A native of Pocatello, Clawson stressed the great challenge and potential that the Kiwanis organization has, with its 270,000 members in 30 districts in the United States, Canada and foreign countries.

He urged members to attend the Utah-Idaho District convention at Sun Valley, Sept. 24-26, and the Kiwanis International convention in Houston, Texas, the latter part of June.

Lewis Sr., Declo; Wayne Hollenbeck, Rupert; Earl Greenawald, Jerome and Reed Starley, Burley, as past lieutenant governors, and Art Kaster, Hagerman, as past president. The invocation was given by Kendall Taylor, Declo, and the pledge was led by Earl-Darling, also Declo. Music was under the direction of Allan E. Howard-Brown, Rupert.

Romney A Winner?

Recently a starchy New England conservative told a moderate Republican leader he believes that Gov. George Romney of Michigan would beat Richard Nixon in a 1968 presidential primary in New Hampshire.

Though this is the purest conjecture about a very distant political event, it may serve to put in somewhat better perspective the rather misleading presidential responses of many governors and other political figures.

The words "Romney is in deep trouble" were heard with surprising frequency in talks with some of these men. They reflected largely his continuing tussles on the big issue of Vietnam, his delay in getting known his 1968 intention, his frosty-moralizing.

These responses are being understood heavily by veteran political reporters who hammer at Romney in press conferences and in print. Since his smashing re-election he has not had a "good press."

He does stand high in the polls; he is moving about; his campaign is visibly rolling (though its pace and vector do not seem to please all observers).

Possibly most telling of all, his image with the general public continues to be far, far stronger than it is with the political sophisticates and numbers at the dinner tables. Voters watching him on television can believe that "Hail to the Chief" could be his song. Aggressively, he looks the part.

Obviously, Romney has many huge tasks ahead — maintaining himself in the top echelon, developing plausible specifics to fill the gaping void on Vietnam, getting better organized to win friends and, ultimately, 1968 convention delegates.

To that end, he probably has to win primaries in places like New Hampshire and wide-open Oregon, to mention just two. Despite the early talk of a rash of favorite sons and a "brokered convention" he may find sufficient opportunities to build momentum. If he does, conservatives might polarize strongly around Nixon or California's Ronald Reagan to narrow the field tightly by convention time.

LIFTING HORIZONS FOR YOUTH
The basic strategy in the war against poverty — helping the poor and disadvantaged to help themselves. And the key weapon in that strategy is summed up by the one word — motivation.

One of the most striking examples of how motivation is achieved and how it works is the experience of Ohio University in its Teen-Age Teacher Aide Program, which is jointly funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Department of Labor.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — A Phillip Randolph's summit conference of Negro leaders to beat what he calls the "white power structure" over the head about Adam Clayton Powell is a sad and even appalling thing, says Andrew Tully. Powell is not worthy of the attention of this distinguished Negro leader.

Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters will recall the high statesmanship in the civil rights movement, sounded too much like Stokely Carmichael in this regard. Randolph's statement that Powell's loss of his committee chairmanship and temporary loss of his House seat "reflected the greatest crisis in Negro-white relations." This was like using the Confederacy to rise again because a South Carolina named Bobby Baker was indicted on charges of fraud, tax evasion and conspiracy.

As announced by a Randolph spokesman, the summit conference will discuss the "bedeviling" of various Democratic and Republican members of Congress in Northern industrial states who were "directly or indirectly" responsible for Powell's defeat. One of the names mentioned is Rep. Mansel Carter, a liberal New York Democrat, who is charged with failing to "actively" try to save Powell.

TARGET FOR TODAY: NEGROES' FRIENDS — There is something so lunatic as to be self-destructive about this, Celler was told. It is no assurance of glacial short shrift from his enemies.

Randolph's criticism of Carter is a piece with the curious attack on President Johnson by one Rep. A. Kendall Smith, a Harlem minister, who wrote Johnson a letter in which he said the Negroes "are being misled" by the fact that Harlem cannot have Adam Clayton Powell in 1967, we will not have LBJ in 1968. Smith said he was seeking "justice" for Powell, a statement Powell himself might find unappealing. "Justice" means Carter will sit in jail on convictions for civil criminal contempt of court.

IDLE THREATS — Although Randolph has always been a practical politician as well as a man of integrity, he seems suddenly to have descended into naïveté. He wants the summit meeting to discuss "the ending of the Negroes' political dependence on the good graces of Democratic and Republican parties."

Surely, Randolph must realize that such an enterprise is being the end of Negro political influence. Like the Jews and Irish and Italians of an earlier era, the Negro has no alternative to the two parties. He can, of course, as Powell lightly remarked, organize a third party. But that playing politics and the exercise. A bloc that represents only 10 percent of the nation's population could hardly come up with another Bill Moore.

POWELL A MARTYR? — There is, too, an element of martyr never before evident in Randolph's utterance. In his charge that Powell was deprived of his chairmanship and his seat because he had succeeded in penetrating the white power structure to share in the national spotlight, he is playing politics and the exercise. A bloc that represents only 10 percent of the nation's population could hardly come up with another Bill Moore.

STUPOR OF THE SUPER BOWL — Is it the Super Bowl or the Stupor Bowl? — Take your choice.
It seems almost inconceivable that the Green Bay Packers and the Kansas City Chiefs can come up with a super game for the Super Bowl to equal all the ballyhoo of the television people.

WHAT'S AHEAD
The United States copper stockpile is dangerously low. Shortages of copper are already plucking production of civilian goods from TV sets even to some cars.
Shortages won't let up. Copper users are concerned that if the Vietnam war is still going full blast next summer, tight government controls on copper are almost inevitable.

Even price control may be necessary, they say, to prevent a major black market in the U.S. market.
The United States copper stockpile has dwindled to about 250,000 tons. The minimum amount needed for national emergencies is supposedly 775,000 tons.
Government officials estimate 150,000 tons in the next quarter of next year.
But the Commerce Department now announces that defense needs beginning in January will amount to 26 percent of all copper produced domestically. This is compared to the 18 percent needed in this final quarter of 1966.
And in the second quarter of next year, the Vietnam defense need is expected to jump up again to 29 percent. — Christian Science Monitor.

By GORDON BEARD
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — I'm not "plague" for "order" yet, and it's just as well. I can't even understand the simple form to be filled out for a round-trip ticket.
This is not a complaint about hospitals or their employees. After all, a rash on my little finger, left hand, had settled with a knife while looking for a flashlight snack — was sewn up quickly and without fuss.
It was those preliminaries, in the twilight zone of the curtain copies, where I lost contact with reality.
Actually, it all started when I was in the twilight zone of the curtain copies, where I lost contact with reality.
"What was my first question, I should have known what to follow.
"What seems to be the trouble with the nurse asked, reaching for the duplicate form.
"What's your last name?"
"Beard."
"Yes-s-s-s?"
"No, answered, squeezing my finger a bit tighter.

First name?
"Gordon."
"Middle initial?"
"Well, actually, my middle name is Gordon. I don't know what to do with the 'r', my first initial.
"What's your mailing address?" Presumably, in case I need to send you something to help in finishing the form.
"201 1st. Street, Greenwood Acres."
"That's nice, did I spell 'Acres' right?"
"What was your birth date?"
"I'm sorry, I may not have another one."
"Are you married?" They must have a lot of domestic quarrels around here.
"How did you cut the finger?"
"My little boy had specialities in this hospital."
"What time did it happen?"
"Twelve twenty-seven and one half." She didn't record the time.
"Who brought you here?"
"Now they think I'm a member of a gang."
"Who's your family doctor?"
"They're all trying to trap the rest of the mob."
"Suddenly I realized it was all legitimate. The next question was: 'How much to reality.'"
"Do you have insurance?"

OPINIONS OF A CONSERVATIVE

By BARRY GOLDWATER
HONG KONG — This amazing place, particularly in relation to the physical geography of the world. But in the geography of the human spirit it is virtually a continent.
Hong Kong has hardly any natural resources. It has a small amount of land in a rocky, hilly island. It has all the conditions of crowding and squalor that are associated to set up unbreakable and vicious circles of poverty. It has no elected government, and the British governor being the boss.

And yet Hong Kong is booming, thriving, exciting, free and so dynamic industrially that it virtually sets up restrictive barriers against the outpourings of Hong Kong shops, factories and offices.

It has one of the most serious overcrowding problems in the world, and some of the most poverty-stricken living conditions, and yet more people want to come here every day. Those who do come manage to survive. Many prosper, and the idea of any family being stuck forever in poverty is not part of the Hong Kong consciousness.

The first thing you notice is that many of the refugees who pour out of Red China — to take their chances camping out if necessary in Hong Kong rather than stay in the Asian Peoples' Republic — are not the poor. They want freedom and are willing to risk everything for it.

They obviously consider that life is not worth living without freedom in their own country. The many dreary, pessimistic socialist theorists in the West who mean that men must sacrifice freedom for security and that most men want to make the stars are theirs.

Childs' Views On Washington

By MARQUIS CHILDS
Editor's Note: Marquis Childs is being written by Don Maclean.

WASHINGTON — It's about time someone shot down the liquor industry's phony balloon about the "drop" in per capita consumption of distilled spirits.

A year ago he said if the armed attack against South Vietnam is brought to an end, peace can come very quickly. This position of the Johnson administration is what it was a year ago, just as there is nothing in Fulbright's view in 1967 that seems different from his view in 1966.

The North Vietnamese in recent weeks have let some American newsmen visit their country and talk with their top officials. At one time they might sound more inclined to talk peace than another but then again they don't.

MICROSCOPES
Maybe Robert Vaughn should follow Ronald Reagan and George Murphy. I don't mean the enter politics; I mean quit show business.

Along with its daily schedule, perhaps the White House should publish a list called "Today's Resignations."
I hear that Mayor Lindsay named CBS for a make-up current. It's the recent "Current Events Test."
There's one way those New York courts could serve a nation-wide Rep. Alan Swann and Powell, but I haven't watched for Dinah.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN-BUREN
DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 55-year-old man who gave his girl friend an engagement ring in 1959, but she can't show it to anybody because he doesn't want his mother to find out?

Well, I am the girl friend. I have gone with Wendell for 10 years and I am pretty sick of this setup. I met his mother just once, when Wendell carried her to the foot doctor. He let me go along for the ride. He never told her I was his girl friend; the problem is, Wendell's mother has money and she says if he marries she will leave it all to the church.

He is so confused two years ago he wrote to you and you told him to talk to his pastor. He said he did and the pastor told him he was lucky to have such a wonderful mother.

What am I supposed to do now? I am 48 and not getting any younger.

WENDELL'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Put the ring through Wendell's nose and send him to his mother.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, have been working for four years and feel that I am ready to settle down. I have been dating a successful 33-year-old business man. He owns his own home, car, boat, and seems to have plenty of spending money. We have dated for more than a year and his family tells me I am the only girl he has dated more than once.

He says he "cares" for me, but he has never said "I love you." He seems to enjoy my company, but he has never spoken in terms of the future as far as "we" are concerned. My mother says I am wasting my time with him. Should I pin him down and ask him what his intentions are?

Puzzled.

No License

LOWELL, Mass. (AP) — An 82-year-old man made a belated discovery recently when he was involved in a minor traffic mishap.

Policeman Dan Sullivan demanded his license.

"What license?" he quoted the aged driver as replying.

"I've been driving 40 years and I've been all over New England. I've never had any trouble, never been stopped before."

Sullivan said he gave the man a court citation for driving without a license.

SITE OFFERED
P.O. CATELLO (AP) — The county commission offered a site Thursday at the Bannock County Fairgrounds for a new baseball stadium.

The commissioners unanimously agreed to offer the city as much ground as is necessary north of the rodeo grounds. They offered to donate equipment, clear the ground for a new stadium. But the offer did not include finances.

Fred Snyder, city commission chairman, said the proposal will be discussed at a commission meeting. Snyder said a joint meeting of the city and county commissioners will probably be held in the future to discuss the matter.

The city has been considering developing a new baseball facility in the Nop Park adjacent to the rodeo grounds. The present baseball stadium, Halliwell Park, is being sold for $210,000 to some Spokane developers. Halliwell Park is in poor condition, and contains little of salvage value.

STUDY UNIT CREATED
BOISE (AP) — A health manpower education study committee was created at a Thursday meeting of the Idaho Foundation for Medicine and Biology and Higher Education and Health Leaders.

The group will conduct a study of the state's needs in health personnel.

Officials from the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education told the foundation that its program had helped nearly 500 Idahoans obtain admission to medical and dental schools since Idaho joined the ICHHE.

American Casualties Said High
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland's headquarters announced today that American forces in Vietnam suffered nearly 1,200 casualties last week, their highest weekly toll of the Vietnam war.

The U.S. command said 144 men were killed, 1,044 were wounded and six were missing in the week that ended at midnight Saturday. The previous high was in the week ending last Sept. 24, when 970 Americans were killed, wounded or missing.

Many of last week's casualties were sustained in Operation Cedar Falls in the "Iron triangle" north of Saigon, the biggest ground sweep of the war—while there were no large-scale battles, there were numerous small clashes and the number of men employed—estimated at more than 30,000—exceeded any operation of the war.

Rupert Eyes Federal Help For Projects

RUPERT — Ronald Klebe has been instructed by the Rupert City Council to prepare a report on storm sewer drainage and other city projects for presentation to the state legislators from this district so the city might qualify for federal participation in these badly needed projects.

The council also passed a resolution at their Tuesday night meeting calling for an increase in the size of the Idaho Board of Highway directors from three to five. This is a similar resolution to the one passed earlier this week by the Twin Falls City Commission.

The Rupert group also will support for all events that ask that two new highway districts be created. The resolution will be forwarded to the state legislators.

Robert Powers, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, met with the council to report that Rupert will host the State VFW convention June 14-17, including a meeting calling for an increase in the size of the Idaho Board of Highway directors from three to five. This is a similar resolution to the one passed earlier this week by the Twin Falls City Commission.

Communists Blast South Korean Boat

By K.C. HWANG
SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korean Communist shore batteries sank a South Korean naval vessel in a 20-minute gun fight Thursday off the east coast. The United Nations Command lodged a strong protest against the "unconscionable and brutal act of violence."

Twenty-eight crewmen of the 650-ton patrol craft were feared to have drowned in one of the most serious naval clashes since the Korean armistice was signed in 1953.

The Defense Ministry said 51, including five officers, were rescued by friendly vessels in the area.

The Defense Ministry said patrol craft Escort 56 was south of the demarcation line between North and South Korea when it came under fire from shore batteries. The craft returned the fire but was sunk.

Taped Interview Presented At AAUW Meeting

A study of the fellowships program of the American Association of University Women was the subject of the recent AAUW meeting at the YWCA.

Mrs. Charles Alban, fellowships chairman of the Twin Falls branch, presented a taped interview she had held with Mrs. Frances Nyeu, a Chinese recipient of an AAUW fellowship studying for her doctorate at BYU.

Mrs. Nyeu has taught western literature and English at the University at Taiwan. For her doctorate she is working on the teaching of English on a conversational level rather than simply translating from Chinese to English. At present many of the teachers of English in Taiwan are not conversant enough to conduct the entire class in English, but experimental classes have shown the conversational method to be more productive.

Mrs. Alban further explained that 52 American women and 52 foreign women are presently studying under AAUW fellowships. There is now $25,000 being used on the program, to which the local branch contributes.

Mrs. A. J. Peavey announced that the Book Nook, 120 2nd Ave. E., will be open each Saturday. Proceeds from the Book Nook are used for the special CSI Loan Fund. CSI students may apply for the low-interest loans from Mrs. E. H. Over.

The serving committee for the luncheon meeting included Mrs. Arthur Dugan, chairman, Mrs. Ed Tolbert, Mrs. L. H. Walkington, Mrs. John L. Hayes, Miss Elnora Christopher and Mrs. Roger Graef.

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Unheralded, unattached and unsponsored, Doug Carr surprised the big name golfers Thursday by touring the Cypress Point 68 and grabbing the first-round lead in Bing Crosby's $104,500 pro-amateur tournament. The 28-year-old Carr, from Worcester, Mass., and winner of only $50 in official money for 1966, topped Jack Nicklaus, the Master's champion, by a stroke. Nicklaus posted his three-under-par 69 at Pebble Beach, the monster of the three courses which the Crosby competitors must play prior to Sunday's finals in the 72-hole event.

Alcindor Is Back Atop Point Parade

NEW YORK (AP)—Lew Alcindor of UCLA regained the scoring lead, but Wesley Unger of Louisville took the top-rated court job last rebound. Alcindor collected 91 points in three games last week to bring his average to 28.8 points a game, overtaking Jim Walker of Providence. Walker, who had led for two weeks, scored 29.5 points in two contests and now averages 29.5.

Dick Cunningham of Murray State recovered 112 rebounds in four games last week and replaced Unseld, the season-long leader. Cunningham has averaged 22.3 rebounds a game to 21.7 for Unseld. Alcindor was seventh at 18.0.

Bob Lloyd of Rutgers, who ranks third in scoring with a 29.3 average, tops the free throw percentage leaders at 94.3 per cent. Alcindor is the field goal percentage leader at 67.9 per cent.

Northwestern and Memphis State retained their leadership in the nation's top offensive and defensive teams. Northwestern has averaged 88.7 points a game and Memphis State has allowed only 50.2 per cent. UCLA is only 9 of a point behind Northwestern, but Memphis State enforces almost a six-point lead over Tennessee.

Feud Erupts As Car Rally Finals Begin

MONTE CARLO (AP) — An international car rally Thursday as the classic entered its final stages.

At the root of the trouble were the Italian Lancias. There were unfriendly reports that the German and Swiss representatives had stormed out of a meeting of the International Sporting Committee.

Five Lancias remain in the rally and three of them comprise a team which is in the running for the Charles Faroux challenge, the works team prize. The protests allege that the Lancias are using tires wider than those listed on their entry sheets, and that the rear wheel arches were modified to clear the extra width.

Officials wrangled through the night and there were further sessions Thursday. All the Lancias were among the cars allowed to take part Thursday night in the final 375-mile test. But rally enthusiasts recalled last year when the three leading British Mini Coopers were disqualified after a dispute over headlights after the competition ended.

Shortly before the final start, rain began falling and there were reports of snow in the mountains.

North Idaho Hydro Race Sanctioned

SPOKANE (AP) — The Coeur d'Alene Cup unlimited hydroplane regatta, scheduled for Jan. 10 on Lake Coeur d'Alene in North Idaho, received official sanction Thursday from the American Power Boat Association's Unlimited Commission.

Sanction for the sponsoring Spokane Yacht Club was approved by Leo Schoenhof of Detroit, chairman of the commission, after requested revisions in prize money arrangements were made.

The race, on the Pacific Northwest racing tour, will be open to all unlimited hydroplanes. Each will receive $500 for a legal start. There will be $15,000 in prize money, plus another $1,800 in qualifying prizes.

All starters must qualify at speeds of at least 100 miles an hour. There will be three days of qualifying activity before the race.

The Coeur d'Alene Cup is replacing the Diamond Cup, dropped after a poor financial showing last year.

Idaho Uses Point Flurry To Tip Alaska

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — The University of Idaho Vandals hit for five quick baskets after the second half tipoff to break open a tight defensive battle and coast to a 74-51 victory over the University of Alaska here.

The Alaska Nankols held the hot shooting Vandals in check most of the first half and led by four points three minutes before the end of the period. Terry Hanson, Rick Day and Bob Tipkin hit for successive baskets with a minute left to give the Vandals a 28-22 halftime advantage.

Alaska's Mike Griffith hit for 20 points to take high point honors while Tipkin had 15 to top bandstand scores.

Minico's Big Men Save EIC Mat Victory

RUPERT — Minico's big men, the mangled section of the Spartan wrestling team, came up with the decisive points Thursday night to defeat the Blackfoot Broncos 27-16.

The victory, totally unexpected after Blackfoot posted a 16-14 edge after the 127-pound class, kept the Spartans firmly on the trail toward a second Eastern Idaho Conference championship.

Blackfoot did a good job of neutralizing Minico's strength in the 130 to 145-pound classes. The Broncos figured to be much the stronger in the final three matches. But Lynn Rogers and Tony Meyer came up with pins and Rod Ruddles posted a decision to save the day.

Results of the matches, Minico men listed first: including 89 pounds — Jerry Stewart decision Mike Baird 7-1; 106 pounds — Dana Jensen was pinned by Lytle — Bankhead — 4-0.

Bowling Allen Leads After Skating Six Figures

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Two-time winter Scot Allen, 17, Smoke Rice, N. J., finished strong in the compulsory figures to take a precocious lead in defense of his men's singles title in the National Figure Skating Championships Thursday.

Allen barely shaded Garry Visconti, 21, of Detroit, Mich., and 18-year-old Tim Wood, also of Detroit, in the six-figure compulsory test at the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum.

The deciding free-skating competition will be held Friday night and it could be touch-and-go for Allen.

The handsome New Jersey high school lad won three first place votes from the five judges, two of them coming on the last two figure tests. Allen also won the opening figure, but then Visconti and Wood scored first on the next two figures.

All three are regarded excellent free skaters so the Friday night showdown could bring a dethroning of Allen, who won his first national senior title in 1964. The following year he was unseated by the diminutive Visconti.

The 145-pound Allen, who turns 18 on Feb. 8, executed brilliant loops, a maneuver in which he is particularly skilled, and that proved the turning point in the compulsory figures showdown.

Allen, pointing for a fourth title next month at Vienna and possibly a strong Olympic showing in the 1968 games at Grenoble, is competing in his ninth national championship meet.

In Friday's third session of the four-day national program, heavily favored Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs launched her bid for a fourth consecutive senior women's crown. The women's finals will be Saturday night.

FACE SIGNS PITTSBURGH (AP) —

Elroy Face, veteran Pittsburgh relief pitcher, has signed a 1967 contract, the Pirates said Thursday. Terms were not disclosed. Face, 38, appeared in 53 games last year. He notched a 6-6 record and was credited with 18 saves while compiling a 2.70 earned run average.

BRIDGE BY JACOBY

OVERBRIDDING HAS MANY REWARDS

Eric Murray of Toronto who will be playing for America for the third time is the only member of this year's team who has no connection at all with the bridge business. Eric is a prominent and hard-working lawyer.

As an excellent bridge player, he tends to overbid a trifle. Not that we disapprove of overbid-right cards to produce a slam. Keheila had a tough hand to play but he worked things out. He ruffed the opening club in dummy, led a trump to his hand and returned a spade to dummy's king. East was in with the ace and led a second spade which Sammy ruffed. Then he ruffed clubs and spades back and forth and wound up in dummy with a high trump and three diamonds. He led the high trump to leave West who had discarded one diamond on the last club, with three diamonds and nothing else. Then he led dummy's queen of diamonds and let it ride to West's king. West had to lead back a diamond to give Sammy his contract.

Looks simple enough but the only other expert in play five hours went down on a trick while at the other three tables East and West went down two or three tricks doubled at either four spades or five clubs so that this hand was worth seven IMP's to Murray and Keheila.

(Answer Next Issue)

Q-The bidding has been:

West North East South
1 Pass 1 Pass 1 Pass 1 Pass
You, South, hold:
A Q 7 6 5 4 3 K 8 3 2 A 7 6

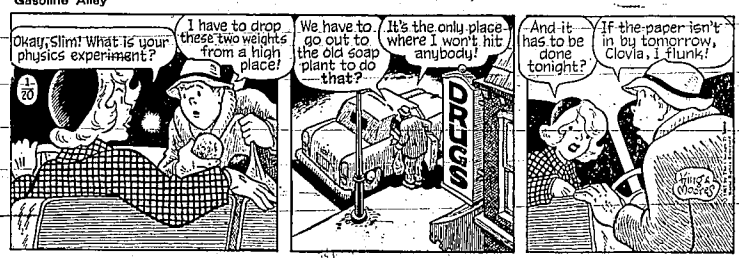

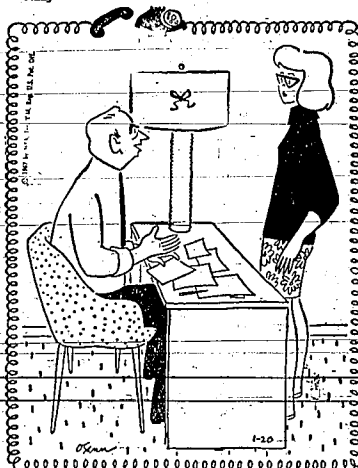

What do you do?

A-Bid four spades. This bid is slightly doubtful but you should try to score the game bonus. You might well have reopened with a weaker hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three spades your partner bids three clubs. What do you do then in this case?

Q. Seven weeks ago I instructed my broker to deliver to me 100 shares of stock in my name and mail the certificates to me. I have 12 different stocks but have received certificates for only nine so far. I wrote the broker two weeks ago, asking him to speed delivery. He has not answered my letter. What can I do about this?

Q. I own 20 warrants, each of which gives me the right to buy a share of common stock in a certain company, at $28 a share, until September, 1967. The company has never paid any dividends on its stock, even though it is making a nice profit. I feel that no dividends will be declared, until the warrants expire. Am I right in my supposition?

A. You are a suspicious one. It's clear you feel that, if the company started paying dividends, the market price of the stock would rise. And the market price of warrants normally follows in line with the price of the stock involved.

HOUSE PLANT PEST NO. 1: If it had a name the toughest house plant pest you have may not be spider mites. These are tiny, reddish mites so small that it takes about 50 to span an inch. A trained eye can spot the mites. Tell-tale evidence of mite presence is "cobwebs" around the tender tips of plants. Felling of leaf blades and a stippled appearance are also good indications that mites are present.

Spider mites build up most rapidly on plants which are allowed to go dry. Reason: because the plant's leaves are more and to the liking of the pest. Plants which are kept watered are less susceptible to spider mites. "Eggs" when the humidity is high in other words, dry air means more spiders.

Control: Syringing the foliage is helpful in keeping the pest down. The best chemical weapon is Kelthane. DDT and most of the common pesticides do kill spider mites, only the natural enemies, and this increases the damage due to spider-mite buildup.

Aphids are another common house plant pest, but they are much easier to control. While dry air and hot temperatures favor spider mites, it works just the opposite for aphids. They reproduce fastest at temperatures below 70 degrees. Aphids are sap-suckers and will secrete a sticky honeydew material on the foliage. Control: Wash leaves off and spray with malathion or nicotine sulfate.

TOMATOES AGAIN: You don't need a big backyard to grow a big crop of tomatoes. One reader planted 6 Moreton hybrid plants and picked 4 1/2 bushels. Most of the fruits were as large as grapefruits. He writes: "When we dug up the ground we put in sheep manure—nothing else. Then when the plants started blossoming we sprayed each blossom with a blossom-set hormone spray. Plants were affected to 12 foot trellis, and after I got tired of tying them I let the vines hang. Five of the plants were 14 and one-half feet high."

Another reader grew a different hybrid and obtained similar results. One gardener who does not believe in hybrids, planted 2 Marigolds (old varieties) and had plants 17 feet tall. He used liquid manure, one bushel soaked in a 30 gallon barrel of water. From all ways glad to hear from successful growers.

SAVE BANANA SKINS: Did you know that banana skins help grow better roses? One rose grower we know attributes his success to her success in growing first class roses. She puts anywhere from six to nine peels around each bushel and covers them lightly with soil. It's not necessary to cut them up or bury them deeply. Banana skins are high in potash and decay rapidly in soil because of their high water content.

Why not save your orange and grapefruit skins, potato peels and other items from the kitchen? There are all humus makers and help make a fertile soil. Humus is the key to soil fertility. Some other sources of humus include animal manure, leaf mold, peat moss, compost, wood shavings, peat, and cocoa-bean shells, hay, straw, excelsior, coffee grounds and tea leaves.

Although they decompose slowly, animal and wood shavings are good for conditioning soils. When large quantities are used, nitrogen deficiency may show as foliage-yellow plants. Add one cup of nitrogen fertilizer (such as ammonium nitrate) to each bushel of wood product. Or you can use a liquid plant food such as 25-0-17, at the rate of one handful to a 12-quart sprinkling can full of water.

All types of organic matter can be used for your garden soil. Peat moss is probably the most convenient source of humus. Any material or an organic manure will loosen a heavy clay soil and improve the texture. It "lightens" a sandy soil by increasing its water holding

Barrow Show Entries Seen To Reach 150
SPOKANE, WASH. — More than 150 barrows are expected to be entered at the Pacific Northwest Barrow Show and Carcass contest to be held in Spokane Jan. 31 through Feb. 3. Glenn Loring, northwest editor of the Farm Journal, commented that "I have never seen better quality in hogs than those I know will be entered at this year's show."

Dr. Leon Orme, University of Idaho meat specialist, will judge the barrow carcasses along with Clint Luce, Whitman County extension livestock specialist. Colfax, Wash. Wade G. Wells, University of Idaho animal husbandman, Boise, will judge the barrows in live performance. Any commercial or purebred hog raiser in the Pacific Northwest may enter barrows at this year's show. Hundreds of dollars in prizes will be presented winners. "The importance of entering the barrow show is not only to see how it butchers out," Dr. Orme said. Each person entering the contest will receive complete information on each carcass with weights and measurements. Hog raisers use this information for breeding and feeding purposes. Anyone wishing to enter the barrow show should contact Jerry Davis, West 3108 Rosewood, Spokane, 99208. Catalogs on the bred gilt and boar sale are also available from Mr. Davis. The sale will begin at 10 a.m. Feb. 3 at Spokane's Interstate Fairgrounds.

Employment Continues Drop
WASHINGTON, D. C. — The total number of farm workers continued to drop in 1966, according to a farm labor force December survey. The annual average of 6,369,000 farm workers was six per cent below 1965, one-fifth under the 1960-64 average.

The hired work force was 25 per cent lower and the composite hourly rate for last year averaged $1.03. This was eight per cent higher than the 1965 average, the survey found.

RUNNING A TEST on the selenium content of alfalfa hay, is an important part of Dr. David Carter's research on this tricky chemical the selenium content of alfalfa hay, is an important part of Dr. David Carter's research on this

Selenium Becomes Important Element In Animal Nutrition

By PEGGY LALEY
Times-News Farm Writer
Selenium is a tricky element in animal nutrition. A certain amount is essential; too much is a deadly poison.
According to Dr. David Carter, of the Snake River Research Center, Kimberly, if a farmer had a haystack of 10,000 bales of hay and it contained two level tablepoons of selenium this would not be enough for animal nutrition, but if this haystack contained one cup of selenium it would be too much.
This chemical is obtained by the stock through ingestion of grasses, forage plants.
The affects of selenium on livestock have been a recent development. In fact, until about three years ago very little was known about White Muscle Disease, which is a direct result of an insufficiency of selenium.
WMD is found in cattle and sheep. It is a disease distinguished by whitish deposits occurring in the animal's muscles, commonly sutling the heart and throat muscles. If it is centered in the animal's throat, starvation will result; when it attacks the heart a heart attack is the cause of death.
Although WMD sometimes occurs in older cattle and sheep, it appears almost exclusively in calves and lambs, usually in the first six weeks of life. Its appearance is common up to six months of age and after that time the danger seems to diminish.
Some cases of stillborn calves and lambs are also attributable to this disease.
In cattle it seems to occur mostly in the beef breeds and more rarely in the dairy strains. This is because dairy herds are subject to more supplemental feeding programs. In beef cattle feeding is more of a range grazing, grass and alfalfa hay feeding program.
Research in our area has shown that high range lands are lower in selenium than the low-lying grazing areas.
The disease, Dr. Carter says, is difficult to detect until it has registered Guernseys, averaged 718 pounds of milk and 31 pounds of butterfat. George Bird, Jerome, with 10 registered and grade Holsteins, averaged 951 pounds of milk and 31 pounds of butterfat.
Ellsworth Hardy, Eden, with units of 49 registered and grade Jerseys, averaged 602 pounds of milk and 30 pounds of butterfat. Clarence Miller, Jerome, with 23 registered and grade Holsteins, averaged 854 pounds of milk and 30 pounds of butterfat.

clear-cut boundaries on lands with an insufficient selenium content, ranchers are advised to be alert to the possibility of the disease affecting their herds.
Dr. Carter states that WMD is more prevalent in the seemingly stronger, more vigorous animals. The reason for this is the disease's tendency to attack the heart muscles, in a weakened condition the vigorous animal is more prone to a heart attack.
Because the food and drug laws prohibit selenium as an additive to feeds, about the only way to combat a deficiency is to administer the chemical by injection.
Since the size of the inoculation is determined by body weight the cost of inoculating older animals would be prohibitive particularly in an area as

Agricultural Growth Noted In 10 Years

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow — Agriculture in Idaho will grow substantially during the next 10 years.
So reported Dr. W. E. Folz, head of the University of Idaho agricultural economics department, at the College of Agriculture Experiment Station Conference recently on the University of Idaho campus.
Idaho's agriculture will grow because of five factors, he said. These are growth of irrigation in Idaho, growth of population in the Pacific coast, the increasing trend of expansion of processing food products in the state, expansion of agriculture in Idaho from demands of foreign countries' needs, and the increase in technology from research and experimentation.
Irrigated land will increase to four million acres by 1975, Dr. Folz reported. At the same time, farm sizes will grow throughout Idaho, but there will be fewer farms.
This irrigated land will help meet the needs of more food from expanding population areas such as the coast.
During the next 10 years, the beef industry in Idaho will see a 79 per cent increase in gross income.
The dairy industry will see a 44 per cent increase. Despite a decreasing per capita consumption of milk and milk products, the increased populations will bring about the overall increase in consumption.
A five-fold increase will be seen in the broiler operations of the poultry industry of Idaho, he reported.
Potatoes will continue as a strong Idaho product, despite inroads from other states' com-

Reservoir Plans Eyed By Ranchers

SALMON — Feasibility of two proposed reservoirs is being considered by two groups of Lemhi County ranchers.
One proposal would be to increase the size of a presently disused dam on Timber Creek in the Ledore area to allow two additional ranchers to make use of water now being supplied to two ranchers.
The other proposal is to construct a 60 or 80-foot dam on Agency Creek, a tributary of the Lemhi River, to provide irrigation water for either three or six ranchers.
The proposals were reviewed by the interested ranchers with officials at a meeting here.
Cost of the Timber Creek project is estimated at $80,000 with the government making available half the funds.
The Agency Creek project would cost $150,000 or $325,000, depending on size of the dams, and the maximum amount one rancher could receive of federal funds would be $10,000.
The ranchers plan to continue meetings on the proposals.

EMPLOYMENT DOWN

BOISE (AP) — Farm employment in Idaho totaled 39,000 as of mid-December, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today.
That was down 1,000 from the total a year earlier and was down seasonally 6,000 from November.
