Increased Anti-American Tone Noted in Saigon Riots; Army Jeep Burned

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Rioting with an increasing anti-American tone erupted in Saigon tonight as Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime wrestled with a rising rebellion in the capital and the northern city of Da Na Nang. About 500 youths battled police and burned a parked U.S. Army Jeep. The U.S. military command in Saigon declared the capital's usually teeming center off limits to American servicemen not on duty.

Negroes Camp on Washington Lawn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Homeless and jobless Mississippi Negroes, camped overnight in a park across the street from the White House, continued to hope today for response to their plea for $1.3 million in anti-poverty funds. "We have received no official communication from the White House or the Office of Economic Opportunity," said Frank Smith, the group's leader. Smith said the demonstrators who set up four tents were "prepared to stay here until we get some assurance from the President or the Office of Economic Opportunity that we won't have to spend another winter in our tents in Mississippi."

The 90 Negroes — residents of tent cities near Greenville and Greenwood — took turns squatting and sleeping in the tents. Mostly ex-farmhands and plantation workers, they had come to Washington Thursday in hopes of speeding up requests for funds for do-it-yourself job training and home construction projects.

Sunday they turned a march and prayer vigil into a tent-in-alongside four petunia beds on the neatly trimmed grass of Lafayette Park, a square that has become a traditional gathering place for White House protest marches and pickets.

"After the march, the people just wanted to stay here," Smith said.

"We put up the tents," he said in an interview inside a tent, "because we want to present our case for the fund requests we have before OEO (the Office of Economic Opportunity). We're dissatisfied with the response we got from them."

Smith said he had sent a telegram to the President Sunday outlining complaint.

As Smith spoke, five sleeping youngsters squirmed and wriggled inside sleeping bags. Outside, roughly dressed men talked. Behind them gleamed the Washington Monument.

"Hope we won't be here too long," Smith said. "We want to go home and start building homes." He said the tents were rented for four days — for $65 — from a Washington firm.

"We got to have a home," said camper John H. Sylvester, who appears older than his 43. "We're tired of living in tents."

Indonesia Seeks Better U.S. Relations

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign Minister Adam Malik said today the new Indonesian government will return to the United Nations and seek to improve relations with the United States. The apparent object is aid for the founding economy.

Malik told a news conference that Indonesia's return to the United Nations would "depend on many questions." He did not elaborate.

President Sukarno defiantly announced Jan. 7, 1965, that Indonesia was walking out of the world organization because Malaysia — which Sukarno has vowed to crush — had been elected to the Security Council.

Malik, who replaced pro-Peking Foreign Minister Subandrio last month, said the new government led by Lt. Gen. Suharto would return Indonesia to its traditional foreign policy. This was taken to mean a more neutral course of action.

Malik pointed to the country's near-bankrupt economy in emphasizing the need for improved foreign relations. He said in a reply to a question that relations with the United States have not always been good, but the government would do its best to improve them soon. "We will overcome difficulties existing now," he added.

The foreign minister said there would be no change in the country's attitude toward Red China, but added: "If Peking is not satisfied with our new policy, it is, of course, not our business."

URGES TRADE

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — U.S. Ambassador John A. Gronouski says after a tour of Communist East Europe that the United States should lower its trade barriers to take advantage of the growing desire for trade in the Communist nations.

JEROME—Jerome County Sheriff's Department and State Police are investigating an accident at 1:15 p.m. Monday about 12 miles east of here on State Highway 25. According to Hollister Port of Entry, four persons were reported on the way to St. Benedict's Hospital, and that one person was pinned in the wreckage.

When officers were summoned, they were told to bring cutting torches, spokesmen at Jerome Sheriff's office said.

Details of the accident and extent of injuries were not available by 1:35 p.m. Monday.

State Auditors Meet Slated Here in May

The State Auditors Convention will be held in Twin Falls May 26-27, according to Harold Lancaster, Twin Falls County recorder.

Lancaster said the two-day meet will be held at the Rogerson Roundup Room and will be a series of discussions, speeches, elections and banquets.

Lancaster said the first thing on the agenda for the first day of the meeting will be the reading of minutes from last year's convention. That will be followed by a discussion of the 20-20 bill which is to be discussed by someone from the state tax department. In the afternoon District Judge Theron Ward, Twin Falls, will speak about the duties of county clerks in district court.

Lancaster said election laws also will be discussed and he expressed the hope that someone from the attorney general's office would lead the discussion. He said they hope to get laws governing fees and resolutions updated.

Lancaster said a banquet will be held at 7 p.m. the first night in the Rogerson Roundup Room. Friday's activities will be started with a speech about taxes which will be given by Max Yost, president of the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho. Lancaster said they will then vote on any resolutions which have been proposed by that time.

Other activities scheduled for the day are a demonstration on commercial use and recording of microfilms and a talk about the retirement program for county employees.

Lancaster said the two-day convention will conclude with the election of officers for 1966-67.

About 88 persons from Idaho's 44 counties are expected to attend the meeting, Lancaster said.

Communist Party Congress Told Luna 10 Is Orbiting Around Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government told the Communist party congress today that Luna 10 has gone into orbit around the moon, marking a major step toward a manned landing.

The youths, mostly teen-agers, collided with police clubs and tear gas in several parts of the city. At one point, they surged toward the U.S. Embassy but again were beaten back by police.

Foiled at achieving their objectives, the youths then overturned and set fire to the Jeep parked outside a U.S. billet. There were no Americans in the Jeep.

The youths met their first opposition from the police after they stormed up the steps of the old National Assembly building waving antigovernment and anti-American banners.

Another 1,000 demonstrators struck out from the Buddhist Institute, but police beat them back with tear gas and club charges.

The rioting was the worst to hit Saigon in current crisis that threatens the life of Ky's nine-month-old government.

Police cordoned off the U.S. Information Service building, on block from the National Assembly. Tear gas floated in clouds over streets used by the demonstrators to reach the heart of town. The demonstrators appeared to be in the 11 to 15 age bracket.

Demonstrators overturned an American military jeep and set fire to it. None of the occupants were hurt.

The U.S. command declared Saigon off limits round-the-clock to military men shortly before the demonstrators broke out tonight.

In a nationwide broadcast, chief of state Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu appealed once more for an end to the wave of demonstrations and violence. He also announced that all schools would be closed for an indefinite period beginning Tuesday.

Ky mobilized planes and paratroopers to end what he called a Communist-inspired state of insurrection in Da Nang.

Da Nang's mayor denounced Ky's charges and said the people of South Viet Nam's second largest city "will stand up" to any attempt to seize it.

Loudspeaker vehicles roamed Da Nang after dark, urging merchants to close their shops and pedestrians to get off the streets.

Forces at Da Nang Put On Red Alert

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP) — The sprawling U.S. military installation here and the U.S. Vietnamese air base were scaled off and placed on Red Alert early Tuesday. Informants said troops "other than Americans" were moving in — possibly indicating the arrival of South Vietnamese troops ordered by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky to take control of Da Nang city.

Ky claimed Sunday that Da Nang was in control of Communist elements and said government forces would be sent to "liberate" it. He ordered a force mobilized Monday.

A Red Alert is the highest state of readiness for military installations. Its technical description means an attack is imminent but there was no sign of any impending Communist assault.

U.S. military sources here said that at the request of the Vietnamese government the United States is furnishing some airlift capability for the movement of Vietnamese troops.

Flights by Air Viet Nam, the country's domestic airline were canceled Monday, and there were reports that the government might be preparing to use commercial airliners to transport troops to Da Nang.

DEMONSTRATORS in the continuing riots in Saigon against the South Vietnamese and U.S. governments surge past barbed wire barricades Monday night (Saigon time) and into a police station. The dozen policemen inside used tear gas on the demonstrators and put out an urgent call for help. (AP wirephoto by radio from Saigon)

Smylie Sees Legal Questions Solved for Reapportionment

BOISE (AP) — The federal court's ruling on Idaho's new legislative reapportionment law likely took care of all legal questions that could be raised regarding it, Gov. Robert E. Smylie said today. A three-judge panel in U.S. District Court said Friday the reapportionment law enacted by the legislature's special session last month met the one man-one vote test of the United States Supreme Court.

Local Reaction to Court's Okay Noted

The immediate local reaction to the U.S. District Court's Friday approval of the Idaho Legislature's reapportionment plan was a sigh of relief. There was nearly a unanimous expression of approval of the court's action, which withdrew a requirement that November's elections be held on an at large basis. Douglas Kramer, Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce president, said Monday, "I'm glad the problem is over. I'm sure the reapportionment has charted Idaho on a new course of political history."

He noted that Magic Valley, particularly Twin Falls County, has been neglected in many respects owing to its under-representation.

He said the final action by the court will allow Twin Falls County to exert more influence.

"We haven't been able to obtain many of the benefits the state has distributed throughout the rest of the state, such as the interstate highway, weather station at our airport, better roads and state offices."

David Mead, vice chairman of the Twin Falls County Republican Central Committee, said, "I see REACTION, pg. 2, col. 8"

Gambling in Burley Hit By Citizens

BURLEY (AP) — A group of seven Cassia County citizens has sent a "demand letter" to Cassia County and Burley law enforcement officials.

The letter informed the officials of the Idaho state law prohibiting gambling, and demanded an investigation into alleged gambling practices in Burley.

J. P. King, of Burley, issued the letter to County Sheriff Ray Mitchell.

Copies are known to have been given to Burley Mayor Joe Peters, as well as to some city policemen, including Burley Police Chief George Warrell.

State Atty. Gen. Allan Shepard has also been contacted about the gambling charges, but his comments have not been made public.

Drug Usage Is Growing Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal narcotics Commissioner Henry L. Giordano has told Congress the use of drugs and marijuana is a growing problem "in just about every one of the major universities in the country."

"This is quite disturbing because we find in some cases some of the educators themselves are not frowning upon the use of marijuana and some of the other dangerous drugs," he said in testimony before the House Appropriations Committee March 7 in support of the agency's budget request. The testimony was released Sunday night.

Trains Roll, Judge Lifts Fine Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trains began to roll today at the end of a firemen's strike on eight railroads, and a federal judge lifted the threat of $510,000-a-day fines against the union and its leader. At the suggestion of railroads, District Judge Alexander Holtzoff vacated an order calling on the union to show cause why the heavy penalty should not be levied. In ending the four-day strike which partly paralyzed industry and commuter

Rail Traffic In Area Said Off Schedule

Railroad personnel throughout Magic Valley were back at their jobs Monday morning after a four-day strike by the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen halted all rail traffic in the area.

Shoshone, Rupert, Twin Falls and Glenns Ferry reported all employees back on the job although almost all freight trains were running far behind schedule.

Workers at Glenns Ferry received their payroll checks by truck Friday night and the local bank remained open until 6:30 p.m. so the checks could be cashed.

At Shoshone, the familiar sounds of the trains entering and leaving the depot returned once more to the ears of residents as it did at Rupert and Twin Falls.

Only one train from the west had passed through Rupert Monday morning but a freight train from the east was due in at 1:45 p.m.

Freight traffic in Twin Falls also was behind schedule as it was everywhere else but Union Pacific officials expected things to return to normal within a few days.

Johnson Is Pleased With U.S. Economy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "The kind of economy we have today is the kind I've dreamed about since I was a boy. More than 73 million jobs. The unemployment rate is the lowest in 12 years. We're going in the right direction — where a man who wants work can get work and with decent pay."

President Lyndon B. Johnson was quoted this way today by J. A. Livingston, financial editor of the Philadelphia Bulletin and a Pulitzer Prize winner.

"For the progress we've made, I'm grateful. That we can go further, I'm hopeful. But remember, three million are unemployed. We have three million to go," Livingston quoted the President.

"The conversation — it wasn't exactly an interview — took place in the President's personal office in the White House," Livingston wrote.

Livingston quoted Johnson further:

"I'm trustee for 190 million people. I was selected. I was not appointed. It's up to me to keep the most advanced, the most rewarding economy moving forward."

Livingston said he found "foremost in the President's mind are the Kennedy-Johnson achievements. He doesn't want to give up five years of steady progress to a recession or to inflation. He hopes to flatten out the boom and so prolong prosperity."

Livingston said the President "wants no part of rigid wage-price, profits controls. He doesn't want to repress Great Society programs. He may be overstaying his market. Price advances may accelerate. But he knows that he is doing. He calculates all risks."

National Policy May Affect T. F. Application for Grant

H. L. Derrick, Twin Falls city manager, returned from a three-day conference in Washington, D.C. to report that national policy may well affect the city's application for a $1.3 million water system improvement grant.

Derrick reported that the annual National Legislative Conference of the National League of Cities was addressed by President Johnson Thursday to learn that many federally-financed municipal programs may be delayed or canceled as a part of the administration's anti-inflationary efforts.

The president said that as much as $10 billion may be cut from federal spending — much of which may come from cutbacks on programs such as the Twin Falls application.

Derrick said Monday that the city's application has been found in good order, but may be delayed or indefinitely delayed until the inflationary problem is solved.

Johnson said his decision to reduce domestic spending as much as possible, Derrick said, is based on the president's desire to avoid raising taxes and overt steps to tighten the money market.

There has been no official decision made on the fate of Twin Falls' application.

Tampa Area Stricken by Tornado

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A tornado roared out of the Gulf of Mexico today, slashing a path of destruction through residential areas on the north side of Tampa.

Damage was severe and widespread. There were unconfirmed reports of some deaths from the Tampa Weather Bureau and at least nine persons were injured.

A school bus was overturned in one of the city's better residential areas. Two small girls were injured.

Trees, windows and cars were buffeted and smashed by the twister and several homes were unroofed. A dormitory at the University of South Florida lost its roof.

"There were no students hurt that we know of," said Andrew Rodgers, the university's business manager.

Other twisters were reported near St. Petersburg, Clearwater and Lakeland.

In Auburndale, about 35 miles east of Tampa, police reported six houses damaged. Some of them unroofed.

The Weather Bureau issued a tornado watch for portions of central Florida, extending all the way from Tampa on the West Coast to Melbourne on the Atlantic Coast.

Severe thunderstorms with large hail and damaging winds also were forecast.

Broadway Has Lost Crouse From Team

By LARRY FRIEDMAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Russel Crouse always was in the theater on opening night to send telegrams on the progress of their show to his writing partner, Howard Lindsay, at home.

The telegrams, filled with wit, often would come at 15-minute intervals to cheer up Lindsay, who feared watching the reaction of the first-night audience.

The telegrams mostly brought word of a box-office success because Lindsay and Crouse were Broadway's most famous show-writing team for 32 years.

Their partnership ended Sunday with the death of Crouse. He was 73. He died in St. Luke's Hospital of pneumonia and complications.

The one exception to Crouse's telegrams was "Life With Father," because Lindsay played the lead role of the father. Lindsay's wife, Dorothy Stickney, was the mother.

Lindsay was traveling in the South when told of his partner's death and made plans to return to the city.

The pair brought admiration and joy to millions of theatergoers from the time they first united their writing talents in 1934 with "Anything Goes" until their last show, the 1959 hit musical "Sound of Music."

Lindsay and Crouse collaborated on 14 shows and seven of them could be classed solid hits. They won the Pulitzer Prize in 1946 for "State of the Union," but "Life With Father" must be considered their biggest success. It ran on Broadway for more than seven years.

Other top shows were: "Red, Hot and Blue" in 1936, "Arsenic and Old Lace" in 1940, and "Call Me Madam" in 1950.

Crouse, a former newspaperman, was short and round-shouldered in comparison with the tall and erect Lindsay. Crouse, who wore a mustache and bore a facial resemblance to the late author Robert Benchley, typed the team's scripts on a battered old newspaper typewriter. Lindsay did the pacing while they kicked around story ideas.

Both men were perfectionists. They didn't begin to write until they had plotted out the action in every scene and acted out character parts until they knew them as well as they did their own families.

Sale of Recreation Area Permits Now Under Way

Sale of the 1966 Federal Recreation Area Entrance Permits, dubbed "Operation Golden Eagle," began Monday, Robert Hoag, forest staff recreation officer here, reported.

The gold-colored, wallet-size permit will provide admission to any of 7,000 federal recreation areas, including those administered by the U.S. Forest Service, Bureau of Land Management, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Bureau of Reclamation and Army Corps of Engineers. All national parks and monuments are included.

The $7 gold permit is good for one year. However, temporary permits good for one day are available for $1.

Money from the sale of the permits is earmarked for development of existing recreation areas on public land. Sixty percent of the money will be returned directly to states. Idaho's 1966 allocation is $830,098.

The Forest Service urges purchase of the gold permits as "It shows you are a partner in the nationwide effort to use, enjoy and help expand your great American outdoorsland."

One also gets you into Little

Redfish, Redfish Outlet, Redfish Point, Mt. Heyburn, North Shore and Alturas Inlet Campgrounds, officials said.

On Rock Creek, access is provided to Schipper, Pittit, Birch Glen, Big Bluff, Harrington Fork, Penstemon, Porcupine Spring and 330 Spring Campgrounds.

Also included are campgrounds at Howell Canyon, South Fork Boise River, Wood River and Fairfield.

The permit is required only if the person uses the improved site facilities. Designated areas will be posted to make visitors aware of permit requirements.

The permits will be required only during the peak recreation season—from June 15 to Sept. 12. Permits are being sold at the Forest Supervisor's Headquarters at 1525 Addison Ave. E. and at district ranger's offices at Malta, Burley, Twin Falls, Halley, Ketchum, Fairfield and Buhl.

They will also be sold at the Snake Creek and Sawtooth Valley Ranger Stations and the Redfish Lake Visitor Center.

During the heavy recreation period, forest officers will be authorized to sell permits in the field.

Not Impressed

President Lyndon B. Johnson has enjoyed unprecedented success in his relations with Congress and the nation's industrialists and businessmen. But there are indications that his impressive string of accomplishments won't continue indefinitely. In recent weeks, the President has demonstrated his deep concern for inflation, but also has shown he hesitates to raise taxes and take other unpopular steps to halt inflation. Instead, he has approached the problem in the typical Johnsonian manner of resorting to his own particular brand of persuasion. He even has asked the nation's housewives to avoid purchasing anything that tends to spiral in price.

Mr. Johnson is doomed to failure in his approach to inflation. Perhaps he doesn't realize that the special forces at work are impervious to argument, threats and pressure. These are powerful economic forces that have been understood by economists for years. These same experts know the limited means at their disposal in fighting back.

The economic forces that feed inflation will not be impressed by Mr. Johnson unless and until he takes steps — such as drastically increasing taxes — that will tend to decrease the supply of available money. Mr. Johnson will put off such a drastic step as long as possible. In fact, he'd like to avoid anything that might be unpopular until after this year's election in November.

Economists outside Mr. Johnson's administration already have declared the nation has inflation, based especially on reports for February. Financial services and news agencies acknowledge it. The position of Mr. Johnson shouldn't be envied. If he does nothing, inflation will get worse. And if he moves to offset inflation, whatever he's forced to do will be unpopular with voters.

If Mr. Johnson just should happen to accomplish anything to prevent more inflation through his usual course of persuasion, it would be astonishing indeed.

AN HONEST COP

The death of Howard W. Gillette, former police chief here, might be taken as the end of an era in Twin Falls. During the more than 30 years that Mr. Gillette served on the local police force he saw Twin Falls grow from little more than a sleepy little town to the status of a city. Perhaps by some standards, Twin Falls is still a sleepy little town, yet it's the center of a thriving region and Mr. Gillette had a role in its growth.

The former police chief had been out of the public eye for several years and illness had restricted his activities rather drastically in the past couple of years. Yet associates continue to pay Mr. Gillette the highest compliment possible for a policeman or former policeman. Quite simply, Mr. Gillette was an honest cop. No other comments rate so high among law enforcement officers or those closely associated with them.

As Twin Falls continues to grow and its law enforcement problems become more complex and more serious, its police force must change to meet the challenge. Mr. Gillette probably would have been equal to the task had it continued to be his responsibility. However, after more than 30 years on the local department, he was entitled to a rest. His successors should analyze growing problems and their complexity in what should be a continuing effort to meet the law enforcement needs of the community.

Whatever they do, they won't ever earn any higher praise than Mr. Gillette, the honest cop.

VOTERS OR CITIZENS?

Does a member of the state legislature or congress represent voters or citizens? It might seem like a silly question, but the U.S. Supreme Court came up with a ruling that has been labeled the "one-man, one-vote" rule on representation in state legislatures. Briefly, it means that voters will have equal representation and that one man's vote will count just as much as another man's vote in electing legislators.

In figuring out reapportionment of Idaho's Legislature to conform to that ruling, everyone has been using population figures. These figures include everyone residing in the state at the time the Census was taken — including aliens who can't vote and children who can't vote. Normally, there would be no distinction. Aliens and children are still people.

But take the case of Latah County in Idaho, for instance. The 1960 Census gave Latah County a population of 21,170. Yet perhaps one-fifth of that number would be University of Idaho students, many of whom would be under voting age. Should the large concentration of non-voters be counted in conforming to the "one-man, one-vote" ruling? Perhaps the Supreme Court's ruling would be more properly referred to as the "one-citizen, one-vote" rule. Lawmakers represent citizens, not voters.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON—If there is a tax increase this election year, it will be levied against that sector of the community least likely to exert untoward influence at the polls—Big Business. At least, that is the consensus of both economists and politicians within the administration.
Most likely is suspension of the seven per cent investment credit for business, an action which would draw belows of anguish from corporate boards of directors but which would cause no pain to the average citizen's pay check.
President Johnson would make this choice because he is a realist; he realizes people have more votes than corporations.

Presidential advisers are not eager to discuss publicly such a move, and yet there have been signs of disagreement among them. At this point, it can be said that Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, tends to favor suspension of the seven per cent credit, while Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler opposes it. But Ackley's endorsement is of the yes-but variety whereas Fowler is firm in his opposition.

RESERVATIONS—For example, Ackley told a TV audience the other day that "I think a case can be made that the investment tax credit is not serving a useful function at this time. It is true that the heaviest economic pressure is now in the area of capital goods." But he acknowledged that there are "lots of difficulties with turning that particular weapon on and off. Businessmen have been counting on it."

Fowler cites convincing chapter and verse in opposing suspension. He notes that industrial prices in the past year have risen hardly at all in comparison with the boom year of 1955, which is offered by economists as a parallel to the current upsurge. Industrial prices went up 4.4 per cent in 1955, while the advance in the past year was only 1.9 per cent. Last year, metal prices went up only 2.7 per cent and machinery prices only 1.2 per cent, compared with 8.7 per cent and 7.3 per cent for the same items in 1955.

WHERE THE VOTES ARE — But facts rarely mean anything to the tax picture during an election year, especially an off-year in which the party in power can be expected to suffer normal attrition in Congress and in statehouses. In November, President Johnson's chief concern will be the state of the working man's pocketbook, not the blood pressure of corporation presidents.

In this connection, Johnson must pay proper mind to the attitude of Big Labor, and Big Labor is out to get the investment credit suspended. Mathanial Goldfinger, economic research director for the AFL-CIO, has called the seven per cent incentive "a subsidy, a handout, a bonanza to business." The credit, he says, has caused a capital goods boom that eventually will level off and cause a rise in unemployment.

NO INFLATION, BUT — The administration, of course, hopes the argument will become academic — that no tax increase of any kind will be necessary. Johnson advisers issue bulletins almost daily claiming that the administration is gaining ground in its battle against inflation. Ignoring recent price increases in everything from meat to lumber to beer, they point out that inflationary pressures have been reduced in the basic metals field, and that there are signs that food prices are starting down again. Pessimists say this is whistling in the graveyard at a time when the first shortages have cropped up in such items as chemicals, rubber and textile. And finally, it is the war in Viet Nam which will decide the argument. If the fighting continues to the point where another $4 billion is needed to finance the war, there will be a tax increase of some kind. Few realists feel that Johnson will agree to cut domestic spending.

Views of Others

MOONLIGHTING MILLIONS
"Moonlighter, n.: a person holding two jobs at the same time." (Webster's, 1963 edition.)
This new usage indicates a social change. Many people moonlight today for reasons we regard as worthy. Small farmers work swing shifts in factories to put the machinery they need to keep farming. Busy mothers moonlight by day in mill or shop (doing their main job of homemaking by night and over long weekends) in order to send their children to college. Many heads of households take double employment just to make ends meet.

All these are individuals acting from personal motives. Now we see moonlighting being used by public officials to meet labor shortages in professional fields. This can mean a large-scale salvaging of untapped training and talent.
The Chicago school system, for example, has engaged off-duty policemen, mailmen, and airline hostesses with college degrees as substitute teachers. The Chicago Police Department, with 243 college graduates in its ranks, has cooperated by authorizing its men to moonlight up to 20 hours a week. In other city school systems, college-educated homemakers are being sought as teacher aides.

Moonlighting has much to commend it if pursued in moderation. It should not be encouraged, however, when it prevents the hiring of qualified unemployed persons. Nor, except under pressing demands, should a person moonlight when it means denying himself time to study, think, and participate in civic affairs, or perhaps paint a picture. We might expand the definition of moonlighting to include such unpaid, but useful after-job activities. — Christian Science Monitor.

PIECE OF THE ACTION
Whenever anyone gets hold of a good thing, someone else is sure to want a piece of the action. So maybe it's not surprising that the Democratic Party, eyeing all those millions that professional football gets from TV, has decided the networks should pay for covering its presidential nominating convention.

If the Democrats put their idea across, the Republicans naturally will want to be paid for their quadrennial package program too. And there's no telling how far the concept might spread from there.
In fact, it might even occur to some firm like Procter and Gamble that the network should pay it for selling soap. After all, what the politicians peddle is too often a soft version of the same product. — Wall Street Journal.

BREAK FOR THE OLD
Growing old isn't necessarily fun, but now days the elderly are discovering unexpected rewards. To get a discount on taxes, a free checking account, a cut-rate on medicine and a half price ticket to a ball game; all one has to do is grow old.
Many companies have found it good business to be nice to the old folks. Younger members of the family appreciate the kindness. As yet, there hasn't been no protest of discrimination against the young and middle-aged. The spirit of good will toward the elderly apparently is going strong. — Charleston (S.C.) News and Courier.

YOU, TOO!

Pots: As I write this little note, the window is open, flowers are blooming and the sun is beating down. Outside, a couple of little kids are rolling around on the lawn in their shirtsleeves. It's the last day of March. And therein lies the warning. Sure, it's good weather, but anyone who expects it to last is silly! According to the calendar, summer doesn't start until June 21.

Those who start believing a freak spell of warm weather are in for a serious disappointment. I. Toldyou (Twin Falls)

GOTTA DICTIONARY?

Dear Pot Shots: These jokers who come knocking at your door and ask, "Could you spare a few minutes," after a dozen questions or maybe more, they come to "occupation" and without looking up or a thought in mind, they write "housewife" on that line. It's been a mystery all of my life, as to why a housewife would need a wife. Now the Good Book says, and I believe it's right, that a woman is her husband's wife. And not only that, but also a mother. She is called by a much higher power to be a teacher; her children's first counselor, to give advice and quiet fears; a comforter, to dry each tear, to guide and direct them in their tender years. That's just a few of her duties, you see. Since it takes more than a housewife to make a home, "homemaker" is more fitting.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

Cystic fibrosis is one of the so-called inborn errors of metabolism. In the past it killed more children under 15 years of age than rheumatic fever, diabetes and polio-myelitis combined. This grim picture is improving, thanks to earlier diagnosis and better treatment.

Both men and women may be carriers of the gene that causes this disease without having it themselves. Since it is a recessive gene both parents must carry it and even then the probability that any child they produce will have the disease is only 1 in 4.

The victim of cystic fibrosis lacks certain enzymes or hormones necessary for normal function of sweat, mucous and digestive glands. Because the mucus in the lungs of a child with this disease is thicker than normal, the pulmonary secretions cannot drain properly and chronic lung disease is the rule. Because the pancreas fails to put out its digestive enzymes, fats are poorly digested. Malnutrition and diarrhea are the result. Puberty is often delayed. The amount of salt in the sweat is greatly increased and this has been used as the easiest means of making the diagnosis. There is no cure for cystic

Interpreting The News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Jack and I hit it off from the start," said Walt W. Rostow, an idea man for John F. Kennedy before and after he moved into the White House.
President Johnson, who has shown great respect for some of the brainy men Kennedy picked as helpers, has now brought Rostow, intellectual and former professor, back to the White House to help him.

Rostow will have the title of special assistant but, since he and Johnson never worked this closely together before, it remains to be seen how well they hit it off.

The move really put Rostow, 49, back in his old job. For most of Kennedy's first presidential year Rostow was in the White House as deputy special assistant.

NEW YORK (AP) — In the literary world this looks like the year of the battle of gory best sellers.

It pits peacetime murder in Kansas against the wartime fall of Berlin.
Truman Capote, wispish author of "In Cold Blood," estimated recently his psychological study of the slaying of a Kansas farm family of four would gross $2 million from all sources. It took him six years to do the book.

Probably his chief rival for top-selling honors is a 6-foot-11 Irishman, Cornelius Ryan, 45, who also spent six years turning out "The Last Battle," a monumental rendering of the capture of Berlin by the Russians in 1945.

Ryan has no idea as yet what his latest opus will do. But his last book, "The Longest Day," which dealt with the Allied landing in Normandy, sold more than four million copies in 27 countries.
Referring to Capote, better known as a novelist than as a nonfiction writer, Ryan remarked genially:

"For a cub reporter, he's doing great. I'm glad he has discovered the excitement of great journalism, of which he has done a masterpiece."

Unlike Capote, he makes no claim of having created a new art form.

This style of writing was created by Thucydides when he wrote his history of the Peloponnesian War in 400 B.C., he said. "All I've done is use old-fashioned legwork."

Ryan figures he spent $100,000 in research in contacting 3,000 people in 15 countries of whom he interviewed 700 in depth.

Surrounded by war maps and 7,000 books, Ryan spent three years in the library of his seven-acre Connecticut estate in the actual writing of his dramatic tale. The estate is named "Les Roches." After German Marshal Erwin Rommel's headquarters in France.

"I got so grumpy," he said, "that one morning my two children marched into the library and announced they were going to write a book and call it 'The Father Who Poors Like a Lion.'"

"Right now I'm shellshocked. I've been living with the war for over 23 years. I can't sleep more than five or six hours a night. After doing the film script for 'The Last Battle,' I'd like to try something else for a change."

And then? "And then I'd like to write two more books about the war. There's a lot that still hasn't been told."

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR
On March 24, Chairman Nikolai K. Baibakov, chairman of the State Planning Committee, took his annual bow in report on the Soviet Union's great advances. The Presidium roared its applause.
Fellow Americans, are we to let the leaping U. S. S. R. tie a can to the United States? We're not quitters here. And I say we're Henry J. Taylor lucky. The Soviet has shown us the goals, supplies us the vision — targets for us to reach worth all the work required.

Generalities, however, are not what we need. Here are 25 specific objectives, reasonably ant to the President for national security affairs.
Late in 1961 he moved over to the State Department as counselor and head of its policy planning staff, a job he held until Thursday when Johnson reached out and brought him back to the White House.
This kind of job-juggling is a little mystifying. Rostow's policy planning staff at the State Department took in the whole range of American foreign policy, present and future.
As a White House idea man for Johnson, Rostow probably will get mixed up in some domestic as well as foreign problems although Johnson indicated Rostow won't have to worry about much domestic stuff.

Johnson said Rostow will operate principally in the foreign policy field, explaining: "I shall look to him as a catalyst of ideas and programs on various continents of the world."
This is where the puzzle comes in: why is it more important to have Rostow at the White House than heading State's policy planners, since his principal task in his new job will be the foreign field?

It might seem natural to conclude that Rostow will be the successor of the brilliant McGeorge Bundy, former Harvard dean, who was Kennedy's top White House assistant on foreign policy and link with the State Department. But Johnson brushes aside that idea.
He denies Rostow or anyone else is taking the place of Bundy who was kept in his job by Johnson until he recently resigned to become president of the Ford Foundation. He had very high regard for Bundy's brains.

Johnson says he has appointed five men, including Rostow, to share Bundy's responsibilities. Nevertheless, as of now Rostow looks like the closest thing to Bundy.
Rostow first met Kennedy in 1958 and fed him ideas and did the same for him in the 1960 presidential campaign. Rostow had also helped the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower with ideas from time to time.

Rostow had a major part in shaping several of Kennedy's foreign policy statements in 1960 and some credit him with a big role in the launching of Kennedy's "Alliance for Progress" with Latin America.
He has had a special interest in Latin America, Russia, Red China, and communism in general. But he moved over to the State Department two years before Johnson became President.

Rostow, an economist and economic historian, after his graduation from Yale taught at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and at Oxford and Cambridge in England.

Materialism is the curse of America. Soviet idealism, happily, supplies us our goals. Soviet freedom beckons us. These objectives are indivisible from the 15 mentioned.

(16) Stop the privacy of our homes and personal papers.
(17) Stop the free press.
(18) Stop the right to strike.
(19) Stop the right to work where we please or look for a better job. Freedom now.

(20) Stop the right to study for, and enter, any profession we prefer. And chop in half our 130,000 schools and colleges.
(21) Prohibit the right to worship as we please. Padlock our 320,000 churches.

(22) Prohibit the right to travel in our country wherever we wish.
(23) Prohibit our families' right to live together and keep their children with them. It's good to know that if your neighbor dislikes you his word may kill you. Give us the chance to sleep with one eye open, waiting for the knock.

(24) Make everything that is not prohibited compulsory.
(25) Stop our right to govern ourselves.

This is an unusually short article for me, but time is flying and we have to get busy. Commissar Baibakov, we're inspired.

NEVER NEGLECT COME-ON SIGNAL
"Bid Better, Play Better" is the title of a new book by Dorothy Hayden of New York. Dorothy's tournament record of the last few years has never been equaled by any woman player. Her book which covers both bidding and play is designed to impress points of bidding and play on the reader.

In discussing signaling, Dorothy points out that the most important signal a player should learn is the come-on signal. Dorothy says, "Whenever part-a low card if you don't want the suit continued."

West opens the king of hearts against South's three no-trump contract. East wants the suit continued but can't spare the queen so he plays the eight. This should encourage West to continue with the ace and five, whereupon declarer will be faced with the impossible problem of making three no-trump after the opponents have cashed the first five tricks.

A further quotation from Dorothy's book on this same hand is, "East has four graduations of signals available since he can play the eight, six, four or two. Here are the approximate meanings of each."
"The two: 'Stop leading hearts.'"
"The four: 'I can tolerate a heart continuation.'"
"The six: 'Please continue hearts.'"
"The eight: 'FOR THE LOVE OF MIKE LEAD ANOTHER HEART!'"

Family Has Christmas 4 Months Late

NEW YORK (AP) — It was Christmas in April for the Andrew Logue family.

Logue, 39, his wife, Ellen, 30, and two of their four sons are blind. They lost their possessions and their Brooklyn home in a fire March 26.

Richard Logue, 12, one of the blind sons and oldest of the four, belongs to a Boy Scout troop, half of whose members also are blind. The troop decided to help the family by scouting area residents for contributions.

When that fact was publicized, others also decided to help, and more than $2,000 in funds poured in for the Logues.

A furniture store donated three full rooms of furnishings. Others also contributed furniture, a truckload of which pulled up to the Logue's new home Sunday.

A dozen cars also pulled up, packed with clothing, 45 cartons of which were carried upstairs by Boy Scouts to the Logue's fourth-floor apartment.

Logue said the money will be saved for college educations for his sons, the youngest now 7.

Said Mrs. Logue, "We've got so much now, people have sent us 300 letters and all these things. We just don't know what to say."

Stiff Tests Confront New President

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Clemente Yerovi Indaburu, the new president of Ecuador, is a businessman and an economist and his skill in both fields will be sorely tested in the months to come.

A balding, heavyset man of 62, Yerovi took over as president last Tuesday after a strike by businessmen and bloody demonstrations by workers and students forced the military command to fire the three-man junta.

Immediately ahead are the problems of a government deficit and an unfavorable balance of payments caused by increasing imports and decreasing exports.

The budget of $200 million was badly out of balance, and the reserve of foreign currency slumped to about $25 million. The chief export is bananas, and the crop ran into trouble with low prices on the world market.

The junta's solution was to slap a 5 per cent levy on all imports and to impose a tougher tax law. This brought an outcry from businessmen in Guayaquil, the second largest city and Yerovi's home town. Merchants insisted the way to balance the budget was to cut taxes and halt import duties.

While government fiscal experts said the tougher tax law was necessary to continue such development programs as agrarian reform, the junta gave in to the businessmen to some degree. It altered import duties to include mostly luxury items.

The businessmen of Guayaquil were dissatisfied and called a commercial strike March 22 that paralyzed the city. Students followed with riotous demonstrations there and in Quito, calling for an end of "the oppressive dictatorship of the junta."

The junta had taken over July 11, 1963, when the military kicked out President Carlos Arosemena for habitual drunkenness.

Open House Held Sunday for this New Admission and Rehabilitation Building at State Hospital South at Blackfoot. A steady stream of visitors was conducted through the structure which accommodates 56 patients and complete facilities for including dining room, laboratory, X-ray, pharmacy and examining rooms are included in the structure.

The rehabilitation portions of the new building include everything from a fully equipped shop to space for handicrafts. It has a barber shop and a separate beauty salon for the women. There are facilities for ceramics work and a place for quilting, as an example of the scope of rehabilitation work.

Hospital personnel served as guides for small groups of visitors. Each visitor was given a small mimeographed brochure outlining general information about the new unit and the hospital. The brochure points out that "60 per cent of all patients admitted to State Hospital South come from five counties of the 34 counties served by the hospital, Ada, Bannock, Bonneville, Canyon and Twin Falls."

The average stay of patients at the hospital is 146.6 days, although the short-term care units average only 29.5 days.

Although the new Admission and Rehabilitation building is being used, some equipment still hasn't arrived. In addition, the grounds around the building still haven't been landscaped. It is anticipated work will be finished this spring.

Snow Depths Lower Than Past Year

FAIRFIELD — Snow depths are lower than last year and water content is less than the 15-year average, according to the snow survey made April 1 by the Soil Conservation District.

Couch Summit north of Fairfield had 44 inches with a water content of 15 inches. Last year there was 67 inches of snow at this time with a water content of 24 inches. The 15-year average shows a water content of 20 inches.

Old Soldier Ranger Station, near the ski lift about 10 miles north of Fairfield, has 21 inches of snow with a water content of 9 inches. Last year there was 31 inches of snow with a water content of 13 inches. The survey was made by Leo Senten, Camas County Soil Conservationist.

John Bunderson of the Soil Conservation Service, Boise, and Senten made the survey on Couch Summit by traveling with small snow vehicles. They reported some of the south slopes were practically bare.

Lady Bird Is Charmed by Wilderness

By FRANCES LEWINE
PANTHER JUNCTION, Tex. (P) — Sunbathed from a Rio Grande raft ride, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson ended a weekend in the Big Bend country today expressing delight at its spectacular wilderness grandeur.

The President's wife went Western in blue jeans, checked shirts and sneakers amid the rugged peaks of the Chisos (ghost) Mountains on the Texas-Mexican border.

Everything from the dramatic lighting effects to the tenacity of life here — "things growing in a cupful of soil" — intrigued her. Though she brought along a press party of 70, Mrs. Johnson was struck mainly by the vast solitude and how quickly "you are able to get this completely out into the wilderness."

Her stay in the 708,000-acre Big Bend National Park was rugged and colorful fun.

The 53-year-old First Lady took in gay stride a mile and a half hike up Lost Mine Trail. She sang along at a moonlight campfire and listened to the tales of the Old West.

She was unperturbed by a sudden dust storm that climaxed a riverside steak fry. She even helped paddle and dangled her feet in the cold water on an 11-mile Rio Grande float trip in a big yellow life raft through Mariscal Canyon, with its towering limestone cliffs 1,500 feet high.

The Palm Sunday raft ride was the highlight of the visit. It took up most of the day — after a flapjack outdoor breakfast and a 5-minute special Palm Sunday church service conducted by the park chaplain, just for the White House travelers.

The First Lady led a flotilla of 24 rafts on a 5½ hour ride, skirting rocks, splashing rapids and maneuvering tricky turns.

Park rangers were the guides, jumping into the water to get the life rafts over the tough spots. Everybody helped with the paddling, including Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Stewart Udall, the traveling White House doctor, Navy Capt. James Young, and Secret Service agents. Mrs. Johnson took a turn for 25 minutes.

There were frequent doublings from river water. A few had unexpected spills into the river. But no one minded these cooling applications in the 90-degree heat, with no place to hide from the sweltering sun. Mrs. Johnson kept applying protective layers of suntan lotion.

Afterwards, she told reporters she was reminded how very pleasant simple things can be — "a vagrant breeze, a drink of water, just the feeling that you have enough strength to cope with paddling a canoe — to get out in the open and to come to terms with things."

Lowest temperature reported in the fruit growing area this morning was 24 degrees, at Fruitland.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, APRIL 4 — Born today, you have probably suffered from inner conflict since your early childhood, for you are of a dual nature. Extremely friendly and outgoing toward those who are in your favor, you are at the same time exceptionally antagonistic toward any who cross you in any way. Yet you have conscience, and suffer doubt in the latter instances — once in your antagonism and again in your regret for such antagonism. If you are wise, you will learn to anticipate the regret and so stave off the antagonism.

It is not impossible for you to become flexible in your outlook and in your consequent behavior, but it is extremely difficult, for once you have set out upon a definite path, you are like a needle in a groove, continuing on your way regardless of the music that results. Reasonably susceptible to outside influence, however, you can be set upon a new path by another — just as the needle can be removed from the groove by an outside force.

Interested in the mysterious and the occult, you are nevertheless not credulous in these matters. Rather, you approach them from a strictly scientific point of view, and would never use what knowledge of them you possess to your own advantage over the disadvantage of others. Honesty is your greatest asset, just as it is your hope for overcoming the difficulties of your nature.

SENDS ANNOUNCEMENTS
BOISE (AP) — Idaho Tax Collector Floyd West said Sunday his office has issued information announcements on Idaho's new sales tax — not propaganda to retain it.

West said his office, because of a change in the tax form, prepared a statement that a new $10 deduction per taxpayer and dependent is "designed to compensate for the sales tax paid in food and drugs."

State Sen. William Dee of Grangeville, a Democratic candidate for governor, had charged West's office was propagandizing the tax and called propaganda by a state agency "the first indications of a police state."

Other traffic increases reported for March were Lewiston, 1,459; Pocatello 671 and Idaho Falls 543.

Man Enjoys Work, Doesn't Want Raise

LONDON (AP) — Thomas Stephenson, 73, said today if his employers give him more money he will resign.

"I just don't want a raise," said Stephenson. "I like the work. I don't need any more money."

Stephenson, a former newspaperman, earns 1,250 pounds ($3,500) a year as secretary of the National Council of the Ramblers' Association. Friends say he also has a pension from a London newspaper and an old age pension from the government.

The Ramblers, an organization dedicated to hiking, has over 14,000 members in Britain. Over the weekend the National Council's delegate conference met in Nottingham and asked Stephenson to accept a bigger salary.

"A realistic salary would be 2000 pounds ($5,600) a year," said vice chairman Walter Tysoe. "It's a pity he won't take it, but you've got to admire a man for his principles."

System for Detection of Blasts Told

GENEVA (AP) — The United States announced today a new system of detecting underground explosions which it said would make it almost impossible for a nuclear power to deceive on-site inspectors.

The announcement seemed to offer no promise of progress toward an agreement to ban underground nuclear tests, however, unless the Soviet Union modifies its opposition to inspections.

Chief U.S. Delegate Adrian Fisher told the 17-nation disarmament conference the new system is based on the detection of gases produced by nuclear fission which leak slowly toward the surface after an underground nuclear explosion.

He said that even if all surface traces of an underground explosion had been removed, sensitive detectors could still pick up traces of the telltale gases.

Fisher rejected Soviet claims that an underground test ban treaty could be supervised without on-site inspections. He said that the United States, even with a seismic system "more sensitive than any which has previously existed," still cannot tell whether some 45 underground disturbances a year in the Soviet Union are earth tremors or underground nuclear explosions.

Lenten Guideposts Congo Incident

BY ROY A. HARRELL JR.
Washington, D. C.

Despite the recent tragic events in the Congo, an experience I had in Leopoldville in 1960 makes me feel that the work there of Christian missionaries will not be in vain.

In October of that year I was on a flight to Brazzaville that was forced to land in Leopoldville because of engine trouble. We were told our flight would be indefinitely delayed and cautioned to stay away from the city itself where Roy A. Harrell Jr. there was great unrest.

Nevertheless, I left the airport on foot determined to find some way to reach my destination. I was doing research work on the Portuguese Territories under the auspices of the U. S. Library of Congress. My next appointments were in Brazzaville which was not too far away across the Congo River.

Walking down the Avenue Albert Premier I noticed ahead of me a group of native soldiers talking angrily.

Knocked Flat
As I approached, one of the soldiers grabbed me by the shoulder. I shook him off. Then another knocked me flat with a blow to the side of the head. I ducked down an alley, eluded the soldiers and sought out the American embassy.

Worried officials of the embassy staff told me the soldiers were angry because they had not been paid for some time. They said it would be impossible to get transportation across the river and advised me to return to the airport.

In my records were the names and addresses of two contacts in Leopoldville. I was able to hire a car and chauffeur without difficulty. We started out to find these people to see if they could help.

Knocked Down Again
My driver pointed out a large home surrounded by high fence, it was the home of President Joseph Kasavubu, he said.

As our car passed the entrance some native soldiers rushed out at us. They dragged both my driver and me from the car.

Before I could protest one soldier hit me on the shoulder with his gun butt. For the second time that morning I was flat on my back.

Then a strange thing happened: as I looked up into the angry faces of the Congolese soldiers I found I was repeating to myself the words of the 121st Psalm, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord..."

Anger Left
To this day I do not know why that verse came to mind in that particular tense moment. But suddenly my anger left me. I made no further effort to resist and remained on the ground, watching.

The soldiers did not seem to know what to do next. Finally, a guard rushed out, pulled me to my feet and told me to leave. Sore, bleeding, my clothes torn, I continued my journey on foot. A little while later I was in the market place.

As I stood hesitant on a street corner an African woman spoke to me. "Qu'est-ce qui est arrivé?" (What happened?) she asked in French. I told her of the attacks.

"They are savages—all of them," she cried.

"Christian Duty"
Then she took me over to a public water hydrant, wet a cloth and began bathing the cuts on my face.

Suddenly a thought occurred to life, and I turned to the black woman with the gentle hands. "You had better not let the Force Publique see you helping a white man."

"Monsieur, I don't care if you are white or not... it's my Christian duty to help," she said simply.

Then she led me back to the safety of the embassy. "As children of God," she said, "we must have faith in the Lord, and in His mercy that all things happen for the best. Through misfortune we often become better Christians."

I started to ask her name, but she was gone.

Ready for Test
Later that evening the ferries resumed operation and I left Leopoldville, happy; I thought, to forget the entire experience.

But I find I can't forget that gentle Congolese woman, so quietly practicing her Christian belief in the face of mob violence.

I always had believed that the real test of my own religion would come someday when I had to live through adversity and hardship. This hasn't come, yet—but when it does I will have a stronger faith with which to meet it because of that brief encounter in Leopoldville.

Fresh Blossoms Add Flattery to Spring Fashions

Springtime '66 is writing a new fashion recipe, seasoned and spiced with feminine flattery.

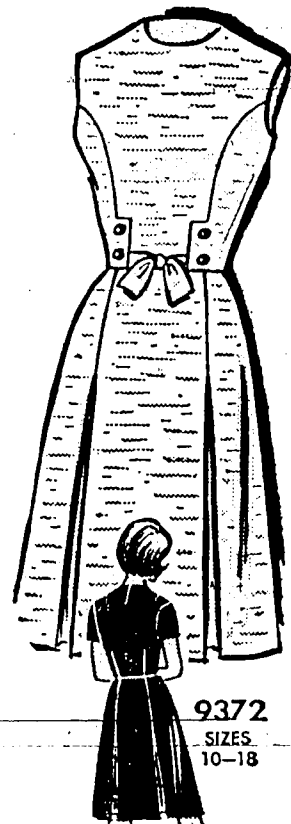

New color combos and silhouettes are basic ingredients for a stylish spring. Dresses are jacketed — with one-button fly-away toppers or short, square button-down shapes.

Waistlines dip slightly lower this season in easy, gently-fitted styles. Coats have slender lines, often collar-less in cardigan fashion.

Accessories for spring will be frankly feminine, and fresh blossoms add special flattery. To brighten a suit, try a nose-gay corsage of miniature carnations, pinned at the base of new oval or V-necklines.

FTD floral experts suggest a slender garland of rosebuds to trace a round neckline or collar. Or, tuck a trio of daisies in an umbrella for a bright touch on a cloudy day.

Sportswear Flair Is Shown By Fancy Pants

Traveling back through the space age, sportswear fashions capsule the greats of the past — the look of Garbo, the exotic tones of Gauguin's canvases, the geometry of Mondrian — and splash them into the soft, young world that's spring '66. Softness and youth reign everywhere: in cut, and especially in fabric and color combinations.

Costume is the by-word in spring fashions, and sportswear is no exception. Skirts swing under longer jackets, sometimes sleeveless and supplemented by a little blouse. T-shirt tops, tank tops, ruffled blouses use such fabrics as linen to combine with swaying silk skirts. Wildly striped, knitted polo shirts wildly match short, short skirts.

Jackets coordinate with the plaid skirt of a dress or turn into sweaters atop spring dresses. And what could be more womanly than coordinating a shocking pink hipster skirt, belted in wild orange to a blue bra and orange jacket?

Bells are ringing for action women in bell-bottomed, hipster trousers: pants that slightly flare or widely flare to Garbo proportions. Soft crepes, heated colors, Tahitian prints paint bell-bottoms and matching tops in imitation of Gauguin and Mondrian, for boating, lounging or most anything.

Pants carry the youth message for spring: the salty, British-buttoned sailor bells; the straight, slightly widened hem of elephant pants; the above-and-below-the-knee railroad "jams," chugging merrily along in stripes, brass buckles and contrast stitching; the ankle-ruffled "jellies."

Keeping pants non-masculine property are the pretty, flowered shirts; stitched sweaters; deeply V'd pullovers, stopped at the midriff; and black vinyl halter tops.

Youthful, wide, knee-length pants and britches are suited to smock tops in shocking colors or striped jackets.

Other pants reflect the look of the Thirties, with the longer hunting jackets in white cotton twill and pique, or the three-quarter, belted camel-hair coat. "Go West" means "Go Soft" in bell-bottomed, hipster jeans, colored, blooming with flowers, eased through the leg. Even leather jeans are painted in luscious hues for spring, and the rugged look of suede is transformed into the gentility of a full skirt in such hues as clover, lettuce, raspberry.

Maverick cow girls prefer shorty skirts riding the hipbone, fringed in mock leather, and matched to gaiters. The really feminine and youthful cowgirl prefers calico for a low-slung skirt, jacket and Stetson hat. Cowpoke shirts wear delicate prairie flower prints, are softened in yoke, sleeveless and cut off at the midriff. Lengthened they grow into soft dresses.

Casual dresses, jumpers be-spoke the little girl look with lots of tucks, smocking, puffed

Scrounging Is Necessary In Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—Now it's official—The only way to get anything in the Soviet Union is to scrounge for it. And one of the best places to scrounge is in the corridors of a Communist party congress.

Nobel Prize author Mikhail Sholokhov told delegates to the 23rd congress last week that he himself had become an expert scrounger in the Moscow ministries for everything from cowshed roofs to new schools.

Right at this congress, Sholokhov said amid laughter and applause, the delegates are spending as much time as they can lobbying.

"During the breaks," he said, "you go about hawk-eyed in the corridors seeking out ministers and thinking: 'What could I get out of him?'"

Everyone has known for years that you had to know somebody to get something in this country, but this was the highest public acknowledgement of it.

Sholokhov said that when farms in the Rostov region, where he lives, need tractors, for instance, it's necessary to send regional officials to Moscow to "get them by hook or crook."

Then he told of his own experiences. "I am coming to a minister," he said, and quoted his own remarks:

"Comrade minister, please let me have 3,000 sheets of slate for collective farm coops and calf sheds."

"And he replies, 'Don't you understand that we have a planned economy and under the plan you have already received everything you are entitled to?'"

"And I tell him, 'I understand, but the cows, let alone the calves, don't understand why they must get wet in the rain in the autumn and be cold in winter. Roofing slate is not a matter of fashion or beauty, but an economic necessity.'"

Sholokhov didn't say just what he was lobbying for at this congress.

Woman, 31, Holds World Record for Being Unconscious for Past 25 Years

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—A thirty-one-year-old Elaine Esposito has set a world record. But it is a record of human tragedy.

For the past 25 years she has been in a coma — the longest period of human unconsciousness known to medical science. Her case is listed in the Guinness Book of World Records published in London.

On August 6, 1941 the 6-year-old daughter and only child of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Esposito was given anesthesia during surgery for a ruptured appendix. She never regained consciousness, and since has alternated between deep sleep and open-eyed unawareness of the world about her.

Elaine knows neither her mother nor father, himself now the victim of a heart condition. Medical opinion has been divided as to whether the child had incipient encephalitis at the time of the appendectomy or whether oxygen to the brain was insufficient while she was on the operating table.

Surgeons were closing the incision when their patient went into convulsions and her temperature soared to 107.6. "At first the doctors told us Elaine wouldn't live through the night. I waited for her to open her eyes and speak to me. But she never did," Mrs. Esposito recalled as she adjusted the coverlet around the shoulders of

Reads

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk likes to relax by reading spy stories.

Rusk disclosed in a television interview program that for a half-hour before retiring at night he reads history, biographies, sometime poetry, and novels.

"I do enjoy mystery stories," he said. "I've read all the Bond stories." Rusk, a former professor, said he might want to return to campus teaching after leaving the State Department.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they" said it could not be done. But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair! They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

her dark-haired, dark-eyed daughter whose last words had been, "Mommy, I'm not afraid. Don't worry."

The tenacity with which the young woman has clung to life has baffled medical science. Attending physicians attribute the fact that she is still alive to the meticulous and devoted nursing she receives from her mother.

In a pink hospital bed topped with blue bows, she is kept as immaculate as a baby. Four times a day she is fed eight ounces of special formula through a nasal tube. Medication is also administered through the tube.

The Espositos have been told over and over by specialists that there is no hope for Elaine, that she can never recover from such extensive brain damage and can never be normal.

"But I always hoped they were wrong," said the mother, who has nursed her daughter through other serious illnesses.

Two years after the appendectomy she had further major abdominal surgery and was given a 1000-to-one chance of pulling through. She has survived several bouts of pneumonia and an attack of measles.

About 16 years ago the girl's right lung collapsed and doctors said that a lower rib growing to the hip bone is causing her body to curve as she grows. Although she has gained a few pounds and added a few inches since childhood — she now weighs 85 — her hands and feet are still those of a 6-year-old.

Jews Prepare for Passover During Holy Week Fetes

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Christians began their annual observance of Holy Week Sunday as Jews by coincidence were preparing for their annual celebration of Passover, commencing tonight.

Pope Paul VI blessed palm branches in the Sistine Chapel and said Mass Sunday before 10,000 persons in St. Peter's Basilica. The Palm Sunday rites marked the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem five days before his Crucifixion.

The Pope distributed the palms to 21 cardinals, then put on a red cape and a bishop's miter for the procession through the basilica to the main altar for Mass.

"Today, as before," the pontiff said in a sermon, "the people are invited to choose between those who love Christ as the son of God and those who do not."

Addressing thousands of youths in the audience, he added: "You, what do you say? Your presence here is an answer. You have chosen Christ."

Emphasizing the importance of young persons in modern times, the Pope warned: "There is the danger that they will become superficial, that they will become skeptics, cynics who

At the ceremonial seder meal tonight, and throughout the week, Jews eat matzo, or unleavened bread, as a reminder that the fleeing Israelites had time only to prepare unleavened loaves sun-baked on rocks.

The holiday is called Passover because, in the final miracle in Egypt, God killed the oldest children of the Egyptians but passed over the homes of the Israelites.

The date of Passover is determined by the old Hebrew calendar. Its simultaneous observance with Holy Week will not take place again for two years.

Golf Playoff Nets $20,000 for Sanders

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Colorful Doug Sanders won his third major golf tournament of the year Sunday by defeating young Tom Weiskopf on the second hole of a playoff to win the $100,000 Greater Greensboro Open. Sanders and Weiskopf completed the regular 72 holes with eight-under-par scores of 278. The victory was worth $20,000 to Sanders and second place carried $12,000 for Weiskopf, 23, who turned pro in 1964.

Only a week ago Sanders won the Jacksonville Open. His other major tournament win of the 1966 season was the Bob Hope Desert Classic.

One stroke behind the co-leaders at the end of 72 holes were Dave Ragen and Miller Barber with 277s.

Sanders, winner of the Greensboro tournament in 1963 and loser in a 1964 Greater Greensboro playoff with Julius Boros, could have won this tournament on the final hole of the day with a birdie. But he parred the hole forcing a playoff.

The 32-year-old Sanders, from Ojai, Calif., sank a five-foot putt to par the 225-yard, par-three 16th to win the tournament. Weiskopf had missed his putt after his chip shot barely reached the green.

Both Weiskopf and Sanders had pars on the first hole of the sudden death playoff, the 42-yard 15th. They had bogeyed the hole earlier in the day.

Weiskopf, of Bedford, Ohio, birdied the par four 17th hole in regular play to tie Sanders. Both had par 70s for the final round on the 7,029-yard Sedgefield Country Club course.

Borog had the day's lowest round—a six-under-par 65—to finish third with Ragan at 277. One shot back at 278 was Dave Marr with a final round 69.

R. H. Sikes, the third round lead, slumped to a 74 and finished in a tie at 279 with Arnold Palmer and Al Geiberger.

Bobby Nichols and Howie Johnson tied at 280 and Boros and Peter Butler had 281s.

Defending champion Sam Snead, eight-time winner of the Greensboro open, finished with a 71 for 285 total.

WSU Ski Team Is First in Winter Carnival Meet

BEND, Ore. (AP) — Washington State University's team was first in the three-day Portland State College-sponsored Winter Carnival ski competition that wound up on Bachelor Butte near Bend Sunday.

College of Idaho was runner-up, the University of Puget Sound third, Lewis and Clark fourth and Skagit Valley Community College fifth. The events were slalom, giant slalom and downhill races.

The top individual performers in order were Bob Spalding, Central Washington State College; Steve Clark, Portland State; and Bob Sevy, College of Idaho.

Jim Sinclair fired a hole-in-one on the 17th hole at Blue Lakes Country Club Sunday afternoon to highlight completion of the first round of the Blue Lakes Best Ball Tournament.

Sinclair used a seven iron for the 155-yard ace while Glenn Trail, Ed Purvis and Dr. Gary Simmons watched. Sinclair's ace, however, wasn't enough to let Sinclair and Purvis move in to second-round play. They were defeated 1 up by Dr. R. W. Packard and Lynn Hempleman in the first flight.

The 48 remaining golfers, 24 two-man teams, will be given until April 10 to complete the second round. The winners of the second round will be given until April 17 to complete the third.

Results of the first round, by flight, are as follows:

First Flight
Dr. Peterson and S. Haslam defeated J. Purvis and D. Driscoll 2 and 1; Gordon Edgar and J. Rosholt dropped Dr. Hoss and D. Borlase 5 and 4; E. Harper and H. B. Schlagenhaut defeated G. Trail and Dr. Simmons 2 and 1; and Dr. Packard and Hempleman edged Purvis and Sinclair 1 up.

Second Flight
B. Stephan and N. Moss nipped L. Thompson and B. Youre 1 up on the 24th hole; B. Harvey and J. D. Claiborn defeated R. Cunningham and D. Cook 2 and 1; J. Elatt and F. Maltz dropped C. Ridgeway and Dr. Cutler 3 and 2; and Dr. G. Davis and L. Stewart defeated Dr. Carpenter and H. Fowler 4 and 3.

Third Flight
D. Hogue and Dr. Ridgeway defeated Dr. Snyder and Dr. Woodward; Red Otto and T. White dropped M. Brown and C. Perkins 3 and 2; D. Serpa and J. DeLuca topped R. Bevan and A. Westergren, and J. Mullenwey and H. Hove ousted J. Robertson and J. Henry.

Fourth Flight
T. V. Hudson and Dr. D. Smith went 2 up on C. Falls

NINE AND ONE-HALF POUND rainbow trout is displayed by Joe Keyser who pulled it out of Salmon Falls Creek Reservoir Saturday. Keyser was using a mepps spinner at Whiskey Slough when he hooked it. It measured 27 inches in length and had an 18-inch girth. (Times-News photo)

Switch to Spinner Nails Large Trout

"I'm a purist. I just fly fish," says Joe Keyser, who divides his time between American Falls and Twin Falls. But Saturday he switched to a mepps spinner and pulled a nine and one-half pound rainbow trout out of Salmon Dam.

Keyser, whose previous best was a seven and three-quarter pounder caught in Richfield Slough, was using flies at Whiskey Slough, wading out into the reservoir in a pair of waders.

"I knew it was a big one the second he bit," Keyser said. But his spinning outfit, equipped with eight-pound test line, held up well throughout the 15-minute battle and there was never an anxious minute.

"He stayed deep all the time... never broke water," says the general manager of the American Falls hospital.

Keyser's other claim to fishing fame is a two and three-quarter pound perch he pulled out of the American Falls reservoir earlier this year. It is reportedly the largest ever caught in the state.

His rainbow Saturday measured 27 inches long and had an 18-inch girth.

Baylor Hits 42, Lakers Drop Hawks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Elgin Baylor scored 42 points to lead the Los Angeles Lakers to a 125-116 victory Sunday night, their second over St. Louis in the best of seven National Basketball Association Western Division playoffs.

Baylor set a new NBA field goal record for playoff competition with 819 points. The old record, 818, was set by Tommy Heinsohn of Boston in 1965.

The Lakers took an early 13-8 lead on the accurate shooting of Baylor and Walt Hazzard.

St. Louis' cold shooting managed only nine field goals in 30 attempts in the quarter.

The Lakers led at the end of the opening quarter 30-27. St. Louis charged back in the second quarter with Zelmo Beatty and Richie Guerin leading the Hawk assault.

Baylor and Jerry West then combined to put the Lakers back into the lead 47-41. Los Angeles brought the halftime lead to 61-51.

The Hawks could only manage 33 per cent from the floor in the first half, but remained in contention by hitting 17 of 19 free throws.

The Lakers increased the lead 73-58 early in the third quarter. Rudy LaRusso and West contributed as the Lakers continued.

Roseboro, Dodgers Drop Giants 8-4

By The Associated Press
John Roseboro, facing Juan Marichal for the first time since their fight last season, hit a three-run inside-the-park homer that ignited the Los Angeles Dodgers to an 8-4 exhibition victory over San Francisco Sunday.

The Dodger catcher and Giant pitcher hadn't met on the field since last Aug. 22 when Marichal hit Roseboro on the head with a bat.

Roseboro came to bat in the second inning after Ron Fairly and Jim Lefebvre singled. With a 2-2 count, Roseboro smashed liner which bounced over right fielder Jesus Alou and went for a home run.

In all, the Dodgers rapped Marichal for five runs and seven hits in five innings.

Glen Beckert singled in the tying run and Ron Santo drove in the eighth inning as the Chicago Cubs edged the California Angels 8-7.

John Buzhardt and Eddie Fisher collaborated for a three-hitter as the Chicago White Sox whipped Houston 6-0 while rookie Fritz Peterson scattered six hits in seven innings in the New York Yankees' 8-3 triumph over Philadelphia.

Minnesota stretched its winning streak to six games by stopping St. Louis' six-game streak 2-1. The Twins scored both runs in the first inning, the eventual winning run coming across on a double play.

Atlanta, on the other hand, ended a four-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over Cincinnati. Jack Baldschun's bases-loaded walk to Lee Thomas in the 11th inning forced in the winning run.

Frank Howard and Don Lock homered for Washington as the Senators outslugged Pittsburgh 12-9. Roberto Clemente hit two homers for the Pirates.

Tony Conigliaro's two-run homer, his eighth this spring, triggered a four-run eighth inning that carried Boston past Detroit 6-4. Dick Green socked a pair of homers as Kansas City trampled the New York Mets 10-2.

Sam Bowens rapped a three-run homer and two singles as Baltimore defeated its Miami farm team 8-5, and relief pitcher Bob Heffner smacked a three-run homer as the Cleveland Indians nipped their Portland farm club 9-7.

Durocher Has Cubs Playing Better Game

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "Leo Durocher has us playing better and enjoying the game," declares Ron Santo, third baseman and captain of the Chicago Cubs.

"Leo plays baseball. He doesn't play by the book. You've got to be alert to play for him. I may be bunting and I'm getting the steal sign I never got before."

"He never lets that other man know what he's going to do. We've squeezed and had the hit-and-run on with two out this spring."

Returning to managing after an absence of 10 years, Durocher works with a club which finished eighth in the National League last year and faces a rebuilding program.

"His first words in the first meeting were 'If any of you are scared, there's the door,'" Santo recalled.

"This spring everybody is putting out 100 per cent and running out everything he hits."

"He's restored so much confidence in Ernie Broglio, it's really something," Santo added.

"Ernie realizes that with Leo he's got to pitch and he's really doing it. And Leo gives him all the support in the world."

Hampered by arm trouble the past two seasons, Broglio is making a determined bid this season in what he terms his "do or die year."

Santo also sees a Durocher influence in the play of rookie catcher Randy Hundley, who was impressive in the Cactus League this spring.

"Leo gave Hundley confidence, too," Santo pointed out. "When we got him from the Giants, we heard he couldn't hit. This spring he's hitting .400, throwing guys out at second base and he's a good receiver."

Usually outfought the Hawks on the board, Guerin continued to play a sparkling game for St. Louis with his passing and ball stealing.

Celtics Sweep Past Rusty 76ers 115-96

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Boston Celtics, with Sam Jones and John Havlicek zeroing in on the baskets from outside, swept past the rusty Philadelphia 76ers 115-96 Sunday in the first game of the best-of-seven National Basketball Association Eastern playoff finals.

Jones scored 29 points and Havlicek 22 as the Celtics rolled over the team that had ended their nine-year reign as regular season Eastern champion by a single game two weeks ago.

Fresh from a semifinal Eastern triumph over Cincinnati, the Celtics ended an 11-game Philadelphia victory string and regained the important home-court edge as the series continues Wednesday night in Boston.

Seeking their eighth straight NBA title, Boston-muffled Wilt Chamberlain and Hal Greer, the 76ers' offensive aces, Chamberlain's recovering from a slight flu attack, scored only 25 points, with seven in the final period.

When the game already was lost, Greer managed 14.

With Philadelphia's outside game off, the Celtics were able to concentrate on Chamberlain, keeping him away from the hoop through most of the game.

In the duel between the two giants, Chamberlain and Bill Russell, the Celtics' center scored 13 points and grabbed 18 rebounds, while Chamberlain collected 32 rebounds.

To newsmen, it is one of the premier sports events, on a pedestal with the Olympics, baseball's World Series and the Army-Navy football game.

To Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and other high echelon golfers, it is a period of intense dedication, grim competition and high drama on the fairways.

It's the center of their target. It is the Masters Golf Tournament, being played for the 30th time Thursday through Sunday, over the Augusta National course which once was an indigo plantation in this sleepy east Georgia community.

The tournament I point for — the one I want to win," said Palmer. The powerful Pennsylvania pro has won it a record four times — even even year beginning in 1958 — and is a favorite to make it five, in this even year of 1966.

"The Masters is the goal of every golfer — I love it," added burly, 210-pound Jack Nicklaus, who at the tender age of 25 has won it twice. Last year he tore the sprawling giant apart with a record-setting 271.

"I want to win so badly I can taste it," said little Gary Player of South Africa, who beat Palmer in 1961.

The trio, known as the game's Big Three, have made the Masters virtually their private property during the last eight years, winning the title every year but one — Art Wall Jr., was champion in 1959.

Strikers to Decide on Agreement

BOSTON (AP)—Printers and mailers vote Tuesday on a tentative agreement to end the Boston newspaper strike.

The agreement was announced Saturday night after a series of marathon negotiations with the unions, publishers and federal and state mediators.

The Morning and Evening Globe, the Morning Herald, Evening Traveler and the Record American have been shut down since March 6.

Terms of the agreement were not announced.

The publishers had offered a three-year package totaling $8.30 in health-welfare and pension benefits the first two years and an $8 cash increase the third year.

The printers and mailers wanted the option of taking all or part of the $16.30 in cash. The printers' base scale now is $140 a week; the mailers' $126.
