Inez' Death Count Mounts To 150 as Strong Winds Aim at Yucatan Peninsula

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hurricane Inez, which left more than 150 persons dead in its destructive surge through the Caribbean, thrashed across the Yucatan Peninsula today, its 110-mile-an-hour winds aimed at the exposed Yucatan Peninsula. The New Orleans Weather Bureau, taking over tracking of the giant storm from the Miami bureau, said Inez was expected to move into the northern Yucatan Peninsula late tonight. The advisory located Inez about 260 miles northeast of Merida, a city of 170,000 persons on the peninsula, ancient home of the Maya Indians. Its speed remained 10 miles an hour. Inez was moving on a west-southwest course.

Moon Reported More Alive Than Thought

HAMPTON, Va. (AP)—Recent photographs of the moon surface provide evidence the moon is more alive than previously thought, scientists reported today. However, they said, the photographs which were made by Lunar Orbiter 1, did not provide enough information on which to determine a landing site for America's Apollo astronauts. And for that reason, it was announced, Lunar Orbiter 2 will be launched between Nov. 6 and Nov. 11 to make another round of pictures, concentrating on the moon's mare sea or smoother areas.

The announcements were made at a news conference at the Langley Research Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The conference was held to report on results obtained from Lunar Orbiter 1, which made and transmitted 211 film frames between Aug. 23 and Aug. 26.

Dr. Lawrence Rowan of the U.S. Geological Survey said Lunar Orbiter's photographs disclosed evidence of "dynamic processes on the moon. This evidence, he said, included faults or slippages of the surface such as occur on earth.

The pictures also disclosed evidence of volcanism, or smoothing of the moon's surface, said Rowan attributed to radioactivity.

Too High

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (AP)—Norman J. Jacques, a member of Rhode Island's House of Representatives, said today that a "student rate" of $100 a year is too much for an evening with Sen. Edward J. Dwyer.

He is scheduled to speak at a Democratic fund raising dinner in Pawtucket Oct. 18.

In a letter Wednesday to John F. Capaldi, Democratic state chairman, Jacques asked for a "student rate" of $100 a year. He said he was "financially rigorous."

Neighbor Youth Corps Grant Okayed

Approval of a $20,560 federal grant for a Neighborhood Youth Corps project for Twin Falls School District No. 411 was announced Thursday by Gov. Robert E. Smylie, Boise.

The project will provide part-time work for 35 economically disadvantaged students the first year of the 1966-67 school year.

This project, managed by Herbert Smith, band director at the high school, will employ 10 high and high school counselors, is aimed at young people who are trying to stay in school and who otherwise might drop out, according to Ernest Bryant, superintendent of Twin Falls schools.

During the 1965-66 school year, $13,091.00 was used to employ approximately 30 youths. The students worked week days and Saturdays, and their jobs were at custodial jobs and clerical work. During the summer, $10,567.91 was used to pay student help in tending school grounds throughout the city.

Rogland added that two Neighborhood Youth Corps students worked in each of the five elementary schools last year, plus those working at the high school.

Last year students were allowed to work 18 hours a week, but in order to help more students, they will work only 10 hours a week this year. Students are paid $1.25 per hour.

The students receive supervision and counseling on how to handle their funds, and their jobs may be taken over by others if they miss the money earned under this program, Rogland commented.

Approximately 25 applications for this year have been received by the counseling office. Any student interested in the Neighborhood Youth Corps project who is 16 years or over should contact school counselors for applications.

Campaign May Deny Reds Use of Delta River Highways

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. military leaders are considering a new campaign to deny the Viet Cong use of the river, highways of South Viet Nam's Mekong Delta.

There has been no final decision, but one could result from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's visit to Viet Nam next week.

Planning has been under way for some time.

The river campaign would go far beyond the annual boat patrol of the delta waterways which the U.S. Navy has long been conducting under "Operation Game Warden."

It would involve launching special assault units, probably U.S. Army infantry, from the barracks ships stationed off the principal rivers.

"We want to deny use of the rivers to the Viet Cong and we hope to spread out and control the river banks," said one high-ranking official.

Working by decree, the U.S. Army is developing a new type of assault craft to carry the infantry from the barracks ships to the river banks.

Conventional landing craft and amphibious vehicles, such as the LVTs, are considered "too slow" for "riverine" warfare in the swampy delta.

Although the specific characteristics of the new assault craft are classified, it is understood they will be armored for protection of the crew and the infantry could be rigged with gear to deal with mines.

The new craft will be fast—possibly as fast as 30 knots—and will be shallow in draft.

It would be used in a limited area, using perhaps two barracks ships for base. If it is successful, the campaign would be expanded gradually to full scale.

On the northwest coast, as the storm passed Wednesday night, Havana radio said two persons were electrocuted and another drowned, bringing the storm's announced death toll in Cuba to four. Hundreds were injured during her previous visit.

Inez is known to have killed more than 100 persons in the Caribbean and possibly many more in Haiti.

A rocket blast at the Yucatan Peninsula might send incoming or across the Gulf of Mexico toward the main body of the Gulf.

The peninsula, which juts into the Gulf of Mexico to split it off from the Caribbean, is owned partly by Mexico. The southeast corner, occupied by British Honduras and a part of Guatemala.

Early today, Inez was about 275 miles west-southwest of Key West, Fla., and 150 miles north of Cuba.

Two persons were injured when a plane crashed into the downtown Havana during a torrential rain Wednesday night. A biplane was reported to have crashed into a building.

Heavy flooding was reported in the Havana area where 10,000 persons fled their homes and sought refuge in the hills. In some houses near the swollen Almendares River, which flows through the heart of the Cuban capital.

The radio said 805 persons were evacuated from Guanabo beach, near Havana, when the Cuban National Hurricane Center said Havana reported more than 12 inches of rain during a 24-hour period.

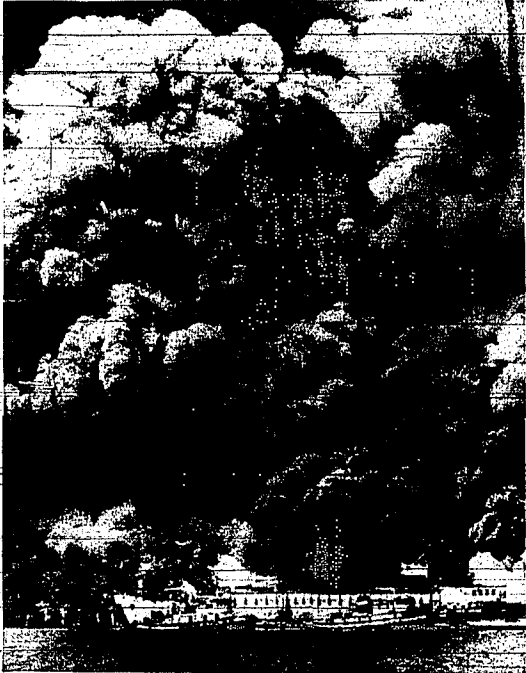

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A unit of 66 Viet Cong soldiers surrendered en masse today as American, Korean and South Vietnamese forces closed in on an encircled, fragmented Communist force on the central coast.

The wholesale surrender raised to about 300 the number of prisoners taken by the combined allied force in five days of fighting along the coast.

The biggest haul of prisoners, and in addition the allied forces claimed nearly 500 North Viet Cong soldiers and 100 weapons.

To the north just below the 17th parallel, the U.S. Marines braved a hail of Communist grenades and waded in ankle-deep mud Wednesday to capture the last hill along a four-mile ridge which had been cleared of North Vietnamese for 15 days.

Rusk, Iron Curtain Officials Confer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk continued conferring today with foreign ministers from Iron Curtain nations, but got no clue whether there has been any change in North Viet Nam's position on peace talks. Rusk and Foreign Minister Vachlav David of Czechoslovakia discussed the Viet-Nam war in a conference on world issues that lasted more than an hour. Czech Premier Josef Lenart returned recently from a visit to Hanoi.

But David told newsmen after today's talk with Rusk that he had no message to give the secretary of state.

"We mentioned North Viet Nam only in general terms," David added.

Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu of Romania at dinner Wednesday night, but an American source said the Romanian did not indicate any change in North Viet Nam's position.

Today Rusk was to meet with Foreign Minister Vachlav David, who had been in Moscow and was scheduled to leave for Moscow today. Rusk is expected to leave for Moscow today.

Chrysler Unit In Canada Shuts Down

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Chrysler Canada Ltd. shut down its main passenger car production plant at midnight despite announcement of a tentative agreement between the striking United Auto Workers Union and the Chrysler planting plant at Windsor, Ohio.

A spokesman for Chrysler Canada said the 8,400 Chrysler cars being laid off will not be recalled until next Tuesday, after Canada's Thanksgiving Day holiday.

Chrysler Canada is supplied through a hot metal stamping-plant for doors, roofs and sides of passenger cars—from the Ohio plant.

The strike, which began last Thursday, has brought Chrysler production in both countries to a near halt, affecting some 40,000 workers. The shutdown does not involve some 5,000 other Chrysler Canada employees involved in truck and automotive parts production here.

Blasts Cause Huge Fire on Waterfront

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A tank-truck loaded with liquid oxygen exploded at a shipyard near here today, touching off a series of powerful blasts and a mammoth Mississippi River waterfront fire.

Authorities said no one was killed or injured.

Three fire trucks, caught downwind by the roaring flames, fought the fire.

The blaze, quickly engulfed a warehouse behind the Westwego wharf on the west bank of the river. The wharf is used by Avondale shipyards to outfit new ships.

The driver of the oxygen truck that exploded, Meade L. Willis, 41, first reported missing, said there was a series of blasts. He said he was about 10 feet from the truck when the first explosion occurred.

"The first blast didn't knock me down, but it sure gave me a running start," he said.

Two Navy helicopters with two extinguishing foam and four fireboats joined land-based firemen from two parishes (counties) in fighting the flames.

The fire, before it was contained, covered a three-block long area.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Two Argentine nationalists who hijacked a plane Sept. 28 for a "raid" on the British-held Falkland Islands were charged with piracy and five other crimes today. They face maximum sentences of 15 years in jail.

The group was brought ashore in this southernmost Argentine town in frozen Tierra del Fuego Wednesday.

Discrimination Against Idaho's Farmers Discussed by Candidates

By The Associated Press
Political candidates talked about Idaho's farmers Wednesday, saying they had been discriminating against by both the Johnson administration and Northwest freight rates.

Democratic candidate Cecil Andrus called for revision on some Idaho laws dealing with labor.

State Sen. James McClure said today if he were elected he would fight "discriminatory" rates which, he said, cost as much as wheat shipment from Lewiston to Portland.

"The rates for movement of products in the West Coast," he said, "are discriminatory."

Kennedy made it clear that he would not be interested in being President Johnson's running mate even if the President asked him to, the article said.

Johnson Is Expanding Manila Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is expanding his trip to the Manila conference into a major Asian tour with visits to New Zealand, Australia, Thailand, Malaysia and South Korea, as well as the Philippines. Johnson's plans were disclosed today by governments of several of the Asian nations. There was no immediate word from the White House, but the President scheduled an afternoon news conference that was expected to bring his confirmation of the announcements from abroad.

Mediators Work on GE Strike Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal mediators continued working today for an opening wedge in the bargaining positions of union and company negotiators in a threatened General Electric strike which the government fears would harm national defense.

"We have no new money to put on the table," General Electric top negotiator, Philip D. Moore, told chief federal mediator, President Paul Jennings of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers told William H. Sullivan, a federal official who considers it "critical" to win the demands for a 10 percent raise.

Corpsman Tells About Questioning

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Peace Corpsman Thomas Dawson, detained by the Soviet government for three weeks after wandering across the Soviet-Iranian border, says Communist officials interrogated him four hours a day.

But he described his treatment at the hands of the Soviets as cordial.

Dawson, of Annapolis, Md., returned to the United States Wednesday night for a smiling, reunion with his mother and sister.

Dawson, 24, was arrested by Soviet border guards as he looked for shells along a shallow stream near the Caspian Sea.

"I walked down the beach, past what was the Russian border, but I didn't know it at that time," he said. "There was nothing to indicate it was the Russian border. No signs, no people and nobody ever told me it was the border."

The Peace Corpsman said he hopes to return to Iran after a few weeks rest.

Aborigine Girls Want to Go to City

TAIPEI, Formosa, (AP) — It's a problem in the tribal villages near the farm after they've seen Taipei.

But the government is doing it partly by getting the tribal boys to attend school.

The official interest is work of a campaign to keep Formosa's nine aborigine tribes from going out. It has been a generally successful drive, with the tribal population up from 88,000 in 1945 to 124,000 now.

Formosa's aborigines — known as the Malayan-Polynesians — came to this island centuries ago, long before the first Chinese settlers. Now the tribesmen are for outnumbered by the almost 13 million Chinese on Formosa.

Not so long ago some of the tribesmen were headhunters, in the south they lived in villages of state huts. In the east and north they favored grass and wood shacks. Their social life was similar. The women worked in the fields and took care of the homes and children. The men spent their time hunting, wild boar and deer, game, smoking and drinking rice and sorghum wine.

The arrival of the Chinese Nationalists and the government of Formosa's economy has been a mixed blessing. Government farm experts have gone to the tribal villages to teach the sanitation and home economics. The result has been a lower death rate. Some of the tribesmen have been down to the bustling cities.

Aborigine girls have especially liked what the cities have had to offer: more feminine clothes, easier jobs and contacts with men who work. The tribal men have been less impressed by the cities. They've generally remained at home for obvious reasons.

But a few years ago they began to have trouble finding wives. Aside from the girls who migrated to the cities not a few young aborigine women married Chinese servicemen stationed near their villages.

Now there's informal pressure by the government to get the girls to go back home, and to get the boys to work in the fields so that the girls will feel like staying home.

Conditions are also changing in the tribal villages, making them more attractive. Taboos about Western dress are being forgotten. A few aborigine women who have returned from the cities are running flourishing beauty parlors.

The Taipei government, while trying to preserve the tribes, is seeking to give them a Chinese identity. Tribal schools teach the official language, Mandarin. Aborigine girls, which exist only in the spoken form, are likely to die out.

Some tribal manners also are fading away. It used to be good etiquette to spit with the fingers. But now extension workers are teaching the use of chopsticks. Women now wash their faces. Now they use lipstick.

Most of the tribesmen live in remote hill villages, but a number have discovered the benefits and profits of tourism.

They have established villages near Taipei and other cities. Pretty girls put on the feather and blanket costumes of their ancestors and perform ancient dances for paying customers.

Older women sell wood carvings, baskets and other handicrafts. But they make most of their money by posing for tourist photographers — at 10 new Taiwan dollars (25 cents) per picture.

Johnson Foresees Demo Victory

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Johnson forecast victory today for Democratic candidates in the November election, based on what he called "the very effective and productive record" of the Democratic-controlled Congress.

The President disagreed, in effect, with a news conference questioner who suggested that the nation's economic problems and civil rights strife were overshadowing Viet Nam as an issue.

China Counts on Human Arms, Hands To Carry It Into Age of Industry

TOKYO (AP) — Work, mess halls have disappeared and peasant rice pots again simmer on the charcoal stoves of individual farmhouses.

Thanks to three years of good harvests, the prospect of a bumper one ahead, and the import of grain, the Chinese peasant no longer is the gaunt, underfed figure he once was, suffering badly from malnutrition. His caloric intake — given out as about 2,000 daily — is less than in many other Asian countries, but the regime claims it is rising.

The nation's 600 million peasants are bearing the brunt. Their lot today is less difficult than it was in the 1959-61 period of depression following failure of the "great leap forward." They have more to eat, dress somewhat better and no longer face the specter of starvation. But their life is primitive.

In 1958, they were placed under a system of 26,000 centralized communes, their lives regimented from dawn to dusk. They ate in communal dining halls and complained that meals were badly cooked and inequitable.

The decentralization of the communes, many of the central some peasants have been violent. Mao has had to order the youngsters to put aside politics and bring in the harvest.

Living in the cities, nominally working a six-day week, the laborer is better off than his revolutionary rival in the countryside.

Communal messhalls were set up for various industries during the "great leap" but these proved a greater failure than did those in the communes. Though his tent is small, the city worker suffers from overcrowding. And the eight-hour day frequently stretches out to 12 with overtime, party meetings and sparetime education.

During the "great leap" period many workers collapsed from exhaustion as the party urged them to go to greater and greater efforts.

Today, like the peasant, the worker eats better and, because he is nearer a large market, has Nearly everyone who has visited the farms agrees that health conditions and sanitation have improved. But keeping any farmhouse clean, particularly when it gives shelter to domestic animals as well as to human beings, is a problem not unique to China.

The Chinese peasant still wears patched clothes, has little money to spare to buy new ones.

In recent weeks, the militant Red Guards have been lecturing peasants on Mao Tse-tung's campaign to win "struggle" campaigns. The reactions of

Girl Injured Slightly in Auto Accident

A Twin Falls girl was treated Wednesday night at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital after receiving minor injuries in a three-car collision on Addison Avenue West.

Injured was Lorrie Dohse, 18, Route 2, who was a passenger in a vehicle driven by James E. Braun, 18, Twin Falls. He was cited after the 10:15 p.m. accident by city police for following too closely.

Officers said a 1959 Pontiac driven by Linda Heglund Pyne, 19, Twin Falls, attempted a left turn into a service station. Another car, a 1959 Buick, driven by Linda Young, 19, Twin Falls, stopped behind the Pontiac and the 1955 Chevrolet Braun was driving slammed into the rear of the Buick, pushing it into the Pontiac.

The three vehicles were going west on Addison Avenue West. The Buick and Chevrolet both were demolished and about $15 damage done to the Pontiac. Passenger in the Buick vehicle was Sandra McBride, 18, Twin Falls, and passenger in the Young vehicle was Cheryl Skene, 21, Twin Falls.

Miss Dohse was the only one of the six people involved who was injured. She was released from the hospital after treatment.

LUCKY TO BE ALIVE, Patricia Griffin, 5, thinks her black eye is just beautiful. She had a car radio antenna lodged in her right eye-socket which took a team of doctors two hours to remove. She was playing on the family car and fell on the antenna. Doctors said Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Idaho Youth Has Episode With Bear

PIERCE, Idaho (AP) — Jeff Rode was sleeping peacefully in his two-wheel trailer in the mountains near this North-central Idaho community this week. Suddenly, the 18-year-old Lewiston, Idaho, man in the trailer up, he started to slide, as most into the arms of a 350-pound black bear.

Rode, who is five-foot-six, decided to retreat, then figure out what to do.

He dashed to his nearby car with the bruin right behind. Rode made the car, locked the door and grabbed his rifle. The bear, apparently enraged because he couldn't get inside, climbed on the hood of the car, jumped up and down and ripped off the radio aerial.

Making no headway on the hood, the bear climbed down and took a roundhouse swing at the right front window. Rode said, "It was terrifying."

The hole was made in order for Rode's rifle muzzle and he used it shooting the animal in the chest.

The battle was over and Rode had the bear's hide. He also had a couple of other things: a battered car, a shattered car window and a ringing in his head from the concussion of the rifle fired inside the car.

Sign Change Confirmed At Jerome

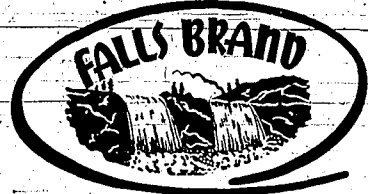

GEROME—A letter from the State Highway Department, affirming the change of wording on the Jerome turn-off signs on the Interstate from "Appleton Road" to West Main Street, and from "Lincoln Road" to Lincoln Avenue, was read at the Jerome City Council meeting Tuesday night.

The action confirmed in the letter was in accordance with the wishes of local merchants, who had protested the prior designations at an earlier meeting, as being misleading.

Three building permits, totaling $2,400, for remodeling of residences were approved. A claim from Charles E. Smith was presented for property damage incurred when irrigation water flooded his basement.

After discussion of pertinent facts, the council voted to pay for removal of a willow tree which constitutes a traffic hazard on the right-of-way at the corner of West Avenue N. and Fifth Street. Reports of department heads were heard and department quarterly budget reports examined and discussed by the council. Budget balances appear sufficient for operation of the city in the final quarter of the fiscal year, councilman report.

DIRECTOR RESIGNS
BOISE (AP)—Frank B. Wilson, 36, executive director of the Idaho Food Dealers Association, announced his resignation Wednesday. He said he has accepted a position as general agent in Idaho for the Idaho Savings Plans, Inc., of Denver, Colo.

Wilson has been the only executive director the association has had, although it was organized in 1933. Wilson began his duties in 1940, when the association undertook statewide expansion.

DEFICIT IS LESS
BOISE (AP)—A job statement by the state auditor and treasurer said Wednesday that the Idaho general fund is overdrawn by $4,508,517, which is less than the $15,484,439 deficit at this time last year.

Included in the overdraft was $2,000,000 worth of tax notes. Tax notes are issued to borrow money for the general fund from the state's funds. They totaled $6,000,000 at this time last year. The general fund deficit this year is less than in the past because of the additional revenue brought in by the sales tax.

TIMBER SALE OK'D
BOISE (AP)—Approval of sale of timber on four tracts of state-owned land was reported Thursday by the State Land Board.

The sale will total about three million board feet and the land is located in Bonanza, Latah and Shoshone counties.

Saves Letters

WASHINGTON (AP)—In 15 years in Congress, Rep. Leo W. O'Brien thinks most letters he found unanswerable. He saved them.

"I've got a whole book, says the New York Democrat, I'm going to send them to congressmen and ask them what they're going to do."

Best Weight Losers Are Honored

MURTAUGH—Report of the Pounds Chasers TOPS Club for September shows the best weekly weight losers were Mrs. Ronald Grossman, first and Mrs. Dale Peterson, second and fourth, and Mrs. Thomas Russell, third.

Mrs. Grossman was the best loser for the month and received the hat styling award.

A Halloween theme was used for the club's three-month party held Tuesday night at the LDS Church. The party was given by members who gained the most over a three-month period, honoring those who had gained the least. Games were played and refreshments were served. Kenneth Wright played his guitar and sang a medley of songs.

Three-month queen-in-division five is Mrs. Grossman and in division four, Mrs. Russell.

The Murtaugh club was declared winner of a contest with the Rupert TOPS club and will be guests of the losers, Oct. 27 at Rupert for a Halloween party and low-calorie dinner.

Magic Reservoir Storage Is Low

SHOSHONE—At the end of the irrigation season Magic Reservoir contained 13,800 acre feet of water, compared to 157,000 acre feet a year ago.

According to Leon Griev, manager of Big Wood Canal Co., reason for storage dropping from full to such a low figure is because the inflow was extremely low this season.

Water will be turned out of Miller-Gooding Canal Thursday evening. Stock water will be available in the Magic Area after that, until Nov. 1.

BOISE (AP)—Boise Cascade Corp. President R. V. Hansberger said Wednesday his firm would build a multi-million dollar forest products complex near De Rudder, La.

A $65 million pulp and paper mill will be built first, the executive said, and the company is considering building a plywood plant, a sawmill and other wood product plants nearby in the future.

The plant will take pulp timber from Louisiana and east Texas.

DEVELOPS PROGRAM
BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Vocational Education Department has developed a training program to turn out tractor mechanics to meet demands in Treasure Valley within the next five years.

The program was described Wednesday by Scott Scholman, vice president of the International Association of Hardware and Implement dealers.

Scholman said there is an immediate need for 50 of the agricultural equipment technicians, and he said nearly twice that many would be needed within five years.

A league spokesman said the expanded non-partisan information service was made possible by a grant from the Idaho Legislature.

The league will provide information on all statewide and congressional candidates this year.

BOISE (AP)—Eugene B. Chaffee, 35, announced Wednesday his resignation as president of Boise College to assume the new position of chancellor of the school July 1, 1967.

He will be on leave of absence from Dec. 1 until May 31, 1967.

Doctors Probe Mysterious Disease That Kills Babies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Doctors are launching an intensive new probe of the mysterious, nameless disease that kills thousands of apparently healthy babies each year.

The condition has no medical name, but the Public Health Service rates it as one of the top killers of infants with between 10,000 and 20,000 victims annually in the United States and unknown numbers in other countries.

Dr. James R. Patrick, 33, chief pathologist at the District of Columbia Children's Hospital, heads the research team. He said he believes a combination of factors may make certain infants more susceptible than others to the disease.

Patrick's team will be looking among other things, for any special virus or combination of viruses that might prove fatal to infants.

Patrick said his team will start actual research work when special equipment arrives in a few weeks. The project is being conducted under a $15,200 contract with the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, part of the National Institutes of Health.

The NIH said previous research, some of which it sponsored, has failed to turn up a definite cause of the sudden infant deaths.

But these facts are known about the condition: It is most prevalent in infants between 2 and 4 months of age.

Two Lectures Set Sunday at Area Church

BURLEY—Rev. Walter Lang, Caldwell, will give lectures on "Bible and Science" at 10:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. Sunday at Zion Lutheran Church.

Rev. Lang is executive director of the Bible-Science Association, Inc., and pastor of Grace Lutheran Church in Caldwell.

Two of the concrete voices in the theological and scientific fields today are the Bible-Science Institute and the Creation Research Society. While they are separate organizations, they work closely together and pronounce the same truth, that there is no conflict between science and Scripture and that such scientific statements as are contained in Scripture are true, according to Rev. Glenn K. Koch. This would include a literal reading of the Book of Genesis, he added.

The Creation Research Society is made up of scientists with at least a master's degree in some field of pure or applied science who reject the evolutionary hypothesis and accept Jesus Christ as Savior.

The Bible Science Institute bases its membership on a firm acceptance of the creation account and Jesus Christ as Savior. It furnishes lectures, films, printed materials, and publishes a regular paper called "The Bible Science News Letter."

As executive director of the group, Rev. Lang will be lecturing extensively throughout the

Thrifty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lawrence F. O'Brien thinks postal employees aren't getting enough use out of each paper clip.

Fifty million paper clips were issued in the 12-month period—last year—and a large percentage of those probably were discarded too soon," he said.

O'Brien also appealed for longer use of each lead pencil in his weekly bulletin to the nation's postal workers. "Three million lead pencils were issued last year and undoubtedly many were thrown away in usable condition," he said.

Candidate Aid Remains Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, is saying nothing about reports that President Johnson will not support Democratic candidates for governor in three states.

The candidates are segregationists Lester G. Maddox of Georgia and Jim Johnson of Arkansas, and an opponent of open housing, George Mahoney of Maryland.

A display of Bible-science materials will be available for inspection.

WENDELL—Olive Ann Parker, daughter of Mrs. Ella Mae Parker, Wendell, became the bride of Spec. 4. Dennis Keith Turpin, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Turpin, Jerome, in the Sept. 20 at the home of the bride's mother.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Ward Chaburn, Albion, wore a white lace suit, featuring an A-line skirt enhanced with a lace shawl. The jacket was fastened with two large self-covered buttons. The suit was made by Mrs. LeRoy Gibbs. Her hat was white, topped with a large white rose and enhanced with a short round veil.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations interspersed with lavender net and lavender satin streamers.

The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered square cake, decorated with lavender violet and white roses. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. In a heart of lace and violets, lavender streamers cascaded down to heart-shaped cakes.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Rosa Stevenson, Wendell, and Mrs. LeRoy Turpin, Jerome. Barbara Walters, Buhl, served the punch. Other reception assistants were Mrs. Vera Hansen, Mrs. Everett Cox, Beverly Peterson and Marsha Harlan.

FREE...CANDY MAKING SCHOOL!

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 11

AMERICAN LEGION HALL

205 THIRD AVENUE EAST - TWIN FALLS

LEARN HOW TO MAKE PERFECT FUDGE,
PEANUT BRITTLE, AFTER DINNER MINTS

Mr. Davenport makes three candies before the class, and thereby teaches ten kinds of related candies. In making creamed fudge, he shows how to make such candies as fondant, divinity, and Mexican Penuche. In making after-dinner mints, he shows how to make taffy and molasses suckers. And with the making of peanut brittle, he gives sufficient information to enable the class to make English Toffee, pop-corn crisp, and nut glaze.

Find the answers to such questions as "What makes my candy turn to sugar?", "What makes candy curdle?", "Why do some recipes say cook without stirring?", "Why does it take so long for my fudge to get creamy, and for divinity to set up?" And the answers to others YOU may ask at the Candy school.

Mr. E. Remington Davenport has been a professional candymaker for 27 years. He has traveled in Europe and all parts of the United States exchanging secrets with top professional candymakers. He is also the author of two books on candy-making. These books will be available to those desiring them but there is absolutely no obligation to buy. This school is sponsored by the Times-News and costs you absolutely nothing! Mr. Davenport is assisted in the classes by his wife.

Property Funds Misuse Being Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan says two Senate investigations subcommittee aides have been dispatched to Saigon to check reports of misuse of government property and funds.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Government Operations Committee, was asked if the reports concerned bribery or corruption.

"That may be involved," he replied. "We're not sure what all will be found."

McClellan would not disclose the origin of the reports, but said they were "not sufficient" to warrant dispatch of the two aides — Jerome Alderman, the subcommittee's general counsel, and Phillip Morgan, chief counsel for the subcommittee's minority.

The two left for Saigon Sunday. "There is no set date for their return," McClellan said, "but they won't be there any undue length of time."

Ambassador To Russia Is Selected

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson named Ellsworth Thompson today to serve once again as America's ambassador to Russia.

Thompson, 62-year-old career diplomat, was formerly U.S. envoy at Moscow in 1957-62. He succeeds Foy Kohler, who is returning to Washington to become a deputy undersecretary of state.

In announcing the appointment of Thompson, who has been top East-West affairs adviser during both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, Johnson said:

"Because of the importance of our relations with the Soviet Union at this time, I am asking Mr. Thompson to return to a post he has already served for a longer period than any American ambassador in history."

Treasury Is Unhappy With Counterfeiters' Competition

WASHINGTON (AP) — If quality of counterfeiters, they still there's one thing the Treasury Department dislikes. It's competition in one of its major endeavors — making money.

Despite the department's phenomenal success over 101 years in eliminating competition, however, counterfeiting — reached its peak during the year which ended June 30 and the heightened pace is continuing.

But the Secret Service, which was created in 1865 to combat widespread counterfeiting, also had some bad news for the makers of phony money. It reported record seizures and reported for counterfeiting during its last fiscal year.

James J. Rowley, the Secret Service director, said the major factors in the bogus money boom is the improvement in photography and printing which has made it easier and quicker to produce counterfeiters.

And the service added that counterfeiters, in general, are turning out more phony bills per capita than they once did. It's simply a matter of running the process longer.

There's no indication that this criminal activity will lessen in the coming year, Rowley said. He added that the rise in counterfeiting generally follows the rise in the society's affluence and the increase in the amount of money in circulation.

At last count on Aug. 31, there was $34.4 billion in paper money in circulation.

Despite improvements in the quality of counterfeiters, they still (all) short of Treasury standards — the parchment, for example, on which real money is printed has never been duplicated by counterfeiters.

The Secret Service dislikes talking publicly about the techniques it uses to catch counterfeiters, but tipsters and undercover agents play an effective part in enforcement.

Among the modern tools the Treasury uses are its laboratories where it can examine the minute details of paper, inks, fibers and other characteristics peculiar to bogus bills.

Spreading joy in $10 and $20 amounts this week is the Instant Money Man, calling on homes to promote Instant Maxwell House Coffee. When shown a jar of Instant Maxwell House, or "IMH" handwritten on a plain piece of paper, he hands over a check for $10. He pays double when shown an Instant Money Man Certificate, obtainable free at local food stores.

Sampling Indicates 92 Per Cent of Americans Think Religion Important

NEW YORK (AP) — Ninety-two per cent of Americans regard religion as important, with 70 per cent of the group considering it "very important," and 22 per cent thinking it "fairly important," a national sampling of the Gallup public opinion research organization, also turned up these other findings:

Concern for religion is greater in medium-sized cities, of 25,000 to 100,000 population, where 73 per cent of the people consider religion "very important," and 21 per cent of the people consider it "fairly important." In large, metropolitan cities, 68 per cent of the people consider religion "very important," and 22 per cent of the people consider it "fairly important." In small cities, of fewer than 25,000 population, 65 per cent of the people consider religion "very important," and 22 per cent of the people consider it "fairly important."

The survey, taken for the Catholic Digest magazine by the Gallup public opinion research organization, also turned up these other findings:

Eichmann Aide Given Acquittal

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Franz Novak, a wartime aide of Adolf Eichmann, was acquitted by a jury today of charges of "public deeds of violence" as a Nazi transport official in the deportation of Jews to concentration camps.

The jury of five women and three men found insufficient evidence that the 53-year-old former SS captain, put on trial again after the Supreme Court overturned an earlier 8-year prison sentence — on the same charges — had been aware of the fate of Jewish deportees.

The jury accepted Novak's plea that he was only a minor official in Eichmann's deportation scheme and that he always believed the Jewish prisoners would be resettled in Nazi-occupied territories in Eastern Europe.

Instant Money Man Here For Instant Maxwell House

Lucky local residents this week are opening their doors to a friendly and generous visitor.

The neatly dressed visitor is the Instant Money Man. His mission is to introduce more people to Instant Maxwell House Coffee.

Show me a jar of Instant Maxwell House, or the letters "IMH" handwritten on a plain piece of paper," says the Instant Money Man, "and I'll give you a check for $10." No purchase required.

Makes Visit to Store Worthwhile

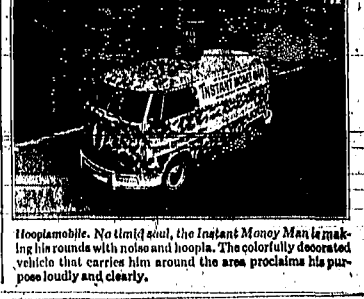

"Show me an Instant Money Man Certificate you got free at your store and I'll give you one Instant Money Man."

Smart housewives are heeding the advice. They're preparing for a visit from the Instant Money Man by going to the Instant Maxwell House displays at their stores and picking up free Instant Money Man Certificates.

Three-Week Visit

Here on a three-week tour of homes in the area, the Instant Money Man expects to be in the area through Saturday.

To coffee drinkers, the Instant Money Man points out that Instant Maxwell House is real perked coffee in a jar. "Maxwell House takes the best ground coffee and then perks it," he says. "Just like you would at home. They use a larger pot, of course, but the result is the same — real perked coffee." You get real perked coffee aroma in every jar, real perked coffee taste in every cup.

Housewives in Area Get Ready, Rush to the Instant Maxwell House Displays at Stores

As word spread that the Instant Money Man was expected in town next week, many a local housewife in the last few days has been talking excitedly to friends and neighbors on street corners, over back fences, on the telephone.

"Might as well be ready for him," said one lady.

"You never can tell. I'd hate to have the Instant Money Man ring my doorbell and find me unprepared. That would really be mising out on a good thing. And twenty dollars is twenty dollars."

She made sure to pick up the free Instant Money Man Certificate at the store.

"Just in case," she said.

Marines Claim Hill One Day, Move on, and Enemy Regains Position

NEAR THE DMZ, Viet Nam, for captured one day may be back in enemy hands the next. The Marines keep pushing way across the roof of South Vietnam to the hill ahead. When the Marines move off a ways higher than the last, and peak, North Vietnamese troops there is always another hill. This military maneuver—troops were moving down into these valleys—from the fighting that has developed forever since the Marines hold in these remote, misty mountains all the hills they fight for. But there are nearly as many hills on the border of South Viet Nam and the Communist North. The hill the Marines fought in Viet Nam. The Marines took to the hills in an extension of earlier strategy that envisaged the annihilation of the enemy in the fertile valleys running up from the South China Sea. North Vietnamese troops were moving down into these valleys from the fighting that has developed forever since the Marines hold in these remote, misty mountains all the hills they fight for. But there are nearly as many hills on the border of South Viet Nam and the Communist North. The hill the Marines fought in Viet Nam.

With the enemy thrown from the valleys, the Marines took to the high ground. It has been a long, tough grind ever since. The 3rd Battalion, 4th Regiment attacked one ridge line two weeks ago. The first hill, a mere bump in the ground, according to Capt. J. J. Carroll of Miami Beach, Fla., proved to be the region's most formidable obstacle of well-manned bunkers and sniping enemy machine guns. In a charge, Lt. Richard W. Mullins of Torrance, Calif., ordered his men to strip down to only two bandoliers of ammunition and their weapons before taking the crest. Carroll's company suffered heavy casualties. "Was every 'little bump' in the region worth heavy Marine casualties? Marine strategists decided no. But they knew that behind barrages of high explosives that shook the ground and dislodged monkeys from the trees, hilltop objectives cloaked in thick jungle were denuded by napalm and bomb strikes. A score of B-52 Stratofortresses came over one night and laid waste a valley below Marine positions along a ridge line. Dangerous-looking peaks were blasted by air and artillery in day-and-night-long barrages.

In every hill there were enemy bunkers, scores of them, lining the mountain paths and dug into the peaks. As the artillery barrages increased there was less enemy resistance to the Marines. One battalion commander has ice back at his base, ready to be thrown out and be cracked on the peak of the last hill that they have to scale.

Girlfriend Finds Writing to Private in Viet Nam Is Expensive

FORT LEE, N. J. (NEA) — Every evening Linda Garlowski, age 20, of this city, writes several pages of airmail letters to Pvt. John Riley, age 22, at Tan An, Viet Nam.

Each letter costs her eight cents. Frequently she wraps up four or five pound packages — canned cookies, small cakes, sourmilk donuts — and sends them to her infantry-enlisted boy friend. They cost her "about $5" apiece.

If she sends 355 such letters in the coming year and two such packages a month — which she insists she will — she will spend nearly $100 on postage alone to mail morale to Pvt. Riley during his 12-month tour of the war.

"Gee," she observes, "it's expensive."

With countless Americans now sending thousands of pounds of mail every day to soldiers in Southeast Asia (some 5,000 more to be expected before Christmas) the total tab for stateiders is millions of dollars.

Because of this cost, many kind-of legislation has been passed in Washington to eliminate the postage on mail being sent to servicemen in the war. The Sig. a Pvt. E-2 earning $37.50 a month — cannot afford any packages whatsoever.

Linda Garlowski thinks it's a shame. "So," she says, "some of my friends and I have gotten together a petition in northern New Jersey. It asks that some kind-of legislation be passed in Washington to eliminate the postage on mail being sent to servicemen in the war. The Sig. natures and enthusiasm generated have been encouraging."

Signatures? "More than 2,000 of them so far."

Enthusiasm? "Even the post office people are signing," she giggles.

The petition argues that no warfront soldier should be kept from maximum homefront mail because of economic reasons. It also implies that, since the United States is now spending $2 billion a month toward increasing the machinery to wage the war, it can also afford some money toward increasing the morale to wage it.

From time to time similar petitions have circulated throughout the country. Unfortunately for the campaigners, none has ever raised dust. So it has been with any conceived legislation on the subject.

Rep. Dominick Danile (D-N. J.), for example, placed a bill (HR 13071) before the House last February. His aides say, frankly, "It got nowhere fast."

Danile's proposal, which would eliminate postal charges on first-class letters and parcels (five pounds or less) not exceeding 60 inches in length and girth, "hasn't a chance this session," his office says. "We're not optimistic about next session, either."

The trouble is, according to representatives of the House Post Office Committee, there has been no popular backing for such a law.

China Cities Lose Flavor Under Communism

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — The great cities of China and some of the lesser ones are being transformed outwardly by the iconoclastic Red Guards. Under communism the cities already have lost much of their old flavor.

Peking, Shanghai, Canton — these were cities whose names conjured up images of gaiety and international intrigue and revolutionary plotting.

Since 1949, Mao Tse-tung has altered their look and their feel, knocking down old walls, erecting ugly, functional buildings, cleaning them up to within an inch of their former bourgeois lives.

Time was when the Chinese in their long, blue gowns rolled silently through the narrow muddy hutongs and back lanes of Peking, reclining luxuriously in rickshaws pulled by half-naked coolies. The rickshaws and the coolies are gone, replaced by the bicycle, an occasional automobile, tricycle, pedicar and shank's mare.

Peking, capital of the world's most populous nation, is a political city. Its Mao-era buildings are new but dull. Apartment houses and staidy government structures clash with the architecture of the ancient palaces and the secluded, tile-roofed houses of the past.

Bursting at the seams — the city's population has soared from two million before 1949 to nearly six million today. Peking is all bustle in the daytime, particularly these days as squads of Red Guards roam far and wide, changing street signs, pasting up millions of portraits of Mao, fellooning the buildings with red-bannered slogans.

Until this year, the year of Mao's "revolutionary" purges, Peking's temples and old palaces were kept intact, painted and refurbished to impress foreign visitors with communism's respect for religion and ancient culture.

All this is changing under the adolescent blows of the Red Guards' one-time child star, who, Buddhist, Taoist and Catholic centers, desecrated Buddhist treasures, defiled foreign cemeteries.

If Peking has changed, Shanghai, once the great trade and money mart of the mainland, is almost unrecognizable. The tall buildings erected by the "imperialist" Chinese and Japanese — the Cathay Hotel, the Broadway mansions, the old race track — still stand, identified by ingenious guides as Mao's creations. But they have been turned into guest-houses, party and labor headquarters.

Though the city has burgeoned in size to more than eight million people, making it the shopping districts back are plenty of goods in the department stores but few buyers, a handful of tame "state capitalists" for foreign newsmen to interview, and many obscure foreign memorials which testify to the time when Shanghai was an international city.

The standard color of the inhabitants of Canton, to the south, remains black rather than blue, an inheritance not yet abolished. Smaller, more insular and peppery, Canton and the Cantonese once were famed for rebellion and plotting. Travelers who stop over there en route to Peking and Shanghai now report it is deadly dull, sound asleep by 9 p.m.

Thousands of its river boat dwellers have been moved from the canals and riverways to more modern housing ashore. But they return — dressed in their wide straw hats, squatting on the deck — to their floating almost unrecognizable. The tall buildings erected by the "imperialist" Chinese and Japanese — the Cathay Hotel, the Broadway mansions, the old race track — still stand, identified by ingenious guides as Mao's creations. But they have been turned into guest-houses, party and labor headquarters.

Though boredom and Canton could be used interchangeably, it has virtues it once lacked: much of the dirt has been cleared away, the squalor and poverty of the past have been alleviated, and living — the new apartments cost 10 per cent of a worker's income — is cheaper.

Three- and four-story apartment houses have sprung up to care for the population spread, a serious one there as elsewhere. Once a "city of smells," Canton now is neat and sanitary but without the appeal of Peking or Shanghai.

Good Timing

— FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)

A bull elk forced his way into a Flagstaff wildlife refuge, giving up the forests and plains for life behind a chain link fence.

The elk, a 1,200 pounder, had slammed himself up against the fence for several days before breaking in, according to Ted Babbitt, a member of the Buffalo Park Wildlife Committee.

What seemed to be wrong with the animal?

Nothing, Babbitt said. "He broke in the day before elk season opened."

Landing System; Drop Test Held

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N. M. (AP) — The Space Agency has conducted the first in a series of tests designed to develop atmospheric descent and landing systems for future manned spacecraft.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesmen at White Sands said in the test Wednesday a Gemini spacecraft boiler-plate dropped from a plane for a parachute descent to the desert floor.

Purpose of the first test was to test new, reefing cutters, which are designed to keep the parachute from opening completely at first and thus reduce the initial shock on astronauts.

Fine Ordered

SALISBURY, England (AP)

A young English nobleman who set off a gasoline bomb to protest the use of one of England's loveliest old villages by an American film company, has been ordered to pay a $1,400 fine or go to jail for 12 months.

Lt. Sir Ramulph Twistleton-Wykeham-Fiennes, 22, and three of his friends pleaded guilty Wednesday to setting off the delayed action bombs in the village of Castle Coombe last June. The friends' fines ranged from $250 to $500.

ISU Coach Believes 110 Per Cent From Team Could Earn Bengal Win

POCATELLO — Hoping for a typical 110 per cent effort, Idaho State University football coach Lee McKillip feels his Bengals "have a chance" against the favored University of Idaho Vandals when those two teams collide at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at ISU's Spauld Bowl. "They (the Vandals) have to be heavily favored," said McKillip in a conversation with the Times-News. "But if we get the effort from the boys like we have in the past, I think we have a chance."

ROGER THOMAS, 265-pound offensive tackle from Kimberly, will be in the starting lineup for ISU Saturday when the Bengals host the Idaho Vandals in the ISU stadium at 1:30. The Bengals will be after their first win over the Vandals.

McDonald Is Tops in Nation in Rushing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Far West has been far and away the most successful section in producing individual national leaders in major college football statistics this season. Latest figures compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau showed today that Ray McDonald, Idaho fullback, is the pacesetter in rushing with 432 yards in 89 carries. Danny Holman of San Jose State is No. 1 in pass completions with 60 in 92 attempts.

"Other players from Far Western schools at the head of their classes are Doug Flansburg of Washington State in pass receiving with 27 for 228 yards; Albie Taylor of Utah State, kicker, returns with 246 yards; California's Jerry Bradley, punter, returns, 188 yards; and Wayne Stewart, also of California, in interceptions with 4 for 132 yards."

Bruins' Defense Is Stacked Against Boise in First Major League Test

Facing their biggest test of the year, the Twin Falls Bruins will travel to Boise Friday night to meet the twister-bombers, the very dangerous, Braves, Bunsling, a 4-0 record and ranked fifth in the state. Twin Falls' pattern of hard hitting, led by quarterback Jerry Dume, Boise, despite a 1-2-1 record, is so regarded that it hasn't been out of the top 10 rankings this year and currently is seventh.

Dume, a senior, makes the Braves big. A six-foot senior, he figures in on roughly half of the Braves' plays and averages 5 yards every time he plays. He's had 72 yards in 102 plays this year in total offense and 317 in 156 plays in the ground. In passing, he's hit 26 of 47 attempts for a .553 percentage, 403 yards and three touchdowns.

Twin Falls' coach Myral Kump reports Dume is dangerous on all but his back.

"I've seen him throw attacks at 50 and 60 yards with falling down. Just a flick of the wrist, Kump squandered to Coach McElroy.

"We're going to concentrate on Dume for sure," says Coach Eden. "I think our line has pretty well established itself. This week the pressure will be entirely on the secondary. If the boys can pick up some yardage, we hope to stop Dume's passing. But if we can't handle their strength,

"We'll have to play hard and hope a couple of breaks go our way," said McKillip.

The Bengals have always given the Vandals a hard battle and have led going into the fourth quarter on two occasions before being outmanned—and worn into a narrow defeat.

Under McKillip's tutelage, the Bengals present a new problem for the Vandals as quarterback Bill Ingram, a Vale Ore, product and Boise College transfer, has put teeth in a strong passing attack.

Ingram, who took Boise College to the Potato Bowl in Bakerfield, Calif., last fall, fits in perfectly with Coach McKillip's new pro offense.

McKillip indicated the Vandals, which have been only adequate at best on pass defense, will have another air test Saturday.

"We have a game plan but we can't go in that now," chuckled McKillip, for obvious reasons. "We'll be going with our same basic formations with a new wrinkle or two."

Summing up the ISU season so far, Coach McKillip noted "our team has made a lot of mistakes—but that's to be expected from a green, young bunch. Like we have, we've brought in a lot of new junior college transfers and, of course, even our veterans haven't ironed out all the wrinkles of our offense. We've been striving to cut down on the mistakes. We can afford any Saturday."

The coach believes his charges are working up to their task. "We had three fights break out during practice. We broke them up in a hurry and no one was hurt. But it's a good sign that they're preparing themselves mentally getting a little cocky."

About the biggest change this week will be the return of speedy John Figueroa at flanker back, 5'6 and 160 pounds, and Ollis Thomas and Bob Upshaw—perhaps ISU's best all around—will also see some defensive duty.

McKillip was happy to report that injured towel Van Orman, Jerome sophomore, may be able to see action. "Lovel was hobbling a little in practice, but he assures me he'll be ready to go in this one," he said. He added the injury solidified for Jerome also are seeing action and Twin Falls' Bob Satterwhite, converted to defensive end and the "good" spark, in practice this week.

A senior offensive tackle Roger Thomas, Kimberly, also is coming back. "He's been hurt for a while, but he's been hampered somewhat by an elbow injury sustained in the North Dakota game. He played well in the last solid fight after Arizona last week, however."

Looking toward the Vandals, McKillip noted that All-American Dave McMillan is a tough test for any line and Idaho should have an edge in speed. "Both (Joe) McCollum and (Ken) Dorr are good receivers. But that split end Manuel Murrell's kinda got me scared. He has excellent speed and quarterback John Figueroa throws well, I don't know whether to try double coverage on Murrell or what. He's capable of catching the bomb on every play," McKillip said.

McKillip noted tight end John McCarthy and center Bob Upshaw have been elected captains for the team.

SHOELESS JOE MCCOLLUM, Twin Falls graduate, playing for the University of Idaho, is shown on the play that carried to the one-yard line last Saturday against University of Pacific.

McCollum is expected to start against Idaho State at the Bengals' Spauld Bowl Saturday afternoon.

CSI Eagles Announce 30-Game Hoop Slate

College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles announce a 30-game schedule—including games at Buhl and Jerome—against most of the higher education institutions in Idaho and Northern Utah. Coach Eddie Sutton charges will have 15 home games and will meet every college or junior college in the state. Sutton noted that the University of Idaho Frosh would not appear in Twin Falls this year but possibly would in the future. BYU and Utah also have promised to keep the Eagles in the future scheduling. The Eagles will play home and home games with Utah State and Idaho State Frosh and Boise College. Coach Murray Gasterfield extended his season two games—to 28—to accommodate the Eagles this season.

"We have been very gratified and happy with the help we've received from everyone on the matter of scheduling," Sutton said. "All the colleges in this area have gone out of their way to help us establish an outstanding basketball program in our first year."

The schedule includes Nov. 25, Mountain Home Air Base at Twin Falls; Nov. 26, Mountain Home Air Base vs. CSI at Buhl; Nov. 30, CSI at Ricks of Rexburg; Dec. 3, Snow College at CSI; Dec. 3, CSI at Idaho Junior College at CSI; Dec. 17, CSI at University of Idaho Frosh, and Dec. 21, Ricks at CSI.

Vandals Work on Passing Defense

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP)—Coach Steve Mussey said Wednesday he feels his Vandals' pass coverage and goal line attack, if effective, will be the key to winning Saturday's football game at Pocatello with cross-state rival Idaho State.

After a two-hour session Wednesday night, Mussey said his squad "looked good" in working the offense on polishing its ground attack.

The defense worked on recognition of Bengal pass patterns. "Idaho and Idaho State," he said, "are the members of the Big Sky Conference, have met five times before. Idaho, which never lost one of the encounters, has outscored the Bengals a 111-20 cumulative."

Local Ducks to Provide Opening Day Targets; Minidoka Units Are Dry

Local populations of waterfowl will again provide targets for the opening of duck hunting Saturday noon with prospects somewhat better than a year ago in most cases. The word from the public shooting grounds on the Minidoka Wildlife Refuge, however, is "sorry." Lake Walcott has been dropped five feet from the full mark and another four feet will be leaving shortly to fill downstream commitments. The result is both water units are high and dry and the reservoir proper will be roughly one-half mile from the nearest brush and blind cover.

"Charles Blake, district biologist for the Idaho, Fish and Game Department, notes it should be a typical opening day with the old standbys providing the most birds."

"The difference this year is we don't have that mid-September snow storm. The crop we had this year pushed some of our locals out and consequently our populations were below average. We've had nothing to disturb them this year so we can expect the success to be better on that one count alone."

He added Carey Lake currently has a pretty good duck population as does Lake Wilson, north of Eden-Hazlet. The main Northside canal should be a good producer.

Mormon Reservoir, south of Fairfield, is harboring perhaps three to four hundred head of Canada geese and some ducks.

All in all I would suggest that the hunters go to the places they've had success on previous years," Blake concluded.

The "sorry, hunters' report from Leon Littlefield, game manager, puts a dent in prospects for the East end of Magic Valley.

While Lake Walcott is being drawn down to supply down river commitments, the reservoir upstream are hoarding all the current runoff in Snake River.

"It's a shame, too," said Littlefield. "We currently have a very large number of Ruddy ducks, although they've already started pulling out. The Pintail population is very good and, surprisingly, there are about 7,000 Canvasbacks here already."

"It's a pretty sad picture up here but we don't want to paint it too black," Littlefield continued. "The good hunters, the ones willing to go to extra effort, can get some birds. Anyway, I'll be out there to greet all of them as they show up Saturday."

With all of Magic Valley being considered in the Columbia Basin bonus area, the season will run Oct. 8 through Jan. 15 on ducks and until Jan. 5 on geese and mergansers. The daily limit is six ducks and three geese with possession restrictions set at 12 ducks and six geese.

All persons 16 years of age and over must have a validated duck stamp.

Drabowsky Strikes Out 11 Dodgers in Relief as Orioles Cop Series Edge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Moe Drabowsky, an obscure, 31-year-old hand-me-down, set a World Series record for a relief pitcher with 11 strikeouts and hurled the Baltimore Orioles to a 5-2 first game victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday.

Oriole Win Followed Pattern of Season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles played the first game of the World Series Wednesday the way they won the American League pennant: Power from the Robinson boys and great relief pitching. Frank Robinson, a triple crown winner during 1966, slugged a two-run homer in the first inning off Don Drysdale. Brooks Robinson followed with a solo homer, and the Orioles went on to win 5-2.

Dodgers Had No Answer to Strikeouts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The struggling Baltimore Orioles were relieved in the third inning, Moe Drabowsky came out of the bullpen and hurled one-hit ball over the final 8 1/2 innings.

Rookie catcher, Andy Etchebarren said Drabowsky threw "about 85 per cent fast balls" with a few sliders and a couple of curve-balls. The fast balls were excellent.

Etchebarren said Drabowsky "confirmed a feeling I had which said, 'A good fast ball can be thrown past the Dodgers.'"

The 21-year-old right-hander started only three games this season but posted a 6-0 record while appearing mostly in long relief roles.

"He was my logical choice," Manager Hank Bauer said, "because he had the most experience."

Brooks Robinson claimed the two-run homer by Frank Robinson "did more for me than my homer. Frank took the pressure off everybody, especially me."

Frank Robinson claimed his clutch, which landed about three rows deep into the left field stands, "wasn't hit well, but I just didn't put the ball where I wanted to. And any good hitter is up."

Drysdale said the Robinsons caught on with fast balls.

It appeared that left-fielder Tommy Davis might have had a chance to haul in Frank Robinson's drive-in homer, but he stands as he made a stab into the crowd.

"No, there was no chance," Tommy said. "I pitched about two rows, but the ball landed four or five in up."

There was no chance whatever to get Brooks Robinson's long, Tommy continued. It landed seven or eight rows up.

Aldon said that Drysdale pitched very well. He would not change his pitching plans.

It will be Sandy Koufax here today, Claude Johnson said. Baltimore Saturday and Drysdale Sunday.

Richfield Canal Salvage Proves Best in History

A "highly successful" tag was covering a half-ton more Rainbow Trout, conducted with electrical Big Wood River near Ketchikan, Alaska, on the Richfield Canal boat Tuesday morning. The tag was produced by the Idaho Fish and Game Department. The tag was produced by the Idaho Fish and Game Department. The tag was produced by the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

10-POUND TROUT, its head just visible in the top of the net above the boiled water, is scooped out of the Richfield Canal by Sam McNeill, Idaho Fish and Game Department biologist. Several 10-pounders were netted during the two days of salvaging. With 4,400 pounds of fish, it was the most successful ever. (Times-News photo)

Sets Record

SUN VALLEY — Bill Butler, professional at Sun Valley, established a new course record on an "uncrossed" new layout Monday, firing a five-under par 65.

Butler fired his best of it with a birdie on the 29th hole. He came in at 37 over the 6,359-yard course, Par is 35-36-71.

He had 10 pars, five birdies, one eagle and a pair of bogeys.

Butler said the new layout was "a real challenge. It's a real test of a golfer's ability. I'm proud to have set this record."

Mushers, Carey to Settle 8-Man Title; Buhl, Wendell Set Tests

Carey hosts Camas County in the first title-deciding battle of the Magic Valley football conference season Friday afternoon while Minico travels to Buhl and Mountain Home is at Burley. Wood River, currently on the pole for the 10th Night Conference title, hosts Glens Ferry but will be equally interested in seeing how similarly undefeated Wendell does at Hiller. Magic Valley Conference pacing Murchison.

Another Wildcat victory would shove Wood River into sole possession of the lead.

It's a battle of single wings at Burley where the Bobcats will throw its hairy field full of Bruce Gunnell and Gordon Hanks against Mountain Home's Garry and Bill Galtley. The Galtley boys Mountain Home an edge in speed.

Still in double duty, the Bobcats are in the Cross State Conference for this one. Mountain Home, after beating Jerome last week, is snuffing the record.

The Minico at Buhl affair is no conference but it should be interesting. Buhl has moved well since an opening loss at Fossil Falls where Minico's bulldozing was the dominant force in the Bonville 33-20 ambush last week. Minico's memory of a 7-6 upset at the hands of Buhl last year also is remembered. That loss put the kids under what appeared to be one of Minico's finest grid years.

Jerome moves back into Twin Falls. Brain Stadium Friday night is set for an interesting battle in the 10th Night Conference. The Cardinals reportedly have a strong fullback but little else is known about the club locally. After losing two in a row, the Tigers are anxious to rebound at anyone's expense.

The Big Night Conference will send the Gooding Senators to Shoshone for a traditional battle.

The Wendell-Eller game is pivotal for both clubs and for Wood River. Wendell is undefeated and needs this one to stay with Wood River, which is favored over Glens Ferry at Halley Saturday afternoon. Wendell comes through it will put its championship overtones on its meeting with the Wolverines next week. Filler, with one loss, can forget about titles with any

Work to Be Reviewed in Boise Meet

BOISE (AP) — Work of manpower advisory committees in eight western states will be reviewed at meetings in Boise next week.

State Rep. Orval Hansen of Idaho Falls, Idaho's committee chairman, said the Idaho committee will meet Monday, followed on Tuesday by a meeting of the Mountain States Regional Manpower Advisory Committee.

Attending the regional session will be chairmen of state committees in Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico.

Dr. Sterling M. McMurrin, provost of the University of Utah and former U.S. commissioner of education, is chairman of the regional committee.

Wooden Products Will Be Supplied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pacific Northwest will provide the bulk of the $35 million in lumber and wood products the Defense Department will buy in fiscal 1967, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D., Wash., said Wednesday.

The purchase will be the largest since the Korean War.

Hear-Adm. — Haddock, head of the Defense Construction Supply Center, gave Magnuson this breakdown:

— $50 million board feet of untreated softwood, 510 million through the agency's regional procurement office at Portland, 140 million through the office at Atlanta, Ga.

— 60 million board feet of treated softwood, 55 million from Portland, 5 million from Atlanta.

— 225 million square feet of softwood, plywood, 11 million through Portland, 10 million through Atlanta.

— 110,000 poles and pilings, 90,000 through Portland, 20,000 Atlanta.

— 180,000 treated railroad ties, divided 60-60 between Portland and Atlanta.

Haddock also said $300,000 worth of miscellaneous lumber and millwork items will be bought through Portland and $200,000 through Atlanta.

VOTE IN QUESTION

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — The question of whether the United States should pull out of the war in Viet Nam will go out to voters in this Detroit suburb in the Nov. 8 general election.

FIRST BOX OF CANDY sold for the Easter Seal Society goes to Gov. Robert E. Smylie from Mrs. H. L. Friend, left. Epsilon Sigma Alpha state project chairman, and Mrs. William Howell, state president. The seventh annual sale started Oct. 1 and will continue until Oct. 31 with a door-to-door canvass, sponsored by the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority. Chapters throughout the state will conduct the sale. The sorority, an educational, philanthropic and social group has contributed a total of $7,911.33 during the past three years from statewide sales. The Easter Seal Society has four speech and therapy centers in Idaho (one at each of the four state colleges) and provides a special kindergarten for children with speech or hearing handicaps, Camp Easter Seal, and case service to individuals. The program also includes education of other groups.

Committee Agrees on Guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee agreed Wednesday on guidelines to limit federal-state medical aid programs, especially for able-bodied adults.

The program usually called medicare-hospitalization and optional medical benefits for those 65 and older—is not affected by the bill.

It would apply to what is called "medicaid," the broadened provisions for federal aid to state health services for persons who are regarded as "medically indigent." These are persons not so poor as to require general welfare aid, but unable to meet heavy medical costs.

The committee is expected to approve the legislation formally Thursday and send it to the House.

Congress last year permitted the states to broaden the medical aid category and some notably New York produced plans that would cover a large part of their populations and run the federal per cent contribution far beyond the total Congress contemplated.

Most states do not yet have new plans in effect.

The committee decision, not officially announced, was reported to involve these guidelines:

— The states would not be limited in setting standards for children or persons over 65.

— The states also could provide for coverage, with federal help, of persons 18 through 64 who were blind or otherwise disabled.

— The guidelines would go into effect April 1, 1967, giving state legislatures time to act if necessary.

Gooding Pilot Helps Sink PT Boats in North Viet Nam

CARRIER AIR WING 15 in the SOUTH CHINA SEA — Gooding, Idaho, made the formula Carrier Air Wing 15 used to sink two north Vietnamese PT boats and damage two others.

While making a pass to ensure identification of the PT boats spotted by a photographic intelligence team, Lt. Cmdr. Frank Crambley, Gooding, and Ensign Mitchell Garner, Wayne, Okla., were fired on. They returned the fire and sank one of the boats.

Garner reported another was "hitting to starboard and down at the stern, heavily damaged." Crambley radioed for a strike to finish off the boats.

They sank the damaged boat, then carried the attack to a third boat, leaving that one heavily damaged and down at the bow. After the strike one pilot recalled, "Last week the squadrons sank a PT boat and left a second sinking at the stern. Today was different... the boat that was still afloat was sinking at the bow."

Tree-shaker Is Device to Gather Fruit

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — A new device developed to harvest apples looks like a big anti-aircraft gun and uses the principle of a small machine.

The experimental tree-shaker built at the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, has banks of prongs mounted on a fork-lift tractor for easy positioning in the tree. The prongs, inserted into the tree, shake the fruit-laden branches. The fork-lift tractor bounces through the prongs to a box filled with water. The apples are propelled to the bottom of the box by a padded roll and released to float to the surface.

The device, designed by Prof. William Miller, will be field tested this fall in this state, the second largest apple producer in the nation.

The main aim of Miller's research team is to pick bruise-free apples, a major factor for fresh market varieties.

Apple harvesting is rapidly being mechanized in New York State because of labor shortages. Other Cornell researchers have built harvesters now being used to pick processing-type apples.

The new device has several banks of prongs, two side frames and a catching frame, all heavily padded with cushioning material to minimize or prevent bruises.

The device can reach any part of the tree because the catching frame is set right under the prongs and apples do not fall all the way to the ground level. Nor do they hit limbs.

Branches may be shaken horizontally or vertically, depending on the way the apples hang.

New York State produces about 20 to 24 million bushels of apples a year. About half of the crop is for fresh market outlets.

The major varieties grown for the fresh market are Cortland, McIntosh, Delicious, Rome Beauty and Golden Delicious.

City of Dead Is Tourist Attraction

CAIRO (AP) — On the eastern outskirts of Cairo stands a neat cluster of villas extending over more than 2,000 acres.

At first sight, you think it is a city full of life.

In fact, it is the City of the Dead, a unique cemetery where houses and villas — some with gardens — serve as graves.

The City of the Dead was built in the middle of the 19th Century by Moslem princes and it has grown over the centuries to become one of Cairo's most colorful and interesting tourist sites.

It is richly decorated with ornate domes and minarets which adorn the "permanent homes" of wealthy Moslems.

Two centuries ago, the City of the Dead was opened to poorer Moslems as a final resting place and now the ornate "houses" of the wealthy stand side by side with ordinary graves for those who could not afford to set aside funds for an elaborate home after death.

The City of the Dead had its roots in the old Moslem idea that homes they occupied in life were only temporary and that when they died, they would occupy after death would be permanent and hence more important.

For many years, wealthy Moslems expended vast sums on preparing their permanent homes.

A growing secularism in Egypt and economic hardships have forced many to abandon the old ideas about permanent homes.

Most of the villa-like houses in the City of the Dead include sitting rooms and yards. The deceased is actually buried beneath the house. On feast days, many Moslems take their families and friends to the City of the Dead to celebrate the feast with departed relatives and friends. While visitors pray at these celebrations, children play with toys and enjoy sweets.

Washington "Circle," Still Park and Thoroughfare, Has Wrought Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — On Now those houses are heads. To get in most of them to get to the embassy row, near fashionable quarters for the Daughters of the American Revolution, the American Revolution, the Women's Democratic Club, Art, India, India, and Indonesia, the galleries, clinics, architects' offices, doctors' offices, restaurants, and parking lots.

Here — in Washington's old society belt — are part-time students drinking beer on the grass, beatniks playing in a fountain, police patrols and junkies.

This is the Washington deleted from guidebooks. They call it "The Circle," little Greenwich Village.

Years ago, as a wealthy residential area, there were horse-drawn carriages, Sunday promenades, diplomats strolling under the trees, hand-carried governesses in starched uniforms pushing baby carriages.

It was a happy, family place, a round park at one of the city's wagon-wheel intersections. It was the best address in town.

De Pont Circle they called it. "Washington's mystic circle of wealth and fashion" — the scene of fabulous dinner parties and midnight balls where presidents and congressmen mingled with princes, where beautiful women and men played checkers, the homosexuals, the folk-singers.

But it's a different area in the daytime.

Lady Bird Johnson goes to a beauty shop on the circle. On another side is the limestone mansion — No. 15 Du Pont Circle — used by President Calvin Coolidge as a temporary White House. From the balcony of this residence Charles A. Lindbergh greeted throngs of well-wishers after his solo flight over the Atlantic in 1927.

No. 15 is now a private club.

Next door is the Gulgrave Club, one of the most elite. It was here, while eating lunch on an April day in 1915, that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt learned her husband was dead.

The streets flowing into Du Pont Circle were once crowded with elegant town houses, for the Milly Mitchells, Cordell Halls, Jimmy Doolittles and their friends.

Hurricane Damage to Crops Threatens Food Budgets

NEW YORK (AP) — Crop of winter vegetables will run $10 million damage from hurricane Inez this week threatens to dent family food budgets.

Bad weather has been a key factor in the rising cost of food this year.

"This has been a terrible year," a New York produce wholesaler said. "There have been problems all over. The freezes last February, the drought in July and now a lot of wet weather."

Hurricane Inez whipped ripening lettuce and times just ready for market off the trees in Florida. Some of the winter tomato crop will have to be replanted.

One farmer estimated the loss in his picture.

Last week it was heavy rain. It interfered with the harvest of lettuce, potatoes, cucumbers and tomatoes. But the driest September in Wisconsin since 1891 kept cabbages small.

In August, floods caused staggering crop losses near Dell City, Tex., where tomatoes and bell peppers grow. A foot of rain fell in central Nebraska, causing heavy losses to livestock and small grains.

Heavy rains washed out some cabbages in Ohio, and hot weather hurt the California tomato and peach crops.

In July, days of temperatures in the 90s and 100s wilted lima beans in Wisconsin, burned peas in Minnesota and cut the tomatoes grown in the Middle Atlantic states.

In May, freezes caused severe damage to fruit crops in the Great Lakes region — cherries, peaches, pears and apples.

The freeze came after heavy rains cut the onion, potato and carrot crops in Texas, and a cold snap and then a heat wave hurt peas in Washington and plums in Oregon.

The results of the weather-

Recorder Is Found Among Plane Debris

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Investigators found the flight recorder Wednesday among the wreckage of a West Coast Airlines DC-9 that crashed near Portland Saturday.

Edward Slattery Jr. of the Civil Aeronautics Board reported the instrument was damaged but was being shipped to Washington, D.C. to see what information it contained.

The recorder is an automatic device which begins operating when the plane takes off and continues recording speed, altitude, heading and vertical gravity forces throughout the flight.

"It is legible. We will be able to tell what the plane was doing when it crashed," Slattery said.

Michigan's MEMO Program Gives Stay-in-School Boost

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A MEMO on a bus helped put Miss Clocklin in college. She wrote: "My grades were above average but nothing spectacular. I was a competitive scholar. I thought I should be, but where her pocketbook said she couldn't be."

More — Education. More Opportunity — is a Michigan program aimed at giving stay-in-school boost to the student who has a "glint in the eye" to succeed.

In searching for that student, MEMO placed advertisements around the state, including placards on buses.

That's how Miss Clocklin discovered the program.

"It has always been my desire to become a registered nurse," she wrote to MEMO headquarters here. Miss Clocklin, who graduated from a Grand Rapids high school in 1964, was working as a technician at Grand Rapids' Butterworth Hospital.

"My grades were above average but nothing spectacular. I was a competitive scholar. I thought I should be, but where her pocketbook said she couldn't be."

Miss Clocklin added that her mother was sole support for a brother and sister still in school.

From MEMO headquarters the letter went to Miss Edna Sargent, registrar at Northwestern Michigan Community College in Traverse City. Miss Sargent investigated, received excellent recommendations for the girl and found the "need" was absolute.

The school arranged for a $400 National Defense Loan and $400 in matching funds from the Economic Opportunity grant allocated for Miss Clocklin.

"I would say MEMO has made it possible for a very fine and above-average student and young lady to attend college without being constantly harassed by the specter of financial need."

Extra Chimes

CONCORD, Mass. (AP) — To help avoid panic in case of a fire, Ereson Hospital uses chimes as an alarm inside the building.

Recent tests, however, showed the gentle chimes were drowned out by the cries of babies in the nursery section.

So the Concord Firefighters' Association donated extra chimes.

THE JUNIOR REALM

Q. We have just moved to a new town on account of my father's business. I understand that the Jewish people have gained a fine mutual respect for campus when the local high school re-convenes. How can I make friends with the Christian kids? — Len, 16.

A. Panelists: Jerry Chan, high school, California; Robert Crumrine, high school, Kansas; Robert Haines, high school, Utah; Thomas Henderson, college, Michigan.

Our rating on campus comes from our good manners, speech and poise, and from our high moral code, our loyalty, patriotism and spirit of good, clean friendship.

We have a Muslim on campus and he seeks neither to impose nor to limit religion. Only wise he sincerely attempts to fit into the spirit of the school, and he is popular with both boys and girls. Because he is a good student he was a finalist in the state.

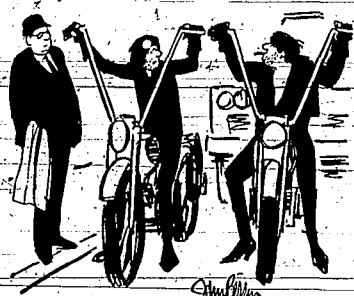

mathematical contest and won the science award.

It is not a liability on our campus to be a minority. However, because we try to see the similarities, not the differences. You will find that the kids will respect you as long as you do not try to enforce your beliefs on them or cause differences by ignoring the high culture of the campus.

So go to your school with your head up, wearing a smile, be your finest culture and don't try to force your way in, because the kids will come to you if you will just be patient and let them become to you.

Death Rows of State Prisons Hold 366 Convicted Inmates

NEW YORK (AP) — The day hold 366 men sentenced to hanging or electrocution or the gas chamber for crimes such as murder, kidnapping or rape.

But so far this year only one criminal has been executed in the 37 states which still have capital punishment. Few of the other death sentences are likely to be carried out.

The reasons, an Associated Press survey indicates, are twofold.

1. Recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions throwing out confessions for criminal suspects who were not advised of their rights to legal counsel, and 10 remain silent under questioning.

2. An apparently growing distaste on the part of state officials and the public for the taking of human life by law.

In 1965 only seven persons — a record low — were put to death by American states. In 1964 the total was 15.

These figures compare with 139 executions in 1953 when the federal Bureau of Prisons began compiling statistics on capital punishment.

Many condemned convicts will escape capital punishment through court appeals. The sentences of others will be commuted to prison terms by state governors. In some states informal moratoriums on executions are in effect pending legislative action on bills to abolish capital punishment.

In many states where capital punishment is the supreme penalty, it has not been exacted for years. The last legal executions in New Hampshire and South Dakota were in 1939, in Massachusetts in 1947, in Illinois in 1962, in Ohio, New Jersey and California none since 1963.

During the first nine months of 1966 the only legal execution in any state was that of James D. French, a 30-year-old Oklahoma convict, French died in the electric chair on Aug. 10 for strangling a woman in California.
