Strike by Firemen Halts Trains in 38 States; End To Walkout Is Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal judge today ordered a halt to strikes and picketing against eight railroads by the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. U.S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff granted the order at the request of railroad attorneys to halt the surprise strike that started at 12:01 a.m. today and idled some 300,000 workers on the eight lines in 38 states. The judge granted the restraining order to halt the strike over the strenuous objections of union attorney Joseph Rauh, who said: "This is a declaration of guilt and you can't do that without witnesses." Holtzoff replied that in ordering a halt to the strikes he was not ruling that the firemen were violating a restraining order he issued last week.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A strike of nearly 8,000 firemen halted trains on eight major railroads serving 38 states today, and the carriers sought a court order to end the walkout. About the time lawyers for the railroads were filing for a court order in U.S. District Court in Washington, the president of the striking union said here he had accepted an invitation from President Johnson to go to Washington later today.

Train Stations in Three Valley Towns Picketed

Picketing by the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen was under way Thursday in three Magic Valley towns as part of a nationwide strike against eight railroads, including the Union Pacific.

Shoshone was without its familiar train whistles, no trains having gone through the town since midnight. Dale Bailey, agent, said he will keep the depot open unless given other directions by the management.

Railroad employees were picketing in Glens Ferry, Twin Falls and Rupert. Five men were carrying signs near the Rupert depot and indicated they were stationed there mainly to write down names of any crew members who crossed the picket line.

Four trains and their crews were sitting in Rupert, but there was no picketing or activity at Minidoka, where the branch line through Burley and Twin Falls connects with the main line.

There were 10 pickets along the tracks leading into Twin Falls and at the depot there. Six engines had been halted and about 50 cars were not moving. The picket line was being honored and all traffic has been stopped at the local depot.

Four trains were stopped in Glens Ferry, where a meeting was under way Thursday morning at the Moose Hall over the strike. Wendell Allison, union representative, said as far as he is concerned there were no government supplies on the trains.

A passenger train, the "City of Portland," went through Glens Ferry at 2:32 a.m. Thursday. This train will handle milk runs and anything of priority, it was reported.

The strike already has affected the 76 railroad employees who live at Glens Ferry. Thursday is payday, but the train with the checks was still in Pocatello.

Three persons were picketing the Glens Ferry depot, which was locked.

Bliss Man Dies When Truck, Auto Collide

BLISS — A head-on collision between a two-ton truck and an auto late Wednesday evening on a county road north of here claimed the life of a 33-year-old Bliss man. Pronounced dead on arrival at Gooding County Memorial Hospital was Thure M. Ahlquist. According to Gooding County Sheriff Vern Royse, the accident occurred at about 7:40 p.m. on a rise above a canal three-fourths of a mile north of Bliss. Ahlquist was driving a 1966 Chevrolet south on the road and Ed Pate, 54, Gooding, was heading north in the 1965 Ford Truck when the two vehicles collided at the top of the rise.

Ahlquist and Pate were taken to the hospital by ambulance but Ahlquist was dead on arrival.

The fourth traffic death of 1966 in Magic Valley occurred March 30 as the result of an accident in Gooding County.

rival. Pate was treated for cuts and bruises and released. Both vehicles were completely demolished. The Gooding County Sheriff's office is continuing investigation.

Mr. Ahlquist was employed at the ranch of Carl Anderson, Bliss. He was born Oct. 27, 1930. The body will be sent to Marshall Funeral Home, Walla Walla, Wash., by Thompson chapel.

Mr. Ahlquist's mother, Mrs. Emmett Lunn, lives in Walla Walla and his father, H. M. Ahlquist, is state director of conservation in Washington. He is a former Washington state legislator.

2 Time Zones In Idaho May Pose Problem

BOISE (AP) — Idaho's two time zones may pose a problem in implementing a bill which was sent to the White House Wednesday.

Congress completed action on a measure which would make Daylight Saving Time effective in all states next year.

However, individual states could decide not to go along with the change.

Asked Wednesday whether Idaho would go on Daylight Saving Time next year, Gov. Robert E. Smylie described the question as a legislative matter.

Johnson Threatens Inflation Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said today skyrocketing prices cannot be allowed to torpedo American prosperity and "if I haven't done enough about it, I will." Johnson delivered his strongest blast yet against inflationary pressures before a meeting of the National League of Cities. And he broadened his address to call on everyone from housewives to big business, labor and government at all levels to join efforts to hold down spending. The prepared version of the speech said Johnson would not hesitate to call for new restraints on the economy if necessary — "election year notwithstanding." But the election reference did not get into the address as delivered.

Another switch was a specific mention of a call for a tax increase as one of the anti-inflation moves being held in reserve. The written speech did not go into a listing of the things Johnson would do if he had to.

He said no decisions have been made on such matters and asserted "the American economy is not shooting off into outer space" at the moment.

Johnson's audience today was largely made up of Mayors. Wednesday night, he spoke at the White House to a group of leading businessmen and won from some of them pledges to cut spending on new plants and equipment. Today he said he will talk with the Cabinet Thursday and labor leaders soon.

The President said he has even asked Mrs. Johnson to defer building a couple of rooms on their house down in Texas and try to buy cheaper cuts of meat.

But against the President said he has not reached a decision to ask for specific steps to combat spiraling prices and costs.

"So beware of the impressionists and the alarmists," he cautioned. "When and if this situation comes, we will announce it deliberately and we will do it carefully and prudently."

About the time Johnson was delivering his speech, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said the American people would resent and resist a new tax increase this year, and added that would help Republican candidates in November.

Ford and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, at a joint news conference, countered Johnson's tax hints with a complaint that the administration has not really moved to cut back domestic spending.

Funds OK'd

Officials of the College of Southern Idaho received word Thursday morning from Sen. Frank Church that $33,390 in federal funds had been made available to 75 students involved in the college's work-study program.

The funds are provided on a 10 per cent local to 90 per cent federal basis and are used to pay student personnel salaries.

Students in the work-study program work a maximum of 15 hours per week for the college at $1.25 per hour to help pay necessary expenses of attending the school.

But the chief negotiator for the railroad industry, J.E. Wolfe said in New York the strike was "completely illegal" and he would seek an injunction in U.S. District Court in Washington immediately to halt it. Wolfe flew to Washington early today.

Perry S. Heath, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which has been feuding with the firemen's union, said "under the law of the land this is an illegal strike, an invasion of the jurisdictional and contractual rights of the BLE."

Gilbert said the basic issue of the walkout was the railroad industry's "using the courts for delay and an outright refusal to meet any issue, including a training program for firemen, at the bargaining table."

2 Brigades Challenge Along Border

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two brigades of U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division, ranged over the rugged hills on the Cambodian frontier today, challenging a large North Vietnamese force across the border to battle.

U.S. officers said a major fight may be in the making on the scale of the 1st Cavalry's nine-day stand last fall in the Ia Drang Valley only a few miles away.

One report said two more helicopters were lost in new fighting this morning, bringing the number downed by the Communists to six. There was no confirmation of this in Saigon, however.

Police said the man entered the building by knocking a small hole in the window then reaching in and opening it. According to police, similar means of entry have been employed in many other recent break-ins.

Police have labeled the crime first-degree burglary and are continuing the investigation.

RETAIN POWER

VALETTA, Malta (AP) — Premier Borg Olivier's Nationalist party retained power in Malta and increased its parliamentary majority in national elections Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says it is studying carefully a French note in which France told the United States it will withdraw its forces from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's integrated military structure by July 1.

It may be assumed that there will be a reply," said Robert J. McCloskey, press secretary, Wednesday in announcing that the note was delivered to the U.S. Embassy in Paris Tuesday night.

Officials said further clarification will be needed of some points in the French note.

NATO's political headquarters were not mentioned, indicating France is only concerned now with ending military participation in the alliance.

The French requests will also be discussed with other NATO countries, U.S. officials emphasized.

The French note made these requests:

1. Termination of assignment of French ground and air forces, representing two divisions and two air wings, from

State Department Aides Defend U.S. Involvement in Viet Nam

Representatives of the State Department defended the United States' action in Viet Nam during a public meeting here Wednesday night. Howard T. Robinson, labor advisor to the Bureau of Far Eastern Affairs, said U.S. position is not so much "getting the job done" militarily, but working to help the South Vietnamese retain their dignity. He cited the fact that the United States could militarily win the war in Viet Nam easily, but by doing this "we could, in the long run, win the war for Communism." He said the "struggle for social development must continue to go on in Viet Nam — that this is the primary objective of the United States' involvement in the situation."

State Department officials were speaking throughout Magic Valley Wednesday on the U.S. foreign policy.

Other officials are John W. Piercey, chief of the conferences and speaking arrangements division of the Office of Public Affairs; Victor H. Skiles, regional coordinator for Africa, office of program coordination, Agency for International Development, and Hendrick Van Oss, deputy director of the office of West African and Malagasy Affairs, Bureau of African Affairs.

Bert Larson, Twin Falls, was moderator for the session.

Sponsoring the meetings in Idaho is the Idaho Congress of Parents Teachers Association.

Skiles, who was born and raised in the Burley area, spoke on the United States position and influence in the lesser developed countries of the world. He said many assistance programs, including military, training, equipment, food, and others are being utilized in these areas.

Piercey said the concept that the United States is acting under "globalism" is not true. He said we recognize the fact that the United States and her allies have over 75 per cent of the industrial production in the world.

He said the production of the United States alone is "miraculous."

He said because of the fact that while world population increases two per cent yearly and the food production only increases one per cent, we must "recognize the fact that we can no longer sit back and 'hoe our own garden' and let the rest go."

The four spoke to high school students, Kiwanis Clubs, Rotary Clubs, Chambers of Commerce and Leagues of Women Voters throughout the area Wednesday.

Lectures for Valley Areas Are Canceled

The final three lectures in the University of Idaho-sponsored "Adventures in Learning" have been canceled because of low attendance. It was announced Wednesday by L. Lee Weeds, program administrator.

The lecture series was to have brought five well-known lecturers from the university to Twin Falls and Burley to discuss a wide range of topics.

According to Weeds, the program was self-financing, which necessitated the cancellation after too few people appeared at the first two lectures at the Idaho Power Auditorium.

Nationalists Get Vote in South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's white Nationalists won South Africa's parliamentary elections today and seemed headed for a record victory. This would be an overwhelming endorsement by the country's white voters for the party's apartheid policy of racial segregation.

With returns in for 130 of the 166 House of Assembly seats to be filled, the Nationalists had 92, United party 37 and the Progressive party one.

Unofficial computer analyses, which in previous elections have proved accurate, indicated the Nationalists would win a record 124 seats. The highest previous total won by any party was 111, by the now main opposition United party in 1958.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

Fine spring weather will continue the rest of this week. A weak cool front moving into southern Idaho has been accompanied by some high cloudiness and an increase in winds, but no precipitation. Most of the district was a little warmer yesterday ahead of the system, and clouds and winds resulted in milder temperatures last night with minimum temperatures 10 to 20 degrees warmer than Tuesday night at a number of locations across southern Idaho.

Cooler air over the district will result in slightly lower temperatures this afternoon and tonight. Friday should be a little warmer with less wind today. For Saturday the outlook is for continuing warm temperatures with an increase again in high cloudiness and probably wind.

In general, conditions will continue highly favorable for progress in most field work. Winds of 10 to 20 miles per hour will interfere with operations such as spraying and burning of weeds in some areas today and perhaps Saturday.

Soil temperatures were a little higher with readings this morning in the low to mid 50s in Magic Valley at the three and four-inch depths.

TEMPERATURE AND PRECIPITATION

High School Drama Group Opens Play

The curtain will rise Thursday night on the second Twin High Playhouse production of the year, "The Miracle Worker," by William Gibson.

The production, based on the life of the famous blind girl, Helen Keller, will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in O'Leary Junior High School Auditorium, with more than 75 students participating.

The play is a stirring drama of the life of Helen Keller, played by Connie Rappelle, and her teacher, Annie Sullivan, portrayed by Rhonda Miracle. Jerry Higgins and Linda Davis play the parts of Capt. and Mrs. Keller, Helen's parents.

Unique in the play, directed by Bradford T. Hickerson, drama instructor, is a water pump that actually pumps water. The theme music was arranged by Robert Thompson, Thomas Pene and Mike Wendling, and has been recorded for use in the play.

Mrs. Wilma Gerlach is assistant director; Janice Anderson, student director; Caroline Brodine, stage director; Tim Bryson, business manager and Kip Fillmore, technical director.

Thursday night is student night and students will be admitted free of charge by presenting their student body cards at the door. Friday and Saturday nights tickets will be on sale at the door.

Body Shop Is Damaged as Roof Burns

Tar-fed flames swept across the roof of the Wills Body Shop at 242 4th Ave. W. shortly after 4 p.m. Wednesday but were quickly brought under control by firemen.

Damage apparently was confined to the cinder-block body shop's roof, as internal damage appeared minimal.

The fire reportedly began in a ventilator in the paint section of the single-story building, which blew the flames onto the roof.

While firemen battled the flames the electric wiring system on the roof began to short-circuit as wires became immersed in molten tar and water.

Sparks shot more than 10 feet into the air, accompanied by loud popping sounds that one spectator remarked sounded like "popcorn popping in a giant popper."

Henry Wills, one of the owners, said he thought damages would total about $2,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Goldman's quiet, 18-year-old son has been missing since before dawn Monday when a husky, middle-aged man wearing a baseball cap forced him to leave his home at gunpoint.

The kidnaper, described by police as extremely dangerous, demanded a $25,000 ransom. He said it would double in 24 hours, and if any trouble developed Daniel's life would be in danger.

Police and FBI agents have maintained a day-and-night vigil at the Goldmans' modern home on the banks of a waterway leading to Biscayne Bay. But there has been no indication they were getting any closer to a solution.

A slightly built teen-age boy who said he knew something about the case was questioned Wednesday. If he did, police wouldn't talk about it.

Proper Marker

The new Hansen Bridge will be properly marked, thanks to the foresight of members of the Twin Falls County Centennial Committee.

Before making a sizeable donation of funds to the Twin Falls County Historical Society, the Centennial members held back enough money to erect a proper marker at the bridge site.

The old Hansen suspension bridge was never really designated in this manner. The new structure still the Hansen Bridge will have a properly placed plaque to prove it.

Parents Plead For Return of Kidnaped Son

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The worried parents of Daniel Goldman have asked the kidnaper of their son to return him safely and they will meet any demand.

"You may contact us through the mail, through a clergyman, through an attorney or by direct telephone contact, but please let us hear from you immediately," the couple said in an open letter.

Sen. Fulbright Eyes Rational China Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright said today hearings by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which he heads may have provided "a first step toward developing a rational policy" toward Red China.

The Arkansas Democrat told a reporter that free and frank testimony by experts on Asia "has removed the taboo" on discussion of the China issue.

If the administration should decide ultimately to recognize the Peking regime and drops opposition to its admission to the United Nations, he said, the preponderance of the testimony "would give it a little more leeway" in which to operate.

A majority of the witnesses urged a policy of continued military containment around the periphery of China, combined with efforts to draw Peking into the United Nations and other international groups.

Fulbright voiced his views following the conclusion Wednesday of the committee's initial hearings on China. There is no indication when further hearings will be held.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said in a separate interview he agreed the hearings have done some good in making the American people "realize there is a Red China of some 700 million people." But he added he doubted they would change the sharp division within the committee over recognition of the Peking regime.

India Appeals For Foreign Investment

NEW YORK (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi has appealed for more private foreign investment to help India become self-sufficient.

In an address Wednesday night to the Economic Club of New York, she warned that without such assistance her country would be forced to seek financial aid from friendly nations.

"These years will certainly be crucial to the people of India in terms of the effort and sacrifice which they will be called upon to make," she said.

"They will also be crucial for our friends elsewhere in the world in that they will face the test of whether they intend to continue the support which they have given India so far, decisively enough in the future so as to make a difference," she added.

Mrs. Gandhi called the next 10 to 12 years a "critical period" in India's efforts to become self-reliant.

Shed Damaged in Heyburn Blaze

HEYBURN — A shed belonging to H. D. Witherspoon, Heyburn, was damaged by fire about 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Art McGill, Heyburn fire chief, said, apparently flames from a nearby trash barrel ignited scattered straw and the flames spread to a lumber pile and the shed. Damage was not estimated.

Just before noon on Tuesday firemen were called to the Don Wood home on the Alfreco road. A garage, which was used for storage, was partially destroyed by a fire of unknown origin. A child's bicycle and other personal belongings were among the items lost.

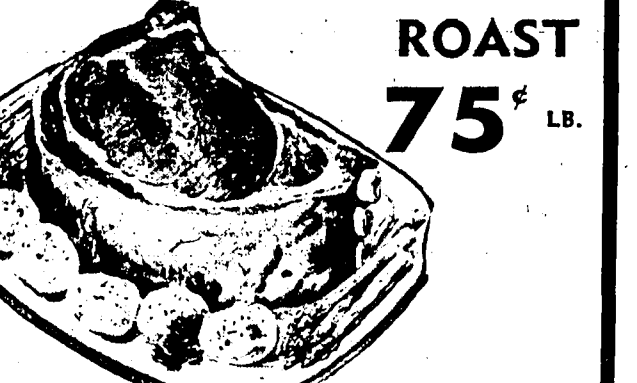

Firemen were unable to estimate damage.

Kramer Cites Need of Span Over Canyon

Need for a bridge over Salmon Falls Canyon, to aid development of the Bruneau Desert land, was cited as an issue Thursday by Douglas D. Kramer, candidate for the state senate in Twin Falls County District No. 24.

"Now that the new bridge at Clear Lake, north of Buhl, is fairly certain to be a reality," Kramer said, "Buhl should turn its attention to the west."

"We are witnessing a fast development of the Bruneau Desert in Owyhee County. The Salmon Falls Canyon is the only barrier. Present farm-to-market roads are inadequate. The West End needs a road and bridge to that area."

Kramer pledged, "If I am elected to the state senate I will direct my attention to this problem."

"It seems to me that every time a road project is discussed in Twin Falls County the State Highway Commission replies that it is on the 'planning boards.' With the taxes we pay in this county we are entitled to action, not plans."

BLM Official Quits, Will Head Branch

SHOSHONE — The resignation of Raymond Brossart as district engineer of the Bureau of Land Management here is announced by district manager, William T. Mahbutt. The resignation becomes effective Friday.

Brossart will manage a new branch office in Burley for C. W. Glasby, Twin Falls. A native of North Dakota, he received his degree in agriculture engineering at Colorado State University in 1959 after two years' service in the U.S. Army.

Since his college graduation, he has held BLM engineering positions in Grand Junction, Colo., Boise, and has served in his present position here since February, 1965.

During his career he has been an active member and director of Junior Chamber of Commerce in each city where he has served. He is a member of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers and the Idaho Society of Professional Engineers. In January, 1965, he became a registered professional engineer.

Brossart will be employed by C. W. Glasby and Associates, consulting engineers of Twin Falls, and will manage a new branch office in Burley.

He enters this new position with considerable experience in the design and construction of earthwork and concrete structures and is well versed in the design of water supply installations.

Brossart and his wife, the former Joyce Farris, Loveland, Colo., have three children and have lived in Gooding the past year. They plan to move to a new home in Burley.

2 Projects Are Planned At Ketchum

John Combs, district ranger, said lodge pole pine and Engelman spruce will be planted on Trail Creek drainages and Douglas Fir in the Baker Creek Canyon. Commercial timber has been cut off both areas the past year.

He said there are about 2,000 trees in the Castle Creek and other small tributary creeks at the head of Warm Springs Creek which have been attacked by bark beetle which must be taken care of this summer.

Some Foot

The new Hansen Bridge might be for a time at least — the biggest footbridge in the world.

Right now it has no road to lead to—and when completed this fall the possibility exists that the same situation will hold true. Several farm owners on the south side have refused to sell right-of-way across their lands for a new road from the bridge to a point near Red Cap corner at Kimberly.

Condemnation suits are anticipated. But unless the parties involved settle things on the side, the contest could drag on for several years in the courts. In this case, the big spanning new rim-to-rim structure could end up as a first class crossover for pedestrians.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By SEN. EUGENE J. MCCARTHY
WASHINGTON—The Central Intelligence Agency was established by Congress in 1947 under the provisions of the National Security Act and its purpose, as stated in the act, was "to correlate and evaluate intelligence relating to the national security."

This is a serious and important assignment, but in the nearly 20 years that have followed serious questions have been raised about the relationship of the agency to the process of making and directing United States foreign policy.

There is, I believe, significant evidence that the Central Intelligence Agency not only carries out policy, but in some respects, has become a positive and important influence on the policy itself.

BIG DOUBTS—In this connection, there were serious questions and some doubts raised concerning events in Viet Nam and in the Dominican Republic.

There has been concern in Congress over the question of policy influence and direction. Congress has a constitutional responsibility to make periodic examinations of the functions of the different agencies it has established. Such reviews are regularly made of federal agencies, for the most part on an annual basis by the committees on appropriations.

Since the establishment of the CIA, there has been no formal review of the activities of this agency by Congress. In the case of the CIA, however, the normal procedures of Congress cannot be applied. There is a need for secrecy. This need is not challenged and it should be maintained. None of us, accepting the concept and the necessity of the agency, would reject the necessity that its functions be carried on outside the usual avenues of social exchange and commerce.

WHAT GOES ON?—But without a formal review of the CIA by Congress, it has not been possible to determine whether there is justification for criticism of the agency, or to prevent what appears to be misdirections or distortions of foreign policy, or to dispel these as rumors.

A number of procedures to provide a review of the activities of the CIA are possible. Many proposals have been suggested but only one formal attempt has been made in the Congress to provide the legislative oversight which I believe is required.

I have introduced in the Senate a resolution that proposes that the Senate on Foreign Relations or an authorized subcommittee make a full and complete study of the effects of the operations and the activities of the CIA upon the foreign relations of the United States.

SENATE RESPONSIBILITY—Under the Constitution, the Senate has a special and prior responsibility in the field of foreign policy, and the Committee on Foreign Relations is most directly concerned with this unique burden.

I believe it is possible that the CIA might have to serve as a more effective arm of the government if it were subject to a thorough and objective study. It would lessen the tendency to place all missteps of foreign policy at the doors of the intelligence agencies if there was the knowledge that Congress was providing both counsel and guidance in so critical an area.

The Central Intelligence Agency should have the full confidence and understanding of the Congress and the American people.

Views of Others

FIRST-CLASS CITIZENS

The presence of the Negro soldier and Marine in South Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic is in evidence every day in newspaper pictures and on nightly television news programs.

According to the Defense Department, Negroes now make up 13.4 per cent of the Army's enlisted ranks, 10 per cent of the Air Force and 5.8 per cent of the Navy. In fact, the Pentagon figures indicate that Negroes are more subject to the draft than whites and more likely to re-enlist when their first hitch is over.

The reason, of course, is that they are generally not in the kind of jobs or receiving the kind of education it takes to get deferments. Once in the service, many of them find things better than on the outside, so they re-enlist rather than take a place on the "last hired, first fired," unemployment line.

Though the number of Negro officers is still small in all branches of the service, the Negro noncommissioned officer has become commonplace.

Because they are usually without qualifying education or skills, Negroes are generally assigned to front line combat units rather than to military specialist schools. Many of them find self-respect in volunteering for the paratroopers or special forces. Some paratrooper units in Viet Nam, Santo Domingo and elsewhere are anywhere from 40 to 60 per cent Negro.

In short, the Negro is playing a larger role than he ever has before in an American war effort. World War II was labeled a "white man's war," by some people since most Negroes were relegated to driving trucks in rear echelon areas. Korea, however, became a testing ground for integration when former President Truman launched a four-year program for integrating all our Armed Forces in 1951.

Complete integration of the military has long since been achieved. Social segregation off-duty and the low number of Negro officers in all branches remain obstacles still to be conquered. But all Americans should note and take pride in the role the Negro is playing in Viet Nam. For the right to fight and die for one's country is clearly one of the highest qualifications for first-class citizenship.—Boston Herald.

COURTESY PROFITABLE

Seattle reports that thoughtfulness and courtesy displayed by the Washington State Highway Patrol have proved profitable in cash as well as in gratitude. Patrol cars equipped with special pumps drive along the Seattle freeway and deal out gasoline to stranded motorists.

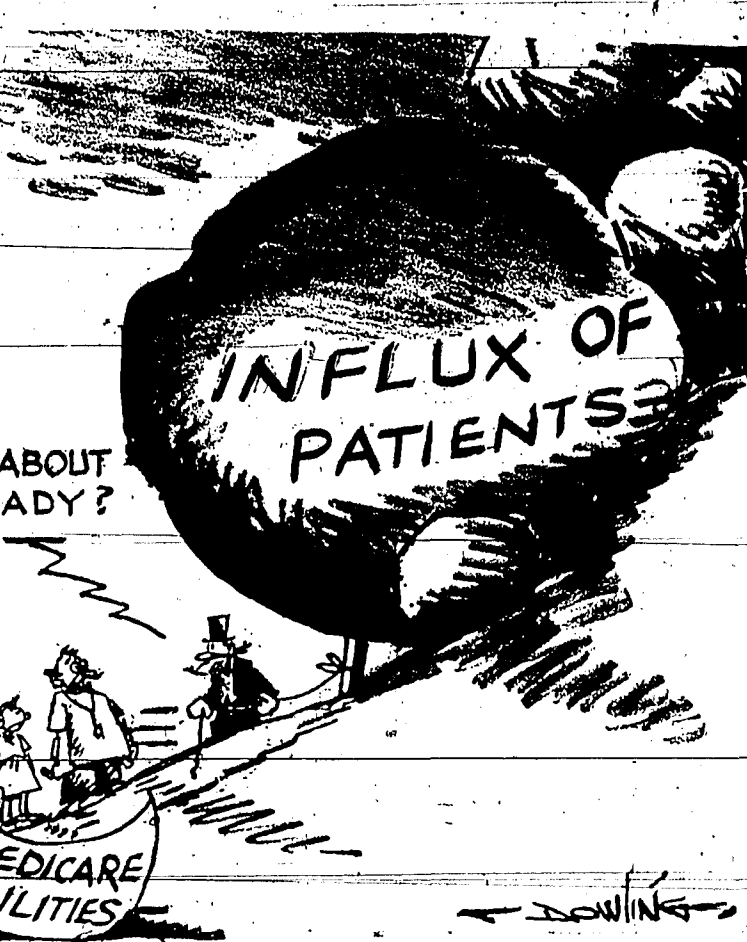

The troopers do not take money but they hand out addressed envelopes. Of the more than 400 motorists aided in the early days of the plan nearly all paid for the fuel and a considerable number sent checks for more than the value of the gasoline received. It is agreeable to find valid evidence of the goodness and decency of human beings. The score there often needs a bit of balancing, too.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

UNPAID BOOKKEEPER

The operator of a Waterloo, Iowa, dry-cleaning business is trying to collect $3,000 from the federal government for keeping books on withholding taxes and Social Security. He feels that the omission of his name from the payroll of the Internal Revenue Service "must be an unintentional error."

He has a point. Except that the Internal Revenue Service hardly ever makes mistakes of that kind. Crazy and unfair as it sounds, somebody in Washington planned it this way.—Omaha World-Herald.

PET PEEVE DEPT.

Dear Pot Shots:

I've read and enjoyed your column for years. How about getting a pet peeve of mine across?

Fellowmen:

Have you lightened someone's burden today, or placed a stumbling block in his way?

Did you go to church on Sunday, sing, tithe and pray, and put your bit in the Missions box for those so far away?

Yet fail to see him nearby and in need day after day of just a smile of encouragement to shoulder his heavier burdens along life's stoney way?

Did you let a chance go by to say a few words of good for him who's lot has been harder than yours and who's so misundestood? Yet maybe added to the idle, vicious gossip of your little clique of friends and added to his lot—misery and heartache to no end.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

The Doctor Says

A severe itching eruption covering most of the body appeared suddenly in five members of a family. After considerable sleuthing, a doctor found that the mother had washed a pair of glass fiber curtains in a machine along with the family underwear. Minute bits of glass fiber thereby became impregnated in the family's clothing and produced the itch which is said to be worse than that of woolen undergarments.

That is what might be called learning about modern hazards the hard way. This should serve as a warning not to go and do likewise.

Q—Is it possible to learn while sleeping by means of records?

A—Since the first reports of sleep learning were published, commercial interests have promoted the sale of a variety of records for this purpose. Although the process has its enthusiasts, most scientists believe that it is impractical.

Any learning that is accomplished by this means occurs only when the subject is in a drowsy or half-waking state. Since this is true, authorities believe that the subject may suffer some of the effects of deprivation of deep sleep.

One observer states that before a subject can profit from sleep learning, he must first undergo a course of hypnotic suggestion. This would eliminate all but the most determined candidates. The method has been used along with hypnosis to help break children of such habits as bed-wetting and nail biting but with questionable success.

It has also been used to teach a foreign language and improve vocabulary but, if the instruction gets mixed up with the dream state that often accompanies sleep, what is learned may be a confused jumble of fact and fancy.

Some persons are slow learners and others learn quickly by the conventional methods. If sleep learning is indeed possible—and this is debatable—there is nothing in the technique that would make a quick learner out of a naturally slow learner.

Q—I read recently that, when sauerkraut is cooked in an aluminum utensil, aluminum chloride is formed and that this causes poisoning. Is this true?

A—False. Aluminum exposed to the air forms a thin layer of aluminum oxide which is not only harmless in itself but does not dissolve when exposed to sauerkraut or any other food. If this were not so there would be thousands of deaths from this cause every day.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—Shortly after the late Edward R. Murrow became director of the United States Information Agency, one of the bright young men he brought in with him recommended that he fire an officer who had long demonstrated his singular incompetence.

Look, Murrow responded, I've learned one thing—a r-o-u-n-d-here and that is that you can't fire anyone unless you catch them committing murder in broad daylight in Lafayette Square.

The remark underscores the troubles in the State Department over the firing—it amounted to that of Abba F. Schwartz as administrator of security and consular affairs, Civil Service, as Murrow discovered when he stepped into the midst of a complex bureaucracy, many virtues but it also puts many handicaps on an executive seeking efficiency and/or harmony in the operation of a government department.

With the reverberations of the Schwartz affair the State Department currently appears to be a collection of warring tribes. All the bitter complaints that the late President John F. Kennedy voiced from time to time about the department seem born out by the charges and countercharges coming out of Foggy Bottom.

Frances G. Night, the efficient head of the Passport Division, is a civil servant with such advanced status that she believed she could establish her own policy on Americans traveling abroad. Schwartz, who was named to his office by President Kennedy, thought that Miss Night was exceeding her authority and he moved to have her transferred. But the lady in the Passport Bureau, theoretically under Schwartz' jurisdiction, proved to have such influential subterranean connections with the Senate's International Subcommittee that she stayed and Schwartz departed. To the ongoing brawl Miss Knight has contributed the word creep, which she applies to her opponents presumably both in and out of the department. Webster gives the slang meaning of the noun creep as (a) a flop house-sneak thief (b) an obnoxious or insignificant person.

In Miss Knight's usage it may be taken to mean also one who conspires in a furtive and underhanded manner. As Miss Knight must know, this is a term her opponents have applied to the head of the Passport Division and her allies in the struggle over travel and visa policy.

In short, the whole business is creepy and one of the creepiest aspects involves still another character in the security tangle. Charged with unauthorized acts in furnishing confidential department documents to the internal security subcommittee of the Senate, Otto Otepka was removed from his post as chief evaluator. But, if only because of his dedicated partisanship in the Senate committee, he could not be fired. Assigned a make-work job and deprived of that ultimate status of authority, a secretary, Otepka has caused officials from the Secretary of State on down endless hours of dissension and debate. Actually, of course, this is only a very small part of State's vast operation. But if anything could demonstrate the need for reorganization of the department this is it. That hope has beckoned like a mirage across the bureaucratic desert for at least five years.

When Kennedy named him and under secretary, Chester Bowles, now ambassador to India, was to reshape administration in the department. But like others before him in that assignment he became interested in complex issues of foreign policy. The old liners in the department, veterans of so many battles, resented his determination to bring in able outsiders. And when in a long confidential memorandum in 1961 he proposed a "two China" policy as a way out of the dead end in Asia he made more enemies.

After Bowles was eased out no one had the clear responsibility for administration. Under Secretary of State George Ball became absorbed in the problem of France and the threat to the future of NATO. This, along with other urgent policy pressures, consumed the typical seven-day, 12-hour-a-day week of the first-line officials of this administration.

Cruelly overburdened as he is, no one could expect Secretary Rusk to undertake the kind of thorough reorganization that is long overdue. The secretary barely keeps his head above the constantly rising demands on his time and effort. His endurance is a source of wonder and admiration to those who know the tasks, large and small, that he must perform.

Deputy Under Secretary for Administration William J. Crockett would in theory have the authority to carry out a reorganization. In the Schwartz affair his friends have rallied to his defense, absolving him of animus in directing the administrative shuffle that forced Schwartz out. The voluminous hearings of the Internal Security Subcommittee show that he had his own troubles with Miss Knight. What is in doubt is the degree of authority Crockett can exercise. The larger question is whether anyone can shape the overgrown structure into an effective and coherent instrument of policy.

These are his dislikes:

"Mediocrity in myself or anybody else, the taste of turnips; exercise, which I do as a form of penance; critics, because they can make me feel so good or so lousy; shopping, double-breasted suits, pompous people, and those who think patriotism is corny."

He became a top debater, president of the student body, and a champion intercollegiate wrestler.

Unit Okays Federal Law On Records

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Government Operations subcommittee has approved a bill that would establish a federal public records law. The so-called freedom of information measure, which now goes to the full committee, would grant any person the right of access to official records of the federal government. Information concerning national defense or foreign policy secrets, trade secrets and private business data would be exempted from the measure. The bill also would set up standards to determine what could or could not be made available to the public and authorize court review for claims of unjustifiable withholding. The measure has been passed by the Senate.

New Recovery Device Used For H-Bomb

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP) — The U.S. Navy H-bomb recovery task force continued preliminary work today with a new recovery device off the southern coast of Spain. Some sources ashore said a new attempt to bring up the lost American bomb from more than 2,500 feet down in the Mediterranean might be made Thursday. Others said they expected no major developments before the end of the week. The next try will be made with a CURV-controlled underwater recovery vehicle — developed for the recovery of spent practice torpedos. It was flown here from Pasadena, Calif., and has had to be fitted with a longer cable because its previous operations were limited to 2,000 feet. The device's grapple also has been modified to conform to the contours of the bomb, which was lost when a U.S. B52 bomber collided over the Spanish coast with a refueling tanker.

Administration Took Calculated Risk in Building Armed Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration took a calculated risk in deciding, at a perilous point in the Viet Nam war last summer, that it had time to build the regular armed forces gradually instead of mustering thousands of Reservists. Top officials scanned the intelligence evaluations and reckoned then that:

1. The situation in Viet Nam could be stabilized without a massive and swift mobilization of national resources.
2. The country would not be confronted by a second major crisis elsewhere — a threat that would tax U.S. military resources burdened by the vaulting demands of Viet Nam.
Part of the gamble involved reducing temporarily the combat effectiveness of Army divisions based in the United States so they could undertake the training of thousands of rookies who could not be squeezed into the crowded basic training centers.

So far, at least, the gamble has paid off. U.S. forces in Viet Nam, swollen from 75,000 last summer to about three times that number, have turned what appeared to be impending defeat into at least a standoff. And the Communist world has made no attempt to create any serious military diversion elsewhere. The danger period is not yet past. Restoration of the Army divisions in the United States to full combat readiness is still months away. But even as strong a critic as Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, conceded Wednesday that the administration plan has worked — although Stennis clearly still opposes the course followed and obviously favored at least a selective call-up of Reservists. "To a large extent, time has rescued us in this matter," Stennis said. "We have had the time to gear up our production facilities, to let contracts and obtain deliveries of vitally needed equipment, repair parts and supplies, to recruit and train additional manpower. "Thus, we have been able to overcome a substantial part of our problem. We are fortunate, indeed, that this time has been available. It will eventually cure the deficiencies in the readiness of these divisions." Stennis spoke out after the contents of a secret subcommittee report on readiness leaked and the Defense Department admitted that the only four complete Army divisions in the United States are below full combat readiness because they are handling training. The Mississippi senator said that last Aug. 4 Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara assured a Senate Appropriations subcommittee that "all divisions are ready to go to combat."

MEETING PLANNED

BOISE (AP) — A meeting next month will name a research organization to draft a plan to provide technological assistance to Idaho industry.

It will be considered by the Advisory Council to the Department of Commerce and Development, which meets April 6.

Louise Shadduck, department secretary, said six research institutions are being considered and the council will choose one to undertake the project.

YOUTH FAIR

POCATELLO (AP) — A 17-year-old youth was listed in fair condition in St. Anthony Hospital Wednesday with injuries he received in an explosion resulting from an experiment with gunpowder.

The victim, Michael Scott Withers, said he had forced gunpowder into a metal cartridge to be used in the construction of a "jet propelled" metal car. When he lighted the gunpowder, the shell exploded.

Withers told police he had "learned a very good lesson" and is now "fall through with gunpowder of any kind."

NEGOTIATIONS END

BOISE (AP) — Negotiations have been completed for $800,000 in U.S. Department of Education funds for construction of a business administration building at Idaho State University.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie reported Wednesday.

"After conferring with the federal officials," Smylie said, "I am confident the money will be in our hands very soon and we can begin construction this spring as we planned."

SCRAP PLANS

POCATELLO (AP) — In the face of a furor over city-county consolidation of law enforcement facilities, city commissioners have scrapped their plans to include money for a new police station in an upcoming city bond election.

The commissioners agreed Tuesday night that a committee should be appointed to explore the feasibility of consolidation. The $210,000 earmarked for a new police station was added to the funds to go for street reconstruction and fire department improvements.

Final figures for the May 1 bond election were established. The total proposed bond issue will be $1,063,000.

FILES SUIT

BOISE (AP) — The widow of an Idaho Power Co. inspector, originally from Halfway, Ore., has filed a $150,000 suit in connection with her husband's death last year at Hells Canyon.

Mrs. Marilyn JoAnn Makinson filed the suit in Third District Court Wednesday naming Peter Kiewit and Sons Construction Co. of Boise and an employee, William O. Hall, as defendants.

Mrs. Makinson alleged negligence in the operation of a ferry in the SNAKE River led to her husband's death Jan. 6, 1965. The complaint named Hall as operator of the ferry.

EXPECT ANNOUNCEMENT

BLACKFOOT (AP) — Court-house sources said Wednesday that Paul Crane, 44, justice of the peace in Bingham County, will announce his candidacy for Sixth District judge Thursday.

Crane had no comment on the report.

Ezra P. Monson, the current judge for the Sixth District will reach the retirement age of 70 before the next election and plans to step down.

The Sixth District covers Bingham, Butte, Custer and Lemhi counties.

COMPLAINT FILED

BOISE (AP) — A complaint against three North Idaho men, charging negligence for a fire on U.S. Forest lands in 1963, was filed in U.S. District Court Wednesday.

Named in the complaint were Ray Miller of Kellogg and Harold E. Hanson and Albert Holm both of Coeur d'Alene.

The government asked for a judgment of $31,860, alleging that Hanson's negligence started a fire that resulted in firefighting costs and damages totaling that amount.

The complaint said Hanson had been hired by Holm and Miller to construct a cabin in Shoshone County and that 62 acres of timber were destroyed by the blaze.

WINNERS NAMED

BOISE (AP) — Lynda Campbell of Nampa and Julian Birnbaum of Caldwell were announced Wednesday as Idaho state winners in the Elks National Foundation Most Valuable Student contest.

They will now represent Idaho in national competition in which college scholarships totaling $130,000 are awarded.

The winners were announced by Hugh Hough of Boise, spokesman for the Elks State Contest committee.

The state awards are $175 for each winner.

Ingrid Peterson of Boise High School was second in the girls' division, and Lisbeth Ann Suyehira of Emmett was third.

For the boys, Nigel Wappett, Boise High, was second, and Walter Kip Johnson, Wallace, was third.

WATERS IS CONFIDENT

BOISE (AP) — Three campaign training sessions already held have convinced him that this is a Democratic year in Idaho, State Democratic Chairman E. T. Waters said Wednesday.

"We have a good chance," Waters said, "to win both the Senate and House in the state legislature this November."

The three sessions were held at Malad, Rupert and Rexburg. Four more are planned, Waters said, at Caldwell April 5, McKewit and Sons Construction Co. of Boise and an employee, William O. Hall, as defendants.

Mrs. Makinson alleged negligence in the operation of a ferry in the SNAKE River led to her husband's death Jan. 6, 1965. The complaint named Hall as operator of the ferry.

NAMED TO INNER CIRCLE, the highest honor accorded sales personnel by the Lincoln-Mercury division of Ford Motor Co., are, from left, William Thelsen, H. I. Judy, Elvin Brown and Richard Dey, all of Thelsen Motors, Inc. The four were among a total of 15 men so honored in the Denver district, comprising more than 2,500 salesmen in 252 dealerships in the eight Western states. The four men and their wives were to leave Thursday for Colorado Springs as guests of Lincoln-Mercury for four days of business meetings and a vacation at the Broadmoor Hotel.

Warning Is Given About Snow Slides

KETCHUM — Anyone planning to travel in the back country in the Sawtooth Mountains is warned by the U.S. Forest Service to be extremely careful, as the warm temperatures of the past few days has created a hazardous avalanche condition.

John Combs, Ketchum ranger, said anyone skiing, or using snow machines should be cautious, as there is a danger of snow slides.

Combs and L. E. Outz, Sun Valley Mountains Manager, who check conditions on Baldy mountain daily, have closed the Seattle Ridge ski run.

While this ridge is almost out of the regularly skied areas on Baldy mountain, and terminates at the mouth of Cold Springs Canyon, a small wet slide occurred Tuesday after it was closed.

Combs and Outz reported 49 inches of snow on top of Baldy Wednesday morning and that skiing should be good until the end of the season, April 15.

The two men asked for change and then ordered him into a rest room.

The attendant, alone at the station, said he waited until the men left before calling police.

RAISES PRICES

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Barbers in Idaho Falls have voted to raise the price of haircuts April 1. The price will climb from $1.75 to $2.00 at most shops.

A spokesman for the barbers said this is the first price hike in four years at shops in Idaho Falls.

ATTACKED BY BEAR

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — A zoo honey bear attacked an employee of the city building and maintenance department Tuesday night, but lost the battle to the zoo attendant and an unidentified young man who arrived to offer aid.

Jess H. Hayes, 59, was treated for deep hand and arm lacerations.

Hayes said he opened the door of the monkey house which has been undergoing repairs when the bear leaped on him from the inside of the building. Hayes and the unidentified man beat the bear off with lumber.

The bear's cage, which was inside the monkey house, had been inadvertently left unlocked said Ernie Craner, city parks and recreation department director.

HOLD UP STATION

BOISE (AP) — Two men held up a gas station in Boise Wednesday night and escaped with about $150 from the cash register.

Police said one of the men was armed with a .22-cal. pistol with a white handle but no shots were fired.

Alvin Garrett, 19, told officers

CONSTRUCTION OF STILL ANOTHER addition to Idaho Power Co.'s network of 230,000-volt "backbone" transmission lines is hitting a steady pace across the 108 miles between Boise and the Midpoint substation near Jerome, the utility reports. Typical of activity on the $3.5 million project is this scene showing company crew and crane teaming to erect pre-assembled tower, 75 feet high and weighing some four tons, on the desert southwest of Shoshone. New heavy-duty line will provide additional means of delivering electricity from Hells Canyon to fast-growing industrial and irrigation-pumping loads in Magic Valley and eastern Idaho. Construction crews, totaling about 100 men at project's peak, will erect more than 700 wood and steel towers and string nearly 640 miles of conductor to complete new line this year. Helping to speed work by carrying men between construction sites is helicopter seen in background. (Idaho Power photo)

Program Is Given on Air Defense

BUHL—A program on communications and national defense presented under the direction of Warren Saunders, manager of the local Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co., highlighted the Buhl Chamber of Commerce weekly luncheon meeting held in the R and R Cafe banquet room.

Saunders showed slides on NORAD, North American Air Defense Command, the major key for survival of the United States and Canada. NORAD defends the continent against bomber attack and with its communications and detection equipments protects against a sneak enemy attack.

It was noted the program has some 60 radar stations stretching from Midway Island to Alaska and from Alaska to Greenland and from Greenland to the United Kingdom.

As a special feature Saunders made a long distance call to NORAD headquarters in Colorado Springs, whereby the colonel in charge informed the local chamber on the many aspects and operations of the program.

The call was by a special amplified long distance line which enabled the chamber members to hear the official's voice and were given an opportunity to ask questions.

Problems of India Noted By Rotarians

JEROME — Speaking before the Jerome Rotary Club on Tuesday, Madhuban, N. S. P. India, stated the two major problems facing the nation are the population and the educational divisions of the land.

The population stands at 480 million people and is growing at the explosive rate of 12 million per year, he noted. There are some 16 separate states, each of which has its own dialect or language. Despite the problems this creates in communication, the nation as a whole has raised its literacy rate from 16 to 36 per cent in the short span of years since India achieved her independence in 1947.

Nalk believes war between the country and Communist China appears a certain factor in the future. He bases his belief on the fact that the two countries are the two great representative experiments in government — all philosophies in southeast Asia, and that these two philosophies are diametrically opposed.

Since a basic tenet of Chinese Communist philosophy appears to be the use of military force to achieve its objectives, Nalk feels that India will eventually be forced into full-scale military defense of its geographical boundaries.

He felt that if the scope of military action had not reached its present state in Viet Nam, India would have been the next logical point of aggression on the Chinese Communist agenda.

Elections were held during the business portions of the luncheon session, with C. R. N. Sheperd named president; William Last, first vice president; Charles L. Herison, second vice president; Guy Simmons, Secretary; Jack Kennedy, treasurer; and Earl Jensen and George James, directors.

Initial pledges totaling $35 were obtained from within the group toward the Jerome Civic Club Memorial Library building fund.

Weed Burns Cause Many Jerome Fires

JEROME — Weed burning has been the cause of over half of all fires in Jerome Fire Control District No. 1 since 1965, Donald Nutsch, Rural Fire Commission secretary, said Wednesday.

Out of a total of 53 fire calls, 25 were caused by burning weeds. Using this as a guide, farmers and residents of the area are being urged by the department to take extreme care as another weed burning season approaches.

There were four homes involved in fires in 1965 caused by burning weeds. One of the area and a gas explosion. Other major property involved were four haystacks, four vehicles, three sheds or barns, one wheat field, and one potato cellar.

Other miscellaneous causes of the fire calls were: children playing with matches, electric fences, one false alarm and several unknown.

Members of the department are Don Rupert, chief; Charles Hosmer, assistant chief; Francis Boyd, secretary-treasurer; Hebe Prescott, Al Hall, Fred Clubb, Homer Wood, Layne Hall, Darryl Smith, Bruce Bragg, Wayne Martin, Cecil Moore, and Don Williams.

Commissioners are Herman C. Hall, chairman; Del Houston, treasurer; and Donald Nutsch, secretary.

The district's fire fighting equipment consists of 1965 American LaFrance 1,000 gallon per minute pumper with a 500 gallon water tank, a tank truck with a 1,600 gallon capacity, and a panel truck which was recently acquired by the department to be used to carry miscellaneous equipment and will be equipped to provide emergency ambulance service for the department.

ATTEND CONCLAVE SHOSHONE — Mr. and Mrs. Del Glauner have returned home after attending the Ford 300 and 500 Club meeting held at the Plantation Club, Boise. He was awarded a sterling silver award in recognition of his past year's salesmanship record.

Tidy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has been doing a new job lately — keeping ashes and cigarette butts off the White House floors.

It all began when Johnson found two cigarette burns on his office carpet after a recent news conference.

At a White House briefing for newsmen today, Johnson sat beside a reporter who was smoking a cigarette in a long holder. When the cigarette's ashes fell to the carpet, the reporter was so embarrassed he stooped down and used his notepad as a dustpan to pick up the ashes.

Clay Skips Toronto With Bruised Hand, Hazy Plan For Immediate Future

TORONTO (AP) — Cassius Clay left town Wednesday with new respect for George Chuvalo's cement jaw and a bruised right hand to remind him of his unexpectedly tough fight with the plodding Canadian heavyweight champion. "I knew we'd have a rough fight," said Angelo Dundee, manager of the unbeaten world heavyweight champ. "But I thought he would get him out of there in the late rounds. That Chuvalo has a great chin." Dundee said Clay left in early morning for Chicago after an examination of the swollen middle knuckle of his right hand showed the injury to be only a bruise and nothing serious.

Expert Says Atlanta Is Top Ball Market

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Baseball attorneys called an expert witness Wednesday to back up their claim that the transfer of the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta was "reasonable and prudent." Testifying for the defense in Wisconsin's antitrust suit against the National League and its members was management consultant Dr. John Clark Jr., of New York City.

Clark told Circuit Judge Elmer W. Miller that while Milwaukee has a larger population within a 50-mile radius of County Stadium, Atlanta has a greater potential for televising games. Reporting on a study of the two baseball markets, Clark said Atlanta had a greater population in an area 100 to 200 miles from its stadium. He excluded Illinois from the Milwaukee market because, he said, it belonged to the Chicago baseball market.

Clark described both cities as prosperous and above the national average in income, and both have enough persons who can afford to patronize baseball. Milwaukee, he said, has a higher rate of employment but Atlanta's employment rate is increasing more rapidly. Only nine teams in major league baseball have been able to average a million attendance annually, Clark said.

In another development Wednesday, attorneys for the Braves filed a motion in U.S. District Court in Milwaukee to include the record of two court actions in Texas and Georgia in their answer to a pending federal antitrust suit brought by Milwaukee County.

In the Texas proceedings, a federal judge at Houston issued a temporary restraining order requiring National League clubs to play the 1966 schedule as drawn.

The schedule calls for the Braves to play the 1966 schedule as drawn and to play their home games in Atlanta. A hearing on a permanent injunction has been deferred until next Tuesday.

In other action, a Georgia state court directed the Braves to fulfill their contract with the Fulton County (Atlanta) Recreation Authority to play their home games in Atlanta Stadium.

Chuvilo's ability to keep marching in under Clay's best punches made many observers wonder about the way Sonny Liston had swooned from one Clay tap in Lewiston, Maine, last May. Either Clay is not the puncher he has made out to be or Chuvilo is superman in a concrete mask.

Bengals Set Twin Bill With Utah

POCATELLO — Pleased with a season-opening split last weekend, Coach Babe Caccia takes his Idaho State University baseballers to Salt Lake City this Friday for an afternoon twin-bill against Utah's Redskins of the Western Athletic Conference.

Caccia's Bengals, who divided a pair with Northwest Nazarene College last Saturday, will be meeting a seasoned Utah club which has already played eight games in southern California. Friday's games are scheduled at Salt Lake City's Derk Field and will be the first time an ISU team has ever played in the stadium, formerly home of the now-defunct Salt Lake Bees of the Class AAA Pacific Coast League.

Wilhelm Nurses Broken Finger

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Veteran relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm, who is recovering from a fractured finger, will not break camp with the Chicago White Sox when the club heads North April 6.

Manager Eddie Stanky said Wednesday Wilhelm will remain behind and continue working out at the Chicagoans' minor league camp. Stanky did not indicate whether he thought Wilhelm would be in Chicago for the club's April 12 American League opener against the California Angels.

Trio Ties for Medalist Award

HOUSTON, Texas (AP) — Three golfers fired three-under-par 69s Wednesday to tie for the first round individual lead in the annual All-America Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

Tying for medal honors over the 6,900-yard, par-36-73 Pine Forest Country Club course were two University of Houston players, Mike Mitchell and Hal Underwood, and Bob Dickson of Oklahoma State.

Jim Grant of Houston was alone with a 70. Among five players tied with even par 72 was Bud Allin of Brigham Young.

In team medal play Houston led with 282, followed by Oklahoma State 289; Arizona State 324; New Mexico and Texas A

All Area Teams Will See Action In Five Track Meets on Friday

All Magic Valley track teams will swing into action for the first time Friday in five meets slated for Twin Falls, Gooding, Burley and Filer. The Twin Falls Bruins will leave the area to participate in another SIC triangular meet with Caldwell and Boise at Caldwell. The Northside Conference schools will meet at Gooding.

Southside will run on the Robert Stuart Junior High School track in Twin Falls while Filer hosts another four-way meet. Burley will host Minico and Butte of Arco. All meets will start at 3 p.m.

Competing at Filer will be Buhl, Jerome and Kimberly, while Gooding will entertain Wendell, Shoshone and Glenns Ferry. The Southside meet will feature runners from Castleford, Hansen, Murtaugh, Declo, Oakley, Raft River and perhaps Rockland. At Gooding State will be Dietrich, Richfield, Carey, Gooding State, Camas County, Bliss, Hagerman and Wood River.

Magic Valley has two defending state champions and both are found in the Class B circles. Declo's Mike Mathews, who's had a tremendous senior year, is back in the pole vault—an event he won at 12 feet, 9 3/4 inches in Boise last spring. Larry Johnson, Gooding State's long distance ace, is back in the two mile.

Perhaps the man to watch, though, is Castleford's Nolen Carter, who appears to be the best high hurdler since Keith Barnes, who also ran for Castleford a few years ago. Carter pulled a muscle at mid-season last year and was unable to complete his junior year athletically.

Both divisions will have to come up with new sprinters, graduation taking all the champions from last year's district meets. Wood River appears in good shape with senior Steve Blandford back for anything from 100 to 400 yards.

Barring the sudden emergence of an unknown, the area Class A schools will be battling it out around the 10.5 mark in the century and 27 in the 220-yard dash. Without much speed, the class A's will have mediocre relay times. Perhaps the best will be the pole vault where Jerome's Leon Pielstick will be battling Scott Cryder of Twin Falls and 13 feet appears within reach.

Koufax, Drysdale End Holdout and Sign Big Pacts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pitching aces Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale wrote a happy ending to their cliff-hanger 32-day holdout Wednesday by signing with the Los Angeles Dodgers for "more than $210,000." Dodgers General Manager E. J. Bavasi declined to disclose the exact figure. He flew into town Tuesday to try to bring the two to agreement and said they rejected his "final" offer of $210,000 — $112,500 for Koufax and $97,500 for Drysdale.

Two Hurlers Are First To Go Route

By The Associated Press

Los Angeles' Claude Osteen and Philadelphia's Jim Bunning went nine innings for the first time this spring as the Dodgers blanked the Cincinnati Reds 4-0 and the Phillies downed Kansas City 4-1 in exhibition baseball Wednesday.

Osteen permitted just two hits and struck out eight as the Dodgers won their final Florida exhibition game. It was Los Angeles' second shutout against the Reds this spring.

Bunning allowed the Athletics four hits including Larry Stahl's ninth-inning homer that deprived him of a shutout. Bill White and Rich Allen homered for the Phillies.

Detroit's Jim Northrup walked a bases-loaded triple capped a five-run sixth inning that helped carry the Tigers to an 11-7 victory over Atlanta. Joe Torre and Billy Cowan homered for the Braves with Torre also smacking three singles. Norm Cash connected for Detroit.

John Romano drove in the tying and winning runs with a single as the Chicago White Sox got past Baltimore 4-2. Frank Robinson had three hits including a homer for the Orioles.

San Francisco walloped California 15-3 and St. Louis defeated Boston 5-3.

Gaylor Perry worked eight innings for the Giants and belted one of three San Francisco homers. Willie McCovey and Jim Hart also homered for the Giants who collected 20 hits. Paul Schaal and Ed Bailey connected for the Angels.

Curt Flood's 10th inning home run off Dick Radatz gave the Cards their victory over the Red Sox. Boston's George Scott had tied the game with a two-out pinch homer in the ninth.

Scott Signs

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The San Diego Chargers have announced the signing of the 16th and 18th American Football League draft choices.

They are Bill Scott, No. 16, a defensive back from Idaho, and John Travis, No. 18, an offensive back from San Jose State.

Palmer Wins Pro-Am With Score of 63

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, playing almost flawless golf, warmed up for the $50,000 Greater Greensboro Open Wednesday by firing an eight-under-par 63 in a pro-am warmup to the tournament which begins Thursday.

It had been announced that Palmer's round set a course record, but an official later discovered that Tom Case, host pro at Sedgfield Country Club, had carded a 60 in 1960.

Palmer stalked the 7,000-yard course with deadly accuracy as he shot a 30-33. He posted six birdies and an eagle.

Palmer, Doug Sanders and Sam Snead, eight-time winner at the tournament, head the field of 144 who will be shooting for the top money of $20,000.

Palmer, who fired a 62 in the second round of his first victory in the Los Angeles Open earlier this year, said "I putted well today. I made the short ones that have been bothering me. I also hit my irons better, which is encouraging."

He will be carrying the banner of golf's Big Three in the Greensboro Tournament. Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player passed up the event to begin early practice of the Masters tournament at Augusta, Ga., next week.

Idaho Will Test Huskie Thinclads

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow — The Idaho Vandals open their 1966 outdoor track season this Saturday when they travel to Seattle for a dual meet with the University of Washington.

Veterans Ray McDonald and Joe McCallum, along with rookie Manuel Murrell are slated for the heaviest duty this weekend. McDonald, a junior from Caldwell, will enter the high hurdles, the broad jump, the shot put and the discus.

McCallum, also a junior from Twin Falls, will run in both relays and the 220. Murrell, a freshman from Long Beach, Calif., is slated for the 100, the 220, the broad jump, the triple jump, one of the hurdle events and the sprint relay.

Big Game, Pheasant Debates to Be Aired at Outdoor Meeting

FAIRFIELD—Big game and pheasant resolutions are expected to provide the biggest fireworks Saturday when the Fourth District Associated Sportsmen Clubs hold their annual spring meeting here. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. at the Fairfield school with reports from governmental agencies. The afternoon session will be devoted to committee meetings and resolutions. In addition to the two local bring several reports from the Fish and Game Department and perhaps the BLM and Forest Service. The department will have complete data on wintering conditions throughout the state, and a round up of last fall's hunting. In addition, they should touch on the anadromous fish problems that are trying to be settled among Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

The Idaho Fish and Game Department will come under fire from at least two areas. The Camas County Rod and Gun Club is hoping for reduction of kill by hunters in the Soldier Mountain area. Gooding area sportsmen leveled a blast against the long pheasant season last week.

The Camas Rod and Gun Club wants elk permits for Unit 43 reduced from 100 to 75 and unit 44 to be reduced to 275. It also will ask that Units 43 and 44 be controlled hunts this year with 800 and 400 permits allowed, respectively.

Members of the Gooding Rod and Gun Club sought and received support from Camas last week on a resolution calling for reduction of the pheasant season and curtailment of the law allowing hens to be harvested.

The morning session should be provided one of the cities.

Braves Asked To Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Wis., called for a compromise Wednesday in the baseball suit involving Milwaukee and Atlanta so that the Braves play in both cities this season.

Kastenmeier suggested that the home schedule of the team be divided equally between Milwaukee and Atlanta until such time as an expansion team can be provided one of the cities.

NFL Vetoes Joint Draft Plan by AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League extended the olive branch to the rival National League again Tuesday — and pulled back only a thorny twig.

His proposal of a joint player draft between the two pro circuits in order to eliminate the mad money war drew a disinterested shrug and a positive no from Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner.

"We must copy the pattern that baseball has used since 1908 and have a common draft," said Foss, 50-year-old former governor of South Dakota and Marine air ace of World War II.

"There is no reason that the two leagues can't work together."

Grand Jury Probe Into Boxing Issue Begins With 4 Witnesses

CHICAGO (AP) — Julius Isaacson, former manager of Ernie Terrell, and John Novick, a figure in New York boxing circles, were first witnesses Wednesday before a federal grand jury investigating mobster influence in boxing. In all eight witnesses are to be heard. The grand jury adjourned at 5:45 p.m., EST, after being in session for about five hours, not counting a luncheon break. During this time at

Ball Call

Twin Falls area youths interested in playing American Legion Junior baseball are asked to attend a meeting at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Twin Falls American Legion Hall.

Ken Brown, team manager, reports the club will have a big schedule, highlighted with games with most of the top teams in Utah, Montana and Oregon. He said if the turnout is sufficient the boys will again be divided into A, and B teams.

English Race Course to Be Sub-Divided

LONDON (AP) — Mrs. Mirabel Topham was granted permission Wednesday to sell the Grand National Steeplechase track at Aintree for housing, and racing men throughout the land threw up their hands in horror.

"If the National has to go I feel it will be a calamity," said horse race trainer Neville Crump.

"I am extremely upset. Another piece of England has been taken away from us. I look upon it with horror."

Crump, trainer of three Grand National winners, voiced the feelings of many horse racing trainers and owners. Crump won the National with Teal in 1952, Sheila's Corrag in 1948 and Merryman II in 1960.

Mrs. Topham first proposed selling the course — the home of the Grand National — in 1964. It was estimated she would get one million pounds ($2,800,000) for the layout.

Lord Sefton, who sold the course to Mrs. Topham's company in 1949, opposed the sale for housing on the grounds that development for housing would be in breach of the sale agreement.

Britain's law lords of the House of Lords ruled in favor of Mrs. Topham Wednesday.

Lord Sefton said: "I am assured that before anyone can build houses or factories at Aintree they will first have to get planning permission."

So the future of the Grand National — one of the world's most famous races first run in 1837 — still is in the balance.

Hawks Sweep Series With Baltimore

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks held off the spirited but undermanned Baltimore Bullets for a 121-112 victory Wednesday night and won the semifinal playoffs in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

The triumph gave the Hawks the best-of-5 series 3-0 and put them into the division finals against first-place Los Angeles. The first games will be Friday and Sunday in Los Angeles with the third in St. Louis next Wednesday.

Bill Bridges, hitting 32 points, hit high in the NBA, and Joe Caldwell did most of the damage for the Hawks, pulling them from a 60-59 halftime deficit to a 97-80 lead early in the final period.

When Don Ohl, who also had 32 points, scored nine straight Baltimore points to cut the lead to 106-103, Len Wilkens hit a free throw and Bridges a hook.

Bailey Howell scored for Baltimore, but Caldwell rebounded for a basket and Bridges sank a layup for a 113-105 lead to clinch the contest with three minutes remaining.

Larry Kasinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Gibbons, 160 Sidney St., left Tuesday for the Clear Creek Jobs Corps Conservation Center, near Carson City, Nev., reports Ronald S. Cutler, manager of the Twin Falls Department of Employment.

The Carson City camp is a rural center where Kasinger will further his education and also work on a variety of conservation projects, including the improvement of campground, picnic and trail facilities.

He is the 26th youth to enter the Job Corps from the Twin Falls area and was sworn into the corps by Postmaster Fred-eric M. Sanger.

There will be special speakers and entertainment. Food and refreshments will be furnished by the Farm Bureau members.

HAGERMAN—Barbara Karel, Buhl, who returned four months ago from Pakistan, where she was an instructor for the Peace Corps, was guest speaker and showed slides of her work, to members of the Hagerman Lions Club and their wives at a dinner meeting Monday evening at the Hagerman Hotel.

Miss Karel taught for two years in a girls' school, where she instructed classes in type-writing, physical education and homemaking.

The typewriters were American brand, and furnished by the Ford Foundation.

Miss Karel stated that after the sixth class, the English language is a requirement in the schools. Mrs. Frank Karel, mother of Barbara, was also a guest.

During the business meeting, the nominating committee reported nominees for the officers that will be voted on April 11. They include Art Kaster and Ralph Miller, president; Roy Kenitzer and Frank Hensley, first vice president; R. W. International Councillor, Ray Duffin, Boise, will present a magic act as part of the program. The "Coddas," a women's singing group from the Eden-Hazelton area, will sing, and Roddy's Music Makers will play western music during the dinner.

Funds from this dinner will be used for a roadside park area in Hagerman Valley and other civic projects.

HALTS OPERATIONS — PARIS (AP) — A one-day strike of flying personnel halted nearly all operations of Air France today. The strike for higher wages grounded 1,192 pilots, co-pilots and mechanics and 1,300 hostesses and stew-ards.

THIS LOOKS TO BE a fairly primitive operation, but Al Smith, leaning out of the hole he dug with pick and shovel, says it's a small but steady producing oil well. With his digging and some dynamite, Smith says, he found oil at a depth of 21 feet, near Newcastle, Wyo. The oil is being pumped into a storage reservoir for marketing later. (AP wirephoto)

President Has Splurge of Spontaneous Informality

WASHINGTON (AP) — Protocol-conscious Washington is hitting its oyster forks in consternation over President Johnson's latest splurge of spontaneous informality.

The President now is known as the "man who stayed for dinner," in — of all things — a business suit. He wasn't exactly invited in the first place.

It's a diplomatic version of "set another place at the table, mom — Lyndon's here." For Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, man in the black tie, it's another version of being upstaged by the boss without one.

The occasion was the formal dinner at the Indian Embassy Tuesday night for Indira Gandhi, prime minister of India. Humphrey and Chief Justice Earl Warren were to be ranking guests at the 8:30 meal for 40.

The President planned to pay a brief courtesy call beforehand. He arrived at 7:30 and an hour later, as dinner guests were arriving in formal gowns and stiff white collars, the President was still there and his limousine was blocking the driveway.

At 9 p.m., Mrs. Raj Kumar Nehru, wife of the ambassador, announced that the President had accepted an invitation to stay for dinner. This meant frantically reshuffling place-cards and bumping the lowest-ranking guest, a member of the prime minister's party.

"I imagine his kinfolk never thought it any trouble at all just to pull up another chair," Mrs. Gladstone Williams said, speaking in defense of the President.

Planes Halted

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Heavy fog that crept across the coast Wednesday night brought commercial air traffic at busy Los Angeles International Airport to a virtual standstill. Traffic resumed early today.

Mixup

MANILA (AP)—A mixup in reservations which put Vice President Fernando Lopez and his family in tourist class instead of first is costing Pan American World Airways $1,250.

The Supreme Court upheld Wednesday an appeal by Lopez and his family against a lower court award of $1,250 against the airline.

The reservation mixup occurred in 1960 while Lopez was a senator.

Aide Speaks On Viet Nam At Shoshone

Pierce appeared in Lincoln County Wednesday as part of a grassroots diplomacy project of the government. He was part of a four-man team, sponsored in Idaho by the PTA.

Omer Shook was program chairman of the day. Harrell Thorne, president, conducted the business meeting, during which the birthday song was sung for Howard E. Adkins.

Marilyn Pearson was accompanist with Perry Hadlock director.

E. L. Gomes reported for the nominating committee. The election will be held at a later date.

Arabian Nights Still Live On in Vicinity of Baghdad

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The Arabian nights live on — in a manner of speaking — in this 1,200-year-old city that Haroun Alrashid made famous.

In downtown Baghdad, for instance, you can drop in at the Aladdin cafeteria. Or you can go round the corner to the Sindbad supermarket.

If you live here and if you have a backyard you can retreat farther in time and dig up beautifully preserved pieces of 3,000-year-old pottery while planting a rosebush, as some people have done.

And out in the suburbs and throughout the countryside the mud brick dwellings are still built exactly as they were 6,000 years ago.

The magnificent palaces, the richly decorated clothes and the carefree parties the wealthy threw in Mesopotamia thousands of years ago are rarely mentioned in modern-day Iraq, the new name for this Biblical land. They're buried, layer under layer, beneath the gray dust of nearby Babylon.

A Western visitor may find Baghdad a little disconcerting today.

A stray dog lopes across the airport runway as his plane sets down. It looks like an isolated case, until another ambles alongside.

The name of the great King Hammurabi who founded the Babylonian empire 3,700 years ago has been given to a night club. A bar has been named after King Nebuchadnezzar who ruled the Chaldean empire a thousand years later.

Traffic clogs the streets and winds its tortuous way around ancient, beautifully tiled mosques. Goats, sheep and an occasional camel dodge lumbering red double-decker buses built in Britain.

Arab women stroll by shrouded in black but, with their new won freedom, their faces startlingly bare against the black.

Baghdad, once renowned for its learning, its silks and its beautiful buildings, is the sober capital of a sober revolutionary republic today. Even the name of the country has lost its poetry.

Bloody coups have racked this cradle of civilization since the last monarchy was overthrown eight years ago. Half the nation's trade and industry has been nationalized. Unemployment is widespread.

But in between coups and the blood feuds that still flare up between tribal families, the people are friendly and easygoing. They're cautious about their conversation but even then they smile.

They pack movie houses showing American films. And they buy American magazines without looking over their shoulder.

Tourists haven't started coming in any numbers yet but the few visitors who trickle in head for the bazaars, the museums and such history-encrusted ruins as Babylon and its hanging gardens, the Assyrian capital of Ninevah and the spiral minaret at Samarra.

Tikrit, north of Baghdad, was the birthplace of Saladin. Villages dug up near Mosul show where nomadic man first turned from hunting to fishing and agriculture 7,000 years ago. And the world's oldest known civilization was discovered at Ur.

There are an estimated 75,000 "tells" or ancient buried villages scattered around Iraq and government archeologists have tackled only the most rewarding. The rest are fair game.

"Operation Jackstay" Is Exercise in Frustration for Forces

SAIGON, South Viet. Nam (AP) — For the Marines, wading through waist-deep swamp water, for sailors and Coast Guardsmen patrolling the muddy Saigon River and for pilots flying overhead, Operation Jackstay has become an exercise in frustration.

A battalion of Marines stormed ashore last Saturday on Long Tan peninsula, at the river's mouth, after naval gunfire and aircraft blasted the landing areas. As the Marines pushed farther into the mucky delta area 30 miles southeast of Saigon, Marine and Navy planes aided by U.S. Air Force forward air controllers provided an umbrella of protection.

But as of Wednesday, only nine Viet Cong were known dead in the operation.

U.S. Air Force Capt. Robert Krell, 27, of Plankinton, S.D., is one of the forward air controllers.

He pilots his small Cessna L19 above the Marine advance, challenging guerrilla ground fire so that he can call down the fire of the waiting jet fighters. Not too many calls have gone out. The Viet Cong have shown no desire to tangle.

Krell boarded his plane Wednesday-afternoon for another flight over the delta. Intelligence authorities had given him the coordinates of a camouflaged hut tucked between two small tributaries of the canals that lace the peninsula, but his primary concern was any fire fight that might develop between the Viet Cong and Marines.

It was a 15-minute ride, at an altitude of 4,000 feet, to reach the area where the Marines were struggling through the swamps.

Krell went down to 1,500 feet — considered the safest altitude to avoid Viet Cong Machine gunners and still have a good view of the ground. For 1½ hours he maneuvered the plane, investigating a puff of smoke, a smoke erupted, leaving pockmarks in the wet earth that only circled the hut. Krell went in again, this time just above tree level, and tossed out a red smoke grenade. Again the jets roared in and dropped their bombs, one spewing up smoke just yards away from the hut.

Krell resumed his patrol. The Navy planes returned to their carrier. After two hours in the air, Krell headed back to Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport. In the distance, U.S. jets dropped napalm and strafed a suspected guerrilla position.

Krell has been flying as a forward air controller since Jan. 18. He has made about 100 sorties. How would he rate this one? "About 95th down the list," he said.

"PRICES LOW ... VOLUME GREAT ... THAT'S THE WAY WE OPERATE"

Lenten Guideposts Overboard!

BY BENNIE SHIPP
Rossville, Ga.

My wife and I always went fishing Mondays. I'd shut down my filling station and we'd haul our outboard to Lake Chickamauga. This particular Monday was gray and raw.

When we reached the beach there wasn't a car or boat in sight.

We were off, without so much as a frown over the fact—that Vivian couldn't swim a stroke and wasn't wearing a life jacket. Funny how you figure some things just won't happen to you.

Vivian had brought a coat for me to put on, but I couldn't take time before starting.

Out on the water, though, it was a lot colder. We were moving along pretty good, maybe 18 miles per hour, and the wind was fresh.

Terrific Lurch

Well, I reached for the coat, and I guess I gave the tiller a twist, because that boat gave a terrific lurch. I was holding on so I didn't fall. But Vivian was thrown into the water.

I choked the motor down, never taking my eyes off the spot where she went under. Then I dived in.

I swam straight down, looking for her through the brown water. I saw her, got my arm around her and started kicking for the surface. We broke water just when I thought my lungs would burst.

I couldn't see the boat. I made a complete circle in the water. There was no boat.

Then I saw it. It was 200 yards from us and moving away fast. In my hurry to get in the water I hadn't shut down the motor all the way: the boat was gone and so were we.

Ice-Cold Water

I saw Vivian had seen it now, too, but she just whispered, "God's going to take care of us, Bennie."

Well, I knew I couldn't take care of us much longer, that was sure. The shore looked a million miles away.

It was the weight of our clothes, plus the ice-cold water, that made it so bad.

I knew we had to get Vivian's coat off. I got my arms under her shoulders and she wiggled and tugged at the heavy, clinging thing, and we both swallowed a lot of water. But at last she broke free of it.

She wasn't scared, though, not even now. "God's going to help us," she said, over and over.

Knew He Was Dying

I was too tired to hold my head out of the water all the time. I sank down below the surface holding Vivian up above me. Every little while I climbed up and got a swallow of air. Each time it seemed like I wouldn't make it.

And then I knew I was dying, because I could see my whole past life. And it wasn't much to look at. Not until two years ago, anyway.

I saw the years I'd spent stock car racing, the money I'd wasted, the heavy drinking.

And I saw Vivian, the way she'd been all those years. She'd never given up on me, she'd just kept on praying for me. No matter how late or how drunk I'd come home, she'd have dinner hot and waiting. And no cross words either, just: "God loves you, Bennie. He's waiting for you."

She Was Right

Then one night, two years ago, I'd come home at 2 a.m. when the bars closed, and there was Vivian just sitting and waiting like she always was.

And suddenly I knew she was right about God because no one could be as good as Vivian on his own. I got down on my knees then and there and gave my life to Him.

Well, it was God's life now and it was all right for Him to take it anytime. I was too tired to keep struggling. I thought I could sleep—except that Vivian was pulling at me, tugging my arm. She was shouting: "The boat! The boat!"

Now I saw something moving on the lake.

It couldn't be. But it was, our own empty boat, somehow turned around and headed straight for us. I knew it couldn't happen. But I was seeing it.

I watched it come, moving straight as if a sure hand were on the tiller. And suddenly I knew—sure as I'd ever known anything—that that boat was coming right to us.

I just lifted up my hand and my fingers closed over the side. It was the last strength I had.

Vivian had more strength than I had by then. She climbed aboard and shut the motor down and for a long time I just hung on. Then, when I was rested a bit, I climbed in too.

Well, we sat there, water streaming off us, and we just sang for joy. Then we prayed for joy and just magnified God in every way we knew. Vivian said:

"Bennie, it wasn't God alone. You held me up till He could come."

But I shook my head. "You've held me up too, Viv. I was thinking in the water how you prayed for me all those years when I couldn't. Well, I was just swimming for you, when you couldn't."

And I guess that's about all we can do for each other, just hold one another up, until God provides the help we need.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, March 31—Born today, you have unusually perceptive first impressions of people, situations, and circumstances. It is not at all strange for you to walk into a room full of people and to know immediately what the mood is in general and what people in particular are responsible for it. Such an ability often makes others turn to you for the key to understanding just what is going on, and for a discourse on what to do about it.

For one as perceptive as you are, it might seem odd that you know as little about yourself as you apparently do. But this is because you habitually turn your energies and your powers of understanding toward the "other fellow," finding more of a challenge in him than in yourself. Yourself you leave for others to figure out, being satisfied merely to function well and purposefully at your own job in your own way.

Although you would probably adjust well and quickly to married life, it is more than likely that you will not settle down to a domestic existence until relatively late in life. You enjoy playing the field and socializing with the many, and you have no inclination to isolate yourself with only one. Remember, however, that marriage need not be synonymous with isolation; it may well have a broadening rather than a narrowing effect on your life.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, April 1

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—Best to postpone any business negotiations until another day, if possible. Best results today if you remain calm, cool and collected.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Make a special effort not to be extravagant in material matters today. Extravagance along spiritual lines is a different matter.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Best to be guarded in all your actions today, whether at home or at work. A day with many confusing and confused tendencies.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—A decidedly poor day for attempting to juggle your finances. Best to leave things as they are for the time being.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Let good, old, common horse sense rule the day. To let go emotionally now may be to cause your own immediate failure.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—A day when plans may be completely upset by the unexpected. Remain calm and you should be able to set things straight with little effort.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Best to keep to normal routine during a day that seems to have little patience with the off-beat and the far-out.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Be conservative in your response to any new contacts you may make today. Not everyone is what they seem today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Best to postpone any social or business engagement until a more auspicious time. Guard against any rash action.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Not the best of days for most interests, and the wise Capricorn will take things slowly and easily.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—A threatened loss for the Aquarius who doesn't remain on guard in personal matters today. Good judgment needed above all.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 21)—Don't let any initial confusion in your day's dealings spoil the general outcome for you. All's well that ends well.

Crash Reported In Lincoln Area

RICHFIELD—A Richfield woman escaped serious injury in a car accident Tuesday noon when her 1965 Plymouth sedan was struck from the rear by a 1964 Pontiac sedan.

Mrs. Eugene Alexander had stopped her car on highway 93 A and signaled to make a left turn off the highway onto the Marley cutoff. Approaching cars prevented her making the turn immediately and the Pontiac, driven by Sharon Bonebright, 22, traveling east, struck the Alexander car.

Miss Bonebright, Culbertson, Mont., a college student, was cited by Sheriff Thomas (Wid) Conner for not having her car under control. She was fined $25 and costs in Shoshone Police Court which later reduced the fine to $10.

Approximately $200 damage resulted to the Pontiac and back fender and light damage to the Plymouth.
