Education Commissioner Believes in Being Patient

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Howe II, commissioner of education, is a big, pipe-smoking man who thinks "it's pretty important to keep your patience." It's fortunate he feels that way. Because after nine months in his job, Howe has become one of the most heavily criticized public figures in America. Congressmen recently have described him variously as the "communist and czar of education," as a "fool" and as a "cut-throat of decency" and as a man who talks like a Communist.

The criticism was triggered by his department's efforts to carry out mandates on public school desegregation. Howe says "a great many political leaders and others have created a very effective propaganda against what is required by the law. . . (It) has been largely a manufactured smokescreen." He predicts "matter-of-factly that it will continue because, unfortunately, it gets votes." Far from being crushed by the burdens of his office, the 49-year-old former prep school history teacher says:

"It's extremely interesting (to be) obviously involved with the central issues in society: an exciting place to be." Last week Howe was called before the House Rules Committee. Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., told him: "Your field agents are harassing and harrasing school officials, telling them to get some Negro children in white schools."

Howe, a 6-foot-3 200-pounder, puffed calmly on his pipe, answered calmly and maintained his reputation for coolness. "This reputation was to be tested again today, when he returns for more questioning by the committee," said Monday, Rep. Kenneth Celler, D-N.Y., announced that the House Judiciary Committee which he heads will investigate the school desegregation guidelines of the office of education. What are Howe's main goals for the nation's schools? He lists two: (1) To make all schools better — especially those in central-city areas "whether they're all white or all black or mixed;" and (2) to seek "with local initiative, some solution to the problem of segregation."

Before he became commissioner of education in January 1965, Howe was executive director of the Learning Institute of North Carolina. Previously, he had a broad background in both public and private schools.

Exercise Set

PARIS (AP) — Top Allied commanders and their staffs will conduct a joint command post exercise Oct. 17-20. Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers Europe, announced. The exercise, known as "Folles 66," will consist almost entirely of paper work but some troops and aircraft will be moved.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — By now it is clear that Democratic candidates in November, especially in the Congressional races, will be laboring under two serious handicaps — the high cost of living under the Johnson administration and the fact that individual income taxes will be increased after the election.
President Johnson hasn't a choice — do anything about high prices in the month remaining before the electorate goes to the polls. As one Democratic politician put it, "Above all Lyndon can do is deplore." And the administration has dropped its pretense that the Viet Nam War can be financed without dipping into the people's pockets for more dough.
When Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler says a general tax increase "is certainly within the realm of probability," it means he's had the go sign from the White House.
Both rising prices and a tax increase are gut issues because they affect everybody and make everybody mad in varying degrees. And while tax increases may not be felt for some time, the people live daily with the higher cost of living.

REAL INCOME DROPS — As usual, this is especially so in the case of working men and women. For example, the typical factory worker who once depended on a gross pay of $38.46 a week in August, a drop of $1.31 from the June peak. And when prices increase, as is considered at least an equal decline in "real" income, and in some cases, where no overtime was paid he is a harder case.
Nor is there much sense in those suggestions from smug, amateur sociologists that the people will just have to stop buying so many luxuries. The fact is that prices are rising at a rate of an index point in August to boost the increase since August, 1965, to 1.5 percent and three-quarters of the August rise was in food prices, which went up 2.2 percent. Moreover, food prices are now 5.2 percent above a year ago. Clearly, inflation is hitting the average man where it hurts — below the neck.

LABOR LOSING — With a 1.5 percent drop in real factory earnings since Jan. 1, the White House is finding itself in real trouble with the labor union leadership. The boys are not interested in President Johnson's plan for more production in the face of the fact that the union is showing that labor is not getting its share of the 3.2 percent increase in productivity estimated by the Council of Economic Advisors.
Moreover, labor leaders are up in arms against management charges that wage gains are boosting costs and putting upward pressure on prices. It is their premise that business is doing well, and that the reason for the price rise is that they point to shopping increases in car prices as an example of this alleged opportunism. It is almost certain that the administration will be forced to back down on its wage demands this fall, and probably some serious strikes.

FOOD DROPS UPWARD — Meanwhile, the experts have been taken back by the continued advance in food prices in August, a month in which they normally decline. Egg prices, for example, went up 12 percent over the year. Prices also rose, reflecting earlier increases in wholesale flour prices, and there were higher prices on bacon and some beef cuts, fruits and vegetables. The professional soothsayers, who last spring confidently predicted a drop in food costs.

But the experts and prophets are not running far, off. The price of eggs, for example, is likely to be comforted by the Democratic explanation that the continuing increase in the cost of living is unusual. The housewife, paying 35 percent more for eggs, is likely to be comforted by the fact that the cost of living is unusual. The housewife, paying 35 percent more for eggs, is likely to be comforted by the fact that the cost of living is unusual.

Views of Others
J. W. (Bud) Forrester Jr. predicts in his column in the Pendleton East Oregonian that some Eastern Oregon growers will not plant wheat until the acres allotted them under the 10 percent acreage reduction program is approved by Agriculture Secretary Earl Freeman.

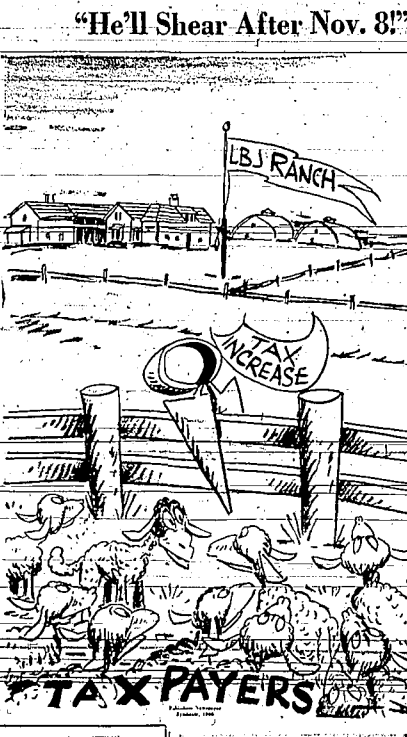

He points out that a survey conducted by the Kansas Association of Wheat Growers found farmers disapproving by more than two to one of the second 10 percent acreage reduction. Fifty-five percent who responded to the poll said they didn't intend to plant the extra acres and many of those who do intend to use the land said they would plant it in alfalfa or other crops. He believes Eastern Oregon farmers have some of the same reservations to the bulldoze in wheat production expressed in Kansas.

These reflections about that growing wheat on the 10 percent acreage reduction will result in overproduction and return of the surplus to the government for government and farmers. Overproduction might depress the market price and the government would have to buy the surplus at a much lower price than the market price.

Whether these fears are well founded remains to be seen. The additional wheat is intended for shipment overseas to India and other food-short countries. But if more wheat is produced than can be shipped to these outlets, the overproduction will have the results mentioned.

DELEGATE FROM IDAHO
Sen. Frank Church's appointment by President Johnson as a United States delegate to the United Nations outside a special hour to a man who has made foreign affairs a special interest.

The appointment was also quite a surprise in view of Sen. Church's open disavowal with President Johnson's foreign policy — including Viet Nam.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

Q—I have heard that silicon has an effect on the female breast hormones and stimulates breast development. Is it habit forming?
A—Silicon is not a drug but a synthetic silica resin which, when introduced into the body, is done by some government-controlled means.

Q—What would cause a 24-hour-old child to have a seizure?
A—A 24-hour-old child is a newborn. A seizure in a newborn is usually caused by a lack of oxygen during birth or by a metabolic disorder. It is important to see a doctor immediately.

Interpreting The News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most people in this country, Negro or white, have never seen or heard of Clarence Mitchell, a tall, black, rather shy man who has been a completely dedicated leader of the Negro community.

There can be few, if any, men alive who have worked longer and harder for civil rights than Clarence Mitchell. He has been a completely dedicated leader of the Negro community.

There have been almost suffocating frustration in Mitchell's 21 years of public life. He has been a completely dedicated leader of the Negro community.

Construction Begins on New Filer Grade School

FILER—Groundbreaking ceremonies at the site of the new Filer Elementary School took place Monday morning and the construction on the new $546,803 building has begun. Location for the school is the Cedarholm subdivision at the western edge of town and next to Peace Lutheran Church. First spadeful of dirt was moved by Duane Ramseyer, chairman of the Citizens' Committee which has worked closely with trustees of School District 413 in planning the new school. Also taking part in the ceremony were Thomas Turner, superintendent of the district; Lloyd Miller and Richard Miller

Red Guards Clash With Jail Inmates

HONG KONG (AP)—Rampaging Red Guards clashed with inmates of a prison labor camp in Changsha in Hunan Province and hundreds of the guards were killed or injured, Hong Kong non-Communist newspapers reported Monday. The papers said the clash occurred in mid-September and was reported by latest arrivals from the province — home of Chinese Communist party chief Mao Tse-tung. Red Guards who demanded new trials of the inmates were overpowered by the prison inmates, who were subdued later by Communist regular troops, the papers said. They said there were more than 15,000 inmates in the labor camp.

REQUESTS GIVEN

BOISE (AP)—Requests for approval of franchising for community antenna television systems in three Boise Valley communities were presented Monday night to city council in Boise, Nampa and Caldwell.

The requests were filed originally a year and a half ago but no action on them was taken at that time. Now the applicants told city officials in the three communities they are ready to proceed.

Joining in the cable television venture are owners of Boise's two television stations, KBOI and KTVB.

STORK CLUB

Owner Dies
In Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP)—Sherman Billingsley, who started with an Oklahoma soda pop stand and turned it into a Manhattan club, died today in his Manhattan apartment.

The club closed a year ago Wednesday after its location was sold. Before it closed, Billingsley had been involved in a long labor feud with his waiters and kitchen help.

In 1944 Mayor Fiorello La Guardia tried to seize the Stork Club on a charge of making a profit on the sales tax. La Guardia couldn't make the charge stick and business was soon better than ever.

Newspaper columnists, radio, television and movies all had a share in the Stork Club's fame across the country.

The club still attracted celebrities and became, just as famous for hazing a few.

Police said Billingsley's wife, Hazel, told them he had committed a suicide shortly after midnight.

He took some aspirin and went back to sleep, police said. Billingsley told police she awoke up at 4:30 a.m. and called the family physician, Dr. Myron C. Patterson, who came to the apartment at 500 E. 83rd St. and pronounced Billingsley dead.

Patterson said death had been caused by an acute heart attack.

Patterson said Billingsley recently had been working on an autobiography and making plans to open a new club to replace the shuttered Stork Club.

KILLING PROBED

FOCALLO (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation has taken over the investigation of the murder of a Blackfoot woman whose body was found about a quarter of a mile south of Blackfoot.

Loretta Guardipepe, 24, was found beaten to death south of the Blackfoot Bridge Saturday.

Bingham County Coroner Carl Staley said an autopsy performed Sunday showed cause of death was a brain hemorrhage resulting from a beating.

FUNDS TRANSFERRED

BOISE (AP)—A transfer of $7,734,000 from the general fund to Idaho's public school fund was reported Tuesday by the state treasurer's office.

This increased to more than $17 million the allocation of general fund money to the public schools for the current school year. The total for the entire year will be about $23 million.

The treasurer's office said the transfer was financed by a transfer to the general fund of $7,734,000 in sales tax revenue.

Pope Leads Prayer for Ending War

VATICAN CITY (AP)

Pope Paul VI led the world's Roman Catholics today in special prayers for peace in Viet Nam.

The Pontiff scheduled an outdoor service and a speech in St. Peter's Square late this afternoon. He was expected to urge again that every effort be made to end the fighting in Southeast Asia.

The Pope in an encyclical letter Sept. 19 asked the leaders of governments involved in Viet Nam to halt the combat in the name of God. Later he said his appeal was not just a formal gesture, that current world conflicts aroused widespread fear and he is convinced "prayer is not in vain."

The encyclical designated the month of October for peace prayers and urged that special religious services be held Oct. 4, the first anniversary of Pope Paul's speech in the U.N. General Assembly urging peace.

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)

Police are holding 35 persons picked up in raids in western Kingston to curb a wave of violence that has plagued the area for several months.

The government declared a state of emergency in parts of western Kingston and St. Andrews Monday night, sent in armed troops to help police check bombings, shootings and lawlessness which have occurred sporadically.

Several persons were reported killed and scores were injured in recent incidents. The violence has been described as political, although criminal elements are believed to have exploited the situation.

Currency Reserve Fall Is Halted

LONDON (AP)—A six-month decline in Britain's gold and foreign currency reserves was halted in September, the Treasury announced today. The reserves gained $4.1 million and ended the month at $32.61 billion.

For the first time since May, the bank of England did not have to take more than it put into the swap facilities organized by international banks to protect the pound sterling.

This was the meaning of the Treasury's terse statement: "There was no net recourse to central bank facilities during the month."

The steadier position of the reserves is the direct result of the austerity program imposed on the British economy by Prime Minister Harold Wilson in July — and the ensuing return of confidence that Britain would not devalue the pound from its present par of $2.80.

U. S. Tuna Boats Seized Near Peru

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Twelve American tuna boats have been seized in the past two days for fishing within the 200-mile limit claimed by Peru, the Navy Ministry said Monday night.

The boats were ordered into port in north Peru to pay fines of at least $2,000 per vessel and buy fishing licenses. A ministry spokesman said three of the boats were the Ronnie S., the Eastern Pacific and the Sun Europa.

Venice Plans Campaign Against Rats

VENICE, Italy (AP)—Venice plans to launch a massive year-long campaign this month against a growing plague of rats so tough they frighten cats and so clever they sneak on traps.

These are no ordinary rats. They come from an island used as the city dump and more and more of them have been swimming over to Venice to take up residence.

Hygiene officials say the garbage dump rats are so big and mean that the city's famous cats, traditionally considered Venice's best antidote against rats, run away from them. The rats also have been swimming over to Venice to take up residence.

City Hygiene Commissioner Ylio Chiarelli has assigned 500

PARTY HELD

SHOSHONE — A birthday anniversary party was held for Mark Johnson, 9-year-old son of Mrs. Fred Hughes, Pocatello, Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Johnson.

Barbara Hughes Is Bride of James Probasco

SHOSHONE — Barbara Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hughes, Shoshone, became the bride of James O. Probasco, son of Mrs. Minnie Probasco, Wells, in a double ceremony at the Anthony's Catholic Church, Pocatello.

Rev. John Daugherty officiated at the double ring ceremony performed before an audience of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a champagne gown of white linen, decorated with white gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

Centering the bridal bouquet was an orchid, from which flowed streamers enhanced with miniature carnations and fern.

Pamela Lecerius, Shoshone, was maid of honor.

Kim Ruger, Bancroft, and Lynn Beckwith, Rupert, were bridesmaids.

Clara Warr, Pocatello, was best man. Ushers were Wayne Probasco, Ogden, brother of the bridegroom, and Fred Hughes, Pocatello, brother of the bride.

Feasts Probasco-Ogden, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Ringbearer was Danny Hughes, Hawthorne, Calif., nephew of the bride.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Grace Madden, Pocatello, organist, and Robert Donnegan, soloist.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church basement.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth. Centering the table was the three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with white lilies of the valley.

Lighted tapers in crystal holders flanked the cake. A silver coffee service completed the table decorations.

Gift table attendants were Mrs. Fred Hughes, Pocatello, and Mrs. Stanley Hughes, Hawthorne, Calif.

MRS. JAMES O. PROBASCO

thorne, Calif., both sisters-in-law of the bride.

Guests were registered by Kathleen Lecerius, Shoshone, Mrs. Harry Stoner, Shoshone, was chair of the reception.

Mrs. Edith Bager, Shoshone, and Mrs. Jack Christensen, Shoshone, poured coffee and punch. Eddie Tanaka, Shoshone, cut and served the wedding cake.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hughes, Pocatello, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

Two pre-nuptial showers were held for the bride, hosted by Mrs. Edith Bager and Mrs. Olive Cheney, aunts of the bride.

Shoshone, Trudy Barrett, Pocatello, and Kim Ruger, Bancroft, were bridesmaids.

Out-of-town guests attended from Weiser, Boise, Caldwell, Pocatello, Shoshone, Twin Falls, Blackfoot, West Yellowstone, Mont., and Hawthorne, Calif.

After a honeymoon trip to Oregon, the couple will reside at 107-E. Landers, Pocatello, where they are both enrolled at Idaho State University.

Don't wait too long to talk with one of these experts on life and health insurance. They're the MONY men in your area. They can show you how to use insurance to your advantage. How you can build cash... for retirement, your youngster's college education, or even as a nifty way of building a "nest egg."

All these men work for a special MONY office. One that has been given the designation of Pace Setter. (Only 18 of MONY's 181 offices in the entire U.S. hold this honor.) Many people in this area have come to trust those men... to rely on their good counsel and judgment.

In fact, thousands of people here are protected by millions of dollars of MONY life and health insurance.

If you want sound, common-sense advice from a MONY man, call the manager of this pace-setting MONY agency. He'll see that you get all the facts... and there's no obligation.

"See what the professional programming service of a MONY man can do for you!"

Ransoming of Wealthy Girl Is Featured

Sgt. O'Rourke and Cpl. Agara invest their wealth in the ransoming of a beautiful girl known as Yellow Bird from her Indian captors, expecting to receive a substantial reward from the wealthy father. The episode "F Troop" is color Thursday, Oct. 20 (8:30 p.m.). Yellow Bird is played by guest-star Julie Newman, who essays the Dynamic Duo's feisty adversary, Cartwright, on ABC-TV's "Batman." Jacques Aubouchon guests as Gideon D. Jeffries.

"Space" Duo To Be Guests At Awards

Billy Mumy and Angela Cartwright, young stars of producer Irwin Allen's "Lost in Space" series, have been invited to be guests of honor at the Annual Teen Award Dinner to be held in Los Angeles on Oct. 29.

The Teen Award is sponsored by the Spotlighters in the name of the San Fernando Valley (Calif.) Youth Foundation.

Both youngsters, nominated to their heavy professional schedules, are active in community and national youth affairs.

Veronica Cartwright, Angela's sister, was last year's Teen Award recipient and will attend this year's dinner to present the awards to her successor.

"Lost in Space," which also stars Guy Williams, June Lockhart, Jonathan Harris, Mark Goddard and Maria Kristen, is seen every Wednesday night in color over the CBS-TV network.

Presley Stars In Dual Role

Elvis Presley stars in a dual role in "Kissin' Cousins," a rowdy, raucous, music-filled hillbilly romp on ABC-TV's "The Sunday Night Movie" in color Oct. 23 (9:31 p.m., PDT). Featured are Presley, O'Connell and Glenda Farrell.

Air Force Lt. Josh Morgan is selected to placate Ma and Pa Tatum and their family so the government can make a deal to build a missile base on top of their Tennessee mountain. Morgan goes along with his duty as a military man, but he meets the Tatum's son, Jodie, who is his double. Then come the girls, the music, the mix-ups and the hilarity.

Squelched

Between takes on "The Million Bells Show" airing on ABC-TV Friday, Oct. 7 (9:30 p.m., PDT), the talk turned to hecklers and how to squelch them. Milne recalled one of his most effective stoppers, used on an obnoxious woman during a nightclub appearance.

After appealing to the woman's better instincts to go away, Milne finally silenced her with: "I know I've seen you before. You heckled me here ten years ago." Here Milne paused for the crusher: "I never forget a dress."

Soloist Changed

Kathy Lennon will bring "Arri-Verdi-Verdi" on the ABC-TV column of "The Lawrence Welk Show" Saturday, Oct. 8 (8:30-9:30 p.m., PDT).

Natalie Nevins was announced as the soloist on that number, but had to drop out because of illness.

Homestead Is Important Issue On Monroes'

Robert Middleton is introduced as rancher Barney Wales, who sentences Chiyi Monroe and cowboy Ruel Jackson to hang for killing his prized stallion on ABC-TV's "The Monroes" in color Oct. 12 (8-9 p.m.).

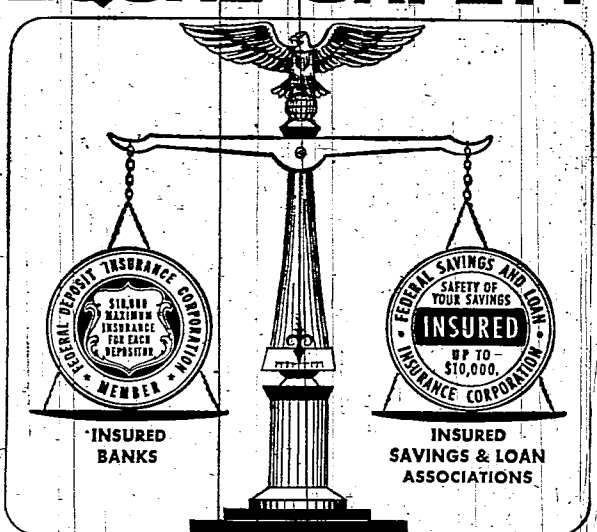

In "Incident at the Hanging Tree," Wales offers Clay a last-minute chance to have his life by relinquishing the Monroes' claim to their homestead.

Starring as the Monroes are Michael Anderson Jr. as Clay, Barbara Hershey as Kathy, Keith and Kevin Schulz as Big Twin and Little Twin, and Tammy Locke as Amy. Also starring are Liam Sullivan as Major Mapoy, Ron Soble as Jim, and Jim Westmoreland as Ruel Jackson.

RETURNS TO TOWN
A depleted unexpectedly returns to town, producing a grave effect on Lee's hearing on a murder charge, and a faithful friend of the Carsons becomes a godfather on ABC-TV's twice-a-week color series "Payton Place" Oct. 13 and Oct. 14 (9:30-10 p.m., PDT).

Changing Job Gives Boost, Actor Says

When you change in the morning and don't want to get up and go to work, it's time to get another job. That's the opinion of Robert Middleton, who took his own advice some 30 years ago.

The round star who joins "The Monroes" in the continuing character of Barney Wales in Oct. 12 on ABC-TV left a comfortable and secure job with his family's construction business to become an actor, a decision he has never regretted.

How a time Middleton tried to play both sides of the street. He had a beautiful painted office with his family's construction company in Cincinnati but I found myself spending less and less time in it. I became interested in activities connected with the theater.

One day his brothers gave Middleton the word that he was a bad example for the morale of the rest of the employees.

Midleton, "and I took the 'O's'."

It was at this period in his life that he changed his name from Sam Messer because "the syllable sounded like a hissing rat-take."

At the intervening years, Middleton's experience has encompassed every form of show business: radio, stage, motion pictures and television.

He describes his role of Barney Wales in "The Monroes" as "my first real job."

"Every now and again the milk of human kindness seeps through," he says with a grin, "but only enough to dampen slightly. I never become soggy."

TV Invades Theater to Obtain Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — The theater in the United States has always been under threat from its well being — changing audience tastes, economic depressions, would-be censors and the rise of the movies.

But it has fought them all off and goes on its merry way.

Now television is offering to do battle not only for the continuing audience loyalty but for the loyalty of the playwright himself.

One network recently grabbed for a record $112,500 the rights to a script initially aimed at Broadway, paid $50,000 to air another play, "The Investigation," that opens Oct. 4 at the Ambassador.

Another network has posted a half-million dollars for new works and is hoping to lure established authors and playwrights to putting on 22 weekly exhibits of fresh material from noted creative talents.

The importance of all this action to Broadway, of course, is what the effect will be on the supply — always less than the demand — of good plays for its boxoffice.

Audrey Wood, agent for many leading playwrights, says "It's a fresh competition, and it's a very good," but stresses that "authors can still make much more money in the theater than in TV."

How of those questioned feel that the networks will often bid such sums as the $112,500 which NBC paid William Hanley for his "Flesh and Blood."

Says David Merrick, the business impresario, "Prices are more likely to be about $25,000 at the most — and a writer who gets any kind of money in production, even if it turns out to be a flop, will make as much." The standard author contract calls for 10 percent of the boxoffice gross.

Hanley, the 34-year-old recipient,

ABC News Will Utilize Large Staff for Election Coverage

More than 15,000 editorial, production and technical personnel, a seasoned team of correspondents and commentators and a highly sophisticated and proven computer system will be utilized by ABC News in November to provide comprehensive and meaningful TV and radio coverage of the national elections.

"According to plans released by Elmer W. Lower, president of ABC News, the ABC Television and Radio Networks will devote their late afternoon and prime-time schedules on Election Day (Tuesday, Nov. 6) to continuous coverage of the elections."

ABC Television's coverage, which will begin at 4 p.m., PST, will be produced under the general supervision of William Sheehan, ABC Vice President and director of Television News. Walter J. Pflieger Jr., who will be the executive producer and Daryl Gifford, the producer, will be in charge of the coverage.

ABC Radio's coverage will start at 4:30 p.m., PST, and continue until the major races have been decided. Joseph Keating will serve as executive producer for ABC Radio under the supervision of Thomas J. Brown, ABC Radio Vice President and Director of Radio News.

ABC TV and ABC Radio will focus on 35 separate U.S. Senate races, 43 gubernatorial contests and all 435 House of Representatives elections with special emphasis on the races for 35 marginal House seats.

It's a very self-conscious industry," says Susskind, "and it's seeing the dramatic route now to getting a better image. There's a whole new attitude—the creative ingredient is appreciated. The only limit on what can be done now is good taste."

Two events are generally credited with having started the network news drama urge. Last March, Leonard H. Goldenson, president of ABC, announced a series that has now emerged for a full hour on Wednesday nights as "Stage 67."

The second event was the Miller's "Death of a Salesman." The program earned critical cheers. More importantly, it won an impressive rating indicating it had been watched in 15 million homes.

TV television develops a regular audience of such size, Broadway managers feel, it will be [mightily] stimulating mass interest in drama, which could mean more fans for Broadway and touring shows.

Preminger To Be Guest On 'Batman'

Otto Preminger, Austrian-born producer-director, returns to the front of the cameras for the first time in 14 years when he assumes the special guest villain role of Dr. Freeze in "Batman," scheduled to air in color Nov. 9 and 10.

Preminger's last acting performance was as the Nazi prison officer in "Judgment."

What is it like to do makeup and work under the lights after a 4-year layoff?

"It's fun," said Preminger, whose makeup is among the wildest ever for a "Batman" villain. "The pace of television is much different than that of filming motion pictures. You take six days to make an hour's worth of television program. It takes that long to do just a few pages of script for a movie."

"But there is an advantage, in that we get into the part and we stay in it. Because the shooting schedule for television is so tight."

Preminger's Mr. Freeze makeup includes ice-blue color covering his face and entire head, keep purple lips and bright orange eyebrows.

"I took an hour and a half every morning to get me made up," said Preminger, "and it's worth it."

"Batman," starring Adam West and Burt Ward, is a Greenway Production in association with 20th Century-Fox Television. William Dozier is executive producer.

LEARN'S OF TOWN

Paul Burke, star of 20th Century-Fox television "12 O'Clock High," spent some time as a young actor starring in Westport, Conn. He said the only thing he learned about that town was the principal producers: William Dozier, painting balls and authors.

"12 O'Clock High," a QM Production in association with 20th Century-Fox Television, is seen Fridays in color on ABC-TV.

West and Burt Ward, is a Greenway Production in association with 20th Century-Fox Television. William Dozier is executive producer.

Medical Care Of Soldiers Seen on Show

"To Save a Soldier," an hour-long ABC News color documentary recording the devotion and heroism of battlefield nurses, doctors and flight nurses who daily endanger their lives evacuating and tending the wounded in Viet Nam, will be presented on ABC-TV Oct. 24 from 10 to 11 p.m. PDT.

Filmed in the battle area of Viet Nam, the special graphically depicts the experiences of those gallant men and women who make it possible for the wounded in this war to be treated so rapidly it is as though a hospital is only steps away.

Ever by step this ABC News program sponsored by the IMC, tells the story of the more than 100,000 men and women in the service who give the U.S. fighting man the security of knowing no area is too dangerous for them to enter and bring him out to medical aid and comfort should he be wounded.

In this film we show how and why for the first time in the history of armed conflict, 99 per cent of our casualties can be returned to full health," said ABC producer Thomas B. Wolf. "As antibiotics were the medical wonder of World War II, mass evacuation is the wonder of the present in the theater of war. It is the great advance of this war."

Helps Sales

"Death Comes Full Circle" has for many weeks been the favorite television story of a large New York City area vendor, although the episode will not be seen on ABC-TV's "Hawk" until Thursday, Oct. 6 (9:30 a.m., PDT).

The vendor sold out to a crowd of onlookers who were watching the making of a scene for this episode. What new show was the simulation of a fatal auto accident in a scene repeated again and again, times and brains were watching the desired realism was achieved.

BOMBER WANTED

Paul Burke, star of 20th Century-Fox Television's "12 O'Clock High" is looking for a World War II B-17 bomber to purchase. He doesn't wish to fly it (although he is training to be a pilot). He wants to recondition one of the "famous old" planes and rent it out to production companies, the same way executive producer Quinn Martin rents the P-51 Mustang to QM Productions' "12 O'Clock High" which is seen Friday in color on ABC-TV.

Dodgers Favored to Win Series With Pitching, Orioles to Rely on Bats

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The strong arms of Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Claude Osteen make the Los Angeles Dodgers the 8-5 favorite over the Baltimore Orioles in the World Series, opening Wednesday at Dodger Stadium.

NL Champs Return Home for Short Rest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The newly crowned National League champion Dodgers returned from public view Monday to shake off the emotional tensions that have gripped them for days and nights in the long haul to the pennant.

Series Delays Hunting Trip For Snyder

BALTIMORE (AP) — Russ Snyder will have to delay the start of his hunting season this year, Snyder said, "I wouldn't have the problem every year."

The Dodgers arrived at Los Angeles International Airport at 4:10 a.m. from Philadelphia, where they clinched the title in the final game of the regular season Sunday.

Despite the hour, some 200 well-wishers turned out to greet the heroes. At the same hour, and increasing the hour, hundreds of fans gathered at the stadium where $300 tickets went on public sale.

Security guards held the airport through in check and men managed to reach among the others, southpaw Sandy Koufax, the 27-game winner.

Opening against the Orioles Tuesday, Snyder said, "I wouldn't have the problem every year."

Hoopie Is Ill, Jones Picked To Take Over Prognostication

BY OSKAR (PREMONITION) JONES
What with Major Amos B. Hoopie being ill (Editor's note: After missing six games last week, who wouldn't be sick?) and after missing only three in last week's contest (winning the office pool of five cents), I feel that I should be able to decently replace the Major in this task.

This week's slate is, with an unbelievable two wrong however, considerably more difficult than that of the past week although there will be a few easy ones to make a dress-up game with.

A free-lunch will be held at noon followed by installation of officers and presentation of awards. This is the last tournament of the season.

Golf Tourney Batting Leaders

The Municipal Ladies Golf Association will have a dress-up tournament with tee-off time at 9 a.m. Thursday.

A free-lunch will be held at noon followed by installation of officers and presentation of awards. This is the last tournament of the season.

Lombardi Isn't Sure How Packers Keep Winning

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Day before the Packers lost the Coach Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers wasn't sure still came away with a 24-13 decision.

It was a National Football League game—the Packers won without dominating. The Lions outgained Green Bay, 349 yards to 251 and racked up seven more first downs.

But Green Bay intercepted two passes, recovered three fumbles, and was helped along by 122 yards in penalties assessed against the Lions.

We have no secrets, no system, Lombardi said Monday. The Packers are consistently able to win games despite handicaps that would prove fatal to most other teams.

THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Berg, 2081 Hillcrest Drive, typifies what Harald Gerber, Twin Falls architect, calls the "modified split level" type of architecture. This particular style has been adopted by many Twin Falls residents who have built homes in recent years—although few of them have the three-car garage used at the Berg residence. (Times-News photo)

THE "CALIFORNIA RANCH-STYLE" home, as adapted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Reese, 1937 Falls Ave. E., has been extremely popular with prospective home builders for several years, according to Harald Gerber, Twin Falls architect. The design results in what Gerber calls a "long, low and rambling" home and offers economical upkeep. (Times-News photo)

Magic Valley Home Construction Is Down; Tastes Here Are Conservative

By CATHERINE TATE

Local contractors are figuring briskly, but it's no "hot" market. Due to that nebulous phenomenon known as "tight money," private building in Twin Falls is "down—way down," according to Fred Read, general contractor, and it looks as if it's going to stay that way.

Private remodeling construction also is down, Read noted. "You'll need a loan to remodel just as much as you'll need a loan to build, and it's just as difficult to get either one right now," he said.

But the people who are building in Magic Valley are really doing it up right, according to Harald Gerber, Twin Falls architect. Like the home of the eldest brother-in-the-law, their homes are going to be built to withstand even the "exhaustions" of a long winter.

More than half of the homes recently constructed or now under construction in Twin Falls are built with brick exteriors on wood frames, Gerber noted. Brick has enjoyed continuing popularity across the nation for many years, he added, attributing this popularity to the durability, easy maintenance and attractiveness of the material.

"This area is definitely 'brick-minded,' but many people are coming back to wood," he commented. A "wood look" is coveted by many new home owners in this area. Aluminum, steel and concrete building materials that look like wood are very popular.

Other than the brick exterior, very few other aspects of private-home-building in Twin Falls follow any definite pattern, according to several local building contractors. Read attributes this lack of "fad following" to the individuality characteristic of the typical Westerner. He also mentions the "elaborate array of building materials, as well as new ideas in building, as contributing to the lack of uniformity in new Magic Valley homes.

Stuart Swan, Twin Falls city building inspector, compared building a home to buying a car—each with various optional equipment—available on new cars, and with the vast choice of colors and interiors to be decided upon. It's nearly impossible to find two exactly identical cars.

"It's the same way with houses," Swan said. "You won't find any boxes, or tract homes, that look so much alike you can't find which one is yours. People out here are individuals and they have their own ideas."

Swan agreed that high interest rates and "tight money" have "strictly curtailed private home building in Magic Valley."

He noted that during the seven-month period between February and August, 1966, 58 building permits for private homes were issued by his department. During the corresponding period of time in 1965, only 35 permits were issued.

The overwhelming majority of these houses are on-site or job-site construction projects, he said. The influence of pre-fabricated homes on building in Twin Falls has been negligible, although other areas of the country have been very much affected by pre-fabricated housing, he added.

Pre-constructed homes, those that are first assembled at the home site, have had a minor influence, according to Gerber. "If the new houses in the Magic Valley area can't be 'typed' as strictly following certain patterns of construction, it can be said that they are not going to follow certain other patterns. For example, extremely modern, radical design is very rare in this area, Gerber noted. The typical Idahoan, if such a creature really exists, has been in economic considerations than in a desire for "freedom and space" on the part of the home builders.

"The high insurance rate charged people living outside the city limits more than compensates for the low taxes," he said. "All in all, it was a bad year for building in Twin Falls and the Magic Valley area. The situation may change within the next year," Swan speculated, but at present time most people "are just making do with what they have," he commented.

The ranch style home was in vogue for quite some time, but it really isn't a predominant trend in Magic Valley. A currently popular trend is toward the split-level house, Gerber said, because of the economy offered by the style in space and money.

"Gimmick" trends, such as the double door, hidden refrigerator and slide-covered entry ways, have not been extensively adopted by area home-builders. The use of built-in ovens, ranges and range hoods is the exception to this rule.

As the question of bedrooms and baths, local builders aren't hazzarding any guesses. "The number of bedrooms and baths in new area homes is usually based on the number of family members, and that's about the only general statement you can make about it," Gerber commented. "Half baths are popular, however, he said.

As far as the interiors of the homes are concerned, the use of paneling is extensive; recreation or family rooms have relegated the living room to the status of sleeping and occasional plaster and vinyl sheeting probably will be found in at least one room of the new home. Nine times out of 10 the living room and several other rooms will be carpeted wall-to-wall.

The general-building trend in Twin Falls continues to move to the outskirts of the city in a northeasterly direction. Read attributes this move less to economic considerations than to a desire for "freedom and space" on the part of the home builders.

"The high insurance rate charged people living outside the city limits more than compensates for the low taxes," he said. "All in all, it was a bad year for building in Twin Falls and the Magic Valley area. The situation may change within the next year," Swan speculated, but at present time most people "are just making do with what they have," he commented.

Lloyd Duncan "Loaned" to United Fund Drive Team

Lloyd Duncan, 24, has joined the "loaned executives" team for the United Fund Drive. Duncan will take two and one-half days off from his regular job each week for four weeks to devote his talents to the drive.

Duncan received a B.S. degree in economics from Northern State College, Aberdeen, S.D., in 1962. He is presently employed as a management trainee for the First Security Bank of Idaho, Twin Falls Branch.

He hails from Flandreau, S.D., and is married. He was active in Young Republicans, Economics Club, Business Club and the Phi Kappa Fraternity while in college.

Civic-minded businessmen all over Twin Falls are loaning their executives to the United Fund Drive in an effort to boost the drive over its goal. Each of the "loaned executives" will donate two and one-half days each week for the duration of the drive.

Septuplets' Mother Plans Other Child

BOSTON (AP) — A 24-year-old Boston woman who gave birth to seven babies that died was reported comfortable at a hospital Monday and planning to try to have another child.

Sandra Cwikliuk, who had been treated with a fertility hormone, gave birth to the septuplets Saturday. The four girls and three boys were born four months prematurely. One was dead at birth and the others died shortly after delivery.

Dr. Nuran-Turkay of New England Medical Center Hospital, who administered the hormone drug, said her patient is "looking for a new future" and is anxious to try to have another child.

Mrs. Cwikliuk and her husband, William, 30, have one child, a 2-year-old boy. Cwikliuk is a shipping clerk for a clothing firm.

Mrs. Cwikliuk is believed to be the first American to have given birth to septuplets.

The hormone preparation she received is the same as that linked with the birth of stillborn sextuplets and septuplets in Sweden last year and with quintuplets born in 1965 in New Zealand and Sweden.

Sobering-up Station Is Under Attack

MOSCOW (AP) — One of Moscow's better-known institutions — the sobering-up station — has come under attack for being too hospitable.

The capital's popular newspaper, Vechernyaya Moskva (Evening Moscow), called for some "limit on the number of visits a 'client' can make in a year."

It satirized "champions" who stagger in frequently, get bedded down, take a hot shower in the morning, wash up and wander off. The cost is 8 rubles — $8.88.

Drunkness, as such, is not a crime and the clients at the sobering-up stations are not hooked. They can make use of the facilities whenever their condition warrants it.

Comrade Antoshin, head of Moscow's sobering-up station No. 7, called Viktor Gulayev and Leonid Ushakov his "champions."

Evening Moscow said that with all due respect to Viktor and Leonid, it was not sure they really deserved to be called champions. It said the title is hopelessly in dispute, since no records or statistics are kept.

Evening Moscow suggested that records be kept on repeat offenders and that they be given some form of punishment for more than five visits a year to the sobering-up station.

It carefully pointed out that this was no call for a crackdown on all drunks. Heavy drinking is a tradition in the Soviet Union and people are tolerant, providing drinking does not go to extremes.

GIs Are Treated Like VIPs At Department Compound

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — At a compound of wooden barracks painted green, a handful of combat veterans treat every GI like a VIP.

The compound is Camp Alpha, the departure center for American troops going on rest and recuperation leaves. Camp Alpha is a 150-acre area of Doughton Dories or plunks, but it is still one of the major morale boosters for the troops. And the veterans who run the camp, located inside sprawling Tan Son Nhut Air Base, plan to keep it that way.

Capt. Bill Hammond of Talladega, Ala., the officer in charge of Camp Alpha's 18-man staff, is a veteran of combat with the 24th Infantry Division.

"The troops look forward to coming here," he says. "They're tired and tense and want to get out fast. We keep them here one day only and then they're off to wherever they choose to go."

Little Stiff

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rubin Zulefi, a steelworker, fell four stories Friday while welding steel beams at the new Tucson City Hall.

Zulefi, 32, everything dropped out from under me," he said. "I could see all the stuff whirling by."

Zulefi, 32, landed on a layer of corrugated roofing on the third floor.

Monday he was back at work on the seventh floor. "I'm a little stiff," he said. "But this is the way I make my living."

Mansfield Praises Three Colleagues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield doled out effusive praise Monday for three top government colleagues.

A Senate speech by the Montana senator lauded Sen. Humphrey, who hopes to run again in 1968 but has no public commitment from President Johnson. "I'm a little stiff," he said. "But this is the way I make my living."

Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, and subject of reports of coolness in his relations with Mansfield.

Retiring Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, reported as sometimes privately at odds with U.S. foreign policy.

Mansfield said Johnson was "in a difficult circumstance" to have Humphrey, called Long "most cooperative and understanding" and said Ball's job was "excellent in difficult circumstances."

Wilson May Force Wage, Price Freeze

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — Sir James Callaghan, British prime minister, said today that his Labor government was on the point of enforcing its freeze on wages, prices and incomes with the full powers of law.

The British leader said his government hoped its program of harsh economic cutbacks had "shocked the nation" into accepting radical changes in Britain's industrial, social and political structure.

More than 1,200 delegates at the annual convention of Wilson's Labor party cheered the prime minister after he had said his "crisis measures" provided the chance and conditions for an advance toward a Socialist program of economic expansion.

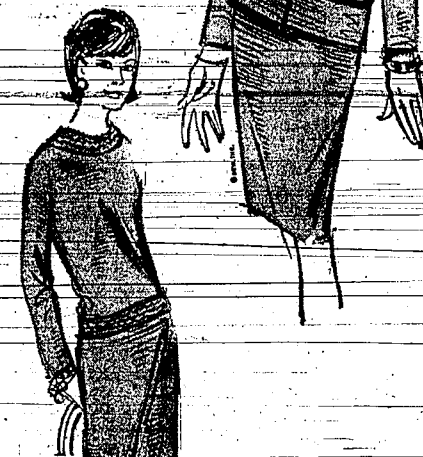

Wilson called his Cabinet to meet in his hotel suite later today for the formal decision on laying unauthorised wage and price rises. Employers and labor union leaders who defy the ban will be exposed to fines and jail. The freeze, scheduled to run into 1967, cuts across the cherished rights of British workers to bargain freely and collectively.
