Sukarno Is Said To Be Held by Anti-Red Army

SINGAPORE (AP) — Indonesia's anti-Communist army restricted President Sukarno to his Jakarta palace Saturday night and held First Deputy Premier Subandrio a virtual prisoner there, informants here reported. These reports reached Singapore after Jakarta radio announced the nation's new strong man, Lt. Gen. Suharto, acting under Sukarno's name, had dissolved and outlawed Indonesia's huge Communist party, world's largest outside the Communist bloc. Another broadcast carried excerpts from a palace ceremony earlier in the day in which Sukarno officially turned over control to Suharto, the Indonesian army chief.

Governors Vote Support Of War Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governors of 39 states met with President Johnson on Saturday and afterwards voted unanimously that they "wholeheartedly support and endorse" his policies in Viet Nam.

The resolution had Republican sponsorship, and Johnson said he had no advance word of it.

The vote, taken in the historic Blue Room of the White House, was announced by Republican Gov. John Reed of Maine. Reed told reporters he plans to get in touch with the other governors who were not present to seek their support for the resolution.

"There is no question in my mind they will all respond affirmatively," he said.

Johnson said he is gratified by the vote on the resolution, the key paragraph of which said:

"It is the unanimous opinion of the governors here assembled that the policies being followed by the President in pursuit of our national objectives in Viet Nam are sound and the only rational policies to be followed under the circumstances."

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told the state executives he saw no need at this time to call military Reserves to active duty because of the war in Viet Nam, though he didn't foreclose the possibility later.

The governors' resolution of support concluded that the state executives "do wholeheartedly support and endorse the policies and programs in Viet Nam being pursued by the United States of America, under the leadership of President Lyndon B. Johnson."

At least one governor who has sometimes been critical of administration policies in Viet Nam, Republican Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, did not attend the conference. The White House said he had been expected but had become ill with the flu.

Christian Church Meet Ends Sunday

BURLEY — The 67th Annual Convention of Idaho Christian Churches enters its final day Sunday after a full schedule of work sessions and addresses since it began Friday.

Saturday business sessions were held, followed by a noon luncheon for ministers and their wives. There they were entertained by the Northwestern Christian College Girls Trio.

During the afternoon the youth fellowship and men's fellowship held separate meetings. Three separate evening meetings were held Saturday at which Dr. Martin A. Dowdy, president of Northwest Christian College, addressed the Christian Men's Fellowship. Dr. J. E. Short, editor of the "Christian" magazine, spoke to the women's unit, and Archie Thornton, Boise, was the speaker for the youth banquet.

The Christians attended evening sessions at the Burley Junior High School at which the Rev. Warren Sechler, Burley, officiated. Dr. William Martin Smith, Indianapolis, vice president of the church pension fund, addressed the convocation.

Saturday night, Dr. William Martin Smith pointed out that there are four points in thinking straight about the church. First, the church is not entirely human but is made up of human faith. Second, the church is a standing fortress and is a marching army and fourth, the church is a living experience.

The Christians are scheduled to hear a Sunday sermon delivered by Dr. Smith, to be followed by afternoon sessions at 2:30 p.m. to elect officers and conclude current business.

TALKS SET

MOSCOW (AP) — A Japan Air Lines delegation begins talks here Monday to set up Moscow-Tokyo flights with Russian planes and mixed crews under an agreement signed Jan. 21.

STRAINING TO SEE winning lapidary exhibit at the 15th annual Magic Valley Gem Show are these youngsters, from left, Terry Tanner and Larry Tanner, both 3, and sons of Mrs. Geraldine Tanner, Jerome, and Donald Schlermeier, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Schlermeier, Twin Falls. The exhibit was entered by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coombs, Burley. The show will be open until 6 p.m. Sunday. (Times-News photo)

300 Visit Annual Gem Show Display

The 15th Annual Magic Valley Gem Show enters its second day Sunday with national and local award-winning displays ranging from pipsicle-purple crystals to a cast of a three-toed dinosaur's footprint. At least 300 people visited the National Guard Armory in Twin Falls for the first day of the show Saturday, according to show chairman, Dee Ainsworth, Twin Falls, and more are expected at the final session Sunday, beginning at 10 a.m. Highlighting the show is a demonstration of precision gem cutting, or faceting. An amateur, Judge Harry B. Jennings, Buhl, began early Saturday to cut what started out as an 80-carat blue-white topaz. When he finishes sometime Sunday, the once-draw stone will be a 35 carat gem with a 58-facet brilliant oval cut.

A demonstration of casting a table of plastic and gems is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday. A featured exhibit by Dr. Elwood T. Rees, Twin Falls, won first place in national competition in 1965 for his perfectly-faceted stones. His display features several precisely-faceted smoky quartz crystals the size of a small egg. The display demonstrates the subtly different ways more than 50 types of gems must be cut.

A display by Q. D. Howell, Boise, which won a regional first place for faceting, includes topaz, rose quartz, aquamarine, opal, pyrope, albite and rhodolite.

Chris' Rock Shop, Bliss, displayed the first place dealer display of Bruneau Jasper from the Bruneau Canyon — almond-colored stones with cloudlike patterns resembling a child's finger — painting in the rock itself.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Citizens Crusade Against Poverty said Saturday pressure from "powerful quarters" threatens to deprive the nation's poor of a voice in running federal anti-poverty programs.

"The right of the poor to have a real voice in the direction of anti-poverty programs is being challenged," the Crusade said in a bulletin mailed to 4,000 organizations working with the poor.

From powerful quarters, pressure is being put on Congress to change the law cutting back the right of the poor to be partners in local anti-poverty programs, said the organization, a private group made up of church, labor, civil rights and other groups. It is headed by President Walter Reuther of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers union.

HAVANA (AP) — A former U.S. Air Force captain and longtime Cuban resident has been sentenced to 30 years in prison on charges of espionage for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Lawrence Kirby Lunt, 39, Santa Fe, N.M., has been in Havana's La Cabana Prison for almost a year since April 1965.

It seems as if the British have some sort of magic wand that can be waved over our American heads, causing our government to support British policies which are not necessarily to our own best interests, Ellender declared.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., contended Saturday night the administration is "pursuing a course of folly" by supporting Great Britain's boycott of Southern Rhodesia.

"It seems as if the British have some sort of magic wand that can be waved over our American heads, causing our government to support British policies which are not necessarily to our own best interests, Ellender declared."

Senate Approves House Plan on Reapportionment

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Senate completed action Saturday on a House-approved plan to reapportion membership in the State Legislature. The measure now goes to Gov. Robert E. Smylie who, at the outset of the third special session reapportionment last Monday, expressed support for the principle represented in the bill approved. It establishes 35 legislative districts, each of which would name one senator. Twenty-eight of the districts would choose two representatives each. The remaining seven districts would be subdivided into two subdistricts, with each electing one representative.

44 Counties Are Divided Into Districts

BOISE (AP) — Here is how Idaho's 44 counties are distributed in the 35 legislative districts created in the reapportionment bill:

- 1—Boundary and Bonner.
- 2—Part of Kootenai.
- 3—Remainder of Kootenai and Benewah.
- 4—Shoshone.
- 5—Latah.
- 6—Part of Nez Perce.
- 7—Remainder of Nez Perce and Clearwater.
- 8—Lewis and Idaho.
- 9—Adams, Boise, Gem and Valley.
- 10—Payette and Washington.
- 11—Part of Canyon.
- 12—Part of Canyon.
- 13—Remainder of Canyon and Owyhee.
- 14—Part of Ada.
- 15—Part of Ada.
- 16—Part of Ada.
- 17—Part of Ada.
- 18—Part of Ada.
- 19—Elmore.
- 20—Clark, Custer, Jefferson and Lemhi.
- 21—Blaine, Lincoln and Minidoka.
- 22—Camas, Gooding and Jerome.
- 23—Part of Twin Falls.
- 24—Part of Twin Falls.
- 25—Cassia.
- 26—Butte, Power and part of Bingham.
- 27—Remainder of Bingham.
- 28—Fremont and Madison.
- 29—Part of Bonneville.
- 30—Part of Bonneville.
- 31—Remainder of Bonneville and Teton.
- 32—Bear Lake, Caribou and Franklin.
- 33—Oneida and part of Bannock.
- 34—Part of Bannock.
- 35—Remainder of Bannock.

Each of those districts would elect one senator and 28 of them would elect two representatives each.

Subdivided into two subdistricts, each of which would name one representative, are these districts: 9, 10, 20, 21, 22, 26 and 28.

BOISE (AP) — Here is the roll call vote by which the Senate passed, 23-21, the bill reapportioning the Idaho Legislature for the election of 35 senators and 70 representatives.

Republicans for — Beal, Forsgren, Hansen, Hulbert, Nally, Roden, Ryan, Swisher; total 8. Democrats for — Andrus, Bean, Chase, Collett, Crawford, Daniels, Dee, Egbert, Lough, Murphy of Shoshone, Rigby, Sandberg, Webster, Winkler, Wood; total 15.

Republicans against — Barron, Blick, Brooks, Chubb, Dunn, Ellsworth, Harn, Loveland, McClure, Meadows, Murphy of Lincoln, Samuelson, Schwindman, Seeley, Whitworth, Yarrhrough, Yensen, Young; total 18.

Democrats against — Ausich, Fredericksen, Tibbitts; total 3. Total against 21.

Both the House and Senate adjourned until 2 p.m. Monday. Drafting of the technical amendments to Idaho election laws, required to make those statutes conform with the reapportionment plan approved, is expected to be completed by that time.

Senate President Pro-tem Jack Murphy, R-Lincoln, and House Majority Leader William Lanning, R-Twin Falls, both said the special session should wind up its business by Tuesday night.

There were predictions that the new reapportionment plan would be declared in violation of the State Constitution and the Senate was urged to approve also an alternate plan.

But a last ditch attempt to revive a last ditch earlier in order to amend it to serve as an alternate failed, 18-26.

Adjournment until next week came moments later.

The final Senate vote on the House-approved reapportionment plan was 23-21. That was a gain of one vote from the See LEGISLATURE, Pg. 2, C. 6

BOISE (AP) — Gov. Robert E. Smylie said Saturday he will ask U.S. District Court to put its stamp of approval on the Idaho reapportionment plan adopted by the special session of the legislature.

He said he will ask the court to dissolve the injunction that to reapportion itself constitutionally or require its members to be elected on a state at-large basis.

"The injunction under which the governor is restrained from proclaiming an election except at-large unless a constitutional plan is adopted would seem to me to preclude application to the court to have the injunction dissolved," Smylie said.

"This seems necessary in view of the fact we have no way of determining except as a matter of opinion, the acceptability of the new apportionment by the federal court. I don't believe anyone would require that I proclaim an election under this law at the state's peril."

Weather, Temperatures

MAGIC VALLEY—Variable cloudiness through Monday. Chance of light showers Sunday. Little temperature change. Winds 15 to 25 miles per hour and gusty. High from upper 50s to low 60s, low 32 to 42. Temperature at 3 p.m. Saturday 59 at T. F. Weather Bureau with 34 per cent humidity. Barometer at 3 p.m. Saturday 30.24.

SYNOPSIS
The high pressure over the Intermountain area continues to weaken and slowly shift southward. The surface low off the West Coast continues to drift northward and the frontal system associated with it is moving inland along the West Coast from Washington to Northern California and will weaken in moving over the coastal mountains and bring cloudiness and only a few brief showers mostly to the valleys of Southwest Idaho.

Temperatures will continue mild, highs being mostly in the 50s and in the lower 60s across the agricultural areas with a little cooling likely in the westernmost valleys Sunday and warmer extreme southeastern Idaho. Partly cloudy skies and southerly winds will tend to keep the night time temperatures a little warmer most places, while only little change is expected Sunday night.

Saturday, mostly variable high cloudiness, southerly winds and considerable sunshine brought the warmest temperatures to most parts of the agricultural valleys so far this year.

Winds in most valley areas are from the south and southeast, varying from 15 to 20 miles per hour and quite gusty at times.

Blonde Wants To Dispute Spy Charge

OTTAWA (AP)—Gerda Munsinger, shapely German blonde whose name is linked to Canada's boiling sex-security scandal, was reported Saturday preparing a quick trip to Canada to dispute a charge that she was a spy or a security risk to a former defense official.

But Canada's immigration department raised a question whether she could be permitted to return to this country.

The Toronto Star said in a copyright dispatch from Germany that Mrs. Munsinger planned to stay out of sight for the weekend and get her documents in order for a flight to Canada early this week.

Justice Minister Lucien Carlin brought the affair into the open at a news conference Thursday when he said a woman named Munsinger, whom he identified as an espionage agent before she entered Canada in 1955, was involved with two or more ministers in the Cabinet of Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, now the Conservative party leader.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson has called for an investigation into his justice minister's charges and said he is ready to stake the life of the federal party government on the outcome.

The scandal is item No. 1 on the agenda for Monday in the House of Commons.

Missing Girl Is Found in Bowling Alley

JEROME — Karrie Simmons, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Simmons, 203 Fifth Ave. W. Jerome, apparently got a touch of spring fever Friday after school and took a walk. She was the subject of a house-to-house search by Jerome police and volunteer and regular firemen until about 9:15 p.m. A third grader at Lincoln School, she wandered south of town after school nearly to the old starch factory and was picked up by a Mrs. White about 7 p.m. Mrs. White took her back to the school building where the girl said she had to get some school supplies. Being somewhat concerned about leaving the girl at school, Mrs. White called Mrs. Simmons when she returned home. Young Karrie had by this time made her way to the local bowling alley where she was watching the activity. Mrs. Ada Thomas, who was at the bowling alley, and was acquainted with the Simmons family had heard the girl was missing and took her to her home.

Albert Lewis, Buhl, Dies in Hospital

BUHL — Albert Lewis, 69, Buhl, died Friday morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital of an extended illness. He was born April 9, 1896, at Mantorville, Minn. He came to Idaho in 1928 and operated a hotel at Yellowpine until 1930 when he moved to Buhl and worked as a produce inspector for the state. Mr. Lewis moved to Buhl in 1933 where he owned and operated Buhl Orchards and Buhl Potato Co. for many years. He married Harriett Todd on May 20, 1934, in Boise. They later were divorced. He was a member of the Buhl Elks Lodge. Survivors include two sons, Craig W. Lewis and Richard D. Lewis, both of Milpitas, Calif., and two grandchildren. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Albertson - Dickard Chapel by Rev. Delmar M. Talley. Friends may call Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. and Monday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The family suggests contributions to the Cancer Society which may be left at the funeral home. Elks lodge ritualistic rites will be presented at Buhl Cemetery.

Special Dates Reported by Area C. of C.

KETCHUM — Five dates of special importance to the Ketchum - Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce were noted Thursday. First is the American International Ski Races held March 24-27 at Sun Valley. Fred Beck of the Janss Corp., guest at the Chamber's Wednesday noon meeting at the Sun Bowl, told of the races in which skiers from France, Austria, Canada, Switzerland and the United States will compete. Beck said the races will be televised. Chamber members voted to purchase and decorate Ketchum with flags of the four foreign countries alongside those of the U.S. Chamber president Ben Jewell appointed Mrs. J. P. Mahoney chairman of the annual Easter party, authorizing her to name her helpers. At the party several hundred Easter eggs will be colored for children of the community to hunt on Easter morning. April 13 will be an open meeting at the Sun Bowl for all interested in the North American Air Defense Command. T. G. White, Mt. States Telephone manager for this area, said officers of the telephone company at Colorado Springs, Colo., will explain the workings of the long distance amplifier in the nation's air defense. The communication must be timed to the second and will be precisely at noon. Anyone planning to attend should advise the Chamber of Commerce in advance. A Four - Wheel Drive Rodeo will be sponsored by the chamber May 29-30-31. The rodeo will be held at the mouth of Elkhorn gulch about a mile south of Ketchum. Jewell named Gene Miller chairman for a planning committee with Robert R. Glenn, Robert E. Glenn and Max Beck members. John Sabala has been active in promoting this event, which will be held for the first time here. In preliminary planning for the annual Basque Festival Jim L. Glenn, chairman, and Ed Stricker, White and Floyd Slane were named on the arrangements committee. Merwin (Bud) Esterholdt read a letter the Snowmobile Race committee is mailing to sales personnel of manufacturers of snow machines, asking for advice and help for future races. After hearing Esterholdt talk on steelhead and salmon in the Columbia River and its tributaries for sports fishing, members voted to back any effort the committee made. Other guests included Mrs. Harold Ruby and Floyd Slane from Lott's Electric, new Ketchum business.

Boise Plans Downtown Renewal

BOISE (AP) — Downtown Boise — like hundreds of other downtowns across the country — is in trouble, a panel of city planning experts advised this week. But they said there is a way out. The answer, they suggested, is a revamped business district highlighted by a state government and convention — cultural center in the heart of the city to re-establish it as the major trade center. The problem in Boise is the same one facing Idaho and other American cities generally: shopping centers where the parking is free, the shops attractive and the convenience enticing. Boise is one of four Idaho cities already laying plans to restore their central districts to the status they had when Main Street was unchallenged as the retail center. The other three are Twin Falls, Idaho Falls and a joint Lewiston - Lewiston Port - Nez Perce County effort. Shoshone County has asked federal funds to help study redevelopment of a number of its small, scattered river valley towns. Pocatello, Nampa, Bingham County and Elmore County are considering similar studies. But status is not the purpose of restoration and neither is sentiment. They want to preserve the high tax base that comes with keeping commercial property concentrated in one place. And they want to keep a coordinated business — professional — commercial core. A number of recommendations made their "on-the-spot" Boise attractions.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON—Given the furor of the attack by Sen. Fulbright and Co. on the basic policy underlying the American commitment in Viet Nam, it seems strange that the administration has not seen fit to read a little recent history to the electorate. Such a recapitulation makes those critics look both silly and short-sighted.

Fulbright and others, notably the ex-statesman George Kennan, have mounted the proposition that the U. S. had no right to get committed in Viet Nam in the first place—that it was a tragic blunder, and yet if we had not gone in when we did a large slice of Southeast Asia probably now would be Communist.

I went into Viet Nam in 1954, to help protect the South from aggression by the Hanoi regime. At the time, guerrilla bands were waging full-scale battles against the established governments in both Malaya and Burma. Communist China was eyeing the border areas of a military-weak India, and Laos was a political mess. Had the U.S. not intervened, all of Viet Nam today would be Communist and perhaps Malaya and Burma as well. Peking would never have permitted the establishment of a neutralist government in Laos, a government which now is cooperating with Washington. And India might be at war with Red China.

THAILAND OPENLY THREATENED—Both Kennan and Gen. James Gavin scoff at the falling domino theory, but they scoff at the facts of political life. Even as we make our stand in Viet Nam, Peking radio announces weekly that Thailand is next on its list and indeed, already has sent guerrillas into that country. On Viet Nam's border, both Cambodia and Laos are harassed by Communist infiltrators. A strong Communist force led by a turn-of-coast Malay war hero waits just across the border in the Burmese jungles for the right time to strike.

Surely, history has taught us by this time that success is an infectious disease with dictators. If we were not fighting in Viet Nam we would have to fight, sooner or later, in Laos, a landlocked country which would require long supply routes. In Viet Nam, U.S. troops can be supported by the Seventh Fleet, and the supply routes from the coast are short and well-protected. Viet Nam is the most advantageous and least costly place for an American stand against Red China's drive to subjugate all of Southeast Asia.

Aside from their preoccupation with Europe, the administration's critics have charged that the U.S. is overextending itself—that it is trying to police the whole world. Well, we may be trying to do too much, especially in maintaining big troop garrisons in Europe, but the record shows that our interventions have been shrewdly selective.

AVOIDS OTHER CRISIS—The U.S. took no part in the war in the Congo. We did not get involved in the Cyprus crisis and we are doing our best to stay out of the crisis between Jordan and Israel over use of the waters of the Jordan River. Although we are cooperating in Britain's blockade of Rhodesia, we have made it plain to London that we do not plan to share that particular headache. We are not, in fact, the world's policeman we just, sometimes, sound like it.

There are those who insist that we should let South Viet Nam go to the Communists—as a joke on Peking. The Vietnamese people, it is said, would never be puppets of Red China because they are too strongly nationalistic. In support of this premise, critics offer the example of Tito's Yugoslavia, which thumbed its nose at the Soviet Union. But Tito has never deserted Communism—he merely won a right to be an equal among Communist equals. In nearly 12 years of fighting, South Viet Nam has at least hinted strongly that it finds Communism unattractive.

Status Search

It would be interesting to know how much of the trials and tribulations of youngsters result from an unending search for status among themselves. Everyone is well aware that an automobile is an important status symbol among youngsters. A couple of years ago the Times-News changed rules concerning publication of photographs of engaged girls when it became painfully apparent that engagement was a status symbol. Without the accompanying publicity, engagement has become less of a status symbol, say those who have constant contact with the younger set.

Perhaps the reason youngsters pursue the status symbol so avidly is the seeming rush to reach adulthood in a hurry these days. Certainly most of the status efforts seem to be directed toward those things generally associated with adults. For example, not too many youngsters feel there's any particular distinction connected with being outstanding as a youngster or a top echelon scholar.

However, "ditching" classes seems to be something of a status symbol. Some youngsters scheme and go through elaborate plans to play hooky from school without being caught. One process involves creating or taking advantage of a bonafide reason for missing school. The resulting written excuse from a parent is traced or copied carefully, thus providing an unending source of excuses to cover up "ditching." Perhaps adults can't understand, but the procedure constitutes a status symbol of sorts.

Two youngsters who obtained a marriage license from the Twin Falls County Recorder's office through an unusual set of circumstances seemed to be motivated by the search for status. When the incident came to light and the youngsters were deposed from their rush into marriage, County Recorder Harold Lancaster noted his office will be more stringent in demanding proof of age. "A driver's license won't always be sufficient proof of age," he declared. Which pointed to still another way in which youngsters work for status, namely, altering the date of birth on their driver's license.

When the new embossed driver's license was adopted by Idaho a few years ago, one of the reasons behind the change was the feeling it would be difficult to alter. Officials didn't reckon with ingenuity of young people. The system being used involves slicing off the raised figures with a razor blade and pasting on similar raised figures from old or stolen licenses or from some other source. Police have found some altered licenses that are difficult to spot, except from the back surface of the license.

Obviously, the principal purpose for altering a driver's license is to establish an older age for purposes of purchasing beer or liquor. Yet Police Chief Frank Barnett feels that the mere ability to provide evidence of an older age is something of a status symbol among youngsters. Somehow it seems extremely important among the young people to establish an age of 20 to 23 instead of the actual age of 16 to 19. The yearning for two or three more years on an age also is evident in a rash of forging the unofficial identification card distributed by police as one other means of establishing age, ostensibly for purposes of purchasing beer or liquor. However, here again mere possession of the forged card seems to be a status symbol.

Nearly any middle-aged person could give the youngsters a word of advice—take your time in growing up; everyone is old too soon and smart too late.

SAY FILLINGS AND FAT

The assault upon the citadel of comprehension is proceeding these days apace. We submit in evidence two cases which illustrate how plain English is cramping the style of dentists and cattlemen alike.

Dr. John L. Bomba believes that dentists would get a lot more respect, not to mention money, if they would brush up their euphemisms. Writing in the bulletin of the Philadelphia County Dental Society, Dr. Bomba suggests "replenishment" for fillings, "periodontal disease" for simple gum trouble and other big words that guard against "minimizing the conditions that exist and the treatments we provide."

The bane of Brooks J. Keogh's existence is fat. More precisely, what Europeans call "waste fat." As president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, Mr. Keogh would create new markets for beef by establishing "typical American steak houses" on the Continent. Europeans would follow American tourists into them, Mr. Keogh predicts, were it not for that fat.

In the United States, he says, fat "is recognized by our consuming public... as the marbled quality necessary for insuring superior flavor and palatability." Can the cattlemen create a demand among untutored Europeans for marbled American steak? With American tourists to prime the pump, the steak houses could always fall back on pizza.

Dentists and cattlemen should not forget that fillings are fillings, just as fat by any other name is fat. Or have euphemisms left the language so cock-eyed that nothing is anything for sure? High time, we say, for a counterrevolution—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

TOURIST BOOM

Will success spoil the Acropolis? A Greek archaeologist says it may. The awesome hilltop mountain which has crowned Athens since hundreds of years before Christ is not only disintegrating from within (decomposing marble) but the very rock on which it stands is crumbling.

Archaeologists say the spectacular increase in tourism is hastening the collapse. The passage of jet planes full of more and more visitors may force those globetrotters to view the Parthenon from afar before another season ends.—Dallas Times Herald.

KHAN RAYOED

Word comes from Outer Mongolia that, for reasons best known to Communist theoreticians, that country's sole claim to fame—Genghis Khan—is being given the de-Sinification treatment. The official Communist journal describes him as a reactionary and an aggressor. Most serious charge of all is that he fostered a "cult of personality." As everyone knows, you can hardly do a worse thing than that.—North Bay (Ont.) Nugget.

QUEBEC (AP)—In French Canada today talk of secession or separation is little more than a whisper, but the visitor hears much about the "quiet revolution" and the "new Quebec."

Significant changes have taken place both inside the sprawling populous province and in its relations with the federal government.

Quebec's premier, Jean Lesage, 53, seeks to expand the role of his province and to improve the lot of the country's five million French-speaking citizens.

He has been careful not to go too far, too fast.

No one knows where it will end. Even Lesage declines to fix deadlines. So far Canada's 99-year-old confederation has proved flexible enough to adjust to Quebec's expanding autonomy.

One result of Lesage's tender approach has been to steal much of the thunder of the separatists—those who want Quebec to be a separate nation.

The movement still has a substantial hard core, but it is not the noisy, aggressive group that launched terroristic bombings and marred the visit of Queen Elizabeth II by demonstrations 18 months ago.

The leadership of the separatists is split by personal bickerings and by rivalries between Montreal and Quebec factions. Where they once cried for action, they now urge patience.

But they haven't given up their goal of an independent Quebec. Lesage opposes the separatists and he seems to have an overwhelming majority of the province behind him.

With a provincial election expected in May or June, political experts are predicting that Lesage's Liberal party will be returned with as many as 70 of the 95 legislative seats.

Lesage came to power in 1960 with a narrow majority, eight seats. He had vowed to give the province a dynamic new program after 16 years under the National Union party of Maurice Duplessis. In 1962 he won the mandate he wanted when he won 64 seats to 28 for the National Union, headed by Daniel Johnson.

Lesage likes to use the word "revolution" to describe what has been happening in Quebec during the past six years. Sometimes he calls it a quiet revolution, sometimes a fast revolution.

"We are building a new society," he says.

Economic production has grown during his administration and Quebec is rapidly developing new industries and trade. More than 2,800 new businesses have been established in five years. This is one part of Canada where U.S. capital is eagerly sought.

Few quarrel with these achievements. Other elements in Lesage's program have caused unhappiness in Ottawa or provoked anxiety in the English-speaking community.

One development which some considered an encroachment on federal jurisdiction was the establishment of Quebec "diplomatic" missions in Paris, London and New York. The three bureaus, working independently of the federal government's missions in the same countries, push Quebec's cultural and economic interests.

Quebec has its own agreement with Franco for an exchange of students—teachers and researchers.

Even more irritating to English Canada is a practice under which the federal government permits the provinces to "opt out" of certain joint federal-provincial programs. All provinces have this privilege of not taking part in joint programs, but it was initiated mainly to satisfy Quebec's demands for more autonomy.

Twelve federal-provincial programs permit opting out. One of the most important is the social security program. You wanted that pause in the program, the President insisted, to age assistance and health grants. Federal grants pay part of the costs.

"We want to grow in a manner which suits us," Lesage says. "We refuse to accept that ways of thinking and living on the part of the federal government take our own priority needs into account."

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York City commuter is, like the crab grass on his lawn, a hardy type.

Typically, he rises in the dark far out in the suburbs, spends up to two hours riding slow trains to the city—often standing up—and rarely sees his children from weekend to weekend.

The commuter thought he had it tough enough already, but a new trial threatens to be heaped on his suffering head.

If all goes according to plan, the commuter soon will be paying a city income tax for the privilege of working in New York. The tax will be on top of the federal income tax, the state income tax and the taxes he pays to support the community where his mortgaged castle is.

Some of the more rebellious commuters are threatening to move into the city, thus saving enough on commutation tickets and crab grass killers to break even.

Mayor John V. Lindsay is a kindly man and he hates making the commuters unhappy. However, he says the city is in "shocking financial condition" and must raise more money for its budget.

"New York," the mayor said recently, "owes a great debt to its 250,000 commuters. But the commuter in turn owes a debt to New York City. He rides on city-supported buses and subways. He is protected by city police. He depends on the city fire department."

So if the legislature can be persuaded to pass the necessary enabling bill, New York City will start June 1 assessing incomes of both city dwellers and commuters on a scale of 1 to 5 per cent.

A commuter with a salary of $11,000 a year and two children would have to pay the city about $110 a year, deducted from his check on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The money he would pay from the income he pays federal tax on, so he would pay the Internal Revenue people $27 less a year.

WASHINGTON (AP)—When pinpoints like Daniel Boone felt that the settlements were getting too crowded, they moved on to the wide open spaces.

These days, the Daniel Boones are few and far between. There's a rush to the cities that is appalling, frightful.

The World Health Organization says: Over the last 100 years, mankind has doubled its numbers. But the world's city population has increased fivefold. Of the 3 billion people now living in this world, 1 billion live in cities. All this despite the well-known flight to the suburbs of those who can afford it.

The spectacular city growth alarms the WHO. It says: "Overcrowding, evil housing conditions, the spread of slums, the dwindling of parkland and open spaces, traffic paralysis, the accident toll, water pollution, time wasted on journeys between home and work—all these drawbacks and more hamper the New Yorker as much as the man from Calcutta."

The Greek philosopher Plato held that the ideal urban community should not be larger than 5,000.

Today, Plato would be saddened to read these population figures, from the 1966 World Almanac: Tokyo 10,686,660, New York 8,085,000, London 7,928,234, Shanghai 7,100,000, Moscow 6,335,000, Bombay 4,152,056, Pe-

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—Nothing grieves and angers Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey more than to have his liberal friends say to him: "We know you don't really believe what you've been saying about Viet Nam."

For Humphrey believes it with a passionate and—needless to say—highly articulate conviction. He remains convinced that the crisis in the left-of-center Americans for Democratic Action when he, Walter Reuther and others led a movement to force out the Communists who were fighting the proposed Marshall Plan for massive aid to Western Europe. Whether this successful drive to put American left of center in support of the plan to rebuild Europe has any parallel with the Communist role in Asia may be questionable.

This is the root of the Humphrey ideology and it helps to explain why those who no longer agree were scolding him as a knee-jerk liberal now hail him as one of the saviors. But the oversimplification of Humphrey's cheerleader role to one side, in his close relationship with the President he has been playing a vital role in Asian diplomacy.

This goes back to a hitherto unreported exchange the President had with Pakistan's chief, Mohammed Ayub Khan, when Ayub came to Washington in December. Johnson told the Pakistani president that he fully supported the Pakistani-Indian peace initiative of Soviet Premier Andrei Kosygin. The United States, Johnson said in blunt terms, could not finance a war between the two hostile neighbors on the Indian subcontinent. Both strong and determined men, the two presidents discovered they had a lot in common.

The success of the peace conference in Tashkent was overshadowed by the death of India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri. Humphrey flew to New Delhi to attend Shastri's funeral and had an opportunity to talk with Mrs. Indira Gandhi, succeeding Shastri as prime minister, and cabinet members. Upon his return Johnson told him that in the very near future he would want him to return to Asia and in particular to India and Pakistan.

That was the origin of Humphrey's incredible 43,000-mile, two-week spin around Asia. In the stress on the Viet Nam war and the problem of support from other Asian countries, the importance of the stop in Pakistan and India was more or less lost sight of. What Humphrey did was prepare the way for Mrs. Gandhi's mission to Washington later this month. Beyond the massive supplemental shipments of wheat—up to 7,000,000 tons—to relieve the famine in India, the administration is planning other measures to help Mrs. Gandhi through this difficult interim period. While the war against Pakistan over Kashmir stiffened the morale of India's masses, it played havoc with the economy.

During his crowded 48 hours in India, which included a half-day in the farming area of the Punjab, Humphrey had a talk with President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan. This might have come under the category of impossible interviews, the dynamic, bubbly American and the tall, ascetic, philosopher-president.

The fact is, however, that they got on very well. Radhakrishnan told Humphrey that he understood the difficulty of America's position in Viet Nam, since India had been attacked twice by China. He spoke with warm admiration of President Johnson's peace offensive and of his profound regret that Hanoi chose to make no response to the peace overture.

Most important, Radhakrishnan said he would use all his influence to try to get the Geneva Conference reconvened. While there seems little hope of this so long as the Soviet Union, a co-chairman under the Geneva accord, shows no interest, the Indian president has ties with Moscow which he promised to cultivate. India is one of the three members of the International Control Commission in Viet Nam.

On that August day at the Democratic convention in Atlantic City in 1964 when he was finally tapped for the No. 2 office, Humphrey was like the bride kept waiting at the church door. It was at best a tepid romance. The President and his vice president were in many ways at opposite poles.

But the union is now complete. Humphrey has cast his lot with no reservations whatsoever with the President and the President's policies. Whatever his political future may be, it turns on the success or failure of the administration and particularly on Viet Nam.

The closeness of the link between the two men came out in a recent exchange. The President, an inveterate opinion poll watcher, blames the recent drop of 14 points in his rating on the conduct of the Viet Nam war on the 30-day pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam during the recent status offensive. You wanted that pause, you were the pausers, the President insisted, to age assistance and health grants. Federal grants pay part of the costs.

"We want to grow in a manner which suits us," Lesage says. "We refuse to accept that ways of thinking and living on the part of the federal government take our own priority needs into account."

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York City commuter is, like the crab grass on his lawn, a hardy type.

Typically, he rises in the dark far out in the suburbs, spends up to two hours riding slow trains to the city—often standing up—and rarely sees his children from weekend to weekend.

The commuter thought he had it tough enough already, but a new trial threatens to be heaped on his suffering head.

If all goes according to plan, the commuter soon will be paying a city income tax for the privilege of working in New York. The tax will be on top of the federal income tax, the state income tax and the taxes he pays to support the community where his mortgaged castle is.

Some of the more rebellious commuters are threatening to move into the city, thus saving enough on commutation tickets and crab grass killers to break even.

Mayor John V. Lindsay is a kindly man and he hates making the commuters unhappy. However, he says the city is in "shocking financial condition" and must raise more money for its budget.

"New York," the mayor said recently, "owes a great debt to its 250,000 commuters. But the commuter in turn owes a debt to New York City. He rides on city-supported buses and subways. He is protected by city police. He depends on the city fire department."

So if the legislature can be persuaded to pass the necessary enabling bill, New York City will start June 1 assessing incomes of both city dwellers and commuters on a scale of 1 to 5 per cent.

A commuter with a salary of $11,000 a year and two children would have to pay the city about $110 a year, deducted from his check on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The money he would pay from the income he pays federal tax on, so he would pay the Internal Revenue people $27 less a year.

WASHINGTON (AP)—When pinpoints like Daniel Boone felt that the settlements were getting too crowded, they moved on to the wide open spaces.

These days, the Daniel Boones are few and far between. There's a rush to the cities that is appalling, frightful.

The World Health Organization says: Over the last 100 years, mankind has doubled its numbers. But the world's city population has increased fivefold. Of the 3 billion people now living in this world, 1 billion live in cities. All this despite the well-known flight to the suburbs of those who can afford it.

The spectacular city growth alarms the WHO. It says: "Overcrowding, evil housing conditions, the spread of slums, the dwindling of parkland and open spaces, traffic paralysis, the accident toll, water pollution, time wasted on journeys between home and work—all these drawbacks and more hamper the New Yorker as much as the man from Calcutta."

The Greek philosopher Plato held that the ideal urban community should not be larger than 5,000.

Today, Plato would be saddened to read these population figures, from the 1966 World Almanac: Tokyo 10,686,660, New York 8,085,000, London 7,928,234, Shanghai 7,100,000, Moscow 6,335,000, Bombay 4,152,056, Pe-

Mrs. Smyer Retained by Declo-PTA

DECLO—Mrs. Norman Smyer was re-elected president of the Declo-PTA at a meeting Wednesday at the Declo Grade School.

Mrs. Jay Harris is first vice president; Mrs. Kelly Matthews, second vice president; Mrs. Everett Pardew, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Meade, treasurer. Mrs. Glen Bywater was chairman of the nominating committee.

Arvil Voyce, program chairman, introduced Kendall Dayley, principal of Declo Elementary school, who, with sixth grade class provided a science exhibit for the program.

Dayley expressed his appreciation to the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. for furnishing the materials used by the children in preparing their exhibits.

"Earth in Space" was the exhibit explained by Carolyn Hurst, Debra Hurst, Mark Darrington and Peter Alejandro.

Randy Kidd, David Wood, Randy Meade, Joe Hitt and Tony Fullmer's exhibit showed different types of machines that were discussed by the students.

A life membership award was presented to Mrs. Elmer Mackie on behalf of the Declo PTA for her service to the organization and the community. Mrs. Austin Walker, last year's recipient of the honor, presented the pin to Mrs. Mackie.

Mrs. Smyer announced that a survey will be held in the community to decide if D.P.T. shots would be desired on a school-wide basis. She also stated that Tuberculin tests will be given again the latter part of April for the students, preschoolers and adults.

Voyce introduced Mrs. Keith Amende, state chairman of Parent and Family Life Education, and Mrs. Walker, vice president from Cassia County on the Fourth District Board.

Mrs. Frank Gillette, Mrs. Nalon Taylor and Mrs. Dale Kidd were selected to serve on the auditing committee.

The room count was won by Dayley's sixth grade and Don Musser's seventh grade.

2 University Groups Plan Concert Here

Two instrumental groups from the University of Idaho, Moscow, will perform at 8:20 p.m. Wednesday at the Twin Falls High School Gymnasium.

The public is invited with no charge, according to Del Slaughter, local music director, who said the 46-member Symphonic Wind ensemble and the Little Symphony, drawn from the full membership of the University Symphony Orchestra, will perform for Twin Falls high school music students.

The wind ensemble is directed by Warren Bellis and the Little Symphony by LeRoy Bauer. Ronald Wise, member of the Idaho music faculty, will be featured as French horn soloist. Also to be featured will be the University Woodwind Quintet, a trumpet trio and string and woodwind quartets.

The 656 student performers also will give concerts in Buhl and Hansen this week and day-time assembly programs are scheduled in Gooding and at Minico.

FATHER DIES

BOISE (AP) — Relatives in Boise were informed Saturday of the death of Guy H. Shepard, 84, Gardner, Mass. He was the father of Idaho Atty. Gen. Allan C. Shepard.

The attorney general was en route to Washington, D.C., on business when word of the death was received.

BURGLARS FOILED

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Two burglars who tried to break into the Elks Lodge safe this morning were cooling their heels in jail here today, thanks to an alert janitor and two persistent police officers.

Lodge janitor Marcel Riggelot reported to work at 5:30 a.m., and when he entered the building discovered two men bent over and working on the safe with an acetylene torch. Quietly and unobserved, Riggelot withdrew, drove to a phone booth and called police.

PERMIT REVOKED

BOISE (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission reported today revocation of an Idaho trucking permit held by Hodges Trucking, Inc., of Spokane, Wash.

The PUC said the permit was cancelled because the firm failed to pay 1964 and 1965 regulatory fees.

HOUSE RAIDED

BOISE (AP) — Boise police raided a suspected disorderly house known as "Sam's Place" early Saturday and arrested two women "Sam," and another man on charges of vagrancy.

Detectives said there were 20 people, including nine Mountain Home Air Force Base airmen, in the establishment when it was raided.

SUIT DISMISSED

POCATELLO (AP) — A labor violation suit filed against Idaho - Portland Cement Co. by Willard Wirtz, U. S. Secretary of Labor, was dismissed Friday in District Court.

The suit charged the company with failing to pay overtime wages to several employees involved in interstate commerce.

Sukarno May Be Victim of His Own Balancing Act

By The Associated Press

Indonesian President Sukarno, who for years played his country's once powerful Communists against the army, may have become the victim of his own balancing act.

Reliable sources in Singapore report that Sukarno has handed over political power to army chief Lt. Gen. Suharto and apparently remains in office only as a figurehead.

But Sukarno has survived many upheavals and it is too early to tell whether the step means the end of his political hold over Indonesia's 105 million people.

The 64-year-old president's juggling act went off balance last October when the army crushed a Communist-backed coup. A violent purge of Communists followed and the party, which once claimed 3 million members, seemed crushed with the army firmly entrenched on top.

Defense Minister Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, a staunch anti-Communist, emerged as the dominant figure in army ranks and for a time it seemed that Sukarno's power was ebbing. Then, in a surprise move, Sukarno fired Nasution last month.

The move led to violent demonstrations by anti-Communist students in Jakarta. At one point they surrounded Sukarno's palace and he had to be flown out by helicopter.

But much of their anger was directed at Sukarno's pro-Peking Foreign Minister and Deputy Premier Subandrio. Subandrio reportedly was dismissed today after the army handed Sukarno an ultimatum to get rid of him.

Sukarno was never elected president. He proclaimed Indonesia's independence after World War II and assumed the job with the birth of the Indonesian republic in 1949 after centu-

PLAN OPPOSED

BOISE (AP) — A three-page statement issued by the Idaho Transportation Council strongly opposed Friday present relocation plans by the Army Corps of Engineers for two railroads running along the Snake River in Idaho and Washington.

The statement, prepared by Robert L. Henry, administrator, called a proposed relocation route "much inferior to the present improved, relatively smooth and straight water grade railroad route along the Snake River."

INVESTMENT NOTED

WALLACE (AP) — About $1 million will be invested in expanding production this year at the Galena Silver Mine of Callahan Mining Corp. near here, Joseph T. Hall, president, announced in the firm's annual report Friday.

The outlay will be split 50-50 by Callahan and the mine operator, American Smelting and Refining Co., he said.

CANDIDATES TOLD

BOISE (AP) — State officer candidates for the Idaho Association of Future Homemakers of America were announced Saturday by president Donna Stevens of Meridian.

Elections will be at the association's 20th state convention March 27-29 at Boise. Candidates include:

Daylene Herre, Rupert, vice president; and Susan Haynes, Rupert, and Barbara Adams, Hagerman, vice president of recreation.

APPOINTMENTS EYED

BOISE (AP) — Gov. Robert E. Smylie has invited the legislature to name two members to the Education Commission of the Interstate Compact for Education.

Smylie said Friday Idaho is entitled to seven members on the commission including one senator and one representative. The commission is the legislative arm of the Compact, which Idaho joined this week. The governor also told legislators that would be asked to appropriate $7,500 a year to maintain Idaho's membership.

Fishing Is Topic for Rupert Meet

RUPERT — The economic implications of fishing in Idaho were discussed during the Thursday meeting of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

Mart Morache, Twin Falls regional education director for Magic Valley for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, discussed fish identification, fishing in Idaho and the need for good fishing management.

A survey taken several years ago indicated some $35,000,000 a year is spent in Idaho by resident and non-resident anglers, with transportation amounting to $9,000,000 of this amount and food and lodging $10,000,000.

Fish identification was discussed and planting projects were reported by the director. He said the use of helicopter has improved planting activity in the state with some mountain lakes still being stocked by horse.

Some 9,000 catfish have been planted in the Rupert area and fishermen noting any large amounts of the small catfish or anyone catching larger ones are urged to contact the Fish and Game Department.

A new activity was opened with ice fishing at Fish Creek Reservoir and Roseworth this year, the director said. A sample check indicated some 900 anglers caught 5,222 fish during the season which ended recently.

The gravel pits being developed into recreation areas near Interstate 80 will be stocked with trout, bass and blue gill with fishing to open there about April 1.

Fishing at Lake Walcott east of Rupert was discussed and according to Morache the area is being studied to determine if there is sufficient holding area in the lake for trout survival. Water temperature in the dam usually forces the trout into the river during the summer.

The director talked briefly on the salmon management, noting that 50 per cent of the fish are being lost each year. He said noted the salmon situation has alerted the people of the Challis, Stanley area of the significance of wildlife management.

Henry Dockett, chamber president, announced a directors meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at the Chamber office. He also announced the Rupert Merchants will sponsor their annual spring opening which is scheduled for Thursday through Saturday with the theme "Spring Value Days in Rupert."

The Rupert Lions club will hold its annual pancake feed in conjunction with the event.

Dockett also announced Rupert is scheduled to host the only Idaho sanctioned North-

Mrs. Kisling Is Winner of Speech Forum

SHOSHONE — Mrs. Floyd O. Kisling was named first place winner of the 10-minute prepared speeches for the Jaycee-sponsored speech forum. The run-off for the contest was held at the dinner-meeting held Thursday evening at the Manhattan Club. Her topic was "Home Remedies."

Emogene Alexander, Richfield, with a talk on "Poverty," won second place. Other contestants were Mrs. Luella L. Kinsey, speaking on "The Early Days in Shoshone," and Hal Ross on "Trachtenbury Math."

Mrs. Kisling and Alexander were presented trophies for the achievement.

Clarence Magoffin, president, conducted and Dan Faught was timekeeper. Toastmaster for the evening was Leon Grieve. Gooding. Judges were Hazel Bauker, Shoshone High School speech teacher; Arthur Fox, Dietrich teacher, and George Swanner, Shoshone. Miss Bauker acted as critic and gave evaluations.

On March 24 the five-minute speech contest will be held for the final contest of winners of that category. Those to speak are Mrs. Clarence Magoffin, Robert Miller, Mrs. Kinsey and Herb Love. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the courtroom of the local courthouse. This will be the last meeting of the season.

Dan Faught will be toastmaster, Alexander, chairman, and Mrs. Kisling timekeeper. Judges will be Mrs. Dean Evans, Kenneth Blackburn and Martin Jauregui.

At the conclusion of the Thursday evening contest Mrs. Kinsey presented a dramatic reading.

Man Found Not Guilty in Burley Trial

BURLEY — Donald F. Pearson was found not guilty Friday in the manslaughter trial which began Thursday in 11th District Court before Judge Lloyd Webb. After five hours of deliberation the jury returned the verdict at 9:15 p.m.

Pearson was charged in the death of his step-father, Cecil F. Hallam on Aug. 18, 1965. During Friday morning's testimony he said he went to Mr. Hallam's apartment to claim some tools which he said were his.

The ensuing scuffle was over the tools, he said. The pair was separated by John Weatherby, a resident in the apartment.

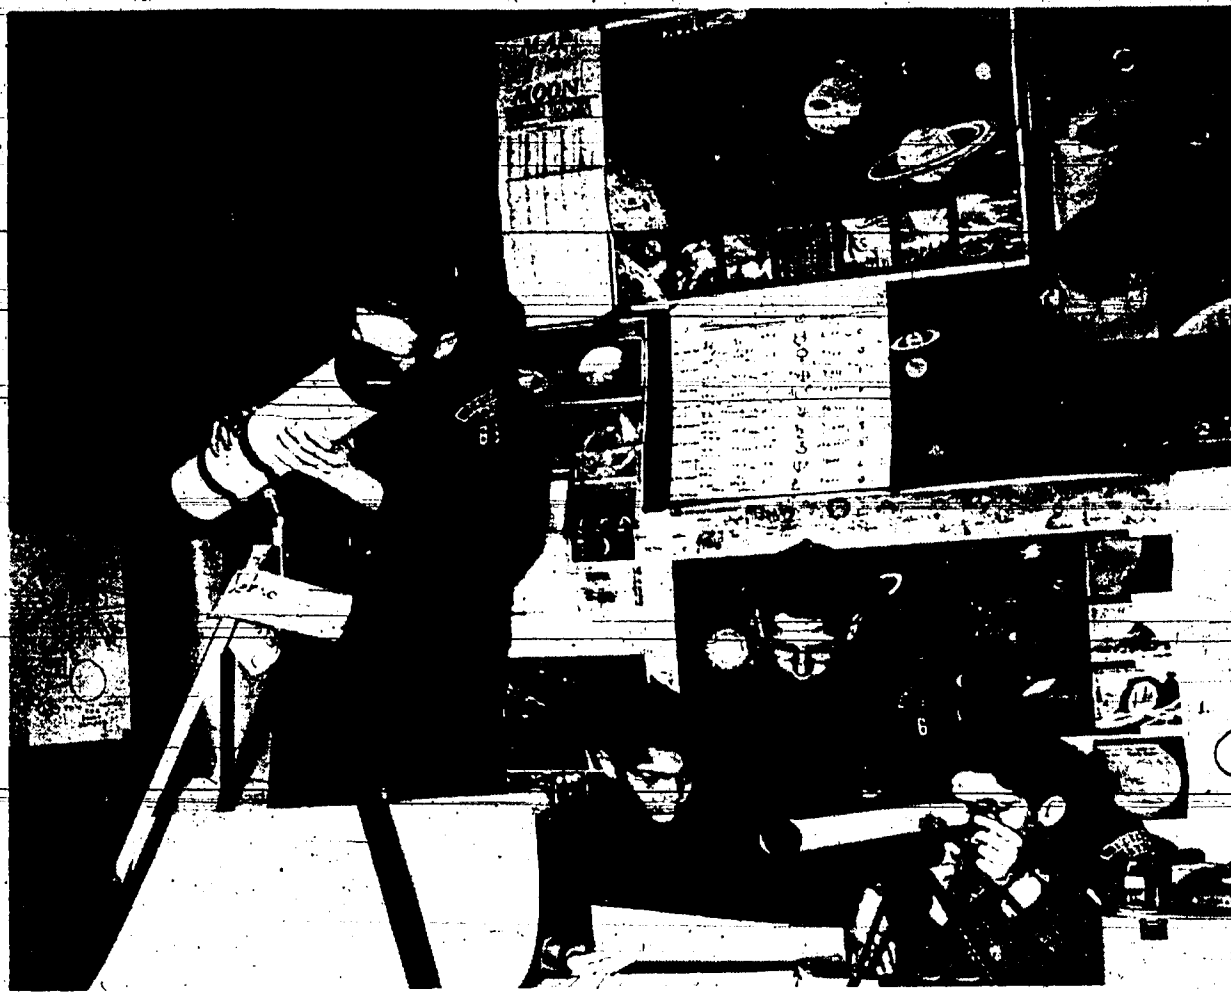

Mr. Hallam was pronounced dead at 11:50 p.m. after being taken to Cassa Memorial Hospital.

Pornography Is Hit by Church

BURLEY — The Zion Lutheran Church Council, during their session Thursday evening, issued the following statement, approving the campaign against pornography material.

The statement read, "We the members of Zion Lutheran Church, Burley, in obedience to the word of our Lord to flee the sinful and the worldly and to see those things that are good and pure, (Eph. 5:3-4, Second Tim. 2:22, Phil. 4:8), hereby state our approval of the campaign to eliminate the sale and distribution of all pornographic material in any form in our community and pledge ourselves to avoid the same and to call any objectionable material to the attention of those in charge of the cleanup campaign."

35 Scout Organizations Participate in Skill Show

Thirty-five scout packs, dance by the Shahapin Dancers troops and posts converged on the Twin Falls High School Gymnasium Saturday afternoon for the annual Scout-O-Rama Skill Show.

Exhibits ranged from one dealing with astronomy to a Cub Scout puppet theater. The exhibits were manned during the afternoon by about 1,200 scouts.

According to Frank Bramon, program chairman, theme for the Scout-O-Rama was "The Wonderful World of Scouting" and featured exhibits depicting all phases of scouting and scout activities.

Bramon added that each troop, pack and post built a display of some sort centering around a particular theme. The individual organizations were then judged on their displays and awarded ribbons.

During the seven-hour affair a First Aid - O - Ree, fire - starting contest and a

Other members of the cast from Magic Valley include Oren Miller, Jerome, Rose Berni, Glenns Ferry, is assisting the stage manager and Dave Erb, Buhl, is assistant set designer and lighting manager.

Girls Hurt as Rock Is Hurlled Through Window

HEYBURN — A three-inch rock thrown through a large picture window at the Everett Savage residence, one mile north of Heyburn, slightly injured the 12-year-old daughter of the Savages.

Jaunne Savage, and her six-year-old sister Kelly, were sitting beneath the large window when the rock was hurled through it, striking Jaunne in the head and scattering glass fragments over Kelly.

The Savages reported the rock was thrown about 8 p.m. Friday. They stated a car pulled away from the house and sped away. The Savages gave pursuit but could not find the automobile.

National Grange Aide Sets Speech

KING HILL — William J. Brake, Haslett, Mich., national Grange lecturer, will speak at the Moose hall in Jerome at 8 p.m. March 22, according to Karl Anderson, who acted as master of the King Hill Grange, when they met this week.

All Granges in Elmore County have been invited to attend this meeting and the regular King Hill Grange meeting for that date was postponed until March 29.

A letter was read asking the Grange to select a candidate for the Elmore County Fair queen contest.

Junior girls will be picked from the organizations in the county by March 25. Karl Anderson and Rodney Ruberry were appointed to a committee for selecting a girl from King Hill.

The Elmore County Fair will be held Aug. 11-13 at Glens Ferry fairgrounds and the county agents request that all organizations cooperate in making the 1966 Fair better than last year, Anderson said.

Reapportionment of the legislature was discussed and the Grange feels that unicameral legislative body to replace present two-house legislature would save expense.

Mrs. Arthur Greer read an article from the Mayo Clinic. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Finlayson and Jack Craig.

Benefit Game Is Held to Aid PTA Unit

HANSEN — The faculty and school board basketball team defeated area farmers and ranchers 33 to 31 in a fund raising basketball game Friday night at Hansen High School. Those playing on the faculty team were William C. Barnard, Bryan Harris Jr., Kenneth Daw, Ted Crockett, James Rand, Ted Crockett, Russell Thornock, Donald Barton and Larry Knudson.

On the farmer team were Cecil Stanger, Roy Stanger, Floyd Stanger, Roy Hancock, Harold Moore, Wayne Helms, Robert Pettygrove, Jack Allen, Leonard Daw, Gene Johnson, William Pearson, and Tommy Russell.

The event, sponsored by the PTA, netted some funds for the PTA. A social hour was held afterwards in the lunchroom.

This high school drill team, the Hetties, presented a drill. They wore their usual uniform skirts but with patches sewed on and wore cowboy hats and carried scarves.

Rupert Gives Warning on "Junk" Law

RUPERT — City officials are going to enforce the "junk" ordinance, Police Chief Ed Culver said Friday.

He noted the city has an ordinance banning city residents storing junk, including unused automobiles, on their property.

Ordinance 378, passed in 1960, defines junk as any used material or parts of material units which have become useless for the purpose for which material was originally fabricated, or manufactured, he notes.

At ordinance passed in 1948 further states that a vehicle shall not be left standing on a street, sidewalk or parking area for purposes of renting, repairing, selling or storing.

Culver noted that a vehicle not licensed for the current year is considered to be stored. Any junk not removed by the property owner after 15 days of written notice by city officials may be removed by the city at the expense of the property owner.

Ex-Resident Of Rupert Dies at 59

RUPERT — Roy L. Gabardi, 59, 275 Myrl St., Pocatello, formerly of Rupert, died Thursday in St. Anthony Mercy Hospital of a heart ailment.

He was born April 20, 1906, at Cumberland, Wyo., and moved to Kemmerer, Wyo., as a boy with his parents. They later moved to Rupert and he graduated from Rupert High School.

Mr. Gabardi worked for the Western Union Telegraph Co., Salt Lake City, and moved to Kemmerer, Wyo., in 1924, where he was employed as an operator for Union Pacific Railroad. In 1942 he was promoted as a dispatcher and in 1946 was transferred to Pocatello. He retired Oct. 2, 1965 due to disability.

He married Neda Dallolio on July 3, 1938, in Rupert. Mr. Gabardi was a member of the St. Joseph Catholic Church and the Union Pacific Old Timers Club.

Survivors include his widow, one brother, Clarence Gabardi, Ogden; three sisters, Mrs. Charles (Florence) Terragno, Ogden, Edna Gabardi, San Francisco, and Mrs. Emma Coletti, Pacific Grove, Calif.

Rosary will be recited at 7 p.m. Sunday at Walk Mortuary. Requiem high mass will be held at 10:30 a.m. Monday at St. Nicholas Catholic Church, Rupert, with Father Malachy McNeil, celebrant. Last rites will be in Rupert Cemetery. Friends may call at Walk Mortuary from Sunday afternoon until time of services.

Buhl Man Is Found Dead In Apartment

BUHL — Albert L. Neese, 81, was found dead Friday morning at his apartment at the Buhl Rooms. He died of natural causes, according to Dr. Luth Thompson, Twin Falls County Coroner.

Dr. Thompson estimated death occurred between 9 and 10 p.m. Thursday. The body was discovered by a friend who came to visit Mr. Neese about 10:30 Friday morning. Mr. Neese had been a resident of Buhl for the past several years.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Nora Mae Volin, Fallon, Nev., and one son, George Neese, Santa Rosa, Calif.

Funeral services are pending the arrival of relatives.

Hansen to Hear University Bands

HANSEN—Two major instrumental groups from the University of Idaho will join forces in a combined program which they will present in a number of southeastern Idaho communities during the week of March 13.

According to Ronald Koford, Hansen music department director, they will present a concert at the Hansen High School at 8 p.m. Thursday. No admission will be charged.

The university bands will be represented by the 46-member symphonic wind ensemble directed by Warren Bellis. The Little Symphony, drawn from the full membership of the University Symphony orchestra, will perform under the direction of Le-Ray Bauer.

COUPLE RETURNS SPRINGDALE — Mr. and Mrs. George D. Johnson returned home Thursday from Long Beach, Calif., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Johnson's father, William Moffit, a former resident of Cassia County.

Difference Listed Between Reapportionment Plans

BOISE (AP) — There are major differences between the reapportionment plan on which the Idaho Legislature completed action Saturday and the one that was approved at the first special session a year ago.

That first plan combined the sparsely populated counties into districts large enough to qualify for at least one senator or one representative.

But it did not divide into sub-districts the large population districts which were entitled to more than one legislator.

No county was divided in forming districts in the 1965 plan.

In the 1966 bill, however, a number of counties were divided between districts, with a portion of one county — as an example — being attached to an adjacent county to get a district of minimum population.

The 1965 Senate plan, of course, set up the districts in such a way that every county, regardless of population, it was that provision that caused it to be struck down by the U.S. District Court.

The 1965 House plan was upheld by the court, even though it did not provide for districts of equal population. It was arranged in such a way that the population per representative was substantially equal throughout the state. That was achieved by combining counties in such a way that they formed districts with multiples of approximately 10,000 population.

Each district then was given as many representatives as it had multiples of 10,000.

As an example, if one county had 23,000 population and an adjacent county 7,000, the two were put into one district, then given three representatives.

The 1966 plan is different. Taking those same two counties as an example, it would put 20,000 of the people in the large county into one district and give them one senator and two representatives.

The remaining 3,000 population, plus the 7,000 population county would be combined with another adjacent county having 10,000 people to make up another legislative district of 20,000. It, too, then would have one senator and two representatives.

The plan sets up 35 such districts, giving each one senator, 20,000 of those districts elect two representatives each. The remaining seven districts are subdivided into two sub-districts, each of which names one representative.

The latter provision was described as a compromise, to satisfy legislators from specific areas.

One of those areas embraces four counties in southwestern Idaho — Adams, Boise, Gem and Valley. Combined, they have about 20,000 population, enough for one legislative district.

Subdistricting was decided upon for that area, putting Gem County in one subdivision, and Adams, Boise and Valley in the other.

Thus, one senator will be elected from the entire four-county area. But for election of representatives the district will be split, with Gem County choosing one and Adams, Boise and Valley counties combining to name the other.

Twin Falls Man Dislikes New Garbage Ordinance

Editor, Times-News: I try to get along with everyone, but this new garbage ordinance has really got me down.

I have lived in Boise, Pocatello, Idaho Falls, as well as Nampa and Twin Falls, and a lot of smaller towns, and until the city (?) cracked down with this silly ordinance, I have always been told to put the garbage can in the alley.

The block in which I live has an open irrigation ditch on each side of the alley, so no one can pass in a car, truck or any other vehicle (except maybe a motorcycle). Yet we must not put a garbage can in the alley!

Another thing, the ordinance plainly states, section 5, (A), and I quote, "Each container shall be provided with handles or a bale (sic) and shall be no smaller than 32 gallons or larger than 32 gallons, or weigh more than 75 pounds when filled."

My wife and I live alone, eat most of our noon meals downtown, and all our garbage never exceeds a ten-pound pail full, yet we must have a 20 gallon garbage can to put it in!

Also, maybe the city will furnish a pair of scales, so everyone can be sure that they never put more than 75 pounds in the container!

Parent Isirate Over Lockup of Test Information

Editor, Times-News: I am an irate parent. Do you know why I am an irate parent? Because I am trying to help my child.

There is a law that hinders this.

Last October the school officials gave my child some mental tests, I gave my permission because I thought they would help him.

It turned out that I couldn't get the information on the papers because they had to be kept under lock and key. Do you think that is right to keep information under lock and key from anxious parents? I don't think so. I think this law is unconstitutional. I think it should be abolished.

How do you school officials expect us parents to help our children when you don't cooperate with us?

Boise Reader Questions Postal Service Efficiency

Editor, Times-News: In regard to the Hailey Times editorial, March 3, about the postal service under an Irish political hack, and all the other predecessors who were hacks regardless of administrations: I receive the Hailey Times in Boise all the way from Friday, to Tuesday (published Thursday), and I also receive the Times-News, Twin Falls, one to four days later, one issue the next day, and three issues four days later. Many times my Magic Valley friends are dead and buried when I receive the Times-News.

Maybe the publishers do not get their papers into the subsidized postal service, but I do know that the postal service is inefficient for many other reasons or examples. They are supposed to deliver the mail through wind, rain, snow, or through various means of transportation and the employees hope to retire in spite of this horrible delivery service. Many of the workers (mailmen) are fine men, but they have a top-heavy bureaucracy that stinks, and who get the cream of a heavily subsidized government agency.

Our Congress has added to this problem with their franked propaganda to try and keep our own state legislators in the process of demonstrating how little politicians regard the general welfare of the public they are supposed to represent, and the agencies they create and regulate.

Proposed Unemployment Bill Is Termed Vicious

Editor, Times-News: The vicious aspects of our present national administration are brought to light in a sleeper bill now before the House Ways and Means Committee.

H.R. 8282 would federalize state unemployment compensation systems and drastically increase employers' taxes even more dangerously than they are now.

Bills of this type are constantly being introduced and it would seem to this writer to be an attempt to destroy the backbone of our free system-independent business.

This vicious bill, if it is passed, would support the deadbeats and freeloaders across the nation. The people, like leeches, will vote to get anything that someone else has worked for.

H.R. 8282, in its present form, would compel every state to pay compensation for any reason a person may be unemployed for at least 26 weeks after working only 20 weeks. In addition, the federal government would pay benefits for an additional 26 weeks.

Where does the money come from? Increased prices? Lower wages? Reduced personnel?

The small businessman cannot afford to pay this increase on the slim margin of profit he now makes. He must make it up somehow. Will it be your job that pays for it? If he lets a man go that may pay for it. Will that man be you? Me?

Opposition to this resolution is just as important to the employee as it is to the employer. Help protect yourself, your job and the free enterprise system. Write your congressman. Protect your job. Protect our nation.

Need of Federal Funds for Sewer System Questioned

Editor, Times-News: The Twin Falls city manager, Herb Derrick, apparently has made application to the Federal Government for $1,500,000 which is to be used on the water and sewers systems.

Does this seem strange to you that the money voted to be spent last year for a still non-completed water system which was presented as costing the amount of the bond issue, $2,500,000, voted on then would be short of the needs?

All owners of new subdivisions must pay all costs of installing sewer and water systems needed. The city does not need funds for this.

Good planning creates public utilities capable of handling the needs 20 to 50 years in the future at the time they are installed. Why do large sewage users haul their waste to the desert, unable to use the sewer system?

I for one, have objected greatly to the number of high priced surveys and planning projects which have been conducted by outside specialists, two of which were the above sewer and water systems. Neither of these were possible to be handled by our own engineering crew maintained by the city.

It is, however, most interesting that since Paul Newton has resigned from the post of city engineer, supposedly, he has been retained to perform the engineering of the new water system.

There is a feeling that monies derived from the federal treasury are hidden funds which will need no accounting for and we should obtain all that is possible to get and worry not who pays them. I tell you that the federal government has no money except it obtains it from us the people.

Lincoln ASC Program to Start Monday

SHOSHONE — The conservation program for 1966 in Lincoln County through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will begin Monday, Eugene Alexander, chairman announces.

Requests for cost sharing will be accepted for construction type practices starting on this date.

Producers requesting cost sharing should contact the contractors who are going to do the work and obtain cost estimates for the work to be done. This will assist the County ASCS office in setting up funds to meet the cost-sharing requirements.

The county weed program has not yet received final approval and therefore will not be eligible for cost-sharing applications at this time.

Approval is expected at any time and announcement will be made when it is received.

County program handbooks are being prepared and will be mailed to all producers.

Anyone wishing one who does not receive one way contact the County ASCS office.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, MARCH 13 — Born today, you have been gifted with keen intuition and instincts but, ironically, these very gifts can be a danger to your success, for they can make you feel that things are fated rather than that most things can be more or less controlled by you. Remember that your destiny is in your hands, and that intuition and instinct can be used just as easily for getting ahead as they can as an excuse for not doing so. To feel intuitively that one is born to failure is actually to will oneself to fail.

Sincere and honest in your dealings with others, you are often not so in your dealings with yourself. Not one to give yourself the benefit of doubt, you are more likely to underestimate your abilities than to overestimate them or even judge them accurately. Others may very well know you better than you know yourself, and you might therefore be wise to consult with close friends and objective professionals when it comes to making decisions as to your future.

You cannot easily be pushed against your will but because you are affectionate by nature and eager to please, you can easily be influenced by those you love and admire. For this reason it is important that you find a mate who knows your true potential, someone who can judge your abilities and your reactions better than you can yourself.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

(19) — Business and social affairs may be competing for your attention today. Only you can tell which is more vital to your future.

Traffic Toll Felt Bigger Problem Than Viet Nam

Editor, Times-News: According to the news, less than 1,500 servicemen have been killed in Viet Nam in the past five years.

During the same period about 250,000 people were killed and a few million more were crippled by autos in the U.S.

Thousands march in protest of the war in Viet Nam.

A lot of folks tear up their draft cards. The churches go all out protesting the war in Viet Nam.

Morse and Fulbright screaming to high heaven that the administration consists of nothing but murderers and nincompoops. But, do we see any thousands of marchers marching in protest of the 50,000 people killed every year by cars?

Do we hear of the churches holding meetings and deploring ing the useless slaughter of all these citizens? Do we hear any congressmen or senators getting all steamed up over 50,000 people killed each year by auto wrecks?

I believe a person would stand no less chance getting killed crossing the streets anywhere in Twin Falls than he would fighting in Viet Nam.

(See the record of pedestrians killed here in Twin Falls the past five years, the record for all of Idaho; the record for all the U.S.)

Do we see any students or others tearing up their drivers' licenses in protest of all the auto deaths in the U.S.?

Confucius says: "They that moan the loudest don't necessarily have the most pain."

Ho Chi Minh Is Termed Tyrant Of Viet Nam

Editor, Times-News: As Henry Taylor has spelled out in his column in the Times-News, the "Tyrant of Viet Nam" is the old type tyrant like Genghis Khan and those human reptiles.

Any half-witted idiot should realize Minh, has to be done away with. If he signs any agreement we can be sure it is lies, for he must be recognized for the tyrant he is.

The "Milk Toasts" from the White House down are apparently just afraid to reallyoust him and our men are being killed with no chance to win.

Our military men have told us the score, but let McNamara run the slaughter area. No wonder he is disarming us for that outfit is afraid to fight and would sooner let our enemy take us over.

May God help us. The "Great Society," "Gigantic Swindle," is afraid to.

T.F. Mother Is Tired of Bickering on College Site

Editor, Times-News: I think the time has come for the mothers of Magic Valley to take a stand and get something started that will hasten the construction of the College of Southern Idaho, which our children badly need and richly deserve.

There has been bickering between the north side and the south side for many weeks over the college site. It was decided to spend a great deal of money, badly needed for other things, to call in a survey group and let them decide where the college should be located. This has been accomplished.

Since that time the bickering has not stopped! The men of the Magic Valley on both sides of the river are still at each others' throats about this location and can still not pull themselves together to give our young people what they need.

Who are they thinking of, our children or themselves?

I am a mother of four teenage children. All of them are college age, or nearing that point rapidly. I want them all to have a college education.

Have you mothers looked into the cost of keeping one or four children in college today? You and your husband would have to work 24 hours a day, 365 days a year to maintain your children in college.

You would almost have to starve to send them away from home for the years of schooling they need. But if you could keep them home this cost would be almost bearable.

I think the time has come for the mothers of the north side and the mothers of the south side to become involved in this situation. Let's take our menfolk in hand and get something done. If the men can't do it I'm sure the mothers can.

Let's pull together, forget the petty bickering and ancient inter-valley emotional scars, and get on with the job of building a campus for this wonderful institution.

State Spending Increase Is Greater Than Federal

Editor, Times-News: Idaho has experienced a steady growth. Over the last 20 years we have achieved a 30 per cent population increase and a 152 per cent increase in personal income.

Although there are many who would take credit for this growth, the main reason has been the increase of 50,000 acres of new irrigated land which has come into production each year since World War II.

In comparison, state expenditures have spiraled at the dizzy rate of 515 per cent (1945 to 1965). In 1945 Idaho employed 2,113 state employees and spent (state funds only) $22,518,000. By 1965 the authorized expenditures inflated to $138,000,000 and the employees climbed to 7,557.

State employees in 1945 averaged one per 250 citizens; in 1965 one per 92 citizens or one for every 29 households. Expenditures are increasing three and one-half times faster than the growth of our economy and 16 times faster than the population growth.

How long can this trend continue?

State spending has increased faster than federal spending. Many people express understandable concern about federal spending, but few realize that state spending is increasing faster than the federal.

In 1955 the federal budget was approximately $65 billion, and is now $110 billion — a 70 per cent increase which includes Viet Nam war expenses. Idaho spending for the same period increased from $69 million to $138 million or 100 per cent. We have no war excuse.

The sales tax referendum is intertwined with the attitude that we desire to foster concerning the conduct of Idaho state affairs.

Fundamentally we will be voting as to whether or not we want to "do well those things that are most important" or follow the more expensive policy "do all things for all people."

If the spending route is taken, in my opinion, the farm exemptions and the 10 percent deductions will soon disappear from our Sales Tax Act.

Reader Not Convinced on "One Man, One Vote" Rule

Editor, Times-News: The United States Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" reapportionment ruling was based on the principle of majority government instead of by counties.

Here in Idaho, where we have little or no literacy, the Idaho Legislature will be based on population, if and when the present Legislature ever reapportions the state.

Since the Supreme Court is constantly revising our Constitution if the ulterior motive is not a majority government, but one that will be eventually controlled by a few political bosses.

With "ward heeler" it is very much easier to control the city votes than it is to control the rural votes.

Chief Justice Earl Warren a few days ago said, "Congress has the power under the 15th Amendment to suspend literary tests and to order federal registration into the Deep South to banish the blight of racial discrimination."

This decision applies to the United States as well as to the Deep South for the Justice Department has initiated voter registration among the Arizona Indians.

The majority of these Indians are illiterate, and in some counties they are in the majority, the same is true in the Deep South.

Attorney General Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, Luther King, Roy Wilkins, James Farmer and others are encouraging non-whites to file as candidates for various county offices in counties where they have a voting majority.

These Negro leaders know where they can outvote the whites with the help of the pinks, radicals, do-gooders and Communists.

After they have demonstrated that they can win, they will move into the Northern congressional districts with candidates for Congress, where they will have the voting majority.

In the final analysis, will the "one man, one vote" principle be in the interest of the people, and I mean all the people?

DIETRICH BECOMES STATE A-4 CHAMPION

Devils Run Over Roberts 67-41; Knowles Cans 26, Leads Tourney Scorers

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP)—Dietrich had an easy time with Roberts—winning 67-41 to take the Idaho State Class A-4 High School Basketball Championship here Saturday night. Nezperce won the consolation championship by defeating Kootenai 56-50. Roberts led a brief lead in the first quarter but Dietrich quickly took charge of the boards and controlled play the rest of the way. Byron Weiss led the Dietrich backboard crew, getting 13 of his 17 points for the game with first half stuffers.

Dietrich took command at the half 31-16 and gained the biggest margin at 67-39.

Ron Knowles was the game's top scorer—getting 26 points. He was also the tournament's high scorer with 88 points.

Roberts' scoring effort was headed by Dennis Jackson with 11 points.

Nezperce moved to the consolation win on the strength of Gerald Forth's 19 points and a tough last-minute defense.

Kootenai led at the first turn 13-12 but could produce a meager seven points in the second quarter and trailed at the half 28-20. Nezperce turned out 12 straight points in the second quarter to take charge until late in the fourth period when Kootenai's Joe Damiano stole the ball and brought his team to within four points at 52-48 with a field goal. He scored a pair of field goals to close it to 52-50 but Forth put it out of reach at the 1:30 to go mark when he hit four straight free throws on a pair of one-and-one situations.

Ken Wadsworth topped the Kootenai attack with 14 points.

ONE OF THE TOP SLALOM racers in the world Jean Claude Killy of France will be at Sun Valley March 24-27 competing in the American International Team races. Shown here in the 1965 Harriman Cup races at the Idaho resort, Killy has been cleaning up on his European competition this season. Teams representing France, Austria, Switzerland, Canada and the U.S.A. will be at Sun Valley for the races.

French, Austrians Are Favored in Werner Cup

SUN VALLEY — Austria's men's and France's women are favored to again dominate the American International Team races for the Werner Cup here March 24-27 and the two countries should wage a hot duel for the team championship.

Switzerland, with a solid men's team, and the U.S. and Canada, each with some fine individuals but weaker overall depth, will be trying to penetrate the Austrian-French domination.

Each nation will enter five men and four women on their teams. The first 60 per cent of each field (15 men and 12 women) will score team points with the combined total determining the final rankings. This is in contrast to a year ago when separate standings were kept for men and women.

Defending champions in all six events are expected to be in the 1966 Werner Cup field.

The 1965 women champs were Marielle Gotschel of France in the slalom and a tie finisher with America's Jean Sabourin in the giant slalom and Austria's Traudl Hechner in the downhill.

The men winners at last year's inaugural meet were Jean-Claude Killy of France, a double titlist in slalom and giant slalom, and Austria's Heini Messner in downhill.

Marielle Gotschel and Killy go into this year's races fresh from outstanding performances during the European campaign.

The appearance of Switzerland in this year's meet may carve into Austria's downhill domination and help France's overall effort.

Veteran Karl Schranz, having one of his greatest seasons, and young Werner Bleiner, new Austrian sensation, lead their team and the Austrians will again be tough and well-balanced. In addition, they'll very probably have the services again of 1964 Olympic downhill champion Eggon Zimmermann who is back in action after missing most of last winter because of injuries.

France ranks as the top nation in slalom with the tremendous Gotschel sisters and Killy heading a swinging crew of gatecrashers.

Magic Valley Outlaw Meet Dates Told

FILER — The Ninth annual Magic Valley Outlaw Basketball tournament has been scheduled for March 22, 23, 24 and 25 at the Filer High School gymnasium.

According to tournament directors, Lee Bartlett of Twin Falls and Bill Brake of Filer, it will be a double elimination tournament with a sudden death championship. There will be room for 16 teams and only teams from Magic Valley will be accepted.

Teams will be limited to ten players and one coach. To be eligible to play a player cannot play with more than one team during this tournament and can not have played with any college or junior college team this school year. A player may be added to a team as long as the team does not go over the 10-player limit.

For more information contact Lee Bartlett at 733-2126 or Bill Brake at 326-4213.

The Pocatello team, composed of Idaho State University Alumni and students, is expected to go all the way through the upper bracket of the meet.

However, Valley Nursing Homes boasting one-time Idaho great Tom Moreland, and Don's Quality Meats of Rupert are expected to provide some rough competition, provided they advance into the quarter finals.

Following the opening game will be Fenton's Sporting Goods of Burley vs. Ore - Ida Foods at 8:15 and Valley Nursing vs. Reeds Litho Print of Heyburn at 9 p.m.

The winners of the first two games will meet at 9 p.m. Wednesday and the winner of the third game will take on the winner of Tuesday's Times-News Don's Quality Meats title game.

Sixteen teams are entered in the single elimination affair.

Co-favorite along with the Pocatello team is Johnson Electric of Nampa, a team made up of Northwest Nazarene Christian College and College of Idaho students and alumni.

The Nampa team will spotlight Coyote star Taft Jackson, who was named to an honorable mention for the Little All-America team earlier this month.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—National League pitchers will continue to draw a $50 fine whenever an umpire decides they have thrown deliberately at a batter, President Warren C. Giles said Saturday.

His announcement came after a report that the American League no longer would assess an automatic levy against pitchers who are warned by umpires for throwing close to or hitting batters.

Caldwell Rally Cut Short; I.F. Gets Consolation

BOISE (AP)—The Borah Lions held off a desperate last period rally by Caldwell Saturday night to take its second Class A-1 Idaho championship in a row 50-49. Caldwell was eight points behind with 2:27 minutes left in the game but closed the gap and threatened to take the game as some 4,500 fans screamed and some tried to pour onto the court.

Caldwell's Terry Squibb fired the last-second shot, but the buzzer sounded before Caldwell could try again. A fast break by Borah's Steve Brewer seconds before proved to be the winning basket.

Caldwell pressed Borah repeatedly but Borah maintained a lead from early in the second quarter to the end. When Caldwell managed to close the gap, Borah's Gary Freeman took over to widen it again.

It was all Freeman in the second quarter as he scored 12 points including eight free throws on eight tries. Borah led 31-24 at the half.

In the closing minutes Borah's 48-40 lead dwindled as Caldwell ran off nine straight points with a full court press that forced Borah to make mistakes.

A steal by Caldwell's Dennis Walker closed the score to 47-47. Borah's Steve Brewer got away to boost the score to 50-47 and Squibb scored Caldwell's final points.

Freeman led scoring with 23 points and took down 11 rebounds. Mike Garman hit 17 points to lead Caldwell.

Idaho Falls put up a balanced scoring attack and collected on Lewiston fouls earlier to win the A-1 consolation title with a 68-61 victory.

Lewiston took an early 10-5 lead with the scoring of Steve Olson and Rodell Hill. But Idaho Falls' Stuart Boyd collected three field goals and four free throws to put his team ahead 30-23 at the half.

Big Phil Waters and Bernie Schmitt took over for Idaho Falls in the second half when Lewiston moved into the lead again behind the shooting of Olson and Hill.

Improvising Utah Trips Oregon State 70-64 to Gain Western NCAA Title

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A hustling, inventive University of Utah team outshot and outrebounded the lumbering Oregon State Beavers for the NCAA Far West Regional championship Saturday night, winning 70-64. In the consolation game the Houston Cougars defeated the University of the Pacific 102-91. Utah was everywhere, improvising on its fast break and crisp passing attack. Oregon State, Pacific Athletic Conference champ, could not find the basket.

Western Texas Nips Kansas In Overtime

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Willie Cager hit the deciding goal with 32 seconds remaining in the second overtime period, lifting Texas Western past Kansas 81-80 Saturday night in the final of the NCAA Midwest Regional basketball playoffs. The victory shot the third-ranked Miners into the national semifinals next weekend at College Park, Md. Cager's two-point shot off a last-minute scoring spree by Kansas' Roger Lopez, who pumped in three field goals and a free throw in the final 56 seconds after the Miners had opened a six-point lead.

Duke Rallies To Win NCAA East Regional

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Duke's Blue Devils raced to a 16-point first half lead, but had to come from behind in the closing minutes to defeat Syracuse 91-81 Saturday night and win the NCAA Eastern Regional basketball playoffs.

A capacity crowd of 12,400 in Reynolds Gymnasium saw Duke charge back after Syracuse went ahead 74-72 with 5:43 to play.

Jack Martin, with 22 points, and Bob Verga, with 21, were the top scorers as Duke snapped back late in the game to seal the victory and earn a berth in the National semifinals at College Park, Md., next Friday.

In the consolation game, St. Joseph's raced to a 20-point second half lead to beat Davidson 92-76 for third place.

St. Joseph's beaten by Duke 76-74 Friday night, broke the game open early in the second half after holding a 43-35 half-time lead.

Davidson, Southern Conference champion and routed by Syracuse 94-78 Friday night, proved no match for the speedy Hawks.

Dolan Grabs Small Lead In Golf Meet

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jay Dolan shot a three-under-par 69 Saturday and took a one-stroke lead with one round to play in the $100,000 Doral Open Golf Tournament.

Bogeying the last hole, the 26-year-old son of a Leicester, Mass., pro finished the 54 holes with a 207 total, nine under par for the 7,028-yard par-72 Doral course.

He was one stroke ahead of Kermit Zarley of Yakima, Wash., leader for the first two rounds, and Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif.

Zarley, playing with Dolan as the last threesome on the course, also bogeyed the last hole by missing a putt of five feet for a 71.

Rodgers shot a steady 70. One stroke back at 209 was Gardner Dickinson, who had a 69.

Not even an eagle could help Arnold Palmer, who bogeyed two of the holes on the finishing nine for a 71 that left him tied with three others at 210.

Race, Religion, Finance and Patriotism Keep Title Match Picture Out of Focus

NEW YORK (AP)—Race, religion, high finance and patriotism are the ingredients of a strange brew that has shrunk a potential $3 million heavyweight championship fight into a brawl that'll be lucky to make a half million.

Center of the caldron is Cassius Clay who prefers to be known by his Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali. He is a 6-foot-2½ inch, 215-pound boxer who some experts — and particularly Muhammad Ali — think is or might be the greatest fighter who ever lived.

But he was a tongue as agile as his feet. That's how the trouble started.

Matters were proceeding smoothly towards a fight in Chicago March 29 between Clay, the champion, and Ernest Terrell, a 6-foot-8 prime contender. Then on Feb. 27, in response to lowered standards caused by the war in Viet Nam, Clay was reclassified by his draft board in Louisville, Ky., from 1Y to 1A. That meant he was eligible for the draft after having been exempted for mental aptitude reasons.

"Why me?" Clay demanded to know. "How did they do this to me, the heavyweight champion of the world? For two years the Army told everybody I was a nut and I was ashamed. And now they decide I'm a wise man."

Clay can't understand how they do this to me — a man who pays the salary of 200,000 men a year — 200,000, do you hear? Why are they so anxious to pay me $50 a month — me, who in two fights pays for six new jet planes?

Clay's arithmetic might be open to challenge but if the fight with Terrell had gone off, the taxes would have been in the range of $500,000.

It was a juicy setup. The closed circuit television with 200 locations might have grossed between $2 and $3 million. Other rights such as movies, European television via Telstar, and delayed television could have brought in from $100,000 to $500,000. Paid attendance at the Chicago International Amphitheatre probably would have been $200,000.

Out of this very considerable sum, Clay's share would be 50 percent. Other men might have kept their mouths shut. But Clay, who has always proclaimed, "I am the greatest," felt he must speak his mind.

He hinted that maybe he was made eligible for the draft because of his religion.

Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois that if he won he must fight like this one.

He called them "unpatriotic, disgusting."

The Illinois Athletic Commission listened to the governor, called a meeting to reconsider its license for the fight, and summoned Clay. First it seemed he might apologize but when he appeared he had his chin in the air.

"I would like to say I'm not here to make a showdown plea or apologize the way the press said I would. If I've got apologizing to do I'll do it to government officials, draft boards and others."

Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark said the promoters did not meet Illinois regulations. The athletic commission finally decided by a 2-1 vote against permitting the fight in the state.

That set the promotion to wandering. Montreal turned it down as did its suburb of Verdun. Finally it was lodged in the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto.

All the while cancellations for closed circuit television theaters poured in.

Then to complicate matters Terrell said he wanted no part of the fight on terms imposed by the Maple Leaf Gardens, which, he said, included no guarantee for him, plus the requirement

Kentucky Rallies to Top Michigan 84-77

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Top ranked Kentucky blew a 12-point lead but rallied behind the 29-point shooting of Pat Riley to defeat Big Ten champion Michigan 84-77 for the NCAA Midwest Regional basketball title Saturday night. Kentucky meets No. 2 ranked Duke in the NCAA semifinals at College Park, Md., next Friday night. All-America Cazzie Russell nearly pulled it out of the fire singlehandedly for Michigan, but after the Wolverines moved ahead 53-52 midway in the last half, the speedy Wildcats turned on some real pressure and won comfortably.

Kentucky's fast break dumped Michigan behind by 12 points most of the latter part of the first half, which ended with Kentucky ahead 42-32.

Russell, held to only 10 points in the first half, came to life at the outset of the second half and pumped in four straight points in a Michigan surge, which left the Wolverines behind by only four points, 42-38, one minute after the half began.

Kentucky's 26th victory against only a March 5 defeat by Tennessee was built around a torrid 54 per cent accuracy from the field.

Michigan's last real threat of the game came with 16:37 left as Russell scored a pair of free throws to cut Kentucky's lead to 64-62. Then a six-point Kentucky burst, including four by Riley, nudged the Wildcats to a 70-62 margin and they were home safe after that.

Western Kentucky won the consolation game with an easy 82-68 victory over Dayton.

The victory avenged an earlier 77-57 Dayton victory over the Hilltoppers from Bowling Green, Ky., who finished up with a 25-3 record.

Western Kentucky played as though still stung by a last second defeat by Michigan, 80-79, in Friday night's first round.

Western Kentucky took command over the Flyers after the lead changed hands 10 times within the first 10 minutes.

Oliva Comes to Twins' Terms

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Tony Oliva, the American League batting champion the past two seasons, ended his two-week holdout Saturday and signed his 1966 contract with the Minnesota Twins.

President Calvin Griffith did not disclose terms, but Oliva is believed to have signed for about $30,000. He had been holding out for about $35,000 and Griffith's last reported offer was $28,000.

Those who saw him score a technical knockout of Tony Patterson in the 12th round last Nov. 22 in Las Vegas, Nev., are still arguing. Some think the ring has never seen such a big man who is so fast, who can dance through a fight from start to finish, who can punish an opponent with a left hand that seems impossible to get under if, who, in short, when he finishes learning his trade might write his name at the very top of the list.

With all its ingredients, there has never been a championship fight like this one.

Roberts Still Capable of Top Pitching

By The Associated Press When Robin Roberts arrived in the major leagues, Harry Truman had not been elected president, the Russians hadn't exploded an atomic bomb, and the Korean War had not begun.

Roberts, now 39 years old, is seeking another year on the job, and he triggered his campaign Friday with a near-perfect performance in Cocoa, Fla.

The Houston pitcher-coach allowed only an infield single to Danny Cater in three innings as the Astros blanked the Chicago White Sox 3-0 for their second straight exhibition victory.

Roberts, who started his major league career in 1948, struck out two and didn't walk anyone in his first appearance under fire since bone chips were removed from his elbow this winter.

The winningest right-hander among active pitchers, Roberts is testing his arm during spring training to determine whether the Astros will have to find a spot for him on the roster. If he doesn't make it, he will be a pitching coach.

But if early indications mean anything, the one-time Philadelphia Phillie Phan Phan will make his 19th year an active one.

TETON RIPS GLENN'S FERRY IN A-3 FINALS

Moffatt's Torrid Shooting Paces 66-47 Decision

BURLEY—Junior Greg Moffatt gunned through 22 points in a torrid shooting display Saturday night to give Teton of Driggs the state Class A-3 basketball championship, an easy 66-47 decision over Glenn's Ferry Pilots. Moffatt hit the first 6 points for his team as Teton moved easily ahead of ice cold Glenn's Ferry. The Pilots managed only one field goal in the first 12 minutes and never really threatened.

Porter Named To A-3 Meet All-Stars

BURLEY — Juniors dominated the all-tournament team picked Saturday night at the close of the Idaho state A-3 basketball meet. The five, which includes three juniors, would average 6 feet, 2 inches in height. Glenn's Ferry placed 5-9 junior Rick Porter, the big reason the Pilots took the title, but big men took the other spots. New Plymouth contributed senior center Sam Batchman, 6-5, who made 46 points in his two tournament showings while Highland had 6-3 senior center Bill Grogg, capable of playing forward and preferring baseline and corner shots for his scoring. Junior Gregg Moffatt, a powerful 6-2 junior, can score, rebound and handle the ball while Fruitland's high-scoring senior Larry Kimmes rounds out the dream five.

Oklahoma Baptist Is NAIA Champ

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Al Tucker named the tourney's Most Valuable Player, scored 41 points to lead Oklahoma Baptist to the NAIA Basketball Tournament championship Saturday night in an 88-59 victory over Georgia Southern. Oklahoma Baptist was runner-up last year. Grambling, La., snared third place by edging Norfolk, Va., State 111-110. Georgia Southern broke out to an early nine-point lead at 15-6, but R. B. Lynam and Tucker took charge and quickly led Baptist to a 38-33 halftime lead. It was after intermission that Tucker went to work. The slender 6-foot-8 junior, hit from all angles, and his 41 points gave him the tournament scoring title, with 182. Grambling, holding a 10-point lead with 1:30 left, held off a closing rush by Norfolk State. Grambling was third-seeded, but barely was able to win in the first three rounds, then lost to Oklahoma Baptist in the semifinals. Against Norfolk, however, the Louisiana team looked real strong, repeatedly going for easy lay-ups off a blazing fast break.

Wins Title

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Provo's anti-obscenity ordinance will face its federal court test March 18 before U. S. District Judge Willis W. Ritter. The judge issued a temporary restraining order Thursday after Bonneville News Co. filed a suit against Provo city commissioners, Recorder Glen Olsen and Police Chief Jesse Evans.

NEW YORK (AP)—Doug Hice's field goal and two free throws in the third overtime powered Boston College to a 96-90 basketball victory over Louisville Saturday night and enabled the Eagles to follow Army, Villanova and San Francisco into the quarter-finals of the National Invitation Tournament. In a quarter-final double-header next Tuesday Boston College will play Villanova, which edged defending

Top Juniors to Hold Tourney

WINTER PARK, Colo. (AP) — The best of the nation's young skiers, numbering more than 250, will compete in the Junior National Ski Championships here next week. Although training and other events are booked for seven days, the real competition begins Thursday with downhill racing. Giant slalom and cross-country are set for Friday with slalom and jumping Saturday. Competition will be in girls and boys divisions. The top racers and jumpers from eight divisions across the country are entered. Although temperatures topped 40 degrees above zero on four days in the past week, area manager Steve Bradley said there is plenty of snow at this resort 70 miles west of Denver.

STOPPED FROM BEHIND—Terry Woods (50), Glenn's Ferry Pilot, never got this shot off against the defensive work of Soda Springs Preston Phelps (40) and Ted Larson (52). Watching are Pilots Rick Porter (32) and Bob Gonzales. Glenn's Ferry stunned Soda Springs 52-51 in this one to earn the right to play for the state A-3 title. (Times-News photo)

Hawks' Hull Sets 51-Goal NHL Record

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Hull set a National Hockey League lifetime record of 51 goals Saturday night when he slapped a blue dart special past New York's Cesare Maniago to lead the Chicago Black Hawks to a 4-2 victory.

The Hawks, shutout in three previous games and apparently headed for defeat as New York took a 2-0 lead after two periods, finally broke a scoreless famine of 22 minutes and 55 seconds when Chico Maki, assisted by Hull, pumped in a goal at 2:57 of the third period. Less than three minutes later, with the Rangers shorthanded, Hull slammed home his historic goal to lift Chicago into a 2-2 tie. The shot was from inside the blue line and estimated at some 50 feet. Hull's 51st goal also accounted for another NHL record since it marked his 21st goal of the season on a power play. Camille Henry had set the record of 20 power goals in the 1953-54 season when he was a member of the Rangers.

CHICAGO (AP) — William Wendt, former DePaul basketball coach, died Saturday in Resurrection Hospital. He was 50.

Boarding Problems Hit Angels

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Anaheim State led most of the way in the two-mile relay but had to hold off a stretch challenge by Villanova anchor man Dave Patrick. The winning time was 7:30.1. Patrick closed with a rush but stumbled and fell at the finish line.

Martin McGrady, a Central State of Ohio entry, clipped six-tenths of a second off the meet record in the 600-yard run, breaking the tape at 1:09.4. The previous mark was 1:10 set in last year's inaugural championships by LSU's Leland Albright. The first four finishers broke the old record.

In the two-mile run five competitors bettered the meet mark of 8:56.4 set in 1965 by Herald Hadley of Kansas. Washington State's Gerry Lindgren staved off a last lap challenge by John Lawson of Kansas and captured the two-mile in 8:43.1. Lawson, who finished in 8:43.1, was on Lindgren's heels most of the way but trailed at the end by about 30 feet.

Chris Westman of Washington State was third with a time of 8:50.2. Doug Brown of Montana was fourth with 8:52.1 and Tom Heinonen of Minnesota fifth with 8:55.3.

Boarding Problems Hit Angels

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Anaheim State led most of the way in the two-mile relay but had to hold off a stretch challenge by Villanova anchor man Dave Patrick. The winning time was 7:30.1. Patrick closed with a rush but stumbled and fell at the finish line.

The ballplayers had driven to Orange to look for rental apartments. They answered a "Welcome Angels" advertisement that had been posted on the club's bulletin board. "We went there and told the lady who we were," May related. "She said she had one vacancy. She didn't actually say we weren't wanted, but you can read between the lines."

A second apartment house they tried in Garden Grove, May said, suddenly had nothing available under $250 a month though it had advertised apartments for $180.

A third place displayed a vacancy sign in the window, but was all filled up when the pair inquired, May said.

"What am I going to do?" Cardenal asked. "Live in Los Angeles and drive an hour to the ballpark each night? You shouldn't have to do a thing like this and still play your best." May and Cardenal are two of seven Negroes on the club.

Lesson of Sand Dollar

BY LAVERNE PERSCHBACHER
Wheat Ridge, Colo.

Mike was 14 when his dog, Dugan, was hit by a car. He prayed earnestly that God would spare his injured pet, but Dugan died.

Then Mike turned to God much as I have seen adults do in times of grief.

He grieved terribly and spent long periods in his room.

I found him there one afternoon, idly toying with a small mound of objects on his bed.

A couple of round steak bones, chewed white, the little red collar and leash, and some sea shells brought back from last summer's vacation.

"Mike, you have to stop this," I said. "We all miss Dugan, but we have to go on. We must accept things as they are."

"But why?" The anguish in Mike's voice was deep and real.

Where God Comes In

"This is where God comes in, Mike. I don't know why Dugan had to die, but I know God loved him as He does us — and every creature on earth. Faith, Mike, is believing when you can't understand, when you can't touch or see."

"Well, I want something I can see. Give me just one proof I should believe — just one."

If I only could, I thought, and I looked from Mike to the small collection of memories on his bed — objects that spoke to Mike of love.

Among the shells I noticed two round flat discs, bleached white by sun and waves.

"Mike, you asked for something you could see, something tangible. Excitement put a catch in my voice. 'Do you remember that when we bought those sea shells the woman told us a story about one of them?'"

A Legend

Mike picked up the two inch, thin, circular shell. "She said it was called a sand dollar, and there was a legend — wait, it's on a little card she gave me."

Mike got up, rummaged in his desk, and returned with a printed card.

Mike began reading aloud:

"That I would like to tell, Of the birth and death of Jesus Found in this lovely shell. If you examine closely, You'll see that you find here, Four nail holes and a fifth one all perfectly matched — formed in the depths of the ocean, countless years before, by an all-wise Creator."

"I had not realized, until that moment, how my own faith had needed reaffirming too."

The light in Mike's eyes was something to see. I hope it never dims — but if it does I know that God will have another moment of revelation ready, prepared in His infinite wisdom before doubting man was even born.

(From the magazine Lentenposts and copyright, 1966, by Guideposts Association, Inc., Carmel, N. Y.)

Made by a Roman's spear. On one side the Easter Lily, its center is the star. That appeared unto the shepherds And led them from afar. The Christmas poinsettia Etched on the other side Remind us of His birthday Our happy Christmastide. Now break the center open And here you will release The five white doves awaiting To spread good will and peace. This simple little symbol, Christ left for you and me — To help us spread His Gospel Through all eternity."

"Just a Gimmick"

It was very quiet when Mike finished reading. Then he cleared his throat.

"Five tiny white doves? It's probably just a gimmick."

"Mike, you have two sand dollars here. Let's break them open and see if they have five doves inside."

I sat down at his desk. My heart was racing as I picked up his knife. What if it really was a gimmick? My hand trembled as I plunged the knife into the hard shell.

The shell broke open, they came tumbling out: one, two, three, four. . . in panic I shook the shell — and there it was — five. Five tiny bits of white shell, each shaped like a dove in flight. Mike picked them up.

Faith Reaffirmed

"How about that! How about that," he kept saying.

Taking the knife from me he broke the other shell. Sure enough, five little white doves,

Promotions Are Announced by Forest Service

Regional Forester Floyd Iverson announced Saturday that Gordon L. Watts, Ogden, has been promoted to deputy regional forester for the Intermountain Region.

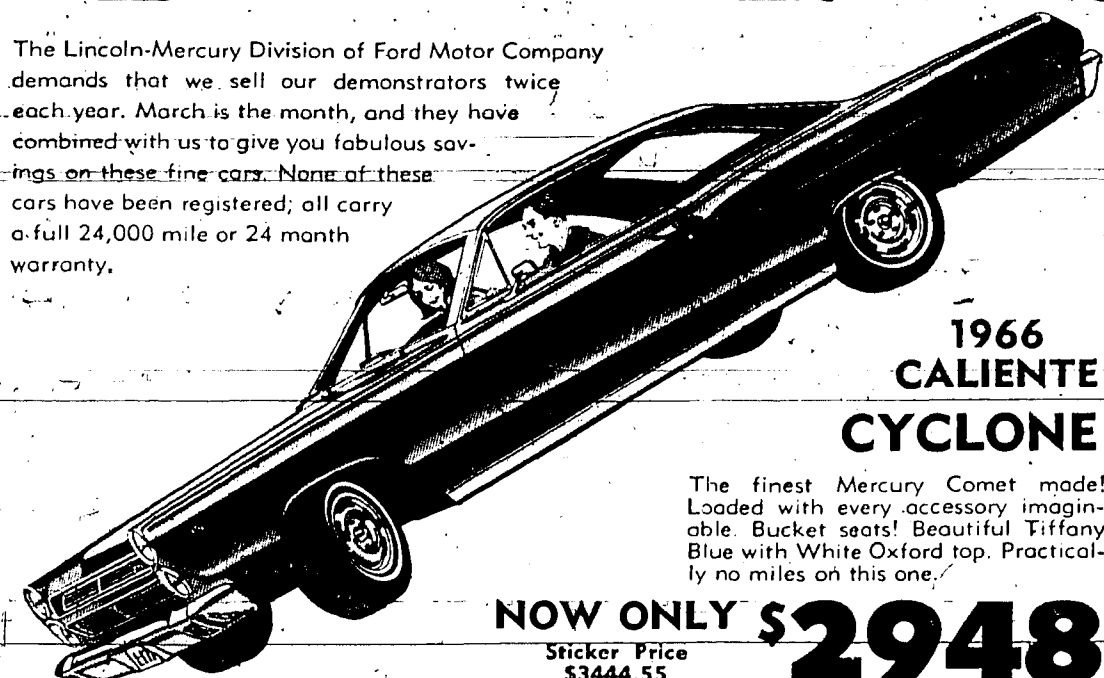

He will replace William D. Hurst who was promoted to regional forester of the Southwest Region.

Watts, who is a native of Idaho, received his degree in forestry from the University of Michigan in 1941 and started to work with the Forest Service after serving in the Army during World War II.

Watts was moved up from the position of assistant regional forester for soil and water management at Ogden. This position will be filled by Simon L. (Buck) Cusick, transferred from the Washington, D.C., office of the Forest Service.

Wind Direction, Velocity Data Are Gathered for Airport Study Project

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor

The wind in this section of Idaho seems to be on the move most of the time. There is a project under way right now to find out where it goes and how fast it gets there in an area for which no such data are available.

The area is in Jerome county, west of highway 93 and at the edge of the Jerome Country Club property. The project is all a part of a broad one designed to coordinate thinking as to whether Joslin Field, Twin Falls' municipal airport, should be modernized and expanded or whether an entirely new airport should be constructed in some other location.

The study, being sponsored jointly by Twin Falls County and the City of Twin Falls, is progressing under the direction of Cornell Howland, Hayer and Merryfield, a Boise engineering firm. It will be completed in the span of about 120 days or in the neighborhood of the middle of June.

At the end of the study there will be available data as to what changes will be necessary in the Twin Falls airport to bring it up to jet standards and there will also be two recommendations for possible alternate sites.

The move to improve and enlarge the local field, or build a new one in another location is necessary because West Coast Airlines will inaugurate jet flights through the area in the not too distant future.

The extension of the main runway at the Twin Falls field and possible construction of a crosswind runway in addition would be paid for by federal funds along with money from Twin Falls County and Twin Falls City.

Any new airport which might be constructed would probably be sponsored jointly by several cities and counties and the location would probably be in the population center of the area. This would be somewhere on the north side of the Snake River canyon and in the general vicinity of the intersection of Highway 93 and the new Interstate 80N.

Data on wind direction and velocity in this general area are now being recorded on a special instrument installed late last week at the east end of the Jerome Country Club property.

The special instrument, on loan from the University of Oregon, was installed by Edwin C. Woods, Twin Falls airport manager; Kenneth Link, airport maintenance official, and Jim Penland, groundskeeper at the country club.

A recording instrument is attached to the velocity and direction instruments and as a result, wind and direction are automatically recorded every minute of time the operation is in progress.

UP INTO THE BLUE goes a combination wind direction and velocity instrument which will record data to be used in connection with major airport plans underway in this area. This instrument, on loan from the University of Oregon, is being hoisted into place by Jim Penland, left, groundskeeper at the Jerome Country Club, and Kenneth Ling, airport maintenance official at Twin Falls. The instrument is at the edge of the Jerome club property and the recording device will be located inside a shed to which the pole supporting the equipment was attached. (Times-News photo)

Two Land-Locked Senior Scouts Gain Oceanography Merit Badges

The ocean is a long way from Twin Falls and, naturally, Norman Jones and Paul Knefel are a long way from the ocean. Regardless of this fact, they could be called ocean experts.

It all started when two boys, students at Twin Falls High School and members of Boy Scout Troop 62, sponsored by Knoll Grange, decided to do something really different.

They got together and started a study course which would end in their receiving merit badges in oceanography.

are the first two scouts in southern Idaho to be awarded oceanography merit badges.

They received them after tests supervised by Alan Hutchison, assistant executive of the Snake River Area Council. He took a course in oceanography while a student at the University of Washington.

What makes the accomplishment of the two senior scouts more interesting is that neither has ever touched the ocean nor stood on an ocean beach. One of them flew over the ocean once, but that was as close as he ever got.

Passing requirements for the oceanography merit badge is no small matter, according to Hutchison. Just for a starter, you have to know what phytoplankton, zooplankton, nekton and benthos really are.

To follow that, you must know the principal salts, gases and nutrients found in sea water, define a swell and a surf, tell what a breaker is and how it is formed and explain the Darwinian theory of atoll formation.

If you still are not stumped, you might try defining a storm surge, a tsunami, a tidal wave or a tidal bore.

You also must be acquainted with the five branches of oceanography—geography, physics, biology, chemistry and geology—read a few books on the subject and be able to draw illustrations.

If you have more time, you are required to have a good information background on ocean currents on both sides of the equator and tell of life both along the ocean shore and in the depths.

"It is no easy matter to pass this oceanography test," Hutchison commented. "It is one of many merit badges scouts can now try for. For instance, another new one is on atomic energy. The only trouble is that if a Scout comes up for that test, we probably will have to send him (Continued on Page 24)

ANYTHING AS BIG as an ocean must have a telephone listing, so two senior scouts, who received the first merit badges in Oceanography, look in the directory to find out. The two are Paul Knefel and Norman Jones. Neither has ever been on the ocean. They found that there was no listing for such a large body of water in the Twin Falls directory.

TWO SENIOR SCOUTS, Norman Jones, left, and Paul Knefel, both members of Troop 62, are the first in Southern Idaho to receive the new merit badges for Oceanography. Neither scout has ever been on an ocean beach or touched ocean water.

SNAKE RIVER AREA COUNCIL officials point out, Troop 62 is sponsored by Knoll Grange 361. The badges were awarded to them after examination by Alan R. Hutchison, who studied oceanography at the University of Washington. (Times-News photo)

WIND VELOCITY and direction recording equipment is examined by Edwin C. Woods, manager of the Twin Falls airport. It is part of that installed at the Jerome Country Club to record wind movement and speed in that region. At the present time no data on wind movement in that general area is available. Plans call for enlarging the Twin Falls field or constructing an entirely new airport with multiple county and city participation. Some move, officials point out, will be necessary to maintain adequate service in this area when West Coast Airways goes to jet planes. (Times-News photo)

Scientist Believes Intelligent Life Exists on Billions of Other Worlds

SALT LAKE CITY—A University of Utah scientist this week said he believes there is intelligent life on billions of other worlds, not necessarily in our own solar system, but within the far reaches of the universe.

Dr. Elie A. Shneour, associate professor of molecular and genetic biology, told a university audience in Salt Lake City that "There is a burden of good solid evidence that the earth is not unique and that if conditions are right, life on other planets may be inevitable."

Dr. Shneour was a member of a National Academy of Science panel that recently presented recommendations to NASA for biological exploration of the solar system. He has co-authored a book entitled, "Life Beyond the Earth," and is chairman of a committee currently examining the basic research needed for the manned orbital laboratories, part of the extended Apollo program to land a man on the moon. A native of France, Dr. Shneour has worked closely with two Nobel laureates, Melvin Calvin at California and Joshua Lederberg at Stanford.

The Utah scientist gave three types of evidence to substantiate his belief. He said there are at least 10 to the 23 power (one followed by 23 zeros) stars in the visible universe alone. "Of these, 10,000,000 to 100,000,000,000,000,000 may be like our own sun," Shneour said. Assuming that each planetary system is possible that there may be billions of planets like our Earth.

"Scientific evidence suggests that the entire universe has nearly the same composition," he said, "93 per cent hydrogen, six per cent helium and one per cent of everything else (primarily carbon, nitrogen and oxygen). These are the most common elements in the universe and in living systems," Shneour said. "They are found everywhere."

The final evidence submitted by Shneour in support of his belief that life exists in the universe, is chemical—the ease with which the "building blocks of life" can be made.

He cited a crucial 1953 experiment in which the common gases of primitive planets (in the form of methane, ammonia, water and hydrogen gas) were placed in a flask and continuously sparked with electricity for 10 days. A brown goopy soup was formed.

When analyzed, it was found largely to be amino acids which are the building blocks of protein, and other substances common to living systems. Similar experiments since then have produced small protein-like material, the building blocks of DNA (the material of which genes are made), and simple sugars.

Shneour believes the body of evidence supporting the possibility of life in outer space is, as he puts it, "statistically significant. The problem is how do we find it? How do we communicate with intelligent life on other worlds?"

He said U. S. scientists have already been trying to communicate, but the astronomical distances between possible centers of intelligent life are, as yet, unresolved stumbling blocks.

For every cubic inch of matter in the universe there are 10 to the 28 power (10,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000) cubic inches of nothing. "Where do we point our transmitters?" asked Shneour. "How long do we keep them pointed in one direction (it takes 4.3 years for sound to travel to the nearest star)? What if they are not listening in on our frequency?" Shneour said listening in on outer space conversation is like standing in the balcony of Grand Central Station and trying to pick out the conversation of two people. "And since they probably don't speak English," he quipped, "the problem of intergalactic communication is fantastically difficult."

Shneour, 40, says men will land on Mars "within my lifetime." He said the next step involved the Voyager program, now delayed, in his opinion, because of Viet Nam. It calls for a laboratory landing on Mars to carry out physical and chemical tests.

Shneour expects to find microbial life on Mars. "We may just find fossils, but any find of this sort would statistically increase possibility of life in the universe." He does not see the possibility of any intelligent life in our own solar system.

Pioneering Life Thrilling For Lindbergh's Son Jon

SEATTLE, Wash.—(AP)—The Lindbergh pioneering drive seems to be as strong in son Jon as it was in his famed father, Charles, but it's in a different direction.

Instead of searching for new vistas in the air as his father did, Jon is seeking the future in watery depths. He's a commercial diver.

Why didn't he follow the path his father blazed in the sky?

"Aviation is in a different era than it was when my father was in it," Jon explains. "The ocean offers a brand new field in many ways. It hasn't been developed. It contains vast quantities of unexploited resources. Diving is a tool in developing the potentials of the ocean."

Jon Morrow Lindbergh, who is 33, says he's been interested in the ocean as long as he can remember.

"I've always been close to it—lived around it, worked on it during summers."

He is a 1954 graduate of Stanford, where his major study was in the field of oceanography. He is now a commercial diver in the Pacific Northwest.

Jon's father, Charles, was a pioneer aviator who made the first solo transatlantic flight in 1927.

Jon's mother, Anne, was a social worker and a member of the National Academy of Arts and Letters.

Jon is married and has two children. He is currently working on a book about his father's life.

SUN VALLEY musician, John Martizla, has released an album of guitar music and vocal selections. Martizla has been playing solo guitar music in the Duchin Room during cocktail hours in addition to his regular appearances in the Hap Miller Sun Valley orchestra.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

A Sun Valley musician, John Martizla, has released an album of his guitar music featuring such songs as "It Happened in Sun Valley" and four vocals sung by the artist. The album, which has received acceptance at such widely separated places as the University of Virginia and by disc jockeys in Los Angeles, has a variety of selections of Martizla's original arrangements. Several of the numbers are treated with an unusual arrangement of classical design and several others were arranged for solo guitar. Martizla has been playing solo guitar numbers in the Duchin room during cocktail hours in addition to his regular appearance in the Hap Miller Sun Valley orchestra.

He was raised in San Pedro, Calif., and began studying the intricacies of the guitar as a teenager. Despite constant urging to "go out and play with the other boys," he acquired a skill with the instrument without a single lesson.

When he finally did "go out to play with the other boys" he fell and injured his right wrist which never healed properly, arresting the coordination of the fingers. This proved a near tragedy to the young boy whose musical ambitions leaned toward the classical lines as no amount of exercise, mechanical devices or surgery could eliminate this handicap.

Despite this, Martizla has mastered his guitar and has developed a technique which brings out all his feeling for the music he plays. He played with various groups in the Los Angeles area and after a term in the U.S. Army Band during World War II, he joined a trio in 1947 in the then "wild and woolly" town of KETCHUM.

The main attractions for the artist were the beautiful slopes and sparkling trout streams. Soon he became addicted to these sports and joined the Sun Valley Orchestra and made the mountains his home.

The couple's 3-year-old daughter, Lisa, shows promise of following her father's musical footsteps. Her playthings consist of several ukuleles, a banjo and a small guitar.

Charitable purpose has been the inspiration for two recent Burmah Club quilt projects at RICHFIELD. The 3p club women have given much time and effort in making the quilts for the benefit of the new Richfield elementary school last year and crippled children Easter Seal drive this year.

Material and work were donated by the club members in making the unusual shadow box quilt last year and the ever popular pin wheel quilt this winter. Quilting has been a principal interest of the club since its organization. All day Saturday quilting meetings were held for many years.

The Green Thumb

by GEORGE ABRAHAM

MELONS AND CUCUMBERS: Last year many readers had troubles with melons, cucumbers and pumpkins vines. They tell us that the vines started out fine, then turned yellow, wilted and died, crop and all. In most cases this is due to a disease in the soil, probably Fusarium wilt. This attacks muskmelons, watermelons, and in severely infested soil can bother both pumpkins and cucumbers.

CONTROL: Once infection sets in nothing can be done. Try growing these vine crops in ground that has not grown these crops for six or eight years, if possible. In that time, the fungus "burns" itself out.

Next, use only Fusarium resistant varieties. In case of muskmelons, try Satigny Hybrid (rich flavor, orange flesh and high sugar content) or you can try Harper Hybrid, considered by many to be the best tasting melon of all. Harper Hybrid was developed in Canada. It's the melon you'll want to keep your eye on and sink your teeth into. The melons are so thick-fleshed that the interiors are almost solid, unsurpassed for sweetness and aroma.

If you've had watermelon troubles, keep away from the new "icebox" types such as Sugar Baby, New Hampshire Midget and similar ones as they are highly susceptible to the disease. Try Crimson Sweet or Charleston Gray as both are resistant to anthracnose and fusarium wilt disease.

PHILODENDRONS: Some gardeners have good luck growing these vines in plain water. This works fine for a while, but sometimes the water becomes slimy and rotting sets in. It works better if you make a complete change of water once a month, and add a couple pieces of charcoal to the water. Adding a little plant food (such as 23-19-17) in the new water is helpful.

As the water level goes down, add more water to the container. Also, when you change the water, it's a good idea to wash the vines, roots and containers, and add a couple drops of household bleach to the water.

It's interesting to watch the white roots of vines growing in a vase of water. The amazing thing to me is that while these vines will grow in water, they are so sensitive to overwatering when growing in soil. If soil is poorly drained or the plants get too much water, yellowing of the leaves sets in and before long the foliage starts to shed.

PUSSY WILLOWS: After you bring these into the house, let the buds open, then remove the twigs and place them in a vase of sand. You'll find that they last a lot longer in the sand than if you keep them in a vase of water. You can force a lot of twigs to bloom by bringing them indoors and placing them in a vase of warm water. This gives you fresh flowers at no extra cost!

COLOR IN THE FRONT YARD: You can get a big splash of color in the front of your home, just by planting seed directly into the ground as soon as shirt-sleeve weather comes. Here is a list of the best annuals you can plant directly into the ground and expect plenty of blooms all summer long:

Alyssum, comes in white and violet purple. Calendula, comes in range of colors from creamy white to deep orange. Excellent for cut flowers. Calliopsis, thrives in all soils. Candytuft, in dwarf or tall types. Centaurea (Bachelor's Buttons) grows anywhere, blooms continuously and flowers are ideal for arrangements. Cleome, in pink and white, makes fine background plant. Cosmos, a perpetual bloomer and in many colors ideal for indoor arrangements. Cathartus, a vigorous trouble-free plant. Gloriosa daisy, a native weed with large blooms ideal for indoor bouquets. Marigolds, tall and dwarf, ideal in borders and for cut flowers. Petunias, ideal for beds and borders. Stick to small-flowered types for direct sowing. Phlox (annual) is a no-care item liked by everyone. Portulaca, likes full sun and poor soil. Scabiosa, asks no favors and should be planted more. Zinnias, dwarf and tall, bloom from midsummer to frost.

EVERGREENS: Do your evergreens have the brown, bronzy look? This off-color is a sign of winter injury. Usually, it's worse on the west side, or side getting the most wind, or facing a road where salt can spray the foliage. Evergreens on exposed corners of buildings are hardest hit, and plantings which went into winter with dry soils are showing up now.

Both evergreens and non-evergreens suffer from winter winds, temperature changes and salt, and it's too early to tell how much they've been damaged. After the growing season starts you can take a look at the twigs and foliage. Those which do not start up can be cut back to live tissue. Don't do any pruning until growth starts. Feed your plants in spring and keep them vigorous in summer by a mulch and regular watering.

POTATO FUDGE: Here's a recipe a friend sent me, which you can add to my bulletin, How to Grow Red, White, and Blue Potatoes: 3 squares chocolate (2 bitter, one semi-sweet), one-third cup mashed potatoes, three tablespoons butter, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla, and nuts. Blend in sugar, knead until smooth. Press into one inch rectangles in waxed paper, cool, cut into one-inch cubes and serve. Yields about one and one-fourth pounds of fudge. Does any one else have a potato recipe? Please send them along.

ROOTING AVOCADOES: What's the best way to start an avocado — in water or in soil? Some gardeners prefer to start them in a glass of water. Others use a pot of soil. To me, the soil works best. You set the seed or pit in a pot so that the top sticks out about one-half. Then you water with warm water, but do not keep the soil soggy. After germination, keep in bright window at room temperature and you'll have yourself a nice avocado plant.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. F. of King Hill: "I read an article which stated that you don't have to set out tomato plants, but rather sow the seed directly in the garden and they'll bear just as fast. Is that true?"

Commercial growers are using a new technique, namely planting seed of an early variety directly into the soil. They plant a seed every inch or two in rows three or four feet apart. After the seedlings emerge and are well established, the rows are thinned by cutting or pulling out extra plants. A plant is left every six inches if the rows are four feet apart or about every eight inches if the rows are three feet apart. This gives them a plant population of about 22,000 plants per acre. When it comes to direct seeding for the weekend gardener, I wouldn't advise it except for experimental purposes. Try only a short row of ten to twelve feet the first time. Plant your

Two Land-Locked Scouts Pass Tests For New Oceanography Merit Badges

(Continued From Page 23) to Arco to find someone who is capable of giving him the test. Oceanography is a relatively new subject on the scientific side. It deals with the movements of the oceans, the effect on weather and climate and related data. Deep-sea exploration started under British domination back in 1872, but it has only been recently, with the invention of deep sea gear, that close inspection has been possible. For instance, the Scripps Institution of Oceanography at La Jolla, Calif., provides a graduate study course which is well attended. The course is under supervision of the University of California.

At present, records show many trained individuals are entering the field. Both Jones and Knefel are 16 years old. Jones is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie R. Jones and Knefel is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert J. Knefel. Both are Eagle Scouts.

They admitted to Hutchison that obtaining the badges in oceanography is not their last accomplishment in Scouting. They have some more of the new merit badges in mind.

BIOLOGIST JERRY THIESSEN, Boise, squeezes liquid from deer paunch or stomach prior to transporting to laboratory for intensive analysis. During the past year and one-half, some 120 deer of all ages and both sexes have been collected in parts of the Owyhee Mountains of southwestern Idaho where both summer and winter ranges are critical. They were autopsied to test bone marrow, blood, urine, reproductive organs, paunch (or first stomach) and viscera. (Fish and Game photo)

Owyhee Deer Herds Providing Needed Background Information for Study

By JIM HUMBERT
Idaho Fish-Game Department

BOISE — Deer herds in Owyhee County have been studied, discussed and the concern of a large number of people for nearly a decade. Management agencies and big game hunters alike have recognized that a real problem existed — the primary objective being to try and determine what happens to the animals living in this vast southwestern corner of Idaho.

About a year and a half ago the Idaho Fish and Game Department started a food habits study on selected areas. Since that time, some 120 deer of all ages and both sexes have been collected at the rate of ten each month. They were autopsied to test bone marrow, blood, urine, reproductive organs, paunch (or first stomach) and viscera.

Department biologists wanted to know (1) the shrubs and plants the western Owyhee County deer were using throughout the year; and (2) whether deer browsing habits were by choice or because there was nothing else to eat.

Shrubs made up the biggest part of the diet, month by month, for two years. The most important of these varied with the range and availability. They included chokecherry, bitter cherry, mountain mahogany, buck or snowbrush (ceanothus), bitterbrush and snowberry.

During winter months juniper-sage diets were all that was available. When other plants were available on the better summer ranges, deer stopped using juniper.

Five summer-fall ranges with different forage species were selected for the deer collection. These were (1) fir-sage on South Mountain; (2) mountain brush on Indian Meadows; (3) juniper-sage on the Cliffs area; (4) juniper-sage-mountain mahogany on Juniper Mountain; and (5) sage-grass at Big Springs.

Mostly juniper-sage was available on winter-spring ranges where heavy deer concentrations were found.

Charles Haynes, game management supervisor, says most of the deer were collected during winter months between Juniper Mountain and the East Fork of the Owyhee River, and along the North Fork of the Owyhee River.

These focal points, mainly in the Cliffs area of Unit 31, and the Juniper Mountain area of Unit 42, were chosen because of the dual problems of "too many deer and too much live stock" competing for available forage.

Juniper Mountain is one of the few regions in the state where really serious deer summer range problems exist. Deer go into the winter months in poor physical condition without much fat reserves, and their chances for survival until spring are reduced accordingly.

Of the deer collected from December through March, 60 per cent of the mature bucks were found to be in critical physical condition and probably would not have survived until spring. This was also true of 18 per cent of the adult does and 66 per cent of the fawns.

These figures must be analyzed to obtain an accurate picture because many of the deer found on the critical list in December may have died any way before the March collection was made. The same is true in January and February.

Deer that were weakened by malnutrition and related diseases would have dropped out of the herds before later collections were made.

Allowing for this kind of cumulative reduction factor, total fawn and old buck losses could be as high as 50 per cent, and still on this basis, the calculated herd loss after hunting is believed to be in excess of 50 per cent.

Most surviving deer are mature does, but the fawns they carry are suffering from malnutrition, only to perish soon after birth. Such mortality rates occur even during moderate winters and drastically affected hunting seasons.

The trouble is there have been more deer and livestock on these ranges than the available forage could support. The result has been heavy deer losses from malnutrition and related causes, low fawn survival and severe range damage.

The Juniper Mountain and Cliffs areas of the Owyhee also present serious summer range problems. These sections generally produce the poorest specimens during the study.

Juniper trees occupy most of these areas. Even during summer months with other available plants and grasses, these ranges are below standard for deer nutrition. Game animals cannot build up fat reserves needed for winter survival on this kind of range.

Any deer loses weight during the winter months no matter how good the range may be. He must work harder to eat because his supply of feed is reduced day by day when nothing is growing. Colder weather causes greater body heat loss, requiring increased metabolic activity. With little or no fat at the outset many never make it.

Jerry Thiesen, Boise game biologist, and Les Trout, Pocatello game biologist, head up the research team. They are assisted by conservation officers and other personnel, using helicopters when ground vehicles cannot get them into the winter areas.

They are doing similar work in Lemhi County and Hells Canyon in the vicinity of the proposed Hot Mountain sheep Dam. Thiesen is project coordinator and in charge of work on nutrition, while Trout is making rumen, or paunch analyses, and the range study.

Although detailed laboratory analyses of deer specimens have not been completed, Haynes says the general picture is clear. Losses occur from malnutrition and its after effects every year.

Trying to crowd more deer into this range by not hunting for a year or two or calling for a "bucks only" season would lead to bigger losses each year and damage to the range at the same time.

is the only answer to the problem. Two good fields built by communities only a few miles apart would not be the answer because no airline would land jets at fields close together. A jump of 150 miles is even a short one for the speedy jets, and landings oftener than that are not economical, airline officials point out.

The study now underway was undertaken through Twin Falls County and City cooperation. All the facts gathered by the experts of the Boise firm, together with related data supplied from other official sources, will be made public shortly after the project is completed, it is pointed out.

continued. At the present it is expected that the recording will go on for about 100 days. The recording device is battery operated.

Although accurate cost estimates at the present are not available, it is estimated that improvement of the Twin Falls field would cost $1.5 million and construction of an entirely new field $3.5 million.

Officials point out that the Twin Falls field is the only one enlarged to the extent necessary to accommodate jet traffic. A location of the field in any other part of the area except at the present Twin Falls location would call for entirely new construction.

When the fact that a new field might possibly be in the cards was first announced by the Times-News more than a year ago, the Burley Chamber of Commerce published their intended cooperation in such a venture. Such a step would also have to include cooperation of Jerome County, Minidoka County and Cassia County. However, some officials say that two of these three counties, along with Twin Falls County, could provide for the new field construction.

Although bond issues would be necessary, it is pointed out that a substantial amount of the money would come from the federal government. This would hold true whether the Twin Falls field was enlarged or a new field constructed.

Cooperation between cities and counties in construction of large airports is nothing new in the west where population is sometimes spread over a large area. A good example is in the Seattle area where the Sea-Tac airport serves both Seattle and Tacoma and is located about midway between the two cities.

Officials point out that either one good cooperative field or one good single community field

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT . . .

Flying, Amateur Radio Are Hobbies
Followed by Native of Twin Falls

Merritt Shotwell has two hobbies, and both of them are up in the air. One is flying, the other is operation of an amateur radio station—a ham operator.

The flying hobby has been followed longer than that of ham radio operator, but, at that, both are compatible. He points out that when the flying weather is no good he is still able to get through even while sitting at home.

Shotwell is a native of Twin Falls. He was born on Jan. 18, 1907, on a farm about two miles northeast of the city. He was the third child in a family of two brothers and three sisters.

He likes to point out that the building in which he started school looks just about the same now as the first day he entered it, with the exception of a new addition. That building is the Lincoln School.

Getting from the Lincoln School to the junior high school was a rather difficult move—not because he wasn't legally transferred, but because when the move came the junior high was not ready. At that time the high school and junior high were in the same building. It is now the O'Leary Junior High School.

While work was being rushed on the new junior high portion of the building, he attended classes for half a year in the Washington School auditorium and also the old Episcopal Hall which used to stand where the First Federal Savings and Loan building is now located.

Finally he was able to enter the new junior high and later, walking to the other side of the building, became a high school student. He graduated in 1925.

Following high school he attended the Idaho Technical Institute for a year and then the name was changed and he was attending the University of Idaho Southern Branch. He majored in electrical engineering and after college took additional correspondence courses.

Returning to Twin Falls he went to work for the Idaho Power Co. and became service foreman. Seventeen years later he resigned that position and opened his own business, known then as Shotwell's Utility Service. Today it is Shotwell's, Inc.

It was way back in 1926 that he became interested in flying and made his official solo flight that year. He did not fly continuously for the next few years, but during and after World War II, through Civil Air Patrol operations, he developed it into an active hobby.

He is still active in Civil Air Patrol circles, holds the rank of Lieutenant Colonel and is deputy chief of communications of the Idaho Wing. He is licensed by the government as a private pilot and is also a member of the Twin Falls Flyers, one of the flying clubs operating from the Twin Falls airport.

The early years he spent at flying were those when pilots flew by the seat of their pants. It was a hobby which resulted in establishing many friendships which have lasted down through the years.

"I can remember that we would get to the old Twin Falls airport shortly after the sun came up every Sunday morning and, if the weather was such that we couldn't fly, we would engage in hangar talk all day.

"We brought a sack lunch with us and about noon we would break out with food to sustain us the balance of the day. In those days we all helped to keep the planes in shape. Actually I would probably be afraid to sit in some of the planes today that we flew in those early years.

"There was plenty about flying we didn't know but most of us survived and it was worth all the trouble," he said.

His hobby of radio was picked up fairly recently and then only because his son was a ham operator. The son, Richard, operated his own station but took it with him when, as a first lieutenant, he went to El Paso, Tex.

The father then decided to install his own station, which was licensed by the government, and he also passed the necessary tests to acquire a license to operate it.

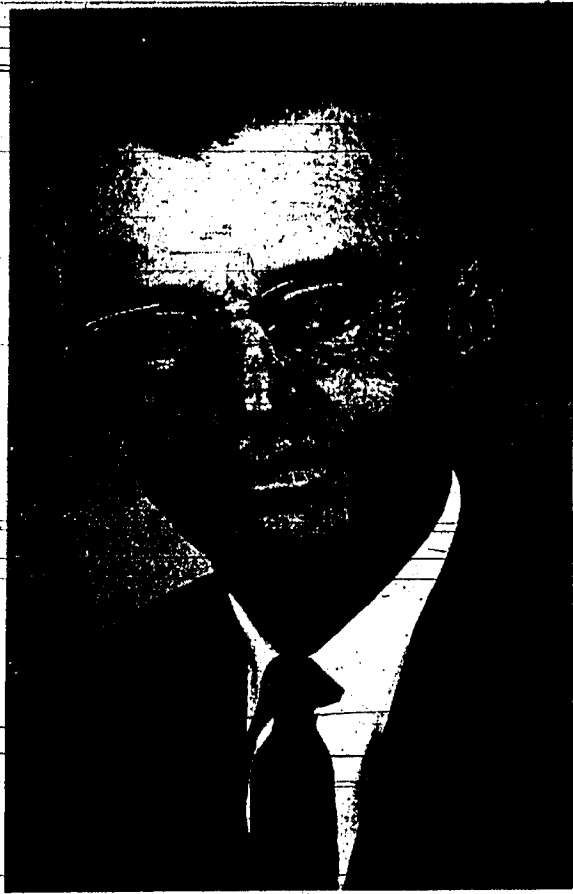

With the father operating his station in Twin Falls and the son at El Paso it was not long before they had a standing appointment to talk to each other every Sunday. Today both father and son have their stations here and they regularly talk to other operators throughout the United States and sometimes in foreign countries. Both are members of the amateur net which is utilized during times of emergency.

Located in his home here, the elder Shotwell's radio call letters are K7CQQ.

Merritt has been active in community life ever since his completion of his college education. He joined the Masonic Lodge in 1935 and became the first native born individual to join Lodge 45, AF and AM. He has been a member of the Lions Club for 5 years and is a long-time member of the Elks Lodge here.

He is active in the First Baptist Church and only last week received a special pin indicating he has donated a total of five gallons of blood to the Red Cross Bloodmobile.

In connection with his busi-

ness he is a member of the National Electrical Contractors Association and is chairman of the Idaho State Electrical Board which meets twice a year and which is in charge of licensing contractors and journeymen wiremen.

He was married to Maude Ritter on Sept. 24, 1933. She was a resident of Burley at the time and they met while attending college at Pocatello. Two children were born to the union, Richard, married and the father of three children, lives in Twin Falls and is associated with his father in the electrical business. A daughter, Mrs. Garth (Evelyn) Tate lives in Caldwell. Merritt's wife is a teacher in the fifth grade at Morningside school in Twin Falls.

During his life in this community, Shotwell has seen Twin Falls grow from a small farm town to one of the largest communities in Idaho.

Asked why he chose to remain here instead of going to some other part of the country, he said it was "because there is no other place that is quite like Twin Falls."

"There is a good community feeling here and it has proved to be a good place to raise a family. It is a progressive community. Really, I can think of no place where I would rather be than right here. If I get to the point where I can retire, I'll do that right here too," he said.

"It seemed like it would be interesting work," he said. When he and the Navy parted company in 1957, he and three other men set up a firm which was primarily involved in commercial diving. That company, based in San Diego, Calif., lasted three years, then "the key personnel moved off to various corners of the world, so we sold out."

"I was involved in my own companies the next five years in commercial diving and industrial blasting. We learned the basic techniques in Navy demolition work. Then Union Carbide Corp. bought the diving operations, and I went along with them."

Now he's Seattle manager for Ocean Systems, Inc., an affiliate of Union Carbide. Lindbergh explains the company is "interested in various fields of ocean development work — from research to contracting." His latest venture was helping the underwater search off Spain for a U.S. nuclear bomb lost in a B52 bomber crash.

Lindbergh figures he has spent only about 20 per cent of his time diving in recent years. The balance has been spent on running the company's submarine program, from ordinary diving to the use of diving bells and small submarines on jobs such as drilling for oil and inspecting undersea pipelines or cables.

Off the Oregon and California coasts he's worked as a trouble shooter on oil drilling rigs. Recently he was in charge of divers who helped install a pipeline 240 feet under the surface of Puget Sound, and early in the fall he helped repair a power cable which runs across the floor of the sound from Anacortes to the San Juan Islands.

Jon likes skiing, fishing and skin-diving, and he'd like to be able to spend more time with his wife, Barbara, and their youngsters, Kristina 11, Wendy 9, Lars 7, Lief 5, and Erik 1. Their time is on a secluded island on Bainbridge Island, across the sound from Seattle. But "I've been too darned busy for anything but work."

In 1964, Lindbergh and Robert Stenuit spent 49 hours 432 feet down in the Atlantic off the Bahama Islands to prove man can work at that depth. They lived in a large rubber diving bell but swam in and out to take photographs and gather specimens.

As for close calls, Lindbergh says, "I've had narrower scrapes on the highway than in diving."

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

FORREST J. HIBBARD

Minister

Valley Christian Church
In the eighteenth chapter of the Book of Luke, Verses 31-34, an account is recorded of Jesus taking His twelve disciples aside and saying to them, "Behold, we are going to Jerusalem, and everything that is written of the Son of Man by the Prophets will be accomplished. For He will be delivered to the Gentiles, and will be mocked and shamefully treated and spit upon; they will scourge Him and kill Him, and on the third day He will rise." But they understood none of these things; this saying was hid from them, and they did not grasp what was said.

The fact that the writer, Luke, records the inability of the 12 to understand what Jesus had said to them does not seem too strange in the light of the circumstances. What He said would happen to Him had not yet taken place and it was incomprehensible to them that such a thing could or should happen.

That anyone as good as He should be treated this way seemed unthinkable to them, for He had gone about doing good, healing, teaching and showing deep concern and love for people, rich or poor, old or young.

He had taught them great concepts of love such as loving your enemies, doing good to those who mistreat you, praying for those who persecute you and going the second mile.

Even these things they found hard to understand because they lived in a time of deep hatred between nationalities and when the rule was, "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." For one like this, who would not raise a hand in retaliation against His persecutors and who was the incarnation of everything He taught, the thought of His being mistreated as He had suggested certainly seemed unreasonable.

When He finally was taken by the Roman guard to be mistreated, as He had predicted, all their hopes seemed gone. It was not until His Crucifixion and Resurrection that they fully understood all He had told them.

What He had said was no longer hidden from them. They now understood that His willingness to go to the cross, when He could have avoided it by simply saying He was an impostor and another mere teacher among many, was His means of demonstrating to them that His teachings bore the authority of the Saviour sent from God.

It was a demonstration of His

great love for them, and all men in His desire for them to be reconciled to God and each other in love. Their despair had now turned to hope and their fears to the kind of courage that led them to martyrdom. They went out to testify in preaching and with the pen that they were witnesses to the life, teachings, Crucifixion and Resurrection of the Christ.

The Apostle John said, as he was about to conclude his written testimony, "now Jesus did many other signs in the presence of the Disciples, which are not written in this book; but these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing you may have life in His name."

True students of history readily admit that the life of Christ is more thoroughly documented than any other event in that period of history, or for several centuries afterward.

Will Durant, in "Christ and Caesar" has said that if we should subject all ancient history to the same acid test to which we have subjected the records of the life of Christ we would destroy a thousand ancient worthies. We cannot in our day, plead that the teachings of Christ and His authority are hidden from us.

His teachings have authority by their very nature in that we know that ultimately our only way out of the mess our world is in is by the following of His teachings and by the accepting of Him as Lord and Saviour of Life.

His teachings have the authority of His own self sacrifice on the cross in the demonstration of the establishment of His Kingdom of which there have been millions of loyal, loving and dedicated subjects to this very day.

His life and teachings bear the stamp of His own claims as the Christ as testified to by many witnesses among whom were the New Testament writers. God is not dead, for He is still at work through His church and in His providence of sustaining life and the laws of His universe.

In an age that demands a sign, what greater sign do we need as to the direction to follow than the sign given us by God in the life of Jesus Christ who said, "I came that you might have life, and have it abundantly?"

HEYBURN — The village of Heyburn is letting a bid for sewer construction at 2:30 p.m. April 1 at the Village Hall. Construction will include sewer lines in the Cox Addition and Dayley Addition.

No protest was heard on the village budget of $323,200 which was approved by the village board during a meeting Wednesday night.

Dog licenses should be purchased at the village hall and owners will be held responsible for not complying with the 24-hour leash law.

No immediate action was taken after a discussion on the opening of Shoshone Street from the sub-station to O Street. The street area is located on the north side of the railroad right-of-way.

The large ditch behind the Casper Lee property will be tiled as well as several smaller ditches within the village.

A transformer to be used as a spare for emergency purposes will be purchased for the substation, and new regulators will be purchased for installation in the BPA substation.

Board members are urging residents to begin the annual spring cleanup project and take care of weeds and old cars.

A building permit was granted to Wilford Wilcox for a brick veneer home on block 194 costing $15,500.

The SHOE BOX

151 MAIN AVE. WEST

STRIKING A POSE for the Times-News camera are Mr. and Mrs. Aage Stilling at a Mardi Gras social. Originally conceived as a "Fashing," the German counterpart of the Mardi Gras, the party progressed to look more

United Nations than German, as guests attended in costumes that were incomparable. The Moose Hall was decorated with indoor awnings of crepe streamers and balloons. (Times-News photo)

Four Local Women Host Fashing for 100 Friends

What began as a "let's have a party" idea among four friends several weeks ago culminated in festivities involving approximately 100 persons. Originally conceived as a "Fashing," the German counterpart for the Mardi Gras, the party progressed to look more United Nations than German with all the elaborate costumes. Hostesses for the social were Mrs. Oren (Julie) Boone, Mrs. Aage (Karen) Stilling, Mrs. Harold (Ludmila) Weideman and Mrs. Donald (Fran) Lambert.

With a hearty dash of Americana, the old world pre-lenten festivities held sway at the social in Twin Falls. The colorful celebrators enjoyed dancing a variety of dances, some originating thousands of miles away, some from centuries past, but all strangely at ease with contemporary dances done by the same revelers.

Clowns, beatniks, Roman goddesses, caballeros, Arab sheiks and those sporting contrived fripperies defying description "whooped it up" beside the lively visiting genuine Basque dancers.

Scandinavian open-faced sandwiches, among other delectable refreshments, were uniquely arranged on decorated tables at one end of the Moose Hall. Indoor awnings of crepe streamers and balloons and many large gay cartoons drawn for the occasion and posted on the walls, transformed the hall and made it easy for one to feel the magic mood of the night.

All drawings for the social were made especially for the party at a pre-party gathering of the hostesses and friends. The drawings were so unusual and so "just right" for the social, that they have been carefully packed away to be used at another time.

Prizes were ready to be given to the guests with the most outstanding costumes, but as festivities increased and the party was in full swing, the prizes were forgotten with all the merrymaking.

Mardi Gras, a centuries-old tradition-filled event, long has been considered a final "fling" before the more austere disciplined living by Christians, especially in past years, during the Lenten season. In contemporary times New Orleans has long been famous for its Mardi Gras celebration.

COLORFUL COSTUMES worn by Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Henkelman are typical of those worn by partygoers at the Mardi Gras social held in Twin Falls. Guests wearing contrived fripperies defying description danced to the lively music right along side the visiting genuine Basque dancers. (Times-News photo)

A FRENCH BERET and Spanish gaucho hat accent these costumes worn by Mae Jensen, left, and N. A. Henkelman. Gay cartoon drawings were especially made for the occasion and placed on the walls throughout the Moose Hall. The festive atmosphere made it easy for one to feel the magic mood of the night. DRESSED IN COLONIAL TYPE costumes, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Perkins, Buhl, enjoy dancing at a recent social in Twin Falls. Guests, dressed like clowns, beatniks, Roman goddesses, caballeros and Arab sheiks, to name just a few, danced a variety of dances, some originating thousands of miles away and some from centuries past. TAKING TIME OUT from the gay festivities are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis at a Mardi Gras social held at the Moose Hall, Twin Falls. Scandinavian open-faced sandwiches, among other delectable refreshments were uniquely arranged on decorated tables at one end of the hall. Approximately 100 guests attended. (Times-News photo)

London Hair Stylist Turns Janes Into Joes

NEW YORK (AP) — Vidal Sassoon, the London hair stylist who makes Janes look like Joes, claims every woman in America ought to get rid of her hair "so she'll have time to do some real living."

Nightly pinups, teasing, bouffant hairdos and bobby pins are ridiculous, he says, "especially when this country is otherwise such a modern, spectacular place."

Sassoon expressed his views for 200 fashion writers attending New York Couture Group style previews Monday. The ladies gasped when shown one German model with platinum blonde hair shorter than Sassoon's.

"Every woman would cut her hair this way if she saw how easy it is," says Anna Lenz of Munich. To contrast her close-cropped hair, she wears make-up that takes an hour to put on.

"Men love my hair short," says Sassoon model Judy Mursch, 23, of Copenhagen, Denmark. "They rub their hands in it. They can't believe it's so straight thick. I think it's very sexy." Kelly McKegown, 28, of New York, wears her blonde hair in what looks like a blown cut. "It's so interesting I get twice as many job bookings now," she says.

Sassoon charges $25 when he cuts a girl's hair, and she must have it recut every two to three weeks. "Each girl's hair is done individually," he says, "it's styled to her bone structure and contour of her face. She can brush it any direction and it will look perfect."

Sassoon, 38 this month and handsome, has been cutting women's hair for 20 years. Most important is the over-all image.

Judy Crockett, Chatterton Say Wedding Vows

KING HILL — Judy Crockett, daughter of Fred Crockett, King Hill, and Cleve Ellis Chatterton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Chatterton, Pocatello, were united in marriage Jan. 29 at the 17th LDS Ward Chapel, Pocatello.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Bishop Wilbur Abner.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of lace over satin. The skirt was enhanced with three bows with pearls at the side. The bodice was detailed with an oval neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves trimmed with pearls. Her veil of illusion net was held by a crown of pearls. She carried a bouquet of gladioli and carnations.

The traditional wedding music was played by Judy Huff. Soloist was Rita Ostler, Pocatello.

Mrs. Mae Dean Hall, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Elaine Crockett, King Hill, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Junior bridesmaid was Diane Crockett, King Hill, and flower girl was Valerie Hall.

Alan Kramm was best man. Ushers were George Mikelskas, Richard Crockett and Boyde Chatterton.

A reception was held in the LDS Cultural Hall. The hall was decorated with pink and white baskets of pastel gladioli and carnations and greenery.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom in an archway of lilies of the valley. The cake was decorated in pink and lavender roses.

"The clothes image is destroyed without a good haircut," he says. "Modern clothes need short, architectural hair."

He has a new style, also short, ready for the Paris and Rome fashion openings, but he won't talk about it. He just laughs.

So far, ladies in this country aren't rushing to their hairdressers to cut their tresses.

In the words of beauty expert Virginia Graham: "Imagine showing your wedding pictures and have people ask, 'Which one's the groom?'"

Sassoon shrugs off criticism. "A woman's haircut is the most important part of her dress," he says, "and who cuts his? 'Anybody I can find sitting around. You want to?'"

SUSAN ANNE SPERRY

Susan Sperry, Lowman Reveal Wedding Date

JEROME — Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sperry, Pocatello, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Anne, to Gary Don Lowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Lowman, Jerome.

The bride-elect is a 1961 graduate of Pocatello High School and will be graduated in June from the University of Utah. She is a business major. She is affiliated with AWS, member of Phi Delta and was an attendant to Business Week queen. She is employed at Gate City Steel, Pocatello.

Lowman, a 1961 graduate of Jerome High School, is a graduate of Idaho State Trade and Technical School, where he studied drafting. He is a junior at ISU, majoring in business engineering. He also attended the University of Utah for two years. In high school he was well known for his basketball and golf ability. He is employed by Okay Food Stores, Pocatello.

A July 1 wedding is planned.

Wives Honored

FILER — Wives of Filer Odd Fellows were guests at an oyster supper at the IOOF Hall, Vincent Herd, Donald Albin and Ralph Hostetler were in charge of arrangements.

Pinoche was featured following the dinner, with Mrs. Marie Greenwood and Glen Hostetler receiving high score prizes and Mrs. Hostetler and Rex Lancaster, low scores. Mrs. Hostetler received the traveling prize.

St. Patrick's Day Theme Used At OES Meet

BUHL — A St. Patrick's Day theme was carried out when Buhl Chapter No. 39, Order of Eastern Star, held its March meeting at the Masonic Temple.

Shamrocks and green-painted trees decorated the east and the west and leprechauns were scattered throughout the hall. The same motif was repeated in the refreshment table decor.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mathews, worthy matron and worthy patron, presided at the meeting. Invitations were received from Pocatello No. 48 to attend a 50th Birthday Anniversary Tea April 17, and from Bethany Chapter No. 23, Hailey, Naomi Chapter No. 4 at Albion, Filer Chapter No. 40, Hagerman Valley Chapter No. 78, Magic Chapter No. 82, Twin Falls, and from Miriam Chapter Mountain Home, all for Friendship Night observances.

It was announced new code and digests from Grand Chapter are ready for distribution. A contribution was made to the 4-H club camp project. Mrs. Grady Spradling was chairman of the refreshment committee.

Local Women's League Meets

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League of the Immanuel Lutheran Church met with Mrs. Lyle Cullip leading the opening devotional service.

Two new members, Mrs. Fred Heinke and Mrs. Raymond Blessing, were welcomed into the league.

Word was received from St. Louis that the local league will be sponsoring the Lutheran Hour over KPTN in Japan for the coming year with the money which was sent for radio missions.

It was announced that the district meeting will be held in Twin Falls in May and the theme is "Fruits of Faith."

Doris Reinke led the topic in which she divided the group into four buzz sessions and then each group reported back to the assembly on the topics which they had discussed.

Open House Set

Officers for Jay-C-Ettes Are Elected

Officers for the Twin Falls Jay-C-Ettes were elected at a dessert meeting at the Depot Grill.

Officers include Mrs. Richard Messersmith, president; Mrs. Halstead, external vice president; Mrs. Darrell Wolfe, internal vice president; Mrs. Al Wengert, secretary; Mrs. James Steel, treasurer; and Mrs. John White, reporter.

Members of the board of directors are Mrs. Colin Ward, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Donald Jackson and Mrs. Jack Wright.

New members introduced include Mrs. Bill Meeker, Mrs. John Howard and Mrs. Dean Waldrum. Mrs. Noel Kiefer was a guest.

Mrs. Del McGuire told about the family outing held at Kin-dolph. Mrs. Dennis Vollmer, style chairwoman, reported plans are under way for the show set for 8 p.m. March 29 at Robert Stuart Junior High School. Tickets are available from any Jay-C-Ette member or may be purchased at the door.

A discussion was held on the stroller and baby clothing given to a family who was in need of these items. Every month the unit takes magazines to the hospital and nursing homes.

Mrs. Larry Halstead volunteered to head the forthcoming Easter Seal Drive in conjunction with the other clubs involved in this event.

The group will address post cards to be mailed to everyone who signed the registration book at the Tourist Booth at the Perrine Memorial Bridge last summer. This is being done to assist the Chamber of Commerce. There are approximately 2,000 names on this register.

Boxes containing material and hair spray have been sent to the Booth Memorial Hospital, the Jay-C-Ettes state project. If persons outside the Jay-C-Ettes would like to donate to the hospital, they should contact Mrs. Steel, chairman.

The local club will host a district meeting Thursday in the local Jaycee office in the Junior Achievement Center, Main Avenue West.

Members voted on their choice for the member they thought has been the most friendly and cast their ballots for the one they felt was the hardest worker. These votes were placed in an envelope which was sealed and will be opened the night of the installation banquet.

Lesson Given

HAGERMAN—Mrs. Raymond Clawson gave a pre-Easter lesson at the meeting of Woman's Society of Christian Service at the Methodist Church.

Two responsive readings were read by members on the theme, Mrs. Ona Vader and Mrs. Donald Reynolds were hostesses. The next meeting is April 13.

Miss Murray, Whitehead Say Nuptial Vows

KIMBERLY — Beverly Marie Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie J. Murray, Twin Falls, and James Don Whitehead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Whitehead, were united in marriage Feb. 13 in the Kimberly Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert McNeil before an altar decorated with arrangements of white acacia with red bows. The chancel area was decorated with baskets of white gladioli tied with red bows and candelabra with white tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory peau de soie styled with a fitted bodice, rounded neckline, tapered sleeves and fitted floor-length skirt enhanced with a detachable train. A tiara of white roses and seed pearls held her veil of illusion. Her gown was accented with a pearl drop necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, accented with imported lilies of the Valley, satin streamers and red velvet hearts.

Diana Murray, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Keith Kenny, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Roger Murray, sister-in-law of the bride.

Bruce Whitehead, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Rick Newman, Boise, cousin of the bridegroom, and Larry Carlson, Twin Falls, were the ushers. Rick Murray, brother of the bride, and Roy Porter were candlelighters. Mrs. James Whitehead played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Lorraine Bolish.

Sue Whitehead, Idaho Falls, cousin of the bridegroom, registered the guests which included friends and relatives from Salt Lake City, Utah; Ontario, Ore.; Boise, Kuna, Idaho Falls and towns throughout Magic Valley.

The bride's table was centered with the traditional tiered wedding cake, accented with red and white rosebuds, and flanked with crystal candle holders and red tapers. Cupids and valentine hearts with red satin ribbons completed the table decorations.

Mrs. Jack Whitehead, Idaho Falls, aunt of the bridegroom, served the cake. Punch and coffee were served by Mrs. Guy Eattimer, Twin Falls, and Mrs. George Kelly.

Venita Whitaker, Jackie Robbins and Nellie Robbins were in charge of the gifts.

Bazaar, Cooked Food Sale Set

Arrangements for a bazaar and cooked food sale were made when the Silver and Gold Club met at the Sunny View Courts Recreation Hall.

The bazaar and cooked food sale is slated for April 30 at Buttre's Super Store.

Mrs. Helen Walker, home service adviser for Idaho Power Co., demonstrated making salads. Mrs. Bertha Calbert, Hallie Quinn and Mabel McClain were welcomed as new members of the club.

Refreshments were served by Polly Henderson and Addie Radakovich. The next meeting is set for 2 p.m. Monday.

Fund Raising Project Slated By CowBelles

DECLO — Members of the Mini-Cassia CowBelles will sell stamps advertising the promotion of Idaho fed beef, with Mrs. Arlo Montgomery as chairman of the fund raising project.

Mrs. Montgomery received the colorful sheets of stamps at the recent Idaho Cattle Feeders Association convention in Boise.

Mrs. Clyde Greenwell, president, conducted the meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Nelson. Mrs. Greenwell announced that match books promoting the sale of Idaho beef are available at the State CowBelle office, Boise.

Brand books, which display cattle brands of ranchers from the two counties, were worked on during the meeting under the direction of Mrs. Montgomery, chairman.

Mrs. Raymond Bedke is hostess for the April 12 meeting.

Job's Daughters Meeting Held

HAGERMAN — Carol Frith, honored queen, presided at the International Order of Job's Daughters meeting at the Masonic Temple, when dates were set for April activities.

"Go to Church" Sunday is set for April 17 and they will attend the Hagerman Baptist Church. They will entertain the Order of Eastern Star and Masons at a meeting and program.

A dance committee, Sandra Vinegar and Kathy Miller, was named to find a date and place for a dance. Marie Slane gave the Hibarian's report, "Thoughts."

Cheryl Sandy and Mrs. Alfred Sandy served refreshments. The next regular meeting is March 23.

Mrs. L. Dille Hosts Literary Art Guild Meet

Mrs. Leone Dille was hostess for members of the Booklore Literary Art Guild. Mrs. Walter Peay, club president, welcomed the special guests, Mrs. Thomas Speedy, Mrs. Blair Hall, Mrs. Lee McCracken and Mrs. Dennis Moss.

Mrs. Norman Wengert gave the guilded thought. The group heard a review highlighting the development of English poetry, presented by Mrs. Fred Klinker. Mrs. Klinker first gave an outline of the basic types of poetry and brought out that all nationalities are represented in the epoch poems beginning with mythology and extending through the centuries.

The influence of Biblical poetry on many great authors was noted. How each preceding style influences others that follow was illustrated by quotations through the presentation. John Donne's works are especially influential. Anglo-Saxon, Medieval, Elizabethan, romantic, Victorian and modern English poetry and epoch tables were read by Mrs. Klinker.

Some of the authors quoted were Tennyson, Chaucer, Shakespeare, Pope, John Donne, Byron, Scott, Milton, Browning, Kipling, A. E. Housman and G. K. Chesterton.

An original poem by Mrs. Klinker's daughter was read. The presentation of a portion of Chaucer's "Prologue to Canterbury Tales" read in authentic Middle English dialect and the humorous poem, "Get Up and Bar the Door," were presented.

Mrs. LeRoy Arrington and Mrs. Wengert were co-hostesses, assisting Mrs. Dille.

Next month the group will meet with Mrs. Bill Warner to hear Mrs. Garth Galloway review "Eighth Moon."

Magic Valley Favorites

WEEK'S RECIPE WINNER
MRS. BERT TRACY
Alma

Light Fudge Cake
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons shortening
2 eggs
3/4 cups water
2 cups sifted all purpose flour
1/2 cup cocoa
1 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Few drops of red food coloring

Cream shortening and brown and white sugar. Beat in whole eggs. Add water, stirring constantly. Sift flour, cocoa, salt and baking soda. Add dry ingredients alternately with the sour milk to the sugar mixture. Stir in vanilla. Add enough red coloring to accent the color. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

(Note: This is a moist cake and is not real light and fluffy. Mrs. Tracy states that she soaks sweet milk by adding one tablespoon vinegar to milk and stirring well. Allow milk to set for a few minutes.)

One Minute Boil Fudge Frosting

1 1/2 cups white sugar
2 to 3 tablespoons cocoa, depending on how much chocolate you like
7 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons shortening
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon corn syrup

1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
Mix all ingredients together in a sauce pan except the vanilla. Bring slowly to a boil, stirring constantly.

Start timing when fudge reaches a full rolling boil. Continue stirring and boil briskly one minute. (On rainy or humid days boil one and one-half minutes.)

Remove from heat and allow to cool to lukewarm. Add vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread.

If fudge becomes too thick add a few drops of hot water until desired consistency. (Note: This frosting recipe is enough for the tops of two loaves.)

Area Altar Society Meets

HAGERMAN — Mrs. Dwayne Grimes was hostess for members of the St. Catherine's Altar Society.

Rev. Method Korn talked on the finery of the church, and since the Masses are changed there is an abundance of finery that are not used. It was decided to give them to the Benedictine Sisters who will make them usable and be sent to missions.

A report was given on the success of the fish dinner. The next meeting is April 11 at the home of Mrs. Joseph Olliver.

ers. You will need to double it to ice sides of cake also. It will generously cover a loaf cake.)

(The Times-News will pay $5 each week for the best recipe submitted for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a recipe to submit, send it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.)

Keith Evans Is Speaker at AAUW Meeting

The American Association of University Women held its general monthly meeting at the YMCA. Keith Evans, director of the plant pest control division of the Department of Agriculture, spoke on the "Safe Use of pesticides."

He reported that the contaminants occurring naturally, such as dusts, pollens, viruses, bacteria, fungi and metallic poisons, are of more danger to plant and animal life than are the contaminants due to man. Several years of research go into the production of a pesticide before it is put on the label.

Evans showed slides which stressed that reading the label on the pesticide container is of primary importance for safe use of the pesticide.

Evans was introduced by Mrs. Garth Wilson, study group chairman for the study of "Science, a Creative Discipline."

Mrs. John Carter was elected first vice president in charge of programs; Mrs. J. P. O'Connor, second vice president in charge of membership; and Mrs. Marvin Strope, treasurer. Carry-over officers for the following year are Mrs. Eldon Evans, president, and Mrs. Garth Wilson, secretary.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Carter, Mrs. K. R. Sanderson and Mrs. Lucille Brice.

Next month's meeting will feature Lillian Chao, professor emerita of the Institute of Advanced Chinese Studies, National Taiwan University, Taipei, speaking on the Chinese Revolution, and will be open to the public. Details of the program will be announced.

Spring Supper Is Scheduled

CAREY—Plans for the Spring Fellowship Supper were made when officers of the Presbyterian Women's Organization met at the home of Mrs. Leona Coates, president.

The supper will be held at 7:30 p.m. April 1 at the Larkin Community Church and will be potluck. Officers are in charge of the program.

The decorating committee includes Mrs. Leslie Green, Mrs. Elwin Coates and Mrs. Larry Sparks. Mrs. Gilbert Cross and Mrs. Philip Stylt are in charge of invitations.

The Presbyterian Women's Organization will meet at 2 p.m. March 18 at the home of Mrs. Barney Ilya. Mrs. Larry Sparks is in charge of the program.

Jay-C-Ettes Observe 20th Anniversary

BY RONNIE BURNS

BUHL—The Buhl community took on a festive air as Buhl Jay-C-Ettes convened here recently for a 20-year-birthday anniversary observance. The reunion, the first one ever held by the organization, was termed a success as members and former members renewed old acquaintances, and were brought up to date with the 20 years of intervening progress since the group was first organized.

The fete began with an informal afternoon tea served in the R and R Cafe Banquet Room. Tables were decorated with spring floral arrangements and pastel candleholders. The tea table was enhanced with a large decorative ceramic cup and saucer containing date books and emery boards which were distributed as favors.

Center of attraction that drew many comments and exclamations was a table featuring a bulletin board of pictures and scrapbooks reminiscent of past club activities. Greeters were Mrs. Gary Meyer and Mrs. Richard Bencken.

Mrs. M. J. Bazil, current president, extended the welcome. The program featured teen entertainment with Kathy Hopkins and Marilyn Sisson performing dance numbers. Jimmy James Crawford and Michael Noonan sang and provided guitar accompaniment.

As an added diversion to the memorable occasion a humorous skit was presented reviewing the club's history and its projects. Mrs. Bazil dressed in various stages of yummage clothing, depicting one of the many phases of activities sponsored by the organization as fund raising projects, served as narrator.

Members in colorful and amusing attires portraying various other projects were Mrs. Jack Fields, dressed as Santa Claus denoting the Christmas welfare program; Mrs. James Stewart, the Youth Center, and Mrs. Kenneth Rosecrans, in a football uniform to emphasize the Jay-C-Ettes aided in purchasing the first lights for the local high school football field.

Mrs. Bencken depicted the school hot lunch program which the organization helped to institute; Mrs. Milton Evans dressed as a cheerleader to emphasize that Jay-C-Ettes contributed toward the purchase of new scoreboards at the Buhl High School, and Mrs. Albert Schaal depicted concession stands, another fund raising project.

At the conclusion of the tea the women hurried back to their homes and lodgings to change into party frocks for the evening festivities which included a social hour, candlelight dinner and dance held in the Buhl Moose Hall.

Although the air was crisp and cold spring was bursting out all over in the hall decor in keeping with the theme, "It Might as Well Be Spring." The entranceway was highlighted with a lighted white archway accented with ornate gigantic roses fashioned of stain glass gift tissue in shaded hues of pink, lavender and blues. Bird cages with cascading spring flowers dangled from the ceiling.

White tablecloths with crystal holders and pastel colored tapers and quaint centerpieces of apple blossoms in pink, yellow, blue and lavender, adorned at the base with gay characterizations of Jay-C-Ette projects, completed the picturesque setting.

The evening activities included Jay-C-Ettes and their husbands with former and current Jaycees and their wives joining in the gala celebration. The reception committee included Mr. and Mrs. Bazil, Mrs. James Lowder, Mrs. Robert Day and Mrs. Darrell McRoberts.

GREETING GUESTS, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Prather, Twin Falls, center, are Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bazil at the Jay-C-Ette reunion held in Buhl. A social hour, candlelight dinner and a dance were highlights of the evening festivities. Rev. Robert Burchell gave the invocation. Mrs. Bazil gave the welcome address and Robert Bailey served as master of ceremonies. Former Jay-C-Ette members from throughout Idaho attended the event. (Times-News photo) doing community service work. Among its projects the organization worked with the Red Cross and PTA in establishing a hot lunch program at school, contributing $450 to this program. They contributed in setting up the junior division, Buhl Rifle and Pistol Club.

The group laid the groundwork for and spearheaded fund raising drives for the youth center and still maintain a Jay-C-Ette on the adult board. The organization contributed $450 to the Happy Day School, Twin Falls, for mentally retarded children. This past year they donated $450 to establish a special education class in the Buhl Elementary School, spearheaded an all organization dinner to assist many charities.

Dinner-Dance Held by MIA

DECLO — "Strut and Supp. Old Fashioned Style" was the theme of the dinner-dance sponsored by the Declo LDS MIA. Robert Stevens, Young Men's president, welcomed the guests.

The opening prayer was given by LeRoy Darrington. Following the dinner, the Bowcutt Brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Bowcutt, Springdale, presented two musical numbers. They stood before a painting by Mrs. Louise Zadorozny, which depicted a street scene of the early 1900's. Various scenes of that era also decorated the Cultural Hall.

Dance music was furnished by Mrs. Bruce Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Martin.

The tables were decorated in a St. Patrick Day motif and were accented with green streamers. Mrs. John Priest was chairman of the decorating committee.

Serving was by the Declo

Ward MIA girls, under the direction of Mrs. Alton Moon.

Unit Convenes

DIETRICH — LDS Relief Society met for a work and business meeting under the direction of Mrs. Lila Anderson, president.

The lesson, "Cleanliness Is Next to Godliness," was presented by Mrs. Glenda Burgoyne.

The afternoon was spent quilting. Prayer was given by Mrs. Esther Clegg.

Committees Report at T.F. Council Meet

Each standing committee gave a report on plans for the year when the Twin Falls County Extension Homemakers Council met with Mrs. Beryl Eldridge, council president, presiding.

The executive board asked that a ten minute report be given at each meeting by a standing committee. Mrs. John Hayes reminded members that contributions for Viet Nam can be sent to 660 First Ave., New York 16, N.Y.

Mrs. J. H. Sharp gave the proposed amendments to the council bylaws and asked that each club study them before the June meeting.

The unit voted to become a sponsor of the March 30 meeting at the O'Leary Junior High School. All members are urged to bring their husbands and friends and hear the views of the men from the state department.

The council donated $20 to the 4-H camp and asked that each club donate to the camp.

Mrs. Agnes Hurst is planning her programs for 1967. Mrs. Helen Walker presented a list of programs she has available and many other suggestions were given.

The district meeting is set for March 21 at Rupert. Members are asked to send their registration right away.

Area Rebekah Lodge Convenes Featured in Women's Wear

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The little girl "rounded look" did its blurring over each shoulder blade of the long-haired model in the navy and white dress. That's how Oleg Cassini knew that she was wearing it backwards.

Things went that way at the spring style previews Saturday for this designer whose name was once a household word after Mrs. John F. Kennedy, then the nation's first lady, put him officially in charge of her trend-setting state wardrobe.

Things haven't run as smoothly for him since. The Bob Hope of the garment district told the more than 200 visiting newsmen that, "It has been a good year, though I've been knocked more than any other year."

But the audience was enthusiastic over his collection of very young clothes, as well as his entertaining performance as a commentator.

Instead of dressing women in baby clothes the way most have done in the four-day American designer preview series, which ended Saturday, Cassini chose to doll them up as Lolita-like adolescents.

If you don't have the high small, but full bosoms that are emphasized throughout the line, Cassini arbitrarily suggests you wait it out until fashion reaches another phase—presumably hidden from sight.

Between pauses on the runway.

HEIDER'S FLOOR SERVICE

SERVING MAGIC VALLEY 30 YEARS

NOW INTRODUCES A NEW CONCEPT IN FLOOR COVERING—

This unique seamless flooring never needs waxing!
(and it is very hard on hammers)

With great things happening in outer space, something great had to happen right here underfoot. This is it: Monosaic Seamless Flooring — for your home.

Monosaic has a three-dimensional look that does wall-to-wall magic for the space you live in. Monosaic is uniquely resilient. It has no seams—cannot trap dirt or water. It is curl-proof, crack-proof, chip-proof, fade-proof.

Spike heels and other hard objects do not affect Monosaic. Here is a floor that possesses superior wearing qualities!

Infinite Color Selection

For your Monosaic Seamless Flooring you have a choice of virtually every color combination in the spectrum. You can unify your home by using the same color pattern throughout... or you can vary your color choices from room to room.

Maintenance Free

Monosaic is the most maintenance free flooring ever developed. After three years of constant use, Monosaic outlasts all other flooring materials.

An occasional damp mopping is all it asks for beauty's sake. With stripping and waxing completely eliminated, you save lots of money as well as lots of effort.

Tremendous Step Forward

Monosaic is made of dense liquid plastics, curing agents, and resilient vinyl plastic color flakes—a process hailed by the industry as the greatest achievement in a quarter of a century.

Monosaic is installed to perfection over new or old flooring—and only by our factory-trained experts. When the installation is completed, you have a permanent bonded flooring. It is virtually impervious to the foods, caustics, acids, solvents and other stains that damage ordinary flooring.

See How It Works

For a free demonstration and cost estimate, use the coupon below. We will show you how Monosaic Seamless Flooring is custom-made (using thousands of individual vinyl plastic flakes) to blend with your decor. By appointment, we will call on you—or you may wish to visit our showroom. No obligation whatsoever.

Here are three of thousands of possible custom color design combinations:

Mrs. Eva Hay Honored at Rebekah Tea

HAGERMAN—The visit of the Rebekah Assembly president, Mrs. Eva Hay, Kellogg, was observed by members of the Union Rebekah Lodge, with a tea at the home of Mrs. Cletice Marsh.

A banquet was served by members of the American Legion Auxiliary at the American Legion Hall that evening honoring Mrs. Hay. The tables were decorated with Mrs. Hay's colors, pink, brown and silver, and pink carnations, her flower.

Mrs. C. W. Choules and Mrs. Marion Pugmire sang the president's song, "An Evening Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Elwood Grimes. Tony Hendrickson played an accordion solo and Sheri Behrens gave a humorous reading.

At the meeting at the IOOF Hall, Mrs. Ralph Behrens, noble grand, conducted the session. Mrs. Hay was introduced by Mrs. Hallie Conklin and Mrs. Gene Overlie. Guests attended from Buhl and Fairfield. Others introduced were Mrs. Edna Harrison, Fairfield district deputy president, and Mrs. Grimes, assembly musician.

All officers from other lodges were introduced and each received a corsage.

Mrs. Hay talked on her year's program, outlining the various projects. The degree work and chaplain charge were given. Participating were Mrs. Rex McNulty, chaplain, Mrs. Emma Sevey, Mrs. Flossie Marsh, Mrs. Cletice Marsh, Mrs. Overlie, Mrs. Merle Green, Mrs. Vernon Brewer, Mrs. John Stark, Mrs. Frank Henslee, Mrs. Ralph Miller, Mrs. Grimes and Mrs. Dale Slane, under the direction of Mrs. LeRoy Jolley, staff captain.

Mrs. Hay was presented a gift from the lodge.

A social hour was held after the meeting. The next regular meeting is Tuesday.

Mrs. Blanchard Gives Lesson

DECLO—The Naomi Circle of the United Presbyterian Women met at the home of Mrs. Chet Parke, Declo, with Mrs. Wilma Blanchard presenting the lesson, "Latin America."

Mrs. J. B. Goettsche presented the meditation on the apostles' creed for the opening exercises and conducted the least coin service.

A poem, "On Wings of Prayer," was presented by Mrs. Ambrose Moffit.

It was announced that Presbyterial will be held in Jerome during April. The next meeting is Thursday at the home of Mrs. Henry Oltman.

Relief Society Has All-Day Work Meeting

DECLO—"Cleanliness Is Next to Godliness" was the lesson presented by Mrs. Douglas Roos at the all-day work meeting of the Declo LDS Relief Society.

Mrs. Roos stressed the importance of cleanliness in the home and exemplified it as the foundation in building an enjoyable physical environment.

The opening prayer was given by Mrs. Maurice King. Music was under the direction of Mrs. Winfield Hurst, accompanied by Mrs. Norman Hurst.

Bread demonstrations were given by Mrs. Richard Wolf.

who demonstrated orange nut bread, and Mrs. Seymour Osterhout, who demonstrated home-made egg bread. The remainder of the afternoon was spent quilting and preparing bazaar items.

Mrs. Wolf was sustained as visiting teacher and assigned as food chairman of the work committee.

Chairman of the luncheon committee was Mrs. Alma Turner Jr., assisted by Mrs. Joseph Gillette, Mrs. Harry Darrington, Mrs. Clarence Phillips, Mrs. Jack Chamberlin and Mrs. Emma Darrington.

"Spring" was the motif used for the gaily-decorated tables. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Mike Matthews.

Cleanliness Lesson Given

SHOSHONE—A lesson on cleanliness in the home was given at the LDS Relief Society meeting by Mrs. James Beck.

The all-day work meeting was conducted by Mrs. F. N. Stowell. Luncheon at noon was served under the supervision of Mrs. William Harris and Mrs. Sherman Sorensen.

Mrs. Lyndell Cooper, Dietrich, demonstrated the use of sewing machines.

Work was done on quilts and other handwork items. There will be no Relief Society meeting Tuesday as members are encouraged to attend the cooking school to be held at the IOOF Hall that day.

Friendship Theme Used for Wendell Club

WENDELL—"Friendship" was the theme for the afternoon meeting of the Home Improvement Club at the Civic Club Rooms.

Mrs. Hugh Caldwell, club president, opened the meeting with a poem, "Effects of Thankfulness."

Mrs. Ruth J. Shane, extension home economics agent, Gooding, presented the program, a demonstration on color and texture for individual types. She spoke of the value, intensity and understanding of color and texture.

Club members, in groups of three, used swatches of materials of varied colors and textures to determine the color and fabric most effective for the individual. Mrs. Shane distributed literature prepared by Esther Nystrom, extension clothing specialist for the University of Idaho.

Announcement was made of the all-day district meeting set for March 24 at Rupert. Mrs. J. C. Kendrick was appointed as voting delegate for the club. Registration slips, to be returned before Friday, were distributed. The theme of the meeting is "Magical World of Home-making."

An invitation was read from Gooding Memorial Hospital Auxiliary to attend a 1 p.m. no-host luncheon March 23 at the Lincoln Inn Banquet Room. Speakers are Mrs. John Becker, state president, and Mrs. Dale Mavencamp, director of nurses. Reservations are to be in by Friday.

Mrs. Shane announced a beef cookery school is slated in Boise March 30, with all club members invited. A wood refinishing school for all interested persons will be held at 1:30 March 29 at the Gooding Grange Hall.

Mrs. Ruth Wahler will make a complete report of the beautification program at the April 12 meeting. The program at that meeting is "Hair Care and Styling." Mrs. Wahler and Mrs. Arthur Byce are hostesses.

A get-well card was signed by all members to be sent to Mrs. Anton Almberg.

Mrs. Caldwell and Mrs. Earl Lowry served refreshments.

Officers Named

HANSEN—Mrs. Gary Lucich was elected president at the Home Improvement Club meeting at the schoolhouse.

Mrs. Bryan Harris Jr. is vice president; Glenn Buscher, secretary, and Mrs. Thomas Proctor, treasurer.

Mrs. Roy Hancock and Mrs. Tommy Russell were hostesses.

Couturiers Compete for High Hemlines

By JEAN SPRAIN-WILSON
AP FASHION WRITER
NEW YORK (AP) — Many couturiers competed for the high hemline championship at the preview of spring fashions. One of the foremost contenders at the American designer series was Geoffrey Beene.

Cleopatra-eyed manikins in tight, thigh-high lace numbers, sometimes banded around the hipbone, put him ahead in the preliminaries.

Edging their skirts were bouncy ostrich feathers and floppy ruffles and glitter.

There were wild printed silk dresses with blouson tops and deep-pleated skirts; pale crepe baby doll smocks with little jeweled collars and cuffs; slick, icy white silk suits with bows and buttons at the sleeves.

Among the prizes for brevity at the Donald Broomis show were zigzag printed Indian crepe shifts; baby smocks in brilliant patterned silks; and some naughty-nightie type cocktail dresses made of see-through black net over nude pink slip.

Both Beene and Brooks created suits, jackets and dresses never meant for buxom belles.

If all had gone well, dean of American designers, Norman Norrell, would have indicated that he, too, thoroughly approved of the flat chested, high hemmed fashion for 1966.

Scissor-Happy Couturiers Show Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN-WILSON
PARIS (AP)—Although "cut-away" seems to be the battle cry of all scissor-happy couturiers this season, designer Yorn today applied the term specifically to the openings of already short coat-dresses.

By curving away the coat-dress tails, like the cutaway coat of men's formal wear, Yorn found one more way of showing more than the at least three-inches-above-the-knee hemlines already did.

To balance the flesh exposure, the mannequins wrapped their heads and much of their faces in pique and organza hoods.

Yorn also snipped slits in sleeveless coats worn over sheer sheaths with high collars and long sleeves.

A flounce of white feathers held down the up-to-here hemline of a white crepe party dress.

There were fitted coats with square necklines and collars and some with V necklines and no collars at all.

Yorn showed his collection at the regular Paris spring and summer showings.

Fruis Ferraud's collection was swinging and jazzy. It included:—Skirts shorter than short—used to be until they got short.

—Semicircles bitten out of the edges of jackets.

—Gamey white terry shifts and aces and hearts on them.

—Football player-type coats with "88" stitched onto the front. (This means love and kisses in ham radio code.)

—Baseball-type white jerseys with stripes at the sleeves and the neck.

—Lavender, shocking pink and bright yellow shoulder-length wigs with eyebrow-covering bangs.

LDS Officers Host Dinner

VIEW — The new View LDS Primary officers hosted a dinner and social in honor of the retiring presidency.

The table centerpiece was arranged by Mrs. Scott Loveland and depicted the number of years each of the retiring officers have served the organization. Mrs. Reid Angus has served 11 years; Mrs. Nephi Anderson, eight years; and Mrs. Don Wrigley, four years.

The new presidency includes Mrs. Ned Bowman, Mrs. Eldon Searle and Mrs. Page Crandall. Mrs. Jack Warren, secretary, presented each retiring officer a book of thoughts and verses. Dorcus Gibby directed the games.

BELLS ARE EVERYWHERE in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Mitchell, 1605 Kimberly Road, Twin Falls. Mrs. Mitchell collects them. Her daughter, when 10 years old, gave her mother five of them, and since that time the collection has been growing to where there are 107 today. Mrs. Mitchell looks at some of the bells, many unique, on display at her home. The bell collection followed a start at acquiring cups and saucers. (Times-News photo)

Local Bell Collection Now Totals 107 Pieces

Mrs. Dwight Mitchell, 1605 Kimberly Road, has a noisy hobby. She collects bells. The collection now totals 107 and was started when her daughter, now a grown woman, was 10 years old. At that time the daughter, Glenda, gave her mother five bells as a gift. That was the start of it.

Since then Mrs. Mitchell has purchased some of the bells she has on display at her home, but a good majority of them have come to her as gifts from friends and relatives. One unique bell is a cow bell which her husband used on their farm near Burley. Another is from the Fairview school at Wood River, a one-room point of education years ago. This particular bell, a hand bell, was used by the teacher in lieu of the large building bells in use in some early schools.

In the collection are found bells made of China and even some from China. There are Swiss instruments and even types which were hung from the necks of goats. At least one yard bell also is in the collection.

One bell has a string coming from under it, and when this string is pulled the tune Jingle Bells is heard.

"Actually, I started years ago collecting cups and saucers," Mrs. Mitchell said. "This hobby ended when my daughter gave me those first few bells. Since that time I have been a bell collector."

"We are lucky in one respect. We do not have enough hands in the family to ring them all at once so we must be content with an individual ring now and then. It is an interesting hobby, providing you have a lot of room in which to display your collection."

German Band Performs for Rotary Club

SHOSHONE—The high school German band played at the Rotary Club meeting Wednesday noon, directed by Richard Radford.

Clayton Peugh, program chairman, introduced Radford and his band.

Club members voted to give $50 to Boy Scouts for equipment for leadership training in the district.

Marilyn Pearson was accompanist in the absence of Mrs. Mary Pethick who is recovering from surgery. She is in Boise.

Omer Shook, chairman of the ladies night committee, will invite wives of club members to attend the March 30 meeting when a special program will be presented.

Rev. John Tulk, chairman of the committee for road signs for the city, will look into ideas for advertising community facilities to tourists, including the park and camping facilities here.

Visitors Wednesday noon were E. J. Baez, Jerome; Robert Robinson, Gooding, and Robert Colter, Boise.

Masterpoint Is Played by Club

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

THIS COIN COMES from Mozambique, which was formerly Portuguese East Africa. The country is located in Southeast Africa. Called an escudo, it is worth about three and one-half cents, United States exchange. The coin has a collector value of about ten cents. (Times-News photo)

Again we have a group of letters for insufficient explanations for coin identification. Especially in the foreign coinage, it is important that a complete description be enclosed. As an example, the following letter: "Dear Sir: I have a 1914 German silver dollar. Is it of any value?" signed M. H., Twin Falls.

Germany has never struck a silver dollar. I would imagine that the coin asked about would be either a two mark, three mark or five mark silver coin. The fact that pre-World War I coins were struck in 11 different mints, further complicates research on this request.

Add to this possible mint difference that the coin could come from the following states: A n h a l t, B a v a r i a, B r e m e n, B r u n s w i c k, H a m b u r g, H e s s e, D a r m s t a d t, L i p p e D e t m o l d, L u m b e c k, M e c k l e n b u r g, S c h w e i n, M e c k l e n b u r g, S t r e l i t z, O l d e n b u r g, P r u s s i a, R e u s s, G r e i z, R e u s s, S c h l e i z, S a x e A l t e n b u r g, S a x e C o b u r g G o t h a, S a x e M e i n i n g e n, S a x e W e i m a r, S a x o n y, S c h a u m b u r g L i p p e, S c h w a r z b u r g R u d o l f s t a d t, S c h w a r z b u r g S o n d e r h a u s e n, W a l d e c k, P y r m o n t o r W u r t t e m b u r g, and there is certainly no way we can guess what coin you have.

We are not criticizing the writer of the letter—only showing the complications which exist in trying to identify coinage which we have not seen.

A simple tracing of this coin would have made the difference. We would be glad to hear from "M. H." again on this subject. Similarly we have the following letter from "K. I.": Jerome which reads: "I would appreciate any information you could give on a $5.00 bill, Series 1907. Does it have any value over the $5.00?"

Here again, we are faced with an insurmountable task. As far as we can find out, there is no

Series of 1907 $5.00 bill. This could be a National Bank Note, with any one of some 14,000 banks of issue, plus the fact that some of the notes were issued with Red Seals, some with Blue Seals with the date on the back, some with Blue Seal without the date on the back, or it could be a Federal Reserve note from one of 12 districts, and within this framework, the bill could have a possibility of several dozen different signature combinations on it.

There is no possibility of identification with the scant amount of information available. Undoubtedly, if in nice condition, this note is worth more than face value—but without further information we are stymied as to identification. Again—we are not criticizing—just asking for more information. We hate to see so many letters go unanswered.

From J. D. Hazelton: "We enjoy your column in the Times-News very much. I am an amateur coin collector. Have a coin in excellent condition, dated 1864. Copper colored, 'Union Forever' printed on it, and a flag with 13 stars. Other side is a ladies head with a crown on it, six stars on each side. Is this a one-cent piece? Or of any value?"

Answer: You have a "Civil War Token." Without seeing the actual token, I have to guess—it is one of the following: (The numbers are full identification numbers from their fine book of Civil War Tokens) Numbers 50 through 56, obverse, numbers 341 through 344, reverse. If in the condition you say, this token could be worth anywhere from $5.00 to $5.00, depending on which obverse-reverse combination.

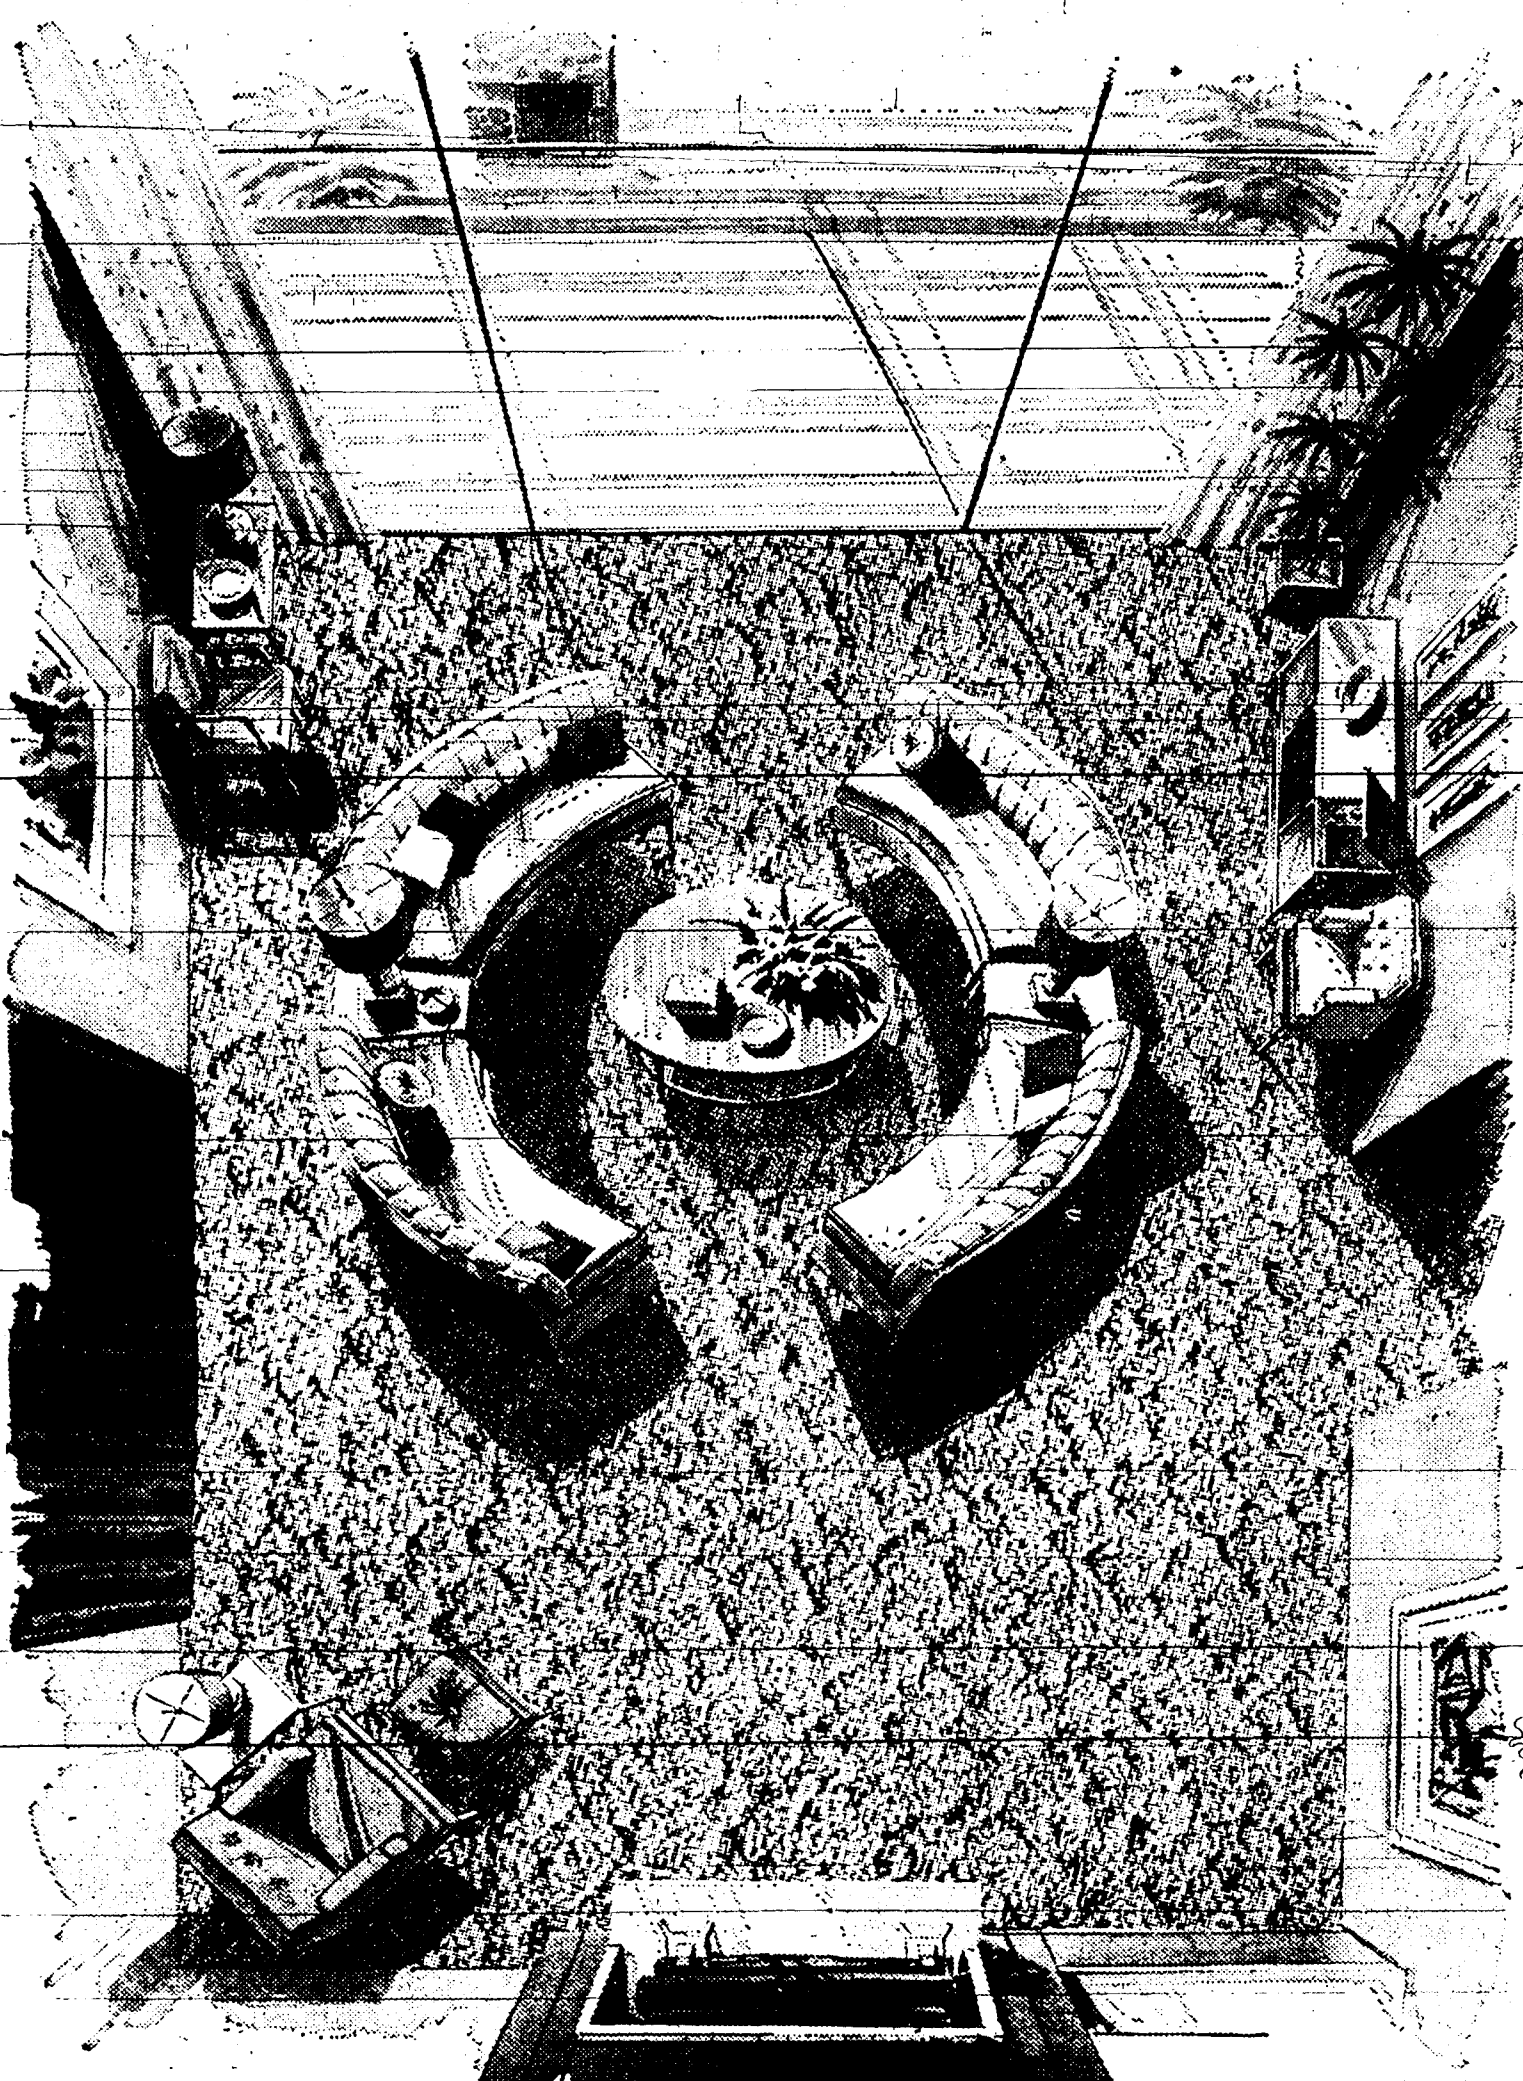

From R. L. W. Burley: "I have a coin, dated 1962, almost brand-new. On one side it says 'Mozambique' with the date,
