Rooftop Dining Room Blaze Kills 26 In Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A fire which began as tiny flickers in a dining room, raced through a fashionable rooftop dining room in downtown Montgomery Tuesday night, leaving at least 26 persons dead, including a former state official who was indicted Tuesday. Identification was difficult because of the condition of the bodies, which were taken to four funeral homes. A police identification team assisted by FBI experts was set up to help establish the identification. Water pouring from the blackened ruins of Dale's Penthouse restaurant atop the 11-story West Street Smith apartment hotel froze on the sidewalks and streets in the windy 23-degree night, making it treacherous for firemen and police.

Police Probe $800 Robbery In Jerome

JEROME — Officials of the Idaho Gem Dealers' Assn., Wednesday were checking fingerprints and mug shots with police in an effort to find the person who took $800 in cash at "gunpoint" Tuesday evening from the firm and locked three employees in the room. The victim, Reed McSpadden, office manager, was standing in the office at 8:30 p.m. when a man appeared in the doorway, waved what looked like a metal cover of a handgun and demanded the money. He had some papers to be signed. McSpadden said he inquired "What papers?" The man then walked into the office, pulled a gun, which police say they believed was a .32 or .38 caliber. According to the employees, the man said, "This is the real deal. You've got to give me what you've got." He herded the men to the robbery, Page 2, Col. 5.

Powell Won't Answer Exam Questions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adam Clayton Powell, acting on his lawyers' advice, today refused to answer questions from a House committee examining his qualifications to be seated in Congress. The questioning proceeded, Powell's New York Democrat said he would have to withdraw from the hearing. Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the committee, was considering the case, asked for a brief recess and cleared the packed hearing room to discuss the move.

Pope Urges Truce Turned Into Peace

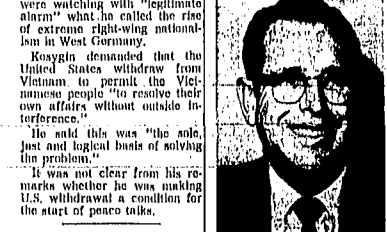

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI appealed today to the United States and North and South Vietnam to end the fighting and to turn the lunar new year's truce into negotiations for peace. The Pope asked that neither side "be satisfied with the truce, which began today along with the start of Christianity's Lenten period." He thanked President Johnson for the "good and favorable U.S. reaction to previous papal peace appeals."

Kosygin Vows Assistance In Peace Try

LONDON (AP)—Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said today the Soviet Union is ready to help in the search for peace in Vietnam and the United States are "not usually peace-loving" in North Vietnam. Addressing a banquet in his honor, the Soviet leader also said the people of his country were watching with "legitimate alarm" what he called the rise of extreme right-wing nationalism in West Germany. Kosygin demanded that the United States withdraw its military from Vietnam to permit the Vietnamese people "to resolve their own affairs without outside interference."

Clyde Koontz Named Idaho Tax Collector

Selection of Clyde E. Koontz, Twin Falls, as state tax collector was announced Tuesday by Gov. Don Samuel in his office in Boise. Mr. Koontz will assume the duties of the position March 1.

AT THE REED END of the weekly Legislative Luncheon conversation between Twin Falls County legislators and their constituents are, from left, Sen. John Barker, Rep. Jack Calhoun, Rep. Ray Lincoln, Rep. William Lanting and Rep. William Roberts. Sen. Richard High was on a tour with the Senate Appropriations Committee. The legislators gather in a room off the House chambers each Tuesday noon, bringing constituents up to date on legislative happenings during the past week and answer specific questions about pending legislation. Plans To Phase Out Inventory Tax Reported Far From Dead

Plans for phasing out the inventory tax are far from dead, despite the Supreme Court ruling on assessment of utilities' property that has thrown the state's financial structure into an uproar. This information was passed along to Twin Falls residents attending the Chamber of Commerce Legislative Luncheon Tuesday by Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl. Sen. Barker said hearings on the matter are continuing as scheduled, although no action on a bill accomplishing the phasing out process is expected until the utility tax snarl and state tax revenue picture are resolved. He noted that at the most recent hearing on the proposal there were about 100 persons present, 20 to 30 of them appearing as witnesses. None of them voiced any opposition to the bill, he declared. Whether the bill will be passed after the phasing out authorized, will depend a lot on how much of a surplus is left for tax relief after appropriations are made. Also depending on appropriations, Sen. Barker said, are the bill to put Boise College under state support as a four-year institution and the bill to provide $1.5 million for support of junior colleges.

Biting Cold Doubles Weather Dilemma

NEW YORK (AP)—The East Coast's millions, reduced and numb in biting cold, struggled through the mountainous residue of a paralyzing blizzard today. Many schools remained closed, and the wheels of commerce and industry were slow to resume turning. As the storm that dumped up to 15 inches of snow in some sections swirled northeastward off Newfoundland, bitter cold rolled in from the Midwest to sub-zero levels from the Canadian border to Tennessee, Onondaga, Tenn., recorded 9 below zero this morning. The lowest recorded temperature was 28 below at Glen Falls, N.Y. At least 30 deaths were attributed to the blizzard.

State Closes Loan Office In Burley

BOISE (AP)—Commissioner of Finance John D. Silva announced today that the Department of Finance has closed the Prudential Savings and Loan Co., Burley and Preston. Silva said the Department has taken possession of the books, records, assets and business of the corporation. The commissioner said the action was taken because of liquidity factors, loss of confidence, real estate owned by the company, and impairment of capital assets. The company has a branch office in Preston.

Pope Paul Opens Lenten Season

VATICAN CITY (AP)—He began marked with ashes as a symbol of man's humility, Pope Paul VI today led the world's faithful in Rome in the traditional Lenten season of penitence and prayer. The pontiff received the ashes at the consecration of the altar before a crowd of several thousands gathered for his weekly general audience. In receiving the ashes, traditional symbol of penitence, Catholics are reminded by the administering priest: remember man that you are dust and unto dust must return.

Pope Paul Opens Lenten Season

Mr. Koontz said he is looking forward to the new appointment as a challenge. A former resident of Boise, he attended high school there and called Boise his home town until moving to Twin Falls six years ago. Mr. Koontz and his wife, Susan, will move to Dubois prior to March 1.

Gradual Cut-Of Assessments On Utilities Viewed

BOISE (AP)—Gradual reduction of assessments on operating property of utilities is being considered as a means to ease the impact of a state Supreme Court's decision, the chairman of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee said today. Rep. Joe Preston, R-Declo, said a transition period of 8 to 10 years would permit economic growth to pick up the revenue lost in utility taxes. The Supreme Court ruled last Thursday that assessments on all property must be equal. Currently, utilities are assessed at a higher rate than real and personal property.

Johnson Charts Youth Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson outlined today a far-ranging program to aid youths and children, including a strengthened Head Start program and increased Social Security payments for children. In a special message to Congress, Johnson said recent studies have confirmed that the education, in health and in all human development, the early years are critical. "Ignorance, ill-health, personality disorder—these are the disabilities often contracted in childhood; afflictions which linger to cripple the man and damage the next generation," Johnson added.

Moon Probe Searches For Landing Spots

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A report from the Idaho Task Force on the impact of the court's decision on local taxing units—whose income in some cases is being derived from utility property taxes—was expected later today, Preston said. The Senate approved, 39-1, a bill making the chairman of its Irrigation, Reclamation and Resources committee an ex-officio member of the State Water Utilities, Page 2, Col. 6.

U.S. Keeps Open Mind In Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States apparently is keeping an open mind to the possibility of extending the four-day lunar new year cease-fire that began today in Vietnam. Robert J. MacGregor, State Department press officer, declined to speculate Tuesday on whether a truce might be extended. He said "we will see what happens" if the Communist guns remain silent at the end of the four-day period. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have called for a seven-day truce. The United States and South Vietnam have agreed so far only on the shorter period.

Reuther Squelches Total Break

WASHINGTON (AP)—United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, in quelling the threat of a total break with the AFL-CIO, squelched rebellious aides who want a total break with the big labor federation now, it was learned today. Reuther's cold war with AFL-CIO President George Meany yet may lead the UAW chief to yank his union out of the federation, but he used the UAW's own constitution to block such a move for the present.

France Launches Third Satellite

ALGERIA (AP)—France launched its third satellite into orbit today to study the topography of the Mediterranean area. The 50-pound satellite, named Diadem, was sent up by a French rocket from the base at this Sahara base after a 40-minute delay to iron out technical difficulties.

Mao Forces Intensify Anti-Soviet Campaign

TOKYO (AP)—Mao Tse-tung's forces intensified their anti-Soviet campaign today with hostile demonstrations in a dozen Chinese cities and new orders for hitting the Kremlin's brand of communism. The official New China News Agency said a demonstration was held throughout mainland China to emphasize a "fundamental protest against the Soviet revisionist outrages." The Peking correspondent of the Japanese newspaper Yomiuri said Mao had issued instructions for setting up in the Red Capital a "liberated zone for struggling against revisionism"—China's label for the Soviet brand of communism.

Hickenlooper May Support Consular Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—President for Senate ratification of the U.S.-Soviet consular treaty edged upward today when Sen. Hickenlooper, R-Idaho, said he might support the pact. Hickenlooper, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, voted against the treaty when it first was approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the 89th Congress. The town said in an interview he took that action as a protest against what he called the "unusually pro-Soviet" stance he said the Johnson administration was exerting at the time to get the treaty before the Senate.

France Launches Third Satellite

The new Soviet ambassador in Ankara, N.Y. Frankov, said in Canberra that Red China was trying to force the Soviet Union to break diplomatic relations with the United States. He would no longer be able to patent with them, he said. But Moscow radio in a Japanese broadcast said the Soviet people will not be intimidated into taking any such step.

Civilian Operations Reorganized

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Apparent flaws in the pacification program in South Vietnam brought about reorganization of U.S. civilian operations two months ago, and officials of the program say they feel "a great deal of progress" is being made.

The Office of Civil Operations was formed Dec. 1 to coordinate the program after some experts complained the effort to win the minds and hearts of the Vietnamese peasantry had not kept pace with the improving military situation.

Analysts here believe military efforts alone can never overcome the long-term Viet Cong strategy of subversion and guerrilla warfare so long as the loyalties of the peasants remain in question.

Prior to the reorganization, the pacification program worked largely through the U.S. Agency for International Development, the U.S. Public Affairs Office and other civilian bodies which operated independently.

"Sometimes the left hand didn't know what the right was doing," said one American. "We were speaking with a multiplicity of voices without there necessarily being any coordination between them."

Deputy Ambassador William J. Porter was picked to head OCO. He put the various U.S. civilian operations under an integrated command.

Officials said it is too early to evaluate OCO's success, but they are pleased with the speed with which the new structure was organized.

Porter, 52, is regarded as a counterinsurgency expert. The British-born diplomat observed revolutionary development in Algeria, Palestine, Iraq and Lebanon. He came here in 1965 after a tour as U.S. ambassador in Algiers.

About 300 American civilians come under OCO and another 100 to 150 are expected in Vietnam soon. About 200 are based in Saigon and the rest are in the field.

16 People Robbed In Restaurant

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A band of youths barged into a Fort Lauderdale restaurant Tuesday night and robbed the customers at gunpoint as they dined.

"It was just like you see in the movies," said Ernest Baker, operator at Ernie's Restaurant.

There were 16 customers in the establishment at the time. None was hurt.

NATIONAL WHIRLWIND

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON—It does not contribute to the general tidiness of the populace, but the United States Court of Appeals in New York had no choice but to rule that the government is an illegal ground when it attempts to prosecute a citizen merely because he is acting like a creep.
The case involved only two draft resisters, a student at the University of Michigan students who were reclassified 1-A after they took part in a sit-in demonstration at the Ann Arbor draft board. But the case is more significant. In effect, the Appeals Court ruled that a draft board may use the Selective Service system as a weapon or inducement to the armed forces because of his face, because he cast doubt on the duty of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

NOT PUNISHMENT—As Judge Harold Medina put it: "We hold that it is not the function of a Selective Service board to punish registrants by reclassifying them 1-A because they protested, as they did, government involvement in the Vietnam war." The court said that saying still has that little provision about the sanctity of free speech—even for folks with whose views a local draft board might disagree. His ruling is protection for the citizen who might otherwise find himself in the silt because he confessed to finding Marcel Proust a bore.

Arrested last Oct. 15 along with 37 other students that involved in the case, I was convicted of trespassing and subsequently applied light sentences and fines. But there is nothing in Selective Service regulations which says that such a conviction reclassifies a registrant. Such a reprisal was dreamed up by the draft boss, Gen. Lewis Hershey, who said demonstrations constituted the same kind of "delinquency" as failing to notify officials when changing address. But even General Hershey should not be permitted to make-up the rules as he goes along.

MAY BE MORE—Nevertheless, it seems curious that the government did not press with more vigor the original charge that the two students had become "delinquents" because their acts impeded the functions of the Ann Arbor board, a violation of Selective Service regulations.

In any office in the land, a mob of sit-inners must surely constitute a handicap to the business of getting a day's work done. I hold no commission in Uncle Sam, but I have arranged for the drawing and quartering of any individual who intrudes upon me when I am ransacking with a dangling paricle.

NOT A BLUDGEON—The point every citizen should heed in the decision, however is that the draft is not a bludgeon to be used by those whose attitudes might offend either Hershey or the Ann Arbor draft board. Heaven knows the system is unpopular enough, and unfair enough, about Hershey's attitude, but it is not a bludgeon who sits over the head of every college kid who cuts a class or publicly proclaims the discovery of a 16-cent error in Lyndon Johnson's budget.

He should the student thus faced with immediate induction be forced to depend entirely on appeals through the Selective Service system, as the Justice Department contended. As a part of Appeals, the student administration and the military should be especially unavailing in view of Hershey's frequent statements condemning demonstrators and upholding the legal boards' perception of them. No draft resister should be a "Miss. Miss. Miss." as I go to disagree with the boss.

Just as war is too important to be entrusted to generals, so is freedom of speech too sacrosanct to be left to the interpretation of a bureaucratic hierarchy. It has been said that the last word in this matter is still contained in something called the Constitution.

Views Of Others

THE TUITION THREAT IN IDAHO
The district court ruling which turned back a suit seeking to compel Idaho's Universities to charge no tuition on a student cost based should be applauded.

Representative Lyle Cobbs (R-Boise) had asked the court to compel the University of Idaho to charge non-residents the full cost of tuition.

On the surface, the suit sounds reasonable enough. But it could militate against the state's desire to attract the gifted student from anywhere in the nation who wishes to attend a state university. Its faculty and student body would give University, its faculty and student body.

Actually, a University which seeks to enhance its prowess or prestige in a particular field, not only in the field but a student who can make a singular contribution to this field as well. Actually, such a student is a sought-after commodity. Much like a great idea transferred from one program to another, especially an endowed student has considerable effect value.

And this student, let us remember, can come from Kama, Idaho, or Clevelville, Indiana.

It is not such a selling, the trend has long since taken momentum to up our state in the snow, mylow. Higher tuitions at home or abroad is really a dangerous trend. Tuition raising flouts the basic premise of this country—an open door to education for all who are willing to pay for it.

It is why the faculty and faculty problems of Idaho's Universities should be most distressing to Idahoans. That is why the public should be most concerned about the Idaho law which provides the funding for these institutions to match the modern state. Entrance examinations and rising tuition represent only the tip of the iceberg of the curricular costs of education.

No matter what state or what nation, its citizens will have judgment values in relation to the extent they are recommended to students of acceptable costs to be paid by the majority of its citizens.—Idaho Falls Post-Register.

SOME JOKE
Door-Spectator: "It's always thinking of something new. The latest seems to have started in the East and is now going the rounds—well, at least some rounds."

It is simple. You just send someone page two of what is obviously a two-page letter. Here is the way it reads: "Therefore our attorneys advise us to make full disclosure to the I.R.S. and we did so."

Somebody says that this doesn't inconvenience you in any way and above all else, we hope that it has no effect on our friendship.

"Eh, for you may put your own wife's name in her best. I'm sending you our best."

As Eve: "I'm sending you our best. I'm sending you our best. I'm sending you our best."

With your name in place of the name of O'Rourke and with the name of your law firm in the name of the one listed, you can see the "fun" this sort of letter would start. You might try it sometime—the duck!

Poor Man's Plato

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mailbox.

If you're the kind of person who is always putting his foot in his mouth, you'd probably be more comfortable if you used your right foot for this purpose.

Some psychologists say that your eyes get wider the harder you think. But "it has been" my experience that many business executives close their eyes when they're thinking. At least they claimed they were thinking.

Some people love their homeland more than the Japanese. In 99 years, only 1,210,000 have emigrated, and most of them went to Brazil or the United States. Last year only 600 million. A further oddity: The entire continent of Africa has only nine permanent Japanese residents.

Here's a sobering statistic for motor car drivers: The chances are 1 in 100,000 that you're involved in an accident within the next four years.

Prosperity note: The average bankruptcy case involves not a big corporation but a little guy. He is about 35 years old, has three kids, holds a blue-collar job and owes debts between $3,000 and $10,000.

Quotable notables: "Don't be afraid of opposition. Remember, a kite rises against, not with, the wind."—Frank B. Rowland.

Pioneers: If women can train a husband, shouldn't they also be able to train thoroughbred horses? Well, of course, they can. And at the present meeting of the Bowle, Mid, race track there are five women trainers.

Sign on the back of a peacetruck: "Drive carefully and leave the exterminating to us!"

Science has found it is healthy to laugh. Laughter exercises the diaphragm and gets up the heart, brings in more oxygen to the lungs, increases the performance of the liver, stimulates the digestive glands in the stomach, intestine and pancreas, even helps against constipation. So if you want to feel as good as Santa Claus, don't forget to "Ho, ho, ho."

Worth remembering: "There aren't any rules for success that work unless you do."

Geography: You can't beat America for interesting place names. In Arkansas there is a Morning-Sun and an Evening-Sun.

The U.S. population is expected during 1955 to pass the 200 million mark. That means that some kid will be born next year who will probably grab the parking space you're looking for in 1988.

It was G. K. Chesterton who observed, "Youth is always too serious, and just now it is too serious about frivolity."

Capital Quotes
By The Associated Press
"The hardest job of all is evaluating your own work. I start out sounding pompous, then I try the opposite extreme and that sounds too simple. That happy medium can be pretty elusive."—Lynda Johnson, writing about her first job at work for McCall's magazine.

"Logic dictates that we should end the bombing of North Vietnam. It is greatly appreciated, and which is at once—Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis."

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—A small effort to ease the Cuban blockade by allowing exports to Castro's Cuba shows how complex and difficult is the whole question of expanded relations with the Communist countries.

At stake was a proposed British loan for the purchase of a $30,000,000 fertilizer plant.

It was the deal that made the deal a British firm had persuaded Marquis Childs to persuade the government in London to bring about four-fifths of the cost of the plant. This made the state department distinctly unhappy.

The state department's decision in favor of building bridges with Communist nations and asking whether this did not include the small Communist island of Cuba.

The reply was a firm no. A report had come in that officials believed was proof of how Castro is spending his precious hard currency for underground ventures in violence such as those that the democratic government in Venezuela is financing.

A truck fulling down the Inter-American Highway in Mexico toward the Guatemalan border had an accident that killed out part of the cargo. Crated boxes contained machine guns and ammunition. Reconstituting this, officials are convinced that the guns were bought in New York with Cuban money and shipped under various guises to Mexico. They were destined for pro-Castro rebels.

Trade with Cuba, according to the state department line, is in a separate and distinct category unrelated to the trade in trade relations with the East European bloc countries proposed by the President.

Instead of settling down to make a deal with the Communists, the President has continued to try to undermine the governments of his nearest neighbors. As the Cuban embargo is extended to 1968, the annual subsidy of $300,000 from the Soviet Union, which is reported to be impatient with Fidel's farce, is being changed in Washington in this dispute. But the fact increasingly evident is that the show in the cold war between Western and Eastern Europe is a movement that American footdragging cannot stop. When West Germany made a deal with Red China for a steel-rolling mill angry cries resounded on Capitol Hill and Secretary of State Dean Rusk promised to try to dissuade the Germans.

These moves to have had a minimal effect. American opposition can only further fray the ties with NATO allies. It is a move that has not improved diplomatic relations. Hungary is expected to follow. G. O. R. m. a. trade mission have been sent and the diplomats are rallying what is all but accomplished fact.

Interpreting The News
By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, using a news conference to make a major appeal for peace in Vietnam, admitted that he had not been too serious, and just now it is too serious about frivolity.

This time he simply pulled a bunch of the pieces together, despite the news back in 1965, and presented them in one big bundle to listening world with the obvious intent of showmanship.

His earnest desire for a settlement. He was clearly answering the critics of American foreign policy and probably had no effect on the world since he had said along the same lines before.

Nine times, in one form or another, I must say that I am not aware of any serious effort that the other side has made, in judgment, to bring the fighting to a stop and to stop the war.

The President came prepared against any slip of the tongue. He had a loose-leaf book which he took up with questions about Vietnam. Under ordinary circumstances Johnson could have said all he had to say in about three of those short questions.

The news conference lasted nearly 30 minutes and almost all of it was taken up with questions about Vietnam. Under ordinary circumstances Johnson could have said all he had to say in about three of those short questions.

The fact that he took up all the time he did is pretty good evidence that he wanted to make Thursday's appearance on the television news conference a major production in Vietnam.

As long ago as April 7, 1965, at Johns Hopkins University Johnson had said, "We remain ready for a rational discussion." Thursday he said the same thing.

Johnson even repeated, with a slight variation, the picture of his troubled bed lying awake at night thinking about the conflict in Vietnam. At Johns Hopkins he said, "Every night before I turn out the lights to sleep, I ask myself this question: Have I done enough to stop the war in this country? Have I done everything I can to help undo the world, to try to bring peace and stability to the people of the world? Have I done enough?"

Thursday he put it this way: "I go to bed every night feeling that I failed that day because I did not do enough to stop the war in Vietnam. I do have disappointments and moments of distress, as I think every president has, but I am not complaining."

He said that he had a picture of various ways in which he thought peace talks could be started, beginning with discussions and going on to negotiations.

Finish Space Job

It will still be some time before it is known for certain how far the nation's moon program has been set back by the tragic accident at Cape Kennedy—not, in fact, until another capsule is checked out and declared ready to undertake the flight with Apollo 11. I will never make the effort to do anything there is no uncertainty. About to reach the moon will not be stopped. Virgil Grissom, Edward White and Roger Chaffee would be the first to urge that it must not. They would not want us to mourn them overlong, or even call them heroes.

Grissom himself once said, "If we die, we want people to accept it. . . . The conquest of space is worth the risk of life."

The people do accept the risk, although they have been profoundly shocked by the terrible crash in one sudden flash of light. Only a few, who may oppose space exploration for entirely other reasons than its danger, call for a slowing down or a halt because of what happened to Apollo 1.

The people also know that the safety of the astronauts has always been the overriding concern of everyone connected with the space program and that it will continue to be so. Being first to the moon is not worth the life of even one man. If the nation can reach the goal with no more fatalities, certainly one will complain even if someone gets there before us.

Ironically, the very fact that there has been a tragedy makes us realize what capable hands that program has been in. We begin to appreciate more fully not only the skill and bravery of all the astronauts who have gone into space but also the care and dedication of the hundreds of nameless men on the ground who have brought them back safely each time.

We had thought that an accident, if there must be one, would occur in actual flight, especially during the critical moments of blastoff and re-entry. We realize now that every aspect of a space shot is incredibly complex and hemmed around with dangers, even checkouts and simulated launchings.

In the light of this tragedy, when we remember the seven Mercury and 12 Gemini capsules and their rockets that functioned without serious difficulty and the astronauts who successfully flew them, we know the something more that has guided the space program all these years.

When we recall the fatalities that filled the early days of aviation and reflect that even today men die testing conventional aircraft (indeed, three other astronauts have perished in routine airplane flights), the safety record of the space program is nothing less than amazing.

No amount of rationalizing, of course, can change the fact that three men—three husbands, three fathers—who were in the vigor of life are dead. Their deaths might have been avoided, perhaps, if human technology were infallible. It is not.

Renson tells us that other men will die in the future, for space exploration is in its earliest beginnings. The only way these deaths could be avoided would be for us to turn our eyes away from the stars and deny that element in the human spirit which has always impelled men to dare the challenge of the unknown.

This we cannot do. Grissom, White and Chaffee could not do it. We honor their memory and their sacrifice by continuing the work they did not live to complete.

"OR WHAT?"
"Keep Your Sidewalks Shoveled Or . . . License Your Dog Or . . ." "Keep Dogs Leashed Or . . ."

These are types of headlines seen repeatedly in the Times-News and many other papers throughout the country.

The question is, "Or What?"

The city has gone to some length to enact ordinances on building controls, zoning, traffic and parking control, right on through to snow shoveling and dog control.

A trouble is, many of these ordinances, particularly those which deal with annoyances of urban life—as opposed to those which deal with necessities—are seldom if ever enforced. Either they should be enforced or they should be repealed. Laws were made to be enforced, not ignored.

Take the snowfalls we have had in a couple of occasions this winter. From the looks of things at those times the snow shoveling ordinance is largely ineffective. Many unshoveled walks remained as testimony to the only enforcing that would be done would be by a warming sun or rain sometime in the future.

When it snows in Twin Falls a lot of snow stays right where it falls until the weather changes.

There are other laws on the city books that are not enforced. Why keep them law if not?

An unenforced law is worse than no law at all.

Commission To Recommend Lottery Draft

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Commission on Selective Service will recommend to President Johnson next week that the lottery draft and the induction of younger men first, sources indicated today.

Informants said the commission has decided the draft must be continued, but needs a major revamping to eliminate inequities and uncertainties.

To do this, sources said, the panel will recommend that youths 18½ and 19 be eligible for the draft first, instead of men 24, 25 and 26 as now provided by the system. After registration and examination, the eligible youths would be included in a pool and chosen for the draft by a lot.

Informants said the commission plans to call for continuing student and other deferments, stipulating that after graduation a student again be included in the lottery pool and thus face the same exposure to the draft as younger men without deferments.

"The great problem with the present system is the great uncertainty that 18- and 19-year-old youths face," one informant said.

Defense Department statistics show the average draftee age last year was 20.3 years.

Such a switch long has been endorsed by the department, which contends that younger men make better soldiers and are easier to discipline and train. The department, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and others, have advocated varying versions of a lottery system.

Informants said to eliminate the "inequities that have to do with the present way of deciding who goes and who stays" commission members decided to recommend limiting autonomy of local boards.

They said the panel will urge Johnson to recommend setting clear, uniform national standards for classifying all draft-age men and eliminating present reliance on the more than 4,000 local draft boards — each with varying interpretations of Selective Service guidelines.

In addition, commission members are known to favor a national draft quota in place of the current procedure of establishing local quotas. This would insure that no area or locality would begin drafting men of a lower call-priority until all other boards had exhausted the same category.

Johnson named the 20-member commission last summer and ordered it to make an exhaustive study of the draft in the wake of mounting student protests and draft calls. Since late 1964, about 650,000 youths have been drafted.

Informants said a final version of the commission report was mailed Tuesday to members, who may make final recommendations before the report goes to the President, probably next week. Sources said they expected no major changes.

Informants said the bulk of the major decisions were reached well before the commission's initial reporting date Jan. 1, although actual drafting of the comprehensive study so far has led to a five-week delay.

Johnson is expected to use the commission's report as a basis for his recommendation to Congress, which must act by June 30 to extend key provisions of the present Selective Service law. The issue is expected to get its most thorough congressional hearing since the current law was passed in 1951.

BIDS OPENED

BOISE (AP) — Bids were opened Tuesday by the Department of Highways for three projects.

W. R. Sutherland of Weber, Wash., was the apparent low bidder for supplying stockpile materials at the Gibbonsville maintenance yard on U. S. Highway 3 and U. S. 35 near Moyie and Bonners Ferry in Bonner County.

The bid — one of four — was $16,675.

Peter Kerwit Sons Co. of Idaho Falls was the apparent low bidder for furnishing stockpile materials at the Gibbonsville maintenance yard in Lemhi County with a bid of $34,750 — one of five submitted.

COMPLAINT FILED

BOISE (AP) — A complaint was filed in U.S. District Court Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Masbit of Moscow, against Richard Dean, seeking damages in the case of the December 1966 traffic death of a daughter in Moscow.

The complaint alleged the couple's daughter was struck and fatally injured by Dean's automobile as she and her parents were crossing Main Street in Moscow.

General and special damages of $32,150 were asked in the complaint.

RANCHER HONORED

BOISE (AP) — Kootenai County rancher Elmer Ness was announced Tuesday as the Idaho Landholder-Sportsman of the Year by the Idaho Landholder-Sportsmen Council.

The annual award to an Idahoan who makes contributions to the cause of better relations between landholders and hunters went to Ness for work he had done as chairman of the panhandle Landholders Sportsmen Council.

The Coeur d'Alene Wildlife Federation nominated Ness for the honor.

STOCK PURCHASED

LEWISTON, Ida. (AP) — Purchase of all capital stock of L. Smith, Inc., was announced Tuesday by Clearwater Lumber Co. of Lewiston.

The purchase was announced Tuesday by James K. Johnson, president of Clearwater Lumber, maintains residence at Spokane and Lewiston.

The sale takes effect Wednesday.

REPRESENTATIVE NAMED

BOISE (AP) — Lloyd Howe, industrial developer for the State Department of Commerce and Development, will be Idaho's representative at a Midwest conference.

Howe will go to Columbus, Ohio, Friday to attend the industrial development conference sponsored by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes.

DENNY DESIGNS

BOISE (AP) — George A. Denny, director of the motor vehicle bureau of the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement, announced Tuesday his intention to accept other employment.

He did not disclose the nature of his new job but said it provided a "personal opportunity of such consequence that it cannot be disregarded."

Denny has been employed in the department since 1957 as state car Ada County for 28 years.

ADOPT REGULATIONS

MCCAMMON (AP) — Dress regulations for students at Marsh Valley High School have been adopted by a joint agreement of the student body, school board and faculty.

Girls will not be allowed to wear slacks to school events except for certain outdoor activities and skirts are to be no shorter than the top of the knee-cap while standing.

A general rule for boys will govern lightness of clothing, general apparel, length of hair and wearing of beards. Students are "expected to be neat and well-groomed at all times," according to the regulations.

Students violating the regulations will be subject to the judgment of the student council.

BIDS CALLED FOR

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — A call for bids for construction of the $2,300,000 Skyline High School in Idaho Falls has been issued by Idaho Falls School District 81 trustees.

The bids for the state's newest high school and Bonneville County's third one, will be received by trustees March 7. Eight distinct contracts are being called for.

Completion of the building is scheduled for Aug. 1, 1968.

Hoffa Appeal For New Trial Is Considered

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is considering for the first time an appeal for a new trial for Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa, who is in a battle to stay out of prison.

Judges Paul C. Weick, Clifford O'Sullivan and Lester L. Cecil heard arguments Tuesday on two motions asking for a retrial of Hoffa's 1964 conviction in Chattanooga, Tenn., on jury-tampering charges.

The head of the 1.7-million member labor union was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000. Both the Appeals Court and the U.S. Supreme Court have upheld the conviction. Hoffa has small odds of winning a retrial.

Defense attorneys Daniel Maher and Bernard McGee argued Tuesday that Hoffa's constitutional rights were violated and that the Chattanooga jury and trial judge Frank Wilson were biased against Hoffa.

The allegations were denied by government attorney Nathan Lewin.

Maher said Hoffa's rights under the Sixth Amendment were violated when the government used an informer, Robert Vick, to get information on Hoffa's defense tactics.

Hoffa was here for the arguments and then left for Washington, D.C. He would not comment on the case. The conviction was the first for Hoffa in a long succession of federal trials. He since has been convicted in Chicago on fraud and conspiracy charges in connection with the Teamsters pension fund.

Twin Falls Civic Symphony Orchestra Ends 8th Season

By MRS. CLYDE KOONTZ

The Twin Falls Civic Symphony Orchestra performed for an appreciative audience Tuesday night at the O'Leary Junior High School auditorium.

This was the final concert of the eighth season, and the conductor, Del Slaughter, and the members of the orchestra, are to be congratulated on striving to keep their programming on a high level.

The numbers presented by the orchestra last night included ones by Mozart, Richard Wagner, Richard Strauss, Antonin Dvorak, Aaron Copland and Johann Strauss Jr.

Highlighting the program was the performance of young Lia Kofeod, Jerome, who played the difficult "Concerto No. 1 for French Horn and Orchestra" by Richard Strauss. His handling of the French horn demonstrated outstanding ability and an unusual sensitivity in one so young.

Also enjoyed very much was the beautiful "Adagio for Clarinet and String Orchestra" by Richard Wagner, which featured Ronald Kofeod, as soloist.

The final number, "Artist's Life Waltzes" by Johann Strauss Jr., had the audience caught up in the charm of the lilting melodies. The brilliance of the percussionist, Dave Follingstad, never fails to bring special enjoyment.

And so the season closes, and we hate to see it end. We wish the Twin Falls Civic Symphony continued success in the future. We think they make a fine contribution to the cultural life of Magic Valley.

Iran To Buy Weapons From Soviets.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iran, a perennial recipient of military aid from the United States, has decided to buy weapons from the Soviet Union, U.S. officials said.

The Middle Eastern nation is the first U.S. ally to take such action.

Officials who announced the development Tuesday night did not seem to regard it as a major setback.

The Iranians reportedly will trade natural gas for $90 million to $100 million worth of anti-aircraft guns, trucks and other transportation equipment. Officials believe the deal was one that Iran's ruler, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, felt he couldn't pass up.

American military aid to Iran has amounted to about $1 billion, U.S. officials said.

Iranian gas was the payment in an earlier deal between the two nations under which the Soviets agreed to set up a steel mill.

It was understood that in recent years the shah has come around to the view that the Soviet Union is less a danger to his nation than is Egypt.

State Income Tax Filing Errors Told

State income tax returns are coming in at about the same rate as usual, according to Vernon Doshier, local office manager. He noted, too, that as usual, most of the early returns have been filed by those who will receive money back.

Mr. Doshier said three errors were showing up prominently in many of the returns handled in this far. He said correction of two of the errors could be beneficial to state income taxpayers.

He said either the minimum standard deduction or the 10 per cent deduction can be taken for all wage earners earning less than $3,000 during 1966.

He also noted that few of the people filing the early returns have been taking credit for federal taxes paid or accrued. He said this entry should be made on line 11, page 1, of the state form.

The third mistake which has been showing up frequently is the deletion of the 10 per cent building fund tax. Everyone in the state who made more than $600 is subject to the tax. It should be entered on line 17, page 1.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: My married daughter lives 30 miles from me. She has a wonderful husband and a year-old child. She has a nice, new apartment and everything to do with, but whenever I visit her, the place is a mess and she is usually in her robe. There is never a place to put anything or to sit down. How my son-in-law can stand it is beyond me.

CONFIDENTIAL TO H. H. G. Retax and be yourself. "The most exhausting thing in life is being inane." (Anne Lindbergh)
 Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 6970, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Social Events

I know his mother, and she is an immaculate housekeeper. How can I make my daughter see the shame of it? When I walk in and see the mess, she doesn't even get embarrassed. She and her husband get along like two lovebirds now, but I'm afraid if she doesn't start keeping house properly it won't last.
 HER MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER: Fortunately for your daughter, her husband's mess is not the same as yours. If they were, he surely would have insisted that she improve her housekeeping. Don't try to "shame" your daughter.

...pretend you don't notice the mess. She may have qualities that are more important to her husband than the ability to keep house. For her sake, I hope so.

DEAR ABBY: This is the second marriage for both my husband and me. It is a happy marriage, and we get along beautifully. We've been married nearly five years. Our problem is that we would like to have a baby. My husband is 38 and I am 41. (I look 35.)

We want a baby very much, but the thing that has me worried is my age. Am I too old to have a baby? Would people stare? What about complications? If my doctor says to go ahead, should we venture into parenthood at our age?
 "AGE CONSCIOUS"

DEAR AGE CONSCIOUS: Why not? When the good Lord decrees that a woman "too old" to have a child, Mother Nature indorses the decree by revoking the privilege.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 25 years and my pet peeve is my husband's constant complaining about the sandwiches I put in his lunch pail.

He says he loves tuna fish, but it makes his hands smell. He doesn't like pork products and he says peanut butter gives him a pain between his shoulder blades. He also says he is sick of eggs and cold cuts. And chicken and turkey are too dry.

Yesterday he came home and said a fellow had a Canadian bacon sandwich and it looked real good, so this morning I put one in his lunch pail. Well, he came home tonight and said he found out Canadian bacon was ham and he hates ham! Do you have any ideas, Abby? My man is driving me nuts.
 OUT OF IDEAS

DEAR OUT: Keep giving him tuna and pack rubber gloves.

MR. AND MRS. LAWRENCE A. MILLER JR. (Shig Morita photo)

Patricia Ames, Miller Repeat Nuptial Vows

Patricia Louise Ames, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marlon Ames, became the bride of Lawrence A. Miller Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Miller, all Twin Falls, Jan. 21, in rites performed at the Twin Falls LDS Tabernacle.

Bishop Lavett B. Thornek performed the double ring ceremony with two baskets of white chrysanthemums and red carnations.

Mrs. Darlene Parker played the wedding music. Singing was by Mrs. Barbara Bartlett, Mrs. Dalene Parker and Mrs. Sharon Steel, accompanied by Mrs. Lois Fry.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of white brocade enhanced with her elbow-length veil of bridal illusion held by a rhinestone tiara. Her only jewelry was an ivory necklace from India, given to her by her aunt.

The bride's sister, Gloria Ames, and Deanne LeGault, were bridesmaids. The bridegroom's attendants were Rick Ames, brother of the bride, Uehers were Dick Miller and Mike Miller, brothers of the bridegroom.

Flower girl was April Miller, sister of the bridegroom. She furnished. Those attending are asked to bring their own table service.

carried a basket filled with red rose petals. Ringbearer, Shavni Jones, carried the rings on a heart-shaped satin pillow. The couple greeted guests at a reception before an arch trimmed with greenery and centered with two baskets of white chrysanthemums and red carnations. The bride's table was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake. The base of the cake was formed by four heart-shaped cakes. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and decorated with red roses and silver leaves.

Cake was cut by Mrs. Lule Reynolds and served by Mrs. Arlie White, both aunts of the bride. Punch was served by Mrs. N. J. Burgardner, great aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Bobby Jones, cousin of the bride.

Jo Anne Perkins was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were displayed by Evelyn Storch and Sharon Cochran, schoolmates of the bride, and Janet Lang, sister of the bride.

Exchange Held

FILER - A cookie and recipe exchange was featured at the Hillside Helpers Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Lyle Miller.

Contest prizes were won by Mrs. Herbert Fender, Mrs. George Erhardt, Mrs. E. E. Lee, Mrs. Laura Miller and Mrs. Roy Kimmertling.

Mrs. Lyle Miller, Mrs. Maude Ruth and Mrs. Daniel Kauffman received gifts.

Miss Muirhead Is Bride Of Ronald Harney

KIMBERLY - Julie Ann Muirhead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Muirhead, and Ronald Kent Harney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Harney, all Kimberly, exchanged wedding vows in Dec. 17 at the Kimberly LDS Chapel.

Bishop E. Crockett performed the double ring ceremony before a background of candelabra and baskets of red poinsettias and white carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of peau de soie, featuring rose appliques at the neckline and bottom of the floor-length skirt. The gown was enhanced with long lily point sleeves and a train. The bride's bouffant-shoulder-length veil of nylon tulle was held by a jeweled satin rose. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of red and white roses enhanced with feathers and silver and white satin streamers.

Maid of honor was Pam Muirhead, sister of the bride. Mrs. Jerry Rosencrantz and Mary Larsen, close friends of the bride, were bridesmaids. The bride and attendants' gowns were all made by the bride's mother, Ella McGuire, cousin of the bride, who flower girl. She carried a red velvet basket filled with red and white rose petals. Doug Albright, ringbearer, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Tim Stanley served as best man and John Muirhead and Larry Hudson were ushers. Mrs. Cecil Stanger played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Allen Bates, soloist.

After the ceremony, the newlyweds greeted guests at a reception in the LDS Cultural Hall. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. The cake was iced with white and decorated with red and white lacing, red roses and silver lace and topped with three satin jeweled wedding bells.

Presiding at the serving table were Mrs. Joe Urte and Mrs. Leo Bastian.

Carrying assistants were Sharon Harper and Lois Weeks.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT KENT HARNEY (Dudley photo)

Kitchen assistants were Mrs. John Morgan and Mrs. Ray Reed. Penny Arnold, close friend of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Pam Brewer was in charge of the gifts, assisted by Connie Albright and Mary Lou Cooke. The couple took a wedding trip to Sun Valley and are residing at 117 Pine St., Kimberly.

Out-of-town guests attended from Twin Falls, Buhl, Hammett, Hansen, Filer and Pocatello.

CARDS PLAYED - SHOSHONE - Couples Club met at a cafe for dinner, after which they played cards at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Cottman. Prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Berriochka, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Churchman and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crothers.

Handkerchief Shower Held

WENDELL - Mrs. Keith Wert was the recipient of a handkerchief shower at the meeting of the Hobby Club at the Civic Club Rooms.

Plans were made to attend a demonstration at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the Civic Club Rooms. Chances Gallinsky, Boise, will demonstrate plaster casting and finishing. A film will be shown on the finishing technique.

This demonstration is sponsored by the Hobby Club and members invite all interested persons to attend.

Mrs. Florence Fuller was hostess for the social hour. Announcement was made of the Feb. 17 meeting at the Civic Club Rooms with Mrs. John Wright as hostess. Each member is asked to bring the hobby of her choice.

WHICH WOULD YOU PART WITH FIRST?

If you had to be without these electric services, rate them from one to nine in the order in which you would choose to part with them.

- RANGE
- WATER HEATER
- WASHER
- DRYER
- DISHWASHER
- REFRIGERATOR
- LIGHTING
- TELEVISION
- PORTABLES

(Iron, frypan, mixer, clock, radio, vacuum, toaster, coffeemaker, etc.)

Hard, isn't it, to determine which of your many electric services are most important to you and your family?

Fortunately, you need not part with any of them. In fact, you'll continue to employ more and more electrical servants (electric heating, for example), and have plenty of low-cost Idaho Power electricity to operate them.

It's NATIONAL ELECTRICAL WEEK, honoring the birthday of Thomas Edison, the man who led the way to modern electrical living, and a good time to remind ourselves of the many ways electricity makes our lives better.

GRACE LOUISE RIECK

Grace Rieck Is Engaged To James Oldham

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rieck, Boise, announce the engagement of their daughter, Grace Louise, to James G. Oldham, son of Mrs. Marjorie W. Oldham, and the late Dr. Gordon D. Oldham.

Miss Rieck is a graduate of the University of Idaho and a member of the Delta Gamma Sorority. Mr. Oldham is a graduate of the College of Civil Engineering at the University of Idaho and is employed by Morrison-Knudsen Co., Boise.

Sorority Has Luncheon Meet

Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority held its February luncheon meeting at the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room.

A Valentine motif was carried out in the table decorations with a tall red paper valentine lady overlooking each table. Individual valentine nut cups were at each place setting.

Mrs. Helen Taylor entertained the group by humorously reviewing her varied experiences as a teacher in a one-room rural school near Pine.

Hostesses were Mrs. R. A. York, Mrs. Ellis Davidson, Mrs. Beulah McFarland and Mrs. Beth Molynaux.

Mrs. Ferrell Chambers conducted the business session.

Imagination Runs Riot In New Shoe Trend

PARIS (AP) — Roger Vivier, shoe designer to royalty and the best of the haute couture, produced a collection Tuesday in which imagination runs riot. The expanse of bare legs under brief skirts proved a new incentive.

He dresses ankles with several gold bangles or with a deep fringe of ostrich feathers. Legs are decked with gold or silver masks, the parrot and the owl, the sun, idols and a golden heart.

Vivier's "Shock Collection for '67" features besides these fun ideas "shoes that balance the silhouette," all essentially practical and young.

He emphasizes soles, like a wedge and almost an inch thick. Heels stand no nonsense, are strong and squared. The shock wedge soles add an extra inch to the wearer and lend lightness to her step.

For mornings, ankle-high boots featuring the lion, the lizard, in the sandal department, darkest Africa steps in with masks, fetishes, witch doctors' regalia and wooden beads as trimming.

For the conservative, there is a wide range of plain opera pumps and shoes for general wear. There are pearily boxcall, patent leather and Hong Kong braided straw.

Buckles, laquered in ivory or white or silver, cover the vamp and are beautifully detailed with metal or rhinestone trim depending on hour and occasion.

For evening Vivier shows nacre leathers, silver serpent, and jungle or African printed crepes. Trimming goes wild here with masks, anklets and leathers and fringe.

What I Live By

BY DICK VAN DYKE
Films and TV Star

The other day I was talking with a teen-ager who goes to the church where I'm an elder. "How often do you read your Bible?" I asked him.

"Frankly, Mr. Van Dyke," he said, giving me a kind of a funny look, "I never read it." Then he continued, "Oh, I should, I suppose, but to tell you the truth the Bible scares me."

"Scares you?" I echoed. "What do you mean?" "Well," he said, "it's written in that old-fashioned way. And it's all about old men in long white beards. And it's so negative. They shall not do this, that shall not do that. No, the Bible may be a great book and all that, but nobody reads it. Nobody my age, anyway."

Now I don't know whether this pessimistic statement is right or not, but I do know this: a lot of people—old as well as young—never open a Bible because they let their preconceptions scare them off.

But the Bible has been translated many times before and since. J. B. Phillips' rendering of the New Testament, done within the last 20 years, is as contemporary in style as a current best-seller.

And his idea that the Bible is full of bearded old men. How old was David when he went out against Goliath? How old was Job when he lost his property? Fifteen? How old was Samson when he astonished his countrymen with feats of strength? Seventeen? Eighteen?

And as for the notion that the Bible is full of negatives, that's mostly nonsense too. The Bible is a handbook for living. And so it does contain rules—rules hammered out over the centuries on the basis of human experience.

There's tragedy, sure, and violence and all the great clashing human emotions: courage and cowardice, greed and selflessness, hatred, jealousy, and anger. . . all the ingredients that go into any great love story or great action story. And out of these ingredients the men who wrote the Bible try to weave a clean and beautiful pattern of what works and what doesn't work in human affairs. That's why the Bible, far from being something to run from, is a book-to-live-by.

Anyone who does try to live by the Bible sooner or later comes across a text that seems designed especially for him. For me it's that tremendous question in Job: "What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world but lose his own soul?"

Actors are often faced with this dilemma because they do in a sense "gain the whole world" when success comes to them, but in the process they risk losing their own souls, their own hard core of personal values, as perhaps no other group does. That's why I repeat those words to myself just about every day of my life.

But it's not enough just to find a relevant quote, latch onto that, and let the rest go. I believe the Bible is important to each of us, and that from its daily reading a certain priceless and otherwise unobtainable something enters our lives.

If I had to say what it is in my case, I think I'd say that Bible-reading gives me a sense of God working in history, gradually unfolding a plan for His most complex creation — mankind.

It is an amazing thing at all times, but especially when problems come our way. I'm thinking of some times in my life, for instance, when I was broke and jobless. Like the day I arrived in New York City in a beat-up station wagon with a wife, two small kids, no job and exactly four dollars in my pocket.

Or the time when a supper club act (a friend and I worked up) had a bad night. The management not only threw us out without pay but even towed our car out of the parking lot to make sure we left.

I don't mean that on these occasions I rushed home and read the Bible furiously. But I do mean that my familiarity with God's word and my acceptance of His plan for my life kept me from ever really hitting the panic button.

To my friend who was "scared" of the Bible, I make three suggestions. . . Get your own Bible. . . You can take on trips and leave on your bedside table. . . You can mark up if you feel like it, underlining passages that mean to you, making notes in the margins.

The second: Make an effort to discard all your preconceptions and stereotyped ideas about the Bible before you open it. . . Childhood recollections, all your stained-glass over-simplifications, all your dim resentful memories of drooping preachers. . . Try to wipe them clean and start fresh. The Bible will have tremendous impact for you.

And the third: Find a friend, a friend who will make this voyage of exploration with you. . . I find it helps to have someone with whom to compare notes, someone who will throw the ball back.

The Bible scares? On the contrary, the Bible takes the scare out of living and puts purpose, joy and faith in its place.

Gov. Maddox Confounds Critics And Succeeds In Projecting New Image

By HUGH SCHUTTE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — In his first month in office Gov. Lester G. Maddox has confounded many of his critics and succeeded in projecting a new image to Georgia and the nation.

"People had other ideas about Lester Maddox, but I believe our actions and appointments, which represented all factions, gave us our true image," he said today in an interview four weeks after his inauguration.

Maddox maintains that "the news media gave me the image" as a segregationist when he closed his restaurant rather than bow to a federal court order to serve Negroes.

He came west at the age of 14 and worked for sheepmen in the Gooding and Halley area, often being paid with sheep.

Mr. Sumner operated his sheep business at Tibour, near Emmett and Montour where she was called Friday by the death of her father, M. V. Sumner, 86, Emmett, a former area resident.

part, agreeably.

"If he doesn't Jouse up, at the rate he's going he will be one of our most popular governors," said State Sen. James P. Wesley Jr. of Atlanta who described himself as one of the most anti-Maddox people carder to serve Negroes. He said he took the action to "protect the federal government from going into a man's business." He said he is no racist.

"I want a conservative state government and I want to conserve and preserve the rights of the individual," he said. Maddox added, "I still have all my convictions and I'm going to stand by them, but I recognize that I have to be governor of all the people."

Maddox often uses the expression "all the people," raising the hopes of Negro leaders that he will do more for them than any previous Georgia governor. Maddox has welcomed everyone — Negro and white — to the governor's office on "Little People's Day." The doors to his office are to be open on the first and third Wednesdays every month to anyone who wishes to shake the governor's hand, give him a memo or even ask about a job.

A friendly, outgoing man, Maddox has been described as having "the people's touch." He communicates quickly and easily with everyone and shows he has little pretensions about the power of the office he holds.

During the first month of his administration, Maddox has received thousands of offers of help and assistance. "The offers of cooperation developed even faster than I anticipated," he said.

Maddox gained the governorship after a long, bitter campaign — waged on a shoestring. He got the office when the predominantly Democratic General Assembly voted for him although Republican Howard H. Callaway had led in the general election. Write-in votes had kept either from gaining a majority.

Long Underwear Is In Order For 'Real Cool' Mardi Gras

By BILL CRIDER

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) —

This was the Mardi Gras in which some wore long underwear and ice cream vendors cursed the north winds. It was real cool man!

It wasn't the coldest Mardi Gras in the history of the city — just the third coldest. The temperature stood at freezing most of the morning, inching to a day's high of 43.

Street cleaners worked a long hard night carrying away tons of beer cans, whiskey bottles and other trash left behind Tuesday by over half a million revelers.

It was the traditional final fling before the 40 days of Lent in this predominantly Roman Catholic city.

Zulu, king of the all-Negro Krewe, showed up for Mardi Gras with Dixieland jazz, wild dancers, six floats loaded with "big shots" and a large cigar clenched between his teeth.

It was Zulu's most ambitious attempt in years. The Zulu parade used to be a major Mardi Gras attraction. It had slipped to a shadow of its former self after civil rights groups attacked the show as degrading.

"I think we contributed something to our wonderful few show," said Zulu — Deputy Sheriff Milton Bismace — after a procession in which souvenir hunters pinched away chunks of his float.

The crowd was smaller than the last Mardi Gras' monument-tal crush but it was as many as ever, turning the downtown area into a costume ball.

The parade of Rex, premier wear and ice cream vendors cursed the north winds. It was real cool man!

About the only sad faces were worn by the ice cream vendors, who had enjoyed little trade. Police reported about 200 arrests and spoke approvingly of the general behavior.

"They were, perhaps a little more sane than in years past," said a police spokesman. Or maybe they were just too cold.

U.S., Soviets Try Stopping Defense Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have started talks aimed at preventing an antimissile defense race.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance told newsmen Tuesday that talks would explore ways to avoid expensive systems already are under way.

Vance's comments came after he appeared at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations disarmament subcommittee, whose chairman endorsed the negotiations.

"There is growing evidence that a nuclear exchange must be avoided," said Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara have said the United States has nothing to gain from developing an antimissile system, U.S. defense strategy, McNamara has said, is based on the nation's ability to deal a devastating blow to any nuclear aggressor.

McNamara has estimated it would take $40 billion and 10 years for the United States to build a complete ABM system.

Tax Returns Will Provide Uncle Sam With Statistics

BY JOSEPH R. COVNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Your income tax return is going to tell Uncle Sam more than just how much tax you owe. Statistics on income, population and a host of other social analyses will be compiled from the tax returns due by April 15. Information from your return might even be used in a federal check if you apply for a government job. "If you think your income tax return is strictly confidential, you're mistaken," one congressional source said today, lining up with critics who say the government should be satisfied to learn what the taxpayer owes. But the supplementary data processing will be even easier this year because every return will be read by computer. "It's against the law for an employe of the Internal Revenue Service to divulge the incomes, profits, losses and spending or any other information listed in tax returns, but this doesn't mean the data are always a secret. Anyone may ask a district director who filed a tax return for a given year and the district director can say "yes" or "no" but divulge no further information. But government agencies can obtain tax returns under provisions spelled out by IRS and executive orders. So can state taxing officials and some foreign governments with which the United States has tax treaties. Three congressional committees — the House Ways and Means, the Senate Finance and the Senate House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation — have access to any IRS files. For a federal agency to obtain a tax return, the request must be signed by the agency head and sent to the Internal Revenue commissioner who acts on the request himself. He must be satisfied that the reason given is legitimate. The Senate Judiciary subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure found that federal agencies sought access to tax records for reasons including an investigation of an alleged divorce tax evasion case, a Civil Service Commission inquiry into an application for a federal job and an investigation by the Federal Communications Commission of a radio station licensee. Many of the statistics published by the federal government are derived from tax returns, and there are constant new proposals for extracting more information from them.

Reports Theft

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Robert B. Watz told police that a television set and a radio were stolen Tuesday from his home. Judge Watz said the moon-time robbery occurred at his 12-year-old son's room in a second-floor bedroom and a German Shepherd watchdog patrolled outside the house. If a suspect is apprehended in the next few days he will be brought before the presiding judge of North-Western District Court — Robert B. Watz.

Hijacking Of Airliner Went Smoothly

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The hijacking of an Egyptian airliner over the Red Sea went so smoothly that most of the passengers aboard did not realize what had happened, some of the passengers told newsmen today. There was no panic — or even excitement — in the passengers' cabin. "Most of us didn't know what was happening," said Norad MacKendrick, co-ordinator of the Reorganized LDS Church. Mr. Jacobson has been active in local city government, and recently was a candidate for the office of mayor. His hobby is art and he is a past president of the Desert Art Guild.

Spacecraft Fire Still Unsolved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigators seeking the cause of the spacecraft fire that took the lives of three astronauts "haven't found anything at all" so far, according to the chairman of the Senate Space Committee. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., gave that report to newsmen Tuesday after his committee met privately with officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The investigators are "not even close" to eliminating the cause of the fire that suddenly filled the space capsule Jan. 27 at Cape Kennedy, Fla., killing the three spacemen, Anderson said. "I didn't feel there was anything wrong about the flight. You see, I have not done much flying," said Miss MacKendrick, who is from Galt, Ont. She is on an extended Middle East tour.

Prediction

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If parents don't limit the size of families, voluntarily then governments may have to pass laws to keep population down, a planned parenthood advocate has predicted. Dr. Edmund W. Overstreet of the University of California Medical School said world food production showed no increase in 1965 for the first time in history. Yet, he added, world population increased by 65 million the same year.

Republicans Threaten Block Against Debt Ceiling Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans are threatening solid opposition to the administration's measure to hike the national debt ceiling unless the bill is amended to increase the debt itself. The periodic ritual of raising the borrowing ceiling because of continuing budget deficits apparently is facing stiffer opposition as will be more complicated crosscurrents than in any recent year. The measure would give the Treasury authority to borrow $6 billion more between now and June 30, raising the limit to $30 billion from the $24 billion ceiling against which fiscal authorities have been scraping. Unprecedented expenses — most of them connected with the Vietnam war — outdated the present ceiling before its time had half run. The Treasury now says it will have to hold up government payments next month unless it gets relief. Republican leaders, setting a price for their support, want the proceeds of participation certificate sales included in the national debt. These are sales of interests in pools of government-held loans. They are not now counted in the debt and they figure in the administrative budget in such a way as to reduce the spending side. The GOP also proposes to make a special exception to the law setting a 4 1/2 per cent limit on interest that may be paid on long-term federal bonds. The combined effect of the amendments would be to discourage the sale of participation certificates and encourage the use of bonds instead. House Republican Leader

Gerald R. Ford said "we want the debt ceiling to represent the obligations of the federal government." Republicans also contend less use of participation certificates would save money in interest. Democrats argue the certificates are not government obligations, since they are secured by loans and the government has an obligation to make them good only in the event the security goes bad. House Republicans discussed the legislation Tuesday without taking a vote. Afterward, GOP conference Chairman Melvin R. Laird reported that GOP members will oppose the debt ceiling hike unless their amendments prevail.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission was asked by a joint congressional committee Tuesday whether the White House applied pressure to locate the world's biggest atom smasher in Weston, Illinois. The question was one of a series raised by Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., at a House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee hearing. The questions were passed on to the AEC by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., committee chairman. Pike said he was not intending that the Johnson administration had applied pressure, but said it was a "legitimate question."

2 T. F. County Fair Board Aides Named

Appointments to fill two vacancies on the Twin Falls County Fair Board were announced Wednesday by Heber Loughmiller, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners. Both men were selected from the west end of the county as the committee members also represented that area, Mr. Loughmiller said. T. W. Richmond, who resides near Caldwell, was selected to replace Parley Harmon, Castleford, and Cecil Carlson, Buhl, succeeds Henry W. Lehman, Blaine.

Mr. Richmond is a registered Holstein dairy breeder and has participated in county fairs for a number of years. He is a full farmer, is active in numerous farm organizations and was a candidate for county commissioner several years ago. In accepting the resignations of Mr. Harmon and Mr. Lehman, Chairman Loughmiller and Commissioners Heber W. Carlson and William Chaffin expressed their appreciation for the many years of work they have donated to a successful Twin Falls county fair. Both men, Mr. Carlson said, had served more than 25 years on the county fair board.

A preliminary step to getting federal help would be instituting measures to cut down waste that occurs in the distribution system, from the reservoir to the fields, he declared, and this matter was discussed at the meeting.

Rep. Lanting also noted that the Supreme Court ruling on utility assessments has set back tax measures in the legislature "as much as a month." He said that no solution has been found as yet to the problem created by the ruling on the 20-20-40 Bill.

Considerable discussion resulted over a question to the legislators by Dr. Harry F. Brumbach Jr. on a bill affecting a doctor's privilege to keep secret any information passed on to him by his patients.

Rep. Roberts noted that the bill does not require a doctor to give such information if called to testify in a court case, but just permits it.

Warren Barry — Have legislators considering a bill amending the contractors licensing act heard the side of persons who have been victimized by unscrupulous, itinerant siding dealers? (Mr. Barry noted that he had talked with a number of contractors in this area who favor the licensing bill and its requirement of establishing fiscal responsibility of contractors.)

Sen. Barker — A lot of letters have been received from small contractors who have difficulty meeting the net worth requirement of the law. Most, however, favor the licensing provision of the act.

J. T. Anderson — Has the Senate defeated the bill which would equalize school trustee zones as to population?

Sen. High — The matter will be brought back before the Senate Thursday for reconsideration. It is being delayed until that time to give legislators un-opportunity to contact departments of education in their areas to determine their feelings on the bill.

Stephen Bancroft — Wouldn't a bill changing the State Tax Department to a state tax commission result in a more costly operation?

Rep. Lanting — Actually it is a consolidation of two agencies and would provide a saving in cost and upgrading of the agencies.

William Grange — What is the feeling on Daylight Saving Time?

Sen. Barker — The legislature seems to be waiting to see what the Utah legislature does on the matter (whereupon Mr. Grange quipped that he'd heard Utah's legislators were waiting to see what Idaho did about it).

U.S. Constitution Expected To Get Its 25th Amendment Within Weeks

By JACK MILLER.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within weeks the U.S. Constitution is expected to get its 25th amendment. It would provide transfer of power if the president became disabled.

And it would provide for filling a vacancy in the office of the vice president.

To date, 36 state legislatures have ratified the presidential disability and succession amendment. Two more must do so. The Constitution requires approval by three-fourths — 38 — of the legislatures.

The amendment has not been rejected so far by any legislature that has considered it.

The author of the proposal in the Senate, Birch Bayh, D-Ind., predicts the amendment will gain the votes it lacks by the end of March. It goes into effect automatically with the 38th ratification.

A spokesman for the American Bar Association, which recommended the amendment and has been watching its progress, predicted its quick approval.

Bayh said in an interview the amendment "doesn't fill all the gaps" in the Constitution on disability and succession "but it fills the two most important and glaring ones."

The first is the lack of a procedure by which the vice president can take over the duties of the presidency if the president becomes so disabled he cannot handle them.

The second is a means for filling immediately the office of vice president when the office becomes vacant for any reason.

Strong public concern about vice-presidential vacancies developed after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in 1963 and Vice President Johnson became president. The nation was without a vice president until after the 1964 elections, when Hubert H. Humphrey was the office.

Next in line for the presidency before then were Speaker of the House John W. McCormack, then J. Edgar Hoover, and the president's temporary of the Senate, Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona, then 86.

The question of presidential disability came up most recently when President Johnson underwent gall bladder and throat surgery last November.

At that time, Johnson and Humphrey used a procedure under which Humphrey became acting president while Johnson was under anesthesia. The arrangement was identical to that used by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon during Eisenhower's illnesses.

The amendment provides that the vice president would take over as acting president if the president stated in writing he was unable to carry out the duties of the office. The vice president also could take over if a majority of the heads of executive departments sent Congress a declaration of presidential inability.

The president would resume power by sending Congress a declaration that he was again able to serve. This could be overridden if the vice president and a majority of the executive heads told Congress within two days the president was unable, and if Congress concurred by a two-thirds vote.

Vacancies in the vice presidency would be filled on nomination by the president, subject to confirmation by Congress.

States which have yet to ratify the amendment are: Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, South Carolina, South Dakota, and Texas.

Death Takes Willie Ellis

JEROME—Willie Ellis, 65, died Monday in the LDS Hospital, Salt Lake City, of a brief illness.

—He was born June 29, 1901, in Mountain Grove, Mo., and married Carolina White in 1932 in Missouri. She died in 1959. Mr. Ellis farmed in Missouri, coming to Idaho in 1954. He worked as a janitor at Sun Valley Lodge for a number of years.

On Dec. 2, 1959, he married Emma Permang in Elko. They moved to Jerome in 1964 and Mr. Ellis was employed as a janitor at the King-of-Spuds Flour Co.

Survivors include his widow, one son, Loy Ellis, Mountain Grove, Mo.; three step-sons and one step-daughter; five brothers, including Matt Ellis and Pat Ellis, both Hazelton, and six sisters, including Mrs. Mike (Pearl) Reasch, Jerome; four grandchildren and 11 step-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Home-Funeral-Chapel by Rev. Robert C. Cooper. Final rites will be held in the Jerome Cemetery. Friends may call at the chapel Wednesday night and Thursday until time of services.

... hearing scheduled.

Lloyd Webb, local attorney and former 11th District Court judge, said the bill was discussed at a Bar Association meeting in Jerome last week and there was quite a split in sentiment on it.

He said many of the lawyers felt the law would hamper them in presenting the plaintiff's side of cases.

Other questions and answers included:

Arthur M. Kleinkopf — Does the Supreme Court ruling on public utilities assessments weaken the status of the merger of the teachers' retirement system with the state system?

Rep. Lincoln — The decision may delay action on the matter, but I am very optimistic about the chances of it passing.

John Christoffersen — What is the status of the bill which would require licensing of dealers selling motor scooters, snowmobiles and similar vehicles?

Sen. Barker — The bill has

Haul Snow

PROVO (AP)—There's no business like snow business—at least for Brigham Young University students.

The school's annual snow sculpturing contest is today. And because of a lack of snow the contest almost was canceled.

But the snow must go on so students trucked the snow in from nearby mountains and began work on the sculptures Tuesday night.

Soil District Officials Talk To Chamber

BURLEY — Members of the Soil Conservation districts in Cassia County presented the program at the Burley Chamber of Commerce Monday at Bryan's Cafe.

They noted that the East Cassia district was organized in 1957 and West Cassia district was formed in 1959. Framed pictures were presented to several business firms by the Soil Conservation officials in appreciation for advertising in the newsletter published by the districts.

Businesses receiving the pictures were Frank's Tire Service, Simplot Soilbuilders, Cassia Motor, Hofbauer Red-Mix, Cassia National Bank, Fred Allen's Richfield and Star's Ferry Building Supply.

At present there are 450 farmers in Cassia County working with the Soil Conservation districts to improve farm condition.

Soil Conservation Districts members attending were Gerald Larson, in charge of the work unit; Robert Breeding, secretary-treasurer; Reid Bowen, Glen Logan, Furrar Warr and Jim Martin.

Jim Roper reported on the legislator-chamber luncheon held last Thursday in the conference room of the Ponderosa Inn.

"Interest is growing with each meeting," Roper stated. Items discussed were time zone, age for drivers' licenses, four-year term for senators and inventory tax. Sen. Don Loveland and Rep. J. Vard Chabrun participated in the telephone conference. Anyone interested in legislation is invited to attend the luncheon meeting and ask questions of Cassia representatives in Boise.

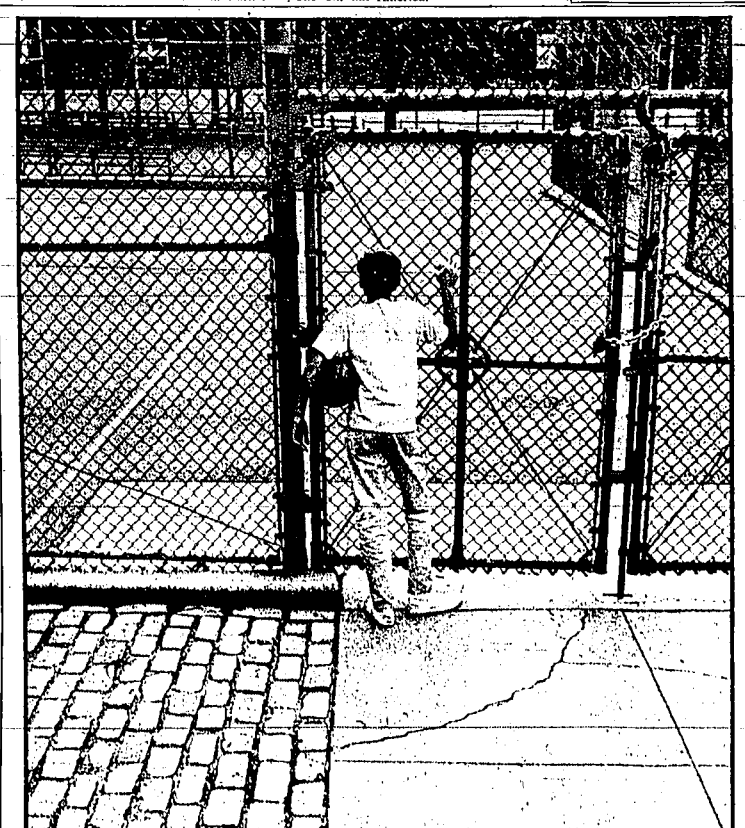

The next legislator-chamber luncheon will be held at noon Thursday in the conference room of the Ponderosa Inn.

Clay Talks Of Trip And Defense After Lopsided Victory Over Terrell

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP)—Cassius Clay, unmarked after his lopsided 15-round victory over Ernie Terrell, talked Tuesday of a trip to Mecca in two weeks and another heavyweight title defense in 10 weeks with Zora Folley in Detroit or New York.

"My manager, Herbie Muhammad, is talking with the Foley people and the George Chuvalo people," said Clay, who removed all

British Denounce Clay's Performance

LONDON (AP)—"Ugly, venomous and sickening," said the front-page headline across London's Evening Standard reporting Cassius Clay's victory over Ernie Terrell in Houston Monday night.

British sports writers and broadcasters agreed that Clay had proved himself the world's best but they denounced the "arrogant and unsportsmanlike" manner in which he taunted and humiliated his outclassed opponent.

The BBC's Harry Carpenter said: "I left ringside wishing Clay had been more magnanimous in victory."

The London Evening News report reported that "Clay's disappointing disregard for the niceties of the rules prevented his performance from being great."

But the Standard's George Whiting, after praising Clay's fighting skill, wrote: "In my opinion, Clay fell headlong down the scale of sportsmanship. To half-paralyze your opponent with punches, to slash ugly silts over and under his eyes, to reduce him to a game but impotent wreck, these things may be ugly but they come within the rules of the game."

Clay's arrogant manner, which Clay sneered and scolded and taunted—and even on occasion spat at the feet of the poor wreck of a Terrell fighter.

Other London headlines called Clay "The Champ-of-Sneer-and-Snarl."

The Evening News banner headline said: "15 rounds of hateful, sickening arrogance as Cassius taunts—what's-my-name?"

Sergeant Miracle Had But 5 Days To Go

By TOM TIEDE
BORN SON, Vietnam (NEA)
 The rain had fallen most of the day and by dark the battery's position was carpeted with mud. Dan Miracle cursed the weather and kicked at the muck with his boot.
 "Sergeant?"
 Dan Miracle looked up. "Yes sir!"
 A lieutenant walked lightly around the edge of the bunker, his feet sliding. He was smiling. Drops of rain fell from his helmet.
 "You ready to go home, sarge?"
 "Only five more days," said Miracle.
 "O.K. We'll send you out tomorrow."
 "Back to camp, sir?"
 "War's over for you," he said. The young sergeant exhaled happily. At last. After 12 months and three weeks of it, he was through. Back to the base camp, muster out . . . and in a week or less he'd be home, a blinking civilian.
 "God," he mumbled, "it feels great."
 It must have. Dan Miracle had more reason than most to be anxious for home. A year ago just before he left Parkersburg, W. Va., for the war, he had married a long-time sweetheart.
 "We only had three days," he told everyone.
 Then he'd grin.
 "But just wait! I get home. Besides the bride, there was the baby—the sergeant had never seen. He had pictures of her and he displayed them. "My daughter," he said unnecessarily. He talked a lot about her.
 Yet, with all the sentiment, the sergeant never let memories affect his soldiering. He separated the two. He was assigned to a First Air Cavalry artillery battery and carried at least his load.
 He became, in truth, a top hand. His job was to elevate and traverse the tube on a 105 howitzer. He learned the process flawlessly and performed with a professionalism that belied his 22 years.
 So proficient was he, in fact, he went up through the enlisted ranks at a comparatively rapid pace. He had only a three-year obligation in the Army and many reach sergeant in that span.
 It was a responsibility—the young man refused to take lightly. And throughout his Vietnam tour he enthusiastically pressed himself and his men to complete all missions assigned. And there were numerous missions. In 12 months and three weeks of it, the sergeant was in the field nearly 85 per cent of the time. In that period his battalion shot more than a quarter of a million shells and his battery contributed 100,000 of them.

 "It had been a weary year and often, a monotonous one. Gun-clearing clothes—washing, target firing, letter writing, shaving in cold water, mosquito-slapping . . . and back to gun-clearing again."
 But it was nearly over. And as the rain snapped against Dan Miracle's face, he could not help gloating . . . "only five more days."
 Miracle moved carefully around the gun bunker. The mud was hazardous for one thing and the weather had blasted out any moonlight.
 But the sergeant knew the paragon well and he negotiated the sandbags, doing routine chores at the rest of the battery bedded for the night.
 It was quiet.
 A wind was blowing.
 The time was 1 a.m.
 The sergeant was standing near his gun when it happened. There was no forewarning. The whole thing was a nightmarish surprise.
 From beyond the dark an unseen enemy mortarman sent up a shell from his weapon. The explosive arched in quietly and battered the U. S. position with a thunderous clap.
 There was a flash of light. Then a drapery of black.
 There was quiet.
 Then sounds of pain.
 The shell landed directly in a bunker. A couple of luckless soldiers were caught in the blast attempting to make a left hand turn at 4:28 p.m. Sunday on 300 West and 100 North.
 One of them was Dan Miracle who had five days to go.

Classes Set For Shelter Managers

Plans for a three-day training session for civil defense shelter managers were announced Tuesday by T. M. Kendrick, Twin Falls county assistant civil defense director.
 Kendrick said the sessions open at 7 p.m. Thursday for a three-hour session and will be held in the district court rooms of the courthouse. Classes will continue Friday and Saturday nights.
 The training, Kendrick said, is open to persons in charge of shelters and anyone interested in such service. Each business firm or agency with a fallout shelter designation in their building is being asked to send one to two persons to the meeting.
 Training will cover managing of fallout shelters, their supplies and storage and is being offered to all interested persons in Twin Falls County.

Outdoorsman

NEW YORK (AP)—If Mayor John V. Lindsay has his way, there will be many more sidewalk cafes throughout the city.
 Licenses Commissioner Joel J. Tyler says Lindsay already has appointed a committee to increase outdoor dining facilities which now number about 50 sidewalk cafes, primarily in Greenwich Village and midtown Manhattan.
 driven by James B. Ritter, 18, slid into the borrow pit and returned while Ritter was attempting to make a left hand turn at 4:28 p.m. Sunday on 300 West and 100 North.

Buhl Students Raise Funds For Charity

Students of the Buhl High School collected a total of $621.63 for the Buhl March of Dimes, chairman Dr. William Doodly said Tuesday.

He said the efforts of the students involved the sale of bottles, rags, cooked food sales and a chili supper. Many of the students also did work for home owners including washing windows and cleaning yards.

Members of the sophomore class raised a total of $265 to win honors as the top fund drive class. The same students won top honors last year as freshmen.

Each class selected a March of Dimes prince and princess with the winning sophomore class crowning Don Mathews and Carla LaPray as king and queen. Other candidates were Bob Giese and Beverly Iverson, freshmen; Johnny Johnson and Vicki Machacek, juniors, and Stormy Hopple and Shawna Wisner, seniors.

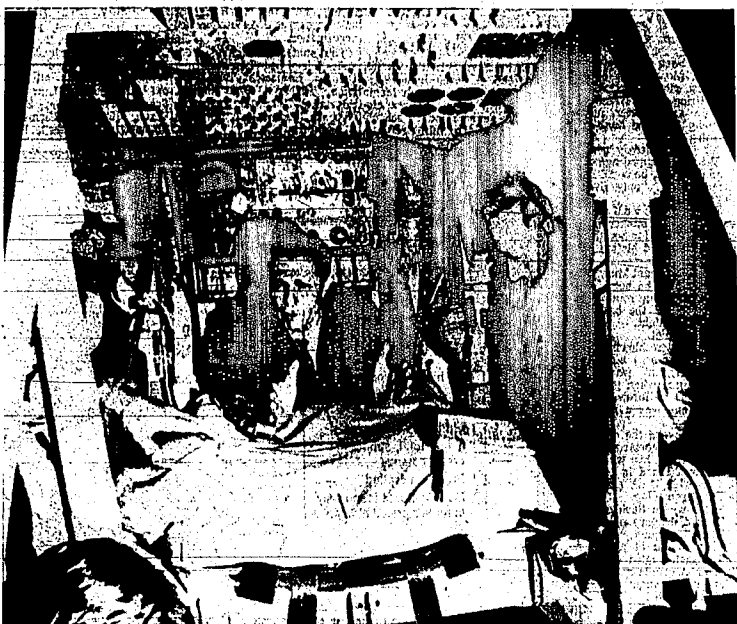

The senior class placed second in fund raising.

United Co-op, Rupert, Has New Manager

RUPERT — Charles Clark, a former Paul resident, has been named manager of United Co-op, according to Reinhart Graf, chairman of the co-operative's board of directors.

The new manager is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clark, Paul, and is a graduate of Paul High School and served two years in the Navy before attending the University of Idaho. He graduated from the university in 1951 with a degree in engineering, then did engineering work in Alaska with private concerns for about 10 years.

He joined Federal Electric Corporation and in 1960 was sent to Europe on a special assignment. He has worked in Spain, PROBING APOLLO FIRE—Dr. Floyd L. Thompson (center), head of a board of review investigating the fire, discusses spacecraft operations with astronauts while in a spacecraft simulator Tuesday. Italy, Greece, Turkey and Germany. Prior to going to Europe he served in a supervisory capacity for six months at a Titan missile installation in Moses Lake, Wash.

Mr. Clark is married to the former Renee Gillette of Declo and returned to the states in November and with his wife and four children will make his home in Minidoka County.

United Co-op has purchased the old Watson property, 33 acres, across from Merrill's Hatchery in Paul and has plans to construct a grain elevator there this year.

Mr. Graf said both the present office on Scott Avenue, which formerly housed the Mini-Cassia Marketing Co-op, and the service station at F and 2nd Streets, which was known as Minidoka Co-operative Association, will remain in Rupert at the present time, but long-range plans include moving the entire operation to the Paul location.

United Co-op was formed with the merger of the Mini-Cassia and Minidoka Co-operatives in 1963.

Talks Initiated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said Tuesday the United States and the Soviet Union have initiated talks aimed at preventing a costly race for ballistic missile defenses.

President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara have said such an antiballistic missile system race would result in no advantage for either side.

The President said last month the United States would take up the question with the Soviets.

After a closed-door session with the Senate Foreign Relations Disarmament subcommittee, Vance was asked if the talks had begun.

"There has been communication between our government and the Soviet Union," he replied.

Episcopal Church Notes Lent Program

The Season of Lent begins on Ash Wednesday this week with three services of the Holy Eucharist at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, Twin Falls, at 7 and 10 and at 8 p.m. Breakfast follows the 7 a.m. service every Wednesday.

At 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. and at 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. study programs will be conducted by the church on Wednesday and on every Wednesday in Lent up to Holy Week. The topics will be on the theme, "Christian Living in 1967." Nursery will be provided each Wednesday for pre-school children during the 10 a.m. service and study program until 11:30 a.m.

Sunday services during Lent continue at the regular schedule of 8 and 10:30 a.m. with church school and child-care

Layoffs Noted

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp., operator of the Naval reactor facility at the Idaho Atomic Energy Commission station, has given layoff notice to approximately 100 employees, it was announced Tuesday.

Those affected in the layoff are primarily employees who had been hired on a temporary basis, Westinghouse officials said.

T.F. County Budget Will Be Adopted Monday By Commission

The Twin Falls County Commission will adopt the 1967 permanent budget Monday under a cloud of indecision brought on by the recent Idaho Supreme Court ruling on utility property assessments.

County Clerk Harold Lancaster said Tuesday the Twin Falls County annual income from utility taxes under the 31 per cent assessment for 1966 would have amounted to $308,029.41. Utilities own property in the local county representing an assessed valuation of $11,712,721.

The court ruling involves the 1966 assessments, Mr. Lancaster said, and as yet commissioners and other county officials have received no information as to whether over-paid utilities should receive a return of money or if it will be made up by later reduced payments. Most utilities, he said, paid only for the first half of the year. Other Twin Falls County property was assessed on the basis of 14 per cent of actual value during 1966 and will be assessed at 16 per cent in 1967.

County officials said they have not decided what to do about the 1967 budget in view of what will apparently be some 15 per cent less income on utilities. Two alternatives were indicated, however. These are cuts in the budget, which the commissioners say is now about at the minimum for efficient county operation or an increase in the overall county tax levy.

County Clerk Lancaster said Tuesday he has compiled the over-all income for Twin Falls County taxing agencies from utility assessments. These, he said, do not mean total loss, or probably even a 50 per cent loss, but do indicate reductions.

The county levy brings in $317,063.35 from utilities. Others receiving portions of the total utility tax bill in 1966 included the city of Twin Falls, $85,213.54; Buhl, $13,189.68; Filer, $2,384; Kimberly, $3,163; and other villages of Hansen, Hollister, Castleford and Murtough, all under $1,000.

School districts include Nos. 411, $129,544.94; 412, $92,722; 413, $81,417; 414, $23,054; 418, $13,833; 415, $23,054; 417, $29,548; and 416, $34.68.

Highway districts receive $64,272 in Twin Falls; $18,772, Buhl; $11,308, Filer, and $13,378, Murtough.

County officials say they believe the legislature is working on the problems and they are looking to the state lawmakers for some direction.

The Buhl bridge emergency fund receives $4,698.
