TEN CENTS

THIS IS THE VIEW looking up 101st Street in Jamaica section of Queens, N. Y., Saturday, as workmen of utility companies participate in repair and cleanup operations after Friday's fire, set off by gas explosions. Seventeen homes in the area were destroyed in the mishap. No deaths were reported and the injuries were slight, although many persons had to be evacuated from the residential section. Gas pipeline where trouble started is at center. (AP wirephoto)

Southern Demos In Congress May Form Power Bloc

BY JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern Democrats in the House are considering formally organizing as an independent bloc that would hold the balance of power on key votes.
The Southerners see in the present alignment of the House, with neither Republicans nor administration Democrats holding a majority, a ripe opportunity to make their conservative views prevail in the shaping of legislation.
"Neither side can win without us," says one of the principal Southern strategists. "It's up to us to make the most of this advantage."
The move, well into the planning stage, would bring into the open the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition that has long been a potent backstage factor in the House legislative process.
What the Southerners behind the move envision is an organization patterned on the Democratic Study Group, through which liberal House Democrats seek to influence the leadership.
The potential membership of such an organization is about 50 of the 247 Democrats in the House, enough to deny administration forces a majority, or to help the 186 Republicans make one.
It would keep the members informed on the status of bills—mainly President Johnson's domestic program, decide what would be in the best interest of the South and the tactics to achieve it, and negotiate directly with the Republicans on occasion.
At this stage, the GOP attitude isn't fully known. Some Republican House members probably would be reluctant to line up with any formal conservative coalition.

Suspected Hanoi Invasion Buildup Is Bombing Target

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A suspicion that Hanoi had moved in battalions for another attempt to overrun South Vietnamese northern provinces led to a B52 bombardment Saturday of their likely rendezvous, less than a mile below the border demilitarized zone. Tons of bombs from the eight-engine U.S. Stratofortresses churned up that sector of jungled Quang Tri Province, where U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops turned back two heavy incursions of the enemy regulars last year.
Ground action generally picked up somewhat and the American Marines, still on watch for North Vietnamese infiltrators and their Viet Cong allies in the northern provinces, said they had killed 74 of the enemy in a series of light skirmishes.
U.S. fighter-bombers flew 41 sorties Friday against a Communist base camp in Darlac Province, in the central highlands 300 miles south of the border. Pilots said the bombing and strafing had killed 14 to 20 enemy soldiers at this camp, reported supplied by the road about Ho Chi Minh trail through eastern Laos.
U.S. and Vietnamese troops pressed ahead against little resistance in Operation Cedar Falls, a massive drive to clear the Iron Triangle 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon of the Viet Cong and the peasants who voluntarily or under pressure helped support the enemy forces.
The guerrillas were reported to have lost 455 men in the week-old drive—280 killed, 64 captured and 165 switching sides. Tactical squadrons pounded remaining Communist zones in the triangle with 79 single-engine strikes, raising the number for the week to 659.
Operations elsewhere were marked by the loss of three U.S. planes, heading to 63 the acknowledged toll of such flying craft in combat over the last six years, and the sinking of a U.S. Navy minesweeping boat in a collision with a Norwegian motor ship.
Briefing officers announced the details:
A B-52C jet fighter-bomber was shot down and an Air Force F100 Super Sabre pilot is missing. The list of planes acknowledged lost in the combat in South Vietnam rose to 146.
—Communist gunners downed a Navy A4 Skyhawk on one of 73 strike missions over North Vietnam Friday, and the pilot is missing. This was the 47th plane announced as lost in the air offensive north of the border.

WELL-KNOWN BUSINESS MAN and civic leader, William (Bill) Grange, will be guest speaker Friday night when the Twin Falls Jaycees host their annual Distinguished Service Awards banquet. The event will start at 8 p.m. at the Holiday Inn. (Times-News photo)

Congress Restricts Johnson's Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The four-day old 90th Congress already is beginning to restrict President Johnson's political options in fields likely to have an impact on the 1968 elections. Although the difficulties that lie ahead, he is forecast as somewhat surprised by the controversial reaction to his tax increase and Social Security proposals. Congress apparently is going to wait several months to gauge the progress of the economy before deciding whether to grant his request for a 6 percent surcharge on corporate and most individuals' income tax payments.
"This delay is not calculated to encourage the president to back out of the Federal Reserve Board to hasten actions which would ease the tight money situation. The board may be inclined to wait and see what Congress does before it makes loan money much easier to come by."
"Wrapped up in this is the course of the construction industry which has been the backbone of interest rates higher than those which have prevailed during any modern Democratic administration. The White House is more worried about this segment of the economy than any other at this point.
But there is some hard-core opposition to any tax increase. The Senate Finance Committee is opposed by Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., of the Senate Finance Committee. He has vigorous support in this position from Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., Herman E. Talmadge, D-Gea., and John J. Williams, D-Conn., all members of his committee.
Johnson evidently assumed that Congress would go along with his proposal for a 20 percent increase in Social Security benefits in the customary course of events. It would be safe to assume that a politically minded Congress would jump at the opportunity to vote more money for the elderly and the handicapped.
But the matter of financing these expanded benefits is the subject of deep controversy within the committees which will handle the legislation.

Parents And 7 Children Die In Philadelphia Fire

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A father who fell asleep in front of a living room television set awoke before dawn Saturday to find flames swooshing through his home. John Drum dashed futilely into the searing fire to save his family, but died with his wife and seven of their 12 children. A daughter and two sons, and a next-door neighbor's child, were hurt in leaps out of upper floor windows. The falls of the two boys, their clothes ablaze, were broken by a neighbor who caught them on the sidewalk. Killed in the North Philadelphia tragedy were Drum, 39, a supermarket truck driver; his wife, Dolly, 38; and their children, Danielle, 16; Ann, 12; Mary, 11; Catherine, 7; Leo, 5; Francis, 4, and Donna, 3.
Theresa, 17, suffered leg injuries in her jump from the third floor. Her brothers, William 10, and Daniel 8, suffered serious burns and bruises. They leaped out of a second-floor bedroom. Nancy Rounds, 14, broke a leg in her jump from the third floor.
Two other children were not at home—James, 19, who is in the Army and John, 21, visiting friends.
Firemen said flames engulfed the three-story narrow brick row home at 2534 Barritt St. from top to bottom.
Fire investigators said the fire was apparently triggered by a cigarette Drum was smoking when he fell asleep.
City Fire Marshal Joseph Doyle said the fire, started in the cellar in which Drum was sleeping, Doyle said the child had

Money Needs Eyed By Cassia Solon

BY EARLE J. JESTER
BOISE (AP) — The chairman of the Idaho Legislature's Joint Finance — Appropriations Committee said Saturday money needs in the next biennium will be determined from the bottom up, not from the top down. But Sen. Don Loveland, R-Cassia, added "I hope we don't start playing the numbers game" by trying to predict in advance the general fund budget total.
He was in recess Saturday in what the Senate majority leader, Sen. William C. Roden, R-Boise, said may be the last long weekend of the 1967 session. He said Saturday sessions will be ordered when the lawmaking load justifies.
No major legislation has yet reached the passage stage but some has been introduced. Roden said considerable more is in committee.
Loveland, who is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, also serves as head of the Joint group, made up of the Senate committee and the House Appropriations Committee. The House committee chairman is Rep. Jonkia J. Palmer, R-Madison, in vice chairman of the committee group.
Loveland said his committee will seek to determine the needs for each agency, department and institution of state government.

Smylie Will Join Boise Law Firm

BOISE (AP) — Former Gov. Robert E. Smylie announced Saturday he will join a Boise law firm.
He said he will be associated with Langrois, Clark and Sullivan.
But he added that his decision to resume the practice of law will not change his plans to "engage actively in lecturing in academic circles." He said he also will be "writing and speaking for the public media."
Smylie was defeated in a bid for a fourth term as governor. He declined to comment on possible future plans.

Wins Title

MOSCOW, Ida. (AP) — Terri Thornock of Twin Falls was named Idaho's Junior Miss for 1967 in the annual state pageant Saturday night at Moscow.
Miss Thornock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Thornock, also won the youth fitness award and was honored for her interpretive dancing during the week-long pageant.
First runner up was Andrea Anderson of Mul-lan; second, Cindy Kern of Moscow; third, Janelle Burkett of Lewiston, and fourth, Sue McFarland of Salmon.

Snowmobile Carnival At Ketchum Draws Crowds

More than 1,500 people watched Idaho Falls snowmobile racers start the show during Saturday's racing. Snowmobile Carnival held over the weekend in Ketchum.
Idaho Falls racers won 26 of 37 races during Saturday's day's races. Seventy snowmobile enthusiasts entered the events.
Prior to the racing trials, Mrs. MacRee Johnson was named queen of the Carnival during Friday night ceremony. Mrs. Johnson and her three attendants, Barbara Carr, Mrs. Carol Launberry and Lela Castle, were picked to reign over Saturday and Sunday's activities.
Races started at 10 a.m. at Ketchum at the rally site, one-half mile north of Ketchum, and continued throughout the day.
Regular races, in addition to a Powder Puff Derby and a children's race were held and cash prizes awarded.
Another round of races, again starting at 10 a.m., will be held Sunday.
Winners in class A races, limited to machines with not more than 200 cubic centimeter engines, were Mark Anderson, See CARNIVAL, pg. 2 col. 4

Jaycees Plan Award Dinner Friday Night

Five Jaycee Distinguished Service Awards will be presented to outstanding people in the Twin Falls area Friday night when the annual awards dinner will be held at 8 p.m. at the Holiday Inn—William (Bill) Grange will be guest speaker for the annual event and Roy Schlagel will be master of ceremonies. Awards will be presented to the outstanding boss, young farmer, young educator and two residents who contributed significantly to the betterment of the community during 1966. The junior award will be given to a man or woman under 35 and the senior award to a person over 35.
Judging committee members will be directors of the Jaycees. Their decisions will be based on contributions to the general welfare of the community, evidence of leadership and evidence of personal or business progress.
Last year's winners were, senior award, Merle Stoddard; junior award, Dale Patterson; Len Vogel, outstanding boss; Alvin S. M. Uney, outstanding young farmer; and Dennis Messenger, outstanding young educator.
Tickets will be available at the door or may be purchased from the Credit Bureau of Twin Falls.
Blood drawing in Twin Falls for 1967 will be conducted from 2 to 6 p.m. Monday at the American Legion Hall.
People between the ages of 18 and 69 are eligible to donate blood, providing they can meet all physical requirements.
The Monday drawing will be the first of six in Twin Falls this year.
Blood program chairman Dale Patterson urges all eligible donors to give a pint of blood.

Passage Of Municipal Law Changes May Be Legislative Milestone

By MARK BROWN
BOISE (AP)—One of the major accomplishments of the 90th Idaho Legislature may be passage in substance of a complete reorganization of the state's municipal law.
Such a measure has been submitted to the legislature. Embodying recommendations of the Municipal Code Commission of the Legislative Council, the proposed reorganization would cut the body of municipal law in half.
Included are revisions eliminating classes of cities, limiting cities to two forms of government and giving cities greater financial potential for fire departments, capital improvements, and sewer and sewage treatment plant construction.

The measure bill—totaling nearly 200 pages—is the result of nearly two years' work by the Legislative Council Committee. It reduces Title 69 of the Idaho code from 49 chapters to 23 and from 1,099 sections to 497.
Perhaps the most sweeping change in the code is elimination of classes of cities. Present law delineates three types based on population: Cities of the first class, cities of the second class, and villages.
Under the new code, activities of cities are limited only by their financial capacity. Powers of municipal corporations are uniform.
The new code also limits cities to either four or six councilmen. Presently, first class cities have six councilmen, second class cities may have as many as 12, and villages have five trustees.
New financial capabilities of cities under the code would include power to establish a special fund for capital improvements. The fund would be created with a local tax levied not to exceed two mills, annually, or two per cent of the city's assessed valuation in the aggregate. The fund would be created by passing an ordinance specifying its purpose and the amount of the levy.
Added capacity to tax for maintenance and operation of a city's fire department is accomplished by creation of a special fund financed by a mill levy. At present fire departments are financed through a combination of a special two-mill levy and general fund appropriation. By removing the two-mill limit on the special fund, cities are given additional latitude in general fund spending.

Slavia noted the fund for maintenance and operation of the fire department, a major expenditure in most cities, is, under the old code, equal to the levy for recreation and less than the levy for maintenance of a city bond. Under the new code, expenditures for recreation and maintenance are under general fund expenditures.
In both old and new codes, the mill levy limit for general fund revenue is 10 mills.
Bonding capacity has been expanded to provide selling general obligation bonds to finance various public works projects. The old code limits bond sales to sewerage and treatment to 15 per cent of assessed city valuation. The change puts sewerage and treatment plants in the same category as waterworks and power plants by removing the limit.
Removing the limit reflects the current concern over water pollution by sewage, Slavia said. Another change gives cities concurrent powers of taxation and zoning. Under existing law, zoning cannot take place until after the area has been annexed.
The new code also gives cities the power to annex areas five acres or larger with written consent of the owner. Currently cities must wait for an adjacent five-acre tract to be broken down into smaller lots before annexation.
The change which has drawn the fire of the Idaho Press Association would allow cities to print abbreviated financial statements rather than listing individual warrants each quarter. This would reduce the bulk of legal advertising done by a city.

Day, Shields Named To Head Scout Project

The Snake River Area Council announced selection Saturday to it that our boys receive training. The communities of the Snake River Area Council, Idaho and indeed the nation, will benefit from the work we do in the next three months," Mr. Day commented.

Mr. Day, campaign chairman, is currently serving as president of the Idaho Chamber of Commerce and has recently been appointed by the Department of Education to the Committee to Design Future Education. He is a past-president of the I. B. Perrine Toastmaster's Club and is a member of the Elks and Masons.

Mr. Shields in January, 1966, received the highest honor given to a volunteer, the coveted "Silver Beaver Award for Distinguished Service to Boyhood."

In addition to Scouting activities, he is a former elder of the First United Presbyterian Church and past president of the Buhl Rotary Club. He has served the College of Southern Idaho as vice president of the board and is a former member of the Twin Falls County Hospital Board. Mr. Shields is a 32nd-degree Mason and has assisted in the annual food caravan to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children.

JAMES H. SHIELDS JR. ... have been named honorary chairman and campaign chairman respectively of the Camp Development Fund by the Snake River Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America. Mr. Shields is president of Shields, Inc., Buhl, and Mr. Day is district manager of Amalgamated Sugar Co., Twin Falls. The Council will raise $308,000 in pledges, cash and in-kind gifts in this drive to be ended on March 31. The drive began with a kick-off dinner Saturday night.

The Council has stated that they will raise $308,000 in pledges, cash and in-kind gifts in this drive. Plans call for renovation and expansion of the Camp Bradley-Complex, to include new health lodges, dining kitchen facilities, swimming pool, headquarters and residence structures.

New land acquisition for camp expansion and finances to cover fiscal 1967 and the first quarter of fiscal 1968 also are included in the fund campaign.

Mr. Day, speaking to campaign selection leaders at the kick-off dinner Saturday night at the Holiday Inn, said "Population studies indicate we must act now to provide facilities for tomorrow's Scouts. In 1960, 458 boys attended camp. In 1966, over 2,000 Scouts received leadership training at Snake River Area Council camps and projections indicate that 3,365 Scouts will be eligible for camping in 1970.

"It is obvious that our present facilities have long ago reached the stage of obsolescence. We must act now or many of the boys in our council area will be left behind.

"Leadership requires training

News Of Record

LINCOLN COUNTY

District Court
 Mike Sular and Louis Beck, who gave their addresses as Paul, pleaded innocent to a charge of second degree burglary. They will be given a jury trial at 10 a.m. March 21.

Waiving their preliminary hearing last week in Probate Court, before Judge C. M. Willison, the two were bound over to district court and ordered to post $1,000 bail bond each. The bond not posted, they have been under custody of the Lincoln County Sheriff at the county jail.

The bond was continued by District Judge Charles Scoggin. Steve Bolter, Shoshone, was appointed to represent the two when they could not hire one.

The men were apprehended by Lincoln County law officers after they entered a farm home in the Marley area last week and took a transistor radio.

Petition for letters of administration in the Margine Onelida estate was filed by Garnet Onelida, spouse. Hearing will be held at 10 a.m. Jan. 24, Justice Court.

Richard D. Roy, Twin Falls, filed for altering driver's license.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON—Well, we have got the Combie laddychicks in North Vietnam right where we want them for five long years, and now we are beseeched by the howlers of the New Left, the professional pea holders and Charlie de Gaulle to invite the Chi Combs to the house for tea and biscuits and maybe $20 billion for walking-around money.
I tell you, Mrs. Balderdash, if Lyndon Johnson weakens on this one we will shortly be pelted with purple and orange pea pods, dodging lions of Ho and Mao and Madison Square Garden will be held in the palm of the Ho Chi Minh Fund. People like you have said naughty things about the Ho crowd will be snubbed at cocktail parties and probably investigated by some Congressional committee headed by Adam Clayton Powell.
Andrew Tully made ludicrous fun of the Ho Chi Minh Fund. People like you have said naughty things about the Ho crowd will be snubbed at cocktail parties and probably investigated by some Congressional committee headed by Adam Clayton Powell.

WE'RE WINNING—In all the hogwash hawked by such a carefree diplomatic man as the United Nations' U Thant and unciously endorsed by the New York Times, Americans have tended to lose sight of the fact that we're winning the war. The Ho Chi Minh Fund, the Atlantic freed of the restrictions which hobbled them for nearly five years, finally have got the enemy on the run—and hurting badly.
A communist never seeks peace unless he's losing a war. All those hints that Hanoi might "consider" talking about peace are merely evidence that the Ho Chi Minh Fund is going badly for the North and its satellite, the Viet Cong, in the South, and is likely to grow worse. Moreover, we are hurting the North where its experts least expected it—at home.

WHO CRITICIZES VIET CONG?—Hanoi had a good reason for being conducting only a small guerrilla war with no danger to its heartlands or rice paddies. But now the Ho regime is forced to pay a cost of war it hadn't reckoned on. The American bombing raids may not be as effective as the Ho Chi Minh Fund, but they are costing Hanoi plenty in material, equipment and war production.
It is nonsense to say that the Ho regime is whimpering merely because some civilians are being killed or injured; human life is not that important to the Reds. Hanoi has plenty of bodies to be paid to the terrorist, murder, and maimings inflicted on the civilians in the South by the Viet Cong. Quickly now, name one organization set up to protest even one instance in which the Ho Chi Minh Fund has killed or injured a civilian. Name one instance in which the Ho Chi Minh Fund has killed or injured a civilian.

IT'S NEGOTIABLE—Really, if the so-called peace overture made by Hanoi's delegate general in Paris was admitted to as a serious offer, it would be considered a gratuitous insult. While demanding a permanent halt to the American bombings, Mai Van Bo offered only the "option" of a "cease-fire" in the kind of big study" of U.S. proposals for peace negotiations. And, of course, "the American government should not be allowed to request any counter-part measure whatsoever."
John F. Kennedy once described this kind of peace overture as saying, "In effect, 'What's mine is yours'—and you're supposed to give it up." Lyndon Johnson's language, it reads, "Heads I win, tails you lose."

THE GIFT WE NEED
"Oh wad some power the giftle gie us
To see oursel's as others see us!
It wad frae monie a blunder free us,
And foolish notion!"
So wrote poet Robert Burns. But while he was wishing, he should have wished for a companion gift that would be equally as useful in guiding the behavior of men—the ability to see others as they see themselves.
Such a gift is needed more than ever in this era when misunderstanding and mistrust between nations could lead to the downfall of civilization. It could help save us not only from many a blunder and foolish notion but from the ultimate irrationality of mutual destruction which any one of a number of blunders could result in.
Russia, for reasons not yet clear, has embarked on a new phase of the arms race, which had seemingly reached a stable plateau, by planning to develop and deploy a system of antimissile missiles as well as increasing its armory of offensive missiles.
This has led one editorialist to warn that the present 3-to-1 missile ratio in our favor is in serious jeopardy. Other alarmed voices urge that we immediately put our own Nike-X antimissile missile into mass production.
Yet if we try to see the Russians as they see themselves, we can understand that as unacceptable to them as it would be to us.
Of course, having good reasons to believe that this ratio is the minimum required for the safeguarding of the non-Communist world. If the Russians in turn had the gift of insight, they would realize this and join us in working toward a lowering, not a new elevation, of the scales on the balance of terror.
The gift could change the complexion of the Vietnam struggle. If the Ho could see us as we see ourselves and begin to believe that we are not dedicated to his destruction but sincerely desire a peace in which the interests of all Vietnamese will be protected, he might accept the fact that the best way to get us to stop our bombing and withdraw our troops is via the conference table, not the jungle ambush.
But the gift, alas, has been denied us and men go on seeing what they want to see. The blunders and foolish notions multiply, making still valid another thought of Burns: "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn."

YOUR PROPERTY TAXES
For tax purposes, your property could be assessed, say, twice as much as its actual value. Cases have arisen in which the assessed value is more than double the actual value. Your local community assessment practices and your state's (probably archaic and inadequate) property tax laws are well worth looking into.
A correspondent for this newspaper reports that his assessment in a valuation characterized by many American municipalities. Two homes in the same town are of comparable value, yet the amount of taxes assessed and paid on them can vary tremendously.
Why? Because many assessors, whether appointed or elected, are poorly qualified to perform their task. They have little idea how to determine property values. Many never actually see the property they are assessing. They are, moreover, often paid a salary so low that a professional appraiser could not afford even to consider taking the job.
The low pay can lead to the taking of bribes. A number of recent successful prosecutions of tax assessors for bribery would indicate that this means of supplementing one's income has become a widespread practice.
A professional organization of assessors is working to raise standards through education and professional ratings. But this alone is not enough. What is most needed is to bring about a uniform tax assessment reform for the people. Property taxes, exceeded only by the federal income tax, come to $25 billion a year.
For some years now American courts have recognized that inequitable assessments and tax rates are a denial of justice. The number of cases they have ordered communities to assess all real estate at 100 per cent of its actual value and to make sure that this assessment is done fairly, and, in some cases, professionally. These cases have resulted in many instances of tax equalization.
The people in any given community can demand professional standards, appropriate safeguards, and fair and equal assessment. It will cost them something to procure, train, and equip such assessors, but it will be money well spent.
This is confirmed by a recent Brookings Institution study. It concludes that better administration of property taxes will go far toward helping cities and towns to solve their urgent financial problems. The study also points out that the public has a strong interest in having its tax assessment policy, which has about auto safety—Christian Science Monitor

Religion Today

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP) — Biblical language sometimes pictures God as an angry judge who punishes the wicked. But many theologians today maintain that this misrepresents God.
"God does not punish, but saves," says Rev. Gregory Baum, a Roman Catholic scholar.
Although the biblical imagery conveys a basic truth about the inevitable consequences of evil, he says, "God does not impose punishment. It is man himself who is the author of his punishment."
Many scriptural portrayals of God as angry, jealous, or even as punishing and changing his mind are used to simplify a "religious message which we miss altogether if we interpret the terms literally," Father Baum says.
"The conservative" churchmen, however, hold to literal interpretations.
Father Baum, of St. Michael's College, Toronto, a theological adviser at the Second Vatican Council, writes in the current "The Ecumenist" that many Christians "regard God as a judge who punishes."
"They often look on Him not as the author of salvation and the source of life," but rather as "a distant onlooker, a scrupulous judge, approaching them as an accuser," he says.
However, he adds, the "central biblical theme of Divine justice brings out that God is one who intervenes as savior in the lives of men," not as a punisher.
"This overall emphasis," Father Baum says, is pointed up not only in the New Testament but also by the later prophets of the Old Testament.
"They were quite conscious that they spoke of God in a positive way," he says. "They realized that their words would be misunderstood if taken literally. For this reason—they emphasized how different God is from man."
However, to say that God "always acts as savior" does not run counter to the church teaching "about the judgment men must face after they die," Father Baum points out.
"The disorder generated by sin deforms the personality of the human being, when after death he is made to face what he really is, the punishment comes upon him as the ultimate consequence of his own sinful ways," Father Baum says.
"As for the 'Fear of God,' described in the Bible as the beginning of wisdom, Father Baum says this means reverence and awe—that is due an all-holy God. But it also can mean a less lofty but God-inspired awe of ourselves."
"This fear of the punishment for sin is not a fear of God—for God is always savior—but fear of the inevitable consequences of our own sinful ways," he says.
"The Bible reveals to man his faults and failings."

Opinions Of A Conservative

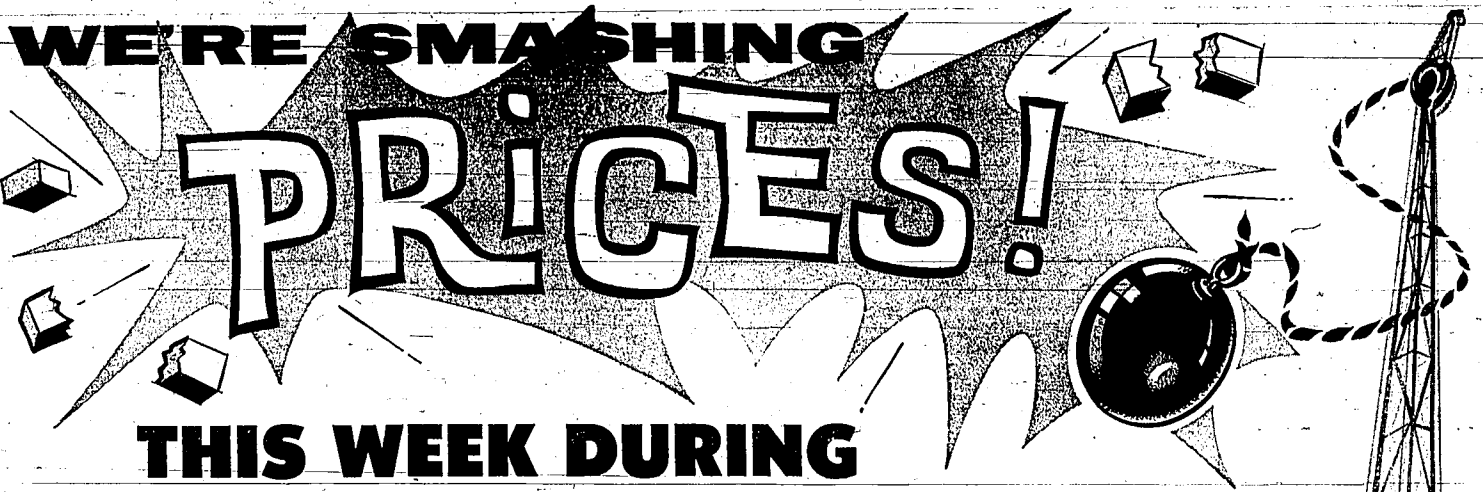

By BARRY GOLDWATER
TOKYO—Growing Asian cynicism regarding the Vietnam war is not solely based on softness toward communism, weariness toward headstrong or anti-Americanism.
The main cause of the informed opinion expressed to me here is wary of the war. It would be wise for us at home to examine the reasons why and not to be lulled by the few who see the purpose of a major expenditure of lives and material in order to end up with the Viet Cong agreeing to negotiations and a truce. They bring us just long enough for our troops to get out before—hang—starting the war all over again.
"To people who live on the borders of communism it is incomprehensible that a worthwhile purpose can be served by preventing the progress of a major incident, an isolated war, in the troubled world. They say it is just one facet of the overall problem of communism in Asia. A problem hitherto symbolized now by the explosion of new nuclear devices in Red-China."
The main cause, it is pointed out, was a deal in terms of focusing attention on the Communist problem with its looming threat of political warfare and outright terrorism throughout the area.
Finally, they find it increasingly difficult to understand our role in the war as long as this goal is not reinforced by a strong commitment in terms of troops, such as in easily understood gestures of focus and cooperation. So long as the war in Vietnam is treated as an isolated battle, such focus and rallying is impossible.
For many of these most perceptive people in this most sensitive capital these doubts do not end.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

Editor's Note: Marquis Childs is a columnist in the Washington Post.
By DON MACLEAN
WASHINGTON — The U.S. Navy's Seabees are planning to do something which—in my estimation—is going to be one of the most important public relations-boosting moves in the history of the Pentagon.
The Seabees, the Navy's construction corps—hopes to build a monument here. And it's going to look enough like the Marine Corps' famous two Jims Memorial that tourists are going to be a little confused as to which monument they're looking at.
If you'll recall, the Marines' Memorial consists of a grouping of four Marines struggling to raise the American flag on Iwo Jima. The Seabees' Memorial will consist of a grouping of four Seabees construction workers struggling to pour cement out of a huge bucket being lowered by a crane.
The sculptor of the Marine Iwo Jima monument was Felix de Weldon. The Seabees would like to get him to do their memorial, too, and at the moment the Seabees are negotiating with him to design a Seabees commemorative coin, to be produced by the U.S. Mint.
As it stands now, the coin will have four figures in the grouping and will be the preliminary to the Seabees' Memorial. (The coin, of course, will be merely a collectors' item and have no face value.)
The Seabees hope to raise much of the money for their monument by getting larger donations from former Seabees who are successful in construction business. Other businessmen can contribute, too—they like it.
The Seabees have found the money collected from the Iwo Jima monument by extracting "donations" of $100 or at least 100 occasions from the Post of Marines on active duty. That came to about $400,000. Any Marine who objected to donating did so at his own risk. It was in the Marines of the time and the occasion whether any army should build a monument to itself. The answer was not something I can print.
There is no monument at Arlington dedicated to the Navy or the Army that even approaches the Marine one for size and prominence. At least, not yet. But the Seabees' idea seems a likely threat.
I have a photo supplied by the Seabees, showing Seabees riding on a tank. The caption reads: "Seabees to the Front! Marine-style Vietnam!" Judging from this and plans for the memorial, it would seem that the Seabees would consist of a grouping of four Seabees construction workers struggling to pour cement out of a huge bucket being lowered by a crane.
Adam Clayton Powell has made a certain historical contribution. This is the first time Bimbi ever had a representative in the U.S. Congress.
Special offer to North Vietnam: You now have 46 MIGs. Would you like to try for 32?
In those lists of "Best Dressed" "Best Loved," etc., generally the third or fourth person down (usually an "unknown") is the climber who paid for the survey.
Castro has been in power now for eight years, but our State Department still is watching this "one man situation" for signs of a change.
In California Ronald Reagan and Democrat Jesse Unruh are expected to have found "common ground." Sure, it's what they cut out from under Pat Brown.

Taylor's Views On World News

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
TOLEDO, Ohio—A strike like the two newspapers here last October. They're still struck. The strike was a result of an influx of new workers. By 1945 the total labor force was 53.8 million. Union membership was 14.3 million. That was the end of the great effort.
When our men returned home to all sorts of jobs the ratio began to fall. Workers largely turned their backs on unionization. The loss of union standing has never been recovered.
By 1950 the postwar population explosion and enormous industry expansion had added labor force to 63 million. Union membership stood stuck at 14.3 million.
In 1954 the labor force in service of the nation was 67 million. The labor force in goods-producing activities for the first time.
In 1960 the total labor force rose to 70.6 million. But union membership had crept up only to 17.5 million. The labor force had increased 13 million after the war, but unions' rolls increased only about three million.
New It is 1967 and on Jan. 1 the Labor Department announced our national employment at 76 million. But the AFL-CIO membership still stays around at about 13.5 million. The total union membership includes independent unions, has been constantly falling behind the increase in the work force. There had never been a 100 per cent union membership.
Britain, with an incomparably smaller labor force, has nearly half as many (8.5 million) union members as the United States. The shift of our economy to services is a major factor in the union-nonunion gap. Service wages have gone up nearly 20 per cent in the '60s and most service employees resist unionization. They don't want to be unionized. And today, astonishingly enough, working wives now make up about one-fifth of the nation's working force.
The unions remain concentrated at the core of our economy—steel, coal, copper, rubber, automobiles, transportation, communications, etc. This positive plus unions' power in these areas gives them a great deal of power in economic affairs, and often in political matters.
A labor leader never has a more valid opinion of a country than a year after the first time you saw him, so that you could buckle at the first of his family's take.
Old men, after the labor of old manhood was done, would sometimes turn their restless fingers in the intricate mink of quilts—anything to do what they buy and prideful.
Most arguments in America are about the interpretation of the Bible and what the weather would be next.
You could always be a local intellectual if you spread this news: Write down by hand, taking a correspondence course in any subject. If you got a lot of mail, even the millions had to show up the first world blow in it.
One of the ways a lonely girl got attention was to tell fortune teller hand-reading. So often her heart was embroiled in her own, of the outstretched hand palm.

Boundary Change Sought For T.F. Urban Renewal Project

Sunday, Jan. 15, 1967
Twin Falls Times-News 7

By CATHERINE TATE
Times-News Staff Writer

On one side of the fence, it's likened to a monstrous force bent on devouring small businesses; on the other it's compared to a breath of life for the downtown area and the entire city—and in the meantime the fence itself is in the process of being torn down.

The Urban Renewal Agency, overseer of the planning study, is currently in the process of preparing to ask the commissioners to approve a boundary change for the existing project area. The commissioners probably will be asked to pass a resolution approving the change Jan. 23.

The meeting, which will be held at the City Hall Auditorium, is predicted to be the battleground for the first of a series of skirmishes between parties representing both sides of the fence. The major battles, however, will undoubtedly be waged during a series of public hearings which will decide the fate of the city's comprehensive plan and, consequently, the urban renewal project.

The comprehensive plan will be presented to the commissioners sometime during the latter part of this month, and they will call for public hearings on the plan before acting on a resolution to approve or reject it. The plan must be adopted in order for an urban renewal project to go into execution.

Urban renewal is one means of implementing the suggestions contained in the comprehensive plan, according to James R. Kelsch, Urban Renewal Agency director.

The proposed boundary change would alter the current project area to include both sides of Main Avenue within the downtown core area. The change would not increase the Urban Renewal Agency's budget, which is set at $24,861, and it would not increase the capital grant reservation set aside by the federal government for an urban renewal project in Twin Falls, in the amount of $887,421.

If the boundary change is approved by the commission and by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, San Francisco, the urban renewal planning study should be completed by either June or July, Mr. Kelsch said.

Additional studies of the new area which would be included in the project area would have to be undertaken and it is this factor which would set the planning study back somewhat, Mr. Kelsch said.

Through the Small Business Administration, the agency will attempt to secure a small business loan for relocated businessmen. These loans carry a relatively small interest rate of 4 1/2 per cent.

Nolan Victor, Twin Falls real estate dealer and one of the project's opponents, has sharply criticized urban renewal as being "one more of the government sponsored programs designed to eat away at the freedoms of this land."

The Urban Renewal Agency is composed of five local businessmen, who have hired Mr. Kelsch as a director and who have complete control over his actions and the execution of the urban renewal project, Mr. Kelsch said.

"We don't know the special problems and needs of his business and he should aid us in helping to find a suitable relocation for him," Mr. Kelsch said.

Proponents of the project have said that the plan offers an impetus to the economic growth of the community by rejuvenating the downtown business center in order to meet growing competition of outlying shopping centers, upgrading the area to attract more consumers and attracting new residents to the city itself.

Relocation of displaced property owners is still a concern of the future as far as the Twin Falls Urban Renewal Project is concerned, however. As Mr. Kelsch reiterated, Twin Falls is not actually an urban renewal area and will not be until a contract is signed between the city and the federal government for execution of such a project.

The project, if it is approved by the city commission, will be budgeted for three years. Several opponents of the plan have cited statistics which they claim prove the average urban renewal project takes more than eight years for completion.

Other services that the agency must, by federal law, provide for the displaced businessmen is to allow him to bid competitively on property within the redeveloped project area and move him from the project area to a new location at a time convenient to him.

"This means that if the businessman can only move on a Sunday, we have to get him moved on a Sunday and pay the professional movers overtime."

At any rate, 30 per cent of the project involved in the proposed Twin Falls area is clear land "and there is no tax base

Little data was available from Mr. Kelsch on the special provisions offered to relocated property owners by Urban Renewal Agencies since the Twin Falls project would affect only commercial property owners. There are 34 businesses involved in the shortage to be made up elsewhere, Mr. Victor has stated. Opponents of urban renewal have expressed concern over the fate of the redeveloped area and whether or not businessmen currently located in the area and others will move into the section after redevelopment. Mr. Hudson said that he has already received queries from local businessmen who want to move into the area should the project be completed.

Another property owner who favors urban renewal quoted statistics from a Grand Rapids, Mich., project. Ninety per cent of the area's business moved back after the urban renewal project was completed.

The plan will not propose a wholesale demolition of each structure within the project area.

"Several people have the idea that urban renewal calls for the complete destruction of everything in the project area and then starting from scratch—this is simply not the case," a member of the Urban Renewal Agency said.

One of the major benefits of the planning study, aside from indicating what can be done to rejuvenate the downtown area, is that "it's started people thinking about what is happening to their downtown area, started their taking an interest in the well-being of their city," Mr. Hudson said.

will give him a small business displacement grant in the amount of $2,500.

The grant is provided through the Housing Acts of 1954 and 1955 to compensate for additional expenses of relocation. The money need not be spent on the businessman's new building.

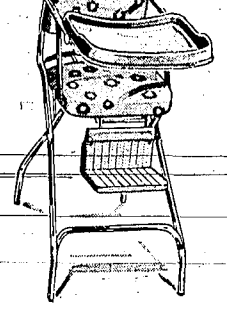

The agency is obligated to provide these and other services by law. On the other hand, the displaced businessmen are morally obligated to cooperate with the agency.

At any rate, 30 per cent of the project involved in the proposed Twin Falls area is clear land "and there is no tax base

Three CAP Cadets Receive Top Assignments For Year

Three Civil Air Patrol cadets were named to top Idaho activities for the coming year Saturday by CAP Examining board at the Twin Falls American Legion Hall.

The three cadets are Roger W. Enlow, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Enlow, Boise; Phil Joslin, 17, son of Mrs. Ray E. Joslin, Twin Falls, and Glenn Shewmaker, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shewmaker, Kimberly.

Enlow will represent Idaho in the International Cadet Exchange program, competing later this year with outstanding cadets from Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Utah.

A cadet from one of these five states will study in Europe as part of the exchange program.

Joslin will attend the Federal Aviation Agency orientation course in Oklahoma City. Shewmaker will attend a jet

Too Much

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — When a thief stole the safe from the secretary of state's office last week, it was bad enough.

But, Secretary of State James Hare reported, it was too much when the thief called back and asked for the combination.

Shoshone Schools Seek Bids On Bus

SHOSHONE — School board members will issue a call for bids for a 48 passenger school bus for next year. The bids will be opened at the February meeting, officials announced Friday after their meeting.

The board also voted to participate for one year in the Modern Media Center in Pocatello, an educational resource center. There will be a collection of educational materials available there for use by subscribing districts. To participate districts pay $1 per pupil, however, 80 per cent of the amount remains in the district for permanent improvement items for that district while the other 20 per cent will go to the center at Pocatello to help supply educational materials there.

Since some public utilities within the county paid their taxes under protest this year, the funds must be kept 60 days before distribution and this is causing some concern for payment of future bills.

The board voted to offer a contract to Superintendent Kenneth Crothers for the coming school year.

Upon reconsideration of a petition presented previously by some of the school teachers, the board voted to prepare a handbook for next year regulating dress for the junior high and high school boys and girls. The original petition specifically calls for length of skirts and dresses to be controlled.

Superintendent Crothers reported on progress of the special educational program proposed by the Jerome, Lincoln and Gooding areas for exceptional child training.

Auxiliary members will serve dinner for the Rebekah Lodge to honor their assembly president, Jan. 19. Committees were named for this. Serving in the afternoon will be Mrs. Owsley, Mrs. Rolf Simensen, Mrs. Floyd Marsh, Mrs. Den Durrée and Mrs. Joseph Zaconne. Those serving on the evening committee will be Mrs. Whorton, Mrs. Dan Coates, Mrs. C. O. Shore, Mrs. John Mavencamp and Mrs. Owsley.

The next meeting will be Feb. 12.

Young GOP Leaders Safe After Forced Landing, Attend Meet

Young Republicans from throughout Southern Idaho met Friday in Twin Falls for a workshop, despite key leaders making a forced landing at midnight Thursday in Malad.

The men, all national officers in the Young Republican Federation, arrived in time to assist in conducting the day-long workshop at the Holiday Inn.

The Federal Aviation Agency at Malad said the Cessna 337 charter plane from Denver carrying the men developed trouble near Malad and they were forced to land there. It was reported the wings of the plane were icing up.

The pilot, whose name was not known, misjudged the location of the runway because of ice on the plane's windshield. The agency said the pilot was looking out a side window and landed to one side of the runway crashing into a snowbank. FAA officials at the airport said the nose gear collapsed and the propeller was damaged.

The men continued on to Twin Falls via other transportation, however, and participated in the workshop. Among items of discussion during the meeting were public relations financing and campaign techniques. Lee Barron, director, Washington, D. C., and Bill Timmons, chairman of the campaign committee. A similar workshop was conducted Saturday in Lewiston.

Valley Asks For Bids On Bus Contract

EDEN - HAZELTON — Dr. Thomas Uterback, superintendent of Class A School District 242, was authorized to advertise for bids on contract bus transportation at the regular meeting on the board of trustees last week.
 One bid will consist of six buses which are now under contract to the district; the second bid is for the purchase of the six district-owned buses at an appraised price in addition to the purchase of six additional buses to transport all district students. The comparative cost between district-owned, contract and average State bus transportation was presented to the trustees.
 It was noted that the Mobile Heating and Speech Clinic to test approximately 500 grade school students will begin here on Jan. 27.
 Action on selecting an architect and starting the new music building was postponed until final determination of the bus contract.

Arlyn Boddy, debate coach, received permission to attend the Black Snake Invitational Debate Tournament at Pocatello. Ten debaters from Valley High School will participate. A brief discussion was held concerning the Joint Planning for Special Education. This would consist of a mutual program between the schools in Lincoln, Godding and Jerome counties.
 Elnora Hintze, Deputy Clerk. (SPECIAL) Published Jan. 12, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 1967.

Former Buhl Man Receives Study Grant

BUHL — Dr. Carl D. Cheney, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Cheney, Route 2, Buhl, has been awarded an $8,033 grant from the National Science Foundation to do research on visual perception.
 He is assistant professor of psychology at Eastern Washington State University, Cheney, Wash. The research is expected to take about one year and will be done using rats.
 First phase of the project will be to physically alter the neural anatomy to determine how these alterations affect visual perception, he said. The second phase will be observation of the effects of environment in terms of complexity in the recovery of functions after brain trauma. Dr. Cheney said the rates will be divided into two groups. Half will be placed in bare cages and the others in a complex environment. Tests will be made to gauge speed and degree of visual recovery by each group.
 Dr. Cheney has been at Eastern Washington State College since 1965. A graduate of the Buhl High School, he holds degrees from Utah State University and Arizona State University.

Dr. Cheney said that giving for local needs and mission programs averaged $256 per member for 1966.

'COPIED NATURE' TO BUILD BETTER HEARING AID

Electronics engineer of Maico Electronics, pioneer manufacturer of hearing instruments, admit that they "copied nature" in designing a tiny new hearing aid that will permit many hard of hearing persons to enjoy more natural "directional" hearing.
 The quarter-ounce aid, worn behind the ear, differs from most current aids in that its microphone faces forward, to pick up sound primarily from the direction the wearer is facing.
 Introducing the new aid, a company spokesman said, "The human ear is shaped and located to act as a sound funnel or collector, that enables us to hear things better by 'aiming' at them, turning our head toward the sound source. We simply adapted this fact of nature to this new aid by putting the microphone in front, so it is 'aimed' in the direction the wearer is facing. The result is more natural hearing, with better localization of sound."
 The new aid, called "DirectionEar," also features Maico's exclusive "Tuning Selector" which enables it to be closely adjusted to compensate for individual hearing problems. It can be seen locally at people in the Twin Falls area. Pastor Boyd said that giving for local needs and mission programs averaged $256 per member for 1966.

AEC Chemist Discusses Test-Debris

Dr. Daniel B. Hawkins, geochemist for the Atomic Energy Commission at Idaho Falls, was guest speaker during the Thursday night meeting of the Magic Valley Chapter of the Research Society of America.

Dr. Hawkins, speaking at the meeting at the Idaho Power room, discussed about environmental plutonium studies at the NRTS. He noted that considerable amounts of the radioactive isotopes of hydrogen (tritium) have been released into the environment as a result of thermonuclear weapon testing.

However, he said, lesser quantities of tritium have been released at the NRTS as a result of fuel element processing. Studies undertaken by the USGS and the AEC, he added, have concluded that, with the exception of a portion of the ground water at the NRTS, waste disposal operations at the NRTS have not contributed noticeably to the overall contamination of the region. The concentration is so low, he assured, that it does not constitute a health hazard.

Goals Listed By Rupert Kiwanis Head

RUPERT — Newly installed president Gene Snapp outlined goals and objectives of his administration when he conducted his first meeting of the Kiwanis Club last week.

Snapp said his primary goal will be quality leadership. Other areas he mentioned were more inter-club activities with other Magic Valley clubs, increased attendance at the local club meetings and more support for youth programs of the club.

Dr. John H. Head and his wife, Elaine, were inducted as new members. Dr. Head has recently opened optometric offices with Dr. Arthur Bondie in Rupert.

Kiwanians who attended the meeting were Mrs. Ardna Snapp, Mrs. Howard Burns and Mrs. Doris Wright. Two Key Club members from the Lincoln High School also attended.

Visiting Kiwanians were Gordon Cox, Twin Falls; Bob Fuqua, Declo; and Don Nielson, Burley. Cleve Smith, Rupert, was a visitor.

Trustees At Rupert Eye Bus Study

RUPERT — Mindokota county school trustees have taken under advisement a study on school transportation published by the Legislative Council, Supt. Camden Meyer reports.

Board members point out they are merely studying the recommendations suggested, since no action is possible until after the current legislature acts on the measures.

Dr. E. Wayne Likens of the University of Idaho was hired to make the study. Purpose of the council for changes in transportation which were studied by the board were comprehensive accounting system; a uniform system of routing buses, using computers; encouragement of contract bus services; a state plan for purchase of school buses; a state self-insurance plan; training program for bus drivers; redefinition of the Idaho Code to make 60 the age limit for bus drivers.

Another suggestion was development of a unified code pertaining to operation of buses with neighboring states.

Bill Schoen met with the board last week to request use of the high school gymnasium for the AAU basketball tournament March 5-11, and for the Weber State-CSI game. These dates were cleared by the board.

Members approved a resolution to make application for an operational grant for the Mobile Electronics Laboratory at the high school on a three year basis under Public Law 89-10, Title 3.

Insurance for driver education cars will be provided by the State Department of Education starting July 1. The present policy will expire Feb. 6, and the board voted to ask Farmer's Insurance, present policy-holder, to extend their coverage to July 1.

Meyer and the assistant superintendent, Doyle Lawder, were hired by the board for another year. Their contracts, approved on the present salary schedule.

The board is planning a series of special meetings on Monday night starting Jan. 29 to hear principal's recommendations for teacher contracts.

Board members voted against participation in an Instructional Media Center which has been proposed. Mindokota County was invited to participate in the center, with headquarters in Pocatello to serve southeastern Idaho.

The center would prepare tapes to help increase the teaching efficiency with audio-visual aids for teachers. The board withheld approval at the present time because of the cost factor.

ROY T. ARCHER
Rupert, assumed duties as justice of the peace for Mindokota County this past week. Archer, 52, replaces Oren Whitaker, who has served as the judge since 1963. The new judge will be in his office in the courthouse, from 8:30 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday. (Times-News photo.)

OCS, Nurse Interviews Scheduled

Sergeant First Class Gordon Snapp, Twin Falls, U.S. Army Recruiter, announced Thursday that interviews for young people interested in Army Officers Candidate School and Army Nurse Corps scholarships will be conducted from 1 to 8 p.m. Jan. 25 at the recruiting station, 25 Main Ave. W.

MaJ. William K. Tai, an OCS graduate, will interview individuals who are interested in the U.S. Army Officer Program.

Men interested in the program must be between the ages of 18 and 27, a graduate or senior of a college recognized by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and a citizen of the United States. Graduates of the school are commissioned as Second Lieutenants.

Capt. Jenn M. Johnson, area United States Army Nurse Corps Selection Officer, will interview interested applicants for the U.S. Army Walter Reed Institute of Nursing Program which includes a full four-year college scholarship.

Persons interested in the program must be qualified high school graduates. Upon graduation from the program, the student will be commissioned as an officer in the Army Nurse Corps and will receive a BS degree in nursing awarded by the University of Maryland, which is responsible for the operation of the program. Men are encouraged to apply.

Appointments for interviews may be made through the recruiting station 707 by calling 733-2671. Call collect if out of town.

4-Year-Old Dies After Illness Here

The 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert B. Wallis, 1858 Shoup Ave. E., Twin Falls, died early Friday morning at his home after an illness of four months.

Norman Kent Wallis was born Nov. 29, 1962, in Twin Falls and had lived here all his life. He was a member of the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Surviving, besides his parents, are a brother, Glenn Wallis; three sisters, Shirley Wallis, Marian Wallis and Janet Wallis, all Twin Falls; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wallis, Filer; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Marie Schutte, Gulde, Rock, Neb., and his great-aunt, Delbert S. Wallis, Twin Falls.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Monday at the Immanuel Lutheran Church by Rev. Harold Iben. Final rites will be in Sunset Memorial Park. A memorial wreath has been established at the church. Custodians are Eldon Wolters and Everett Malone.

Friends may call at Twin Falls Mortuary Sunday and at the church Monday from 9 to 10 a.m.

PREPARING FOR GRAND OPENING set for Monday is Harold Putzier, owner of the new House of Carpet and Tile, 1240 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., Twin Falls. The store will be open from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday. Mr. Putzier had worked for the Service Master Carpet Cleaners, Twin Falls, for five years, before opening his own carpet shop on Kimberly Road last year. (Times-News photo)

Cassia Plans Tuberculin Skin Tests

BURLEY — A tuberculin skin test will again be offered to Cassia County's first and eighth graders, according to Lloyd T. Nielsen, county health nurse and chairman, and Mrs. Millie Nielsen, county health nurse.

Each child will be given a request form to take home. Parents are requested that their child receive the tuberculin test simply by signing the form and returning it to the school with the student.

The tuberculin skin test is a simple harmless test which reveals whether there are tuberculosis germs in the body, Mrs. Nielsen noted.

In most cases the result of the test is negative and no report will be sent to the parents. Should the test be positive, the public health nurse will call on the parents to advise of necessary action.

If a chest X-ray is needed, an authorization form will be given which permits payment-for-one film. This payment is made possible with funds from the Christmas Seals, provided by the Tuberculosis Association.

The schedule for testing the first and eighth grades, which includes all school personnel, has been set for Jan. 16, Burley first and eighth graders and both grades at Decoy; Jan. 20, both grades at Malta; Jan. 24, Oakley first and eighth grades.

Women volunteers to help on the days of testing at which are needed again this year. Anyone wishing to assist may phone Mrs. Nielsen, at 678-8121 for information.

House Of Carpet And Tile Grand Opening Set Monday

Harold Putzier, owner of the new House of Carpet and Tile, 1240 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., Twin Falls, announces the grand opening of his store is set for Monday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Mr. Putzier had worked with Service Master Carpet Cleaners, Twin Falls, for five years before opening his own carpet shop on Kimberly Road last year.

The new shop will stock more than 1,000 pattern samples of carpet and all types of inland and formula-tile. Leading carpet brands stocked by the new business are the complete Marge line; Walters Carpets and March Carpets; Kentile and Armstrong tiles will be stocked.

Two salesmen, Bill Rounds and Lee Hill, and installer, Kenny McClain, all Twin Falls, complete the staff of the new business.

Mark Koll Is President Of Realtors Unit

SHOSHONE — Mark Koll, Wendell, was installed president of the North Side Board of Realtors at their meeting for January, held at the Stop Cafe in Gooding Thursday.

Other officers installed were: Walt Kelley, Gooding, vice-president, and Bessie Standlee, Jerome, secretary-treasurer. Edgar Dryden, retiring president, installed the new officers. E. G. Pettit, Jerome, is retiring secretary-treasurer.

Appointed to committees are James Muffley, Gooding; Mrs. Phil Hirtel and Cliff Peterson, Wendell; finance: E. G. Pettit, Leon Stiekon and Clark Heis, Jerome; finance: S. N. Weeks, Harold Jensen and Gladys Davis, by-laws: Phil Hirtel, Edgar Dryden and Harvey Iverson, arbitration; Rodney Pauls, Walter Kelley and Glen Jackson, public relations: Ed Pettiford, Harrell Thorne, Dryden and Hirtel, advertising.

Andrew James, attorney at Gooding, was guest speaker for the evening. He explained laws pertaining to contract of sales, stressing ways to protect the buyer and seller. Iverson was host to the group.

The February meeting will be held at Wendell.

No Horse

SYRACUSE, Utah (AP) — Gone are the days when the only thing you hitched to a fence post was a horse. Eva Christiansen discovered a two-seater plane tied to her fence post.

Pilot Bill Wright of Death, Nev., said his compass failed, so he landed the plane behind the Christiansens' house and tied it to the fence post.

Pair Changes Plea To Guilty

SHOSHONE — Mike Sultor and Louis Beck, Paul, changed their pleas from not guilty to guilty of second degree burglary Thursday in County Juvenile Court.

Judge Charles Scoggin ordered the two held on $1,000 bail each for continuance of the trial at 10 a.m. Feb. 2. A pre-sentence investigation will be conducted.

The two are charged with having entered a Marley ranch home and taking a transistor radio. Stephen W. Bollar is their court appointed attorney.

College Site Zoning Is On City Agenda

A public hearing on zoning of the College of Southern Idaho site and adjacent areas will be on the agenda when the Twin Falls City Commissioners meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday for a regular meeting.

Other items on the docket include the authorization of making an agreement with the Department of State Parks on development of the proposed Hayes Park.

Appointments to various boards, including the Twin Falls Housing Authority Commission, Gas Fitters' Examining Board and the Urban Renewal Agency, will be made during the meeting.

Approval of building permits, which have previously been approved by the building inspector, will receive consideration from the board. Approval of license applications which have previously been approved by department heads, is expected to be given.

Meeting Is Held By Credit Women

Credit Women's International meeting was held Thursday night at the Depot Grill Caboose Room.

The meeting was presided over by president Grace Hansen. A new member, Betty Jo Stark from the Twin Falls Credit Co. was introduced; Bernice Dunn, Taber Insurance Agency, was a guest.

The membership drive was discussed and everyone was urged to bring a guest to the next meeting.

Nan Moon, Paris Co., gave a speech on "Social and Economic Environment of Retailing."

The next meeting will be at 7:30 a.m. Jan. 28 at the Caboose Room.

Early Graduates of High School Plan Golden Reunion

The year was 1917 and 54 proud young men and women recalled their diplomas from Twin Falls High School. The building is still around — but it's called O'Leary Junior High School now — and most of the graduates are still around.

The problem facing the committee working on the gala golden anniversary reunion is finding nine missing classmates. Mrs. Doris Sillies Stradley, Twin Falls, general chairman of the affair, urges anyone knowing the whereabouts of any of the missing graduates to contact a committee member.

The 1917 graduates who have not been accounted for are Otto E. Hoffer, Jay Walter Tracey, Corrine Raymond Hill, Doree Wheeler, Cecil Nellie Noble, Mary Elizabeth Crawford, Helen Gertrude Henry, Joseph Smith and Rosemond Bunnell.

Mrs. Stradley said 14 of the 54 members of the Class of '17 have passed away, but she and other committee members have been able to locate 31 of the remaining.

This will be the first reunion the class has ever held. They are planning a two-day affair July 8 and 9 at the Holiday Inn. Members of the class are scattered throughout the United States from as far away as New York, New Jersey and Missouri to as close as Twin Falls and other spots in Magic Valley.

Mrs. Stradley said most of the 31 people contacted have shown a great interest in the 50-year event and expressed a desire to attend.

Other committee members are Bob McCracken, Gladys Noble

Chairman Is Appointed At King Hill

KING HILL — Mrs. John Davis has been appointed home economics chairman of the King Hill Grange, Joel Young, master, reports.

H. O. Lipe, outgoing chairman, outlined Grange activities for the past year. Mrs. Arthur Greer reported on a coat made from wool which was carded and spun to yarn and knitted by an 84-year-old lady who had the coat on display at State Grange, Mrs. Young asked all members to participate in contests this year.

Frank Jones summarized the National Grange policies on agriculture products, farm trucks and licenses. A discussion was held on the American Falls Dam and farm employment.

Mrs. Joel Young, lecturer; Master Young and Mrs. Charles Finlayson, chaplain, conducted a candlelight ceremony in observance of the Grange centennial.

A poem was read by Mrs. H. O. Lipe, Mrs. Denver Allred gave the New Year greeting and Mrs. Young closed the program with a prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Allred and Mrs. Karl Anderson.

Hospital Guild Work Noted At Meet

Four members of the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Guild discussed and explained the work of the guild at a meeting of the Knoll Grange Friday evening.

Discussing the guild work were Mrs. F. Flint and Mrs. H. Creed, both Twin Falls; Mrs. Clyde Smith, Filer, and Mrs. Lyle Schmitzer, Hollister.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dossett were appointed as membership chairman. The Grange voted to join with Twin Falls and Mountain Rock Granges for a "Farm and City Night" at the Twin Falls hall.

A New Year's poem and "The Birth of the Grange" were read by the lecturer, Elmer Annis. Mr. and Mrs. Gale Killinger were hosts of the evening.

Other guests included I. T. Creider, Lyle Schmitzer and John Reimle, who is agronomist for the Pacific Cooperative Supply and Magic Valley Growers. Mr. Creed announced that a pancake supper will be served at the Twin Falls-Grange hall on Jan. 21, with proceeds going to the Rupert Ranch for Youth. The Knoll Scout Troop No. 62 will serve as a pancake supper at the Knoll hall on Feb. 11. The next regular Knoll Grange meeting will be held at the hall at 8 p.m. Jan. 27.

21 Inducted Into Local BPW Club

The Twin Falls Business and Professional Women's Club welcomed 21 new members into the club recently at a membership dinner in the Caboose Room of the Depot Grill.

Each of the new members was introduced and a little of their life history and interests were given. Mrs. LaVern Strong, first vice-president and membership chairman, presented each with a certificate of membership. Two transfers, Mrs. Martha Carson, Burley, and Mrs. Thelma Meelen, Jerome, also were welcomed.

Mrs. Wanda Larson presented a talk on membership in any club. She noted that it has been estimated that only three percent of all women rise above self for the service of others. She listed nine resolutions for the New Year, which would put life in the organization.

Hailey Man Given Flying Cross Award

HAILEY — Mr. and Mrs. John McMonigle have received word that their son, Capt. Joseph J. McMonigle, has been decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross at Nha Trang Air Base, Vietnam, for heroism in military operations in Southeast Asia.

Capt. McMonigle, presently assigned to Nha Trang as a helicopter operations officer, is a member of the Military Airift Command in support of the Pacific Air Forces, and received the DFC for his selfless devotion to duty while exposed to frequent hostile ground fire.

He directly assisted in the successful recovery of two survivors of a United States Army aircraft that had been shot down. He is a graduate of Hailey high school, attended the University of Alaska and received his B.A. degree in psychology from the University of Portland, where he completed his officer's training.

SHOSHONE—County committee chairmen for the Lincoln County Farm Bureau have been named.

They include Gall McGhee, Richfield, field crop chairman; J. O. Stimpson, Dietrich, potato stock; Dale Eden, dairy; M. E. McKendrick, state and national legislative chairman; Glenn L. Sorenson, tax, committee, and Ward Mills, county vice president and resolutions chairman. Mills reported on South Idaho Chamber of Commerce. The group voted to maintain membership in the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce.

The Governor's Farm Safety Conference was announced for 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Jan. 27 at the Owyhee Hotel, Boise. Several local members plan to attend.

A letter was read stating Nval Rydahl, past state Farm Bureau president, will be legislative leader in Boise during the term of legislature this year.

Sam-Este, McKendrick, and Ervin-Braun are committee members in charge of business regarding the tire project.

A district leaders' training meeting will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Jan. 24 at the Elks Hall, Jerome. All county and community officers, board of directors, secretaries and all community members on the community or district levels are to attend.

Exchange Pupil Talks To Declo PTA

DECLO—An exchange student from Melbourne, Australia, Judy Taylor, was guest speaker at the Declo PTA meeting Wednesday evening at the grade school.

Mrs. Taylor, who is a senior at Burley High School, is living with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Karlson and family, Burley.

Slides were shown of various school facilities in Melbourne, and were narrated by the young Australian miss, who will return to her homeland in late summer.

Mrs. Norman Smyer, president, announced there will be a tuberculosis skin test clinic, sponsored by the South-Center Health District at the grade school from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Millie Nielsen, Cassia County Health nurse, and Mrs. Mary Ellen Garrison, Milledge County Health nurse, will be in charge of the tests.

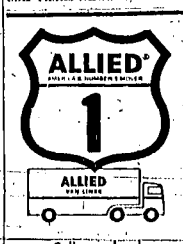

"Anyone taking the tests on Monday must return on Thursday for the results to be read," Mrs. Smyer stressed. Any interested person in the community is urged to attend the free clinic.

A film to raise money for the Cassia County PTA Scholarship Fund will be held Feb. 14 at the Declo gymnasium. Arvil Voyce, county scholarship chairman, urged parents of any senior in the county who plans to enter the field of education to apply early for the scholarship.

Don Musser's seventh grade and Mrs. Mary Lou Kelsey's first-second grade won the room count awards.

Mrs. Dale Kild, program chairman, announced that during the February PTA meeting a member of the community will be awarded a life membership to the Declo unit.

Rules Are Outlined For Medical Expenses

BY RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise (Asst.)

If you are 65 or older or if you are furnishing the chief support of a parent who is 65 or older, this is the last year in which you can obtain a 100 per cent deduction for your or your parent's medical expenses. Beginning next year new rules will be in effect.

Here are the rules for filing your 1966 return which is due by April 17, 1967 (the customary 15th deadline is Saturday).

If You and Your Wife Are Under 65

You will receive a medical deduction only for those medical and dental expenses which exceed 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income (the amount you enter on Line 9, Page 1 of your Form 1040). The cost of medicines and drugs is included in your medical expense tabulation to the extent it exceeds 1 per cent of adjusted gross income.

In compiling your list include all medical expenses for yourself, your wife and all your dependents.

If You or Your Wife Is 65 or Older

All medical expenses (within the maximum limitations listed parent's medical bills. Your own family's expenses will be subject to the usual 1 per cent and 3 per cent rules.

Remember this big break: If you furnished the chief support for a parent, you can obtain complete deduction for all medical expenses you paid for the parent even if you are not entitled to claim the parent as a dependent because he had $600 or more income.

For example, you paid a surgeon's fee of $1,500 for your mother, who is over 65, and who had $1,000 in dividend income. Since her income was greater than $600, she does not qualify as your dependent. But because of that $1,500 payment, you turned her chief support. Therefore, you can get a full medical deduction for the $1,500.

Here are the maximum limitations on the medical deduction:

In general, the limit is $5,000 multiplied by the number of exemptions (but not counting the extra exemptions for age or blindness), and with this top limit:

For single people who are not head of a household or a surviving spouse — $10,000.

For married persons filing separate returns — $10,000.

For married persons filing a joint return, or for a head of a household or a surviving spouse — $20,000.

Regardless of your age, this is the type of medical expense you may include in your tabulation:

Ambulance hire; braces, crutches, artificial limbs; dentist's fees; doctor's fees; eyeglasses and examination; false teeth; health and accident insurance; hearing aids; hospital expenses; hospital insurance; laboratory fees; nurse's fees; physical therapy treatments; transportation; X-ray fees. (Next: Contributions.)

later in this article) are fully deductible without regard to the 3 per cent and 1 per cent rules. (This is where the big change will occur next year; on returns filed in April, 1968, you will have to follow the same 3 per cent and 1 per cent rules which apply to other taxpayers.)

If a Dependent Parent Is 65 or Older

All the medical expenses you paid for are fully deductible. List them separately from those expenses incurred by yourself, your wife and your dependent children. In this way you will receive a full dollar-for-dollar credit on the

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, Jan. 15—Born to love more than you can conveniently chew.

AURUS (April 21-May 21)—The wheel is not to deteriorate into sarcasm at the expense of others. A sense of humor, properly employed, can take you far both in your private and professional life. Be used, however, it can boomerang, bringing you enemies and the disintegration of personal and business relationships.

An excellent judge of the human situation, you will nevertheless have to guard against developing the emotional habit of fault-finding rather than the intellectual one of genuine criticism. You can be of real help to those about you if you use your ability to know and judge wisely.

If you are careful to select a high-spirited mate who is at the same time sensitive to the feelings of others, you should have an ideally happy marriage. Finding such a person, do not hesitate to make the acquaintance permanent; to wait too long may be to lose out on marriage entirely, or, at least, to lose out on a happy one.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Best to be frank and outspoken with co-workers and business associates today. They need to know where you stand.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Confidence in yourself and in your business or domestic partner is the key to today's success. Start the day right.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—The Pisces who keeps his promises will meet with the most success. Don't let any other astray for the sake of self-protection.

Best Loser Is Named At Hazelton

HAZELTON.—Katie Ramey was loser of the week when the Valley Benders TOPS Club met Wednesday at the Hazelton Village Hall.

Fifteen members reported 30.5 pounds lost and 4 pounds gained. This meeting was the conclusion of a three-month contest with the Rupert TOPS Club with the losing club to host a low-calorie dinner for the winners. Results will be announced as soon as the reports are received from Rupert.

Marlene Walters, a transfer from the Murtaugh Tops Club, was accepted as a member.

Three prospective members attended the meeting. Rules and regulations were explained by the president, Mary Schwarz.

Pledges for weight loss for the coming week were made and a discussion was held on the state convention to be held in Rexburg in April. The thought for the day was given by Barbara Pohl.

The next meeting will be held next Wednesday at the village hall recreation room. Weigh-ins will begin at 7 p.m. and the business meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. Everyone interested is invited.

Rally Ends Second Week

By ED MORSE AP Business News Writer NEW YORK (AP)—The great 1967 stock market rally now has slipped to second week and has pulled up near-record volume. Turnover this week was 53,369,210 shares compared with 47,418,470 shares in the preceding holiday-shortened four-day trading week. This week's rally was the greatest since the record weekly volume of 53.5 million shares in the week ended last April 11.

The Dow Jones industrial average this week advanced 26.39 points to 835.13, smashing through the "triple top" formed at around the 820 level last April. The advance was due to a variety of factors. The penetration of the 820 line was, in the mind of wall street speculators, a bull market signal, especially since the Dow Jones rail averages already had topped a previous high. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week advanced 8.5 points to 307.7, a huge advance below the 10-point rise of the previous week. Of 1,596 issues traded, 1,293 issues rose and 223 fell.

Cassia Has Installed All Officials

BURLEY — Cassia County Commissioners have all of the new officials sworn in for another term after a two-day session. The commissioners re-elected John Clark as chairman of the board. Clark and J. Weldon Beck were both re-elected to their posts in the November election. Attorney General E. Bedke, prosecuting attorney, replaces Richard K. Smith.

Glenns Ferry Bank Official Lists Promotions

GLENN'S FERRY — William W. Knox, president of the Idaho State Bank, Glenns Ferry, announced promotions for bank personnel. Leon Wickel of the Grand View Branch has been promoted to vice president. Glenn A. Brown of the Metcalf Branch has been promoted to assistant vice president. Norman Hansen of the Cambridge Branch has been promoted to assistant vice president. King said the bank has had the greatest growth during 1966 than any year since its organization. Idaho State Bank formerly the Glenns Ferry Bank, Ltd., established in 1901.

Johnson Startles Business; Financial World With Plan

By JACK LEFLER AP Business News Writer NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson surprised the business and financial world during his first news conference by proposing a six percent surcharge on income taxes. The general opinion had been that he would not seek higher taxes at this time. The reaction was swift and, in the case of the stock market, turbulent.

In his State of the Union message, Johnson asked Congress to raise the top rate of the tax on income to 70 percent. He also asked for a 6 percent surcharge on income taxes. The proposed surcharge would last for two years "or for so long as the unusual expenditures are associated with Vietnam."

The initial response of members of Congress to the proposal was lukewarm. Many legislators felt that a higher tax rate was badly timed and would trigger an already slowing economy into a recession. The reaction of businessmen was mixed. Some thought the increase was preferable to a stagnating budget deficit.

Buhl Woman Raps People Who Abandon Animals

Editor, Times-News: A few days before Christmas three dogs were abandoned south of Buhl. Left lonely, bewildered and hungry. The "good-hearted" spineless people who leave someone else to do their dirty work are no better than the doggnappers and dog poisoners who are the lowest forms of life existing. I hope the New Year will find the race becoming extinct.

Burley Woman Is Opposed To Regional Airport

Editor, Times-News: "It would be worth a prize and an act to save our necks to locate the very persons bringing in the idea of a regional airport for Magic Valley. They have them sign a statement assuring all Idahoans that it would not be used for exchange labor with Communist countries. Transport planes for Idaho? By whom? For whom? Built by whose money? Let's not do it! Same answer for regional chamber of commerce. So let local chamber remain, so the people can reach their representatives easier and have more voices heard instead of silenced. Keep our opportunities and freedom. What do you think?" ALICE SEAMONS (Burley)

A VIEW FROM THE FRONT OFFICE

Is there a gap in your company's health-care protection? When your company's prepayment health-care coverage was inflated, the facts probably indicated your benefits covered existing hospital costs at that time. These costs are constantly rising. More involved procedures, more sophisticated equipment, demand more highly skilled hospital personnel — these are but a few of the many factors which affect health-care costs. Does your coverage keep pace, or is it anchored to yesterday's economy? (Even a few months can bring a change.) As the costs rise and benefits remain fixed, the coverage gap increases. Who fills the gap? The patient, unless you have Blue Cross of Idaho. Only Blue Cross pays benefits in the form of necessary in-hospital service, not a pre-fixed sum of money; will meet its commitment to furnish the service, regardless of cost changes. Consider these factors when you view your company's health-care coverage. Then talk to a specialist from Blue Cross of Idaho. You will then realize why Blue Cross does not permit a "coverage gap" and, dollar-for-dollar, is the best buy for your health-care budget.

When you need Blue Cross, nothing less will do.

Zags' Home Court Win Skein 64-61

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Idaho broke Gonzaga's 19 home game winning streak Saturday night with a 64-61 basketball victory. The game gave both teams 2-1 records for the Big Sky Conference season, and put Montana State in the lead at 3-1. Idaho's Rod Bohman and Gonzaga's Gary Lechman led scoring with 20 points, but it was Bohman who played hero, fighting off a Gonzaga rally midway in the second half.

Minico Edges Gooding Late In Overtime Period

GOODING — A free throw by Minico's Cook in the final 12 seconds of overtime gave the Minico Spartans a 78-77 decision over the Gooding Senators in a game that featured everything. Junior Claude Rasmussen pumped through 39 points to shade Gooding's Larry Adamson by five points in a great personal scoring display. But the ironic thing may have been that Bob Seimons, carried off the floor with a twisted ankle in the fourth quarter, came back in the overtime session to can two field goals and pave the way for Cook's decisive charity toss.

Idaho Falls Overwhelms Burley 83-44

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Bill Miller, who scored 20 points in the first half, sank a total of 36 as the Idaho Falls Tigers waltzed in an easy 83-44 Eastern Idaho Conference victory over the Burley Bobcats.

Visiting Burley, without a take-charge man, was paced in the scoring column by Ed Jurek for Ron Russell with nine points. Idaho Falls jumped off to a quick 6-0 lead and built up an unimpeachable 49-22 halftime margin, with Miller's 20 points and Richard Jaussi contributing for 10.

In the second quarter, Idaho Falls instituted the full court press and a successful fast break to build up the 27-point halftime lead.

Kimberly's Quick Points Beat Valley

EDEN — HAZELTON — A series of five quick fast break strikes broke the game open in the third quarter Saturday night and sent the Big Six Conference leading Kimberly Bulldogs to a 55-43 decision over the Valley Vikings.

Valley, playing with four starters out for various reasons, managed a one-point lead in the first quarter and stayed within five points in the second period.

But in the third period Kimberly struck with patented quick-hitting attack to explode into an 11-point lead and it was a matter of playing out the clock.

Kimberly led, Valley 49-43 at the half. Kimberly led, Valley 55-43 at the end of the game. Kimberly led, Valley 55-43 at the end of the game.

Magic Valley Withdraws From Pioneer League As Salt Lake City Moves In

BY LARRY HOVEY

KETCHUM — With prospects of an Ogdén-Salt Lake City rivalry to bolster fan interest, the four members of the Pioneer League brimmed with enthusiasm for the 1967 season during the loop's annual meeting Saturday afternoon. Salt Lake City moved into the league after a 10-year absence at the expense of Twin Falls, which had its working agreement shifted to the Utah city by the San Francisco Giants.

Minico Tops Blackfoot In Loop Play

RUPERT—The Minico Spartans got great outside shooting from Bobby Seimons Friday night and broke over the tall Blackfoot Broncos 67-66.

Blackfoot was in contention only in the first quarter as Minico had trouble getting its fast break going. Ahead 17-13, the Spartans piled up a big second quarter lead when Blackfoot went cold from the field and managed only five points.

In the third quarter 6-8 Jones got the bulk of his 18 points underneath to pull Blackfoot to within nine points. But in the final quarter Minico's running game started paying off and behind the shooting of Ed Mayes, the Spartans pumped through 22 points to turn it into a rout.

Tiger May Meet Rouse In Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — A bout with Rousey-Rousey in Las Vegas, Nev. or Anacostia, Md., is under consideration for Dick Tiger's first light heavyweight title defense, the champion's manager representative said Friday.

Jerry Jones, the Nigerian's U.S. representative, said the latest offer of promoters in Las Vegas promoter Bill Miller was "the same type of offer we've had from Montana."

Miller, the N.T. light heavyweight, wrestled the 175-pound crown from Jose Torres last Dec. 16.

Fritz Leads Oregon State Over Huskies

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Sophomore guard Vince Fritz directed a methodical, sharpshoot Oregon State team to a 67-57 Pacific-8 victory over Washington Saturday afternoon in a regionally televised basketball game.

Fritz, shooting over the zone and driving for layups when the Huskies switched to a man-to-man defense, scored 24 points. He led second half comeback after the Beavers trailed 32-20.

Gordon Harris, Washington's 6-10 senior center, scored 24 points, including 12 straight free throws before missing. But he grabbed only four rebounds and the Beavers outrebounded the Huskies, 42-20.

The Beavers moved into second place with the win, which gives them a 3-1 record. Washington is now 1-3 in conference play.

10th-Ranked Florida Trips Kentucky

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Tenth-ranked Florida used a scrambling defense to overcome a whipping height advantage Saturday night in recording an easy 89-72 Southeastern Conference basketball victory over the stumbling Kentucky Wildcats.

The victory was the Gators' second over the Wildcats this season. Florida jumped to a 10-1 lead on the cold-shooting visitors and was never headed. The Gators repeatedly swept the boards and finished with 22 rebounds to only 47 for Kentucky.

Forward Gary Keller, 6-foot-9, led the Floridians, now 11-1 overall, with 23 points and 12 rebounds. Bob Talbot poured in 26 points in leading Kentucky, 8-6 on the season.

Bobcats Drop Weber State In Loop Play

BOZEMAN (AP) — The Montana State Bobcats rolled to an easy 76-63 Big Sky Conference basketball victory over Weber State of Ogden, Utah Saturday night.

The Bobcats, paced by Tom Storm and Jack Gillespie, took the lead early in the game and from there on it was all Montana State.

The Bobcats' tough defense and good shooting were too much for Weber, Montana State hit 46 per cent of its shots from the field compared to 27 per cent for Weber State.

Tom Storm led Bobcat scorers with 16 points, followed by Jack Gillespie with 17. High for Weber was Ted Bryant with 20. Montana State is now 3-1 in Big Sky play.

Arizona Nips Surprised Utah 74-70

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Arizona Wildcats surprised Utah Saturday night in a Western Athletic Conference basketball game in the Wildcats' lair.

The running Redskins held a 20-22 halftime edge, but the scrappy Wildcats pulled in front to stay on a bucket by Mike Malten with 9:30 left on the clock.

Greedy Greene sank two free throws and Arizona was in the lead 60-57.

Walter, with 12 points in the second half, and Bill Davis with a total of 22, 14 coming in the second period, led the Wildcats to their bid for the victory.

Jerry Jackson of Utah was high point man for the night with 26. DeWitt Meynard chipped in 23 for the losers.

Two Guide Utags Over Creighton

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Shaler Logan and Jim Smith teamed for 74 points with 39 and 35 respectively to lead Utah State University to a 124-96 win over Creighton University in an inter-sectional basketball game Saturday night.

Both men used quick moves, key assists and skillful shooting and scored almost at will in downing the outmanned visitors. Wally Anderzunas and Bob Portman scored 27 and 23 points respectively for Creighton before the game.

Portman left with 13 minutes to play and Anderzunas left with four to go. Anderzunas scored 23 points in the second half.

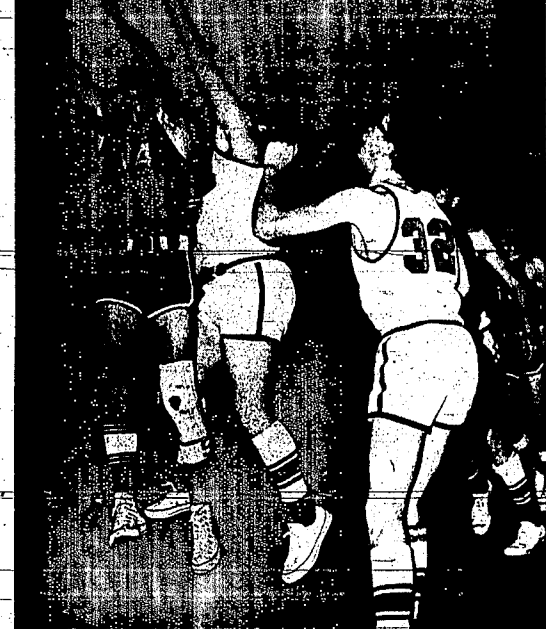

USU fell two points short of breaking a fieldhouse record as it failed to hit on several opportunities in the final minute of play. The previous record was 125 in 1964 against American University.

Always Right Clay Gets Wrong Award

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Cassius Clay, world heavyweight boxing champion who contends he always is right, was scheduled to fly to Atlanta today to accept an award from the 100 Per Cent Wrong Club.

The Negro club plans to present an award as professional athlete of the year tonight to Clay, who said he would disrupt his training for a fight with Ernie Terrell to accept the trophy.

The club also will honor Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears as the pro football player of the year, Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates as the pro baseball player of the year, and quarterback Eldridge Dickey of Tennessee State as the college football player of the year.

GOING UP FOR TWO points in the fourth period Friday night is Shoshone's Terry (14) while Kimberly's Erickson tries to block the shot. Kimberly's Terry Morrill (32) awaits a possible rebound. Kimberly won the game 73-58. (Times-News photo)

Eller And Rietz Guide Taller Kimberly Over Shoshone 73-58

BY BOB MAGEE
Times-News Assistant Sports Editor

SHOSHONE—Larry Eller and Rietz hit 22 points each Friday night to pace the Kimberly Bulldogs to a hard-fought 73-58 victory over the Shoshone Indians.

The Indians gave the Bulldogs a real battle for the ball throughout the game, but the rebounding strength of Kimberly took its toll, allowing Shoshone to seldom take more than one shot at the basket.

The Indians also found it hard to get off a shot over the taller Bulldogs and sometimes turned the ball over without touching the rim.

Rietz broke a 7-7 tie about midway in the first quarter but a field goal, followed shortly by a free throw and the Bulldogs held the lead the rest of the way.

The Indians weren't far behind during the first quarter, but six points by Spike Fitzhugh and two each by Rietz and Gary Eller early in the second gave the Bulldogs a nine-point margin.

Dave Swanner and Terry got two points each after that while Fitzhugh added four and McMansters and Rietz added two each to give the Bulldogs a 15-point lead by the end of the first margin pretty well intact the rest of the way with Larry Eller accounting for the bulk of the scoring.

Eller opened the gap to 20 points, 32-12, with about two minutes left and the second strings of both teams played the rest of the way. Williams hit five points on field goal and three free throws to cut the gap to 15 at the final score.

Two Guide Gooding Past Filer 74-60

FILER—Kenny Krahn scored 25 points and Larry Adamson 22 Friday night to pace the Gooding Senators to a 74-60 victory over Filer.

Gooding was in control of the game by only a slight margin during the first half, leading by one point after the first quarter and by six at the half.

The Senators, behind Adamson and Krahn, cut loose in the second half to widen the gap to 14 in the third, a margin that held up through the fourth.

Green Bay Remains Solid Favorite To Beat Chiefs In 'Super Bowl' Sunday

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bart Starr's passing and a ball-hawking defense make the experienced Green Bay Packers the solid favorites over the explosive Kansas City Chiefs Sunday in the first clash of champions of the National and American football leagues in the Super Bowl. Ever since the two pro leagues decided to merge last June, this test of strength has been awaited with great interest.

However, it appeared that there would be no sellout of the vast Memorial Coliseum. A crowd of about 70,000 is expected in the 93,000-seat arena.

Resistance to the television blackout in the Los Angeles area and the prices of some of the less desirable tickets, plus the fact that there is no home team involved, were given as some of the reasons for the failure to sell out.

The game will start at 4:05 p.m., EST. It will be beamed across the nation on television and radio by both the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co. who are paying a total of $2 million for the rights.

The Packers and Chiefs will be shooting for the biggest payoff in the history of team competition with $15,000 guaranteed for each member of the winning team and $7,500 for each loser. As the Packers already have won approximately $8,500 for beating Dallas in the NFL title game, 24-7, they can take home $23,500 each by winning as expected.

Kansas City's share for beating Buffalo in the AFL title game, 21-7, was $5,000.30 for each. Chiefs could pocket more than $20,000. The highest payoff for a World Series winner was $12,794 by the 1963 Los Angeles Dodgers.

Green Bay's solid defense and Starr's brilliantly directed attack took the Packers through the regular NFL season with a 12-2 record. They capped this with a victory over Dallas on four TD passes by Starr to four different receivers, and then shut off a late Cowboy threat with an interception by Tom Brown with 24 seconds to go.

The Packers won four NFL titles in eight years under Coach Vince Lombardi, feature a well-balanced offense that leans more heavily than usual on Starr's passes. The old Dale, Boyd, Dowler, Jim Taylor, Elijah Pitts and Marv Fleming.

The running game, less effective than in past years, still has a blockbuster in fullback Taylor and a speedy threat in Pitts. Pitts took over for the injured old boy when the Golden Boy was forced out of action with a pinched nerve in his neck.

It is doubtful if forming will be an important factor, except possibly as a pass receiver, although Coach Lombardi insists he is ready for duty.

It was the ability of the Packers' defense to throttle NFL opponents that made them the favorites over the Chiefs by about two touchdowns. Davis leads a line front four that pressures the passer.

Dave Robinson, Ray Nitschke and Lee Roy Cayley are a formidable trio of linebackers, perhaps the best in football. Herb Adderley and Bob Jeter at the corners and Willie Wood and Tom Brown at safety are tough on pass defense.

Kansas City rolled to the AFL crown with an 11-2-1 record and then knocked off the defending champions from Buffalo with the greatest ease. The Packers had much more trouble with Dallas than Coach Hank Stram's Chiefs had with Buffalo.

Len Dawson, a former NFL quarterback, had an outstanding year for Kansas City and hit for 26 touchdown passes during the regular season.

The addition of rookie Mike Garrett, the 1965 Heisman award winner from Southern California, added sparkle to the Chiefs' running game, and the vast improvement of flanker Ollie Taylor, a second year man from Prairie View, made their passing game.

A sturdy offensive line of Jim Tyrone, Ed Bahde, Wayne Frazer, Curt Merz and Dave Hill gives Dawson good protection and opens the holes for Garrett and fullback Curt McClinton.

The speedy Taylor is the top receiver, but Dawson also makes good use of shifty Chris Burford, his split end, and suggests Fred Armstrong, the tight end who is virtually blind in one eye.

Armstrong suffered a slight shoulder sprain in his first game but is supposed to play. If he can't make it, Reg Carolan will take his place.

The Chiefs' defensive unit features the likes of the experienced Jerry Mays, 6-foot-7, 287-pound Buck Buchanan, aggressive Bobby Bell and two fine safety men, Johnny Robinson and Bobby Hunt.

Each club is handicapped by a lack of intimate knowledge about the peculiarities of its own position. They have exchanged films of three recent games and have limited scouting reports. Each knows the prestige of its league is riding in the balance.

"We really want this one badly," said Fuzzy Thurston, veteran Green Bay guard who has played on all of Lombardi's champions. "We have worked for eight years to be the best. We just have to win to be considered the best in football."

"We're to the kids from across the tracks," said Mays, and the Chiefs' defensive left end and

Valley's Hot Shooting Tips Wendell

WENDELL — Paced by Ted Black, the Valley Vikings turned up with a red-hot hand Friday night and topped the Wendell Trojans 5-4.

Black, who hit nine of 21 attempts from the outside in the first three quarters, wound up with 27. But his shooting seemed to ignite the entire Valley club which hit 43 per cent in posting a 38-28 halftime lead. The Vikings extended that to 60-48 in the third quarter before Wendell, warming up to 42 per cent, cut into the margin in the closing minutes.

All but one of Wendell's points came from three men, Morgan, the post-man, topping the parade with 22.

Wendell won the first game 55-45.

Pro Golfers Will Battle Treasure Island Pirates

By JACK STEVENSON
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Treasure Island's ferocious fighters emerge from the realm of fiction to combat golfers seeking the pot of gold this week.

Billy Bones, Capt. Smollett, Long John Silver, Israel Hands and the others come to literary life in the Monterey Peninsula from the pen of Robert Louis Stevenson.

Now the new Spyglass Hill golf course names its holes after Stevenson's characters, and the players in Bing Crosby's 28th National Pro-Amateur tournament starting Thursday must battle this layout during the quest for $184,500 in prizes.

Spyglass joins Cypress Point and Pebble Beach in the triumvirate of Crosby tests for the pros and their amateur pursues who include stars of entertainment, business, professions and other sports.

Robert Goulet, Ricky Nelson, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Ray Bolger, Phil Harris, Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale, John Brodie, Alvin Dark, and Lephart Firestone are among the amateurs.

Crooner Crosby considers the new Spyglass Hill course so tough he has bet Jack Nicklaus that he can't break par 72 from the championship tees which put the course at a 6,972-yard measure.

Those "liger" tees won't be used in the tournament as the Professional Golfers Association decided on the medium tees which lessen the sting with a distance of 6,682.

The 168 pro-am teams must play each of the three courses the opening three days—Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Then 6,682.

The New York Athletic Commission ordered Elorde retired for his own good after he was knocked out in the 14th round by lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz in New York last Nov. 28.

Goalby Holds Lead In San Diego Open

BY WILL GRIMSLEY
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Coursebreaker Bob Goalby, playing steadily, held a one-stroke lead over surging Tommy Bolt after 45 holes Saturday in the $66,000 San Diego Open Golf Tournament. Doug Sanders, the Dixie Dandy, put on a late charge and moved among the leaders by shooting the first nine holes of the 6,783-yard, par-71 Stargust Country Club course in four-under-par 31. He was the hottest player on the course.

The muscular, 35-year-old Goalby, without a major victory since 1962, played the outgoing nine of the third-round in 34, one under par, for 166 through 45 holes.

Bolt, meanwhile, the 48-year-old reformed club thrower who won the National Open crown in 1958, sank an 80-foot putt on the third hole, added two more birdies and made the run in 32 for 167.

Sanders, with four birdies and no bogies, was tied at 169 with Randy Glover, who shared the 16-hole lead with Goalby at 132.

Glover, obviously nervous, sprayed his shots and scored two over par for a front-nine 37.

Art Wall Jr., 43-year-old former Masters champion, and player of the year, was in third place with a steady 34 for 170.

Two other late charges in addition to those of Bolt and Sanders came from former Open champion Gene Littler, playing in his home town, and Frank Beard.

Littler was out in 33 and Beard in 32 for 171 through 45 holes, which ties them with gangling Al Gelberger, the reigning PGA champion, dark horse Chris Blocker and Ronnie Reif, a club professional from Hilo, Calif.

Gelberger shot a 33 going out, Blocker a 36 and Reif a 35. Blocker and Bolt were tied for second—three shots off the pace—going into the third round of the tournament, which has a first prize of $13,200.

Junior Gun Club Boasts Large Membership, Needs Instructors

The emphasis is on safety and sometimes that can be pretty dull, but the members of the Twin Falls Junior Rifle Club love it.

Three instructors and five apprentice instructors devote two evenings each week to training some 33 youngsters in proficiency and safety measures of handling a gun.

The membership would grow even more if more instructors were available. To become qualified to work with the Junior Division of the Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol club, a person must, of course, know guns, and also pass an examination given by the National Rifleman's Association.

The present instruction has become, unofficially, a combined and joint effort of the National Guard and the Army Reserves.

Each of the three instructors is a member of one of these groups.

"But," they hasten to add, "membership in the guards or the reserves is not a qualification for an instructor."

Anyone who is interested and thinks they might be qualified is urged to contact Chris Fearheller, Donald Cote or Art Wiseman, instructors.

A boy or girl must be at least 10 years old and under-19 to be a member of the organization.

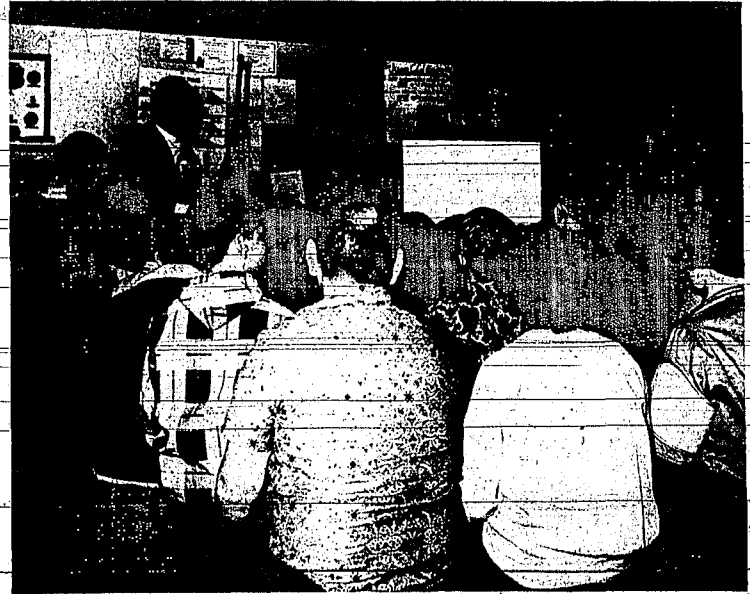

The group runs two classes during the year and the program is not merely one of going out to the club and shooting.

Each new member must complete three weeks classroom work before they are allowed on the range. This portion of the class consists of a thorough training in all things pertaining

RECEIVING THE VIETNAMESE air combat missions which won him more than 20 armed forces decorations for bravery is Capt. Jay Davis Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Davis, Sr. (Times-News photo)

Vietnam Pilot Faces Air Combat Bravely, Keeps Healthy Fear Of Florida's Snakes

His Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry, Distinguished Flying Cross and 21 other assorted air combat medals silently prove Capt. Jay Davis, Jr., U. S. Marine Corps pilot, to be a courageous man, but his wife, Terry, says he's scared of snakes.

On the other hand, Pensacola, Fla., snakes are one species of life with which must meet head-on to become acquainted, she adds.

Capt. Davis, a Gooding High School graduate who lists his home address as Pensacola, recently visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Davis, Sr., during a short leave to flow a 13-month service in Vietnam.

The Davis' Junior left for Kanosko, near Honolulu, Hawaii, after leaving Twin Falls. Capt. Davis will receive a minor's commission when he arrives there.

Nearly all of Capt. Davis' 23 decorations were earned while he was in service in Vietnam. He flew some 450 missions over Vietnam and was shot down twice over enemy territory.

Those 430 missions add up to a lot of time in the air and the skies over Vietnam are not particularly notch for their serenity, but Terry says she worried more about her husband when he was on the ground, and Mrs. Davis Sr. agreed with her.

"We walked a lot of floor," the ladies said.

Capt. Davis is the Davis' only son, but Mrs. Davis, when asked if she would have wanted more there-one-and-one-half, in cum-but, said "I would feel bad if I had a son who felt he was too good to fight."

The Davis' Jr. have been married for 11 years. Terry has waited patiently for her husband while he spent two months in Spain, 10 months in Japan and 13 months in Vietnam. During each of these assignments, she said, she never wrote Capt. Davis when she was depressed and seldom told him she missed him

Book Review

THE SILK ROAD
By LUCE BOULNOIS

Tradition includes silk among the most fundamental elements of Chinese civilization. The words for silkworm, mulberry and silk itself have been found in most ancient texts and inscriptions upon bone and tortoise-shell going back to the twelfth century B.C.

As far as can be told from the geography of the ancients, the discovery took place in the north of China, in Shantung, and the province is still a great producer of wild silk.

The idea of manufacturing silk is said to have come to Lei-tsu, chief concubine of the legendary Chinese Emperor Huang-ti, one day while she was watching a silkworm spin its thread.

Two centuries before another mythical emperor, Fu Hsi, had invented a musical instrument made of wood with silken strings. But it is Lei-tsu who is venerated by the Chinese people.

She discovered how best to treat the silkworm and its thread to ensure that the resultant tissue would surpass all other materials in the Orient.

It was under the Han dynasty, which reached its height about the same time as the Roman Empire, that silk ceased to be a mere industrial material and became an absolute value in itself.

China was expanding westward and from time to time caravans were sent out from China to trade for horses which were needed to carry on wars, to protect the outposts which had been opened in the countries to be crossed, and to carry on the expansion.

When peaceable agreements could be reached, silk was the currency used to acquire these horses and silk gradually became a currency used in trade with foreign countries.

One of these countries was Kokand and it was here the Chinese heard of engineers from Ta-Ch'in—the Roman Empire—who were coming to the aid of the people of Kokand.

The Chinese now began to come in contact with the shrewd and able Romans, great builders and hydraulic engineers, mighty warriors.

On the Roman side tradition has it that their first introduction to silk was in a great battle against the Orientals before the day of Caesar.

The Roman soldiers had been sorely tried by unexpected tactics but had kept their ranks until suddenly the enemy unfurled lavishly brilliant silken banners in their next charge. The Romans were so nonplussed that they broke and ran in defeat—and yearned for silk thereafter.

As the Roman Empire grew in wealth, so grew its desire for the things wealth could acquire, and silk was a priceless material, highly valued and sought after.

Merchants who brought it were assured of a good market and thus the trade routes were being pushed eastward to the source of supply.

At the same time the Chinese were pushing farther to the west. It was in this way that the great trade route, "the silk road" which Miss Boulnois describes, came into existence and continued to be used right up to modern times.

Along the route, the Chinese left marks of their culture. We learn of Buddhism, Taoism, Confucianism and, as the Romans came farther East, of Christianity. We find evidence of Chinese art and politics, Greek and Syrian traders, the sailors of Alexandria, the caravaners of Antioch, the Persian merchants, the peddlers of Palmyra and Sogdiana, all played a leading part in organizing the immense traffic that crossed the mountain barriers and deserts of Central Asia to bring the wonderful Chinese silk to Rome.

Until recently the old route has remained the same as in its original state, the same terrain of deserts and mountains that was traveled by Marco Polo, the agents of Meas Tilianus, the Franciscans and the

Life in
MAGIC VALLEY

Diogenes in his search for an honest man (or woman) can find it in Magic Valley. A DECLEO woman, Mrs. Fred Kowitz, is proof not only that people still are honest, but will go to great lengths to see that lost money is returned. Last fall as she was returning home from Boise she spied a handbag on the ground near a roadside fruit stand. She brought the purse home and upon examining it to find the owner, she found it contained several Western states road maps, passport, driver's license, $400 in travelers' checks and $40 in cash, but no definite identification as the address listed was in England.

However, there was an address book and using it, Mrs. Kowitz began her search for the owner. She made two calls to New York and finally located a woman who informed her the owner of the purse was on route to Medford, Ore. So Mrs. Kowitz, a nurse at Cassia Memorial Hospital, BURLEY, made another long distance call, leaving word for the woman to contact her when she arrived in Medford.

Several days later the owner of the purse, who turned out to be a young English woman living in Oxfordshire for many years. She attended a horticultural college and worked for a year before coming to the United States in 1954. Since then she and a friend worked for two and one-half years on a large private estate in Nassau County, N.Y.

The two had been traveling since last July and, at the time of the letter Miss Fowler said they had traveled about 15,000 miles and enjoyed ourselves very much.

They planned on going to California and seeing some of the Southwestern states before going into Mexico. Miss Fowler's parents live in a town called Witney and she has a brother who is in the Royal Air Force in Germany.

As a token of appreciation for the honesty and "extra mile" shown by Mrs. Kowitz, Miss Fowler sent her a novelty wooden napkin holder from a factory in Oregon.

Mrs. Gus Stephanshen, SALMON, is finding out that growing lemons and oranges can be just as easy in Idaho as in California—if you do it on a small enough scale and inside your own home.

A dwarf lemon tree is starting to produce and she's picked several lemons weighing one pound even.

And a dwarf orange tree has blossomed and small oranges going into clusters of five and six to a group.

Mrs. Stephanshen, whose husband is a TV repairman and drives a school bus, said the tree spent a year producing the pound-sized lemon. The orange tree blossomed later, however.

The trees are two to three feet in height and the only time they have been outside was during the warmer days the past summer. Other times they stay inside and depend on sunlight from a window.

Paintings To Be Exhibited At Art Show

Artwork done by Mrs. Douglas Albertson, former Twin Falls resident, was on display at the 13th annual exhibition of the Northern California Arts throughout December in Sacramento.

Mrs. Albertson, who heads the art department at the Rancho Cordova High School, is the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Albertson, Buhl. She is the former Daphne Nellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nellis, Yakima, Wash. Mr. Nellis, a former Times-News newsman, is city editor of the Yakima paper.

The show will include paintings, water colors, sculpture, graphics and mixed media. The exhibition is invitational with 175 entries selected from more than 1,100 artists.

Style will range from traditional to avant garde, with emphasis on the latter.

Building Is Purchased By Cassia Board

BURLEY—Ezra Moore, Cassia County Schools superintendent, reports school district No. 151 has purchased the old Production Credit Association building at 1333 Abbot Ave.

The building will be moved within the next three weeks to a site near the Dworshak school, and will provide about 3,600 square feet of space.

The building will house the central county school office, the building presently used by the central county school office will be remodeled to provide additional classrooms.

Cost of the building is $12,000 or about 25 per cent of the original building cost of the structure. The price includes remodeling costs of the building.

Newby was injured several years ago in an automobile accident and this operation stems from those injuries. His hospital address is 50 North Medical Drive, Room 327, University Hospital, Salt Lake City 84112.

Junior-Gun Club Has 93 Participants

A visitor at a meeting notices immediately the strict adherence of each youngster to safety precautions in the manner in which they handle the .22s. By the time the novice attains the range area of the club these measures have become habits and do not seem to require any conscious effort.

The facilities used by the Junior Gun Club are made available to it by the Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol Club, which is a sponsor of the group.

Membership in the national organization costs each youngster five dollars per year and he is required to purchase his own ammunition which is available at the clubhouse. The rifles are furnished by the organization and the instructors prefer that these weapons be used by the junior members because the club weapons undergo a constant program of maintenance and are sure to be safe for the youngsters to use.

Half of the Twin Falls membership meets on Wednesday evening and the remaining half on Thursday evening. Through the interest of these young people many parents become enthusiastic, too, and join the meetings.

1966—biggest year yet for IRRIGATION PUMPING

IN IDAHO

Expansion of Idaho's irrigated agriculture has been taking place rapidly in recent years by the use of electric pumping.

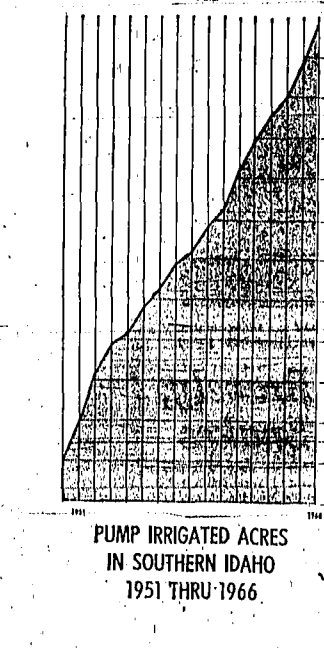

Now more than one-third of the Snake River Valley's three million acres of irrigated land owe their development to pump irrigation. A million acres plus have been made productive since 1950, bringing the total to 1,186,000 acres.

In the year 1966 alone, more than 90,000 acres were added in southern Idaho and adjacent Malheur County, Oregon, by enterprising farmers who cleared the sagebrush, invested their capital, installed irrigation systems, planted and raised high-yielding crops.

Significantly, this reclamation was accomplished and is proceeding without governmental subsidy. The newly productive lands and their output of crops have made possible the large expansion of processing plants, new jobs and payrolls, new tax revenues.

Best of all, it is a continuing development as Idaho puts its abundant resources to work more extensively year after year.

LOOKING AT ONE of the few remaining plants at the City Floral Greenhouses, Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Williams announce plans of Mr. Williams' retirement and the sale of the business. (Times-News photo)

Orlo Williams, Twin Falls Pioneer Florist, Retires

Another landmark has gone from the Twin Falls scene. Orlo Williams has liquidated the stock of the City Floral Greenhouses, 121 7th St. S., and a business that has been a part of the town for the past 37 years will exist no longer.

Mr. Williams came to Twin Falls in 1910 from Illinois and farmed in the area now known as the Lynwood section until 1919. At this time he bought an existing greenhouse owned by John Lundell in this same area east of the present high school and began operating the Twin Falls Floral on West Main street across from the Orphum Theater.

Running a greenhouse in the winter months is not easy. Mr. Williams recalls, it took over a ton of coal, some 50 to 60 tons, to fire the big boilers and maintain the necessary, even temperature for the plants.

There were many nights that he was up all night shoveling the coal.

Then, too, there was the problem of keeping the road. Fifth avenue, down to the corner of Blue Lakes Boulevard, open on bad, snowy nights, Mr. Williams would make the drive to the corner several times to insure a passable road for the next day. One winter the mercury went to 32 degrees below zero.

Mr. Williams has specialized in plants for the yard for many years, but he was also expert in design work and has had a capable hand in the training of a great many local florists.

He was the only florist here for one period of about 10 years. Until his retirement, Mr. Williams was the oldest operating florist in Idaho. He is 75.

He was the first florist from Idaho to attend a Florists Telegraph Delivery convention, which was in Chicago, in fact, he believes that he was the first Idaho florist to join this organization. He is a charter member of the Southern Idaho Florist Association.

The Twin Falls Floral, in the Main Avenue West location, was operated by Mr. Williams, and later by his son, J. C. Williams, until it was sold in 1954. But long before that, in 1929, Mr. Williams bought the site of the present City Floral which has just been closed, and after his son took over the shop downtown he operated these greenhouses to supply the downtown location.

Twin Falls gardeners probably will remember Mr. Williams best for his petunias. They are a particular favorite of his. (Mrs. Williams likes geraniums.) For many years, around 50,000 petunias have been grown and sold each spring by the City Floral Greenhouses.

It is a matter that Mr. Williams, during his long association with flowers and plants, would become interested in developing a new strain, a new color, something unique in the flower world. He has worked with chrysanthemums and geraniums. A number of years ago when bronze was a new and outstanding color in chrysanthemums, Mr. Williams succeeded in obtaining his bronze strain. He has also developed a geranium with a green and white "striped" leaf.

Every town must progress to be healthy and in progress some of the old must go, but it is sure that Mr. Williams, his City Floral Greenhouses and his petunias will long be remembered.

REVENUE DISTRIBUTION
BOISE (AP)—Distribution of $1,959,000 in highway users tax revenue to cities and counties was reported Friday by State Auditor Joe R. Williams.

CITRUS PLANTS: We're getting a lot of questions about raising citrus fruits in the home. One common complaint is leaching of foliage. You can blame this on poor drainage, or too-much-water. All citrus fruits—oranges, grapefruits, lemons and the rest—need good drainage. If water remains around the roots the leaves turn black and drop or drop off.

Another trouble is the syrupy or sticky substance on the leaves. This is often followed by a sooty black material which makes the foliage unsightly. The sticky stuff is a honeydew secreted by sucking insects such as aphids, mealy bugs, scale insects or white flies.

CONTROL: Place the plants in a bathtub and give them a good syring. Scrub the leaves with an old toothbrush, using soap and water. Spray the plants with malathion or house plant aerosol bomb. When spraying, hold the plants at least 18 inches away and spray both top and bottom sides.

TOMATOES AGAIN: A reader writes: "Last year I grew a tomato vine that tops all I've seen yet. It came up as a volunteer in a large pile of extremely rotten snowdrift behind our greenhouse. I didn't bother to stake the plant but let it ramble over the pile of snowdrift. It covered 100 sq. ft., 10 feet one way and 12 1/2 feet the other. I picked 305 nice tomatoes and when frost came there were still 80 small tomatoes from the size of a hickory nut to a hen's egg left. I had a total of 385 tomatoes from one vine!

Another reader: "We had 200

(tomatoes from 2 plants of Morton Hybrid). The plants grew seven feet tall. A little liquid plant food was used and peat-moss was added to the soil."

I'll soon be time to start your tomato plants indoors and we'll have a series of articles on them. Meanwhile, I hope successful gardeners will take a minute and tell me how they grow their own tomatoes.

MAPLE TREES: One fault with maples is that their roots often grow near the surface, interfering with mowing. Is it okay to cut or pull these on-the-surface roots without injuring the tree? It won't hurt them a bit.

When the weather permits chop out the above-surface roots so you won't have the problem of dodging them with a lawn mower later. It's the nature of some trees to send roots out above the ground and there's nothing that can be done except to cut them back when they pop up.

When tree roots invade a flower bed, rose garden, or up to a sidewalk there's no harm done if you cut the roots back.

TREE TOMATO: Here's how one reader handles the "tree tomato". "I bought one early last spring about 10 inches tall, wilted upon arrival. Soaked it and planted in large pot, using compost. Left it outdoors all summer and brought it indoors in fall. Leaves are large (heads) and have a musky smell (like alliums) when broken. Quite disagreeable. Trunk calliper is 1 1/2 inch now and nine feet high. The top has to be cut back

MAGIC-VALLEY PORTRAIT Community Shows Appreciation Of Cecil Cope, Soil Conservationist

SHOSHONE—Throughout all of his "behind the scene" promotion of other individuals, Cecil Cope, soil conservationist with the Wood River Soil and Water Conservation District, has managed and even requested many times that his own name be eliminated to reflect credit to others.

Many persons in Mr. Cope's county realized this and recently an award was presented to him at the Annual Wood River Soil and Water Conservation Art awards meeting.

Mr. Cope believes that in practicing the principles of conservation of natural resources we are keeping faith with those who have struggled to keep our country free.

Mr. Cope's philosophy is summed up by his own words. He says "you can't teach a man anything. You can only help him find it in himself."

One of nine children of Fanny Gale and Thomas Robert Cope, Tropic, Utah, he moved with his family at an early age to Beaver, Utah, where he started school.

Soon after the Uintah Basin was opened for homesteading, his father and state farmer, he homesteaded a farm and teach there.

They moved by horse and wagon from Beaver to the Basin. There he grew up and went to school. However, he dropped out of school after he graduated from the eighth grade.

Realizing the mistake he had made in quitting school, Mr. Cope, at 21, returned to high school and drove a school bus to support himself.

He was student-body president in his senior year and was active in FFA, becoming a chapter farmer and state farmer. He went to Utah State University on a scholarship majoring in agriculture.

While at Utah State in Logan, he married Gladys Kleopfer, in 1938. They have four sons, three daughters, and two grandchildren.

After graduation from Utah State, he worked for the A.A.A. in the Uintah Basin, and later went to work for the census bureau in Washington, D.C.

After a year he went to Bishop, Calif., where he was associated with the Bureau of Indian Affairs. He worked for the Bureau of Indian Affairs in the Pearl Harbor area and in a short time he became a second lieutenant in the Army Coast Artillery.

He was stationed in Texas where he trained Negro troops, then went to Camp McJannet, Calif., and Fort Morgan, Ala. Heif Agriculture. Here he worked in the Pacific theatre of war in the Hawaiian Islands, in Burley and Rupert, living in Albin and then Declo. He helped to establish the Soil Conservation Districts in Cassia and Minidoka counties.

In 1938 Cope was transferred to Shoshone where he has served with the Wood River Soil and Water Conservation District as conservationist.

Cope has held many positions of leadership in the community of Shoshone. He is a member of Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary club, currently serving as Rotary club treasurer.

He has been active with the Boy Scouts as a committeeman and scout master and is active in the Shoshone LDS church where he is the YMMIA superintendent.

TWIN FALLS — BURLEY — RUPERT — BUIHL

THE FIRST COIN minted by the Independent United States government was the "FUGIO" cent, or Franklin cent, named after Benjamin Franklin. They are easily obtainable, but have great historical value. (Times-News photo)

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

Our first letter is from Mrs. M.-Y., Twin Falls. We previously received a letter from her which did not contain quite enough information. In this letter she gives the balance of information we need.

She says, in part, "In regard to the Federal Reserve Note I asked about, I neglected to say the note is on the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The date is 1929 and it is a ten dollar note. It is not in real good condition but is not badly damaged either. Is it worth any more than face value?"

Answer: You have a regular series issue of 1929. This note is almost like the National Currency notes of the period. Your note is quoted at $15 in Extremely Fine condition—if the condition is much less than that, it is probably worth no more than $1 over face value. There were over five million of these New York notes printed.

We have a very interesting letter from J. R. L., Pocatello, regarding a Colonial coin which he has. I suspect that the gentleman is pulling my leg in asking for information about this coin since the tone of his letter indicates some coin knowledge, but it is a very interesting coin so we will go ahead and give some of the history of the coin.

His letter asks, "I have a peculiar coin which is about the size of a United States Large Cent. On one side it appears to have a series of circles around a circle which has printed on it 'United States.' Inside this is the legend 'We Are One.'" "On the other side is what looks like a sundial with the sun above it. With the legend below, 'Mind Your Business.' Around it is the Latin word 'FUGIO' and the date 1787. What can you tell me about it?"

Answer: This is the first coin actually authorized for issue by the authority of the United States. (See illustration.) Before this time the colonies had used a conglomeration of foreign money and had none of their own. At the time (1787) there was much friction in Congress over establishment of a United States Mint.

A great many of the gentlemen in Congress, seeking to feather their own nests, were attempting to block a national mint and to contract with private individuals for production of our money. Of course, this would have been a juicy plum indeed, since it costs very little to actually produce money as compared with its face value.

With a few well-placed bribes, James Jarvis actually got it passed through Congress which allotted him to mint these coins. The United States government was to receive about one-third of the coins, Mr. Jarvis the other two-thirds — which was pretty good pay even for today's standards.

The actual bill went through Congress in 1786, the coins are dated 1787. The legend on the coins, "We Are One," "Mind

Suffice it to say a copper shortage forced cancellation of coinage. Mr. Jarvis coined a lot of these cents but very few if any ever got back to the government. How much profit he made is not known.

A great many of these coins exist and they are not hard to obtain in lower grades. However, the historical value is great since it is, actually, the first coin struck by the United States as an independent government.

We received a letter from Buhl describing some very interesting coins; however, the writer neglected to put either name or address on the letter and there is no way we can answer.

National Coin Week falls between April 22-29 this year. The sponsor of this event is the American Numismatic Association, celebrating its Diamond Jubilee last year. This column will have listing in the near future of shows in which you can see Twin Falls which you can attend.

(Questions on coins and currency should be sent to The Money Box, c/o The Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.)

OFFICIAL MEASURERS FOR the Boone and Crockett Club, E. An increasing number of Idaho big game hunters are submitting large trophies for measuring.

Antlers Collecting Dust Should Be Recorded For Credit To Idaho Game

By JIM HUMBIRD
Fish-Game Department

Bull elk are tall and look as big as moose when seen in the fall. Slender, yet towering antlers, rising majestically as much as five feet above their heads, give the illusion.

They are round and widely branching. They carry from five to seven points on heavy racks that have run more than 60 inches along the beams.

Bull elk are full of grace in spite of their massive weight, which runs about 700 pounds average and is carried on long, trim legs. Bull elk, when grown, are about five feet high at the shoulders, and their length is over nine feet.

Antlers, of course, grow out of the tops of their heads; not their shoulders. This puts the overall height of a bull elk at more than a dozen feet when his head is raised at the end of his long neck.

The antlers of a bull moose, the largest member of the deer family, may reach no more than eight to ten feet off the ground, with perhaps a five or six foot spread.

A moose, standing six to six and one-half feet at the shoulders. Alaskan specimens reach seven feet or more at the shoulders. They carry more weight on their heads than any other horned or antlered animal in the world. Trophy antlers of an Alaskan moose may weigh as much as 50 pounds when the pelvis of solid bone is counted.

Antlers and horns have many uses. Today's hunters covet fine trophy heads, making great risks and enduring unbelievable hardships to collect them, while primitive people made good use of horn material in fashioning weapons and other instruments.

Big game animals need them in making social conquests against rival males, and in fighting off natural enemies. The biggest bull gets the most females. In his harem, and predator animals respect sharp horns.

Today's hunters would toll more than they do and count grave risks as naught to bag some of the trophies from days of yore. Horns and antlers are known to have been developed first by some animals at an early date in geological time, much earlier than the ice age in the Eocene period. For example, one kind of antelope had four horns.

The big difference between horns and antlers is that horns are never shed but grow as long as an animal lives. Usually both sexes grow horns. They have a hollow horny sheath growing over a pointed bony core. Examples are the Idaho mountain goat and the bighorn sheep.

Billy goat horns are heavier and longer than those of the nanny but both sexes have horns that are polished black, bending slightly back and sharp like daggers. They are extremely effective for close-in fighting, and it is a matter of record that a grizzly bear was killed by the sharp black horns powered by the quick upward thrust of a goat's head.

Mountain goat trophies are sought by many hunters in the few states where there still are huntable numbers, even though small when compared with other species of North American big game animals. As true horns they are never shed, and it now is known that their growth rings serve as a permanent record of the conditions under which an animal has lived.

Bighorn sheep horns also tell the ram's life history in a series of deep encircling creases, with these rings marking off the years for the animal. Some doubt the complete accuracy of this indicator.

In any case, the rings grow closer together with advancing age, and the unequal spaces that separate the rings sort out the good growth years from the lean, ewes and yearling rams have short, slender, backward curving horns like goats.

The pronghorn antelope is a horned big game animal, slow mover, this fleet-footed desert runner is rare in the sense that it does not run true to form. Unlike most horned animals, the pronghorn sheds most of their horns once a year, leaving only a small core upon which next year's horns is grown.

Another marked difference separating this species from members of the deer family, for example, is that old pronghorns generally have the biggest horns. Ancient bucks and bulls often have antlers that are regressing in size and quality.

Hunters have argued for years that the number of points found on a set of antlers told how old the animal was to the nearest year. Not so, say the game biologists. Tooth succession is the best index to age.

Even the annual horn growth rings on mountain goat and bighorn sheep correlate fairly well with the stages of permanent tooth development and wear with age.

In other words, a person who wants to know how old a game animal is should borrow a trick tested for years by horse traders — pry open its mouth and look at the teeth.

The largest set of Idaho elk antlers was bagged in 1954 on the Weiser River by Elmer Backus. They have a Boone and Crockett Club score of 414 and four-eighths and rank fourth in the all-time record book. Next highest scoring Idaho elk antlers were taken during the 1955 fall hunting season in the Owyhee Mountains by Cecil Coons of Wilder, "Totipot" and Crockett Club score was 410, with an all-time ranking of fifth.

Idaho does not lack for other big game trophy listings in the Boone and Crockett Club record books. Two G. state moose trophies are among the top ten. Reid Fisher shot the third ranked moose near Elk City in 1957. And the same year Charles Oswald shot the ninth ranked moose near Spencer.

On the mule deer list, Idaho ranks even higher. The second largest set of antlers was taken in Franklin County by Ray Talbot in 1951. Also listed among the top ten but for a different big game species, is the ninth ranked mountain goat killed by Farrell Trenahy in Idaho County in 1933.

Trophies of equal value under their steel measuring tape are common in the Boone and Crockett Club record books. For example, there are four skulls tied for third place in the all-time lists for cougar or mountain lion. Three of these were bagged in Idaho — and two of them by the same hunter, Gene Alford of the Selway River.

Just a few weeks ago a set of elk antlers that had been picked up two years ago on the West Fork of Brush Creek, a tributary of Big Creek, in the Middle Fork of the Salmon River drainage was measured — it goes into a three-way tie for 56th place in the all-time records.

Candy Stripers Pose Excellent Example Of Younger Generation

BY CYNTHIA MCKENZIE
Times-News Correspondent

JEROME — "What Are We Going to Do About the Other Generation?" was the query of the elders in a popular musical show of a few years ago. More and more the answer to the question, would seem to be "nothing," for they seem to do for themselves, and others, very nicely.

The older ones join the Ponce Corps, or Vista, or help in Head Start programs. We often think of the younger ones as being involved only in the routine of school and a rather aimless social life. The fact is that they, too, share the need some serious purpose and channels for the unfocused ideal to service that is actually a characteristic of both the older and younger members of this present "other generation."

The 16 Candy Stripers currently serving in the wards of St. Benedict's Hospital and long term care unit are typical examples of the younger ones.

They come from varied home backgrounds and in all sizes and shapes, but they give up free hours after school and on weekends because, as one of them summed it up, "we can be doing something useful, to help people who need help."

The program for Candy Stripers has been in existence about 10 years at St. Benedict's. It is sponsored by a committee of St. Benedict's Hospital Guild members. Presently, Mrs. E. J. Supple and Mrs. William A. Peters are serving as co-chairmen of this committee.

President of the group is Rebecca Jones, who has been an active member for three years, racking up over 300 hours of service. Members must put in a minimum of four hours a week of service, and beginners, who wear pink aprons and head bands, work hard to reach the 50-hour mark of service, when they will have earned the right to wear the pink and white candy-striped pinafore, which gives the group its name.

Besides orientation courses in hospital methods and child care, the candy strippers keep ice water pitchers filled, store linens, run errands for the nurses, help patients with menu choices, and generally serve as an extra pair of hands and legs in helping with the endless round of housekeeping chores in the hospital and nursing home.

In addition, part of the group, serving in the long-term-care unit, bring untold pleasure and comfort to the elderly residents there. They visit and play games and sing with them, and encourage them in their handicraft work.

Six members of the group, who have completed requirements for the pinafore, were recently honored at a Holiday Tea. They are Glenda Gaiser, Gayle Tranner, Rhonda Felder, Kathy Last, Mary Last and Susan Hove. Others serving, some of them Candy Strippers and some "pink aprons," are Rebecca Jones, president; Rita Ann-Messinger, secretary; Mary Rawlings, Mary Lou Lamm, Pamela Krenz, Carol Handy, Vickie McMurdo, Pat Williamson, Becky Peterson, Barbara Bridwell and Jayne Patterson.

There is a waiting list of applicants who are eager for the chance to give-up games and fun on occasion for the opportunity to serve.

Jewel Flag Pins Available

PAUL — The Paul American Legion Auxiliary has received a supply of Jewel Flag pins which can be purchased by the public according to Mrs. LeRoy Leback, president.

During the regular meeting, it was reported that all of the hospital equipment has been returned to the American Legion Hall and is available to the public if needed.

A work day is set for Tuesday and members will meet at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Donovan Webster. The mid-winter American Legion and Auxiliary convention will be held Friday through Jan. 22 at Boise.

The auxiliary recently slipped 500 flag ribbons throughout which the American Legion had compiled under the direction of Otha McGill, chairman. The program will be used by 10 graders throughout Minidoka County during a study course.

Mrs. Scott Is Club Hostess

HANSEN — Mrs. Ralph Scott was hostess at the Executive Social Club meeting with Mrs. Melvin Switzer as program chairman. Mrs. Roy Van Santé was a guest.

Each member told of a new product each had recently used. Mrs. Donald Conner, the new president, announced that she would have her committees ready for next meeting.

For the program, Mrs. Switzer had each member relate a family incident concerning Christmas and New Year. She read an article, "What I Know Won't Happen." At a contest game, Mrs. Richard Brown received the prize. Mrs. Rudolf Martens received a special prize.

Mrs. Switzer is hostess for the Thursday meeting.

Area Pinochle Club Has Party

CASTLEFORD — Hosts for the Castleford Pinochle Club's party were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kusy and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Mahannah at the Gun Club.

Nine tables were in play, with high going to Fritz Bybee and Mrs. Ed Conrad. Raleigh Senter and Mrs. Rex Simpson received low prizes. The travelling prize went to Mrs. Raleigh Senter, and show-the-money prize went to Mrs. Guy Klynon.

Judy Baggett Is Bride Of Ray F. Wight

Judy Colleen Baggett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oleen Baggett, Buhl, became the bride of Ray F. Wight, Twin Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wight, Bountiful, Utah, in rites Nov. 12 at the Buhl LDS Church. Bishop Dan Watson performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with smilax and white wedding bells, flanked by baskets filled with pink and lavender chrysanthemums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Bridal Original gown of festoon satin brocade with pearls outlining the neckline, empire line and hem of the detachable waltz chapel train. The gown was embellished with a scooped neck-pearl pillow, enhanced with Chantilly lace flower applique.

She carried a lavender orchid surrounded with pink roses and white carnations. Matron of honor was Mrs. Viola Chidister, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Aletha Day, Idaho Falls, and Jan Meyerhoff, Twin Falls. Flower girl was Pamela Bean, Idaho Falls. The rings were carried by Pat Duffel, Twin Falls.

Best man Ted Wight, Bountiful, Utah. Ushers included Leonard Vauk, Twin Falls, and Jim Duffel, Twin Falls.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Kay Bean, Idaho Falls, and Mrs. Melvin Brown, Buhl, was soloist.

Guests attended from Utah, Boise, Burley, Twin Falls, Pocatello, Buhl and Filer.

In charge of the gift table were Carol Glander, Blanche Shafer, Mrs. Newell Johnson and Mrs. Dick Kearseley.

The bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower hosted by Buhl with Hazel Conradi with Newell Johnson.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN-BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My wife's widowed mother has made her home with us for the past 22 years. She was not a built-in habbit for our children, neither was she a servant. (Fortunately we have always had help.) I will not say my wife and her mother got along "fine" — they had their differences, but my wife always deferred out of respect. I never interfered.

Certainly my mother-in-law's mind has been affected, and her health is falling. She has made such a madhouse out of our home that our teen-age children can no longer have their friends over. My wife and I have discussed putting her mother in a fine rest home, but my wife's only worry is, "What will people say if I send my mother away to be cared for by strangers?" If you have a comment on this, I would like to see it in print.

Social Events

TERMOSE.—Welcome—Rounds will dance at 8:30 p.m. Monday at the Jerome Moose Hall. Joe Gibbs and Helen Gibbs are instructing. No refreshments will be served. Anyone interested in learning the rounds this month or in making plans for basic instruction is invited.

Maple Chapter No. 82, Order of Eastern Star, will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the Masonic Temple. All Masons will be honored and all are invited to attend.

Primrose Rebekah Lodge No. 76 will meet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the lodge hall for a social dinner in honor of the official visit of Mrs. Ruth Chaney, assembly president. Officers are asked to wear formals. All visiting Rebekahs are welcome.

Past Noble Grands Club will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday with Mrs. Dora Wilks, 1421 Maple Ave. Hostesses are Mrs. Dana Bowman, Mrs. Guy Cleveland and Mrs. Margaret Barth. The thought for the day will be given by Mrs. Boh. McCracken. Officers will be installed.

Country Woman's Club will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Bird, 352 7th Ave. N.

The Twentieth Century Club will hold a benefit card party at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the YWCA. Bridge, pinocle and canasta will be played. Dessert will be served. Tickets can be obtained at the door or by calling Mrs. A. W. Schrank, 733-8374. The public is invited.

Lend-A-Hand Club will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday with Mrs. Stella Pennington, 111 Harrison St.

Shamrock Club will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Don Stafford. A cooked food sale will be held.

The Twin Falls American Legion Auxiliary will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the American Legion Hall.

SHOSHONI.—The social relations lesson will be presented at the LDS Relief Society meeting to be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the church.

SILENT IN EUGENE DEAR SILENT: Elderly people who pose a problem in the homes of their children, should, for their own sake as well as for their children's be cared for in a rest home, if possible. Of all the reasons for refusing to send her, "What will people say" is by far the poorest.

DEAR ABBY: I am the secretary of a man who employs 22 people. He planned a dinner party at his home to honor a retiring employe and he set the date for Friday. One woman spoke up and said if the party were to be on a Friday he should postpone it until after the first of December so everybody could eat meat! A few others joined in and agreed with her. My employer and I am sure they would have made ample provisions for those who couldn't eat meat on Friday. (Maybe they planned on buying fish to everyone for all I know.)

Anyway, my boss was so disgusted he abandoned the idea of the party, and he and his wife entertained the man alone and I am sure they would have made ample provisions for those who couldn't eat meat on Friday. (Maybe they planned on buying fish to everyone for all I know.)

Now the employes are miffed. They feel that the boss promised them a party and he "cheaped out." What is your opinion?

GIRL FRIDAY

DEAR GIRL: I think your boss was unfair to have punished all the employes for the boss's whimsy of a few. Now those employes who wish to pick a boss with him, have their choice of fish or meat—any day in the week.

DEAR ABBY: The letter written by "RECENT WIDOW" could have been written by me for I am also a recent widow who resents being given condolences in public places by people who never get around to sending me a note or paying a call. But I would have added this: "What on earth is wrong with people who say to a grieving widow, 'Well, Annie, how are you doing?'"

I fight the urge to reply, "How would YOU be doing if you were in MY shoes?" How much better it would be if these thoughtless people would just take my hand and say, "I am glad to see you." When they ask me how I am doing, I want to break right down and cry.

NOT DOING VERY WELL. CONFIDENTIAL TO "HURT MOTHER". Don't ask your son to make a choice between his wife and you. If you've raised him right you'll lose. Trouble: Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Officers Named

Officers were elected at the Associated Maple Valley Women's meeting at the home of Mrs. Luther Rogers. Officers include Mrs. Al Musser, president; Mrs. Kenneth Conroy, vice president; and Mrs. Hugh Kyle, secretary-treasurer. The installation dinner is set for Feb. 9.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM M. WHITTINGTON (Laysan photo)

Eden Couple Observes 50th Anniversary

EDEN.—Mr. and Mrs. William M. Whittington, Eden, have returned from a month's visit in California where they observed their Golden Wedding Anniversary at a reception. They visited their sons and their families, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. (Scotty) Whittington, Glendale, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Whittington, S. a. n. Pablo, Calif., and sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Nelson, Solida, Calif.

The reception was hosted by the couple's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gladys Wright, and members of the San Pablo Baptist Church.

The couple was honored with the presence of Mrs. Gladys Oakley McEwen, Toledo, Wash. Mrs. McEwen was a friend and school chum of Mrs. Whittington in Missouri. It has been more than 50 years since they had seen or heard of each other. The couple received many calls congratulating them on their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Remedy For Headaches Told

HANSEN.—"A New Remedy for Migraine Headaches" was given as a part of the opening exercise at the Friendship Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Blake Froelich. A thank-you letter from the Idaho Youth Ranch was read, and a letter from Mrs. Irene Weiswright was also read.

Mrs. F. J. Frahm was program chairman, with a game prizes going to Mrs. Ogle Wall, Mrs. Joyce Gee, Mrs. Del Wright, Mrs. Gordon Hill, Mrs. Lewis Reed and Mrs. Eloyd Paulson.

Teri Steele, Reeves Slate May Wedding

Mrs. Vic Cummins announces the engagement of her daughter, Teri Steele, to Daniel Reeves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reeves, Hansen. Miss Steele is the daughter of Wayne Steele, Twin Falls.

The bride-elect is a 1966 graduate of Twin Falls High School and is employed at Fredkin Foods, Inc. Mr. Reeves has served six years in the Army and is employed at J. H. Henry Produce, Kimberly.

A May wedding is planned in Twin Falls.

Silver Wedding Anniversary Is Observed

FILER — Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Jagels were guests of honor at a celebration in observance of their Silver Wedding Anniversary at the Clover Lutheran School. The event was hosted by the Lutheran Woman's Missionary League.

Rev. Thomas Johnston presented an anniversary message and group singing was led by Emil Linderman. Edward Jagels, the couple's son, read a humorous history and Raymond Ohlensahlen also gave a reading. Mrs. Arthur Kaster presented the couple a gift on behalf of the league.

Accordian selections were presented by Ivan Schroeder and Roger Clark and Ronnie Gihring played piano numbers. Vocal selections were by Gloria Lassen, Mrs. Edgar Meyer, Mrs. Wayne Jagels, Pamela Meyer and Marcia Meyer.

Mrs. John Burkholder and Mrs. Meyer, in charge of the program, Carol Meyer registered guests. Refreshments were served by members of the league.

For the occasion, Mrs. Jagels wore a winter white and silver dress with matching shoes and a pink carnation corsage.

A number of friends called at the couple's home after the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Jagels were married Jan. 3, 1942, in the Clover Lutheran parsonage, with Rev. Walter Dammendorf officiating. They have resided since that time on a farm in the Clover area. They have one son, Edward.

Miss Winegar Conducts Area Bethel Meet

HAGERMAN — Sandra Winegar, honored queen, conducted the International Order of Job's Daughters meeting and introduced Kathy Miller, junior past honored queen and grand Bethel messenger to Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clauson, honorary members, and Warren Berry, master of the Hagerman Masonic Lodge.

Plans were made for January events with a party for the past honored queen, Kathy Miller, to be held after school Monday at the Howard Winegar home. Members will have a chili supper.

A roller skating party for members and their families will be held Jan. 22 at Twin Falls. Those planning to leave Hagerman at 1:30 p.m. are invited to the skating party at the Gooding and Wendell Bethel members and their families.

The next regular meeting is Jan. 25. A practice will be held immediately after the meeting for initiation.

Betty Hendrickson gave the librarian's report, "Try Smiling."

Miss Winegar appointed an entertainment committee for each meeting.

The Masonic Lodge, represented by Rollin Phillips, invited the Job's Daughters and their parents to a pancake supper at the hall from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Feb. 14.

Refreshments were served by Cheryl Sandy, Sonya Fairchild and Peggy Hendrickson.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL T. LAVENS (Lantz photo)

Spokane Miss, Lavens Recite Nuptial Vows

JEROME — Bronze and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the Manito Presbyterian Church, Spokane, Wash., for the recent wedding of Nancy Elaine Moline, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Moline, Spokane, and Michael Timothy Lavens, son of Mrs. Kenneth R. Lavens, Jerome, and the late Mr. Kenneth Lavens.

Rev. Raymond W. Moody and Rev. Hendrik G. Wapstra officiated at the 4 p.m. ceremony Nov. 26 which was followed with a reception in the church social rooms.

The bride wore a princess skimmer gown of ivory satin. Two bands of beaded atonoo lace circled the hemline of the dress and edged the Victorian three-quarter length sleeves.

Her wattleau chapel train was attached at the shoulder with appliques of aleonoo. An imported Swedish wedding crown appeared to a draped satin headpiece held her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion.

She carried a bouquet of white and yellow roses, adorned with an ivory orchid placed on a white Bible, which was borrowed from the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Denzel Larsen, Jerome.

Rose-Meri Luebke was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Susan Clarke, Kay Smith, Martha Bohman and Mrs. Jerry G. James, Jerome, sister of the bridegroom. Karen Moline was flower girl and Randy Larsen, Jerome, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

Karl Kleinkopf, Twin Falls, was best man. Ushers were Jerry James and Denzel Larsen, Jerome, brothers-in-law of the bridegroom, David McNaughton and Robert McCray. Candle lighters were Bill Moline and Tom Bohman.

Guests attended from California, Oregon, Alaska, Florida, Georgia, Washington and Idaho.

The bride's mother hosted a bridesmaid's luncheon at the Crescent in Spokane. The bridegroom's mother hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Holiday Inn, Spokane, for the wedding party, relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Whitaker, Jacksonville, Fla., uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips, Atlanta, Ga., cousins of the bride, hosted a brunch at the Davenport Hotel, Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavens are residing in Moscow, where both are students at the University of Idaho.

Open Meeting, Pancake Day Set By Units

WENDELL — Plans were made to assist the American Legion with its open meeting set for Tuesday and also for the annual pancake all day activity Jan. 28 at an evening meeting of the Auxiliary Unit No. 41.

It was announced that the unit now lacks three members of reaching its year's quota of 60 members.

Action was taken to order earrings for resale, that will match the "Show Your Colors" pins.

Mrs. Grant Zollinger, president, announced that new members will be initiated at the Feb. 13 meeting. Mrs. Glenn Harmon and Mrs. Clyde Petersen are hostesses.

The unit will serve a 1 p.m. luncheon for the Retired Teachers Association March 17 at the American Legion Hall.

Tentative plans for the Girls State Tea were announced by the committee members, Mrs. H. J. Barton, Mrs. Sam Bungum and Mrs. Zollinger.

Mrs. Agnes Higgenbotham and Mrs. Gwen Collett were hostesses.

Your Spine and Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr

The common cold and the Chiropactor's concept of it. The Doctor, Chiropactor sees a cold as a warning of more serious condition in the body. This warning is one of unbalanced metabolism — too much secretion, too little elimination. He sees a cold as a sign of a body below par in its ability to properly eliminate waste and toxins, which are the byproducts of metabolism.

The work of the body is performed by a myriad of muscles, glands, tissues and cells, all of which are controlled in their action by nerves. While the kidneys, lungs, colon, or pores of the skin are not properly performing their work of elimination, there are two primary causes:

1. There is an interference with the normal flow of nerve force to the nerve centers controlling the various channels of elimination.
2. There is a nutritional deficiency resulting in a weakening of those nerves and the channels of elimination which they control.

Both of these factors should be considered and steps should be taken to correct them. If these conditions are not corrected, but allowed to degenerate, there will undoubtedly be a recurrence of the cold or worse.

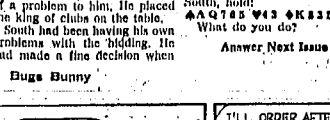

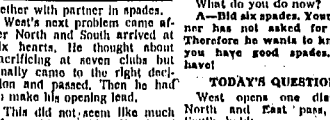

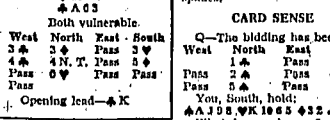

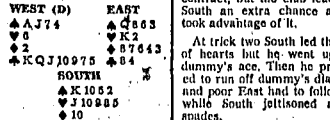

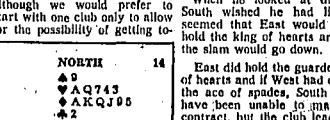

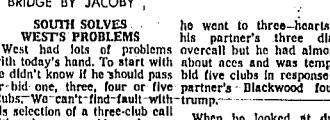

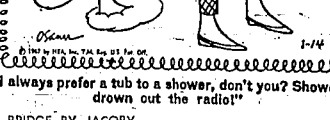

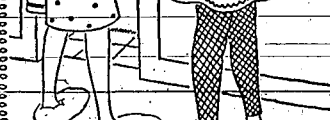

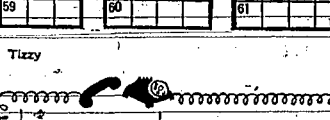

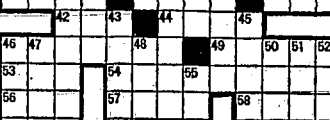

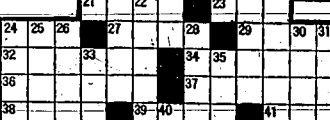

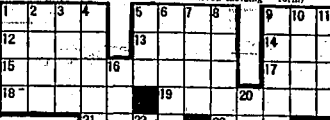

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropactor, written by Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr, whose office is located at 717 Main East, Twin Falls, Id. 733-0522. Adv.)

SOUTH SOLVES WEST'S PROBLEMS
West had lots of problems with today's hand. To start with he didn't know if he should pass or bid one, three, four or five clubs. We can't find fault with his selection of a three-club call although we would prefer to start with one club only to allow for the possibility of getting to he went to three—hearts after his partner's three—diamond overall but he had almost led about aces and was tempted to bid five clubs in response to his partner's Blackwood four no-trumps.

When he looked at dummy, South wished he had led it. It seemed that East would surely hold the king of hearts and that the slam would go down.
East did hold the guarded king of hearts and if West had opened the ace of spades, South would have been unable to make his contract, but the club lead gave South an extra chance and he took advantage of it.
At trick two South led the jack of hearts but he went up with dummy's ace. Then he proceeded to run off dummy's diamonds and poor East had to follow suit while South jolted all his spades.

CARD SENSE

Q—This bidding has been:
West North East South
Pass 1♣ Pass 1♥
Pass 2♣ Pass 4♥
Pass 5♣ Pass 5♥
You, South, hold:
♠ A J 8 5 ♣ K 10 6 5 4 3 2 ♦ A J 7 6
What do you do now?
A—Bid six spades. Your partner has not asked for aces. Therefore he wants to know if you have good spades. You have!

TODAY'S QUESTION

West opens one diamond, North and East pass, You, South, hold:

"only every other line."
Terry wrote either two or three times daily and two or three times weekly, she said, adding that she only wrote when she felt cheerful.
Capt. Davis' family did not know of the two occasions on which he was shot down until he had been safely rescued, but Terry said that she preferred it that way.
"I wish I had holes in the carpet if I'd known he was down," she said.
Capt. Davis received his Distinguished Flying Cross, a flying high decoration, after flying five missions in three days to help rout a North Vietnamese force which had overrun the Plei Meung camp. He was presented the medal on June 23, 1966 for the March 10 through 12 missions.
"I was just trying to do my job," Capt. Davis said, "and I got the government's way of showing its appreciation," he said.

Regarding the controversy surrounding the United States' involvement in Vietnam, Capt. Davis said that he felt there was a definite requirement and need for such involvement and that the forces are doing a fine job over there, one everybody can be proud of.

Terry lived with her parents in Pensacola during Capt. Davis' military duty in Vietnam. She said that the hardest part of the 13-month-long separation is not really able to talk to her husband.

"It's really difficult to put things down on paper and make them mean what they're supposed to," she said.
Mrs. Davis commented that her most exciting moments since Capt. Davis' return to Las Vegas, Nev., most explosion.
"It happened right during the time the kids were driving up from Florida to visit us before they were to go to Hawaii. I'm certain they had been staying at that particular motel," she said.

While stationed in Hawaii, Capt. Davis will assume the duties of an air-naval-joint liaison team member, going into field work areas advised forces on the maximum utilization of their resources.

As for Terry, she'll enjoy the Hawaii stay, which should last three years, but the plane trip to their island destination is anticipated to be a long one. Mrs. J.F. has never flown before.

'67 CHEVROLET

In Sales All Over America!

WITH A WINNER!

Everything new that could happen . . . HAPPENED in the '67 Chevrolet! That's why we're first in car and truck sales all over the nation. Chevrolet stays ahead with value that lasts! Our selection is good and the best cars in America make up our selection.

Our friendly and courteous sales people know automobiles thoroughly. They are anxious to assist you in finding the car that best suits your particular needs and intend to help you, not pressure you. It is important to us that shopping for a Chevrolet in Magic Valley be, first of all, a pleasant experience, and we assure you it always will be.

Our interest is selling automobiles, not financial trickery, and it is important to us that you are just as pleased with your purchase three years later as you are the day you buy.

Captain EASY

by LESLIE TURNER

WOW!
NOT SCENERY, EASY!
KINDA MAKES YOU FORGET YOUR PROBLEMS!

IT LOOKS SERENE
DOWN THERE, BUT THE WILD CREATURES HAVE TO SCRATCH, FIGHT, OR
FLEE FOR EXISTENCE,
LIKE HUMANS DO!

EASY AND
WASH ARE ON A MISSION TO BRING FOOD TO THE STARVING

THERE'S THE LODGE,
PODNUH!

LOOKS LIKE TH' SNOW-
PLOW HAS BEEN THERE, LIKE
MR. MCKEE ORDERED...

IT HAS!

THEY'VE GOT A LANDING
AREA CLEARED ON THE LAKE FOR US...

AND DOWN
WE GO!

OBOY!
I'M HUNGRY...
HOW ABOUT
YOU, EASYZ

SAME HERE... BUT I DON'T ENJOY
A HOT MEAL AT AN ICY TABLE... I WANT TO SEE A ROARING, CRACKLING FIRE IN THE FIREPLACE!

A HALF HOUR

AH!
HEAT... IT'S WONDERFUL!

MR. MCKEE THOUGHT OF
EVERY THING! FRESH EGGS,
CANADIAN BACON... STEAKS...
NAME IT - IT'S ALL HERE!

AFTER

WE'D BETTER HIT THE SACK,
WASH... TOMORROW, WE'VE GOT TO HAUL HAY, WHILE THE SUN SHINES!

RIGHT! MR. MCKEE
BOUGHT 200 BALES
