Tragedy Delays Apollo Project

Astronaut Cried "Fire," First Probe Of Disaster Finds

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An Apollo 1 astronaut cried "Fire in the spacecraft" and in an instant the entire moonship was engulfed in a sudden fatal flash of fire, the Apollo program director said Saturday. Grimly, Maj.-Gen. Samuel Phillips told of the tragedy that killed the Apollo 1 pilots and set back America's man to the moon program perhaps months. Phillips

Families, Colleagues Mourn 3 Astronauts

MANNER SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — By nightfall Saturday, the families of the three dead Apollo 1 astronauts had packed and dispatched to Cape Kennedy, Fla., each man's formal service uniform for the burial service. The wives and children of Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee mourned behind closed doors and drawn curtains. In Manned Spacecraft Center offices, the colleagues of the spacefarers killed Friday in the launch pad flash fire went mechanically through the formal aftermath.

Volunteer policemen and space center security officers stood guard at each of the homes to maintain privacy. But neighbors without questions, Mrs. Chaffee home were cakes and dishes of food prepared and brought by neighbors. Mrs. Chaffee said that she felt could maintain her composure as long as friends remained beside her, and there were many.

At each of the homes, more than a hundred callers came. Mrs. Grissom was said to have spoken by telephone with Vice President Robert H. Humphrey, but the center would not confirm the report.

Low bidders for the five schedule phase two of the Twin Falls water project were announced Friday night when city commissioners met in a special session.

Gov. George W. Romney of Michigan appealed for organized help by residents in many Michigan communities with more than two feet of snow. "Otherwise," he said, "emergency situations will overwhelm us and many will not only suffer, but some will die."

Other newly elected officers are Bob Davis, Twin Falls, vice president; George Gray, Boise, president; Charles H. Brooks, Blackfoot, secretary-treasurer; and Ray Deckman, Nampa, and Walt Todd, Twin Falls, both directors.

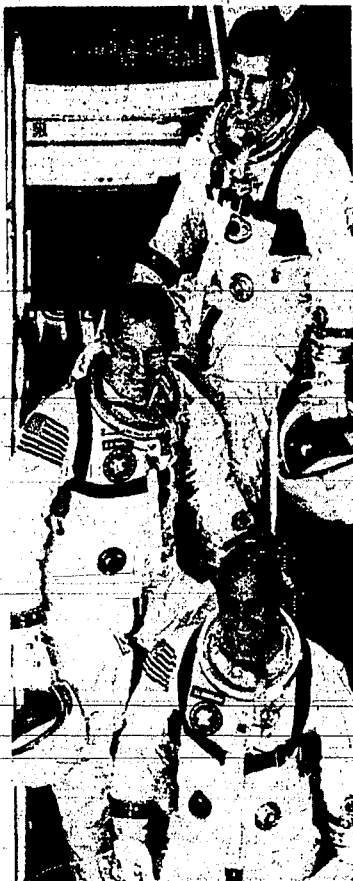

The two-day convention concluded with a banquet Saturday night at the Holiday Inn.

Keeping your car tuned to the day-by-day flow of activity in the county is a requirement of good newsreading. Just such a newsfound is Peggy Lately, who keeps her guiding hand on the Times-News Sunday Feature and Friday Farm section.

Peggy found some unusual times coming to her ear a couple of weeks ago, and discovered, to her surprise, that they appeared to her. The result is her "feature" story, on page 10 of today's edition about a local recording studio and the men who run it.

Peggy can recognize a good story and knows what to do with it. She's been in the newspaper game for 13 years, as a reporter, social editor, news editor and even in the advertising end of the business. She has worked, besides in Twin Falls, on papers in Salt Lake City and in Fallbrook, Calif. She's a product of Twin Falls, coming here with her parents when she was in the third grade.

And she has a new interest now — modern country music.

Midwest Storm Goes On To New England

The snowstorm which dumped most of its load on the Midwest—23 inches at Chicago, 28 at Kalamazoo—moved into northern New England and eastern Canada on Saturday showing reduced intensity. Chicago and other cities paralyzed by drifts of five to 15 feet succeeded in reopening their traffic arteries by dint of round-the-clock work by thousands of diggers, but most neighborhoods still were snowbound. Sixty-eight deaths were attributed to the record blizzards in five states—42 in Illinois, 17 in Michigan, 11 in Wisconsin, 3 in Indiana and 1 in Ohio.

Visited T. F.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee, one of the three astronauts who died late Friday in their flaming Apollo spacecraft, visited Twin Falls in October, 1964, and was the featured speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Cmdr. Chaffee also spoke to Magic Valley high school students who were brought from surrounding communities to hear him.

William Grange, manager of the chamber at that time, recalled that the astronaut had mentioned his tremendous desire to be a part of the space program and was proud that he might have the chance to take part in his country's exploration of space.

Blockhouse crewmen said they heard the words: "Fire in the spacecraft." (See DISASTER Page 2, Col. 2)

Powell To Make Partial Payment

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Winston Clayton Powell said Saturday he would make a partial payment of the $104,000 judgment he owes and warned congressmen determining his next steps to get out of jail prepared for a counterattack.

Monday afternoon for the first time since the House refused to vote until he made partial payment on the judgment, Powell said he would pay $23,000 next Tuesday to Esther James, 70, the Harlem widow who won a slander judgment against him in 1962.

That was the size of the original award in 1963 but Powell's refusal to pay has caused it to balloon through punitive and interest. Powell has an appeal pending on the added costs and said nothing would be done about paying them until all litigation has ended.

Chances Appear Slim For Proposed Reorganization

BOISE (AP) — Proposed governmental reorganization goes before the Idaho Legislature in the coming week and the change for approval in its present form appeared Saturday to be slight. "This will certainly bear close scrutiny," said Sen. Lloyd Barron, R-Fairfield, of the 23-bill package which sets up a new State Department of Administrative Services. Barron is chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee which will join with the House State Affairs Committee in holding public hearings on the proposal Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The governmental reorganization plan was drafted by a committee of the Legislative Council. But a number of lawmakers said they believe the revision was carried further than they intended.

The plan would give to the new Department of Administrative Services all housekeeping functions now performed by various departments and agencies and would abolish the Bureau of Public Accounts and Bureau of the Budget.

Both the House and Senate were in session only briefly Saturday. Introduced in the Senate was a bill repealing Idaho's 10-cent per pound tax on oleomargarine. A similar proposal was defeated Friday in the House.

The repeal bill was one of five introduced in the Senate, which passed four measures. The House gave its approval, also, to four, including two Senate bills which now go to the governor.

They would affect the conduct of school district trustee elections. One advances from 10 to 18 days prior to the election the time in which nominating petitions may be filed. The other changes from five to 10 days before the election the time for filing nominating petitions. (See LEGISLATURE, Pg. 2, C. 7)

Law Accomplishes Goal Ahead Of Time

A proposed new law designed to collect state taxes pertaining to governing Idaho municipalities into one package, is running into a bit of trouble because it apparently is accomplishing its goal ahead of time. One of the objects of the law, House Bill No. 3, is to make easier for people, particularly municipal officials, to find out just what the laws governing Idaho cities cover.

Until now, these laws have been scattered throughout state codes and it was a full time job even for a lawyer to dig out necessary information. The reclassification of these municipal laws into a single, easy-to-find package was the big job of the House Committee on Counties and Municipalities, chaired by Rep. Ray Hansen, R-Twin Falls.

Since the introduction and printing of House Bill No. 3, Rep. Lincoln said Saturday there have been a number of questions, objections and expressions of concern about some of the provisions of the law.

In almost all cases, he noted, the cause of the objections and any changes, but about laws that have been in effect for as long as 80 years.

"For example, there is a law that gives the city jurisdiction in the case of disease and quarantine. This power is limited to those two things, but many people are concerned when they read this and think it is new. This law was passed in the 1800s.

Clarence Hedrick came to the annual banquet of the Twin Falls Soil Conservation District Friday night thinking it was a routine occurrence. Before it was over he found he was the honored guest.

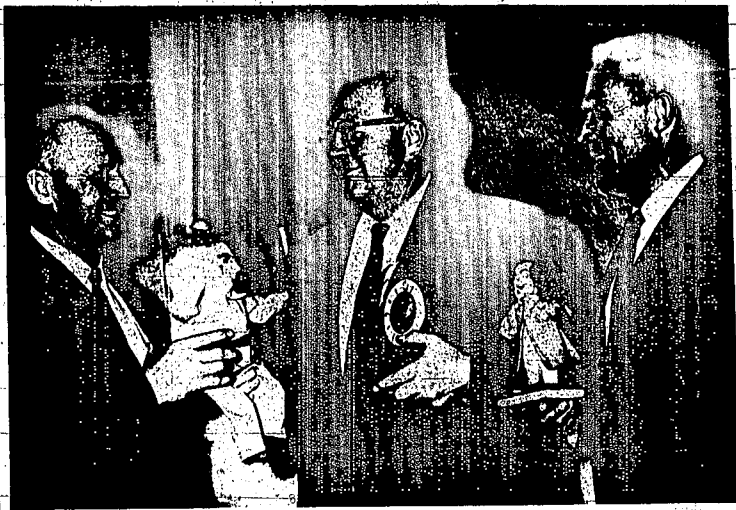

Mr. Hedrick, work conservationist for Twin Falls, was praised in a resolution adopted and read on behalf of the board of supervisors. He was given a special clock bearing a suitable engraved notation and also a "Big Daddy" doll which had been made for him. The name of the doll is the nickname of Mr. Hedrick.

The presentation to the honored guest was made by Glenn Nelson, board chairman. Other members of the board participating in the special resolution including: Lyle Schaefer, vice chairman; Lee Blitzenburg, treasurer; Don Youtz, secretary; Truman Clark, Ellis Fuller, Arthur Knoster, Richard Noh, Melvin Jagels, Walker Walker, John Pasitor, Ralph Schnell, Lawrence Sill, Glen Whitney and W. L. Kinsey.

Program for the evening was presented by Morlan W. Nelson. He showed a film he had made while on assignment in Arabia. It detailed training of birds by falcon hunters.

Special recognition also was given to members of the ladies-auxiliary for their participation in various soil district projects during the past year.

The banquet was held in the main hall at the Elks Lodge in Twin Falls and more than 100 conservation members and special guests were present.

Charm School Sessions Culminated With Tea

By NORMA HERZINGER

Everything from party planning to posture were covered in local Charm School sessions and the polished accomplishments were evident at a recent tea and fashion show.

The Charm School, a joint effort of the Camp Fire Council and the local Junior Club, held classes at the Idaho Power Auditorium and involved 100 girls of junior high school age and up. The climax of the 10 week course was the fashion show and tea, completely prepared and executed by the girls, held recently at the Presbyterian Church Fireside Lounge.

When original plans were made to promote a Charm School, hopes were for an enrollment of 50 girls. It proved to be such a huge success that the classes were for 100 girls, with a waiting list of others.

Community service is the primary goal of the Junior Club, so what could be a better choice than the Charm School, sponsored jointly with the Camp Fire Council.

Mrs. Warren Skinner and Mrs. John

McNees were co-chairmen of the school from the Junior Club, along with Mrs. Dorothy Peavey, field worker for the Camp Fire Girls, and Mrs. James Vandenberg, executive director of the Twin Falls Council of Camp Fire Girls. Mrs. Larry Harvey is president of the Junior Club and Mrs. Orval Johnson is president of the Twin Falls Council of Camp Fire Girls.

To give more security in the vital time of life for teenagers was the object of the sessions which included a class on posture, skin care, hair care and styling, clothes, party planning, table manners and etiquette, nail care, diet and foods and poise and personality.

The opportunity to practice all phases of the classes was provided in the fashion show and tea.

The girls modeled lovely spring fashions from the Mayfair Shop of Twin Falls, showing what the younger set will be wearing for the new season. Presiding at the elaborately decorated tea table were Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Harvey.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have never had to worry about my children's playmates, but something has come up that I don't know how to handle. My 12-year-old daughter has a best friend who is not a very nice girl. But Abby, her mother!

She ran her husband off when he objected to the way she carried on with other men, and they are now being divorced. In the meantime this mother entertains men friends night and day. Apparently she has no shame before her children from the things her mother tells her daughter, Abby, some of the goings-on in that house are just terrible!

I have told my daughter the facts of life, but it's nothing compared to what her mother tells her. What can I do? Should I forbid my daughter to have anything more to do with her friend? It hardly seems fair, but Abby, I am stumped.

DEAR STUMPED: It is extremely unlikely that your daughter will be corrupted by anything she hears from her girl friend. It would be unfair to punish the child for her mother's behavior.

You could do the girl a tremendous favor by making her especially welcome in your home, where wholesome attitudes and decency prevail. She needs understanding and kindness—not punishment—and penalties for a situation over which she has no control.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend and I have been going together for eight years — since second grade, and now we aren't getting along so good.

He told me to shut up and then I called him a name. Now he won't even say hi to me. I love him so much I cry at night. How can I let him know I love him and want him back? I don't think he has anybody else yet. If I don't get him back I will just die, Abby.

Please don't think that just because we are only 15 this is puppy love. It is the REAL THING. SICK WITH LOVE.

DEAR SICK: "Sick with love" at 15? Hurt, and sorry and a little blue, perhaps, but surely not "sick with love" at such a tender age. You'll survive, honey. Pretend you don't care, and pretty soon you'll discover you really don't.

DEAR ABBY: Cyril and I have been married for nearly 19 years. We were only 18 and 19 when we married. We went together all thru school. We separated three months ago, at his request, but we are still good friends and see each other often. My problem is how to get him to come home and stay home.

I love Cyril and I know he loves me, but here's the situation: When we got married, Cyril had about a year left in the Marine Corps, and he never actually had a life as a so-called civilian all by himself, so he felt he should have his fling now before he had any children; instead of waiting until he was 30 or maybe 35, I know it sounds strange, but in a way it makes a lot of sense to me. How long should his fling take?

DEAR WIFE: If a man is going to have his "fling," it should be flung BEFORE he takes a wife. Tell Cyril to come home where he belongs if he wants to stay married. A husband with "flinging" privileges could fling indefinitely.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 63700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90063.

For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 63700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90063.

20-20-40 Law Explained To T.F. Residents

Clifford Thompson, Twin Falls County assessor, said his office has had numerous inquiries why assessed values of property are higher in 1967 than they were the previous year.

He emphasized the assessors of the state must comply with tax laws and have no power to change the assessed values on their own.

"I would like to point out once again the reason for this," Mr. Thompson said.

"Idaho Law Sec. 63-2218 A, better known as the 20-20-40 law, requires every assessor in the state to increase the rates of assessment beginning in January of 1968 by a small percent each year until they reach a ratio of 20 per cent in 1969," he explained.

"In complying with the law, all real property in Twin Falls County is being assessed at 10 per cent of full cash value at which it was assessed in 1965 at 12 per cent and in 1966 at 14 per cent," he added.

"Unless the state legislature amends or repeals the 20-20-40 law, Mr. Thompson added, property will be assessed at 18 per cent of cash value in 1968 and at 20 per cent rate in 1969.

"This means the assessor said, there will be additional increases in the state's assessed value through tax payments are supposed to hold steady as the law provides no additional money can be collected unless new taxing agencies are added.

Taxes increased this year in Twin Falls county, he said, but this was due to such new taxing units as the College of Southern Idaho district levy and the Clear Lakes bridge levy.

"Taxpayers are alarmed, Mr. Thompson said, over increased taxes and over higher values on their property. The only hope for a change in this, he said, is through corrective legislation

Rupert PTA To Work On Campaign

RUPERT — "His First Cigarette May Be a Matter of Life or Death" is the title of a pamphlet prepared for distribution to parents of seventh and eighth graders throughout the state in a massive "do something" campaign being launched by the PTA.

Announcement of the participation of Fourth District PTA personnel in the project is made by the president, Mrs. Harlow Cheney Rupert, who said Mrs. Pierce Roan, Twin Falls, is heading the committee on smoking and health on the state level.

The goal of the project is to bring up a new generation of Americans who do not smoke and thus will be spared the sickness, disability or death that may come from cigarette smoking, Mrs. Roan said.

The program will attempt to deliver information on the hazards of smoking to parents of junior high school students, children at a particularly vulnerable age, authorities believe.

Taking part in the campaign this year will be parents in 21 states and by 1969 parents in all 50 states will be involved.

Mrs. Roan said it is hoped each parent of these age youngsters in the state can be contacted on a person-to-person basis. It is believed that the room representatives will head the program in many PTAs.

Many local units will be having programs at their February and March meetings to acquaint the parents with the problem, and and taxpayers should avail themselves of all information and let their legislators know their views on present tax laws, he suggested.

Johnson Sounds Optimistic Note In Economic Report

By DAVE SMITH
AP Wire Service
NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson sounded a firm note of economic optimism for 1967 in his annual economic report to Congress this week.

Johnson's largest banks extended a cooperating gesture by cutting prime interest rates on business loans.

But the automobile industry hurried to 5 1/2 percent, the rate of lagging new car sales, the automakers ordered more production cuts and layoffs.

Johnson's report to Congress on Thursday we must plan now to avoid a recession that could follow "the welcome day of peace" in Vietnam. More important, he predicted a moderate growth in the economy through 1967—though at a slower rate than in 1966—as well as a day's work fewer than before the shutdown.

An industry source said the move apparently were triggered by estimates that there were 1,355,100 new cars on dealer lots at the end of 1966, compared with the 1,066,000 cars in the inventory at the end of 1965. The heavy supply in dealer inventories—a 58-day supply compared with a 45-day supply last year—the automakers concluded that they better get production down to the current sales-supply ratio.

The stock market also took its toll on Wednesday, with Dow Jones trading day, the Dow Jones industrial average fell 1.13 to 840.44 from 841.44.

Johnson's report was the first time that more declined than advanced. Brokers said the decline was due to overvalued profit taking.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY "If I were an athletic director from some major college and came down to scout College of Southern Idaho's basketball team someone would be bound to ask 'who do you like.' I'd say 'I want Sutton.'"

Of course, he would refer to Ed Sutton, the other night after a basketball game. CSU's young coach, Eddie Sutton, who has performed a minor miracle with the brand new Eagles.

It's not too far fetched, as a matter of fact there is a breeze rising against Idaho State University's basketball coach, Claude Retherford, at the present time. It's no wind yet, but there are some signs of discontentment. But on a deal like that you can watch for gale signals.

There are ISU alumni in Magic Valley, some of them rather highly placed and in a position to sway decisions at Pocateello. At least two of them definitely are for recommending that Sutton be hired if and when the ISU vacancy occurs.

It would seem, however, slightly premature to discuss a parting of ways between Retherford and the University of Idaho, given little chance of beating ISU earlier, should happen to take the Bengals to camp early next month.

- 1. How much? For you, less than $700 more than the beetle costs. 2. It looks bigger than the beetle. Yes. Outside and in. Outside, it's only 6 inches longer...

- 3. How many miles to the gallon? About 27, on regular gas. 4. Is it more powerful than the regular Volkswagen? A touch. The Squareback can beat the beetle at a stoplight, and has a higher top speed, too, 64 mph vs. 78.3.

Artists Enter Wide, Wide World Of Entertainment With Recordings

By PEGGY LALEY
 Times-News Feature Writer

You expect such things as recording companies in cosmopolitan areas, but did you know that the Magic Valley has a recording company?

The men behind this activity are Charlie Crane, Everett Main, Junior Walden and his brother, Loy Walden.

The company features the Walden Brothers as its leading artists, but the facilities are also available to other local artists as well.

Three Walden records bearing the MVI label have already been released with another due to make its appearance in the very near future.

The Walden brothers' group, which is well-known in the Magic Valley area for its popular style of country western music, includes the two Waldens, Frankie Herman and Harry Hansford.

There seems to be a tendency for people to become too close to talents in their own area and become blasé as to the actual worth of local accomplishments. The crowds that this group draws wherever it plays attests to the fact that locally they are well-liked and popular, however, this popularity does not end in Magic Valley.

In other sections of the United States the music that these men play has placed them on a number of hit parades and among the top 10s and 20s of numerous radio stations.

Although these musicians display their versatility in other types of music, modern country music is their forte. They not only play the standard composers, Junior and Loy Walden also write their own songs. Ten of these have been published. Those they have recorded have been written by the Waldens.

The very phrase "country music" to the uninitiated might cause an adverse reaction for many music lovers, but this music actually bears very little resemblance to other less attractive types that are also lumped into this category.

This "modern country music" has a beat, it's great for dancing and is pretty good for listening, too. This, of course, is my opinion. But, remember this, before I was exposed to the Walden Brothers' music, I was inclined to look down my nose at country music. It was too loud, too twangy and, I thought, the lyrics were utterly ridiculous.

Oh, I still go for the classics and I haven't abandoned the "Golden Oldies", but now I also "dig" this other style of music that is sweeping the country.

It has its place and it sure can't be beat for its ability to raise the spirits and set the toes tapping.

The Waldens have been playing in this area for the past ten years, but they have also appeared as guest artists on various top "country" shows in other sections. Right now they are considering a tour of the Western States.

Junior and Loy come from a big family—five boys and three girls—and were raised in Buhl, where Loy still lives.

Although their parents could not be considered especially musical, Junior says, each one of the children have considerable musical ability and each has done his share on the local entertainment scene.

The MVI company has been in existence for two and one-half years and already the owners are beginning to realize that the present facilities, which are in Jerome, will have to become larger and more complete if the

Trip To Boise Provides Fun, History And Lovely Sights

Boise is a lovely city with many, many things to see and places to visit. The people of Idaho should be proud of their capital.

The state capitol building is a stately structure built in the tradition of most capitol buildings and set in a beautifully landscaped setting. Even in the drabness of wintertime on a gloomy, rainy day it is a sight well worth viewing.

Boise is an old city of lovely old homes, some approaching the dimensions of mansions. Boise is a city of trees, well-kept lawns and, for Idaho, neat buildings.

As you approach the capitol city from the south, the view is a distinguished one of a wide boulevard descending the hill from the site of the Union Pacific Railroad Station and continuing down to the heart of the business district where the governmental buildings are located.

As you travel along this street you pass Julia Davis Park with its art gallery and the State Historical Museum. This museum houses objects of Idaho's past and is now in a state of change as new "rooms" are being built for authentic displays of furniture and clothing of various periods.

Robert L. Dymov is the museum's director and discussed with the visiting Idaho press women that work plans for a new museum building which will hopefully be built in the near future.

One of the latest acquisitions of the State Historical museum is a 80 foot bar and back bar which was once in Blackconger's Buffet (old-timers remember it but just like it is spelled) which was a famous and popular meeting place for the men in the early days of the town.

This bar, which was in use in another location until recently, was purchased for the museum by the State Historical Society Auxiliary. It now dominates an authentic display of an old-time "saloon."

Tea was served there to the visiting women editors by Mrs. Clyde Dunting, auxiliary president and volunteer worker.

The present museum and art gallery of our state are small—

Journey Of Mekong River Is Long One

By PETER ARNETT SAIGON (AP) — The mighty Mekong River begins in the crystal-clear snow waters of Tibet and washes through Laos, Thailand and Cambodia in its tortuous journey south to Vietnam. It is sluggish with brown silt and it struggles with millions of rice-dwelling farmers by the time it passes by the new American military installations near Mykh...

The muddy Mekong waters surge at high tide around the tracks of M48 tanks and slosh the boots of sweating infantry men digging foxholes over the sandy northern banks.

The same water floods the sampans of the enemy and from hidden redoubts, and conceals him, when necessary, beneath the surface.

"Brooding through the Denmark-south delta, the Mekong is the source of life for the seven million people who live along its banks and myriad tributaries in Vietnam.

For the U.S. troops who have moved into the delta to start the newest phase of the war, the water is the first and most obvious obstacle.

The only dry places are where houses have been built. All arable land has been turned into paddy fields or orchards, and the rest is soggy with reeds and mangroves stretching with mosquitoes and vicious red ants.

U.S. artillery units have had to take over football fields to give solid ground to their guns. One American battalion was forced to take over the homes of half a village. New bases are being carved out of the swamps by engineers.

U.S. technology has been working for months on the water problems — one answer being plastic hued "airboats" with airplane propellers that ply the canals and rivers. Another experimental craft is the "Stacy" patrol air cushion vehicle, powered by the British hovercraft technique.

Some of these vehicles have been returned to the United States for improvement. The helicopter will be used as the main transportation for troops seeking the Viet Cong in the jungled canal banks and widely scattered villages.

A greater problem than the water is the population, truly

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, January 29 — Born today, you combine the dreamer and the doer in your nature. Your wild imagination supplies you with new and original ideas, sometimes even outlandish ones, and your practicality sorts the ideas out and begins to work them into a profitable application for those that are worth while. Although in fancy you may often go too far, in reality you are held to the line of possibility by your "other half."

Basically a saver, you can be talked into making a purchase that is not absolutely necessary only with difficulty. This, however, carries practically a bit too far, sometimes, for there are circumstances in which frivolity in spending is necessary to one's physical happiness. This is especially true in your relationships with members of the opposite sex.

Although you engage in intellectual activities, you are physically active. Indeed, at times you find that nothing but physical labor or sport can soothe your nerves and tire your body to the point of restful sleep.

For health, then, you are one who needs both mental and physical exercise. To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. At your birthday star be your daily

Remarkable Assembly Line Makes Artificial Limbs For Vietnamese

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
SALGON, South Vietnam (AP) — On most Sunday mornings, John Wells gathers up a group of eager, happy children and adults and files with them to little airfields in the hinterlands of Vietnam.

Eager because they are going home. Happy because they are going home whole again.

Only 10 to 14 days before, they had come to Saigon lacking an arm or leg, or both arms or both legs, or victims of land mines, shellfire, bombs and grenades from 20 years or more of war.

They go home with new plastic arms and legs, individually fitted, from a remarkable assembly line producing 500 artificial limbs and braces per month at the National Rehabilitation Institute.

Just a year ago, a small shop here was producing only 40 or so wooden limbs and braces a month.

In South Vietnam, medical experts estimate there are 10,000 to 25,000 civilians and soldiers who have lost limbs, with the number growing.

Wells, from the University of Oklahoma, is administrator of the institute that uses one of U.S. money, materials and skills, and the genius of a Spaniard, Juan Monros. He instituted the assembly line system of producing artificial limbs.

Wells acquires to their country homes up to 100 persons a month, who had come or been brought to the institute with hope for a new productive life.

Relatives or friends wait at airfields for the U.S. Air Force plane, awaiting their return. The returnees are enthusiastic and not a bit shy or embarrassed.

One Sunday, Wells was lifting a 20-year-old girl down from the airplane when her artificial leg, attached above the knee, fell off.

"She calmly buckled it back on, smiled, and walked to meet her family. She was elated, as so many of them are. They had never thought they could ever get an artificial limb," he says.

"It's a kind of miracle. For you and me, getting an artificial limb might involve a hell of an adjustment. But they take pride in how well they can walk, or use a new arm."

At the institute, technicians fashion the lightweight limbs from layers of nylon cloth and polyethylene plastic, each worker performing one task, as with automobiles coming from a Detroit factory.

Half or more of the technicians are amputees.

Dr. Nguyen Huu Vi, institute director, speaks to one man who stops his work and walks rapidly and smoothly up and down the busy shop. He lost both legs to a land mine.

"They stand and work all day in a pretty good endorsement of how well their limbs fit, and how quickly they adapt," Vi says.

On crutches, a few recent arrivals one day watched their own new legs being born on the assembly line, impatient to practice with their substitute limb, to be questioned and advised by a specialist to assure the best fit of the final limb they will receive at no cost to them.

"I'm sure at first many of them have pain — you can see it in their faces, but they very rarely complain," Wells said. "That's true especially of the children, kids and adults, more than the army men. The soldiers seem to expect more than something should be done for them, for their sacrifice, maybe. But the civilians who got mangled up accidentally, they hadn't dared hope for much of anything — and they're most enthusiastic."

'Copter Lift May Solve Port Troubles

By JOHN WINOCUR
BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — The helicopter hovered like a dragonfly over the ship, reached its spindly steel legs down to grasp a 10-ton crate, then with a jerk, hauled the dangling cargo away.

Within five minutes, the crate was unloaded at an airfield and the copter was in the air again to lift another container from the ship, rocking in the wiggly gray waters of Long Island Sound.

Watching were 40 Defense Department and armed forces officials who had been told they would see a way to end Saigon harbor troubles — congestion, sabotage, warehouse pilferage and wasted manpower.

The answer, an aircraft firm and a shipping company said, are container-ships that can be discharged at sea and their prepacked cargo carried directly to the pier by helicopter, bypassing the port and its problems.

Seven helicopters could unload a 30,000-ton container ship in two days, a Defense Department official said.

Has New Plane

SPOKANE (AP) — North Idaho's "flying parson" has a new airplane, and the Spokane Council of United Presbyterian Men is helping pay for it.

The group was to present a check for $8,000 Friday night to the Rev. James H. Howell, who traveled nearly 31,000 miles to isolated areas of Northern Idaho last year, visiting 270 homes and attending 223 meetings.

The new plane already has been purchased to replace one the men's group said "no longer is fit for the skies." The gifts will cover more than one-half the cost.

About 300 persons were expected at a banquet for the presentation.

The Rev. Mr. Howell, incidentally, received recently an award for flying nine years without accident or violation.

No Plans For Moving Of Agency Sited

LAPWAI, Idaho (AP) — There are no immediate plans to move headquarters for the North Idaho Indian Agency from here to Spokane, according to the agency's superintendent, Thomas St. Clair.

He said a site-change study was made by agency personnel and the Bureau of Indian Affairs' Portland office, but emphasized that such changes are only in the planning and study stage and no decisions have been made.

U. S. Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, reported Monday he had been informed by Gov. Don Samuelson's office that a move was being considered.

St. Clair explained that 2,000 members of the Spokane Indian Tribe are wishing to withdraw from jurisdiction of the Colville Indian Agency because the Colville's want termination of the reservation, while the Spokane's oppose.

"This would add 2,000 more to the rolls of the North Idaho Agency, making a total of 6,000. This would include Nez Perce with 2,225 at Lapwai, about 2,000 Coeur d'Alenes at Pomeroy and about 100 Kallispells and 50 Kootenai," he said.

St. Clair said if the headquarters were to be moved to Spokane, a sub-agency would remain at Lapwai. He said a change could mean 41 staff members would move to Spokane, with 16 remaining here.

Pogo Stick Would Be Best Vehicle For Touring Moon, Scientist Claims

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
AP Science Writer
SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — The best vehicle for exploring the moon—once man has landed, may be a kind of pogo stick making 400-foot hops among the craters.

Dr. Howard S. Seifert, United Technology Center scientist who also teaches at Stanford University, has worked out concepts for such a vehicle.

Dr. Seifert has talked with others in the field and with various government agencies, including NASA, and says he has found a high degree of interest in the novel idea.

The monopod, moon hopper or lunar leaper — you name it — would consist of a 40-foot hollow pole between two cabins, one carrying a pilot and a passenger, the other containing power plant, flight control equipment and a life support system — would ride up and down the pole on a cushion of compressed gas.

As Seifert envisions it, a moon hop would start with the cabin structure resting near the bottom of the pole. Pressure of gas against a piston would force the structure 30 feet up the pole, where it would lock in place, carrying the pole upward.

The pole would be leaning forward at 45 degrees to the lunar surface at the start of the 400-foot, 15-second hop. Midway in flight, the lower end would jump, the pilot would select his landing point, using a computer and bomb-sight type device to pick a suitable bouncing spot.

Seifert said power would be supplied by a relatively small gas generator enabling the craft to move forward eight or nine miles on a gallon of standard fuel — "tremendously better than a rocket in that respect."

The scientist is a past president of the American Rocket Society and has served as vice president of the International Astronautical Federation and Director of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics. He is the author of more than 30 papers on liquid, solid and nuclear rocket motor development and guided missile systems.

2 Held For Trial In Burglary Case

Robert Ralph Dupont and David Herve Riel, both Twin Falls, were bound over to 11th District Court for trial Friday following a preliminary hearing before Twin Falls Judge Harry Turner.

The two are charged with first degree burglary in connection with a break-in Nov. 14 at the Military Inn. Bond of $1,000 each was continued and the two were returned to custody in the Twin Falls county jail in lieu of payment.

Treatment Of Kidneys Is Outlined

CARMEL, Calif. (AP) — A plan to integrate artificial kidney machine treatments with transplantation was outlined here Friday by Dr. Peter Ivanovich, director of research and chronic dialysis at the Spokane and Inland Empire Artificial Kidney Center.

Views of doctors at the Spokane center were in a paper presented before the Western Section of the American Federation for Clinical Research.

Many patients do well indefinitely on the artificial kidney machine, but for others transplantation is preferable, Dr. Ivanovich said. These include patients who develop medical complications and children, for whom long-term machine treatment is not suitable.

But in either event, patients should be trained to treat themselves with the machine in their own homes, he said.

"We expect that a certain number of transplanted patients will have rejections requiring removal of the transplanted kidney. The knowledge that rejection would not necessarily mean death and that a return to home dialysis (treatment) is possible gives the transplant patient a marked psychological advantage," he added.

A VIEW FROM THE FRONT OFFICE

How much more do your employees pay for health care?

This is something you may never learn unless you ask an employee directly. By providing your employees with health-care coverage, you are recognizing one of the individual's vital necessities in today's society — and in doing so, you are making a large investment. Is this investment paying off in greater security to your employee and in their morale as you expect? Your employee may look upon the company's health-care plan as a "gift" from management and never comment on it. However, he may be paying several hundred dollars — over what the company's coverage allows when he needs hospital care. When this happens, does he still consider your group coverage an "employee benefit"?

employees know that when unexpected accident or illness strikes, they will receive the care covered by their certificate — where it is listed in terms of services, not as fixed amounts of money.

This necessary care will be provided by Blue Cross regardless of cost — so your employee will not be faced with paying a large difference between his coverage and actual cost of his care.

Blue Cross was designed for realistic protection against the cost of hospital care. It's the best buy — dollar-for-dollar — for you and your employees.

Talk to a specialist from Blue Cross of Idaho. Find what kind of protection your employees really have. Talk to your employees, too.
