3 Bills Planned On Establishing Area Airports

By O. J. SMITH
Times-News Managing Editor

BOISE (Special)—Three bills designed to organize establishment of regional airports are being prepared by Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, and the first one is due to be introduced Tuesday. It will establish an Idaho aeronautical commission of five members to establish policy and supervise the program and activities of the department of aeronautics and the director of aeronautics. The second bill will establish four airport districts for the state, and the third will be a technical correction of present laws governing counties to permit them to levy taxes for use outside the county, in such cases as a regional airport.

The bill setting up the commission will provide that it be a non-partisan body. It will also put the commission directly in charge of all powers and duties now handled by the department and director of aeronautics.

It will however, retain the power of the governor to appoint and dismiss the aeronautics director.

A breakdown of the duties that would be vested in the commission includes:—Promote general aviation activities in the state.—Work with commercial carriers to improve local and national air service throughout the state.—Provide guidance for the development of regional airports.—Encourage construction, use and maintenance of general aviation airports.—Coordinate activities of emergency airport development, including air search and rescue work.—Encourage development of the aeronautical industry in the state.—Encourage establishment of programs in the Idaho Educational System.

The five commissioners will be selected, one from each of four districts, and one appointed from the state at large. Generally the districts are split into northern Idaho, southwestern Idaho, Magic Valley, and eastern Idaho.

The Magic Valley District would be made up of Blaine, Camas, Cassia, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Minidoka and Twin Falls Counties.

Final form of the second bill, which would create a regional financing and building regional airports, has not yet been determined. The Senator from Twin Falls declares.

Sen. High, who is handling the bills for the senate transportation and defense committee, said he is giving the members priority and doing all he can to get them through as quickly as possible.

Senate Votes To Resubmit Amendment

By EARLE L. JESTER
BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Senate voted today to submit to the people again a proposed constitutional amendment which was defeated in the general election last November.

The resolution would allow the people to vote upon several constitutional changes as a single question. The Constitution now provides that each change must be submitted separately.

The resolution now goes to the House.

Sen. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho Falls, said it is needed if the Constitutional Revision Commission created by the 1965 Legislature is effective.

The legislature began its fifth week with only one of Gov. Don W. Samuelson's State of the State message requests acted upon. That concerned annual sessions of the legislature. Both the House and Senate have approved a resolution submitting the question to the voters.

Sen. Don Loveland, R-Burley, chairman of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee, said he is drafting requests of departments and institutions should be completed this week. Thereafter the committee will take the requests and the operating funds available to state agencies for the next biennium.

Fowler Asks Raising Of Debt Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler asked Congress today to raise the national debt ceiling by $7 billion to a new level of $337 billion.

He said that unless Congress acts, the Treasury will have to start holding up some payments within a month.

In an unusually blunt statement to the House Ways and Means Committee, Fowler said: "You and I know that there are many who have voted for, and will vote for, appropriations and then take comfort and protection in a vote against extending the debt limit. This is not a responsible act."

Fowler said that among the payments that would be in jeopardy are Social Security benefits, veterans' pensions and military and civilian retirement pay.

The Ways and Means Committee has never failed to extend the debt ceiling, but increased under similar circumstances in the past and Congress has no way followed through, but the country is in the growing U.S. force in the Mekong Delta.

The 1951 unleased their explosives on a base camp of the Viet Cong's 108A regiment 80 miles west-southwest of Saigon. The strike was two miles closer to the capital than any previous raid by the bombers and shook windows in Saigon.

U. S. Bombers Stage Raid Near Saigon

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—U.S. B-52 bombers staged the heaviest raid to date against the Vietnam war today. Simultaneously, 3,200 more American infantrymen arrived in the country to join the growing U.S. force in the Mekong Delta.

The B-52s unloaded their explosives on a base camp of the Viet Cong's 108A regiment 80 miles west-southwest of Saigon. The strike was two miles closer to the capital than any previous raid by the bombers and shook windows in Saigon.

Baker Plans To Fight Convictions Of Tax Evasion, Conspiracy, Theft

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Bob Baker plans to fight his convictions for tax evasion, conspiracy and stealing campaign funds to the Supreme Court if necessary.

His hands trembling and his cheeks whitening, the former secretary to Senate Minority and behind-the-scenes power on Capitol Hill heard a federal court jury Sunday pronounce him guilty.

But Baker, 36, a one-time Senate page who built a $2-million fortune, stayed free on $400,000 bail.

Continuing is expected in about two weeks. Penalties for the seven counts on which he was convicted could total 48 years in prison and $1,700 in fines.

"We, of course, are going to the (U.S.) Appeals Court and all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary," said Baker's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams. One Justice Department official predicted the appeal process could consume two years.

The trial lasted three weeks and centered around $39,000 in campaign funds contributed by California savings and loan executives.

Lynlon B. Johnson was referred to in testimony by Baker—though not by name—many of other pertinent figures dotted the proceedings. Seven senators and a representative appeared one day to testify.

The consequences for Baker, who does not wish a retrial, would almost certainly be far more severe than the work stoppage the Senate Rules Committee gave him after a probe into business dealings he conducted before resigning his Senate job under fire in October 1965.

ENTHUSIASM AND EXPECTATIONS for education television in Twin Falls schools have recently reached a new peak. ## Educational Television Will Be Used As Teaching Aids In 2 T. F. Schools

By RUTH KOONCE
Times-News Staff Writer

As society becomes more sophisticated, training for living in this society must necessarily become more sophisticated.

As slits and dress hemlines go up-and-down, a physical indication of a changing society, educational trends continue on a steady upward climb. Pressure of competing in school and later, in the job, creates a necessity for gathering information from all available sources.

It was not too many years ago that movie projectors were considered the ultimate in sophisticated teaching aids. Only on special occasions did a radio or television enter classrooms, generally at times like national elections or other items of newsworthy interest.

However, in the last five or 10 years, television sets are a common sight in classrooms as instructors take advantage of technological programs in various fields. The larger, metropolitan areas, particularly, have been taking advantage of programs geared to follow curriculums.

The pilot project in Twin Falls was installed about a year ago at the special education school at Robert Stuart Junior High School. Mrs. Charles Ratcliffe, director of the school serving students with physical handicaps, is sold on the idea.

She said television programs are utilized about two hours a day. The program of varied topics, originate at the University of Utah, Channel KUED broadcasts educational programs designed for elementary and high school age groups. The channel is available on cable in the Twin Falls area.

Mrs. Ratcliffe said the system has proved invaluable in the specially graded classes. She said children of the type taught at the special education school more readily absorb information when it can be seen, rather than just verbally explained.

She said none of the instructors at the school need special training to utilize the television teaching system. She further assures that no teacher-student contact, also particularly valuable with students of this type, is lost by using the television set.

The television sets are not used singly without benefit of lively discussion and quizzing.

Utah, Idaho Bottlers Open Two-Day Meet

Soft drink bottlers from Utah and Idaho, convening in Twin Falls Monday, were urged to continue and expand their public relations programs and to look to one-way disposable bottles when their own business demands call for such a move.

The Utah-Idaho Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages are holding their 45th annual convention at the Holiday Inn. Speakers Monday morning included Ovid R. Davis, vice president of public relations for the Coca Cola Co., Atlanta, Ga., and William J. Schoen, district sales manager, Anchor Hocking Glass Corp., Los Angeles.

Mr. Davis told the delegates they are doing business in an age when "people matter more and more in the modern formula of business success."

"People today are more important for a number of reasons," Mr. Davis said. "They are better educated, better traveled and more sophisticated."

"They have seen the good life and they are experiencing it. And the ones who are not experiencing it have seen it too and want to experience it," he added.

This, the speaker said, has developed, out of necessity, a social conscience for American business.

Further, he said, this has brought public relations into the limelight during the past 15 years.

He defined public relations as "communicating the truth, based upon facts to the public and creating thereby a favorable and sympathetic understanding."

New trends in packaging in the form of "one-way" disposables were outlined by Mr. Schoen.

He said returnable containers must meet 26 to 30 trips in one container.

Luncheon Set

Court revision, urban renewal and the proposed regional airport will be discussed during the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce legislative luncheon on Tuesday in the American Legion Hall.

Doug Kramer will examine the recent court revision decisions and the possible national amendments.

Podgorny, Pope Discuss Vietnam War

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Nikoli V. Podgorny, met for more than an hour today in the Pope's studio, discussing the Vietnam war and Roman Catholicism inside the Soviet Union.

Podgorny, highest Communist official ever received by any Pope, spent 70 minutes with the pontiff in an audience marked by an unusual degree of protocol.

The Vatican said later in a communique that the two talked about "questions concerning the maintenance of peace and improvement of relations between peoples" and that Pope Paul discussed with Podgorny "problems about religious life and the presence of the Catholic Church on Soviet territory."

Extra precautions were arranged for the Podgorny audience, following a bombing Sunday night that damaged a Roman Catholic church in Rome. St. Peter's Basilica was closed to the public at noon.

Syria Tells Plan

JERUSALEM (AP)—Syria proposed Sunday that all military forces withdraw from the demilitarized zone along its 70-mile border with Israel, and Arab refugees return to property they formerly occupied in the areas,

Officials Pledge Probe Of Attacks On Red Missions

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. and Canadian officials formally apologized to complaining Yugoslav leaders and pledged an intensive probe of terrorist attacks that rocked six of the Communist nation's diplomatic missions within an hour. But there was no announced indication today of arrests or leads into the explosions that shattered pre-dawn stillness Sunday at embassies in Washington and Ottawa, and at consulates in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Toronto.

Yugoslav Ambassador Veljko Micunovic led a strong protest with Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach and received a promise the United States will expend all effort to capture and punish the bombers.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in Williamsburg, Va., when told of the attacks, expressed "official and personal regrets at the outrageous and senseless acts of terrorism and vandalism."

Yugoslav press vehemently demanded greater protection for its missions in the two Western nations and hinted government collusion with the terrorists.

Yugoslav President Tito had no comment.

The FBI, heading the investigation in the United States, refused comment on the bombings. A spokesman said there would be no word unless arrests were made.

No one was hurt by the powerful bombs, although a New York fireman died of a heart attack after being summoned to the consulate.

The bombings coincided with Tito's visit to the Soviet Union. Some observers regret that the attacks could have been carried out by any of three different anti-Tito groups—Communists, Lower Michigan where the freedom from Soviet domination, monarchists or remnants of a group that split from Tito during the war.

The bombings occurred within 55 minutes.

A blast police said was caused by 8 to 10 sticks of dynamite.

Space Community Mourns Astronauts

By RONALD THOMPSON
MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—A sad space community mourned with relatives today at memorial services for a pioneer of America's Space Age, Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom, "Gus" to all who knew him. Friends, neighbors and fellow-astronauts crowded the Seabrook Methodist church to its capacity of about 400. Many were to return less than two hours later to hold a similar service for another U.S. space hero, Air Force Lt.-Col. Edward H. White II.

With the same moving simplicity, they will pay tribute Sunday to the third victim of Friday's Apollo space-ship tragedy, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee.

As the Grissom services neared completion, the Force left Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., carrying the bodies to Arlington National Cemetery and West Point, for burial Tuesday.

Grissom, White and Chaffee were victims of a flash fire which brought instant death inside their Apollo spaceship at a Cape Kennedy, Fla., launching pad.

The Grissom services lasted less than a half hour. Mrs. Grissom, who managed a fast and quiet service, said she had passed the friends who knew and loved her husband, standing in the front row of the red-carpeted sanctuary at a funeral for her family, including her two sons, Scott, 16, and Mar, 13.

"Forty-one years ago, through one of the mysteries of life, Gus Grissom came into this world on Friday—through another of life's mysteries, he left this world," said the Rev. Rly Van Hook, the family's pastor at the Church of Christ in Mitchell, Ind.

"By his life, he knew it was going to happen sometime," he said.

Snowstorm Death Count Nears 100

By The Associated Press
Midwest cities Monday shook partly free of last-week's record snowstorm as the death toll from effects of the paralyzing snow and ice neared 100.

An additional 3-inch snowfall which brought Chicago's total to 28 inches wet, almost unquelled as main streets and highways were reopened and thin streams of traffic moved.

Arctic cold moved into snow-clogged northern sections of Lower Michigan where the mercury dipped to 20 below zero, Alpena had 18.

In the Far West, a coastal storm which brought heavy winds and rain, lost much of its punch today.

The storm toll in Michigan rose to 22 deaths, Indiana counted 15, Wisconsin 5 and Ohio 1.

Johnson Requests Air Pollution Check

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, saying "America's struggle against poisoned air" now is being lost, asked Congress today for legislation giving the federal government power to control air pollution. But in a special message titled "Protecting Our National Heritage," Johnson said federal action alone cannot master pollution. "The states, the cities and private industry must commit themselves more fully, more effectively and with a new sense of urgency to America's struggle against pollution," Johnson said.

Johnson said one of the first steps in the attack on air pollution should be emission control levels for those industries that contribute heavily to air pollution.

He recommended that the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare be authorized to designate industries that contribute to air pollution, develop and publish industry emission levels, provide each state the opportunity to adopt control levels for air pollution, and to apply federal laws in those states which do not adopt their own.

The secretary also would be authorized to designate interstate areas where effective regional air pollution programs are needed and to set up a regional air quality commission in each such area.

In another step to combat air pollution, Johnson proposed federal legislation to help the states establish inspection programs for motor vehicle pollution control.

He said also that there must be additional research in various fields, including the contribution of fuel additives to air pollution.

United Fund Recognition Banquet Set

Harold Cook, Twin Falls business man, will be chairman of the First Annual United Fund Recognition Banquet scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Holiday Inn. Irvy Skinner, president of the Twin Falls United Fund, announced Monday.

"It is important that we recognize those individuals who give so much of their time and effort to make the United Fund so successful this year," Mr. Skinner said.

Directors for 1967-68 will be elected at the banquet. Any supporter of the United Fund is invited to attend and may vote in the election of next year's board of directors.

Featured speaker is Robert E. Erkin, president of the Snake River Trust Co., who will discuss service and an individual's effort to serve others.

Tickets are available from the United Fund office, Call 733-4122 for reservations.

Sato's Party Wins Majority In Elections

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's party won another big but reduced majority in Japan's Lower House elections—Sunday, a weathering charges of corruption and turning Communist China's turmoil against the leftists.

The majority for SATO's Liberal Democratic party was cut from 29 seats in the Lower House elected in 1963 to 65, and their percentage of the popular vote dropped from 54.67 in 1963 to 49.02, but eight of the independents elected are likely to support the Liberal Democrats, raising their majority to 84.

The chief opposition party, the Japanese Socialist party, offered their biggest election setback in 17 years. The Communists, who declined to be included in the new government, are expected, although their percentage of the total vote improved slightly.

Mao Army Claims Encirclement Of Rebels

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP)—Units of Red China's army loyal to Mao Tse-tung reported today that they had completely surrounded rebel army units in rebellious Szechuan, in the far west, Japanese reports said today.

The claim of Maoist gains in Szechuan, published in Peking Wall posters, coincided with other reports that shooting was continuing in the vast autonomous region bordering the Soviet Union. Local army units were said to have defied Peking's Maoist orders to order the armed forces to side with Mao in his struggle against President Liu Shao-chi and his followers.

Nationalist China's official Central Daily News in Taipei suggested that the rebels might enter the area after an initial assault on Maoist generals.

It said the Szechuan commander, Gen. Wang En-ming, had warned Mao against trying to use the nuclear installation there as a threat to his enemies.

China's five atomic explosions last week, however, were reported killed last week in Szechuan. Wall posters said Sunday that Maoist forces in an army hospital had also died.

Kyoto news agency told of posters saying that the situation in Szechuan, focus of the trouble last week, still was fluid on Saturday. The clashes were said to have involved the Maoist field army, loyal to Liu, and the pro-Mao 2nd motorized battalion. "Tuan negotiators were suspended Friday, the wall reports said."

The pro-Mao troops demanded that both sides turn in their arms. The Maoists were already armed anti-Mao—walkouts, strikes and sabotage across the border. The order to stay on the side of the Maoists was issued New Year's is traditionally the most important and sometimes the only holiday for working Chinese.

Weather, Temperatures Rain, Snow

MAGIC VALLEY — Increasing cloudiness with occasional rain tonight and Tuesday. Partly clearing into Tuesday. High 42, low 32 at 4, except Camas Prairie high 52 to 38, low in 20s. Temperature at 8 a.m.: 29 at Jerome, 32 at F. Weather Bureau with 80 per cent humidity, 31 at R. F. Entomology Laboratory with 90 per cent humidity, 32 at Tupper, 18 at Fairfield, 15 at Bull, 15 at Dulon, 22 at Cottonwood, 30 at T. F. Weather Bureau with 71 per cent humidity. Barometer, 30.09.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY
Slightly higher pressure following the passage of the cold front from the Pacific Northwest late night. Clear skies were reported at some stations in Southern Idaho early this morning but higher cloudiness is now spreading into the Intermountain Region from the west.

For the sixth day in a row snow precipitation fell again in the valleys of Southern Idaho. Around a quarter of an inch or more of rain was reported at Pocatello, Aberdeen, Halley, Fairfield and Gooding. Elsewhere, most amounts were less than .15 of an inch. Rain recorded .41 of an inch while Twin Falls and Arco reported .42 of an inch of rain during the past 24 hours.

Another storm center just off the Northern California Coast is developing and threatens to bring precipitation back to the valleys tonight and Tuesday. With higher clouds already moving in from the west, temperatures will not be as high today since the air has cooled following the frontal passage yesterday. But nighttime temperatures tonight should remain mild. Clearing will take place again Tuesday afternoon and night so some clearing is expected today.

Maximum temperatures will be mostly in the 40s today and Tuesday but will range from the upper 30s in higher valleys to lower 50s in warmer western valleys. Minimum temperatures tonight will be in the mid 20s to the 30s.

Temperatures were warmer in the southwestern Idaho valleys but were a little cooler in eastern parts of Magic Valley and the Upper Snake River Valleys. Parma recorded a high of 63 degrees yesterday while the low daytime readings yesterday were at Rexburg and Malad with 39 degrees. Minimum temperatures tonight should be in the 30s at Fairfield to 37 degrees at Idaho Falls at 9 a.m. this morning.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Low pressure aloft will remain in the Gulf of Alaska and Eastern Pacific with a result, a predominant westerly flow of air will continue to bring in frequent storms from the Pacific into these valleys.

Temperatures Tuesday through Saturday will average from 55 to 65 degrees in the valleys of Southern Idaho. Daytime temperatures will be a little below the first part of this week with a little warming beginning by midweek. Nighttime temperatures will continue to be mild for this time of year as cloudiness persists at night. Some normal maximum and minimum temperatures during this period are Gooding 34-71, Twin Falls 29-24 and Burley 37-18.

Periods of precipitation in the form of rain, or possibly rain and snow mixed in higher valleys, will occur at times this week. Precipitation is expected in the valleys tonight and early Tuesday. Other favorable weather conditions are around midweek and towards the end of the week. Total moisture amounts during the week should average from .20 to .40 of an inch in Southern Idaho.

Sunshine will occur at times with partial clearing between storms toward the end of the week and toward the end of the week. It will be stronger and gusty at times as these storms pass through these valleys but otherwise will remain generally light.

Reported In Valley Area

Weekend weather brought rain and snow to areas of Magic Valley.

Officials of the state Highway District Office at Shoshone have issued a warning to motorists of icy spots on the highway from the Snake River valley to the shore, in the Fairfield area, the Burley-Rupert-Strevel area to the Utah-state line and in the Carco and Arco areas.

Officials reported that 14 inches of new snow fell on Galena summit over the weekend and there was rain over the major portion of the area during the weekend. Four inches of new snow fell in the Halley-Ketchikan area.

All ski runs at Sun Valley are reported to be in good condition and skiing is reported excellent on the higher elevations. Bowl runs, however, were closed over the weekend because of snow. The Sunday snowfall in the Halley-Sun Valley area carried a high amount of precipitation and one inch of rain was reported in the area.

Outages

A faulty jumper near the east gate substitution of the Eagle Power Co. was blamed for the outage of 275 customers for 33 minutes on Tuesday.

The outage occurred at approximately 1:30 p.m. Sunday. Customers affected included Earl Haroldson, local official.

The jumper, located across the tracks on Eastland, Col. St. Edwards' barn, out, possibly because of the wind.

Television

Falls, finished installation of the cable system at Robert Stuart Junior High School last week. Three rooms at the school were wired for the sets, which will probably be used primarily for religious and educational purposes, according to Jack Watts, principal.

The installation was done at no cost to the school district, except for purchase of an amplifier. The amplifier and cable are hooked up to the cable, an amplifier is needed, according to Col. St. Edwards, manager of the Clear Vision firm.

All that remained now to make full use of the installation are television sets. Mr. Grange said the schools would purchase at least one set of at least a 21-inch size and those that would not require too much repairing.

Crews were to begin wiring of St. Edwards' Catholic school Monday. Cablevision is also furnishing the set-up there, at no cost to the parochial school. A class room in the gymnasium of the auditorium will be wired. Sister M. Bernita, principal, said.

Sister Bernita said she felt the educational television sets would prove a great asset to her teaching program. Enrolled at the school are 373 students. The staff consists of seven Sisters and one other teacher.

The principal said the special preparation of the programs would be a valuable sidelight to classes. She said she was enthused about the system, she said in the lower elementary grades story telling is an important part of the youngsters' education. She said she noted that there is a regular story program on KUED.

Most of them fitted to the educational television sets. She said the story telling sessions, science, social studies and math programs would probably be used at the Catholic school. She said she was also interested in KUED are printed teachers' guides containing additional material designed to aid in discussions and quizzes. The pamphlets are designed to aid in the use of the television sets and an additional schedule is circulated each two months so instructors can plan curriculum to coincide with particular programs.

All teachers concerned with the project have registered enthusiasm at the prospect of utilizing the Utah educational channel.

They particularly pointed out that in fields such as science, "one picture is worth a thousand words." Complicated experiments can be set up and viewed to the advantage of hundreds of teachers and students.

Television materials needed for some of the experiments are not available in the average classroom, plus most experiments require a great deal of time for preparation. Through television the teachers' preparation time and the school's expense for materials are reduced.

Most of the educators seemed to feel that educational TV is the "coming thing" and that Twin Falls might as well follow suit.

James L. Taylor, president of the College of Southern Idaho, said when construction begins at CSI cables and other apparatus needed to utilize the service will be installed so when the day comes, the college will be ready to utilize the system.

The college president pretty well summed up the reasons for not standing on educational television with the remark that "like educators it behooves us to take advantage of the best we can get and improve and facilitate our educational systems."

With the institutions in Twin Falls giving educational television the go-ahead, it would appear that television will acquire and maintain its place in teaching.

added, "But, like us, he did not know when."

Gilchrist, the minister, said, "The fact that a man whose life has stopped or changed because of his death."

As they did for Chaffee, three astronauts paid tribute the way they have lived. One of the three white T38 jets piloted by space crew over the city in traditional diamond pattern. The jets left vacant for a dead friend.

A large crowd of mourners, including most of the astronauts and several top space officials, gathered at the Webster Presbyterian Church, within sight of the space center, where Chaffee's services were held. All 200 guests were invited by Gene Invader.

Chaffee was 31 and never got an opportunity to satisfy his yearning to fly in space. He was to be a rocket test pilot on a mission's crew of three-man Apollo mission, a voyage of up to 14 days in earth orbit.

Twin Falls Dress Shop Changes Ownership

Frank Cook recently announced the transfer of his Twin Falls Mayfair Shop to the Mayfair Co., Inc.

President of Mayfair Co., Inc. is Fargo Wells. Pocatello, Mr. Wells said the Twin Falls dress shop will continue operation, with the same personnel and policies established by Mr. Cook.

He said an expanded millinery department is planned, another merchandise classification will be added, as well as other improvements.

Mr. Cook said he transferred his shop to reduce the full managerial burden, allowing him to have time to "enjoy the people and community that have been so good to me over the years and travel a little."

He will remain active, however, in the organization as merchandise manager and vice-president.

Loren Wheeler, Pocatello, was appointed by Mr. Wells to serve as general manager and part owner. He has been retail manager in Pocatello for five years. He and his wife and family are moving to Twin Falls.

The Mayfair Shop will be closed Wednesday and re-opened Thursday under its new management.

American Aid Helps North Vietnamese Soldier Forget Propaganda On Hate

By TOM TIEDE
AN KHE, Vietnam — (NEA) — Nguyen Wang Hang had hated the Americans for a long time. And with reason. They were his enemy.

Actually, he knew little of them, would never have seen what war in his North Vietnamese hamlet. But he heard wicked things about the foreigners. And, too, he could see their evil daily.

U.S. planes bombed his village. They destroyed his home. They killed his friends. And they even threatened his own life.

So when Nguyen Hang, 20, was conscripted into the Peo-ple's army to fight the white forces in the south, he was a willing recruit.

He was also a frightened one, however, because he had long suspected the dangers of combat and, worse, the plight of his unfortunate peers who had been taken captive by the U.S. armies.

Stories were the Americans cut up their prisoners and incited themselves on the ground. Or they scalped their victims and used the hair for women's wigs. Or, at best, they would take a captive far away and put him in a zoo, behind bars with the snakes.

Hang's superiors, moreover, compounded the rumors with photos and official documents. They schooled him and drilled him to hate.

And Hang learned well enough. Then, not long after joining Hang's unit was dispatched on what was to be a "routine" training mission. They left one afternoon by truck convey from the military base camp near Tambo.

They drove for hours. The mission, clearly, was not routine, because he had long suspected the dangers of combat and, worse, the plight of his unfortunate peers who had been taken captive by the U.S. armies.

Stories were the Americans cut up their prisoners and incited themselves on the ground. Or they scalped their victims and used the hair for women's wigs. Or, at best, they would take a captive far away and put him in a zoo, behind bars with the snakes.

Hang's superiors, moreover, compounded the rumors with photos and official documents. They schooled him and drilled him to hate.

And Hang learned well enough. Then, not long after joining Hang's unit was dispatched on what was to be a "routine" training mission. They left one afternoon by truck convey from the military base camp near Tambo.

They encountered ferocity such as most of the peasant soldiers hadn't known existed. They were attacked from the air, 24-hour harassment from artillery guns they never saw, endless volleys of infantry rifle fire that blew horrible holes in the People's defense.

Hang was one of the first hit. His arm was busted up in an early battle and he was cut off from the others and left to wander by himself.

He had no medicine. His arm puffed up. Then it began to rot.

The Americans found Hang near death, unable to resist. His wound was several days old.

Dirty caked the discolored portions of his flesh. His arm was ready to fall off from gangrene.

To his surprise, Hang's captors didn't drink his blood. He was taken to a medical station where he saw several other North Vietnamese prisoners.

He was given anesthesia and his arm was removed surgically. The infection was blunted. He was given blood and vitamin solutions. He was cleaned, clothed and put to bed near attending nurses.

When he was stronger some men came to his cot. They gave him cigarettes and cold water and asked questions about his background.

"What's your name?" Hang was reluctant.

"Where do you live?"

The prisoner mumbled nervously. "Don't be afraid, fella, no one's going to hurt you here."

To the contrary. Captivity was a blessing for the young soldier: It took his arm, but gave him a future and introduced him to more new thought than in his entire previous experience.

Today, the former People's army recruit is learning English by association and capitalism by selling Cokes to his one-time adversaries, the GIs of the Air Cavalry.

He is happy, curious, agreeable. He is healthy, thankful and philosophic about his wound. He knows he'll never be a paragon.

And most importantly, Nguyen Hang hates no one any more.

Drug Squad Keeps Watch On Church

LONDON (AP)—Detectives from Scotland-Yard's narcotics squad kept watch Sunday in London's most famous parish after the vicar after the vicar complained it was used for drug peddling during services.

The Rev. Austin Williams, vicar of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, Trafalgar Square, said: "I had to stop my church becoming a drug center."

The vicar said young people who pretended to be praying left drugs in the pews, which others picked up. There had been four such cases in the past week.

A test tab containing LSD, the hallucinatory drug, was found behind a seat and small packages were seen being exchanged for money. When the order found on the church floor after a service was sent to Scotland Yard for analysis.

The vicar said he thought it was the free bread and soup supplied in the crypt of the church that had first attracted the addicts. Trafalgar Square is a center for London beatnik types.

Fishing More Than Sport For Powell

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP)—Most of the big white fishboats stayed tied to the dock at Brown's hotel for a time but it's not "Adam's Fancy."

It's a rare morning these days that the powerful 31-foot craft don't run across the few hundred yards separating North Bimini from South Bimini and pick up Adam Clayton Powell.

Hours later it returns with a heavy catch and Powell, presiding over the weighing and distributing of the fish, appears the picture of the happy sportsman. But for the emboldened Negro congressman, fishing may be more than a sport.

A friend close to Powell says the harlequin still has moments of shock and disbelief at the flows that have taken his wife off his payroll, cost him his job as a committee chairman and threatened to end his congressional career.

He took time out Saturday to meet newsmen who trailed him here for some promised big news.

He said he would pay $33,000 of the $164,000 slander judgment he owes a Harlequin. That was the size of the original judgment, now increased by penalties and interest.

Powell, also indicated he would appear before a special House committee that is due to start investigating his qualifications to be seated.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, January 30 — Born today you are a practical person of great individuality. Determined to make good at whatever you set out to do, you are neither so foolish as to think you can succeed by hard work nor so proud as to think you can do everything yourself, with no help from anyone. You will accept a helping hand whenever it comes from whomsoever it may come—just so long as there are no dishonest strings attached—and you will work diligently not to disappoint your supporters.

You seem to know instinctively how to organize your material, whether that material be in the realm of ideas or of actual tangible objects. One who understands the importance of even the smallest detail to the whole, you never shirk small matters and you will work diligently not to disappoint your supporters.

You would far rather take longer and not have to retrace any steps.

Honest and straightforward, you may have some difficulty in your youth with expressing your opinion too freely. With maturity, however, you should develop the diplomacy it takes to be both frank and tactful at the same time. The development of this art will do much to see you to the success for which you seem destined by talent and design.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow—select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

TUESDAY, January 31 — AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — A bit early for celebrating your recent success. Keep both feet on the ground and your mind on your business.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 31 (Feb. 19) — Pisces (Feb. 20-March 21) — Trouble may be all around you this morning but if you are wise in making your decisions you should be able to avoid it nicely.

THURSDAY, March 22-April 20 — Plan an important social affair for afternoon or evening. You may find your career burgeoning as a result.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Best to stick to routine business this morning. Afternoon hours should be some relief from the pitfalls of your work.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Excort caution through the work hours by evening you should be able to unwind and let yourself go.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Make plans for the future this morning. By afternoon you may find an opportunity to begin carrying them out.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Conscientious and efficient you should have no difficulty proving yourself to higher-ups today. Take advantage.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — A turnabout day; morning hours are not at all what you expect; afternoon and evening hours are far more than you hoped for.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Start to muller this morning. Afternoon hours, on the other hand, were made for expansion and experimentation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Take some definite and progressive action to set your career on the right track. You may have been ignoring too much time on small matters.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — A troubled morning should level off into a peaceful and profitable afternoon. Refuse to be upset by another's tantrum.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Expect to have your idea received favorably and you will be able to present it to best advantage. Employ self-confidence.

Auto-Truck Crash Injures T. F. Girl, 16

A teenage driver, Carol Ann Burgess, 16, received minor injuries Sunday afternoon in a car-truck accident at the intersection of Falls Avenue and Blue Lakes Boulevard.

City police reported Miss Burgess was driving west on Falls Avenue and stopped at the intersection, then pulled out into the path of a north-bound truck driven by Floyd L. Plew, 36, Kimberly.

Damage was estimated at $100 to the truck and trailer owned by Cummins Livestock Transportation Co., Twin Falls, and $400 to the Burgess vehicle.

Monday, January 30, 1967
Twin Falls Times-News: 3

Miss Burgess told officers she did not see the truck and that traffic was heavy on Blue Lakes Boulevard north at the time.

She was admitted to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and was listed in good condition Monday. Mr. Plew and a passenger, Ray Westlake, 145 10th Avenue E., Twin Falls, escaped injury.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — It is reassuring to note that the country who are 16 years old and who buy something besides dubious guitars. Presumably, it came as a surprise to storekeepers to learn from a Senate subcommittee hearing that the nation's 20 million persons over 60 are a group of teenagers by nearly two million and spend $40 billion a year compared to the teenagers' $15 billion.
The word presumably is used advisedly because it is not clear at the hearing that those older storekeepers didn't know about these people. At least, the testimony indicated that of all the categories and what is tediously described as the swinging generation. But the adjective is used here because I give no free passes on any soft drink outfits and their pretentious intrusions on the people's vocabulary. By the by, whatever happened to birch beer?

PREJUDICE — At any rate, American merchants don't ignore the aging and apparently do their best to keep them out of their stores. Mrs. Geneva Mathison, executive director of the National Council on the Aging, told of trying to convince a large chain of retail stores that it is a necessary, constituted a mass market worth cultivating.
The idea was appalling to chain officials, she said. They whispered that they didn't want older people in their stores because it would hurt their public image and tend to keep away the young. This is like saying: who needs money?
Other witnesses outlined other problems of the aging which the country ought to do something about, pending solving, pending coming to a policy of euthanasia. The Over-60's can't find a single pork chop or a quarter of a pound of hamburger in the supermarkets' pre-packaged meat bins. There are not enough well-fitting clothes or dresses that don't zipper up the back. Clothes offer reduced fares to the sprouts, but they do not to the ladies taking off for a visit to their grandchildren.

IGNORED BY LAWS — Mrs. Esther Peterson, Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, also questioned whether the framers of the Constitution had had enough in mind the demands of older people. The act, she said, perhaps should be expanded to cover draperies, rugs, blankets and sheets, since a quarter of the nation's victims of fire are over 60 years old.
I suppose Mrs. Dorothy Behrens' head of a nonprofit Cleveland project for the aged, also had a point of a sort. She said the skirts were much too short on most dresses these days. This is probably true, and yet do not accept the premise that grandmothers necessarily demand ankle-length jobs. Some of them find it is good for their morale to slip on a frock that is a couple of inches shorter than the young ones, and those I have observed in such skirts compare favorably with some of the knob-kneed beautiful people at Washington drinking parties.

INSPECTION WARRANTED — Indeed, I am flirting with the theory that a female's knees take longer to mature than is generally believed. It is a couple of inches shorter than the young ones, and those I have observed in such skirts compare favorably with some of the knob-kneed beautiful people at Washington drinking parties.

WHY NOT JUST HONOR THE HEROES?
Med. Bernard Fisher of Kumon Air Force Medical of Honor winner, deserves better at the hands of the governor of Idaho than he got over the weekend. Gov. Donald W. I say, what kind of war is this? We're fighting on Vietnam's shore. Where they say "King's X," have a holiday. When come back to fight once more?
I say, what kind of war is this?
A. Yet should turn in his grave. When our ladies run for to enemy camps. His insolent face to save.
I say, who fancies a gentleman's war?
A. Fighting man is just as usual. Through the enemy's doubt. "Pardon me."
When they put bullets through his head.
And wouldn't it have pleased Hitler.
And the Japanese over the seas.
We'd skipped their cities and industries.
And dumped our bombs amongst their trees?
Let's face it now! We're in a scrap.
Let not wishful fancies roam.
Knock them flat, pick them clean.

Interpreting The News
By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the field of spying, Edgar Hoover is the American version of the Dolphin Oracle. Politicians make a pilgrimage to the 73-year-old director of the FBI, seeking his words by phony or mail.
Hoover sticks in the public mind while staying pretty much out of the public picture. Interpreting what he says to suit his own purposes, he has had played politics. But this doesn't discourage politicians, or others, from sometimes interpreting what he says to suit their own purposes.
There's a recent example of it.
Almost three years ago the United States and the Soviet Union agreed on a treaty limiting their "open consulates" in each other's country instead of being limited to an embassy, as they are now.
Because the treaty couldn't go into effect until the Senate approved it, it has been sitting in limbo before Congress to say what he thought of it.
It said Soviet consulates in the United States, aimed by after a long delay, that it meant much more opportunity for Soviet spying and more work for the FBI.
This was interpreted by senators who opposed the treaty as meaning Hoover was against it. Right-wing outfits, seizing upon Hoover's words, raised letters on senators, protesting the treaty.
That same year the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, after considering the treaty, approved by the full Senate and it never passed.
The conservative leadership held the treaty back, believing the opposition was too strong,

One of the chief hazards in boys who are bleeders or hemophiliacs is painful hemorrhages into the joints. This is especially common before puberty and often leads to deformity. Prompt treatment will save the joints. Compare these two cases.
Roy called out to his parents at 10 p.m. one night that he was bleeding into his right knee. His parents took him to the nearest hospital where they arrived at 10:55. A resident doctor was summoned and he said that plasma would have to be given. It was then that the hospital officials told the parents that the plasma given and the bleeding stopped. It was 12:45 a.m. Roy was admitted to the hospital where he spent the next 10 days, thereby missing a week and a half of school.
Joe felt a similar hemorrhage occurring one night after he had gone to bed. His parents, who had been taught lively to give plasma at home did so promptly. Joe bled and proceeded to be applied to the knee and to the injection site. The parent got a good night's sleep and Joe was able to go to school the next morning with less than a day's loss than was suffered by Roy.

Opinions Of A Conservative

By BARRY GOLDWATER

Considerable hooting and holgering greets any of the United States who talks about "unleashing" the armies of the Republic of China to recapture the mainland from the Communist invaders.
But, in fact, the armies of Free China have been "unleashed."
Their very existence pins down thousands of Communist troops at mainland positions across the Taiwan Strait, particularly opposite the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu. These islands, also serve as virtual stoppers in the bottle of the Communist-held port of Amoy.
Without the Republic of China's armed presence so close to the mainland, the Communist troops could be deployed southward where they would present an added menace to U.S. fighting forces in Vietnam. In a very real sense, they are a distinct and definite service to our forces and to the cause of freedom throughout Asia.
Communists on the mainland could do more than pin them down. Their regular guerrilla forays onto the mainland decapitate the already badly ailing PRC.
Psychologically, of course, the presence on Taiwan of Generalissimo and Madame Kai-shek is a very real and powerful Communist rallying point for anti-Communist forces and a reminder that there always exists a real and armed support should a general rebellion against the Communist dictatorship actually take place — as it could in the confusion of the current intraparty struggle on the mainland.
Materially, the support that could be launched from Taiwan in the event of a Communist uprising would be almost unbelievable.

Poor Man's Plato
By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals today is trying to distinguish between the good and the bad in a world of increasing conformity, even persons of the opposite sex don't look so opposite anymore. In fact, their resemblance is so striking that one can't look and behavior is so unbecomingly it is confusing to both psychiatrists and headwaiters.
More and more the sexes talk alike, and cut their hair alike.
It is even getting difficult to tell the sexes apart by their names or nicknames.
Suppose you hear there's going to be a party, and the guest list includes Les, Jack, Tony, Pat and Jerry. Does that mean there will be six girls, six boys, or any combination of both?
The fact is that it is almost as big a problem today to differentiate between the sexes as it is to distinguish, on sight, between a Republican and a Democrat.
There are, however, still ways it can be done. And here is a tentative guide for the perplexed.
When you "scowl" when you say "yes," it is probably a her. If it punches you in the nose when you say "yes," it is probably a him. It is indubitably a him.
Does it like to scratch itself in public? Put it down as male. Does it always seem to be picking its teeth with its fingers? It is probably a female.
While hawling you out, does it tell you you are a "dick" or "a dick"? It is a woman. While criticizing you, does it look embarrassed out the window? It's a man.
Does it blurt off its topcoat, it is a husband. If it starts asking questions about why the button is missing, it is a wife.
If it has a hard time hearing you, it is a young girl. Does it remember the name of the movie you saw last week? It is a middle-aged woman.
Does it like to collect for good things in its neighborhood and then brag about it? That's a man. Does it have a hard time hearing you, it is a young girl. Does it remember the name of the movie you saw last week? It is a middle-aged woman.

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WASHINGTON

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Humes, certify that I have destroyed by burning certain preliminary draft notes relating to Naval Medical School, Autopsy AS-17-71. I have also destroyed such action without record would be court-martialed. Who ordered this, and why?
Then the mysteries reach across the deserts. How do 12 color photographs made during the autopsy, 18 black-and-white prints, 11 body X-rays and a roll of film that disappeared into the hands of the Kennedy family. Incredibly, these were never seen by the Warren Commission. Autopsy photographs are not made of property. How did the family ever get a right to possess these exclusively, exclude them from the Warren Commission, and even invade the Kennedy family's archives when the family's possession of them belatedly (Nov. 2, 1966) became known to the public?

Contrary observations notwithstanding, Parkland surgeon Robert N. McClelland is on record as observing a gunshot wound in the left temple of Dr. Martin J. Jenkins and Adolph H. Giesecke Jr., the anesthesiologists in Trauma Room 1. He likewise reports a "le" from the head of the Kennedy family. But the Kennedy family's personal physician, one-entrance mention in the Warren Report about administering hydrocortisone at Parkland, Manchester? He's mute. Well, it was administered by Dr. Charles J. Carrio, and certainly not casually. I talked with Dr. Carrio. The key is the 14 pins of injuries. But he died an assassin — without saying a word.
And that's the rub.
Dr. Stewart's bullet history for Governor Connally and the records of the Oswald autopsy performed at Parkland are completely at odds regarding Oswald when you move outside the independent authority of Parkland Hospital into what happened at the Federal government's Naval Medical School at Bethesda, Maryland, where President Kennedy's autopsy was conducted. SHOSHONE — Wedding vows were exchanged by Ann L. Himes, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Elvert H. Himes, Jr., of Logan, Utah, and Conrad H. Thorne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrell Thorne, Dec. 15 at the Logan LDS Temple. Pastor Raymond officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Among those who accompanied the couple to the temple were, in addition to their parents, her grandmother, Mrs. Nellie Harter, Salt Lake City; his grandmothers, Mrs. Elizabeth Thorne and Mrs. Denina Rodbeck, Shoshone; other relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thorne, Murtaugh; Mr. and Mrs. Garth Galloway, Twin Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Burton Thorne, Shoshone; Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCammon, Georgetown; Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Reed, Independence, Mo.; Mrs. George Kuhn, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Elvert H. Himes Jr., Logan, and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Webster, Utah; Mr. and Mrs. R. Tueller, Logan; and Robert Moss, Montpelier.

Mrs. Iva Lou Pingree, former Shoshone resident, and a temple officiator, arranged to be there to meet the couple. Mrs. Grace Bacon was organist of the day. A formal reception was held for the couple that evening at the Delta Phi Kappa House, Utah State University Campus.

The bride's wedding gown was designed of white tulle with a floor-length train. The plain fitted bodice featured long tulle point sleeves. Her chapel train was caught at the shawl collar and also featured the tulle-train trim. Her fingertip veil was held by a tiara highlighted with pearls.

The bride's bouquet was designed of white roses and an orchid arranged in a cascade of greenery and white streamers.

Other floral arrangements in the room were on tall cupid centers. The service atop of the reception hall featured tables covered with white, white chairs, and individual table greenery centered with a wedding bell.

The three tiered wedding cake was arranged on pillars, topped with a large heart and a miniature bride and groom. Between the second and third tiers, on another smaller heart in the net, was a tiny engraving of the couple's first names. The base of the cake was decorated with roses and lilies of the valley, all enclosed in green leaflets with two red roses directly in front.

Among the six bridesmaids was Jill Thorne, Shoshone, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Elvert H. Himes, Jr., sister-in-law of the bridegroom; and two matrons of honor, Robert Moss, Montpelier, was best man.

Baptist Group Plans Project

SHOSHONE — Members of the Baptist Mission Society will raise funds to purchase new hymnals for the church, officers reported after their meeting held at the home of Mrs. T. V. Strunk, Mrs. L. M. Hatmaker, president, conducted.

In order to help pay for the project, members will serve a pancake supper for the public Feb. 9 at the church fellowship hall.

Rev. Paul Winkler presented the program, assisted by Mrs. Delbert Gehrig and Mrs. Paul Hancock. The text was taken from Galatians and applied to gifts and giving to the church.

A concert of the junior and senior high choir will be held Feb. 1.

Mrs. Titmus Heads Group

HAGERMAN — Mrs. Leonard Titmus was elected president of the Sunnah Wesley circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. Lloyd Griffith, who has moved to Twin Falls.

The unit met at the Methodist church with Mrs. Ralph Miller in charge of the lesson on "new forces for missions". She was assisted by Mrs. Titmus and Mrs. Alfred Sandy.

The next meeting will be Feb. 22. Mrs. Sandy was hostess.

Miss Mitchell, Lane Exchange Nuptial Vows

GOODING — Milanwy Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Mitchell, and Jerry Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virion Lane, all Gooding, were united in marriage in an evening ceremony Dec. 30 at the Gooding First Baptist Church.

Rev. John Falk performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked with baskets of white chrysanthemums and red carnations accented with red ribbon bows. Lighted tapers in tall candelabra completed the setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white brocade made and hand decorated by Mary Belle Miller. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a lowered rounded neckline, jewel-embroidered with pearls and sequins and long tulle sleeves closed at the wrists with small pearl buttons.

The belt-clip was embellished with motifs of pearl and sequins on the front and featured soft side and back pleats. A detachable train fell from the waistline. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of pearls and crystals. Her pearl earrings were her only jewelry.

She carried a bouquet of red carnations and tulle tied with red satin streamers.

Mrs. George Robertson, Pasadena, Calif., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Linda Cones, Fairfield, cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Joe D. Pavkov and Claire Watson.

"Flower girl" was Diana Lane of Richardson, Alaska, niece of the bridegroom, carried the rings on a lace-trimmed satin pillow.

Jack Lane, Twin Falls, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Larry Lane, El. Richardson, brother of the bridegroom; Tom Porterfield and Marvin Brown.

Valerie Koester, organist, played the traditional wedding music. Soloist was Larry Ge, accompanied by Mrs. Tom Yore. A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the church social hall.

Linda Brooks, Boise, was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were displayed by Barbara Miller, Beth Klingler, Diane Boyer and Vallejo-Shipley, Diane Jones and Janet Severance received the gifts at the hour.

The bride's table, covered with white lace over red, was centered with a four-tiered white wedding cake decorated with red roses and topped with large white wedding bells, red roses and bows of red ribbon and white net. White bells, red roses and red and white bows were featured between the tiers. The large cake was flanked by two heart-shaped cakes. Arrangements of red and white carnations, centered with red spiral candles in crystal holders, flanked the cakes. The silver coffee service and the crystal punch bowl completed the table appointments.

Aunts of the bride, Mrs. Ellis Haglason, Bancroft; and Mrs. S. Frostenson and Mrs. Everett Cones, Fairfield, cut and served the cake.

Linda Rickey and Marsha Kennedy served the punch. Coffee was poured by Jo Ann Miranda, Wendell, college friend of the bride.

Other assisting with the reception were Mrs. Ted Beisner, Mrs. William Bolton, Mrs. Walter Gosford, Krist Fields and Peggy Fields.

After a honeymoon trip, the newlyweds will reside at 1633 1/2 Bellevue, Boise, where both are sophomores at Boise College.

A special guest at the wedding was Earl W. Mooley, Gooding, grandfather of the bride. Out-of-town guests attended from Fairfield, Bancroft, Bellevue, Boise, Shoshone, Twin Falls, Wendell, Jerome, Alaska and California.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at their home.

Mrs. Joe D. Pavkov and Barbara Miller were co-hostesses for a miscellaneous shower given in honor of the bride at the Pavkov residence.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I have an older sister who is a bit on the chubby side. I should say "chubby" but, after all, she is my sister.

DEAR PUZZLED: Your relatives could be right. You'll never know how tall I not mention might have grown had he NOT smoked.

DEAR SISTER: You can't. But you should tell her that if she plans to take it with her, she's better put it in the bank before someone finds the hiding place and takes it with HIM.

Mother said he had a "nervous breakdown" and is "confused." But he doesn't seem confused to me. He jokes a lot and is very thoughtful.

DEAR ABBY: Some of my relatives and I are having a disagreement. They say that a cigarette-smoking stunts a person's growth.

DEAR ENGAGED: You are tragically uninformed about your brother's condition.

Additional Bones Found Near Burley Are Examined

BURLEY—Additional fossilized bones unearthed last week two miles west of Minidoka dam in a gravel pit owned by Kloepper Concrete Co., Paul, are being sent to Idaho State University, Pocatello, museum for examination and identification.

Dave Peterson, Paul, found the bones about 30 feet from where similar ones were discovered in December. He discovered the five bones while working at the gravel pit next to the Snake River, about 15 feet below the surface.

The largest of the fossilized bones is about 14 inches long and appears to be a leg bone. It is much lighter in weight. The fossilized bones are believed from some large prehistoric animal.

The first fossilized bones were unearthed by Jay Perry, Declo, in December, about 10 feet below the surface. Scientists at the Idaho State University Museum, Pocatello, identified the bones as the skull of an Idaho musk ox or symbola cavifrons.

All the employees of Kloepper Concrete who work at the gravel pit are on the lookout for additional fossilized bones.

18 Rockets Will Probe Weather

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to launch a series of 18 rockets from Canada and Alaska during a 10-hour probe beginning at 6:15 p.m. EST today.

The rockets—to be launched from Churchill Research Range in Manitoba and from the Arctic Research Laboratory at Point Barrow, Alaska, are designed to investigate variations in weather conditions between the altitudes of 12 and 124 miles.

Some of the 18 rockets sent aloft from Manitoba will release sodium vapor that will be dispersed by winds into orange and pink clouds visible for hundreds of miles. Others will release aluminum to form blue-green clouds.

The six rockets launched from Point Barrow will eject and detonate a piece of explosive charge which will be recorded by radio and sensitive microphones.

Additional information about the offerings Twin Falls Center may be obtained from the coordinator, Mrs. Ella Silverdun, P.O. Box 0, Kimberly, telephone 423-3313 or from the Office of Continuing Education, Idaho State University, Pocatello, 236-3405.

Full Copy Of The Letter To The T.F. City Commissioners

Twin Falls, Idaho
January 17, 1967
Mr. Egon Kroll, Chairman
Twin Falls City Commission
163 3rd Avenue South
Twin Falls, Idaho

Dear Mr. Kroll:
Remember me! I'm the guy who was chairman of the Committee For Good Water Without A Bond, a group that most people have never even heard about. We were active for a very short time when the City water bond was up for vote. Our motives were supported by City Hall and the Press alike, as having an ulterior profit motive in mind; or as a reactionary group completely opposed to progress and a good source of water for our town. I received and no motive for profit, but I did feel there might be an alternate plan for good water that could be considered. The bond passed, and our function as a group ended.

My interest in the water issue did not cease with the passing of the bond. I continued to gather information and observe the processes of government with the hope that a better understanding could be had. Now I am happy the bond passed because it demonstrated the confidence of the majority to vote for progress and needed facilities, but more than this, it showed the confidence the people have in their elected officials.

How important this confidence is, in reflecting upon you Commissioners who are now serving, I have had a knowledge over the years, of yourself, Mr. Angberg, Mr. Feldman, Mr. Flatt and Mr. Workday. I wish to thank you for having been successful in their own businesses or chosen fields. Although my knowledge of the other Commissioners is not so well defined, I can only assume they are of equal qualifications. I have special appreciation for and respect of Mr. Flatt for his influence for good on each of my four children in his excellent work at the High School. It is understandable then, not only why you are voted into office, but also why you receive a vote of confidence on your program.

In my search for answers it has occurred to me that there is something amiss in the City governmental apparatus, because the performance does not square with the qualifications of the men involved. I can see no man or reason, that might be responsible for this condition unless it is the lack of willingness to make full disclosure to the people on major issues such as the water bond. With major decisions made major responsibility, in our form of government there should be no fear of decisions providing the responsibility is allowed to be placed on those entitled to carry it. With full disclosure on major issues the responsibility automatically is assumed by the voters for the passage or rejection of a proposal. With less than full disclosure of all the facts, clearly presented, the responsibility belongs to those elected officials who have permitted this falsification and misrepresentation.

To reflect the responsibilities of office, I must tell you about my friend Pat. Pat was a highly successful business man in the 30's. Some called him a "brogan". He "goes large business concerns" each year with some picture of the American scene, but always with the motto, "Look To The Leader For Leadership." Pat was a leader. He gathered facts from many sources before decisions were made but he made the decisions and always backed his play. Pat was also a realist. He knew that no matter how many committees or groups set in council on his problems, the final responsibility was his. You have the same problem, except you can let the people take the load. Sometimes politicians get the feeling that they are not to be held responsible for the decisions they make. I believe that you should discharge their duties in a manner that a normal man can. This does not require unusual abilities. It should measure something along the lines that you are doing in your own business.

As the following information is presented, the voters of Twin Falls City will know if your disclosure was made to them with the request for passage of the bond.

We were told that a raw source of water was needed in order to correct the taste and poor quality of the water then being used, and further, to correct the low pressure problem then existing. The bond was for $1,200,000 additional from the Federal Government for the same project. In checking the job which was prepared by the engineering firm of Morrison and Mainella, the information disclosed that when all phases of the water program were completed, the first cost would be between five and seven million dollars. The Times-News editorial of a few weeks ago, discussing the interest cost of a bonded indebtedness for a 20 year period, showed a cost factor of near 50% of the bond, so that the net cost of a $1 million bond would require funds in the amount of $1,500,000. Should the total first cost be $5 million dollars, our pay back would be $7,500,000. For 4,000 properties, (25,000 tons, 4 members per family) the average decrease in valuation for each property through bonded indebtedness would be $1,250.00.

When reference was made to our source of water, the implication was the continuation of the Snake River water. The Snake River water is the cleanest water in the world. It is not to be further contaminated by water from deep wells, the Long and Johnson wells, etc. To my recollection, there was no one redeeming present water source mentioned in this information.

While the contaminated sources mentioned above were true and thus shown in the engineers' report, some report also mentioned one very significant and redeeming source of water, the Snake River water. When the Twin Falls Canal Company turned the water out of the canal system in 1961, I think for the first time, our town was out of water. Mr. Bill Williams who lives SE of Twin Falls kindly volunteered to furnish water from his Rock Creek water right. The water was delivered by running the canal from his place to the filter plant. In 1962 the City drilled a deep well just to the west of the filter plant, and this has been a major source, year round, since that time. The production of this well is 4,000 gallons per day.

(The water Mr. Williams furnished the city was from Rock Creek rather than well.)
Why this source of good water, in the most excellent location possible, has not been developed or improved since 1962 is completely beyond my comprehension. The answer is on City Hall. The favoritism shown for the Alphaeus Creek source must have justification based on emotion, plus who knew its motives. Until the deep well source is developed, the Commissioners must back their own play, and take full personal responsibility, because the engineers' report on this well is a factual one and blocks that source for all.

The Commissioners seem to be opposed to a profitable water utility for Twin Falls. This does not enhance with the management of their own businesses. My water bill 2 or 3 months ago, showed a factor of 11,000 gallons of water at the price of 44 cents per thousand gallon. Projecting a like revenue on the total year production of the filter plant at the amount of $1,500,000.00, the annual revenue would be $1,160,000.00 with possibly $100,000.00 depreciation and pumping costs. The cost of drilling this well was $7,311.94. Other wells could be drilled for an approximate cost of $10,000.00 each. This may not show much proportionate profit above operating costs for the water department, but the capital investment of the well itself, how can you beat it?

In simple terms, all we are talking about is the delivery of good water, under proper pressure to the homes and businesses in town. The filter plant well is self pressurizing. The Alphaeus Creek source must be delivered to a reservoir and pressurized. The energy cost to deliver the Alphaeus Creek water to consumers would be approximately 5 times greater than the delivery cost of the filter plant well source.

If it is the capital investment, depreciation and the initial costs of installation that makes the Alphaeus Creek source so hard to accept. With the cost of $1,000,000.00 for the filter plant well source, most of which would be for distribution lines, and a payback of $1,600,000.00 including costs, no approx. $3,000,000.00 already subscribed by bond and Federal funds, with a cost of $1,900,000.00. If the total amount would total a $5,700,000.00 payback for the filter plant well source.

The capital investment alone would show a ratio of approximately 24% to 73%, or a difference of $4,200,000.00. Added to this the difference in energy delivery cost, depreciation and maintenance expense, the Alphaeus Creek plant would likely never show a profit income to the City. While I cannot guarantee a sufficient source of water from wells, neither can you deprive the city of the water from the Snake River. The Snake River water is the cleanest water source available. I formally request that the City of Twin Falls, Idaho, that this source of water be substituted or shown deficient before a contract is let for the second phase of the water improvement plan, as now presented.

What you do about this problem reaches beyond the boundaries of our City. Twin Falls has always been a leader in the Snake River Valley, and the Snake River Valley is the heart of the Snake River. We must accept this challenge. With high tension being the plague of legitimate progress, we must keep our heads level and not let ourselves be carried away by the most fashionable ideas. We must accept this challenge and to those who hand with us in mutually desirable and needed facilities.

Sincerely yours,
Signed
Revere Hansen
1945 Dorlan Drive
Twin Falls, Idaho
As my letter proves I have no personal feelings against commissioners individually. I feel they give the voters a misleading picture of the water and also failed by not fully providing the well source long ago as a matter of good business practice.
All of the above is my own personal opinion.
Signed—Revere Hansen

Fisherman Has Salt Lake To Himself

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—C. C. Sanders has a 1,500 square mile fishing hole in his own back yard. He is the only fisherman on the Great Salt Lake.

He catches brine shrimp, the sole nutritional resource of the water. Brine shrimp is a seafood nobody wants to eat, but they will eat a bowl of tropical fish into a frenzy. And that's why Sanders sells them.

The 13-year-old fisherman provides millions of the quarter-inch long shrimp in a monthly factory over the lake's treacherous salt flats.

Nobody had any use for brine shrimp after the Indians stopped eating them until Sanders put them into his own tropical fish aquarium. Now he has an enterprise which for 20 years has provided him a living.

Brine shrimp are peculiar in that they survive in water 20 per cent salt. Except for sea-scorpions, they have no natural enemies.

Sanders has become an authority on the brine shrimp's monastic life in Utah's dead sea. In the 15 years he has been lectured about his findings in colleges and universities across the nation.

The eggs he processes for fattening the adult shrimp for export to tropical fish. On good weather days, Sanders leads a force of prepuffers to the flats to collect the eggs. He uses a special plane to locate the shrimp near the surface. The operation has no warrant. Evaporation has laid vast stretches of salt flat bare between lake and factory. Special inflow-tred vehicles are used to transport to meet incoming airboats. At season peak, Sanders' factory processes 60 million shrimp each for an export distributor each week. He doesn't need much storage space, however. Brine shrimp eggs are so small it takes 10 million to fill a pint shaker.

Earl Skidmore Gets Gooding Jaycee DSA

GOODING—Recognition, came with a burst of applause Friday night to Earl Skidmore, manager of the Idaho Power Co. at Gooding when he was awarded the Distinguished Service Award at the annual Jaycees Award Banquet at the Lincoln Inn.

EARL SKIDMORE, left, manager of Idaho Power Co. at Gooding, was recipient of the Distinguished Service Award, presented Friday night at the annual banquet sponsored by the Jaycees. Presenting the award is Eugene Lewis, president of the Jaycees, and looking on is Jim Carpenter, who acted as master of ceremonies. The award is given annually by the Jaycees to an outstanding businessman who contributed significantly to the building of a better community. (Times-News photo)

The award, given annually by the Jaycees, is presented to a citizen who has contributed outstandingly to the community. Mr. Skidmore, who has been with Idaho Power since 1923, has made his home in Gooding since 1959. He is Republican precinct committeeman; has been a Boy Scout leader, and is active in the Salvation Army, as well as having headed the Red Cross. He worked in the Northside Communities group, and was active in the building of the Niagara Springs Park.

Mr. Skidmore was introduced and presented the award by Eugene Lewis, president of the Gooding Jaycees. James Carpenter was master of ceremonies. William T. Maxwell, director of public relations and advertising for the minerals and chemical division of J. R. Simplot Co., was guest speaker. Mr. Maxwell, who was raised at Gooding and a graduate of Gooding High School, spoke on customer relations, especially as related to smaller communities. He pointed out that there seems to be a gradual trend for the smaller communities to get larger, and the cities not to grow much more from an industrial standpoint, since industries are becoming more and more interested in smaller communities. "If they decide to build, he said, "they're beginning to realize if they go to a metropolitan area, they have high rent, it may cost them more to buy houses for their employees, they are faced with pollution problems, traffic problems, employees have little recreation time. If a smaller community has a favorable tax climate, and a suitable work force to fulfill the needs of an industrial plant, these industries may well seek out the smaller communities."

Mr. Maxwell stated that merchants are very concerned about people locally going to a larger community to shop. This happens in Gooding, he said, with people going to Twin Falls, while Twin Falls citizens may go to Pocatello, and so on. "Many communities are becoming aggressive and trying to hold their own customers, as well as drawing in customers from other communities. Mr. Maxwell pointed out that the customer is king, no matter what the business, and satisfying the customer wants and needs is the primary concern of all business transactions, whether retail or wholesale. He gave five points for creating good customer relations including honesty, both as a businessman and as an individual; a guarantee of the products and service offered by a business, which keeps out competitors and keeps customers coming. The third point was to take a genuine interest in the customer. Number four mentioned by Mr. Maxwell was loyalty to one's self and to his company. Businessmen should uphold their company and practice good business themselves, and number five was to follow the Golden Rule.

Flab War

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—A war on flab has been declared in the Malaysian army. Under "Operation Waistline" every officer less than 35 years old has to undergo regular exercises and pass a strenuous physical test yearly.

Operation Cedar Falls Achievements Are Reviewed By U.S. Commanders

By GEORGE MCARTHUR LONG BINH, South Vietnam (AP)—Ten days before Christmas, ganging Lt. Gen. Jonathan Seaman submitted the battle plan for the largest U.S. military operation of the Vietnam war to Gen. William Westmoreland.

Westmoreland "bought it" after 15 minutes of study. On Jan. 8 Seaman, 56, launched a force of almost 30,000 men into Operation Cedar Falls, to search out and destroy the bases in the wildly jungled "iron triangle" from which the Viet Cong guided battalions circling Saigon 20 miles to the south and ordered the terrorists whose bombs rattled South Vietnam's capital.

"Nineteen days later the operation was over."

"We have broken the back of the Communist effort in the area—it was a definite turning point in the war," said Maj. Gen. William DePue, whose 1st Division infantrymen did much of the fighting.

More than 1,000 air strikes were flown during the 19-day operation. Giant B52 bombers from Guam dropped 1.5 million pounds of explosives. Day and night, field artillery gunners rained uncounted rounds supporting Seaman's 21 American and seven South Vietnamese "maneuver battalions."

The Viet Cong lost 720 dead and almost 600 weapons, an unprecedented proportion. While U.S. casualties for specific operations are not revealed, they were officially characterized as "light" and the ratio was roughly one American killed for every seven dead Viet Cong, or about 100 Americans.

The Americans captured more than 2.7 million documents of varying sorts—the richest single haul of Communist records ever taken in Vietnam.

A total of 516 prisoners surrendered or were captured, some of them party members with intimate knowledge of the vital Red headquarters in the area, sorting the "big fish" from the lesser fry is still going on.

The cost of the operation in dollars isn't measurable.

The seized documents alone are worth the cost, U.S. officers say. A report of the 1st Division says: "Some of these documents describe in detail the activities of (Viet Cong) military region 4 from 1962 through 1966 and their intelligence value is tremendous. These documents contain the strengths of Viet Cong units, the names of their members, the towns and villages in which they operate, some of their meeting places, and a great amount of information on exactly how they operate and what their future plans are."

Almost all the 500 Vietnamese who voluntarily gave themselves up under the Chieu Hoi (Open Arms) program came in with leaflets carrying the allied message, offering, although the mere possession of these leaflets can lead to the death penalty.

ty in Communist units. And these people were surrendering from a top Communist headquarters area.

It is true, Seaman admits, that the Viet Cong can now move back into the triangle area. However, he doesn't think it will ever serve the Reds as before.

Some 7,000 civilians have been evacuated from the area, and American gunners and pilots can shell and bomb the area at will.

The engineers accomplished fantastic feats. Using bulldozers as never before in deep jungle, they razed vast areas, collapsed tunnels and cut roads which can now be used for quick penetration of the area if the U.S. troops need to go back.

The only disappointment of the operation is that it is unlikely to be staged elsewhere.

The terrain of the 60-square-mile triangle—with rivers on two sides and only one land side to be blocked—permitted an almost back-in-the-area situation. There aren't too many Communist headquarters areas quite like that.

Palmer Has Four Subpar Rounds For Second Win In Row At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Arnold Palmer threw back the challenge of Gay Brewer Sunday and boomed on in with his fourth subpar round of golf to win the $100,000 Los Angeles Open for the second straight year. Palmer, who on the 67th hole saw his lead cut to two strokes by the tenacious Brewer, rallied with three birdies and finished five holes for a score of 68, three under par, and a 72-hole total of 269, 15 shots under regulation figures.

REACTING as his 15-foot putt falls to drop on the third green Sunday's final round of the $100,000 Los Angeles Open, winner Arnold Palmer appears almost to be smiling. He shot a par-three on the hole and was 15 under for the tourney. (AP wirephoto)

There was a three-way tie for third at 275 between veteran Julius Boros, who closed with a 67, and Don Missengale and Lou Graham, each with 69s.

National Open champion Billy Casper and Australia's Bruce Crampton, with a pair of 69s, double-bogeyed at 277, and Jacky Coupl, the first round leader, 67 and Mike Souchak and Bob Goalby, each with 68, finished at 278.

Jack Nicklaus, the Masters King, who has never done well in his three tries in the Los Angeles attraction, closed out with a 72 for 285.

Palmer concluded the round with a typical Palmer flair. He whacked his tee shot almost 300 yards, getting a good roll in the process, and chipped up about five feet—and holed out for a birdie 3.

He had bogeyed the par 3 17th. He missed the green on the right and three-putted from the edge of the green. His second putt of about eight feet hung on the lip of the cup.

Arnie broke the battle up on the next two holes after Brewer drew within two strokes on the 13th hole of the round—Palmer holed out from six and 12 feet for birdies while Brewer had bogey-par on the 14th and 15th. Palmer, however, didn't think this was particularly the turning point.

"I don't know about that," he said. "I felt pretty good out there. I knew Gay had a birdie here and there, but I knew he had to get three birdies to pass me."

Arnie birdied the first hole, and Brewer took a bogey 5. Palmer went over par on the second and parred the next two holes before dropping in a birdie putt on the eighth.

Brewer, meanwhile, birdied No. 4, 6 and 9 to keep things interesting.

Palmer's 72-hole total was one shot shy of (losing) the tournament record of 268 set in 1922.

Last year Palmer, with a tournament record low round of 62 on this same course in the third round, won with 272.

"I think I played a little easier this year than I did last year," he said.

Brewer was even with par on the crucial last nine holes and finished with a 69 for 274.

Playing the par 36-35-71, 6-82-yard Rancho Municipal Golf Club course before an estimated 20,000 fans, Palmer made the final tour in 35-33-68, Brewer in 34-35-69.

In two games in the stadium, Alcindor totalled 80 points. He rattled through 35 in an 82-67 victory over Loyola of Chicago Saturday night.

Against the Illini, who sagged to an 8-6 record, Alcindor made good on 21 of 27 floor shots for a sensational .778 percentage. The Bruins ripped off a 538 accuracy mark as a team. They had five players in double figures with Mike Warren second high with 18 points.

Dave Scholz with 26 points and Bob Johansen with 20 headed the Illini, who never got closer than 20 points after the Bruins turned it on in the second half.

Alcindor Hits 45, UCLA Rips Illinois By 120-82

CHICAGO (AP) — Lew Alcindor shattered the Chicago Stadium collegiate field goal record with 21 baskets and matched the scoring mark of 45 points Sunday to lead top-ranked UCLA to a 120-82 basketball victory over Illinois.

The 7-foot-1 1/2 sophomore stuffed in 13 baskets in the first half as the Bruins cruised into a 62-38 lead enroute to stretching their season winning string to 16.

Alcindor's 21 field goals topped the stadium mark of 19 in regulation play by Robin Freeman of Ohio State in 1955 and Dave Sturwirth of Wichita in 1955.

His 45 points, running his total for the season to 499 for a 31.1 average, equaled the stadium high by Michigan's Cassie Russell in 1955.

The team's 120 points, with Bill Sweek sinking a final corner shot in the last second, matched the team high set by Illinois against Notre-Dame in a 120-92 victory last year.

UCLA's total of 56 field goals also topped the stadium record by any team—the 46 by Illinois against the Irish.

Alcindor's output of 21 baskets and three free throws came with 6:15 remaining and UCLA ahead 103-68. It was announced as a record, the game was stopped, and Alcindor was presented the game ball to the applause of a crowd of 10,025.

They Coach Johnny Wooden benched Lew and he sat out the rest of the game while the fans eager to see the 45-point scoring record broken, chanted: "We want Lew, we want Lew."

Despite the scoring flurry, it did not match the top production of the season by either UCLA or Alcindor. The Bruins popped in 122 points against Portland and Lew scored his high of 56 in the final 10 minutes of the game, matched the team high set by

Ashe Advances To Aussie Tennis Finals

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Arthur Ashe stormed back after losing a marathon second set and advanced to the final of the Australian National Championships Sunday by whipping and then Ashe netted for 0-30. At John Newcombe of Australia 12-30-40, Newcombe brought up chalk on the sideline for a breakthrough.

Ashe, from Richmond, Va., and the No. 1 U.S. hope now that Dennis Ralston has turned professional, led Newcombe 12-10, 9-9 when darkness halted play Saturday. A Sunday hart on spectator sports was lifted so the match could be concluded Sunday.

If it hadn't been lifted Roy Emerson of Australia, who held the title for the fourth set, Newcombe immediately dropped service in the battle for the title since both Ashe and Newcombe would have had to complete their match Monday before the winner met Emerson later in the day.

Under the circumstances, there was no admission charge for the completion of the match and some 4,000 fans were in the Memorial Drive courts as Ashe faces Lesley Turner of Australia and Newcombe continued to

Hawks Stop 76er Rally To Win 114-108

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks stopped a 19-point lead in the third quarter and then held off a Philadelphia rally Sunday to hand the 76ers a 114-108 National Basketball Association setback, only their sixth loss of the season.

The Hawks, who emerged with their first triumph in eight meetings with Philadelphia, became the first Western Division team to defeat the 76ers this season. Only Boston, New York and Cincinnati had beaten Philadelphia prior to Sunday.

Philadelphia's lead in the Eastern Division was cut to seven games over Boston, which defeated New York. The 76ers now have a 47-6 record.

Second place St. Louis, led by player-coach Richie Guerin with 28 points and Bill Bridges with 26, rebounded to win the game and Buhl will travel to Burley in a Southeastern Idaho Conference contest. Burley has yet to win a league game while Buhl has three to his credit.

Castelford will be at Declo in a Magic Valley Conference game and Buhl will travel to Burley in a Southeastern Idaho Conference contest. Burley has yet to win a league game while Buhl has three to his credit.

The Hawks had built a 59-49 lead by halftime and with four straight points by Guerin midway through the third period stretched the margin to 64-39.

Philadelphia center Will Chamberlain, who matched Guerin's 29 points, then led a 76ers comeback which cut the Hawks' lead to 105-100 with three minutes remaining.

Erce thrower by Len Wilkens gave the Hawks a seven-point margin which they nursed until the final buzzer.

Celtics Hit Early, Trim N.Y. 141-106

BOSTON (AP)—The hot-shooting Boston Celtics hit for 75 points in a first half explosion sparked by Bailey Howell and rolled to their ninth straight National Basketball Association victory Sunday in a 141-106 rout of the New York Knicks.

Howell scored 21 of his game-high 32 points in the first half as the Celtics swept a weekend series with the Knicks and defeated New York for the 15th straight time since March 17, 1965.

The Celtics built a 38-28 first period lead with Howell connecting for 14 points and roared by a 75-51 halftime advantage.

Boston Player-coach Bill Russell was sidelined when struck near the corner of the left eye in a jam under the boards in the opening minute of the second period. The veteran center, however, returned briefly in the third period before taking an unusual rest and watching his club overwhelm the Knicks.

Russell cleared his bench and gave rookies Tony Kimball, Jim Barrett and Ren Watts extended playing time in the final period. Kimball collected 10 points, Barnett 13 and Watts five. Jones capped the runaway by taking a pass-in from K. C. Jones and sinking a line drive jump shot from mid-court as the final buzzer sounded.

Robertson, Royals Drop Warriors

CINCINNATI (AP)—Oscar Robertson's 35 points led Cincinnati to a 121-118 National Basketball Association victory over the San Francisco Warriors Sunday.

The Royals dominated the backboards against the taller Warriors and got 20 points or more from four players.

Rick Barry, who had scored 30 or more points in each of San Francisco's previous games here this season, was held to nine in the first half but led a second half Warrior surge and finished with 27.

It was the sixth game in as many days for the Royals, who got 25 points from Jerry Lucas, 23 from Connie Dierking and 20 from Adrian Smith to go with Robertson's 35.

Barry caught fire in the third quarter and scored 14 of the Warriors' first 19 points. Then he and Paul Neumann got San Francisco ahead at 87-85 before Robertson's 35.

"I'm tired," Killy admitted right after the race. "The last few weeks have been too much. I felt exhausted and I'm not sure whether I will race in Italy. I really skied badly."

Dennis McCoy of Bishop, Calif., was 11th with times of 65.83 and 62.42 for 128.27. Ken Phelps of Lyon Falls, N.Y., was 21st in 1:31.17 after runs of 70.25 and 62.82 and Bill Orest of Stockton, Calif., was disqualified.

The meet was the last for the U.S. team. The women left Saturday and the men plan to head home Monday.

Black Hawks Rip Maple Leafs 5-1

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks handed the Toronto Maple Leafs their seventh defeat in a row and their seventh "streak" without a defeat to eight with a 5-1 victory Sunday night.

By winning their sixth game of the year and second in two nights from the Leafs, the Hawks stretched their National Hockey League lead to nine points over the New York Rangers, who were beaten 4-2 by Detroit Sunday night.

Houston May Lose Choice To Harvard

NEW YORK (AP)—The Houston Astros have started their quest for Dick Varney, a highly-regarded schoolboy-catcher, but like the Kansas City Athletics all they might wind up with is a loss to Harvard. The 17-year-old Varney, the No. 1 pick in last August's American Legion draft, was No. 1 again Saturday in the special phase of baseball's free agent draft, Kansas City drafted him first in August, and Houston did the same thing Saturday.

The special phase involved players who had been drafted before but who had not signed with the teams that had picked them. The 20 major league teams selected 163 players in that category along with 108 in the regular part of the winter draft.

Varney, a 6-foot-3, 215-pounder from North Quincy, Mass., is a potentially tough catcher but apparently an even tougher player to sign. That's because he wants to go to Harvard from Deerfield, Mass., Academy where he currently is a student.

"I've applied to Harvard," Varney said, "but I haven't heard yet. I guess it will be a couple of months. Right now I lean toward Harvard, but I have to talk things over with my father. I guess if Harvard accepts me, I'll go there."

"We consider him the first pick in the regular draft, a high school student, right-handed pitcher Alec Disazo from Los Angeles."

First pick in the regular draft was a high school student, right-handed pitcher Alec Disazo from Los Angeles.

The Yankees followed by taking their first dip into Washington and pulling out left-handed pitcher Mike Flanagan of Yakima Valley, Wash., Junior College.

Detroit had second pick in the special phase and selected Mike Alians, 18-year-old shortstop son of former major leaguer Bobby Adams. The younger Adams attends Fullerton, Calif., Junior College.

The world champion Baltimore Orioles made the most selections, 27, and Atlanta and Cleveland each drafted 26. The Chicago White Sox picked the least, six.

2 Unbeaten Grapplers To Meet Monday

Jerome will be at Twin Falls Monday night in a wrestling match that will feature a battle of undefeated heavyweights.

It will be Jerome's heavy Pierre against the Bruins' Logan Hazen in the last bout of the night. Twin Falls dropped Jerome in an earlier match, although the two heavies weights did not meet.

In other Monday matches, Mincio will be at Buhl, Castelford at Valley and Declo at Kimberly.

Tuesday will see Filer at Wood River while Thursday Twin Falls will travel to Buhl for a second meeting between the two teams.

Other Thursday matches will be Valley at Jerome, Wood River at Twin Falls against the junior varsity and Castelford at Declo.

Saldivar Stops Seki In Title Bout

MEXICO CITY (AP)—World featherweight champion Vicente Saldivar of Mexico administered some heavy body punishment before stopping Japanese Challenger Mitsumori Seki in the seventh round of a scheduled 15-round title fight Sunday night.

Saldivar, who had beaten the Japanese in a controversial decision last Aug. 7, left little doubt about this one.

He had Seki in trouble as early as the fourth round, nearly put him away in the sixth and ended it in the seventh.

Saldivar, 24, came out fast in the seventh and connected with two rights, the last to the body and Seki went down. He was up at a count of eight, but referee Ramon Berumen stopped it. The time of the knockout was 1:35 of the seventh.

Rickey, Waner Join Baseball's Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (AP)—Branch Rickey, the late, long-time baseball executive, and Lloyd (Little Poison) Waner were named to Baseball's Hall of Fame Sunday by the veterans' committee. They will be installed in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., in July as the 105th and 106th members of the elite group.

Former baseball commissioner Ford Frick was chairman of the 12-man committee and announced the election.

Frick said the vote on both Rickey and Waner was unanimous.

Under the old rules, the committee is restricted to announcing two players in their annual selection of players who have been retired 20 years or more.

Rickey died in December of 1965 at the age of 83 after a long and illustrious career was credited with some of baseball's most important innovations.

The bushy-browed Mahatma was a cigar-smoking dynamo who spent more than six decades in the sport, founded the farm system and broke baseball's color line by signing Negro players to the Cardinals, with the then Brooklyn Dodgers.

A sore-armed catcher and a mediocre hitter during his own playing days, Rickey began moving up the success ladder in the early 1900s and eventually became president of the Cardinals in 1917.

From then on he met with a series of successes.

He devised the formula for putting together the Cardinals' large number of farm clubs and in his 26 years with the club, it won seven National League pennants and five world championships.

Rickey moved on to Brooklyn in 1942 and won two pennants with the Dodgers in eight years before selling his 25 per cent interest in the club for $1 million.

Rickey moved on to Brooklyn in 1942 and won two pennants with the Dodgers in eight years before selling his 25 per cent interest in the club for $1 million.

Finally, at 69, Rickey signed a five-year contract as executive vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. But even Rickey couldn't lift the Pirates out of their doldrums and he ultimately retired at 74.

In 1960, however, the Pirates won their first pennant in 30 years when General Manager Joe Brown said that the Pittsburgh club's success was largely due to Rickey.

Rickey became eligible for inclusion in the Hall of Fame under a special rule covering executives. Any executive over 65 who has retired is eligible for immediate induction.

Waner and his brother Paul (Big Boy), both played for the Pirates during the 1920s and 1930s. Waner, a 5-foot-8, 156-pounder, the left-handed hitter still managed to terrorize National League pitching over a major league career spanning 19 seasons.

Waner broke in during the 1927 season and immediately set a major league record of 22 hits as a rookie while batting .355. He never won a batting title but retired with a lifetime average of .316.

His highest batting average was compiled in 1930 when he hit .362 although playing in only 68 games. He had other high marks of .333 in 1929, and .333 in 1932. In all, he hit .300 or over in 12 seasons.

Brother Paul, who died last year, also is in the Hall of Fame.

Globetrotters Set Game At Burley High

BURLEY—The world famous Harlem Globetrotters, now in their 41st year, will be playing at the Burley High School at 8 p.m. Feb. 23 against the Washington (D. C.) Generals. The game will be sponsored by the High School.

Appearing along with the Globetrotters will be six variety acts, including the ageless pitcher Leroy (Satchel) Paige. The others will be Ashley-Bukiet, International table tennis champions; Ursula and Gus, balancing and juggling; Les Blue and Yvette, juggling uncyclists; Teter Tasso, "master of slack wire," and Mike Pickering on the trampoline.

Paige's part in the comedy act will come when the team reads for its copyrighted material, the baseball routine. The greatest pitching ace will, naturally, act as the pitcher.

The other two acts will take place before and during halftime on the trampoline.

The Generals are formidable opponents for the Trotters, being slightly taller and made up of former college stars. Tallest player for the Washington D. C. team will be Harold Denny, Texas Tech, and Bob Stoermer, Oklahoma, both at 6-3.

The Generals also sport two players at 6-7, while tallest for the Trotters is J.C. Gipson at 6-8 and next are Ron Jackson and Andy Stigler at 6-7. Not to forget the best known of the squad, Bob (Showboat) Hall at 6-2.

The Globetrotters will undoubtedly be the favorites for the game—after all, they are the ones who put on the show.

RANKS THIRD NEW YORK (AP)—Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, is ranked third in the middleweight division of boxing ratings announced by Ring Magazine.

The luck of the draw in the 1966 American team trials pitted first place Roth and Root against second place Murray and Khebla in the final round. Murray and Khebla defeated Roth and Root to move into first place while Roth and Root dropped to third. However, since the was passed out there and at one other table.

The other three East players agreed with one spade and were raised to two. This became the final contract at two tables and East had no trouble making four odd. Trumps broke nicely and the minor suit ace-queens lay just where East wanted them.

The hiding in the box shows what happened when South decided to reopen after East and West had stopped at two spades. East had mighty good defense against hearts and elected to pass. He opened a spade which established a spade trick for South but South still had to lose two trumps, two diamonds and a club and was penalized 500 points.

The unfortunate North-South pair that went down 500 lost eight international match points. Roth and Root lost five live in passing the hand out. This was mighty severe punishment for failure to open East's really doubtful hand.

U.S. Contributes To Arms Race With Power Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—A military assistance and sales program, the report asserts, Sunday night the Defense Department has contributed to arms races with a "dynamic and aggressive" campaign which has boosted annual U.S. military sales abroad by 600 per cent since the 1950s.

While the financial success of the U.S. military sales is beyond dispute, the study adds, there is ample reason for concern as to the side effects of the vigorous sales campaigns. The committee study asserts: "One of the major objectives of United States foreign policy is the curbing of international tensions, looking toward the possibility of eventual armistice."
