SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY
The storm that moved across Northern Nevada yesterday has moved west to the cold front, high 27, low 12, at southeastern Colorado. Somewhat higher pressure has returned to this area but cold air is causing unstable conditions and light snow continues to fall in Magic Valley and southeastern Idaho. A cold front is moving into the area bringing some snow and rain.

Greatest amounts of moisture were reported from the southern portion of Magic Valley during the past 24 hours—18.9 of an inch at Rupert, 1.8 of an inch at Burley and 1.1 of an inch at Twin Falls. Other amounts in southern Idaho were less than 1.0 of an inch with some of the southwestern valleys not reporting any precipitation.

The cold unstable air moved eastward during the day. Some partial clearing is forecast tonight with partly cloudy skies except on Tuesday. The outlook for Wednesday is for the next storm from the Pacific to move into this area bringing some snow and rain.

Temperatures Tuesday will range in the upper 20s into the 30s. Partly cloudy skies tonight will allow for some cooling by Wednesday. A light rain or drizzle is expected with temperatures ranging in the mid teens into the 20s.

Highest daytime temperatures were recorded in Magic Valley with a record of 46 at Burley and 45 at T.F. The lowest daytime temperature was 23 degrees at Jerome. Minimum temperatures last night ranged from 13 at Fairfield to 23 at Jerome, Burli and Burley.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST
A most westerly flow of air is forecast to develop into the Intermountain Region during the next few days with a chance for greater amounts of precipitation to move into our valleys around midweek. Low pressure activity will continue to dominate the weather scene.

Temperatures over the valleys of southern Idaho will average near normal from Tuesday through Saturday. Cooling now being felt during the day will be allowed by little dry air changing with a trend towards more cloudiness. Some normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Gooding, 35 to 18; Twin Falls, 30 to 20; and Burley, 37 to 18.

Some partial clearing is expected during the first week but the trend will be towards more cloudiness the remainder of the week. Recurring periods of precipitation in the form of snow or possibly rain ranging to light snow will occur from midweek on. Precipitation amounts will range from .45 to .45 of an inch through Saturday.

Sunshine will be less than normal through the week averaging 4.5 to 4.0 per cent. Precipitation will be less than normal through the week averaging .45 to .45 of an inch. Winds may become stronger and gusty at times as the fronts move into the Intermountain Region but strong winds should not persist for long periods.

25 Students Are Excused From Lectures

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Twenty-five Harvard medical students say their lectures are dull and a waste of time. Some are being excused from class—and told to study on their own.

"The lecture system just doesn't work out," says Andrew Weil, 23, of Philadelphia, a second-year student at the Harvard Medical School.

"The psychological effect of sitting in a class and being lectured and 'babied' at is to make you passive, dull, lose motivation and curiosity," he said.

Weil, a leader of the student group that successfully petitioned Dean Robert H. Ebert to be excused from classes for the rest of the year, said medical schools are throwing too many organized "laboratory" sessions and too many lectures at their medical students.

He said, "Most of the time the lectures are given in a way that can be found in books, and found much quicker."

Ebert granted the request to excuse the 25 from the "lectures-and-laboratory" system. He said if anyone "is really going to excel at anything he must continue with his own education and a university must have the ability to stimulate a person's study in a particular field that he could only survey superficially in school."

He said anyone would have a chance to digest the material facts and mountains of material presented to them, that they should have a chance to catch hold of something that interests them particularly and go into it. This, he said, would help develop curiosity.

The 25 students are part of a two-year class studying a thorough approach to diseases and their effects on the body.

They will be divided into groups of five to devise their own learning techniques with the help of volunteer faculty advisers.

They will take the same examinations as their 21 classmates and will attend the lectures that interest them.

Ebert said Harvard has no intention of abandoning the lecture system altogether.

2 T. F. Men Win Trophy for Retail Mobile Home Sales

Richard C. DeHart and L. Fenstermaker, owner and manager of Gateway Trailer Center, Inc., Twin Falls, won a sales trophy for being in the top 25 in retail mobile home sales.

They were presented the trophy by Marlette Mobile Home Manufacturing Co. at the National Mobile Home Show, Louisville, Ky. There were 650 dealerships represented at the show.

According to DeHart, Gateway Trailer Center is rapidly expanding business and provides a necessary service to Twin Falls. DeHart and Fenstermaker own all the used merchandise on their lot and the new mobile homes are shown after the fashion of automobiles. The Twin Falls firm has been in business for 10 months and had to compete with other dealers on a full year basis.

DeHart said that plans are underway for a new mobile home court, "Gateway Terrace," near Shoshone Falls. The park will include a nine-hole golf course, swimming pool, archery range, whirlpool baths, party rooms and many other recreational facilities. DeHart said the project is to be an open-stock investment.

DeHart and Fenstermaker also received a plaque from the L. and M. Manufacturing Co. for being the number one dealer in retail sales of Roadrunner Travel Trailers.

There was one other hitch. Lindsay didn't make it because of a snowstorm.

Cost-to-End Conditions Of Watts Told

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cost of implementing the McCone commission recommendations to alleviate conditions that sparked last August's Watts riots is estimated at $2.2 million by city officials.

Mayor Samuel W. Yorty says City Administrator Erwin Piper estimated most of the amount could be funded with federal funds for the war on poverty.

He said, however, city taxpayers might have to spend $1.4 million yearly if the recommendations are followed.

The two most expensive suggestions, Yorty said, Saturday were the hiring of 2,000 jobless persons after individual training and hiring another 1,500 persons without training.

Washington Par
No one should be surprised over the row between Magic Valley's Mrs. Mary Brooks and the Washington Post Office. Mrs. Brooks, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, complained to Lawrence F. O'Brien, Postmaster General, about poor mail service. She reported the help was not being provided either conclusively that mail from the committee was being held up deliberately. Plain envelopes arrived at the destination from 5 to 14 days ahead of GOP envelopes when they were mailed at the same time under similar circumstances. The test involved third class mail.

Naturally, Mr. O'Brien promptly denied that any postal employee could be guilty of delaying the mail like that. He even pointed out that the Washington postmaster had been appointed in office during the administration of President Dwight Eisenhower, a Republican.

Politics or no-politics, no one should expect too much of the Washington Post Office. Conditions became so bad a couple of years ago that there was considerable publicity and an investigation was instituted. Readers will recall that the situation came to light during the Christmas rush. Investigators found more than 2,000 empty fly bottles cached around the Washington Post Office. Under circumstances like that, almost anything could happen.

In spite of assurances from the Postmaster General that no one would deliberately delay the mails because of political origin, don't expect the GOP committee to forgive and forget. Inexcusable delays in the mails is something that touches practically every American. It can be a hot political issue, even if it involves only one post office.

Mrs. Brooks has something good going for the Republicans in her charges of going for the mails and has isn't likely to stop soon. She has a lot in her favor everyone who has ever had similar experiences.

J. Brackett LOGETZ, Idaho governor now serving as mayor of Salt Lake City, has a high following and a few outspoken critics. His own history was conducted an unrelenting, if futile, battle with bureaucracy. It's not difficult to hear the cheers from the headlines from the man who bows to authority while fuming about unnecessary regulation and bureaucratic red tape.

Once Mr. Lee filed his income tax return but didn't send any check to pay his taxes. He was told to pay the taxes. He refused to pay the taxes. Because he made his point, but the Internal Revenue Service quietly took the necessary amount from his bank account. His latest tilt with bureaucracy involves the Social Security Administration. He refused to pay for a medicare, he was told he would have to show up with records substantiating his age and other information. The mayor fired off a blistering letter of protest. He assumed he would assume in the first place you knew my name, you would not have sent the application.

He told the Social Security Administration where all the information could be found and wound up with, "If you want records, I'm available to send you someone around from your office to my office and don't ask me to come to yours because you are getting paid for doing a job and are not paid to impose hardships on citizens!"

Realistically, it must be admitted Mayor Lee is tilting at windmills, but one can always hope he'll win one of his battles against bureaucracy.

STEPPING OUT FRONT
All eyes will be on Twin Falls in the next few months as this city takes the first step in Idaho toward urban renewal. Twin Falls certainly has the oldest city in the state—nor does it have the worst examples of urban deterioration. So perhaps Pocatello, Idaho Falls, Boise or Lewiston might be able to profit from what happens here in exploring urban renewal using available federal funds.

Undoubtedly some will emphasize the claim that private funds will accomplish the same goal, but the point is that no private individual or group of private individuals has taken even the first step toward eliminating blighted areas. It is considered a blight on the community. It's one of the realities of business life that many property owners will continue renting a structure so long as they can rent it. It might be better to demolish or conclude or collapse somewhere along the line. But it should be the everlasting credit of everyone that there was enough courage to take the first steps.

NATIONAL
"Sucker"

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON. — They were wrongheaded as hell, but the legal beggars who used to argue the South's case were giants compared to those people who have changed the 1955 Voting Rights Act before the Supreme Court. Tom Heflin, or Gene Talmadge, or even the scrovingly beautiful "Bilbo" at least would have presented these representatives of six Southern states—if such a term is permissible. It was mostly the South that was ready to sign the bill. There were a few about who Congress had acted against as both judge and jury is passing legislation. It is certain, certain, 1962, guilty of discrimination in the application of literacy tests.

As Mississippi lay it, the state had been "picked up" by the Congress, but before Congress, found guilty and handed back to the courts.

MISSIS THE POINT — This approach may have boasted a certain quality of cheap theatrics, but it missed the point entirely. That is, the bill is not a bill to amend a state of a crime, but whether it may convict legislation which infringes on state's rights and is therefore unconstitutional.

CHANGED STATE CONSTITUTIONS — On the record, it seems credible that certain sections of Dixie have used literacy tests to discriminate against Negroes. However, the record has been a political pattern for the past 100 years.

CONSTITUTION UPHOLD — Moreover, Dixie has a more recent precedent on its side. A U. S. District Court panel here last November held that the 1901 Constitution of Mississippi is unconstitutional because it permits citizens to vote even if they can't speak or write English. In doing so, the two-to-one majority said New York state is in a legal right to "refuse its own constitution."

Only those pitifully "defenseless" leavers from the segregated Dixie who are still in the process of adjusting to Negro voters should be tolerated in this age. But as the District Court panel noted, Congress has no right to alter the states' own constitutions. It must do so by a constitutional amendment requiring ratification by the states. Hopeless, but also very vulnerable to enemy fire on the law—set on the state of somebody's glands.

The stock market's great gyrations are stirring a lot of reading as it hits the front pages. But a grim prospect is affecting common millions. They are very deeply out of luck. A 1950-1951 century leading indexes have risen 100 percent. But the average gain of about three percent a year today's phase of the present boom is only 5 percent. In 1949 the market had advanced 500 percent. The Dow Jones index now stands at 1,000. It's enough to put all politicians in a torpor.

When stocks are going up, it's happening. And it's happening among the greatest, most widely held stocks. IT'S WONDERFUL
Dear Mr. Shot:
I've read with bewilderment these letters of complaint about my noisy weather. (which seems to have let us rascally anyway). Is it that now we kids are grown up and deny our children the winter snow fun that we enjoyed as children? Are we wishing that the little white stuff that we do get here in Magic Valley would not come at all?

Dear Mr. Shot:
I've read with bewilderment these letters of complaint about my noisy weather. (which seems to have let us rascally anyway). Is it that now we kids are grown up and deny our children the winter snow fun that we enjoyed as children? Are we wishing that the little white stuff that we do get here in Magic Valley would not come at all?

Space Work Gets Praise Of President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today that America's space program in the past year was a brilliant preface to the coming years of stationing men and voyages to the planets.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said 1965 with its first space flight, was the most devoted of two manned U.S. spacecraft was the most successful year in the nation's aerospace space history.

The space program of the United States today is the largest effort ever undertaken by any nation to advance the frontiers of human knowledge," the President said.

"What we are doing is discovering and building today will help solve many of the great problems which are the most complex and heavily populated world will face tomorrow."

The military space section of the report included this development on space surveillance: Research is under way on the best means of determining the physical characteristics of "uncooperating objects in earth orbit" through observation by ground-based radar.

And the Atomic Energy Commission section included a third part of detection satellites launched in mid-July is watching for nuclear explosions in space and is measuring X-ray emission from the sun.

In a separate chapter of the report, the National Aeronautics and Space Council noted that U.S. achievements during the year were in quality and quantity as to cause people at home and abroad to conclude that the United States has attained world space leadership.

The council said that in many respects that conclusion was accurate.

Low Monthly Traffic Death Toll Noted

BOISE (AP)—Idaho appeared headed today for smaller monthly traffic death toll in more than a decade.

With only hours remaining in the month, the total for January was 10.

Not since January, 1955, has the monthly toll been that small. There were five deaths that month in 1955.

Traditionally, January is Idaho's deadliest month for traffic deaths are concerned. There were nine in the month in 1963 and eight in 1964.

State safety officials weren't patting themselves on the back for the January achievement. They noted there is a constant fluctuation month by month and they said one multiple-death traffic accident could boost the toll rapidly.

"It's just hard to explain why deaths are up one month and down another," said Eugene M. Hines, director of the Department of Law Enforcement.

When the total is down, we always like to think the people are driving better as a result of the self-driving programs at national and local levels.

But the achievement depends pretty much on the individual. If he is made to drive with the constant need for defensive driving we can show progress. But, if he slips only a moment, the resulting accident can wipe out all we have gained.

"We're gratified, of course, that the month of January has been a safe one in Idaho highways. We can only hope the situation will continue."

World's Illegitimate Young Are Discriminated Against

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Millions of people throughout the world suffer because of discrimination against illegitimate children, a U.N. report says.

The problem, which affects the social, legal and public rights of illegitimate children, has been studied by the U.N. Commission on Population and Development and the Commission on the Status of Women.

The commission's report, which is being published in three volumes, says that discrimination against persons born out of wedlock is widespread and causes prejudice and suffering to the persons concerned.

The report also notes that the magnitude of the problem is increasing. It says that in 1964, the illegitimate birth rate for some of the developed countries includes Argentina, Brazil, 2.28; Bulgaria 1.6; Denmark 1.1; and Sweden 1.17.

Argentina noted that the proportion of children born out of wedlock ranged from 42.2 per cent in the poorest provinces to 18.2 per cent in its richest province.

The label "illegitimate" is certainly a heavy burden to bear and, in many societies, it places a stigma upon a person for something which is not his fault," the commission's report said.

It noted that some countries have taken legal steps to relieve the problem, but added: "However, far more reform has been demanded as a serious obstacle; fear that the elimination of any difference in status and rights may be detrimental to the family and its sanctity and to morality in general."

Mohammed Ahmed 'Abd Karim of Sudan, a commission member, noted that under the law of wedlock are not allowed to inherit. No Muslim country would dare change that law, he said.

Your Spine and Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig G. Landwehr. Back Injuries: Thousands of working men know what chiropractic can do for back injuries. They know, but when other methods fail to give them relief, chiropractic was successful.

It is important for employees, compensation in insurance carriers and the public in general to recognize this.

A special studies have been made. Dr. Landwehr, M.D., of injured workers cared for by different systems of therapy. Chiropractic brings the workers through with less chance of the charge of malpractice, less cost to the insurance company, less cost for insurance coverage to the employer, as well as less interruption to the production line.

Several large industrial firms are now employing Chiropractors on a full time basis to care for injured workers.

To the Chiropractic physician, the spine represents the key-board, as it were, that locks up and unlocks the inherent curative power of nature.

One of a series of articles published in the public interest to contain the wisdom of modern Chiropractic written by Dr. Ludwig G. Landwehr, whose office is located at 310 Main Ave. W., Twin Falls, Id. 733-6232. —Advt.

Beard Holds Third-Round Lucky Open Lead at 203; Souchak Close in Second

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Kentuckian Frank Beard shaved another stroke off par Sunday to maintain the third round lead in the $57,000 Lucky International Open Golf Tournament with a 203 as he aimed for a wire-to-wire victory. Beard finished just one stroke ahead of big Mike Souchak, who fired a 68 for 204 while Beard was at 70 over the Harding Park municipal course on a crisp, sunny day. Ray Floyd of Fayetteville, N.C., finished third after 54 holes with a 69 and 205 as a jammed ball hooded in on Monday's final round—one day late because of a Pacific storm which caused a postponement of Saturday.

$300,000 Okayed for Fish, Game Projects

BOISE (AP)—Spending of nearly $300,000 for eight fish and wildlife restoration projects has been approved for 1966 by the Idaho Fish and Game Commission, Director John R. Woodworth said Sunday. The projects include construction of a dam for a fishing reservoir, investigation of salmon and steelhead and development of a fishing island near the city of Salmon.

Hawks Knock Royals From Division Lead

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks paralyzed defense and a third-quarter scoring spree by player-coach Richie Guerin into a 115-98 National Basketball Association victory over the Cincinnati Royals Sunday.

The Hawks' defense stopped all but the Royals' one-two punch of Jerry Lucas and Oscar Robertson.

Guerin, who totaled 22, scored 14 in the third quarter, sent St. Louis took a 67-49 lead. The Hawks led at halftime 58-40.

St. Louis was in front by as much as 22 points, 103-81, in the final period.

Guerin pulled to within 26-24 at the end of the first quarter, but never got that close again as Len Wilkens scored 19 points and Zeimo Beatty added 17 in the first half. Wilkens finished with 25 and Beatty with 23.

Clay Says His Behavior Is Just an Act

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Casius Clay says his weigh-in tantrums, "I am the greatest" front, and other eccentricities attributed to the heavyweight champion are just an act.

In a five-part interview with Philadelphia sportscaster Jim Leaming (KWTV), Clay also said boxing's survival depends more on "more, white, hopes" than he does not have nor need a killer instinct, plans to get married again, and may become a world traveler when his ring career is over.

Clay says his pronouncements of invincibility, his poetry gimmick and other unusual actions were all part of a carefully planned program to lead him to the heavyweight title. He claims he'll stand while awaiting a wrestling program on television.

"There was this woman who thought his name was 'Gorgeous George,'" says Clay. "He was shouting, 'I'm going to annihilate the bum, kill him, pull his hair, he better not show up.'"

Clay said he decided to become the mad guy on a gimmick to help make himself a gate attraction.

The champion also doubted he'd fight Ernie Terrell, recognized by the World Boxing Association as heavyweight champion.

New York refused to quit and closed to within 116-115 in the closing seconds.

TRIBUTE TO MANTLE'S courage is displayed by Casey Stengel, left, and Johnny Keane. The Fred Hutchinson Memorial Award was awarded to Mantle during the annual dinner of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association in New York Sunday. Keane accepted the award for Mantle, who is recuperating from surgery for a bone chip in his shoulder. (AP wirephoto)

Wrestling Match

The Twin Falls Bruisers wrestling team will host Terrence in the last home match of the year at 8 p.m. Monday.

Nancy Richey Forfeits Net Title to Smith

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Nancy Richey, the "injury-plagued" world tennis champion, forfeited her singles title to Miss Smith, an Australian junior champion Kerry Melville 62, 64 in one semifinal at White City Stadium, and Miss Richey the handicap-beat Australian player.

Afterward, Miss Richey announced she would not be able to play in Monday's final because of the recurring injury.

Miss Smith also won the title last year on the forfeit, when Maria Bueno of Brazil collapsed with a severe leg cramp in the final.

Arthur Ashe of Los Angeles, who takes on defending champion Roy Emerson for the men's title, says Monday was an interesting spectator Sunday.

Emerson and Fred Stolle played a grueling three-hour match in the doubles final, with no decision against John Newcombe and Tony Roche.

Emerson and Roche won the first set and almost clinched the match in the fourth, then with the score 9-7, 6-6, 12-14, 7-7, officials called a halt at 7 p.m. local time. It will be finished Monday.

Clay Arrested For Second Time

CHICAGO (AP)—Police arrested a young white boxer named Casius Clay on a traffic charge Sunday morning, the second arrest for Clay in less than two months.

WITH BORROWED FIELD GLASSES, Terry Dill of Austin, Tex., unsuccessfully attempts to locate his ball in the matted branches of a Cypress tree fronting the 16th-green at Harding Park golf course in San Francisco Sunday. Dill, competing in the Lucky International Tournament, was attempting to hit over the tree. It cost him a stroke and distance for a double bogie on the hole. He carded a 70 for the day and a three round total of 208, five strokes behind leader Frank Beard. (AP wirephoto)

The 76ers won tightened up the close three-team race in the Eastern Division. Philadelphia led Detroit by 14 points in the final minutes of the game.

Philadelphia led most of the way except when Detroit had a lead at the two minute mark and tied the game at 13 with five minutes gone in the first quarter.

Philadelphia held a seven-point lead at the half, 58-51, and built a bigger margin with a hot shooting at the half.
