T. F. Asking $1 Million Federal Grant to Improve Water, Sewer Facilities

Twin Falls is making application for a federal grant of nearly $1 million to finance additional improvements for its water and sewer facilities, it was announced Monday by H. L. Derrick, Twin Falls city manager. Derrick's announcement was made during a question-and-answer session at the quarterly district meeting of the Idaho Municipal League in Twin Falls. He spoke in the context of considerable and lively dissent from a vocal, but courteous, minority that expressed opposition to the very concept of federal aid to cities.

Reed P. Maughan, Buhl, mayor, drew applause when he said excessive dependence on the Federal Government would make cities "just a number," bereft of control over their own affairs.

Derrick, while neither supporting nor opposing the principle of federal aid to cities, did present what he felt was a strong case for accepting funds available under existing legislation. He said to refuse federal funds already appropriated is like "shutting the gate after the horse is out."

Derrick said after the meeting that immediately following the passage of the Housing Act of 1965 he sent in an application for a $941,000 grant to expand the city's 2.5 million water and sewage project now under way.

The application, he reported, was made prior to the time such applications were acceptable, in order to put the city "at the top of the list."

The city requested and Monday received an application for the funds. The application will be completed and filed with the Housing Department immediately, he said.

He said the city is almost assured of receiving at least a part of the request.

The federal grant would be a matching-fund grant, requiring local funds match the federal grant. However, Derrick pointed out, the city has already approved the expenditure of nearly $2.4 million for its water and sewer improvement project, of which $1.4 million has not been spent. The unspent $1.4 million could be used to match federal funds of the same amount without incurring additional city expenditures.

The application was made on the recommendation made by Morrison - Maerle Associates, the engineering firm that outlined the water sewer improvement project. Their recommendations call for about 3.4 million. See $1 MILLION, Pg. 2, Col. 5

Census Shows City Had Slight Growth

Twin Falls has grown since 1965—but slowly—Milton E. Allred, regional representative of the U. S. Census Bureau, announced Tuesday.

According to a preliminary and incomplete count, the city has shown a growth of about 1,000 persons since the 1960 census. The figure was considerably lower than the 2,500 increase anticipated by city officials and census representatives.

The count showed a pattern of extremes. Population growth apparently took place in the northern and eastern section of the city, while in marked contrast the older sections, including the original townsite and South Park areas, showed declines. In general, the dividing line between population growth and loss extended along

Cradle-to-Old Age Program Submitted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson submitted to Congress today a cradle-to-old-age health and education program to help feed poor children and meet the hospital needs of the elderly. In a lengthy message, Johnson also called for creation of an advisory committee on alcoholism and a government center for research on its cause, prevention and control. The message was skimpy on financing figures. But Johnson did say he was asking for $50 million "for programs designed to provide adequate nutrition for disadvantaged children," in addition to $329 million in cash and commodities already in the budget for school nutrition programs.

The total federal program of $379 million, he said, "is a major redirection of our child nutrition efforts to children who otherwise would grow up hungry, suffer the diseases that come from being ill-nourished and lack the energy so essential to learning."

The President also said he has directed Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John Gardner to begin a special food service program under which local organizations will be able to offer balanced, nutritious meals to the elderly, at cut-rates or free to those in need. This would be done under an older Americans act passed last year.

High officials said that one part of the President's program — designed to equip the nation with a modernized hospital system — would be a 10-year project, starting in fiscal 1968. The cost was estimated at $6 billion to $8 billion, but some of this would be paid over 20 years, the officials said. About 40 per cent of the cost would be borne by the federal government, the rest by states, communities, and private sources.

"Lion" Steals Away After Brief Storm

Early risers in Magic Valley Tuesday thought March was coming in like a lion, but before noon the snow storm, which dumped less than an inch of wet heavy snow across the area, had stopped and the sun was beginning to shine.

Light snow covered the ground at Hailey and 10 of an inch was reported at Twin Falls. Burley, Rupert, Jerome, Shoshone and Gooding all received less than an inch. Buhl received 15 of an inch and Castleford, 19 of an inch, making three inches on the ground for the West End community.

About five inches of new snow fell at Galena lodge Monday night and Tuesday morning. Mrs. Howard Platt reports, while Galena summit has six inches, with two inches on top of Bald Mountain at Sun Valley.

It was still snowing intermittently at Galena by noon, but elsewhere in Magic Valley the storm had left and March, true to the reputation of the month already had experienced weather, as "changeable as a March day."

Times-News Editor Accepted By Platform Association

Lowell Dick, managing editor of the Times-News, has been accepted as a member of the International Platform Association.

The 63-year-old association was started in the old Chautauqua days by those interested in oratory and related activities of the platform, says Dan Tyler Moore, director general. I.P.A. membership now includes the fields of politics, business, diplomacy, writing, journalism, television, radio and the entertainment arts.

Last year, directors created a limited number of new memberships for members of the nation's press. Dick was recommended for membership by the 2 Magic Valley Schools Closed, Absenteeism Increases in T.F.

At least two Magic Valley schools were closed Tuesday because of the influenza epidemic and absenteeism continued to climb in Twin Falls schools. In most other Magic Valley towns, several of which have reopened after high percentages of absenteeism, sickness from flu, colds and related ailments was beginning to abate. Richfield schools closed at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday after absenteeism had increased to

Site Acquisition Is Pondered by Board

Trustees for the College of Southern Idaho were in executive session Monday night following a regular board meeting at which discussion centered around gaining access to the 238.4-acre campus site suggested last week by the site team. The site, owned by Kenneth Beach, K. H. Carr and Pearl Burr, is not under option and the board anticipates condemnation as the only solution for gaining title to the property, Edward L. Benoit, college lawyer, advised the board there are two problems faced in a condemnation suit. First, he said, there is the question of showing proper use.

Benoit said as a public institution attempting to gain land, he felt the college had the authority to condemn. Therefore, he said the main problem is how much the parcel of land will cost the district. He said in an action of this kind the court can appoint three commissioners to set a price on the land and if this price is not acceptable to the owner or owners, a jury trial will determine the amount of payment.

During the executive session the trustees decided to hold a special board meeting Wednesday evening to continue discussion of options available to the college. Robert Blalock Jr., Filer, chairman of the CSI Board of Trustees, said discussion of sites, possible costs and courses of action to obtain a campus would be considered at the meeting. He anticipated the meeting would enter executive session for the discussions.

C. W. Burr, son of Pearl Burr, attended the meeting and repeated his declaration that the 23.5 acres of Burr property is not for sale. He would not set a price on the land for this reason. "As long as there are people who want to sell their land, why choose land for the college which is not for sale?" he questioned.

In reply, Blalock said the board was following the recommendations of the site survey team which had made a long and careful study. He said the college board will do its utmost to implement the recommendations of this study in order to get a college campus which will serve the area to the best advantage in future years.

Lloyd Holmquist, whose property is being considered for a college campus, said he would like to see the college board proceed with the acquisition. He said there are 18 vocational fields for a prisoner to choose from and prisoners are now in the process of forming a Toastmasters Club. Warden Clapp said he would like to see the new penitentiary now being built southwest of Mountain Home.

COP House Members Ask Draft Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty House members today called for an immediate investigation of the draft, charging the present system is haphazard and mired in a jungle of red tape.

Administration efforts to persuade draftees to supply men for Viet Nam also should come under congressional scrutiny, the group said in a statement issued prior to a late morning news conference at the Capitol.

"The search to provide manpower to fight the war in Viet Nam should be equitable and efficient," the congressmen said. "We are concerned that it is neither."

The group predicted the administration "may soon seek to increase substantially the number of U.S. forces in Southeast Asia" and said "we can no longer afford a haphazard approach."

The Idaho Prosecuting Attorneys Association held an all-day meeting Monday at Twin Falls, and 22 of the states 44 prosecuting attorneys attended, according to James J. May, newly elected president of the association.

Warden Clapp, warden of the Idaho State Penitentiary, gave a speech. "What Happens to Our Defendants After They Leave Home," telling of the procedures prisoners go through once they arrive at the penitentiary.

President Issues New Peace Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appealed to Hanoi today to negotiate peace, and held out the promise of a massive reconstruction program that would include North Viet Nam. Johnson, addressing his remarks directly to the leaders of North Viet Nam in a White House ceremony marking the fifth anniversary of the Peace Corps, urged that they "negotiate peace and let war stand aside while the people of Viet Nam choose. For our part," Johnson said, "we will be willing to abide by the outcome."

School Bus Legislation Passes House

BOISE (AP) — Legislation requiring Idaho motorists to stop for nearly all loading and unloading school buses — as before — passed the House with almost no debate today and was sent on to the Senate.

The bill would revert Idaho law substantially to the way it was before the legislature authorized a change last year. It passed the House today 71-3.

In the Senate, separate party caucuses and then a joint caucus were called to pin down the agreement on procedure in handling the reapportionment probe.

The agreement, reached Monday behind closed doors, called for sending six different reapportionment plans to the Senate floor to be taken up one after another.

However, it was agreed that notice of possible reconsideration would be given following passage of any measure so that a second vote could be taken.

The plan called for the beginning of floor debate Wednesday, only four days before the Saturday finish for the 20-day special session.

And two "backup" bills regarding the existing members of the House were introduced in the House today. Rep. Carl Hansen, R-Bonneville, said they were introduced in case they were needed for any reason later.

Soviet Satellite Lands on Venus

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today landed a satellite on Venus, the first man-made object to reach that cloud-wreathed planet. The satellite was Venus 3, launched last Nov. 16. The official news agency said it carried to the planet's surface a television camera and other instruments of the Soviet Union. There was no immediate claim that Venus 3 made a controlled landing, indicating that it had crashed. The Soviet Union made history's first soft landing on the moon last month.

The first Tass announcement said Venus 3 fell silent before hitting the planet in the final stage of the flight, indicating it was not sending signals from the planet.

But before that it presumably had been sending back information, because Tass said regular radio communication had been maintained.

At the same time, the Russians announced they had launched Cosmos satellite 111, exactly a week after Cosmos 110 lofted two dogs into orbit. The dogs are still up. The Cosmos series normally is a program of unmanned satellites seeking scientific data and the Tass announcement indicated this was the case with Cosmos 111.

House Heads For Vote on Military Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the House heading toward a vote on a $4.8-billion Viet Nam military supply bill, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., announced today he will move to kill any policy rider to a similar Senate measure.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, indicated he believes he will have overwhelming support for thus disposing of a proposal by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

Mansfield said it was possible the Senate could act on the bill later in the day. Earlier, after he and House Speaker John W. McCormack had met with President Johnson Monday, Mansfield had predicted passage by a wide margin before the end of the week.

More a critic of Johnson's Asian policies, Mansfield said he will not vote for a rider to a 1965 resolution approving the use by Johnson of force to combat Communist aggression in Asia.

CSI Board

(Continued From Page One) erty adjoins portions of the Beach property, offered the sale of his land to the college board and said another adjacent landholder also was willing to make a similar offer.

Holmquist was thanked for this alternative, but the board noted its purpose in having the survey conducted would be defeated if recommendations of the survey team were not followed. Board members noted the whole area around the proposed site was studied by the team and the Holmquist land was not mentioned in the report.

Two other sites, one owned by Mary Kimes and the city of Twin Falls, which adjoins the city limits of Twin Falls, and BLM land north of the Perrine Bridge also were mentioned in the report.

A report from college president Dr. James L. Taylor was read, advising the board there is $495,000 available to junior colleges in Idaho and more than $1 million available to four-year colleges in federal funds. Taylor attended a meeting in Boise last week to discuss gaining these funds for CSI.

No other Idaho institution has made applications for these funds and none is likely to until 1967, it was reported. These funds are available on a 40-60 matching basis and colleges must match them from sources other than tax revenue. It was noted by a representative at the Boise meeting that the College of Southern Idaho has a better reputation established than 17 other western junior colleges established in the past few years.

Weather, Temperatures

MAGIC VALLEY — Cloudy with rain and snow, changing to snow today and becoming more general tonight. Partial clearing with a few snowflurries or showers Wednesday. Colder. Winds northwesterly 15-25 miles an hour and locally gusty. Highs today 34-38, Wednesday 28-35; lows tonight 24-28, except Camas Prairie highs 28-32, lows about 16. Temperatures at 8 a.m.: 30 at Jerome, 31 at Kimberly with 89 per cent humidity, 32 at T. F. with 89 per cent humidity, 30 at Rupert, 32 at Fairfield, 30 at Buhl, 28 at Castleford, 32 at Gooding; at noon, 31 at T. F. weather bureau with 73 per cent humidity, Barometer: 29.70.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY — Travelers warnings for hazardous driving conditions are in effect for southeastern Idaho. Low pressure and cold air from the west are expected to move into Nevada and develop a new surface low. Snow will become more general over all valleys of southern Idaho tonight and into Wednesday.

A surface low pressure center is located in eastern Idaho today with a cold front dropping southwestward into eastern Nevada. The passage of the cold front during the night brought some measurable amounts of precipitation. The heaviest amounts were recorded in the southern portion of Magic Valley with Castleford recording .19 of an inch, Buhl .15 of an inch, Twin Falls .11 of an inch and Kimberly .10 of an inch. Elsewhere, amounts were .05 of an inch or less.

Cloudy skies will continue today and Wednesday with some clearing indicated for Thursday. Occasional light snow with possibly some rain is forecast today, but snow will become more general again tonight and into Wednesday.

Temperatures will begin to lower as colder air moves into the Intermountain Region. Maximum temperatures will range in the 30s today and Wednesday with minimum temperatures tonight in the 20s.

30-DAY OUTLOOK

Near normal precipitation, with from near normal to a few degrees below normal temperatures, are in store for the valleys of southern Idaho during the next 30 days.

Higher pressure aloft in western Canada and Alaska will help to keep a westerly flow of air into these valleys much of the time. Temperatures averaging from one to three degrees below normal are forecast in most of Magic Valley. Normal maximum temperatures range from the mid 40s in Magic Valley the first of March to the low to mid 50s by the end of the month. Normal minimum temperatures range from the mid 20s in Magic Valley the first of this month to the upper 20s to low 30s by the end of March.

Pacific storms will have favorable periods to move in from the west bringing near normal amounts of precipitation. Normal snowfall amounts range from less than one-half of an inch in some of the southwestern valleys to from five to seven inches of snowfall in extreme southeastern valleys. Total precipitation amounts during March will range from .70 of an inch to 1.00 inch in Magic Valley.

Sunshine will average from 55 to 65 per cent of possible with daytime cloudiness averaging from 5 to 7 of the sky covered. Winds will prevail from a southerly direction, averaging from 10 to 14 miles per hour.

Death Claims

Mrs. Saxton At Age of 69

KIMBERLY — Mrs. William (Kathleen) Saxton, 69, longtime resident of Kimberly, died unexpectedly while visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ivan Molyneux, Twin Falls, March 1. She was born April 9, 1896, at Concho, Ariz., and came to Idaho in 1906. She was married to William Saxton April 3, 1917, in the Salt Lake City LDS Temple and lived on the Burley project for several years following their marriage.

Surviving, in addition to her husband, are: four daughters, Mrs. Leonard (Anna May) Fowler, Twin Falls; Mrs. Robert (Donna V.) Angelo, Evanston, Wyo.; and Mrs. James (Lois) Johansson, and Mrs. Larry (Bonnie) Drake, both Salt Lake City; four sons, Glenn Saxton, Twin Falls; Robert Saxton, Seattle, Wash.; Vanc G. Saxton, Evanston, Wyo.; and Max Saxton, Riverton, Wyo., one brother, Vanc G. Saxton, Twin Falls; two sisters, Mrs. Nina Molyneux and Mrs. Ivan (Donna) Molyneux, 19 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. She was preceded in death by two sisters.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday in the Kimberly LDS Church by Bishop E. D. Crockett. Concluding rites will be conducted at the Marion cemetery.

Friends may call at White Mortuary Wednesday, Thursday and Friday until noon, and at the Kimberly church from 1 p.m. until 2 p.m. Friday. Memorials may be made to the Primary Children's Hospital, Salt Lake City, and may be left at the mortuary or mailed to Box 845, Twin Falls.

Census

The count revealed there were about four persons per home in the northern sections, while the homes in the original townsite showed occupancy of only about two persons per dwelling.

The original townsite showed a reduction in population of about 350 people since 1960, and a total of 88 vacant dwellings. The South Park region evidenced a similar reduction—more than 200 persons.

South of the Addison Avenue line, only one area showed a large increase—the area immediately east and south of Jaycee Park.

The areas of increasing population tended to cluster along Blue Lakes Boulevard North, the areas east of Blue Lakes North and north of Falls Avenue East.

H. L. Derrick, city manager said, "I'm just stick about the census. You couldn't have made me believe that the older areas would have shown this great a loss."

According to Alfred, the older areas were greatly bolstered by a large influx of students attending the College of Southern Idaho. In some areas, he reported, the loss of students had been great.

Allred said the growth, although modest, was a better-than-average showing for cities in agricultural areas. He noted the losses recorded in some areas were due to natural attrition, including deaths; and the moving away of younger members of a household, rather than an exodus of homeowners.

Derrick indicated that the population decline in the downtown areas is an "extremely serious problem," which could require action.

(Continued From Page One) cent of the students were out with sickness Monday and Tuesday. Doyle Lowder, assistant superintendent, said he did not feel the situation was serious.

The absenteeism trend was decreasing in Jerome also, officials said Tuesday.

Dr. Donald Keith, dean of the College of Southern Idaho, reported that absenteeism has been in the 10 per cent to 20 per cent range. He noted there are no plans for cancellation of classes.

Gooding schools reported absenteeism was about 10 per cent. Businesses in the area also were beginning to notice an upswing in absenteeism because of flu. One Twin Falls bank reported 10 persons have missed work because of illness in the last week.

The telephone company reported six persons have been out of flu. City and county offices so far have not been hit too hard.

No Change Yet

Twin Falls residents following the speeding case of Attorney S. A. Kolman should not miss the punch line provided by Police Chief Frank Barnett. He admonishes the public the case "does not change the law or our policy of enforcement." In other words, Twin Falls still has speed laws and speed limits to all intents and purposes.

There may be other trials before Idaho finds out just where it stands on speed limits. It all started from the Mountain Home case in which the Supreme Court ruled in effect that speed in itself does not constitute a violation. The court has been asked to review its decision. In the meantime, anyone inclined to be heavy-footed would be well advised to observe the posted speed limits on Idaho highways and streets. A glance through the columns of any daily newspaper will reveal that police are citing speeders as usual. Moreover, Idaho courts are dealing with speed cases just as they have all along.

Any accused speeder can take the course chosen by Attorney Kolman, but everyone should be aware it can be considerably more expensive than pleading guilty and paying a fine. In this respect, Mr. Kolman has an advantage over the average driver—he's serving as his own attorney and has no attorney fees.

COSTLY POLITICS

When politicians and public employees indulge in politics, it can be expensive and the taxpayer usually winds up paying the tab. There could be no clearer example than an incident in Bannock County. It all developed when the chairman of the Bannock County Commission was accused of submitting a bill to the county in the amount of $280. The expense supposedly was incurred when the commission chairman attended the National Association of Counties convention in San Diego. However, the person who called attention to the expense item said the chairman didn't attend the convention.

The incident has been resolved now, but it's going to cost taxpayers another $932 to ascertain that the claim for $280 was a legitimate expense. Fifth District Judge Arthur P. Oliver appointed Rupert Attorney Sherman Bellwood to investigate the case. The attorney's fee was $775 and he was another $157 for expenses.

Some persons are too eager to question elected officials. It goes without saying that a person elected to public office is going to have expenses from time to time. Expenses incurred in participating in meetings and conferences when a man is elected to public office, he is expected to attend meetings and take part in such functions as are appropriate to the office. In the absence of an obvious attempt to get rich, critics would do well to reserve their barbs for election campaigns. That's the proper time and place to pass judgment on a public official. If voters doubt him or have no confidence in the official, they'll turn him out of office.

The principle is the same for any elected official, whether school district trustee or governor. It's neither fair nor reasonable to expect elected officials to justify their every move or practically a daily basis. It provides ample rules and regulations to safeguard the public interest in most cases. The politics should be saved for campaigns.

ALWAYS TOUCHY

Recent developments at the Idaho Penitentiary serve to emphasize that any prison is a potential source of trouble all the time. Inmates of a prison are being punished for breaking society's rules. They aren't the nicest or best-adjusted persons in the world in the first place. Throw together a variety of lawbreakers, agitators, malcontents, degenerates and deviates and there's bound to be some degree of trouble.

Actually, Idaho has been fortunate in not having more difficulty with the state prison. There have been demonstrations and strikes but real rioting has been held to a minimum.

Any prison situation is complicated by the fact that prisoners are still human beings and must be treated as well as possible under the circumstances. It's possible to treat them as humans without coddling them and this is the fine balance a prison must strive to maintain. Prisoners who interpret human and humane treatment as a sign of softness are quite likely to attempt to exploit the situation. Trouble results.

Prison trouble can be explosive, depending a good deal on how it's handled and how fast action is taken. At Boise, prison officials listened to a committee of prisoners at first but remained firm in handling inmates. Armed officers were called in and there was no doubt the warden and prison guards were running the place. Let the prisoners get the idea they're in charge and it's likely blood will be shed to regain control.

WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON—These days on Capitol Hill it seems as if every time a statesman opens his mouth he puts his foot in it, but it's really nothing for us, witty, charming and intellectual voters to worry about. The times are worrisome and political emotions tend to rush to the head, and besides, foot-and-mouth disease is endemic in our governmental morass.

Seemingly, the politicians are offending great blocs of voters by their ill-considered, off-the-cuff cracks, but they'll survive come election time, because the voter is human, and his memory is short.

GHASTLY PRECEDENTS—Like Eisenhower, the Republicans' most popular President since Lincoln, even got away with a particularly offensive and gratuitous slap at the Democrats before his 1952 campaign was well under way. Although his supporters were wooing the Democratic vote ardently, Ike was constrained to remark that back in his home town of Abilene, Kan., Democrats were equated with the town drunk. Then there was Defense Secretary Charles Wilson, who compared the unemployed in 1954 with a "kennel dog who'd rather sit on his fanny and yelp." And Eisenhower aide Howard Pyle, who arrived in Detroit where auto workers were being laid off, noted off-handedly that "the right to suffer is one of the joys of a free economy." Pyle, of course, was eating three meals a day at the time.

Harry Truman must have sympathized with Ike and his boys. Truman often savored the flavor of his foot, but his most famous blooper was his observation that the Marines had a bigger propaganda machine than Stalin's. Even Truman was impressed by the uproar, and duly apologized to the Corps.

WLOPERS GALORE Tom Dewey is a member in good standing of the club. He'll always be haunted by a crack he made during the 1948 campaign when his train all but backed into a strongly pro-union crowd in Beaumont, Ill. Dewey remarked tartly that the engineer was a lunatic who deserved shooting. The railway workers' vote might have elected Dewey.

Herbert Hoover's prediction in 1932 that grass would grow in the streets if the nation elected a Democratic President haunted him to his death. Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson likewise had to live painfully with Communist spy, Alger Hiss. "I will not turn my back on Alger Hiss," growled Acheson at a press conference.

HOW TO LOSE VOTES—Dick Nixon, when he was vice president in 1956, outraged Republicans and Democrats alike when he seemed to suggest that the Supreme Court decision outlawing school segregation was a kind of political ploy. He noted that the court was influenced by "a great Republican Chief Justice." And Wendell Wilkie practically wrote off the women's vote in 1940 when he told a labor audience in Pittsburgh that he'd appoint a Secretary of Labor from labor's ranks "And it won't be a woman, either."

After delivering such doses of verbal dynamite, the offender is usually contrite—but always. Sen. Steve Young, D., O., takes delight in replying to vitriolic mail by replying blandly, "Some idiot has been writing me stupid letters under your name." And the late vice president, Charlie Curtis, said he got a kick out a rebuff he handed out as an Iowa country fair.

A voter had asked Curtis to explain certain aspects of the Republican bill.

"I could," replied Curtis peevishly, "but you're too damned dumb to understand."

Reporters are still fond of reminding Segate Republican Leader Ev Dirksen of a verbal faux pas he committed back in 1969 when he was pleading for the confirmation of Clare Boothe Luce as an ambassador.

Oozing his top quality oil, Dirksen's tongue slipped and he asked, "Why beat an old bag of bones?"

When the laughter in the Senate chamber subsided, Dirksen explained he was talking about beating an old bag of political bones—and that didn't help much.

Views of Others

TO SPRAY OR NOT TO SPRAY Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall has aptly stated one of the central challenges of our time. "Man," he told the recent symposium on pest control, "has become a new kind of ecological disaster, a creature changing those once immutable features around him—the soil, atmosphere, seas."

"The basic conflict," he said, "... is that between the mounting need for food and fiber and the equally urgent need to preserve the quality of our environment."

This is the perspective in which to view the continuing debate over the value and hazards of pesticides. The standard elements of that debate were restated and explored during the symposium organized by the National Academy of Sciences.

There were speakers who noted the dangers of pesticides—known dangers to wildlife and suspected long-term dangers to men.

Then there were speakers who outlined the great benefits pesticides have brought in agriculture and public health work. It would be foolish to toss these aside because of vague fears of long-term hazards, they said.

Both sides make valid points. Yet their arguments don't meet. The problem posed by pesticides can only be assessed properly in the terms spelled out by Mr. Udall.

The use of pesticides is only one way in which man impinges on his environment. The growth of cities, clearing of forests or draining of swamps, the future prospects of weather control, runaway population—all these promise to change this once wild earth irrevocably.

Man can no longer approach nature merely to exploit her. They now must learn to manage her wisely. They must decide what kind of environment they really want, what quality of life they desire to lead.

To talk of pesticides only in terms of benefits and hazards fails to grapple with this basic question. Men do need to know exactly what these chemicals do and what liabilities their use may incur. But then they must decide whether, where, and how to use them to help build the kind of world they want.

While the academy symposium has sharpened public awareness of the pesticide problem, it is only a prelude to exploring the larger question of how man, the world-shaper is to become a wise manager of this planet.—Christian Science Monitor.

A woman stopped her car when she saw the head of a puppy looking out of a box. There were four abandoned pups in the box and she found a home for one of them. Left are two males and one female, two black and one black and white. They're good and apparently of bird dog extraction. You may get them for free at 316 Midway St., Ellers.

A Toy Terrier, mostly black with brown and white, is 6 weeks old and needs a home. The mother weighs about nine pounds and the puppy should be about the same. You may phone 733-6636.

Q—Will exercise help to prevent varicose veins and spider veins? Would vitamins or minerals be helpful?

A—There is no relationship between the two conditions. The cause of spider veins is not known but they are aggravated by repeated pregnancies, tight garters, tight girdles, sitting with the legs crossed or a deficiency of vitamin C.

Some authorities believe moderate exercise will help to prevent them but there is no definite proof of this. They are in no way a threat to your health and most doctors recommend making them with cosmetics rather than trying to remove or obliterate them.

Varicose veins are one of the penalties of walking or rather standing upright. Once they have occurred neither vitamins nor exercise will cure them but

Poor Man's Plato

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It is too late in the winter season to sing Christmas carols and too early to have backyard cookouts.

About all that leaves on the social calendar is cocktail parties, America's chief contribution to the decline and fall of civilization.

There are some people who think it is easy to throw a successful cocktail party. Actually, however, there is quite a knack to it. Whether your party is dud or a memorable masterpiece depends on your taste and judgment.

Some hostesses merely call in a caterer and phone up a dozen close friends they wish to entertain. The caterer's man sedately serves the drinks and passes the food.

The guests sedately sip and nibble and discuss the weather and modern art and the latest book none of them have really read. By a quarter to eight at the latest they have left, yawning.

On the way home they make derogatory remarks about the host and hostess, and put them both down as prize dullards.

This is exactly the wrong way to throw a cocktail party. People don't go to such affairs to be bored. They go to shuck off their inhibitions and have a good time. The more like an orgy you can make it the better they'll like it.

In planning a successful party the first step is to take out a big insurance policy. It should cover medical expenses of injured guests, punitive suits by annoyed neighbors, and damage to property.

Now it is time to make out the guest list. No matter how small your home or apartment, invite no fewer than 50. Sixty or 70 is even better. Make the party look as much like a crowded football game as possible.

Then, if more than a third of them want to sit down at any one time, they'll have to sit in each other's laps, which helps create a cozy, chummy atmosphere.

Whom to invite? It is wiser to invite people who don't know each other. That way in case they said or did they will at least know they didn't insult a friend. And naturally they won't bother to apologize to someone who is a total stranger.

Now about food. Many hostesses like to prepare steamy casserole dishes. This is a mistake. Plates if it usually are found days later hidden under sofas or poured uneaten into the laundry hamper.

Anyone who expects a good meal doesn't go to a cocktail party. He stays home. All that is necessary is to fix up a few trays of canapés. They can be made of anything handy—such as small bits of wallboard covered in butter.

Interpreting The News By JAMES MARLOW

By SPENCER DAVIS (Marlow is ill)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist North Viet Nam evidently has had its own closed-circuit version of the U.S. policy debate on the course of the Vietnamese war. The hardliners in Hanoi who refuse negotiations appear to be in control.

Expert analysts say they cannot tell if there is any real split within the government of 76-year-old President Ho Chi Minh that goes beyond immediate tactics.

But there is no doubt of the stern public rebuke administered not too long ago by party theoretician Le Duc Tho to what he called "a small number of comrades who have developed erroneous thoughts and views."

"They entertain subjectivism and pacifism," complained Tho. "They display pessimism and fail to realize clearly the deceptive peace negotiation plot of the enemy."

While striking out at the doubters and waverers, Le Duc Tho mentioned no names. Experts believe these are at least three or four in the top ranks of Hanoi's hierarchy and assume that there may be 30 or 40 more scattered through the second echelon of leaders.

Inside Ho's politburo, the pro-Chinese element is believed led by Truong Chinh, 58. He is the militant chief ideologist of the Communist party.

He played a leading role in establishing the revolutionary government and was a member of the North Vietnamese delegation to the 1954 Geneva conference. Ten years ago he fell into disgrace for his handling of a land reform program but reappeared after a short eclipse of two years.

Ranking second to Ho in the party hierarchy is Le Duan, 58, the first secretary of the central committee. He is said to be pro-Soviet rather than pro-Chinese. Nevertheless he is one of the driving forces behind the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

Le Duan and Le Duc Tho have only been taken under close medical supervision during pregnancy—but of course pregnancy would give temporary respite from premenstrual tension.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—No one has ever accused Lyndon Johnson of failing to recognize the political realities. He can spot trouble on the horizon when it is no bigger than a man's hand.

In this light those who have followed his career for some time can see certain coming events in an election year in the midst of an unpopular land war in Asia. The President, so this reasoning goes, is too tough to go into the campaign next fall without making important changes in the Johnson team calculated to give new—and more hopeful—look to the struggle in Southeast Asia.

The speculation is that Arthur J. Goldberg, currently ambassador to the United Nations, will replace Dean Rusk as Secretary of State. The guessing is that this will happen before the end of the summer. Goldberg will then direct a new peace offensive coinciding with a buildup in American forces close to 300,000.

The logic behind this is plain enough. As ambassador to the U.N., Goldberg has more than any single figure in the administration identified himself with the drive for peace. In the peace offensive in December and early January he carried the word to Pope Paul, President Charles de Gaulle and Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

From the day that Goldberg agreed to leave the Supreme Court to be Adlai Stevenson's successor, President Johnson has rarely missed an opportunity to put him favorably in the public eye. The U.N. ambassador is in Washington almost as much as he is in New York and a lot of his time is spent in the President's office. The other day he was with Johnson for three hours and then told reporters he couldn't be hopeful that the private talks within the Security Council Viet-Nam talks can be arranged.

The ambassador's efforts have drawn an almost constant flow of favorable publicity and this has hardly escaped the eye of the master of consensus. One flattering account of Goldberg's first six months in the ambassadorship was headlined, "Stevenson was merely a representative of the U.S., but Goldberg represents Lyndon Johnson."

From a purely pragmatic political viewpoint Goldberg would bring definite gains in the No. 1 cabinet post. As a high-ranking member of the AFL-CIO hierarchy his appointment would in some degree quiet the disaffection of organized labor. He would be the first secretary of State of Jewish origin and this would appeal to a highly articulate minority deeply concerned with the spread of the war in Viet Nam.

The possibility of this shift comes up against two formidable questions. The first and by far the most important: What is the President's state of mind on Viet Nam? He has brushed aside impatiently the warnings of several veteran members of Congress that the voters in 1966 are threatening the same kind of revenge they took at the height of the Korean War against the party in power. While he may seem to disbelieve this he can hardly be unaware of the deep concern in the House and particularly among first-termers over their future.

The second question is with respect to Rusk's future. He has a complete loyalty of the President, who has said that he is the greatest Secretary of State in this century. His own enduring loyalty is unquestioned.

Information more than two years in an office second only in its demands to the presidency, he is tired and harassed and he might welcome a chance to leave government for a less strenuous life. If this should not be his desire another government assignment—one looming ahead is a major reorganization of the intelligence function—could also ease the burden while putting his considerable administrative talents to work.

Goldberg is an ambitious man. At the time he left the court, the pinnacle of achievement for a lawyer, there was wide speculation about a higher office beyond the ambassadorship. As Secretary of State directing a new peace offensive, seeking to avert a massive military attack, he would be front and center on the world stage.

He notes that dummy holds five clubs and sees that he has a chance to set a dummy's fifth club for a heart discard. South leads a club. West plays low and South sticks in dummy's jack just in case West holds both the king and queen.

East wins and returns a trump. South wins with the ace, leads a club to dummy's ace and ruffs a club high. It does not matter to him that East shows out on that third club if trumps break 3-2.

He leads a trump to dummy's queen. Both opponents follow and all South's worries are over.

He ruffs another club with his next in last trump with his own draws west's last trump and next to last trump draws west's last trump with his own last trump and makes the last three tricks with the king and ace of hearts and the 13th club.

2 Men Gamble With Cancer Operation

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Robert E. Allen and the "right man" planned to meet this week for a rare operation which might save both from dying of cancer.

Allen, 28, a Tucson, Ariz., businessman, and an unidentified 65-year-old man from Philadelphia, are strangers to each other, but they have in common a rare type of bone cancer, osteogenic sarcoma.

Both also have the same blood type, "O-positive," the key to the operation to be performed by doctors at Roswell Park Memorial Institute.

Doctors gave Allen, father of three and a former University of Illinois football player, two to six months to live. They said they held one hope, that a man with the same type of cancer and identical blood type might be found.

The Philadelphia man, picked after 100 offers were screened, agreed Monday to come to Buffalo for the operation, which involves transplanting cancer tissue from each man into the other's thigh.

A similar operation was performed two years ago with apparent success, but on a patient with a different type of cancer, malignant melanoma.

Dr. Sigmond H. Nadler, associate chief cancer research surgeon at Roswell Park, New York State's cancer research and treatment center, said the treatment is still experimental and there is no assurance that it will work.

Nadler and Dr. George E. Moore, also of Roswell Park, performed the earlier operation. Within 10 to 14 days after the transplant each patient's body reacted against the foreign cancer tissue, "indicating the development of some form of cancer resistance," Nadler said.

The resistance is carried by white blood cells, which combat the original cancer tissue after each patient's blood is transfused to the other.

Allen said in Tucson that he planned to leave Wednesday for Buffalo. "I don't know if it will work, but I am willing to give it a try," he said.

"Any chance is better than no chance. I am very optimistic. I can't be anything else," he said, adding, "I am very happy and grateful all the people who have responded to this."

National Committeewoman Speaks at GOP Meet Here

Mrs. Dale (Gwen) Barnett, Boise, National Republican committeewoman from Idaho, was the featured speaker at a Monday meeting of the Twin Falls County Republican Women in the Rogerson Hotel Roundup room.

While discussing the nation's capital today, Mrs. Barnett said: "Our foreign and domestic affairs do not show the wise counsel of a firm, resolute leadership, but instead show the aimless wanderings of someone seeking a consensus and mainstream of public opinion. "Secrecy is the order of the day, since the policies now in effect are so ill defined, and ill conceived that they cannot be firmly and proudly set forth before the American People."

She went on to express the opinion that the televised public hearings of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee are evidence that members of Congress are being ignored today.

She said, "The question all Americans must ask themselves is, 'Have we elected a President or a dictator?'"

She said she felt if the majority of the people answer this question honestly the results of this appraisal will be shown at the polls this November "when the Republicans are returned to office in the U.S. Congress."

In concluding her speech, Mrs. Barnett said, "Our Washington leadership today is not one of dedication to the ideals of human freedom, dignity, and individual initiative, but rather one of appealing to special interests. The Democrats, and particularly President Johnson's, criteria of action is not for the greatest good, but for the greatest vote."

Man Free on Bond After 3 Years in Jail

BOISE (AP) — After nearly three years in Ada County Jail, Charles E. Smith is a free man — at least until next Monday.

Smith, 34, accused of his wife's slaying in Missouri in 1961, was given his freedom Monday under $5,000 bond by U. S. District Judge Ray McNichols.

McNichols said he would rule next Monday whether to require a new hearing in Smith's case, or decide it on the basis of evidence previously presented in Third District Court.

Smith was arrested in Boise in March, 1963, and held for extradition to Missouri on murder charges. His wife's body was found in a barrel in a lake near Kirksville in 1962.

Healthy

LONDON (AP) — Sir Guy Dain, who took a cold bath every day until his final illness, has died at the age of 95.

Dain was chairman of the British Medical Association from 1943 to 1949 and a leading negotiator for the medical profession when the postwar labor government set up a national health service.

He retired from practice in 1960. At the age of 91 he gave a lecture on "growing old happily" and said his day began this way:

Up at 6:30 a.m., a cold bath, 10 pushups, 10 knee bends, touch the toes 10 times, then an hour digging in the garden.

The cause of his death Saturday was not announced.

SENTENCE ORDERED
POCAHELLO (AP)—Harold Anthony Love, 44, Pocahello, was ordered to serve one year in the county jail today, as part of five years probation ordered by Fifth District Judge Arthur Oliver on a burglary conviction.

Love pleaded guilty Feb. 15 to an Oct. 30, 1965, burglary at Tough Guy Bowling Lanes, 403 East Lewis St.

Judge Oliver withheld sentence for five years and paroled Love, but ruled the first year of probation must be served in jail.

RESTRICTIONS TOLD
BOISE (AP)—Load and speed restrictions for trucks and buses will go into effect March 3 on three sections of U.S. 93, the State Department of Highways announced Monday.

Trucks and buses with a gross weight of 10,000 pounds or more will be restricted to 30 miles per hour in areas from New Meadows to Pinehurst, New Meadows to Council and New Meadows to McCall, the department said.

REDEMPTIONS TOLD
BOISE (AP)—State Treasurer Marjorie Maxwell reported redemption of $5,250,000 in tax anticipation notes, leaving $6,475,000 still outstanding.

Miss Maxwell said a total of $11,725,000 was issued between Aug. 12 of last year and Jan. 7 of this year. All have to be redeemed by the end of this fiscal year which ends June 30, she said.

WITHOUT TRAIN
LEWISTON, Idaho (AP)—Lewiston, for the first time since 1898, is without rail passenger service to Spokane today.

The biggest passenger haul on Northern Pacific's self-propelled diesel car 331 left Lewiston for this North Idaho city Monday in a nostalgic farewell run.

Normal seating capacity is 96. Some stood in the aisles. Temporary seats in a baggage compartment were filled. Many carried cameras.

The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized abandonment of the run to Spokane Thursday.

RESIGNS
SODA SPRINGS (AP)—Ronald J. Tippetts, superintendent of schools here since 1958, said he will resign July 1.

Tippetts gave no reason for his decision and said his future plans are indefinite. He said he informed the school board of his decision last week.

Since Tippetts has been superintendent, the school district has doubled its enrollment because of industrial expansion here. He came to Soda Springs from Arco, where he was a principal and teacher.

Skiing Keeps Doctors Busy On Weekend

BOSTON (AP)—It was a great weekend in New England for skiers and a busy one for doctors, nurses and orthopedic surgeons.

The skiers were out by the thousands in record numbers on rugged New England slopes, enticed by more than a foot of snow which fell Friday.

The orthopedic surgeons weren't out on the slopes. They were too busy in emergency rooms, putting casts on broken legs, binding up assorted sprains and stitching up skiers' cuts.

An Associated Press survey of 30 hospitals and first aid centers in three states, Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire, showed that more than 450 skiers were injured enough Saturday or Sunday to require treatment in a hospital or doctor's office.

Four hospitals alone listed 26 broken legs.

One ski expert blamed the injuries on heavy wet snow which he said became "soupy" in the balmy weekend weather. "We call it broken leg snow," he said, "when it gets like that."

Many of the hospitals were so busy they lacked statistics to show the nature of the injuries they treated during the weekend that concludes one of the two busiest ski weeks of the year—the week between Christmas and New Years and the week following Washington's Birthday.

But the hospital lists of persons treated totaled 499 broken legs and about a quarter of that number were admitted for extended treatment.

About half of those admitted had broken legs, ankles, or knees. There were several cases of broken thumbs.

The busiest doctors were in the North Conway, N.H., area. Over the weekend 121 skiers were treated at the Memorial Hospital there for everything from cuts or sprains to broken arms or legs.

Memorial, known to skiers as "the hospital that was built by broken legs," treated nearly twice the number that it does on an average ski weekend.

MAN CHARGED
POCAHELLO (AP)—Mack (Hoss) Johnson, 43, 315 North Fourth St., was charged Monday with selling liquor without a license as a result of a raid by police Sunday afternoon.

The raid began when Officer W. H. Prescott entered the Johnson home in plain clothes. The officer said he purchased a fifth of wine from Johnson with two $1-bills previously marked at the police station.

Prescott then signaled two other officers who had been waiting outside and the three officers made the arrest.

The police officer said he found a loaded revolver in Johnson's pocket. Another revolver was found under a mattress along with several hundred dollars cash. Johnson is held in lieu of $300 bond.

SEN. CHURCH TALKS
BOISE (AP)—Apparent inability of the United Nations to bring peace to Viet Nam, Idaho Sen. Frank Church said Monday does not justify "that mindless chant: Get the US out of the U. N. and the U. N. out of the U. S."

Church told a Boise College audience he and other U. N. supporters had "oversold the world body to the American people."

It should have described from the beginning, he said, as the one forum, as it grew in strength and stature, that could ultimately replace "today's rule of violence with tomorrow's rule of law."

VISITS CAMPUS
CALDWELL (AP)—The top official of the World Council of Churches was on the College of Idaho campus Tuesday for a series of talks. It was part of the school's observance of its 75th anniversary.

Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, recently chosen head of the World Council of Churches, planned talks at a morning student convocation and at an evening public meeting. He also will speak to a public meeting Wednesday morning.

In addition to being secretary-general of the World Council, Dr. Blake also is the stated clerk of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

SPLIT SESSION OK'D
IDAHO FALLS (AP)—Split sessions for high school students in grades 10-12 were approved by the trustees of School District 91 Monday night.

The half-day, 5½ hour sessions will start next fall and continue for at least two years, the trustees said.

The action was taken on a 4-1 vote by the trustees, with Paul Hovey dissenting. Hovey proposed portable classrooms to take care of the increasing number of students at Idaho Falls High. Superintendent Paul Shreve said the students should receive improved quality education because classes will be smaller and non-essentials can be cut out of the curriculum under the split session plan.

MONTH NOTED
BOISE (AP)—April is teaching career month in Idaho and the nation, the Idaho Education Association announced Tuesday.

Wayne York, executive secretary of the IEA, said projects and observances are planned to honor teachers.

"It is also a time," said York, "of rededication to teaching as a service profession which has a gigantic responsibility for the general welfare of the state and the union."

Truck Damaged In Accident

SHOSHONE—About $600 damage resulted to a 1960 International truck involved in an accident at 8:15 a.m. Saturday at 12 miles northwest of Shoshone.

The truck was driven by Trudy Adams, 15, Gooding, and her brother, Randy, 14, was a passenger. The truck was owned by Royce Adams, Gooding.

The truck went off the side of the road, traveled 48 feet, struck a power pole, sheered off and continued 42 feet until it overturned onto the left side.

The two were given first aid by Mrs. Leta Daniels, Gooding, and taken to the Gooding Hospital. They were not seriously injured, according to report by investigating state patrolman Ronald Eggleston.

Four hospitals alone listed 26 broken legs.

One ski expert blamed the injuries on heavy wet snow which he said became "soupy" in the balmy weekend weather. "We call it broken leg snow," he said, "when it gets like that."

Many of the hospitals were so busy they lacked statistics to show the nature of the injuries they treated during the weekend that concludes one of the two busiest ski weeks of the year—the week between Christmas and New Years and the week following Washington's Birthday.

New York Sextet Scheduled To Perform in Burley

BURLEY—The New York Workshop will appear at 8:15 Friday as the last program of the season sponsored by Mini-Casalia Community Concert Association in the Burley High School Auditorium.

The group features Edmond Karlrud, bass-baritone, Carolyn Heafner, soprano, Deborah Kieffer, mezzo-soprano, Paul Solem, tenor, David Griffith, tenor, David Hicks, baritone, and Michael Cannon, accompanist.

During the current season concert-goers are being treated to some of the most interesting, varied and popular programs in the realm of group singing. The New York Sextet presents solos, duets, trios, quartets and the entire ensemble in a program of great art songs, operatic selections, folk songs, spirituals and hits of the Broadway stage.

From coast to coast this ensemble has been hailed by the critics for its imaginative programming and for the excellence of its individual artists. Headed by Edmond Karlrud, these young performers bring to the sextet the benefit of their extensive musical backgrounds and experience.

Edmond Karlrud, bass-baritone, although still in his thirties, has made more concert appearances than any other American singer. His other performing activities include television, records, radio, movies, musical theatre, oratoria and opera.

A graduate of the University of Minnesota and the Juilliard School of Music, Karlrud is widely known not only for his own artistry, but also as the organizer and director of such vocal ensembles as The Karlrud Choral, The Men of Sound, The Concertmen and Edmond Karlrud and The Rondoliers Trio.

Carolyn Heafner, soprano, is a native of North Carolina and began her musical education there. She is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and holds a Master of Music degree from the University of Texas.

Miss Heafner has been the recipient of many substantial national awards and scholarships and was very active in Educational Television in both North Carolina and Texas. In New York, Miss Heafner is a member of the Metropolitan Opera Studio Co.

Deborah Kieffer, mezzo-soprano, was graduated from the university of her home state of Delaware and later received a Master of Music degree from the University of Indiana. Following her work in Indiana she came to New York City where she was awarded a full scholarship.

Man Claims to Be Assassin Of Malcolm X

NEW YORK (AP)—In a dramatic courtroom confession, Talmadge Hayer says he was one of the assassins of black nationalist leader Malcolm X.

He declared that his codefendants—Norman 3X Butler and Thomas 1X Johnson—"had nothing to do with it."

Hayer, 24, testified Monday that he had three accomplices, but he refused to name them. He said the killers were hired. But he refused to say who hired them or why, or how much money was involved.

Hayer, who made his confession during the defense presentation, faced continued cross-examination today.

Hayer said no one involved in the murder was connected with the Black Muslims.

The prosecution contends that all three defendants were active members of the sect, of which Malcolm once was a top leader. He broke with the Muslims and founded his own black-nationalist movement in 1964.

Hayer, Butler, 26, and Johnson, 30, all Negroes, are on trial in State Supreme Court on first-degree murder charges.

They are accused of shooting Malcolm X as he addressed 400 followers in a Manhattan ballroom Feb. 21, 1965. The prosecution charges that Johnson fired a shotgun blast into Malcolm's chest and that Hayer and Butler pumped pistol bullets into him as he lay prone on the stage.

Hayer, who swore on the witness stand last Wednesday that he was innocent, returned to the stand after an out-of-court conference with his codefendants.

He told Justice Charles Marks and the jury that he wanted to "tell the truth."

Hayer—who had said first that he had four accomplices and then said later there were three—testified that he fired a 45-caliber automatic as Malcolm "about four times" after he had been felled by the shotgun blast.

Linda Bailey, Ash Marry in LDS Temple

Linda Rae Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bailey, became the bride of Boyd Ash, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Ash, all Twin Falls, Jan. 29 in rites solemnized at the Salt Lake City LDS Temple.

President John Simmons performed the ceremony. Accompanying the couple to the temple were the bride's parents, the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Gula Montromery; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ferguson, American Fork, Utah, and Mrs. Rhea Poulsen, Salt Lake City.

A wedding reception was held Jan. 29 at the Twin Falls Eighth Ward Cultural Hall. Red and white carnations, cupid and hearts formed the background decor for the event. The newlyweds greeted guests in front of setting of greenery, hearts and cupid.

The bride wore a wedding gown of imported Chantilly lace, fashioned with a sabrina neckline, long ivory point sleeves and a sculptured hemline.

The bodice, low at the waistline, formed a point in the front. The full skirt, made of tiers of lace ruffles, dipped in the back and extended into a long chapel train. Her veil was of nylon illusion. She carried a bouquet of red and white rosebuds.

Mrs. Gilbert Kellogg, Twin Falls, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Ruby French, Canada, former college roommate of the bride; Hal Bailey, brother of the bride, was best man.

Gifts were displayed by Sharon Tousey, Mrs. Rodney Latin and Peggy McCandless. Mrs. Leonard Parklin registered the guests. Guests were served at a set of ten tables each enhanced with a centerpiece of wedding bells and red cupid centered on red hearts. Joseph Leeuwen was master of ceremonies for the program. Leon Hammond gave the opening prayer. Gail Staley gave the closing prayer.

The bride's table was covered with white satin enhanced with a white dacton skirt over red with scalloped edges held at the corners with red hearts and shower ribbons.

The table was centered with an ornate four-tiered heart-shaped wedding cake decorated with clusters of red roses, wedding bells, swans and red heart embellishments. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

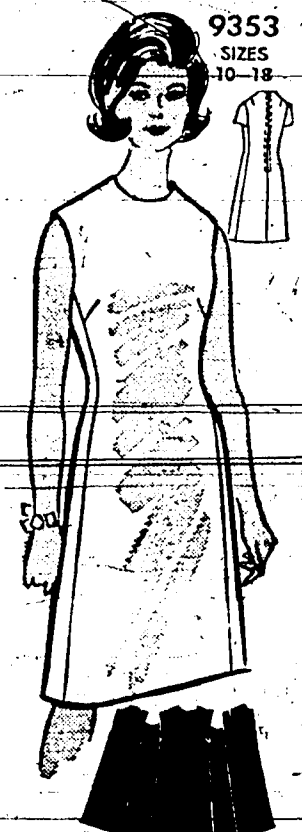

The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Charles Robinson and served by Mrs. Douglas Brown. Mrs. Gareth Swatzel, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. They were assisted by Mrs. Ulloa Tullis, Mrs. B. Horejs and Mrs. LuDell Waldron.

Two pre-nuptial showers were given for the bride, hosted by Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Clarence Webb and Mrs. Gareth Swatzel.

The couple will reside in Pocatello, where the bridegroom is employed at KID television.

Magic Valley Favorites

MRS. E. R. SMITH
341 Park St., Twin Falls

St. Patrick's Day Salad
1 package lime gelatin
1/2 teaspoons sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 large red apple, sliced (do not peel)
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups warm water
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped walnut meats
1 cup cottage cheese, well drained

Dissolve gelatin in warm water. Add salt and chill. Combine apples, sugar and lemon juice. When gelatin is slightly thickened, fold apple mixture into half of the gelatin mixture. Pour into a mold. Chill until firm.
Place remaining gelatin in a bowl over crushed ice. Beat with a rotary beater until fluffy and thick. Fold in cottage cheese, nuts and celery.

Pour over first mixture. Chill until firm. Serve on crisp lettuce and garnish with mayonnaise and paprika.

(Note: For variations you can add one teaspoon horse radish to mayonnaise, or use stuffed green olive halves and parsley to add a festive note.)

(The Times-News will pay $5 each week for the best recipe submitted for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.)

The next meeting is March 24, with Mrs. A. F. Brown and Mrs. Frank Ravenscroft as hostesses. Announcement was made of the general meeting to be held at the parsonage, with Mrs. H. J. Barton and Mrs. Grace Urban assisting.

The Evening Ruth Robb Circle met with Mrs. Elmer Miller, with Mrs. Hazel Haverland chairman, giving the opening and closing thoughts.

Mrs. Bess Edwards presented the devotional service and Mrs. Arthur Byce conducted the lesson.

The next circle meeting is March 24 with Mrs. Cora Frith.

Club Bylaws Are Reviewed

The Magic Valley Saintpaulia Club bylaws were reviewed at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Herman Paulson.

Mrs. I. G. Prescott demonstrated the use of African violets in flower arranging. The first arrangement featured the use of tree root, violets and asparagus fern. This was an example of flower composition.

The third arrangement added ivy, begonia blossoms and violets with a piece of driftwood in a low dish.

Mrs. W. Chancey reviewed the history of St. Valentine's Day. Small African violet plants were distributed to members to be grown to show the difference in growth caused by various types of home surroundings. Each woman was to supply her own soil mixture.

If you have one of the four model numbers shown above, stop using the radio and return it to Penney's and we will exchange it for a new corrected model. (you'll find the model number on the back of the set).

If you can't come to the store, please phone us and we'll make other arrangements to exchange your radio.
We're jealous about our reputation of "Always First Quality". We want to keep it that way.

Satisfaction guaranteed on every purchase!

PLEASE

As carefully as Penney checks quality in all merchandise, in this particular case these radios do not measure up to our rigid quality control standards. These sets also passed the normal industry tests. Now we find a technical problem which might render the product unsafe in a limited number of situations. The problem has been completely corrected at the factory, and all the radios now meet our high Penncrest standards for quality and value.

BUT...we're concerned about these 4 models which have been sold to date.

SEARCHING SCIENTIST is William Shatner, accused of murder, and Pippa Scott, his wife in "Wind Fever," airing in color on "Bob Hope Presents the Chrysler Theater" Wednesday, March 2 (9-10 p.m. EST) over NBC. John Cassavetes and Wilfrid Hyde-White co-star in the turbulent drama.

DIES OF MENINGITIS FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—A California recruit at Ft. Knox, Ky., has become the second soldier at the post to die of spinal meningitis since Jan. 1.

One of Singing Ames Boys, Ed Now Has Role of Mingo

HOLLYWOOD — With most people, the advice to "Be yourself" is — at best — a commonplace. But with Ed Ames it's a crusade.

Job-wise, for example, Ed has been spending his working days for almost two years now portraying the role of Mingo. He's the Oxford-educated half-breed in the NBC Television Network's Thursday night series, "Daniel Boone."

The job, however, is only part of the story. Ames moonlights like crazy.

He plays nightclubs every spare weekend he can find. He makes recordings, having recently waxed his fourth album, "It's A Man's World." And between times, he tries never to turn down a bid to appear on "The Johnny Carson Show."

Ames, in short, acts like a man who has something against relaxation. In actuality, he has.

"I don't mind taking a vacation with my wife and children for a week or so," says he. "But then I get antsy and want to get back to work."

Why all the drive? Ed levels, "I don't want to be wedded to this Mingo image. I don't want Mingo to become better known than Ames."

Least there be any misunderstanding, Ames has nothing against Mingo. On the contrary, he takes the role quite seriously. "A lot of actors who play Indians kiss off the speaking part of the assignment by talking some kind of gibberish. To me that's insulting." When Ed's script calls for Indian talk, Ames — who speaks six languages as it is — makes sure the words that come out of his mouth are authentic.

Mingo is by no means the first adversary in Ed Ames' "Be yourself" crusade. Earlier he struggled to free himself of a multiple image at the cost of several hundred thousand dollars.

In the 1950's, Ed was part of the singing Ames Brothers, then regarded as one of the top vocal groups in the country. So successful were they that take home pay for Ed alone, totaled $100,000 a year.

He turned his back on all this, though, because "the money was bringing me no happiness." Said Ed, "We, as the Ames Brothers, had reached the zenith of what we could do.

"There was no place to go. At the same time, I found myself so wedded into the image of a group that people hardly regarded me as a person — more as a fraction of a person, instead."

Ed left the act and enrolled in drama school. "If you think I'm busy now when I'm working, you should have seen me when I was unemployed. I took six classes at once and monitored others."

The effort paid off. Ames won roles off Broadway, on Broadway, as a TV guest star and finally as a TV regular. Along the way, he feels he also won that crusade to "Be Yourself."

March Trapped By Gestapo

David March is trapped in the cellar of a Gestapo headquarters building when it is hit in an allied air raid, on "Blue Light," in color Feb. 23 (ABC, 8:30-9 p.m., PST).

In "Sacrifice," sharing March's cellar trap are Major Zimmer and Capt. Klauss, who were interrogating Nick Brady, an American prisoner, when the building collapsed.

Robert Goulet stars as David March.

Bandstand Lists Special Guests

Songstress Donna Loren and the T-Bones recording group are Dick Clark's special in-person guests on ABC-TV's "New American Bandstand—66," Saturday (1:30-2:30 p.m., PST).

Donna Loren sings "Call Me" and "If You Really Love Me," and the T-Bones offer "No Matter What Shape" and "Pizza Parlor."

On The Hot Line to the World of Music, Clark interviews band leader-composer Neal Hefti.

Special ABC Documentary Set March 10

Commander Glenn Ford (USNR), the motion picture star, will narrate "Operation Sea War; Viet Nam," a special ABC News documentary about the unique, multi-faceted role played by the U. S. Navy in the Viet Nam conflict, it was announced today by Thomas H. Wolf, executive producer.

The program will be presented in color on the ABC Television Network March 10, 10-11 p.m., PST, and will be repeated April 3, 5-6 p.m.

Ford, who served in the U. S. Marine Corps in World War II, has had a distinguished career in motion pictures including "Gilda," "Blackboard Jungle," "Trial," "Teahouse of the August Moon," and "Don't Go Near the Water."

The program, one of 16 original and repeat documentaries being sponsored on ABC-TV by the B. F. Goodrich Co., will tell the story of the unusual war the Navy is fighting, with the real sights and sounds of the ships and men who are doing the fighting.

Stock Car, Ski Events To Be Shown

The prestigious Daytona "500" Stock Car Championship, from Daytona Beach, Fla., and the World Ski-Jumping Championship, held at the Olympic Holmenkollen Hill in Oslo, Norway, will be covered on "ABC's Wide World of Sports" Saturday (ABC-TV, 5-6:30 p.m., PST).

Curt Gowdy, Chris Economaki and famed racer Rodger Ward will be the commentators at the Daytona International Speedway. Jim McKay, host of "Wide World of Sports," and former U.S. ski-jumping champion Art Devlin describe the events at Oslo.

ABC's coverage of the Daytona "500" classic marks the fifth straight year the race has been carried by "Wide World of Sports."

Defending champion Fred Lorenzen of Hillside, Ill., winner of last year's rain-curtailed "500," starts this year's race from the No. 3 position after a 172.5 miles-per-hour qualifying race in a 1966 Ford. Starting from the pole will be Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., driving a 1966 Plymouth. Petty set a five-mile qualifying record of 175.165 miles an hour to win No. 1 position. Petty surpassed the mark of 174.9 miles per hour established by Paul Goldsmith two years ago. Second to Petty will be Dick Hutcherson of Charlotte, N.C. He qualified in a 1966 Ford and was clocked at 174.3 miles per hour.

Smut Peddler Is Hunted on "FBI"

While Inspector Lew Erskine and Special Agent Jim Rhodes are searching for evidence linking Bert Anselm to the pornographic literature racket, his daughter, Lynn, reveals he has been kidnaped, on ABC-TV's "The FBI" in color March 13 (8-9 p.m., PST). (Repeat: OAD: 10-11:30 p.m.)

In "To Free My Enemy," Anselm's wife, Flora, refuses to cooperate with Erskine. When Lynn learns the nature of her father's business, she takes the ransom note to Erskine.

William A. Graham directed the teleplay written by Ken Kolb and Norman Jolley from a story by Kolb.

FRED GWYNNE, as Herman, is the subject of interested examination by a trio of anthropologists, who believe him to be "the missing link," in "Prehistoric Munster" on "The Munsters," March 10 (5:30 p.m. MST) on the CBS Television Network. The scientists, from left, are played by George Petrie, Richard Roston and Harvey Korman.

"Our French Friends" to Be Explored

Eric Sevareid conducts a witty exploration of our long lovers' quarrel with France in "Our Friends the French," the next General Telephone and Electronics Color Special. It will be seen nationally on CBS Television, March 8, 10 p.m. EST.

His questions have nothing to do with complexities of NATO or the Atlantic Community. His objective is to find out why, despite officially friendly relations, the French since Ben Franklin's time have had an unofficial disdain for Americans and vice versa.

On "Our Friends the French" we will meet the French man-in-the-street at his cafe-on-the-street. We have breakfast with a typical Parisian family and learn why French TV doesn't carry American situation comedies. They don't understand a father that isn't treated like a king.

Sevareid introduces us to some of France's current movers and shakers. We go to a press conference with President De Gaulle, and learn that even though he has planted the questions, he sometimes refused to give the answers. We meet two top French journalists who are members of the same family, but on opposite sides of the fence when it comes to Uncle Sam.

Generel Pierre Gallois, the father of France's atomic striking force, explains he gave birth to it to make his country independent of us. Independent? Sevareid shows us how the bombers are useless without American-made tanker planes.

Kathy Lennon Featured on Welk's Show

The Champagne Spotlight will be on Kathy Lennon on ABC-TV's colorcast of "The Lawrence Welk Show" Saturday (8:30-9:30 p.m. PST). This show replaces the program of all-time favorites previously announced.

The Music Makers set the mood with "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody." Kathy solos "More Than You Know" and joins her sisters on "Blue Moon."

The Blenders offer "Blue Velvet," Steve Smith of the Blenders joins Kathy to sing "Have You Ever Been Lonely," and Kathy leads the band on "Woodchoppers Ball."

Jack Imel is spotlighted in "Limehouse Blues," Natalie Nevins joins the band with her lute as they play "Nola."

Phone Call Starts Plot For Gidget

Gidget gets a lesson in adult reasoning on the "Gidget" colorcast March 10 (ABC-TV, 8:30 p.m., PST).

In "Take A Lesson," pajama-clad Gidget gets an urgent phone call from girlfriend Shirley Marshall which sends her out into the night over the protests of her dad. Then, when she learns she's supposed to accompany Shirley and her parents on a car-buying expedition, Gidget insists she must get her father's permission. However, busy phone lines, a driver who gets lost, and an empty gasoline tank make her realize she should never have gone out in her pajamas.

Sally Field stars as Gidget, Don Porter as Prof. Russell Lawrence, and Lynette Winter as Larue. Others in the cast: Shirley as Beverly Washburn, Hannah, Jeff Donnell; Herman, Paul Lynde, and Willie, Mark Sturges.

The teleplay by Ruth Brooks Flippen was directed by Jerry Bernstein.

Spoof on Comic Strips Is Planned

Milton Berle, his special guest, Adam West of ABC-TV's "Batman" series, and the other top-liners will do a spoof on comic strips on "The Hollywood Palace" colorcast Saturday (ABC-TV, 8:30-10 p.m., PST).

Berle will appear as Superman, Martha Raye as Little Orphan Annie, Henry Youngman as Jungle Jim and West, of course, as Batman. The sketch has them all in deep trouble except Batman, who becomes the hero of the piece.

West makes his TV singing debut soloing "You Only See Her." Mis Raye's solo is "Taking a Chance on Love," and Elaine Dunn will sing and dance to "Buckle Down Winsolki."

Other performers, previously announced, are Sandler and Young, musikomey performers, and the acrobatic Annin Brothers.

BRIAN KELLY discusses his own father in relation to his own "father" role in the NBC Television Network's "Flipper" series Saturdays.

ED AMES works hard at being himself, when he isn't Mingo in "Daniel Boone" on the NBC Television Network Thursdays in color.

Clay-Terrell Bout OK'd By Commission; Decision Up to Attorney General

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Athletic Commission, attempting to leap a legal barrier, threw the controversy over the Cassius Clay-Ernie Terrell title fight into the lap of the state's attorney general Monday. The commission, composed of Chairman Joe Triner, Joe Robichaux and Lou Radzienda, refused to cancel the bout scheduled here March 29 despite political pressures and denouncement by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois and Mayor Richard J. Daley of Clay for his remarks after his draft status.

Baseball's First Trial Day Cut Short

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball went on trial Monday — for about 10 minutes — before the case being heard by Circuit Judge Elmer W. Røller was recessed for the behind-the-scenes, legal skirmishing involved in marking the entire structure of baseball, began minutes after 9 a.m. before a packed courtroom holding about 150 onlookers, a battery of 17 experts and a jury box filled with reporters.

The state of Wisconsin eventually will put before the court its contention that the National League has violated antitrust laws by moving the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta. But there was little courtroom activity as the trial began.

The first official move was an attempt by baseball's counsel to amend its answers to the state's complaint by getting before the court rulings by Georgia and Texas judges who have ordered the Braves to play the 1966 season in Atlanta.

Willard S. Stafford, special counsel for the state attorney general, immediately objected because the matter "is not relevant to the controversy."

Judge Røller said he had not read the new answers and would make a ruling later.

And that was it. The two legal teams — the National League and its 10 members represented by eight attorneys and the state represented by nine — then adjourned to the judges' chambers for the marking of exhibits.

There was some question about the legal status of the request made to have Judge Røller consider rulings of other judges, specifically the one made in a federal court in Houston. But neither side saw any particular significance.

Idaho Asks Equal Voice In Compact

BOISE — The Idaho House of Representatives has approved without dissenting vote a joint memorial aimed at making Idaho one of the regulatory parties under the Columbia River Fisheries Compact.

The memorial was drafted by Mrs. Helen McKinney, Lemhi County state representative, and was reported out of the House Conservation Committee with a "do-pass" recommendation.

The vote was 70 to 0 with nine members absent. The memorial now goes to the Senate.

Mrs. McKinney also has offered two other memorials dealing with the declining salmon and steelhead runs which are expected to receive favorable action during the present special session.

The memorial approved asks that Oregon and Washington amend the Columbia River Fishery Compact to accept Idaho as one of the regulatory parties with equal status.

A second memorial asks that Oregon establish steelhead trout as a game fish as it presently is in Washington and Idaho.

And the third memorial asks Oregon and Washington to close the commercial harvest of spring and summer chinook in those two states.

Three Races Set For Pomerelle

RUPERT — Three ski races have been set for the Pomerelle ski area this month starting with the third annual Pomerelle Invitational March 5.

The Invitational is open to Pomerelle ski instructors, Pomerelle ski patrol and stockholders of the area. The races will start at 11 a.m.

The second meet will be the following day. The Sawtooth Racing Association races will be open to skiers 8 to 18 years of age from the association.

The third race will be the MIA ski tournament, sponsored by the LDS church. Skiers from Eastern Utah and Western and Central Idaho of MIA age (18+) are invited. The race will start at 9:30 a.m. March 26.

Big Sky Has Problem If First Is Tied

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — The possibility of a tie for the Big Sky Conference basketball championship leaves league officials in a situation the conference founders apparently did not anticipate.

Weber State College has a chance to tie Gonzaga for the title — assuming the Wildcats can defeat Montana and Montana State this week — and Conference Commissioner Jack Friel said here Monday, "I'll be darned if I know" what will be done to settle the championship.

Friel said if the regular season ends with Gonzaga and Weber State tied for the league lead, he'll contact both schools to see if they want to arrange a one or three game playoff.

But, said Friel, there is no provision in conference rules to settle a tie for the basketball title.

Gonzaga, with an 8-2 league record, is guaranteed at least a tie. Weber, now 6-2, must defeat both Montana schools this week to tie, and a loss to either would give Gonzaga the championship.

Hass Is PGA Seniors Champ

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Fred Haas Jr. of New Orleans, La., using a controlled hook he learned only last week and a new putter of his own design, fired a par 72 in the final round and won the PGA Seniors Golf Tournament by two strokes Monday.

His four-day total of 286 was two under par. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ellenville, Mo., and John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., tied for second with 288.

The victory was worth $3,000 to Haas, who also won the trip to Great Britain to play the Seniors champion for the world title.

The memorial was drafted by Mrs. Helen McKinney, Lemhi County state representative, and was reported out of the House Conservation Committee with a "do-pass" recommendation.

The vote was 70 to 0 with nine members absent. The memorial now goes to the Senate.

Mrs. McKinney also has offered two other memorials dealing with the declining salmon and steelhead runs which are expected to receive favorable action during the present special session.

SPORTS

2 AAU Boxing Champs to Represent Valley Club in Golden Gloves Meet

Gordon Pedrow, Intermountain AAU champion in the 156-pound class, and John Kauffman, 178-pound Intermountain champion, have been picked to represent the Magic Valley Boxing Club at the Intermountain Golden Gloves Championships starting Monday at the Salt Lake City Fairgrounds.

This will be the third boxing tournament for Pedrow and the second for Kauffman, who won his title two weeks ago at the Intermountain AAU Championships at Orem, Utah. Pedrow will contend in the middleweight division and Kauffman will go in as a light heavyweight.

The two have been training heavily the past two weeks under W. L. (Bill) Moran, who started the local club. They will leave Twin Falls Sunday to be held shortly after basketball season is over. The club staged two last year at the Filer High School Gymnasium.

Kentucky Holds Strong First in AP College Poll

By The Associated Press

The Kentucky Wildcats, needing only two more victories to complete an unbeaten regular season, have strengthened their lead in The Associated Press college basketball poll. Texas Western, also undefeated, replaced Duke in second place. The Wildcats, 23-0, collected 38 first-place votes and 396 points in the voting by 40 regional experts based on games through last Saturday. Kentucky, which defeated Mississippi and Tennessee last week, faces Tennessee again this Saturday and Tulane in its final game on March 7.

Texas Western has 330 points on a basis of 10 for a first, nine for second, etc. The Miners advanced one notch after defeating West Texas and Colorado State for a 22-0 mark.

Duke, which trailed Kentucky by 48 points a week ago, slumped to third. The Blue Devils lost for the third time this season, 99-88 to Wake Forest in overtime.

There were no changes in the next four positions as Chicago Loyola held fourth, followed by Vanderbilt, Kansas and St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania. The four were unbeaten last week.

Providence switched places with Nebraska, the Friars climbing to eighth and the Cornhuskers slipping to ninth after losing to Kansas, 110-77. Providence lifted its record to 21-3 with victories over New Orleans Loyola and Holy Cross.

Cincinnati is the only new team in the rankings. The Missouri Valley Conference champions, 20-5, replaced Michigan in 10th place. The Wolverines were beaten by Iowa, 91-82.

The top Ten, won-lost records through games of Saturday, Feb. 26 and total points:

1. Kentucky 23-0 396
2. Texas Western 22-0 330
3. Duke 20-3 311
4. Chicago Loyola 21-2 244
5. Vanderbilt 21-3 219
6. Kansas 20-3 215
7. St. Joseph's, Pa. 21-4 133
8. Providence 21-3 90
9. Nebraska 18-4 44
10. Cincinnati 20-5 37

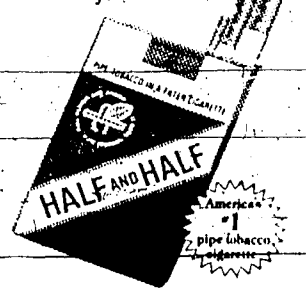

Winning a crown along with Kauffman at the recent Orem meet was Rick Storrs in the 156-165-pound division. Both won on technical knockouts.

Moran said that directors of the annual Golden Gloves meet have expressed a desire to hold the next session in Twin Falls. Whether or not it will be cannot be determined until later in the year.

Of a more certain nature is an upcoming intracub match to be held shortly after basketball season is over. The club staged two last year at the Filer High School Gymnasium.

Fairfield Shooter Takes Southern Title; Moscow Doctor Tops State Meet

Craig Tucker of Fairfield fired an aggregate score of 780 during the southern section of the Idaho State Gallery Rifle Championships over the weekend at the Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol Club gallery range, but missed out on the state title by five points. The state award went to Dr. William B. Durbin of Moscow, winner of the northern sectional fired at the University of Idaho rifle range. Tucker edged Glenn Mortensen of Idaho Falls by one point for southern honors. Mortensen won the first master trophy, an exact switch from last year's southern matches when Mortensen was champ and Tucker first master. Tucker was southern champ the year before as a junior.

Petty Ends Ford's Racing Dominance

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ford Motor Co., its dominance of stock car racing broken by Richard Petty and his hemi-head Plymouth, may put a new-style engine into production which could revolutionize auto racing in this country. Petty, of Randleman, N. C., piloted the winner for the Plymouth-Dodge combine that put seven of their hemi-powered cars in the top 10 of Sunday's $140,000 Daytona 500-mile stock car race.

The performance marked a remarkable comeback for Plymouth-Dodge, which re-entered Grand National Stock Car Racing in this first major event of the 1966 season after being banned from the NASCAR circuit in 1965.

During the layoff Ford dominated NASCAR racing, winning 48 of 55 races. And Ford officials, deeply stung by their defeat at Daytona, went into a huddle to plot ways of getting back in the picture.

Reliable sources said it may involve putting their overhead camshaft engine into production, thus making it eligible for NASCAR events.

In Sunday's race — shortened by two laps when rain spattered the track and 84,000 spectators — Petty fell back to 20th place early in the race because of tire problems.

After the difficulties were solved, however, he moved steadily through the 50-entries and, setting records each lap, finished with a one-lap lead and an average speed of 160.817 miles an hour. His purse was $28,150.

Petty's fastest time was 175.817 m.p.h. on the 138th lap. Cale Yarborough of Timmons-ville, S.C., placed second in a 1966 Ford, completing 197 laps and collecting $12,800. He was followed by David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., in a 1966 Dodge at 196 laps; Fred Lorenzen of Hillsdale, Ill., in a 1966 Ford at 196 laps; and Sam McQuigg of Columbus, Ga., in a 1966 Dodge at 195 laps.

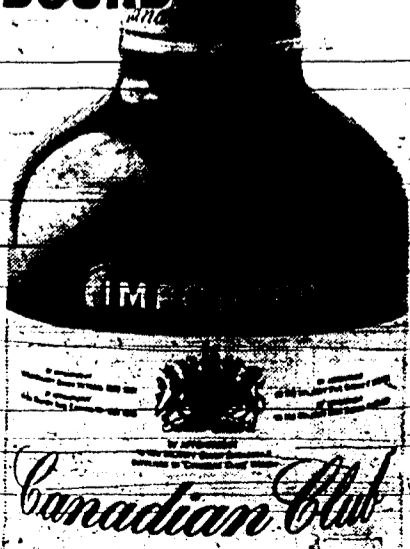

Only 17 of the 50 starters finished. Others in the top 10 included Jim Hurtubise of North Tonawanda, N.Y., 1965 Plymouth, 195 laps; Ned Jarrett, Camden, S.C., 1966 Ford, 195 laps; Le Roy Yarborough, Columbia, S.C., 1966 Dodge, 193 laps; James Hillon, Inman, S.C., 1965 Dodge, 193 laps; and Larry Frank, Greenville, S.C., 1966 Plymouth, 192 laps.

Two Idaho Cage Stars to Lead Teams Into Rupert AAU Meet

RUPERT — Fifteen teams, representing eight Idaho towns and cities, have entered the Northern Intermountain Associations-AAU Basketball Tournament starting March 14 at the Rupert Civic Auditorium. Two Idaho college stars will see action here. Taft Jackson, who played with the College of Idaho, and Tom Moreland, a University of Idaho regular. Jackson will head up Johnson Electric of Nampa, a team combined from players, and alumni from the College of Idaho and Northwest Nazarene Christian College. Moreland will play for Valley Nursing Homes, one of two Twin Falls teams entered.

The tournament will run six days with three games each of the first four nights at the auditorium gym and two games each of the final two nights at the Minidoka County High School gymnasium.

Bill Schoen, director of the sponsoring Rupert City Basketball League, noted that one berth remains unfilled. Any interested amateur team interested in playing in the tourney can call 436-6069 or write—Rupert City Basketball League, 120 South F., Rupert, Idaho, 83350.

A team composed of Idaho State University students and alumni also will be entered in the tourney. It is not known yet whether any of the Bengal players will be on the roster.

Four teams will represent both Burley and Rupert, two will represent Twin Falls and Heyburn, Nampa, Mountain Home, Albion and Pocatello will

O.W.'s Clinches Title in Rupert Basketball Loop

RUPERT — O. W.'s Cafe clinched first place in the Rupert City Basketball League Monday night with an 81-63 upset victory over second-place Pizza Haven. Milt Horton had 36 points and Kent Woodhouse 20 to pace O.W.'s. Lonnie Johnson had 23 for the losers.

The win gave O.W.'s a 12-1 record with one game left to play. Pizza Haven is in second with a completed 10-4 mark.

Wilding Print Shop had three players over 20 points and whipped Goode Motor 99-64 in the first game of the night. Lanny Brower had 25 points, Fred Samples 21 and Roger Anderson 20 for Wilding. Wally Wingham had 19 losing points.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, March 1 — Born today, you are an individualist from head to toe. Quiet and unassuming, you may fool people into thinking that you will "go along" with whatever is suggested, but when the chips are down, you will speak and act according to your own standards and no one else's. Obviously, you don't relish arguments — but if an argument is finally necessary in order for you to be left to your individual way, you will not hesitate. Practical, yet with a strain of mysticism, your make-up, you may often find yourself in conflict with your own nature. There will be many times when the thing you would do by the still, small voice of intuition is not at all the thing you would do where practicality is concerned, and you will have to learn to measure the relative values of the separate goals involved carefully in order to make up your mind wisely. You women born on this date are not likely to be happy doing routine work. You have far too much originality and imagination for that. This does not mean, however, that you would not be happy as homemakers and wives; it only means that you may have to stretch your minds somewhat in order to find new and different ways of doing age-old things. To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, March 2
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) — Best to be tactful — even when it hurts! To start or participate in arguments now could be to forfeit your immediate success.

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — Avoid becoming involved in the financial affairs of others if at all possible. Personal matters should come first on the agenda.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — An excellent morning may be followed by a relatively confused afternoon. Be guided in your actions accordingly.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — The wise Gemini will neither put all his eggs in one basket

Woman; 70, Plans to Work In Congo

DETROIT (AP) — "The orphans are crying for our return," says a slight, 70-year-old American woman. So she is going back this week to the turbulent, rebel-infested country of the Congo.

Ella Haller of Detroit says she hopes to re-establish the orphanage from which she twice was rescued by government troops ahead of slaughter-bent Congolese rebels. Once in 1960 and again in 1964.

Sailing with her from New York Friday will be her daughter, Geneva Grace, 36, who was born in the Congo, and adopted Congolese twin sons, Bernie and Gary, 12.

Also going will be yet to be adopted 5-year-old Rachel. She and the twins were the only orphans out of 85 Mrs. Haller could gather as rebels poured out of the forests of Kwilu Province in January 1964.

"I've just got to go," said Mrs. Haller. "My orphans are writing and asking for help. They have no food, no shelter. We're going back to our family and home."

To Mrs. Haller, the Congo has been home since 1926, when she went there as the wife of the Rev. Archie Haller. He was sent there by the Missionary Church, which has headquarters in Fort Wayne, Ind. He died in the Congo in 1942.

She is going back under sponsorship of World Wide Missions of Altadena, Calif., but she has raised funds for her family's passage and 26 barrels of used clothing in drabs and bits from church women's groups which she sold about her work — and hopes.

Mrs. Haller said the orphanage is some 25 miles from Intshume at Idofia, where she said it still is dangerous. But she said the government is in control at Idofia.

"We trust the Lord to take care of us. We're not able to escape twice and come back to this wonderful country?" she said.

When You Don't Know Which Way To Go

By ANITA BRYANT
TV and Recording Star

Each of us can look back on his life and remember standing at some important crossroad and wondering which direction to go.

Making a decision about a school, our field of work or our marriage partner are three crucial choices we all have to face.

I am 24 and already have made all three decisions. The first came at 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

But first let me explain the circumstances that led up to that crossroad. I think I was only a little more than 2 when I first sang in public—it was in our Barnesdale, Okla., church.

Own Show at 12
When I was 10 we moved to Oklahoma City. I auditioned for a local television show one day, became a regular on the program and eventually was given my own TV show when I was 12. Later, when dad's work took him to Tulsa, I sang on television there.

It was in Tulsa when I was 16 that I auditioned for Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts program. When word came that I had qualified for the finals and would be flown to New York City to appear on a national network, I was ecstatic.

That was until some people whose opinion I respected told me they thought I would be making a mistake to go to New York.

Compromise?
"If you go to New York," one person in our church reasoned, "you will discover that singers of popular music often are called upon to compromise their Christian position. Are you willing to toss your convictions overboard for a career?"

In a few weeks before I was scheduled to appear in New York, I wrestled with the decision night and day.

Would I be deserting Christ if I pursued a career? Wasn't it assuming a lot to think this one show would lead me to a full-time career?

But even if it did, wasn't I strong enough to resist these temptations people were telling me about?

I lost sleep and worried a lot. Finally, one night in my room, I defiantly told the dresser mirror, "I am going to New York. No one's going to stand in my way. I'll walk there if I must."

Wavered
I stood firm until about a week before I was supposed to leave. One night after singing at a church revival meeting, I wavered. Singing at revivals is something I have done since I was a youngster, and I still enjoy doing the old gospel hymns best of all.

That night after I arrived home, the words of the hymn, "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go," kept revolving in my mind. "I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord,

"O'er mountain, or plain, or sea; I'll say what you want me to say, dear Lord, I'll be what you want me to be."

Was New York and a singing career Christ's choice for me or was it just an ego-stuffed little girl's will holding sway?

Finally, I did what I should have done at the start: talk my dilemma over with mom.

Different Prayer
After I told mother what some of the church people had advised, and how confused I was, she made a statement that I shall never forget as long as I live.

"Anita, always listen to advice," mother said. "Weigh the facts with an open mind. Then sincerely pray for God's guidance. But always remember, don't ask God to bless your wishes; rather that you do with your life what He wishes."

That night I prayed a different prayer. Not "Tell me it's all right to go to New York, Lord," but "show me what You want, and I'll do it."

This was the prayer God wanted to hear, for suddenly a great burden was lifted from my heart.

my shoulders, and soon I felt relaxed and reassured of His love. A serenity encompassed me and I knew I was to go ahead. I never have felt more certain of a decision in my life.

In God's Hands
But in retrospect, I know that what was important was not going to New York or staying home, but that I had fortified myself from within by putting my life in God's hands.

So I went to New York, appeared on the Godfrey show and my career was in motion—a career which has taken me many times around the world and given me thousands of opportunities to witness for Christ.

There have been many other decisions, but mother's advice about seeking God's guidance always has been the answer!

In the years ahead when my children turn to me for help, I pray that God will give me the wisdom to direct them properly. I hope they will find meaning in my mother's advice. If they do this, they can make any decision—boldly, confidently, trustingly.

Wiring Causes Blaze in Attic

BUHL — The Buhl volunteer firemen answered a summons at 12:30 a.m. Sunday to the Bud Douglas residence, 204 9th Ave. N., when faulty electrical wiring set fire to their attic.

The Douglasses were home all evening watching television. They kept smelling smoke but were unable to find the source. It wasn't until a brown spot appeared on the ceiling that they realized the fire was in the attic.

Apparently a short in the wiring had set fire to the insulation and it was smoldering all the time the Douglasses were smelling smoke, fire officials said. Damages were set at $50 to the residence itself and $250 to the wiring.

Johnson to Aid Status of Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will set up soon a study group to help make clear that "American women can hold their own in every segment of our national life."

Johnson's high hopes for women were outlined Monday as he congratulated six female government workers who were honored for outstanding achievements.

The study group, to be made up of past and present award winners, will be expected, said Johnson, "to probe deeply into the problems of the working woman."

SUBWAYS HALTED
PARIS (AP) — A one-day strike virtually halted the Paris subway system and extra police were ordered into the streets to cope with the flood of automobile traffic.

Refugee Tells Of Daring Berlin Escape

BERLIN (AP)—A 22-year-old refugee told how he escaped Monday in predawn darkness from East Germany under a storm of gunfire, swimming the icy waters of the Teltow Canal.

He saw reporters in a hospital where he was treated for exposure, and told them he wanted to get out of Communist East Germany on "economic and political grounds." His name was withheld.

He traveled from Magdeburg to East Berlin, took a subway, and got off near the border.

"At the border, I forced apart strands of barbed wire on the first of three border fences I came to," he said, "I crawled through."

"I moved as fast as I could across a plowed area and a concrete grip beyond, both lit up by lights. On the run, I jumped

Rocket

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A 10-year-old boy admitted to police Monday that he poured gasoline on the back of his trousers and lit it with a match in an attempt to "take off like a rocket."

The unidentified boy was treated at a hospital for burns on both legs and released.

across a ditch about two or three yards across and about 6 feet deep.

"I climbed the second barbed wire fence and jumped across to the last one. Flares went off overhead."

"Without any warning, guards started shooting. I rolled to the bottom of a bank at the edge of the canal and swam the 25 yards across. The water was ice cold. I made it to the top of the opposite bank and as West Berlin police ran up, I fainted."

Obstacle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moonlighting — the holding of two jobs at once — is a definite obstacle to professional law enforcement, says the nation's leading law enforcement officer.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, in an article in the FBI's March Law Enforcement Bulletin, said moonlighting "plagues large and small departments alike."

Among its dangers, Hoover said, are potential corruption, increased absenteeism, low morale, ineffectiveness and loss of public respect and confidence.

later transferred to Troop 97, and served as senior patrol leader. He is a Life Scout, and active in many scouting projects.
