per cent a year ago.

On Oct. 1, 1965, there were 25,000 head weighing under 700 pounds and 53,000 head weighing over 700 pounds. There were approximately 56,000 head weighing over 800 pounds this January compared to 53,000 head a year ago.

It is estimated that Idaho feeders will market 83,000 head of fat cattle before April 1, and 92,000 of the current inventory after that date.

Filer Woman Is Elected Director

BOISE—Mrs. Clinton Daugherty, Filer, was elected director of the Idaho Farm Safety Committee during the committee's annual meeting held in Boise.

The committee will promote the use of a snowplow vehicle for traffic safety. The emblem is for tractors and other machinery on public roads.

Mrs. Adolf Heinrich, Lake Park, was elected chairman. W. J. Tancred, Boise, was elected vice chairman. Howard Tancred, Boise, was elected secretary. New directors, besides Mrs. Daugherty, are William J. Maxwell, Pocatello, Emmet Jerome, Kuna, and Roger Howard, Marsing.

A ceramic FIST (Farm Idaho Safety Today) was awarded to Eldon Koehler, Coeur d'Alene, for outstanding work during 1965.

Tankersley, who is rural/civil defense leader for the University of Idaho, was awarded a survey of rural accidents in Twin Falls County will begin in February. Similar surveys have been conducted in Canyon and Minidoka counties.

The chairman's annual report showed that the committee conducted about 600 meetings throughout the state, had safety displays in 34 cities, 24 fairs, 200 safety stickers, and sponsored safety education for several youth organizations such as 4-H and FFA.

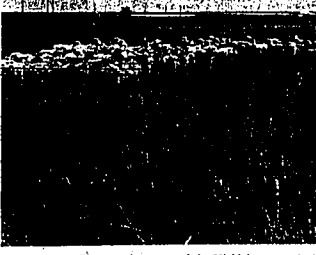

Gains in '65 Are Reported For Holsteins

BRATTLEBORO, Vt.—Despite a continued decline in dairy cattle numbers during the year, 1965 brought solid gains in export activity, ownership transfers and new memberships for Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

In his year-end summary report, Executive Secretary Robert H. Rummel also noted that the number of registered Holstein cows on official testing programs showed an increase over the previous year's enrollment.

During 1965, an all-time high was established for Holstein ownership transfers. The association issued 150,555 transfers; an increase of 15,109 over the 1964 volume.

Registrations of purebred black and whites fell slightly from 326,788 a year ago figures, but in line with strong annual totals for the past six years. Overall, the Holstein account for 66 per cent of all dairy breed registrations in 1965, with transfers represent 67 per cent.

SHEEP ON well-managed pasture of the Minidoka watershed are noted in this picture taken last summer. Pasture management is one of the important programs detailed by Soil Conservation Service experts in this area. A special study on "pasture management" has been detailed by Carol L. Tyler, with the SCS at Rupert. (Soil Conservation Service photo)

Importance of Properly Managed Pasture Detailed by SCS Official

Editor's note: This story concerns pasture management, especially for the "Times" readers who are interested in the field of agriculture.

RUPERT—What is more scientifically beautiful than sheep grazing in lush, green pastures? But, what if the pasture is not lush and green, but scraggly, brown or overgrazed? That's ugliness, not beauty—and it's not good farming either.

Such a situation—ugliness and poor farming—does not have to be—nor under conservation farming. That is the lesson learned by Russ Muhlman of the Minidoka Soil and Water Conservation District, Rupert.

"My pasture was overgrazed and the sheep had to grub for enough to eat," he said. "That was three years ago before Muhlman came to the Soil Conservation Service office for advice on how to improve it."

Now he takes pride in showing the lush pasture with the sheep up to their ears in grass. "The change from 'clean cultivated' pasture to a properly managed pasture is relatively simple. There is less labor and a lot more benefit gained in managing a pasture for profit than in using it for a large 'dry lot'."

Russ tells this story: "I chose the sheep and grass business because I wanted something to keep me busy in winter, but one of the extra work during the farming season. Sheep seemed to be the answer, especially when it came to fencing."

"Beef cattle were too costly and my finances were quite low after building a new home, sheds, and clearing the sagebrush off my new homestead. 'Six acres were planted in grass in 1952. Ewes were turned onto the pasture the next spring and left there until time to pen them up for winter. The pasture was overgrazed, so another six acres was seeded—in 1957. The old Idaho Mix was used for both seedings because it was recommended at that time."

"By late summer of 1958, the pasture was much better. In 1959, the sheep were kept off the pasture so that it would rest itself. It did a fair job. The next spring, 20 tons of hay were cut and used for hay, but I ran out of pasture."

Soil Conservation Service experts in this area. A special study on "pasture management" has been detailed by Carol L. Tyler, with the SCS at Rupert.

"They grazed a month longer in the fall with a savings of over 10 tons of hay. The grass was even better in 1964."

"This year, I'm buying the full pasture management package. The pastures are divided into four units, 100 units of phosphorus and 40 units of nitrogen per acre was applied in the spring, and an additional 40 units of nitrogen was put on in July."

"Each pasture will be grazed about a week before rotating to a fresh one. They will have at least three weeks' rest between grazings. John and George have convinced me the pasture will carry my ewes through to the middle to October."

"What does this mean to me? I have 180 large ewes which produce 200 to 210 pounds in addition to the wool. The pasture used to last from the first of June to around the first of September."

"I was feeding some hay all along. Now, they are put on pasture about the same time but I kept them on a month longer in 1963 and 1964."

"It will be six weeks longer this fall. I no longer feed any hay during the pasture season. This is a big saving in hay and labor, and my ewes are in better condition for winter."

Farm Exports Are Growing Big Give Support to Nation's Balance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman says U.S. farm exports are "bigger, are growing bigger, and are giving strong support to the nation's balance of payments position."

Freeman estimates U.S. farm exports at a record $5.2 billion for calendar 1965. This level is expected to continue or even increase in 1966, he said, and forecast new export records for feed grains, soybeans and rice.

"Our agricultural exports, which only a few years ago were smaller than agricultural imports, today are 50 per cent greater," Freeman said. "Our agricultural exports in 1965 exceeded agricultural imports by $2.3 billion."

"This favorable balance of agricultural trade makes a valuable contribution to our country's net balance of payments," Freeman said. "It has helped to bring our balance of trade to a level of nearly 40 per cent in the past five years."

He said U.S. feed grains in larger amounts than ever before are moving to Europe and Japan to feed the herds and flocks—that are expanding in response to growing consumer demand.

He estimated exports of U.S. feed grains in 1965 to reach 3 million metric tons, compared with 18 million metric tons in 1964.

U.S. rice exports, at a record 1.4 million metric tons in fiscal 1965, are expected to go even higher in fiscal 1966, Freeman said.

Other big export categories include grain sorghum, meat, fruits, vegetables, wheat, quality cattle, poultry, tractors, tobacco.

Freeman said the United States is becoming the world's second largest rice exporter, surpassed only by Thailand.

Soybeans, a crop which scarcely moved in export before 1945, is a leading dollar earner now in world trade. Exports of soybeans and soybean products in 1965 were worth more than $60 million.

The exports were 40 per cent of U.S. production and equal to the total harvest of the country.

Honey Down

BOISE (AP) — Idaho's honey production was estimated at 9,215,000 pounds, 16 per cent below 1964, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported Tuesday.

The department's crop reporting service for Idaho said the 215,000 honey bee colonies in the state in 1965 were the largest number on record, but the output per colony was 17 per cent below 1964.

Bad weather during the main honey flow period was blamed for the lower production.

U.S. Role in Food Needs Is Studied

WASHINGTON — Increasing interest about the role of the United States in mitigating world food and fiber deficits was evident this month both in the congressional and administrative branches of government.

Expansion of the Food for Peace program was called for in a bill by Senator George McGovern, former director of the program, and also by the war against hunger, to the limit of our capability and to the limit of the absorptive capacity of the areas of need.

Latest move in Congress was the introduction by Rep. Harold D. Cooley, chairman of the house agricultural committee, of a bill designed to "open the way for a world-war-on-hunger" also through the extension and expansion of the Food-for-Peace program. It would authorize a loan of $1 billion per year over the next 5 years for the movement of food and fiber under public law 480 and would not limit such exports to surplus commodities.

New-Making Barley Is Approved for Idaho Use

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO — A strong-strawed, two-row making barley that yields as well as most feed barley is now approved for production in northern Idaho and eastern Washington.

The variety, Piroline, was approved jointly by the University of Idaho and Washington State University after the Making Barley Improvement Association found it to have acceptable molting and brewing qualities.

Piroline is recommended as a making barley only in the making barley growing areas of northern Idaho and eastern Washington. Dr. R. D. Ensign, associate director of the Idaho agricultural experiment station, points out. Although it is also one of the best barley varieties grown in eastern Idaho, it is recommended there only as a feed barley.

Long-time tests conducted by University of Idaho agronomist K. H. Klages show Piroline yields six to ten bushels an acre more than Helms, Hanna and Hankehen, the standard making barley varieties now grown in this region. Similar results have been obtained in Washington by Washington State University. Piroline has the highest average yield over the past six years in New Perce and Idaho county tests and is tied for high test in the Latah county plot after seven years. Klages reports—in all three locations—Piroline has yielded at least as well as Gem, a standard feed barley variety.

Piroline also has exceptional straw strength and good resistance to lodging, both advantages over currently grown varieties.

An introduction from Germany, Piroline is a medium-tall variety that matures slightly earlier than most two-rowed makes in northern Idaho. Test weight is equal to or better than either the two or six-row barleys in the Idaho tests. It is moderately resistant to yellow dwarf virus disease and powdery mildew.

Seed supplies of the variety are adequate for demand this spring, Dr. Ensign estimates.

About 1,500 bushels of foundation Piroline seed, grown at the University of Idaho's Tetonia branch experiment station in 1965 will be available in northern Idaho. This seed is being distributed to seed growers by the Idaho Crop Improvement Association. Commercial Piroline growers will find a good supply of 1951 certified seed from southern Idaho seed growers in Washington about 6,000 hushels of registered seed will be available to growers through state and county crop improvement associations.

Agronomists of the two universities believe the good quality and high-yielding characteristics of Piroline will encourage growers to select it as the single making barley variety for northern Idaho and eastern Washington. This would eliminate the varietal mixtures that have been discouraging making barley buyers in parts of the area.

National League Ordered To Maintain Major Loop Baseball in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin won a court order Thursday directing the National League to maintain major league baseball in Milwaukee in 1966 and thereafter. But the action by Circuit Judge Elmer W. Ger, who already has ruled that his court has jurisdiction in State Atty. Gen. R. La Follette's antitrust action directed at the foundation structure of the game, left the way open for an alternative.

The National League still has time to decide whether it wants to submit its 44-year-old immunity to the perils of a new test in the trial court, where settlement is only a franchise away.

And there were some indications in the journey of Milwaukee's National League, New York, that the league might alter long-resistance to exploring the alternative of awarding a new franchise to the city to replace the Atlanta Braves.

Atlanta Braves' Commissioner William Randolph insisted the Braves would not leave the season April 12 in Atlanta for a Fulton County Courthouse.

The National League will hold its annual midwinter meeting in New York City on Friday. A spokesman said that although the Milwaukee situation was not the primary reason for the meeting, it was certain to be discussed.

Also in New York, Commissioner William Eckert said that he understood it, this is a preliminary step prior to a trial, but he had an opportunity to evaluate the significance of this matter, which is being handled by the attorneys.

Judge Ruler's order Thursday came as the Milwaukee Braves' season was under way. The winter run too much. We are interested in that. What was made but didn't want to be emphasized to the point that Milwaukee become overconfident to relax their guard.

Holmes reports the new stories released "did not" to the meeting. From an Idaho point of view, "It played up the compromise on the winter run too much. We are interested in that. What was made but didn't want to be emphasized to the point that Milwaukee become overconfident to relax their guard."

The sportsmen groups, headed largely by the Northwest Wrestling Association, which is quite a show. They met the Idaho delegation at Troutdale, just out of Portland, and asked McKenney from the state group and took a big parade through Portland prior to the meeting. Then they picketed the meeting.

The commercial interests also turned out well since "we were right in their headquarters." McKenney points out, of the 80 percent were commercial fishermen. There was quite a meeting. They cheered and boomed both sides. They were kind to some of us but other speakers are quite unimpressed with the commercial fishermen.

As the first Idaho representative to speak, Holmes asked all Idahoans there to stand. "This is an exciting time, a time that made quite a showing, even in a crowd that," he said, "was, I believe, the largest crowd in the state."

"We made a firm and intelligent statement," he said. McKenney and Downum Director J. R. Woodward said, "We didn't pull any punches, but we didn't try to beat them over the head." McKenney said, "We have the first and last word in the matter. If we tried to bully them they could get stubborn and rot their own way."

Holmes said Washington really came through well with the Governor supporting the eight-hour day as a curb to making too many steelhead. The Washington Sport Fishers' commissioner, "made some statements." McKenney said it was a problem on steelhead, however, since it is classed as a game fish in that state.

Holmes added the Oregon Sports Fishing Commission "came out as strong (in favor) as the commercial fishermen." McKenney said, "We always sympathized with the feelings but this is the first time it has been so strong." McKenney said it is in a state where the legislature and governor are so adamant in protecting that industry.

Summing up, Holmes said "we feel we made enough points to read them to make some concessions to us. Oregon will be the biggest sticker. But we came away from this feeling that we will get most of what we want."

interest on that borrowing, at the "call money" rate. And there is an unwritten rule among brokers that they must charge customers interest at least one-half of one per cent higher than the call-money rate.

When the Federal Reserve System raised the discount rate in December, that action set interest rates in general higher.

The call money rate went from 4% per cent to five per cent. And, on Jan. 21, the call money rate went up again, to 5½ per cent.

You may wonder why you have been paying more than one-half of one per cent above the call money rate.

Remember that the unwritten rule is that brokers charge 1½ least" that much. Some brokers charge more than others. And it's no secret that good customers sometimes pay lower interest than customers with less active accounts.

A. Have you tried a crystal ball?
Your club seems to be trying its hand at outright speculation—buy low, sell high. So far, good. You have no real complaints.
All kinds of people come with different theories on timing. Some of those theories are quite wild. I'm not going to commend any of them.

For in-and-out speculation timing really boils down to guesswork. No "source" can provide you with a method always "getting out at the top"—at a high price, before the stock you own goes into a dip.

A basic aim of an investment club should be to teach its members about stocks and the market.

Let's hope your speculation binge doesn't backfire and make that lesson an expensive one.
