70,000-Acre Range Fire Burns to Within 15 Miles Of T.F.; Control Near

Flames from a raging range fire, started by lightning and feeding on tinder-dry sagebrush and forest land, had eaten across the South Hills to within 15 miles of Twin Falls Saturday night. Weary firefighting crews, directed by the Bureau of Land Management and the Forest Service, manned fire lines throughout the night, and officials said they expected to have the blaze under control by 10 a.m. Sunday—barring another outbreak of strong winds.

Saturday night the Forest Service fire dispatcher's office estimated the blaze had burned over some 70,000 acres, including 200 or more acres of timberland.

It was reported "burning six miles west of Rock Creek camp, some 400 head of cattle and 500 head of sheep have been burned in the fire. No buildings have been reported destroyed, but the blaze has destroyed about 100 miles of fence and a water tank.

Equipment and supplies had been removed from the Camp Fire Girls camp in the Rock Creek area Friday night as the fire moved into Sawtooth National Forest timber.

The camp was heavily damaged by the earlier fire, summer, and operated through the camping season with curtailed facilities.

A second base camp for firefighters was established near the Rock Creek area Saturday afternoon. The first base camp was established at the Hollister Port of Entry.

As far as could be determined late Saturday, some 400 head of cattle and 500 head of sheep have been burned in the fire. No buildings have been reported destroyed, but the blaze has destroyed about 100 miles of fence and a water tank.

Personnel at the Hollister Fire Camp reported late Saturday night that 225 men were on the night fire line with about 50 other men on standby.

Saturday 18 bulldozers, 11 tank trucks filled with water, and a 4-H tractor identification contest were reported.

Larry Hartwell was awarded a blue ribbon in the 4-H tractor identification contest.

Harold Tew, Mountain Home, took first place in the barbecue riding competition, with Lonnie Wright, Caldwell, and Ed Brown, Gooding, tied for second. Robert Hoskins, Fort Hall, was fourth.

In the bull riding, Larry Cutler, Eden, was first; James Gibbs, Wendell, second; Ed Jakubowski, Twin Falls, third, and Jack Joslin, Boise, fourth.

In the first go-round of saddle bronc riding, Dick Anderson, Albion, was first; David Erickson, Pocatello, second.

The nation was marking time in the crucial strike situation until Monday, when Parliament will convene in special session to consider government legislation to start the train rolling.

The strike was called by four unions representing 18,000 employees of eight railroads seeking wage increases averaging 30 percent. The average hourly wage now is $2.32 an hour.

Unions have rejected a wage settlement providing an 18 percent hike over two years.

Possibly the legislation to end the strike was being worked out by the unions, but the men back with some wage increase, and also give the railroads some leeway in setting freight rates to take care of additional expenses.

Freight rates have been frozen since 1959.

The strikers threw up a barrier of steel and concrete, preventing the trains from moving. The strikers, NLRB, to prevent more than 200 passengers in 71 vehicles from leaving the ferry William Carey, after it arrived across Capitol Street from North Sydney, N.S.

Johnson Says U.S. Should Face Prosperity Problems

GEACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont. (AP) — President Johnson Saturday challenged Americans unhappy with inflation to face up to "the problems of prosperity" or "go join the Republican Party. When we have full employment people can buy more and prices go up," Johnson said. "I'd much rather have the problems of prosperity of the 1960s than the problems of poverty of the 1930s." He telephoned his off-the-cuff remarks from his Texas ranch to the Western States Democratic Conference in this Rocky Mountain park.

"If a man has nothing to do all day long but complain about inflation and worry, and worry his family, he ought to go join the Republican Party because when they get in, the problems of prosperity will be gone," Johnson said.

It was the most partisan speech Johnson made since leaving Washington Friday. He visited Idaho, Colorado and Oklahoma Friday. Johnson was billed as a non-political trip before going to the ranch to celebrate his 58th birthday Saturday.

"A lot of people are worried about inflation," Johnson said. "I'm worried too and we're going to do everything we can to solve this problem."

He said he realized that people were worried because the cost of living has increased 25 percent recently.

"But under President Eisenhower it went up 4 percent but wages went down."

He said prices had gone up 10 percent since 1960 but wages had increased 20 percent.

Johnson's proposals on nuclear disarmament made Friday were applauded, but delegates to the meeting agreed there was little chance Russia would talk about disarmament while the war in Viet Nam continues.

Leaders Call For End of Viet Nam War

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle and Emperor Haile Selassie Saturday night both called for a "collective" solution to the war in Viet Nam.

Speaking at a state banquet, De Gaulle said the conflict in Southeast Asia "is constantly spreading as the result of an escalation led from outside" and the "risk of war between two continents never ceases to increase."

"Faced with such danger should not those nations which are independent, pacific and disinterested attend their views and — if need be — their acts? And is this not the very essence of the French and Ethiopian are concerned?" the French president said.

Speaking in reply, Selassie said: "France and Ethiopia are convinced that the fundamental problems of our world, such as Viet Nam, can only receive a collective solution from the expression and the contribution of all nations."

Selassie gave De Gaulle a warm welcome to the Ethiopian capital and even scrubbed from the press and radio any mention of the rioting that marked the French leader's visit to French Somaliland.

Fighting Range Fire Is Hot, Dirty, Hard Work

BY CATHERINE TATE

Hot, grimy and utterly weary, they struggle in and head for the nearest basin of water. The water will combine with the dust and soot to produce an adhesive black film that will cling until they can finally go home.

They are firefighters, now waging what seems to be a hopeless battle against the 60,000-acre range fire east of Rogerson.

There are now 500 men on the fire. They are as diverse a group as possible, hailing from many different points on the map: New Mexico, Utah, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho. Some of them are old-timers on the fire lines, others are new recruits.

"They have one thing in common—an intense desire to get that fire out as soon as possible."

The chances for fulfilling that desire looked good early Friday morning, according to Max Rees, Sawtooth National Forest Service supervisor. But Friday's gusty 30-to-60 mile per hour winds shattered all hopes of containing the fire for one more day.

Many of the men now serving on the fire lines were called to duty at 5 a.m. Friday. They follow a routine of ten to twelve-hour stints on the lines, back to camp to snatch a few hours sleep, return to the fire lines and so on. Several men, however, have been on the lines for 17 hours or more.

"After a while, you get too tired to worry about whether you might get burned," firefighter Steve Blandford, Ketchum, commented.

Blandford had just returned from the Hopper Gulch fire station. He was completely covered with a mixture of sweat, soot and black dust, and the innumerable clinders that had lodged in his eyes had caused him to develop a defensive squint.

As he carefully dusted the dust out of his ears, he grimed wryly and said that "luxury is a hot bath and clean white sheets on a feather bed."

A range fire like this one is an "unwieldy, tickle monster," one of the firefighters noted.

Legislation Set to End Rail Strike

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's government shaped up legislation Saturday aimed at ending Canada's paralyzing rail strike. A Canadian National Railways ferry was blocked by about 500 strikers at the Newmarket port, but city councilmen said the labor action was quiet.

The nation was marking time in the crucial strike situation until Monday, when Parliament will convene in special session to consider government legislation to start the train rolling.

The strike was called by four unions representing 18,000 employees of eight railroads seeking wage increases averaging 30 percent. The average hourly wage now is $2.32 an hour.

China Youths Are Warned About Project

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China Sunday cautioned the tough teen-age Red Guards, who are spearheading the country's cultural crackdown, against the use of violence.

An editorial in the official Peking People's Daily said the youths should be "educated, restrained and not violence to persuade."

It was the first such statement since the campaign started and it came a day after bloodshed and deaths were reported.

The official Communist party newspaper said "we must support their (the youth's) fervent revolutionary movement" but said their actions must conform with party chairman Mao Tse-tung's teachings.

Reports from Peking Saturday said the youths met their first resistance and that there had been bloodshed.

The Japanese newspaper Yomiuri Shimbun said 14 persons, including four "Red Guards," were injured Thursday in a riot in Peking.

The paper's Peking correspondent said the resistance report was posted in the Peking People's Daily. It said there were two incidents Thursday, with eight persons, including three girls, injured.

The other incident included the injury of six people, including four Red Guards, a girl and a child, by an unidentified person.

In Moscow, a Tass dispatch from Peking said a "Red Guard" movement by the "Red Guards" reported "eight Red Guards" and one "non-Red Guard" were killed in Peking, Tass, the Soviet news agency, said. It said the deaths had been caused by the youths' actions.

Bay Area Nurses Plan Walk-Off

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Nurses at city-operated San Francisco General Hospital announced after a meeting Saturday that they will walk off the job at 7 a.m. Tuesday to support their demand for immediate pay raises. The city says it can't raise their pay until next July 1.

On learning of the decision of the 265 nurses, Dr. Ellis Sox, city health officer, ordered no more admissions to the hospital effective immediately in most cases, and no more after 8 a.m. Monday. He also ordered many patients transferred.

U.S. Planes Hit Depots In Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes continued hammering targets in North Viet Nam Saturday, striking fuel and ammunition depots about 20 miles northwest of Hanoi, the U.S. command said Sunday.

A military spokesman said an F-4C was shot down by enemy fire but that the pilot was rescued after he parachuted into the sea. It was the first plane reported lost in a week and brought to 314 the number of aircraft lost over North Viet Nam.

In the raid on the fuel dumps, planes reported one large secondary explosion and heavy black smoke billowing 1,500 feet into the air, the spokesman said.

Heavy bomb damage reports piled up from 150 missions flown against the north on Friday. A spokesman said all planes in those raids returned safely.

Boy May Be Victim of Tragic Game

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — Skokie Police said Saturday that a boy whose body was found in a lake pool with the hands tied, may have been the victim of a child's game that went too far.

The boy, John Jensen, would have been 3 years old Sept. 4. His body was found early Saturday morning floating just below the surface of the water. The boy's hands were tied in front of him.

In the search party that found the body was John Jensen's father, Charles, 28, a policeman. Jensen said his son had never been away from home and that he believed that the child could have walked to the lake.

Police Lt. James Haines said no attempt had been made to reveal the body and that it was found floating just below the surface of the water. The boy's hands were tied in front of him.

IDAHOANS FLOCKED by the thousands to see President Johnson Friday as he spoke at a ceremony at the central facilities area on the Atomic Energy Commission's National Reactor

Lunar Craft Nears End of Photo Period

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter, near the end of an exhaustive photo session with the moon, will begin Monday the tedious job of transmitting some 200 pictures back to earth. The camera-carrying spacecraft will take final photos on orbit 54, at 11 p.m. Sunday, and orbit 55, at 2 a.m. Monday.

"That will complete the planned photographic mission for Lunar Orbiter," a spokesman at Langley Research Center said Saturday. "Then begins a readout of all the photographs she has taken."

The readout, to begin as soon as possible after the final shots will take until about Sept. 15, the spokesman said.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials expect to receive some 200 pictures from the spacecraft.

The long readout is necessary, the spokesman said, because only one frame of film can be transmitted back to earth within a 45-minute period during each orbit of the moon.

In the readout process, a beam of light will scan each

Hay Burns At Richfield

RICHFIELD — A hay fire Thursday afternoon at the Grant Stevens ranch, five miles west of Richfield, was caused by high winds carrying sparks from a trash fire to a nearby stack of old hay. The fire siren blew in Richfield at 5 p.m. Thursday and many volunteer fire fighters answered the call. Mrs. Stevens, alone at the ranch, ran to the Eugene Alexander ranch to summon help.

Senator Will Try to Break Old Custom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, who thinks some traditions are made to be broken, is getting ready to challenge a long-standing Senate custom.

Providing she is re-elected in November to a fourth six-year term, the silver-haired senator expects to be a candidate for the chairmanship of the Conference of All Republican Senators.

No woman has held this or any other party leadership post in the memory of the oldest Senate inhabitant.

As jobs go, it is more of an honor than a working assignment. The chairman presides at rare party caucuses and nominally names the members of a committee which passes out assignments to Republicans to the Senate's standing committees.

Then there is the prestige that goes with being asked to the White House as a member of the GOP leadership when the President has a bipartisan conference.

The conference chairmanship, currently held by retiring Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, has come to be regarded as something of a New England possession.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., who offered Mrs. Smith's name in nomination for the presidency at the 1964 GOP convention, said in a separate interview it would be "a good thing for the party" to honor the woman senator.

At 68, Mrs. Smith is serving out her 18th year in the Senate. With Saltonstall's retirement in January, she will rank fifth among Republicans in service.

No Action Set On Air Fare Reductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board indicated Saturday that it will take no immediate action to bring about the air fare reductions urged last week by Chairman Gardner Ackley, President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers.

In an interview, CAB Chairman Charles S. Murphy told The Associated Press that the board's studies of the airlines fare structure — to have been completed before the end of this year — was delayed by the six-week strike against five airlines until early next year.

— The board has decided to permit the trunk airlines to continue until next April 22 the temporary extra charges for jet services as well as the "Discover America" excursion fares.

The added fares were scheduled to expire Dec. 31. Murphy said the "implication of these developments is that the board does not expect any major change on the part of the board to do anything about fares until results of the fare structure study are in and more experience has been gathered on excursion fares and jet surcharges."

Ackley said at the end of the study that the airlines' fare structure was "not as sound as it should be." He said the airlines' fare structure was "not as sound as it should be."

BIDS OPENED

BOISE (AP) — Bids were opened Friday in the office of the State Department of Public Works for remodeling of the fourth floor of the capitol.

The apparent low bidder was John Nonmacher Construction Co., of Boise, with a bid of $69,440. Six other firms submitted bids.

Remodeling work is planned to convert the old Health Department laboratories to office space and to expand Legislative Council office space.

In an interview, CAB Chairman Charles S. Murphy told The Associated Press that the board's studies of the airlines fare structure — to have been completed before the end of this year — was delayed by the six-week strike against five airlines until early next year.

Solon Won't Campaign for Oregon Slate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., announced Saturday he will not campaign for Democratic nominees in Oregon because of "sincere and honest differences of opinion" with some of them on foreign policy.

As a vigorous critic of President Johnson's conduct of the Vietnam war, Morse had opposed the successful bid of Rep. Robert B. Duncan for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Duncan said at the inception of his campaign that if Americans did not stand and fight in the Vietnam war, Morse had to fight in the grass of Oregon.

Morse, who previously had threatened to back GOP Gov. Mark O. Hatfield's bid for election to the Senate, said he had been asked to campaign for congressional candidates in other states "who seek to change our foreign policy in Southeast Asia."

Rupert Man Found Guilty

BURLEY — A jury of six men and six women returned a verdict of guilty Friday night against Melvin Dean Hanks, 23, Rupert, charged with forcible rape.

The verdict came at 10:45 p.m. after four hours of deliberation in the jury room at Hamilton AFB, Calif. Cadet-Decker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. Decker, Route 2, Filer, will observe and take an active part in flying and support phases of operations at Hamilton during the month-long summer training period.

The girl claimed he raped her after taking her on a drive and tying her hands. She testified in court that he threatened her with a knife, and burned her hair with a cigarette.

Two Sets of Identical Twins Marry

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — The identical twin sisters, wearing identical gowns, wed identical twin brothers Saturday at St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic church.

In double-ring ceremonies, Jane Frances Silva, 21, married Robert Benevides, 26, and for nonwhites, the bureau said. Joan Frances Silva married Antonio Benevides Jr. They were sharp among women, with the wedding by an uncle of the bride, the Rev. Edward Oliveira of Taunton.

Jane, older than her twin by some 20 minutes, went down the aisle first.

Each sister served as attendant for the other, and each brother was his twin's best man.

Robert and his bride chose Bermuda for a honeymoon and Tony and his bride headed for Lake George, N.Y.

Median Income Is up in 1965

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau reports the median income for men in 1965 was $4,324, up 4 per cent from the previous year, while that for women advanced 8 per cent to $3,561.

For white males, the median was $5,135 compared with $4,672 for nonwhites, the bureau said. The racial difference wasn't as sharp among women, with the median $3,648 for white females and $1,213 for nonwhites.

Firefighters Have Dirty, Tough Task

It jumps and turns like a small girl skipping rope, defiantly ignoring trench-protected areas and carelessly ignoring fire lines.

It can be whipped to fury by gusty winds, and when that happens "all you can do is get out of the way and let it burn," another fireman said.

It just makes you sick," he added.

Firefighting is dirty, exhausting work, but by far the worst part of the business is "knowing that you can't do anything about some of the fires—it makes you feel so puny and helpless," Glen Church, Burley, said.

Control of the fire is a joint Bureau of Land Management (BLM) and Sawtooth National Forest Service effort. Approximately one third of the fire crews are from BLM; another third are Forest Service men, and organized independent crews comprise the remaining third.

Fire crews will frequently stay with a fire for eight or ten days. When asked if the men played cards or read during their rest periods, Blandford said "Are you kidding? We sleep, any chance we can get."

The food at a fire camp isn't bad. With a fire as big as the one east of Rogerson, the food is prepared and served by the National Guard.

As the men come back from the lines, they head for the chow line, gather in informal groups during their hasty dinner hour, and finally grab sleeping bags and "collapse anywhere that's handy," T. A. Phillips, Twin Falls, said.

Phillips is a long-time Forest Service employee. While many a newer man would be inclined to think of this fire as an absolute holocaust, Phillips calls it "a routine brush fire."

Mop-up operations are the worst, according to Blandford. "Especially at night, when it's cold—oddy enough—you can't see where you're going... that's when you wonder if there isn't an easier job in the world," he said.

Organized fire crews are highly trained, cohesive units. Each man knows his job inside and out. During the critical burning season, they remain on one-hour call, meaning that they must be ready to leave for the site of a fire within an hour's notice.

Upon first report of a range or timber fire, converted torpedo bombers are immediately sent over the site, spraying a fire retardant (Phos-Chex) on the flames. The goal is to contain the fire while it's still small, since Phos-Chex has little effect on larger fires.

"We also try to get at least a few men in there while the fire is small," Phillips said. "After that, we move in the bigger equipment, the tractors and bulldozers, for our 12-foot wide trenches," he added.

Two of the Forest Service men were almost trapped by what was later described as a "hormone-like whirlwind of fire." When asked what they thought when they realized their near-miss, both agreed that they hadn't had time to think about anything but "getting out of there."

Near-misses are commonplace to these men. So far this year, however, there have been no range fire fatalities or serious injuries.

This particular fire will have many different consequences for Magic Valley residents. Foremost in the minds of many sportsmen is the question of the deer.

The fire burned approximately 1,500 acres of bitter brush area. The bitter brush acreage is a favorite deer feeding ground and its loss may force the deer out of the area completely. Much deer starvation is another possibility.

"That was the very heart of the deer country," Russell C. (Bud) Larsen, a Kimberly cattleman now operating a Caterpillar tractor on the fire breaks, commented. "This is the most vicious fire I've ever seen," he added.

The heartbreaking part of firefighting, according to Larsen, is the apparent futility of the fire crews' efforts.

"You work for five or six hours setting up a fire break," he said, "only to have the fire jump it like it wasn't there—all gone in a matter of minutes—five or six hours of back-breaking, sweaty, dirty work."

Larsen was working in the Nix-Soo-Pak area. He spent 17 hours on the lines before he went home Saturday morning.

This area, he said, was "terrifically hot."

"I've never seen anything like it," he commented.

Fire crews must stay with a fire until it is absolutely cold, and details of men are sent out over the burned acreage to assure that the fire is "dead out."

These mop-up operations are what Blandford referred to as "the worst part of the whole fire." They include removal of burned livestock and the tedious patrolling of "hot spots."

The firefighters' job won't end when news of the big fire passes from the newspaper's front pages. Many of the BLM and Forest Service men will remain at the fire camps for days after the major flames are out.

"It's a hell of a way to earn a living," one of the men concluded.

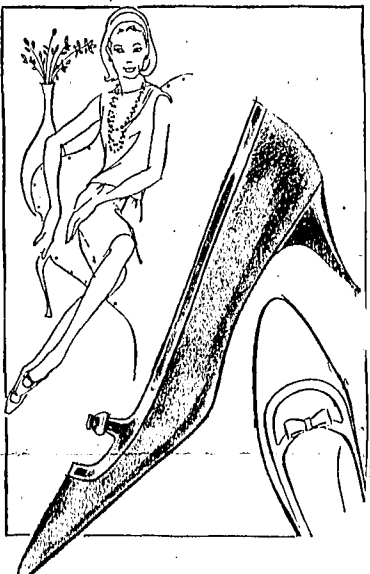

2,000 Stage Riot in Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — About 2,000 residents in a Tokyo slum district staged a 3½ hour riot today, apparently dissatisfied over police handling of a traffic accident.

Police said the rioters smashed windows of pinball parlors with stones, set fire to rubbish containers, and tied up traffic for more than an hour. About 1,500 riot police were rushed to the scene.

"Frankly," one youngster remarked to another, "I don't think science helps people either. Look at my aunt. She talks more than anybody I know, and she still has a double chin!" Now an electric device is looking forward, now, to getting rid of your neck. And how—business as usual. The goal is to contain the fire while it's still small, since Phos-Chex has little effect on larger fires.

"We also try to get at least a few men in there while the fire is small," Phillips said. "After that, we move in the bigger equipment, the tractors and bulldozers, for our 12-foot wide trenches," he added.

T.F. Fair Art Contest Rules Are Listed

President of the Magic Valley Art Guild, Mrs. Juanita Miller, Jerome, announces that the guild will again sponsor art competition at the Twin Falls County Fair at the Filer fairgrounds.

Competition is open to all members of Art Guilds of Twin Falls County or residents of Twin Falls County, 18 years of age or above. All entries must be brought to the art building, between 3 and 5 p.m., Saturday, and between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m., Sunday. Late entries will not be accepted. Each exhibitor is entitled to enter no more than a total of five articles and no more than three articles per division. An entry fee of $1 per exhibitor will be charged.

Only original work will be accepted and must have been completed within the last two years. Mrs. Miller explained that original art work, is work done from memory, on the scene, or from a photograph the artist has taken personally. Copies from magazines or other commercial sources are not eligible and are not eligible, she stated.

Work previously shown at the fair may not be shown again. Work must be by the signed artist without assistance from an artist or instructor. All pictures must be adequately framed and wired ready for hanging. Pictures will not be hung unless adequately framed and wired, including watercolor, oil, pastel, pen or pencil. Pictures of the Fair Management nor the Art Guild will be responsible for damage or loss of exhibits. Pictures will be hung by a hanging committee only. The following information must be attached to each painting when entered: Name and address, title of painting, price, if any, and division in which painting is to be entered. Names must be adequately covered by each exhibitor.

Where there is no competition, entries will be awarded as first, second, third or no premium according to the merits of the articles. All entries must be removed from the Art Building on Sept. 11 after 10 p.m. or Sept. 12 between 9 and 10:30 a.m. Doors will close at 10 p.m. each night of the fair. Hosts and hostesses for the exhibit will be Sept. 7, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Lee Logan and Gloria Hann; 2 to 6 p.m., Eleanor Stallings and Pearl Brackens; and 6 to 10 p.m., Cleo Knight and Evanelle Kenkle.

Catholic Bishop Notes Stand on Sales Tax

BOISE — Most Rev. Sylvester Treinen, Bishop of Idaho, noted in a recent statement that although many non-public schools are maintained without the use of tax monies, some sort of taxation is necessary to properly maintain staff and equip public schools.

Although the head of the Catholic Church in Idaho did not specifically take a stand in favor of the sales tax, he said he was in favor of whatever way had to be used to provide an adequate education for Idaho's students.

"There are in Idaho a fair number of non-public schools. They are called non-public because they are not supported by public funds, though they are open to all. These schools are owned and operated by several different religious groups. We find such schools in Caldwell, Nampa, Coeur d'Alene, Boise, Rexburg, Cottonwood, Idaho Falls, Graceland, Twin Falls — to mention only a few of the cities.

"All of these non-public schools exist in accordance with constitutional rights and because of religious persuasions. They do not compete with, but cooperate with and supplement, public schools.

"At present while the issue of the sales tax and use tax is warm and will be voted upon in November, no doubt many people are wondering what the issue means to those who sponsor non-public schools. The question is raised because non-public schools receive no aid from the sales tax, though they do pay sales tax on purchases made.

"I naturally am not qualified to speak on this matter for anyone except myself. Since neither religious doctrine nor morals are touched upon here, I do not presume to suggest, though I believe for Catholics, my personal ideas are aired, lest complete silence be interpreted variously as consent or dissent.

"It is not easy to know what type of tax is the best in order to glean sufficient support for our public schools. However, this everyone knows: Public schools wherein many children of all faiths are educated must be of high quality. The only source of revenue public schools have is taxes. Thus, the conclusion: Some kind of taxation is necessary. I personally do not presume to know what kind of taxation is the best. If the people disapprove one kind of taxation, they will have to approve another kind. This choice calls for careful study, unemotional thinking, and a willingness to face a serious problem intelligently.

"Surely everyone ought to do these three things conscientiously. No question at all but that the answer will eventually be reached, but it should be the concern of everyone that no advancement be made while the answer is being sought.

"Our teachers should be paid an honest living wage in keeping with present-day standards, and in accordance with the teachers' ability and performance. I believe our schools should be up-to-date; they should be durable and attractive. Yet they certainly should not be luxurious. This point is seen clearly when one considers that our schools are used by the children scarcely twelve percent of the time. At times non-public schools and public schools, at least seem to have overlooked this. I surely do not advocate shoddiness in our school facilities. But the purpose of schools is to educate children. Plush surroundings together with the latest conveniences on the one hand and well-educated graduates on the other hand do not necessarily go together.

"In conclusion, I here repeat something that I have said many times. Even though Catholics maintain many non-public schools, I am a strong advocate of a high-quality public school system; and I therefore favor whatever means it is decided are necessary to that end."

SAMPLING TRADITIONAL SCOTTISH wedding cake, Mr. and Mrs. William Newbry, Mrs. Newbry, the former Thelma Hopkins, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopkins, both natives of Port Glasgow, Scotland. The wedding cake was baked at Port Glasgow and brought to the United States when the Hopkins family returned from a European tour this summer. The cake, unlike American wedding cake, is a dark, rich, fruit cake weighing 20 pounds. (Album photo)

'Bagpipes Are Highlight Of Twin Falls Wedding

By JULIE ANDERSON

To the skirl (the sound) of bagpipes, the bride and her bridegroom left the church after their wedding ceremony. The family tartan and coat-of-arms hung from the reception hall walls and a rich, dark wedding cake was sampled by a large group of friends and relatives.

The Scottish bagpipes of Britain would be a natural setting for such an event, but a touch of Scotland came back from Europe with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopkins and their daughter, Thelma, as they returned to prepare for her Aug. 21 wedding to William Newbry, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Newbry, all Twin Falls, at the First Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins, both natives of Port Glasgow, Scotland, came to the United States in 1948, moving to Twin Falls from Bole, Mrs. Hopkins, who speaks with a delightful Scottish accent, explained that before her marriage, her name was MacLenn. The MacLenn coat-of-arms and tartan formed the background for the reception table at her daughter's wedding.

The Hopkins family left the United States in June, spending three weeks in Scotland visiting relatives before touring the rest of Europe. Thelma and her mother shopped for a wedding trousseau in Switzerland, Rome, Paris, Scotland and England. The family returned to the United States Aug. 1. With them, they brought the wedding cake.

This traditional Scottish wedding cake, very unlike American wedding cake, was baked in Port Glasgow and is a rich, dark fruit cake with ingredients. (Continued on Page 11)

diets which include raisins and brandy. The cake was completely enveloped in a one-inch thick crust of soft marzipan confection. The cake, which weighed approximately 20 pounds, was given the final decorative icing at Shelby's Market, Twin Falls.

Rev. Robert Harvey performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked with baskets of pink gladioli, Scottish ferns and imported Scottish heather, flanked by triple tapered candelabra. Each church pew was adorned with tall, white, wrought iron candelabra and pink posies.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, repeated vows in an empire styled Brancina gown of Venetian lace, with scalloped neckline, Baroque embroidered with pearls and crystals. The gown featured long lily point sleeves and a lowered waistline at the back tapering to a bouffant skirt from which an eight-foot cathedral train cascaded. Her elbow-length veil flowed from a white lover's rose of pearl and crystal matching the embroidery at the neckline.

She carried a bouquet of cascading pink roses and Phalaenopsis orchids. For "something old" she tucked a rare English coin in her shoe which was dated 200 A.D.

Sandra Hopkins, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Sherri Stuart, Twin Falls, friend of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore floor-length empire gowns of apple blossom pink and green peau de sole and lace. Kristin Kendall and Karen Kendall, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. William Kendall, were flower girls. They wore floor-length gowns of apple blossom pink and green gullupure lace with long velvet sashes. Each wore a flowered hair knot fashioned from florist pink roses.

Best man was Thomas Newbry, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Jerry Armstrong, Chris Jancik and Kenneth Hanson. Ringbearers were Mark Newbry and Tim Newbry, both nephews of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Charles Allen was organist. Christie Crockett, college roommate of the bride was soloist.

The bridegroom's mother chose a floor-length gown of lace and crepe in pink with a pink hat. The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of light green eau de nil crepe and lace with matching hat.

The couple left the church to the music of bagpipes played by Robert McGill, Boise, who was dressed in the traditional Scottish social attire which includes kilt, knee stockings, white shirt and black bow tie. Scottish tradition requires that the newly married couple be piped to their reception which was held in the church fireplace room.

The bride's table was covered with a bouffant nylon tablecloth, festooned with sprigs of Scottish heather and pink mist flowers. The four-tiered wedding cake centered the table and was flanked by pink tapered candles in triple tiered silver candelabra, adorned with pink roses. Two large pink satin roses designed and fashioned by Mrs. Norman Crassley, Boise, nestling in Scottish heather on each side of the candelabra, completed the table decoration. The MacLean coat-of-arms, crest and clan tartan were hung behind the reception table. The plaid, draped with large purple and amber jeweled stones of the Hopkins clan, was boldly woven of red, green, blue, black, yellow and white.

Given Call registered guests. The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Roy Jacobson and Pam Johnson, cousin of the bridegroom. Attending the bride's table were Mrs. William Kendall and Mrs. John Barber, Buhl.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal supper at the Colonial Room of the Rogerson Hotel for the bridal party. Out-of-town guests attended from Pocatello, Parma, Boise, Buhl and Jerome.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in the San Francisco and Carmel, Calif., areas. And so, even if the skirt of the bagpipes fades, a wee bit of Scotland will be remembered in Twin Falls, Idaho.

Wallace Is Attacked by Candidate

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Rep. James D. Martin, No. 1 vote-getter in Alabama's Republican renaissance, set out Friday to wrest the governor's office from George C. Wallace, a man so popular he won the Democratic nomination for his wife.

Lurleen Wallace will be Martin's opponent in the November election but the congressman formally opened his campaign Friday night with an attack on the policies of her husband.

Gov. Wallace's new plan to keep Alabama's public schools from complying with federal desegregation guidelines is a "strategy for massive defeat," Martin told a cheering crowd of several thousand at the state fairgrounds.

Neither Mrs. Wallace nor her husband have made any secret of the fact that she'll reign and he'll rule if she is elected.

Two Arrested In Berlin for Kidnaping

BERLIN (AP) — A West Berlin mother and son were arrested Saturday in connection with Berlin's first post-war kidnaping case but the main suspect, her second son, has apparently fled, police reported. They said an intensive hunt is being conducted for Juergen Henschel, a 22-year-old laborer.

Police said Anni Henschel and son, Joachim, 18, were arrested. They were said to have held Audrey Klewer, 4, of Montreal, kidnaped Monday from the home of her wealthy West Berlin grandfather and found alive Friday.

Police expressed belief that Juergen Henschel is the nylon stocking-masked man who kidnaped Audrey after chloroforming her 28-year-old mother.

The child was taken from the home of her grandfather, art and antique dealer Herbert Klewer, 53, only five hours after she arrived in the city with her unwed mother, Regina Klewer. Ransom of $3,750 was demanded but the girl was found before any money was paid.

Police said Juergen Henschel was identified by a tip from a Berliner who heard the kidnaper's voice on the air. After Audrey was found, police released to radio and television stations tape recordings they had made of telephone conversations between the kidnappers and the child's grandfather.

Peace Corps Tests Slated

Twin Falls area residents can take Peace Corps placement tests at 9 a.m. Sept. 10 at the Civil Service Room at the Post Office, according to Thomas Sage, public information officer.

Placement tests are used to determine how applicants can best be utilized in overseas work. Tests measure general aptitude and ability to learn a language, not education or achievement, he said.

Applicants neither pass or fail and tests require no preparation and are non-competitive. Those wishing to be tested should obtain an application from the Peace Corps, Washington, D.C., or from the local post office before being tested.

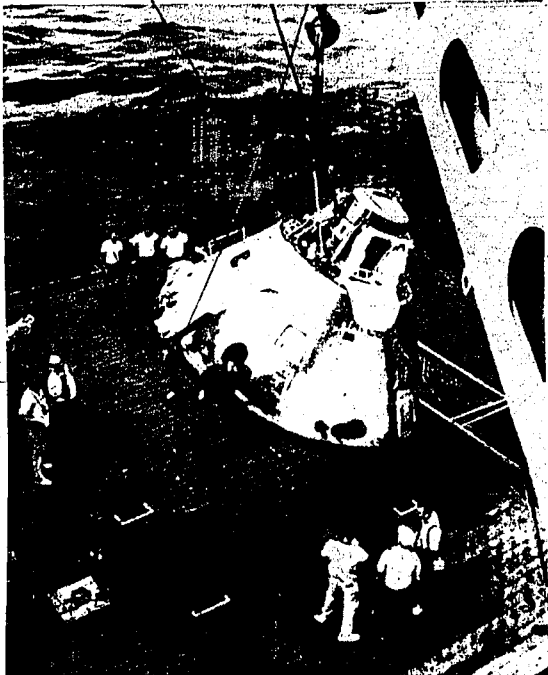

Tests take about one and a half hours to complete.

Toastmistress Club Has Dinner

BURLEY — The Burley Toastmistress Club held its annual potluck dinner Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. T. Wayne Woodland, president of the club.

The first regular meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 13, in the conference room of Idaho Bank and Trust Building. Speech assignments will be made prior to the first meeting.

Mrs. Spencer Black and Mrs. Eva Hatfield were guests.

Utah Sheriff Is Cited Here After Crash

An Ogden, Utah, deputy sheriff was cited for following too closely after his automobile was involved in a two-car accident at 3:55 p.m. Saturday about one and one-half miles west of Hansen.

State patrolman Frank Mogenson, reported that a 1961 Chevrolet driven by Vernal R. Butcher, 51, Ogden, struck the rear of a 1964 Volkswagen driven by Mrs. Bernice D. Draney, 43, 1226 Oriental Ave., Burley.

Mogenson said the Draney vehicle had slowed down to allow a car in front to make a left turn off Highway 30, when the collision occurred. Passengers in the Volkswagen, R. L. Draney, 13, Agnes Cofer, 73, and David, Draney, 9, were treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and released.

Passengers in the Butcher vehicle were not injured. Damage to the Volkswagen, which is owned by Flight Motor, Burley, was estimated at $300. No damage estimate was available on the Chevrolet, but Mogenson reported considerable damage to the front of the vehicle.

Attraction of Tourists Closed

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany (AP) — Bavarian authorities today closed one of Germany's biggest tourist attractions—the sprawling underground bunkers beneath Adolf Hitler's mountain retreat at Obersalzberg.

Since the end of the war the bunkers have attracted thousands of tourists from all over the world.

Troopers Give Slinger Party

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — Troopers of the 101st Airborne Division thought it was time to repay Martha Raye, who had entertained them and their buddies in Viet Nam, so they gave her a birthday party.

Some 2,000 troops jammed Fryar Stadium Friday night to serenade the singer-comedian.

Conservation Meet Slated At Shoshone

SHOSHONE—Wood River Sell and Water Conservation District supervisors will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the local office. There are several items of business to be handled.

Mont Johnson, Richfield, will discuss the subject of establishment and management of grasses on dry land, pointing out that first and foremost growing plants are the only factories in existence which can take minerals and moisture from the soil, absorb carbon dioxide from the air and in the presence of sunlight, manufacture food products.

Anyone interested in attending the meeting is welcome. Paul Bancroft, chairman, will be in charge of the meeting.

Training Meet Slated by BLM

SHOSHONE—William Mahbutt, district manager of the Bureau of Land Management, announces a lands, mineral and recreation training session to be held at the local BLM office Monday and Tuesday.

Purpose of this session is to acquaint BLM personnel with the rules, regulations and procedures affecting the public domain lands.

Salmon, Barley, Boise districts and the Idaho State office will be represented. Mahbutt will be coordinator for the meeting and topics will be presented by the various districts and state office personnel.

Faculty Meeting Is Set Monday

A general faculty meeting for all teachers and principals in the Twin Falls School District 41 will convene Monday at 8:30 a.m. in the O'Leary Junior High School auditorium. Ernest H. Ragland, superintendent, announced Friday.

The program will feature Cheryl Couch (Miss Idaho), Royal Sloten and a film, Miss Couch will sing; Sloten, from the Idaho Employment Agency, will discuss the problem of school dropouts; and the film concerns modern school library services.

Teachers Feted

RICHFIELD—Richfield faculty members were feted at an afternoon luncheon Thursday afternoon by the PTA executive board.

Sup. F. R. Briggs gave a brief talk and Mrs. Ronald Ralls, PTA president, welcomed the group including school board members, school personnel and faculty.

Idaho State Policeman Makes Plea to Obey Laws Regulating School Buses

A plea to motorists to watch out for school children and to obey traffic laws regulating school buses was voiced this week by Lt. Dean Bennett, Idaho State Police.

Bennett pointed out the Magic Valley has an exceptionally good record in the area of school bus-auto accidents, but the record could be improved. Last year at least two people lost their lives in Magic Valley as direct results of mishaps with school buses.

Seminary Classes Slated in Jerome

JEROME—Seminary classes for Jerome LDS Church high school students will begin Monday, the same day public school begins, according to Alfred Pace, seminary principal.

Classes will be held at 7 and 8 a.m. and 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. at the church for all high school students.

Studies will be held of the Bible, Old Testament, New Testament, Book of Mormon and church history. Courses range from year to year so students may take all four studies during their four years of high school.

Bennett emphasized that it is now mandatory that motorists following school buses, as well as motorists approaching buses, come to complete stops while the buses are loading and unloading.

He said the school buses are not required by law to have "school bus" painted on the rear of the buses, but most companies do provide this painting.

Under the present law, motorists must stop and wait for the bus to proceed on the roadway if the bus is in front of them. However, approaching motorists also must stop and wait for the bus. Bennett said if the signal arm on the driver's side of the bus is out, approaching motorists must wait until the arm is released before proceeding.

If the signal arm is not out, approaching motorists must stop, and then they may proceed, with caution, past the bus. He said the signal arm is used to protect students who must cross the road to get onto the bus.

The only time motorists are not required to stop for a bus which is loading or unloading is when the bus stops in another driving lane on a four-lane highway. The police officer pointed out, however, the only four-lane highway in this area would be a section of Highway 30 which runs from the Red Cap Corner, north of Kimberly, to the city limits of Twin Falls.

He pointed out the roadway between Filer and Twin Falls is not classed as a four-lane highway because there is no divider between the lanes.

Lt. Bennett also stressed to motorists that school buses are required by law to stop at all railroad crossings.

Classes and school bus service will commence at most area schools prior to the Labor Day weekend.

Dog Heroine Saves Life of Second Child This Year

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — Being a heroine is getting to be routine for April.

The 3-year-old dog has been credited with saving the lives of two children in separate incidents within the past year.

The latest case was Friday when the black, brown and white dog led the way to a 7-year-old boy trapped inside an icebox. The boy was revived by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

A few months ago April, a terrier-Chihuahua mixed breed, awoke his mistress who found one of her sons choking on blood. He was hemorrhaging.

"This is one dog that will eat steaks from now on," said April's owner, Mrs. Eddie Barger of Gallup.

Mrs. Barger was working at a tortilla (Mexican style bread) factory Friday when April came to the door and started yipping. "I thought maybe she had a splinter in her foot or something like that," said Mrs. Barger. "I tried to pick her up but she wouldn't let me. She kept barking at me. Finally I went outside, she ran ahead of me and finally stopped at the icebox and began scratching at it."

New Attempt Is Made for Peace Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has tried again through a third country to get North Viet Nam into peace talks, or at least to scale down its push against South Viet Nam, it was learned Saturday.

U.S. officials suggested Saturday that Hanoi is holding hard to its present course because it believes that it will win in time through a collapse of the Saigon regime, a U.S. withdrawal under pressure of international opinion or an American pull out because of internal U.S. differences over Southeast Asian policy.

U.S. officials declined to give out for publication the name of the neutral country with whom diplomatic discussions were held recently concerning efforts to persuade Hanoi to stop its military activities in South Viet Nam.

Backstage diplomatic talks about Viet Nam have been conducted with a large number of countries in the past. It was reported that in this recent instance the U.S. diplomat told the third country representative that:

The military effort in South Viet Nam is going well, and so are the political and economic efforts to build a democratic, self-sustaining country.

Wallet Returned

DETROIT (AP) — Almost two years ago, Williams Laws lost his wallet and $116 while hunting deer and antelope near Gillette, Wyo.

Friday, Laws, 29, of Westland, a Detroit suburb, got a package in the mail. It contained his weatherbeaten and watermarked wallet — and the $116.

"It cost somebody $145 to mail the package," Laws said.

"There was no letter or explanation. I'd sure like to know him, and give him a reward."

T.F. Student Wins Design Contest

Susan Summerfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Summerfield, 2038 Addison Ave. E., Twin Falls, has been selected as fourth place winner in the Great Jewelry Contest. It was sponsored by Linde Stars of Union Carbide Co., New York, announces George Walton, Twin Falls High School art instructor.

Linde Stars, trade name for synthetic star sapphires produced by Union Carbide, were to be used in a jewelry design in the contest. Walton stated that thousands of entries were received from high school students all over the United States.

He reported that Miss Summerfield received fourth place in competition among 300 winners in various other categories. She received a letter of congratulations and a prize from Dennis P. Esser, product manager of Linde Stars.

Fat Stock Sale Slated At Rupert

RUPERT—Announcement was made of the 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Sale to be held at 10 a.m. Sept. 12, at the Valley Livestock Commission yard, during the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

Del Hollinger, chamber president, noted this gives merchants and other interested people in the county and area an opportunity to support youth projects. He said business people are asked to include a notice of the Fat Stock Sale with their local advertisement.

The sale is sponsored by the Rupert Chamber of Commerce with William Hanes as chairman and LaMont Smith, county extension agent, as sale chairman.

Richard Bohle reported on the quarterly meeting of the Eastern Idaho Chamber of Commerce at Rexburg. He said the Eastern Idaho group plans to maintain an office at Boise during the next legislative sessions, with a committee from the chamber to work with legislators.

Mental Health Proposals to Be Explained

The Idaho Mental Health Association, in cooperation with local organizations such as the Twin Falls County Mental Health Association, is underwriting a statewide program to interpret for the people of Idaho the proposals of the State Department of Health for a comprehensive mental health program for Idaho.

The association's goal is to create regional mental health centers in Idaho.
Rev. Warren L. Howell, chairman of the Committee to Implement Mental Health Plan for Idaho, is confident that growing public awareness of the scope of mental illness will result in a determination by the State Legislature to make possible the kind of program that will both put the tax dollar to best advantage and serve the needs of Idaho people.

Rev. Howell is chairman for Magic Valley and Wood River Valley.
He suggests that the local mental health centers set up by San Mateo, Calif., illustrate "what can be accomplished when a community really means business." The September issue of Reader's Digest carries an article on the San Mateo program, and Rev. Howell refers interested persons to the article.

"People in our area should be aware of the kind of methods used by this successful community program for mental health and profit by its experience," he said.

Stock Market Takes Another Tumble to New 1966 Low

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took another bruising tumble last week in a two-week slide that has carried it to successive new 1966 lows.

The fall wasn't as steep as the previous week's decline, which was the worst in more than four years, but it was one of the biggest of this year.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks plunged 24.96 points to 789.58, its lowest since 1962. This compares with a loss of 35.91 points last week.

The Associated Press 60-stock average fell 8.3 points to 250.1, also a new 1966 low. A week ago it was off 13.3 points, steepest since the week ended May 28, 1962.

The market now has declined in nine of the last 10 weeks. Wall Street was awash with pessimism. But most of the analysts weren't able to come up with any new reasons for the prolonged decline. They fell back on the old factors, such as worry over tight money, higher interest rates, the war in Viet Nam, the instability of the dollar and price controls, the likelihood of higher wage settlements and the weakness of the British pound.

Who is the market kidding when business continues to boom with the added spur of the war in Viet Nam?

L. O. Hooper, analyst for the brokerage firm, W. E. Hutton & Co., had this suggestion: "The market is in a state of panic. It is a fear of the declining profit margins rather than fear of a smaller volume of business which is worrying many company stock investors."

Prof. Hooper's argument is a good one, but it doesn't explain the tremendous labor pressure to raise wages during the next one to six months.

The market tried repeatedly to rally last week but failed. Only on Wednesday was it able to get into the plus column with the Dow Jones average ending 8.04 points and the AP average adding 3.4.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped through the psychologically important 800 level for the first time since Feb. 27, 1964. This was a blow to Wall Streeters who had been banking for a level of support in that area.

The Dow Jones now has plunged more than 200 points from its all-time high of 985.15, reached last Feb. 8.

Losses of 10 or more points were taken by a wide variety of issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

The five most active issues were:

Sperry Rand, off 2 1/2 at 28 1/2; Nat Video, down 1/2 at 78 1/2; American Telephone & Telegraph, down 1/2 at 54 1/2; Xerox Corp, down 1/2 at 74 1/2; and Gen Motors, down 1/2 at 71 1/2.

Adventurer Trys To Sail Globe

PLYMOUTH, England (AP) — Francis Chichester, 64, three times solo conqueror of the Atlantic, set today to try to sail around the globe in 200 days.

Cheering crowds waved goodbye as Chichester hoisted his flag on his ship, the Gipsy Moth IV, and headed out to sea, alone.

Chichester has set himself the formidable task of navigating nonstop in Australia, then back again via Cape Horn.

Chichester is 55 years old, married, and has four children. He is a member of the Royal Navy and has served in the Royal Naval Reserve for 25 years.

Errors Help

I.F. Defeat

Ogden 9-6

IDAHOO FALLS (AP) — Idaho Falls scored three unearned runs to win a wild game from Ogden 9-6 Saturday.

Two errors on Ogden catcher Mike Criswell were the key to Idaho Falls' final three runs. Bruce Christensen and Buddy Lawhorn singled. Then John Dickson walked to left. On the throw home Criswell dropped the ball, then threw wild to second trying to get Dickson and Lawhorn scored. Dickson went to third. Steve Schneider sent home Dickson with a sacrifice fly. Benoit Reamer tripled home two unearned Idaho Falls runs in the seventh.

Bob Harvey doubled home one Ogden run in a front-run. Al Stinson singled in another. All other Ogden runs came in on errors, passed balls, and wild pitches.

Bold Hour Is Winner of Hopeful Race

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Bold Hour, a front-running son of Bold Ruler owned by George D. Widener, spoiled the bid of the Wheatley stable's three-horse entry in the $107,700 Hopeful stakes at Saratoga race course Saturday, beating Mrs. H.C. Phipps' Great Power by 1 1/2 lengths.

Bold Hour, owned by jockey Johnny Betz, took the lead shortly after the start of the 6 1/2-furlong race winding up the Saratoga meeting, disposing of Mrs. Phipps' Discriminator within the first one-half mile and had enough left to turn back the stretch running Grand Power.

Great Power, with jockey Braulio Baeza seeking his third straight triumph in the race for a Phipps-owned juvenile, edged the favorite to the win by a narrow margin. He was aided by a slight price advance at the start of the week but declines still in again.

The sharp downward trend in corporate bond prices continued Saturday, with prices of U.S. government bonds declining and prices of foreign bonds rising.

Redlegs Take Twin Bill From Phillies

CINCINNATI (AP) — Deron Johnson's leadoff homer in the eighth inning gave Cincinnati an 8 1/2 second-game victory and a sweep of a day-night double-header with Philadelphia Saturday.

The Reds won the afternoon game, 4-3, behind a barrage of five homers.

Four hits by Pete Rose and three by Vada Pinson paced Cincinnati to a 7-2 lead in the second game, but the Phillies rallied for three runs in the eighth and two more in the ninth for a 7-7 tie.

Johnson's homer triggered the right-inning rally with a single, then beat out an infield single in the ninth, after John Briggs led off with a homer and scored the tying run on Dick Garry's pinch hit.

But Johnson wiped out the rallies by hitting a pitch from Ray Herbert over the left field fence in the bottom of the ninth.

In the two games, Pinson and Rose, each drove six hits and each drove in five runs.

Johnson's homer, which homered in the opener while Gordy Coleman, Dick Simpson and Don Pavlichich also connected.

Rich Allen belted two homers for Philadelphia.

Night Game — Phila. 100 002-7 13 0; Cin. 200 010-8 15 1.

Culp, Verbanic (6), Knowles (7), Herbert (8) and Dalrymple (9); McGee (9) and Goltz (9).

McCool, 8-8, 1-Herbert, 2-5.

Home runs — Philadelphia, White (20), Gonzalez (6), Briggs (3), Cincinnati, Pinson (13), Johnson (17).

Astros Rally In Ninth to Tip Cubs 5-4

HOUSTON (AP) — Chuck Harrison's run-scoring single in the ninth inning brought Houston to a 5-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday night.

Felix Mantilla started the ninth with a single but was forced at second. Sunny Jackson then sacrificed Joe Morgan to second, and Morgan stopped at third on Bob Aspromonte's infield single. Harrison followed with the winning single.

The Cubs tied the game 4-4 in the eighth inning. Ernie Banks' two-run homer capped the three-run rally that enabled Cub starter Dick Thelwell to avert his 20th defeat of the season. Chicago 000 010-4 11 0; Houston 010 002 10-5 11 0.

Tilwell, Church (7), Simmon (9) and Hundley (9); Raymond (9) and Heineman (9); Raymond, 7-5, L-Simmons, 5-4.

Home runs — Chicago, Banks (11), Houston, Harrison (7).

Treasure Valley Breezes Into 11-0 Victory Over Magic Valley

CALDWELL (AP) — The Treasure Valley Cubs collected 11 runs on nine hits to defeat the Magic Valley Cowboys Saturday night. The Cubs were paced by Jerry Szukala, who got two doubles, and triples by Elvatus Peters and Bob Owens. Treasure Valley used two pitchers, to five for the Cowboys. Jeff Brown went the first five innings for the Cubs, giving up only one single and collecting his third win of the season. He walked four and struck out two.

The Cubs' first three runs came in the first inning on Szukala's double and a two-run triple by Peters. They got another three in the second on an error, a wild pitch and a passed ball.

Magic Valley's Jay Reed continued his torrid salary drive by raising his batting average 16 points in one week, according to statistics released Sunday by William J. Weiss covering games through Aug. 22.

Reed's average was a healthy .307 in games through Aug. 14 and had a .323 mark on this week's list to pace the Cowboys.

Lloyd Christopher was next in line with a .299 and Bob Manning is listed at .286.

Wilson Joe (Buster) Herbert Jr. was the only Cowboy to come up with a league batting lead this week. He has the best bases on balls with 45 and is tied for the most strikeouts, 64.

Three Cowboy pitchers also have league leads, Bob DeLong, most losses, six; Rick Krolick, hit batsmen, 16, and Roy Johnson, most home runs allowed, eight.

Idaho Open Lead Held by Sparks; Cutler Tops Ams

PORTLAND (AP) — Nampa Pro Ken Sparks eagled the first hole Saturday and went on to a five-under-par 67 to take a two-stroke lead in the Idaho Open Golf Tournament with a 36-hole score of 139. John Lundahl of Idaho Falls carded a 70 for 141, leaving him in second place a stroke ahead of Terry Malan of Salt Lake City, who slipped to 142 with a 73 Saturday. The 54-hole tournament will conclude Sunday at Portcull Country Club.

Tom Rolfe Is Beaten by Bold Bidder

CHICAGO (AP)—Bold Bidder, a 21 underdog, closed with a rush to upset the odds-favored Tom Rolfe and captured the $109,200 Washington Park Handicap at Arlington Park Saturday before 27,365.

Powhatan Stable's Tom Rolfe, last year's 3-year-old champion, lagged far behind in the mile event and despite urging by veteran Bill Shoemaker could only make a futile try at the flying Bold Bidder, who won by 3 1/2 lengths in the brilliant time of 2:45.

Rolfe, trying for a come-back after a cracked hoof sidelined him earlier in the year, went off the 1-2 choice in the field of seven. Last year's champion, Bold Bidder, was the 21-1 underdog. He was owned by John R. Gaines of Louisville, Ky., and trained by the late Tom Rolfe, who was killed in a plane crash in 1958.

A photo was flashed for second but Tom Rolfe was given the runner-up spot, a head in front of the 6-year-old Tronador Fourth, a neck behind Tronador was the 17-1.

Bold Bidder, ridden by Peter Anderson and carrying 120 pounds, edged less than Tom Rolfe, returned $20.20, $4.40 and $2.20 while Tronador's show price was $3.40.

The crowd was hushed a short while when an inquiry was made as to a claim of foul by jockey Robert Baird on the Jr. claiming interference against Bold Bidder was disallowed.

Baird contended Bold Bidder crowded him at the final turn.

Braves Stop Mets 3-0 on Two-Hitter

ATLANTA (AP)—Rookie Dick Kelley pitched a two-hitter as the Atlanta Braves defeated the New York Mets 3-0 Saturday night.

Kelley retired the first nine he faced. Then Ron Hunt singled off Eddie Mathews' glove between third and short, and he reached base on a pair of errors by Kelley on Ed Bresnau's bunt. But Cleon Jones grounded back to Mathews, and Hunt was thrown out at the plate.

Kelley proceeded to retire the next 16 Mets in a row before striking out singled with two out in the ninth.

Rico Carty supported Kelley with a two-run homer in the fourth inning, and the Braves added a run in the fifth on a walk to Denis Menke and Felipe Alou's double.

Yanks Coast To 11-1 Win Over Detroit

NEW YORK (AP)—Clete Boyer's double and Jim Bouton's single each drove in two runs in a six-run sixth inning that spurred the New York Yankees to an 11-1 victory over Detroit Saturday night.

Bouton, 24, pitching his second complete game of the season, limited the Tigers to seven hits, one of them Dick McAuliffe's 17th home run of the season.

Steve Whitaker hit his second major-league homer in the second, a long fly to right-center that got past the outfielders and went for an inside-the-park homer. He doubled in another run in the seventh.

T.F. Squad Savors State Softball Title

OK Tire Store, Twin Falls, has a spot available to it in the national slowpitch softball tournament in Ohio after winning the Idaho title in Boise recently.

The team won seven games in the state tournament, losing to Tower Inn, Coeur d'Alene, 18-1 in the fourth game of the double-elimination affair but rebounding to come out of the loser's bracket to win it.

The champs played the last three games in succession and found vengeance by whipping Tower Inn 14-8 and 18-12 the first day. It polished off the first round by beating Tower Inn 23-6 before bowing to Tower Inn 8-5 and gain the finals against the Coeur d'Alene team.

OK's biggest inning was a 14-run frame at the expense of Moscow.

All New Miami to Meet Oakland In AFL Season Curtain-Raiser

By The Associated Press

The opening week's schedule unveils the new Miami Dolphins, shoves all four new coaches into the spotlight and provides a quick indication of the title capabilities of last year's champions.

The Dolphins, the league's first expansion team and ninth club, inaugurate the season Friday night, getting a one-week jump on the NFL with a three-game program spread over the entire weekend.

This year it's not only the AFL title that's up for grabs, but a shot at the NFL champion in the first Super Bowl — and a chance to prove what American League personnel has been saying for a couple of years: That AFL teams are as strong as National League clubs.

The scene shifts to Houston Saturday night with the improved Oilers, under new Coach Wally Lemm, taking on the same old Denver Broncos, minus the 900 yards represented by the ground gaining efforts of had-boy fullback, Cookie Gilchrist.

And then Sunday, it's the two-time champion Buffalo Bills, under new Coach Joe Collier, invading San Diego for a battle with the Western Division champion Chargers. The Bills won the title by defeating the Chargers 23-0 in last season's title clash.

Kansas City, New York and Boston all draw big games on the first weekend of action but will get off the starting mark the following week.

While many of the headlines will be the same — quarterback Joe Namath of the Jets, flanker Lance Alworth and halfback Paul Lowe of the Chargers, quarterback Jack Kemp of the Bills and halfback Clem Daniels of Oakland — numerous rookies also will be on display.

Palmer Fires 65 To Share Lead At Philadelphia

WHITEMARSH, Pa. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, who a year ago quit after two rounds and went home in disgust, charged to a seven-under-par 65 Saturday and tied Don January for the third round lead in the $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic. Palmer, who will be 37 in two weeks, unleashed one of his famed charges, ramming home seven birdie putts of from 2 to 25 feet.

Palmer Says He's in Need Of Vacation

WHITEMARSH, Pa. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, who is about two weeks short of his 37th birthday, is going to take a five-week vacation from golf.

He won't play competitively again until Oct. 6 when he goes to England for the world match play championship. Until then, he's going to swim, renew acquaintance with his wife, Winnie, and two daughters.

Palmer often has said that the pro golf tour is too long and tiresome.

Don January who shot a pair of 69s at $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic to share the second round lead Friday, pleaded complete exhaustion.

"I'm hushed," said the veteran Texas golfer. "After this I'm quitting for the year. I'll play only in a few television meets."

January said he has lost 15 pounds this summer.

Palmer said he still feels that 30 official PGA tournaments a year are enough.

"You can't play week after week without it affecting your game, especially when you get over 30."

At the U.S. Open at San Francisco in June, Palmer came apart in the final round and allowed Billy Casper to tie him although he was seven strokes ahead of the Californian with only nine holes to go.

The next day, in an 18-hole playoff, Palmer again faltered on the home nine and Casper won the title.

A week ago in the Insurance City Open near Hartford, Conn., Palmer posted a final round 77, the worst score to get on the board during the entire tournament.

Among the touted first-year men in the Eastern sector are Kentucky quarterback Rick Norton and Tennessee linebacker Frank Emanuel at Miami.

Linebacker Karl Singer of Purdue and Dick Arrington of Notre Dame at Boston, Arkansas halfback Bob Burnett at Buffalo, LSU tackle George Rice at Houston and Michigan tackle Bill Yearby and running back Emerson Booser of Maryland State at New York.

IN THIS VIEW the still uncompleted Interstate runs left to right with Highway 93, center, stretching out toward the north. The two bridges of the interchange which span Highway 93 are easily identified. Unlike many interchange entrances and exits which are "angled in" the entrances and exits of the Twin Falls interchange are practically at right angles. This interchange will bear the brunt of traffic leaving this area or leaving the interchange for Sun Valley and also for Twin Falls and points south. It is nearing completion. Former Resident Is in Middle of Action With New Army Gunsight

Donis A. Peterson is right in the middle of where the action is, and the latest "action gadget" may revolutionize the art of war. A former Twin Falls resident who grew up in this area and who was graduated from Twin Falls High School with the class of 1939, Peterson is now manager of army programs for the Sperry Utah Co., with headquarters in Salt Lake City. The latest action gadget, which he is associated with, is something out of a mystery thriller. It is a tracking gunsight which permits a helicopter pilot to train his weapons on a target merely by looking at it. Everytime the pilot moves his head or looks in a new direction, the helicopter's mounted guns automatically follow. From that time on all the pilot has to do is to push the firing button. Peterson is the son of Mrs. Deane Shipley, who now resides in Kimberly. Donis lives in Salt Lake City with his wife, a former Wyoming girl, and their four children. Following his graduation from the local high school, he attended school at Weber College, Ogden. (Continued on Page 23)

The small object through which he is looking — called a tracking gunsight — automatically trains machine guns on whatever target the pilot is looking at. If accepted for use it will be manufactured at the Salt Lake City plant. Peterson's mother is Mrs. Deane Shipley, Kimberly. (Sperry Utah photo)

For Better or Worse, Interstate Highway Nears Completion in Area

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor
It stretches just as far as one can see, and even further than that. It is in two parts and one goes that way and one comes this way.
It is the new Interstate Highway which is sprouting across this section of Idaho.
Through this entire section of Magic Valley it runs along the north side of the mighty Snake River Canyon.

When the initial pioneers plodded across this same area they chose to stay on the south side of the Snake River. It seemed to them to be the better trail, with a minimum of necessary hardships.

There are people today around these parts who still believe that the best place for the trail—or the Interstate Highway, for that matter—is on the south side of the Snake River. But, more than 100 years of what is termed progress, plus educated engineers instead of just weary, bleary-eyed pioneers who wanted only to get to the other end of the road, convinced some that the best place for a new road was north of the river, away from the population center of the valley.

There still are some who will argue this reasoning, but the road is nearing completion and it will stay where it is. The effect this decision will have on the business of the people who live to the south remains to be seen.

Putting the new Interstate up north had one good side effect. It resulted in construction of a new Hansen Bridge, designed to replace the one that has served since the horse and buggy days, an era for which it was intended.

There are doubts that a new bridge would have been constructed if the new highway had been south of the river. Some see the bridge as an "all day sucker for the kid who did not get the box of candy."

Perhaps it is, but it is a bridge. It is new and when it is dedicated and put into use in the near future it will be appreciated.

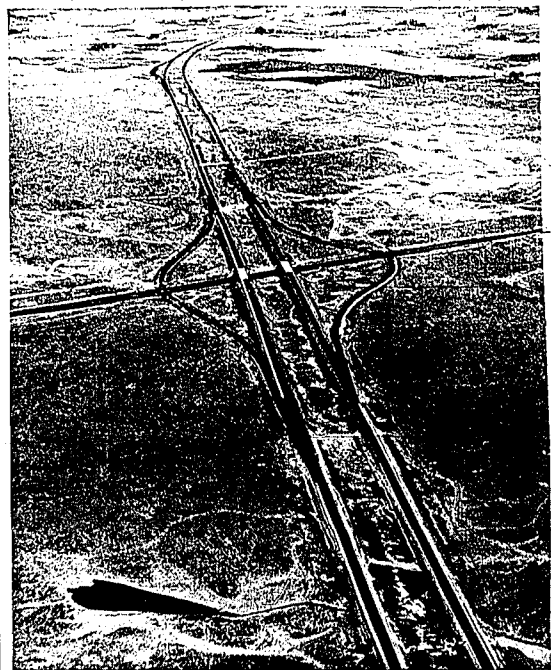

Another situation — intended or otherwise — has come to keep the highway pot boiling.

There are many who, after looking over the setup, declare the interchange between the Interstate and Highway 93 north of Twin Falls will be an accident trap.

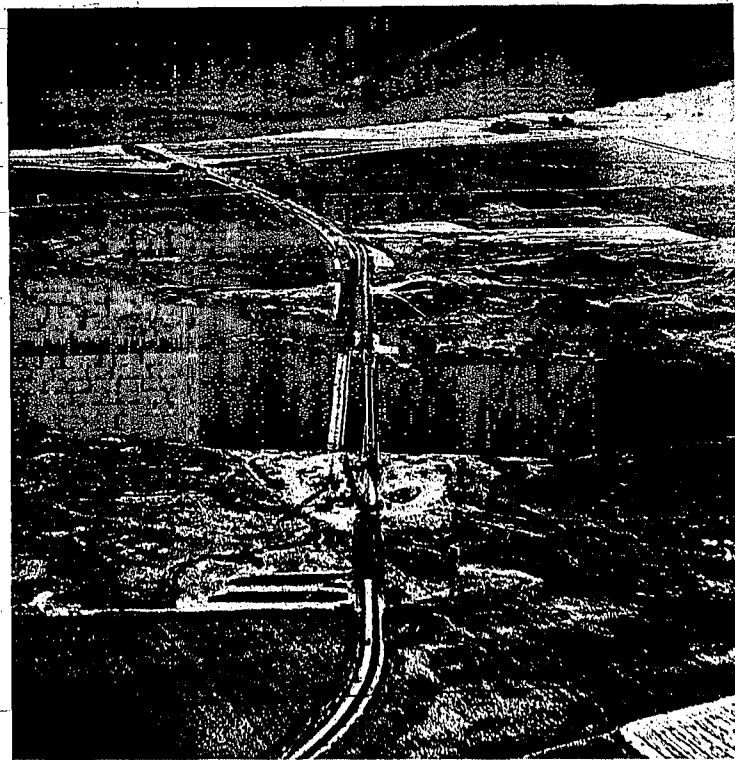

While practically all interchanges fed traffic in or out of arterial highways by means of sweeping, curving roads sometimes termed "cloverleaves," the interchange north of Twin Falls will take the traffic out of and into Highway 93 at practically right angles.

That this particular interchange will be one of the most widely used because of those motorists leaving the Interstate to go north to Sun Valley or south to Twin Falls and Nevada, is a foregone conclusion. Those who brought up the so-called "mistake" in traffic control declare it will not be a safe interchange. They say the entry pattern will force motorists leaving Highway 93 to slow down to a snail's pace, thus impeding traffic while they prepare to leave the roadway at a right angle. Motorists emerging from the Interstate, they declare, will break into Highway 93 traffic in a broadside position. Meanwhile work on the Interstate (Continued on Page 21)

RIGHT ANGLE ENTRANCE and exit roadways are graphically shown in this aerial view of the interchange with Highway 93 north of Twin Falls. Traffic entering Highway 93 or leaving it by means of these roads would create a hazard to all motorists, many who have viewed the construction declare. This view is looking toward the west. Highway 93 runs from left to right with Twin Falls (south) toward the left. (Times-News aerial photo)

THIS PICTURE of the old and new Hansen bridges side by side may someday become a collector's item. In the not too far distant future the old bridge, on the right, will be dismantled, leaving only the new structure spanning the Snake River Canyon. At the present time there is no connecting road on the south side to the new bridge. The wing of the plan from which the picture was taken frames the scene looking toward the north. Construction of the new bridge was sparked because of work on the nearby Interstate highway which skirts the Eden-Hazell area on the north side of the canyon. The original Hansen suspension bridge was built for horse and buggy traffic. (Times-News aerial photo)

Ruble Worth Little Outside Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is finding it expensive to be poor in the kind of money used by other countries. The cost of not being able to pay hard cash is likely to be some $200 million in interest charges on a new automobile factory.

This powerful, productive country has plenty of rubles. But the ruble, like any other country's currency, is only as good outside the Soviet Union as the items of international value which it represents.

The Soviet Union does not produce enough goods for sale abroad or dig enough gold to pay for all it wants to import. So it is poor in the foreign exchange of the international market.

Efforts are being made to produce better goods that will sell well abroad, and to lure more dollar-spending tourists here. These are slow to pay off. A city is being built in Soviet central Asia to work what the Russians claim is one of the world's largest gold deposits, recently found in the Kyzyl Kum Desert. Older gold workings in Siberia did not yield well.

Other steps to improve the Soviet financial position include attempts to improve Russian agriculture.

Shen a 1983 crop failure, the Soviet Union has spent or contracted to spend $2.8 billion on wheat imports. This is the most pressing current factor in the cash shortage.

It is the main explanation for Soviet inability to pay cash on delivery for equipment to establish a new car factory. A contract signed last week with Italy's Fiat Co. is for a plant to produce 600,000 cars a year.

Fiat has given the Soviet Union a 10-year credit on approximately $300-million worth of equipment it will supply. Other companies are expected to add some $200 million of equipment in total foreign purchases for the plant.

Details of the arrangements have not been published but it is understood the Soviet Union will pay about 6 per cent interest. How much the interest charges will be depends upon when repayment begins and how fast it is. An informed source says the interest on the entire $500 million of equipment at $200 million or more.

Capitalist businessmen borrow money at interest because they can earn enough profits with it to cover the interest cost. It seems unlikely the Soviet Union will earn much hard cash from the Fiat plant. It will produce primarily for ruble sales. The Russians have cut back other imports, both Britain and France are unhappy that the Soviet Union has not carried out promises to buy as much from them as they buy here.

T.F. Couple Grow Dahlias For Own Use

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harlund Monroe grow close to 175 different varieties of dahlias in their garden during the summer. Although they are not grown for commercial use, the Monroes derive great pleasure out of growing and seeing the finished product. Monroe said the plants are fairly easy to grow, since the dahlias are planted as roots and not as seeds. But, he muses, they aren't the easiest flower in the world to grow either. Monroe noted the roots have come from such places as Japan, Australia, Holland, Belgium, England and other places that are famed for beautiful flowers. Some of the flowers in the garden this year were just seedlings from Holland last year. The Monroes plan to exhibit the flowers in the local fair this year, as they have done in a number of past years. Monroe added, "Growers in the U.S. are beginning to raise better dahlias than in foreign countries, especially in California."

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Unable to believe their eyes, a group of RICHFIELD people nevertheless took after a cinnamon brown bear about 11:30 a.m. on a recent Sunday after it was sighted by Lester Ward in his orchard three and one fourth miles north of Richfield. Ward called his wife who telephoned their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Everett Ward, three fourths of a mile north of the ranch. Mrs. Ward telephoned her son Everett Lee Ward Jr., working at the Texaco station, and he drove to meet her at his parents' ranch. The bear had been trying to climb an apple tree when first sighted, but jumped from the tree over a fence to get to the north state road when the Wards arrived. It ran through a wheat field down to the old Riley ranch now owned by Bruce Sorenson. There Blair Sorenson joined Mrs. Everett Ward, and her two sons, Everett Lee Jr., and Scott. At one time Scott took a shot at the bear with a pistol while it stood up and looked them over, but the shot missed. The two older boys, Blair and Everett Lee, Jr., both 16, were able to keep trying to follow the bear by foot while Mrs. Ward drove on nearby roads. At one time the boys lost sight of the bear and searched the Riley place, later finding out the bear had traveled much faster and farther than thought possible. Cattle running in a pasture at the Ray Appell ranch led the two youths there where the bear was seen running toward a sow and pigs. Seeing the boys, the bear veered to the north again running up and down a fence line to try to get through. There Blair shot it first with a .30-06 rifle, wounding it in both front legs. The next shot caught it in the neck. The bear was in Appell's hog yard again by that time. The group loaded the animal, estimated to be about five feet high standing up, into Mrs. Ward's car trunk. Doubting if many would believe their tale, they took the bear to town to prove "seeing is believing."

Two Richfield men, who saw the bear just before the Everetts arrived, started chasing it. They were McKinley Proctor and Eugene Faddis. Seeing the bear in Lester Ward's orchard, they drove to Proctor's ranch for a gun and came back about the time the bear was running near the cattle. Wondering why the bear was so far from its natural habitat, Mrs. Everett Ward talked to a local trapper and wildlife authority, Leslie Bushby. He thought the animal, a half-grown yearling, could have become separated from its mother, who possibly had been killed and was looking for food due to frost-killed berries in the mountains, or was shoved this way by forest fires. The bear was well on the thin side, indicating a long travel as well as scarcity of food. This is the first bear residents can recall hearing about near Richfield.

addressed, spoke with great feeling of the early exchanges of letters which occurred during the post-war period of World War II. Shirley's friendly letters, along with CARE packages, she sent, were bright points in a depressing condition. Gisela carries no hard feelings about this period. "This was life, we must accept it as it was," she replied when questioned. When asked why such an attractive girl chose veterinary medicine, she stated simply, "I like animals. I wanted to study zoology, but microscopic animals are too small; I like those I can hold." (She has a tortoise and two white rats as pets.) Miss Schott attended the Free University of Berlin. It was so named because its founders from the University of Berlin who fled Russian political pressure. She expressed much appreciation for American help in the establishment of this new University. After four and a half years of schooling and six months internship, she was allowed to take the State Examination to practice veterinary medicine. This enabled her to accept employment at the Institute of Parasitology in Berlin, meeting both the practical and the written requirements for the doctorate which was granted her by the institute in 1957. Dr. Schott, with her employment in the Research Department of Lepetit Pharmaceutical Company in Milan, Italy, is also able to work with her second language—German. Besides her native German, she speaks French, Italian and English. "English," she says, "is a very important world language. Not only are school children required to learn it, but most tours of our plant are conducted in English." The Timmons family granted her wish to see the country as Mrs. Timmons, the four boys, and their guest, traveled to Grassy Lake, Wyo., where they met Timmons. The group spent a week touring Yellowstone Park and the surrounding area. Gisela's eyes shone with excitement as she spoke of the animals seen in the park. "And the grandeur of the Tetons," she said, "is equal to that of the Alps." Local points of interest visited included City of Rocks, Lake Cleveland, and Craters of the Moon. Because of Dr. Schott's interest in life around her, stops were also made at Dutson's Beaver Farm, Merrill's Hatchery and Valley Livestock Commission Co. Upon hearing the auctioneers

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

First question of the week is by the Grace of God, Faithful from Mrs. A. S., Hansen: She asks about the value of "Silver Certificates". This is, I think, the most often repeated of all questions, and I have answered it many times. Silver Certificates have no more value than any other "paper" money, except

(1) If they are in crisp, new condition and (2) only if they are in the scarce series—such as the 1928 series, the 1934, and possibly the early 1935's. Late Silver Certificates were made by the millions, and saved by many people—hence, their value as collectors' items is negligible. From N. D., Twin Falls: "I have a big, copper coin that has a man's head on one side with the printed words: 'George V Del. Gray. Brit. Om. Rex. Fid. Ind. Imp.' On the other side it has a lady sitting with a three line long handle, and around it the words 'God Save the Queen' dated from 1912. What kind of penny is it and is it of any value?"

Answer: This is the regular issue of British penny. The words around the head of George V (the present queen's grandfather) read: George V R. E. D. I. M. P. A visit to the Cassia County Fair and Rodeo and points of interest in Salt Lake City concluded her western visit. There is the usual joking about Shirley's turn to visit Italy; but with a pleasant smile, Gisela says, "I'll come again, for the place to go is Idaho."

Answer: Your first coin is the standard issue 50-cent piece of the United States mintage of the period. The San Francisco mintage is the scarcest of the three of that year (also struck in Philadelphia and New Orleans) and is worth considerably more than either of the others. (The "S" on your coin signifies San Francisco). Depending on condition, your coin is worth from $2 up to $10.75, and more, if in better condition.

The other "coin" is not a coin, but a medal, struck for the Trans-Mississippi Exposition which was held in Omaha, Nebraska, in 1898. This exposition was plagued by a series of misadventures—among them hard times and drought, but turned out to be one of the best-paying of exhibitions of the times. These medals were struck on mint dies, and the obverse (head of woman) was designed by T. R. Kimball, of Omaha, and supposed to represent a composite picture of the most beautiful woman in the Trans-Mississippi country. About 25,000 of these medals were sold. They were struck in silver, bronze, brass and copper.

The hole has been drilled in your specimen since its issue, as it was not standard with the medal. Value is negligible, since there are not a great many medal collectors in comparison to coin collectors—and of course, the hole reduces the value.

From Mrs. M. F. C., Buhl, Idaho, we have recording another merchant's token which we have not seen. Our thanks to her—and we are still searching for tokens (hickies) from Hansen, Murtaugh, Declo, Albion and Hagerman. If you have any of these, or have knowledge of them, please let us know. The column will trade one Indian Head Cent (1900 and up) for each hickey you might care to dispose of.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT . . .

Dale P. Patterson Is Only Jaycee to Gain High Award in First Year Here

Dale P. Patterson is the only resident of Twin Falls who received the distinguished service award of the Jaycees after having resided in the community for only a little over a year.

Patterson, who came to Twin Falls from Payette, arrived in town on Sept. 1, 1964, and it was just about a year later that he was tapped for the coveted award, given to the community's outstanding young man.

Patterson, who is co-owner, with William J. Boyd, of Twin Falls Mortuary, is considered the "father" of the successful Junior Achievement Program sponsored by the Jaycees.

This program makes it possible for young people to gain experience in business by actually operating and participating in one on a profit or loss basis. Patterson was manager of the local program when it got off the ground a couple of years ago.

He was born in Roy, Utah, on Oct. 25, 1933, and at the age of 11 moved with his parents to Adrian, Ore. He took his early schooling there, graduating from the Adrian High School in 1951.

Three days after graduation he entered the Navy and served as a hospital corpsman aboard ship during the Korean War. After his discharge in 1954 he decided to enter the mortician profession and started as an apprentice in Caldwell.

In September, 1956, he entered the San Francisco College of Mortuary Science and, after graduation, returned to Idaho where he passed required tests as an embalmer and funeral director.

After being in Payette for a period of six years, he and his family moved to Twin Falls. On Nov. 3, 1954, he married Arlene Christensen, Caldwell. They have three children, all students at Washington School. Dalene is 11, Kelly is 8 and Brad is nearing 7. The family resides at 219 7th Ave. N.

Patterson started his volunteer community work as a member of the Jaycees when he turned 21.

"I guess it just became a habit after that time, because I have been at it ever since," he said. "It is a grand organization for young men and offers leadership development for all members."

In Twin Falls, however, he does not limit his activities to Jaycee projects. He is vice president of the Twin Falls Exchange Club and has completed a term as secretary-treasurer of the organization. He is also a member of the local Elks Lodge and a member and active in 100% Lodge No. 23, also of Twin Falls.

He is also a member of the board and blood procurement chairman of the local Red Cross.

He must have a weight slip with him. Drawbar height must be a maximum of 20 inches from the ground. No dual tires will be allowed, and tire pressure must be at least 14 pounds.

All minors participating in the competition must have the written consent of their parents. Clude Preuss is chairman for the event and anyone desiring to enter is asked to contact him.

Regulations Given for Tractor Meet

RUPERT — Regulations and divisions for the annual tractor pulling contest to be held in conjunction with the county fair Sept. 1-3 are announced.

The contest will be held at 8 p.m., Sept. 2, at the county fairgrounds and is open to all farm-owned tractors equipped with rubber tires.

Classes for the different entries will be Class A, light weight, up to 4,500 pounds; Class B, intermediate weight, 4,500 to 5,500 pounds; Class C, medium weight, 5,500 to 6,500 pounds; Class D, heavy weight, 6,500 to 8,500 pounds, and Class E, free for all with no weight limit.

All tractors must be weighed with driver and the contestant

New Gunsight Puts Graduate Of Local School in Spotlight

He served with the 14th Air Force in the China Theater of operations and after the war was, for awhile, a flight instructor before joining Boeing in Seattle. From Boeing he went to his present executive position with the Sperry Utah Co., a scientific concern engaged in many fields.

The tracking gunsight was developed at a cost of more than $500,000. It is now being tested by the army and recent accuracy tests showed that it resulted in machine guns hitting the bull's-eye while moving at more than 100 miles an hour.

Known as the Viper Fire-1, the device will undergo further testing next month at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland. If accepted by the army it will be manufactured at the Salt Lake City plant.

Peterson points out that the weapon works through a small lens, and it was at that time that he enlisted for duty in World War II.

The helmet is linked electrically and mechanically to the helicopter's guns through a special miniature computer. When the sight is lined up to match the guns, it is locked into place and the guns follow each movement after that time.

Tests have shown that the linkage does not disturb the pilot's head movements and can be sighted with both eyes open. It can be easily disconnected if it becomes necessary to abandon the aircraft.

As a result of the system, Peterson points out, the first rounds fired are on target. It is not necessary to correct by estimating misses.

Sperry Utah Co. engineers also are studying a more sophisticated version of the gunsight which could be used by pilots flying jet aircraft.

Cutthroat Trout Make Comeback in Priest Lake After Special Program

By JACK McNEEL

Idaho Fish-Game Department BOISE—Cutthroat trout, a native species which for years has been a rarity in many Idaho waters, is making a comeback to Priest Lake.

Cutthroat are wilderness fish which do not adjust easily to the incursions of civilization or competition from other fish species as well as many of our other game fish have done. The result has been a slow decline in quality cutthroat fishing in many waters.

Priest Lake, located at the extreme tip of Idaho's panhandle, was selected to receive an intensive cutthroat rest establishment study. In 1964 the Idaho Fish and Game Department hired a fisheries biologist to stay at the lake to direct the many-faceted study.

The year 1964 marked the initial portion of the program with funds made available from the Idaho Fish and Game Department's accelerated Five Point Program. Refinements have since been added to the already complex study.

Incubation channels have been constructed on two of the larger tributary streams: Kallispell Creek on the west side of the lake, and Hunt Creek on the east side. The channels are constructed so that water can be diverted from the streams through the channels. Graded gravel lines the channels, and cutthroat eggs in the "eyed" stage are put in the gravel.

With a minimum of care these eggs should hatch about 30 days after being placed in the gravel. The channels are placed near the mouth of the streams so that the young fish will soon migrate to the lake where growth is much faster than in the stream.

The advantage gained by this early return to the lake could be significant when it is understood that fish spawned in these streams normally remain in the stream two or three years before entering the lake.

Another phase of the study involves the release of fingerling cutthroat trout in Upper Priest Lake. The lake is connected to the main Priest Lake by a mile long slow moving river known as the Thoroughfare. The Upper Lake has received considerable attention recently due to national legislation designed to keep the lake in its natural state with no buildings or roads permitted. The past three years have seen a total of 623,000 fingerling cutthroat released in the Upper Priest Lake. The release itself requires considerable work and coordination. It requires three trucks two or three days to transport the fish from the Sandpoint hatchery to Camp No. 9 at the northeast tip of Priest Lake.

At this point, the fish are transferred to boats furnished by members of the Priest Lake Sportsman's Association. The boats travel through the Thoroughfare to the Upper Lake where the fish are released. About a dozen boats are involved for the two or three-day period to move this tremendous number of fish.

Nearly 10 per cent of the cutthroat have been marked with a fin clip. In 1964 the right ventral fin was clipped off, and in 1965 the left ventral fin, and in 1966 the adipose fin. Fishermen are urged to inform the Fish and Game Department. Information needed includes which fin is missing, length of fish and weight of fish, if known.

Sportsmen are now beginning to reap the benefits of this program. Where cutthroat trout were something of a rarity in the creel five or six years ago, they are now furnishing a sizeable portion of the bag. A thorough creel census study is being carried out on the lake to determine just how many fish of each species are being taken.

Bangkok Has Boom From Viet Nam War

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Thanks to the war in nearby Viet Nam, Bangkok is hustling, bustling and booming as never before.

American GIs, officials and tourists are dropping a shower of dollar into eager Thai palms, thus financing unprecedented prosperity in this capital.

Inevitably, this is introducing a new, racy tempo that threatens to push into the background what some Thais regard as their elegant and romantic culture.

The best hotels still can call the Fine Arts School for classical performers who demonstrate the graceful, hand-waving dances of old Siam for suitably appreciative American tourists.

But out on the streets, where the buck is chased with fervor by a new generation of Thais, neon signs light the way to hundreds of bars, honky-tonks and what are known here as "steam baths and massage parlors."

Exotic Siam? Not at all. It's "Miss Tomoko, exotic dancer from Japan," or Anita Barce, "torch singer."

Anita and scores like her are belting out the latest hit tunes in places with names calculated to give a nostalgic beat to the toughest GI heart—San Francisco Bar, Duffy's Tavern, Playboy's Bar.

The besom, once of no special erotic interest in Asia, is the central theme of movie and night-club advertising that promises an entertaining, if not relaxing, stay in Bangkok.

About 32,000 American servicemen stationed in Viet Nam hit Bangkok on rest and recuperation leaves in the first seven months of this year.

This means hundreds of thousands of dollars monthly for Bangkok, which hasn't seen that kind of quick money in all the years since Kublai Khan's forces ran wild in China's Yangtze Valley in the 1200s and sent refugees fleeing southward to settle present-day Thailand.

MIXING PLANT equipment pours out smoke which hugs the ground as it spreads westward. The mix plant is east of the Eden-Hazleton area and heavy trucks shuttle back and forth with the mix to the areas where construction of the interstate is being rushed. The interchange in this area will skirt Jerome, Eden, Hazelton, Burley and Rupert. It misses Twin Falls by several miles.

One interchange on Highway 83 north of Twin Falls and another north of the new Hansen Bridge are expected to serve traffic crossing from the north side of the Snake River Canyon, where the interchange is located, to the south side where the communities of Buhl, Filer, Twin Falls, Kimberly and Hansen are located. (Times-News aerial photo)

For Better or Worse, New Interstate Highway Nears Completion in Area

Two lanes wide and there are two ribbons. Two lanes will carry traffic in one direction and two in the opposite direction. There is plenty of space between the two to keep the road hogs apart.

DRIED ARRANGEMENTS: can make your own, starting out with pasteurized store vinegar as the basis. Pasteurization stops the mother-forming bacteria. You can use white or red wine vinegars, elder or other fruit vinegars, white or distilled vinegars made by acetic fermentation of dilute distilled alcohol.

Herb vinegars may be made in many varieties and combinations. The basic vinegar is infused with herbs, seeds, petals of flowers, and seasonings for from two to four weeks. After in many varieties and combinations. The basic vinegar is infused with herbs, seeds, petals of flowers, and seasonings for from two to four weeks. After Another good item to collect is the Poe Geo hydrangea blossom, which should be brought indoors in early September before flowers get too large, and while the pink and green color is at its best. After frost, the color changes to a muddy brown or beige. All hydrangeas should be hung upside down and dried in an airy place.

Milkweed pods are useful, too. Cut the pods while still green. Start at the top and pull the outer layer off, open the pod and remove the silk. This will give you a beautiful pod that needs no painting. It dries beautifully. Dried pods color well if tinted, and are ideal for indoor arrangements.

Here's a neat trick to use dipping pods, cones, etc. First, fill a basin with water, and over the water pour a thin film of paint, color of your choice, whether it's aluminum, gold, red or white. This serves two purposes: You don't need a great deal of paint and water helps to spread the paint more evenly.

Next, dip the pods through the thin film of paint (which is resting on the surface of the water), then dry the materials after dipping. It works fine, saves you a lot of paint.

CARROTS: This has been a good year for carrots, home gardeners tell me. Here's a good recipe for using surplus crop, sent to me by a reader. Wash the tender carrots, do not scrape or peel. Toss whole or sliced on diagonally with olive oil, baking pan with close-fitting cover.

Cover generously with chips of butter, sprinkle with an amount of salt to taste. If carrots were not dripping wet, salt and fresh ground pepper. Put in oven about 35 or 45 minutes. Carrots will shrink, allow twice as much as you think adequate. Flavor is guaranteed to convert anyone to carrots!

TORNADO FLOWERS: If your dahlia blossoms open only half way, this is the work of the tarnished plant bug. It attacks the tissues and causes only part of the flowers to open.

CONFIRMED: Spray the blossoms and buds with Sevin or DDT, or even malathion and this will prevent further damage. Nothing can be done for the blossoms which already opened part way, but by keeping the new ones protected, you can prevent tarnished plant bug injury.

The construction calls for limited access. That means crossroads will be few and far between, and mostly those which do cross over will go over, or under, the interstate.

The road project is the biggest building boom in the state and has been just that ever since construction started. When completed it will cut a lot of time off the total trip minutes from, say, Twin Falls to Boise or to Pocatello or to Idaho Falls.

It will cut off so much time tightly and let it stand a few days until the moisture has had time to penetrate the kernels. Do you know why popcorn pops? It's due to a sudden liberation of steam by pressure. Moisture inside the kernel turns to steam, and when enough steam is generated, the hard kernel walls break, and that's what the popping is.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. R. of Twin Falls: "Recently we had a speaker who discussed watering plants. He suggested that tomatoes, roses and other plants should not be watered by irrigation overhead because of the chances for spreading disease. Some members of our club said that they watered the leaves of their evergreens, tomatoes and other plants. Please tell us what you think."

By spraying the foliage of plants you do increase the chances for spreading diseases, especially at night. Some plants are more susceptible to leaf spot diseases, and if the nights are cool and the leaves are wet, chances are good for leaf spot disease spreading.

Home gardeners who want to foliage feed their plants can do so early in the morning so that plants can have a chance to dry off before cool nights set in. Many gardeners put overhead sprinklers on their tomatoes and other plants without encountering any disease problem, but a safer way to water would be to apply a soaker near the roots.

Certain "hard leaved" plants such as evergreens can have plenty of sprinklings and benefit from them without fear of spreading diseases, but such plants as roses, tomatoes, lettuce and others are apt to be troubled with various foliage diseases if sprinkled with water.

RIFLES DISCOVERED ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — Belgian police on a docket to search for stolen whisky reported they found instead 250 Czech-made rifles in 25 crates marked "containing spare parts for water pumps. by average automobile that officials of West Coast Airlines have admitted (on the side) it will mean a decrease in business between Twin Falls and Boise. It will be faster, they say, to drive from your home to downtown Boise than from your house to the Twin Falls airport, fly to the Boise airport, and drive to downtown Boise.

What the new ribbons of composition material which stretch from here to there will do for or against Magic Valley business remains to be seen. The road is close to Jerome, Burley and Rupert, but some distance from Twin Falls.

Whether scooting motorists will pull off the interstate to visit these communities remains to be seen. You can hear "conclusive" opinions on either side.

One thing is certain. Tourist business will not remain as it is when the highway is completed. It will get worse or better, not remain constant. Local residents probably will not change their shopping habits.

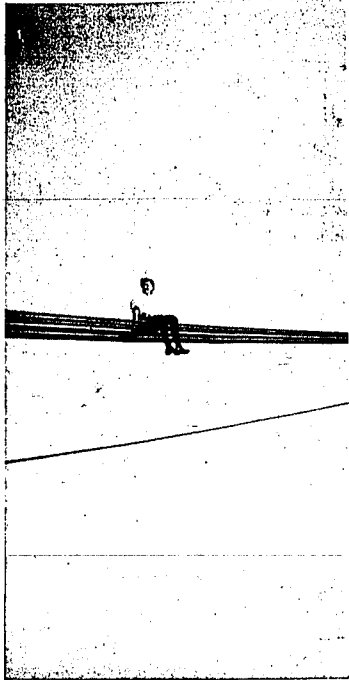

That is, as one fellow was heard to say, unless they realize they will be able to drive to Pocatello or Boise from this area in just about the same time it takes to get from Buhl to Burley on present Highway and low bushes of blueberries are known as Vaccinium, whereas the real huckleberry plant is called Gaylussacia. In simpler terms, huckleberries have 10 penny seeds in each berry, whereas blueberries have small softer seeds. What difference does it make whether you pick huckleberries or blueberries? They're both delicious.

B. N. of Buhl: "Three years ago we planted four rhododendrons. They did fine, until this year when one of them has started to wilt. It's not due to dry weather as they've all been watered. Can it be saved?"

Newly planted rhododendrons sometimes never come through the shock of transplanting and will wilt, as yours has. This is due to a fungus disease and there's no control once it sets in. Dig up the plant and burn it. Avoid planting another one in the same spot.

RIFLES DISCOVERED ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — Belgian police on a docket to search for stolen whisky reported they found instead 250 Czech-made rifles in 25 crates marked "containing spare parts for water pumps. SHORTLY AFTER construction of the old Hansen Bridge, Cecil Hartwell, whose mother is Mrs. Lulu H. Lough, Route 2, Buhl, climbed up on the great steel strands to have his picture taken. This feat will be impossible on the new structure because of a different type construction. The picture was taken by Mrs. Lough.

and wait for something to happen. Pioneer wagons were lucky to average 10 miles a day, yet those who rode in them or walked beside them built an empire.

Just think what could be built at about 600 miles a driving day!

Air Pollution Extends Potentially Over Every Town in United States

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Writer

The left-overs of yesterday's living become a rusty, functional canopy in today's sky—hanging on a whim of the air.

The acid gas rises and falls like a malevolent ghost, and plagues the eyes, the noses, throats and lungs of a city. How many of its creators it kills, and how many it only sickens, no one knows.

In Chicago alone, a million automobiles and 50,000 troublesome smokestacks manufacture their own ghost, puff by noxious puff. In Los Angeles, despite stringent controls, 3½ million cars burn seven million gallons of gasoline a day, and push more than 10,000 tons of exhaust gases into the air.

But air pollution is a broad-shouldered horror, and it extends potentially over every town in America, in some of the most unlikely places.

It rolls across high valleys in Montana, over a sunbaked city in Arizona, along a river plain in Kansas, over the mile-high plateau of Denver, down into the crevices of New York's tight little island, through the narrow streets of New Orleans, and even in Chicago, a supposedly windy city on Lake Michigan.

It is born of the American people's great modern need for energy to do what have been superhuman tasks: an automobile to travel 15 miles to work and back, electricity to run a world on heat in winter, cool air in summer, a thousand circling industries to produce goods near enough to be cheap enough to buy, and the inevitable garbage truck to take away even this modern world comes in.

And all of it takes fuel. And fuel makes smoke. And smoke is the name of the air pollution game—smoke and its silent compeller, weather, one silent force man can't control.

London, England, gave smog its name from the smoke of coal fires and fog. Smog paid brief visits to the United States, to steel-making Pittsburgh, and to winter clogged the air.

But smog found its American home in the least likely of places—a white, sparkling wideopen city on the West Coast. Los Angeles had small hints before, but on Sept. 8, 1943, it got its first real taste of the haze that was to make it the smog capital of the world.

The Los Angeles basin was filling with war industry and new people. Then suddenly came the gray cloud, and everyone was coughing, sneezing, crying and choking within it. The moment had come. The smog, trash, and a weather condition that hadn't mattered much before, combined to choke the city.

Yet few people then could guess that the pall would spread across the nation.

Few would have predicted that 22 years later the President of the United States would label air pollution a major problem costing the nation $1 billion a month, that Congress would pass a Clean Air Act, that the auto industry would be ordered to equip all new models with exhaust control devices.

The problem—born of prosperity—has come to pass. The questions now is, how far will it go?

Air pollution has such a head start that it is hard to catch up with it.

A mayor of Pittsburgh remembers that in 1940 his city had a dust-fall of 60 tons a square mile. By 1960, controls had cut it to 35 tons. By 1970, it should be down to 20 tons. Progress? Yes. But the heat that could be done in the Steel City over 24 years was to cut the dust fall by two-thirds. And what of other pollution problems—hydrocarbons, sulfur dioxide and other noxious chemicals. By best estimates, the United States pollutes its one quadrillion tons of air with over 130 million tons of smoky chemicals each year.

What does it do to the nation's health? Perhaps no one can say for sure. But there is a sudden increase in asthma cases at major New York City hospitals in the month of September, coincident with cold weather and home heating.

There is a rash of asthma cases in New Orleans when winds bring in the smoke from trash burning outside the city. And some experts point to the London smog attacks of 1952 and 1962, the first claiming in some 4,000 lives, the second some 400.

And there was the Pennsylvania town of Donora, where thousands became ill and 17 died in the smog from industry that weather bottled up in the valley. Some experts think that the concentration of carbon monoxide around highways is so heavy at times that it actually causes accident, dragging drivers into making mistakes.

But the automobile also adds of nitrogen into the air, and these are transformed by ultraviolet light from the sun into ultra-violet gases that irritate the eye and bedevil the nose and throat. They call it Los Angeles-type smog.

Yet each city, each state, has its own air pollution recipe, determined not only by how many smokestacks, but by how much of different kinds of fuels are burned.

Los Angeles, considered to have the best air pollution control program in the nation, has eliminated coal burning as a pollution problem, and would like to reduce pollution from oil burning still farther. It wants to burn more natural gas. But, sadly, there isn't enough natural gas to go around.

One of the least likely places you would expect to find smog problems is in the grandeur of the Rocky Mountains. Yet the city of Denver is going through the painful realization that a booming population, more cars, and more industry means more smoke.

At times, the smog ceiling settles so low that the tops of the city's skyscrapers rise like the nearby Rockies out of dismal pools of smoke. Smog's meteorological accomplice is called a temperature inversion. Normally the air decreases in temperature and density with altitude. Smoke normally rides its way toward the sky, but in the atmosphere and being blown away. But not in a temperature inversion.

Temperature inversions generally happen two ways. Sometimes a warm front moves in over static cooler air. Some- times, on a quiet, clear fall night, the ground radiates its heat skyward and cools the air at a low level, while warm air prevails above.

Whichever the case, few places are immune. Some have suggested, only some in jest, that big blowers be built to shove the smog out of the Los Angeles basin. But air pollution control chief J. Smith Griswold says it would take the power of five Boulder Dams to move the air just one mile in one hour. "And if the good Lord wants to move it in the other direction, you have a losing game on your hands."

But if air pollution is a national problem, it is one with only local manifestations, local solutions. One of the most effective city programs being developed is Chicago's—110 people and a computer in a systematic attack on pollution problems.

The city has devised new ideas to spy on its immediate sky. Unmanned, automated stations—like a flock of urban satellites—sit atop city buildings and beep back to air pollution control headquarters readings on the city's air. The city is putting remote control television cameras at vantage points to keep an aerial view on the city's smokestacks.

The computer records all this, and keeps tabs on reports from men in the field, making annual inspections and reporting violations of a tight city pollution control code.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, August 28 — Born today, you are, even though you may be young, inclined to be set in your ways, finding it difficult to adapt yourself to change. Oddly enough, this characteristic is apt to be more pronounced when it comes to small things than when large matters are the issue. You would find it easier, for instance, to change your whole line of work than to change merely the way in which you go about your present work. You would, in short, find it easier to move to another country than to another county.

The same thing that makes you resist change also makes you a true and loyal friend—for just as you dislike giving up old ways for new, so you dislike losing old friends, and find it extremely difficult to replace them satisfactorily with new ones. Determined to do things your own way for as long as possible, you are also determined to hang on to your old friends until absolute necessity dictates otherwise.

You have what amounts to a passion for the past, and perhaps your most persevering mood is one of nostalgia. For this reason, you are a saver—of pictures, letters, trinkets—in-

Information Booth Draws Much Interest

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce tourist booth, open for 62 days this year, provided travel information for 1,873 tourists from 47 states and nine foreign countries during the summer.

No tourists from Mississippi, Rhode Island and New Hampshire stopped at the booth. Six hundred and ninety-six travelers were from California.

The booth was operated by Walter Betcke. Members of the Twin Falls Jay-C-Ettes and the Garden Club manned the booth on Betcke's day off.

Ray Rostrom, Chamber of Commerce manager, estimated that one third of the tourists who stopped to see the Perrine Bridge visited the booth.

"Many of the tourists commented favorably on the operation of the booth," Rostrom said.

Gil Peterson Starts Out As Big Star

By HOWARD C. HEYN
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gil Peterson is a young man lucky enough to start his movie career as a star and smart enough to safeguard himself against failure.

His secondary vocation is teaching — and he has already made use of it. His father, Henry Peterson of Winona, Minn., gets the credit.

"I didn't start out to be a teacher," said Gil. "I've known since high school days that I wanted to get into show business. My father didn't object, but he did insist that I educate myself first for something else."

Gil was graduated from Mississippi State University, where he studied physical education on a football scholarship. During college days he began singing professionally, touring Southern nightclubs in summer months. He was a star halfback in years when Mississippi State had one of the nation's top teams.

In his senior year he got a bid to New York for a screen test. "The coach said I could go if I promised to come back. I did, and it was just as well; the test didn't come to anything," he said.

After college Gil headed for Hollywood and again nothing much happened at first. He recorded one album, got a few supper club dates and a few small parts in television. But in

Then television gave him running roles in two series, "Never Too Young" and "Paradise Way." He also got parts in such television shows as "Combat," "Run For Your Life" and "The

Carroll's to Close Shop In Twin Falls

"With reluctance," Carroll's women's store in Twin Falls will close its doors in approximately a week.

Carroll Sellars, president of the firm, said Friday the move did not reflect in any way the firm's relationship with Magic Valley residents. Sellars expressed regret in having to make the move and stressed that the company has enjoyed working in Twin Falls and the friendships that have been made.

He added that it was with reluctance that the decision to close the store was reached. The Twin Falls store, which has been in operation for six years is being closed in order to concentrate effort on the firm's two stores in Boise. Carroll's will be moving into a new, larger building in Boise soon.

Sellars' two sons, Nick Sellars and William C. Sellars, both have managed the Twin Falls store.

the meanwhile he taught physical education and did office work for the Los Angeles School Board.

"My father's advice paid off," he said. "It enabled me to keep going."

Young Marrieds," working in with a nightclub setting that enables him to sing as well as act.

Gil is blond, almost 6 feet tall and weighs 175 pounds. He gives his age only as "the mid-20s," adding: "I'm not 18 and I'm not 30, but I know something about life. Some of it I'd rather not talk about."

One of these experiences was the tragic loss of his young wife, to illness, before he got his big chance.

BRIDGE BY JACOBY

Do you see how she went about this? It wasn't too difficult. She played the deuce of hearts from dummy. East might well have returned a diamond but East was looking at those led back the Jack of clubs. Hoken won that trick with the ace and now was ready for operation top score.

She drew trumps with two leads and crashed her king of clubs. Then she played a heart to dummy and discarded her four of clubs on the other high heart. Her next play was to ruff a club in her hand...

After that it was a simple matter to return to dummy with the last trump and discard her deuce of diamonds on the 13th club.

Lucky, of course, but luck made possible by good play.

CARD SENSE

Here is one of her hands from 30 years ago. Her partner opened with one club. Even in those days people did not like to open four card majors when they held a four card club suit. East might have overcalled with one diamond but East was vulnerable and saw no future in that suit.

The game was much more duplicate and after West opened the six of hearts Helen saw that everyone would be in four.
